Skating Rink Crowded With Attentive Rate-payers Who Heard Liberal Chief and Other Speakers on the Issues of the Campaign.

TOWN COUNCIL AFTER SUBWAY
Special Meeting Called to Discuss Matter—Resolution Adopted.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held Wednesday evening, Oct. 20, His Worship Mayor McKay presiding. Couns. Dunsen, Moore, Blissett, Wallace, St. Onge and Bellisle were present.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

That this Council request the Canadian National Railway authorities to provide at the earliest possible date (this fall if at all possible) a subway and approaches to same between Patterson and Union streets north of Central street. The said subway to be a continuation of said Central street and that the width of said subway be not less than sixty feet with separate passages for each sidewalk, on the same plan as the Moncton subway.

In view of relieving the unemployment problems in this town to a certain extent, this Council strongly urges the railway authorities to erect said subway during the present fall.

Following up the above a strong letter signed by the Mayor was forwarded to the railway authorities and it is sincerely hoped that work on this very necessary subway will be undertaken at an early date.

CHAIRMAN KELLY SAYS THANK YOU
Word of Cheer and Encouragement to Temperance Workers Here.

As chairman of the Local Branch of the Temperance Alliance I sincerely thank each member of the Alliance, who contributed to our most inspiring victory at the polls on the 10th inst.

Alliance for the good work done in our own midst. I also seek to congratulate temperance workers throughout the town and county for the latent energy in our midst, ready to spring to life at the call of moral reform.

Two or three men probably inspired at the same source say, "Oh! it is only a woman's victory." I say, thank God for the women. And let me say women of Campbellton, keep your hand ready for the good work. The boys and girls for whom you worked so effectively are yours, and you will be asked to account for them.

I sincerely thank all assisting parties to the great work for their sympathy and support. You did fine!

M. A. KELLY,
Chairman.

BIG SPACE AGAIN WINS OUT

Graphic Advertising Had Most Gratifying Results in Sales.

In the Graphic's issue of Oct. 6th, full page advertisement of The Central Book Store (J. & E. Cantin) appeared.

A special sale of phonographs was offered and every instrument, cabinet etc. was promptly sold (24 in all). If this does not prove the true value of big space display advertising we know of nothing that does or will. If the proof of the pudding is the chemical analysis thereof! The remunerative proof of advertising is also proven again—ask Cantin's!

GIRLS' CONFERENCE

Miss Mary Allison was in town last week for a few days the guest of Mrs. Max Mowat. Miss Allison is the Girls' Work Secretary of the Maritime Religious Council. The purpose of her visit was in connection with organization of the Girls' Conference to be held here Nov. 4-8, simultaneously with "Puff Blows," to be in session at that time. This will be the first Girls' Conference ever held in Campbellton.

for the presentation of the Canadian Girls in Training Programme. This programme for boys, having the same ideal of four-fold development and being promoted co-operatively by the Anglican, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist denominations.

Without exception the Liberal rally held in the skating rink here Tuesday evening, and addressed by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and other Liberal speakers, was the greatest political demonstration ever held on the north shore.

From all quarters electors came to town by train or auto and when the meeting opened, the big rink which had been comfortably seated with benches, was filled and many stood along the premises and galleries. It is estimated that there were nearly three thousand people assembled. The best of order prevailed throughout the meeting the different speakers being attentively listened to.

Hon. Mr. King and his party, among whom were Hon. C. W. Robinson, Moncton, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Bathurst; Hon. J. E. Michaud, Edmundston; O. Turgeon, Bathurst and others, arrived by the Ocean Limited at 7:30. The Campbellton band and a tremendous concourse of citizens were at the depot to welcome them and escort them to the hotel and later to the rink.

At 8:15 Mr. A. T. LeBlanc, who had been chosen chairman opened the meeting.

In a few remarks he thanked the people for their interest, explained Hon. Mr. Mackenzie's absence and introduced the speakers. He stated that at a large and enthusiastic Liberal convention held at St. Leonard's on the 14th inst. at which a very large delegation from Restigouche was present, the unanimous choice of a candidate to represent the Liberals had been Pius Michaud, who had been their representative since 1917. No doubt in the near future at another election, at Restigouche man will be chosen the standard bearer. In conclusion he asked for the loyal support of Mr. Michaud on Dec. 6th so that his majority would be even greater than in 1917. Mr. Michaud was then introduced and was greeted with applause.

