Equally Unsuccessful in Assaults on Three Sides of Cathedral City — Fighting Along Fourteen Mile Front — Hun's Losses Heavy—British Successful in Operation

Paris, June 19.—The Germans last night, after a violent preparatory bombardment, began an attack on the Rheims front, between Vigny and La Pompelle. The war office so announced today.

On the western front of the attack at Rheims the enemy was not able even to reach the French line. In the east, before the city the Germans were completely repulsed and suffered heavy losses. The centre of Rheims the French were equally successful.

Paris, June 19.—The French official statement follows:

"Last night at 6 o'clock the German delivered a violent preparatory bombardment along the whole front of Rheims, from the region of Avrigny west of the city as far east as La Pompelle. At 9 o'clock the enemy infantry began an attack on the French positions between these two points.

"The French troops resisted the German attack with complete success, the counter-barrage of the French artillery proving very strong.

"Between Avrigny and Ormes, German assault troops were stopped by the French fire and forced to return many times to their lines of departure and were not finally able to reach the French positions.

"Around Rheims violent combats developed, during the course of which the enemy suffered heavy losses and was everywhere repulsed.

"East of Rheims the fighting likewise ended to the advantage of the French. The Germans, having been successful in penetrating the woods northeast of Sillery, were driven out by a French counter-attack.

"Prisoners taken in the region of Rheims declared that the town was attacked by three divisions, which were ordered to take the place at all costs during the night."

FIVE OUTFOUGHT NINETEEN HUNS

British Seaplanes Attacked Off Dutch Coast Put Enemy to Rout

London, June 19.—(By the Associated Press)—In a fight off the Dutch coast on June 4, five British seaplanes of the largest type outfoought nineteen German seaplanes. One of the enemy machines was set down in flames and another driven down out of control, according to a description of the fight written for the Associated Press by Esigton K. B. Keyes, a United States naval aviator.

Previous to the encounter one of the British machines had descended to make repairs and the Germans set upon the four other machines protecting the injured one. Esigton Joseph Eaton, another American aviator, was on the injured machine and was subsequently interned in Holland.

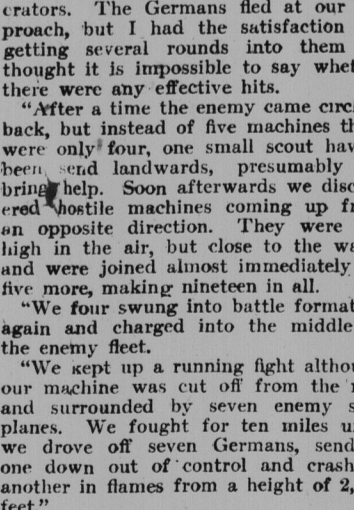

"Esigton Eaton and I were two Americans among the crews of five flying boats on a North Sea patrol," says Esigton Keyes. "West of Tracheling, Eaton's machine had to alight on the surface owing to engine trouble. We stood by, circling in the air and waiting for him to repair the damage. Soon five German airplanes hovered in sight. We took battle formation and went for them. I was in the front cockpit with one gun and 400 rounds of ammunition. My stern were three more guns and their operators. The Germans fled at our approach, but I had the satisfaction of getting several rounds into them although it is impossible to say whether there were any effective hits.

"After a time the enemy came circling back, but instead of five machines there were only four, one small scout having been shot down, presumably by Esigton. Soon afterwards we discovered a heavy machine coming up from an opposite direction. They were not high in the air, but close to the water and were joined almost immediately by five more, making nineteen in all.

"We four swung into battle formation again and charged into the middle of the enemy fleet.

"We kept up a running fight although our machine was cut off from the rest and surrounded by seven enemy seaplanes. We fought for ten miles until we drove off seven Germans, sending one down out of control and crashing another in flames from a height of 2,000 feet."

The quarterly meeting and conference were held in St. Phillip's church on Sunday and Monday, June 10 and 11. Rev. C. A. Stewart of Amherst was presiding officer. On Sunday Rev. Stewart preached two interesting sermons at 11 a.m., 7 p.m. In the morning the congregation was small but appreciative; but it was large in the evening.

On Monday the conference was well attended and the session was very interesting. All the departments brought up good reports, including trustee board, stewards' board, the Sunday School, Missionary Society, Willing Workers and choir. The auxiliaries were complimented by various persons present, among whom were Mr. Henderson and Dr. Nichols of Halifax, each of whom expressed great appreciation of the way in which the conference was conducted and the excellent reports made.

PARIS RELAXES

Paris, June 19.—News of the Austrian republic on the Italian front, the comparative quiet on the French and British lines, silence on the part of the long range guns for six days and the inability of the Goths to cross the terrific defensive barrage in their last three attempts to reach Paris, only one German having succeeded in flying over the city, have caused the staff nerves of Paris to relax. The city has assumed an appearance nearer that of before the war than at any time since the opening of hostilities.

Note of Warning On War Expenditures

Some London Papers Sounded It in Comment on Bonar Law's Speech—Chronicle Speaks of "Inadequacy of Financial Control"

London, June 19.—A note of warning against increased war expenditures is sounded by the Daily Chronicle and the Daily News in their comment on the statements made by Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, in moving a vote of credit in the House of Commons yesterday. Other papers do not question the huge outlay.

