Then she went on the rocks at Torteaux, and as yet all the efforts made to get her affoat have failed. Six powerful tugs have been hauling on her but she stays hard and fast on the rocks.

ANOTHER WAR.

Rome, July 25.—Government officals here openly declare that war with Abyssinia has been decided upon. (1 Corriere confirms the news, and add that no doubt France and Russia are preparing to make their new alliance felt and wish to have England and Italy engage in an African war while they would be free to carry out their plans in the Mediterranean and in the far east.

THE WOOL MARKET.

London, July 25.-At the wool sales today 16,000 bales were offered, chiefly of New Zealand and New South Wales. There was a brisk sale, the large number of home and foreign buyers in attendance competing actively. A firm feeling prevailed, there was a tendency towards dearer prices, and operations were large.

Opposition, 44; Independent, 1. Otherwise classified the results are: Free trade, 62; Protection, 44; Labor, 19.

TURKS FEEL UNEASY. In addition to the killed, nine men were severely burned by the explosion. Most distressing scenes are witnessed at the mouth of CHOLERA IN JAPAN.

According to late news from Tokio, there is every symptom at present of a serious epidemic of cholera in Japan. The terrible disease has made its appearance among the troops at Pescadores, Port Arthur and Chin Chow, its germs having been carried home by returning soldiers, and already from fourteen centers of infection reports of fresh cases reach the authorities daily. Thus far seizures have aggregated only 315, and the rate of mortality has been about 35 per cent, but when the summer heat asserts itself a grave situation of affairs will in all probability ensue.

A 13-YEAR-OLD MURDERER. London, July 25.—Robert Coombs, 13 years old, and Nathan Coombs, 11 years old, both sons of Chief Steward Coombs, of the National line steamship France, who were arrested, with a man named Fox, charged with murdering Mrs. Coombs, the mother of the boys, by stabbing her to death while she was asleep at her residence in Plaistow, a suburb of this city, on July 8 last, were formally charged with murder at the Westham Police Court today. After the police had presented the evidence against the accused, which showed that the elder boy alone committed the deed, Nathan Coombs was dis-charged from custody, and Robert Coombs and Fox were committed for trial. The only reason given for the crime was that Mrs. Coombs whipped the younger of the two boys. The boys lay in the house for three days, and when discovered they were playing cards. Fox, who is charged with being an accessory to the crime, is described as half-witted.

COLONIAL TRADE. London, July 25.-The Times takes issue with Lord Ripon's statement in answer to the recommendations of the Ottawa conference. The Times, while not committing itself to preferential trade, holds that colonial trade, if properly advanced, would be more stable than foreign trade. What is more, it would grow in importance, and in that it would show foreign nations that England is more independent of them than they now suppose, it would have a tendency to bring these nations to their senses.

Regarding the policy of Mr. Chamberlain and the new Tory Government on the question of colonial trade, the Times says: In relation to Canada and Australia, his principal hope is understood to be the furtherance of our mutual interests by development, if possible, of commercial and other intercourses. Special schemes will, of course, be considered upon their merits. The movement of Canada toward free trade with Great Britain will probably find in him a sympathetic and practical supporter, while at the same time the British taxpayer knows him of old as a careful guardian of the public purse.

BRAZILIANS ANGRY. Rio Janeiro, July 25.-The occupation of the Island of Trinidad by the British continues to excite much indignation among Brazilians, who declare that the taking of the island is another instance of Great Britain's land-grabbing policy. BUSINESS IN CANADA.

Quietude in Montreal and Toronto Trade Circles.

Cutlook for the Coming Season Fairly Satisfactory - Dun & Co.'s Weekly Statement.

Toronto, Ont., July 25.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly statement of trade in Canada says

In Mostreal trade circles the week has been a quiet one, business generally being of a "betwee" ason" character. There have, thus ar, been no disastrous after-effects, resulting from the suspension of La Banque du Peuple. General collections are slow, though money is rather more plentiful in some sections of emebec Province, where stocks of old nay have sold readily at $10 to $11 a ton. The continued absince of rain is now being quite seriously felt in this Province, and roots ind pastures are suffering from want of moisture, while in certain sections the grasshoppers, which are more than usually numerous, have done damage to the grain crops. Butter is picking up a little in value, but cheese continues low in price.

The business situation at Toronto shows no particuar change this week. Generally speaking, trade in wholesale, as well as in retail departments, is quiet. Farmers are busy in the fields, and in some sectors of Ontario are harvesting fall wleat. This crop is likely to be below the average, but there is said to besome improvement in the spring crops.

The outlook for bisiness the coming season is fairly satsfactory, and merchants are hopeful. The statement of our chartered banks -made up to June 3-indicates a favorable condition of tade. There is an expansion in the discunt line, which is the largest of the yar, and the net circulation of the banks increased nearly a million and thee-quarters during the month of Jun.

Speculation has imreased on Stock Exchange this week, and with the exception of the tanadian Pacific, the earnings of whice decreased $86,-000 the third week of aly, the tone of the market is stronger

BAD COMPANY

Led Edward Murphy to Steal in Detroit.

Chatham, Ont., July 25.-Edward Murphy, claiming Buffalo as his home, was brought to this city yesterday by Chief Young from Windsor. He was caught by the Detroit police trying to dispose of jewelry supposed to have been stolen. The young man appeared before Judge Houston, and, with tears in his eyes, confessed, and said he had been led into the crime by two strangers he had met in Detroit. He told a pitiable tale of being penniless and be-ing forced to steal to keep himself from starvation. Part of the stuff which the prisoner had was stolen from Gler-coe. Of the 1,800 Spanish troops that went into hattle only 100 escaped to Bayamo, where they are surrounded by 6,000 Cubans under Maceo, Masso, Quintin, Bandera and Goulet. THE CHURCH TROUBLE The Secretary of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union Explains the

To the Editor of the "Advertiser": Your notice of a little unpleasantness in Wednesday's issue between the bricklayers and contractors at the Queen's Avenue Church was a fair report in every respect.

Difficulty.

Allow me, sir, to call attention to one or two errors in tonight's issue. First, there is not, neither has there been a strike at that church. When a bricklayer or mason becomes a member of a union he promises to abide by the constitution and bylaws. So long as he observes them he is a member in good standing, just the same as any member of that or any other church, so long as he walks correctly and abides by its discipline, is looked upon and esteemed as a brother. But if he wilfully sets all law and order at defiance he is dismissed from that body, or if he is not should be, that's all. So it is with our union. One of our rules is that all wages shall be paid weekly. It has been concurred in by all city bosses, and has worked well for the men, and I have never met with a storekeeper yet who objects to cash pay instead of giving credit.