Pius Michaud.

Mr. Michaud thanked the audience for the flattering reception tendered him. He thanked the electors of Restigouche-Madawaska who had come to honor to our leader, and the next Premier of Canada, Hon. Mr. King. He (Mr. Michaud) had been chosen by a very large and representative convention of the Liberals of the constituency and he felt sure of success. There was no split in the Liberal party. The Conservatives were scheming to make a split but they (the Liberals) were wise to the game. Even if the Conservatives could put a candidate in the field he felt sure the result would be the same as in 1917. We are prepared for their tricks and tactics.

To the ladies he said that he was willing to leave his case in their hands and felt sure of their support and their support of the great Liberal principles. In conclusion he asked all to give him a vote on Dec. 6th and thanked the audience for their patience and applause.

Hon. C. W. Robinson.

Hon. C. W. Robinson was the next speaker. He was given a great reception and made a rousing appeal to all electors who were interested in this great Canada to vote for a change. Canada he likened to a sick patient and the Conservative leader as the doctor. The patient was showing no improvement and it was felt that a change of doctors was advisable and suggested that we try a specialist.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King—Applause. He spoke interestingly of railway matters and suggested that if we in the maritime provinces were to regain control and the management of the Intercolonial railway it would be necessary to send from almost every constituency in these provinces supporters of Mr. King—Applause.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

The chairman then introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. He was given a tremendous ovation and was escorted to the rink.

Hon. Mr. King said that he was indeed flattered by his reception at Campbellton, it was one of the greatest meetings he had addressed in his tour of the provinces and a fitting close to his meetings. He did not regard the reception as a personal tribute, but a tribute to the principles of liberalism. The voice of liberalism today is the voice of the people of Canada. In Nova Scotia there seemed to be but one voice and that was the Liberals. In P. E. I. it was the same, and now at the conclusion of his New Brunswick campaign he felt he could say the same.

He had seen a wave mounting that he could see a wave mounting which would carry his party into power. Well he had not been able to distinguish that wave, but what he heard was the roar of a mighty ocean, which is the voice of public opinion and this would wash the Meighen party into oblivion.

The speaker paid a tribute to the worth of Mr. Pius Michaud and asked for the support of all for him on Dec. 6th. He also spoke feelingly of Mr. O. Turgeon of Gloucester who was also present, and suggested that Gloucester County would do honor to itself by sending so worthy a representative back to parliament by acclamation—Applause.

After these preliminaries Hon. Mr. King proceeded in a masterly way to discuss the issues of the campaign.

In 1917, the Hon. Mr. King pointed out, Canada had a general election. All at that time were bent on the aim of winning the war. No consideration was given to domestic questions, and since the conclusion of the war no domestic questions which affected the country, as no general election had been held.

Mr. Meighen's right to the Premiership of Canada the speaker questioned. Mr. King asked: "Did he have any right to rule? Did anyone give him a mandate to rule? 'Who gave Mr. Meighen the right to shape the railway policies of this country?' asked the Liberal leader amid great applause. "Is there a man who gave him that right? The answer is silence. 'If you return Premier Meighen and his colleagues, you further autonomy and if you do not approve of his government, then you have your opportunity on December 6th."

While in Moncton and other maritime cities and Mr. King, the issue dealt with by Mr. Meighen had been protection versus free trade. In the discussion of such an issue, Mr. Meighen was arguing a question, the Liberal leader said, which was of his own creation. In the discussion of the tariff issue Mr. Meighen forgot the acts of his government. He defined Mr. Meighen's policies as being autocratic.

The Railway Issue.

Turning to the railway issue, the Hon. Mr. King deprecated the policy adopted by the Meighen and Borden administrations. He pointed out that the Meighen government and Borden government had laid the blame for the deficits on Government railways on the Laurier government, but this was and creed, race and race, province and province and were not this vast Dominion with the other dominions of the British Empire. The Liberal party aims to restore goodwill to all, for on goodwill alone rests the solution of our difficulties. Only by co-operation

HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING.

