Newcastle Holds The Lawlor Medal

By Narrow Margin of One Point Newcastle Curlers Defeat Chatham

The annual play for the Lawlor Medal between Newcastle and Chatham curlers took place yesterday on both Newcastle and Chatham ice, nine rinks from each club playing.

The Newcastle curlers finally emerged victorious by the narrow margin of one point in one of the most unique series ever played between the two clubs, for although Chatham won six of the games played and tied another, they failed to lift the medal, the big scores piled up by the Skips F. Russell and Eddie Dalton proving too big an obstacle to overcome.

The scores and games were:

Newcastle	Chatham
Chatham Ice, Afternoon
E. Dalton, 24	E. W. Jarvis, 9
J. R. Lawlor, 8	J. A. Irving, 15

LEAGUE OF NATION'S WON'T STOP WAR

Such is Opinion of Distinguished Canadian Just Returned from Germany--Says Germans are a Shattered People

Halifax, Mar. 1—The White Star Liner Lapland, with two thousand returning officers and men of the Canadian Expeditionary Force and a large number of civilian passengers, most of whom are proceeding to New York docked this morning after an uneventful passage of eight days from Liverpool.

Among the distinguished soldiers returning on the Lapland was Colonel C.W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., M.P., for Prince Rupert, who is proceeding to Ottawa on special leave for the purpose of attending the sessions of the house, as the representative of Skeena B.C. Colonel Peck stated that he intended meeting his regiment, the 16th Canadian Scottish Battalion, at the port of disembarkation, upon its arrival in the spring, accompanying it to its destination. Colonel Peck won the V.C. on the second of Arras, when accompanied by his pipers, he led his battalion in person before Cambrai, breaking down a resistance of machine guns that had defied the whole division. The pipers were all killed. His D.S.O. was won at Vimy Ridge, and a bar was added for work done in August of last year. Colonel Peck was mentioned five times in despatches and wears of course the ribbon of the 1914-15 star. He went overseas as a captain with the thirtieth battalion. This is the first trip to Canada since the outbreak of the war. He is a native of Albert County, New Brunswick.

Major Sir Andrew McPhail, Professor of the History of Medicine at McGill University, and editor of the University Magazine, is returning after two years spent with the medical staff of the second division. Sir Andrew stated that he left the Cologne bridgehead on January 9. It is his opinion that the Germans are a shattered people and know that their idols are fallen. He thought it probable that the Rhine would be held indefinitely, and that the Huns would be left to work out their own salvation. He stated that very little interest was being taken in the peace conference in England, and that the opinion prevailed that the League of Nations would keep the peace, so long as the nations were disposed to keep it and no longer. The League that could not protect Belgium was not likely to be any more effective in future, with Hottentots and Chinamen added to it, said the Major. As for the contribution made by the United States, Sir Andrew said nowhere was appreciation of the American effort so high as in the army, which alone knew the magnitude of the services rendered and the difficulties overcome. The unrest in England was merely the reaction that had come to the country after being bathed in blood for four years. The people were face to face with a new economic system. In times gone by the whole world worked for England and dumped on her shores food, raw material and more or less finished goods. That had been stopped, and now commodities were scarce and dear, and wages, as they always did, were lagging behind.

APPALLING CRIME

AT SARNIA, ONT.

Sarnia, Ont., Feb. 28—Three persons are dead as the result of a shooting which occurred at the railroad Y.M.C.A. here this morning at seven o'clock. Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the appalling crime.

Thirsty Chatham

Thieves Are Caught "With The Goods"

Two and One-Half Cases of Whisky Taken From Hickey's and Wine Brands and Gin From McKenzie's

Chatham, Mar. 2—On Thursday night, C.P. Hickey's drug store was broken into and two and one half cases of whisky were stolen along with some cigarettes. The thieves broke in the cellar window and made their way up from the cellar to the store, making their exit through the door. The chief of police got busy and located some of the stolen goods at the home of a young fellow named Walter Cripps. He was arrested early Friday morning with Thomas McCarthy. Fred King was taken in charge later in the day. Later on the former two admitted they broke into the store and took the goods, and said King was with them. The prisoners were arraigned in the police court on Saturday morning when Cripps and McCarthy pleaded guilty. King pleaded not guilty and was held for trial.

The self-confessed burglars have not been sentenced.

