JOB PRINTING

WHEN YOU ARE READING

Does the print run together?
Do black spots appear before your eyes?
Do you have to place the light between yourself and the print?
Do you find it necessary to hold the book further away in order to see distinctly?

If you observe any of the above signs it means you are no longer able to adapt your eyes to focus rays of light coming from different distances. A contest with failing sight is hopeless. You should wear properly fitted glasses. Consult us.

THE FAIR IMPOSTOR.

CHAPTER XXVII. PUT TO THE TEST.

SIR Talbot extended his hand, which Harold grasped. "God bless you, Harold," he said, brokenly. "I was not deceived in you! But do not think I could have done this if I had not known almost a year ago that it would come back to you! I know she loves you Harold."

Harold sighed, almost inaudibly. "You doubt it—surely not? You shall hear her admit it with her own lips. Come, let me do your wooing for you, Harold. She is a strange girl—poor darling! Let me—go, Harold, and see if she is still up. If she is, ask her to come to me. You shall hear it from her own lips."

Harold moved toward the door. "You will not send for me if—she refuses me?" he said.

"No, no!" replied Sir Talbot. "But she will not refuse. Do I not know her?—I, her father? Go, Harold, and send her to me!"

Harold left the room, but stood outside the door. "Was it true? Did she really love him? Sir Talbot, in his loving watchfulness, was not likely to be mistaken. She loved him! Notwithstanding that other sweet lady which rose before him, Harold's heart beat fast and the color surged to his face. He would have been less than man, if he could have remained unmoved under the reflection that such a woman as Lillian loved him. If it were true there would be no more indecision, the thing only remained to be done—to place himself at her feet and take her as his own. A few minutes would decide this question.

He sprang up the stairs, and knocked at her room, expecting her maid to answer him; but, to his surprise, Lillian opened the door and stood before him.

She had exchanged the magnificent evening dress, and had thrown round her graceful figure a snow-white dressing wrap, trimmed with some soft, white fur; her hair, shorn of its diamonds, was curled in great, loose, silken twists; her face was pale, as he saw it the first moment, but flushed the faintest rose, as her eyes fell upon him.

"I thought it was my maid," she said, in explanation. With a slight look of apprehension, she said: "Is anything the matter—has anything happened?"

"No," said Harold, his eyes taking in her marvelous beauty with a new feeling, almost of proprietorship. "No, nothing is the matter. Your father sent me to ask you if you could go down to him for a few minutes."

She came outside in an instant.

"What is it?" she asked, and again the look of apprehension crossed her face.

Harold hesitated a moment; then he said, gently: "I will let him tell you, Lillian," he said.

She noticed the Lillian; of late he had rarely addressed her by her name.

"I will come," she said, and put her hand on his arm.

"Don't be alarmed," he murmured. "I am not alarmed," she said, with a smile. "Is it anything to cause me to be?"

"I hope not," he said, with a wistful smile. Then he said, gravely: "By the way, you know your father's looking—well, rather ill. He had something like a fainting fit—but he is better now. I thought it better to prepare you."

"Ill!" she murmured. "Thanks. Yes, it is better."

They passed down the corridor in silence.

Harold paused, with his hand on the library door.

"Lillian," he began—then stopped. "No; he shall tell you! If he asks for me, I shall be in the dining room."

She inclined her head, and went in; stood for a moment looking at him with anxious eyes, then glided across the room, and fell at his knees.

"Father!"

"It is nothing, nothing, my darling," he murmured. "Don't be frightened. Not a word about myself—not yet, at least. Has—has Harold told you?"

She shook her head; her eyes fastened on his face.

"It is as well," he said. "I can speak for him better than he can speak for himself. Lillian, he loves you!"

With a slight start she drew her head back, and looked at him; and with her hands clasped on his knees, she dropped her head and was silent.

He passed his white, trembling hand over the thick tresses of her hair lovingly.

"He loves you, my darling," he repeated, in a low voice. "Are you glad or sorry? I cannot see your eyes. Are you wondering why he has not told you himself. It is because I asked him to let me do so. Lillian, if I know you—if I have not dwelt upon your every word and look since

Sciatic Rheumatism

Unable to work or sleep—Six years of suffering—Cured by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mr. Alex. Ethier, Jr., Clarence Creek, Russell Co., Ont., writes:—"My nervous system was run down to such an extent that I suffered a great deal from weakness of the nerves and sciatic rheumatism, and at times was like one paralyzed. I could not work, was unable to sleep, and had no appetite. "Nothing seemed to build up my nerves until I made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After having used about $12.00 worth of this medicine I feel like a new man. I can walk all right, do a great deal of work, have a good appetite and sleep well every night. "When you have tired of experiments you can turn to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food knowing that persistent treatment is bound to be rewarded with lasting beneficial results. But you must get the genuine, bearing portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. 50 cts. at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipe."

—since you came back to me in vain —I do not think you will say you are sorry. So sure am I, that I have asked him to let me have the happiness—which should be his—of first hearing from your own lips that the great hope of my life will be realized. Tell me that it is so, Lillian! He loves—my good, honest, straightforward Harold—as only such a man can love. And how great such a love can be, you cannot even conjecture, but you will learn in time. You do not speak, darling! You are not surprised, not—not sorry?"

At the sharp alarm and dread in his voice, she looked up and drew his hand to her lips.

"My child, my Lillian!" he murmured; "it is as I have wished, as I have longed that it might be! You love him Lillian? Ah, if you knew how anxiously, how impatiently I have waited for this moment, you would realize how sweet, how glad a one it is to me! Lillian, I have watched you for months, hung on your every word and look, watching for some sign that should tell me all was going well with my great desire! You have hidden it well, my darling, or—was there some vague barrier between you? Yes! I knew it, and knew what it was. It was pride! It was only natural that my darling should be proud; but there is no excuse now, Lillian. Listen dear; it is not a penniless maid that the future Sir Harold of Woodleigh wooes, but Lillian, Sir Talbot's heiress. If he cares to lay his title at your feet, you, as you stoop to take it, can place in his hand that which the world prizes even beyond a title—wealth! You will be rich, my darling, when I am gone—richer than you think!"

She looked up, with a startled expression in her eyes.

He touched the parchments with his waving hand, and nodded.

"Yes, I have left you all that was for me to leave, and what he will lack you can supply. He would be but a poor baronet without you, Lillian! Where is your pride now, my darling?"

With a slow, dazed moment, she pushed the hair from her forehead. (To be continued.)

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

What you expect of the men and women about you—that to a certain extent you get.

That is a doctrine that I think is daily receiving more recognition in the social and business world.

But in one of its most important possible applications I don't think it has received half enough—and that is in the bringing up of children.