Mr. Meighen had foreseen, said Mr. King, the necessity of another line of railway over the continent. Previous to the adoption of that policy to erect another road to the West there was but one road in that country. To better the immigration into the west and aid in general industrial development of Canada, a second road was erected. The result was immigration. Settlers went into the west. The prairies were broken up and the new settlers had a measure of self-government in the affairs of their adopted country.

The Canadian National Railway.

The management of the above road was placed in the hands of a Board of directors. "Are they railway men?" asked Mr. King. "The government," said Mr. King had appointed a group of their own friends, and the Liberals had asked for an account as to the expenditures of money by this group."

The Liberals also asked: "Have any assurance been placed on the government property?" The reply to these questions to the effect that the government had no information to give.

The Liberals also asked: "Have any contracts been let for cars?" and the reply, added the Liberal leader, was "The government had no information" and blamed the deficits on this road on the wages it was paying, labor coming in for the blame.

The Liberals had asked questions concerning the rolling stock of the company, and the reply was "The government has no reply to make." Was that justice?" asked Mr. King. "Thus kept in the evil of graft and favoritism, but the Liberals," declared the Liberal leader, "stood for publicity and the fullest publicity. Four-fifths of the number of the board of directors of the C.N.R. were those who had furnished supplies to the road, they being directors of other companies."

PIUS MICHAUD IS THE CHOICE

Largely Attended Convention Name Him As Liberal Standard Bearer.

The Liberal convention held at St. Leonard's last Friday was a most harmonious affair. Delegates were present from every parish in the two counties. A very large delegation went over from Campbellton.

When the meeting was called to order and the delegates got down to business there was only one name put in nomination, that of Pius Michaud who has represented Restigouche-Madawaska since 1917, and Victoria-Madawaska for some years.

PIUS MICHAUD.

Mr. Michaud made a fighting speech and it is the opinion of those who attended the convention that he will sweep the entire constituency.

can true advance and progress be attained and I ask you to join me in making that aim a splendid reality.

"We have passed through the period of war into peace. We need, not only peace, but the spirit of peace. Let us seek that spirit as a substitute for the ill-will engendered by the war. It is only by goodwill that we can be a united country.

"I want to say this in conclusion, as a Canadian, as a British subject, that our first duty in this time of peace is to heal the wounds and scars of war and make our country happy, contented, and united. We promised the men who went overseas, who fought, who bled, or died, that they could expect this much of us. There was a solemn pledge made to them that they would never regret their following the vision splendid. Here and hereafter you shall see it fulfilled; we had promised. They fought that peace might come again and that ill-will would disappear. And it remains for us to keep that binding pledge.

"I say that that man, who deliberately attempts to stir up the flames of passion and prejudice is unjust to himself, unjust to the living and unjust to the memory of our sacred dead. Let us seek concord.

"The war caused a great waste of human life, Hon. Mr. King declared. It bred autocracy into the government. It was for us to return to democracy of peace.

Hon. Mr. King closed by an appeal to the electors for unity of purpose on Dec. 6th, and thus return to Liberal principles—Great applause.

Hon. P. J. Veniot.

Hon. P. J. Veniot was the next and last speaker. He was given a good reception and an attentive hearing. He spoke of the proposed Campbellton-Cross Point bridge to which his government was pledged and assured the meeting that if the Liberals were returned on Dec. 6th he would use his personal efforts to have Hon. Mr. King's government do their share. He predicted a Liberal sweep in the North Shore counties on the 6th of December.

The meeting came to a close with the singing of God Save Our King and cheers for the Liberal leader and candi-

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT
Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YANCOCK, N.S.
"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.
About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.
The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit!"
A. W. FRANKLIN.
"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c., or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR RIVER CHARLO

Progressive Trustees and Ratepayers Agree to Establish Same.

A number of ratepayers and school trustees met in the school building at River Charlo on Thursday evening to discuss the important question of establishing a night school in the district.
Miss Barnett, the organizer of night schools was present and was introduced by Mr. Moore the Principal of the School who was acting as chairman of the meeting.
Miss Barnett explained clearly the benefits derived from night schools, their importance to the communities and the manner of organizing and conducting the schools and pointed out that government grants cover 75% of the cost of instruction and 50% of the equipment in communities of 2000 or less.
Each student makes a deposit of $2.00 (two dollars) with his application, this amount is refunded at the end of the course, so that the cost to the student is nothing and to the district very little.
The proposal was received very favorably by those present and it was the unanimous decision that a night school should be established. In consequence of which a Vocational Committee was appointed composed of: Mrs. F. E. Daughney, Mr. McNair, Mr. MacPherson, Mr. D. Hamilton and Mr. Ryan, Flat Lands; Mrs. Angus Campbell, Excumaine; Mrs. Hillson Ward, Flat Lands.

