CHAPTER IV.

QUESTIONS AND THE QUESTIONED

"Oh," says Mr. Jones, modestly, "we did what we could, and set him on his legs a little, of course, but —" and he shrugs his shoulders significantly.

"And where is he now?" asks someone.

"At Hamburg," replies Mr. Jones, with the unhesitating confidence of truth itself, "gambling away his few last coins as fast as he can—poor old Cyril!"

"Poor old Cyril!" has not moved a muscle, has lain back with the serene and most placid of faces through it all, and now, calm and passive, pushes his hat from his brow, and half closes his eyes, perhaps to enjoy and meditate upon his sad fate as depicted by the truthful and graphic Mr. Jones.

The soft voice of the girl beside him roused him.

"Do you think—do you believe—do you know this Sir Cyril More, of whom he has been speaking?" asks Edna.

"Do I know him?" echoes Cyril, quietly, and wondering why there should be that little shadow of a shadow on the pure young face. "I have heard of him—yes."

"And—and," she asks, looking at him with what she fancies is something like anxiety—"is it true? Is he so utterly ruined?"

Cyril looks out gravely at the lake. "Yes, I am afraid there is no mistake about that, Miss Weston."

"And is it all his own fault? Surely it cannot be all his own fault?"

"Yes, I'm afraid, from all I've heard that he has only himself to blame," answers Cyril, quite placidly. "I don't think there is any doubt that he is of no account—an utterly worthless, idiotic sort of fellow."

Edna looks at him with, yes, certainly, a deeper sadness in her clear young eyes.

"I am so sorry," she says.

Cyril is almost guilty of a start. As it is, he takes the cigar out of his mouth with the air of one who does not quite understand.

"Sorry!" he says. "Why should you be—you do not know him?"

"No-o," says Edna, crossing her hands in her lap. "I do not know him, although I have a dim kind of recollection of the name. I cannot think where I heard it," she muses; "perhaps my father—"

"Your father! I never knew your father," says Cyril, off his guard for the moment, but hastening on, as Edna turns her calm, questioning gaze on him, "I mean I did not know that your father went into society at all—not the sort of society which such a good-for-nothing fellow as this Cyril More is likely to have frequented, you know."

"It could not have been my father from whom I have heard the name," says Edna. "Yes, I am sorry; for he could not have been altogether wicked—no one is that. Poor Sir Cyril More!"

Cyril flushes for a moment. Now is the time; it would be dishonest, nay, dishonorable, to allow her to remain in ignorance. And yet, if he does reveal himself, it must be to say farewell, to throw away the chance of ever speaking one word to her again. It is hard, but he will do it.

He rises slowly—under the most poignant emotion it is scarcely likely that Cyril would be anything but deliberately and carelessly graceful—and is about to speak, when once more Mr. Jones' voice breaks in:

"Going to Hamburg, are you? Perhaps you'll meet old Cyril. If you do, tell him you've seen me, and give him my fondest regards. Don't forget Howley Jones, you know—always calls me Howley. What's he like? Oh, you can't mistake; a dark, thickest man, with rather long hair; not a good-looking man, by any means; and that's what makes it so unaccountable, you know!"

Cyril can stand no more. With a laugh too low and subdued to make itself heard in the next arbor, he takes out his watch.

"We've heard enough of Mr. Jones' reminiscences, haven't we?" he says. "I'm afraid you are rather bored with his unfortunate friend, and—there's the tea bell."

Edna looked up with a laughing face.

"Confess now that you are hungry—"

"No, only thirsty, on my honor," says Cyril, laughing too. "It's Mr. Jones' fault; he was too dry!"

Two hours later and the lake is on fire, the town of Lucerne itself, basking in the reflection of the setting sun which casts a glow on land, lake and sky, tingling the clouds and pouring a warm flood of crimson on the quay, now all alive with promenaders, boatmen and flower sellers.

In front of the Grand knots of English tourists, dressed in the grotesque style which the traveling youths of our favored isle delight in, are lounging about on balustrades and terrace listening to the band, and staring at the gayly, richly and much over-dressed young lady who leans back with the air of an empress in one of the pair-horse flies for which Lucerne is celebrated. This lady, though young, is possessed of undoubted confidence, and sits as unmoved by the direct stare of our youths and the glances of the passers-by as if she were a statue—a painted statue. Now and then she turns her eyes—fine orbs, well shown up with penciled lashes and tinted eyebrows—toward the entrance of the hotel, and beats a tattoo with her gloved hand—she wears her rings outside her gloves, by the way; what is the use of possessing handsome diamond rings if you can't show them?—on the edge of the fly door, as if impatiently waiting for the sgress of some one therefrom. Meanwhile she returns the stares and glances with contemptuous indifference and compound interest, and is altogether a very grand and scornful young made-moiselle.

But suddenly her wandering eye sees some one in the crowd whom she recognizes, and whose appearance rouses her from her contemptuous indifference; she raises her head, looks intently and then leans forward out of the carriage, with her eyes fixed on a broad-shouldered, stalwart gentleman, who comes with her slow and languid gait down the broad pavement. He is tall enough to tower pretty considerably over the Swiss, who on an average are not tall, and to decidedly top his fellow-countrymen; and he is handsome and distinguished enough to draw the eyes of the loungers even from the interesting young lady herself.

Very slowly he comes down toward the parade quite unconscious of the notice he is attracting—quite as unconscious of the lady who is waiting for him. If some kind angel would but whisper a word of warning in his ear! Poor Cyril! his kind angels have been very few and their warnings far between; as usual, he comes down upon his fate, or, rather, upon the individual who is to rule his fate, with his usual careless unconcern and indifference to everything that pertains to the future; and it is not until the young lady has stretched out her hand and caught him by the arm, not until she has called him twice, thrice, by his name, that he turns and recognizes her.

"Why, Cyril!" who on earth would expect to see you here?" she exclaims, showing a dazzling row of teeth and a smile broad and expressive.

"Glitters!" says Cyril, "you here?" and although he smiles and suppresses every sign of the surprise that he feels, there is something in the tone that is anything but indicative of the welcome which so celebrated a person as Miss Glitters, of the Theater Royal, feels that she is entitled to.

"Yes, I'm here; why shouldn't I be just as much as you? How long have you been here?"

"Not long," answers Cyril, "and you?"

"Oh, only came to-day—this morning—and shan't make a long stay of it; at least, we didn't think of it, for Jerry says it's the slowest place he was ever in."

"Is Lord Jerry Carew here?" asks Cyril, looking round with anything but an expression of anxiety for his presence.

"Yes, he's gone inside to order supper; we're going for a drive—don't know what else to do. I never saw such a place; no theater, no concert, no casino, no anything; of course we didn't know you were here, or else it would have been different."

Cyril inclines his head with a cynical smile.

"Oh, the place would have been everything that is delightful; thank you, Molly."

"You haven't forgot your old teasing ways, Cyril," says Miss Glitters, with a pout; "but, I say, where are you staying—here, of course?" and she nods her head toward the palatial Grand.

Cyril shakes his head, with an abstracted air, as if he were thinking hard.

"No," he says, "not here."

"Not here! Where then? I thought this was the only place fit to stop at!"

Cyril smiles.

"I SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS"

Was Eventually Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered for seven long years with a lame back, irregularities and pain. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gave it a trial and in a short time I felt benefited and am now feeling fine and without weakness or pain. Many of my friends have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and been helped by it."

—Mrs. MARGARET NESS, 1546 E. Hazard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, aches or "the blues" should not rest until they have given this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. strated air, as if he were thinking hard. "No," he says, "not here."

"Not here! Where then? I thought this was the only place fit to stop at!"

Cyril smiles.

"Oh—ahem! yes! Oh, come now, nonsense; it's not so bad as that!"

says Miss Glitters, blushing; "you're not quite cleaned out—really, Cyril!"

"Of course not," says Cyril, lightly. "Well, then, come and stay here, and I'll persuade Jerry to stop another night or two. No—no? Why not? Anyhow, you'll have some supper with us to-night!"

"No; I think not," says Cyril, taking out his watch. "I think not, Molly."

Then he comes a little closer, and looks at her fixedly, almost earnestly. "Don't look so cut up, you won't miss me; and, besides, I want you to do me a favor."

