TOWN COUNCIL.

Underwriters' Ultimatum
Must be Obeyed

RE ST. ONGE BUILDING

Council Gives Finance Committee Full Power to Act.

A special meeting was held on Monday evening with His Worship Mayor Murray and Couns. Ferguson, McDonald, Miller, Adams, Bruce, Vautour and Taylor in attendance.

Clerk Verge read a communication from Mr. A. McKenzie, calling attention to the need of work on the street in front of his residence on Union Terrace, which was referred to Public Property & Street Com.

A communication was also read from Mr. Robt L. Duncan, setting forth that the town was trespassing on his property in building the new reservoir and giving notice that town would be held liable for damages unless such work was discontinued. Referred to Water and Sewerage Com.

Mrs. Jane Gerrard, Herbert Gerrard and Chas W. Adams asked for extension of water and sewerage systems on Minto St.

—Referred to W. & S. Com.

Mayor Murray stated that the meeting of the Council had been called to consider what action should be taken in regard to the St. Onge building now being erected on Water St. According to instructions from the Board of Underwriters no frame building could be erected above a height of 25 feet. Otherwise an increase of insurance rates of 25 cents would be exacted. A bye-law had been passed by the Council in accordance with these instructions and it was now the duty of the Council to decide whether it should be enforced or whether they would allow the extra burden of increased insurance rates to come upon our business men. He had received a telegram from Mr. Peter Clinch, Secy. of the Board of Underwriters asking if town had given Mr. St. Onge permission to put up a three storey building, and on his replying in the negative a second wire said that "St. Onge building must not go above 25 feet. Council must act." The Mayor then wired Mr. Clinch stating that a meeting of Council was called for Monday, the 29th, and would like to have him present to talk over the situation. Mr. Clinch replied that he could not be present but he would write Council in regard to matter.

A general discussion followed as to the nature of buildings to be prohibited and whether the height of 25 feet referred to the height of post, or in case of a pitched roof building, to the peak.

In consequence of this difference of opinion it was thought best to adjourn until Tuesday evening when it was thought Mr. Clinch's letter would be on hand for guidance of Council.

TUESDAY EVENING'S SESSION

The Council re-assembled on Tuesday evening, there being present Mayor Murray and Couns. Bruce, Adams, Taylor, Miller, McDonald, Murray and Ferguson.

His Worship informed Council that no word had been received from Mr. Clinch, re St. Onge building.

Town Clerk Verge read a letter containing a resolution passed by the Board of Underwriters which had been received from Mr. Clinch some time ago and in compliance with which the building bye-law had been passed, and for the infor-

FATALITY AT PERCE

Lightning Strikes House of Isidore Couture

KILLING HIM INSTANTLY

His Wife and Three Sons
Also Severely
Burned

(Special to Events)

Dr. Fidgeon, coroner, was summoned by telegram to the 2nd range of Grand River to hold an inquest on the body of Isidore Couture, fisherman and farmer, who was killed in the morning of the 29th inst. during the prevalence of an electric storm. The deceased along with his wife, and six sons and daughter, were all at the time in one room when the lightning struck the house, killing the father instantly and severely burning the wife and three of the sons. The rest of the family escaped without any serious injury except a bad shock. A dog which was laying under the stove at the time was instantly killed. The house was not injured.

Our readers we publish the resolution in full:

Your Committee have to report that the Town Council have not erected a new dam at the present reservoir as recommended by the Board in 1902 and consequently a very large volume goes to waste, which otherwise would be available for domestic and fire purposes.

Your Committee recommend that the Common Council be requested to construct or complete on or before 1st of October, 1904, a new dam not less than 20 feet in height, failing which an extra flat rate of 50 cents be added to the present rates on all risks in Campbellton, N. B., excepting Dwellings, Churches and Sunday School Buildings, to be removed when the dam is completed to the satisfaction of this Board. Your Committee find that under the Act of Incorporation of the Town of Campbellton, N. B., power is given to the Town Council to enact a building law and create a fire district, they therefore recommend that the Town Council be requested to take the necessary steps to have a fire district created, to embrace all that part of the Town lying east of Sugar Loaf St., north of the Intercolonial Railway, extending easterly to the junction of King St. with Cedar St., thence continuing easterly along King St., including all that portion of the town lying north of King St. to Ramsay St., or the Restigouche River. The erection of framed buildings exceeding 25 feet in height from the street level, and the use of shingle roofs to be prohibited in the fire district.

Your Committee recommend that if the Council fail to enact a building law and specify a fire district as requested by the Board before the 1st of July, 1904, a flat increase of 25 cents be made to the present rates on all risks in the Town of Campbellton, excepting Dwellings, Churches and Sunday School Buildings, said increase to be removed when the requirements of the Board have been complied with.

It was then moved by Coun. Bruce, seconded by Coun. Taylor:

That the matter of the erection of a building now in course of construction on the south side of Water St., town of Campbellton, by George St. Onge, said building being in the Fire District and exceeding the height allowed by Insurance Companies in the Fire Law enacted by the Town Council prior to the erection of said build-

AFTER BIG GAME.

Parties are Already Beginning to Arrive.

GAME PLENTIFUL.

Reports from Different Parts of the Province say Game Abounds.

As the open season for big game draws near hunters at home and abroad begin to sniff the wind, become restless and finally leave business, friends and relations behind them and seek the haunts of the moose, caribou, deer, etc., in this wonderful country—the Sportsmen's Paradise—of ours.

Parties are beginning to arrive and will spend the intervening time hunting bear and fishing trout.

Many of the guides have been engaged for the entire season's hunt, and this fall will probably be a record breaker and many fine heads will likely be secured.

Parties are already leaving the different hunting centres, Fredericton, Newcastle, Bathurst, Campbellton, for the great tract of country including the counties of Northumberland, Gloucester and Restigouche. Arthur Pringle left Fredericton the other day with a party of American sportsmen for the Bald Mountain country.

