Non-Crying Blue-Eyed Baby Seeks Home; Apply to Mother

No Lack of Maternal Love for Tiny Christopher Pappas, but There's a Hungry Two-Year-Old to Feed, Father Is Missing, So He's on the Market.

BE A SCOUT IS BADEN-POWELL'S RADIO TO BOYS

(New York Tribune.)
Wrapped in a pale blue shawl on the kitchen table and contentedly pulling at his bottle, tiny Christopher Pappas awaited yesterday the results of an advertisement which offered him for adoption.

His mother, Mrs. Regina Pappas, in the dark basement room at 817 West Thirty-fifth street, which she calls home, greeted applicants for the child with a matter-of-fact recital of her troubles.

"My husband—he goes away," she said. "Never come here any more. I have other baby, two years old. I must go to work and make money for other baby. I give this one away. You take!"

She was a neat little woman, in a room that shone with the cleanliness that is automatic among "natura-born housekeepers," whatever their status in life. The tiny shelves were draped with shining blue and white oiled cloth, and over the kitchen stove hung a line of freshly washed linen and lace-trimmed baby clothes. The month-old Christopher was daintily dressed, and his blue eyes opened and shut with the utter content of a well-cared-for baby.

"He never cries," his mother said hopefully, mentioning what she evidently considered his best selling point. She is of Greek birth, and worked in a cigarette factory before she was married, she said, adding that she would go back to that work as soon as she found a home for the baby. She said that her husband sent her a little money once in a while, but not enough to live on.

"I don't care where he is," she said. "I don't care—any more. I must go to work and make money for other baby. I give this one away. You take!"

"This is a noble job in which each of you although you may be only a boy can lend a hand."

"Come along, be sportsmen, and try it by joining up with the nearest Scout Troop."

"If you have no troop near you, you can be registered as a lone Scout, that is, a fellow carrying out all the Scout ideas by himself and so being able to win the badges which a Scout gets for doing well."

"By being a Scout you will give yourself a good time, but what is much more you will be doing your bit for Canada."

Following message from Sir Robert Baden-Powell, Bart., was broadcast from the Government Radio Station at Ottawa on Saturday night, March 31.

"The Speaker of the House of Commons at Ottawa said on the 28th of March, 'I should like to see every Canadian boy a Boy Scout, learning to become a true sportsman and to lead a clean life.'

"Now there's a suggestion from one of your leading Canadian statesmen for every one of you boys to follow."

"If you join the Boy Scouts as he suggests you become a member of a jolly cheery brotherhood of young backwoodsman—strong and healthy, able to turn their hands to any job, with the pluck and energy to carry it through."

"They don't worry about themselves but do their best to help other people in any way they can."

"They are the lads who are going to make Canada big and prosperous, and a power among the nations."

"This is a noble job in which each of you although you may be only a boy can lend a hand."

"Come along, be sportsmen, and try it by joining up with the nearest Scout Troop."

"If you have no troop near you, you can be registered as a lone Scout, that is, a fellow carrying out all the Scout ideas by himself and so being able to win the badges which a Scout gets for doing well."

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growth is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered detolone and water, apply to hairy surface about two minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine detolone. Mix fresh as wanted.

The coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Ralph Peterson in the Fairville yard returned a verdict of accidental death last night. Evidence was given by Howard Cunningham, Charles Irvine, William Duffy, Harold Lee and William Merryweather. Nothing new was brought out.

The inquest was held in No. 7 Engine House, west side, before Coroner F. L. Kenney. The jury was: George Tennessy, foreman, Edward Howard, Frederick Johnston, George Haselwood, David Haggarty, Bradford Nice and Harry Blyers. The C. P. R. was represented by H. H. McLean, Jr., and W. F. Bailey, of McAdam, district claims agent.

JURY ANSWERS QUESTIONS.

In the case of Mrs. Ann Leaman vs. W. E. A. Lawton before Chief Justice H. A. McKeown yesterday, nine questions of fact were presented to the jury. William R. Scott appeared for the plaintiff and Kelcey and Ross for the defendant.

The following questions were submitted by Chief Justice McKeown:

Q. Was the defendant negligent in

An entirely new kind of soap

A new kind of soap. Made of pure materials combined in such a way that it has more cleansing power than soap has ever had before.

It gently soaks loose the most ground-in dirt without weakening a single thread. Even the worst soiled spots need but a light rubbing with Rinso.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., APRIL 12, 1923. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

KEEP THE FACTS IN MIND.

If it be true that the $2,000,000 of common stock of the New Brunswick Power Company, commonly known as "water," has changed hands—what follows? The water is still there. The capitalization of the Company is still $5,100,000. On that capitalization the Company will want interest and dividends. It can only get them out of the people of St. John.

If the Company could get control of the Musquash current it would at the same time get the city's approval of its capitalization of $5,100,000, on a property the City has declared is not worth more than $2,577,000; and which would proceed to frame a policy by which it would get a return on that capitalization. Having no competition, and having at its head such shrewd gentlemen as Mr. Sanderson and his colleagues, it would find a way. The people of St. John would pay the bill.

It should not surprise anybody that Mr. Sanderson is able to see great prospects ahead for his company if they can get control of the Musquash current. It would probably be about the most attractive proposition the Federal Light and Traction Company has ever taken up, and he could well afford to give bland assurances of a determination to do great things for St. John, if thereby he could gain his ends.

Nobody is attacking Mr. Sanderson. He is doing what any clever representative of a big corporation seeking profits would be expected to do. It is quite different with those citizens of St. John who have allowed themselves to fall into his net, or to be frightened by the specious arguments devised to play upon their fears and call for their co-operation.

The people are gravely told that the whole situation has been changed by transferring the ownership of the common stock. How is it changed? The common stock still exists, and is looking for dividends. Will the people of St. John be made any happier by taking these dividends out of their pockets and sending them to New York, instead of paying them over to St. John men? That is the only real difference.

The chief stock-in-trade of the Power Company advocates in the various civic campaigns since hydro became the issue was that personal aims directed against certain gentlemen holding common stock was at the back of the opposition to the Power Company's schemes. That falsehood will not serve any longer. Some other explanation must be cooked up, in the effort to divert the people's attention from the real issue. It will not serve, however, for the people of St. John are not asleep. Musquash power would enrich the New Brunswick Power Company. Musquash power must be used to enrich the City of St. John. This is a case where the middleman's profits must be cut out for the benefit of the consumer. It can never be done if the Musquash current is handed over to the New Brunswick Power Company.

United States membership in the International Court of Justice has become the most live issue in American politics. With strong administrative support the proposal should carry in due time. The address delivered by Lord Robert Cecil on the League of Nations will have no little effect upon public opinion. The reception given him has been marked by great friendliness, and the press has published very full reports of his speech.

The singing of the Red Flag in the British House of Commons by radical members, does not mean that the Mother of Parliaments is losing her head, but it does seem to indicate the need of bolder leadership than the House has at present. The Hon. Mr. Lawrence has not impressed the country as favorably as his friends anticipated.

Toronto Globe.—Twenty-one unsolved murder mysteries in Ontario during the past four years give an opportunity for a new Sherlock Holmes. Commissioner Thornton may well pray to be delivered from some of his friends.

RUSTLING NOT SEETHING (Bulawayo Chronicle). A Bulawayo man says he has been told by someone who has either heard or read it, that Rhodesia is "seething with unrest." The noise mistaken for "seething" was probably caused by the wind in the meadows which have grown this season as they have seldom grown before, and both Mashonaland and Matabeleland are promised bumper crops, more profitable than hitherto, and more acceptable than agitation.

The Quebec Government is setting Mr. John H. Roberts at liberty. He was to have been kept in jail for a year. This was a case where the Government should have looked before it leaped in the first place.

The very large majority gained by the Progressive candidate in Moose Jaw over his Liberal opponent indicates that the Progressive movement is not yet losing ground in the west. The new leader of the party, Mr. Forke, may well be gratified by the result.