There is a little boy near us whose mother, although she is not the kind of person who would ever enunciate a doctrine like that even to herself, does thoroughly believe in and apply it.

For instance:

Harry was going on an all-day picnic with a neighbor's family. It was a place to which he had never been, but had always wanted to go. He had been talking of the excursion for weeks. I happened to be at his home when the neighbor with whom the much dreamed of excursion was to be taken came over to break the sad news that, owing to a sudden change in her plans for the summer, the excursion would have to be postponed indefinitely.

"I expect Harry will just about break his heart over it," she said to his mother.

Harry himself came into the room at just that moment.

"Dear me, no," said Harry's mother, cheerfully and serenely. "Harry's just the bravest boy that ever was about things like that. Just like a grown-up, you know. He knows if he can't have a thing right now he can have it to look forward to. Harry, dear, Mrs. D. has come over to tell you that she has to go away right now and that you can't go to Mrs. L.'s until later in the summer."

Whereat Harry, who had been standing beside her listening to her praises, promptly responded to her belief in him by biting a lip that was evidently on the verge of quivering right back into a smile, and swallowing his disappointment very much better than most of the "grown-ups" he was so proud to be compared with, would have done.

Suppose his mother had said: "Harry will be terribly disappointed. He has looked forward to it so long," and had told him about it in that spirit—have you any doubt that Harry would have given way to his disappointment with all the abandon most children do.

I haven't.

Pick the baby up when he falls and bumps his head, with a cheer. "My, but we've got a brave baby. He smiles just as nice, no matter how he is hurt," and see what a different result you get than if you impelled him to tears with all the force of pity and suggestion by saying, "Oh, dear, did he hurt his head just awful! Don't cry, dear, it's too bad."

If you continually expect of your child, and suggest to him in way like this, all good qualities, such as courage, self-control and unselfishness—does it stand to reason that your attitude can help having a good effect on his character?

Ruth Cameron

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't she so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organ that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drug is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as strictly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Never mix old and new milk if you wish to keep it.

Washing soda will remove grease from cooking utensils.

Vinegar will remove lime spots, and soot from an open chimney.

Eggs poached in milk instead of water make a delicious dish.

When rubber overshoes become dingy, ammonia will brighten them.

Muffins left over from breakfast may be cut and toasted for luncheon.

Stains made by medicine and liniment may often be removed with strong ammonia.

Fatigue that prevents sleep may often be relieved by rubbing the body gently with a towel wrung out in hot salt water.

Wet paint on white goods will often easily be removed by simply soaping it well, and then pouring boiling water over it.

Dry flannels quickly after washing, and when nearly dry press with a moderately warm iron, and they will shrink but little.

For a refreshing hot weather drink mix grape juice with a quarter as much lemon juice, add water and a little sugar added to the salted water use for roasting roast beef will give it a rich brown color.

A pleasant disinfectant for the sick room is essence of cinnamon, allowed to evaporate in a shallow dish.

A teaspoonful of pulverized alum, mixed in a cup of stove polish will cause it to give a brilliant finish.

Ammonia water, after it is used for washing, may be used to water house plants, as it is a good fertilizer.

One or two onions, eaten with bread and butter, a short time before retiring, will act as a sedative and induce sleep.

None of them noticed the torpedo until spectators on the shore warned them of their peril in time for all of them to scramble out of its path. It contained no explosive, but at the speed at which it was going it would have played havoc with anything in its path.

The huge steel shell ploughed through the spot where they had been, sped on up the beach and buried its nose in the sand, from which the crew of the testing barge recovered it. The steering gear had dropped off after it was fired, accounting for its erratic course.

NINE GOLD MEDALS.

Ladies of Culture and Refinement Use Salvia Hair Tonic. It Makes the Hair Beautiful.

At last a remedy has been discovered that will positively destroy this pest.

That Dandruff is caused by germs is accepted by every sensible person. Dandruff is the root of all hair evils.

SALVIA will kill the dandruff germs and remove Dandruff in ten days or money back.

McMurdo & Co., guarantees it. It will grow hair, stop itching scalp, falling hair, and make the hair thick and abundant. It prevents hair from turning gray, and adds life and lustre.

SALVIA is a hair dressing that has become the favorite with women of taste and culture, who know the social value of beautiful hair. A large, generous bottle costs only 50c. at leading druggists everywhere, and in St. John's by McMurdo & Co.

The word "SALVIA" (Latin for sage) is on every bottle. Refuse all substitutes.

sugar to taste and serve with cracked ice.

A few drops of oxalic acid should be added to water in which white stockings are washed to remove the stains caused by shoes.

Cold water dashed on the face and chest each morning gives nearly the same effect as the cold sponge, without danger of shock.

A good lotion for moist hands is a mixture of two ounces of cologne, and two drams of tincture of belladonna, used after washing.

To remove grass stains from flannel cover them with common molasses and leave it on for two days. Wash out and repeat if necessary.

When the skin becomes overheated, as it often does in summer, try putting a little baking soda in the water in which you wash.

It is a good idea to keep a wet sponge in the cabinet with ivory curls or carvings. It will prevent them cracking from dry heat.

Vanilla ice cream, served in half a ripe cantaloupe, is a beautiful and delicious combination. Coffee ice cream also goes well with melons.

When it is desired to make tea in large quantities, use four ounces of tea to each gallon of water. This will make a very strong infusion.

To protect woollens from attacks by moths scatter English lavender in closet shelves, in drawers and trunks. It is one of the best preventives.

Remove ink stains with milk, and, after soaking up all that seems possible, either sprinkle thickly with salt or wash with pure white soap.

Dusting should be done not with a feather brush, but with a cheesecloth that has been dipped in water to which a little kerosene has been added.

The Potato Blight.

No effort should be spared either by the Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Societies, farmers, gardeners and all who grow or are interested in the growth of potatoes to stamp out the canker in potatoes which appeared in Red Island last year and which according to Frank H. Slamma, the Secretary of the Newfoundland Agricultural Board, has now made its appearance in certain plots of potatoes in the neighbourhood of St. John's.

The urgency of the matter is apparently realized by the Board which states in its Warning to the Public, that the disease "is so fatal in its effects that if not immediately checked the absolute impossibility of growing potatoes in Newfoundland for years to come is sure to result."

The Board requests that potato growers notify the Secretary immediately the disease is observed, and also states that efforts are about to be made to stamp out the disease. What these efforts will be we know not. But they should be prompt and commensurate with the extent of the outbreak. Needless to say the press will do all that is possible in the way of disseminating information which may assist in the recognition of the disease and in any serious effort to stamp out the disease. The misery that might result from a failure of the Labrador fishery and a potato famine at the same time is almost incalculable.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

There was quite a docket before Judge Conroy to-day.