Messrs Chas and Edwin Pugsley left this morning for Matapedia en route to the moose country. They will hunt bear and fish trout until the open season for big game.

BEFORE TWO MONTHS

Elections Will be Over in That Time

A prominent man of affairs about town informed a representative of Events the other day that he had received inside information to the effect that the elections will be over before the end of October. We give this information for what it is worth, but certainly there is a little of the fighting blood being aroused in this vicinity.

ing relative to the style and class of buildings to be built in said fire District, be referred to the Finance Com. with instructions and authority to deal with the matter, to engage Counsel to take such action as they may consider necessary to enforce said Bye Law or safeguard the interests of the Town.

The motion was carried by unanimous vote. A discussion followed on the best method of procedure in the case but the Council seemed unanimous on the question of enforcing the Bye-law.

Council adjourned.

JAMES KELSO DEAD.

One of Campbellton's Prominent Business Men

DIED AT TRURO.

The Remains Brought from Truro to Moncton
for Interment.

A telegram announcing the death of Mr. James Kelso was received from Truro on Tuesday by Mr. Wm. McKee. The sad news did not occasion much surprise as it was generally known that Mr. Kelso was not expected to recover.

He left here about four months ago for Truro where he thought to recuperate his health, but the change did not seem to be any benefit.

The deceased came to Campbellton from Truro about seven years ago and founded the Oak Hall Clothing Store, which he successfully conducted up till a few months ago when ill health compelled him to retire. As a business man he prided himself on his up-to-date business methods and was a strong believer in printer's ink, to which he invariably attributed his success.

He leaves a widow and one sister, Mrs. Chas Elliott of Moncton. The funeral took place at Moncton yesterday, Messrs Wm. McKee and E. W. Chandler going down to attend.

St. Petersburg Aug. 25.—Russia has asked for the co-operation of Great Britain in getting orders to the Smolensk. This was gladly agreed to and Great Britain will try to deliver the instructions through ships from Cape

Colony. Russia is seeking to carry out her agreement in good faith and no complication are expected.

Capetown Aug. 25.—(Special)—The British warships Crescent, Oden, Pearl

and Forte, Rear Admiral Durnford, commanding, are at St. Petersburg in the vicinity of Zanzibar. It is understood that the Admiralty has sent orders to the Admiral directing him to communicate with the Smolensk and St. Petersburg.

London, Aug. 26.—News has reached England that the Russian auxiliary cruiser Ural stopped and examined the British collier Pencalenich on Aug. 12. The Pen-calenich was bound from Cardiff for Malta with coal for the British navy.

The Times editorially discussing the incident says that if the Smolensk really was the cruiser which stopped the British steamer

the British people will recall the emphatic promise given in the King's speech that the government will energetically support them in the exercise of their lawful rights as neutrals, and will inquire whether it is not time the navy should be instructed to protect these rights and, if necessary, vindicate them.

"We are loth," says the Times,

"to even suggest that such measures be required, but it is absolutely essential to the interests of peace itself that Russia understand on this subject that neither the British Government nor the British people will tolerate further equivocation."

ONLY WHAT SUCCESS

Faithfulness is not a very popular virtue but it is an exceedingly valuable one. Other qualities are more brilliant but none more indispensable. Nothing imparts more satisfaction to work or friendship than trustworthiness. And in Christ's thought this homely virtue is fundamental to life. Indeed, He seems to make it a standard of judgment. His question is not how successfully has one achieved, but—How faithfully has he tried? Men measure their fellows by the invisible, tangible, practical results they accomplish. The fortunes they make, the problems they solve, the machines they perfect, the knowledge they acquire; these are the things by which the world judges. But Christ sets his judgment seat behind all these, in the realm of motive and purpose and attempt and to Him outward failure might signify real success. Success is almost worshipped in these days. The marvellous examples of it in this land hold the public eye. So enamored of it are men that often the questionable methods employed in pursuing it are condoned if it is achieved. But real success consists in keeping the integrity of method and whoever does that even at the sacrifice of fortune, is worthier than he who attains power or wealth at the expense of manhood.

The real yellow peril—the cigarette stains on your fingers.

DR. TWEEDIE'S POSITION

Surely the St John Freeman is not coming spurious news. True, dog days are never very prolific of interesting gossip, but that is no reason why the newspaper man should put on his thinking cap and invent a story which will scarcely pass muster with his readers. The Freeman solemnly declares that it is informed that Premier Tweedie will shortly retire from the Provincial Government and assume other lucrative duties. We are inclined to believe that the Freeman's source of information is a rather poor one. The man at the helm of New Brunswick's government today is in our humble opinion, the man, of all men, best fitted for the position and we would regard his resignation as an extremely unfortunate thing for the Province. Dr. Tweedie has a thorough grasp of all the details of his position and he is moreover an untiring worker. We would be very sorry indeed to see him step out at the present time and we do not believe that he will do so. We would like to add here and now that Dr. Tweedie's services have never been properly appreciated, either by his constituents or by the Province at large.

O genius, thy patrons more cruel than they.
First feed on your brains, then leave you to die.
We look for the day, however, when Dr. Tweedie's services will be appreciated at their true value. In the meantime, let us hope that he will continue to merit this simple eulogy.

BY THEIR FRUITS YE SHALL KNOW THEM

"At the session yesterday afternoon of the court of inquiry investigating the conduct of the troops at Statesboro, Ga., when the negroes were burned at the stake, Capt Hitch of the militia declared that he believed the men who seized him and hurled him down the stairs to the mob below, which disarmed him, was a deputy sheriff. Two sergeants who were in the guardroom swore that Sheriff Kendrick himself had opened the door, unlocking it from the outside, and pointed out the negroes Cato and Reed to the mob."—New York Evening Post

This is truly shocking and when it is noted in the Post without comment our sensibilities of decency and humanity are further outraged. For the past six years the American people have been telling the world that their mission in the Philippines was the introduction of the most advanced civilization. If it is "advanced civilization" for sworn officers of the law to aid and abet a murderous mob and also for a President to remain dumb and inactive while these mob murders are being carried out the resistance of the Philippines is not only justified but should be regarded as a sacred duty.