The Marriage Game

The Snappiest of Pastimes As Played to a Decision Every Day

By Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hatton

THE SELF-ABNEGATING SEX.

His Play.—On an average of four days a week for the last two years you have proved to the satisfaction of all and sundry that man is a weak and vain and foolish creature. What a waste of time! There is no need to argue the question, my dear, we men admit it. A man is a vain and pompous and altogether gullible sort of a fellow and he here ought to be a constitutional amendment protecting our sex. From what? From the right of women. Can you conceive any living creature so absurd and so foolish and so gullible as a man in love? And the funny thing about it is that the more substantial citizen he happens to be, the more of a chump he makes of himself when pursuing the object of his fond affection. And yet the superstition still prevails that married men pursue the innocent maiden. What stuff!

Counter-Play.—Nothing like it. If we were as you are a victim, no argument. But you miss the main point entirely. It is quite all right for you to pose and sport of your own gullibility in the pursuit of the tender passion. You fancy how silly and imbecile and idiotic you are when you are in love with a girl. But what happens the moment the other fellow accuses you of the gullibility and the softness and the unjust question? What happens if some other man asserts that you are being made a fool of, that you are a victim, that if that is when you rage and rave and would tear the base accused limb from limb. Isn't it so?

THE SPRING WAS LATE THAT YEAR.

(Elizabeth Scollard in New York Herald). The spring was late that year and April chill yet beautiful, and perhaps, as the poet says, "Eager, we watched the budding daffodil crocus beneath the window sill. And in rough upland pastures saw the snow shrivel in deep hollows, while a stream below swelled to a foaming torrent, which at noon hour rushed where it would; the spring was late and fleet. Swift on its passing came the summer heat. With it you went, ah, faster than the spring!"

Replying to Hon. Mr. Baxter in Parliament yesterday, Hon. Mr. Graham, acting Minister of Railways, intimated that Sir Henry Thornton and the National Railway board had in mind the development of Canadian ports, and announced that he would later submit to Parliament what was proposed, for the encouragement of Canadian ports, saying it was a policy which, Mr. Graham felt confident, would be entirely satisfactory to the House and the country. The people of St. John and Halifax will await the proposals with very deep interest. Waiting is a habit forced upon them by the inaction of "the House and the country." They would like to discard it, as a very undesirable habit. Will Mr. Graham's proposals have that result?

The Hardware Clerks' Association have reiterated their stand in regard to hydro. They express what is in the minds of the citizens at large. Expressions heard by the Times from many quarters every day are a clear indication of what people are thinking. They want action at City Hall, and the completion of the civic distribution system without further delay. They are not for a moment deceived by a venomous propaganda leveled at the Telegraph, Times and Globe in the interest of the New Brunswick Power Company.

United States membership in the International Court of Justice has become the most live issue in American politics. With strong administrative support the proposal should carry in due time. The address delivered by Lord Robert Cecil on the League of Nations will have no little effect upon public opinion. CHARLES NORTON'S ACHIEVEMENT

(Ottawa Journal). Charles D. Norton, a New York banker, when he died, at the age of fifty-two, had so impressed the world with his life that editorials about him appeared in papers in every part of the United States.

Norton was an Oshkosh, Wis., boy. His father was a preacher. He attended Amherst College. After working a while for a magazine he became an insurance man, and had an office in Chicago. At thirty-eight he was assistant secretary of the treasury at Washington, and a year later he was secretary to President Taft. Then he came to New York as vice-president of a bank, and afterward was an officer in many banking, railroad, coal, and oil companies.

It was none of these things, however, that gave him his reputation and made him hundreds of insignificant men all over the country who have done that which he had done.

What made Norton famous was that he had an idea. Any man who will do himself to get hold of by a big idea, may become a great servant of his fellow men. And the greatest of all is the servant of all. Mr. Norton's idea was city planning. First for Chicago, then for New York. Mr. Norton was interested in himself, and interested many strong men in the need for planning a city. He was not a dreamer, and his thought and energy toward making Chicago more beautiful, more comfortable, and more enjoyable, and impressed upon the public the need of seeing that every change made in the city should be for the benefit of the people. The architect, exercised great influence upon Mr. Norton, and the latter's just question was the following from Mr. Burnham: "Make no little plans; they have no magic to stir men's blood, and they will themselves will not be realized. Make big plans; aim high, and hope and work, and you will surprise yourself by devoting the best part of your life to a living dream, asserting itself with growing intensity."

One of the truths that the public mind is slow to see is that the connection with city planning is not in itself a noble thing. The spirit of man is insensibly, but powerfully, influenced by the surroundings. This is particularly true of children, who, as future citizens, are the most important part of our population.

Garish billboards, cluttered back yards, filthy river fronts, ramshackle tenements, and the like, are all things that are not only a disgrace to the city, but are also a hindrance to the child mind. They are depressing. They diminish the joy of life, and they are a hindrance to the life of the citizen. With increased development of the city, we shall have more and more the necessity of all working together for a city beautiful.

CARNARON AND CANADA.

(Toronto Globe).

There is a fine Imperial tradition attached to the name of Carnarvon, and it is a tradition that is being revived. The death of the Earl who discovered the remarkable Egyptian relics in the desert of Upper Egypt, and who has just died spent much time and money in his Egyptian exploration and in the building of the Carnarvon Hotel in London. The late Earl's father, the fourth Earl, was a man of great distinction and was a member of the British North America Act creating the Confederation of the Dominion of Canada. He was a man of great distinction and was a member of the British North America Act creating the Confederation of the Dominion of Canada.

Very Caustic Comment. (Boston Herald). No more trials in the Herrin case. Justice cannot be obtained in Illinois. Justice here are not impartial. Witnesses at great personal risk tell what they saw on the day of the "massacre" only to have their testimony impeached by other witnesses who clearly were testifying falsely. The fact that the jury has acquitted thus far brought to trial; further prosecution is useless. This is the expressed opinion of the Attorney-General of Illinois. He has done his best—and failed.

The country at large will not be surprised by this decision. After this trial and acquittal nobody expected that any of the accused could be convicted. The sequel accords with the sentiments expressed by the people of the region when the reporters first arrived on the scene after the killings. "Foolish! There had been no trouble. A few scabs had dropped dead, that was all." One point in the statement of the Attorney-General is of unusual interest and not generally known. He says that "the verdicts of the trial court, any jurymen who admitted he had an opinion whether the massacre was lawful or unlawful was disqualified," whereas "citizens having an opinion as to the right or wrong of the guilt of the defendants on trial, are not disqualified to act as jurors." If the facts are stated, the public will agree with the Attorney-General.

ANIMALS IN STORMS

(John Burroughs, in Harper's)

I have heard a story of a young artist who, after painting a picture of a horse being driven not satisfied with it, and, feeling that something was wrong, asked Landseer to look at it. THE TOWN THAT FORGOT GOD

The story that Lord Carnarvon's death is due to a curse hurled at him for desecrating the tomb of Tutankhamun recalls the incident of the Elgin Marbles. On his appointment as Ambassador to the Porte in 1799 one of the Earls of Elgin applied to Turkish authorities for leave to have drawings and casts made of some Athenian sculptures. In 1801 he obtained a firman under which he removed numerous pieces from the Parthenon, and had them deposited in the British Museum. For this Lord Byron, as a warm friend of Greece, invoked against him "the curse of Minerva." The defence is that but for their removal

BEGGAR IN DIAMONDS SENT TO WORKHOUSE

Threatened an Importer Who Refused Alms and Sentenced to Six Months.

New York, April 12.—Magistrate Earl A. Smith sentenced William Kothe to six months in the workhouse for begging. Kothe, well dressed, wearing a diamond scarf pin and diamond rings, was accused by William J. Wilgas, living at the Plaza Hotel, an importer and exporter, of gaining access to him in his private office on lower Broadway Saturday morning on the plea that he had business to transact.