"What!" exclaims Miss Glitters, incredulously; "Sir Cyril More ask a favor! The world's coming to an end!"

"Don't hasten its destruction by refusing to grant my favor, then. See here, Molly. I am not stopping at the Grand, and I won't sup with you to-night; and I don't want to see Lord Jerry, because I am here incoo, and don't want to be seen myself."

Molly put her lips into the proper shape for whistling.

"Not as bad as that, Cyril!" Cyril smiles.

"No, not quite so bad as that, Molly; the duns have not followed me to Switzerland."

"Then what is it?" queries Miss Glitters, with intense curiosity.

"What are you up to—what is the little game? Come, Cyril; I will keep it a secret—I will, upon my honor! Do tell me—do, there's a good fellow!"

Cyril laughs one of his rare laughs.

"There's nothing to tell you or anyone else, Molly. I have come here for a little rest and quiet, and I know, and so do you, that I shouldn't get it if I found you and Lord Jerry, and therefore I want you to do me the favor to keep our meeting a secret. Come, it's not a hard thing to promise. You have only to keep my name off your lips; you ought to be tired or it by this time."

Molly pouts and looks at him with all a woman's balked curiosity and suspicion.

Britain's Demand Small—Only Shipping and Paid Losses—Election Fights in Germany—Another Bank Merger.

BRITAIN'S CLAIMS.

(AP.)—Careful investigation has made it possible to give concretely than previously any of the general claims of Great Britain. The British aims, the making of the peace conference. The British aims, the representation of them as regarded as in general with those of the United States. There are some minor differences of opinion between Great Britain and the United States regarding the final adjustment of the affairs and these differences to be reconciled. On the other hand, the aims of the two are considered by British statesmen as identical. Great Britain's first, it is declared, is to secure a League of Nations which is desirable and attainable by none of the British war aims. It will be considered a practical league as is contemplated and govern the affairs of the world. She also believes that should be so adjusted that the interests of every country will be considered of the others; in words, that there should be a League of Nations. As to the League, Great Britain expects to take a pool with other nations. Her claims are comparatively small, it is stated as her main demand for shipping losses paid for.

NOT BY VOTE.

(AP.)—Discussion on the vote of the Peace Conference particularly with reference to the largest and most important powers have only voting rights with the smallest of the French newspapers point out that it is necessary to remember the problems of the conference must be settled by vote. They state that the conference is rather a parliament of nations than a parliament of men, and it will follow a procedure whereby a policy is decided by the counting of heads. This gives the lead and the follow. The Peace Conference must be guided and controlled by the great powers who are responsible for the world and his decisions. The great powers are custodians of vast interests. All have vital principles which are unwilling to enter into a settlement by vote. It is inevitable, for example, that Britain because she is represented at the conference should be allowed to abandon her historic position on the freedom of the seas to a hostile majority vote. A stand would be taken by regarding Alsace and Lorraine, and Italy regarding the Trentino. The underlying principle, therefore, is an agreement among the five great powers, and without it no settlement is possible. While the delegates of all the great powers will attend all the sittings, the delegates of the smaller powers and British overseas dominions and India will attend only when invited. Hence when the freedom of the seas affecting all is discussed, it is assumed all nations, including the British overseas dominions will be present. It is clear that the panel system admits of perpetual representation of the dominions and there is nothing to prevent the British delegation comprising Sir Robert Borden, Hon. Wm. Hughes, General Botha and General Smuts if thought desirable, being constantly present. Anyhow it is extremely probable that when the Dominions and India are now represented as such, one or more of the direct delegates of the Imperial Government will drop out and be replaced by the dominion or Indian statesmen, so that the overseas Empire may always be in a position to know what is transpiring and make its voice heard.

ELECTION RIOTS IN GERMANY.

(LONDON, Jan. 19.)—Grave election riots are taking place to-day in Germany where the people are voting to choose members of the National Assembly. A general strike has been declared at Leipzig, which is without gas and water, according to Copenhagen advices to the Exchange Telegraph Co. The deaths of Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg appear to have made a deep impression in provincial towns and to have led to demonstrations and street fighting. At Leipzig a mob is said to have destroyed the election bureau of the Democratic party and to have confiscated the evening editions of the Leipzig Tageblatt Zeitung and General Gazette, compelling those papers to publish a declaration deploring the murders in Berlin and blaming the government for them. Strikes and demonstrations are reported in Dusseldorf and other towns. Airmen were flying over Berlin to-day and bombarding the city with pamphlets issued by all the political parties. It is reported.

PRINCE JOHN DEAD.

(LONDON, Jan. 19.)—Prince John, youngest son of King George, died at Sandringham, last night. He had been ill for some time. The Prince was possessed of exuberant spirits. He was the prime favorite of all classes and the idol of the servants and tenants at Windsor. It is said that he was the favorite of Princess Mary, who loved to romp with him. The Prince was born at Sandringham July 12, 1905. An official bulletin issued this evening says:

Prince John, who since infancy had suffered from epileptic fits which lately had become frequent and severe, passed away in his sleep following an attack at 5.30 p.m. Saturday.

SINN FEIN PARLIAMENT.

(DUBLIN, Jan. 18.)—Sinn Fein officials announced to-day that the meeting of the Irish Republican Parliament next Tuesday will be open to the press and the public on presentation of a ticket obtainable at Sinn Fein headquarters. Representation will be confined to elected members of Parliament, but the unsuccessful candidates and men occupying government positions will participate. A conference was held in Dublin Castle to-day at which the Lord Lieutenant, the Lord Chancellor, the commander of the forces, the Attorney General and Solicitor General considered the situation. Differences of opinion are believed to exist as to whether it would be wise to ignore Tuesday's assembly and proceed only against acts of intimidation or violence, or whether the assembly should be suppressed as illegal. A majority of the people expect that the former view will prevail.

BANK MERGER.

(OTTAWA, Jan. 19.)—An agreement subject to ratification by the shareholders, has been entered into by the Bank of Nova Scotia and the Bank of Ottawa, whereby an amalgamation has been arranged of these two important institutions. The basis of the amalgamation is that the Bank of Nova Scotia shall exchange four of its stock for every five shares held in the Bank of Ottawa. A striking feature about this union is that although the combined banks have nearly 300 branches they meet at only eleven places and these are large centres. The amalgamated banks will have a paid-up capital of about $19,000,000; reserve and undivided profits, $17,000,000; deposits, $178,000,000; total assets, $234,000,000. Notices are being prepared and will be mailed to the shareholders within a day or two. The Minister of Finance has consented to the amalgamation.

CONFERENCE OPENED.

(PARIS, Jan. 19.)—The Peace Conference was formally opened yesterday afternoon with a speech by President Poincaré of France. President Poincaré thanked the Allied nations for their having chosen Paris for their important work and praised the valor of the Allied armies, which had preserved the capital of France from the enemy.

FIGHTING QUALITIES OF THE NINTH DIVISION.

(LONDON, Jan. 18.)—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Remarkable German tributes to the fighting qualities of the Ninth Division, composed of the South African Brigade and Scots, are now officially published by a staff officer, who was captured by the Germans near Corby in 1918. It was after the capture he was taken to the German headquarters as an intelligence officer, who referring to the 9th Division said the fighting it had put up was considered one of the best of the whole front, particularly the last stand of the South African brigade at Marrieries Wood which was magnificent. Both officers and men fought to the last against overwhelming odds. The Brigadier himself was captured firing a machine gun whilst his brigade major was killed beside him. Many other German officers spoke to the staff officer about the splendid fight of the South Africans. At Le Cateau the staff officer met two brother officers who were while going to Le Cateau who were stopped by the Kaiser, who asked if anyone present belonged to the 9th Division and that he was glad his division had not always to meet this division of he would have had no more troops with which to attack.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS TO MR. JOHN J. McDOUGALL By the Staff of the D. I. S. Co., Wabana.

