POETRY.

SNOW.

Fall thickly on the rose-bush, Oh! faintly-falling snow!
For she is gone who trained its branch,
And waded its bud to blow.
Cover the well-known pathway, Oh, damp, December snow!
Her step no longer lingers there, When stars begin to glow.
Melt in the rapid river, Oh, cold and cheerless snow!
She sees no more its sudden wave, Nor hears its foaming flow.
Chill every song-bird's music, Oh, silent, sullen snow!
I cannot hear her loving voice,
That lulled me long ago.
Sleep on the Earth's broad bosom, Oh, weary, winter snow!
Its fragrant flowers and blithesome birds, Should with its loved one go!

Mr. Robert Gillilan, a Scotch poet of some note, and the author of several beautiful songs in the Scotch dialect, died suddenly on the 4th ult. at his residence in Leith. He has held for many years the office of Grand Bard to the Masonic Grand Lodge of Scotland.
Mr. Gillilan's emigrant song, "Oh, why left I my home," is well known, and may be considered among his best productions. A few hours before his decease, he penned the following hurried lines:
By wintry blasts and ocean waves, My bark tossed to and fro, Now quietly rests at anchor, where Nor storms nor tempests blow.
And when the sea gives up its dead,
And earth's foundation's river, I hope, through Christ to make good sail, Swift for the Port of Heaven.

A CAUTION.—Suspect men and women who affect great softness of manner, an unruffled evenness of temper, and an enunciation studied, slow, and deliberate. These things are all unnatural, and bespeak a degree of moral discipline, into which he that has no sinister motive cannot submit to drill himself. The most successful knaves are sharp, and smooth as razors dipped in oil. They affect the innocence of the dove to hide the cunning of the serpent.
[This will apply to many we wot of.]

SAGACITY AND STRENGTH OF THE SPIDER.
The intelligence and power evinced by the spider in securing its prey, has often attracted attention; but we have seldom heard of so remarkable a display of these faculties as we witnessed a short time since. A small sized spider had made his web on the under side of a table. Early one morning, a cockroach was noticed on the floor, directly under the web, and on approaching to take it away, it was found that the spider had thrown a line round one of its legs, and while the observer was looking at it, the spider came down and lassoed the opposite leg of the cockroach. The spider then went up to his web, but instantly came down and fastened a line to another leg, and continued for several minutes darting down and fastening lines to different parts of the body of his victim. The struggles of the cockroach, (though a full-grown one) were unavailing to effect his escape—he could not break his bonds, and his efforts seemed only to entangle him the more.
As his struggles became more and more feeble, the spider threw his lines more thickly around him; and when he had become nearly exhausted, the spider proceeded to raise him from the floor. This he did by raising one end at a time. He at first raised the head and forward part of the body, nearly half an inch; then raised the other end; and so continued to work, till the cockroach was elevated five or six inches from the floor.
Thus, "hung in chains," the victim was left to die. The spider was, as before remarked, a small one, and could not have been more than a tenth the weight of his prey.

A Good story.—An old lawyer of the city of New-York tells a good joke about one of his clients.—
"A fellow had been arraigned before the Police, for stealing a set of silver spoons.—
The articles were found upon the culprit, and there was no use in attempting to deny the charge. Lawyer G—, was applied to by the prisoner as counsel, and seeing no escape for his client, except on the plea of insanity or idiocy, he instructed the fellow to answer as stilly a look as possible, and when any question was put to him, to utter, in a drawing manner, the word 'spoons.' If successful, the fee was to be twenty dollars.
"The Court proceeded to trial; the charge was read, and the question put to the prisoner—'Guilty or not guilty?'
"Spoons," ejaculated the culprit.
"The Court put several questions to him, but 'spoons—spoons,' was all the answer that he could elicit.

"The fellow is a fool," said the judge; let him go about his business.
"The prisoner left the room, and the lawyer followed close in his wake, and when they had got into the hall, the counselor tapped his client on the shoulder, saying—"Now my good fellow, that twenty dollars!"
"The rogue looked the lawyer full in the face, and putting on a proteque and silly expression, and winking with his eyes, exclaimed—'Spoons!' and then made tracks."

