NOTE AND COMMENT

The allies have disabled 40 German divisions on the western front in a month. The so-called impregnable line may not be so impregnable as it appears.

Men familiar with packing say that, years ago, bacon sold at only twice the price of live hogs. However, curing and cold storage then had not been so "scientifically developed."

The New York Herald hasn't much use for the discussion about calling the soldiers "Sammy's," thinking Americans good enough, and sagely remarks: "It may be noted that the Canadians have been able to do a good deal of fighting even though a lot of persons haven't worried over giving them a nickname."

Fifty years ago there were 100 flax mills in Canada, but at the time the war started three years ago the industry was extinct. At best eight or nine factories were in operation. The industry has been revived by the war, and during the coming winter there will be 30 or 40 mills in operation. The Ontario farmers planted 8,000 acres this year of this crop the uses of which are perhaps more varied than any.

What would be the Consequence?

If certain parts of and certain classes in Canada had done in the matter of enlisting what other parts and other classes have done, the number of enlistments would not be over one hundred thousand. If Britain and France had done no better than this, Germany would have over-run Europe and would have become absolutely masters. They would have done more. They would have become the possessors of by far the strongest navy in the world, and by means of it have dictated terms to the nations of the world. While the United States would have been left with a territory and internal independence intact, the Monroe Doctrine would have been torn to ribbons and South America would become a colony of Germany, and a crown colony at that. Of this there is absolutely no question. This being the case, what are those parts and those classes going to say for themselves? Is that what they want? Are they willing to put up with that fate? In that event what about an "Independent Canada" or a "National Republic" on the banks of the St. Lawrence? When put in this bold outline, which is strictly in accordance with conditions as they would be in the event of a German triumph how can non-enlistment be excused? This is as certainly Canada's war as what may be the result of a neglected cut. Many a serious case of blood-poisoning has resulted from just such a small injury. All the suffering and expense which this entails can be avoided by the timely use of Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk, immediately it is applied to a wound, destroys all germs, thus preventing their accumulation, which is the cause of blood-poisoning. When the sore place is thus thoroughly and medically cleansed by Zam-Buk the healing essences in the balm grow new tissue, and a speedy cure is effected.

Be prepared for every little cut or scratch by always keeping a box of Zam-Buk on hand. It is equally good for burns and scalds, as well as for eczema and all skin troubles, chronic sores, bad legs and piles. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 60c. box, 3 for $1.25.

that there is a sun in the sky, and this would certainly be Canada's fate if Germany were successful, and Germany would certainly be successful if Britain, France, Italy and certain parts of Canada had done no better in the way of enlistment than other parts of Canada. What have those other parts to say about it, and what are they going to do about it?

Cooking Potatoes

Paring and cooking is the most wasteful method, and added to this some cooks soak the potatoes in water after they are pared. Starting to cook them in cold water also adds to the amount of waste.

Twice as much nutritive matter is lost if paring is done before boiling as there is if it is done after boiling, not figuring the waste in cutting away the potato. The juice of the potato contains 85 per cent. of the protein and 85 per cent. of the ash, and these substances are easily extracted when the protection of the skin has been removed.

A pared potato soaked from three to five hours loses about three times as much of its mineral matter and seven times as much of its protein as one that is pared and immediately cooked.

In the most wasteful method of cooking, paring, soaking and starting to cook in cold water the loss of protein is 51 per cent., and 39 per cent. of ash. When cooked with the skins on potatoes not soaked and dropped into boiling water lose only 1.6 per cent. of protein and only 4.9 per cent. of ash.

Baking and steaming are the most economical methods of cooking potatoes when fuel is considered. Potatoes cannot be baked well in a slow oven.

Ex-Deputy Sheriff Thos. Shirley Dies

(Vancouver Daily Sun, Thurs. Sept. 6)
"Friend after friend departs, who has not lost a friend." Thomas Shirley, 1054 Tenth avenue west, passed away quietly Tuesday evening while resting after a short walk he had taken after dinner. Big, robust, honest "Tom" Shirley, who in Vancouver did not know him? Honest as the day was long, generous as the sunshine in August, genial as a bright May morning; in fact, a great big likeable man. In the western vernacular "a good fellow to tie to."

Mr. Shirley had been missed from the streets for a few months past. He had been suffering from one of these insidious internal diseases that gradually wear down the strongest constitutions, but he always kept his cheerfulness.

He was a deputy sheriff for 19 years but he was the antithesis of what a bailiff is supposed to be and many a one in Vancouver on whom he has been forced to levy will remember him only to bless him because many a time he went down in his own pocket to relieve the distress of those on whom he was forced to serve a distress warrant.

He was born in Watford, Ont., in 1850 and started west early in life. After living a few years in Brandon he moved to Vancouver in 1887 and resided here continuously ever since. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Ina and Nora, and one son, Ernie.

