BRITTON HOLDS CHAMPIONSHIP

The Sport Writers Give Him Shade on Shade

Swimming Records are Broken—Reorganization of Athletics at Dalhousie—Late News in the Sport World.

(Canadian Press.)

New York, Feb. 18.—Jack Britton, at thirty-seven, still is the master boxer and a virtue of that fact he today remains the world's welterweight boxing champion. Last night in Madison Square Garden, Britton met young Dave Slade, of San Francisco, in a fifteen-round match. The judges decided the contest was a draw and that enabled Britton to retain his title.

In the majority opinion of fight writers at the ringside, however, the judges erred in their decision, for Britton appeared to have had the advantage on points over his young rival. It is true that the Californian always was on the aggressive, that he made the champion miss occasionally, but, nevertheless the champion, whether retreating or standing his ground, was sending gloved fists against his opponent's head and body. Slade was missing too, and many of his terrific assaults were evenly smothered in the Britton defence. Slade shook the title-holder several times with rights to the jaw, but was himself shaken off by Britton's blows to the jaw and body.

Bank Records Go.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—University of Toronto swimming team defeated McGill's men by 37 points to 31 in an intercollegiate meet here last night. Three intercollegiate records were smashed, one of them being also a new Canadian record. Frank McGill, covered the hundred yard back-stroke event in 33-2-5, bettering by 1-3 seconds the mark established by Wood, of Varsity, in last year's meet. In the long plunge, Waldron, of Varsity, made 71 feet 3 inches, which is also a Canadian record. The old record was 68 feet 8, established by him last year. The last record was in the swim when the Varsity team, including the 200 yards in 1:22 1-4, just two-fifths of a second faster than the mark established by the McGill relay team last year in Toronto.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 18.—Johnny Ziemulski of the Illinois team set the world's record for the 100 yard race by 1-3-4/5 in the Milwaukee Athletic club bank here last night, covering the distance in 1:06.3. The former record of 0:52.2 was made by Warren Koelha, of Chicago, Feb. 18.—William Coburn, of Louis, and David Lains, of New York, N. J., were leading in the six day bicycle race here today at the Hotel Marlborough, with 2,112 miles covered. The teams of Lawrence and Thomas and of Debarats and Perry, and the heels of the leaders and six other teams were one lap behind.

Maritime Provinces

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Feb. 18.—The curling matches between Moncton and Charlottetown last night resulted in Moncton winning two rinks by 15-12 and 20-12, and Charlottetown one, 11-10. The respective skips were: Moncton, Black, Gibson and Simpson; Charlottetown, Robertson, Ebers and Whear. Halifax, N. S., Feb. 18.—That "Billy" Roche, professional baseball player and former Gloucester hockeyist, played on the Pere Marquette hockey team of Boston early this season and appeared in games against McGill and Toronto universities, is slated in a New Glasgow despatch to the Halifax Herald.

Fredericton, N. B., Feb. 18.—Roche, since been suspended by the U. S. Amateur Hockey Association and has not played with the Pere Marquette team in recent games, according to Boston papers recently received here, which say he is a disqualification in the hockey in Boston as soon as Canadian authorities reported he had offended in a referee.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 18.—Reorganization of athletics at Dalhousie, looking to secure more general participation by the student body and greater interest in the faculty, is being discussed in college circles.

It has been suggested that an advisory board be formed, consisting of one member of the board of governors, two members of the faculty and two of the students. At its last meeting the Dalhousie Amateur Athletic Club, which controls athletics at the college, appointed representatives to meet these officials in the near connection. It is also proposed to bring the Dalhousie football teams together before college opens in a fall. It is pointed out that the colleges are at a disadvantage in the city Rugby league owing to the other teams having a month of practice before Dalhousie line-ups can get into action. The absence of a gym at Dalhousie has been remedied by the recent opening of a temporary one in the basement of the new Arts building at University.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 18.—Coming through with a last period rally, Victoria's stayed in the race for the Pacific Coast Hockey League championship by defeating Seattle 3 to 2 here last night.

Edmonton, Feb. 18.—The Edmonton skidmovers defeated the Regina Capitals by a score of 4 to 3 here last night in the Western Canada Hockey League.

Fredericton, N. B., Feb. 18.—Definitive arrangements have been completed for U. N. B. and Mount Allison play-off in the championship of the western provinces of the Maritime Intercollegiate Hockey League in Moncton on Monday night in the new Sunny Brae rink, which will seat 6,000 spectators. The title hinges on the outcome of the game. Nellie of Halifax has been agreed upon as a referee.

Arrangements are now in course of completion for the winners of the Moncton to play King's College on Wednesday night for the Sunnyside trophy, now by U. N. B. as winners in 1921. The events will be continued at Lake Placid, N. B. prove as successful as they were

LANDIS QUITS BENCH; WHOLE TIME TO BASEBALL

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis today announced that he has resigned from the bench and would devote his entire time to his position of baseball commissioner. The resignation is to be effective on March 1. Announcement of it was made formally by the judge today as took his place in court.

CARS OFF TRACK

As a result of a run-off of freight cars near Macamp, Me., last night, C. P. R. passenger trains were late this morning. No. 40 from Montreal, due here at 6:45 a. m., was reported running seven hours and forty-five minutes late, and No. 16 from Montreal, due here at 1:20 o'clock, forty-five minutes. The derailment was caused by a broken beam on one of the cars, which is thought may have resulted from the severe weather. Twelve cars left the rails, and all but one were empty. Aside from the delay, the damage done was said to be slight. The derailed freight cars were here over the C. N. R. at 7:45 a. m., was over an hour late arriving this morning. The delay is said to have been caused by heavy snowdrifts east.

DOLLAR AT PAR IN U. S. THIS YEAR IS BELIEF

Discount on Canadian Money in Force Today Only 3 1/2 Per Cent.

New York, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press)—The discount on the Canadian dollar in the U. S. will probably disappear within the current year, so that the dollar will be at par with the Canadian dollar. The Wall Street Journal predicts this morning in a review of the exchange situation. While in the past the Canadian exchange rate has generally followed the fluctuations of sterling exchange, the paper asserts, other factors have recently influenced the Canadian rate so that it is believed that it will be at par with the dollar by the end of the year. The discount on Canadian money in force today only 3 1/2 per cent.

PROHIBITION FROM NEW ANGLE

Transport Workers in England Threaten to Strike Against High Beer Prices.

London, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press)—The threat of the Transport Workers Federation, numbering one million members, to go "dry" because of the alleged unreasonable price of beer is being seriously considered. A circular has been sent to the various branches of the dockers' union, suggesting that the proposed beer boycott should operate next Monday.

HEADS CHARITABLE IRISH SOCIETY IN HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 18.—Ald. Andrew J. Finlay was elected president of the Charitable Irish Society of Halifax in succession to E. P. Allison, at the 19th annual meeting of the body here last night.

HEADS CHARITABLE IRISH SOCIETY IN HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 18.—Ald. Andrew J. Finlay was elected president of the Charitable Irish Society of Halifax in succession to E. P. Allison, at the 19th annual meeting of the body here last night.

SANDS IMMUNE IF HE CAN SOLVE MURDER MYSTERY

Los Angeles, Feb. 18.—Investigators of the murder of Wm. Desmond Taylor, film director, were waiting today to see if anything would result from the announcement of Thomas L. Woodruff, district attorney, that Edward F. Sands, missing former butler secretary to Taylor would not be prosecuted on an embezzlement charge entered by his former employer if Sands could prove himself of the slaying of Taylor and untangle this murder mystery.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "how would you like to be minister of railways?"

"I'd rather be a racker," said Hiram promptly. "Do you mind when we used to call the fellers that worked on the scotties on the C. P. R. 'rackers'?"

"I do," said the reporter. "But I have not thought of the name for a long time."

"Well," said the reporter, "it is a long time since the C. P. R. was a racker."

"Yes, sir," said Hiram. "It is so. I ain't banker after his job. He kin be it. But I hope he'll go back an' let our Ontario fellers start the call 'em 'rackers' again, 'cause it's just the way it was when I was a racker."

"Hold on," said Hiram, "you're rakin' a long way from the minister of railways."

"Well," said the reporter, "it is a long time since the C. P. R. was a racker."

"Yes, sir," said Hiram. "It is so. I ain't banker after his job. He kin be it. But I hope he'll go back an' let our Ontario fellers start the call 'em 'rackers' again, 'cause it's just the way it was when I was a racker."

Tell Minister of Needs of St. John

Delegation Points Out to Hon. W. C. Kennedy Necessity for Breakwater Extension, Terminal Development, Better Railway Connection and New Station—Visitor Says He Will do Everything He Can—Tour of City.

(Canadian Press Cable)

London, Feb. 18.—The joint liaison commission may begin to function over the week-end, it is unofficially stated, thus giving a fair prospect for prevention of the dreaded clash between the rival forces lined up along the southern Ulster border.

Peace seems for the moment to have descended over Northern Ireland, the release of the remaining kidnapped Unionists, announced yesterday, tending to ease the tension.

Nevertheless both sides still hold prisoners and it is understood the south is determined not to release the special constables captured at Clones until the Monaghan football players are freed by the Ulster authorities, the south contending that if the latter are guilty because they carried arms, the Clones captives are equally guilty.

Moreover, there is the question of four Sinn Feiners held at Rathfriland, charged with "seditious assembly" this morning over disorders in connection with a republican funeral two weeks ago and also that of the arrest of the Irish Republican army officers at Newry. Notwithstanding the repeated northern assertions that the footballers will be held unless they agree for better, there is a rumor that they may be liberated as an "act of grace" within a few hours.

Resumption of the British evacuation has not been officially declared, but some troops left Dublin yesterday, others departed from Limerick, and some are at the Cork station for embarkation.

Limerick, Feb. 18.—A proclamation was issued today on behalf of the mid-Limerick brigade of the Irish Republican army refusing to recognize the presence of those in charge of the provisional government and pledging allegiance to the existing republic.

SAYS FIRM WAS "ROBBED BLIND"

Evidence in Case of Failure of New York Brokers for $4,000,000.

New York, Feb. 18.—Testimony that the bankrupt brokerage house of E. D. Dier and Company, which failed recently for four million dollars had been "robbed blind" by those in charge of the business, was given by E. Franklin Gaines, an employe of the firm, at a hearing yesterday before special U. S. Commissioner G. H. Glavin.

The witness said the firm's book keeping was a joke and that one "robber" had enough money to run the firm.

STRIKE TIES UP SHIPPING AT LIVERPOOL

London, Feb. 18.—The shipping trade in Liverpool is dislocated and liners are unable to enter or leave port today owing to a strike of the tugboat men, says an Evening News message from Liverpool today.

The strike is against the owners' demand for increased hours with a reduction in wages.