WOMEN AND DANCING.—"I believe a woman would do a great deal for a dance," said Dr. Grouching; "they are immensely fond of salutatory motion. I remember once in my life I used to flirt with one who was a great favourite in a provincial town where I lived, and she was invited to a ball there, and confided to me that she had no stockings to appear in, and without them her appearance, at the ball was out of the question."
"That was a hint for you to buy the stockings," said Dick.
"No; you're out," said Grouching. "She knew I was as poor as herself; but though she could not rely on my purse, she had every in my taste and judgement, and consulted me on a plan she had formed for going to the ball in proper twigs. Now what do you think it was?"
"To go in cotton, I suppose," returned Dick.
"Out again, sir—you'd never guess it;
and only a woman could hit on the expedient.
It was the fashion in those days for ladies in full dress to wear pink stockings, and she proposed painting her legs!"
"Painting her legs?" they all exclaimed.
"Fact sir," said the Doctor, "and she relied on me for telling her if the cheat was successful!"
"And was it?" asked Durfy.
"Don't be in a hurry, Tom. I complied on one condition, namely, that I should be the painter."

"Oh, you old rascal!" said Dick.
"A capital bargain," said Tom Durfy.
"But not a safe covenant," added the Attorney.
"Don't interrupt me, gentlemen," said the Doctor. "I got some rose pink accordingly, and I defy all the hoisers in Nottingham to make a tighter fit than I did on little Jenny; and a prettier pair of stockings I never saw."
"And she went to the ball?" said Dick.
"She did."
"And the trick succeeded?" added Durfy.
"So completely," said the Doctor, "that several ladies asked her to recommend her dyer to them. So you see what a woman will do to go to a dance. Poor little Jenny!—she was a merry minx;—by the bye, she boxed my ears that night for a joke I made about the stockings. "Jenny," said I, "for fear your stockings should fall down when you are dancing, had I better let me paint a pair of garters on them!"

WIT IN CHOOSING TAXES.—A young preacher in the time of James I. being appointed to hold forth before the Vice-Chancellor and heads of colleges of Oxford, chose for his text, "What I cannot see I cannot reach one hour?" which carried a personal allusion, as the Vice-Chancellor happened to be one of those head-headed persons who cannot attend church without falling asleep. The preacher repeat-his text in an emphatic manner at the end of every division of his discourse, the unfortunate Vice-Chancellor as often awoke; and this happened so often that at last all present could very well see the joke. The Vice-Chancellor was so nettled at the disturbance he had met with, and the talk it occasioned, that he complained to the Archbishop of Canterbury, who immediately sent for the young clergyman to reprove him for what he had done. In the course of the conference which ensued between the archbishop and the preacher, the latter gave so many proofs of his wit and good sense that his grace procured him the honour of preaching before the king.
Here also he had his joke. He gave out his text in these words—James—the First and Sixth, "Waver not!" which, of course, every body present saw to be a stroke at the indecisive character of the monarch. James, equally quick-sighted, exclaimed, "He is at me already." But he was, upon the whole, so well pleased with this clerical wag as to make him one of his chaplains in ordinary.
He afterwards went to Oxford, and preached a farewell sermon on the text, "Sleep on now and take your rest."

Mr. J—, of—Maine, had a wife of "strong intellectual force"—a terrible terminant. When he was on his death-bed, the village pastor came to offer spiritual consolation.

"Neighbour," said he, "your earthly career will soon be closed."
"I feel it—I feel it," said the dying man.
"You have led," he continued, "an honest, upright life and are, I trust, ready to meet with calmness the King of Terrors."
The old man raised himself with difficulty, and in a feeble voice murmured—

"I ought to be able, if the power is ever given to mortal man. Have I not lived for the last long thirty years with the Queen?" ONE OF THE RUDE SEX WANTED.—"Donna Del Lago" is just seventeen, and has all the accomplishments. She is five feet four and a half in her shoes. She can dance, sing, and speak French; she is fond of moonlight walks, and darts on poetry; besides, she can wash and iron, pickle and preserve, make pies and puddings, cook turkeys and geese, chickens and partridges, sirloins of beef and legs of mutton, boil potatoes and eggs, make salad and mix mustard, and do innumerable other comfortable things. Besides, she has lots of kind looks and sweet kisses to lavish on some chosen one of the rude sex, if she could only find him. "Oh, Mr.
Editor!"—Have patience; "your time's a coming."—[Family Herald.]