Wilgas told the magistrate that Kothe gave him the name of Frank Hauptman, and his appearance was so good that when he asked Wilgas for money he was surprised. When the importer refused, according to the story told in court, Kothe threatened him, and Wilgas called a policeman, who put the beggar under arrest. Kothe pleaded guilty, but told the magistrate that he was unable to work because of poor health.

The Breaking Point

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

She was a good woman, and she wanted her children's happiness more than anything in the world, but she had a faint and sternly repressed feeling of relief when Nina announced her engagement. Nina did it with characteristic sang froid at dinner one night.

"Don't ring for Annie for a minute, mother," she said. "I want to tell you all something. I'm going to marry Leslie Ward."

There had been a momentary pause. Then her father said:

"Just a minute. Is that Will Ward's boy?"

"Yes. He's not a boy."

"Well, he'll come around to see me before there's any engagement. Has that occurred to either of you?"

"Oh, he'll be around. He'd have come tonight, but Howard Moore is having his bachelor dinner. I hope he doesn't look short to pieces tomorrow. These bachelor things—we'd better have a dinner or something, mother, and announce it."

There had been the dinner, with a silver loving cup bought for the occasion, and thereafter to sit out its useless days on the Sheraton sideboard. And there had been a trousseau and a wedding so expensive that a small frown of anxiety had developed between Walter Wheeler's eyebrows and stayed there.

For Nina's passion for things was inherent, persisting after her marriage. She discounted her birthdays and Christmas in advance, coming around to his office a couple of months before the winter holidays and needing something badly.

"It's like this, daddy," she would say. "You're going to give me a check for Christmas anyhow, aren't you? And it would do me more good now. I simply can't go to another ball."

"Where's your trousseau?"

"It's worn out—danced to rags. And out of date, too."

"I don't understand it, Nina. You and Leslie have a good income. Your mother and I—"

"You don't have any social demands. And wedding presents! If one more friend of mine is married—"

He would get out his check-book and write a check slowly and thoughtfully, and tearing it off he would say:

"Now remember, Nina, this is for Christmas. Don't feel aggrieved when the time comes and you have no gift from us."

But he knew that when the time came, Margaret, his wife, would hold out almost to the end, and then slip into a jeweler's and buy Nina something she simply couldn't do without.

It wasn't quite fair, he felt. It wasn't fair to Jim or to Elizabeth. Particularly to Elizabeth.

Sometimes he looked at Elizabeth with a little prayer in his heart, never articulate; that life would be good to her; that she keep her illusions and her dreams; that the soundness and wholesomeness of her might keep her from unhappiness. Sometimes, as she sat reading or sewing, with the light behind her shining through her soft hair, he saw in her purity that was almost radiant.

He was in arms at once a night or two before Dick had invited Elizabeth to go to the theatre, when Margaret Wheeler had said:

"The house was gayer when Nina was at home."

"Yes. And you were pretty sick of it. Full of roasting young idiots, piano and phonograph going at once, pairs of gigglers in the pantry at the refrigerator, pairs on the stairs and on the veranda, cigar-ashes—my cigars—and cigarettes over everything, and more infernal spooning going on than I've ever seen in my life."

He had resumed his newspaper, to put it down almost at once.

"What's that Sayre boy hanging around for?"

"I think he's in love with her, Walter."

"Love? Any of the Sayre tribe? Jim Sayre drank himself to death, and this boy is like him. And Jim Sayre wasn't faithful to his wife. That's why he was begotten."

Margaret Wheeler stared at him.

"Why, Walter?" she said. "He's a nice boy, and he's a gentleman."

"Why? Because he gets up when you come into the room. Why in heaven's name don't you encourage real men to come here? There's Dick Livingstone. He's a man."

Margaret hesitated.

"Walter, have you ever thought there was anything queer about Dick Livingstone's coming here?"

"Darned good for the town that he did come."

"But—nobody ever dreamed that David and Lucy had a nephew. Then he turns up, and they send him to medical college, and all that."

"I've got some relations I haven't notified the town I possess," he said grimly.

"Well, there's something odd. I don't believe Henry Livingstone, the Wyoming brother, ever had a son."

"What possible foundation have you for a statement like that?"

"Cook Morgan's sister-in-law has been visiting her lately. She says she knew Henry Livingstone well years ago in the west, and she never heard he was married. She says positively he was not married."

"And must the Morgan woman to spread the good news," he said with angry sarcasm. "Well, suppose that's true? Suppose Dick is an illegitimate child? That's the worst that's implied. I dare say. That's nothing against Dick himself. I'll tell the world there's good blood on the Livingstone side, anyhow."

A. Ernest Everett, 91 Charlotte

"You were very particular about Wallie Sayre's heredity, Walter."

"That's different," he retorted, and retired into gloomy silence behind his newspaper. Drag these women away from me, he thought, and you'll see how I place in the nation. Don't you forget it, either."

That had comforted her. She had decided never to marry, but to hang around for the rest of her life. She was quite earnest about it, and resolved to do so.

She picked up the blue dress and standing before her mirror, held it up briefly, and went out. He always took a walk when things troubled him. On the Sunday afternoon after Dick had gone, Elizabeth was alone in her room upstairs. On the bed lay the dinner dress, and to which Elizabeth referred as her dark blue. Seen thus, there was a certain nobility about her very simplicity, a steadiness about her eyes that was not to be deceived. "She's the saintly-looking sort that would go on the rocks for some man," Nina had said once, rather sippantly, "and never know she was shipwrecked. No man in the world could do that to me."

But just then Elizabeth looked totally unlike shipwreck. Nothing seemed more like a safe harbor than the Wheelhouse that afternoon, or all the afternoons. Life went on, the comfortable life of an upper middle-class household. Candles and flowers on the table and a neat waitress to serve little, carefully-planned shopping expeditions; fine hand-sewing on sunny undergarments for rainy days; small tributes of books or candy, invitations to choir practice, a class in the Sunday school, a little work among the poor—the volcano which had been Nina over-throwing elsewhere in a smart little house with a butler out on the Ridgely Road. She looked what she was, a small and not uncommon young woman, steady-eyed and serene, not asking greatly but hoping much; full of small unvisualized dreams and little inarticulate prayers; waiting, without knowing that she was waiting.

Sometimes she worried. She thought she ought to "do something." A good many of the girls she knew wanted to do something, but they were vague as to what. She felt at those times that she was not being very useful, and she had gone so far as to lay the matter before her father a couple of years before, when she was just eighteen.

"Just what?" he asked.

"That's it," she said dependently. "I don't know. I haven't any particular talent, you know. But I don't think I ought to go on having you support me in idleness all my life."

"Well, I don't think it likely that I'll have to," he had observed, drily. "But here's the point, and I think it's important. I don't intend to work without some compensation, and my family is my compensation. You just hang around and make me happy, as you do, and you're fulfilling your economic place in the nation. Don't you forget it, either."

That had comforted her. She had decided never to marry, but to hang around for the rest of her life. She was quite earnest about it, and resolved to do so.

"Are you still wearing that shabby old thing?" she demanded. "I do wish you'd get some proper clothes. Are you going somewhere?"

"I'm going to the theatre on Wednesday night."

"Who with?" Nina in her family was highly colloquial.

"With Doctor Livingstone."

"Are you joking?" Nina demanded.

"Joking? Of course not!"

Nina sat down again on the bed, her eyes on her sister, curious and not a little apprehensive.

"It's the first time it's ever happened, to my knowledge," she declared. "I know he's avoided me like poison. I thought he hated women. You know Clare Rosseter is—"

Elizabeth turned suddenly.

"Clare is ridiculous," she said. "She hasn't any reserve, or dignity, or anything else. And I don't see what my going to the theatre with Dick Livingstone has to do with her, anyhow."

Nina raised her carefully plucked eyebrows.