JUDGMENT IN THE KNOX CASE

In Chambers this morning Chief Justice McKewen dismissed an application with costs to the plaintiff in the matter of the children of W. H. Knox in connection with certain alleged libelous matter published in the local newspapers during the prohibition referendum campaign some time ago, to have the action stopped. The case was brought some months ago for damages in favor of the children who described as those of a "drunken father," with their pictures shown in print. The father, a returned soldier, brought action on his own account and won a verdict. Points of law arose in connection with the suit of the children and H. A. Powell, K. C., for the defendants applied to have the action ceased. The court found, however, that there was reasonable ground for the case to continue and go to a jury to establish whether or not damages had been done and accordingly dismissed the application today. The case will probably be heard at the next sitting of the circuit. Dr. Austin, K. C., appeared for the children.

His Honor this morning also set aside an order entered in the case of Coppette Co. vs. Anderson, an action on a bill of exchange for an amount within the jurisdiction of the city court, but on an instrument dated outside the province. The defendant used an appearance but no defence was entered. Judgment was signed by the plaintiff's solicitor with supreme court costs, with no notice of appeal being given and accordingly the judgment with costs in favor of the defendant. K. A. Wilson, represented the plaintiff and H. A. Powell, K. C., for the defendant.

A COSTLY TREAT.

Windsor, Feb. 18.—One round of drinks served to friends by Charles Fleming, proprietor of the Imperial Hotel, Sandwich street and Ferry avenue, cost Fleming $2,000.50 in times a cost of Fleming was caught dispersing the liquor from a bottle he had had purchased for his wife, who was recovering from pneumonia.

WEEKLY PAPERS FOR A MINIMUM $2 SUBSCRIPTION

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 16.—In view of present day costs, the Canadian weekly newspapers association decided at its annual meeting yesterday that the minimum rate of subscriptions to weekly papers should be two dollars a year. Ottawa was fixed as the place of the association's convention next June.

Seventeen directors of the association were present. Reports showed an increase in membership, which now stands at above 500, and a favorable financial condition. Nearly every province in the dominion was represented in the attendance.

SAYS INFLUENCE ON THE YOUNG IS NOT FOR GOOD

Montreal, Feb. 18.—Declaring that he "doubted much" the cry "better the devil than the deep," Dr. J. Gordon Laing, dean of the faculty of Arts of McGill University, delivered an attack on popular magazines and newspapers which he described as "destroying a taste for good literature on this continent. In an address before the meeting of the principals and teachers' association of suburban schools here last night, he affirmed that the schools merely follow the popular trends, the goal of financial success being pointed out to the young and "the schools have adapted their courses to the popular demand."

WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT ON P. E. I.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Feb. 18.—Dr. Woodhouse, secretary of the Canadian Association for Prevention of Tuberculosis, held a conference here with the president of the local anti-tuberculosis association, Joseph McCarey, Premier Bell and others, and discussed two important co-operative schemes. These are:

(1)—Encouragement of municipalities having public health nurses to establish and maintain chest diagnosis clinics.

(2)—Encouragement of sanatoriums to undertake field extension work in organizing and maintaining such clinics.

GUESSING ABOUT BRIDE FOR PRINCE

He Will Make Choice for Himself.

Affairs in Egypt—Echoes of the War—Lord Grey's Eyesight—Topics They are Discussing in London.

(From our own Correspondent.)

London, February 2.—The gossip is still guessing about the matrimonial intentions of the Prince of Wales and, from all I hear, they are likely to remain guessing for some little time to come. Surprise is expressed in some quarters that "the secret" has been so well kept. As a matter of fact there is no secret to keep. In affairs of this kind the "principals" do not usually have very much voice in the matter. It is looked upon as a state affair, and the cumbersome machinery of court and government sets to work to arrange a desirable alliance. That is the usual procedure. But that procedure is not to be adopted in the present instance. On that point the Prince is absolutely firm. He has shown more than once and has avowed many times that he is, on general questions, what may be regarded as the interests of the state. But he makes one reservation. He insists that in the choice of his wife he shall be allowed to follow the dictates of his own heart. It follows that when his engagement really is announced, it will be a love match in all reality. It would be proclaimed such in any case by all the society gossip, who seem to think this is the correct way to proceed in the case of every Royal engagement, even though the contracting parties have scarcely seen each other half a dozen times.

Egyptian Affairs.

The Foreign Office privately blames the War Office, and its refusal to compromise on the question of military occupation, for the breakdown of the recent promising negotiations in London with Adly Pasha. Since then it has become obvious that there is no alternative except independent Egyptian sovereignty or a repressive armed occupation, and the Foreign Office, nervously apprehensive of foreign complications, earnestly desires a settlement with Egyptian intellectuals, whose ambitions have very lately been fomented by France and Italy, even during the period of our closest war alliance. It is a mistake to imagine that Lord Allenby has been superseded, or that he favors a repressive policy. His lordship has urged the vital necessity of coming to terms on the home government, and since the Egyptian settlement there has been no question of his leaving Egypt. Had it been necessary to adopt a big policy of arms in Ireland, Lord Allenby would have been in charge of operations.

Possible Terms.

When Lord Allenby put down the last serious Egyptian rising by stern measures such action was simply preventative. It was pretty plainly hinted by the French that, unless this was promptly done by us, they would take action themselves. The fear of complications of this sort is one of the main reasons for the urgency with which the Foreign Office regards the situation in Egypt. The real obstacle to settlement is the question of military occupation, which is obviously incompatible with Egyptian sovereignty, and to which no competent Egyptian ministry could possibly assent. The proposal is that, since we must have troops available for the protection of our imperial main artery, and also to safeguard foreign interests against any pretext for intervention by other powers, we should locate our forces across the Canal at Kantara, a rather uninviting desert position, for which step an interval would be necessary in order to provide the needed accommodation. Lord Curzon hopes for a compromise on these lines.

Echoes of the War.

The talk was in the great bay window of a famous club in St. James' street, and it was among men of military age, it turned on the war and concentrated on that ever debatable subject—the March retreat of 1918. There were men with D. S. O.'s, and other honorable attachments to their name who had been in the area of the break. And, as it will, the criticism of the staff work was unsparring. "Do you know," said one distinguished Major, "that, with the exception of the front line, there was not a single line of trenches between the Allies and St. Quentin? We had only the Engineers' marks where the other trenches should have been." A Captain of Horse capped this by the luridly expressed description, imbued by personal experience, of three Cavalry Divisions engaged in manuring French farms and stables, of course, they should have been digging trenches. Even the great advance which ensued with the Armistice did not soothe the critics of the staff. The Armistice, they held, was concluded because the staff's arrangements were so bad that the advance could scarcely have proceeded.

As a matter of fact was at one time secret history, this is less than just to the staff. It can now be said that the reasons for the conclusion of the Armistice at the particular time chosen were political rather than military. The ultimate decision lay in the advice of that very wise statesman as well as soldier, Foch. In summing up the situation, the Marshal held that while the Allies and associate America could, without the least doubt, overrun Germany up to Berlin, the last stage, owing to the depletion and exhaustion of the French and British armies, would have to be left to our consins. Theirs would have been the army to make the triumphal entry and theirs would have been the appearance of the real winners of the war. It is decided that this would give the Americans an undue power of dictation in the settlement of the European situation.

One of the best investments of your life

YOU'LL make one of the best investments of your life when you have your Ford equipped with Hassler Shock Absorbers. You'll get a new joy in riding. There will be no perceptible bumps, jolts or sideways—even on the roughest roads. There will be an absolute saving in tires, upkeep and depreciation costs which will pay for the Shock Absorbers times over—giving you comfort free.

We couldn't afford to make these statements if we didn't know that Hasslers would prove up to them. We couldn't afford to make the following wide-open offer.

Go to any Hassler dealer and have a set of Hasslers put on your Ford while you wait. Use it only the hardest way you know, and if they don't meet your highest expectation, the dealer will take them off and refund your money without question.

You can get Hasslers for any model of Ford car or truck. Insist on being supplied with them. If for any reason you cannot obtain them, write us at once.

"Only Hasslers Can Give Hassler Results."

Bridge of Sise.

Occasionally some queer adventures occur to card players. Usually these are in the case of men who pay in promiscuous company, merely sordid tales of card sharpening and pigeon plucking. But a club friend of mine, a famous Journalist who is comfortably well-to-do without being at all wealthy, told me this afternoon that he had had some of these adventures. He figured, which had none of these un-wisdom of Scotland on a professional road, and put up at a good hotel in a comparatively small town. After dinner one evening he observed three elderly gentlemen in the almost deserted hotel lounge, earnestly conversing and unmistakably looking in his direction. Presently one of them, a real Scottish laird in appearance and speech, approached my friend and asked whether he would mind making a fourth at Auction Bridge.

Now a London Journalist, who specializes in sport, is not exactly the sort of man to be caught napping by card sharpers, however cleverly camouflaged. But this gentleman, besides being one of the best Auction hands in Fleet street, has a strong sense of adventure. He replied quite politely that as a rule, though he played Auction regularly at his club, he avoided chance games, but what were the stakes proposed? The Scottish laird smiled. "Quite, we usually play for a shilling." As my friend was in the habit of playing for anything from half-a-crown to five shillings a hundred, and was well in funds on his journey, he agreed to a rubber, thinking there could be no great harm at a shilling a hundred. As luck would have it, apart from the fact that the three Scottish seniors played rather feeble Auction Bridge, though they were evidently keen as mustard on the game, the visitor had the most amazing cards. The evening found his side well up on the score, and then, to his bewilderment, he found the stakes were not a shilling a hundred, but a shilling a point, or five pounds a hundred. His winnings amounted to nearly twenty pounds, and, so far from being at all upset, the Scots were delighted with their night's work. They insisted on his making up the fourth on the two remaining nights of his stay, and, of course, he could not refuse. Altogether he won thirty-five pounds and left his Scottish friends in fair transports over his agreeable company and expert play. They said—scarcely his partner—he was "Just grand."

The Goddess Axe.

One of the little problems set a government department by Sir Eric Geddes' Axe Brigade—Reduce your allowance of three-quarters of a million to three hundred seventy thousand pounds, and include in this a new expenditure of £200,000.

Lord Grey's Eyesight.

The extent to which Lord Grey's eyesight has improved by the special treatment he has undergone, I believe, has been suggested by those who are hailing him as our future Prime Minister and suggesting a new Coalition under the joint banner of the ex-Foreign Secretary and Lord Robert Cecil. It is quite true that Lord Grey is now able to walk freely through without assistance and without the conspicuous colored glasses which he used to wear. But for still leaves much to be desired. I hear that on a recent semi-public occasion his signature was a scroll of honor. Lord Grey readily assented, but his hand had to be guided when he took up his pen.

Ecclesiastical Pen Pictures.

Impressionistic sketches of living celebrities are having a tremendous vogue just now, and tomorrow another volume will be published from the intriguing pen of "A Gentleman with a Duster." This time prominent religious leaders are the subjects of the sketches, and those who are generally believed to be Mr. Harold Begbie, and he runs riot among the lights of the established Church and Nonconformist circles with entire impartiality. The worst of this kind of writing is that it is purely subjective and those who have come in contact with some of the eminent divines here portrayed will find themselves in violent disagreement with the author. For myself, I find the sketch of Dean Inge the most satisfying thing in the book, but I wish the author had in the virtue of delicacy in ascribing what he believes to be the motives behind his character. He is, however, a favorite of mine, and he is made to be shot at, and are factually favored, but as a real popular pastime. A Scoutmaster in the Home Counties was faced with the problem of how to supply the troops who have charge of the young, namely, the primitive desire of the average boy to possess and use some weapons of precision, and as these alone rules out the miniature rifle, this man had the happy inspiration of "arming" his troops with arrows.