The Canadian Pacific Railway And Its Young President

A noteworthy tribute to the Canadian Pacific Railway and its president is paid in an article which appeared recently in the London Times, and which reviews the Canadian railway situation leads to the conclusion that at least the figures emphasize the position of the C.P.R. among American railways and the responsibility of the office to which Mr. Beatty has succeeded.

E. W. Beatty, K.C., President C. P. R.

The Canadian Pacific. The task, therefore, to which Mr. Beatty has set himself is to operate a great private railway system in competition with a great public system, to deal with the political problems which are inherent in such a situation, to maintain a relation with the national railways which will not produce hostile feeling among the people, and to prevent any ill-considered movement towards nationalization of the great property which still remains under private control. Thus far few will deny that Mr. Beatty, has displayed the power, genius and resource which the situation demands. He enjoys the confidence of the government and the goodwill of the people. Never was the Canadian Pacific operated with greater efficiency, never was a staff distinguished for loyalty, more devoted to the interests of the company, and never were there better relations between a public carrier and the shippers and travellers who provide its revenues.

National Railway's Deficit.
In 1919 there was a deficit on the national railways of $50,000,000, (12,500,000 pounds), and for 1920 $70,000,000 (17,500,000 pounds). It is manifest that freight and passenger charges which would give a living revenue to the national railways would greatly increase the surpluses of the Canadian Pacific. It is just as clear that proposals to reduce the capitalization of the National Railways, which have considerable support, could be so applied as to impair the revenues of the railway company. But Mr. Beatty refuses to be anxious or excited, conducts no underground intrigue, indulges in no angry criticism of "public ownership." He believes that the railway policy of the government can be tested by results, and that, during the time of testing the Canadian Pacific can strengthen its own position only by giving service and obtaining from unwise political activity. It requires strength and restraint to hold to the course which Mr. Beatty is taking. But these qualities he has in a remarkable degree.

The statesmen who have controlled the destinies of the pioneer transcontinental system in the Canadian Pacific have been the backbone of Canadian credit and one of the chief sources of Canadian optimism and confidence.

A WEEK AT THE OPERA HOUSE

A glance at the large comedy advertisement elsewhere in this issue will serve to assure Opera House patrons that the very best is in store for them during the coming week.

Particular attention is called to the offering for Friday and Saturday when Pauline Frederick, the popular national actress, will be seen in the screen adaptation of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's famous stage success, "Iris."

Monday evening next marks the opening of a new chapter play featuring the King of Doreville William Duncan. It is called "Fighting Fate" and is promised as something out of the ordinary.

The feature picture for Monday and Tuesday is "Gilded Lies," a splendid Selznick production and here another male star of great appeal is given an opportunity to display his fine talent to the best advantage.

Thursday is a seven reel Reginald Barker production entitled "The Reading Room" from the widely discussed novel of the same name by Katherine Neville Burt.

Taken as a whole the entire week's programme is an excellent one, the equal of which it is not the pleasure of many towns the size of Campbellton to enjoy.

NOTICE

The regular meeting of the Campbellton Musical Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Bertha Boucher, at eight o'clock, Tuesday, Oct. 25th.

NOUVELE.
The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Calvert will regret to hear of the loss of their young son Willie, whose death occurred on Saturday after a few hours illness at the home of Mrs. T. Landry, Mr. A. Francoeur and Mr. V. LeBlanc, accompanied by Mr. Henry Arsecault motored to Campbellton on Monday. The three former were enroute to Chloctoumi. The P. Q. Lumber Co. have reopened and this will afford employment for a large number.
Once more the death bell has rung and its sad peals announces the death of Mrs. V. LeBlanc, whose death took place in Chloctoumi after a short illness. The remains were brought to her home here, where burial and services were held. The deceased leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband and a young daughter, a father and mother, four sisters and six brothers. To the bereaved family our sympathy is extended.
Heartfelt sympathy is extended to the parents and friends of Arthur LeBlanc, who passed away at the Hotel Dieu of Campbellton on Saturday the 8th. Deceased who was in his 25th year, had been suffering from a wound received while testing a newly purchased gun. The funeral services held on Monday were largely attended. The mourners were many and the whole congregation seemed to feel the loss keenly.