"Really?" she said. "You needn't jump down my throat, you know. She considered, her eyes on her sister. Don't go and throw yourself away on Dick Livingstone, Sis. You're too good-looking, and he hasn't a cent. A suburban practice, out all night, that tumble-down old house and two old people hung around your neck, for Doctor David is letting go pretty fast. It just won't do. Besides, there's a story going the rounds about him that—"

"I don't want to hear it."

She went to the door and opened it. "I've hardly spoken a dozen words to him in my life. But just remember this: When I do find the man I want to marry, I shall make up my own mind. As you did," she added as a parting shot.

"Nina and I were talking. I'm sorry," Wallie, in spite of Walter Wheeler's opinion of him, was an engaging youth with a wide smile, an air of careless well-being, and an obstinate jaw. What he wanted he went after and generally secured, and Elizabeth, enlightened by Nina, began to have a small, anxious feeling that afternoon that what he wanted just now happened to be herself.

"Nina coming down?" he asked.

"I suppose so. Why?"

LORD CURZON DEPLORES "HAWKING" BRITISH TITLES

London, March 22.—(A. P. By Mail)—The hawking of peerages, knight-hoods and other titles, which has periodically shocked the British public, is again engaging the attention of the government, in the House of Lords recently Marquis Curzon said it is the intention of the government to introduce legislation in order to carry out some of the recommendations of the royal commission on honors. He declared grave uneasiness had been excited by the excessive number of new additions to the peerage in recent years. Much suspicion had been created, he said, by the fact that titles in some cases were conferred upon persons whose claims rested solely upon the basis of large political contribution.

The foreign secretary deplored the existence of what he termed "touts" who were engaged in peddling honors to the highest bidder. He referred to this as a deplorable, discreditable and ignominious phenomenon in our public life, which he hoped would be eradicated.

At the last inquiry into the subject of the indiscriminate award of titles, it was disclosed that as high as $100,000 was given for a baronetcy.

THE TOWN THAT FORGOT GOD

It seems incredible that in 1919 $500,000 more was spent for chewing gum in Massachusetts than was expended for all the state-supported schools. This is doubtless a fair annual record.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

A late despatch from Dublin tells of the arrest of Maude Gonne MacBride, one of the most active of the women Republicans.

The General Electric Co. has announced a general advance in wages at West Lynn, Pittsfield, Schenectady, N. Y., and elsewhere. Over 80,000 workmen will be benefited.

Fire insurance rates on Roman Catholic churches and institutes have been increased from thirty-five to fifty per cent. according to a notification received by insurance men in Ottawa yesterday. Recent heavy losses and fear of future loss is the reason given for the increase.

Miss Hilda DeLong of Centerville has been declared winner of the Observer, Ltd.'s subscription contest and has been named "Miss Carleton." She also won the right to a trip to Montreal, Toronto and Niagara. Miss Fern McDougall of Hartland was the winner of the second prize $100, and Mrs. Fred Grey of Hartland, third prize, $75.

An increase expected to amount to about ten per cent. will go into effect in the mills of the International Paper Company on Sunday next, according to P. T. Dodge, the president. This will affect about 20,000 employes in Canada and the United States, Mr. Dodge said, and has been decided on account of increased living costs.

It seems incredible that in 1919 $500,000 more was spent for chewing gum in Massachusetts than was expended for all the state-supported schools. This is doubtless a fair annual record.

Third Generation is Using Syrup Pepsin

No other Laxative can replace Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin in the confidence of those who use it.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE
Thousands of parents are asking "How can I find a truly worthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipation strikes?" To try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin, I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 21 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Mr. Henry Rucker, Chipewyan, Ont., says it is the best medicine they have ever used, and Mrs. M. Martin of Massey, Ont., uses it herself and recommends it to her friends. There is scarcely a day that someone in a family does not need it for constipation, flatulency, indigestion, biliousness, intestinal cramps, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. The formula is on the package. As the popularity of this natural vegetable laxative increases, the public discards the harsher physics like calomel, castor oil in a form, salt-waters and powders. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin empties the bowels more cleanly and without any danger.

Itching Intense. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"Eczema broke out on my body in small pimples with white heads. At first there were just a few, but they quickly spread, causing intense itching and discomfort. My clothing seemed to aggravate the breaking out, and I could not sleep well at night.

"A friend gave me a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used them. I got relief so quick, and after using one cake of Soap and one box of Ointment it was healed." (Signed) Miss Maybelle Brett, Pullman, Wash.

NEAR COLLISION IN THE HARBOR

Manchester Liner Swings Almost Against Empress —Motor Boat is Sunk.

A motor launch belonging to Edward Doherty, a local ship line man, was lost and a collision between the Manchester Producer and the bay steamer Empress was narrowly averted last evening about 6:15 o'clock while the Producer was being moved from Pettingill's wharf to No. 18 berth. The motor boat was at the Empress wharf, tied to a ladder close to the bow of the Empress, while Mr. Doherty was working on the Manchester Producer. After the ship's lines had been cast off, the two tugs working with her, the Empress, started to move away from the wharf. In some way the big ship got out of position and the latter was tied up at her own wharf. When the danger was seen the freighter's engines were started, and she made her way out of danger, but not before she had struck the motor boat and her propeller had torn it badly and sunk it.

Mr. Doherty was on the wharf when the ship commenced to move, and made a jump into his boat in an effort to get it out of the way. He was unable to do any good, however, and was forced to climb the ladder to the Empress when the Producer struck. The motor, he said, would prove a total loss. He had no insurance and his loss, he said, would amount to about $1,000. Mr. Doherty added that a collision between the two steamers was averted by a very narrow margin and that his boat was probably the saving factor.

A STAUNCH CRAFT IN STRANGE SEAS

News of a disaster, not a marine disaster, but one in which a mariner cut the leading figure, came to a Times reporter through shipping circles yesterday. The mariner is a well known local skipper and his adventures on the stormy seas of Prince William street proved amusing to friends who happened to be in the neighborhood. It appears that this captain, who by the way, was built on generous lines, was coming out of a drug store in Prince William street on Wednesday afternoon when he had the misfortune to bump rather heavily into a lady whom he had not seen. She was apparently as unprepared for a collision and the force of it knocked her completely off her feet. The gallant skipper, although momentarily taken aback by the damage he had caused, immediately rushed to pick the lady up and restore her shattered dignity. Here was where misfortune played her second card against the mariner. While stooping to assist the lady he slipped and himself fell heavily, one of his feet striking against one of the lady's and knocking her shoe off.

He rose, still more flustered, and turned the second time to speak to the unfortunate victim of the accident in an effort to make amends for the trouble and embarrassment he had caused her. Again, however, his look-out failed to warn him of approaching danger, and again he crashed. The Fates played against him here, too, for this person was also a lady and was also unprepared for the shock with which the captain bumped her. She met with the same fate as did the first lady and was knocked off her feet. At this point the Times informant left, as he wished to spare the worthy captain the embarrassment of knowing that one of his friends had witnessed the scene.

TWO NEW BERTHS AT SOUTH END

Visit of City and Railway Officials—Do Away With Reed's Point Trestle.

L. S. Brown, general manager of the eastern division of the C. N. R., accompanied by T. H. Bullock, Commissioner of Harbors, and L. R. Ross, terminal agent of the C. N. R. here, this morning inspected the site of the proposed fill between Reed's Point wharf and the Atlantic Sugar Refinery wharf. According to this proposal, the present trestle, which now will take only light engines and freight loads, will be eliminated and the construction will make provision for two additional deep water berths, the extension of the grain conveyors from the C. N. R. elevator, and additional trackage area for the railway.

Commissioner Bullock said after the inspection that if the C. N. R. did not carry out the proposed work, he would recommend the extension of the wharf on the Charlotte street extension as far as to provide for the installation of a new railway spur.

Mr. Brown also visited the site of the railway tracks in Water street, where Mr. Brown looked into the matter of the settlement of the question of upping of the supports for these tracks. According to the city engineer and city solicitor, Mr. Bullock said, the responsibility for the upping rested with the railway, while the C. N. R. engineer disagreed with this claim. Mr. Bullock has been pressing the railway for settlement for some time without result.