GIVE ALL A CHANCE

In the course of Judge Alton B. Parker's argument against a second term as President he declares that no man's course should be influenced in that high office by the thought of its effect on a future election. Judge Parker is quite right. But in our opinion there is another and far more important reason why a man should not play his cards so to speak for a second office as President. The United States with its 70,000,000 million people has probably one thousand men who are just as capable of filling the chief executive office, as for instance either Judge Parker or Theodore Roosevelt. These one thousand men are ambitious and would quickly accept the nomination of their respective parties for President. But what chance have they if every president is desirous of a second or a third term? Very little indeed. At least 999 per cent. have absolutely no chance at all to fill the highest position in the gift of their fellow countrymen. The same thing is relatively true of the premiership of Canada. No one man has a moral right to hold either position longer than his first term.

Mr. MacNeil might now give us a trip on the date of the elections.

ROOM FOR MORE.

The figures published by the Dominion Statistician as to the extent of the pulp industry in Canada show a remarkable development in a comparatively new field. The industry during the calendar year 1903 was carried on by 39 mills, which had an output of 275,619 tons of wood pulp. Of this quantity 187,871 tons were mechanical pulp, 84,808 sulphite, and 2,940 soda. The corresponding quantities for 1902 were: Mechanical, 155,210 tons; sulphite, 76,735 tons, and soda, 9,044 tons. This shows an increase of 34,630 tons in 1903. The increase in sulphite was 8,073, and in mechanical 32,661 tons, soda showing a decrease of 6,104 tons. The total value of the output of 1903 was $5,219,892. This according to the Toronto Globe would have been considerably greater but for the collapse of the Sault industries of which pulp-making was one of the most important. And to think that in New Brunswick, the richest timber province in Canada, we have but one pulp mill in operation on a paying basis.

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN

Mr. A. C. Bell, the Conservative member for Pictou has given up his private business to take charge of his party's organization during the approaching election campaign. It all depends upon the man behind the gun. It remains to be seen whether or not Mr. Bell's gunnery is good or bad. Of course the gun is not defective

TWEEDIE SHOULD BE PROUD OF HIS ENEMIES

"The stumpage on fir has been reduced at the demand of the Lumbermen's Association from $1.25 to 80 cents. The prospect is that the cut this winter will be fully fifty millions less than last season. This will reduce the anticipated revenue by $62,500, and increase the customary deficit accordingly. The successors of the men now in office will find the treasury empty and every source of revenue, except direct taxation, exhausted."—Chatham World.

Some men's principal amusements in life is predicting a panic. To be a calamity howler seems to be natural to some. And in this instance there is a similarity between the World man and the Phillistines of old who repeatedly declared that a clean thing could not come out of Nazareth.

THE REAL YELLOW PERIL.

"The romance begun at church social three years ago, when Dr. Tang Yawn Fong a Chinese dentist of 33 Harrison Avenue, was accompanied in his song by Miss Alice Georgianna Murrie, of 691 Washington Street, Dorchester, culminated last night in the wedding of the dapper little Oriental and his brown-haired, sweetheart."

This is the romance which Boston supplied last week. We hear a great deal nowadays about the "yellow peril". In our opinion the only real yellow peril lies in the marriage of American girls to Orientals. It will be considered such some day.

We welcome Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the County of Bonaventure as the foremost citizen of Canada.

Visit to Escuminac

On Wednesday of last week Rev. Geo. S. Anderson left Escuminac, P. Q. for Douglastown, N. B. to spend a week with his father before returning to his congregation in Somerville, Mass. For the past four weeks he has been summering in the Glen, near the home of Mr. Wm Jamieson, almost an ideal resting place. On a rising ground with the mountains encircling on nearly every corner, there is a grandeur of scenery here which for one to fully appreciate must be seen and once seen will not be forgotten.

Mr. Anderson has been tenting and evidently enjoys the place, for now after six years experience he has decided to build a summer cottage.

With him were several friends from Somerville, Mr. Ogilvie, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, and Mrs. Hamman were his guests and they will all be welcomed back by the people of Escuminac and vicinity.

On Thursday evening Aug 20th Rev Mr. Anderson, who last spring visited the Holy Land, gave an exceedingly interesting and profitable description of his travels with special reference to Jerusalem.

Visitors like Mr. Anderson and his friends have an uplifting influence on the whole community, for, though on vacation, they are willing to help in every good work and do not, as many visitors do think only of their own enjoyment and welfare.

Archbishop of Canterbury Arrives at Quebec

Quebec, Aug 28—The Archbishop of Canterbury, accompanied by his wife, Rev. Mr. Holden, domestic chaplain, Rev. Mr. Ellison, vicar of Windsor, and J. Pierpont Morgan arrived this morning from New York.

His grace was announced to preach in the cathedral, which was filled to overflowing before the hour of the service. When the clergy had taken their seats in the chancel an address of welcome was read by Bishop Dunn. His grace replied as follows:—

"From my heart I thank you for this warm and inspiring welcome. I am happy to know that my first official act in this western world will be in the humble thankfulness for the work carried on for 100 years within the walls of the cathedral of Quebec."

FIFTEEN KILLED

Terrible Railroad Accident on Grand Trunk

Sherbrook, Aug 31st—One of the most serious railway accidents which has occurred on any of the railway systems passing through Sherbrook took place this morning at 11 o'clock about one mile this side of Richmond, when a head-on collision occurred between a special passenger train from Montreal and intermediate points on the Grand Trunk, enroute for Sherbrook fair and No 5 passenger train from Island Pond to Montreal. A special train with Drs. Worthington, Lynch, Austin, Smith and Williams, with nurses, left the Grand Trunk station for the scene of the accident at half-past 11. Nothing can be learned here from the officials, although they admit that several have been killed, and the injured have been moved to Richmond and located in the residences throughout town.