"We are getting our money's worth," says the Daily Express. It adds that the Allies "look forward to another three months on insistant anxiety."

The Daily News says:—"The sinister fact is the indifference that prevails on the subject. The treasury long since ceased to exercise control; parliament offers nothing with which to dam the tide. The government idea of getting on with the war does not include any considerations of economy, and there is no check on the torrents of waste in the departments themselves."

While stating that the cost of all materials is higher the Chronicle charges the government with being "inadequate," and blames "the continuing inadequacy of our financial control."

LIEUT. J. F. SMITH HOME UNEXPECTEDLY

Telephone Message First Intimation His Parents Had That He Was Coming—First Contingent Man Who Won His Commission

A great surprise and a most welcome one was received last evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smith of 288 Lancaster street, West St. John, when they received a telephone message that their son, Lieut. J. Frank Smith, had arrived from England and was on his way to their home.

Lieutenant Smith's arrival was entirely unexpected as his family had no idea that there ever was a prospect of his return. After reaching the city, Lieut. Smith on his way home dropped in to see E. R. W. Ingram of the way side, with whom he had been employed before going overseas. A message from Mr. Ingram that their son was on his way by their home was the first intimation that Mr. and Mrs. Smith had that he was not still overseas.

Lieutenant Smith enlisted in the first contingent and went over with Major Duval in 1914. He was with Major Duval in the time that he was killed. Soon afterwards he was gassed but recovered and returned to duty. More recently he was severely wounded in the hip and over the eye. He was almost entirely recovered but was granted a furlough to complete his convalescence.

While in Matlock hospital at Bath, near Buxton, England, Lieutenant Smith in an unexpected meeting with his home letters and parcels were unmanageable and unacknowledged. Inquiries made through various military and official channels failed to bring any information and his parents reluctantly came to the conclusion that he must have died.

When their third son, George H. Capron, who was engaged there as a nursing sister. The surprise was mutual as neither had known that the other was near.

After almost four years' absence, with a period of arduous service and a commission won, to his credit, Lieutenant Smith returns home to meet a hearty reception from his former friends.

Up to the present standard qualifications have been required only of those scalers operating on crown lands. It will be recommended to the legislature that uniform qualifications be required for all scalers operating within the province.

In finding their son, Mr. and Mrs. Capron also have found a daughter, as Guy's letter conveys the news that he has been married to an English girl. His wedding, to Miss Nellie Frances Green, of Millfield, took place on May 19 of this year in St. Andrew's and St. Mary's church, England, and would like to hear from his old friends here, to whom he asks to be remembered.

GET WORD OF MISSING SON AND NEW DAUGHTER

Gunner Guy Capron, of First Contingent, Wounded in 1915, Writes Home of His Marriage in England—Memory Lost, Restored by Meeting With Brother

After a year of anxiety about their son, a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Capron, of 100 Chesley street, was almost like a message from the dead. Two of their boys, Guy C. and Roy W., left St. John with the first contingent and became members of Major Mager's battery. Roy still is serving at the front, having escaped during three years of active service both wounded and serious illness. Their elder son was badly shot as he was being loaded onto a hospital train in the early part of 1915. He was sent to England and transferred from one hospital to another for treatment but, more than a year ago, his home letters and parcels were unmanageable and unacknowledged. Inquiries made through various military and official channels failed to bring any information and his parents reluctantly came to the conclusion that he must have died.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MISS ALICE A. DOHERTY

Miss Alice A. Doherty eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Doherty of 299 Charlotte street, passed away this morning in the St. John Infirmary. Her death came as a terrible shock to many. Of a bright and sunny disposition, Miss Doherty was one of the most pleasing companions. For several years she has been troubled with an affection of the throat, and it was for the purpose of undergoing an operation that she entered the Infirmary on Sunday morning. The operation was performed this morning, but she never rallied from the effects. It is hard to realize a bright young life has been brought to so sudden a close, and to the distressed family heartfelt sympathy will be extended in their severe trial.

Miss Doherty was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Doherty, and was a graduate of St. Vincent's school, and lately was in the employ of the Ford Motor Company as a stenographer. Her friends were many; the loss a great one. Miss Doherty was a member of St. John the Baptist church and was always a willing worker in performing those acts which make for the betterment of all. Besides her parents, three sisters survive, and to the distressed family heartfelt sympathy will be extended in their severe trial.

Boy of Fourteen Was in Trenches

Impersonated Brother to Get There, But is Discovered.

London, Thursday, June 6.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—How a boy of fourteen impersonated his elder brother in the great battle in France in April was told in a Folkestone police court today when Arthur Stephens was charged with wearing a military uniform without authority.

Young Stephens' elder brother came home on leave early in the winter and time. Eager to get into the fighting the boy surrendered to the police in the name of his brother. He was sent to his brother's unit and after sixteen days of fighting in the German offensive his identity was discovered and he was sent back home. Meanwhile the elder brother had rejoined his regiment.

"I killed a great many Germans," the boy told the magistrate. "It was easily done, for you only had to pull the trigger and you couldn't miss them."

CORN AND OATS.