On Friday night an attempt was made to enter Hickey's store again, but the burglars could not get in, but were successful in entering McKenzie's drug store by breaking in the glass in the drug store door. They got a few bottles of wine and brandy and a jug of gin. So far no arrests have been made for this burglary.

Money to burn. Secretary-Treasurer Williston in the presence of Councilors Vanderbeck and Gill recently confined to the flames $25,000 worth of retired County Bonds.

Capt. Rev. B. J. Murdoch, son of R. A. Murdoch, who went overseas as Chaplain with the 132nd Battalion, arrived home Saturday night, and is receiving a warm welcome from his many friends.

RUNNING A PAPER

Jim Jones he was an editor—that's what he tried to be; He bought himself a printing press and started in to see Just what there was in editin', but when he'd canvassed 'round Some fifteen hundred editors in that town he found—

They all knew more about it than he could hope to know. They told him: "You must run her, Jones, and run her so and so. Be sure to boom the Baptists—they're sure to help you out. And give the good old Methodists a good salvation shout.

"Give every man a notice—be sure and let it be known Whenever Mayor Jinks is seen perambulating town. Put in a few free locals for all the stores and give Away some free subscriptions if you wish your sheet to live."

Well Jones, he did just what they said, for fear they'd make a row. But the more he tried to please 'em all the more they told him how. Until at last he took his book and laid it on the shelf. Then ran the paper in the ground, and followed it himself.

THOSE COPPER TOES

This town's just full of shoe salesmen, a new one every week—they're shoeing youths and maidens fair and matrons old and sleek.

But why, forsooth, do all these stores that cater for our trade forget to stock the slickest boot that ever cobbler made? We gaze and shake our heads again, 'tain't those, nor those, nor those, we were looking for the little boots that had the copper toes.

When we were kids—dear bless my soul, but that was long ago—we wouldn't think of wearin' boots without a copper toe.

Why, then these boots with copper toes, they make my eye grow dim a-thinkin' how we used to kick an empty salmon tin. We'd scuff the soles out in a month, we'd wear the heels away, and the observance of the blackin' brush would keep 'em kind of gray.

The strings would burst, we'd tie them up in wags born of despair, but that strip of copper on the toe, by Jine, 'twas always there.

The youngsters nowadays no doubt, are dressed in ways more fair from the patent leather on their feet to the ointment on their hair—but just as sure as mountain stream into the ocean flows, they've never made a thing to beat them with copper toes.

SHORTONROMANCE

Some Eminently Prosaic Proposals of Marriage.

Hardly as Picturesque as the Stilted Forms So Popular With Lovers in the Pages of Fiction, but Meant the Same Thing.

Perhaps the romantic proposals of fiction are more picturesque than the usual proposals of real life; the fact that lovers are reluctant witnesses make it hard to tell. But certainly the queer or comic proposals and attempted proposals of fiction cannot be any queerer than some of those recorded in actual chronicle of countryside tradition.

Mr. Howells in his reminiscences gives an amusing middle West example of a country bachelor who belatedly made up his mind to marry, and in his default of female acquaintance took his place on the top rail of a roadside fence and called to the first woman who passed: "Say! You a married woman?"

"And then at the frightened answer indignantly gasped out, 'Yes, sir!' he offered a mere 'Oh!' for an apology and explanation, and let himself vanish by falling into the cornfield behind him."

Almost equally contemptuous of finesse was a New England bachelor in middle life who had lived contentedly on his farm under the able administration of an aunt only a year or two older than himself. His next-door neighbor, and the owner of a small but cozy farmstead, was a competent and contented spinster, in whom Enos had displayed less than the ordinary neighborly interest. But one day he balled her over the dividing fence: "Hi, Selina!"

Selina did not immediately understand that she was being addressed, and so Enos leaned across the fence and continued shouting "Hi! Hi! Hi!" until he attracted her attention.

"Well, Enos, what is it?" she inquired, turning. Enos allowed her to walk close to the fence before he replied. "Aunt Jane's going to get married, so I guess I better, too. What d'ye think about it, Selina?"

"I think ye better, Enos." "Then ef ye'll have me, guess I better marry you, Selina." "Ef I will, Enos, I guess ye better." "Will ye, Selina?" "I won't Enos." "Shucks, Selina, ye better." "That's your say-so, Enos. My idee is, I bettern't!"

Certainly, whether she would have bettered herself or otherwise, she did not marry Enos, and he remained a bachelor.