A resident of Cabot Street pleaded guilty to the larceny of a pipe and two amber stems, valued at $2, the property of Mr. Wm. Allan, and was sent down for 30 days.

A seaman of Glasgow also pleaded guilty to stealing a pair of pants, gold ring, necktie, pipe and two keys and a chain, all valued at $11.67, from Mark Wiseman on Saturday. He was sent down also for 30 days.

An old inmate of the Poor Asylum, charged with indecent exposure, was sent down for 6 months.

Four drunks were each fined $1.50 or 5 days.

Two drunks were discharged and a third was fined $1 or 3 days.

A disorderly was fined $2 or 7 days. Health Inspector O'Brien summoned a butcher for killing without a license and also for having his slaughter house in an unclean state. He was fined $5 or 14 days for each offence.

Another was similarly fined for having an unclean slaughter house.

Mr. B. Evans, to whose case we refer elsewhere, summoned a man for assaulting and hitting him on the 25th. He was fined $10 or 30 days.

A man was summoned by a woman for using threatening language towards her. The hearing was postponed until to-morrow.

Blessing of the Statue.

After last Mass at the R. C. Cathedral yesterday, a concourse of people assembled opposite the church of Our Lady of Good Counsel in Military Rd. to be present at the blessing of the beautiful marble statue of the Sacred Heart, presented by Mr. Jas. Boggan and which will be placed on a pedestal over the front of the church this week. His Grace Archbishop Howley who was assisted by Revs. Fathers Sheehan and Greene, performed the ceremony. There was a procession from the Cathedral of His Grace, the assistant priests, acolytes, thrifters, and cross bearer while select classes of the pupils of the Mercy Convent schools bearing the banner of the Sacred Heart also walked in procession to the scene of the ceremony. His Grace delivered a short but fluent address in which he extolled the generosity of Mr. Boggan who had in the past presented a beautiful altar to the church. The surroundings were decorated with flags and during the progress of the ceremony the band of the C. C. C. rendered "Nearer My God to Thee," and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." The pupils of the Convent rendered several beautiful and appropriate hymns. The statue is undoubtedly a work of art and both His Grace and the nuns of the Mercy Convent are very grateful to the donor for such a splendid present to the church.

Found Dead in Bed.

This morning another sad, sudden death, similar to that which overtook the late James Walkin, occurred at the residence of Mr. Thomas Toucher, Walsh's Square, Signal Hill Road. Mr. James Toucher, who was well known in St. John's, retired last night apparently in very good health. He slept with his brother, Robert, the caretaker of the Museum, and this morning when his sister went to call him to go to work she was horrified to find him lying by his brother's side and quite dead. Robt. heard nothing during the night that might indicate that his brother was ill, and he was shocked when his sister woke him and told him of the occurrence. It is thought that he was dead for some time. Mr. Toucher was a man of about 70 years of age, and though not of a robust constitution was rarely ill. It is thought that death was caused by heart failure.

Engineer Promoted.

Mr. W. C. Harvey, Chief Engineer of the steamer Bruce, has been promoted to the position of Travelling Marine Engineer for the Reid Nfld. Co., with headquarters at St. John's, Nfld. Mr. Harvey has been Chief Engineer on the Bruce since she was built, having been in charge of her engine room on her voyage across the Atlantic to inaugurate the North Sydney Port aux Basques ferry service 13 years ago. During that time he has performed his duties well, and his promotion is well deserved. Mr. Harvey is popular with his shipmates and the travelling public, and the news of his advancement will be heard with pleasure by his many friends at home and abroad. He will remain as Chief Engineer of the Bruce until his successor is appointed, when he will remove to St. John's with his family.—Sydney Post.

Young Olsen Busy.

We notice by recent English exchanges that Young Olsen who made such a plucky attempt here in wrestling with Otto Oppel, is a busy man just now in England. He is set for several matches, including one with G. W. De Relwyskov and Joe Ostford, and challenges any man in the world at his weight. He announces that he will wrestle a celebrity named Mills if a suitable purse is forthcoming, and will meet Tani in catch-as-catch-can style for any sum from £25 to £50. Mr. Thirrites is looking after Olsen's interests.

Peat Being Burned.

During the past week or ten days the people of Kelligrews have been busy cutting and hauling peat to their residences and placing it under the sun to dry. A good lot of it was dried after being out several weeks ago and some men hauled as high as 5 or 6 loads to their premises. They have been burning it in their stoves.

The Regulus Affair.

Messrs. A. J. Harvey & Co. had a wire from New York on Saturday stating that they should hear of the verdict in the Regulus-Karena collision case to-day. The belief amongst those who have read the particulars of the accident is that a verdict will be recorded for the Regulus.

MORE SCARLET FEVER.—A boy on the south side aged 13 developed scarlet fever yesterday and will be nursed at home. Another boy was stricken with the same disease at 58 Field Street this morning and will also be nursed at home.

The Eucharist Congress

Mr. J. W. N. Johnstone, the General Passenger Agent of the R. N. Co. has received a deal of interesting printed matter in connection with the big Congress at Montreal. It is thought that a large number of Roman Catholic people of St. John's will leave for the Congress soon and the Reid Nfld. Co. is issuing specially low fares. Those desirous of going if they see or communicate with Mr. Johnstone will get all the necessary information.

FISHERIES REPORT.—We beg to acknowledge the receipt of the Annual Report of the Department of Marine and Fisheries for 1909.

CRICKET MATCH WEDNESDAY.—The officers of the C.I.B. are endeavoring to arrange a cricket match with the Shamrock team for Wednesday on St. George's Field. If it materializes it will be a two innings match, and should be a very interesting meet as there are good willow widders on both sides.

ARRIVED VERY ILL.—Mr. Burton, who is in charge of the grading on the new Bonavista branch railway, arrived here by the express this afternoon and will likely be sent to hospital. He has been very ill for several days past and Dr. Paterson has been attending him. The doctor accompanied him on the train to the city.

GOOD SALMONIER FISHERY.—People in by to-day's train from Salmonier say that there is excellent fishing in that section for trawls, squid being plentiful. Some of the boats last week had as high as 70 tubs of fish for two dories. A lot of craft are fishing at Cape Pine and Cape Race and are doing exceptionally well.

WILL COME HERE.—Franklyn & Hyatt, who were so popular in vaudeville with our theatre-goers, are now with the Young Adams Theatrical Co. doing the provinces. They are at present in Sherbrooke, P.Q., playing to big houses nightly, and will come down through to Sydney, thence here, if the T. A. Hall is available. It is said, however, that Mr. Hawkins is in treaty for it for the coming winter.

Detective Murdered.

Killed in Fight With a Crowd at Boat Landing.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 20.—George Costelli, a New York detective, who was well known for his enormous strength, was murdered early to-day. He was killed in a fight with a crowd at the landing of the Seawanna Yacht Club boathouse here.

