Greatest Battle World Has Known Starts on Czar's Lines; More Saint John Homes Saddened By Cable News

Nearly Seven Millions In Grips on Front From Riga To Danube

The Russians Early Are Gaining Advantage

THE HUNDRED MILES OF IT

Czar Apparently Aiming to Envelop Halicz From North and Cut Enemy's Communicating Lines

New York, Oct. 21.—The London correspondent of the Tribune writes as follows:—

"The greatest battle in the world's history is about to be waged on the eastern front, in the line of high military officials war. After months of manœuvring nearly seven millions of men have come to grips along an unbroken front from Riga to the Danube.

"Hand-to-hand fighting of the most violent character is going on a whole length of the 900-mile line. The next three weeks will probably see the climax of its struggle.

"So far there is no indication of a definite result, although the Russians unquestionably are slowly gaining ground. The slow advance is at the moment being made in the north and the fighting on the Teuton line of communications between that stronghold and Lemberg.

"That the attacks of the Czar's troops are succeeding in smashing the enemy's defenses at some points is indicated in no uncertain manner by the sudden and hurried transfer of the German third army division to the Halicz sector from Lemberg where they had hitherto been held in reserve.

"In Volhynia the Russians have made a dent in the enemy's line near Czerniary, fifteen miles south-southwest of Kovel."

EARLY WINTER ON RUSSIAN FRONT

London, Oct. 21.—There is every indication that winter will set in very early on the Russian front, according to new despatches from Petrograd. Snow has been falling thickly in the Russian capital during the last two days and there have been several snow falls in the Carpathians.

TRAFALGAR DAY IN ST. JOHN

The thirteenth of old Trinity passed out the confident notes of "Rule Britannia, Britannia Rules the Waves" this morning to remind the citizens that this is the anniversary of Trafalgar Day, the day on which the supremacy of the British navy was established on the seas, and which is commemorated by a solemn service of intercession and thanksgiving which was held at noon, with special prayers to the officers and men of His Majesty's Navy.

Following "Rule Britannia" came the strains of "O Canada. We stand on Guard for Thee." which was sung by the choir and the boys line the trenches in France, and in Flanders, and in the air, for which British stands, and at a time when the men of Canada are being asked to join the British navy in defence of their homes and loved ones.

Soldiers had a more solemn service held within the walls of any church in St. John than that which was held at noon today in recognition of the British navy, the navy which won the day at Trafalgar in the past and the day in which stands between the empire and invasion today.

MARITIME PROVINCE MEN

Tell of Heavy Fighting on Western Front Continues to be Paid in Part by Brave Lads of Eastern Canada

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gorman of 78 St. James street was saddened today by the news of the death of their son, Acting Bombardier Thomas James Gorman who was killed in action on October 12.

Bombardier Gorman was one of the finest type of the soldiers which Canada has sent overseas. A young man, twenty-four years of age, who had just completed his university course, he left behind him all those things which make life attractive for a young man to serve his king and his country. When war was declared he was a student at the University of New Brunswick, and, when opportunity offered, he promptly enlisted in the 28th battery of field artillery, which was then stationed in Fredericton two years ago. Before leaving for overseas he received his degree of B. Sc. from the university.

After reaching England he was transferred to another battery with which he was fighting at the time he died a soldier's death on the field of battle, after seventeen months of service.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, Arthur and John, and five sisters, Mrs. Josephine, Kathleen and Elizabeth, Mrs. Arthur O'Neill and Sister Ethelreda of St. Vincent's convent, St. John's. He was a member of the athletic club in St. John, and at the university he was a member of the Glee club, which will learn of his death with deepest regret, while his friends and relatives are mourning his loss.

The midnight casualty list of yesterday carried the name of W. J. Dumas, infantry, wounded. The address given was the Cliff street, Dunham, N. B. He had been reported in the fact that Pte. Dumas had a sister who was at the time of his death, but he was never reported, and it is said, have no relatives in this city.

Mrs. May Gifford of 98 St. James street, has received word from Ottawa that her son, Sergeant William Lewis Gifford, is officially reported in the No. 18 Casualty Clearing Station on October 18, with gunshot wound in the neck. His wounds are serious, but he is recovering, which already has brought distinction to Sergeant Gifford. He had been reported in the field and only recently he had been reported in a telegram from his letter to his relatives here he told of being ready to leave for the rear to take the qualifying course. Before enlisting in a local infantry battalion, Sergeant Gifford had been employed with the Dominion public works department in West St. John.

One of the first to volunteer for overseas service, Driver Hickey was employed in the city as a chauffeur.

Mackensen Hits Heavily But Little So Far Has Been Gained By Him

Enemy Offensive Extends From Danube to Black Sea; Effort in Balkans Believed to be Germany's Last Face Card

Several St. John Soldiers Here From Front

London, Oct. 21.—While General Von Falkenhayn's troops, who are attempting to invade Roumania through the Carpathians, have made little progress during the last forty-eight hours, Field Marshal Von Mackensen has struck heavily in Dobruja. His offensive extends along the whole front from the Danube to the Black Sea.

According to advices thus far received, his only success has been some slight gains on the Black Sea side, but it is believed here that this battle is only in its early stages. Meanwhile the Gyimes and Oltuz Passes in the Transylvanian Alps continue the main points in the Austro-German efforts from Transylvania. In the Gyimes Pass the invaders have reached Gocosa, twelve miles from the frontier in Roumania, but in the Oltuz Pass they have been driven back to the frontier.

In the southern passes the situation is unchanged. More than a fortnight has passed since the Roumanians had to withdraw before this strong force and the enemy has not obtained his aim. The Carpathians have become the tomb of thousands of the enemy and the impetuous attacks of the Bavarian Highlanders have been repulsed with enormous losses.

Petrograd, Oct. 21.—An attack on the Russo-Roumanian lines in Dobruja by Field Marshal Von Mackensen's forces yesterday resulted in the defenders losing the village of Kokardja. Later attacks on the Entente lines in the same region were repulsed.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

Next week at the Imperial William H. Lyell and Co. will present a ludicrous farce-comedy entitled "An All-Night Session," being the extraordinary predicament of a young husband—a bridegroom upon reaching home from his club in the small hours of the morning and the able argument offered in his behalf by his father-in-law. Mr. Lyell, who will be so kindly remembered by the St. John people as a star with big productions in this city years ago and especially for his stupendous presentation of the spectacular play, "YOUTH," in the exhibition buildings, will doubtless receive hearty welcome. He is assisted in his sketch by charming Miss Hilda Demer and E. Mansfield. The Imperial's pictures for Monday will be "The Ordeal of Elizabeth," scenery and Pathé's British Gazette.

MONTMAGNO UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION

Amends Some Parts of Evidence in Sensational New York Gunman Case

New York, Oct. 21.—The illness of a juror halted Martin W. Littleton's cross-examination of Gaetano Montomagno, slayer of Michael Gaimari in the trial of Michael A. Rofrano, alleged promoter of the crime. The interruption came after Montomagno had been compelled to amend in several important particulars the story he had told under direct examination.

The cross-examination of Montomagno took him back over his testimony. He had told the jury that Rofrano, posing as a sort of king who could override the mayor, the governor and other powers of the city and state, had compelled him, under threat of death, to kill Michael Gaimari. He insisted that his ignorance of the language and the customs of the country had combined to make him Rofrano's dupe, but Mr. Littleton asked him to admit that he had been in the least two men in Brooklyn before he killed Gaimari.

One of his admissions was that he had in his direct examination dropped a whole year out of his narrative, and gave evidence of discomfiture as Mr. Littleton continued to ask him question after question about this lapse of memory.

Montomagno contradicted important portions of other testimony. Two of these gunmen, Joseph La Salle and James Scardino, had testified that he had understood that Montomagno had made two attempts on Gaimari's life in 1914, with a check knife that he had been "poisoned" in garlic juice to insure Gaimari's death.

Scardino had added that he saw Montomagno running halfless from the scene of the stabbing in Moore street, and La Salle had testified that he had been present at the home of Rocco Carvale, one of the leaders of the guinea, when Montomagno, then a guest there, admitted that he had stabbed Gaimari and had expressed regret that the wound had not proven fatal.

"The next time, I'll empty the whole gun into him," La Salle said. Montomagno had said.

This testimony, although contradicted by gunmen who were assisting in the prosecution of Rofrano, did not agree with the slayer's contention that he had never known Gaimari until he was pointed out by John Brundini a few weeks before the murder, and Montomagno contradicted them on the stand.

As Mr. Littleton continued to press Montomagno with questions, he seemed convinced that the lawyer was trying to lead him into a trap. He studied each question carefully and refused to commit himself on dates or numbers.

Although forced to contradict himself when questioned about his movements before he killed Gaimari, he could not be shaken from his declaration that Rofrano had ordered him to commit the crime, and that he and "the boss" had had frequent conferences over the proposed murder.