Chicago, June 19.—Falling off in receipts together with belief that the crop movement would be still more curtailed as soon as much wheat was ready for shipment had a bullish effect today on corn. Initial declines due to favorable weather were not of a lasting sort, as government advices showed need of rain in important districts. Opening prices, which ranged from 8-8 off to 1-8 advance, with July at $1.42 1/2 to $1.44 1/8 and August at $1.45 to $1.45 1/4 were followed by moderate upticks all around. Received export demand strengthened at 1-4. The fact that the crop is at a critical stage seemed as if to make sellers cautious. After opening 1-8 cents off to 1-4 cents advance, with July at 71-8 to 71-4, the market scored material general gains.

Provisions rose with corn. Offerings were light.

O'Dell-Allen. The marriage of Miss Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Allen of Amherst, and Perry Edwin O'Dell of St. Andrews, N. B., will take place this afternoon at 6.30 o'clock in Christ Church, Amherst.

GIVING INFORMATION TO THE GERMANS

New York, June 18.—Arrested in Bethlehem (Pa.), on last Sunday on a charge of violating the trading with the enemy act by conspiring to smuggle a mysterious message into Denmark, Charles Emil Stangeland, well known political economist and until recently second secretary of the American embassy in London, was held here today in $10,000 bail by the federal authorities.

According to a complaint filed by an inspector of the customs intelligence bureau, Stangeland, conspired on May 26 with Gustave Ragnar Lindgren to convey through Lindgren, instead of the mails, a communication addressed to his wife, Karin Michaelis Stangeland, the novelist, who is living in Copenhagen. Lindgren was arrested here on June 6, just before he was to sail, and the communication it is alleged was found in his baggage.

When he was arrested, Stangeland was working as a statistician for the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. He was born in Iowa, thirty-seven years ago of Swedish parents and was for some years connected with the American diplomatic service. He was a member of the academy of political science and of like organizations in Berlin and Christiania.

A War Child. Representative Ashbury Lever of South Carolina said in a Red Cross appeal in Charleston:

"Food saving will greatly help to win the war. Let us all then be as saving as our food as a little girl I know in Newberry.

"Julie," said this little girl's mother the other day, "did you tell your apple before eating it, as I told you to?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Julie.

"And what did you do with the peeling?" said her mother.

"At it," said Julie calmly.

FEW STRIKES ON IN CANADA AND OF TRIFLING NATURE

Ottawa, June 19.—In a statement issued by the labor department it is said there is an apparent mild-appearance as to the extent of labor troubles in Canada. At the present time, from Cape Breton to Vancouver Island there are no more than five or six trifling strikes, most of them about a week old and involving, in all, something less than 250 men and women. There is no doubt more than the average degree of industrial unrest, but only in special cases is this unrest converted into strikes.

She was met at the station by the groom and the ceremony followed. The groom was supported by his cousin, Lester A. Warren, and the bride was attended by Miss Warren. COUPLES WILSON IN ATTACK ON FORD

Detroit, Mich., June 19.—Attacking Henry Ford for his candidacy for the United States senate, and President Wilson as "the greatest political anticrest in the world," ex-Governor Charles S. Osborn opened his campaign for the Republican nomination for senator in an address in Owosso.

"I am going to stay in the fight and lick that man Ford," shouted Mr. Osborn. He declared that Ford's peace ship with Germany and "mass murder" out of him." Germany, he said, wanted the desire for peace kept alive in this country, and Ford helped the Kaiser to do it.

"Ford doesn't believe in the American flag and says he won't fly it after the war," said Mr. Osborn. "He admits he hasn't voted but twice in twenty years, and he knows nothing of history, affairs of state, or anything to qualify him for the office."

Mr. Osborn declared that President Wilson made the most terrible blunder in history by trying to keep America out of the war, when it was evident that it was impossible. Yet, he said, Mr. Wilson asked re-election on the ground that he kept the country out of the war. He either lacked wisdom or honesty, Mr. Osborn said. He said he did not object to the president having all the power necessary to win the war, but he wanted him to remember that he was the people's servant and could be discharged.

Mr. Osborn charged President Wilson with seeking to dictate to the people of Michigan whom they should send to the senate.

Thomas J. O'Brien, ex-ambassador to Japan and Italy, is outspoken in condemnation of Mr. Ford. In an interview he said:

"Mr. Ford has had no legislative experience and apparently has cared for none. He has taken no interests in public affairs, and it is understood that he has even neglected to vote. He places his willingness to serve upon patriotic grounds, which, of course, is absurd. He is content to be elected upon any ticket that will appear to be the strong-est, and he is doing this at the request of the president of the United States."

"This involves a principle which I regard as vital. The president has violated this principle for unworthy reasons. Primarily he would like an additional reliable vote in the senate, which he could command at all times, without question and without effort."

"In the second place, Mr. Ford is enormously wealthy. As a contributor to Democratic party funds he would be of immense value."

You May Find It In Stocking

Cincinnati authority says your troublesome corns just loosen and fall off

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes just loosen in their sockets and fall off the next day if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of a drug called freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

You merely put a drop or two of this freezone on the tender, itchy corn today and instantly the corn stops hurting, then tomorrow sometime you may find the old torturous pest somewhere in your stocking, having fallen off entirely without a particle of soreness, pain or irritation. The skin surrounding and beneath the former corn will be as healthy, pink and smooth as the palm of your hand.

A quarter ounce of freezone is sufficient to rub one's feet of every corn and callus, and any druggist will charge but a few cents for it. It is a compound made from ether.