Even less of grace and glamor attended the courtship of a prosaic youth by the name of Joseph and his sweetheart—if that term is not too poetic—the excellent and practical Susannah. Coming up her father's farm lane, Joseph perceived her crossing it at the far end with a bucket of pig wash, and called to her to wait for him.

"Can't stop, Joe, the pigs are waiting," she shouted back. "Jest I got something to say to ye!" yelled Joe.

"Ye can say it after I've fed the pigs!" shrieked Susannah. Joe broke into a run. As he approached her, where she had paused reluctantly to await him, he panted indignantly, "Ye got to let the darn critters wait for once, Sue! Hang it, I want to propose!"

"Come along and propose, then," responded Susannah with sweet encouragement. "Ye kin do it while we feed the pigs, can't ye, Joe?"

Joe coughed and did; Susannah accepted him; the pigs were fed. Whether or no the match was made in heaven, it proved as happy as if its atmosphere of early bliss on earth had not been mingled with the aroma of the pigpen. —Years of My Youth.

A Sidelight.
I've talked with some of the infantry coming down here and they have wonderful tales to tell. The French are wildly enthusiastic over the American campaign—one French regiment passed me going into action waving the American flag.

Some-time when I have time I'll sit down and analyze the sensations: they're indelible—it's a sort of high excitement that makes anything possible. It's taken at least three hits to stop any of our men. Generally they keep on going, nevertheless, until they can't go any farther—then shoot from where they are until they're picked off or the advance goes too far ahead, and the litter bearers get them and bring them in.—From Letter of an American Artillery Lieutenant, printed in Collier's Weekly.

So He Passed.
From France comes the following little story of the irrepressible spirits of the Australian fighting men:

Among the wounded brought into the ward was a young Billjam whom we knew at once was soon going west. He was quite conscious, and an Australian sister set herself to make his last few hours on this planet as comfortable as possible. He wanted to be wrapped up with pillows, and to this she assented: "Put your arms around my shoulders, that I can raise you gently." "You bet your life, sister," whispered the irrepressible lad with a smile; "It's a long, long time since I had my arms around a dinkum Aussie girl." And then he ended his great crusade.

Chinese Hosts to Studio Folk

So pleased were the Chinese of Los Angeles with "The City of Dim Faces," the latest Paramount Picture starring Sessue Hayakawa which is being shown at the Happy Hour on Thursday, that they gave a special dinner in Chinatown in honor of Miss Frances Marion, the author, George Melford, the director, Sessue Hayakawa, the star, and the other members of the company. About fifty of the Chinese appeared in the picture, which they voted the only true-to-life story of their countrymen they had ever seen. So, led by Moon Kwan, a young Chinese poet, and fiction writer, who acted as interpreter during the filming of the picture, they planned the dinner. The affair was delightful in every respect.

Many Questions for The Electors

When Plebiscite is Taken On Temperance Question

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—It is understood that when the question of prohibition was under consideration in the government caucus today it was suggested by many members that when a plebiscite is taken subsequent to the return of Canada's fighting men to be submitted to the people, it was their home several questions should be argued they should be asked whether they desire bone dry prohibition, or the sale of light wines and beer. Another suggestion was that the people should decide whether the sale of such beverages as may be voted for, if any, should be in the hands of licensed private citizens or under government, also whether bars should be allowed or the sale confined to government dispensaries, or privately owned stores. There was no definite announcement by the government as to what course would be adopted when the referendum is held, and there will be further consideration of the matter at caucus in the future.

QUADRUPLETS BORN

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—With the birth of quadruplets, Mrs. Annina Lizi has thirteen children. Mrs. Lizi has been the mother of eighteen, but five are dead. She is also the grandmother of five children.

Of the quadruplets, two are boys and two girls. The boys were named Dominick and Anthony and the girls Rita and Martha. The new children are physically perfect. Each weighs about seven pounds. The girls are blonde and the boys dark.

Mrs. Lizi was born in Philadelphia forty two years ago. She was married when fifteen years old to John Lizi, who was born in Italy.

DERELICT IN BAY OF FUNDY DISAPPEARED

St. John, Feb. 25.—I. Chesley, agent of the Marine and Fisheries department, has received a wireless message from the G.P.O.S. liner Tydens, outward bound, notifying him that the steamer had passed a derelict seven miles off the Lurcher Light in the Bay of Fundy.

Later Mr. Chesley got in touch with the caretaker of the light and was informed that there was a derelict in sight and it was on fire.