The funeral will take place this afternoon. It will be private and it is requested that no flowers be sent. Service will be held at St. Paul's Church at 2.30.

Henry Ford Goes the Limit

(Montreal Herald)
Henry Ford has broken a silence of many months to announce to the world that he is now fully converted to the belief that the war must go on until German autocracy is crushed. Characteristically with him, conviction is accompanied by action, and he announces that the Ford plant is making 200,000 aeroplane cylinders for the Government, to be delivered at the rate of 1000 a day. If called upon to do so, he says, they will produce these cylinders at the rate of from 5,000 to 10,000 a day. The whole work is being done without profit to the company. Mr. Ford's change of heart is typical of what has taken place in hundreds of thousands of cases. Many Americans at first saw no connection between the war and civilization as a whole. They regarded it as a local quarrel over ancient prejudices and racial antipathies. But Germany herself has cured them of the delusion.
A special order has been issued that soldiers on leave in London, or convalescing, must salute on meeting officers. Soldiers from the trenches appear to have objected to saluting officers who have never got further than London.

Necessary Farm Equipment

MORE and more the Ford car is looked upon by progressive farmers as necessary farm equipment, the same as the plow, the hay-rake, the drill, the mower, the harrow and other labor and time-saving machinery.

A farmer with a Ford car can dispense with one or two of his horses and make the trips to town, railway station, creamery, or to the neighbours in one-third the time. In fact there is no farm machine made that will save the busy farmer and his busy wife so much valuable time as a Ford. And it's so easy to take care of—far easier than a horse. No bed to make, or hay and oats to get, no harnessing and unharnessing, and no stables to clean. The Ford practically takes care of itself.

Ask any farmer who owns a Ford if he would ever again try to get along without it. His answer will hasten your decision to own one.

Found New HEALTH
OF greater value than gold and silver is health restored. Up in the mining district of Larder Lake, Ont., Mr. Sid Castleman discovered something—that the high words of praise given to Gin Pills are true. Here is his story, in part.
"I had heard of your Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS and decided to give them a trial at once, as I had been suffering for some time with my kidneys and urine. I sent my chum out to get them (about 60 miles) and I am pleased to inform you that in less than 6 hours I felt relief. In two days the pain had left me altogether. Today I feel as well as ever. I did and my kidneys are acting quite naturally." (Full testimonial sent on request together with FREE SAMPLE of Gin Pills.)

Not in Stock
I long for peace, for balmy peace; I'd like to see the scrapping cease. I asked the kaiser if the boon of peace would reach us pretty soon. "We have no peace in stock," he said, and wiped some carnage from his head. "We used to keep such goods on hand, until we found there's no demand. We have none, be it understood, but here is something just as good." With that he jabbed me with his spear and winged me in my starboard ear. I called on half a dozen kings, who deal in gore and kindred things, and asked if they had peace for sale, and always heard the same old wail. There's absolutely no demand for peace, in bulk, in crates or canned. We strive to keep abreast the times, we have on hand all standard crimes; we can deliver at your door the latest novelties in gore. For winter goods we're making room, and closing out our stock of doom; if you desire a dead man's bones call us up by telephone. But peace! It's strictly out of date; we can't afford to pay the freight; we could not sell it if we would—but here is something just as good." With that before I could escape, they shot me up in slugs and grape. You could not buy a pound of peace in any mart from Cork to Greece.—Walt Mason.

"Re Torpedoed Ships"
In long rows of letter files, labeled "Re Torpedoed Ships," the great British and Foreign Sailors' society indexes thousands of daily reports from its ports missionaries the world over. Here is one of these routine reports from an English south coast port which cannot be named:
"We had 44 of the crew of the S. S.—of Boston up to dinner yesterday, torpedoed without warning about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. They were greatly shaken, as their boat sank in two minutes. Torpedoed in the boiler-room and the engineers frightfully injured. One man stood four hours in boiling water up to his waist. There were blisters as large as footballs on his chest and although he received every care, he succumbed soon after reaching shore. I buried him last night. Two others in hospital. A. B. Jones has his left leg off, both arms fractured, burns on face and body. He is informed that his half pay to his mother has been stopped and is anxious for her welfare. Edwin Blades, third officer, badly burnt about the face and body, he was rendered unconscious and when he regained consciousness, his clothing was on fire. He is anxious to know whether he can claim any compensation or what can be done. If he can claim, would like to know how to do so. This makes my 106th crew. They gave us quite a full house last night. Seventy-six sleep in the betel and billiard-room, the rest upstairs, a total of 108.
"This morning I received in at 6 o'clock seven men, the crew of the Russian barque —, from Saint Thomas, West Indies, for Cardiff, torpedoed at 5 a. m. on Sunday and picked up on Tuesday evening, 225 miles off Ireland. I regret to report that eight of the officers and men are missing and it is feared that they are drowned, there being no possible chance of them having been picked up. The captain has been taken prisoner on board of the submarine and there being no articles, I am unable to apprise the next of kin. Owing to their wretched state I furnished them with five pairs of pants, four vests, seven shirts, six mufflers, seven pairs socks. They left on the — a. m. train for London. Just as I got rid of this crew, I went down to the dock to receive 76 men including 58 Chinamen, off the —, from Hong Kong to Dundee. They had lost all (I mean the British) for the Chinamen have grabbed as much as they could and were fairly well off, but the first quartermaster and the chief engineer I fitted out with undergarments and gave them five shillings each, as they were absolutely penniless.