A TENSE SITUATION.

We are told that the people of Austria-Hungary are surprised and discontented at the unexpected failure of the drive against Italy, for which preparations on so great a scale had been made. The promise of great booty to the drive victory has not been fulfilled. The drive is a failure, and the knowledge of that failure will intensify the spirit of revolt that is rising among the hungry people of the dual monarchy. At least this is what we gather from the Allied press comment on the general situation as it appears today.

THE COAL QUESTION.

Bradstreet's hears that two hundred small manufacturers in Chicago have been compelled to close their factories because of a lack of steel and coal. In other words the American government is more and more subordinating everything else to the task of winning the war.

There is a very important suggestion in this for Canada. If already in Chicago the coal pinch is so keenly felt, what prospect is there that next winter's coal supply for all purposes all over the continent will be sufficient? The message Bradstreet's gives to its readers should be heeded in Canada as well. It says:

"More rigid measures of economy in the use of coal must be at once adopted by domestic consumers and the less essential industries if we are to avoid a threatened shortage in the supply of fuel, according to Dr. Garfield. He declares, indeed, that a saving of 60,000,000 tons of coal is the one possible avenue of escape from national distress. A detailed survey of the requirements during the present coal year foots up, it appears, about 80,000,000 tons more than were produced last year, but the Fuel Administrator does not feel safe in assuming that figure as the limit of late in increased production. Indeed, the objective of Memorial Day is reported to have resulted in a decrease of over 1,000,000 tons in the output of bituminous coal in the week ending June 1 as compared with that for the preceding week, and for the first time since the new coal year began production fell below that of the corresponding week last year. The output for the week also, namely, 10,744,000 tons, was 1,286,000 tons below the weekly average necessary to meet the country's demands, viz., 12,000,000 tons. While suggestions to guide the individual consumer in saving coal will be furnished by the Fuel Administration, Dr. Garfield thinks that the coal deficit must be made up out of the fuel for non-war industries, and some curtailment of their supply may be looked for."

The lesson to be learned from this article is that orders for coal should be placed so that they may be filled as soon as possible, and thus keep the medium of transportation busy while weather conditions are favorable, and also that as much wood fuel as possible should be laid in by those who are able to use it for fuel purposes. In St. John it is evident that more soft coal than usual must be consumed next winter—the supply can be got.

Mrs. L. C. McKinney, who addressed the W. C. T. U. convention at Ottawa yesterday, is a member of the legislature of Alberta. The western provinces not only give women the vote but accept them as representatives. The eastern provinces should follow so excellent an example, especially since the federal franchise has been given to the women of Canada. Men and women have a common obligation to further what Mrs. McKinney describes as the common causes of humanity.

A citizen of Toronto has offered the sum of $200,000 to the medical faculty of the University of Toronto to be used to stimulate the study of children's diseases and the hygienic care of children. A man's surplus wealth could be devoted to no better purpose than the promotion of child welfare.

A Quebec farmer has been ordered by the courts to pay all damages, and they are very heavy, caused by a forest fire which he started. The lesson is a salutary one and should make forest conservation a matter of greater personal interest to careless or indifferent persons in that province.

The Germans are making peace with Russia by killing more Russian. That is an effective method so far as the dead are concerned, but there are a great many Russians, and they may presently decide to retaliate.

If the Imperial Munitions Board will let no more contracts for wooden ships the continuance of the industry must depend on private enterprise.

The south end playground delegation received a sympathetic hearing at City Hall yesterday, and its appeal will need to tolerate that sort of thing, and prompt measures to suppress it may be expected.

Mr. Frank H. Simonds says the Austrian attack upon Italy seems almost a complete failure. There was no such sweeping success as attended the first few days of the German drives in the west.

LIGHTER VEIN

Their "Bit."
"We used to hear a great deal about the 'idle rich.'"
"So we did."
"Are they all at work now?"
"Not all, perhaps. But here of late they are taking care to keep out of the way of people who do work."

Always After Mary.

They were having a lesson in history at a public school. The teacher was examining the pupils on the subject of British sovereigns.

"Who comes after Henry the Eighth?" asked the teacher.

"Edward the Sixth," answered a pupil.

"Right. And who succeeded Edward the Sixth?"

"Mary," answered the second little bright eye.

"Correct; and who came after Mary?"

There was a puzzled pause. Then a pupil who had heretofore not contributed much to the progress of learning, had an inspiration. He raised his hand, and, being called on, answered triumphantly: "The little lamb!"

Another War-Time Substitute.

Mrs. Umson looked, but did not smile. Pinching the cork and moving it up and down as if to ascertain its weight, Umson continued his inspection.

"By this time Mrs. Umson was glowering."

"Well," she said, "I suppose you are going to poke fun at my cooking again?"

"Far from it," her husband answered. "Then what in the world are you doing with that cork?"

"I was testing its resiliency."

"Why what?"

"And also taking note of its compactness and strength."

"Isn't that making fun of it?"

"My dear, you may have unwittingly made a great discovery."

"How that may not be much of a success as a cork, but it might make a wonderful substitute for a rubber heel."

Too Much Capital Required.

A Cleveland father tells us that he had thought up a great scheme for keeping his son from being a playboy. He had the quality of thriftiness, and resolved to apply it to his son.

