The Weekly Monitor,

ISSUED ON WEDNESDAY, At Bridgetown, Annapolis Co., N. S. JOHN R. PUDSEY. Manager.

-The question of incorporation has just completed another stage. The boundary dispute has been investigated, and the denizens of the north and south sides of the river cision of the Governor in-Council. It is a question of some importance whether property on the south side of the river, to the seed value of about thirty thousand dol lars, shall become an integral part of the roposed town or whether it shall remain as at present. In determining this matter because it is a land flowing with milk and honey, but because it is a suburb which is likely to be built up quite extensively in the near future and because the addition is necessary to make a well rounded out town.

Leave it as it is and the town cannot devalor. re are several things to be considered. on that side for the ever flowing river makes a line at which development must cease. Include it in the incorporation and there is ample room on the south as on other sides for expansion. The property tax over there is an asset that is much needed. There are those on the south side who are opposed to the scheme but the opposition is by no means general. In fact a majority of the property holders in that district actually presented a counter petition asking the commissioner, just on the eve of his, investigation, to allow them to consort with the town. An objection is however urged by the school section at Carleton's Corner that the loss of the district will handicap them in furnishing educational advantages to those who will still remain in that section. No one has ventured to deny, what everyone is ready to admit, that, barring the school on that side for the ever flowing river makes ready to admit, that, barring the school question, the bounds are fairly laid out. It school section is to be considered in defining orporation. Has not the Superintenden of Education said that the south side should do not quite a proportion of the Carleton's Corner scholars finish their education in town? The town school-house is within easy distance for the south side children, many of whom are now compelled to wend their way to a miscellaneous school at the corner. On the school question is based the principal complaint of the petitioners, othe watchers would be on the gui vive for the first red flash that would speed the congratulatory message of a loyal people to a much loved queen; and all would watch the illumination till the fading lights no longer iit up the mountain sides. It's a simple thing to do but it is one of the things that will be grand in its very simplicity, and it will afford a splendid opportunity for the expression of that sentiment that is to-day running riot throughout the length and breadth of the whole Dominion. It will be as unique as it will be beautiful, and if willing hands can be found to pile the orags and apply the torch they may be sure their efforts will meet with a lasting appreciation. There will need to be some system followed to make the illumination a success. Let the fires blaze up at 9.30 and continue for one hour; let them be lighted on the most conspicuous points on the sides of the North and South mountains, not necessarily on the highest; let a half dozen neighbors join and collect the necessary material and have a blaze say every three miles. Near Meridenous points will no doubt the kindled and the sum of the sides of the lighted will be leaded to any of the high grade bicycles. No doubt this opportunity will be taken advantage of very generally and prove an effective method for placing their soap before the consumers. Regulations such as Ontario is adopting could not help but be productive of good results. If they should not stimulate the sheep raising industry, they would quickly decrease the number of roadside curs that seem to exist for no other purpose than to challenge every passerby with their yelps.

A very pretty wedding took place here law the dendered to lay out the boundary is not attacked, and indeed it seems that the committee appointed to lay out the bounds did their work in a fair and reasonable manner. It was done after the deliberation of several town meetings, and the fact that the majority of the people within the objecting district have petitioned the commissioner to make no change is evidence that if a change is made there will be more dissatisfaction than it matters are allowed to proceed under the boundaries as now defined.

—It has been suggested that a grand way for the people of Kinga and Annapolis counties to celebrate the Queens Jubilee would be to kindle huge bonfires at regular intervals along the mountain ranges that enclose the Valley. The plan could easily be carried out, with but a small sacrifice of time and labor and the effect would eclipse any ordinary sight to be seen in provincial celebrations. With a double row of leaping bonfires from eastern Kings to western Annapolis cont to the right of the 22nd of June, the scene would be strikingly grand and beautiful—a sight that would not be forgotten in a lifetime. A Good Offer.

Bridgetown fires will no doubt be kindled on Murdoch's ledge and on the 'Young Mountain road, and there are many other points in the Valley equally as conspicuous. In fact we are so situated that it would be difficult to find a stretch of country where such an illumination as we advocate could be more successfully carried out. June 22ad will be a day of bonfires wherever the British flag waves, and let us likewise give voice to our rejoicings.

—Ontario municipalities are doing much to encourage sheep raising by imposing a heavy tax on dogs and compelling every owner to have his dog muzzled from sunset to sunrise. Here is a pointer for the Annapolis council. Every year farmers, who raise sheep, have their flocks thinned by the depredations of roving curs which are valueless to their owners and vicious nuisances. Sheep can be raised profitably on our moun.aiu land here, and would be to a much greater extent if proper propertion were afforded. Early Train From Middleton.

with the blood of his fellow man in nearly every instance, and it is to be hoped that in the present case the escape of a murderer was not due to lack of vigilance on the part of the officers of the law. No effort should now be spared to hunt the real murderer down.

—We believe that this summer a strong effort will be made towards improving the general condition of our country roads. The provincial press is taking an active part in the agitation and municipal pathmasters are being urged to make the very best application of the means at their disposal for the creation of a good, permanent roadway. Would it not be a good idea for a council of the various pathmasters in each township to be held at which some general plan of proceedure might be hit upon?