Mr. John J. McDougall, who has been Manager of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co.'s Iron mines at Wabana, Bell Island, for the past few years is resigning his connection with that corporation, and accompanied by his family, left for Nova Scotia by Sunday's express, where he has accepted a lucrative position with the Acadia Mining Company. Before his departure he was entertained by the Staff of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. at Wabana Staff House, and his old associates took this occasion to bid him God speed and good luck, all the staff and their wives attending. The spacious dining hall and reception rooms were converted into a ball room for the occasion, and here dancing was carried on till the wee small hours. At midnight supper was served and the wants of the inner man amply satisfied by the splendid repast. At the interval the address and presentation committee comprised of Mr. J. B. Petrie, chairman, Mr. Angus McDonald, Mr. J. J. Miller, Mr. J. C. Colbourne, Mr. G. A. Harvey, Mr. J. H. Morley, Mr. M. J. McNeill and Mr. J. T. Lawton, through their secretary, Mr. Lawton, presented a magnificent farewell address, unique to the occasion, it being bound in book form, and containing the crest of Newfoundland on the cover. Accompanying the address was a purse of gold, contributed by the staff to Mr. McDougall; a silver casket with the name of McDougall and a gold tie pin to John, junior. Mr. McDougall in accepting the presents, repiled in choice language, thanking the staff for their generosity and also for their hearty co-operation at all times during his tenure of office. He left Wabana taking with him nothing but pleasant memories of nearly fourteen years' intimate connection with the island. He wished all the staff prosperity and good luck in the future, and hoped that it would be his future lot to be associated with such a "good bunch of fellows" as he had always found the Wabana staff. He found it hard to sever his connection with his old friends on the Island, and hoped to have the pleasure of meeting them again some day. "On the dance" was then proceeded with, and the entertainment committee comprising Messrs. S. C. Miffen, J. M. Greene, W. G. Lodge, J. K. Butler, P. F. Jardine and R. Burnham conducted the remainder of the programme in such a manner that it was voted one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the Iron Isle. The decorations of the ball room and reception hall were superb and very artistic, particularly the electric display arranged by Mr. J. K. Butler, which comprised vari-colored lights around the entire room, and a large motto "Good Luck" standing out prominently. At the conclusion of the entire assemblage formed a huge circle and with Mr. and Mrs. McDougall in the centre sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" followed by "God Save the King" which terminated a most enjoyable affair, which undoubtedly showed the high esteem in which Mr. McDougall, the retiring Manager, was held by his staff and co-workers at Wabana. Before the conclusion a flashlight photo of the staff was taken by Mr. J. C. Parsons, of St. John's.

It is with the deepest regret we learn that you are about to leave Bell Island. Though we have no authority to speak for the general public, we cannot fail to note that the regret at your departure is universal. For ourselves—the members of Dominion Staff—your going away means a severance of fourteen years of intimate association during which you have grown from a boy to manhood. During these fourteen years you have been in the foreground in the promotion of every project for the improvement of the Island.

Since your assumption of the Managership, your interest in local affairs has been redoubled; and your impartiality, your amenability to suggestion, your generosity, charity, and large heartedness, have won our lasting esteem; and we shall always regard your attitude towards us as one of friendship rather than authority. Our regret at your departure is intensified by our recognition of the fact that one of your chief aims has been the amelioration of the domestic and social conditions of the Island; and we are glad to bear testimony to your untiring and successful efforts to make it a better place to live in.

We avail of this opportunity to pay a tribute to your patriotic efforts since the war began. You generously gave your time and influence on behalf of the various movements for the comfort of our soldiers and for achieving the great aims of the war. As a mark of our deepest appreciation of your character and of your work amongst us, and of Mrs. McDougall's many estimable qualities, we ask you and Mrs. McDougall to accept the accompanying souvenirs. In view of your many years of friendly association with the people of Bell Island, and of your enlightened interest in our industrial and social advancement, we feel that your farewell look at Bell Island will be clouded with a few little shadows of regret, and this encourages us in the hope that at some future time we may have the pleasure of welcoming you back amongst us again.

In wishing you and Mrs. McDougall good-bye, we pray that God may shower His blessings bountifully on both of you; and no matter where you may go, our best wishes will always accompany you.

On behalf of the Staff—

GREAT MOMENTS.
There come great moments to us all. When flashes of the truth we see—As when we dare to stand or fall For honour or for liberty; Or putting earthly fame aside And, unafraid of scorn or pain, We choose to suffer and be tried To keep our souls without a stain.

Not always is our vision clear. Not always can we see aright. Life has so much confusion here That truth is blurred and hid from sight. But still there come to every man Great moments when he understands The glory of the Master's plan. And then it is his soul expands.

Hee that has stood beside the bier— Of one he loved, has seen how vain Are treasures that men gather here. How trivial are loss and gain. He that has cooled a fevered brow And sought the hand of death to stay, Has learned that all to grief must bow. Nor gold nor fame can spare the clay.

There come great moments to us all When flashes of the truth we see— When we discover just how small Things are which mighty seemed to be. And in those moments, troubled, We rise above all selfish gain And put the joys of earth aside To keep our souls without a stain.

COLD WEATHER.

Oh, winter, rude season, I'm glad you are here, though I have much reason for springing a tear; for I am afflicted with various ills, which keep me addicted to powders and pills. They're worse when the weather is cold as get out; they all ache together, rheumatics and gout; the ringbone and spavin are painful and sore, as I rub the salve in, and holler for more. I'll try to forget; for winter's a tonic, the best tonic yet. The wise men inform us in well chosen terms (the knowledge should warm us), it's death to the germs. The microbes so dizzy all turn up their toes, when winter gets busy with health giving snows. If winter is slaying the germs by the ton, you won't hear me saying a harsh word, not one. I'll just sit up nursing my swellings and aches, and leave all the cursing to ignorant jakes. When science assures me that winter is great confounders and obscures me with words out of date, I feel that rheumatism is merely a dream, and hate fills the office of patients who scream. We must lean on science, whatever we do; we must have reliance on one thing or two.

The Roman Catholic Church at Chapeau, Ont., the largest church in the town, was burned Friday morning, and before the day was over the Methodists offered the use of their building to the stricken congregation. The Rev. Sinclair Applethorn is pastor of the Methodist Church.

The "Flu."

When your back is broke and your eyes are blurred And your shin-bones knock and your tongue is furred, And your tonsils squeak and your hair gets dry, And you're doggone sure you're going to die, But you're scared you won't be afraid you will, Just drag to bed and have your chill And pray the Lord to see you through, For you've got the flu, boy, You've got the flu.

When your toes curl up and your belt goes flat, And you're twice as mean as a Thomas cat, And life is a long and dismal curse, And you're food all tastes like a hard-boiled hearse, When your lattice aches and your head's a buzz, And nothing is as ever it was, Here are my sad regrets to you— You've got the flu, boy, You've got the flu.

Items of Interest.

45,000 mules and horses, part of the army's supply, will be sold at auction at camps throughout the United States next month.

A desperate criminal was shot by a deputy sheriff at Arcadia, near Los Angeles. The officers were about to arrest him when he opened fire on them. One of them then fired and shot the outlaw, killing him instantly, upon which the outlaw's wife fired from an automobile and killed one of the deputies. The second deputy then fired at the woman and the shot was fatal. The man had many aliases and his real name was unknown, but he had served prison sentences in several States and was an expert bank robber. He and the woman, supposed to be his wife, had been living in a comfortable rented house at Los Madro (about 20 miles from Los Angeles), and the police found a perfect arsenal at his late home, guns, pistols and ammunition in abundance.

The Educational Monument.

The purpose suggested in the letter of Mr. W. W. Blackall, Superintendent of Education (C. of E.) published by us on Saturday, is one that will commend itself to every person.

No person in Newfoundland knows better than Dr. Blackall, the disadvantages under which the growing generation of the Colony labors, because of the lack of educational facilities in the numerous small settlements, and it will be to the everlasting credit of the Superintendents of the various denominations that they have persevered unceasingly in their efforts to establish schools in the remotest places where the need of lifting the cloud which obscures the horizon of knowledge is greatest.

We are pleased to notice by the report as published in the morning paper that last night's meeting was well attended, and that the discourse upon "The Supreme Question" was in keeping with that of the afternoon.

The Evangelists.

The severity of the weather last Sunday was most repeated yesterday, but it did not deter the brave men of our city from attending in large numbers the meeting held on their behalf by the Evangelists at the College Hall, and it is certain that the problem of the "empty pew" does not confront Mrs. Demarest.