Mr. Norse knew this as well as any other man, for he paid by the week at the power house. Ever since the church was started there has been trouble. The contractor distinctly said he would only pay once in two weeks, but if any man was dissatisfied he could have his money for the asking. Some did want it, asked for it and got it, and were as speedily laid off. As no wages were paid last week the men applied for it on Tuesday morning.

"You can have your pay as soon as the bank opens," said Mr. Norse, "and you need not start again." In conversation with the contractor that morning he said: "I will pay every week, but it won't be Londoners who will get it," and up to the present time he has kept his word. This is an old, very old doctrine-an eve for an eye, etc.—but I hope it is not the one held by the body of professing Christians for whom the church is being built. So much for the strike. As to whether the men from Toronto have a grievance or not depends upon which side we look at it. They have recognized the fact by depositing into this union their traveling cards, thereby becoming members of this union, and subject to its laws. We have fought for years for a weekly pay day, and do not want to go back to the uncertain plan of a year ago. Our boys have made the cake, and it is not pleasant for our boys to see these big brothers eating it. Toronto has worked hard for the same privilege, but have not obtained it—a privilege every worker should enjoy. There are other onlock-ers besides bricklayers who do not feel satisfied at the turn this affair has taken, who think, and with good reason, that at least some of the money should be shared by London, whose people have been asked by every means known to raise money to foot

The only trouble between the bricklayers and contractors is as to paying every week, a system generally recognized throughout this city.

Yours respectfully, JOSEPH HAWTHORNE. Secretary Bricklayers' and Masons'

Union, No. 5. PROTEST AGAINST LONDON

Winning the St. Marys Band Competition -Away Ahead.

St. Marys, Ont., July 25 .- The firemen's tournament and band contest here today was an unqualified success. The Stone Town was resplendent with banners and bunting, the streets covered with arches, and the decorations of public and private buildings the finest ever attempted in St. Marys. From an early hour the town was filled with visitors, and at noon it was estimated that about 4,000 visitors were in town. The traders' procession at 10 a.m. was over a mile long, and was participated in by the great majority of merchants and business firms of the town. At 1 p.m., the visiting bands and firemen formed a procession to the fair grounds, where the afternoon performances were given before an audience of over 5,000 people.

In the band contest the competing bands and points awarded by the judges were as follows: Musical Soeiety Band, of London, 92; Woodstock, 87; Forest, Ingersoll, ties, each 37; Exeter, 29. The judges were Frank Allen, of St. Marys, and Wm. Forder, of Berlin. A protest was entered by the Forest band against Woodstock and London bands, on the grounds that they were not amateur bands, and objection was also taken to the London band violating the rules of the contest, which stated that all members of a competing band must have been connected with the band for at least three months. They name one Dwyer as not being a bona fide member. The hose reel competition resulted as fol-lows, in the order named: Wingham, 1; Stratford, Company 4, 2; Stratford, No. 3, 3; Ailsa Craig, 4; Ingersoll, 5.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 25.—The historical village of Drummondville was all en fete today, being the 81st anniversary of the famous battle of Lundy's Lane, and the ceremony of unveiling the monument lately erected to perpetuate the memories of the heroes who fell in defense of their country on July 25, 1814. The public buildings and private houses were all decorated with Union Jacks and bunting and presented a very fine appearance. All the known graves and trenches of the fallen were decorated with small Union Jacks and cut flowers, especially that of Laura Secord, the heroine who apprised the Canadians of the approach of the invaders.

Historical Societyentertained a number of their visiting guests at the Dufferin Cafe, in Queen Victoria Park, after which they drove in carriages to the historical spot and took their seats on the platform. Among those seated were his Honor Lieutenant-Governor Kirkpatrick, Ven. Archdeacon Houston (Niagara Falls), Miss Carnochan (Niagara), Miss Fitzgibbon (grand-daughter of Capt. Fitzgibbon, the hero of Beaver Dams), besides a large number of well known public men.

Rev. Canon Bull, president of the society, opened the proceedings, and then introduced his Honor Lieut.-Gov. Kirkpatrick, who kindly consented to act as chairman for the day. In the course of his address the Lieutenant-Governnor alluded to the fact that it was the intention of the Government to erect monuments, not only on this historic spot, but also at several other places memorable in Canadian history; but it was most fitting to have the one in Lundy's Lane first unveiled, where loyal Canadians stood their ground pluckily against overwhelming odds. Though brave men existed in those early days, there were brave women as well, and none any dearer to Canadians than the name of Laura Second in connection with the memorable day. The speaker alluded to Gen. Drummond and his brave little band, who fought so bravely against overwhelming odds. In concluding his address the Lieutenant-Governor said: We do not meet here today to show any feeling of hatred for our neighbors, for we are proud of their prosperity and achievement, and expect them to be proud of ours.

Col. G. T. Denison, of Toronto, was present to represent the Dominion Government and unveil the monu-ment. After the colonel's address and the ceremony of unveiling, President McCullough, of the Hamilton Historical Society, laid a wreath of maple leaves one the base, when a mighty cheer went up from the assembly, and the Niagara Falls Brass Band played the National A beautiful Horn Comb for 5c,

There is one quality of woman's love which is noticeable not only in history but also in the commonest of everyday life, and that is her ambition for the object of her affection. The dream of power will haunt a man's heart long after the dream of love has departed, and there have been women who (like men) thirsted for power for themselves, as Catharine of Russia of Elizabeth of England. But, as a rule, a woman cares for power, not for herself, but

So much more lies in choosing a becoming color than people imagine. There is an old about some celetold story brated man whose life-long devotion to his wife was considered somewhat remarkable, as she is a very plain woman. One of his friend, asked him what had been the first thing about her that had attracted him. He said: "A pink shawl that was lying on the back of the chair in which she was sitting made so pleasing a contrast to the white frock she wore that I thought only of that, and upon asking for an introduction to her solely on account of the pink shawl, I was then introduced to a wonderful fascination of manner and grace of mind which have enthralled me ever since."

A doctor ordered an "egg, daintily cooked, offered at intervals during the day to tempt the appetite." On calling in the evening, however, he found his patient weak and languid, and asked what she had been eating. "Can't get her to eat a thing," declared the husband, "though I've done my best. I cooked that egg for Sadie this morning, and I've brought it to her every helf hour since but she won't even half-hour since, but she won't even touch it."—Boston Home Journal.