"I am just getting ready to receive another torpedoed crew, 22 men, British ship, have no more information yet. "Yours, etc."

Letters From the Front
Soldier-boy letters are still coming. Mothers are reading them with a sob in the heart and a shine of gratitude pride in the eyes. Brothers and sisters, friends and sweethearts are reading them for the latest news of Bob and Bill. Nor does the interest cease there. Neighbors, strangers even, read them and are proud and pleased and most intensely interested in the most humble details described. It does not matter that they are dated "Somewhere in France" and that other affairs of armament and movements are vague and of such a nature as to give no aid, comfort or information to the enemy. That is as it should be, and for those things no one of us cares much. The letters may lack literary quality. Not one of us cares for that. Great correspondents litter the front and world famous periodicals are filled with rounded periods, heart throbs and the fripples of fine writing. We read these with pleasure and profit, but no one of them can send us such real pictures of what is going on as we get

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. FRANK KNOBL, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.
Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. Yost, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.
Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. CLEMENTINA DUERRING, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice,—it will be confidential.

from the simple straight-forward narratives of these soldier and sailor-boys who tell us what they see and feel and endure. They are coming and will come, more and more of them, till the war is over and the last sailor and soldier is home again, safely shielded in the love and admiration of fathers and mothers, friends and sweethearts, and out of them we shall get the true story of the war. History in the future will give us the diplomatic exchanges, the orders of emperors and generals, the movements of troops in campaigns and battles, the gains in towns and territories, the losses in men and treasure. But the truest history of the war—our war—will be found in the letters of these soldier boys of Canada telling what their own clear eyes saw and their own hearts felt as the lines went forward.
SORES FLEW BEFORE IT.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which acts like magic. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.
The only son of Dean Stevens, residing near Dresden, fell into a cistern and was drowned. The cistern had been left open by threshers when they were washing preparatory to supper, and the two-year-old boy fell in while they were at the meal.
Galley brothers caught a mammoth sturgeon at Blain's Grove recently, which weighed 1044 pounds. It was 9 feet 2 inches in length, and 9 feet 9 inches in girth. According to the development of a sturgeon, it was estimated that this specimen was in the neighborhood of two hundred years old.

Help to Save Canada's Fruit Crop
A Practical Thrift Suggestion
This year, as never before, every quart of Canada's fruit crop should be used to the very best advantage. Though it all ripens within four months, it can be made to supply every table, every day in the year, at moderate cost.
Canning and preserving, done at home at the time when each fruit is cheapest, provide in delicious and economical form the daily fruit so necessary in a wholesome diet. Fruit put up at home is much cheaper than that which you buy, and the slight increase in its cost, due to the higher price of sugar, is small compared with the mounting cost of other foods.
Successful preserving and canning are by no means difficult, either, if you are careful to boil everything, and use

THRIFT EXHIBIT ECHOES

The Live Wire Club had a splendid exhibit of handmade furniture.

The Dept. of Agriculture sent 100 pamphlets on "Canning" and the same number on "War Breads" for distribution.

The young ladies from the High School did themselves proud in their three minute speeches. A good example for the young men to follow.

The boys and girls acted like ladies and gentlemen. There was no disorder and no handling of exhibits. The hearty co-operation of the teachers was a great help.

Some one wildly announced about the middle of the forenoon that the Rhode Island Reds had escaped from their coop.

They were captured, as was also the White Wyandotte hen who forsook her mate and went on a foraging expedition, but it gave six women a lively five minutes.

There was never a prettier sight in the old town than the Public School children made in front of the Armory waving their flags and singing their songs.

Frank McCormick landed the $2 prize so kindly donated by the East Lambton Agricultural Society with a total of 7 prizes. William Fitzgerald won 6 and Richard Rogers 5.

Receipts at the door $38.00, booth $50.72 and special prizes $18.50. There will not be a large surplus after the prizes and expenses are paid but the members of Tecumseh Chapter, I.O.D.E. and the gentlemen who so untrudgingly assisted them feel amply repaid by the pleasure given to the children and the interest taken in the event. They also desire to thank all who gave special prizes or who helped in any way to make the Fair a success.