Beginning with that well-known hymn, "Stand up, Stand up," and followed by that great processional hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers," the meeting got a good start, and there was soon a warmth of feeling which greatly helped the speaker, and which drew out the sympathy of the audience. But before delivering her address Mrs. Demarest told the story of a hymn entitled "Will you not come home again," and which her mother had composed when leaving Scotland.

Taking up her discourse the Scripture was read at the fifth chapter of the second epistle of Paul to the Corinthians from the seventeenth to the last verse. The subject, though not directly announced, was that of "Reconciliation" and it was treated from a literal and personal aspect.

This was the theme of the discourse, and it was delivered in clearly expressed terms. Supposition was not admitted, spiritual evolution was ruled out, and personal responsibility was pressed home to every heart; and while all these points conveyed, each its own lesson, the illustrations introduced by way of anecdote and story were helpful as well as interesting. The address was fifty minutes in delivery and was intently listened to by all present.

The programme which the Evangelists have mapped out for this week is a big one, and it shows that they do not intend to spare themselves. In addition to the regular evening services there will be a meeting for women on Tuesday afternoon, and for young people later on in the week.

Memorial Service.

MRS. MARK FENWICK. The demise of Mrs. Mark Fenwick which occurred sometime ago was a great shock to her intimate friends, and also to Methodism in general throughout the island of Newfoundland.

Newfoundland is the proud possessor of one V. C., whose name has already been praised in song and story, and it is proposed, in lasting remembrance of the hero himself, and of the glorious deed which won for him immortal fame, to erect in his native home a schoolhouse. What more fitting appreciation of the man and of his deed. Such a building will be a landmark in our history.

Killed With Canadians.

In a recent issue of the Montreal Star is the name of Gunner Albert Madden, died of wounds. Gunner Madden, the paper states, was formerly of St. John's, Newfoundland, but at the time of enlisting he was employed by the Dominion Glass Co., Montreal, and lived with his mother at 1112 DeMontigny St.

P. Engan. The first lot of goods were stolen from the Premium store of the Imperial Tobacco Co., Water St., which the boys entered between 6 and 7 o'clock on Saturday night, by means of a duplicate key. The second lot was stolen from the store of C. P. P. Engan, on the same night. On a shelf in the store, he found a novel of the "penny dreadful" type, and examining it he saw that it had been purchased at a certain bookstore. Referring to this store he received a description of the boys who had been charged with the theft of the novel before. From this description he was able at length to capture the youthful thieves. One of them is of respectable parents, and for a time attended one of the city colleges of other two were little more than children. In the first two cases the fine was over $10. The third was $5.00, and the same in the 2nd and 3rd cases. An Assyrian, to whom the boys had sold their goods, was also fined $50 for receiving goods which he knew were stolen. The fine was paid.

How Much Should We Save?

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

What proportion of his income should a man save? We fell to discussing that the other day and, of course, ran up against the inevitable and wholly unsatisfying answer—"That depends on circumstances."

Of course, one might make the answer—"All you possibly can;" but I do not think that is either satisfactory, or true, as people would translate it so differently. How Some People Would Translate It.

There would be the people who, after they had paid for all the things that they owed to their standing in life—the right kind of an apartment, the proper schools for their children, the kind of a car that wouldn't compromise the husband's reputation of successful business man, a thousand dollar dentist to straighten Dostie's teeth, and a little bungalow (with two baths) at a respectable summer place,—couldn't possibly save at all.

And, on the other hand, there would be the people who would translate "all you possibly can" to mean the need of squeezing their lives dry of all pleasures and comforts and all education advantages.

Those Abnormal People Who Never Save At All.

Every normal person sees the need of saving. Once in a while one meets people living on a salary without making the slightest effort to save a cent; but that is not normal. We all mean to save, and most of us do save, more or less. The question is—how are we doing too much or too little for our circumstances? I think it would be very interesting to know what some of our reader friends do, and I wish we might have some of their budgets.

We had a symposium once before on how much the different readers found themselves able to give away. Let us have something on the subject of saving. Tell us the total income, number in family, and how much you save. Probably you will prefer not to sign your name. That will prevent a personal acknowledgment, but will give you a more comfortable anonymity.

Tell Us How To Save. Tell me, too, in what way you save.

I am a great believer, myself, in such enforced savings as co-operative shares and endowment insurance. It takes more will power to put a sum in the bank that you have merely promised yourself to save, than to pay an insurance which you have also promised the company to pay.

If you know any way to help bolster up that which is so weak in most of us—the will to save; and the patience to prefer some deferred enjoyment—for goodness' sake, pass it on!

Reconstruction & Labor

Speaking before the Canadian Club in London, Ont., Canada, Sir John Wilson, regarding problems incident to the return of peace:

"I hope the soldiers who have come back and those who are returning will display in civil life the same splendid qualities which they displayed at the front, and that during the reconstruction period they will lend their fullest co-operation, as we need all their wisdom to devise plans for their well-being and that of Canada. As yet these plans have not been completed. Provisions for those going on the land have been made, consisting of 260 acres and a grant of $2,500 awarded under certain conditions to those engaging in agriculture. A case which had to be dealt with in one of the cities of the Canadian West a few weeks ago serves to show the extensive provision that must be made to rehabilitate the men in civil life. Two young men had returned from the soldiers' settlement board. One of these who before enlisting had been a farmer on being informed that he was entitled to a piece of land and money, was well satisfied. The other, a harness-maker, who had given up his business to go to war, came back to nothing, and in appearance before the board found there was no assistance for him. This is only one of the many cases showing the absolute necessity of devising a system of cash credit for men whose businesses have gone to pieces by their absence at the war, just to the same extent as provision is made for those who go on the land. There will be many such who will come back to nothing. At whatever cost, it is essential that everything be done for these men."

Capital and Labor.

"I want to speak particularly about the relation between labor and capital. During the next few weeks or months, between 300,000 and 350,000

Milady's Boudoir.

TIGHT COLLARS RUINOUS.

Quite apart from consideration of health, tight neckbands and collars should be avoided from babyhood. But they seldom are so that many a girl of eighteen possesses a neck devoid of even the almost inevitable beauty of youth.

While tight collars are ruinous to the contour and usually to the poise of the head, high ones destroy the texture and color of the skin and accomplish this all the more rapidly if the collar is tight as well as high.

The muscles of the neck become shrunken and the skin flabby and dark, often spotted in color. If one finds it necessary to wear high collars, to business, the collar should be loose, and not over two inches in height.

Before retiring the neck and throat should be thoroughly bathed, and if the skin sags, another treatment is required. This consists of a bandage of cotton gauze applied after an astringent bath of alcohol or lavender cologne.

The bandage is tied at the top of the head and absorbs the stringent lotion. If worn all night a skin food must be put into the neck first and allowed to absorb, but when the stringent bath, with or without the bandage is applied in the morning, the skin food comes last and is used to plumpen the neck.

All wrinkles, brown, unsightly necks one sees exposed at the opera or theatre every evening might have been avoided had their owners worn comfortable Dutch cut blouses during the day.

Takes Nothing for Granted.

(From the Manufacturers' Record.) Hasn't Editor Edmonds, of the Manufacturers' Record, heard that the war is over?—Tampa Tribune.

No, the Manufacturers' Record has not yet heard that the war is over, nor has any one else who knows the situation. A temporary armistice has been signed, but within the last few days a dispatch has come from Germany in the course of which it is said:

"There is a certain feeling here that peace is not yet assured and that Germany may be forced to renew the fight. Such feeling can be removed only by preliminary peace. Until it shall be removed it will be impossible to change the munition factories back to normal uses."

Commander Foch does not think that the war is yet over, because, so reports say, he has given Germany an ultimatum in regard to the possibility of further invasion unless the terms of the armistice are complied with, and the United States Government announces that it proposes to keep 1,250,000 veteran American soldiers in Europe.

The war is not over yet, because the propaganda of the present German Government is being carried on as vigorously and in some respects more viciously than ever before we went into the war. If the secret service would reveal the facts in regard to the wireless messages which it is now catching in which Germany is fomenting discord in this country, planning for riots and seeking to create disturbances with other countries, this nation would be amazed and startled. We regret that the secret service does not feel justified in making all the facts known.

The war is not yet over, because the difficulties between Peru and Chile, which might involve other countries in South America, are being fomented by Germany for the express purpose of embarrassing the United States.