It is "new" Mrs. Young, of Florida, who has defended herself, and enforced respect for her bloomers in a way that will endear her to every cycling bloomeress on the road. A man, a deacon of the church, too, spoke disrespect-fully of these nether garments as Mrs. Young "scorched" by him. The lady heard the remark, and next day wheel-ed down to his store, entered and before he could wink covered this bloomer sneerer with a revolver, demanding an apology for his rude remarks. Needless to say, he apologized handsomely, and also wrote a card for the papers in which he retracted all unpleasant comment. Thus satisfied, Mrs. Young remounted her airy steed and rode gayly away, complete mistress of the situation. You can't be too careful where bloomers and bicycles are con-

The Duchess of York, when she at-A splendid line of Linen Towels, tends a public function, is still very frequently accompanied by her mother, and it is interesting to notice with what anxious deference the Duchess of Teck yields precedence to her daughter. If a bouquet, for instance, is presented to her first, by some admirers ignorant of court etiquette, she will gently wave it away with the remark, "The younger lady first, please." The Duchess of York, on the other hand, never claims to have any special precedence, and is most attentive to her mother's comfort on all public occasions.—British Weekly.

> For every evil under the sun There's a remedy or there's none. If there is one, try to find it; And if there isn't, never mind it.

Sunburn, though belonging strictly to the class of evils mentioned in the text, is generally so slight an ill that it hardly calls for a medical treatise; but it can cause too muon discomfort for even the "never-mind-it" philoso-

As sfferers from it are at the mercy of every remedy suggested, ranging all the way from salt pork to patent lotions, a simple explanation of its cause and effect and treatment may be of use to some whose first days of the summer vacation were rendered miserable by the condition of their faces and hands. Sunburn is classed by physicians as a true burn, but of slight degree, as the only tissue destroyed is the outer skin. There are two methods of treatment, one to give relief and let nature take her own time to restore the skin to its normal state, and the other to assist nature by means of a stimulant. Relief can be obtained by dusting the skin with flour, starch, or any dry powder. If there are blisters, they should be pricked with a clean needle to allow the serum to escape and so relieve the congestion. In all cases of severe burn, oxide of zinc ointment is excellent. Anything oily, such as vaseline or cream preparations, if they contain no irritant, soften the skin and relieve the drawn feeling. The most effectual aid to recovery, and at the same time the source of the greatest relief, is the application of hot water.

A mere wash is not sufficient, but a continued bathing for ten or twenty minutes, at intervals of a few hours, in water as hot as the burned skin can bear, will take out the sting and remove the redness. The heat of the water stimulates the vessels to recover their lost tone or functions, and in a much shorter time than unassisted nature takes, the skin and blood return to their normal state.

The truly feminine woman knows that modesty is never aggressive, even in dress, and she discarded the bloomers as an outer garment, and adopted instead a skirt reaching to the ankles. Such a skirt need cause a rider no discomfort whatever. invite. Another very serious defect in the bicycle costume generally worn is the tightness across the front of the skirt, which causes every movement of the rider's limbs to slow in very unwomanly fashion. The fat bicyclist whose costume we have coped has obliterated that difficulty by having a large, double box plait made in the tont of her gown.

The bodice and leggings match skirt and bloomers, and are gray in color. Pearl buttons, a white satin collar and a white kid belt, are the decorative features. The hat is a white sailor, small that it may not each the wind, and is simply trimmed with a band and bow of white ribbon.

The Japanese authorities are now in possession of information from China giving a new explanation of the riots in Szechu and directly implicating the Pekin Government. Among the com-mercial stipulations in the peace treaty with Japan, that of opening the re mote interior to foreign trade, has met with the strongest objections from the court and the Tung Li Yamen, and it is alleged that Viceroy Li was secretly instructed to foment the disturbances in order to prove that the Upper Yang Tse provinces were unsafe for stranaliens might be prevented from avail-ing themselves of the privileges, but since the outrages have been resented with a wholly unexpected spirit, the Government has taken fright, and seeks to escape responsibility by degrading Li and making him scapegoat. This is more than the deposed Viceroy is willing to endure, and his followers threaten trouble in case he is subjected to a public trial. If Li must fall, he is determined that others greater than he shall go down with him. An at-tempt to detain the Japanese envoy— Hayashi—at Tien Tsin failed utterly, as was doubtless expected by Li Hung Chang, who fully realized the absurdity of the orders sent to him from Pekin. Hayashi reached the capital on June 22, and presented his credentials to the Emperor in person. Warner had been since lost sight of, but had to be looked up before his mother's estate could be settled. He was found in New Jersey demented and brought here. He will probably end his days at Kalamazoo.

THE WHIRLIGIG OF BRITISH POLITICS.

The defeat of the Liberals in Great Britain does not astonish those who have studied politics in the motherland. A change of Government is the general rule in Britain. It is a most unusual thing for a Government which goes to the country to be given a second term by the electorate, and for many years each of the two great parties have been given turn about at governing, with a regularity truly remarkable.

Lord Melbourne, a Whig (or Liberal), was in power when Queen Victoria ascended the throne in 1837. He continued in office for four years, with the exception of an interregnum of a few days, after her Majesty began to reign. In 1841 the Conservatives, with Sir Robert Peel at their head, attained power. For six years Sir Robert dominated public affairs, and though opposed by his party, agreed to take the necessary steps to establish free trade in Britain. In 1846 the Conservatives were defeated on their Irish policy, and Lord John Russell headed a Liberal flicted agriculturists in the north coun-Ministry, which held sway till 1852, try. when it was compelled to give place to the Conservatives, who were then headed by Lord Derby and Mr. Disraeli. The Conservative friends of Sir Robert Peel, who refused to tolerate "squinting" towards a return to "protection." joined with the Liberals, and Lord Aberdeen, grandfather of the present Governor-General of Canada, became Premier after the Government had lasted a few months. Mismanagement of the Crimean war resulted in the break-down of the Aberdeen Cabinet, and Lord Palmerston, a Liberal leader, took up the reins. In 1858 the Liberals were defeated, and the Conservatives under Lord Derby were given one year in office. Lord Palmerston's Liberal Cabinet was longer lived; it held office from 1859 till 1865. It was sustained when it appealed to the country, but shortly afterwards Lord Palmerston died, and Earl Russell took his place. Parliament rejected a reform bill brought in by the Ministry, and it resigned. Then the Conservatives had their turn, headed successively by Earl Derby and Mr. Disraeli. This Ministry was unable to withstand | polls. the Irish Church disestablishment proposals of Mr. Gladstone, and a Parliamentary dissolution ensued, with the result that the Liberals came back with a majority of 112. In the election of 1874 this large Liberal majority was wiped out, and the Conservatives were given power with a strong backing. When the elections took place in 1880, however, the Liberals once more had a good majority. They carried the country in 1885, but were compelled through the defeat of the Administration on the Home Rule Bill, to give place to the Conservatives. The Conservatives, in turn, were defeated in 1892; and now, in 1895, we have the Conservatives once more in office. From this brief summary of the fluctuations of party fortune in Great Britain since Queen Victoria became sovereign, it will be observed that only on two occasions has a party been given power for two consecutive Parliaments. In the two instances, where a second term was voted by the people, the Liberals were in the ascendancy, and the Government was not able to keep its following together for a full Parliamentary term. In the elections just held, the Conservatives triumph with a very large majority. But the record we give, as well as the further fact that British Governments with bil majorities, almost invariably collapse, gives support to the belief that in due course-before many years have rolled by-the Liberals will again have their