Later he received another message that the derelict had exploded and spare and other wreckage were floating about, but the hull had disappeared.

SUFFRAGETTES EJECTED FROM BOSTON JAIL

Boston, Feb. 26.—Three of the suffragists who were sent to the Charles Street jail because they refused to pay fines, imposed as a result of a demonstration while President Wilson was in that city on Monday, were forcibly ejected from the jail after T. H. Howe had paid their fines of $5 each. The state laws provides that prisoners must be released immediately after fines are paid.

When Sheriff Kellher announced that their fines had been paid they declared they would not leave their cells. Two deputies were summoned for each suffragist and the women were carried out, struggling and screaming and placed upon the sidewalk.

The three women announced that they would consult an attorney if an injunction could be brought to restrain the Sheriff from accepting payment of their fines without their consent.

Mr. Howe, who paid the fines, is unknown to the women.

SMILE NEVER OUT OF PLACE

One Thinks It Can Be, Here Is a Little List to Be Used as a Guide.

Get a smile in your voice, an exchange suggests.

When you talk over the telephone. When your wife tells you what you ought to have done and you try to explain why you didn't.

When your little boy asks you for something and you have to refuse.

When a confused woman with a scrambled mind is buying at your counter and doesn't know what she wants.

When you're selling tickets at the railway window and an irritating purchaser is asking forty-nine useless questions.

When you tell the waiter to hurry along with the food, as you have an engagement.

When you call up the grocer and tell him that the things you ordered two hours ago haven't come yet, and here it is about dinner time.

When you're a policeman and tell an automobilist that he can't park there, but must go over to the other side of the street.

When you're an usher in a theater and ask somebody to rise so that some other people may pass.

When you take your husband out into the next room and ask him why he brought those men to dinner without letting you know, so you could have prepared for them.

When you inform the young man that while you cannot love him as he asks, yet you will be a sister to him.

When you tell Willie and the neighbor boys not to rehearse the battle of the Somme on the front porch.

When you tell the bore, "Don't go. Here is your hat."

When you're busy and worried and somebody asks you foolish question No. 99.

When you meet an old friend unexpectedly.

When the hired girl tells you she is sorry, but the roast is burnt.

When the pup has gone off with your overshoe, or your young son has made ink marks all over an important paper on your desk, or you can't find your hat although you are positive you hung it right there, or the missus is not ready and you have barely time now to get to the show if you would see the first act, or you have to tell your clerk the same thing the tenth time, or you have done a fine act with the best of intentions and find you're in the wrong and everybody blames you for it.

Smile when you say it. You'd just as well. And don't you forget the telephone.

Excuses Somewhat "Fishy"

Two men, who are quite well off, but very miserly in their expenditures, met recently in the gallery of a theater.

Each was annoyed to be seen by the other in the cheapest place of the house.

"What brings you here?" each asked the other.

"To tell the truth," said the first, "I've got a fearful cold in my head, and as the heat ascends, I came up here where it is warm. Besides, I'm a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. But what brings you here?"

"My opera glasses!"

"Your opera glasses?"

"Yes; they enlarge too much. I can't see from the boxes what is going on on the stage. I have to come up here in the gallery to be able to see with them at all!"

Much Honey in Australia

The supply of sugar in Australia is as limited as it is here, but one part, the state of New South Wales, has an abundance of sweet on hand. It is honey. A record crop was gathered last year and next month this season's crop will be collected. Because of limited shipping space exports were stopped, but the beekeepers are now asking that the embargo be raised.

Edible Fish in Bosphorus

Dr. William W. Peet, who recently returned to the United States from Turkey, says that there are 80 varieties of edible fish in the Bosphorus. During normal times great wagonloads of these fish were carried through Constantinople. A fish 20 inches long often sold for the equivalent of five cents. The poor were thus able to obtain food for very little money. Today a similar fish is sold for ten times the usual price. "This is not because there are fewer fish in the Bosphorus," said Doctor Peet, "but because there is no longer an adequate supply of fishermen."

CARBONOL

Makes Housekeeping Sure and Easy

FOR house-cleaning, put a little Carbonol in a pail of water—the water immediately becomes a most powerful cleanser, with greater grease-dissolving power. Soap and water tend to make a floor decay, but Carbonol has the opposite effect, killing the germs of decay. Sprinkle some Carbonol on the grout-can, and the smell will be replaced by a clean, healthy airy odor, less attractive to flies.