The most seriously injured will be brought to Sherbrook. There is great excitement at the Grand Trunk depot, as many are waiting for friends who were coming out to the exhibition on the special, and they are uncertain as to whether they are among the dead. Among the killed is Mr. Blanchet M. P. of St. Hyacinthe.

A message over the private wire of Mr. D. C. Clinch says fifteen persons were killed and many injured.—Globe

TWO SCHOONERS ASHORE.

BATHURST, Aug 30.—Schooner Senovar, 39 tons, and Schooner Lydia Rider 57 tons, of Arichat, C. B. left West Point, P. E. Island on Aug 20th. Both vessels were in ballast and bound for New Richmond, Quebec to load Railway ties. On Sunday 22nd the vessels went ashore at St. Mary's, twelve miles from Miscou, during thick weather, the captains being misled by the tides. The vessels went ashore within fifteen minutes of each other and are lying about two hundred yards apart. The captains and crews of the two vessels reached here last evening by the Carquet Railway and were sent to Mulgrave this morning.

Buying the Humphrey Clothing

LIKE A BAD HABIT.

IT IS DIFFICULT TO SHAKE IT OFF.

In the results, however, there is a tremendous difference. The reason that it is difficult to stop buying Humphrey's goods is that your customer once having been supplied with them, will with difficulty be persuaded to accept any other. This is simply because he finds that he has had an all-round satisfactory article. He finds that in material, pattern, fit, finish and workmanship his suit or overcoat, as the case may be, is all right.

Albert, who had rather taken charge of matters since his return to Sandgate, kept the debt situation from Alice after his mother's death, feeling she had grief enough to bear without it, but for all that it troubled him secretly. The income from his practice was scarcely enough to clothe him and not likely to increase, for Sandgate had scant use for a lawyer, and what to do or which way to turn he knew not. If it were not for Alice and Aunt Susan he thought it would be easier, but they must be provided for. Alice, who had been his companion, playmate and confidant since the days of short dresses, he especially cared for, and that feeling was mutual.

So devoted a brother and sister were they that it had kept them from forming other associations, and when Albert had been asked why he did not escort some other young lady to the husk-bess, barn dances or church societies his usual reply was, "Alice is good enough for me, and when she prefers another beau I may, but not till then."

With Alice, though many of the village swains wooed, she wouldn't. Even Jim Mears, stalwart and with a hand like a foot, fared no better, and when Albert rallied her once about young Mears she answered, "Oh, Jim is all right; he isn't handsome, but, then, he is strong," which delicate sarcasm may be considered a sufficient reflex of her feelings toward others of the would be attentive young farmers.

But for all that Alice was counted in on every festive gathering. If it was a barn dance, she was always there and never lacked partners, and when the jolly party rode home in a big wagon filled with straw it was her voice that always started "The Quilting Party" or other old time ballad usually inspired by moonlight. When a strawberry festival was in order at the church, she was given a post of honor, and when Christmas decorations were necessary every young man felt it a privilege to obey her orders. At home she was the same winsome little queen and had no more devoted subject than her brother.

For a month after the funeral he worried a good deal. He knew that bills had been left unpaid through his mother's illness and that the family were in straitened circumstances. His own law practice so far had yielded scant returns, and what to do and where to turn was a puzzle. He wrote to a former classmate whose father was a prominent merchant in Boston stating his situation and asking advice. It was two weeks ere he received a reply, and yet to accept the offer and leave Aunt Susan and Alice alone seemed hard. On the other hand, to borrow money on what little of the farm was left did not help matters, for when that was gone what then? Matters came to a climax one day and ended his indecision. He had been away from his office all that afternoon taking a long stroll in the woods to escape his loneliness, and returning at tea time found a cloth on his sister's face.

"Mr. Hobbs called this afternoon," she said as they sat down to the table, "and asked for you. Said he went to your office and, not finding you in, came home." And then she added, with a quiver in her voice, "Oh, Bertie, we owe him over a hundred dollars!"

The trouble was all out now, and Albert looked gloomy. "I don't think any more of him for coming here to dun us," he answered savagely. "He might have waited until he saw me."

"Oh, he was very nice about it," responded Alice, "and begged my pardon for smoking at it. He said there was no hurry, only that he had made out this bill as a matter of form, etc., and we could pay it when convenient."

Albert made no further comment, but when the meal was ended said: "Come out on the porch, sis, and let us talk matters over." She followed him, feeling there was trouble coming, and drawing her low chair next to his, placed one elbow on his chair arm and covered her face with that hand. For a few moments he remained silent, watching the fireflies beginning their evening dance over the meadow and listening to the distant call of a whippoorwill. Across the valley the village lights were coming in sight one by one, and a faint odor of new mown hay came to him. The pathetic little figure at his side unheeded him, however, and he dreamed to say what he must.

"Well, sis," he said at last, "I've kept matters from you as long as I can. We not only owe Hobbs a good deal, but as much more in smaller bills to others, and there is no money to pay them. I've worried about them more than you know or than I cared to have you. One of two things must be done, either borrow money and pay these bills or I must go away and earn some."

Then the little head beside him sunk slowly to his chair, and as he began stroking it he added: "The written law, Frank Mason, old college chum, and through him have received a fair offer to go to Boston and have decided to leave here as soon as I can get ready."

The trouble was growing serious now, and as he ceased speaking he caught the sound of a suppressed sob.

"Oh, Bertie, we owe him over a hundred

"Don't cry, Alice," he said tenderly, "it can't be helped. Our home must be broken up some time, and it may as well be now as any other. The thing that worries me most is leaving you and Aunt Susan here alone."

Then the sobs increased, and the bowed form beside him shook.