CANADA'S COMPETITORS.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman points out that the consumption of frozen meat in the United Kingdom has increased to 8 per cent of the total beef and mutton used. Nearly one-fourth of the total mutton supply in Great Britain is imported frozen. Australia sends 5 per cent, New Zealand 11 per cent, River Plate nearly 7 per cent. The arrangements of the growers for the breeding and rearing of the million sheep annually exported from Australia, and the two million from New Zealand are designed to meet the requirements of English taste. It is not very many years since good mutton was turned into manure or thrown away after the fat had been extracted. Such is the

The export of live stock from Sydney to England is also said to be profitable. and the shipments are steadily increasing. A "record" cargo of 560 cattle. 400 sheep and 40 horses, intended to test the possibility of exporting live stock on a large scale, will be made by the steamer Southern Cross, which left on July 4, going around Cape Horn, and coaling at Montevideo. Canadian farmers can gather from these statements the competition which they must meet in the markets of the motherland.

POINTS.

The average age of Lord Salisbury's Cabinet is 58, that of Mr. Gladstone's was 56, and after he resigned 54. Thus, while in Great Britain the young man with talents is recognized, it is to men of experience that the affairs of the great English-speaking nation are in the main committed. Gladstone had reached the age of 58 before he became

It is reassuring to find from statements made at a recent meeting of Grey county farmers at Dornoch, at which Dr. Landerkin, M.P., and other prominent residents spoke, that distress through drought and grasshoppers, though affecting several hundred farmers, is not as general as had been reported. The intention is to ascertain the necessities of those whose crops have been destroyed, to ask the railway companies to reduce the rates on fodder, and to petition the Government for a small grant. Dr. Landerkin, both in Parliament and out of it, has been most assiduous in his endeavors to secure the necessary aid for the af-

While in Lucknow, Ont., the Methodist, Anglican and Presbyterian congregations recently held joint services to pray for rain, the Catholic communities in some parts of Quebec have been holding special religious gatherings with the object of praying that the grasshopper plague be stayed. Despite skeptics to the contrary, it is evident that the power of prayer is still strongly believed in by very many.

Last year the Dominion Government increased the Canadian public debt by six millions of dollars. Assuredly this constant addition to the burdens of the taxpayers will be resented at the

A COMING KNIGHT.

Faith Fenton, the well-known newspaper writer, has been on a visit to the capital, and she has taken occasion to give her impressions on public men as she found them. This is what she says of a prominent Senator, who got his early business training in this city: "Another merchant prince is Hon. W. E. Sanford, of Hamilton, the well-known head of the manufacturing company, whose branches extend through all the cities of the Dominion. As president of various large financial and educational institutions, he also is in close touch with Canada's present needs and her possibilities of future development. Senator Sanford's splendid business talent is generally recognized; but his many charities and his innumerable individual benevolences are less public, while only those who know him best appreciate the full measure of his kindliness and quiet humor. As the friend of the late Premier, the one who stood close beside Sir John Thompin those last months of his life, and he who bore his body back across the winter waters to his mourning countrymen, Senator Sanford will always hold the regard of Canadian peo-

By the way, the report comes from Ottawa that Senator Sanford is booked for knighthood when next another batch of Canadian knights are made. He is certainly more deserving of the title than some who have managed to get their names transmitted from Ottawa to the old world authorities in

The other day a son and daughter of Farmer Franks, of lot 22, con. 3, Caradoc, went to gather berries. Back of their father's farm is part of a large marshy bush, which covers about 700 acres. In a portion of this woods, where the trees are not so thick, there is a very prolific raspberry patch. The boy heard a muffled, whistling sound, and looking around he saw a large rattlesnake with its poison fangs extended just to strike his sister. With rare presence of mind he jumped to her assistance, and pulled her away in the nick of time. Then he procured a stick, hit the reptile on the neck, and stunned it. At this moment Col. Payne, who was making an inspection of the property, happened on the scene, and and young Franks finished his snakeship. It proved to be between 4 and 5 years old, and measured 37 inches long. The trio alighted at Emanuel Church, followed still by Barrett, while Miss Williams waited outside. Barrett says he hid behind a pew. Detecting an odor of escaping gas, Durant went to the belfry to stop the leak. Barrett seized and attempted to assault Miss Lamont. To stifle her cries sault Miss Lamont. To stine her cries he choked her, and she dropped to the floor. To silence Miss Williams, Barrett says, he stabbed her with a knife from the restaurant. Meanwhile Duyant had been overcome by the gas at was so dazed that he did not see Barrett carrying the bodies to the belfry. Barrett says he does not wish Durant to be hanged for his crime, and that he was sure he would eventually be found out. Barrett resembles Durant in personal appearance. He worked here as a waiter, but is periodically dissipated. He persists in his statements, despite cross-examination. His mind has become affected through drink, and he talks incoherently, spending most of his time singing. He says it was through hypnotism that he was enabled to make the confession.

San Francisco, July 25.-The trial of Durant for the murder of Blanche Lamont was resumed today. The district attorney presented affidavits stating that Durant can have a fair trial here, and Judge Murphy denied the motion for a change of venue.

THE REMEDIAL ORDER.

Negotiations With Manicoba About to be Reopenal.

(United Press Lispatch.) Ottawa, July 25 .- Anannouncement was made in Parliament in regard to the Manitoba school question, showing the reopening of negotiations with the Provincial Government upon the lines of Manitoba's reply to the remedial order. It is learned that the text of this Federal answer has been under consideration in council in the form of report by the Minister of Justice, which has been embodied in an order in council. This document will it is said, be transitted to the Government of Manitoba in a few days. No indication of its contents has been given, but it is emarked as probable that it will require of Manitoba a more direct statement of its position in regard to the compromise suggested in the Provincial reply. There will be no suggestion of a commission to inquire into the past and present status of edication in the Province.

C. Beresford, Harold Southam, Dr. Jento, Morris, Macbeth, Niven, Huff and Martin. The events will be fours, doubles, singles, and tandem and single canoes. SPLASHES.

He is entered for the Northwestern regatta at St. Clair, Mich., but will not row. The champion stated that he would train for the races of the Canadian championship at Hamilton up in Orillia with Jake Gaudaur.