Mr. A. G. Brown and Col. Kenward acted as judges for all the vegetable gardens and the back yards; Mr. McDougall and Mr. Shrapnell on songs, recitations and speeches. W. P. MacDonald, of the Dept. of Agriculture, judged the vegetables, flowers and live stock. He made an interesting speech and complimented the boys and girls on the high character of the exhibits. Mrs. Humphries and Mrs. Dodds of the Women's Institute judged the needlework and knitting and Miss Gormally the art from the High School, which formed a very beautiful exhibit. Mr. McDougall was judge of the Pennmanship and construction work. John Farrell was present and helped things along in general.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS IN THE HOME

Mrs. Eugene Vallancourt, St. Mathies, Que., writes: "My baby suffered greatly from constipation so I began using Baby's Own Tablets. I was surprised with the prompt relief they gave him and now I always keep them in the house." Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she always keeps a supply on hand for the first trial convinces her there is nothing to equal them in keeping her little ones well. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

He received a shrapnel wound in the leg in November, however, which proved more serious and since that time has been in hospitals in France and England.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. W. F. Garnham on Wednesday last when a large number of the community assembled to do honor to his son, Lynus, who has recently returned from the front. The early part of the evening was spent in games, music and social intercourse. About 10.30 the young soldier was called forward and presented with a well filled purse. A very appropriate address was read by Miss E. Sherk and the presentation made by Miss Gladys Ramsay. Pte. Garnham then made a suitable reply thanking all for the appreciation manifested. He also held the attention of the crowd as he related some of his experiences and the circumstances under which he was wounded at Courcellette and Grandcourt. A dainty lunch was then served after which the evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

They Shall Not Pass

The Immortal Cry of Canada at the Second Battle of Ypres.

The defence of Ypres following the first ghastly gas attack April 22, 1915, exalts all history. By it our men were transfigured and the undying, imperishable Soul of Canada revealed.

In the name of these Heroes of Ypres, Festubert, Givenchy, Vimy Ridge, Lens, The Somme, Verdun—aye and the Deathless "Old Contemptibles"— we beseech you, Women of Canada, to Dedicate Yourself and Your Families to War Service by signing the Food Service Pledge.

The sacrifice is not great. We merely want you to substitute other foods for part of the white bread, beef and bacon your family now eat.

"What follows almost defies description. The effect of these poisonous gases was so virulent as to render the whole of the line held by the French Division practically incapable of any action at all.

The Stand of the Canadians

"The left flank of the Canadian Division was thus left dangerously exposed to serious attack in flank, and there appeared to be a prospect of their being overwhelmed and of a successful attempt by the Germans to cut off the British troops occupying the salient to the East.

"In spite of the danger to which they were exposed the Canadians held their ground with a magnificent display of tenacity and courage; and it is not too much to say the bearing and conduct of these splendid troops averted a disaster which might have been attended with the most serious consequences."

From

Sir John French's Seventh Despatch, General Headquarters, 15th June, 1915

The Undying Pledge of Canada's Mothers to Her Sons.

When baking use one-third oatmeal, corn, barley or rye flour. Or, order some brown bread from your baker each day.

Substitute for beef and bacon such equally nutritious foods as fish, peas, lentils, potatoes, nuts, bananas, etc.

Third, and this is most important—positively prevent the waste of a single ounce of food in your home.

A Food Service Pledge and Window Card has been or will be delivered to you. The Pledge is your Dedication to War Service—The Window Card is your Emblem of Honour.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the only medicine in the world that is made from the juices of fresh ripe fruits. On the other hand, the fact that "Fruit-a-tives" is entirely different from any other preparation in the world, is just why you should give it a fair trial, in any trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. The Redfield Will

It Looked All Right When Made, but Did Not Pan Out Well

By F. A. MITCHEL

When the late John Redfield's will was opened it was learned that all his property—a goodly fortune—was left to his daughter Anne, with the condition that she marry the testator's right hand man of business, Theodore Griffin. Griffin had been in charge of the Redfield company for some time before its founder's demise, and since he was the only man who could squeeze a profit out of it there was no necessity for making any other provision for its management. Nothing was said in the will as to a refusal of Griffin to marry Anne Redfield. Her father when she was passing into womanhood had told her that it was his intention to give her a good manager for the fortune he would leave her, in the person of Griffin. Anne was then too young to consider the importance of the plan to her, and her father was led to believe that she would make no objection to it when the time came to fulfill the conditions. There was no doubt about Griffin's acceding to it.

This is why the will made no mention of a refusal on the part of Griffin to marry the heiress. If she refused to marry him the stock of the Redfield company, which would otherwise be hers, would go to Griffin. The residue of the estate would in this case be divided between several charitable institutions in which the testator had been most interested during his life.

Mr. Redfield died four years after mentioning the matter to his daughter. When he did so she was fifteen. At the time of his death she was nineteen. She had told some of her schoolmates that she was to marry Griffin and had made no objection to doing so. At that time it was a matter for the future, and she considered it a matter of course, as a boy may do who is brought up to understand that he is to enter a certain profession.