"Oh, Bertie," she said at last in a choked voice, "don't leave us here alone. Let us sell the old house, pay the bills, and if you must go away let us go too."

"No, dear, that is not best," he answered softly. "I can't earn enough at first to do it. You will have to stay here till I can."

Then the proud spirit that had come to Alice Page from many generations of self helpful ancestors spoke, and she said as she turned to him and brushed away the tears: "If you are to leave me here I shall go to work as well. I can teach school or do something to help you and I shall too."

Her defiant little speech hurt Albert just a bit, and yet he felt proud of her for it. "It may be best for you if you could get a chance to teach," he responded, "and it will help me some and take up your mind, which is worth a good deal."

But the worst was to come, and the evening before his departure she never forgot. There were some consolations to exchange, however, for she had seen Mr. Mears of the school committee and obtained a position to teach the north district school in Sandgate, a small byroad schoolhouse two miles from her home, and felt a little pride in telling about it, while he had to report that all whom they owed had promised to wait patiently for their dues.

"Mr. Hobbs even offered to lend me money if I needed it," he said after they had talked matters over, "and so, you see, we have a good many friends to sing a few of the old songs for me, so that I can have them to think about when I am lonesome and homesick."

But the singing was a failure, for Alice broke down in the middle of the first song, and they had to go out and watch the fireflies once more while she conquered her tears.

"You will write to me every day, won't you, Bertie?" she asked disconsolately as they waited the morning for the train that was to separate them. "I shall be so lonesome and blue all the time!"

When he kissed her goodbye she could not speak, and the last he saw as the train bore him away was that sweet sister's face trying bravely to smile through its tears, like the sun peeping out of a cloud.

CHAPTER IV.

Of all the smooth, elusive virtues lurking in the shadow of the temple of justice or perching upon it Nicholas Frye, or "Old Nick," as many called him, was the most cunning. Nor did his looks belie the comparison, for he had deep set, shifty, yellow gray eyes, a hooked nose, and his thin lips, dyed jet black, curled a ring about his bald poll. He walked with a swagger, as if scanning the ground for evidence of a Jew, and to add to his marked individuality when he talked he rubbed his hands together as though washing them with invisible soap. It was not from any sense of cleanliness that he did this, for they had many times been soiled with the most nefarious transactions. A client was to him a victim to be kept in waiting, exasperated in regard to his grievances by all possible means, deduced as to his chances of success in quest of justice, deceived as to its cost and rebuffed in every way known to an astute lawyer.

He had been the legal adviser of John Nason for many years, and when that busy merchant came to him on behalf of his son, who wanted to and a position for Albert Page, Frye readily promised to give him employment. It was not because he needed him, but because he saw at once that through some friendship for this young sprig of the law, as he intuitively considered Albert to be, he could strengthen his hold upon the father and obtain some secrets that might eventually be used to rob him. In plain words, he thought to use this young country lawyer as a spy. He knew that John Nason felt a keen interest in his only son Frank, and that was another reason for employing that son's friend. He knew also that Frank was given a liberal allowance, spent it rapidly and most likely would be getting into various scrapes needing a lawyer's efforts to rescue him, and so he would have further pickings in that direction. These were two good reasons for his ostensible acts of kindness, and so he at once sent for Page to come to his office.

When, the morning after his arrival in Boston, Albert presented himself at Frye's office, he found that lawyer busy with his mail, and so he waited until he could get through. "Take a seat, sir," said Frye politely, after Albert had introduced himself, "and excuse me until I go through my letters." And then for a long half hour Albert was left to study the bare office walls and peculiar looks of his future employer. Finally Frye turned to him and asked rather abruptly, "Well, Mr. Page, what do you know about law?" at the same time scanning him as if expecting to see hayseed adhering to his garments.

"Not much, perhaps," replied Albert modestly, uncertain of his ground. "I have been in practice only a year at Sandgate, and the few people there do not have much use for a lawyer."

"Then why didn't you stir 'em up a little and bring 'em to see they needed your services?" was Frye's next query. "You will never succeed as a lawyer unless you make business. Did you bring your sheepskin with you?"

"No, sir," answered Page. "I didn't think it necessary after what I wrote you. I have it in my trunk."

"Well, bring it tomorrow," said Frye. "I make it a rule to take nothing for granted and have everything in writing." And then he added, with a searching look, as if he was about to utter a crusher, "What is your idea of a lawyer's chief object in existence?"

Page was a little nonplussed. "Oh, I suppose," he replied slowly, "to see that laws are properly executed and justice done."

Frye looked at him a full minute without making any further comment, while a sardonic grin gradually drew a lip apart, showing a full set of false teeth, and then, as he began rubbing his hands together, he said:

English is put to strange and elegant uses in India. Here, for instance, is a letter addressed to a native gentleman by a youth seeking the hand of his daughter:

"To Baboo —, Paternal father of Miss —, Dear Sir—It is with a faltering penmanship that I write to have communication with you about the prospective condition of your damsel offspring. For some remote time to past a secret passion has been burning in my heart and heart, Hoping that having debated this proposition to your pregnant mind you will condescend to corroborate in espousing your female progeny to my tender bosom and thereby acquire me into your family circle. Your dutiful Son-in-Law."

Guarantee Against Temptation. To keep the 30,000 odd miles of telegraph line in order in Great Britain and provide for the proper dispatch and delivery of the millions of messages that pass over them every month, entails an expenditure of about £2,250,000 a year, and of this total more than £1,500,000 goes in paying the salaries and wages of the immense staff of engineers, skilled operators and messengers, and of those who direct their operations and keep the accounts straight.

Catching a Tartar. The trite phrase "catching a Tartar" is thus traced to its origin in an old cyclopaedia: "In some battle between the Russians and the Tartars, who are a wild sort of people in the north of Asia, a private soldier called out: 'Captain, halloo, there! I've caught a Tartar!' 'Fetch him along, then,' said the captain. 'Aye, but he won't let me' replied the man. The fact was that the Tartar had caught him."