For grimy, greasy floors use a little Carbonol and water. Different makers remove stains on clothing or carpets, especially greasy stains.

In the kitchen sink, use Carbonol to dissolve away the grease. If the drain-trap is clogged with grease, a spoonful of pure Carbonol will frequently clear it.

Carbonol has a hundred uses for cleaning and disinfecting. A small bottle goes a long way. If your local store can't supply you write to:

UNION GOVERNMENT

It is very much to be hoped that those who voted for and supported Union Government will not be drawn back to party politics until the world has overcome anarchy and Bolshevism.

The men who left their party politics behind, and formed a union with their political opponents, did so solely out of patriotism.

A strong Government was needed while the war was in progress. A strong Government is needed now. There never was a time when the world was in such a state of turmoil as today.

NOTES BY THE WAY

It is likely that the sessional allowances to members of the Dominion Parliament will be increased to $2,500 a year.

Such is the perversity of human nature, that while returned soldiers and sailors are trying to get good jobs, men with good jobs are enthusiastically going on strike.

New Hampshire has passed a law forbidding the use of cider or Jamaica ginger for beverage purposes, but have taken no action regarding lemon extract, which is quite popular locally.

In sentencing Reeve Weber of Neustadt, Ont., to one month in jail and a fine of $1,500 for making seditious statements Judge Lennox, of Owen Sound, said that Reeve Weber displayed some of the worst characteristics of a bad citizen.

Who, a few months just before
In health and strength left friends and home.

Training Disabled Soldiers

ABOUT 18 months ago it first became possible for a returned soldier, who had been so disabled by service that it was impossible for him to resume his former civil occupation, to take a course of training under government supervision and pay, which fitted him for some new occupation, and the pursuit of which would not be prevented by his disability. In other words, his case was carefully considered, his disability taken into account, and his training arranged so that in his new occupation he could develop 100% efficiency. As an example take a machinist who had lost a leg; obviously his disability was such that he could not resume that occupation. He had a knowledge of blue prints and drawing and some latent ability in a drawing line. He was pressed for a course as a mechanical draughtsman. At the termination of his course he was employed at a wage nearly equal to his wage as a machinist. The loss of a leg was no handicap as his new occupation did not call for any moving around. Thus this man seriously handicapped as a machinist, was enabled to overcome his handicap and compete successfully with any other draughtsman.

Finishing a locomotive link and union bearing cap.

Operating a double headed vertical slotting machine.

Owing to the increasing number of different trades and occupations in which it became imperative that training places should be found. Obviously if a man was to be trained for a position in a machine shop, the place to train him was right in the particular machine shop in which he would eventually be employed. This resulted in the institution of industrial surveys. One of the first industries in Montreal to be surveyed was the Angus Shops (Canadian Pacific Railway). It can readily be understood that these shops, employing thousands of skilled men in practically all kinds of mechanical work, offered great opportunities for the training of disabled men. The above mentioned industrial survey consisted of a detailed report on every position in the Angus Shops; it showed among other things the exact nature of the work done and what disabilities would hinder a man from doing the work. This survey was a guide to the District Vocational Officer, as a reference to it showed immediately what mechanical work a disabled man would be physically able to do without being troubled by his disability.

From the outset in every official of the C. P. R. who was approached expressed great interest in the work, and by co-operation rendered most material assistance in the re-education of disabled soldiers in civilian occupations. The general scheme of training adopted by the Invalided Soldiers Commission is to give any man taking a machine shop training about three-quarters of his course in the machine shop at McGill University, then place him out with an industry such as the Angus Shops to finish that course and gain the necessary practical experience. During the time that the man is taking this training, he is drawing full pay and allowances from the Invalided Soldiers Commission so the firm with which he is working is not called on to pay him anything. In this way the man becomes accustomed to his work in a place where he will probably be employed at the termination of his course, and the employer, having had the man under him for some time, knows something about his work. This method generally results in disabled men being absorbed into the industries for which they have been trained with no gap between termination of course and employment and is thus satisfactory to all concerned.