Costelli had been acting as a keeper of the boathouse during the summer while he was recuperating from a bullet wound. An attempt was made to assassinate him in New York last Spring. He was shot down in a street in Harlem, while he was tracing a man suspected of robbing a house. His assailant fled, leaving him for dead, and was captured.

Costelli had had trouble all summer with a crowd of men who insisted on leaving about the boathouse, and a week ago he fought several of them, single handed, driving them away. They returned early to-day, one of them carrying a shot gun. Three shots were fired, two from the detective's revolver and one from the shot gun. Costelli fell dead on the wharf.

Costelli came to America several years ago from Denmark. He said little of his past life. He prized greatly a seal ring, on which was a coat of arms. He was believed in New York to have been a member of a noble family.

Personal.

Mr. W. Charles and bride, who were spending the honeymoon in Conception Bay, returned to the city by Saturday night's train.

Mr. Dug. White, of Slater's, who with his wife and child spent a pleasant vacation at Holyrod, returned to the city by Saturday night's train.

Mr. Jas. Callanan, of Shea & Co's. office, left by yesterday's express for a holiday trip on the West Coast.

Master Hy. Crawford, son of Mr. Crawford, Purchasing Agent with the Reid Nfld. Co., who is an engineer on the s.s. Schuykill, arrived at West York recently from China. He goes into the company's shops until New Year, when he will go to England for a certificate for chief engineer, or if such can be obtained here he will come to this city.

Marine Notes.

The Bonavista left Sydney Saturday night and is due here to-day. The barque Aurore, cleared to-day for Penambuco, taking 7,230 drums fish, shipped by Bishop Sons & Co'y. The Ulunda sails for Liverpool to-morrow.

The Galatea, Connors, arrived at Sydney Saturday, and will load coal for Geo. Neal. She will have a week's delay.

By the shore train at 6 p.m. Saturday there went about 100 passengers—taking advantage of the week-end excursion rates.

The local arrived at 9.30 Saturday night bringing J. J. Barnes, Mrs. Pilot, T. Henderson, J. W. Walsh, P. Boland, Mrs. J. McGrath and child, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas White, W. Charles and bride, J. Doyle, M. Keane, E. Byrne, Masters John and Adrain De, Frank Devereaux, Mr. Mews and family, D. A. Ryan and 49 others.

Workers Not Loafers.

Vigorous Method of Treating Consumptives. According to the medical contributor of the London Daily Mail, the method of treating consumptive patients at the Brompton Hospital Sanatorium at Primley constitutes a radical departure.

Tuberculosis, particularly of the lungs, is always associated with invalid chairs and rest in the open air, anything approaching exercise, except perhaps moderate indulgence in walking for the less alarming cases, being severely tabooed. But this is not the case at Primley where a large portion of cures is claimed.

A score or more of men and women were seen picking up wood, collecting mown grass, and carrying it to a refuse bin. Others were watering the plants, cutting grass edges, mowing the grass, and hoeing.

A number of sturdy, sun-tanned men were hard at work trenching the ground for the new kitchen garden. In another part of the grounds, in covered sheds open on three sides to the air and sunlight, people sat sewing and making mops and mats.

Sensational Bowling Achievements.

Eight Wickets in Eight Balls.

The present cricket season has been notable for some truly brilliant bowling feats, among which most certainly will be reckoned Mr. Fowler's eight wickets for 22 runs—a performance which was for Eton a sensational victory over Harrow. Killick's seven wickets for 18 runs, when for Sussex he vainly attempted to avert defeat at the hands of Essex; Smith's five wickets for 18 runs, for Players vs. Gentlemen, and his fourteen wickets for 29 runs against Northamptonshire; and Rhodes' five wickets for 5 runs against Derbyshire, may also be placed on record.

A few years back, A. E. Trott, on the occasion of his benefit at Lord's, twice in one innings performed the hat-trick. With four successive balls he captured four successive wickets, and finished his opponents' innings by disposing of the last three batsmen in three balls. The late Alfred Shaw ran this close when, bowling against Gloucestershire, in 1884, he did the hat-trick in each innings. Four wickets, too, have on more than one occasion been captured with four successive balls. Lockwood, Shacklock and Ulyett, among others, being able to lay claim to this distinction.

An Australian Collapse.

In minor matches this has been surpassed. On July 7th last, Harry Turner, an Ayr professional, playing against Lord Eglington's Eleven, captured five wickets with five successive balls in October, 1889. John Wisden, when playing at Rochester, U. S. A., for the All England Eleven against twelve of the United States and Canada, disposed of six of his opponents with a like number of consecutive balls; while in May, 1884, James Walker, playing for Ashcombe Park against Tunstall, sent down eight balls and took eight wickets.

No more wonderful bowling feat ever wrought spectators to the highest pitch of excitement than that performed by J. T. Hearne and Plougher, who, in 1896, when bowling for the M. C. C., disposed of the Australians for the ridiculously small total of 18, 14 of these being hit off Atwell, for whom, when three wickets were down for 18, Plougher was substituted. Not another run was scored, Plougher's analysis reading: 3 overs, 2 maidens, 0 runs, 5 wickets, while that of Hearne, if not so marvellous, was more than creditably supplemented by his taking in the second innings nine wickets for 73 runs.

Smart Fielding.

Cobden's wonderful work, with which he won the 1870 University Cricket Match for Cambridge, is still remembered. All seemed lost, for with three wickets still to go down but 4 runs were wanted by Oxford to win. Mr. Cobden was put on. His first ball was dispatched in the direction of long-off—surely a fourer and the winning stroke! But no; just as Oxford's supporters were on the point of giving vent to their jubilation Mr. Bourne, by a fine piece of fielding, saved the situation, and Oxford stood in the slightly improved position of wanting 3 runs to win and a like number of wickets to fall.

A Fine Win.

Mr. Butler, who received the second ball, struck out recklessly and was caught. To Mr. Belcher, the new-comer, Cobden sent down one of his famous yorkers; the batsman raised his bat, under shot the ball, and his wicket was shattered. Mr. Stewart, Oxford's last man, now appeared to receive the final ball of the over; it struck Mr. Stewart on the thigh. The same second his wicket fell, and Cambridge had won the match by 2 runs.

The Test Match of 1882 will ever be remembered as a victory for ball over bat. To win the match England, in the fourth innings, had to get 83. Two wickets went down for 15, but then W. G. Grace and Ulyett got set, nor were they separated until 51 runs were upon the telegraph-board, when Ulyett's wicket fell. Two runs later Grace left. Though it looked as if Australia were doomed to defeat, their bowlers, Spofforth and Boyle, never lost heart.

Ball Versus Bat.