Gross gives practically the same story in his "Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue," 1780, but credits the misadventure to an Irish soldier of the imperial Austrian service in a battle against the Turks. The closing scene he varies thus:

"Bring him along," said his comrade. "He won't come," said Paddy. "Then come along yourself," replied the other. "Arrah," said he, "but he won't let me!"

Struggle and Strength. Strength comes only through struggle—through struggle and earnest work—never through a frantic beating against the bars nor through self pity. All health is a prison of your own building, a prison wherein you are locked by your own thoughtlessness and lack of self control. Circumstances have something to do with it, and you may have inherited a tendency toward disease. In that case circumstances must be altered and inherited weakness outgrown. Both can be done. Careful thinking and thoughtful work will move mountains.—Maxwell's Talmans.

A Sleep Destroyer. "Are you ever troubled with insomnia—sleeplessness?" "I should say I am. Some nights I don't sleep three hours."

"That's all I've got it awfully bad. I've been afflicted now about two years. The doctor calls it neuritis insomnia paralysantia."

"I've had it about eighteen months, and we call it Ethel"—Schoolmaster.

Diplomatic Dick. Bob—Are you fond of reading, Dick? Dick—No, I hate it; that's the reason I pretend to like it. If my mother thought I didn't like to read she'd keep me at it all the time.

Matrimonial. There is no doubt that the woman who loves you forgives you too much, while the woman whom you love forgives you too little.

A man in earnest finds means or, if he cannot find, creates them.—Channing.

Waves Faster Than Wind. Waves travel faster than the wind which causes them, and in the bay of Sicily frequently during the autumn and winter in calm weather a heavy sea gets up and rolls in on the coast twenty-four hours before the gale which causes it arrives and of which it is the herald.

The World of the Solid. We live amid matter in three characteristic states—solid, liquid and gaseous. But since hydrogen has been both liquefied and solidified, the investigator, says Professor James Dewar, is produced into a world of solid bodies. With the aid of the cold furnished by liquid hydrogen, every gaseous substance at present definitely known to the chemist, with the single exception of helium, can be solidified. Even helium, Professor Dewar hopes, may yield to the processes now being employed at the Royal Institute in London. Liquid hydrogen is so light that the only solid substance that will float upon it is pith. Solid hydrogen has a temperature 430 deg. Fahrenheit below zero. When exposed to the cold vapor arising from liquid hydrogen, air is instantly turned solid, falls like a miniature snowstorm into the vessel containing the hydrogen, and sinks to the bottom.

Kitchener Range

A Good Baker

The oven in the Kitchener Range is scientifically proportioned to the size of the fire-box so that no more fuel can be burned than is absolutely necessary to heat the oven.

The oven is lined with heavy sheet steel, which is a great radiator of heat and insures a uniform heat throughout the oven—no danger of a loaf of bread being half done on one side and burned on the other.

The Kitchener range is built on scientific principles throughout, and should be carefully examined before buying any other.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Booklet free.

Thriving Gloucester Village Briefly Described

LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Some of its Most Noteworthy Features—A Fine Church

(St John Globe)

Gloucester is one of the counties in New Brunswick which gained in population between the years 1801 and 1901. The census returns show that in ten years there was an increase of 3,039 persons which is a larger increase than can be claimed by any other county. A traveller of inquiring mind would hardly be surprised by this gain in numbers if he asked many questions—indeed, he would look for a larger increase. "No," said a resident, of whom inquiry was made, when large groups of children were observed about the doors of farm houses, "no, I haven't a large family, there are only nine children at home." A couple in his neighborhood, however, had quite a family—fifteen. But there was Mr. So-and-so—the name is not important whose children numbered twenty-two, five of whom were married on one day. There are other records of this kind which would delight the strenuous president of the United States, but apparently the people do not remain at home or Gloucester would show even to more advantage than she does in the census returns.

It is evident to anybody, however, whether or not the population is retained, that the county is prosperous. The visitor who goes down the Miramichi from Newcastle to Chatham by New Brunswick and thence proceeds by stage to Tracadie cannot fail to be delighted by his trip on the magnificent river, and as he drives through the settled country must note that the farmers are very well off. The dwelling-houses generally are large, and in excellent condition; the barns also are large, modern agricultural implements are numerous, wire fences are common. The fields look to be well tilled and are said to produce good crops. There is an appearance of solid progress, and evidence that the farmers are improving their opportunities. The blueberry trade alone brings in a lot of money into the county. It is stated that twelve or fifteen carloads of berries are shipped annually from Tracadie and vicinity. Cod fishing formerly gave employment to many men who now prefer to give all their time to farm work or other employment.

The village of Tracadie is very prettily situated, stretching as it does along the shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It is a bustling little place, with some stores that would do credit to a large town, and a number of fine residences. It has had telegraphic communication with the outer world for years; recently it was supplied with telephonic communication through the Dominion government contributing $2,000 to build a line from Tracadie to Chatham. By means of the Gulf ports and Carriacou railways it has connection with Bathurst and the world at large, and great things are expected when the new owners of these railways proceed with promised improvements, which cannot come a day too soon. The Catholic church in the village quickly attracts the attention of the tourist. It stands on a knoll in extensive, well kept grounds, and presents a striking appearance. Alongside it is the presbytery. The sacred edifice was commenced in 1874 by Rev J. A. Babin, now stationed at St. Leonard's, and was finished by him. It is a stone structure of graceful proportions; with large auditorium and commodious galleries, and it accommodates a very large congregation. The church—which it may be added, has a well finished and conveniently arranged vestry—cost $40,000, and yet there is not one cent of debt on it, an enviable record for the parish. The present pastor is Rev Joseph M. Lavasseur, who in addition to his other arduous duties is chaplain to the lazaretto, Hotel Dieu and orphanage, and is appreciatively spoken of because of his energy and zeal.