Mr. Littleton attempted to show that Montomagno had killed a man in Brooklyn before stabbing two others and shooting Gaimari, but this the witness denied. He admitted that he had led to Rofrano when he told him that he would bring "men from Brooklyn" to Rofrano's club house during the mayor's election in 1914, and also that he had had no scruples about stealing before turning his hand to murder.

Montomagno's cross-examination will continue for another day, if not longer. He will be followed on the stand by Louis Mira, another gunman.

SITUATION RELATIVE TO STRIKE ON C. P. R. ADMITTED SERIOUS

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—It is understood today that the C. P. R. has applied to the Labor Board for an order to enforce its cession in connection with Wednesday's threatened strike. So far the men have declined.

The grave situation was the subject of a conference this morning between Sir Robert Borden and C. W. Crothers. The only announcement was that the government is keeping in touch with the men and the company and despite the admitted seriousness of the outlook he is hopeful that a conciliation board will be accepted.

Winnipeg, Oct. 21.—James Murock, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Tailors and Furriers, said tonight that the strike and the only thing that will prevent it is a settlement which must be made by the company. "Our position is final."

London, Oct. 21.—The Norwegian steamer Gustav Wigeland, 1836 tons, has turned turtle on the coast near Berwick, and has been driven on the rocks. The crew were saved. The vessel was last reported arriving in London from Archangel.

SON OF THOS. GORMAN GIVES HIS LIFE IN WAR

(Continued from page 1) Edward Gorman, six sisters and four brothers, all of Lagan, was a native of Westmorland county and was in the forty-first year of his age. His father was a justice of the peace in Westmorland county for some years.

James A. McAdam of Fredericton was notified this morning that his son, Murray McAdam, had been killed in action. He left Fredericton with the 24th battery, Kings County Men.

Pte. Edward McCarron of Hampton, killed in action on September 16th, was 28 years old and enlisted in Winnipeg with the 83rd battalion, which left Canada in July. He is survived by his mother, one sister, Mrs. Geo. Kelly of Headingley Corner, Queens county, and one brother, M. M. McCarron, who is despatcher of the I. C. R. at Campbellton.

Lieut. J. O'Regan, a son of Owen O'Regan of Jeffries Corner, is among the list of wounded. Lieut. O'Regan joined a western battalion and served with the mounted rifles at the time he was wounded. He is one of the young men from Sussex who won success in the west, but left his opportunities behind to do his bit.

Mrs. George Whitehead of Sussex is in receipt of a telegram announcing that her son, Edgely, H. Sharp has been seriously wounded. He is at number two hospital, Chelsea, and was shot in the head and eye. His condition was considered dangerous. The young man was wounded. He is one of the young men from Sussex who won success in the west, but left his opportunities behind to do his bit.

Private Charles A. Stevens, who was reported in the Times as suffering from shell shock, is a son of Joseph Stevens of 48 Hilyard street. Private Stevens, who is twenty-four years old, was employed with the Maritime Mail Works before enlisting in a New Brunswick infantry battalion, with which he went overseas.

The list of wounded includes Private Harry Sharp who was shot in the head and eye. His condition was considered dangerous. The young man was wounded. He is one of the young men from Sussex who won success in the west, but left his opportunities behind to do his bit.

THE MILK QUESTION

Sussex Record.—An important meeting of the milk producers of Kent county will be held at Sussex on Monday evening, Oct. 23, further to consider the milk question, so far as it relates to the producers of the county. The meeting was made some time ago for far cents a can but no definite arrangement were made between the dealers and farmers. Several meetings have already been held. The shipment of milk to St. John has been discontinued by some of the producers but most of them are still sending milk along.

THE WAR NEWS The latest news from Roumania is less favorable, though not at all disheartening. The Austro-Germans are attacking with renewed energy in Dobruja as well as near the borders of Transylvania, and with some measure of success. Within a month, however, winter will be setting in, and the task of the enemy will then become very much more difficult. If they fail to accomplish decisive results in the next two or three weeks the opportunity will be lost, for when spring comes the Allies will be in a position to overmatch them with men and guns.

A CANDID FRIEND The Toronto Telegram, Conservative, offers this tribute to the do-nothing government at Ottawa: "Canada needs rulers who can give this country responsible government. Parliamentary responsibility is a farce and cabinet leadership is a myth if the most important concerns of government are to be handed over to a mob of Sir Sam Hughes' appointees in the Old Country and the next important entrusted to a commission of Sir Robert Borden appointees at Ottawa. Canada is tired of having this country's affairs mismanaged by official favorites who owe allegiance to nobody but their irresponsible creators, and of calling upon commissions to accept responsibility for the authorship of policies."

SIR WILFRID DECLINES Sir Wilfrid Laurier has declined to join the formation of a parliamentary ring of the National Service Commission, from which Sir Thomas Tait resigned because of government interference. In other words, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, like Sir Thomas Tait, does not approve of the government's methods. He believes he can best serve the country by keeping himself free from a scheme that has been devised without consulting him, and which has a decidedly partisan flavor.

The government has failed since the very beginning of the war to give any leadership in the work of recruiting, which has been left to civilian committees and the officers of battalions, with more or less bungling interference from headquarters. Sir Robert Borden pledged half a million men. Sir Sam Hughes jauntily asserted that there would be no trouble at all in getting them. Those who had to do with recruiting knew better, and implied the government to head a campaign throughout Canada in the interests of recruiting. Apart from an occasional public address by a member of the government no action was taken by Sir Robert and his colleagues. Sir Wilfrid Laurier did all that was in his power to encourage men to enlist, and his activity has been in striking contrast with the inaction of the Nationalist colleagues of Sir Robert Borden. Sir Sam Hughes has proved a failure as war-minister, and has been gradually shorn of most of his power, but is still retained in office.

MEANWHILE the cost of getting recruits has become so enormous as to stagger the country, and we are still 180,000 short of that half million. Now Sir Robert Borden appeals to Sir Wilfrid Laurier to get him out of his difficulties, and because the Liberal leader does not at once agree to play the tory game, he is assailed with intense bitterness by the tory press. The Ottawa correspondent of the St. John Standard writes: "It is feared that Sir Wilfrid's action will be seized upon by the Empire's enemies in neutral and hostile countries to indicate that Canada is not united in support of the war and that at least the leaders of one of the great political parties do not desire further participation."

THE same correspondent charges Sir Wilfrid with being influenced by Quebec political considerations. Thus flag-waving and appeals to race prejudice are resorted to by the government press because Sir Wilfrid Laurier declines to save Sir Robert Borden from the consequences of his own do-nothing policy. The people of Canada are not deceived. They have waited with growing impatience for some evidence of real leadership from Ottawa, and they are still disappointed. To say that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude will give comfort to Canada's enemies, in view of his known and often-declared attitude is to tax the credulity of the people quite too much. The loyalty of the Liberal party has been written in blood on the fields of France and Flanders.

NOTHING DOING, NOBODY HOME If any of the gentlemen who went to Ottawa to talk to the government about the high cost of living expected Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues to do anything, they are now sadder and wiser men. They did not see Sir Robert, but had to content themselves with Messrs. Rogers, Crothers and Doherty. These worthy representatives of a do-nothing administration told the delegates some things they already knew, assured them of a deep and abiding sympathy, and promised consideration. They were even ready to do something if shown how to do it.

MEANWHILE prices continue to advance, and the problem of the small wage-earner on the verge of winter grows more pressing and burdensome. With a fine appreciation of the situation, Sir Robert Borden has got himself a parliamentary secretary for external affairs, in the person of Col. Hugh Clark, M.P. Internal affairs may go hang. Evidently the people need not look to Ottawa for relief in this matter of the high cost of living. There will be no investigation, no relief by tariff changes, no action whatever to curb the profiteers who take advantage of the country's need to line their own pockets. We have a do-nothing government, allied with the profiteers, and too busy with partisan affairs to assume national leadership in such manner as it has been assumed in the mother country and in Australia.

LIGHTER VEIN.

I shall never scold my husband again for spending so much time at the club! "Tell me about it." "The last night a burglar got into the house and my husband knocked him senseless with the poker. I've heard several men speak of him as a poker expert. He has evidently been practicing at the club for just such an emergency—Judge."

"Call for Mr. Baker! Call for Mr. Baker!" piped out the call boy in a hotel and was followed by another who drewled out: "Call for Mr. Carpenter! Call for Mr. Carpenter!" Not to be outdone, a third chimed in with: "Call for Mr. Mason! Call for Mr. Mason!" In the lobby two traveling salesmen, strangers, were sitting in chairs near together. "Looks like there must be a trades convention on here," ventured one. "They ought to have called me, too—my name's Brewer."

"The blank is it!" exclaimed the other. "My name's Ieman. Let's see what we can do for it." So they did. A stranger in London asked a casual passerby if he could direct him to New Broad street. "Looks like there must be a while and then said that he did not know and proceeded on his way. Before the stranger had gone 50 yards further he heard footsteps running in his direction, and looking back, he perceived the man he had before addressed, who, fearfully out of breath, rushed up to him and exclaimed: "Perhaps it is Old Broad street you want?" "Well, where's that?" inquired the stranger, when, to his surprise, the fellow answered: "I don't know where that is, either."