MARKET GARDENS AND RAIL ROADS.—Railroads have had a wonderful influence on the production and sale of such articles as are quickly perishable. And on nothing has the influence been greater, perhaps, than on the market gardens about London. Covent Garden market has been famed for its remunerative prices of fine things. According to the Gardener's Chronicle, $300 have been obtained from an acre of cabbages, $500 for an acre of rhubarb, $700 for an acre of asparagus, and of strawberries. Single forced cucumbers have sold for $2, melons for $5, forced strawberries at half a dollar an ounce, and apples $3 per pound. These prices are high, but the expenses are enormous. Fitch of Fulham, (who has sold nine cart loads of vegetables in one day by nine o'clock in the morning) has paid out for the use of 100 acres of land, manure, and all expenses, nearly twenty thousand dollars a year.

But fresh market gardens have sprung up all along the lines of railways, and made a fearful change upon the old gardeners. Land in the country is not a sixth part of the price it is near the city, and railway conveyance is cheap. Many families in London now receive the produce of their own country gardens. Railroads and steamboats have effected still another change. French vegetables and fruits are brought into London before the usual English markets, having an earlier climate in their favor. The London gardener possesses a decided advantage in climate over the northern counties, and large quantities are consequently sent north. In short, the old and limited bounds of trade are broken up, and a general distribution both of profits and consumption made throughout the kingdom.

A similar result is taking place in this country. If our territory is wider, the greater difference in latitude will give the north the benefit of southern productions—all the earlier. The Early Tillotson peach ripens in southern Virginia more than a month sooner than in New-York. A more general cultivation of this variety there would supply New-York city with an abundance of excellent peaches before mid-summer.

COMMUNICATION.

THE FISHERIES OF NEW BRUNSWICK, NO. 2.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE STANDARD.

SIR,—I observed, in my first letter, that, among other reasons given by some for the present distressed state of the fisheries, the taking of large quantities of the small herring in weirs and otherwise, was a principal one, and I intend to confine my present remarks to this subject. As this is very strenuously dwelt upon by many of the fishermen besides others, I shall approach it with a degree of deliberate caution. Of course the weirs about the mouth of the St. John river, and at the head of the bay are not included; as the little herring are all these persons are afraid of having killed; I shall therefore speak only of the weirs at Grand Manan, Campo Bello, and West Isles.

Around Grand Manan there are in all 32 weirs, owned by about 90 individuals, or about 3 owners to each; 6 of these weirs are wholly owned by Americans, and three partly. Whilst they are building and repairing these weirs, and when taking herring, about 150 men are employed, including the owners, besides many boys and girls at intervals assisting in stringing. In connexion with these weirs, there are 65 smoke houses; and, including boats, nets, sticks, and other materials and conveniences for curing and smoking, are worth at the very lowest calculation, £5000, besides the cost of constructing the weirs, which generally has to be done every year; and, supposing there to be at Campobello and West Isles about twice as many, it will appear that the property invested in weirs in these islands, is £15,000, besides the cost of the weirs and the rent, which for good privileges is sometimes very considerable; and that about 450 men, besides many children, depend chiefly on these weirs for support. Now to go for a wholesale destruction of all this property, would be extremely unjust, unless it can be shown clearly and beyond rational doubt, that they are a great and rapid destruction of our fisheries.

We will now examine the arguments. It

LAW RESPECTING NEWSPAPERS

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

If Subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them till all arrears are paid.

If Subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed; they are held responsible till they is asserted that "the weirs destroy rapidly, and if allowed to continue and increase will ultimately, and in a short time destroy all the herring, and that consequently the line-fish, being deprived of their food, will cease to come into our bay, and if they did come we can get no bait to catch them with." Now, not stopping to consider that the cod fish on the Banks all around fed chiefly on the bottom, and that these Banks are the most profitable places for good fishing vessels to go. I am entirely and decidedly of opinion, that all the herring taken in weirs and every other way—even if weirs and other means of destruction increase much faster than they have of late, for half a century to come,—it will scarcely have the effect to lessen them; that, although they may be scarcer for a year or several years (as has been the case this year), and about the creeks and shores directly, and perhaps the next year we shall have them as plentiful as ever. For, tho' the herring be scarce in shore for a season or so, yet a little distance from the land by sailing, as I have seen myself this year and at other times, the waters of the bay shows itself to be, as it were, alive with them; and it does not seem to be their nature to invariably come in-shore, for, as I have observed at times, none scarcely can be found, neither by netting, driving by torchlight, nor in the weirs; and this may continue so with little variation for more than a season; and directly we behold the coast swarming with them; the weirs are filled so that the greatest trouble their owners have, is to get a part out alive; being in such quantities they cannot cure a tenth part of them; you can net as many of the larger size as can be taken care of—whilst 20 lbs. of birch bark, and 3 men to row the boat, will allow you to fill her, up to the gunwales in half an hour, and at the same time show you by the light of the torches, such a body of herrings, that of their quantity you can form no idea. Sometimes this will be the case, simultaneously, in all parts where they frequent, at Grand Manan, Quoddy river, and along the North Shore; and again there may be many at one place and none at another, and again reversed. They sometimes too come in at one season of the year and sometimes at another; and so far as I can learn, added to what I have seen, it is the case with all kinds of fish on all fishing coasts in different parts of the world. I suppose these Weir Destroyers do not expect ever to see another little herring, because they happened to be quite scarce this year—but don't be alarmed Boys; even perhaps next year you will see the little "chovies," along as numerous as ever. Why a few years past people had almost forgotten them, they had become so scarce, when beheld 1848 and 1849 brought them along in such immense quantities as were not known for a long period. It has been just so with the cod and scale fish, and so with the mackerel, shad, salmon, alewives &c., and that it will continue to be so is almost beyond doubt.