The action was taken up enthusiastically by the Boy Scouts of the neighborhood, and was brought before the Chief Scout, Sir Robert Baden-Powell, who was then at pains to satisfy his great interest in the movement, and he was extremely gratified to see the absence of weapons from the Scout's equipment, and he was so impressed with the young bowmen of this troop that he has given his blessing to the bow as the Scout's arm and this year troops all over the country will take up the royal and ancient pastime.

For This Relief. The latest news from Washington is immensely reassuring. The long delay in definite conclusions to the high negotiations occasioned by the real anxiety in London. Before the Conference assembled huge purchases were being made in this country and on the Continent for the East of all sorts of material, especially for aeroplanes, which could be intended only for war preparation.

As could be ascertained these extensive contracts were still being proceeded with even after the Conference began its deliberations, and to the recent announcement of the Washington agreements. But now the agreement on the much discussed Article 16 really sets at rest all fears of war in the Pacific. It can now be stated that it is feared, before the settlement now happily reached, were strongly entertained in the most authoritative quarters. And the menace of another great war between America and Japan rested heavily on official minds in London. It is no mean achievement in history-making that the suspicions mutually entertained by Japan and America have now been laid to rest. Before this Washington Pact Japan and America were building and equipping for war against each other quite on the approved European pre-war pattern. The Jingo spirit of the people should be rationally cultivated, which is the familiar way of fanning warflames into open conflagration. And because of the American peril, as Tokyo viewed it, the Japanese military clique had its hands greatly strengthened, so that the task of the Japanese Government of modifying Government policy in accordance with modern ideas, was made more than usually difficult. We shall now see the Times split on both sides of the Pacific die down, the crushing burden of armaments lessened, and Japanese politics and policies given a more progressive expression.

Wrecks For The Dominions. With the departure from Devonport for funds of the sloop Ceanothus and a couple of patrol boats, all the great gifts for their navies from among the surplus war-time vessels. In making these presentations, the Imperial Government has done the Dominions a good turn, because the vessels have been selected with a view to the utility for the services required of them. Thus while Australia has been presented with six destroyers, fittingly headed by the Anzac, and six submarines, New Zealand has preferred a surveying vessel, the Crozier, and two mine-sweeping trawlers, the Eden and Foyle. New Zealand has accepted a light cruiser, the Chatham, but Newfoundland's special need was better supplied by a sloop, the Iobela. Canada has received a handy little naval unit composed of the light cruiser Aurora and the destroyers Patriot and Patrician. It should be pointed out that very little sacrifice to the Exchequer is occasioned by these gifts. The vessels were surplus requirements, they would have absorbed men and money to keep in repair, and if it had been desired to dispose of them, they would not have fetched very high prices in the present state of the ship-breaking industry and the slump in the market for steel scrap.

BACTERIA FACTOR IN PLANT LIFE

Tiny Organism Draws from Air Nitrogen Needed to Promote Growth—How Science Helps.

Dealing with practical applications of scientific principles with regard to both injurious and beneficial bacteria in relation to soils and plant growth, Dr. F. C. Harrison, principal of Macdonald College, delivered an illustrated lecture at the Physics Building, University of Toronto, under the auspices of the Royal Canadian Institute. Dr. Harrison, who has spent years in the study of bacteria, has made important contributions to science in the interests of the gardener, the farmer and the forester. After giving a comprehensive outline of the various diseases which attack plants, Dr. Harrison spoke of the bacteria which are instrumental in obtaining the nitrogen from the air and giving it to the plants. "It is a true soil organism," he declared, "beneficial to man and to farmers. It works, boards itself and supplies the nitrogen to the soil in matter aided by this little organism. While there were 25,000,000 tons of nitrogen over each acre of ground, it has to be made available for the plant by bacteria. The tiny organisms were, in reality, master chemists. In this connection, Dr. Harrison has made important discoveries of his research work. In some countries chemical methods were used to supply the necessary nitrogen, but this was extremely expensive, while an intelligent use of the living organisms could be made with the most satisfactory results. Through the medium of the soil bacteria, the succeeding crop was improved.

The microscopic life of field and forest provide a fund of interesting information for those who enjoy a ramble through the country so that they may understand the problems of agriculture and gain an insight into nature's great secrets.

WHIPPLE STREET WATER.
To the Editor of the Times:
Sir—Kindly permit me through the Times to suggest to whom it may concern what seems to me to be a very easy and inexpensive solution to the water problem for Whipple street residents, which is this: Pipe the water from the Beaconfield school tank through public property to Charlotte street, then down Whipple street to the householder to have his own tank, water-barrel, stand-pipe or whatever suits him best to install, filled daily, which could be done along with the school sewer, without extra cost, work or worry to anyone, when once the pipes are laid. Thanking you, I am,
Very truly yours,

COST OF LIVING IN OLD LAND DROPS

London, Feb. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The cost of living in the United Kingdom continues to fall. The decline in the last month was four points, to eighty-eight per cent, above the pre-war level. The drop is mainly due to the reduction of food prices. There has been a continuous decline since November, 1920, apart from a slight interruption in the summer of 1921, and the figure now officially recorded is the lowest since January, 1918.

WILDCAT ATTACKS SLEEPER.

Enters Hut in Ramapo Mountains and Springs on Boy.

Suffern, N. Y., Feb. 18.—A big wildcat entered a window in the hut of John Manning in the Ramapo Mountains. Manning and his wife and two sons were aroused from sleep when the animal sprang at one of the boys and tore his night clothes nearly off his body.

The father reached for his shotgun and killed the animal before any damage was done. The wildcat is one of the largest ever killed in this section.

BEGINS PRISON TERM AT 93 FOR STEALING CHICKENS

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—At the age of ninety-three, James Bundy began serving this week his year-prison term for stealing chickens.

Since he was forty Bundy has spent much of his time in the Eastern Penitentiary here and in nearby county jails. His alleged offenses range from pocket-book snatching and corner lounging to burglary and attempts to kill. Upon each return to the penitentiary he is hailed by the long-term prisoners as the "Dean of Convicts."

When last released in 1910, after serving a three-year term, Bundy told the authorities that he had determined to "go straight" the rest of his life.

THE MINISTER OF RAILWAYS.

Mr. Kennedy today extends a cordial welcome to Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways. He comes with the reputation of a very able and successful business man, and that counts for much more than mere political experience. He has been in parliament since 1917, and the fact that he was chosen to take the important railway portfolio at this critical time in railway history in Canada is sufficient evidence of the confidence reposed in him by Premier King. He has begun his arduous duties by studying national railway problems from the standpoint of widely separated sections of the country, and that is a wise course to pursue at the very outset of his career as minister.

Mr. Kennedy finds that St. John is the terminus of two C. N. R. lines, which here meet, in winter at least, the steamers of the Canadian Merchant Marine. He must see at once that the aim should be to have here such terminals as would ensure the quickest and cheapest transfer of cargo from train to steamship and from steamship to train. The most casual survey of the present wharves cannot but convince him that such terminals do not today exist to the extent that is required. There are ample terminals at West St. John to handle all the traffic the Canadian Pacific can bring from Montreal over one pair of rails, but the eastern side of the harbor to which the C. N. R. must look for terminals is not so fortunate. There is ample room to provide additional facilities to meet immediate needs. All that is required is a plan and the work of construction. The former government had some plans regarding news wharves which Mr. Kennedy may already have seen.

It is desirable from the national as well as the local standpoint that the C. N. R. should have a definite policy regarding the use of this national port, and the minister's visit will put him in possession of a knowledge of local conditions which he could not otherwise secure. The question of port development and the movement of Canadian trade through Canadian channels is vital to St. John. It has been vital since the time of confederation. Water-borne trade is the life of these provinces, and if their ports are neglected and the traffic promised them continues to pass through American channels, the very spirit of the confederation agreement will be violated. There are two great needs which will no doubt be impressed upon the mind of the minister. One is that our industries, shut out of other markets, may be able to get their products on the Canadian market on fair competitive terms, based on such relative railway rates as prevailed before the Railway Commission began to function and the C. N. R. authorities applied its rulings to the Intercolonial Railway. The other is the development of our ports and the through traffic which as national ports they should enjoy.

MR. JOHN T. HAWKE.

Canadian journalism, the province of New Brunswick and the city of Moncton have suffered a serious loss in the passing of Mr. John T. Hawke, publisher and editor of the Moncton Transcript. A native of Plymouth, England, he came to Canada, engaged in journalism in Ontario, and thirty years ago purchased the Moncton Transcript and became a citizen of the railway town. In those days a good deal of bitterness marked political controversies in Westmorland county and Mr. Hawke was in the thick of her against odds at the outset, but with increasing success as the years went on. He was so pronounced an advocate of plain speech that on one occasion he came under the displeasure of the courts, but would not yield an inch; and for the term of his imprisonment for what the court regarded as an offence against its dignity, the Moncton Transcript each day printed in bold lines—"This is Mr. Hawke's day in jail." The years, however, mellowed his fiery nature, and also revealed to the people among whom he lived the pure gold in his character. It was not easy going for a Liberal newspaper in Moncton when Mr. Hawke took over the Transcript. The late Mr. H. T. Stevens was editor of the Times, and one of the most trenchant writers of his day. The compliments of the rival newspapers paid to each other and to the respective leaders of parties in those days find no parallel in the political discussions of the present time. The Transcript won its way steadily, and its editor became a substantial citizen of Moncton. The value of his newspaper and printing plant increased, and he found leisure to take an active interest in town affairs. He saw Moncton grow from a small railway town to the prosperous and rapidly growing city of today. He had, moreover, the great satisfaction of contributing to that growth, and by the power of his voice and pen advancing every good cause. Mr. Hawke was a pronounced advocate of prohibition, of woman suffrage, and of many other reforms which were much ridiculed in former years but are now accomplished. He was a constant friend of education, and as a member and later the chairman of the school board did much to secure for Moncton the splendid school buildings which are the pride of the citizens. That his way was not always smooth was a fault of his temperament rather than of his heart. He was impulsive, inclined to be aggressive in his views, and not easily prevailed upon to change them; but he liked the scent of battle, and the people always knew that underneath his outward form of expression lay a great sincerity, and a heart that was never selfish. In political campaigns Mr. Hawke was a very clever speaker as well as writer. During the war period he took the platform to arouse the patriotic enthusiasm of people and rendered noble service. On the occasion when he came to St. John to speak, he told the writer of these lines that his physician had warned him after a very severe illness, that even momentary over-excitement might have fatal results. Yet he went on doing his duty as he saw it, until overcome by the long illness which has now terminated a career of so great usefulness to the country of his adoption. Once when a friend going to England asked what he might bring Mr. Hawke on his return, the answer was—a primrose. Many a friend will lay upon his bier the primrose of remembrance.