WEALTH is variously estimated in different parts of the country. "Bud" Bowers had grown to manhood in one of the most inaccessible communities in Southern Missouri. Weary at last of the monotony of his life, he grew eager to leave the hills. His father, who was a hunter and trapper of much local renown, stoutly opposed him. "But what chance has a young fella got to get ahead here, I'd like to know?" gloomily demanded "Bud." "What chance?" ejaculated his father. "Why, just look at me, son. When I fount some head from Kaintucky I didn't have nothin'—not nothin'. And jest look at me now—I got nine dawgs!"

SIR WILFRID HOLDS FREE FROM THE RING Ottawa, Oct. 20—Following the line taken by Sir Thomas Tait in resigning the director-generalship of the national service commission, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has declined to join in the formation of a parliamentary branch of the National Service Commission. Sir Thomas Tait, after a month's experience, resigned because of government interference with his work. It was taken at the time as an indication that the government had not created the commission so much for the purpose of stimulating enlistment for overseas service as to facilitate the retention of men by Canadian employers. Sir Wilfrid states, in declining that to join in the creation of a parliamentary ring of the National Service Commission would not leave him untrammelled in assisting the cause which he has endeavored to serve since the first day of the war, and that consequently he could not be as effective as if he continued to serve in his own way. Sir Wilfrid also notes that the resignation of Sir Thomas Tait, and the appointment of R. B. Bennett to take his place, has given the proposal an aspect which it did not have when it was made. The letters are given out for publication. Ottawa, Oct. 20—Lieutenant-Colonel Hugh Clark, M. P. for North Bruce, has

AT $2.50 A DAY, CITY CAN'T GET LABORERS Boston Free Employment Office Would Give Even More; Bureau Overstocked With Orders

The city of Boston is ready to employ husky laborers at $2.50 a day and can't get them.

That's nothing. Down in the Free Employment Office of the State at 35 Knickerbocker street they cannot secure "huskies" to fill labor orders at 35 cents an hour, which is thirty cents better than the city on an eight-hour day.

"We simply can't get them," said Supt. John L. Emery, who was in charge of the State bureau today, in the absence of Supt. G. Harry Dunderdale. "Don't they apply?"

"O, yes, some. They ask what the job is, and then pass it up with a 'Don't want it!'"

Supt. Emery picked up another stack of orders from the New York, New Haven & Hartford for repair (locomotive) machinists and boiler-makers which are unable to fill. Plumbers and sheet metal workers are just now very much in demand everywhere, but like all the other building trades, the demand is out of proportion to the supply. We can't get the men to fill the orders, at least, they are not just now applying in any noticeable number.

He was here interrupted by a strapping middle-aged man, who inquired what was on hand for a carpenter. He was shown an order for one to build some horse stalls, at forty cents an hour.

"Temporary work," explained Supt. Emery. The applicant shook his head, and without uttering a word, turned and left the office with an easy, careless stride. As the man disappeared through the door, Supt. Emery turned to the reporter, remarking: "There's the situation in a nutshell. His case is typical of the average applicant in the building trades."

Just now the bureau is overstocked with orders for tailors, plumbers, paper-hangers, fencers for the printing trades, carpenters, sheet metal workers and painters. J. McLellan, who has charge of the employment of boys from sixteen to nineteen, said that he, too, is flooded with orders for errand boys and boys for all kinds of office work, apprenticeship, etc. Good pay and good hours are guaranteed, but the boys who accept are expected to do so with the intention of staying on the job. He said that he held a few orders which even a boy of fourteen could fill, but in this as in other cases he had to report: "Nothing doing." All boys are expected to be of good character and live at home.

Most of the jobs picked up by applicants of the building trades are of the temporary kind. Work for a few days, according to Supt. Emery, seems to meet the pressing needs of the average applicant.

RECENT DEATHS Arthur Lockwood Palmer.

Many friends in the city will learn with regret of the death of Arthur Lockwood Palmer, which occurred at Shives Athol (N. B.) on the 18th inst. Mr. Palmer has been employed with the Shives Lumber Company for several years. He was thirty-four years of age and was a son of Mrs. Ada L. and the late Charles L. Palmer. The body has been brought to the city and the funeral was held this afternoon from the residence of James Whittaker, 38 Derchester street.

After an illness that lasted more than two years, Mrs. Susan Elizabeth Logan, widow of Charles E. Logan, died last evening at her home, 55 Kennedy street, in her 82nd year. She is survived by one son, Louis; two daughters, Misses Clara and Bertha, all of St. John; three brothers, Henry, James and Philip Logan, and one grandson, Archie Reicker, also of this city.

Italy's Measures To Force Economy

A Warning Issued to People Speculating in Food Products; Big Profits Condemned as Traitorous

Rome, Oct. 21.-A government decree orders all street lights and also lights in stores, hotels and cafes dimmed at 10.30 p. m. This is another measure in the continuation of the energetic movement to force national economy. The first measure was the raising of the price of sugar to 25 cents a pound, and also prohibiting its sale for the manufacture of candy or other sweets.

The government is also making a campaign against speculators in foodstuffs and wearing apparel. A semi-official warning has been published, saying that spec in foodstuffs and wearing apparel. A semi-official warning has been published, saying that spec in foodstuffs and wearing apparel.

LETTER FROM "A THINKER."

Recruiting Office, Oct. 21.
 To the Editor of The Times:
 Sir: In your paper of the 19th inst. you were so kind as to publish a letter of mine giving my experience in recruiting.

Yesterday I received through the mail a letter in answer, signed "A Thinker." I would like to have the public read it, but I think it would be imposing a little too much on good nature to ask you to publish an anonymous letter. So, if Mr. Thinker will write or communicate with me in any way, using his proper name, I will endeavor to answer the arguments set forth in his letter. If he is not willing to do that, he might as well drop it, for there is no sense in arguing with a man who hasn't got enough to back his arguments with his own name.

I remain, yours respectfully,
 D. A. ARBO,
 2828th St., Con. Corps.

LOCAL NEWS

FOOTBALL MATCH.
 Despite inclement weather the members of St. John High School football team left for Miramichi this afternoon at 1:10 o'clock to meet the team representing Robbsey College in the first game of the interscholastic league.

ELEVEN DEATHS.
 Eleven burial permits were issued during the week. The causes of death were: Pneumonia, old age, measles, peritonitis, mastitis, typhoid fever, cirrhosis, cerebral tumor, cirrhosis of liver and tubercular meningitis.

APPOINTED ACTING PASTOR.
 The Presbytery of St. John has been pleased to appoint the Rev. W. E. G. Gillingford, to be acting pastor of the churches at Salina, Barnesville, Tutuville and Salt Springs, N.B. Mr. Gillingford during the summer had charge of the Riley Brook mission and was much respected by the people of the settlement. By his own members he was highly esteemed.

AT CHUBBS CORNER.
 The leasehold property of Rebecca M. Guild, 48 Etna street, with house, was sold at auction today at noon at Chubb's corner by Auctioneer Potts. It was purchased by Joshua Clayton for $350. The property consists of tenement house and two barns.

The freehold property of the late Daniel Doherty, situated at 684, 685 and 687 Main street, was withdrawn by Auctioneer T. T. Lantulum at $4750.

SOLDIER SENTENCED.
 The girls of the Maple Leaf Circle, entertained a company of the 16th Battalion last evening in their rooms in Victoria street. The boys paraded to the rooms under command of Captain Gallant. Following a basket sale and refreshments, the following programme was rendered: Address, H. C. Green, solo, Florence Johnson; reading, William Spencer; duet, Green and Earle; reading, Alexander Baird; solo, Miss May Alcorn; quartette by four members of the 16th Battalion band; reading, Miss Brittain; address Captain Gallant, and solo, Mrs. Andette.

THE "BEAT" TO GO.
 In the hearing of a case in the police court this morning, the commission of public safety said that, beginning on Monday, the police would round up all individuals who came under the title of "bum" and they would be chased off the streets. It had recently come to light that several men of this calibre have held up respectable working girls and asked them for money and if refused they would become abusive. As county warden, he did not propose to free these "gentlemen" in the county jail and if necessary the grant awarded to the jail would be stopped.

PRIVATE R. L. EVANS FOURTH TIME WOUNDED

Cheerful in spite of his wounds, Private Robert L. Evans, who was reported recently in the casualty list as wounded, writes to his father as follows:

"I'm sorry to say I've been wounded. We made a charge on September 26. I got as far as the German's second line when the first thing I knew something hit me in the throat, jaw and shoulder. I lay in shell holes and ditches for eighteen hours before I could receive first aid. I am in a hospital in France now and every one is very kind to me. When I get a little better I'll be sent to England. It's darn hard luck on my part, but if you only had seen some of the sights while the battle was on, you'd think I am lucky. Please don't worry for I am sure to come through."