EMPLOYEE
It might appear from the foregoing that the employment offered by the C. P. R. to men being trained by the Invalided Soldiers Commission is confined to positions in the Angus Shops. Such however is not the case. Every department has taken on men, clerks, draughtsmen, telegraphers, etc. In some industries there has been a tendency to fight shy of the returned man, the reason stated being his inability and consequent lack of power of concentration on his work. Not so with the C. P. R. Every consideration is shown the returned man and every possible allowance is made which will assist him in re-establishing himself in civil life. The attitude taken by the higher officials of the C. P. R. in regard to disabled soldier students is mirrored in the following letter of instructions issued to foremen:
THE RETURNED SOLDIER AS AN EMPLOYEE
How do you treat a returned soldier working under you? Do you consider him as an ordinary workman, let him shift for himself and look on his mistakes only as you would an ordinary employee? If so, you are assuming that he is in all respects just a normal man and should be able to do the same work as quickly and as well as the average employee. If you do, you are wrong. Many returned soldiers' constitutions are broken down. They have been passed, shell shocked and tortured by wounds. And consequently are highly strung and nervous and will be for some time to come. What they make of themselves depends on you. If one of these men make a mistake and is roughly reprimanded, he is likely to shake like a leaf, get excited, etc., and be very difficult to make anything of; this is wrong. The greatest tact, care and attention that you can give these men in helping them to become useful employees is what the Company expects, and, moreover, you owe it to them. There are bound to be some exceptions and some men will fail to make good. The success or failure of the majority, however, depends on you, and it is your privilege to help your country in this national crisis by endeavoring to make useful citizens out of the nerve-shattered men that are commencing to come back to us from the front. Is further proof of the interest of the C. P. R. necessary? Not now for results. Of the first hundred men to complete Industrial Educational Courses in this unit, ten were employed by the C. P. R., i. e., These men have taken courses in no less than 12 different trades, so it is obvious that the C. P. R. is assisting splendidly.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver. It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome. This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, also suffer from loss from headache, neuralgia, biliousness and constipation.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MAVIS BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

ROYAL WEDDING AT WESTMINSTER

London, Feb. 27.—Princess Patricia of Connaught and Commander Alexander R. M. Ramsay, R.N., were married at Westminster Abbey at noon today. No other social event since the outbreak of the war has created such public interest. Crowds assembled early in the day along the route over which the Princess drove with her father, the Duke of Connaught, from St. James' Palace to Westminster Abbey.

The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Dean of Westminster and other noted ecclesiastics, in the presence of King George and Queen Mary and a great assemblage of members of the Royal Family, distinguished officials of the British and foreign governments, and friends and visitors from abroad. The Prince of Wales made a special visit from the Continent to attend the ceremony.

In the fashionable audience in the great nave of the Abbey seats were found for a number of the friends of the Princess among the plain people, and also representatives of charitable organizations in which she was interested. The Abbey was not decorated, the Princess asking that no attempt be made to supplement with flowers the classic beauty of the ancient edifice. The bride entered by the west door, used only on occasions of importance. Her gown was of white broadcloth paneled with silver lace the outer gown being caught up with silver lover's knots. She carried a bouquet presented by the Princess Patricia's Canadian Regiment tied with the regimental colors.

The procession was led by a choir singing "Praise my soul, the King of Heaven." The gentlemen ushers, Sir Douglas F. Dawson, Sir Derek W. Keppel, Viscount Sandhurst and Viscount Farquhar followed, then came Princess Patricia with her father. They were followed by the pages and bridesmaids.

The bride was given away by her father. During the service the choir sang the hymn "O Perfect Love" and the anthem "Who is like unto Thee, O Lord." After the ceremony the registrar was signed in the chapel of Edward the Confessor. Then, as the bridal couple proceeded towards the door, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played. A procession of the Royal Family and peers and peeresses followed, led by the Duke of Connaught and Queen Mary, King George and Queen Mother Alexandra, and former King Manuel of Portugal and his wife who was formerly Princess Augustina Victoria of Oehenzollern. A guard of honor from the Princess Pat's Canadian Regiment was stationed at the door, sharing honors with seamen from H.M.S. George V. Court mourning over the death of Prince John was waived for the occasion and the elegant gowns of the ladies lent a festive air to the assemblage. The wedding presents, which are still arriving, number nearly 700 and range from homely market baskets to priceless diamonds. Princess Patricia presented Commander Ramsay with a bust of herself, while his gift to the bride was a Chinese lacquered cabinet.