There was a little man
And he had a little match,
And the fire was still glowing
In its little hearth.
He dropped it in the wood,
Among the leaves just where he stood
To light his pipe before he camped
And made his bed, bed, bed.
(You must admit he didn't Use his head, head, head.)

THE END OF A PERFECT JAY

WHO IS IN THE UNDERBRUSH?

Consider these paragraphs in the letter of Mr. C. O. Foss in today's Times—
"From the standpoint of economics a steam standby would be an absolute loss."
"Of all the engineers who have discussed the Musquash development, two only, Mr. Ross and Mr. Kensit, have said that a steam standby was necessary, and neither of these gentlemen ever saw the Musquash plant. Mr. Kensit, in fact was investigating the cost of the New Brunswick Power Company of distributing hydro electricity. As that company already has a steam plant he included it as a capital cost and stated it would be useful as a standby in case of interruptions from ice, etc. No engineer after inspecting the Musquash layout would anticipate any ice trouble."
"If no steam station were in existence in St. John, would he (Mr. Ross) have recommended a steam standby to cost a sum about equal to book value of that station?"
Read carefully all of the letter of Mr. Foss, also the communication today from the Hardware Clerks' Association. Read Mr. Phillips' letter in the Times of yesterday. The more the matter is studied the more the question is asked—Why did Mr. Ross at the eleventh hour come in and discredit the work of all the other engineers in connection with the Musquash development? Keep also in mind that the province of New Brunswick is behind the pledge of the Hydro-Electric Commission to deliver a stated quantity of power at a stated maximum price. Think it over.

THE VAMPIRE

(By Rudyard Kipling.)
"A fool there was and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I)
To a rag and a bone and a bank of hair.
(We called her the woman who did not care.)
But the fool he called her his lady fair—
(Even as you and I)"

Oh, the years we waste and the tears we waste,
And the work of our head and hand
Belong to the woman who did not know
(And now we know that she never could know)
And did not understand!

A Fool there was and his goods he spent,
To a rag and a bone and a bank of hair.
Honor and faith and a sure intent
(And it wasn't the least what the lady meant),
But a fool must follow his natural bent
(Even as you and I)"

Oh, the toll we lost and the spoil we lost
And the excellent things we planned
Belong to the woman who didn't know
(Even as you and I)"

The Fool was stripped to his foolish hide
(Even as you and I)
Which was seen when she Threw him aside—
(But it isn't on record the lady tried)
So some of him lived but the most of him died.
(Even as you and I)"

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That stings like a white hot brand—
It's coming to know that she never knew
why
(Seeing at last, she could never know
why)
And never could understand!"

CELESTIAL WORTHY OF ALL RESPECT

Immigration Regulations are Too Drastic, Rev. A. W. Lochead Declares.

(Mail and Empire.)

Speaking before a representative meeting of St. Andrew's Society last night at the Queen's Hotel, Rev. A. W. Lochead, Presbyterian missionary in China, who is in Toronto on furlough, described in an interesting way some present-day conditions in the Far East. Rev. Mr. Lochead particularly called attention to the very able manner in which the situation had been dealt with at the Washington Conference, the result of these deliberations having effectively prevented, at least, any probable outbreak of hostilities between the Oriental races and other English-speaking nations. Rev. Mr. Lochead said that despite the fact that the great population of Japan lives within a very small area, their intelligence and capabilities in dealing with matters affecting their interests had been underestimated by the people of Canada and the United States. He believed that as a result of the able efforts of the Hon. Mr. Baillou in Washington in handling the Japanese situation, the way had been paved for peace between that country and other nations.

Rev. Mr. Lochead briefly referred to the numerous revolutions which had occurred in China and stressed the fact that despite the many setbacks suffered by China in the past, she had always risen with renewed energy and strength. "There is a great need in China for a more adequate expression of brotherhood of man," emphasized Mr. Lochead. "At present the country is overrun with brigands, and the nation is facing financial disaster, due in a great measure to the introduction of western ideas in preference to old established ones, more adaptable to the conditions of that country."

The speaker emphasized the appalling ignorance of Chinese affairs in the Canadian and American newspapers. He believed Canada should have in China a representative thoroughly familiar with the events and affairs of that country, because much of the information which he noted in the newspapers was entirely misleading. Rev. Mr. Lochead also disapproved of the methods enforced by the Dominion Immigration authorities in Vancouver, some of which he considered quite unnecessary in permitting the Celestial immigrants to enter Canada. He believed such drastic measures should be modified, because after all is said and done, the Celestial is human, the same as the rest of us."

TELLS OF HER BENCH JOB.

Judge Florence E. Allen Finds Men "Good Sports"

(New York Times.)
Judge Florence E. Allen of the Court of Common Pleas, Cleveland, told an interested audience the other day at the Tower Hotel, where she talked to the trustees of the League for Political Education, how much she appreciated the women and men who had stood by her in her professional life. It was a waitress in one of a certain well known dining room restaurant who was one of her first well-wishers after she became a judge.

"I used to frequent that restaurant very often after I first put out my shingle," said Judge Allen, "but I had no idea that the waitress knew anything about me personally, so I was much surprised when one of them came up to greet me enthusiastically immediately after I had received my new honor and to give me good advice."

"Good morning, Judge," she said. "Now, Judge, you've got this job and you watch your step. Don't you do nothing to make 'em mad or they'll bump you off."

"It is not very easy for a judge not to make 'em mad," and it was a woman who said she had been a strong supporter of mine whom I made very mad indeed. She was a very fat woman and she came hurrying up to me breathless one morning."

"Judge," she said, "I worked for you and I voted for you. Now I am indicted for perjury and if you will make the $300 I shall be able to get through all right."

"I made the plump person's bill $3,000, and don't let any one make you think that plumpness and plaidity go together. My unfortunate friend hurled the most awful maledictions at me, due to go into effect immediately, and if they had I should not be here speaking to you today."

"Women, as a whole, have stood back of me and it has been a great moral support. I can't say too much about the way the men have treated me. They have given me almost unbelievable cooperation, some of it from men who have been bitterly opposed to women in office. If I can speak unfeelingly once in a while—men are good sports. Women have made such marvelous advances within the period of a single century that it is not strange that men should have a little distrust of them. There never was such a revolution. Inside a hundred years they have been permitted to have a higher education and go to college, earn their

SOBRIETY WAVE SWEEPS ENGLAND

Mildness of Beer, Movies and Spread of Education are Suggested as the Causes.

London, Feb. 18.—A wave of sobriety is sweeping England, judging by the reports for 1921 of the chief constables of various towns now being filed before the annual session of brewers, Canterbury, Kent, with a population of 24,000, reports that there were fewer convictions for drunkenness during the year. Four of the seven were only women and men had stood by her in her professional life. It was a waitress in one of a certain well known dining room restaurant who was one of her first well-wishers after she became a judge.

YOUNG AT 87, HE ASKS FOR WORK

George Grant, "Full of Pep and Youth," is Persistent.

Smiling and in gay humor at the age of 87, George Grant of 58 Southport road, Swansea, Ont., applied for work at the Swansea plant of a large concern.

"I am still full of pep and young as ever," he said to William O. Oliver, superintendent of the plant, to whom he applied for work.

"Have you any work for a young fellow?" he asked, good naturedly. "I can run any machine in your shop," he told him, not finding anything for his young caller to do. The man was most persistent, and gave the names of several persons for whom he worked as references.

Mr. Oliver admitted that Grant could do all that he claimed, but put him off by telling him that the plant was maintained necessarily at great heat, and a man of his age, 87 years young, would

THE CRIME NEWSPAPERS PRINT

(Chicago A. P. Dispatch.)
The reason there is a prevalent belief that newspapers print a great quantity of crime news is the way in which the average newspaper reader reads a newspaper. Lee A. White, editorial executive of the Detroit News, said last night in an address before the Medill School of Journalism.

This is the way, according to Mr. White—
"Column 1—Disarmament Conference, um um um. Japan, um, Hughes, um, Shantung, um." Finished.
"Column 2—Stillman case. No umms. Close attention. Occasional murmur of 'can you beat that?' One reader says he must scan the column because the case is a 'sociological document.' Another merely says it is 'hot stuff.' Both skip many a word."
"Column 3—The farmer bloc in Congress. The reader: 'Um um, Well, I don't know what I think of farmers.' Finished."
"Column 4—Murder. They read: 'Say, here's my story in real life. Why, it's good as a novel.' No further sound from him for twelve minutes. Finished."

LITTLE ENTENTE IN CONFERENCE

Paris, Feb. 17.—Poland and the Little Entente countries will participate in the preliminary examination of the Geneva conference programme by experts of France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Japan, under an accord which, it is semi-officially announced, has been reached by Great Britain and France. The inclusion of the Little Entente countries of Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania, together with Poland in the conversations, is the suggestion of France.

EX-EMPRESS ZITA
TELLS SOME OF HER
WAR MEMORIES

German Admiral Called Her
"One of Those Mournful Pacifists"—Blunders of the Leaders.

Paris, Jan. 24.—(By Mail).—After her night's rest at Bordeaux on her way to Madeira via Madrid the ex-Empress Zita yesterday received M. Jules Sauerwein, the special correspondent of the Matin, and an account of the interview appears in that newspaper today.

M. Sauerwein recounts some of the reminiscences of the war of which she spoke yesterday. The first was a luncheon encounter with the German Admiral Holtendorff, who was boasting of the "advantages of submarine warfare and the benefits of war in general." Having called for "one of those mournful pacifists who are paralyzing us," he assured her that "on July 2, 1917, England will ask us for peace on her knees." Charles was "absolutely hostile" to submarine warfare, and Zita replied to the Admiral—"Your war is an absurd thing. Do you not see around you the people dying of hunger?" Holtendorff laughed and said that "abstinence was healthy for everyone." Zita retorted by asking him how he dared to joke thus when he was doing justice to a delicate bill of fare. "Are you not ashamed?" she asked, whereupon "he became so purple that I feared he would burst."

Some months later, on July 2, 1917, Hindenburg and Ludendorff were dining with her, and in her words to the Matin's correspondent, "I could not resist asking them, 'Well, is England on her knees?' Hindenburg who was a courteous man, answered philosophically, 'War is a business in which one is often deceived.' But Ludendorff was so furious that I changed the subject of the conversation."

Having spoken of the friction between the Emperors William and Charles over peace overtures, Zita went on to talk of William's wish to impose on Austria a Treaty which would have made her an "economic vassaldom." The proposal was attractively phrased, however, and Charles's Ministers were inclined to sign, but "happily, the Kaiser made a providential blunder. 'You will have nothing to complain of. Look at Bavaria,' he said. Whereupon Charles hastened to answer, 'I am happy to learn from your own lips that we are to be like Bavaria.' And the negotiations were wrecked."