"This is the fourth time that Private Evans has been wounded, but each time he has just healed concealed the facts from his family until he was on the way to recovery."

A letter written two days after his communication was received from the matron of the hospital, conveying the news that they were "feeling very serious about him," and this naturally increased the family's anxiety. A telegram received this week from the record office at Ottawa conveyed the news that Private Evans had been struck off the list of the dangerously ill and this was regarded as most reassuring.

A SAD SCENE IN THE POLICE COURT

Court room scenes are varied in nature, but the local police court has had few more sad than one of this morning. It was a scene which, in the opinion of some, will be remembered for many a time. In the witness stand was his mother, an aged tottering mother of eighty-six years. Pitiful was the story she related. She said she never wanted the son to enter her house again and asked that the court deal with him as it saw fit. Few were the words that were spoken, but the scene spoke volumes. It was the case of a man who had disgraced a respectable name, through continued drunkenness, it was the last step left to an aged woman and her daughter to have at least quietness and peace in a good home.

The magistrate committed him to jail for four months and said that he would not get out until two respectable persons would go security for him to keep the peace in the future. The man was led to the court into jail, while the officials of the court helped the aged woman to the street.

The Man In The Street

Cheer up! Just think how monotonous it would be if it were always fine weather.

German forecast—Cloudy weather with indications of many dark and gloomy days; heavy rain of lead and steel expected from northwest, southwest, southeast, and east, gradually growing worse.

But today's reports show that the Germans still have a punch of two up their sleeves.

Permission may be secured for the export of lobsters to France but if an ancient slang term is permitted, some "lobsters" will never reach France until they get something more than permission.

On the day Sir Wilfrid Laurier does not deliver a recruiting speech the morning government organ accuses him of dilatoriness; on the day he does deliver a recruiting speech they accuse him of hypocrisy. Apparently the only reference to the Liberal chieftain which that journal will print with real pleasure will be his obituary.

Judging from the sentiments expressed in a cable from Amsterdam, the United States are in danger of getting "in Dutch."

Flour and sugar show their supreme contempt for the high cost of living conference in Ottawa by taking another jump of twenty cents on the same day.

Perhaps they knew of the attitude of the government in advance.

There are many complaints regarding the shortage of paper, but the discount clerk at the bank says that he has not noticed any shortage so far.

The campaign in New York for the adoption of the daylight saving plan sounds like a serious menace to the great white way of that well known village. But perhaps the New York idea is to save daylight by not using it recklessly.

The report of the commissioner of public works on the value of the work accomplished by the jail gang might furnish a new slogan for the liquor interests. "Patrol the bars and keep the city supplied with free labor."

The chief drawback is that the patrons fail to draw their pay while working for the city under these circumstances.

Women's Rights

That the female of the species is as readily as the male was impressed upon a local manufacturer this week. He did battle with his female employees—and lost out; they had learned the value of the strike. It was on a chilly morning when the temperature was low and the workroom was so chilly that the nimble hands of the workers refused to work. The girls demanded more heat—and the boss announced that it was not needed, no indeed, not by profusely emphasized sight. The girls listened with meekness but, with a unanimity only equalled by the afore-said meekness, they reached for their hats and coats and took a walk. Business is business and there is not much business without the aid of the willing hands of the workers, so the boss made a careful review of the situation. Then he acted—and he acted as promptly as the girls had done. A rush message was sent to a stove fitter and equally urgent messages were despatched to his workers. By noon the girls were back on the job with two stoves registering summer heat. He will think twice before he denies the next request from the girls.

FREDERICTON NEWS

Fredericton, Oct. 21.—Pioneer Sgt. George Foss of the Killies was arrested last night on a warrant charged with interfering with the civil police and refusing to render assistance when called upon. He was released on $1000 bail.

Mrs. Mary Elsie Fraser, widow of D. St. George Fraser, died at her home here this morning. She was a daughter of the late John Gregory, was eighty years of age and leaves three brothers, J. B. Gregory and A. J. Gregory, K.C., of this city, and Edward F. Gregory of Kansas; also three sisters, Mrs. J. S. Armstrong and Mrs. F. P. Robinson of Fredericton and Mrs. Donham of Portland, Me.

Miss Ina McCatherine, daughter of the late Dugald McCatherine of this city was married in Centreville on Tuesday to Robert Franklin Jones of Lakeville.

Premier Clark said this morning that no appointment had yet been made to the position of legislative librarian.

The Arctic rink had a narrow escape from destruction by fire early this morning. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a cigarette stub carelessly thrown on a plank walk.

JUVENILE COURT

Some boys were before Magistrate Ritchie in the juvenile court this morning. Two were there on charge of theft of some pieces of junk from the barn of Gordon Seig in Bond's Alley, off Paradise row. The proprietor could not establish for a certainty the description of the goods alleged to be stolen. The boys were allowed to go.

Four others, rounded up some two weeks ago by Detectives Barrett and Briggs, on charge of theft of various articles from the city armory, were before the court. Further investigation is necessary, and the case was set over until another day.

A New and Stylish Stetson That Men Like Immensely

Here is one of the most beautiful hats we have ever shown — it's the feature hat from the superb line of Fall Stetsons.

A remarkably graceful and dressy hat, with just the touch of smartness that all like to see in these young feeling days. One thing that surprises us — its becomingness to such a large number of men.

The cue for men this season is to wear better quality in their hats—and we are proud of our Stetsons, every one of them. You will want one of the Stetson Comfort Derbies, too, to alternate with your soft hat.

The price of Stetson Hats with us, $4.50
 The same as others ask $5.00 for.

Have You Ever Stopped To Think

How much better value would you get for your money if you purchased durable furniture, instead of spending it in a lot of other ways? For instance, the very best mattress that money can buy only represents an outlay of forty cents a week for one year, and it will give you a lifetime of comfort.

One-third of your life is spent in bed, or should be, and the perfect rest and relaxation which you will get on a first-class spring and mattress will improve your health and lengthen your life. It is worth considering.

ST. VITUS DANCE CAN BE EASILY CURED

A Tonic for the Blood and Nerves With Rest All That Is Needed

Many a child has been called awkward, has been punished in school for not keeping still or drooping things, when the trouble was really St. Vitus dance. This trouble may appear at any age but is most often between the ages of six and fourteen. The most frequent cause of the disease is poor blood, aggravated by indoor confinement, or mental strain at school. Under these conditions the blood fails to carry nutriment to the nerves and the child begins to show listlessness and inattention. Then it becomes restless and twitching of the muscles and jerking of the limbs and body follow. A remedy that cures St. Vitus dance and cures it so thoroughly that no trace of the disease remains is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which renew the blood, thus feeding and strengthening the affected nerves. This is the only way to cure the trouble, and parents should lose no time in giving the treatment. If their child seems nervous or irritable, Mrs. Wm. A. Squires, Canton, Ont., says: "My only daughter, now fourteen years of age, was troubled for several years by St. Vitus dance. She was so bad that at times she would lose control of her limbs and her face and eyes would be contorted. We had medical advice and medicine, but it did not help her. In fact we thought the trouble growing worse, and finally we had to take her from school. About a year ago we began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and by the time she had taken five boxes she was completely cured, and is now a fine, healthy girl. I firmly believe we owe this to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and are very grateful for her restoration to perfect health."

You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GAS, HEARTBURN INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends All Stomach Distress in Five Minutes

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach sure within five minutes. If your meals don't fit comfortably, or if you eat less than a normal amount, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you eat. There will be no sour eructations, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, no flatulence, no bloating in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go away, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors. Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs because it takes the acid out of your food and digests it just as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store. These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

In this connection I remember how some persons are affected by the sight of a mouse or rat.

Snyder said the devil's general health was good and that he was not falling off in his appetite which, he said, was always a sure index that nothing physically was wrong with the animal.

"Bill," said Copeland, after watching Pete for some time, "I believe Pete is either lonesome or homesick. Why not try putting him in a cage with more home-like surroundings, or perhaps a neighbor to some other animal than a mouse, against whom he appears to be so suspicious."

"What could shock Pete?" asked Copeland. "Various things," said Snyder. "The sudden dropping of some heavy article or the unexpected cry of some animal."

Zoo Officials Worried by Tasmanian Animal's Voice

Keeper Finds Nothing in Books on Natural History to Explain a Hay House Phenomenon

(New York Times.) Not since the laughing jackass became hysterical and nearly laughed himself to death has Bill Snyder, head keeper of the Central Park Zoo, had such a problem presented to him as the case of Pete, the Tasmanian devil. A weird change has occurred in Pete's voice, and the phenomenon was seriously discussed by Bill's friends at their weekly meeting in the hay house.

Three weeks ago Pete had a voice that would have done honor to a bass singer. Bill says, and when he cries for his food all the other animals within the sound of his voice go uneasy. Twice Pat Keenan, the veteran of the monkey house, has imagined a child was crying, but on investigation found only the devil giving vocal expression to his hunger.