Among the reasons for pulling down the weirs, the idea that they "frighten those herring from visiting the shores so frequently as they would if there were no weirs," is one that I think is the best. To support this they say "the herring cannot be driven by torchlight; as they used to be before the weirs were built;" but this has been disproved by the fact that during the past three years, they could be and were caught in abundance in that way; and this past year a few could be taken here at times when not one could be caught in the weirs in the same vicinity. I think however they do in some measure have the effect of hurrying the fish away from the shores in some localities, there being sometimes a great body of them, which getting stopped in the weirs, they are obliged to force them out, and in the operation many get wounded and frightened. There is another reason which looks to me like prejudice, that the "Americans by twining some of the weirs, derive all the advantages from them." I have already shown how few weirs are owned by Americans in this Island, and those that are principally worked by inhabitants of the Province, who live among us, and who generally, I am quite certain enjoy the benefits derived from them, together with the owners of the privileges to whom the Americans have to pay a good rent. But I do not think these last remarks so applicable to Campo Bello, because Americans who rent weirs in that island, take the herring on their own side of the River, where they reside, and where they employ the labor necessary to cure the fish.

Among the motives for prohibiting the weirs, I would not like to insinuate that envy had any influence in the minds of any for wishing to annihilate them, yet when it is so vehemently, and at the same time, so unreasonably urged, it leaves me in doubt, whether it does not influence some. It is certain that a few have met with success by following the weir-fishing, who happened to have good privileges, and have been industrious and economical as well as enterprising, and again a very few who were proprietors of several good privileges, have derived good rents therefrom, and it is a business at which the farmer and others (who could not go from

GREAT AGRICULTURAL WORK!

THE FARMER'S GUIDE TO Scientific and Practical Agriculture

By HENRY STEPHENS, F.R.S.E., Author of the "Book of the Farm," Editor of the "Quarterly Journal of Agriculture," &c. &c.

Assisted by JOHN P. NORTON, A. M., Professor of Scientific Agriculture in Yale College, New Haven, Author of Agricultural Prize Essays, &c. &c.

This highly valuable work will comprise two large royal octavo volumes, containing over 1400 pages, 18 or 20 splendid steel engravings, and more than 600 engravings on wood, in the highest style of the art, illustrating almost every implement of husbandry now in use by the best farmers, the best methods of ploughing, planting, sowing, harvesting, &c. &c., the various domestic animals in their highest perfection; in short, the pictorial feature of the book is unique, and will render it of incalculable value to the student of agriculture.

This great work is the joint production of two of the most talented agricultural scholars of the day; the one eminent as an author and editor in Great Britain, and the other as a Professor in Yale College. Both are eminently practical as well as scientific men, and all they say may be relied on as the result of profound research, tested and sustained by practical experiment. The contributions of Professor Norton are chiefly designed to adapt the British portion of the book to this country, and thus to make it an Anglo-American work, giving to its readers all the really useful agricultural knowledge at present attainable in either country.

The work is divided into four departments, distinguished by the four seasons of the year commencing with Winter, and Prof. Norton's notes will be published as an appendix to each part. The first chapter treats of the following subjects, under the head of

INITIATION

On the best of the existing Methods for acquiring a thorough knowledge of Practical Husbandry.

On the Difficulties to be encountered in learning Practical Husbandry, and on the Means of overcoming them.

On the Different kinds of Farming.

On the Persons required to Conduct and Execute the Labor of the Farm.

On the Branches of Science most applicable to Agriculture.

On the Institutions of Education best suited to Agricultural Science.