"I'm going to give you a nickel every day you're a good boy, on condition that every day you are naughty you are to give me a nickel. Is it a go?"

"Like to do it, dad," answered the lad. "But I can't afford it. I've only got $1.36 in my bank to start on."

O'LEARY ON TRIAL WAS REGARDED AS ANOTHER H. K. THAW

Witness Says He Considered Prisoner to Be of Un-sound Mind

GOES TO TOMBS WITHOUT ANY BAIL

Gave Up Lucrative Law Practice Soon After War Started and Heralded Himself as Great Hero and the Man Who Was to Save Ireland.

New York, June 18—While in an adjoining court chamber Jeremiah A. O'Leary, Sinn Fein leader and brother of the defendant, was pleading innocent that he conspired with alleged German agents to inform the enemy of American war preparations and foment rebellion against British rule in Ireland, Arthur Lyons testifying at the trial of John J. O'Leary in federal court here today, detailed events leading up to a special sympathizer's flight on May 7 to a hamlet near Portland, Oregon, where he was apprehended by government agents last Wednesday.

The O'Leary brothers and Lyons were jointly indicted for conspiring to remove the Sinn Fein from the court's jurisdiction when he was about to go to the field of Harry Thaw.

Details of O'Leary's flight were told in court by Lyons. After stating that there never was any agreement or understanding between Jeremiah and John O'Leary that the former was running away from the jurisdiction of the court, Lyons asserted that Jeremiah had asked him on May 3 to accompany him to Reno, Nevada, to try a divorce case.

John O'Leary bought two tickets for St. Louis, Lyons said, and when Jeremiah said good-bye to his brother he would be back for his trial.

He said he was going to buy a farm. After purchasing an automobile and paying for it partly with Liberty bonds, he said O'Leary took him to St. Louis, where the chicken farm on which O'Leary was captured was bought in Lyons' assumed name, Thomas A. Gertie.

After they had taken possession, Lyons said, he wished to return to New York City, but O'Leary would not let him go. He said he had to stay in the place being "well stocked up."

On May 27, Lyons said, he showed O'Leary an article in a New York paper regarding O'Leary's indictment, with four more Americans and two Germans, on charges of conspiracy to conspire to remove O'Leary from the court's jurisdiction, and he spoke of being a "martyr" for Irish freedom.

O'Leary said he had obtained $200 from O'Leary with which to come home after O'Leary had suggested that he return via Mexico to leave the impression that O'Leary was there.

Physical Health Declined.

After he asserted that Jeremiah's "physical decline" during which he had lost twenty pounds, began two years ago, Lyons was questioned concerning the fugitive's mental state. Lyons said that Jeremiah had believed himself "one of the greatest men this country ever produced—the man who would free Ireland." He said he had practiced his law for six months after the war began.

When Speer was called he testified that Mrs. Marie De Victoria, who was indicted with O'Leary and other defendants on the treason charges, had appeared three times at the office occupied by him and O'Leary and had asked for O'Leary. He did not know, he said, whether she and O'Leary had ever conferred.

Cross-examined by counsel for John O'Leary regarding Jeremiah's physical condition during the last two years, Speer declared that he did not believe the man could live long, or that when he went away he would ever come back as a physician had told him O'Leary refused to submit to a necessary operation.

He said also that, having known Jeremiah for many years, he always regarded him as "eccentric," and that he had not regarded the fugitive as mentally responsible for his actions for years.

If looked upon him as a replica of Harry Thaw," he declared.

Cooks Rewarded For Saving Fat For Munitions Output

Saving Wounded Soldiers—Medical and Military Authorities Co-operate To Turn These Men Back to The Trenches

London, May 10—(Correspondence)—Not far from Brighton the British military authorities have established a special school for army cooking and the size and importance of it may be gathered from the fact that although it is concerned with only the eastern command, 80 officers and 14,000 men have already taken its six week's course.

There are in the units of the military encampment, are erected the sort of ovens seen in French Canada for the baking of bread, long low brick contrivances for the cooking of "dixies" and other forms of appliance for the preparation of food in the open air. An army, it has been said, marches on its stomach, and the pupils are shown how to cook everything from a flour and water cake—the chupatti of India—to stews, soups, cream soups, and other delicacies of the kitchen.

Some of the men sitting round a sergeant with his stripes pinned on his white cook's jacket, talking notes and he discourses to them on calories and all the other technicalities of the kitchen, though they wear the sergeants' tunics of years of campaigning in the trenches, and the pupils are shown how to cook everything from a flour and water cake—the chupatti of India—to stews, soups, cream soups, and other delicacies of the kitchen.

They will rattle off percentages of rations and decimal points, however, as they can save from their cooking and the quantity of by-products they can produce.

For England today is firing a considerable number of her big guns with the waste collected from her military cooking, which is, of course, the basis of all modern high explosives. In this way enough fat was saved in the army in a single year to produce 1250 tons of explosive, which was quite enough for 12,000,000 80-pounder shells.

When the result of economy in waste was explained to the master cooks, they were very enthusiastic and their zeal is maintained by an increase of pay to those cooks who show due economy in the course of their ordinary duties. If a cook manages to save $2.75 in by-product a week on the rations of 100 men, he gets an extra twelve cents a day, and if he gets an extra twelve cents a day, he gets an extra six cents.