CAPE COVE.

Deceased who was in his 25th year, had been suffering from a wound received while testing a newly purchased gun. The funeral services held on Monday were largely attended. The mourners were many and the whole congregation seemed to feel the loss keenly.
Miss Eve LeGrand is the guest of her brother, Mr. Ernest LeGrand of St. Adelaide de Pabos this week.
Miss Leonie MacNeil was the guest of Mrs. Aubin, Little River E., on Friday evening.
We are pleased to welcome in our midst again Mr. Alfred LeMoignan, who has been visiting his home in Jersey, C. I., for the past few months.

Foot Saved in 4 Days!

"Nothing but Zam-Buk could have done it," says Mrs. A. Bryman, 130, John Street, North Hamilton, in describing how her right foot, crushed by a wagon wheel, was healed. "The foot was terribly bruised, blackened and inflamed, and I fainted away with pain. When it was quite impossible for me to move about, my husband's mother got me to try Zam-Buk. It was surprising! Within TWO DAYS all swelling and discoloration and disappeared and pain was banished. In FOUR DAYS, through this timely use of Zam-Buk, I could get about as usual, the injured foot was thoroughly healed."
Zam-Buk is the powerful antiseptic healer which quickly from the skin of corruption and disease and grows new healthy tissue. No common ointment or salve can possibly compare with Zam-Buk. Get a box to-day! 50c. all dealers or FREE SAMPLE for postage from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

MARSHALL FOCH HAS MANY INVITATIONS

Paris, Oct. 15.—Marshal Foch would be compelled to travel more than 20,000 miles to visit nearly every state in the American Union if he should accept all the invitations he has received from the United States since it was announced that he would cross the Atlantic this fall.
"Which of them will you accept?" an American visitor asked the Marshal recently.
"All of them," he replied, "and I would like to visit every state in the Union."
It has been impossible to fix the Marshals itinerary, which thus far includes a trip across the continent to San Francisco.
The Marshal's only apprehension as to the hospitality of the American people is the possible effect it may have upon his digestion.
Remembering the condition in which Marshal Fayolle returned from his visit to America, Marshal Foch frequently murmurs "Poor Fayolle."
The Generalissimo of the allied armies is still amused over Marshal Fayolle's pleasantry when the chairman of the entertainment committee in Boston showed him upon his arrival late one evening the programme for the day following.
It began in the early morning with a sightseeing tour; then followed a reception of delegations, a midday banquet and speeches, and then an afternoon reception. A public dinner and reception was scheduled for the evening and this was to be followed by a ball.
"What do you think of it?" the chairman is reported to have asked the Marshal.
"It lacks something," replied the Marshal. "I see nothing regarding my funeral arrangements at the end of the day."
It might be remarked that Marshal Foch is abstemious in his daily life, his habits being almost ascetic in character.
Col. Francis E. Drake, deputy commander of Paris Post, American Legion will accompany Marshal Foch to America at the latter's request.