On the evils attending the neglect of Landowners and others to learn practical Agriculture.

On observing the details and recording the facts of Farming by the Agricultural Student.

Terms of the Work.—The American edition, the first number of which is already issued, will be published in semi-monthlies of 64 pages with an English steel engraving in each number, of which there will be about 22 in all. PRICE, 25 CENTS PER NUMBER.

HEALTH where 'tis SOUGHT!

Holloway's Pills.

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND STOMACH, WHEN IN A MOST HOPELESS STATE.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. Matthew Harvey, of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, dated the 15th of January, 1850.

Sir—Your valuable Pills have been the means, with God's blessing, of restoring me to a state of perfect health, and at a time when I thought I was on the brink of the grave. I had consulted several eminent doctors, who after doing what they could for me, stated that they considered my case hopeless. I was so weak and debilitated, that I was unable to perform my usual duties, and I was suffering from a Liver and Stomach complaint of long standing which during the last two years got so much worse that every one considered my condition as hopeless. I was a last resort, got a Box of your Pills, which soon gave relief and by persevering in their use for some weeks, together with rubbing night and morning your Ointment over my chest and stomach, and right side, I have by your means alone got completely cured, and to the astonishment of myself and every body who knows me.

(Signed) MATTHEW HARVEY.
CURE OF A CASE OF WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY, OF FOUR YEARS' STANDING.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. Smith, of No. 56, Little Thomas Street, Gibson Street, London, dated Dec. 10th, 1849.

To Professor Holloway.
Sir—I beg to inform you that for nearly five years I hardly knew what it was to have a day's health, suffering from extreme weakness and debility, with constant nervous headaches, giddiness, and sickness of the stomach, together with a great depression of spirits, I used to think that nothing could benefit me, as I had been to many medical men some of whom after doing all that was in their power informed me that they considered that I had some spiritual complaint beyond the reach of cure, together with a very disordered state of the stomach and liver, making my case so complicated that nothing could be done for me. One day being unwell, and in a dejected state, I saw your Pills advertised, and resolved to give them a trial, more perhaps from curiosity than with a hope of being cured, however I soon found myself better by taking them, and so I went on persevering in their use for six months, when I am happy to say they effected a perfect cure.

(Signed) WILLIAM SMITH.
(frequently called EDWARD.)
CURE OF ASTHMA, OF TWENTY YEARS' STANDING.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. J. K. Hyatt, 78 King Street, Sydney, dated 10th of November 1849.

To Professor Holloway.
SIR—I have the pleasure to inform you that many extraordinary cures of Asthma have been effected by the means of your Pills. One is that of a lady residing near the "Razorback," who after having for twenty years been unable to make the slightest exertion, suffering very much from shortness of breath, coughing, and spitting, but is now, to use her own expression, able to run up to the top of the mountain. Another case is that of Mr. Cason, Tailor, of Hutchinson's Buildings, Clarence Street, who was so dreadfully afflicted by the disease, entirely by his bed-room for six months, prior to his commencing with your Pills, and attended regularly by his medical man, who pronounced him to be in a dying state, yet he, (thanks to my knowledge, has been restored to perfect health by the use of your Pills, and rubbing your Ointment night and morning into his chest.

(Signed) J. K. HEYDON.
ASTONISHING CURE OF THE EARL OF ALDBOROUGH.

By this Marvellous Medicine, after every other means had failed.

I Copy of a Letter from the Earl of Aldborough dated Villa Maestran, Leghorn, 21st Feb. 1845.

To Professor Holloway.

SIR—Various circumstances prevented the possibility of my thanking you before this time for the pleasure you are sending me your Pills as you did. I now take this opportunity of sending you an order for the amount, and at the same time, to add that your Pills have effected a cure of a disorder in my Liver and Stomach, which all these medicines in the Faculty at home, and all over the Continent had not been able to effect; nay! not even the waters of Carlsbad and Marienbad. I wish to have another Box and a Pot of Ointment in case any of my family should ever require either.

I remain, with much respect, Your most obliged and obedient servant.

(Signed) ALDBOROUGH.

CAUTION!—None are Genuine unless the words "Holloway's Pills and Ointment, London," are engraved on the Government Stamp, pasted on every Pot and Box; with the same words woven in the water-mark of the Books of directions wrapped round the medicines.

Should unprincipled Vendors recommend parties asking for Holloway's Pills and Ointment not to buy them, but to take something else in their stead, they do so only for the purpose of getting a greater profit by what they wish them to purchase.