I have been requested to give my opinion of the coiled hoops made by the Annapolis Manufacturing Company, Limited, of Lequille. I have been in the coopering business for 35 years and have handled all kinds of hoops. I must say I never saw better hoops in every way than those made by the afore-mentioned company. I instructed my men to drive them to the severest strain in order to thoroughly test them and to my surprise they did not give way at all. The hoops were only 1½ inches wide, the usual width being 1½ inches. I prefer them to any elm hoop I have ever used.

Connolly " Not Guilty." The trial of Milton Connolly for the mur-der of O.iver Fuller at Horton Landing last March is over, and the jury after a deliber-March is over, and the jury after a deilberation of two hours returned a verdict of "not guilty." Connolly walked out of the Kentville Court House Saturday afternoon a free man. The evidence for the prosecution was practically the same as at the examination two months ago and was purely circumstantial. The defence produced a witness who said he saw Connolly over a mile further east than Fuller's, while according to the crown theory the one who committed the murder did not go past the house of the murdered man. The absence of a motive was also a strong point in the prisserver.

a motive was also a strong point in the pris-oner's favor.

Judge Henry in his address charged the jury to absolutely dismiss all rumors or re-ports which they previously heard on this case. This must certainly have been a case of homicide from the facts given. It ap-pears as if Fuller had been surprised and killed without warning. He stated that the elements of the case of the crown were in A. F. Bill. English Literature
E. F. McNeil. Classics
A. L. Dodge. Mathematics
The De Wolfe Scholarships were awarded as follows: killed without warning. He stated that the elements of the case of the crown were in the tracks, the are with hair on it similar to deceased's found near the path where tracks were traced, stolen butter found also near similar tracks and certaininer iminating statements of the prisoner. He dwelt particularly with the evidence given of the tracks on the road, and stated that these tracks may have been there legitimately. The evidence as to the butter heconsidered much more important. It is strange that we have only this one witness to testify on this crucial point. It is not likely that the butter was stolen by some one else after the deed, as the murderer must have locked the door. The jury should dismiss entirely the idea that blood was found on prisoner's clothes. The statements of the witness Wallace, given in a fair way, the jury should deal with as they thought fit. The matter of motive for orime was an important one. It is often impossible to find out any motive. In this case everyone will admit that this is a suspicious case for the prisoner. A. C. WM. DANELS. Dun's review says regarding the state of Canadian trade; "The general conditions of business in Canada do not show the expected improvement. Delay is somewhat generally attributed to unfavorable weather and to the delay of spring movement. privousness and Stomach Troubles Follows.
—Sleep at Times was Impossible—Health Again Restored.

From the Amherst, N. S. Sentinel. The little village of Petitoodiac is situated in the south-easterly part of New Brunswick, on the line of the Intercolonial Railway. Mr. Herbert Teomans, who resides there, follows the occupation of a hunter and trapper. His occupation requires him to endure a great deal of exposure and hardship, more on the ground in our cold winters. A few years ago Mr. Yeomans tells our corresponient that he was seized with a severe bilion attack and a complication of diseases, such as sour stomach, sick headache and rheuma-

and shoulders, so much so that I could no rest in any position. I frequently could not eleep nighte, and when I did I awoke with a tired feeling and very much depressed. My appetite was very poor, and if I ate any was, it gave me a dull, heavy feeling in my stomach, which would be followed by vom-iting. I suffered so intensely with pains in my arms and shoulders that I could scarcely aise my hands to my head. I tried diffe ent remedies, but all to no purpose. neighbor came in one evening and asked "have you tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" I had not but then determined to try them, and procured a box, and before the pills were all gone, I began to improve. This en couraged me to purchase more and in a few weeks the pains in my shoulders and arms night's rest. My appetite came back and the dull, listless feeling left me. I could eat a hearty meal and have no bad after effects and I felt strong and well enough as are hard to handle and are destructive. though I had taken a new lease of life. My old occupation became a pleasure to me and I think nothing of tramping eighteen or twenty miles a day. The Household.

The Dining Room.

It is by no means going too far to say that pleasant, well appointed dining room is a neans of grace to the average family. It is here that the various members of the family congregate together most often, not only to partake of creature comforts, but under fav-orable co ditions to also enjoy "a feast of reason and a flow of soul," and it goes without saying that such a rendezvous should be the subject of much careful study on the part of the mistress of the house, especially in homes where one room often serves the double purpose of dining room and sitting room. An open fireplace in a dining room is al-ways desirable, and a sunny window with soming plants and running vines adds much to its cheerfulness. The finishing should be of hard wood, oiled; the floor of the same material, with a large rug in the centre. The dining table should also be of hard wood, solid and substantial. The walls and ceiling should be painted or tinted in some soft, light shade, and pictures—not the agonizing spectacle of dead birds, animals or fish, that are likely to shock the sensibilities of many people, but a few choice etchings and sunny landscapes—a mantel, with a clock and a few pieces of bric-a-brac, are all pleasant accessions. But if there is one piece of extravagance that may be pardoned a housewifely soul it is the gathering together of a store of fine table linen and rare, quaint pieces of china, glass and silver with which to decorate her table. And it is poor policy to relegate those cherished belongings to the china closet, to be brought forth only on state casions, for there is no more efficient promoter of refinement or well bred social inter-course in the family than an attractive, well appointed dining table.