Zita next recalled the famous gathering at Homburg in the summer of 1918, when there were the two Emperors, two Emperresses, innumerable high officers and Ministers present. She was thinking that "if by chance a bomb fell in the middle of us it would do sensational work," and the late Kaiserine Augusta asked her what she was thinking of. When Zita explained, the Kaiserine answered that if the French knew they were there they "would be quite capable of coming to bombard us." To this Zita replied that "the French would surely not wish to drop a bomb on two women, though naturally blunders might be committed by young airment anxious to distinguish themselves, and she added ironically, 'thus when on the birthday of the King of the Belgians a German aeroplane hurled his villa and risked killing his wife, it was of course by inadvertence.' Upon this the Kaiserine was completely put out of countenance, and I saw her go to make inquiries of Ludendorff."

It is understood that the children of Charles and Zita will, after all, be permitted to pass through Paris on their way from Switzerland to Madeira.

W. C. T. U. OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY OF ITS FOUNDER

It was Frances Willard's Day yesterday and the W. C. T. U. in St. John fittingly celebrated the anniversary of the founder of the organization. Mrs. Mary Seymour, the evangelistic superintendent, entertained the members at her home, 188 Carmarthen street, in the afternoon and an interesting and appropriate programme was given. Miss Mary R. Allison, girl's work secretary of the main time religious education council, in a comprehensive and explicit manner, described the nature of the C. G. I. T. work for 1922, with a view chiefly to explaining the methods by which the W. C. T. U. work could be linked up with the C. G. I. T. programme. Miss Allison was heartily thanked for an illuminating and helpful address. Co-operation between the two organizations has been sought for some time. The afternoon programme opened with devotions. Mrs. Herd then gave a reading entitled "Memories of Frances Willard," and Mrs. Ellisworth Scott read an account of Frances Willard's life. Mrs. Seymour gave a paper entitled "The beautiful snow," and "Whose Daughter?" was the title of the paper read by Mrs. David Hipwell. Refreshments were served at the close of the programme and Mrs. Seymour and Mrs. Hutchings were the hostesses. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to them for their hospitality. Miss Myrtle Fox was the pianist for the afternoon.

An apron shower was held last evening by the "Works-Lot" class of the Main street Baptist church at the home of the teacher, Mrs. David Hutchinson. A number of aprons will be disposed of later at a tea and sale.

JOHN T. HAWKE,
EDITOR OF THE
TRANSCRIPT, DEAD

Moncton Publisher, Who Had Long Been in Illhealth,
Passes Away

Moncton, Feb. 17.—John T. Hawke, editor and proprietor of the Moncton Transcript, passed away at his home in Moncton about half-past three o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Hawke had been in failing health for the past two years and recently suffered a severe attack of la grippe with complications.

John Thomas Hawke was one of the outstanding figures of Canadian journalism and was a stalwart in Liberal politics. He was a follower and upholder of Sir Wilfrid Laurier throughout his long career of that great statesman, and although the Transcript's attitude on the question of conscription cost it many friends during the campaign of 1917, Mr. Hawke never wavered in his opposition to the draft, but remained firm in his support of the old chief. Mr. Hawke was born in Plymouth, England, of Cornish stock, on April 30, 1854, the son of John F. and M. A. (Harvey) Hawke. He was educated in the schools of his native city. In 1878 he went to the United States, but in the same year he crossed the line into Canada. He joined the staff of the Toronto Leader, of which publication he was legislative reporter from 1875 to 1878.

He then moved to Ottawa, where he joined the staff of the Ottawa Citizen-Globe corps of writers, becoming parliamentary reporter and political correspondent of that Liberal organ, at the dominion capital. Later he became managing editor of the Hamilton Tribune, a prohibitionist daily. He did not remain long in Hamilton, but shortly became editor-in-chief of the Ottawa Free Press, the Liberal mouthpiece at the capital.

Went to Moncton.
He remained in charge of the Free Press until 1887, when he became editor and proprietor of the Moncton Transcript, succeeding as editor Robert McConnell. Mr. Hawke came into greater prominence throughout Canada in 1888 during a federal election. For criticizing one of the supreme court judges he was summoned before the full bench of the supreme court of New Brunswick at Fredericton, where, for five hours, he pleaded his case and reviewed the law of contempt of court and criminal libel. Notwithstanding his powerful plea, the court decided against him and sentenced him to be confined in the York county jail for two months and to pay a fine of $200. His imprisonment created much sympathy and his friends gave expression to their feelings by raising a purse of $1,000 by public subscription which was devoted to meet the fine and costs entailed in the court proceedings.

FINE RESIDENCE AT ALBERT BURNED

Hopewell Hill, Feb. 17.—(Special).—During the height of the gale this afternoon, the fine residence at Albert, owned and occupied by David Rossiter and formerly owned by George W. Barber, again, burst into flames and was burned to the ground. The fire was first noticed between the partitions. The furniture and barns were saved.

RECENT DEATHS

Thomas E. Ellwood.
The death of Thomas E. Ellwood occurred at his home, 182 Monmouth street, Trenton, (N. J.) on February 10, after a lingering illness. Mr. Ellwood was a veteran employee of the Pennsylvania railroad and was a member of the Holy Name and Sacred Heart societies of St. Mary's cathedral, Trenton. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Nellie E. Collins, daughter of Mrs. James W. Bridget Collins, of 75 Elm street, north end, also by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Convery, and Miss Margaret Ellwood, of Lambertville; and one brother, John, also of Lambertville. The funeral was held on February 13, with high mass of requiem services, 178 Britain street, after a service at St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Samuel A. Thorne.
The death of Samuel A. Thorne, a well known contractor and builder, occurred yesterday afternoon at his residence, 178 Britain street, after a long illness extending over two years. He is survived by his wife and one son, Miles A., also by four half-brothers, Charles W. and A. M. Starkey, Houlton, (Me.), Adam M. and Archibald, who reside in Gardiner, (Me.). Mr. Thorne was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters. His kindly disposition and sterling integrity made for him hosts of friends, both in the city and province, who will mourn his death and sympathize deeply with the bereaved family and relatives in their loss.

The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon from his late residence at 178 Britain street, at 2:30 o'clock and interment in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Jackson Rowan.
The death occurred yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Sarah A. Rowan, wife of Jackson Rowan, at her residence, 214 St. John's street, after a protracted illness. She was a daughter of the late Robert and Margaret Armstrong, and joined the staff of the Ottawa Citizen-Globe corps of writers, becoming parliamentary reporter and political correspondent of that Liberal organ, at the dominion capital. Later he became managing editor of the Hamilton Tribune, a prohibitionist daily. He did not remain long in Hamilton, but shortly became editor-in-chief of the Ottawa Free Press, the Liberal mouthpiece at the capital.

PHILANTHRA SOCIAL

The Philanthra class of the Germain street Baptist church last evening held an enjoyable valentine social in the brotherhood hall of the church which was appropriately decorated with hearts and cupid. The invitations were gotten up in the form of a rhyme in which each was asked to pay as many cents as the number of letters in their full names. The "Y. M. A." orchestra furnished music and others taking part in the programme were Rev. S. S. Poole, Mrs. Blake Ferris, Landdowne Belyea, Miss Turner, Miss Beatrice Plect and J. Stewart Smith. Refreshments were served at the close.

A GIRL MARRIES
MAN WITH WIFE

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Montreal, Feb. 17.—To be married to a man after two weeks' acquaintance and to part from him after a three weeks' honeymoon when he informed her that he had a wife living, was the experience of 18-year-old Diana Mischkin, as related in the superior court here this afternoon, when she appeared for annulment of her marriage to William Klein, alias Nelson, at Montreal, last February. She said that Klein after the marriage had offered to introduce her to his wife and his 14-year-old son. The case was adjourned to Feb. 27 in order that legal proof of the first marriage might be adduced.

PAY TRIBUTE TO LATE OTTY BLACK

At a recent meeting of the Community Club of East St. John the following resolution was passed and ordered sent to Mrs. Otty R. Black, whose husband passed away on February 14—
"Dear Mrs. Black:
At a special meeting of the Little River Community Club, held Wednesday, February 15, a resolution of condolence and sympathy with you and your family in your very sore bereavement was unanimously passed. We held in such high esteem and whom we fully believe you mourn as a beloved and model husband and father.
The members of this club have just learned both in pain and sorrow and sincere regret of the sudden home-going of your beloved husband, and would hereby say as far as words can express their feelings by his departure from among us; also fellow-feelings with you in your irreparable and untellable loss and sorrow. We grieve with you for him whom we held in such high esteem and whom we fully believe you mourn as a beloved and model husband and father.
We have lost a most amiable fellow-citizen, a real gentleman, in Mr. Black, who showed an interest in us and our affairs as noticeable as commendable, for one who was not resident on our community. He was always to be depended upon to further our interests as much as lay in his power, with intelligence and usefulness, both as a citizen and school trustee.
Of a beautiful spirit, calm, courageous, and capable in trustee business, he was fair and just in all his transactions, and his passing is a distinct loss in every place and office he filled, and has left a vacancy which it will be difficult to fill.
We shall miss and mourn his absence with you, therefore will pray the God of all comfort and grace to solace and comfort you and all your dear ones on your need of grief, until He calls you to the land that is without death, sorrow and tears, where you will meet and greet your loved one in the 'Palace of the King' and dwell with him and 'the King in His beauty' evermore.
Yours, on behalf of the club,
(REV. W. LAWSON.)

Pius XI. a Diplomat And a Deep Student

Vigorous in Body and Mind at Age of 65—Won Success as Nuncio—Preserved Church Unity in Poland.

In Catholic Church circles Pius XI, the new Pontiff, is regarded as favorable to peace with the Italian state and is expected to carry forward his work toward a rapprochement between the Vatican and the Quirinal.

Francesco, the father, was a flâneur, a weaver and spinner—and, at the time of the birth of Achille, was in charge of the weavers employed by the Counts of Pualano.

A high church dignitary in Washington, who knows the new Pontiff personally, regards him as a very able diplomat and pointed to his work as Papal nuncio to Poland and subsequently his work in those portions of Bohemia.

NEARLY LOST HER LIFE NURSING DYING MOTHER

"For six months I had to devote all my spare time to nursing my mother, who was slowly dying of an incurable disease. Now, being well-off we couldn't afford the services of a nurse, so I had to be with her day and night."

She was a large woman and it took all my strength to lift her. Realizing that she had not long to live, she naturally wanted me with her all the time and my every attention which I gave to her. Four months ago she died and an hour after the funeral I went into a dead faint. The loss of sleep, the worry and the extra day and night work had finally been more than I could stand.

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Lovena, Sask., writes: "In 1917 I had lost all appetite, very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs. Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness.

He tells his own story in this letter. Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Lovena, Sask., writes: "In 1917 I had lost all appetite, very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from indigestion, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39."

Pius XI. a Diplomat And a Deep Student

Vigorous in Body and Mind at Age of 65—Won Success as Nuncio—Preserved Church Unity in Poland.

HIS HOLINESS POPE PIUS XI

Assembly and the Episcopacy of Poland. On April 19, 1921, he was created titular Bishop of Agana.