THE WHEEL. BICYCLE SLANG. What a lot of slang verbiage has grown up out of the bicycle. The youth who talks boastfully and eratically is called down by the apt suggestion of the bicycle young woman, with the renark: "Freddy, your lam, is out." The "road-hog" is borrowed from old New England nomenclature, but "scorching" is of the bicycle's own lingue, and means an undue haste in driving a wheel. The exhausted bleyclist on the road and needing refresh-ments suggests: "Let's stop here and pump up," referring to the fagged condition of the pneumatic. Bicycle girls are "bloomers," and here comes my bloomer" is equivalent to "here comes my girl." A policeman is a "header. and the cyclometer is "the ticker." "He has lost his tire" is equivalent to "having tacks in your head" or "being off your trolley," and no doubt there is nty more of the same.

MUNICIPAL RESTRICTIONS. Wheelmen in Detroit and Miwaukee are experiencing the restrictions placed upon them recently by the addermen. In Milwaukee it is proposed to limit the speed of wheelmen to ten miles an hour. The rule also makes it absolutely obligatory to carry bells and whistles, and makes it necessary for every wheelman to carry a lamp at night. Detroit's city fathers, have passed an ordinance for the government of whelemen in that city. In addition to the usual restrictions relative

Like a New Man to whistles, bells and lanterns, they have forbidden the riders to rest their mounts against any fire-plug.

Harding Is Free. Settlement Reached in the Case of Trafalgar Lodge's Treasurer. No Evidence Offered-The Wreay License Case-A South End Quarrel.

Thomas W. Harding, the South London man who was arrested in Toronto and brought back to this city on a charge of stealing $125 from Trafalgar Lodge, Sons of England, of which he was treasurer, is free. He was in the police court again this morning, and When his case was called he pleaded not guilty, and elected trial by the magistrate. Mr. J. B. McKillop, for the crown, informed the court that Harding's friends had made a settlement in his behalf, and no evidence would be offered by the prosecution. Harding was thereupon discharged.

The case of John D. Wreay, charged with selling liquor during prohibited hours, was again rehearsed. Chief Williams called (as he said he would when the case was adjourned on Thursday) the medical man who purchased the liquor on a doctor's certificate shortly after closing time. This Wreay contends was the only liquor sold after hours on the night of the alleged offense, while P. C. Thompson swears that he saw men in the bar about ten minutes to 12. The case was adjourned until Monday to allow the defendant to call more witnesses. In the case of Bridget Taff, of Nelsen street, charged with using insulting language towards Ada McLean, there were men and boys, women and girls, of all sizes and ages interested. Annie Sulby, of the same street, was another defendant, and she was accused of assaulting the McLean girl. Both eases were saved an airing by the defendants binding themselves to keep the peace for a year. Judgment was suspended in the case of Rosie Niosi, a little Italian boy, who had conducted himself in a disorderly

Mrs. Corbett was present, but the pugilist was represented by counsel. The only witness today cerning its construction, and said it testified to Corbett's actions with the woman "Vera," who he said traveled with Corbett as his wife, and, the witness testified, stopped with him at the Burnett House in Cincinnati, at the Park Hotel in Madison, Wis., and at a hotel in Lacrosse, Wis. The case was adjourned for a day to ascertain whether

He Doubtless Was in Hamilton Last September.

There Is Still Another Chicago Woman Missing.

Supposed To Have Been a Victim of the Alleged Multi Murderer.

A Letter Written by the Prisoner Found in the Charnel House at Chicago.

WAS HOLMES IN HAMILTON? Hamilton, Ont., July 25.—It is almost certain that Holmes, the alleged multimurderer, was in Hamilton in September last. He was accompanied by an aged man and a woman, who are now believed to have been the man Hatch and Miss Williams.

From various sources it was learned that on Sept. 27 a very stylishly dress-ed elderly man arrived in Hamilton and registered at the St. Nicholas Hotel as from Chicago. He acted rather suspiciously, and an eye was kept on him by the detectives. He did not talk a great deal, but told a story about business relations in the Windy City. A few days later a young lady arrived at the hotel and registered as the wife of the old man. She was 20 or 30 years his junior, and considerable attention was paid them, although they went out very little. On the following Saturday night a younger man arrived. On Sunday he was around the city in two or three disguises and had one or two interviews with the young woman. He left that night, and a day or two afterwards the old man and the young woman left the hotel and went to board or keep house in the east end, just where, it has been impossible to

Mr. McLean, one of the proprietors of the St. Nicholas Hotel, was this morning shown a cut of Miss M. Williams, the woman who so mysteriously disappeared, and he says he is almost positive that she is the woman who spent some days at the hotel as the wife of the aged Chicago man. He saw a cut of Holmes, and thinks he is the man who visited the hotel on the Sunday mentioned. The reason he remembers the occurrence is that the woman was strikingly dressed, and acted like a westerner, and the man changed his clothes twice or three times during the day. The old man may be Hatch, and there are those who think it quite possible that he may have taken the Williams girl to a house in this city and made away with her. Wiere the couple went to live the detective would like to know, as it would probably clear up a mystery

HOLMES' PLACE OF TRIAL. Philadelphia, July 25.—Though there has been some talk of a requisition from the Chicago authorities for Holmes, no papers have yet been re-ceived by the officials here. The opinion is that he will be sent to Canada first. where a conviction seems more certain than either in Chicago or Philadelphia, because of the direct nature of the evidence. Both Holmes and his lawyer have asserted that they will not resist ex-tradition proceedings from Canada. THE QUINLAN GIRL.

Chicago, July 25.—The story Quinlan's 11-year-old daughter has been murdered by Holmes was disposed of today, when a Mrs. Doyle called at the police headquarters, and declared that the girl was with her father's parents nine miles from South Haven, Mich. Mrs. Doyle said that her mother owned the house in Toronto, where the bodies of the Pietzel children were

POSSIBLY ANOTHER VICTIM.
It is evident that through Mrs. Doyle the police have learned of another of Holmes' alleged victims, who had not heretofore been heard or. In talking to a reporter Mrs. Doyle said that one of the prettiest of women who ever came under Holmes' influence is also missing. "Her name was Miss Cigrand, and she was originally from Indianap-

Chicago, July 25.—The men digging in the basement of the Holmes building found in a pile of rubbish a letter signed "H. H. Howard," and dated May 5. 1895. The signature is one of the many aliases used by Holmes and one of the commonest of the lot. The letter is in his well known handwriting, and is addressed to an occupant of a building whose name the detectives refused to give. It is believed, however, that the letter is to C.C. Davis, the jeweler, who occupies the building with the aruggist Robinson. The letter particularly inquires as to the doings of Janitor Quinlan, and asks where he now is. It then goes on in a jocular manner to discuss the fate of the Williams girls and asks of the recipient whether he has seen them or their ghosts in the building. Special inquiry is made as to the partitions in the house, and in conclusion the writer expresses the belief that he will not have to stay in iail much longer. THE QUESTION OF EXTRADITION. Toronto, July 25 .- Sir Oliver Mowat, Premier and Attorney-General for Ontario is in England; Hon. A. S. Hardy, acting Attorney-General and Premier, is out of town. In the absence of both these gentlemen, Deputy Attorney-General Cartright does not care to assume the responsibility of making application for the extradition of Holmes from the Philadelphia authorities. The matter will wait for action on the part of the acting Attorney-General. The Philadelphia authorities have been formally notified of the finding of the jury and of the issue of the warrants for the arrest of Holmes, with a view to secure priority over any other place that may prefer a capital charge against Holmes should extradition be eventually granted. The Provincial authorities are not eager to push extradition if there is a reasonable chance of Holmes being convicted elsewhere on a capital charge. The statement that extradition proceedings have been already commenced is absolutely unfounded.