But when Anne Redfield at nineteen found herself an orphan and called upon to fulfill the conditions of her father's will she was a woman and had a lover who had nothing whatever to do with the condition except that if she married him she would give up a fortune.

David Corwin was the young man who had stepped in to prevent John Redfield's well conceived plan from being smoothly worked out. David had been attentive to Anne for some time before her father's death, but Mr. Redfield was not observant, and quite often parents who are watchful fail to detect a love affair that is developing right under their noses. This one came to a head during Mr. Redfield's last illness.

When the will was read Anne was reminded of something the importance of which she had not realized and which, never having been mentioned to her since she was fifteen years old, she regarded as a dead letter. But even now it did not occur to her that Griffin would force himself upon her, she being unwilling. She sent for him and told him that she could not marry her father's choice for her without violation to her feelings. Griffin replied that he had promised her father to do his part in carrying out the plan; if Anne would not do her part he saw no way but that the property, other than the business, must go to the charities named in the will.

Anne consulted a lawyer, who told her that under the terms of the will she must marry Griffin to inherit her property. There was but one way out of the dilemma, and that was for Griffin to refuse to marry her. This would make the will inoperative, and she would inherit as heir at law, the same as if there were no will, she being the only child and there being no widow.

Anne did not understand the legal distinctions in the case, but she did understand that her inheriting her property and marrying the man she wanted depended on Griffin's declining to marry her. She sent for Griffin and reported what the attorney had said. "This plan," replied Griffin, "was inaugurated by your father. It received my sanction, and he told me that you had made no objection to it. I would not be justified in thwarting it by putting you in a position to render it inoperative. I regret that the carrying it out has become obnoxious to you, but that fact would not excuse me if I become a party to nullifying it."

"But father could have had no object in making such a will except to insure, so far as he could, my happiness. Four years ago he told me about this plan, and I gave my consent to it. Had I refused that consent I am quite sure he would not have made such a will. I was then a child. Now I am a woman. Father never intended that I should marry a man I did not wish to marry."

"Your father doubtless knew that your happiness largely depended upon the possession of the fortune he had been at such pains to build up. He was aware that a girl of your age is not able to manage a large concern. His money is all invested in the business, and every one knows that a business without a manager will soon go to ruin. If you marry a man who is not capable of managing yours you will be reduced to poverty. I am sure I am warranted in saying that no man is capable of managing it who has not been brought up for the purpose. Your father brought me up for that very purpose. His object in providing in the will that you should marry me was to assure to you the enjoyment of the wealth he was leaving you. Had he left you free to marry whom you liked you would doubtless have married some young man utterly unfitted to manage a fortune that was tied up in a very intricate business. The result would have been what I have said—ruin for the business and poverty for you. He brought you up with the understanding that you were to marry the manager of the business he left you."

This sounded so plausible that for the time being Griffin appeared in Anne's eyes a very noble man. It seemed to her that she was the guilty one in not carrying out her father's wishes, to which she had tacitly consented. Nevertheless her whole being rebelled against a marriage with Griffin. Indeed, it was not to be thought of. She would marry the man of her choice even if she must relinquish a fortune. She was quite sure he would marry her even if she were poor as a church mouse.

But Anne found on consultation with others that they were not disposed to take her view of Griffin's noble motives in not permitting her to enjoy her inheritance with the man she loved by refusing to marry her. Her lawyer told her frankly that Griffin wanted the half million of dollars he would get with her. Corwin said that he wanted her, fortune or no fortune, but some way must be found to persuade or force Griffin to refuse to marry her, thus enabling her to come into her own. He consulted lawyers, who told him that to comply with the statutes Griffin must voluntarily refuse. He could not be trapped or forced into a refusal.

There was a time limit in the will to Anne's marriage with Griffin. By the time she was twenty-one she must marry him or lose her property. When her father died she had just turned nineteen. Therefore two years remained before she was compelled to decide. It was decided between David and Anne that David should go to some unknown place. Anne had not told Griffin that he had a rival, and it was determined to still keep the matter a secret. There was no difficulty in doing this, for thus far it was known only to Anne and David.

Theodore Griffin was one of those men who combine the social and business world. His success lay in becoming intimate with rich persons and using them in a business way. His used his club, his friends, even his church, for profit. One evening at the opera, scanning the occupants of the boxes, he encountered a pair of binoculars in the hands of a handsomely dressed woman leveled upon him. The glasses were dropped at once, but Griffin wondered why the woman, who was young and well favored, had been gazing at him. Later, pointing to the woman, he asked a friend who she was and was informed that she was Senora De Barancas, the widow of a Brazilian coffee planter and worth millions.

"Would you like to know her?" asked a gentleman sitting near Griffin. "I certainly would," was the reply. "I am a friend of hers, and if you will give me references I will be pleased to present you. She has only just arrived in the city and is unknown."