Pope Benedict's Praise.

In the secret consistory of June 13, 1921, Pope Benedict created Bishop Ratti a Cardinal and promoted him to be Archbishop of Milan.

At Milan at Stormy Period.

Ecclesiastically, politically and industrially the Archdiocese of Milan is one of the most important in the peninsula.

After he received his red hat, Cardinal Ratti said to some of the large contingent of Milanese who had come down to Rome for the ceremony:

"I thank God that He has granted it to me to devote the last efforts of my life to my fellow citizens."

Popular Among Milanese.

His selection as Cardinal Archbishop of Milan was well received by the Milanese, despite the fact that there was considerable anti-clericalism there.

His interest in archeology resulted in his election in 1915 to be a member of the Roman Pontifical Academy of Archeology, before which he delivered two lectures, in one of which he dealt with the basilica of St. Sebastian on the Appian Way as recounted in ancient records in the Vatican library.

Desis, in the archdiocese of Milan, where the Pope was born and where his youth was spent, is on the road from Milan to Monza, where on July 10, 1910, the father of the present King of Italy was assassinated. It lies at the foot of

The See had been without an Archbishop for over two months when Mgr. Ratti established himself in the palace fresh from his academic honors at Rome and his diplomatic victories at Warsaw.

When he first came in April, the great strike organized by the anarchist Errico Malatesta was still in force. He found the personnel of the palace disorganized on account of some of the servants joining the numerous committees, which, organized under the guise of Christian democracy, were, even against the will of their members, turned over to the Reds.

This was the Fascismo, started in Milan by Benito Mussolini, who, from an extreme Socialist, had been converted by the war to patriotism. Although remote in many things, yet, in bringing order out of chaos in Milan, Archbishop Ratti was the complement of Mussolini, and the latter's paper, the Giornale d'Italia, while usually ignoring or attacking the church, gave the archbishop valuable support.

Becomes the 261st Pope.

The 261st Pope to sit in the Chair of St. Peter and has taken the name of Pius XI, made famous in the last century by the memory of Pius VII, VIII and IX, and later in the first decade of the present century by Pius X.

The reign of Pope Pius VI, from 1775 to 1799, exceeded in length of years only by that of Leo XIII, who reigned from 1878 until 1903.

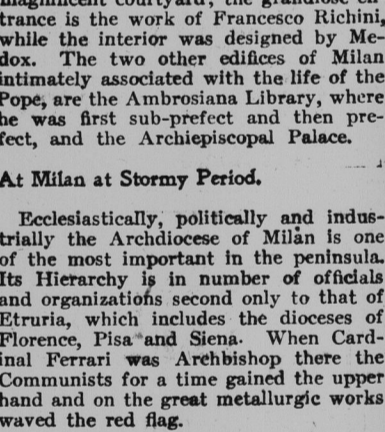

Pius X, reigned from 1903 till 1914. Both Pius IX and Pius X were noted for their piety, but Pius IX has gone down to history as a statesman.

According to the prophecy of St. Malachi, the church of the future will be ruled by the new Pope to be illustrious by the symbolic Latin phrase, "Fides Intrepida," which may be translated as "Unshaken, fearless faith."

The first "father and son" banquet of St. David's church was held last night under the auspices of the Brotherhood of that church.

The toast and those who spoke to them were: The King, by Norman Britain; the fathers, Edwin McGowan and Major J. T. McGowan; the Church, Harry Mason and Robert Reid; boys' work, George Turner and James Brittain; our guest, Gordon Miller and M. Grege; the ladies, Rowden Christy and Mrs. R. A. Jamieson.

BRIDE HONORED.
Last evening the milliners of the staff of Brock & Paterson, Ltd., assembled at 322 Germain street and tendered a novelty shower to one of their former members, Mrs. John A. Spence, who was married this week. The evening was happily spent, and all good wishes for future happiness were extended. Mr. and Mrs. Spence will leave soon for their home in Nassau, N. H. Mrs. Spence was formerly Miss Jennie Fudge.

BURIED TODAY.
The funeral of Mrs. Agnes Burns, wife of Michael Burns, took place this morning from her late residence, Connors street, Fairville, to St. Rose's church for high mass of requiem by Very Rev. Charles Collins. Interment was made at Sussex this afternoon. The body was accompanied there by husband, family and relatives. A large number of spiritual and floral offerings were sent. Among the latter was a magnificent wreath of calla lilies and roses from Allingham Lodge, No. 84, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

IN THE MARKET.
Business was not very good in the city market this morning, although there were good supplies of all commodities except poultry, lamb, and large logs on hand. There were very few fresh chickens, most of those in the market being frozen. The following prices were quoted:—Beef, 20 to 35c.; veal 30 to 35c.; lamb, 25 to 35c.; mutton, 8 to 10c.; pork, 30 to 35c.; ham, 40c.; bacon, 45c.; turkey, 55 to 60c.; fowl, 45c. a pound; potatoes, carrots, beets and parsnips, 50c.; turnips, 25c. a peck; celery, 10c. a bunch; lettuce 6 to 10c.; celeriac, 30 to 35c.; cabbage, 20 to 30c. a head; squash, 8c.; onions, 6 to 10c. a pound; apples, 25 to 45c. a peck; cranberries, 35c. a quart; eggs, 50 to 60c. a dozen; butter, 40 to 45c. a pound.

SUSSEX GIRL HONORED.
The following paragraph from a Boston paper refers to Miss Marie Marley, a native of the town of Sussex, who has many friends in St. John.
"On Monday evening, January 30, Miss Marie Marley, graduate nurse of the Arlington Training School for Nurses, and for nearly two years head nurse in the main building, was given a surprise party and farewell dance by many friends at the Ring Sanatorium and Hospital, Inc. Following the grand march, Miss Marley was presented with a large bouquet of American beauty roses and a five-dollar gold piece, both gifts of appreciation from the members of the training school and the hospital staff. The orchestra furnished exceptionally fine music, and dancing was enjoyed. During intermission, ice cream and cake were served. Miss Marley leaves the institution to enter private practice, and her many friends wish her great success in her new work."

ANOTHER TAKEN IN CLOTH CASE

West End Man Arrested, but Not the One Who Escaped from Sleigh.

Preliminary hearing in the case of Hugh Briggs, charged with receiving cloth to the value of $86, the property of the C. P. R. while in transit, knowing it to be stolen, was commenced this morning in the police court. H. H. McLean appeared for the railway. Briggs was not represented by counsel.

C. P. R. Constable Gostelle told of going to the residence of the accused in Winslow street, west end, yesterday afternoon accompanied by C. P. R. Investigator Ritsen and Detectives Biddiscombe and Donahue and armed with a search warrant. In the defendant's room beneath the mattress on his bed, he said, they found a piece of gray cloth, identified in court. Ritsen and Donahue left the building but the witness and Biddiscombe stayed until the accused returned home about 8:15 o'clock when they placed him under arrest and took him to the C. P. R. investigation department office.

Briggs was warned that anything he said would be used against him but made a voluntary statement in the presence of the witness and C. P. R. Inspector Stevens. He said he had received two pieces of cloth, the one in court and a piece of blue cloth, from a stranger in Union street, west end, paying him $20 for it. On another occasion, he said, he had got five pieces of gray cloth from a man named Wills. This man, the witness said, was now in jail on a charge of stealing cloth from the railway, and paid him $35 for the goods. Two pieces of gray and the piece of blue cloth had been sent to a woman in Montreal, one piece of gray to his brother in England, and the other two pieces of gray cloth sold to two men whose names he didn't know. The goods sent to the woman, the witness said, had been recovered at 65 Inspector street, Montreal. Briggs had told him he knew that Wills was arrested. The accused was a laborer on the west side, he said. So far as he knew Wills was not working at the present.

The case was postponed until Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock for further evidence.

The detectives say this was not the man who was with Wills when he was arrested, but that efforts are being made to apprehend this man.

One man charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty and was sent below.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC

To the Editor of The Times:
Sir—As our good friends the civil engineers are now elucidating the facts of the Masquash hydro-electric development to the public, would they kindly enlighten a sorely perplexed voter as to certain points, viz:—
The dams are designed to give 117 feet head from one branch and ninety feet head from the other branch. Now the intake of one of the lower dams is only eight feet from the top of the dam. This looks to the ordinary mind like only eight feet of head at that dam. I would like to ask:—
1st.—Of what use is the immense body of water below the intake to the hydro-electric development?
2nd.—If the intake was lowered would it not make use of this water and so give a greater head?
Yours,
JAMES MANNING.

In reply to the above, the following answer is given by an engineer:—
"If the pipe that takes the water from the dam to the wheels was taken out at the bottom of the dam instead of at a point eight feet below the top it would not be practical to draw off the level of the water down more than eight feet because if you did it would decrease the head, thus decreasing the speed and power of the turbines. At the same time if the pipe was taken from the bottom of the dam it would have to be made much stronger to resist the additional pressure."

GLENWOOD RANGES
AT NEW LOW PRICES
FURTHER REDUCTIONS in the price of Glenwood Ranges offers a substantial saving to prospective purchasers.
THE GLENWOOD RANGE was never at any time an expensive stove to buy when measured by the actual saving and comfort it brought to the home.
GLENWOOD RANGES, owing to their quality, durability and economy, are the best value of any cooking machine on the market today. Because the Glenwood Range is "made in St. John," it means a saving to the purchaser of the cost of crating which is necessary with all other ranges, the cost of freight, and extra charges. These facts are well worth considering when buying a new range.
SEE THE GLENWOOD before you buy—it will pay you.

THE ROSS REPORT

C. O. Foss of N. B. Electric Power Commission Shows That With Musquash Power Steam Standby Would Not Be Necessary—Points Out That of All the Engineers Who Have Discussed Musquash Development Only Two Have Advocated Steam Standby, Neither of Whom Ever Saw Musquash Plant.

To the Editor of The Times: Sir—R. A. Ross in his report of February 10, 1922, states: "From the point of view of insurance against shut-down which would be fatal in the case of a city the size of St. John, as well as that of economics, a steam plant is desirable and in fact in your case absolutely necessary."

By a steam standby Mr. Ross of course means a completely equipped steam generating plant, ready to be placed in operation at a moment's notice, with forty per cent of a full operating staff on hand so that in case of breakdown to the hydro plant a partial supply of electricity would be available for at least the essential domestic and public services.

Of all the engineers who have investigated the Musquash development, two only, Mr. Ross and Mr. Kessit, have said that a steam standby was necessary, and Mr. Kessit, in fact, was investigating the cost for the Brunswick Power Company of distributing hydro electricity. As that company already has a steam plant he included it as a capital cost and stated it would be useful as a standby in case of interruptions from ice, etc.

Is Uric Acid Poisoning Your System?

ONCE let your kidneys get out of order, and immediately uric acid and other impurities begin to collect in the system. The blood stream at once becomes poisoned, and the early outward signs of kidney derangement appear in the form of headaches, backaches, constipation, dizziness, pains in the sides, etc.