Taking the eastern command alone during February, by using the best cooking methods and using proper care, 35 per cent of the ration in food and 8.22 per cent of the money allowance to the messes was saved, and it was also found possible to get 11.41 pounds of dripping and fat from every 100 pounds of meat served out and to recover by-products of the value of 68 cents from the rations of each 100 persons. When the same kind of economies are being practiced throughout the 5,000,000 men of the British army, it is evident that the savings run into very large figures.

Not far from the cookery camp is another devoted to convalescent soldiers. This also in its way is an example of economy, for here come the men who have been wounded once, but who may yet be able to go back to the firing line. Here the medical and military authorities work hand in hand.

When they first come the men may be suffering from injuries that seem to have incapacitated permanently an arm or an arm, but the army will not despair of them for that reason. It puts them in the lowest class in which the surgeons have nearly complete recovery and send the men every day to hospital to be treated with massage, electricity, and medical gymnastics. As far as possible their surroundings are kept cheerful and then as their lost powers come back they are promoted to the second class.

Here the colonel commandant begins to exercise his authority and the regime becomes rather more military. Still every case is treated separately, the surgeon has the right at any time to intervene and no one tries to hurry the patient on too fast. When he reaches the highest class he has been practically dismissed by the doctor and WATCH FOR EGG CLUSTERS Tomatoes need a certain amount of attention just at present. Remember that they figure as one of the most valuable salad crops and they are especially good when canned. They should be kept well shaded up, and this is particularly desirable if the earth around them is wet or heavy. Otherwise the tomatoes are apt to lie on the ground and rot. In some of the plants the shoots should be reduced to one leader so as to give early fruit. They get a better chance to ripen if the foliage is kept well pruned for then the sun and air can get at the tomatoes and hasten their development. The same bug that ravages the potato plant often finds its way to the tomato plant and works havoc there. Last year this pest was particularly active and it is quite time to be on the look out for it now. Most people think that if the bugs are taken off, all is well. This is a mistake. Much more dangerous than the well-known potato bugs are the orange-colored egg masses which cling to the leaves on the under side. Hundreds of small bugs are hatched from these clusters. Life should be promptly crushed out of the egg masses whenever they are discovered.

PROMINENT IN WORK IN AID OF CHILDREN

J. J. Kelso, superintendent of the Department of Neglected and Dependent Children of Ontario since its inception in 1893. During the last twenty-five years there has been a steady and ever increasing growth in connection with the work of the Children's Aid Societies, until now there are sixty-two in active operation in Ontario, and nearly 2,000 philanthropic citizens give their time and thought to this cause. The Ontario act has been adopted as the basis for similar acts in other provinces in Canada, and, practically speaking, the influence of these societies is felt from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. Many advanced social measures have resulted from the children's aid movement, and great public sentiment has been created for the welfare of children. In the province of Ontario during the twenty-five years more than 16,000 children have been cared for during minority by the provincial and local organizations and nearly 700 former wards of the society are known to have enlisted for overseas services.

SITUATION GRATIFYING.

Military Authorities Well Pleased With Response to M. S. A. in Province of Quebec.

Ottawa, June 18.—"The situation is very gratifying," was the concluding statement made to the press representative today by the military service-branch of the department of justice respecting the changed conditions in the province of Quebec. "The men are coming along just as fast as they can be accommodated, and are being ordered to report in accordance with an agreement reached between the general officer commanding the district and the registrar under the military service act."

Heart Beat So Fast Could Not Sleep HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

There is no other remedy but you do so much good, restore your heart to a natural condition, build up your strength and give you back vigor and vitality as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

DEAL WITH FARMERS BY COURT MARTIAL UNDER THE M. S. A.

Niagara Camp, June 19.—Agricultural objects are among men appearing before court martial here under the Military Service Act. Arthur Atkinson, who was charged with having refused to obey military orders in the 22nd Battalion, 2nd C. O. H. He gave as his reason that he thought that farmers should not be called to the army. He said there was no person left on his 160 acre farm, eight miles north of Dunnville, but his mother and a nine-year old brother. He said he would serve in the army if granted two weeks' leave, but otherwise would not serve at all. As he was already in default and sentenced to twenty-eight days detention, the court pointed out that he had forfeited any claim to immunity which he might have had, also it was not for him to say whether he would serve in the army or not. Wm. Andrew McGirr of the 22nd Battalion 2nd C. O. H., twenty-one years of age, a farmer, refused to perform any military duty and said he would go to the penitentiary, because he had been treated by the military as a jail-bird in the last two weeks and he might as well go the rest of the way. The court pleaded with him to change his mind, as he is a fine looking boy, but he replied that he was not a "quitter."

MORE STORES ADOPT ONE DELIVERY A DAY

Ask Public To Co-operate—Purchasers Are Also Urged to Do Bulk of Their Shopping in the Morning Hours

(New York Times) Owing to the continuation of the war patrons of New York's dry goods stores will have to rest content with one delivery a day if the new plan just put into effect by several of the large department stores meets with success. Among the firms who have announced that single daily deliveries will be the rule are Gimbel Brothers, Best & Co., B. Altman & Co. and John Wanamaker.