Griffin found a friend who vouched for him and was presented to Senora Barancas. He found confirmation of his belief that he had attracted her attention, because she had admired his appearance. In the reception she gave him, which was, to say the least, cordial. She lamented being in a great state when there was so much to enjoy with no one to enjoy it with except her business manager, the man who had introduced Griffin, and Griffin told her that it would give him great pleasure to make her stay pleasant. She told him that she had but a week in the city, for she had the misfortune, though a woman, to be burdened with the management of large interests.

Griffin devoted himself to the young widow for a week, at the end of which he prevailed upon her to remain another week. One morning Anne Redfield received a note from an attorney suggesting that a compromise might be effected in the matter of the condition in her father's will requiring her to marry Griffin. Anne referred the note to her attorney, who advised her to begin negotiations by offering Griffin $10,000 to refuse to marry her.

But before a reply to the offer was received David Corwin turned up and, taking Anne in his arms, announced that Griffin had been married the evening before.

Corwin was in a position to give his fiancée a lot of information as to the bride, for he had brought her from Rio de Janeiro himself, had arranged her meeting with Griffin—indeed, had arranged a trap for that gentleman which had been worked out very successfully. Senora Barancas was a hired adventuress, and David had agreed to remunerate her handsomely out of Anne's fortune if she could by marrying Griffin insure it to its rightful owner. The senora needed considerable funds to pose as the widow of a multimillionaire coffee planter, and David had been obliged to borrow the necessary amount.

The wedding was sudden, for the senora received a telegram (sent by David) that her interests needed her presence on her plantation, and Griffin concluded to snap her up without delay.

David and Anne did not wait for the courts to pronounce her an heiress before being married. But it was some time before she received her inheritance. Then all the expenses David had incurred in bringing out Senora Barancas were paid and the bride and groom began to enjoy their fortune.

PRISONERS GET PARCELS.

Soldier Who Escaped From Germany Tells Experience.

The following statement regarding parcels dispatched to prisoners was made to a representative of Reuters' Agency by a Canadian soldier who has been for twelve months a prisoner in Germany but recently made his escape:

"After being two months in Germany, I received my first parcel, and since then they have arrived regularly, except that at the beginning of last January they were held up for about six weeks. They came in excellent condition, and the contents were just such things as we wanted and could appreciate. Altogether I think the new system very good. Before it came into force some men were getting much more food than they required, and were even then not satisfied, and were continually grumbling. Now every man gets the same amount. There is, therefore, no discontent, and things run more smoothly."

"With regard to the bread coming from Switzerland, I think that during the summer time this is a great waste. For three years the British people have been told about the bread going bad, and yet it still keeps coming out, and in consequence thousands of pounds of bread have been wasted. The bread is, of course, sent to the main camps, and in the case of men who are actually there when it arrives they get it in good condition. For the men in working camps, however, things are different, as the bread has to be sent on, and takes perhaps another three weeks to get there, by which time it is quite uneatable."

"I would recommend that instead of this bread being sent to the prisoners, rusk or biscuits should be substituted. The biscuits sent to the French prisoners are excellent, and if dipped in a little water and heated, rise and take the form of bread. Moreover, these biscuits will keep an almost indefinite time. The French prisoners have their biscuits sent out in bulk to the various main camps, and they are distributed from there to the small working camps."

"To my knowledge the parcels were never stopped for any reason, except during the six weeks I have mentioned, but I have heard rumors of the Germans threatening to stop them. I do not think they will do so in the case of the British prisoners at any rate; if they did they would not get a single stroke of work out of them."

Hard and soft corns both yield to Holway's Corn Cure, which is entirely safe to use, and certain and satisfactory in its action.

The British Food Controller says that within a year Britain will be self-supporting so far as the chief articles of food are concerned.

PERSONAL.

St. Catharines, Ont.—"Two years ago I was in a very nervous, generally run-down condition, so that I awoke in the morning more tired than when I retired. The doctors thought I had heart trouble and treated me for it but I got no benefit. I heard of Dr. Pierce's remedies through a friend who had been to your Invalids' Hotel for an operation (which proved entirely successful) and I at once got the 'Favorite Prescription.' I took three bottles altogether and at the end of three weeks I felt entirely cured and have been well and strong since, without a single bad spell. I stopped taking it about three months ago and am glad to tell you one how splendidly your medicine has healed me."—Mrs. JOHN LEWIN, 53 Niagara St., St. Catharines, Ont.

The mighty restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription speedily causes all womanly troubles to disappear and brings back health and strength to nervous, irritable and exhausted women. It is a wonderful prescription prepared only from nature's roots and herbs with no alcohol to falsely stimulate and no narcotic to wreck the nerves. It banishes pain, headache, backache, low spirits, hot flashes, worry and sleeplessness surely and without loss of time.