Mr. Brown was a guest of the board of trade at a luncheon at the Union Club today at noon. Mayor Fisher was present as representative of the city.

DOUBLE HIS LIGHT; YET SAVE MONEY

Proprietor of Big Business House Sees in Civic Hy- dro Solution of His Illu- mination Problem.

There is a proprietor of a large business establishment in St. John who is one of the large consumers of electric current for lighting in the city. During the last few years he has felt the pinch of increasing the cost of his premises, but felt that even with the reduction of January 1, he was not able to pay only about $21, and he can double his illumination of the better illumination.

When he was approached by a hydro canvasser and it was demonstrated that he could get the current from the City Commission for less than half the amount he is now charged, he was so satisfied in glowing terms. However, instead of planning to save half the present cost by using the hydro, he has decided to double his present installation, for which he will pay less than he is now charged, and still have the advantage of the better illumination.

The average consumption in this plant is about 770 kilowatt hours a month, for which the present charge is in the vicinity of $22. Using the same amount of current under hydro rates, this citizen will be required to pay only about $21, and he can double his illumination for between $41 and $42 a month, thus saving $10 from his present cost for half the amount of current.

Good Year for the S. E. Improvement League Reported

A meeting of the South End Improvement League was held last evening at the Boys' Club, with the president, James H. Hamilton, in the chair. It was decided to have a closer entertainment for the club on next Thursday evening, the boys themselves to provide the program. It will be a free entertainment showing the progress made in physical culture under Mr. Strachan's direction, and many visitors, including parents of boys, are expected to attend.

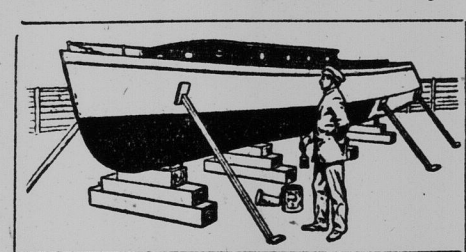

Ray Cameron resigned as chairman of the grounds committee, and a hearty vote of thanks for his service for two years was extended. The president paid a very warm tribute to Mr. Cameron, telling of his constant presence on the grounds, summer and winter, and said it would be very hard to get a successor who would give as much time and zeal to the work. The grounds committee will meet and elect a new chairman.

The president reported the league in a good financial position with a small surplus at the end of its year. As the annual meeting will be held next month, A. M. Belding, Alex. Wilson and S. A. Payne were appointed a nominating committee.

BUTTER DECLINES IN MONTREAL

(Montreal Gazette, Wednesday.)
The butter market, on the whole, was decidedly weak, which was attributed principally to the heavy receipts for the period of the week, indicating that factory men throughout the country have been producing all the butter possible on account of the high prices that have prevailed of late. The decline in prices yesterday caused a loss of 2c to 3c per lb., with fresh-made fudder creamery offering at 40c to 41c per lb., and the indications were that prices would go still lower in the near future. The demand for supplies continues to be very light, and the volume of business was small. In a wholesale jobbing way prices were reduced 4c per lb. by finest creamery selling at 42c per lb. in solid packages, and at 41c per lb. in 1-lb. blocks, and dealers stated that even at this level the sales were light.

Saint John Will Again Enjoy Lower Prices

Scale for "Knighthood" Picture at Imperial Less Than Elsewhere—Next Week. The scale of prices to obtain at Imperial Theatre next week during the exhibition of the masterpiece production "When Knighthood Was in Flower" will be slightly increased over the prevailing schedule, namely 50c, and 50c at night and 25c, and 35c, in the afternoon. This extra charge is necessary to make possible the showing of an expensive feature and give the larger cities where "Knighthood" has played the prices have ranged much higher, the American scales running to 82. Nothing the Imperial has brought to its silver screen equals the magnificence and splendor of the English historical romance to begin Monday, March 27, at 7:30. Besides the English historical romance to begin Monday, March 27, at 7:30. Besides the English historical romance to begin Monday, March 27, at 7:30.

MORE CAPTURES BY FREE STATERS ARE REPORTED

London, April 12.—It is reported in Clonmel that Count Plunkett, Countess Markievicz, Miss Mary McSwiney and the late Liam Lynch's brothers, among others, were captured by Irish National Volunteers in Tipperary today, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from London. Dublin, April 12.—The Free State government publishes further captured correspondents including a report sent to Liam Lynch, late chief of staff of the Irregulars, by a principal lieutenant, saying that the capture of the news had not been encouraging, and "there had been no decent operations whatever."

BRITAIN JOINS PROTEST AGAINST THE CONCESSIONS

(Canadian Press) London, April 12.—Great Britain joins in an energetic protest against the Turkish Nationalists' certain concessions in Anatolia to U. S. interests headed by Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, in these concessions are found to embrace the Mosul oil fields. It is generally believed here that in its present form the Chester agreement with the Nationalists is a concession to the original Turco-American chief of the Turkish Nationalists. The present U. S. plan is concerned chiefly with the opening up of Anatolia by way of the railway system and the granting, as payment, of property rights upon a large scale.

A BASKETBALL MATTER

In conversation with a Times reporter today, W. E. Stirling, physical director and secretary of the Y. M. C. I. said that it was not the Y. M. C. I. Intermediate team which had played the High School basketball team last night but that it was only a scratch team of a gradually bettered team that they were playing together for the purpose of not disappointing the basketball fans. He said that owing to the refusal to play for the provincial Intermediate title, the Y. M. C. I. boys did not play their regular team on the floor but played spars and at least one spare from the High School team, Mr. Stirling said further that the Y. M. C. I. Intermediates would play the High School team on the floor at least one game, point score to count, for the title.

HALTS PANIC AS SMOKE POURS IN

Youths in Basement of a Church Short-Circuited a Motion Picture Machine. New York, April 12.—The Rev. Dr. G. Takaro prevented a panic in his church today by the use of a fire extinguisher when smoke poured from the basement into the auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church of New York City, 348 East Sixty-ninth Street. The service was drawing toward its close when Louis Garon, a member of the church, who has learned to operate a small moving picture machine for entertainment, went to the basement with three other young men to look at the machine. Garon returned to the church service, but the other three began experimenting with the machine, pulling on the electric switch in the wall in such a way that the machine was short-circuited and began to burn. One of them, Francis Konec, Jr., was shocked by the current and was taken to his home. When the current was smelted some smoke arising from the basement had advised the congregation not to get excited and to proceed toward the fire exit.

B., April 12.—Provision for increased borrowing powers for the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, so that development of the Grand Falls on the St. John River will not be held up during recess if it is decided to proceed with it, will be made through an amendment now before the legislature, Premier Veniot said today. The amount has been definitely fixed, but will probably not exceed $1,000,000.

PROMISES ABOLITION OF LIQUOR WAREHOUSES

In the Legislature yesterday Premier Veniot said that the liquor export warehouses in the provinces would in all probability be abolished before the end of the fiscal year. He said the proprietors would have to be given an opportunity of disposing of their stocks. Furthermore, he said, the Province would have a large surplus of liquor which would be sold to the provinces which would bring about one general provincial tax to provide the $1,500,000 necessary to pay school teachers' salaries. He said he wanted the matter considered at the next session of the Legislature and said it was the fairest method of preventing undue burden upon the poorer districts.

HYDRO IS POPULAR IN MONCTON;
CONSUMPTION IN MARCH EXCEEDS
AVERAGE MAXIMUM ANTICIPATED

Power Company advocates, who have been claiming that St. John will never use more than 10,000,000 kilowatt hours per year and that consumption will not increase here, will not find much comfort in the fact that the city of Moncton used approximately 600,000 kilowatt hours for the month of March. This is in excess of consumption from the former system supplying this city and if this average is maintained, it can be seen that Moncton will use all of the 7,000,000 contracted for—and more, also.