The subject of Pete's voice came up in the hay house because Pete was in evidence there yesterday and because several times while reciting the weekly happenings to his friends, Snyder was interrupted by Pete's cries.

"Just think," commented Bill in disgust after the fourth interruption, "that used to be a fine, full voice, and now listen to it!"

The devil, Bill explained, had been kept in the hay house for the last few nights that his case might be studied. The head keeper was not pleased when Bob Hurton, his assistant, asked seriously whether he intended to teach the animal to play upon a musical instrument. The remark caused laughter, and Robert Copeland, the park policeman, mindful of his duty of keeping the peace, thought it best to shift his position, so that he was between Bill and his questioner.

So far as the keeper knows the affliction came upon Pete suddenly. The Tasmanian devil is a fine specimen—black, with white bands on the neck and forequarters. A comparatively new arrival at the zoo, the animal became the fast friend of Keeper Keenan, who took particular pleasure in the deep voice with which Pete greeted him and the rather musical growls he emitted when he was spoken to. On Monday last Keenan came to Bill Snyder in some excitement.

"Bill," he said anxiously, "there is something wrong with Pete." Snyder, knowing the friendship between the keeper and his charge, told Keenan that he would investigate. The two journeyed to the monkey house, and as Keenan pushed open the door a sound greeted them as though some one was pulling the bow across the E string of a violin.

"That's him," said Keenan excitedly. Snyder decided that the case was one requiring his personal attention, and so he brought Pete over to the hay house. When the head keeper took his seat on a bale of hay yesterday, his friends did not notice Pete until he joined in

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that they could hear the ticking of a watch several feet away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and send to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength) and 76c. worth. Take this home, and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, listlessness, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the lingering rapidly returns as the system is invaded by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.

Important Note: In ordering Parmit always specify that you want double strength. Your druggist has it or can easily get it for you. If not send 76c. postal note or money order to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Que., Can., and they will supply you.

Mr. Posey stated that the infection in York county was particularly heavy. In the west part the infection discovered by him was on the gooseberry and currant bushes where it passes a certain stage of its development. Currants and gooseberries, both wild and cultivated, play a part in the development of the infection and without them it cannot be continued, explained Mr. Posey, so that the eradication of the currant and gooseberry plants in the infected area is absolutely necessary.

In discovering the prevalence of white pine blister rust in Maine as found by him was on the gooseberry and currant bushes where it passes a certain stage of its development. Currants and gooseberries, both wild and cultivated, play a part in the development of the infection and without them it cannot be continued, explained Mr. Posey, so that the eradication of the currant and gooseberry plants in the infected area is absolutely necessary.

Frank E. Mace stated that it was impossible to estimate the present and future damage from the white pine blister rust to the forests of the state. This was especially true in view of the present efforts in connection with reforestation which had already been undertaken under the provisions of the nursery law whereby small trees and seedlings were sent out through the state. The white pine was especially valuable because of its rapid growth.

Commissioner Mace declared that in his belief the wild currants and gooseberries could be better stamped out by the woodsmen of the state than by any other class of people for they were the roughly familiar with their existence.

"Maine has more varieties of wild currants and gooseberries than any other state I know of, many of them about by worthless and not bearing any fruit at all, but running entirely to vines said Commissioner Mace.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONE

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach kept right the result may be serious. Because of the War

We are compelled to make this announcement.

The leading merchants of Canada have this year given us more and larger orders for "CEETEE" underclothing than ever before in our history.

Yet we find it impossible to fill them promptly for two reasons— one, lack of raw materials (finest Merino yarns); the other, scarcity of specially qualified labor.

The Raw Material

Difficulty is due partly to the fact that all the yarn-spinning factories in the Old Country are under the supervision of the British Government, and the bulk of their yarn is required for clothing for the men of the great Navy, the Empire's bulwark, and for Kitchener's great Army—consequently we can only secure what can be spared from the overplus, if any.

We can buy plenty of "Merino Wool," and good Merino Wool at that, but not of the quality we have always used and intend to always use for "CEETEE" Garments.

Indeed, we would rather not make any at all than lower the quality.

Then partly to the difficulty of securing ships to carry the wool in.

Finer-Knit and Lighter Underclothing the Warmest. The following item will show that the British Government are now recognizing a fact that we have already been proclaiming...

The Labor Scarcity

is caused partly from the fact that the knitters or operators on the "Special Machines" (the only machines of their kind in Canada used for underclothing) required for "CEETEE" are specially trained and almost "bred" to the work—family after family for generations being trained in this special line—consequently when many of our employees joined the colors they could not be replaced, as it is impossible to secure new workers from Scotland or the Old Country owing to even a much greater need for them over there, where they are "doing their bit" by making underclothing for the Army and Navy.

We do not complain, in fact would cheerfully lose all our business if it would assist the Allies in bringing this great fight for civilization, liberty and democracy to an earlier close.

We felt it our duty, however, to frankly explain the situation to the Canadian public and ask them to order their "CEETEE" Winter Underclothing from their dealers EARLY if they wish to be sure of getting it—and to be patient with us if they do not secure it promptly.

Very truly yours, (Signed) J. Turnbull, President

GERMAN HOPES FROM THE ROUMANIAN VENTURE

Went to War to Open Her Way To East, and There Will Fight Hard

But Strategy is Bad—Foe's Danube Campaign at This Stage is Ill-Advised—The End Not Yet

(By Lovat Fraser.) Germany did not go to war primarily to defeat France or Russia, still less Great Britain. She drew the sword to gain supreme control over all the territories stretching from the Rhine to the Persian Gulf. To effect her object it was imperative for her to crush France and Russia in turn. She never expected to fight Great Britain at all. She will fight to the last gasp to retain the land route from Berlin to Bagdad which she now controls.

To Punish Roumania. I take the meaning of the Kaiser's last war council to be that an attempt will be made to overwhelm Roumania, a country full of the wheat and meat and oil which the Germans need. Such an attempt is at least feasible. The Turks have a considerable army in Thrace, and they can obtain large reinforcements from Asia Minor without gravely imperiling their position in those regions. Remember always that the Turk would abandon every mile between Smyrna and Bagdad in order to fight for Constantinople, the last emblem of his vanishing greatness.

What can Hindenburg do with these forces? I should look for an attempt to cross the lower Danube by a determined effort to enter Roumanian territory by way of Orsova and the Iron Gates. My military friends, though they daily swear that they mean to cross the Rhine, tell me that they think Danube crossing will be difficult. Having looked at the lower Danube as an ingenious traveler studying the scene of the Russo-Turkish war, I still wonder why they doubt whether it will be possible to cross.

The possibilities here sketched are not in the least meant to suggest that by an adventure against Roumania Germany will obtain a new lease of life in the war. Her doom is irrevocably determined, and the wounds being dealt her on the Somme are mortal. A Danube campaign is not a sound military proposition at this stage, and a hot-potch rush by a rabble of Turks and Bulgars mixed with the dregs of the Huns will not bear any resemblance to the overrunning of Serbia last year, still less to the march of Mackensen's "phalanx" through Galicia. It will be a mild attempt at the vanquished to save the route to the East.

Hugo Munsterberg Voices Opinion That Other Course Would Lead to Another War

(New York Times.)
The hope that the United States would soon mediate between England and Germany and aid in the construction of a lasting world peace by bringing the two belligerents into cordial relationship was expressed yesterday morning by Professor Hugo Munsterberg in an address to the congregation of the Mount Morris Baptist church on the subject of "Reconstruction After the War." The address was the second in a series of Sunday morning talks on "The New Internationalism," arranged by the church's class in applied Christianity.

"The nations of the world should remember," said Professor Munsterberg, "that it is all important that the state of peace after this war shall not contain the germs of future wars. If Germany were to settle in Belgium, for example, or if England were to attempt to throttle Germany commercially, we

THE TRUTH ABOUT BEER

To the Editor of the Times-Star:
Sir,—Dr. Alfred Fitch—a world famous professor of hygiene, says: "The man who drinks ale or beer or stout, drinks it because he likes its narcotic and stupefying effects. If he thinks he gets any other effects from it he is deluding himself."

"We know exactly how much nutrient a glass of beer contains. It contains about five per cent of malt extract, the food value of which is variable."

"This extract consists of protein matter, converted and unconverted sugars, hop resin, and other substances of no dietary value, left as a residue after complete evaporation. In addition beer sometimes contains preservatives, such as sodium fluoride and salicylic acid, together with soda bicarbonate to neutralize the acidity and to help put the foaming head on it; also salt to overcome the disagreeable taste, and perhaps inspire it thirst for more."