Other dry goods houses, it was said yesterday, would probably take similar action. W. de S. Trenholm, secretary of the Retail Dry Goods Association, which includes practically all of the chief department stores in this city, yesterday told of the reasons influencing the dry goods men in reducing deliveries to the minimum. "The determination of many of the New York dry goods stores to reduce their local deliveries to one a day," Mr. Trenholm said, "was reached in response to the request of the government that this be done in order to help effect an economy in the use of man power. The number of men employed in the delivery department of the large stores in this country is collectively large, and at this time it is imperative that the business enterprises of the nation engaged in the production and distribution of non-essentials should conduct their activities with as few men as possible who are in the draft age, so that the army, navy and those engaged in the production of commodities essential to the conduct of the war may have the services of such men."

"It is in this spirit of patriotism, with which the men operating the stores of New York are so thoroughly imbued, that they have given so generously to the various organizations assisting the government to prosecute the war and care for our soldiers, and in the same spirit they have inaugurated various economical measures in the operation of their establishments. All thoughtful people who are worthy of American citizenship will co-operate in the enforcement of all movements conducted for a purpose so deserving and so important to the welfare of the country."

Mr. Trenholm went on to say that the patrons of the stores can be of material assistance if, when buying, they select only what they want and thus avoid the necessity of returning articles purchased thoughtlessly and without definitely deciding upon what they desire, and adhering to their original choice.

"People should take packages home whenever possible," Mr. Trenholm continued, "but when the merchandise is bulky they should be patient about it and not request parcels to be sent home hurriedly. The one-delivery-a-day system merely means that purchasers will have to wait a few hours longer in some instances for the delivery of packages, and by so waiting without complaint they will help the stores materially, save unnecessary work, and perform a patriotic duty."

A representative of Best & Co. said that the single daily delivery was a step toward eliminating waste and consequent higher prices. "You have no idea what it would mean to the big department stores if people could be educated to the point of doing their shopping in the morning," one man said. "It would mean that many employees could be released for war work who now must be retained for the purpose of handling the inevitable rush that comes in the afternoon, whereas in the morning many of these employees have little to do."

It was said at the offices of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, 82 West Forty-second street, that this country-wide organization, which comprises in its membership the principal dry goods firms of the country, was lending every energy to conserve man power for the military service and essential war industries. Another half million dollars is being spent on construction at Camp Upton, R. I. New York's new court house site will serve temporarily as an army jail.

Give 'Em a New Landscaper (New York Herald)

"Make Prussia hate war," says Secretary Lansing. Sure! If the Prussians and all other Germans so much of war that they will not talk war or think war for at least a century. A southern contemporary suggests that the way to accomplish that is to "rearrange the Prussian landscape so as to make it harmonize with the landscape of Belgium and Northern France." If that is the only way, it will be done.

SAYS POOR GERMANY IS SADLY MISREPRESENTED Amsterdam, June 19.—An edition of Vienna Fremdenblatt received here contains an interview with Baron Burian, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, in reply to a recent speech by Viscount Milner, British secretary for war. Baron Burian charges that Viscount Milner is making efforts to divide the Central Powers, but says his attempts will go unrewarded.

"The German 'yoke' for Austria," he says, "is the yoke of mutual, rock-like friendship, and has complete consideration for the interests of both parties. Otherwise the relationship between Austria-Hungary and Germany would not be possible for a moment. We will bear our burdens in common until a victorious end is achieved."

"Let Viscount Milner sincerely try to seek enlightenment on his ideas that the Central Powers desire to wage through wider seas of blood to world dominion. He will be astonished how tremendously far our aims are removed from those that our opponents repeatedly seek to misrepresent to the world as ours."

BLUE DEVILS ON VISIT TO CANADA

French Soldiers Who Have Been on Mission in States Get Rousing Welcome Sherbrooke, Que., June 19.—The Blue Devils of France, or Alpines Chasseurs, were given a great reception this morning on their arrival here from the Boston & Maine Railway from New York. It was their first official welcome to Canada, and while the visit was short, much was crowded into the sixty minutes of their stay, and gave a foretaste of the generous reception that awaits them during their itinerary in the Dominion. They were officially welcomed by Mayor C. D. White, K. C., who presided at a luncheon in French and English. The 83rd Regimental Band was in attendance and all the French-Canadian societies of the city were strongly represented. After the official welcome the Blue Devils were taken in automobiles through the principal thoroughfares which were lined by thousands of spectators. Many of the works closed giving the employees an opportunity to join in the reception.

The Blue Devils were accompanied by a party of Canadians headed by L. J. Lonsinger, K. C. of the military service council, Montreal; Captain Jenkins, secretary of the military service council, and transport services Lieut. M. Taylor, M. C., and P. Thomas Abern, private secretary to the minister of justice. They left over the Quebec Central Railway for Quebec city about 9 o'clock.

RYAN GOES AFTER SPRUCE New Director Demands 15,000,000 Feet a Month for Airplanes Washington, June 19.—John D. Ryan, financier and copper magnate, has been distribution and habitat that the United States is finding it a difficult task to get enough of it. It had but low esteem for the best and thickest, especially prepared, went into the sounding boards of planes. Querying enough, Germany was always a shrewd hand at that portion of the product.