Sleepy Time Story About a Noted Athlete of Olden Times.

HOW A FOOT RACE WAS LOST.

Fleet Footed Princess Took Great Delight in Displaying Her Marvelous Speed—Delay to Pick Up Golden Apples Caused Her Defeat.

Tonight, said Uncle Ben to Little Ned and Polly Ann, I will tell you about A FAMOUS RUNNER.

Once there was a girl who could run faster than any man alive. This girl was a princess, the daughter of the king of Acadia. She had been well brought up, but she cared more for playing ball and running races and such boys' sports than she did for the nice ladylike amusements that her mother preferred for her.

Atalanta could run faster than the swiftest deer, it was said.

She was fond of daring other people to run races, and if they were strangers their surprise that a slender girl could outrun them was a treat for her at the end of the race.

As she grew up many handsome young princes would have liked to marry the princess, but she would have none of them.

"I won't have any one who can't run faster than I can," the spoiled princess would exclaim.

So whenever a new prince came along and asked her to marry him she would say very sweetly:

"Certainly, sir, if you can beat me in a race."

Every time the young man would be beaten.

But one day Hippomenes, a handsome young man of Acadia, said that he would like to run a race with the princess provided she would marry him if he could outrun her.

He was a very good looking young man, and Atalanta smiled at him as they started out, but she did not intend to let him beat her.

When they had gone a little way and Atalanta was just a little in front of Hippomenes he reached into his cloak and drawing out a golden apple, sent it rolling in front of the girl.

There was plenty of time, and she stopped to pick up the apple. Thus Hippomenes got a little ahead of her. When she caught up he threw another apple, and she stopped to get that one, sure she could make up lost time before the end of the race. But Hippomenes had a third apple, and he threw it so cleverly that Atalanta lost the race. He reached the goal first.

There was a grand wedding, and Hippomenes and Atalanta would have lived very happily had they not chanced to offend one of the gods. For this they were turned into lions. So whenever you see a lion or a lioness you can think of these two wonderful racers and the pretty story the old Greeks made up about them.

A Tragedy.
I'm a wee little mouse
In a great big house.
I have to hunt my food.
Sometimes it's old,
Sometimes it's cold,
Sometimes it's warm and good.
I had a little brother once,
With whom I used to play.
He wouldn't mind his mother
And ate his meals by day.
When he was tasting some dessert
He found within a cup,
A savage cat caught sight of him
And quickly ate him up.

The Zebra.
The zebra is as strong, swift and sure footed as a goat. Could it be tamed it would be very valuable. When a herd of these animals is attacked they form a circle, heads together, and defend themselves with their heels.

A Blunder.
"What on earth made you compliment Miss Fetchit on her taking ways?"
"Why not?"
"Don't you know the poor girl is a kleptomaniac?"—Baltimore American.

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unsoiled stomach, but this is only a manifestation in their cleaning power no indication that they are hurtful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear all worms from the system.

Why A Child Needs Glasses
(Parents should realize this)

MANY children are born with a defect of vision. Unless it is very great the child does not particularly suffer until the school period. Then the young mind becomes intent upon study and any defect of vision becomes a direct strain upon the brain. To relieve this the child will squint, or turn the head, in many cases using only one eye. This habit grows until we almost have a deformity of the eye.

Parents do not let this be the experience of your child. We will gladly and thoroughly examine your child's eyes, and tell you truthfully how best to remedy it. See to it now.

Gunner C. F. Luckham Writes From England

Extracts from a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Luckham from their son, Gunner C. F. Luckham, who has been confined in the Red Cross Hospital or convalescent home nearly all the time since he went overseas early in June of this year.

King's Canadian Convalescent Home, Bushey Park, Hampton Hill, Middlesex, England.

I had such a delightful time to day, that I want to try and pass on to you, who will probably never have the privilege, a slight idea of the day's experience. I was one of thirty-five Canadians who went to-day to Windsor Castle the summer home of the King and Queen.

Of course because of the magnitude of the sights taken in, there is but a faint impression left on my mind. Then there'll be some things I'll forget, so my description will, I fear, be very incomplete.

First, we visited what I think would be the crypt or vault where there are many statues or images of Kings and Queens who have gone before. One was particularly interesting but sad. It was one of Princess Neapol lying dead on the bed. Beside the bed were two kneeling figures in the attitude of prayer. Above was an angel holding the small infant of Princess Neapol. The latter would have been Queen of England, instead of Victoria, had she not died at the birth of her child. The figures were all combined and occupied a space of about 10 x 15 feet.

Another good one was four different casts or postures of Queen Victoria, who was noted for her kind and charitable ways. One showed her feeding the poor. Another receiving strangers, one visiting the sick and another showing sympathy for the mourner.