Failure to take prompt corrective measures leads to serious and painful afflictions. The only thing to do is to take Gin Pills. They quickly soothe and heal the kidneys and enable these organs to resume their work of filtering the uric acid and other poisonous waste from the blood.

Gin Pills are indispensable. Keep them in your home. 50c. a Box—Everywhere. Your Money Back if They Fail to Help You. NATIONAL DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. OF CANADA, LIMITED, TORONTO.

WILL ENDEAVOR TO REMODEL
THE HARBOR COMMISSION ACT

At a meeting called by the Mayor last evening the question of preparing amendments to the harbor commission act relating to St. John, was discussed and a committee was named to study the act and draft amendments. The meeting was held in the Board of Trade rooms. Mayor Schofield was in the chair, and a representative body of citizens was present. H. R. McLellan, who is the chief engineer of the harbor, was also present. A strongly dissenting note was sounded by Commissioner J. H. Frink, who, in vigorous speech, told of the drawing up of the tripartite agreement of 1911, and who said that the present legislation was all that was necessary for the proper development of the port if the government would carry out the provisions of that agreement.

There were about thirty persons present, the following being representatives of organizations invited to attend: D. W. Ledingham, Rotary club; A. P. Paterson, Commercial club; G. E. Barbour, Wholesale Grocers' Guild; F. A. Dykes, Retail Merchants' Association; H. C. Schofield, Board of Trade; Roy Willet, Hardware Clerks' Association; G. H. Watins, Engineering Institute of Canada. Several other organizations were asked to have representatives present but as meetings of those bodies were not held between the time of notice and the meeting, it was impossible to name representatives.

The Mayor said the meeting was opened by the mayor, who said that the idea was to get the citizens to unite on some definite plan by which the harbor could be taken over by the government. He, personally, was in favor of the act as it stood, but it had not met with the approval of the citizens. He read a letter from Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, M.P., who was unable to attend, saying that the question should be taken out of politics and that he would be glad to co-operate to remove the weak points of the present act and would aid in getting the harbor under federal control.

H. R. McLellan was then called on to give the results of his recent trip to Ottawa. He had learned there that the Negro Point breakwater must be extended before one dollar more was expended on the harbor of St. John by the government. The chief engineer of the public works department had estimated the cost at $1,000,000 and had recommended that the work be done, but it would depend on his superiors whether it would be carried out. In conversation with Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Mr. McLellan had asked if he would promise to put through a harbor commission act on the recommendation of a majority of citizens. The minister replied that if it meant the expenditure of money, he could not recommend it at the present time. Mr. McLellan told him of the rejection of the present act. The minister said that it was necessary for the citizens to come to a unanimous agreement and, if the amendments met with his approval, they would receive his serious consideration and he would do all possible to put them through the house, but he would not promise to put them through during this coming session. If the amendments were satisfactory he promised to have them passed at the fall session.

Mr. McLellan saw Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, in regard to the extension of the breakwater. He would promise nothing but said that the project would receive his most serious consideration. Mr. McLellan was of the opinion that the work of extending the breakwater would be commenced this year.

The speaker recommended the appointment of a committee to consider amendments to the act and said that as full co-operation as possible must be secured. The present meeting was carrying back to his organization the information that he had heard; viz, that the extension of the breakwater would receive serious consideration from Mr. Lapointe and would be passed, either at this session or in the fall.

The speaker was present with a sincere desire to help place the harbor under commission, but under a fair act. Mr. McLellan then launched into an attack against the weak points of the present act and said that the harbor commissioners should not be overloaded with burdens which would raise rates and drive business away. He had a firm desire to see the port of St. John progress and its welfare established.

Commissioner Frink said that he believed that if the 1911 contract had been carried out there would now be no talk of harbor development. The government had stopped work in 1917 and had never been asked to resume it. No resolution had been passed by the city council asking the government to resume operations under the act. They never would get anywhere by sitting still and doing nothing. The government should have been urged to continue the work.

The harbor commission act was loaded up with every kind of charge against the shipping interests, Mr. Frink asserted. There was nothing like that under the 1911 agreement. The city had given the government the land for one dollar, and expenditures were to have been made out of capital account and no extra charges were to be placed on the port.

The speaker then asked who had drafted the present act? The city council had not; neither had the Board of Trade. S. E. Elkin was the only man that had ever admitted that he had anything to do with it. The speaker was of the opinion that they had all the legislation that was wanted if the government would only carry it out.

Mr. Frink next spoke of the need for the extension of the breakwater and said that the wharves on the West Side would never be of any use until this work was completed, but he had heard so many promises in regard to the breakwater that it would nauseate one to relate them.

A. P. Paterson.

A. P. Paterson, called on by the chair, said that the 1911 agreement did not provide for the taking over of the present city wharves. The city still would have these wharves charges to face. The government should have control of all wharves, in the opinion of the speaker. He also thought that the harbor master in St. John had too much power. The city, he said, should not supply port facilities for the whole of Canada and should be relieved of this responsibility.

H. C. Schofield.

The next speaker, H. C. Schofield, said that the meeting had been called to discuss amendments to the act, not to discuss the pros and cons of harbor commission. A small working committee should be appointed to get down to business and he suggested one representative from each of the organizations which had been invited to be present. He made a motion to this effect, which was amended to give the committee power to add. The motion was seconded by A. P. Paterson and was carried.

The mayor said that he would notify the various organizations and would call the committee together on Wednesday evening, next.

FRANCE'S AIR MONOPOLY
French Writer Describes Gigantic "Y" Which Might Hamper Germany.

(New York Times)

The ambition which many Frenchmen possess to establish a French monopoly in aviation in the countries of Central Europe is indicated in the following article in The Paris Matin:

"If one traces on the map of Europe a line from Paris to Warsaw, by way of Strassbourg and Prague, and another from Prague to Constantinople via Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade and Bucharest, the lines will be seen to form an immense letter 'Y.' That 'Y' prophesies the air monopoly of France in Central Europe and the Near East. It exists already in fact from Paris to Warsaw, with an eventual extension to Moscow.

France has obtained from the Governments of Czechoslovakia and Poland a ten-year contract, with subsidies of money or gasoline. And a contract is also possible for the Prague-Constantinople line. Czechoslovakia is anxious to make Prague a main stopping place for Central European aviation, and has evinced a decided interest in the line from the Near East.

The aviator, Doolittle, who has recently been in Constantinople, was able to obtain for France a twenty-year monopoly, with facilities for establishing stations through Austria-Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Turkey. The result obtained will be considerable provided that France herself makes an effort for the exploitation of the Paris-Constantinople line through arrangements with the countries to be traversed by it.

"This 'Y' monopoly would, if brought to pass, be an avenue for French propaganda in Central Europe, Rumania and Turkey. And it would insure that Germany, who seeks to establish an air 'trust' in northern Europe, could not extend it to the South and trench her-

ROTHESAY CARNIVAL.
The Rotherham Community Club held a grand carnival on the open air rink last evening. The ice was in perfect condition and there was a large number of both skaters and spectators. The costumes worn by the skaters showed much originality. Music was provided by a Magnavox. The prize winners were as follows: Ladies, Miss Bessie Henderson, as a Japanese lady; gentlemen, James McLaughlin, as an Indian; ladies' doubles, Miss Carrell, as Hiram, and Miss Huestis as a powder puff; men's doubles, George Burton and Allan Flewelling, as Pierrots. The judges were Mrs. H. W. Frink, Mrs. J. H. Henderson and George Garvin.

Your Estate

There is but one certain way of having an Estate, and that is through life insurance.

Canadian Government figures recently compiled show that out of 107,109 persons who died in one year, 100,031 left estates of less than $10,000. The vast majority left nothing.

This fact, that 93% of persons at death leave practically nothing, makes clear the necessity for Life Insurance.

Creating Your Estate

THE CANADA LIFE will guarantee to provide at your death an Estate which is twenty or thirty times greater than the amount of your annual deposit with the Company. And if you live—

Every dollar of regular annual deposit will be returned at the end of twenty years, and substantial dividends will be paid at intervals.

Our "Capital Return" Policy

- 1st. Deposits are made yearly. This is what you are saving, and at the end of 20 years the Canada Life guarantees the return of every dollar paid in.
- 2nd. Your life is insured from the day you make the first deposit—for $5,000, or whatever amount you decide.
- 3rd. Dividends are paid at stated intervals in addition to the return of all deposits at the end of 20 years.
- 4th. These dividends may be used to increase the amount of your insurance, or be allowed to accumulate at interest for 20 years.
- 5th. The cash value of Policy and Dividends represents a valuable asset, useful in business, and your "estate" is protected by the insurance.
- 6th. At the end of Twenty Years you can draw out all you have paid in, along with the accrued dividends—you can draw a Special Cash Guarantee, together with the Accumulated Dividends, making a substantial sum, and leave the $5,000 Policy fully paid for and continuing to earn Dividends as long as you live—this Special Cash Guarantee may be applied to increase a $5,000 policy to more than $7,500.

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY; HOME AND ABROAD

BOWLING.

City League.

Some excellent bowling was witnessed in the second game on the City League schedule last evening. A highwater mark for the season for total pinfall was hung up by the Lions, 1517. They also chalked up a single string season record of 544, Wilson's 138 being largely responsible. The former records were pinfall, 1487; single string, 540—the former being held by Sweeps and the latter by Ramblers.

GORMAN AND GARNETT SHARE FIRST HONORS

Charles Gorman and Frank Garnett shared honors in the first day's maritime championships, which are being held in West St. John. The former, who holds the title, won first honors in the 220 yards and one mile events and Garnett took second in both. Moses Perry and Percy Belyea, both of Moncton, won ten points each, the latter finishing third in the 220 and the former third in the mile. Gorman and Garnett, both of the Saranac Lake and Lake Placid, were expected to outdistance the other competitors in the senior events and their showing was one of the features. Both finals saw the two local stars at their best. In the 220 both jumped away at the flash of the gun, Gorman slightly in the lead. He set a terrific pace, took 20-1-5 seconds in the first time of 20-1-5 seconds, with Garnett a few strokes behind. In the mile the final was the best race of the night. For two laps the competitors took turns leading and in the last lap Gorman and Garnett were skating neck and neck. Gorman broke the tape a few inches ahead of Garnett. Both were given well merited applause.

SPORTING GOODS IN DEMAND.

Market in Foreign Countries for American Athletic Paraphernalia.

That there is a growing and wide interest in athletic sports is evidenced by reports received by the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. Tennis leads as a pioneer in spreading this interest in competitive sports, and backed by the success of the leading American players in recent international tournaments, it would seem that our manufacturers of athletic paraphernalia should find a ready reception for their products in the overseas market.

YANKEES TO STAND PAT ON CONTRACTS

Huston Declares There Will be No Yielding to Demands of Hold-outs — Mistake in Hoyt Case.

(New York Times.) A flat declaration of war, with no reservations, was declared against all holdouts by the Yankees yesterday. Colonel Tillinghast Huston, who returned yesterday from the Washington meeting of the American League, was the spokesman for the local club, and the colonel spoke in accents firm and warlike.