Major McAvity, chairman of the Civic Power Commission, informed the Common Council recently that already nearly 5,000,000 k. w. h. had been contracted for. Large firms in the city have agreed to take 2,000,000 and then double that next year. When the city is distributing 6,000,000 k. w. h., he said, the municipal distribution system would be self-supporting.

Hardware Clerks Association Call Upon Common Council to Proceed With Election of Distribution System.

Opposition to any agreement by which the control of the distribution of the Musquash power would pass out of the hands of the city and an urgent call to the Common Council to proceed at once with the election of a civic distribution system was expressed in a resolution passed at a largely attended meeting of the Hardware Clerks' Association in the Y. M. C. A. last night. T. A. Ramsay presided at the meeting. The hydro situation was discussed thoroughly and the secretary said afterwards that there was nothing to give out yet in regard to recall proceedings.

Tentative plans for a district camp for all the Boy Scout troops of the St. John district were discussed at an informal dinner given last evening in the Union Club by the district council. Timberley, district secretary.

Michigan Aroused by Disclosures of Fraud and Immorality.

May Revoke Charter—Old Customs and Peculiar Social Life in Cult Brought Out—Purnell Claimed Immortality.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 11.—The mysterious disappearance of Benjamin Purnell, the long-haired, bearded "seventh messenger angel of the Kingdom of God," following sensational charges against him, may mean the end of the Israelite House of David, the queer religious cult of which he is the founder and the head.

"King" Benjamin, as he is known here, has been missing for some time. Meanwhile all Michigan is aroused with indignation at the disclosures made at recent hearings in Grand Rapids, and the state is trying to revoke the charter of the institution. Among the civil actions pending against the "King" is one started by former members of his colony, who are demanding $80,000 for the property they turned over to Purnell when they entered the colony and for services rendered while they were members.

The fundamental doctrines of the House of David are based on the teachings of Mrs. Southcott, an English woman, who in 1792 based a religious faith upon excerpts from the Scriptures, especially the seventh and eighth chapters of the Book of Revelation. She wrote a book called "The Flying Roll" which was a large folio, and was regarded in two lights by the people of England, some holding it as a prophet and others as a fanatic. The sect known as "The Holy Rollers" are an offshoot of her teachings.

each of the twelve tribes, or 144,000 in all, who will follow the angel and with him win immortality, not merely immortality of the spirit, but also of the body, as a line of prophets from Mrs. Southcott down to Purnell have emphasized. Immortality of the body means, Purnell teaches, that men and women will live forever in this world as men and women, instead of going to a heaven where there are only souls without bodies. Immortality of the body, it is taught, is reserved solely for the 144,000 Israelites, who are to be chosen because of having lived a life of celibacy, self-denial and abnegation, as a reward for which they will be allowed to enjoy all the pleasures of life after the resurrection so no one has ever tasted them before.

None of the first six "angels" claimed immortality, but Purnell does. He prescribes that he is the seventh angel, fourth, fifth and sixth "messenger angels" were Richard Brothers, George Turner, William Shaw, John Roe and James Jezreel. All of them lived and died in England, but Jezreel came to this country and won some converts here.

Vienna, March 17.—(A. P. by Mail)—Austria presents a brighter picture today than at any time since the war. The crown is steadily appreciating in value, unemployment is lessening, the cost of living is falling, and the spirit of the population is improving. The allied loan apparently has ushered in a new era for a people which has suffered bitterly during the last 10 years.

WOMEN'S SURVEY SHOWS WORK IS PITFALL TO LOVE

Listed as Chief Cause of Unhappiness by Those Engaged in Occupations Outside of Their Homes.

(New York Tribune)
There is discouragement for the busy women in the findings of the Bureau of Social Hygiene, which recently interrogated 1,000 women, chiefly college graduates, on intimate questions of love and marital happiness. It was found that "unhappiness" was most often listed where married women were engaged in occupations outside the home.
Of 369 women who were teachers before marriage, 24.9 per cent. continued or returned to their vocation after marriage. Of this number 28 per cent. described themselves as unhappily married. Among twenty-six physicians who filled in the questionnaire, 92.3 per cent. practiced medicine after marriage and 20.8 per cent. were acutely unhappy, chiefly because of their inability to adjust their work to the demands of married life.
The leading reason given for unhappiness in married life was incompatibility of temperament or interest. At this came the following causes: difficulties of adjustment, economic reasons, unfaithfulness, alcoholism, lack of children, insufficient love, violent and uncontrolled temper, religious differences, disparity in age, "too much mother-in-law," ill health, cruelty, too many children and drug addiction.
Many Disparities in Age.
Only three mentioned disparity in age, yet a comparison of the ages of husband and wife in individual questionnaires revealed a considerable number of cases where the difference was marked. Fourteen women said they were unhappy from economic reasons although 228 owned up to contributing to the family budget by work outside their homes. The average age of the women who said they were happy proved to be thirty-seven years and of those who were miserable forty-two.
Five hundred answers have reached the bureau so far from the unmarried women, who received a slightly less searching questionnaire. The finished analysis will be published in "The Journal of Social Hygiene" when the returns are in, but a preliminary study has been made of the first 500 to answer. The youngest was twenty-two and the oldest sixty-six years.
More than 800 were graduates of women's colleges and 122 of co-educational colleges or universities.
Out of 800 single women, 82 confessed to being unhappy, 97 to finding their life as a whole unsatisfactory and 66 to being unsuccessful. The chief cause of unhappiness is summed up as "too much routine" no chance for complete self-expression.
The chief interests outside their occupation were listed in the following sequence: Outdoor sports, reading, music, social contacts, family, church and religion, social betterment or philanthropy, theatre and travel. At the very end of the list came housekeeping, for which only 65 out of 800 appeared to have any liking.

The women questioned included 883 teachers, 30 social service workers, 38 librarians, 82 secretaries and 16 girls engaged in administrative work.
Twenty-four per cent. had had nervous breakdowns and an additional forty-three women admitted that they came near to this form of collapse.
Other questions asked were: Have you lost time from school or work because of ill-health? Are you inclined to worry? Is your present occupation absorbing and satisfactory? Particulars of ill-health?
Under the heading of "worry," 38 per cent. answered unqualifiedly in the affirmative. Fifteen per cent. said they worried a little and 61 per cent. said they worried not at all. A formidable list of 207 academic degrees goes with the names of the 800 unwept women questioned.
"We've only scratched the surface so far," said Dr. Catherine Benet Davis yesterday. "We intend to carry this much further. The need for more adequate data as to both the physical and the mental facts of the sex life of the normal individual is now generally recognized by psychologists, psychiatrists and students among medical men, as well as by those whose interests lie in the practical fields of social hygiene. We expect teachers, parents and educators to use the data we collect. In course of time we will send similar questionnaires to college men."
On the co-operating committee on inquiry, in addition to Dr. Davis, are: Mrs. Elmer Blair, of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, of the American Social Hygiene Association; Mrs. Edith Houghton Hooker, of Baltimore; Dr. Susan Kingsbury, of Bryn Mawr; Dr. Elizabeth Spencer McCall, of Bryn Mawr; Dr. Valeria H. Parker, of the Women's Christian Temperance Union; Dr. Ellen C. Potter, Department of Public Welfare, Pennsylvania; Dr. Edith Hale Swift, American Social Hygiene Association; Dr. Jessie Taft, of Philadelphia; and Dr. Helen Thompson Woolley, of Detroit.