LUDENDORFF SEEKING FOR VINDICATION

Berlin, Feb. 26.—Gen. Ludendorff, who is credited with having been the guiding mind in the final German offensives in the west, has addressed to President Ebert through the German legation at Copenhagen a communication announcing his return to Germany and requesting that a court of inquiry be convened for the purpose of securing for him the vindication to which he declares he is entitled. "It is necessary on behalf of my country and myself," he says "that full clarity prevail in respect to my conduct during the war and as to where the roots of our misfortunes are really to be found."

Says Epidemic Sure To Recur

American Authority Predicts Influenza will be Prevalent Next Week

Washington, March 1.—Recurrence next winter of the influenza epidemic which caused thousands of deaths in all parts of the country during the past five months, was predicted today by Rear Admiral W. C. Braisted, surgeon-general of the navy, in a letter to Representative Foss, of Ohio, urging that an appropriation be made by Congress for research work to determine the cause of the disease and its cure.

An appropriation of $300,000 for the study of diseases is carried in the sundry civil appropriation bill now before the House, but Admiral Braisted said this would not be sufficient to undertake the research work on the necessary large scale. He recommended a special appropriation to be divided between the public health service, the surgeon-general of the army and the surgeon-general of the navy.

EXPLOSION WAS NOT DUE TO ACCIDENT

Halifax, Feb. 27.—The Evening News, of New Glasgow, states that an investigation recently undertaken by the police of that place in collaboration with two federal detectives has strengthened the view held for some time that the explosion of last year in the Allan Shaft entailing the loss of eighty lives was not the result of an accident and that important and highly sensational developments may be expected shortly. Chief of Police Francis states that the evidence which convinced him that the explosion was deliberately planned is now in the hands of the proper authorities at Ottawa.

DETERMINED TO DIE

Port Arthur, Feb. 28.—Victor Tomelo, a Finlander, aged 37, employed on the C.N.R. near Atkokaan, went into the woods yesterday and hanged himself to a tree. The rope broke and with a knife he slashed his throat, but could not find the jugular vein. Then he got a sharp hand hatchet and hit himself two blows on the face. The first severed the nose and the second made a deep cut in his forehead. When found he was bleeding profusely, but not dead, and was put on a train for Port Arthur. He died from loss of blood before reaching here.

Clemenceau Is Back At Congress

Paris, Feb. 28—Premier Clemenceau yesterday attended the meeting of the great powers, the first time he met his conferees since the attempt against his life a little more than a week ago. The Premier remained for half an hour discussing various great questions in which France is highly interested. He told his colleagues he would return next week to resume the presidency of the conference.

The Premier looked well and vigorous and gave no sign of the ordeal he had undergone. David Lloyd-George the British Premier, has made arrangements so that he will arrive in Paris March 8, when it is expected that all the commissions will have reported, that Premier Clemenceau will again be president and that action will be begun on the preliminary peace treaty.

M. Clemenceau paid a visit to President Poincaré at the Elysee Palace. Later he returned to the war ministry, where he received numerous visitors, among them Marshal Foch.

Stern Reminders Of Rheumatism

Cold or Wet Weather May Start the Pains but the Trouble is in the Blood

Every rheumatic sufferer would realize that rheumatism is rooted in the blood and can only be cured by a treatment that will cleanse the blood of the rheumatic poisons. The old-time belief that rheumatism was caused by cold, damp weather is now exploded. Such weather conditions may start the aches and pains, but is not the real cause. Liniments and outward applications may give temporary relief, but cannot cure the source in the blood. The sufferer from rheumatism who experiments outward applications is only wasting valuable time and good money in depending upon such treatment, the trouble still remains, and it is all the time becoming more firmly rooted—harder to cure when the proper treatment is applied. Treat this disease through the blood and you will soon be rid of the pains and tortures. As a cure for rheumatism Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unequalled. They act directly on the impure, weak blood; they purify and strengthen it, and so root out the cause of rheumatism. Mr. D. Lewis, postmaster of Escuminac, N.B., says:

"I was attacked with rheumatism which settled in my elbow, shoulder and knee joints, and at times caused me great suffering. The trouble was particularly severe last spring and I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking the pills for some time the rheumatic pains and stiffness in the joints disappeared and I have not since had any return of the trouble."

If you are suffering from rheumatism, or any trouble due to poor blood and weak nerves, you will find a cure in a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can procure these Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cannot Visit Soldiers' Graves

Ottawa, Feb. 28—The militia department desires to inform all relatives and others interested that the imperial Government is not in a position to grant passes to visit soldiers' graves in France.