Even in the most humble home, where strict economy is a necessity, a few pieces of glass and china can generally be managed, which, with a spotless tablecloth and a sim-ple bunch of flowers, will give a cheerful, festive air to the most frugal repast. Often-times in the best regulated families some little hitch in the domestic service will cause a few moments' delay in serving the meal. Then it is that a comfortable couch, a few easy chairs and a table well filled with the latest newspapers and magazines will be found a means of grace which no wise housewife can afford to ignore.—Philadelphia Times.

Hygienic Diet. In these days when the attention is so frequently called to health foods, to maintaining the proper proportion of the health-giving elements, the phosphates, the carbonates, and the nitrates, the question often arises, "How may I know what foods are meant, that all natural foods are healthful. The grains, milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables, oysters and meats, all contain the elements needed for the development of the human system, and such a diet is easily followed and will prove beneficial. It is the "made dishes," the salads, pastry, and highly seasoned re-lishes, that prove injurious to the digestive onsequently to the general health. Of course it is essential that these natural foods be prepared in a proper manner, for the best of foods may have their health-giving properties quite destroyed by the manner in hich they are cooked, or otherwise treated. But follow nature in the selection of foods and you cannot go far amiss.

Things We Ought to Know. That fewer dishes will be broken if a small wooden tub is provided instead of the ordinwashed and scalded each day, and thoroughly dried before they are again used. That a little borax or ammonia dissolved the water in which silver is washed will keep the silver bright. That silver should be thoroughly dried, That silver should be thoroughly dried, then polished with chanois, if it is to retain "Sitting on a wasp," was the reply. "Why its brightness. That knives should be scoured regularly very time they are used. That drops of water should never be allowed to dry on the steel blade of a knife, as the mark made is almost permanent.

That the flour barrel should be raised from the floor to prevent dampness.

That food should be kept hot for lat omers by standing the dish in a pan of hot water, keeping the food closely covered with

A woman who admits that her inspiration came some time ago from a newspaper para-graph, has a curious but most effective playbox for her baby of fourteen months. A common pine kitchen table has been turned upside down, and casters put on the four corners of what was intended to be the top of the table. Two rather broad slats are fastened on between the leg spaces, one above the other, at sufficient intervals to forestall any attempts to climb between them, and the slats and legs are covered with cretonne.

An old thick quilt has been cut to fit the about the distance to Hampstead Heath. floor of this cage, and in it, with his toys, haby spends safely and happily many of his waking hours. To prevent that well-known habit of babies flinging their playthings across the room, the toys are tied to the posts of the cage, and are thus kept for his amus

ment in his own quarters. The secret of smooth ice-cream, which the experimenting housekeeper will do well to remember, is that it should be frozen slowly. Five and ten-minute freezers are freely advertised, but, fortunately for the success of the dessert, they do not accomplish the work in any such short time. If they did the texture of the cream would not be perfect. The crank of the freezer should be slowly turned. and half an hour, certainly twenty minutes, is nene too long to manipulate it. If the cream is heated before it is added to the rest f the mixture, taking care that it is not scalded, the smoothness and richness of the final result will be increased. After heating rather blankly and said to the author the cream the whole must of course be thoroughly chilled before freezing—this to save and also to prevent granulation.

-It seems rather odd in these days, when pportunities for the highest kind of educa-ion have been secured for woman and when tion have been secured for woman and when her emancipation from household drudgery is almost accomplished, that the old time woman's art of cookery should be undergoing a revival. Anybody with half an eye must have observed the change of attitude toward domestic science which has been brought about in the last five years. Presently, no doubt, Radcliffe and Barnard will take to conferring a new degree, and when we see B. C. or M. C. after a woman's name we shall know that she is a bachelor or maste

"If paper is used on your closet shelves," says an expert in domestic science, "teach your waitress to put on three thicknesses at once. It is as easy to cut three layers as one. -A fat woman with a very red face got on a crowded Sixth avenue car. A young on a crowded Sixth avenue car. A young man, as thin as she was stout, squeezed up out of his seat, and, litting his hat gracefully, invited her to sit down. The fat woman looked him over, with a contemptuous glint in her eyes, and then, in a loud and angry thought you was awful cunnin' to ask a wo-man as fat as I am to sit in the six-inch space that you have been occupyin'. I'm fat, but I'm not foolish, and if you thought you would mortify me before all these people, why, yer barkin' up the wrong saplin'. I'll let you know who's to be mortified." The thin not insult respectable ladies in such a way.
I'm fat and I'm not ashamed of it, but if I was thin and acrawny as you are, I would go and pad myself from A. to Izzard." The young man tried again to say his intentions were as the best, but she cut him off. "Shut up, you wasp-waisted cadaver, or I'll pull you in two. Come back here again and six down in this crack, you long drawed out link between a hard winter and hereafter." Sh reached for him, but the young man had