The war is not yet over, because the German propaganda in Mexico is vigorous and aggressive in seeking to create hostility to this country.

The war is not yet over, because the present German Government is merely a camouflage to hide the real intention of the German people: for the men who have controlled Germany have not as yet the slightest thought of losing that control. Temporarily Germany has lost but a man of intelligence who has the opportunity of knowing the inside of the situation can look forward to nothing but serious dangers throughout the world as a result of the persistent, continuous German propaganda, which is aggressive, vicious, devilish and almost as universal in its scope as the activities of the Devil himself.

Poincaire's Address.

French President Welcomes Peace Delegates--German Ships Taken by Allies--New Polish Ministry Approved.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Following is the text of the address of President Poincaire at the opening of the Peace Conference yesterday. Gentlemen:—France and thanks you, for having as the seat of your labours, which for more than four years she has made his principal objective, and which the Allied armies have victoriously defended against unceasing and repeated offensives. Permit me to you my decision, the homage of nations which you represent, to country which more than any has endured the sufferings of which entire Provinces have transferred into a vast battlefield and been systematically ravaged by the invader, and which the human tributes in death have borne those enormous sacrifices which she had not the responsibility for the right of which has overwhelmed her, and which at the moment of this cycle of horror is ending, all of her delegates are assembled here to acquire themselves of the crime, which has remained so unprecedented a disaster. It gives you the authority to establish peace with justice, is the fact of the peoples, of whom you are delegates. Humanity can place in you because you are not those who have outraged the right of humanity. There is no need for information, or for special into the origin of the drama which has just shaken the world, bathed in blood, has escaped from the imperial arch. The premeditated character of is to-day clearly proved. In the day of Europe, and many of the world, the Central Powers, bound together by a secret and the most abominable of for trying to crush Serbia, force their way to the East. At the time they disowned the most undertakings in order to crush and force their way into the of France. These are the two of aggression. The combined of Great Britain, France, and were exerted against the arrogance, after long vicissitudes who wished to resign by had perished by the sword, have but themselves to blame, have been destroyed by their ill-fortune. What could be more than the shameful bargains attempted to offer to Great Britain and France at the end of July, when to Great Britain they said, "allow us to attack France and we will not enter the field" and when they instructed the Ambassador to say to France "we will only accept a declaration of ally on your part, if you surmount us Brie, Toul and Verdun." In the light of these things, gentlemen, that all the conclusions you have to draw from the war will shape. Your nations entered the successively, but came one and the ship of threatened Rights; and Great Britain had guaranteed the independence of Belgium, Germany sought to rush Belgium and France both to save her. Thus, from the beginning of hostilities, there into conflict the two ideas which months were to struggle for the domination of the world, the idea of foreign force, which accepts control nor check, and the of justice, which depends on the only, to prevent or repress the of strength. Initially supported by her Dominions and her colonies, Great Britain that she could not remain from a struggle in which the of every country was involved, was made, and her Dominions and she have made with her prodigious efforts to prevent the war from in the triumph of the spirit of and the destruction of Japan, in her turn only, do to take up arms out of loyalty Great Britain, her great ally, and the consciousness of the danger which both Asia and Europe would stand, if the hegemony of which German Empire dreamed were unopposed. Italy, who from the first refused to lend a helping hand human ambition, rose against an enemy, only to answer the call of the oppressed populations, and to desert the cost of her blood, the combination which look no account of human liberty. Romania, who to fight only to realize that unity which was opposed by

PARISIAN VISIT POSTPONED.
PARIS, Jan. 19.
Owing to the death of Prince John, the intended semi-official visit of the Prince of Wales to Paris has been postponed.

GERMANY DENIED OF SHIPPING.
PARIS, Jan. 19.
All the great liners, and the more important of the other German passenger steamers, under the agreement for the extension of the German armistice, signed at Treves, are placed at the disposal of the Associated Governments. Only some of the smaller steamers are left to the Germans.

APPROVED BY ALL.
WARSAW, Jan. 17.
The Polish Ministry, formed by Ignace Jan Paderewski, apparently meets with the approval of all parties, except the Radical Socialists. Paderewski is almost exhausted by his strenuous efforts of the last few days. To-day he said, "at least ninety-five per cent of the people of the three Poland are with me. The other five per cent constitutes a grave danger."

PETROGRAD STARVING.
LONDON, Jan. 19.
A German Government wireless message received here, says, "starving workmen are parading the streets of Petrograd and many riots have occurred. These were suppressed by troops from China and Korea, who were welcomed by the Bolshevik as 'Pioneers of the Oriental Internationalism.'"

LEADERS SHOT.
AMSTERDAM, Jan. 19.
Four Spartacan leaders, who were arrested during the recent disorders in Spandau, were shot and killed by escaping troops when they tried to escape on Friday night.

A SINISTER ASPECT.
GENEVA, Jan. 19.
Several German and Russian Bolsheviks have been arrested by the Lausanne police. It is said that the men in custody were bearing false passports, and were on their way to Paris.

NOON.
GREEK ABOLISHED.
LONDON, Jan. 19.
(Via Ottawa Agency).—The Senate of Cambridge University, by 123 to 14 votes, decided the long vexed question of compulsory Greek, so far as the entrance examination is concerned, by making the subject optional. This compulsory Greek, which was adopted ninety years ago, is now abolished in the Little-go examination.

DEPTH CHARGE INVENTOR.
LONDON, Jan. 19.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The Express naval correspondent states that the inventor of the depth charge, which was one of the most effective inventions of the war, was an Englishman named H. J. Taylor, who was formerly an instructor in motor car engineering at the Battersea Polytechnic. At the beginning of the war, he saw some submarines manoeuvring off the Isle of Wight, when the idea of a water bomb occurred to him. He worked on it till the following May and then submitted a scheme to the Admiralty. Six weeks later, successful trials were made of his invention, whose deadliness soon became notorious.

WILL HAVE A LOOK IN.
LONDON, Jan. 19.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The Weekly Dispatch, Paris correspondent, states that the British overseas delegates have had a very busy week, in close touch with Premier Lloyd George. Questions of the League of Nations and freedom of the seas will be considered by all delegates at a full conference, including the dominions' representatives. Moreover, the overseas Premiers will attend the conference, under the panel system, more frequently than is generally expected. The correspondent confirms the fact that it is now generally believed that all difficulties as regards freedom of the seas have been definitely overcome.

AERIAL MAIL SERVICE.
LONDON, Jan. 19.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The first official flight between London and Paris, was made by a British pilot, Lieut. Edmonds, on a British machine last Wednesday. He started from London in a two-seater and arrived a short distance from Versailles in one hour and forty minutes. Weather was unfavorable. He carried ballast instead of passengers. He carried urgent despatches for the Peace Conference. The return journey was made yesterday and completed in two hours. Thus a regular mail service from London to Versailles has been inaugurated.

STRONG MEDITERRANEAN SQUADRON.
LONDON, Jan. 19.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The Sunday Express states that the Government intends to place on the reserve the present British Mediterranean squadron, sending there a particularly strong squadron. It declares orders have been given for the first battle squadron to prepare for two years' Mediterranean service. The squadron will include the Iron Duke, Benbow, Marlborough, Empress of India and Canada. A light cruiser squadron and two flotillas of destroyers will accompany the battle fleet, and their base will be at Malta as heretofore.

Market Notes.
CODFISH.—The market abroad was the subject of a discussion by exporters last Thursday, and at the meeting certain recommendations were made with the object of securing a stabilization of prices, and preventing a dangerous slump. Both Italy and Greece need fish badly, but consumers in these countries are not able to pay high prices, consequently without financial aid from their Governments. Italian and Greek importers are not in a position to accept drafts against Bills of Lading, and shipping on consignment, in the present unsettled condition, commercially, would be poor business for our exporters. The coming three months are the best for fish consumption in Europe and with a careful study of conditions, an exercise of care and a harmony of action, Newfoundland shippers have the situation in their own hands, as Southern European countries are wholly dependent on our fish for their supply. Prices locally at present are:—Lahador Soft Cure, $11. Hard Cured Shore, No. 1, $14 to $14.50.

COD OIL.—The Market for both Common and Refined shows no signs of activity. The former keeps gradually going back, a normal quotation of $170 per ton, being made last week. With the renewal of industrial operations which need this quality, the prices may steady. Refined is not in any demand at $230 per gallon, and there is a prospect of this figure declining still further, when Norwegian competition opens.