A NEW CHARGE. Chicago, July 25.—A new accusation now rests against Holmes that he made away with Miss Cigrand, with whom he lived in the house at Sixty-third and Wallace streets, just before he had the Williams girl there. The girl was a stately looking blonde, about 25, and lived with Holmes something less than six months. When she went away Holmes told Jeweler Davis, as the latted claims, that he had succeeded in 'marrying her off.

THE FURNACE. The remains of a furnace that was possibly used by Holmes as a crematory was unearthed in the cellar this morning. Near it was a large heap of ashes, which are now being sifted. The man who built the furnace says that was to be used in his gas manufacturing experiments. As there was no attempt to make gas, this story is clearly a fabrication. The furnace had an air-tight receptacle, in which could be generated a hear of 2,400 degrees Fahrenheit, and it was just long enough husband of Julia Conner, and the father of Pearl Conner, both of whom are thought to have been murdered by Holmes, was in Chicago last night. He says he has no positive proof that Homles killed his wife and child, but savs he believes such to be the case. He does not know when the crime was committed, but thinks it was done in this city.

MRS. PIETZEL TALKS.

Chicago, July 26.—Mrs. Pietzel talked more freely of Holmes last night than at any time since she returned from Toronto. She is firmly convinced that it was Holmes' intention to murder her. "I can see it all now," she said. "I can see why Holmes murdered Minnie Williams and Mrs. Conner; why he has done away with all my family except myself and my two children. The miserable wretch only wanted to cover up his infamous tracks. I may be thankful I am sitting here today, and that two of my children and myself are not

"Do you think you had a narrow es-cape from death at the hands of the house in Burlington?' "Yes; I am confident that he intended me to meet the same fate then as my husband and my babes met." "Did you know much of your husband's affairs?"

"No: he told me little of them. I knew hardly anything of the building that Holmes built. When we came to Chicago we lived the first year and most of the second a happy life. My husband was a carpenter, and had plenty of work to do. I had been at my old home while my husband was away. I had been in ill-health. The coming to Chicago did me good. My husband drank very little before he met Holmes. After that he seemed to drink a good deal."

The most important discovery made

The most important discovery made today at the central station was the disclosure of the identity of the expressman who is supposed to have done the trucking for Holmes. He lives in the neighborhood, and pending his examination by the detectives the de-partment refuses to reveal his name. It is claimed this man was accustomed to visit the flat late at night or very early in the morning. This at a time when Holmes' troubles were the great-est and he was dividing his time between causing women to disappear and robbing all manner of creditors.

THE WILLIAMS GIRLS.
Chicago, Ill., July 26.—Wm. Capps. of the firm of Capps & Cantee, of Fort Worth, Tex., is in Chicago in the interests of the heirs of the Williams sisters. He has obtained copies of the deeds by which they transferred their property, and he claims that their names were forged. Evidence has been collected, he says, which will prove concluively that the girls were murdered before July 12, the date appended to the deeds. He has been investigating the property at Wilmette, and says that it is still in the name of Minnie

A SUPPOSED PAL. Chicago, July 26.—George W. Harris, alias B. A. Zeigel, is in custody of a detective agency under suspicion of being a confederate of H. H. Holmes in his insurance swindles. Harris passed under a string of aliases, having been also known as B. A. Simpkins and Alfred H. Post. He was chief promoter in the Taylor addition of the civil mortgage swindles in St. Paul which caught so many Chicago people. Much importance is attached to the arrest of Harris, as it is believed by the police and detective gency which have him in charge that if they can run down people who were associated with Holmes in his insurance swindles they will find those who can tell of the murders which it is supposed Holmes has committed.

QUINLAND QUAKES. Chicago, July 26.—Pat Quinland, the janitor of the Holmes "castle," is in serious danger. He carried the 37 keys which opened the various doors, secret and otherwise, in the chambers of Holmes' castle. He was the facto-tum of Holmes. Quinland is between two fires. If Holmes confesses, as it is said he will, he may implicate Quinland, and if Quinland confesses he apparently must implicate himself. Damaging evidence against Quinland was accumulated more rapidly in the past 24 hours than against Holmes. tective Norton was informed that early in the career of Quinland with Holmes the former kept at the castle a girl whose first name was Lizzie. She had a sister working in the restaurant connected with the castle. This Lizzie gave birth to a child which Holmes took care of. What became of it is unknown, save to Holmes and Quinland. The report spread about Sixtythird street that Quinland was about to marry the girl. Suddenly his wife, who had not been living at the castle, appeared on the scene. Lizzie was hurried out of the city, and it is said she is now in Omaha. An effort will be made to find her. To Quinland it appears were sent the orders from Philadelphia to destroy all of Holmes' papers, clothing and other articles which might and the detectives in tracing his career.

DO NOT WANT HOLMES.
Toronto, July 26.—While the police and detectives are eager for the extradition of Holmes, it is learned that the Attorney-General is in no way anxious to be put to the expense of the trial if conviction on the capital charge can be had elsewhere. Philadelphia authorities have been notified of the issuance of the warrants simply to give Torouto precedence over Chicago, Detroit or other place that may lodge an information. Hon. A. S. Hardy, acting Attorney General, in the absence of Sir Oliver Mowat, will be waited on this afternoon by the crown attornev. and on his decision depends subsequent action. Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright is very emphatic in saying that Holmes is not wanted here, nor does he ever believe that he will ever be brought across the border.

DAIRY NOTES.

By J. M. Wheaton, Secretary Western Dairymen's Association.

The cheese market was a little brighter and firmer last week. Prices ruled from 1-4c to 5-16c higher than the week previous, ranging from 8 1-4c to 8 3-8c for fine Junes.