Only about 25 or 40 per cent of the wood in the trunk has the strength, toughness, and resiliency that airplane struts and spars require. It takes special machinery and special handling to get out of mills, small and large, to get out the 75 per cent. It isn't practical or possible, the lumber operators find, to take out the spruce unless surrounding trees are also removed. All trees are immense in size, and it takes railroads, motor trucks, or donkey engine cables to move them. Working out the problem means that to get the 15,000,000 feet of airplane spruce will require the hauling of at least 100,000,000 feet of other timber monthly. It will involve also problems concerning the disposal, present and future, of the unused fire and other timber that comes out with the spruce.

MANUFACTURERS WANT RECIPROcity (Toronto Star) Mr. Parsons, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, says that when there was an agitation for reciprocity in 1911 the majority of the people decided against it, and in favor of a continuance of our national, political, and social policy to obtain free trade in the future. He says that the tariff committee of the same association says that there should be a pooling of resources and unity in war work as a means of crippling trade and bargains. "Canadian industry has been built up in close relation with the growth of the iron and steel industry of the United States territory, just as an industry in one state draws materials from another state or from Canada."

The reciprocity agreement which Mr. Parsons says was rightly rejected provided for just such a pooling of resources as is recommended by the tariff committee of the Manufacturers Association. In the main, it was intended to cover farm and other natural products, with a small list of manufactured articles. It did not directly affect manufacturers, with some exceptions, yet manufacturers opposed it because they regarded it as the thin end of the wedge of complete reciprocity.

Now the manufacturers are complaining of an embargo as hindrance to their business, while in 1911 they declared that a partial embargo in the form of taxation was essential to Canadian industry, to the integrity of Canada and the empire.

It is now said that farmers are hostile to manufacturing industry. Farmers have some reason to complain that when they had an opportunity to obtain free trade in farming products, a pooling of agricultural products, the manufacturers opposed it, and now they are complaining that they are not getting their share of the tariff. But we do not believe that farmers will retaliate by opposing the proposal for a pooling of industrial resources. It is a government proposal, and we hope that the reciprocity which the manufacturers ask will be granted.

Near Cabinet Crisis in Austria, Amsterdam, June 19.—The Vienna Fremdenblatt says a majority of the members of the Austrian cabinet have decided that a session of parliament is impossible and that the government either must resign or dissolve the house.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF VALUABLE PLANS

Three Men and Woman Captured in States Under the Espionage Act New York, June 19.—Three men and a woman were taken in custody yesterday and accused of stealing from munitions plants throughout the country plans and blueprints valuable to the American and Allied governments. They were charged with violating the espionage act.

Gus L. Lindquist, a draughtsman; Leo Burt, a stationary engineer, and Franz Strohmier, said to be an enemy alien, were the names of the three men as given by the authorities. Pending further investigation they would not identify the woman being held in connection with the alleged thievery. She was brought here from Worcester, Mass. The men were arrested here.

Lindquist is said to have declared he was going to Mexico to sell his booty to German agents.

According to the authorities both Lindquist and Burt admit the thefts, which, it was said, covered a period of four years. The men are charged with getting employment in airplane, munitions and arms factories, working in them for a short time and suddenly decamping with the stolen plans.

WOUNDED IN THE CHEST, HEAD AND LEG

Mrs. Esther McIntyre of Harlock street, West St. John, received word today that her son, Pte. George Bayard McIntyre, was admitted to No. 4 General Hospital, Basingstoke, on June 18, suffering from gunshot wounds in chest, head and leg. The young man went over with the 118th and was transferred to the New Brunswick battalion in France. He is only nineteen years old, and has two brothers in the service, Harold and William, who is in France with a western battalion. The family and friends of the young hero hope to learn that his condition is not serious.

WOUNDED MEN ARE HOME FROM WAR

The Returning Soldiers' Reception Committee tendered the soldiers who arrived in the city last evening a reception in the Mayor's morning. His Worship Mayor Hayes delivered an address of welcome after which the ladies of the committee distributed bags, containing candy and smokes to the men. The male members of the committee presented to the returned men tickets for the motion picture houses, so that they might enjoy the afternoon. Included in the party were four St. John men, Sergeant K. P. Amburg and Privates Norburn, Brown and Penney. Private S. H. Penney, 875 St. Patrick street, was the most seriously wounded of the party. He has lost his left leg, yet with all this he is very cheerful. Private Penney crossed overseas in the 1st Division, a member of the 8th Battery, C. F. A., and spent over two years in France. Sergeant K. P. Amburg of Sydney street, crossed overseas in the 1st Battalion of Canadian Railway Troops. After being in France for more than two years he was taken ill and was returned to England thence to Canada. Private J. G. Norburn, 31 Brook street went overseas as a member of the 118th Battalion. After being in England a short time he was transferred into the N. B. Battalion. At the engagement at Lens he was badly wounded in the leg, which necessitated his being returned to Canada. Bombardier Thomas Brown joined the army at the first outbreak of the war, enlisting in the 8th C. G. A. on the Island. When Major Sigbee's Battery was authorized Bombardier Brown was one of the first to enlist. He crossed overseas in the summer of 1916 and was wounded soon after arriving in France and returned to England, and after a few months in hospital he returned again to France, only to be there about five months, when he was wounded for the second time. Owing to his physical condition he has been returned home. A brother Walter, is in the N. B. Battalion.