HERRING.—With the complete close of the seasons fishery, it is estimated that the total catch is about 40,000 barrels, which is away below that of last year. There is nothing special to report in the price line locally while in the New York market no established price has yet been set. Scotch Pack Local prices are given at $23 for Scotch and $7.50 to $8.50 for Splitts.

PROVISIONS.—The only item of interest in the flour situation is the promise of the Food Control Board to lift the Substituted regulations on the 1st of next month. Prices of Standard are unchanged, viz. $14.35 to $14.50 wholesale, and these are likely to remain unaltered for some time. Yet, Pork and Beef are being quoted wholesale at following rates: Mee's and Short Cut, Clear $50 per barrel; Ham Butt $48; Boss Flank Beef $47.50; Bos Packet $47; Boneless $46 to $46.50; Plate $43.50. The United States Government continues buying up all the Pork in sight for export to Europe. This has the effect of making Newfoundland orders difficult to fill in New York and Chicago. Sugar is selling at the last quoted price viz. $12.70 for White and $11.25 for Brown per hundred pounds. It is said after February the local regulations will be rescinded. Good Molasses is hard to get here just now, and the price of stocks on hand is $1 per gallon, with holders not anxious to sell, as they desire to retain a quantity for the Seal and Cod fishery. New cargoes from Barbados are not expected in St. John's until March. P.B.I. Potatoes are selling at $5.90 and local at $5 per barrel. Oats are $5 to $6.20 per bushel and Hay from $55 to $60 per ton.

C. M. B. C.
At yesterday's meeting of the C. M. B. C. the chairman spoke to the men on "Church Attending." He said, that because people go to church for wrong reasons, such as hearing a good sermon or because of custom and habit, the attendance is very small in comparison with what it ought to be, but, he added, if people only thought of how they should go to church to worship God, to give, and not only to receive, then the attendance would be very much greater than it now is. At the end of his lecture the chairman said the third lecture of the series on "Church History" will be given to-night (Monday) in the Synod Hall, and the building will be properly heated. A meeting of the general committee will be held in the Synod Building next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, and all members of the C.M.B.C. are requested to attend.

The Farce Continues.

I have committed previous crimes
Against the printer and the press;
I've written some outrageous rhymes
About—no reader e'er could guess.
Of such a crime, I swear I'm free.
To—write anything to-day?
Dear Editor, please bear with me,
I am a citizen, and say,
What citizen is not allowed
To—write anything to-day?
I'm listening to this housing yarn
For years and years, without an end,
'Tis him to that illusive inn
Ye call "The Final Dividend."
The "maximum man" goes on his
And talks of houses, sewers and pills,
slaying parsons, priests and
Of "spooks."
And other wells of human ills.
Of making of this earth of ours
A paradise supremely blest,
Whose dwellings shall out do the hovels
Where gods of old were wont to rest.
I wish that while they're talking thus,
"Those stalwart braves, so lusty
lipped,
Would have a lucid interval
And pass us up some plough and tongued.

To men the hole where yesterday
The drift came swirling, swirling through,
Until I stopped it with my vest,
To keep myself from swirling too.

Oh Mr. "Maximum Man" if you
But had your way, I have no doubt
I'd write this poem in luxury—
But now I thaw my fingers out.

The warmth my feeble breath can lead
Is like the sunshine on the Pole.
The attic room, I tenant, "Freeze"
The genial current of the soul.

We'd have our model dwellings bright
"If ploughed and tugged" and sills and nails,
Were like the visions of the poet.

"A local habitation give
To aly nothing," that's the game,
The boys will cheer, the while you

The men, sometimes, will do the same.

Royal Bank Announces Most Comprehensive Plan of Extension That has yet Been Made by Any of the Larger Canadian Banks.

Branches will be Established at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Buenos Ayres, Argentine, Montevideo, Uruguay, and Paris, France.

Montreal, Jan. 20, 1919. (Special).—As a result of the vital importance to Canada that the foreign trade of the country should be extended to the greatest possible extent, the Royal Bank of Canada to-day made the most important announcement of plans for new branches that has yet been made by any of the larger Canadian banks. The Royal Bank has had twenty years' experience in the foreign fields of Cuba, West Indies and Central and South America. On this account it is especially equipped to handle foreign business and to help attract more of it to Canada. Following on a careful investigation extending over the past couple of years the Royal Bank now announces that it will help to direct a larger amount of South American trade to the Dominion by the immediate establishment of important branches at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Buenos Ayres, Argentine and Montevideo, Uruguay.

As is well known in Canadian banking circles no Canadian capital has been required for the extension in foreign countries by the Royal as the foreign deposits at every point have always greatly exceeded the foreign commercial loans.

In addition, the Royal has concluded arrangements to open a branch at Paris, France, in order to secure for Canada a share of the commerce which is expected to develop as a result of the rehabilitation of Northern France and Belgium.

The Royal now has the largest number of branches in Canada of any Canadian bank.

Royal Bank Will Help to Bring More Foreign Trade to Canada.

Sir Herbert Holt, President, Pays Graceful Tribute to Valour of Canadian Soldiers—Edson L. Pease, Vice-President and Managing Director, Deals with the Policy of the Bank in Foreign Fields and Announces Important Extensions—C. E. Neill, General Manager, Refers to Features of Growth and Expansion of Past Year.

Montreal, Jan. 20 (Special).—The Annual Meeting of the Royal Bank of Canada was marked by announcements of the greatest importance to the extension of the foreign trade of the Dominion.

For the past few years it has been evident that just as soon as the war was over Canada would have to go energetically after foreign trade in order that the industries of the country might continue to maintain as large a percentage as possible of the increased production obtained during the war period. In addition, this foreign trade would be a vital factor in the maintenance of a favourable trade balance.

Sir Herbert Holt, the President, referred particularly to the remarkable achievements of Canadian industries during the war period. Sir Herbert expressed confidence that the Trade Mission established in London would be able to secure for Canada a share proportionate to the sacrifices made in the business arising out of the reconstruction work in the devastated countries. Arrangements would no doubt be made for an equitable distribution of orders in Canada and these will require financial support from all the banks similar to that accorded to munition and other war contracts. Some little time must elapse before trade projects can bear fruit and factories be refitted. To provide for the consequent period of unemployment the Government has announced its intention of proceeding with public works, which it is to be hoped will be confined to improving our waterways, port facilities and public roads, and in addition, has offered loans for housing purposes through the provincial authorities.

Sir Herbert paid a striking tribute to the valour and achievements of Canada's soldiers and urged that gratitude for their heroic service should be shown in tangible form. The country is their debtor. Satisfactory employment should be found for every returning soldier who is fit to work, and relief extended to the maimed and crippled. In the Bank, unless there is some good reason to the contrary, every officer who enlisted and who applies for reinstatement within a reasonable time after his return, will be re-engaged on the salary to which he would have been entitled had he continued in the service, subject to reasonable adjustments where necessary.

Sir Herbert, referring to the more important developments within the country, said:

"The Business Profits War Tax Act ceased to apply on the 31st of December, 1918, except in the case of any company or person who had failed to make returns. The Minister of Finance wisely has made the provisions of this act practically co-terminus with the period of earning of large profits incidental to special business during the war. If labour is to be given its full opportunity, the capital which finds employment for it must not be hampered."

"Dealing with the growth and expansion of the Royal Bank, Sir Herbert said:—
"In July last we consummated the purchase of the assets of the Northern Crown Bank, which aggregated $27,819,291. After closing 14 offices, at points where we already had branches, we secured through this amalgamation 76 branches in Manitoba and the North West, excellently located, and 20 in Ontario. In this, as in previous amalgamations, you will see that our position was very definitely strengthened in a particular district. With the Union Bank of Halifax we improved our connection in the Maritime Provinces with the Quebec Bank in the Province of Quebec, and with the Traders Bank of Canada in the Province of Ontario."