In some instances there is no transportation whatever to places where the graves are located. Where transportation exists, it is entirely taken up for military purposes. There is also little or no accommodation. Cable advices have been received from overseas to the effect that a number of people not in possession of the above information have arrived in England with a view of visiting France to see the graves of relatives.

Find White Girls In An Opium Den

Toronto, Feb. 28—There is an underworld in Toronto, exactly like the kind you read about in dime novels, Yankee magazines and other high-class literature. This morning police court habitués were permitted to look behind the veil. Magistrate Kingsford was so impressed by what he saw beyond the veil that he increased a fine of $100 and costs or four months, imposed upon Kong Hong, for keeping an opium joint at 175 Richmond street west, to $200 and costs.

It was 2.30 a.m. when Plainclothesmen Waterhouse and McMahon broke into the premises. The scene within was a revelation, although not unknown to older police officers. The place was dimly lit by two twinkling oil lamps, the air heavy with a sickening smell of opium. Oriental draperies decorated the walls, and on a small oak stand an oil lamp burned its dull flame going in and out as an opium pipe drew fresh life from the fame. Chinamen in various stages of insensibility lolled about in ungraceful positions, sucking slowly, dreamily at their stinking pipes, their eyes opening and shutting like the eyes of a fat porker finishing his swill.

And in the centre of this sordid scene lay two white girls—very white girls—their faces as bloodless as dead flesh, their eyes black-rimmed and heavy in stupefying slumber. Who they were, or what their story the police didn't say.

"The graveness of the charge against Kong Hong is that white women have been going to his place. The seductive mysteries of the Orient still fascinate the chaste women of the west," said Mr. Corley. It was when Magistrate Kingsford learned this that he changed the fine to $200.

One of the most interesting events of the season was the informal dance given by the members of the Elks Society in the Town Hall on Friday evening last. There was a large number of invited guests and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all. Mesdames E. H. Sinclair, Walter Amy, D. King Hazen, John Morrissey and John Russell were the chaperones.

The ten days' course at the Vocational School, Woodstock, closed on Friday. There were eighteen pupils enrolled to take the different courses with four teachers. Miss Nutter, assistant supervisor, had charge of domestic science; Miss Roach, dressmaking; Miss Norwood, nursing; Miss Love, millinery. Courses will be continued by the same teachers in the following places: Edmundston, Fredericton, Newcastle, Bathurst, Sussex St. Stephen and St. John.

The regular monthly meeting of Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. C. C. Hayward, Tuesday evening, March 11th. Matters pertaining to school and hospital work will be considered. Roll call to be answered by "Useful Housekeeping Hints." A paper by Mrs. Kinley on "Making Success of Failure," and another on "Systematic Housekeeping" by Mrs. Stothart will add to the pleasure of the evening.

The death of Elizabeth, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. George Nowlan, of Douglastown, occurred very suddenly on Sunday last, at the age of thirteen months. The funeral was held on Monday, Rev. J. G. Cormier officiating. Deceased leaves her parents and the following brothers and sisters: Ernest, Vincent, Isabel and Jean; also the following half-sisters and half-brothers: James, Daniel and George, overseas; Roger, Anne and Mary.

The week-end market at Fredericton was quite largely attended Saturday morning both by farmers and purchasers. The meat market stood about the same as last week. Beef sold for 12 to 15 cents a pound. Veal held the same price, from 13 to 20 cents, and pork sold for 22 and 23 cents a pound. Fowl sold for 35 and chickens brought 40 cents a pound. Eggs sold for 60 cents a dozen, although a few purchasers obtained them for 55 cents. Vegetables were scarce, but what were on hand sold for the usual prices. Potatoes sold for from $2.50 to 3.00 a barrel, turnips sold for $1 a barrel and carrots for $1 a half barrel.

The Fire Department was called out late Saturday night to a slight blaze which was discovered in the shoe store of Mr. W. A. O'Donnell on Water Street, just before twelve o'clock. The blaze was extinguished by the firemen in a very few minutes after their arrival, but quite a lot of damage was done to the stock of boots and shoes in the store by water and smoke. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed that some careless customer must have laid a lighted cigarette or cigar on one of the shelves where it smouldered for some time, finally setting fire to a box, which in turn started a blaze between the walls of the building. It was fortunate that the fire was discovered before it reached serious dimensions as the buildings nearby are all of wood. It is understood that the loss is fully covered by insurance.—Light.