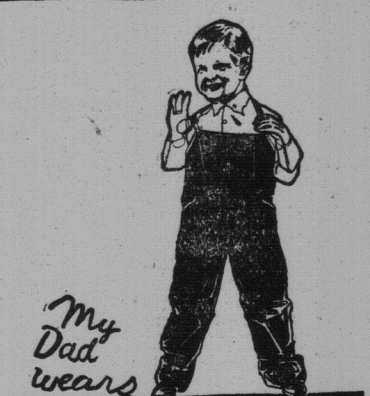

"This leaves us a few grains of protein and a small amount of sugar as the food in the beer. If the issues are supplied with a liberal quantity of water, life can be sustained for a considerable length of time. Dr. Tanner fasted for forty days. Perhaps some expert might do better if he could rid the beer of the alcohol which it contains, which in the absence of other food to attack would prey upon the tissues like a myriad of infinitesimal teeth."

Even the brewers say in one of their leaflets that beer would be better without alcohol if it could be made with the same taste. Thus we see that beer contains an exceedingly small quantity of nourishment and that any benefit that might come from this, is offset by the alcohol and other poisonous substances which it contains.

It is a safe conclusion that those who drink large quantities of beer do so, not for its food value, but for the dose effect of the alcohol and other narcotic drugs which it contains.

I plead for the co-operation of all who are in spreading these truths.

Tuberculosis Rapidly Increasing Among Children of Belgium and Northern France.

More Food Urgently Needed to Keep up Their Strength

An interview with Mr. W. L. Honnold, American Director of the Belgian Relief Commission, brings to light a new danger threatening the population of the territory occupied by Germany.

Mr. Honnold reports that about 5,000,000 wholly or partially destitute people, who have been dependent on the Commission, generally show diminished vitality. The effects are most apparent among the older children, particularly those in the adolescent stage. Among these there is an alarming increase of tuberculosis, due to the lower power of resistance consequent on an inadequate diet.

To overcome this serious danger, the Commission appeals for extra contributions so that a special meal can be served every day in the schools. Efforts are also being made to provide as far as possible for children outside the schools.

This can only be done—Belgium's children can only be saved—if every one of us who can possibly do so will give something toward the Fund. Whatever you can afford, send your subscription weekly, monthly or in one lump sum to Local or Provincial Committees, or

Enemy on Offensive On Several Fronts

In France, in Galicia and in the Dobruja region of Rumania, the armies of the Central Powers have taken the offensive against their opponents at different points. They are also holding the Entente Allies in check in Northern Macedonia, and are continuing the fighting on the Transylvania-Rumanian frontier.

Crown Prince Rupprecht, of Bavaria, assuming the initiative at some points on the Somme front in France, has, according to the Berlin war office, recaptured from the British the greater part of the positions won from the Germans, October 18, between Escaucourt L'Abbaye and LeBarque, between the Poesieres-Bausonne road and Guesdecourt and toward Escaucourt. The Germans also have successfully withstood British attacks near Coevredette and Le Sars and on the Poesieres-Bausonne road.

Paris reports only artillery activity on the Somme front, but London chronicles the repulse, with heavy casualties, of a German attack in the Thierval region.

If Berlin is to be believed, on the eastern front the Teutonic forces have stormed Russian positions on the left bank of the Narayava river, southeast of Lemberg, and held the conquered ground against counter-attacks. Fourteen officers and 2,000 men and eleven machine guns were taken here by Prince Leopold's troops.

In Volynia the fighting continues with varying results, both the Austro-Germans and the Russians claiming repulses of attacks on various sectors. To the north of Kievin a stubborn battle is being waged, with no decision having yet been reached.

Field Marshal Von Mackensen again has resumed his drive toward the Constantza-Bucharest railroad in Dobruja. White Berlin reports the fighting there as being "lively," Bucharest admits that the Rumanian left wing, along the Black

LITTLE RESULTS FROM JOURNEY TO OTTAWA

Government Does Not Promise Much Towards Reducing Cost of Living

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—The gentle art of shelving problems was again resorted to by the government today, when a delegation representing various eastern municipalities and public bodies urged upon it some action toward the control of the soaring cost of living. The delegation was informed by Hon. Robert Rogers, chief spokesman for the government, that nobody had placed his finger upon the remedy for the situation, and that while the delegates and representatives of the municipalities in anything which they desired themselves to initiate in the way of investigating, Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, undertook to console the delegates by informing them that living had increased all over the world, and that Australia and New Zealand, where measures had been taken to control prices, living was still high. He intimated that it might be some satisfaction for the people of Canada to know that prices in Germany had increased 117 per cent, since the war began.

Hon. C. J. Doherty graciously undertook through his department of justice, to prosecute abuses by individuals or companies if their existence were first proven by somebody else. "We do not propose, however, of our own initiative or on our own, to institute investigations," he said.

Sympathy, but No Action.

In other words the government practically told the delegation that it had no solution in its mind as to the control of the increasing cost of living in the dominion. Sympathy was all the assemblage received.

The attitude taken by the government was received in comparative silence, Mr. Doherty, however, coming in for some

INTERESTING REAL ESTATE CASE HERE

In the supreme court yesterday afternoon, Chief Justice McKewen presiding, an interesting real estate case in which D. C. Clinch and A. C. Jardine, of this city, were the plaintiffs and the George D. Prescott Lumber Company was the defendant, was brought to a close. On the finding of the jury, Chief Justice McKewen entered a verdict for the plaintiffs for $6,000, the full amount claimed.

This case arose out of the sale of a block of lumber lands in Restigouche county, to the extent of eight square miles. The plaintiffs in the case, Messrs. Clinch and Jardine had the option of selling the property for the Prescott Company. In their statement of claim they alleged that Arthur Culligan who purchased the property from George Prescott was first put in touch with the transaction by Charles S. Shaw, who had been employed by the plaintiffs to help negotiate the sale. Mr. Culligan purchased the property direct from Mr. Prescott, paying him $65,000 for it and the plaintiffs claimed ten per cent, of this amount by way of commission.

The defendants alleged that the plaintiffs were given an option on the sale of the property the value being placed at $125,000. Failing to sell it for this amount the plaintiffs were given a chance to sell it $75,000 net to the Prescott Company.

Questions were submitted by the chief justice to the jury and answered as follows:—

1—Were the plaintiffs employed by

Cold storage plans, speculation in foodstuffs, regulation of prices, and the various speakers for the soaring cost of living in the dominion. But fear of lending a political favor to the gathering apparently prevented any extensive airing of the latter report.

Two speakers only, H. J. Pattycyde and Mayor Bowley, of Brantford, brought the tariff issue before the government. The former contended that to increase production, and the only way to decrease the cost of living, was a political favor to the gathering, to increase the tariff burden under which the agricultural industry at present labors.

Mayor Bowley declared that it was the duty of the government to remove the tariff on foodstuffs.

Among other suggestions made was that of James Simpson, of Toronto, who declared that it was as easy for the government to secure such statements from business men in connection with the war tax. By means of such statements the government could ascertain whether prices charged for commodities were reasonable or not.

Investigation of cold storage plans was urged by many speakers, and this idea found some favor with Mr. Doherty, who thought it would not do any harm.

Ottawa delegates urged that the government provide machinery whereby the municipalities themselves could deal with the matter but the government members did not express any attitude on this suggestion.

That Forgotten Report.

Controller Cote, of Montreal, appeared to be the only member of the delegation who recalled the fact that the government three years ago had appointed a commission to inquire into the high cost of living. He asked whether the commission had finished its work. If it had, he would like to know what action had been taken, or intended to be taken, in connection with its recommendations. The report in question, it explained to him, lies upon the shelves of the labor department, and has apparently been relegated to the limbo of past and forgotten things, together with the report of the technical education commission made under the auspices of the same department. None of the ministers made any reference to it today.

Altogether, few tangible results are likely to follow the representations of today's influential delegation to the capital.

WINTER'S WORK FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS' RECEPTION COMMITTEE

At Meeting Yesterday Reports Were Submitted Showing Good Results

Want Central Room For Committee Use; Met 15 Steamer With Average of 125 Men on Each

Few of the committees doing patriotic work last year gave more of their time and efforts for good causes than did the reception committee which welcomed the soldiers who had done their bit and landed in St. John. Not one of the committee complained, one of the features of its working being the willingness with which those who belonged to it turned out early in the morning or whatever time the boats came in, went over to the West side and waited, often for hours, to have the pleasure of welcoming the soldiers.

To plan for the winter a meeting of the committee was held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms. S. Herbert Mayes was in the chair and there were present Mrs. G. A. Kubring, Mrs. S. H. Mayes, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Mrs. Carlotta Lee, Mrs. W. L. Fenton, Mrs. Jas. F. Robertson, Miss Jack, Miss Boyer, Miss Travers, Miss Alice Fairweather, Messrs. A. O. Skinner, H. Rankine, W. Clawson, R. E. Armstrong and Chip Ritchie, the secretary.

S. Herbert Mayes told of the work accomplished last year. Fifteen steamers were met with an average of 125 men on each steamer. It was pointed out that the number would necessarily be much greater this year. Each man was given a parcel with fruit, tobacco, chocolate, etc., papers and magazines were distributed.