At the 66th fifth wicket went down, and the chances looked more even; but when, with only another 4 runs scored, Steel and Maurice Reid had to go, matters began to look serious for England. Then, at 75, Lucas played on and Barnes was caught by the wicket-keeper off his glove. Two runs later the end came, when Peate, having scored a couple, was bowled by Boyle. England thus lost by 7 runs. For the match Spofforth

Hungary's Cromwell.

Vienna, August 15.—Count Erosdy subdued a riot at a county council meeting, of which he was chairman in Transylvania yesterday with truly Cromwellian energy.

In the midst of a scene of fierce wrangling, Count Erosdy wrested a document from the grasp of the clerk. This was a signal for the outbreak of hostilities by the opposition. Inkpots and notebooks flew through the air and one missile struck the chairman. Count Erosdy at once whipped out a revolver and covered his opponents who immediately abandoned the conflict and the count automatically declared the meeting adjourned, and the 200 members gently slipped out of the chamber.

Killed in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—Two employees of the Winnipeg Electric Light Company were electrocuted, meeting instant death. The accident took place shortly before 3 o'clock on Provencher Avenue. Both victims were former residents of Montreal, one being Oliver H. Roy, whose father is engineer in the Royal Victoria Hospital, and the other Stanley Mead, an English lad, who resided in Montreal a couple of years and came West a year ago, engaging himself with Roy. The latter had long experience as a lineman. He was born in Montreal and was aged 35.

The gang was engaged replacing a cable which was strung on poles which carried a great mass of telephone wires. Roy was working high up over the wires, Mead below him. Somehow an uncovered wire in the cable was exposed and Roy came in contact with it. There was a slight flash, and the other workers on looking up saw both men hanging over one on the cross bars and the other on the wires. Mead must have been in contact with Roy at the time, for he also received the 3,500 volts. Roy's right leg at the knee was burned to the bone, while there were no marks on Mead. Only at noon Roy remarked on the danger of the work in which they were engaged, and said he would be glad when it was over.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22. — Threshing is well under way all over Manitoba. Captain Smith, nine miles east of Winnipeg threshed forty and two-thirds bushel to the acre on Saturday, and his grain had received no rain since early in the spring. The same story of big yields is being heard from other sections. Many showmen have fallen the past week, somewhat interfering with the harvest operations.

BUILDING NEW ABUTMENT. — To-day the work of erecting another abutment to the new wharf at Kelligrews began and a number of men are engaged at it. FOUGHT IN SHOP. — At 11 o'clock Saturday night two men had a disagreement on Water Street and came to blows. One was felled by the other. Mr. Wadden with some difficulty ejected both and will summon them for creating such a scene on his premises.

Superintendents of Methodist Church.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 24. — To-day the General Conference of the Methodist Church elected two General Superintendents to carry on the work that has overburdened Rev. Dr. Carman in the past. The committee recommended three Superintendents, one for the East, one for the West and one for Ontario. This was voted down by the Conference, and by a vote 212 to 92 it was decided to elect two. In supporting the proposition of a committee, J. A. Alkens, of Winnipeg, said that one reason why the Presbyterian Church had been so successful in the West, was because of the wonderful work of Dr. Robertson, Missionary Superintendent. The Methodist Church needs such a man for the Western Conference. This part of the denomination should be well supervised and kept in touch with the other stations of the Church. Dr. Carman was elected for the eight-year term and Dr. Chown for four years.

M. G. B. Parade.

The parade of the Methodist Guards which took place yesterday forenoon to service at Cochrane St. Church was one of the best in the history of the brigade. Lt.-Col. Pitts was in command, and the lads in their natty uniforms, as they paraded to and from the church, presented a very smart appearance and were much admired by the hundreds of citizens who reviewed them as they marched through the streets with their excellent band playing lively airs. Rev. F. Matthews, B.A., held the service and preached a very fluent and instructive sermon.

Man Brutally Butted.

Thursday night as Mr. Bart Evans was coming down Water Street he was accosted by a tough looking customer who asked him for tobacco. Mr. Evans said he had none, when the man asked for cigarettes, but was refused, he then asked for money for drink when Mr. Evans endeavored to pass along, but before he could do so, and without the slightest warning, the other butted him in the face, inflicting a nasty cut and rendering him unconscious for a while. Securing his aggressor's name Mr. Evans took out a summons for him, but it was served on his brother by mistake. It has since been served on the right party and the case will shortly come before the court.

Cachelot Total Wreck.

Messrs. Hearn & Co. had a message on Saturday stating that the whaler Cachelot, which ran ashore a few days ago at the eastern end of Bell Isle, in the Straits, is a total wreck. The bottom is torn out of the ship, and the water rises and falls in the hold. A survey signed by four of the crew of the ship was made and she has been condemned. She will not again come off the rocks if being, under the circumstances, impossible to float her. The Cachelot was doing fairly well with the whales and up to the time of the accident had 38 fish killed.

Whales and Cod at Baccalieu.

A resident of Baccalieu who arrived here by the shore train on Saturday night, says that every day whales can be seen blowing in the water around the Island. The Hump is after them, and if they continue there she is sure to capture many. Codfish are also plentiful in that section, and last week all the boats averaged 1 and 2 qtls. each daily. Bait can be had and the cod taken are of very large size and extra good quality.

Out 4 Nights and Days.

The old resident of the Poor Asylum to whom the Telegram referred on Saturday, and who was arrested by Sgt. Byrne, was out of the Institution four nights and days, all of which he spent up in the South Side Hill. His conduct while there was of a painful character, especially in the daytime when children were in his neighborhood. The man is demented and it was, perhaps, a good thing for him and others that he was arrested.

Might Have Smothered

It was a fortunate thing for a citizen on Saturday night that Const. Tucker passed up McMurdo's Lane from his beat on Water Street. While going up there he noticed a man lying in a dark byway which intersects the thoroughfare. Investigating he found that the man was in a stupor from an overdose of alcohol, and procuring a cab he drove him to the police station where he was looked after. Had he not been discovered he must have smothered.

Fell Through Window. Thrown From Carriage

Saturday night as a young man of the West End was trying to get two tipsy men whom he knew up McBride's Hill, one of them lurched heavily against him and drove his back through a big pane of glass in Mr. Job Roberts's window. The police on hearing the crash of glass went to the scene and brought the man who broke it to the station, where his name and address were secured. The glass cost $5, and the man said he was quite willing to pay for the glass and he was allowed to go. The police informed Mr. Roberts and the place was boarded up for the night.