Necessity of Securing Foreign Trade.
Mr. Edson L. Pease, Managing Director, dealt particularly with the urgent need that existed for Canada to go after foreign trade and insisted that extension of export trade was vital to the commercial self-preservation and future economic welfare of the country. Only by creating a large favourable balance of trade, he said, could we hope to meet the interest on our foreign debt. Canadian Banks could effectively aid export trade by establishing branches in foreign countries and supplying information to the Canadian exporter. British banks existed in almost every foreign country and had proved a powerful factor in the development of Great Britain's world-wide trade. The Royal Bank, with its complete organization, had already helped the Dominion materially, but it was the intention of the Directors to pursue a policy that would mean greater business to the country. On this account Mr. Pease took occasion to refer more particularly to the Royal Bank's operations in foreign fields and the policy of the Bank in that direction. Mr. Pease said in part:—

"In June last we established a branch in Barcelona, Spain, in order to participate in the large trade between that country and her former colonies, where we have many branches, and I am pleased to say the results have greatly exceeded our expectations."

"We are now preparing to open in Paris, France, in order to secure a share of the commerce which is expected to develop with Canada in the rehabilitation of northern France and Belgium."

"With a view to the extension of Canada's foreign trade and encouraged by our past success in this field of banking for which we are well equipped, we have decided after long consideration and carefully studying the situation, to open three additional branches in South America, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Buenos Ayres, Argentina and Montevideo, Uruguay. Members of the staff for these branches have already been selected and are about to leave for South America."

In establishing in foreign countries for the purpose of fostering Canadian trade it does not follow that Canadian deposits would be diverted to foreign fields—the experience of this Bank has proved the contrary. Our foreign deposits have always exceeded our foreign commercial loans, as the Government returns show. The present excess is over $15,000,000. We have now had twenty years' experience of banking in Cuba, the West Indies and Central and South America. During this period our losses have been infinitesimal, much under the percentage incurred in Canada, because the business represents chiefly the movement of staples, accommodation paper being inconsiderable. That Canada's trade is benefited by these branches is shown by the numerous business enquiries we receive. At the same time it cannot be said that we have neglected home interests. The number of our branches in Canada exceeds that of any other bank."

Growth of Past Year.

Mr. C. E. Neill, General Manager of the Bank, in reviewing the financial report pointed out that the statement submitted was the best that had ever been laid before the shareholders of the Bank. He drew attention to the fact that the total assets were now $427,512,982.91, the increase for the year being over $90,000,000, and the growth in deposits, not less than $80,000,000; that the substantial expansion in current loans indicated the Bank was doing its share in taking care of the commercial requirements of the country. Mr. Neill further stated:

"The liquid position of the Bank is more favourable than it was last year, the percentage of liquid assets to liabilities to the public having increased from 63.9 p.c. to 68.59 p.c. From the standpoint of cash reserves, we are also stronger, the percentage of cash to liabilities to the public being 17.13 p.c. as against 16.36 p.c. the previous year."

"The substantial growth in the Bank's assets has resulted in a pronounced increase in earnings. Net profits for the year were $2,809,846.24, being 10.19 p.c. on the combined capital and reserve, as compared with $2,327,979.51, 8.82 p.c. on capital and reserve, the previous year. The marked growth in the Bank's general business is due to the activities in all branches of trade and increased value of agricultural production."

Election of Directors.

Prior to the election of the board of directors for the ensuing year a motion was adopted to increase the number of directors from 20 to 22 by the election of two representatives of the Northern Crown Bank, recently absorbed by the Royal. The subsequent election added the names of Capt. Wm. Robinson, Winnipeg, formerly president of the Northern Crown, and A. McTavish Campbell, Winnipeg, as directors of the absorbed bank.

The board of directors stands as follows for the ensuing year:—Sir Herbert Holt, president; E. L. Pease, vice-president and managing director; E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., second vice-president; C. E. Neill, general manager; Jas. Redmond, G. R. Crowe, D. K. Elliott, Hon. W. H. Thorne, Hugh Paton, Wm. Robertson, A. J. Brown, K.C., W. J. Sheppard, C. S.

Wilcox, A. E. Dymont, Sir Mortimer B. Davis, G. H. Duggan, C. C. Blackadar, John T. Ross, R. MacD. Palmer, G. G. Stuart, K.C., Capt. Wm. Robinson and A. McTavish Campbell.

Our American Letter.

Charleston, S. C., January 8.

The sudden death of Theodore Roosevelt was a severe shock to the American people. The illness of the ex-President had not been considered serious and when death came to him so swiftly it had all the effect of an unexpected blow. For with all his faults Roosevelt was well beloved. People forgave his quick temper and his heated outbursts because of the great amount of manliness in his character. Up to the last Roosevelt was a boy in spirit and enthusiasm, and like a boy he would brook no opposition. It is possible that his illness and the death of his youngest son in action in France were responsible for a good deal of the ill-temper he latterly exhibited. Now that he is dead we can overlook these faults, although they have seemed inexcusable, and think only of the dynamic force which has vanished from American public life. Roosevelt's place in history is secure and future generations will tell their children in tones of admiration of the varied exploits of Teddy the well-beloved.

Henry Ford has given another shock to industry. Hereafter no person employed by him in any capacity will receive less than six dollars per day. One can hear his rivals gnashing their teeth in venomous rage over this monstrous blow at their time-honoured system of dealing with their workmen. Whether Ford is a pacifist or a dreamer we must do for his hats to him. He has discovered that ordinary workmen have souls as well as the purse-proud plutocrats.

News from Russia is certainly puzzling. One day we learn that plunder and massacre are the order of the day; the next we are told that the Bolsheviks have made Russia a workman's paradise, and that their economic reforms are wonderful. What are we to believe and what is the reason for all this mystery concerning Russia?

It is amusing to watch the German murder chiefs tumbling over themselves in their eagerness to disclose their detestation of the methods used by Germany in the war. These fiends who hesitated not to ravish and murder when victory seemed within their reach, are now in their defeat, striving to garb themselves in white robes and to pose as spotless and deluded innocents. The press of the world has lately been expressing its admiration for Maximilian Harden. Why, no one seems to know, Harden is simply another German hypocrite who was far-sighted enough to see the deluge coming. When the ex-Kaiser first let loose his horde of devils, Harden was as enthusiastic over the war as any of the super-fleas at Potsdam.

If Newfoundland wants to provide employment for returning soldiers why not begin building a system of good roads throughout the country. It should be possible to circle the Island by motor car whereas at present it cannot be done on foot. No country in the world has a greater need for good roads than Newfoundland. Lack of the means of travel from outport to outport is retarding its development to a greater extent than is believed. Birchy Cove, in Bay of Islands, called by some people "Curling," is obliged to use the railway track for want of a main thoroughfare through that beautiful town.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, Dec. 23, 1918.
BY DOUGLAS HAIG.

It is difficult to write about Sir Haig, for his qualities, everyone feels them, cannot be put in any easy and popular market one can get to it, would be to say that, while a great genius for war like his is equally a master of his work—the incarnation of work—imperturbable, even irritatingly right, with a gift for simplification. He is himself to be hustled and is to be overworked, and the tremendous strain fallen hardest on him in his operations he has always been able to see things in their perspective and never lost sight. His candid friends are hard to say of him that his notable military career in his early regimental allocation he was first gazetted to regiment he did not take mess routine, and finding regimentally a little "out of himself, at a time when careers were not too seriously to take their profession very seriously. Be that as it may, the cavalcade come to look upon only with intense pride and special affection. But as he is even to-day in the and thrust of the head, and his Scottish caution all his, and that caution and the western front have been match for General Allenby on the east. Turk and German for different treatment. He is a man of politics, and nothing he take any part in the which seem to centre round generals since Marlborough's prompts the latter course, but I note that cadets still in training are to be given the opportunity of completing their course and passing into the Reserve of Officers which would make them permanently commissioned. One presumes that as much will be offered to the patriotic men now holding temporary commissions. The right to their military title, if they choose to use it, will not cost the country anything. Cadets who do not wish to complete their course, by the way, are to return to the ranks and await their demobilisation in the ordinary course.

TRAINING WAR BRIDES.