In and about Tracadie there are several important industries. The principal one is the mill of the Tracadie Lumber Company. The company is composed of Maine capitalists and they have one of the most complete and thoroughly fitted out mills in the province. No lumber is allowed to be turned to account, and therefore the mill is equipped with the latest and most approved machinery. All the deals, boards, etc., manufactured are sent by rail via Montreal to New York. Besides the lumber mill there is a box factory, the product of which is sent to England, France and the United States. This industry has been a great benefit to Tracadie, because employment is given to a large number of persons and the highest wages are paid. Mr. R. Wing of Oldtown, Me., is the energetic manager, and Mr. Albert L. Foster, of St. John is bookkeeper.

The Snowball Company also has a mill, in which deals, boards, etc., are manufactured. These are towed to Chatham in saws, and thence forwarded to their destination. The mill furnishes employment to a large crew.

Mr. Philip Arseneau for some years operated a rotary mill, finding a local market for boards and small lumber, and sending his deals to England. In the winter time a very extensive business is done in the village in snells.

One of the most attractive spots along the Tracadie coast is Ferguson's Point. Here Mr. Wm Ferguson has done business successfully for fifty years or more, having established himself on the banks of the Big Tracadie when all about him was forest. No more desirable place for a summer vacation can be found than in this locality, for even hot days in the interior here there is likely to be a cool breeze from the Gulf, and enjoyment can be found in the neighborhood in fishing, boating, etc.

Fire in the Oil Fields

Crowley, La., Aug. 26.—The biggest fire in the history of the mammoth oil fields is raging. Yesterday Morse well No. 8 came in a boiling gusher, pouring out a volume of oil at the rate of 10,000 barrels a day.

The fire caught from a spark emanating from friction and rapidly spread to other wells. Four oil tanks, each of which had a capacity of 1,200 barrels, caught and burned. Two were full of oil and two were empty. Four standard rigs, the property of the Morse company also were destroyed.

During the afternoon the fire was confined to the Morse wells Nos. 7 and 8. Large lakes of oil, which had formed when Morse No. 8 came in, caught fire.

Eight lines of steam pipes have been laid to the burning wells and more are being prepared.

The loss is now placed at more than $100,000.

STR ST CROIX ON FIRE

Narrow Escape on Trip to Eastport from Portland

MANY PASSENGERS

The Officers and Crew Fought the Flames Successfully

Eastport, Aug. 26.—Not many passengers on board the steamer Str Croix from Boston and Portland that put into this harbor several hours late Thursday. They were aware that the vessel caught fire Wednesday night and before 15 minutes every member of the crew was at his fire-fighting post. The officers and a dozen picked men were working like beavers in the forecastle almost blinded with smoke and not knowing to what extent the fire would spread.

At 8.30 a half hour after the steamer left Portland, thick smoke was discovered pouring into the forecastle hatch. Lines of hose were taken down, attached to fire plugs and passed into the forecastle hatchway. There was little excitement hardly a word being spoken. Capt James E. Thompson, who was one of the first to be notified, gave a whispered order to turn the vessel about and make speed for Portland, as he passed the pilot house.

Immediately after the steamer turned about the fire calls were sounded instantly bringing the full fire strength of the crew in a position to respond to the Captain's orders, and more lines of hose were taken into the forecastle. The fire did not alarm the 200 or more passengers who had grown accustomed to hear the bell every half hour during the day and the few passengers on the lower forward deck who knew that a fight was being made to save the steamer and passengers made no attempt to alarm the people in the cabin and state rooms.

Fifteen minutes after entering the forecastle Capt Thompson came on deck and announced the greatest danger was over and he would be able to take the steamer to her berth. Five minutes later when the pipe was cleared of smoke the officers made a careful examination and being satisfied that not a spark of fire remained in the room Capt Thompson gave the pilot instruction to lay the course for Eastport, it being unnecessary to enter Portland harbor.

The fire started in the store-room for canvas, ropes, etc. The blaze did not reach the woodwork, merely blistering the paint. As no persons were known to have been in the room for 24 hours the fire was supposed to have been of spontaneous origin. The captain and crew were given much praise for the manner in which they had handled the ship and fought the fire.

Boston Aug. 26th.—The officials of the Eastern Steamship Company here state that the fire which broke out on the steamer Str Croix from Boston for eastern Maine ports Wednesday night, caused little damage. The fire started in the boatswain's quarters where a quantity of paint and oil is kept. The blaze was subdued in a short time. The cause of the fire was spontaneous combustion—Gazette

TERRIBLE WORK OF TORNADO

Four Killed and Many Injured of Picnic Party

Jamestown, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A tornado swept through Chataqua county late this afternoon, leaving death and destruction in its path. Five thousand people were at Parkhurst's Grove attending the Stockton town picnic and were directly in the path of the storm. Four were killed and several were injured.

The storm came up suddenly. Trees in the grove were struck by lightning, many of them were blown down and the rain fell in torrents. The people who took refuge under the trees at the first signs of the storm were caught by the falling branches and either killed or injured. Many horses were killed in the same manner. Some of the animals stampeded trampling upon the injured who were lying upon the ground.

The buildings in the vicinity were blown down and others were unroofed. Hundreds of forest and fruit trees were blown down and corn and oat fields were laid waste, entailing a loss of thousands of dollars.

At the Assembly grounds at Chataqua trees were uprooted and a portion of the fence around the grounds was demolished. The men's club house was badly damaged.

BAD MONEY

Two Mexican $5 bills have been circulated in Quebec, but the police have been unable to locate the parties passed off the Y's which are really worth only $2 Canadian currency, or 40 cents on the dollar. A few days ago arrests were made in the Maritime Provinces for circulating these bills there and at Rimouski. It is thought that those found here came from the same source.—Quebec Telegraph.