One peculiarity of the market during the past few weeks is that the prices offered at the cheese markets in Western Ontario have been 1-4c higher than those offered in Eastern Ontario. It is somewhat difficult to account for this higher value for western goods, inasmuch as they cost more to get to the seaboard.

It may be due to the better keeping qualities of the western goods, which are stored largely for future markets. However, the system of making and conditions are the same all over Ontario. Cheese made in Western Ontario are known in England as "Ingersolls." This term indicates the highest standard of Canadian cheese, and may have something to do with the comparatively high prices dairymen in this part of the Province have always obtained for their cheese. Last season all the buyers in Western Ontario agreed to purchase cheese only on the basis of each cheese weighing a half pound more than the weight marked on the box. This plan is being continued this season, and no doubt largely accounts for the increased value of western cheese, as compared with the eastern.

Tactorymen have been holding the Junes this year somewhat longer than usual, expecting that the prices would to contain a body.

forced the buyers, who have orders to fill, to raise a little on their limits, but have not realized much more than they would had they sold it at the usual time. In fact, had the factorymen been willing to sell when the cheese were ready for shipping they might have realized from 1-8c to 1-4c more than present prices for the first half of June

The butter market has recently assumed a much lighter outlook than it has had for some time. Prices for fine creamery butter have not advanced very much, but there seems to be a better demand and more inquiry for fine goods. Prices range from 15c to 17c for fine creamery, though as far as we can learn there has not been very much going forward from Western Ontario this season. In fact, the bulk of our summer creamery butter is made in Eastern Ontario and Quebec, and therefore there is only a passing interest felt in the butter market at this season of the year by the majority of western dairymen, Winter butter making in connection with the cheese factories has been more largely developed in the west. The firmer and brighter tone which the butter market seems to be gradually taking on would seem to indicate that the prospects for the winter creameries the coming season are more hopeful than they have been for some time. The dry weather has caused a great scarcity of winter feed in many parts of the country. Therefore the chances that the winter dairy movement will be much extended this season are very slim. In one or two of the sections where winter dairying has been largely carried on for several years very unfavorable reports of the hay crop have been received. It is likely, therefore, that the make in winter outter in some of the old factories will be considerably decreased the coming season.

One redeeming feature of the situa-tion is that the prospects are favor-able for a good corn crop. Where the dairyman depends upon the corn crop and the silo for the bulk of his winter's feed the shortage of other feeds will not affect him very much, and he will be able to keep his cows through the winter and make a profit out of them at the same time.

Chicago, July 25 .- The Government estimates the crop of Kansas at 22,000,-000 bushels, and railway men of lines passing through the State believe it will be be 30,000,000. Railway men say that the Kansas wheat will move freely soon, as it is dry enough to ship, but the wet weather, which has created a promise of over 400,000,000 bushels wheat crop, has delayed threshing. The export demand shows no life. are still fourteen cargoes off the English coast waiting for buyers. Balti-more is only about 1c over Chicago for September options. Millers complain that there is little demand for flour. On the whole, today's news has been quite bearish.

Corn and Oats-On a light trade prices sell off moderately. The excel-lent promise for the corn crop is still the depressing factor. Cash corn is in good demand at 1-4c over September. but it is believed that country shipments will be heavier as soon as the crop is assured, and this discourages investment buying.

Provisions-Slow, sagging market. with no feature of interest.

HOLDING BACK CREAMERY. The much discussed question of buying and storing June creamery butter is again a live subject. Last season, as readers of the Canadian Grocer know, the speculation proved a disastrous one, losses having been made of $3 to $4 per package on some 20,000 tubs of held creamery, some of which, in fact, is still in the ice-houses in Montreal. In the face of this costly experience, and the universally expressed desire to cultivate the British market by sending the freshest and finest butter to its consumers, it is difficult to understand some correspondence that has been carried on by A. A. Ayer & Co., a large exporting house in Montreal, and firms in Great Britain.

Ayer & Co., in the correspondence in question, state that the purchase of June creamery and its carriage until the fall is, in their opinion, a good speculation.

Now, they are entitled to this opinion. and also have a legal right to pur-chase and hold June creamery. At the same time, the makers of butter in Canada should remember that buyers in England have been crying out for fresh butter and nothing but fresh butter. In fact, a leading London produce firm takes the Messrs. Ayer to task in the columns of the London Grocer for advising people to hold back their butter until the fall. The buyer in England is the person with distaste because it is stale. The only way to do away with this prejudice is to send along fresh butter, but if the produce is carried and ship-ped only in September and October this cannot be done. Already the bane of speculation has crept in, and purchases of creamery have been made in the country at a price which cannot be realized over the cable for prompt shipment in a legitimate way. These better prices are paid because the speculators hope to sell the butter in the fall as fine September creamery. They may or may not be successful in doing so, but in any event it is not a strictly honest way of doing business, and so is bound to work harm in the long run .-Canadian Grocer.

HOME FROM THE OIL COUNTRY. Mr. James Murray, of Saxonburg, Penn., spent a week at the old home, west of Cody's Corners. Mr. Murray describes the oil business as being very uncertain and dangerous. Many a man in that business is wealthy one vear and penniless the next. The digging of wells, he says, is always attended with more or less danger. and he passed with them up the hall, chattering quite genially. Genevieve felt quite sick at heart. This business was not as pleasant in reality as in anticipation, but she kept by their side, thankful that she was not expected to say anything. On their return she again expressed a wish to leave, and this time no demur was made. But just as they turned to go a startled cry made them look back. It was from Dr. Molesworth, and the word he had uttered was,

"Lost!" "What is lost?" It was Dr. Cameron who spoke; his wife seemed incapable of uttering a CHAPTER XIX.

It must not be supposed that the sudden and remarkable change which had taken place in Mrs. Cameron's physical appearance had passed unnoticed or uncommented upon by society. It was only too widely discussed, and while it formed the basis of innumerable compliments, it also awakened an equal number of surmises and questionable

"They say that Mario Antoinette's hair changed in a night, it was not uncommon to hear. "But then there was a reason for that," was almost inwas a reason for that," was almost in-variably added, And the curiosity and variably added, And the curiosity and interest which were thus aroused in both the male and female bosom, surrounded the youthful bride with such a halo of romance that the mass of people forgot to Criticise her and only asked to admire But there were some (there always are some) who could not see the rose for the thorns, or the star for the mist of their own breath blowing across it. From these, one could hear now and then sharp comments upon the pride which made Mrs. Cameron forget the courtesy due to her old friends, and strictures upon her manhad grown freer and more en reserves than of old. ogatory remarks were in asides and only now they come to the ears of concerned. But that sometimes was evident shrinking, half-disdainw and then cast behind

But as never showed affection even to other, he accepted their formal r and was satisfied, finding his sole leppiness in his ministrations to his wife and the unconcealed gratitude with and the unconcealed gratitude which she rewarded every token it his affection.