RATTEE-KINNEAR.
The marriage took place on Tuesday evening at five o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, 141 St. Charles street, the Rev. I. A. Montgomery officiating assisted by the groom's father, of Miss Frances Elizabeth Kinnear, second daughter of Rev. George F. and Mrs. Kinnear, to Rev. Neil Maclean Rattee, son of Rev. E. J. and Mrs. Rattee, of Longueuil. The ceremony was performed in the bay window of the drawing-room, which was banked with palms, ferns and cut flowers. An aisle of ribbon was formed, through which the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her away. The bride's sister, Mrs. Albert Grande played the wedding march. During the signing of the register, the bride carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Louise MacDiarmid, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of pale yellow taffeta, with trimmings of gold lace and hat of black panne velvet and carried a bouquet of callululus and maiden hair fern, tied with mauve tulle. Little Beryl Grande, niece of the bride, as flower girl, was dressed in white silk and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of sweetbrier roses, tied with pink ribbon. Mr. Joseph Rattee acted as best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, to the bridesmaid a pearl and cameo ring and to the flower girl a gold locket. The bride wore a gown of black tulle, a pearl and cameo bar pin. Mrs. Grande wore a gown of black tulle, with a corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. Rattee, the groom's mother, was in black satin. After the reception, Rev. and Mrs. Rattee left for Halifax, from whence they are sailing to British Guiana to engage in missionary work there, the bride travelling in a navy blue tulle dress, with grey fur, fur and hat to match, trimmed with grey ostrich tips.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years
It is characteristic of those who have seen the slightest ailment, and who have tried the famous "Bayer's" medicine, that they are not only cured, but that they are cured more quickly than ever.
My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Bayer's Remedy from the very first.
And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to see each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Bayer's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.
It is a comforting thought, my friends, for a man of my age to feel that aside from his own eyes, one has done something for his fellow men. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that I have done more than one million people will take a Bayer's Remedy (Dr. Schick's) and live. I hope you will be one of them.
After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I have perfected the famous "Bayer's" medicine, as Remedy, which is truly a God-send.

ANTHRAX
To those who are hoping
We are in the coal business. Here we know conditions. We cannot predict future price but we think further reductions are probable. We have agreements with the coal miners to hold prices until March 31, 1922. There isn't much hope of a decline in freight rates. If the proposed Pennsylvania rate on anthracite becomes a reality, it will mean an additional $3.00 a ton after next July 1st. Coal is far cheaper today than it was a year ago. It is not so much a matter of cost as of consequence during the big coal strike. You are simply appealing to your own sense.

To those who are hoping for lower prices:

We are in the coal business. We believe we know conditions. We cannot predict future prices. We do not think further reductions are likely. Present mine wage agreements don't expire until March 31, 1922. There isn't much hope of general reductions in freight rates. GETS HEAVY PRISON SENTENCE

Sent to Penitentiary For Eight Years in Robbing Case.

Dalhousie, Oct. 12.—Manuel Grandin, of Lorne Settlement, whose case was postponed by his honor Judge McLachlan, from Monday till Wednesday, was tried on Wednesday in the county court. Pleading guilty to charges of breaking, entering and stealing from the McKay store at Nash's Creek at night, on two different occasions, Grandin was sentenced to eight years in Dorchester penitentiary.

ENROMATEIC SUTORS.

Famous Lovers Who Wrote Prolific Letters.

We have all read love letters that were beautiful and love letters that were silly. There are also love letters that are so called, that are so prosaic and even rude. Was there ever such an unromantic lover as George Whitehead, the famous divine who wrote the following letter to the parents of the girl he wished to marry—

"I have received the parents' permission he wrote to the lady herself. 'I make no profession to you. The passionate expressions which casual lovers use ought, I think, to be avoided. I can only promise to keep my matrimonial vows in the most strict and unflinching manner.'"

Dean Swift's proposal to Miss Waring took the form of an ultimatum calculated to offend the most amiable of women. He wrote—

"I am in a condition to make domestic affairs with an income of less than three hundred pounds a year. I will be ready to engage in those methods I shall direct for the improvement of your mind, as well as to make an entertaining company for each other, without being miserable when we are not visiting and being visited? Cleanliness in person and competence in fortune are all I look for in a single woman, and that from the rest of women, and I expect not to be used as a common whore."

What Miss Waring's answer was to this "laying down of the law" we do not know. She knew, however, that she refused to become the wife of so callous and unchivalrous a woman.

But even Dean Swift was no more ungentlemanly in his wooing than Dr. Abernethy. He had set eyes on Miss Anne Threlfall only once when he wrote—

"Dear Madam,—I am much too busy a man to have time for love-letters; but I shall like to marry you and shall be glad to learn your name before the end of the week."

Dr. Abernethy had a formidable rival in business-like love-making in Squire Adams, a crusty old bachelor and a well-known character of his day, who sent this proposal to a girl of his acquaintance—

"My very dear lady,—In spite of a large salary, three housekeepers have left me within the year. Will you accept the position without the salary? I remain, dear madam, your lover, John Adams, and stored to the limit of a blunt and undiplomatic lover to the woman of his choice wrote—

"You're none so young as you once were. You're not much to look at, but you're a good worker. You'd better get a new dress, however, or you mightn't get another chance."