Mrs. G. A. Kubring told of letters received from societies and individuals in different parts of Canada speaking of the deep appreciation felt by the men. The pretty parcels tied up with Allie's ribbon were enjoyed, but best of all they seemed to like the little Canadian flag which topped each parcel. It meant so much to these brave men to be met with a warm welcome as soon as they stepped on the land they had gone to fight for.

It was decided to try to get a central room to carry on the work of preparing the parcels. It was also decided to appeal to all societies to give towards this cause. Those who so generously assisted last year are asked to respond this winter. A. O. Skinner will receive contributions.

Mrs. H. A. Powell offered her house for a parlor musicale to be given some time in November. This idea was enthusiastically taken up and a committee appointed consisting of Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Kubring, Mrs. James F. Robertson, A. O. Skinner and S. H. Mayes.

Mrs. Carlotta Lee was appointed buyer for the supplies with H. Rankin to assist her. Mrs. W. White and Mrs. Stewart Skinner were asked to look after the recreation room at the detention hospital, West Side, as they did last year. The magazine committee were re-appointed. Miss Alice Fairweather was added to the general committee.

It is hoped that there will be a generous response to this appeal for funds to carry on the work of the returned soldiers' reception committee. First Recruit For Navy Here

Many Provincial Men in Casualty List; Contributions For Kilties Equipment; News of the Soldiers

Albert Todd is the first naval recruit to enlist in St. John. His home is in Liverpool, England, but he has been in Canada for some months.

Lieutenant B. W. Russell, who was reported in yesterday's Times as being wounded, is the son of Mr. Justice B. Russell of Nova Scotia, and has many friends in St. John.

The names of eight New Brunswick men appear in the midnight casualty list. Killed in action, E. A. Williston, Jayside; missing, F. Berca, St. John (previously reported); wounded, L. Sergeant A. Wallace, Chatham; Gunner A. Keith, Havelock; Gunner R. T. Murphy, Moncton; W. J. Dumas, St. John; E. W. Eddy, Bathurst, and F. McClinton, Emerson.

In Line for Honors. The late Lieut. Stanley K. L. Macdonald's commanding officer, in letters received by friends in the city, says that Lieut. Macdonald had been recommended for special mention and award. On two occasions he had run telephone wires in the divisional artillery, thereby enabling many other batteries to register their guns, as they had no wires of their own.

Private Quinn Killed. Another St. Andrews boy has been called upon to make the supreme sacrifice in the person of Private Thomas Quinn, son of Henry Quinn, who received word of his death on Oct. 3. It was due to shrapnel wounds. The telegram stated that he lived only a few hours. He had been absent from St. Andrews for some years, but is still well remembered, and many letters have been received from friends relating experiences. He enlisted with the 69th French Canadian Battalion, and was transferred to a battalion on the western front on arrival in England. He is survived by his sister, Miss Bessie Quinn, professional nurse, who returned from France a few months ago, after having accomplished splendid work in a field hospital there.

Private Townshend Dies. Mrs. W. C. Good, of this city, wife of Colonel W. C. Good, who is now at the front, received word last night that her son, Private Percy Townshend, who was reported wounded some time ago, died on Oct. 2, at No. 9 clearing station, from a fracture of skull. Private Townshend enlisted with the 52th Battalion at Jacksonville (N. B.), and was later transferred to the 25th.

Private Craik Killed. A report from Newcastle says that sad news came to Mr. and Mrs. James Craik, when they received word that their son, Private George Craik, of the 20th Battalion, had been killed in action on Sept. 20. Private Craik was twenty-one years old and is survived by the following brothers and sisters: David, at home; James, of the 20th; Frank and Hubert, of the 182nd Battalion; Harold, Jean, Brander, Alden and Kilchener, at home. It will be noted that four of the boys were in the king's service and this is the first one to be slain on the field of battle. Private Craik evidently springs of fighting stock, and the sacrifice of this family in the present national crisis is one of which the province may be justly proud.

Moncton Man Killed. Moncton, N. B., Oct. 20.—Malcolm McKinnon, of this city, tonight received a telegram stating that his son, John, had been killed in action. Deceased is survived by his wife and one child. He was formerly employed in the Intercolonial round house, Moncton.

A Former Resident. W. J. Wright, an Englishman, formerly employed as a tailor with Gilmore & Co., and later with E. R. Taylor, St. John, was killed in action with the 20th reported in the County of London War Hospital, Epsom, suffering from shrapnel wounds in the left arm, left thigh and right leg. He was admitted Sept. 15, and was wounded near Thiepval. In a letter to St. John friends, Private Wright reports that he is progressing favorably and expects soon to return to France. He says: "The Canadian branch of the Red Cross looks after us well here. We want for nothing."

To Equip Company. One of the most striking gifts to any C. E. F. unit yet authorized in Canada is that to the 26th Kilties by E. W. Beattie, general counsel of the C. P. R., who yesterday wrote to Brigadier-General Hugh H. McLean, stating that he was prepared to fit out a company of Colonel Guthrie's unit himself. It is understood that the fitting out of an entire company of the Kilties Battalion represents an expenditure of about $4,000. This company equipped, it is understood, will represent western Canada in the unit. Other donations recently received by General McLean are as follows: H. B. Angus, $200; Colonel C. W. McLean, $100; T. V. Mohahan, Fredericton, $200; J. Morris, of Montreal, $200; Mary McLean, Montreal, $200. About $8,000 is still needed for the fund, which must reach $20,000 before it is completed. There is little doubt that the amount required will be secured in the very near future.

The fund for the 26th Battalion is rapidly growing and Lieutenant-Colonel McAvity is putting all his energy into the work. Yesterday he sent a check to Lieutenant-Colonel MacKenzie, now O. C. of New Brunswick's splendid fighting unit, expressing his personal appreciation of their recent work on the western front and the interest of the people of the province, sending at the same time $500 which he has already collected. The latest contributions reported by Colonel McAvity are: A. E. Casswell, Gagetown, $100; W. B. Leck, $1; Sir Howard Douglas's Charity, I. D. E. Fredericton, $50; Friend, $20; S. D. L., $5; and Lieutenant-Colonel T. D. Walker, $10. The total amount of the fund now stands at $598.92. Lieutenant-Colonel McAvity is aiming at securing at least $2,000 for the gallant boys of his unit, and is making every effort to secure all the money possible for them with which to purchase comforts. New Brunswick should attend to her unit at the front as well as Nova Scotia looks after her 20th Battalion. The boys have delivered the goods; they have suffered and when necessary died for the great cause. The least New Brunswick can do is to support them in the best way possible.

Missing. C. C. MacIntyre of the Seacoast Canning Co., Eastport, has received word from the Canadian war department that his only son, Gordon C., of a Montreal regiment, had been missing since Sept. 20.

BOYS' CONFERENCE. Rev. J. A. Anderson, Rev. W. H. Barraclough, Rev. Gilbert Earle, Rev. P. R. Hayward, Rev. G. F. Scott, L. W. Simms and A. M. Gregg, acting for the New Brunswick advisory board for co-operation in boys' work met in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon and heard reports from the various committees at work preparing for the conference that is to be held here next week. The ladies' auxiliary reported that it would be necessary to have ladies assist from churches in serving luncheon, which is to be one of the features of the gathering. A reception committee fifty St. John boys will be on hand at the station to welcome the visiting delegates. Eight automobiles will be placed at their disposal in taking the visitors to their quarters. Many of the visiting leaders are to fill the city pupils a week from tomorrow. Reports from the committee on the athletic meet and the finance committee indicate that both departments are doing satisfactory work.

THE SECRET

All true success is the outcome of real personal interest and genuine endeavor. You may be desiring a battleship or you may be thinking out a bright idea for a 15 cent toy, controlling a commissariat or pursuing and experimenting with fruits and spices in order to perfect a new recipe for the home table, but the real road to success is just the same in one case as in each of the others. It is not what work you are doing, but you are doing your work that really counts. You cannot know, unless it were told you, how much personal interest will make a name for itself and bring success to the makers.

The Midland Vinegar Company of England are proud of their H. P. Sauce, proud of the reputation it has earned of being the richest, most pleasant, frisky sauce obtainable. Choice Oriental fruits, spices and purest malt vinegar are the constituents of this famous sauce. The manner of blending the "knack" of converting so many different flavors into one delicious whole—that is the secret of H. P. You had better test it for yourself, it's easy. Grocery over here are already selling it freely.

ily growing and Lieutenant-Colonel McAvity is putting all his energy into the work. Yesterday he sent a check to Lieutenant-Colonel MacKenzie, now O. C. of New Brunswick's splendid fighting unit, expressing his personal appreciation of their recent work on the western front and the interest of the people of the province, sending at the same time $500 which he has already collected. The latest contributions reported by Colonel McAvity are: A. E. Casswell, Gagetown, $100; W. B. Leck, $1; Sir Howard Douglas's Charity, I. D. E. Fredericton, $50; Friend, $20; S. D. L., $5; and Lieutenant-Colonel T. D. Walker, $10. The total amount of the fund now stands at $598.92. Lieutenant-Colonel McAvity is aiming at securing at least $2,000 for the gallant boys of his unit, and is making every effort to secure all the money possible for them with which to purchase comforts. New Brunswick should attend to her unit at the front as well as Nova Scotia looks after her 20th Battalion. The boys have delivered the goods; they have suffered and when necessary died for the great cause. The least New Brunswick can do is to support them in the best way possible.