They were sitting in the parlor and Dr. Cameron, anxious to behold her smile again, was talking gaily. Suddenly he paused and asked her a question about someone they had seen. She answered but vaguely; her thoughts were elsewhere. Judging from the direction of her gaze, they were on herself: she sat where she could see her own image mirrored in the glass before her, and it was upon this elegant figure, clad in gray velvet and pearls, that her eyes were fixed with an intentness which might have suggested the presence of innate vanity, if the disdain which curled her lip had not shown that she half dispised the beauty which required so much splendor to adorn it. Her husband's eyes followed hers and glistened merrily. "An imposing figure," he smiled. "Did you think you would ever be a famous beauty, Genevieve?" She rose up with an instantaneous impulse, and coming to his side knelt

"Am I pretty," she asked, "to you?"
"No," he returned, "you are not pretty, you are beautiful, and just a little awe-inspiring. I love you and I wonder at you; you are so different-She did not wait for him to finish.

"You love me," she murmured. "How much do you love me. Walter? Enough to care more for me than for my beauty? Would your heart still glow and your arms still embrace me, if in-stead of pleasing your eye I only appealed to your sympathies and your affections? Do not say yes, carelessly, Walter, for I am in earnest and rely ipon your word. How deep have I sunk into your heart? Past the first boundary or not, Walter? Speak; I am strong enough to hear."

Affected deeply, for her look was even more earnest than her words, he drew her to his side and answered

"You are my wife; you are the woman I have chosen and would choose again out of all I have ever seen, for my I love your beauty-how can I help it? And I love what gives that beauty life. A LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron, states: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than a half-bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Dr. Chisholm Sued-Startling Sensation

in the Canadian Oil Company. Detroit News, July 24.-Dr. Jas. W. Chisholm, president and manager of the Canadian Oil Company, is in trouble. Yesterday a meeting of the stockholders was held in Sarnia, at which Chisholm was present. A deputy sheriff called at the meeting to serve two capiases on Chisholm to the amount of $1,500, and a writ issued on complaint of T. G. Hall for $50,000 damages. Chisholm locked himself in a room adjoining that in which the stockholders were meeting, so it is alleged by the stockholders present, and refused to come out. The officer climbed through the transom and arrested Chisholm just as he was making an exit on a balcony. The papers were issued from the High Court of Justice, and Chisholm gave sheriff's bail for $3,000. He then went to the Vendome Hotel, packed his grip and has not been seen since. His home is in Brooklyn, N. Y., and Thomas Kenney and Charles McKenzie are his bondsmen.

Two years ago Chisholm was made president and manager of the company, on representation that he could raise the necessary capital and conduct the business of the oil company. In March, it is alleged by the Danceys, he gave notes, one to L. E. Dancey for $925 and one to L. J. Dancey for $572, due July 1, which were protested; hence the suits. Hall, who has promoted the oil refinery, was suing for $500,000 on a penalty mentioned in an arbitration bond to settle differences as to all refining patents. The affair has created a sensation in Sarnia.

BUSINESS INACTIVE.

Manchester, Eng., July 24.-The Guardian, in its commercial article, says: Business has been very inactive, and apart from rather more inquiry from a few sections, the offers have mostly unworkable. Most of the important foreign outlets clearly regard lower prices as inevitable, their offers being mostly at such limits as to dis-count the decline. Many producers, al-though most anxious for business, are unable in advance of an equivalent for the decline in the price of cotton to consider lower offers. There is a lit-tle business with China in bleaching goods and some lines of specials, and a moderate business in far east or-ders. There is also rather more inquiry from Bombay, resulting in a few transactions in common shirtings, doilies and various specials, and an occasional line of staples. Elsewhere business is slow. The outlook in yarns is very cheerless. There is a very small retail inquiry at easier prices, and stocks are plentiful. The stoppage of spindles is being very seriously con-

Buffalo, July 25.-Frank Jones, alias Frank Doll, was discovered in the act f robbing the till in the saloon of Jacob Schneider, No. 1,388 Broadway, yesterday afternoon, but escaped out of the store before the proprietor could capture him. Schneider chased him along Broadway, crying "Stop thief!" Special Riter, who was in the vicinity, heard the cries and gave chase. He sighted Jones going through the West Shore and Central yards, and followed him as closely as possible.

In the Central yards Jones boarded a freight train which was going out, and Special Riter got aboard a hand-car and gave chase. He overhauled Jones at Genesee street, near the junction of Walden avenue, and the fugitive was locked up on a charge of larceny.

Jones is an old offender. He served a four-year term in the Rochester Reformatory and escaped on two different occasions from that institution. When arrested he was heavily armed.

A number of inquiries have been instituted with regard to the best methods of cure, and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

THE BOSTON CONVENTION. Rev. Joseph Philp, the former paster of the Centennial Methodist Church, now of Ridgetown, was a familiar figure in the pulpit of the Centennial last evening. Mr. Philp was a delegate to the recent Y. P. S. C. E. convention in Boston, and his address last night was an interesting description both of the "Hub" and of the convention. Mr. Philp has much native ability as a lecturer. His series of talks on the

Mrs. Foster, of Kent street, has jus tre covered from a serious attack of La Gripps This is the second siege she has had of the influenza, the first of which attacked Mr Foster about three years ago, and left he with a very troublesome cough, accompanied with chronic bronchitis, and a complication of other diseases, which made it almost impossible for her to attend church without disturbing the congregation by coughing, and, indeed, Mrs. Foster assures us that so bad were the spasms that she often feared she would burst a blood vessel during one of these severe attacks. It was very natural that under such circumstances numerous friends would recommend as many different "cure alls." She tried Cherry Pectoral, Tar, Linseed and other preparations, but was growing generally worse when a friend who had been benefited by Barkwell's Bronchial Balsam advised her to try that, and in a few days she was out of bed, and the best feature is that she is now entirely freed from all simptoms of the Bronchitis, of which she never hoped to be cured. Mr. Millar, a neighbor, also had a bad cough and was completely cured by the same preparation.

Holy Land are still fresh in the minds of Londoners. In them he demonstrated that he was endowed with great perceptive and retentive faculties, and a keen sense of humor. The lectures were continually bubbling over with the latter quality, and last night's talk was no exception. His subject perhaps admitted of more latitude in this direction, and it was not only interesting and instructing, but decidedly amusing. He referred in warm terms to the welcome of the Bostonians, and the wonderful preparations for the accommodation of the crowd. A very com-prehensive synopsis of the proceedings followed, and it was interspersed with many amusing incidents by Rev. A. G. was fairly well filled.