Even such uncomplimentary offers as those suggest more possibilities of romance than that of Rowland Hill when he begged a lady to accept him as "a poor work" in the character of a minister of the church."

Lady Churchill. The late Lady Randolph Churchill had such amazing vitality that when she came into a room everyone felt something was going to happen. There was a time when Lord Randolph fell out with the late King, and during that time—but it lasted only a year—they lived in Paris. Throughout all Randolph's brilliant career, his wife, with her intimate knowledge of men and things, her skill as hostess, musician and talker, aided and abetted him in everything. In the last tragic months of his life she never left his side. All through his life she was trusted up in her son, Winston, and he and his handsome wife gave her back the affection she bestowed on both to the full. So wonderfully did she retain her youth that no one ever looked upon her otherwise than as a young girl. Her great charm was for quite young men. One proposed to her thirteen times, and because she said she "couldn't," has lived a bachelor ever since. Lady Randolph had literary tastes of sorts, and published the Anglo-Saxon Review, as an edition for sale at a guinea a copy. Max Beerbaum remarked at the time that it was a good half-grown's worth for a guinea, and, anyhow, the review didn't survive long.

London Has Its Treasures

Which Could Not Begin to Buy

"WHAT a city to sack!" exclaimed Blucher, the great German soldier, as he rode through London. If he had realized that the treasures would come when half-a-dozen objects in it would be worth more than all the gold in the world, he might have been even more emphatic.

These objects, the envy of every civilized country, are in the British Museum. First and foremost are the Elgin Marbles, which Shelley called the "dear old modern art." They consist of remains of the most glorious building of antiquity, the Parthenon, at Athens. Though they were bought from Thomas Bruce, seventh earl of Bute, for £35,000, they are now beyond price.

One of the marbles, the Theseus, is by common consent the finest representation in existence of a man's figure. Though it is of the third century before Christ, and was found in a rock sanctuary at Delphi, it is the Rosetta Stone, which solved one of the world's greatest mysteries—the meaning of the hieroglyphics on Cleopatra's Needle. For thirteen hundred years nobody could decipher those inscriptions. Then, at Rosetta, near Alexandria, was found a slab of black basalt, on which was an inscription in three alphabets—Egyptian, demotic (otherwise known as people's writing), and Greek, and this stone should have allowed ourselves to forget our principles as we did last Sunday, we all did wrong, and I have been able to read the hieroglyphics on the Pyramids and the hieroglyphics of ancient Egypt. It took twenty years of close study to decipher the great secret.

A flood of light was thrown on some of the fifty thousand or so objects from ancient Egypt which are in the British Museum, notably "The Book of the Dead," another wonder which had been known to the world since it was used before the Bible was written, and took four thousand years to complete.

Connected with these marvels are two Assyrian tablets setting forth the Babylonian Story of the Creation and of the Flood. These wonderful tablets were discovered in the library of Assur-bani-pal, who reigned over Assyria seven years before Christ. They were among thousands of clay tablets containing rare and ancient works.

Another object in the British Museum that is too valuable for money to buy is the Magna Charta, the great Charter of our liberties, which is supposed to have been signed by King John. As a matter of fact, the King did not sign it. According to the Charter itself, it was "given by our hand," which in this case means that the Great Seal was attached.

When Women Enjoyed a Pipe. When tobacco first reached England it was enjoyed in common by both sexes. In the seventeenth century, according to John Ashton, "it was not only usual for the women to join the men in smoking, but in Westchester the children were sent to school with pipes in their satchels, and the schoolmaster called a halt their studies while they all smoked—the teaching the neophyte."

Scottish women used to enjoy a pipe the same way as they enjoyed a pinch of snuff. One of the compilers of the Statistical Account of Scotland, in 1791, records that "the chief ladies in the rural districts smoked tobacco, and the use of it was not confined to the women, but the use of whiskey has become very great. The use of tobacco may almost be said to be excessive, especially among the female sex. There is scarcely a young woman but the time she has been taught to spin, but has also learned to smoke. Smoking seems to have been introduced as an antidote to rheumatism and ague. The favorable alteration with respect to these diseases has only produced greater avidity for tobacco."