Underneath the floor on which we walked lay the remains of Henry VIII and Ann Boleyn. At one end of the room was the altar where Henry III was married and underneath the same place, he was laid to rest. We then visited the room in which all the Royal weddings take place, and all the investitures of the Knights of the Garter. Each member takes his own place there, and above him is erected the huge pillar with his particular banner above it, the King's and Queen's being of course, more ornamental than the others, are finished off with gold. The Kaiser's used to be just four seats from the King's, but it now is down along with eight others of his kind. It is customary to take a banner down, only when a member has died, but for reasons quite obvious at present, his was removed in 1914.

Next was the Armour room, where the walls are literally covered with all kinds of armament from the time of Henry III until the present day. Of course, any pictures there, are of the best. Most of them by the master "Lawrence." The ceiling of one room was painted over 200 years ago and except for washing, has not been touched since and still looks quite new.

Next to the throne room. Here, of course, the main feature is the throne itself. The chair is of gold inset with a collection of all the precious gems, principally diamonds. On the arms of the chair, are two heads of wild animals, the eyes of which are set with amethysts. The back of the chair is one mass of small diamonds, by small I mean none smaller than beans, while the posts of the back of the chair are each set with a huge diamond as large as a hen's egg, or better still the size and shape of a tennis ball. All of the ceilings are either finished in gold or by grand oil paintings. We then visited the stables, and here I would like to have had father and Scott with me. Talk about your horse flesh, well it's there. There were about 80 horses, some grey but mostly bays, and they are all perfectly matched, the cleanest limbs I ever saw and every one sleek and glossy, showing splendid condition and care. The stables are much better than most dwelling houses. Floors are set in tile, stalls finished in Georgia pine, front of stalls is of marble tile, and the mangers and oat boxes of white enamel. There were the harness rooms, each of which contained more stock than most city shops. They are finished in patent leather and brass mountings, which are always kept bright, couldn't find any rust there. All the various foreman of the stables are in livery, red frock coat, silk hat, white breeches and black boots and leggings.

On the way back, the guide showed us several places of fame. One was Eton College another Hanover College of certain fame but of a lower grade than Eton. We saw the home of Sir Thomas Grey where he wrote his elegy. He is also buried there. Then away in the distance we saw the roof of the mausoleum in which the remains of Queen Victoria and her Prince Consort were laid. It is open once a year to the public, the anniversary of her death and admittance there is by ticket only. Next we were given a lunch in the castle. It was given by the King and Queen, Princess Mary, Princess Alice, assisted by Prince George, Prince Albert, and several Ladies-in-waiting, waited on the tables. Altogether there were 35 Australians, 35 Anzaes, and 35 Canadians at lunch and we sure had some feed. Real cake, splendid tea, with all the milk and sugar we wanted and real butter, not margarine. It's the first butter I've tasted since leaving Canada.

Then when we were coming away, Princess Mary gave each of us a view of Windsor Castle, in post card form, and stamped on the back was "From the King and Queen, Aug. 14th, 1917, Windsor Castle." If I have room I'll enclose it in this letter. Will also enclose the invitation card, by which we were admitted. On the front of the card in the left corner my number 3, on the right the time of admittance "morning" and "By Command of the King, Admit the Bearer to the State Apartments, Windsor Castle, on Tuesday, 14th August 1917, between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. Sandhurst, Chamberlain."

On the other side of the card is, "This card to be shown to the officials at the Department of Windsor Castle, and stamped before entrance to the State Apartments" Lord Chamberlain's stamp is on the front of the card. This shows the form we had to go through before being admitted. These are nice souvenirs and I wish you to keep them for me please. After dinner, we waited and saw the biggest man and woman in England, the King and Queen.

When there are pimples or eruptions, or an irritation, or itching rash a soothing boracic solution may help to allay the irritation, but of course that does not cure the trouble. Skin complaints come from an impure condition of the blood and will persist until the blood is thoroughly purified. It is well known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have effected the best results in many forms of skin disorders and blemishes. This is due to the fact that these pills make new, rich blood, and that this new blood attacks the impurities that give rise to skin troubles and disperses them; so that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure skin disorders from within the system—the only sure way.

It should be added that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a beneficial effect upon the general health. They increase the appetite and energy and cure diseases that arise from impure blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The yield of wheat is placed at fifteen bushels for Manitoba, fourteen for Saskatchewan, and twenty-five for Alberta. Oats at twenty-five bushels barley at twenty and flax at nine for the three provinces. The value of the crops is placed roughly at $575,000,000, as against $302,000,000 for the famous crop of 1915. The values are based on $1.95 for wheat, 60c. for oats, $1 for barley, and $3 for flax.

CURING SKIN TROUBLES

So many people both men and women suffer from skin troubles, such as eczema, blotches, pimples and irritations that a word of advice is necessary. It is a great mistake for such sufferers and those with bad complexions, to smear themselves with greasy ointments. Often they could not do anything worse, for the grease clogs the pores of the troubled skin and their condition actually becomes worse.