"You can say for me," said Colonel Huston's partner, when he was asked about the holdout situation, "that the Yankees have done everything they can do and can do no more. We've gone the limit—and a thousand miles beyond. It no longer is a question of what we want to do. Even if we wanted to meet the exorbitant demands of some of the players, we couldn't. We can't raise a single figure and still conduct this club in either a profitable or businesslike way."

"I've seen every contract which has gone out of this office, and I can tell you that our salary list this season is larger than last year's—must larger. I've also seen some of the requests that have come back from some of our players. They were fabulous, almost beyond belief. And that despite the fact that we have been what we consider liberal in every case. We couldn't pay some of the salaries asked and still run our club."

The mystery surrounding the recent declaration of White Hoyt, that he had been sent a contract calling for $200 less than in 1921, was explained by Colonel Huston. It seems that the wrong contract was sent to the Flatbush youngster.

Right Contract Mailed. As soon as Hoyt perceived the fact that he was scanning John Doe's document, he sent it back to the club, and the right contract was mailed to him.

"Further than that, I know nothing of the alleged interview with Hoyt," Huston said. "It is absurd to think for a moment that we would reduce Hoyt's salary. My own theory is that the reporters in Philadelphia misquoted him, or told only half of the story, neglecting to add that the $200-minus contract belonged another player."

Colonel Huston's ultimatum takes on special interest because it is the first utterance of either of the Yankee owners since the Washington meeting, where they, together with Manager Miller Huggins and Business Manager Ed Barrow, went over the entire payroll, taking up each individual case and discussing to the fullest. Huggins is understood to have suggested a change here and there, and these alterations were adopted. In light of the above, Huston's statement may be taken to reflect the final stand of the Yankee owners.

How the situation will be met is still somewhat in the dark. Huggins, who was supposed to have hit the trail of the hold-outs, is now in his home in Cincinnati and has closed his expedition after Frank Baker and Chick Fewster had yielded to his arguments. The Yankees, it appears, are disposed to stand pat on their changes at Washington, not a contract to be changed by as much as the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a "t."

Owners Are Determined. "If the players will not come in," said Huston, "they will have to stay out. There won't be any war to the teeth, or anything like that. But we have, in our very best figures before them, and if there is to be any yielding it will not be on the part of Colonel Huston or me. You can put that down as final."

Although Colonel Huston seemed fazed by the demands of several of the stars, Business Manager Barrow declared that the situation this year is no worse than that of any other, a disconcerting remark. The Yankees, he said, are not unduly worried about the Springs squad, which is due to assemble at the Arkansas spa next Friday. Each of the players will leave from his home, and the Yankees will not concern themselves, said Barrow, about those men who do not sign and therefore do not leave. Babe Ruth and the five regular pitchers are among the sanctioned members of the Hot Springs contingent.

The Giants yesterday received the signed contract of Pitcher Malone, a right-hand twirler obtained last year from the Knoxville Club of the Appalachian League. His first name is Perce, which is unscouring, but not necessarily fatal.

FIVE-MILE EVENT WILL TEST STAMINA OF WORLD'S FASTEST

Indications are that the Canadian professional skating championships to be held on the East End rink next Friday and Saturday will be one of the greatest advertising days of "pro" racing in St. John—in the days of the late Hughey McCormick, Fred Breen, G. W. Campbell, Fred Bailey and others—match races between two skaters were the vogue. In this case, however, four fast skaters will compete in a series of events that will embrace the sprints and the long distances.

It has been the contention of some followers of skating in St. John that the skaters of the present day are not strong in long distance skating. However, the five mile race that is on the card for the St. John meet will prove that the stars of present day skating can skate the long grinds as well as the short events. McGowan is a demon at the long races, as he proved in the international amateur championships two years ago, winning the points largely by taking the long races. He then went to professional ranks. He is not only a skater but a boxer and has been under the tutelage of Mike Gibbons, the renowned St. Paul middleweight.

McGowan, by taking the five-mile in a desperate battle last Thursday at Saranac Lake, won the international professional title. Edmund Lamy, much to the surprise of the close students of skating here, took second place. This proves that Lamy is in wonderful shape. In the half mile, Lamy slipped a fraction of a second off his old amateur record, made fifteen years ago when international amateur champion.

Art Staff is out for revenge and wants to take the Canadian title. He was beaten out for the international title by ten points by McGowan. McLean also hopes to take the Canadian title, as does Lamy. The men who will compete in the local meet are the four highest point winners at the international meet this week. It seems likely that St. John will get the international professional meet for 1923 also, in addition to the amateur meet.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 17.—An agreement entered into here today between some of the best known professional skaters. The right to the American professional outdoor skating championship title will finally be decided on the greatest number of points won in a race at Endicott (N. Y.) tomorrow and Sunday, and at a professional meet here on Monday and Tuesday. The skaters who entered an agreement to race for the professional title under these conditions were Everett McGowan, who won the professional meet at Saranac Lake this week; Arthur Staff, of Chicago, who won the professional title here last winter; Bobby McLean, of Saranac Lake; Norval Bappte, of Minneapolis; Ben O'Sickey, of Cleveland; Don Baker, of New York; Clarence Carman, of Boston, and Morris Wood, of New York.

This action is in accordance with suggestion made by Staff previous to his defeat by McGowan this week. It was said here to automatically classify the Saranac Lake meet this week as one of several professional events without having final effect upon the title of American champion.

Harold Rising is President and Ralph Hayes Secretary — Look For Improvement During Coming Year.

The annual meeting of the Maritime Shoe Wholesalers Association was held in the Union Club on Thursday afternoon with the president, C. S. Mitchell, in the chair. While the review of the last year was not particularly cheering it was felt that there had been some improvement in the business in the last few weeks and it was believed a steady improvement could be looked for during the coming year. Routine business was transacted and reports were given of the formation of the Dominion Shoe Wholesalers Association with headquarters in Montreal. Previously there were only associations in Montreal and the maritime provinces. The maritime representatives on the Dominion association are S. C. Mitchell, manager of the Annes, Holden, McCready, Limited, and C. S.

NOTED CARDSHARPS CALLED BY DEATH

"Doc" Owens, Former Transatlantic Gambler, Killed by Fall Downstairs in Havana - "Beansy" Rosenfeld, who Turned Bootlegger, Dies in Sanitarium.

(New York Times.) W. J. ("Doc") Owens, card-sharp, transatlantic gambler, and a "mastermind" well known to the police of many cities, is dead. He fell downstairs in the Hotel Almendares, Havana, on Jan. 14, and died a few hours later. And yesterday, here in New York, another picturesque figure, one "Beansy" Rosenfeld, gambler and bootlegger, died in the Manhattan Square Sanitarium in West Seventy-seventh street. Of the two, Owens had the longer career and was the more notorious, although Rosenfeld's later operations were of greater magnitude.

Owens passed out of the limelight about 1906 when the steamship companies barred him on the ground that he forced passengers. But "Doc" had reaped a harvest while the reaping was good, and when he unwillingly lost his sea legs he pivoted his trade in the vicinity of Times Square, "cheating the cheaters" and "trimming the lucky ones" for professional gamblers. "Doc" knew cards. The hand is quicker than the eye, and his fingers were like lightning.

The report got around that he had taken $200,000 from William Thaw in a card game on one of his trips. Both Thaw and Owens denied this, but the steamship companies, after many complaints, closed their gangways to the thickest man, slightly above medium height, with black hair, a face slightly pock-marked, eyes that stared inquiringly and a large, thick-lipped mouth drooping at the corners. The fact that Owens was so well known did much to throw his workmanship into relief. He became a marked man. Travelers watched for him.

One of the conspicuous episodes that brought Owens and other gamblers into disrepute was the loss of $1,500 by the young Earl of Rosslyn while on his way from this city to England on the old Cunarder Etruria. He was accosted by three well-to-do Americans. They played cards, soon acquired the Earl's ready cash, and then one of them had the temerity to sue him for a $100 check, given as part payment of the gambling debt. Two attorneys were the plaintiffs, but "Doc" Owens was believed to be behind the suit. Rosslyn won the case because there had been no consideration for the check.

About the same time "Doc" Owens had his fight to prevent his picture from finding a place in the Rogues' Gallery. He alleged that there was no reason why it should become part of the record and would greatly injure his reputation. Judge Leventritt decided, however, that no one could object to having his picture at police headquarters provided it was not used for other than official purposes.

In the following year the name of "Doc" Owens was coupled with the story of a quarrel over cards that nearly ended in a tragedy. Another passenger on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, C. A. Partens, was reported to have lost $1,500 at cards. He publicly accused the man with whom he was playing. In a rage the gambler seized Partens and would have thrown him over the rail had not deckhands intervened.

Owens stayed "abroad" so long that in 1915 when he wanted to return to this country the state department ruled that he had lost his citizenship. So Owens lived in London and supplied the backing for a fashionable Piccadilly millinery shop. He left a fair-sized estate in England, and his personal property in Havana is said to be considerable.

While in New York Owens "hung out" in different gambling houses until a customer had an unusual run of luck. If the lucky one were under suspicion of cheating, "Doc's" services would be called in, and upon him would fall the duty of getting the money back. According to his intimates, "Doc" could handle cards better than any man living. He could stack cards any way he wished, and detection was impossible.

Simon Ben Rosenfeld, or "Beansy" Rosenfeld, alias "The Hon. Sigmund Rosenfeld," who died at five o'clock at the Manhattan Square Sanitarium, was involved in several interesting cases, and at the time of his death was under federal indictment with Edward Donegan and others for alleged participation in a conspiracy to violate the Volstead act through irregular liquor permits. Through the arrest of "Beansy" and his alleged confederates the government hoped to check the flow of illegal liquor known to have greatly exceeded the average of $500 to $700 cases a day, amounting to more than $1,000,000. When Rosenfeld was arrested he was under bail in New Jersey. He had been arrested and convicted of operating a gambling house in Carlstadt, Bergen county, and was sentenced to a term in prison. He lost his appeal and remained in prison until last December, when he was pardoned because of ill health. Rosenfeld and others were to have been placed on trial in the liquor case on Feb. 14, but because William J. Fallon, their attorney, was engaged in a murder trial the trial was postponed a week.

PORTLAND LODGE ENTERTAINS.

Continuing a series of fraternal entertainments among Sons of England lodges in the city, Portland Lodge of the order held an enjoyable reunion last night in their hall in Simonds street with many members of sister lodges on hand. After a short business session, the following programme was carried out: Soles, Walter Brindle, J. Maitle, Marlborough Lodge; C. Wills, E. Brittain, violin duet; Messrs. Colten and Cameron; recitations, T. Silbey, P. Horne, F. Evans; speeches, District Deputy F. Thomas, R. A. Darby, P. Horne, T. McDonald, Lodge Halifax. Refreshments were served later and a very pleasant evening was brought to a close with the singing of the national anthem in the good old S. O. E. style. L. A. Belya, worthy president of Portland Lodge, was in the chair.