RUSSIAN CRUISER DIANA

Has Taken Shelter in French Indo-Chinese Port

Saigon, French Indo-China, Aug. 27.—The Russian Cruiser Diana, which arrived here on August 20, with a shell hole below her water line, received in the battle off Port Arthur, Aug. 10, has not received instructions from the government to disarm or repair her damages which are slight. Another Japanese shell killed one officer of the Diana and three men and wounded 35 others. The cruiser tried to reach Shanghai but encountered some Japanese torpedo boats. The latter discharged nine torpedoes without effect on the Diana. The officers declare that General Stoessel will never surrender Port Arthur. When the Diana left the harbor General Stoessel had 4,000 men.

An interesting event took place at New Carlisle St. Andrew's Church on Wednesday, August 17th, when the Rev. C. K. Wilson united in bonds of matrimony Miss Annie Donnelly to Mr. Everard Barter.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion, with an evergreen arch, and large bouquets of flowers. The bride was attended by her sister Miss Lily Donnelly, and Miss Annie Barter sister of the groom, while the groom was supported by Mr. F. W. Donnelly. As the bride entered the church, the bride leaning on the arm of her brother, Dr. F. F. Donnelly of Montreal, a very nice selection was rendered by the organist, Miss E. Morrison.

The bride was beautifully attired in cord de chine, trimmed with white satin, and silk applique wore a bridal veil of silk tulle, caught with a most elaborate wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaids were attired in pale green voile trimmed with white satin and carried bouquets of white flowers.

After the ceremony the guests were received at the home of the bride's parents, where supper was served to their many friends. After supper a very enjoyable evening was spent in music and singing.

The bride received many presents from her numerous friends. The following morning Mr. and Mrs. K. Barter left on the B. C. R. for Montreal, Toronto, and other parts on their wedding tour. All their friends join in wishing them every happiness and prosperity.

Railroad For Sale

The Saint Louis, Richibucto and Restigouche Railway—a line built from Richibucto to Saint Louis, six miles—will be sold by Sheriff's sale on Wednesday, Sept. 7th. This road received subsidies amounting to over $45,000 from the Federal and Provincial Governments, besides a loan of rails from the Dominion Administration; and now it will be disposed of for whatever it is worth and, as a paying investment, that will not be a large sum.—World

REDUCTION MADE IN FIRE STUMPAGE

Small Lumber Cut

Fredericton, Aug. 25.—A prominent lumberman said to-day that there would be a curtailment of 50,000,000 feet in the cut on the St. John River next season, so the cut will amount to between 80,000,000 and 100,000,000 feet.

The Dalhousie Lumber Co. have agreed to curtail their operations this season fifty per cent and Hilyard Bros have also made that agreement. A Miramichi Lumber concern which last year cut over seven million feet will not cut a log this winter. Most of the other important operators have made similar agreements, and in addition to this a large number of logs now on hand belonging to last season's cut, will be held over. Several mills of large capacity along the Miramichi are being closed down, some of the most important ones belonging to Messrs Ritchie, Lynch & Burns.

At the surveyor general's office to-day it was learned that the stumpage on fire has been reduced by the government as a result of their recent conference with the delegation from the Lumberman's Association. The reduction in the stumpage rates on fire is from one dollar and twenty-five cents to eighty cents per thousand superficial feet. Before this the rates on even the inferior qualities of fire were just the same as those for such lumber as spruce and pine. The state of affairs the lumbermen felt was unreasonable and it was the unanimous feeling of the Association that this should immediately be remedied. The reduction was made early in August.

Judge Hanington Finds No Criminal Cases.

DALHOUSIE NEWS.

A Rumor that Geo. Moffat and W. S. Montgomery Will Erect Mill.

One of the great drawbacks to the advancement of our pretty little town is the difficulty of securing building lots. Your correspondent knows of several citizens who would erect very fine homes if land could be purchased. Strange to say that there are a great many vacant lots in the town plot, yet the owners outside of two or three do not care about parting with their land, for what reason no one can understand.

Our schools opened on Monday with a very large attendance of pupils. The teachers are well qualified and the rate-payers look forward to a good year's work. Mr. Peter McLean, Principal and Miss Annie Murphy of Jaquet River, have been re-engaged. The new teachers are Miss Ida M. DeBoo, Newcastle and Miss Susie McPherson, River Chalo.

The Convent School opened on Monday also, and besides a large day attendance from the town several boarders have arrived from Restigouche, Gloucester and Bonaventure Cos. A second English teacher will form part of the teaching staff this year.

During the vacations some very fine painting was done to the interior of the Convent.

It is reported that Messrs Geo. Moffat and W. S. Montgomery intend erecting a saw mill on the site formerly occupied by the late Marshall Reid. It is to be hoped that the rumor is true. We require more industries to give employment to our growing population.

Mr. Simon McGregor, Street Commissioner of Dalhousie, is to be congratulated, on the great improvements he is making to our streets and sidewalks.

The Restigouche Circuit has been in session since Tuesday. There was no criminal business before the Court and Judge Hanington congratulated the County on its absence of crime.

He spoke of the great improvements he had seen in the town of Campbellton. Dalhousie was also going ahead, said the learned judge. Throughout the County of Restigouche where he had travelled he could notice great progress, on all sides.

Two civil cases are being tried this week. They are both of the same nature. The contestants are Joseph Dittie and Damase Turgeon versus Wm Currie for damage done to their lands by lumber drives in the Eel River. Hon. J. C. Barbour and J. D. Hazen, M. P. P., are the lawyers for the presentation and W. A. Mott, Ex. M. P. P., is acting for the defence. This case is a very important one as it will decide the point whether the lumber operators are responsible for the loss of property sustained by farmers, whose lands are bordering on rivers when lumber is driven. It is known that for years farmers living near the Eel River have sustained heavy losses by having some of their best land carried away by spring freshets and they claim that the damage is caused by the lumber tearing everything before it. On the north branch of the Charlo River the local government has been put to a great deal of expense to protect the highway on account of the heavy rains of lumber causing the river to overflow and do great damage.