Saturday afternoon Miss Annie O'Neil, school teacher at Holyrood, had a narrow escape from being killed, and received painful injuries. People who arrived by Saturday night's train say that Miss O'Neil with four other young ladies was driving out to a private picnic when the wagon in which she sat, and which was being driven at a rapid pace, was accidentally upset and Miss O'Neil was thrown out amongst a pile of rocks on which she fell head first. She was rendered unconscious, in which condition she remained for some time, and when picked up by the driver and others it was found that her head was laid open and she bled profusely. She was driven quickly to Avondale, the doctor of which place had to insert a number of stitches to close the wound. Miss O'Neil had a narrow escape from being killed instantly.

Fogota's Fishery News.

From Capt. Barbour of the Fogota we learn that the fishery has not improved very much since his last visit north from Change Islands to Seldom Come By, including Little Fogota Island. Only about a half quintal per boat is taken a day on this stretch of coast. There is some improvement at the Wadhams, where about 1 qt. per man per boat is caught daily. They are doing fair at Newtown, where boats get from 1 1/2 to 2 qtls. per man, which means from 4 to 6 qtls. per boat of four hands. At Bonavista, Catalina and Elliston they have done very well the past week, boats taking from 6 to 8 qtls. per day for three or four hands. Good work is also being done at Cat Harbor. There are no arrivals at any of these places from Labrador. At Change Islands they had news of two or three small craft loading on the French Shore.

Swooned on Sidewalk.

Shortly before nine o'clock Saturday night as a woman was proceeding up Water Street she became suddenly ill, and fell unconscious to the sidewalk. Consts. Lee and Pitcher bore her into Knowling's upper hardware store where she remained unconscious 15 minutes before the assistants could revive her. Even after she regained consciousness she was very ill, could not walk, and a cab being summoned she was brought to her residence on the South Side.

FOR THE ASYLUM. — The little schr. Mary E. arrived here yesterday from Island Cove bringing along a woman for the Lunatic Asylum.

Would Use Axes.

Saturday night two brothers, residents of New Gower Street, while under the influence of liquor started to fight in their own house and caused quite a disturbance in the neighborhood. They succeeded in smashing considerable of the furniture in their home and the police had to be called. Consts. Churchill and Pitcher responded, and when they arrived they found both men facing each other with tomahawks in their hands.

Both were in an ugly mood and were on the point of attacking each other when the officers entered and disarmed them. They were then taken to the Station but did not attempt to resist arrest.

Newfoundlanders Wed- ed in Vancouver.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Church of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary. His Grace Archbishop McNeill officiated at the ceremony on Tuesday morning last at 8.30, when Mr. John T. Shortall, late drug merchant of St. John's, Newfoundland, was united in marriage to Miss Alice Delgado, daughter of Mr. A. Delgado, retired merchant, also of St. John's. Mr. L. F. Murphy, of England, supported the groom, and Miss Beatrice Harvey acted as bridesmaid, while the bride was given away by Mr. W. C. Harvey of this city. After the ceremony a reception was held, and the happy couple left on the one o'clock boat for Victoria and Seattle, where the honeymoon will be spent. A large number of valuable presents were received by the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Shortall on their return in about two weeks, will make Vancouver their future home.—Vancouver World, Aug. 18th.

Lake Simcoe Here.

The bargt. Lake Simcoe, Capt. Wilson, arrived here yesterday forenoon after a run of 3 days from Sydney with a cargo of coal. The ship made the run up in 6 days but coming down had fog nearly all the way. As regards the assertion that one of the crew became demented on the voyage up from this port, Capt. Wilson says the Sydney papers greatly exaggerated the affair. It simply amounted to this, that the man had been drinking heavily, was for a time afflicted with the "D.T.'s," and had to be looked after. When he jumped overboard the ship was almost becalmed. No person went after him, but the man grasped a rope thrown him and was quickly pulled on board. The bath did him good and he has been in fine condition ever since. He was constantly at work since they left Sydney, having fully recovered.

A Disgraceful Scene.

Yesterday in a street opposite one of our city churches, after service was over, two young men who had a disagreement and who had just left the edifice, started to fight, and for a time pummelled each other unmercifully. Quite a number of other men were present and did not lift a finger to put a stop to such a disgraceful exhibition but formed a ring around the combatants and watched their pugilistic efforts in an interested manner. Sergt. Byrne came along and soon put an end to hostilities. He has the names of both and will summon them. For such disgraceful conduct on a Sunday both deserve to be severely punished.

His Grace Archbishop Howley, accompanied by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Reardon, left by the Bruce express last evening for Montreal to attend the Eucharistic Conference there. The Monsignor acts as chaplain to His Grace, and Rev. P. Douthey, who also went, will undertake the duties of Secretary. His Grace will read a paper at the Conference.

THE SANITARY INSPECTORS.

WHAT ARE THEIR DUTIES?

Editor Evening Telegram:
Dear Mr. Editor.—There is one point regarding the health of the City, as it is affected by the open drains, which has not been touched upon in any communication that I have noticed.

It matters little whether the drains are of cobble stones, or of concrete; in fact, in this particular the concrete is somewhat the worse.

I refer to the carelessness with which dirty water is thrown out from the houses. For one person who empties a pail carefully into a drain, nine throw it out "splash," so that only a portion goes to the drain and the balance is spread over the street and sidewalk. Many do not go to the drain at all, but with a woman's proverbial bad shot, cast the water from the door at the drain.

A few weeks ago one of our dailies printed an account of how a pall of dirty water, so thrown, gave a passing Council employee an unexpected shower-bath. Had he been one of the inspectors it might have wakened him up to his duty.

The dirt thus splashed over the thoroughfare cannot be reached by the flushing brigade, and is only got rid of when we have a very heavy rain shower. This, to my mind, is the cause of our streets being what is called "pestiferous," "pestilential," "smelling of putrefaction," etc.

Does the public know that we have TWO SANITARY INSPECTORS—one for the East and another for the West End—in addition to the Sanitary Surveyor?

Has the public ever heard of a charge being brought against a citizen for the above dirty habit, or for any other offence, by these inspectors?

Would His Worship the Mayor be good enough to state at the next Council meeting the duty of these Sanitary Inspectors? A Sanitary Inspector in most modern cities is a man on a woman who is an expert in Hygiene, and has the right of entry to all houses.

Have we a simple law under which these inspectors might prosecute? I shall send a copy of this article, cut from your paper, to Mayor Ellis, and trust that he will shed some light on the above questions next Friday.

Yours truly,
SPEER MELIORA.

Kaiser Raises a Storm.

Special to Evening Telegram.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.
The now famous speech of Emperor William of Koenigsberg with its openly expressed belief in the Divine right of the Prussian King, and his choice, not by peoples but by God, continues to be the theme of the most excited discussion in the newspapers. The monarchist organs of the press are divided in their views of the Emperor's utterances, some of them taking a stand in opposition to his view, so that quite four-fifths of the German press are united in criticism of the Sovereign. Every shade of disapproval from mild regret to mockery of the alleged absolute pretensions of the Emperor is voiced. The opinions expressed in the minor German capitals appear to make no distinction between the Sovereign's position as Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia, which was inconsistent with his headship of the Empire. Inquiry is everywhere raised whether the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg, knew in advance of the Emperor's purpose to deliver a speech of such a nature. The press generally comments also on the necessity of the German Parliament taking some action upon the subject when it meets.