Three or four months' training in housewifery and infant welfare, with a maintenance allowance during that time more or less equal to the ordinary munition out of work pay, is to be offered to all "war brides" in munition works, if the Government adopts the plan of the Women's Trades Union Advisory Council. There are 400,000 girl munition workers who hope to make homes soon for soldier or sailor husbands, and the Government is urged to train them for home life rather than let them congest the labor market. No munition hostels are being closed at present, and girls taking this course will be allowed to live in hostels or to come daily to training centres from Midland munition towns like Coventry. Thousands of Scotch and Irish girls are now going home, and welfare officers are arranging that their travel shall be comfortable. In London people are asking about the future of the Whitehall girl clerks. I understand that all girls at the Ministry of Munitions earning under £160 a year are entitled to the out-of-work allowance. Even the little girl messengers, of whom the Ministry employed 1,000, will receive twelve shillings and sixpence weekly for the stipulated three months, provided they attend continuation classes.

THE BATTLE CRUISER IDEA.

A writer in an evening's newspaper professes to be at a loss to know why the Queen Mary, the Indefatigable and the Invincible went down at the battle of Jutland, and suggests that in some naval circles there is a tendency to regard the causes as deeply mysterious. Both the battle cruiser idea and the turns which its embodiment have taken from the laying down of the Invincible to the laying down of the Warspite and the Renown have no doubt had some hostile critics. But, so far as I know, the loss of the Invincible, the Indefatigable, and the Queen Mary has never been regarded by naval architects or authoritative commentators on naval affairs as in the least degree mysterious. Ships of the type may have definite tactical functions in battle, but they are not, and never were intended to lie in the line. Something has to be sacrificed in a ship for high speed, and in this case it is armoured protection. Obviously there is nothing in the suggestion that the three lost ships were the first of their kind, and therefore in a sense experimental. The Invincible certainly was the first, but the Indefatigable was our fourth and the Queen Mary our ninth.

ANOTHER SUNDAY PAPER.

The embargo on new newspapers having been lifted, the first of them since the prohibition will make its appearance on December 29. This is the "Sunday Express," which is being produced by the "Daily Express" people. Lord Beaverbrook, who was until recently Minister of Information, is understood to have a big interest in the business and to be putting his personal energies into the new venture. It is a rather curious fact that, while two daily papers (the "Standard" and the "Citizen") disappeared in the war, the new publications are all Sunday papers. The "National News," the "Evening Telegram," the "Sunday Pictorial," and the "Sunday Herald" were all started during the war. The "Sunday Express" will make the fifth. Furthermore, an old established Sunday paper in London is said to be reorganising itself as a picture journal on the lines of the "Sunday Herald" and the "Sunday Pictorial." The title of a famous London daily paper is also likely to be revived in the new year for a new venture backed by a strong firm. Other papers are also being arranged for, and there is especially a rash of new trade journals, the first corners amongst these being generally devoted to boosting certain foreign countries as openings for British enterprises. One, for example, is called "Morocco" whilst another is devoted to Russia.

FURNITURE PRICES COMING DOWN.

Furniture, new and second-hand, soared in prices to tremendous heights during the war. The cessation of imports and the restrictions which war exigencies placed on manufacture, very quickly resulted in a big reduction of stocks, particularly of new articles, and a great fillip was given to the second-hand trade. Either because of the scarcity of new furniture, or on account of the high figures demanded for the remaining articles, people who in other circumstances would not have dreamt of buying second-hand were compelled to resort to the dealers in order to secure articles which were necessary. The air raids and the demands of military service led to the closing of many dwellings and the disposal of the household goods. Small fortunes were made in record time, goods being resold in a few days at fabulous profit. Now, however, the circumstances have suddenly changed; many dealers have ceased to buy old furniture, and prices are falling largely, it would appear, because manufacture is expected to begin again at once on a large scale. There will, it seems likely, be a good market for moderately priced articles of durable quality in view of the thousands of men returning from the Army who will be setting up house for the first time. But the profiteering of the second-hand dealer will not continue much longer.

HOUSE OF COMMONS AS A "CASINO."

Structural alterations on a somewhat extensive scale are being undertaken at the Palace of Westminster during the interval between the Parliaments, in order to meet various feminine demands. Before the dissolution there were contemplated mainly as affecting the admission of women as "strangers," but now that they are certain to be in attendance as members, the changes will need to be more extensive. The extremely confined space in which the House of Commons is built presents enormous difficulties in the way of the Office of Works. The Legislative Chamber itself was never sufficiently large from its earliest design after the Great Fire of 1834 to give seating accommodation to the 558 members originally assumed to be provided for, or the 670 under the Redistribution Act of 1885. Now that the total is raised to 707, the inadequacy of the provision will be decidedly more apparent; but it is in the direction of the smoking rooms, tea rooms, and other "clubbable" parts of the palace that the officials are finding the greatest difficulty. A serious-minded member of the Gladstone Administration, in 1892, when Mr. Herbert (now Lord) Gladstone, as First Commissioner of Works, successfully endeavoured to improve the social amenities of the building, exclaimed in the lobby in sombre tones: "My dear sir, the House of Commons is being turned into a casino." What he would have said if he had lived to see the changes now being undertaken one leaves to the imagination.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Three of our citizens passed away this week. Mr. H. W. Oke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Oke; Mr. Edgar Stevenson and Mrs. Wm. Hunt, of the West End. Mr. Oke was a great favorite with everybody. He was employed in the grocery store of Mr. E. Simmons, where by his cheerful disposition he made friends with all with whom he came in contact. "Hal," as he was always called by his friends, although not of robust disposition, possessed a strong heart and determined will, and battled bravely with all the ailments that came his way. He took a great interest in all general topics, and it was surprising with what ease he could converse on many general topics, for one of his years. The funeral took place this afternoon. General sympathy goes out to the sorrowing relatives.

Mrs. Louise Hunt, wife of our old townsman, Mr. W. Hunt, aged 66 years died on Wednesday, after a few weeks illness. The funeral took place this afternoon. The aged husband has the sympathy of all our citizens.

The third to pass to the Great Beyond this week was Mr. Edgar Stevenson, formerly of Stevenson's Village, but he has resided for some months with his daughter, Mrs. W. Snow, of Noad Street. Mr. Stevenson had reached his 77th year, and had only been ill a few days.

Owing to the Board of Health regulations the Societies cannot meet for the payment of dues, but are arranging to have the members meet their treasurer and make the necessary arrangements.

Obituary.

MRS. M. C. BUTLER, ST. GEORGES.
Sundays express delayed by the furious storm, reached here on Tuesday, bearing the remains of Mrs. M. C. Butler who died in North Sydney, on the 11th inst. of heart failure. The body was accompanied by Miss Annie Butler, eldest daughter of the deceased lady, and was met at the railway station by numbers of friends, and many of the general public, who wished to pay their tribute of respect to the departed.

The casket was taken to the home of her son Captain Thomas Butler, where the wake was held for one night, then, after a solemn High Mass in the Cathedral, St. George's, she was laid to rest in the cemetery. The remains accompanied by the grieving relatives and many friends were taken over the ice to Sandy Point and there interred by the side of her husband. Mrs. Butler was a near relative of the late Capt. P. Delaney, who was well known to all Newfoundlanders. She was born at Bay Roberts, fifty-five years ago, and came to the West Coast with her husband, James Butler, of Port-de-Grave, about 25 years ago. Mr. Butler engaged in the shoemaking business, and also kept a general store. Their home was constantly visited by Captain Delaney and the other officers of the Grand Lake, Volunteer, and other ships of the old Coastal Service. To those who are now living, this notice will recall a memory of these happy days. After this, came tragic days. The husband was drowned returning from a business visit to Halifax. The family moved to St. George's. A daughter, Maud, a lovely girl was cut down, just as she was budding into young womanhood. Then came the war, the dreadful agony of suspense, and then the certain news of the death of her splendid young son, Ignatius, in the awful slaughter of the 1st of July, 1916. From this blow, the mother never fully recovered.

When the family moved to North Sydney, the question of Death was only one of time.

Mrs. Butler needs no eulogy. Her life was one of service. To aid and help others with her alert brain and skillful hands was to her a religion. She always bore up bravely under her severe afflictions and even in moments of deepest grief, could forget self in aiding others. May she rest in peace.

To her relatives in Bay St. George, her sons, and Magistrate McDonnell's family—and to her daughters in Sydney the writer offers his sincerest sympathy.

A. J. O'R.

ICE-CUTTING.—Mr. A. Williams of Forest House, started cutting ice on the 1st of July, 1916. From this blow, the mother never fully recovered. The ice was found to be 11 1/2 inches thick.