Toads That Eat Red-Hot Coals. Toads of a tropical country, where they are accustomed to tread as an article of diet, will eat red-hot coals with avidity if offered to them. The experiment was tried by W. M. Alababad, an Anglo-Indian, at Allahabad. It sounds a cruel trick, but Mr. Woodland, writing in Nature about it, says these toads have very little sense of anything except hunger. Though the hot coals must have burnt their throats and stomachs, they did not seem to feel it, and would gulp three or four pieces before they realized that the glowing coals were not bread.

HIS MISSPENT SUNDAY.

How H. L. S. Scandalized the People of Samoa.

While Robert Louis Stevenson was in Samoa he once organized a paper chase on horseback for a Sunday's amusement. Greatly to the indignation and the discomfort of the Samoan pastors, he garnered money through the native villages at the hour of worship in company with a number of young officers from the men-of-war in the harbor and the clerks and others connected with the German Plantation Company. "I believe," writes Mr. W. E. Clarke in the Fair Review, "that he regarded himself at the moment that he was acting rightly—that it was better for these young men to be so employed than to be engaged in their usual Sabbath occupations. A day or two later he sent an invitation to my wife and me to dine at Vailima. I declined, pleading that I had too much to do, but my wife, however, went and explained that I had too much affection for him to quarrel, and that I was feeling too tired to ignore the matter. He attempted to justify himself, but my wife would not listen. 'I have no doubt but that you can easily silence me in argument,' said she, 'but you know quite well that you did wrong. What would Samoa be like without a Sabbath? And have you no thought of the effect of your conduct upon the natives, who regard you as a Christian man and as our friend, and do you, moreover, think you have not a dignified example to the young Englishmen and Germans here?'

L. S. stood tugging at his moustache during this assault. After several minutes he turned round and, holding out his hand, exclaimed, 'Forgive me, Mrs. Clarke; you are quite right, and I was altogether wrong! I regret it with all my heart. Well,' said my wife, looking significantly at a group of Germans on the veranda, 'you must prove your contrition.'

"Advancing towards them, R. L. S. remarked that he had just been expressing his regret for the part they took in the paper chase on Sunday. 'I am sure,' he added, 'that you feel me to be a man who was altogether wrong and getting an extremely bad example to the people.' At that moment one of the young German officers rode up, and my wife remarked, 'These is your second opportunity; you owe it to your own country.'

"Ah!" replied he. 'Now you ask me something much harder, but I'll do it.' And, greeting the young officer, he went on to say with that charm of manner entirely his own, 'I was just expressing to these gentlemen my contrition and regret that they should have allowed ourselves to forget our principles as we did last Sunday, we all did wrong, and I have been able to read the hieroglyphics on the Pyramids and the hieroglyphics of ancient Egypt. It took twenty years of close study to decipher the great secret.'

"To make such an avowal in a place like Apia, where most of the white population are natives, and regarded the Sabbath, required moral courage. News travels quickly along the coast, and it was not long before it was known in every German household and in the wardrobe of every cabinet in his boy that R. L. S. had openly expressed his penitence for the mispent Sunday."

Popular Brand. The new girl at the perfumery counter had received her training in a bookshop. She hadn't been long on her new job when a customer, after looking over the display, picked up a bottle and asked, "Is this a good brand of perfume?"

"That, madame, is one of our six best smelling," declared the newsless girl.

I SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Paris, Ont.—"For five years I suffered from pain in most of my organs and in my back. All of this time I was unfit for work and was taking different medicines that I thought were good. I saw the advertisement in the papers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it faithfully. I am now in perfect health and do all my own work. I recommend it to others, and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers as a testimonial." Mrs. D. Casady, Box 461, Paris, Ont.

Why women will continue to suffer so long as more than we can understand every kind and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers as a testimonial. For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, abnormality, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The King of Daredevils!

This is Kern Lambert, the hero of this smashing, adventure-detective story. He challenges fate and braves death in a hundred forms—in the air, under the water, on land and sea—wherever the pursuit of the nefarious band of international crooks leads him in his effort to wipe them out and clear away the circumstantial charges that hover over him and stand between the love and happiness he desires.
