Our Weekly Sermon

And the walls of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.—Rev. 21, 14.

The future of this world is as bright as the promise of God. Before and not behind us are the halcyon days of human history. It is said that the great Roman emperor Augustus found Rome brick and left it marble. Jesus Christ found the world mud. He shall ultimately lay it at the feet of God pure gold, garnished with all manner of precious stones.

I will plant in the wilderness the cedar, the acacia and the myrtle and the olive tree. I will set in the desert the fir tree, the pine, the box tree together, that they may see and know and understand that the hand of the Lord hath done this.

THE COX FAMILY

Arrival in New World Dates From Earliest Days.

A chief, or leader of men, was a certain age ago, whether before Christ or after, who knows? From this, in course of time, he came to be called Cox or Coxe. The name, however, passed through a variety of forms, among the number of which are named by Kock, Kock, Cokke, Cok, Koch, is the German form, and Klax the Flemish. Variations of the name include Coxie, Coxon and Coxco.

Before Mayflower days, representatives of the Cox family were living here. William Coxe was on the muster rolls of Elizabeth City, Va., in 1624, aged 26. He had come over in the Godspeed, in 1610, but three years after the settlement of Jamestown. The family has also been prominent in Maryland, since the time of the first settlement and the first of the family was also William, who was born in Derbyshire, England, 1607, May 26. He has the distinction of being the first to settle in records of the time. He will be proved in 1649, Isaac Coxe of Talbot county, Maryland, is one ancestor of this branch of the family.

From Annapolis land records we find that David Cox was a proprietor in 1655, Edward Cox of Kent county took oath of allegiance April 5, 1632. Henry Cox had a plantation in St. Mary's county, 1651. Some years later he bought land on the Schuylkill River, where he married "the Widow Ward." He was then an M.D. Thomas Cox of Calvert county, Maryland, who was living there about the middle of the seventeenth century, married Anne—her last name unknown—who came from Wiltshire, England.

The first in New England was William Cox, of Pennington, a place described as "west from the Penobscot." He came from Bristol, England, according to tradition, where the family flourished, and when town gave its name to Bristol, Me. William Cox was living at Pennington in 1625. He had three sons, the eldest his namesake, John and Thomas. The latter was one of eight Coxes who took the oath of freedom at Pennington, July 27, 1674. He was "a man of some quality among his townsmen." He removed to Boston, Edward, mariner was living in Boston in 1672.

Shadrach Cox appears as one of the Pennington families. He has a little is known of him. In the Burgess book of the city of Bristol, England, is the name Shadrach Cox, date 1654 whose wife was Alice Hendrix. He was probably the Shadrach of Pennington, Lunenburg, born in Boston 1736, bridge builder, for various services rendered 1800 acres in Maine, by act of Legislature. He was the brass projector of powder mills in Massachusetts.

The "Historical Register of New Brunswick" gives the names of Capt. Daniel, of New York; Lieut. Daniel Powell Cox of Delaware, who served through the war; Lieut.-Col. Ebenezer, who was killed at Vicksburg; Ensign Eliza and Lieut. Francis, both of Massachusetts; Maj. Richard, of New Jersey; Paymaster Isaac, Capt. William and Lieut. Joseph, of Pennsylvania, and Assistant Quartermaster-General John of Virginia.