Baltimore Passes Boston Population

Several U. S. Cities Have Displaced Big Rivals
Washington, April 12.—Several changes in the relative size of the larger United States cities are indicated by new census bureau figures prepared on the assumption that growth conditions prevailing in 1920 in the various localities are continuing.
The new estimates show that eight of the fifty largest municipalities have replaced their nearest rivals and the two have been shoved out of the fifty largest class. New York is shown to be approaching closely the 6,000,000 mark; Chicago is not far from the 5,000,000 mark; Philadelphia is nearing 2,000,000, and Detroit is near to 1,000,000. There have been no changes in the rank of the first six largest cities.
Baltimore has gone ahead of Boston, and now ranks as the seventh largest city of the country. Los Angeles has passed Pittsburgh, and taken ninth rank. San Francisco has grown larger than Buffalo, and goes into eleventh place. Minneapolis has outgrown two cities, Cincinnati and New Orleans, and now is sixteenth.
Woman Is Not Stopped When Custom Agent Recognizes Trunket
New York, April 12.—When a customs agent started to examine the baggage of Miss Mary Lewis of Pompton Lakes, N. J., a passenger on the Grace liner Santa Luisa docking from Valparaiso, he noted what appeared to be a necklace of coral beads on her wrist. His move to examine it was met by a counter move of the "bracelet," and he jumped back several feet.
"Don't be afraid," Miss Lewis said. "It's Rodolphe my pet coral snake."
Rodolphe, a delicate pink, was about three feet long. While coral snakes are said to be poisonous, Miss Lewis affirmed that Rodolphe was lacking in such qualities. She said she would train the pet to replace a watchdog which had died.

WOMAN SHOT AS GUN FALLS

Heel Blown Off As She Hits Custom With Mop.
New York, April 12.—Narrowly escaping death, Mrs. Sophia Feuss of Yonkers, had her left heel blown off by upsetting a loaded shotgun and exploding the cartridge while mopping the floor in her home.
The shotgun, which was kept loaded, belonged to her husband, who runs a store on the floor below. The store was robbed some time ago and Feuss kept the shotgun loaded to be prepared to give battle to burglars if they appeared again. Mrs. Feuss accidentally struck the gun and toppled it over. It went off with a loud explosion and she fainted. She was found with a portion of her left heel shot away. Dr. Muligan of St. Joseph's Hospital treated her there.

TOO MANY THRILLS FOR CHILDREN

(London Daily Mail)
Twenty years ago the commonest type of patient among children usually suffered from some organic disease, such as bronchitis, dyspepsia, measles, scarlet fever, and the like. But nowadays the majority of young patients in any doctor's consulting-room are the victims of nervous disorders of a functional nature.
These ailments are due not to the invasion of the body of microbes or to any variable change in the internal organs, but to a want of balance or control of the nervous system.
Diseases such as St. Vitus' dance, hysteria and epilepsy are far commoner among children than they used to be, and far commoner than they ought to be.
In a minor form, mental instability is seen in such prevalent disorders as sleeplessness, night-terrors, stammering, restlessness and violent outbursts of temper.
Children born within the past eight years have been conceived and nurtured in the midst of great emotional strain and excitement on the part of their parents. To many a young child there has been bequeathed thereby an inheritance of nervous instability which its parents are at a loss to understand.
Their ignorance and consequent neglect of this disability are laying the foundation of numerous functional disorders that will make for much misery and ill-health in the future.
The "Children's Age," with all that it implies, is a potent factor in the production of nervous disorders among present-day children.
The greater attention paid to individuality tends to foster a precocious egotism. At the same time, the growing child cannot but be infected with the restless, pleasure-seeking spirit of its age.
The result is that the plastic and impressionable brain is over-stimulated. While a visit to a circus or a pantomime used to be an event to be remembered and discussed for months afterwards, to the blasé child today it brings only the mildest of thrills. He gets too many thrills.
No case without its effect. Sooner or later the over-taxed brain can stand no more, and the unhappy child develops disorders that attack the over-wrought nervous system.

THE BLACK HAND IN ONTARIO

Head of Provincial Police Tells of Activities.
Toronto, April 12.—In the annual report of the provincial police department tabled in the Legislature (General V. A. S. Williams, commissioner of police, declares that during the last year there have been conclusive signs that Black Hand organizations of foreign countries have extended their activities to Canada. It is safe to assert, says General Williams, that along the Niagara border there are secret organizations of foreign origin which stir for objects which are not in keeping with British ideals or British law and order.
There have been murders in Lewiston, Beverley Swamp, Niagara Falls, the Welland Canal, Brantford and Oakville, all in the district in which the commissioner believes the Black Hand exists, and the murders cannot be separated from the secret societies. He suggests that foreigners be compelled to carry registration cards which would not only serve as identification cards but also carry a record of behavior. The strength of the provincial police is 194. The criminal figures given show sixteen cases of murder; 538 O. T. A. cases, and others. The revenue from fines was $638,468, and the cost of maintenance of the force $889,894.
TO RESTORE NIGHTLY SERVICE TO HALIFAX
The nightly C. N. R. train service between St. John and Halifax will be resumed on May 13, according to L. S. Brown, general manager of the eastern division of the railway. Mr. Brown gave this assurance to a delegation headed by Mayor Fisher which greeted him on his arrival in the city yesterday afternoon. Other members of the delegation were R. E. Armstrong, D. W. Ledingham, M. E. Agar, W. C. Allison, E. A. Schofield and J. F. Gregory, of the Board of Trade.

Mr. Brown said that the new station would not be erected this year but would be considered in the near future. Mr. Brown will leave this afternoon for Prince Edward Island in connection with a proposal to make some of the tracks there standard gauge.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE MONEY AND STOCK MARKETS TODAY

BUILDING, LIVE STOCK AND THE TREND OF PRICES

(Bank of Commerce Circular)
During March many building permits were issued, particularly in the larger cities of the Dominion. There are indications, however, that the actual value will not reach the large total of 1922. Contractors are beginning to experience difficulty in securing mortgage loans on dwellings, and in consequence the legal restrictions to which the building industry is subjected should be relaxed. The value of the building permits issued during February was considerably higher than in the preceding month, and also than during February, 1922. In fifty-six cities the permits represented proposed expenditures of $4,744,474, as compared with $3,705,286 in January, and $4,201,955 in February last year.

REVISION OF THE PSALMS OF DAVID

Recommendation by Committee of House of Bishops in England.

London, March 20.—(A. P. By Mail)

Drastic changes and elisions in the "Psalms of David" in the Book of Common Prayer are recommended by the special committee of the House of Bishops which has been sitting in solemn convocation on the subject for many months. The alterations, if sanctioned by the National Assembly of the Church of England, will constitute an alternative text of the psalms to be used at the discretion of ministers. The proposed revision of the prayer book includes also the shortening of the ten commandments and the alteration of the marriage service. The psalmist's vision of the world is depicted in a more realistic and less idealistic manner. It contains such expressions as: "Break their teeth, O God, in their mouths, let them fall away like water that runneth apart. Let them come away like a snail. The righteous shall rejoice when he seeth the vengeance; he shall wash his footsteps in the blood of the ungodly." Verses are to be left out from eight other psalms, and in each case the alterations are for death and condemnation, as, for example, in psalm 109, verses 9 and 10. "Let his children be fatherless and his wife a widow. Let his children be vagabonds and beg their bread." No fewer than 346 alterations are suggested in the wording of the verses of various psalms. A comparison of the revised version with the old text in a selection of these alterations is given below. In each instance the revised version is given first:

Psalm 37, Verse 20: "As for the ungodly they shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be as the smoke that they consume away." "As for the ungodly they shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be as the fat of lambs; yea, even as the smoke shall they consume away."

Psalm 62, Verse 9: "The children of men are deceitful, their balance is false; they are but vanity, the children of men are deceitful; tried in the balance they are altogether lighter than vanity itself."

Psalm 72, Verse 6: "He shall come down like the rain upon the tender grass; even as the drops that water the earth."

Psalm 109, Verse 9: "Let his children be fatherless and his wife a widow. Let his children be vagabonds and beg their bread."

Psalm 109, Verse 10: "Let his children be fatherless and his wife a widow. Let his children be vagabonds and beg their bread." "Let his children be fatherless and his wife a widow. Let his children be vagabonds and beg their bread." "Let his children be fatherless and his wife a widow. Let his children be vagabonds and beg their bread."