Jap Policy in Korea.

Special Evening Telegram.

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 27.
Lieut.-Gen. Terachi, Japanese Resident-General in Korea and negotiator of the convention of annexation, which, it may be stated, will be officially promulgated next Monday, said to-day in a statement to a correspondent of the Associated Press regarding the annexation: "No stone will be left unturned to make the Koreans and the world feel that Japan's rule in Korea is a beneficent thing for the Koreans. It will and must imply no degradation for the Koreans who, under the annexation, will enjoy exactly the same rights in Korea as the Japanese. It is the wish and command of the Emperor of Japan that every effort be made to make the Koreans feel no humiliation but rather relief through the annexation. The policy of Japan in administering the new portion of the Empire will be directed toward a steady improvement of conditions."

The Fogota's Voyage.

The s.s. Fogota, Capt. B. Barbour, arrived here at 10.30 a.m. yesterday from Fogo District. She had fine weather the whole trip with smooth water, but Thursday night she experienced rather unusual conditions. To complete the circuit Capt. Barbour was anxious to get over from Fogo to Change Islands before dark and set out to do so, but just after getting outside of the former port a dense wall of smoke closed down on the water and nothing could be seen, though the captain hugged the shore closely. The searchlight was then set going, but even with the aid of this no trace of the coastline could be had. Capt. Barbour was anxious to "kick up Stone Island, but nothing could be seen of it for over an hour. It was the captain's intention to anchor there and the lead was thrown and 25 fathoms of line paid out, but no bottom could be found, so that the ship was compelled to proceed in the gloom, though conditions were dangerous for navigating these waters. The Prospero was hung up at Seal Cove, at the rear of Fogo, and could not proceed owing to the dense smoke. After picking up Stone Island the captain took a S.W. course to Hare Bay Head, and this being high land he could see over the smoke. He then took a N.W. course for Change Island Tickle and struck the right entrance when she made port. She left Fogo at 7.35 p.m. and did not make Change Islands until 10.30, covering the 4 miles in three hours. When the searchlight was set going a peculiar circumstance was noted. Myriads of the little birds known as stormy petrels flew around the ship and many of them made straight for the light and were dashed to death, while others hit the bridge and were killed, and several times the light had to be shut off as mate Wesley Keen could not work it owing to the birds flying against his face. The passengers on deck were frequently hit by them and several of the birds flew into the smoking room and the captain's room on deck. Quite a number which were killed against the bridge and searchlight were swept off the decks by the crew. Capt. Barbour thinks that the smoke was the result of an extensive local forest fire. The ship left Change Islands Friday morning in a dense fog and on arrival at Seal Cove the Prospero had just left there. The ship handled 290 passengers on the round trip. Her passengers for this port were: Miss Malcolm, C. Bennett, E.H. Russell, P. A. Abbott, Miss I. Abbott, N. Keen, R. White, A. S. Windsor, Mrs. M. Rice, S. Whiteway, and family, Messrs. Sherman, Power, Gillis, Valentine, Young and 7 steerage.

Naval Vessels Ashore

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Aug. 27.
Two British vessels, the torpedo boat destroyer Success and torpedo boat No. 13, were blown ashore on the Scotch coast by a gale this morning. The Success is aground off the Firth of Clyde. It is believed that she can be pulled off without much damage, but the torpedo boat No. 13 is driven hard on the rocks near the entrance to the Clyde and is seriously damaged. There were no casualties in either case. The Success is a destroyer of 380 tons, built in 1901, with a speed of 30 knots. The 13 is a new boat of the programme of 1907 of 256 tons; her speed was about 26 knots.

Football League Meet.

Saturday night the final meeting for the season of the Football League was held to wind up the business of the year. The financial condition of the League will not be made known until the annual meeting in April next; but it was ascertained that receipts for the senior division matches were up to last season, though there was a falling off in those of the brigade division, due to the fact that bad weather prevailed when some of the more important matches were held and consequently there was a small attendance. The medals have not yet arrived and the date for the presentation of these and the cup has not yet been decided upon. The medals will likely be here on the Carthaginian, and when they come arrangements will be made for the presentation of the trophies.

Beating Their Way.

As the shore train which arrived here Saturday night was coming down the South Shore, two foreigners got on board very quietly at Seal Cove, and when Conductor Kelly asked them for their tickets, they said they had been in the cars for some time, and that he, the conductor, had taken them. The conductor was on to their little game and told them to stomp up their fares or get. They thought to brazen the matter out, but Conductor Kelly is no "greeny," and stopping the train near the Gullies he quickly "fired" both.

Paper of Many Kinds.

SOME ODD MANUFACTURERS.

Paper Thread and Bricks are Found in Industry—Employed to Make Imitation Porcelain.

While there is nothing like linen for paper making, many other things will serve as substitutes. For instance, patents have been issued in Europe and other countries, for the manufacture of paper from barley, oats, rice, Indian corn, peas, beans, sugar cane, refuse, jute, moss, seaweed, tobacco, lichens, the leaves and bark of trees, beets, potatoes, and other equally strange things.

In most cases the price of manufacture is excessive when we consider the quality of the product. The great bulk of our paper—not the best, but that most commonly used—is made from the wood of certain trees. Paper can be made from nearly anything, and nearly anything can be made from paper. With compressed paper are made wheels, rails, cannons, horseshoes, polishers for gems, bicycles and asphalted tubes for gas or electric wires.

Bricks From Paper.

Berlin has made an attempt to make artificial bricks with wood pulp and zinc sulphate. After subjecting them to an enormously high pressure they are baked for forty-eight hours. These have been used for paving streets. In similar fashion, roofing tiles and water pipes are being made. Telephone poles of rolled sheets of paper are hollow, lighter than wood, and resist the weather well.

In Japan the following are made of paper:

Clothing, window frames, lanterns, umbrellas, handkerchiefs, artificial leathers, etc.

In the United States and Germany are made paper barrels, vases, and milk bottles. Straw hats may now be bought into which enters not an atom of straw. They are made of narrow paper strips, dyed yellow.

Artificial Sponges.

Artificial sponges are made of cellulose, or paper pulp.

M. Clavez, a French inventor, has taken out a patent for paper thread to be used in sewing shoes, and a well known French silk thread is made on a basis of paper pulp.