Missing. C. C. MacIntyre of the Seacoast Canning Co., Eastport, has received word from the Canadian war department that his only son, Gordon C., of a Montreal regiment, had been missing since Sept. 20.

BOYS' CONFERENCE. Rev. J. A. Anderson, Rev. W. H. Barraclough, Rev. Gilbert Earle, Rev. P. R. Hayward, Rev. G. F. Scott, L. W. Simms and A. M. Gregg, acting for the New Brunswick advisory board for co-operation in boys' work met in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon and heard reports from the various committees at work preparing for the conference that is to be held here next week. The ladies' auxiliary reported that it would be necessary to have ladies assist from churches in serving luncheon, which is to be one of the features of the gathering. A reception committee fifty St. John boys will be on hand at the station to welcome the visiting delegates. Eight automobiles will be placed at their disposal in taking the visitors to their quarters. Many of the visiting leaders are to fill the city pupils a week from tomorrow. Reports from the committee on the athletic meet and the finance committee indicate that both departments are doing satisfactory work.

Roumania's Part In The Campaign

Deductions From Few Taken as Prisoners

Their Progress So Far

Far From Conquered But Might be Overrun if She Does Not Her Share of Fighting

Have the Roumanians shown the white feather? In the opinion of the military expert of the New York Times the small number of prisoners that have been taken by the Germans and Bulgars in their operations against Roumania show that the Roumanian troops have little stomach for the terrific artillery bombardments with which the Central Powers began an attack, and fall back before the enemy infantry can reach them. This supposition may be unjust to the Roumanians. Captured prisoners may be an indication of a desperate resistance or of an eager surrender. When the Russians fell back in 1915 before Hindenburg he captured enormous numbers of them, but he got few supplies. This meant that the Russians had fought desperate rear guard actions which enabled their main forces with their equipment to retreat safely. On the other hand, the great number of Austrians taken by Brusiloff this summer was interpreted to mean that the Austrians preferred to spend their time in Russian detention camps rather than in the field. So the supposition about Roumania may be a mere guess.

Bulgaria's Treachery
Apart from the martial qualities of the Roumanians, which will be thoroughly tested before the war ends, they are to be credited with successes in the early days of their belligerency. They swiftly overran a great part of Transylvania. Some critics believe that they were so greedy to immediately seize the territory they desired that they subordinated to this passion sound military

The Conqueror of the Weak
In one respect the declaration of war by Roumania may have been welcomed by Germany. Although that declaration meant another nail in her coffin, it yet afforded her an opportunity to score another victory. What nations has Germany defeated in this war? There are only two, and they are small nations—Belgium and Serbia. When Roumania entered Germany may have decided that by a swift concentration of her forces she could overrun Roumania, and while she might realize that this would not help her in the long run, it might well help her at home. Germany was long overdue with announcements of victory. In the early days of the war she could declare with truth that Belgium had been laid low. Later on she could announce that all of Serbia was in the hands of the Central Powers. Last year the defeat of Russia was proclaimed. The German ration of victory was served out from day to day and from month to month. In these circumstances we can understand the German wondering why the allies, defeated in Belgium and Serbia, and frustrated at the Dardanelles, did not recognize the fact that they had been beaten in the war.

A Need For a Victory
There came a time, however, when a virtual deadlock was established. Germany could advance no farther in France nor in Russia. On both great fronts the allies were holding firm, and on the south Italy was making some advance. No longer could Berlin provide its ration daily victories. In these circumstances, the assault upon Verdun was determined upon. From a military point of view the Verdun campaign could not have been decisive. From a political point of view it was vital. Germany longed for a battle. For the allies struck along the Somme. There had to be admissions of defeat here. Not till Roumania entered the war did Germany see a chance of a victory with which to cheer the spirits of the folk at home. So it was decided that there should be a swift rush at Roumania.

OLD TEUTONIC IDEALS LOST IN NEW LUXURY

Alfred Croiset of Faculty of Paris Se Estimates the Germans

Art Ousted by Trade—Ancient Kindness Passes and Arrogance Takes Place Among Learned

(The following comment on French and German culture was written by Prof. Alfred Croiset, senior of the faculty of Paris, at the request of Paul Scott Mowrer, Paris correspondent of the Chicago News.)

(By Prof. Alfred Croiset.)
The horrible war which we are undergoing makes it difficult for a Frenchman to speak calmly of German culture. But, on the other hand, it has laid bare the bases of things which lay hidden under the deceptive veil of peace. Let us then try to understand. When the war broke out German culture was in a way to impose itself on the world. Why? Because of qualities which it would be perverse to refuse to recognize, and also because of the prestige of force; for men—big children that we are—admire force up to the moment when it revolts against them. Of the qualities which must be credited to Germany, some belong more to the past than to the present; Germany still benefits by the memory of Kant and Goethe and by the glory of its musicians.

People saw clearly enough that the somewhat coarse simplicity of its old-fashioned customs, which had their charm, was giving place to a noisy luxury, vanishing the parents. The ancient kindness of its learned professors was changing into a rather ridiculous arrogance. Germany was daily detaching itself more and more from pure reason to think only of daily multiplying business and leaving the powder dry—even in these transformations it kept its traditional qualities of application, without an attentive method and foresight. Hence came striking successes; and when its interpreters vaunted German culture to us, one had to admit that appearances were of a nature to make an impression.

And, nevertheless, in the depth of every French soul a stubborn sentiment protested against this German primacy. One felt therein I don't know what coarseness and hardness. The writings of the pan-Germans revealed to us from time to time, under this specious grandeur a mad pride. The civilization of intelligent and hard something inhuman about it which was disgusting and repulsive. It was a mad dream from 1870 on the moral decadence of Germany. The war has bared to broad daylight the secret vice of this artificial construction; the grandeur of Germany was a "fleshly grandeur" and the service of the flesh, proclaiming an idolatry of force; material and mechanical force, indifferent to moral values, full of contempt for the superior aspirations of humanity, radically severed from what Shakespeare called "the milk of human kindness."

The long effort of six generations toward greater justice and goodness gave place to the wild cry: "Deutschland über alles!" Germany above all, above the rights of nations, above justice itself. No more art or beauty? A practical organization reduced individuals to be no more than docile pieces in a monstrous soulless machine ready to crush everything.

And we, during all this time, what were we doing? France was more hungry than ever for justice, truth, universal peace. Our internal quarrels, which inspired in Germany such a mad confidence in our irremediable division, were caused by divergences of opinion as regards duty. Our imprudent pacifism was a noble humanitarian dream. The struggles of our artistic and literary schools were proofs of an ardent longing for beauty. We disputed among ourselves our ideas, and these ideas, whatever they may have been, held in the eyes of their defenders a universal value, useful for the common good.

Were Impenitent Idealists

Each one, believing in the virtue of his ideas, desired that France should become their champion, to his own honor and for the advantage of the world. We were impenitent idealists, and the more truly French, despite our superficial differences, as we were the more idealistic. Moreover, when the external danger appeared, each one rushed with the same heart to his urgent duty, which was to defend against brutal force the well-beloved country where so many noble dreams had flourished. To defend France was to labor both for France and for the civilization which it represents. All interior divergences faded out as by enchantment. This was Germany's first surprise.

What then, is the essential principle of this civilization for which so many Frenchmen are heroically dying? Whether one called it Christian, Greco-Latin, revolutionary, matters little; it all comes to this, that it proclaims the dignity of man, and ends in founding all morals, between individuals and nations, on the respect for free activity. It is the duty of the strong to aid the weak; small nations have a right to live all moral persons have their own role to play in the concert of collective life. Unity imposed from without, by the tyranny of one man or by the oppressive hegemony of a nation, impoverishes humanity by belittling the individuals who compose it. The only unity desirable is that which by reason and kindness draws together all noble and intelligent activities with a view to the general harmony.

Liberal and truly civilized nations all take their inspiration from this principle. None has more constantly proclaimed and defended it than France.

Movie Views of Surgical Work to Aid Medical Men
After more than a year of effort, the faculty of Johns Hopkins Medical School at Baltimore, according to the November Popular Mechanics Magazine, has produced over 10,000 ft. of motion picture film which it will use in teaching surgery. While the views which these films present would be gruesome indeed to the ordinary movie fan, they promise to be of the greatest value to medical students. With clear motion pictures the student can study again and again the actual steps taken by surgeons engaged in operating. The films will be used during the current school year. They depict both major and minor operations.