GOT SO WEAK SHE FELL IN TRACKS

Toronto Lady Says Stomach Trouble Causes Collapse—Gives Tanlac Full Credit for Recovery.

"I don't believe I'd be alive today to tell of my recovery if I hadn't taken the Tanlac treatment when I was only 21 years of age. I feel so grateful that if I could I would go from house to house and tell everybody about this wonderful medicine." This is the grateful statement made the other day by Mrs. Josephine Brathwaite, 13 Bright St., Toronto, Ont.

"Seven years ago my health began to decline, and I think that it was only had Tanlac then what a world of suffering I would have missed. Broth and toast would not do me any good, and at times became so weak and dizzy I actually fell in my tracks. "But now I am enjoying splendid health. My appetite is wonderful, I haven't a sign of my old troubles, and I have gained 15 pounds. Tanlac has been an untold blessing to me, and I will always praise it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 35-million bottles sold.

CHARGE HE FORGOT WIFE IN IRELAND

Immigrant is Arrested on a Charge of Bigamy.

London, April 12.—James Hickey, who came to this country about four years ago, and has been employed as a farm hand at Massena Centre for five years, represented himself as a married man with a wife and four children in Ireland when he passed through the hands of immigration officers. In February he secured a marriage licence before the Rev. John Joseph Fish, of Massena, and has now been arrested on a charge of bigamy. It is said that he kept up correspondence with his wife in Ireland until a year ago, and recently a letter was received from her, and stating that she was still living and making a woman at Massena Centre making inquiry about her husband, and stating that she had a son and a daughter. He has been held in jail of $300 to await the action of the next grand jury.

The collapse of Dyer marks the fifth of the convicted fish men to need medical treatment since being taken to Deer Island. It was said that Dyer, who volunteered to take charge of the dairy, has been very nervous and taking his imprisonment very much to heart. The officials expressed the belief when Dyer was removed that he had suffered from a "nervous collapse."

SHOOT AT OWL, HIT AUTO.

Three Young Sportsmen Give Milkman a Lively Fusillade. New Rochelle, N. Y., April 12.—"Pipers" have been called all sorts of names—depending upon the occasion—so far as the police have been able to learn it is the first time on record that one had been mistaken for an owl and shot at. The gunners, too, were good shots, but fortunately did not wound the driver of the driver, although they made the hood look very much like a sieve.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Have no equal as a remedy to strengthen the heart, invigorate the nerves and build up the run-down system. Mrs. C. Vanhorn, Eskville, Ala., writes:—"About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't dare leave me alone. I was so nervous and shaky. I was so nervous and shaky. I was so nervous and shaky."

HE HAD BEEN SICK FOR A LONG TIME

John Berzewski Says: "Use Dodd's Kidney Pills." Saskatchewan Man Is Now Able to Work as Well as Ever. Rington, Pits, Sask., April 11.—(Special)—"I have been suffering for some time from pains in the back and rheumatism brought about by a cold," states Mr. Berzewski, a resident of this place. "My head and neck were stiff and I was always tired and nervous. I took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me a lot of good. I can now do my work as well as I ever could."

UNDERWEIGHT A DANGER SIGNAL

See How to Test Your Weight and How Ironized Yeast Gives Both Health and Strength. If you do not weigh as much as you should, it means that you are lacking in body vigor and the thickness and weakness can fatten a foal on you without giving you much chance to fight. Figure your proper weight as follows: A person five feet in height ought to weigh 110 pounds. For every inch you are over five feet in height, add 2 1/2 pounds. Thus, if you are five feet six inches in height, your normal weight should be 110 pounds, plus six times 2 1/2, which is 148 pounds.

If this test shows that you are underweight, begin at once to take Ironized Yeast, the highly concentrated yeast from the famous "Baker's Ale" in England, which has been recognized for generations and prescribed by physicians for the entire world for men, women and children who are underweight. Ironized Yeast also contains iron, and is a healthful food for men, women and children who are underweight. YOU CAN HAVE IT, TOO.

INTERNATIONAL KINDERGARTEN UNION APRIL 16

Meetings in Pittsburgh to Continue Until 20th—Mrs. A. F. Robinson of Sussex May Attend. (From The April Kindergarten Magazine)

The International Kindergarten Union will meet this year in Pittsburgh, Pa., April 16-20. In Pittsburgh, as in St. John, the kindergartens were started by women who wished to give the children the joy and development of kindergarten experience. Training classes were held at once to insure trained workers and before long a kindergarten college was established. Early in the career of Pittsburgh, legislation was secured to allow the use of public funds for kindergartens. The movement spread rapidly and some funds were appropriated by the school board and the association responsible for their disbursement.

In 1918 the Board of Public Education took over the whole system of kindergartens and gave the kindergarten a salary ranging from $8 to $90 a month. The kindergarten association, while relinquishing control and management of the kindergartens, did not relinquish its place in the life of the child and the teacher and is still doing supplementary work. Helping to clothe the poor, looking after excursions for the children, and holding luncheons, helping with mothers meetings, the members of the association are a very pleasant help.

From one kindergarten started 20 years ago the work has grown so, today there are more than 9 kindergartens employing 176 kindergarten teachers and assistants with a supervisor and a director. The department of the training school graduates each year a class of twenty or more who are absorbed into the city system. The kindergartens have morning sessions daily. Three afternoons the teachers have their meetings, home visiting or conference classes; the other afternoons being devoted to work in the primary grades—stories—music—handwork, etc.

The salaries have advanced to a minimum of $1,200 a year. The kindergarten department in Pittsburgh receives fine co-operation from the other departments of the school system. The manual training department this year made twenty-five hundred dollars for the kindergartens. Christmas, the lumber being furnished by the Junior Red Cross, salvaged from the city system, and the kindergartens receiving a valuable lesson in thrift.

The music in the kindergartens is supervised by the music department. All who go to Pittsburgh are invited to visit and see what the facilities are in this department of education and what are the accomplishments.

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes—"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about. I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am real well now. I shall always keep a box of the Nerve Food in the house, and recommend them to my friends; they are a wonderful medicine." (Mr. J. W. Vinco, Druggist of Madoc, Ont., says: "I have sold Mrs. Hocking your Nerve Food, and the medicine has done her much good.")

I Feel Like Am Living In a New World, Says Mrs. Alfred Nehiley

Mrs. Alfred Nehiley, of 86 Argyle Street, Sydney, N.S., is representative of the many thousands of home-loving Canadian women who, from their devotion to their household duties, have found themselves gradually becoming careworn and run down in health. It is in such cases as these that Dreo, the great body builder, is particularly effective and it is so with Mrs. Nehiley. Her story of the wonderful relief this good medicine gave her is printed here so that other women may read and profit by it.

"I suffered from asthma, bronchitis and shortness of breath," says Mrs. Nehiley. "I suffered for two years from heaviness in the stomach and from gastritis. I couldn't possibly sleep and felt tired out. I couldn't do my own housework and was constantly taking medicine but it seems my money was thrown away. I was terribly dizzy and everything would turn black before my eyes."

"The strain of coughing caused terrible pains in the back of my head. Constipation was chronic and I was always taking a laxative. Quick sounds would cause nervous spells and I would eat nothing but toast and a little tea. "After three bottles of Dreo, I feel like I was living in a new world. I feel like a new woman. Dreo is surely a wonderful medicine, the most wonderful I have ever known. I can go to sleep peacefully, my water troubles have disappeared and I have no pains through my body. I have a fine appetite and never feel tired from the exertion of doing my housework. I have gained eight pounds in three weeks. Dreo will always get my greatest praise and I will gladly tell anyone what this wonderful preparation has done for me."

Dreo is compounded of Nature's own herbs, roots, bark and leaves and tones and regulates the whole system in a natural way. Pleasant to take, it contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs. Dreo is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King Street. It is also sold by Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward Street, and F. W. Munro, 357 Main Street. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson, in West St. John by Watson & Dunlop, and by a good druggist everywhere.