The use of paper in industry may be indefinitely extended. It is employed to make imitation porcelain, for boats, for bullets, shoes, billiard table cloth, sails for boats, boards for building, impermeable bags for cement and powdered substances, boats and water vessels. There has even been made a paper stove, which is said to have stood the test well. Cellulose may be used to prepare a waterproof coating, that may be applied like paint. Whole houses in Norway have been built of paper as well as in other countries. In Norway, too, is a church holding 1,000 persons, built entirely of paper, even to the belfry.

Libraries of Ancient.

Modern Institutions Not Far Ahead of Those of Egypt and Saracens.

In the matter of numbers the Bibliothéque Nationale of Paris is generally accounted the first library in the world, with over 3,000,000 volumes. The British museum stands second, with 2,000,000, and the Imperial library of St. Petersburg has about 1,500,000.

In a way, however, the modern libraries are far behind those of ancient times, when it is considered that, since the invention of printing, the accumulation of books for the great libraries has no great difficulties; and that, in the case of the ancients, every volume of their collections must, perforce, be written by hand.

It is therefore startling to read that the Alexandrian library in Egypt numbered no less than 700,000 volumes two centuries before the Christian era. To this library, founded B. C. 290 by Ptolemy Soter, there was added another by Ptolemy Philadelphus, which was in time further augmented.

In 47 B. C., one section of 400,000 volumes was accidentally consumed by fire during a visit by Julius Caesar and his auxiliary soldiers. The library in the section increased in numbers till it exceeded the whole of the former collections.

One interesting donation to this library was that of 300,000 volumes from the Pergusean library, presented by Mark Anthony to Cleopatra.

The library at Alexandria suffered plunderings on various occasions, but it remained practically intact until A. D. 650, when it was destroyed by the Saracens under orders of the Caliph Omar.

It is a curious fact that Saracens should afterwards collect large libraries of infidel literature, such as those at Tripolis in Syria, and at Cordova in Spain, which latter collection embraced 250,000 volumes.

Big Loss of Life

Through Terrible Forest Fires in Idaho and Montana—45 Reported to Have Perished at Wallace.

Spokane Wash., Aug. 22—Hourly reports from fires in the forests of Northern Idaho and Western Montana are increasing the toll of dead. The latest figures from Wallace are that 45 fighters probably have perished.

In the hills, near Sand Point, Idaho, forest ranger Van Dycke and a crew of 65 enlisted men in Spokane are reported surrounded by flames.

A woman and her daughter perished at Cabinet, Idaho. Five are known to have died near Newport, Wash., in an attempt to reach the town.

All along the Great Northern and Northern Pacific tracks between Spokane and Helena, numberless fires are known to be raging fiercely.

A train of 25 horses was yesterday afternoon turned back in an attempt to reach a force of sixty-five men near Peck, which is known to have but two days' rations.

From every corner of Western Montana and Idaho this morning there are prayers that the weather bureau has forecast accurately in predicting showers for to-day. Nothing but rain can save the situation.

J. M. Boyd, former Northern Pacific agent at Wallace, met death in an effort to save his parrot. In the ruins of one house, two skulls, presumably of men, were found. Six men are known to have died in an attempt to reach Wallace from Big Creek, St. Joe county.

Ranger Pulaski and forty-one men were forced to leave Big Creek and attempt to cover the ten miles to Wallace. Three miles from town they were forced by a wall of fire to crawl into mine tunnels nearby and remain ten hours. Two men broke through the fire and staggered into Wallace. They reached here at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and gave the alarm and a party of rescuers with a physician hastened to the War Eagle mine where the men were. One of the forty men was found burned to a crisp on the trail, five of those in the tunnel were suffocated and dead, and a dozen others were resuscitated only after a hour's work.

Three men are known to be dead on Pine Creek. Ranger Bell has 35 men under him there. All were caught. Three were killed, three others were blinded for life, and five had their legs broken by falling trees. Three more men met death yesterday afternoon. They and twenty others were trapped in a fire on Boudoir Creek near Mullan. Four of the twenty managed to walk to the train to come here. Another man was killed on Placer Creek, a mile from Wallace. He and a companion, hemmed in by flames, took refuge in the Creek, and kept each other wet by throwing water with their hands. While thus engaged a falling tree, struck one of the men on the head, and killed him instantly. His companion was able to escape to Wallace, but his clothing was burned off. He was stopped at the city limits by a policeman, who obtained clothing for the man before he would permit him to enter the city for treatment.

Harry Chamberlain was engaged in burying two treasure-filled trunks in the yard of his home in East Wallace when the flames swept around the corner of the house and burning him from head to foot.

Army "Show" on Tour

Will Illustrate Army and Navy Methods Throughout the Empire.

A remarkable plan for a three years' Empire tour of a great naval and military tournament is to be submitted to the authorities in Whitehall. In effect the tournament will be a picture of life in the British navy and army for the past half-century, showing the evolution of uniforms, arms, and accoutrements. In addition, there will be musical rides, physical drill, and tent-pegging.

To bring the performance up to date, airships and aeroplane flights will form a feature of each day's show. The spectacle, without which no tournament of such a character would be completed, is "The charge of the Light Brigade."

Local interest will be fostered in each of the towns visited by the inclusion of the local Territorial force in "modern arms," besides which the local patrol of Boy Scouts will be invited to take part each day in the great march-past with which each performance is concluded.

The tournament will be run on a scale never before attempted in England. The complement consists of thirty officers and 550 men, the latter drawn almost entirely from the army reserve. Six hundred horses, eight field guns, ten baggage wagons, seventy tents, two marquees, 1,500 rifles and carbines of various dates, a similar number of bayonets and about one mile of canvas "boarding" with which to enclose the arena and camp on tour.

Starting in January a tour of Britain will be made before embarking for the colonies.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

The Newfoundland Agricultural Board has ascertained that certain plots of potatoes in the neighbourhood of St. John's are affected by the dreaded "Potato Canker" Disease.

This is the same disease that was first detected at Red Island, in Placentia Bay, about a year ago, and is so fatal in its effects that if not immediately checked the absolute impossibility of growing potatoes in Newfoundland for years to come, is sure to result.

The Agricultural Board therefore requests that all potato growers who may observe indications of disease in their crop will at once notify the Secretary of the Agricultural Board at the office of the Department of Agriculture and Mines.

The Agricultural Board recognizing the incalculable injury that must accrue to the country if this disease be not immediately stamped out earnestly requests all persons to aid the efforts now about to be made to effect this.

In February last the Agricultural Board issued an illustrated pamphlet from a special report by Professor Gussow on this disease. Some thousands of copies were sent to Outport Magistrates and Glergymen, and the Board now requests that potato growers in any affected Districts will procure a copy of this report and be guided by its recommendations.

By order,

FRANK H. SIMMS, Secretary

Newfoundland Agricultural Board.
