An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial. It causes bunces in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"Two of my children had scrofula sores which kept growing deeper and kept them from going to school for three months. Ointments and medicines did no good until I began giving them Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine cured the sores to heal, and the children have shown no signs of scrofula since." J. W. McGinn, Woodstock, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla will rid you of it, radically and permanently, as it has rid thousands.

FRIDAY evening Frank McEwen and Blaisland of Murrell had a narrow escape from drowning. They went in a small boat to attend their herring nets which were set outside St. Peter's Harbor. At the entrance of the harbor the sea was very high and the boat not being able to stand the force of the breakwater capsized. For some time the men clung to the boat but seeing no prospect of assistance they struck out for the shore. McEwen safely landed and by shouting summoned several men to their aid. They rescued Blaisland, who benumbed and exhausted was unable to reach shore. As he was unconscious a doctor was summoned and restorative administered.

The Centenary of Bossuet.

The Rev. Patrick Boyle, O. M., of the Irish College, Paris, contributes to the Ecclesiastical Record for April an opportune article on the second centenary of Bossuet, which France celebrated on April 12th this year.

Our readers will be glad to recapitulate with Father Boyle the events of the life of this able, virtuous and courageous churchman, friend of St. Vincent de Paul, monitor of King Louis XIV., and as a preacher associated forever with events of the intensest human and historic interest in the life of France.

James Benignus Bossuet was born at Dijon in 1627. His elementary studies were made at the Jesuit College in his native town. Thence he passed to Paris, and entered the College of Navarre, at that time the most distinguished in the University. Here he studied with marked success, and in 1652 obtained the degree of doctor of theology.

The following year found Bossuet in a wider field of labor. In 1659 he came to Paris as delegate of the chapter of Metz on the business of that body. From that date until his appointment to the See of Condom and to the office of preceptor of the Dauphin, his labors in the pulpit were unceasing.

of Paris. He gave conferences in the parlors of convents to select audiences of pious persons, explaining to them familiarly the Epistle or Gospel of the office of the Church. He maintained his early relations with St. Vincent de Paul, and at his request, and probably in his presence, he preached one of his most beautiful sermons, that on "The eminent dignity of the Poor of the Church," in aid of the mother house of the Sisters of Providence, whom Vincent had founded.

Unfortunately the conferences delivered by Bossuet during those retreats have not been preserved. The year 1670 marks an epoch in the life of Bossuet. In that year he received episcopal consecration as Bishop of Condom, a See which he soon after resigned to undertake the office of preceptor of the Dauphin of France.

When the assembly came to a close, Bossuet set out for his diocese. It was comparatively obscure; even at the present day the episcopal city of Meaux contains only 12,833 inhabitants. Here Bossuet devoted himself with energy for two and twenty years to the duties of the episcopal office, to the visitation of his diocese, and the celebration of synods. In the moments of leisure which he could find amidst his official duties, he applied himself to study and to the composition of learned works, such as his "History of the Variations of the Protestant Churches."

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Scott's Emulsion is the means of life and of the enjoyment of life of thousands of men, women and children. To the men Scott's Emulsion gives the flesh and strength so necessary for the cure of consumption and the repairing of body losses from any wasting disease.

the "Sanctity of the Priesthood and on Prayer as the Mark of it"; at other times on "Preaching"; on "Catechizing," on "Mission of the Preacher," on "The Duty of Preaching," on "Preaching by Example." The text of his last synodal address was "Deposita Custodi." In it he urged his clergy to guard with care the deposit of discipline, and the deposit of temporal goods, for the relief of the poor.

Apostolic Union of Catholic Priests.

PIUS POPX IN PERPETUAL MEMORY OF THIS MATTER.

Like our predecessors, we are very desirous of promoting by our fatherly solicitude and by the exercise of our Apostolic Authority the welfare, edification and spiritual advantage of the Catholic clergy, as it is our earnest wish that all called to the Lord's portion should be rich in the constant practice of Christian virtues, shining as an example to the people like lights set upon a candlestick.

Considering how useful and salutary for the Church, especially at a time like the present, is an association of this kind, and knowing well that the priests who belong to the Apostolic Union of Secular Priests are the best of priests, we do willingly and gladly accede to the petition addressed to us by our beloved son, Victor Lebeurier, Honorary Canon of Orleans, and our Domestic Prelate, the worthy founder of this Apostolic Union, and for the last forty-two years its Moderator General. To this end we do make the following provisions for the advantage and increase of the said association.

That all may know our mind, with regard to this Union, we do, as a special proof of our paternal love for it, assume and reserve to ourselves the protectorate of this institution. Moreover, in order that the priests who are members of the Apostolic Union may be strengthened by an opportune supply of spiritual graces, and in order that these same indulgences may move others to enroll their names in this most salutary association as a means of providing more efficaciously for their own spiritual welfare and for their sacred interests, we, relying on the mercy of Almighty God, do, by the authority of the Blessed Apostles Peter and Paul and by our own authority, grant mercifully in the Lord in perpetuity, by virtue of these presents, plenary indulgence and remission of their sins to priests, all and several living in any part of the world who at present belong to this Apostolic Union, and have duly subscribed to the formula of profession, and to all who shall in the future join it and make such profession, who while retaining their membership in it shall on each and any of the Feasts of Christmas, the Circumcision, the Epiphany, Easter, the Ascension, Corpus Christi, as well as on the feasts of the Conception, Nativity, Annunciation, Purification, and Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary Immaculate, and on any feast of the twelve Holy Apostles, after having expiated their sins by confession and said Mass or approached the Holy Table, visit any church or public chapel, and there pray on each and every feast for the concord of Christian princes, the extirpation of heresy, the conversion of sinners and the exaltation of Holy Mother Church.

The following note was received recently by a teacher in a Cambridge Sunday-school:—"Dear Teacher:—Kindly excuse Minnie for having been absent from Sunday school last Sunday, as she fell in the mud on her way to the church. By doing the same, you will oblige."

The explorer was entertaining his friends with yarns of the ice country. "And once," he related, "I was cornered by a polar bear and didn't have a bullet to protect myself. Tears came in my eyes and I thought of home."

After the hard work of the winter, the eating of rich and heavy foods, the system becomes clogged up with waste and poisonous matter, and the blood becomes thick and sluggish. This causes Loss of Appetite, Bileousness, Lack of Energy and that tired, weary, listless feeling so prevalent in the spring. The cleansing, blood-purifying action of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, eliminates all the pent-up poison from the system, starts the sluggish liver working, acts on the Kidneys and Bowels, and renders it, without exception, The Best Spring Medicine.
