

BASE FALSIFICATIONS USED IN ATTACK ON BUSINESSMEN

Free Press Asserts That Four-Fifths of Those Approached Refused to Sign Petition—Only Eight of Seventy-Three Approached Declined.

DOCUMENT PREPARED IN TWO DAYS; FABRICATOR CLAIMS "TWO WEEKS"

"The Free Press is worried about the petition signed by a very large majority of the wholesale and manufacturing interests of the city, and falsely states that it took two weeks to prepare the petition. As a matter of fact, the signatures were all obtained in two days. It is an absolute lie that four-fifths of those who were asked to sign refused to do so. Only eight out of seventy-three who were seen declined to sign, and of those eight only four expressed themselves in favor of electrification. The others, while opposed to a vote of the people without further information, for various reasons thought better not to sign."

This statement was made by one of London's leading merchants this morning after reading an article attacking the petition addressed to the city council, which asked for further investigation into the London and Port Stanley situation.

Desperate and without a single sensible argument in its whole repertoire, the Free Press has been unearthing plots and counter-plots of late, and has now turned to an attack upon the greatest array of businessmen who ever co-operated in any question. It tells these men that they are not sincere; that they are all acting from ulterior motives; that they are liars, in short. The whole of the article is entirely contrary to the truth. As stated, the petition was prepared on short notice, in two days, and a great many businessmen were not asked as to their position because of the lack of time.

A Solid Array of Businessmen.

The petition represents a large proportion of the manufacturing and wholesale, business and jobbing interests of London. Can the Free Press produce anything to match it in favor of rushing the question to the people without further inquiry?

The petition is described by the Free Press as "against sending electrification to the citizens." In answer to such a claim the preamble of the petition, together with the names attached to it, are herewith presented:

To the Mayor and Corporation of the City of London, and to the Board of the London Port Stanley Railway.

We, the undersigned, respectfully submit to your council and board that before any question dealing with the London and Port Stanley Railway is submitted to the people, independent expert advice of the highest character should be obtained:

1. As to the cost of putting the road in good order as a steam road.

ATTACK OF FREE PRESS ON LOCAL BUSINESSMEN

Wild Statements in Attempt to Discredit Influential Petition—A Dishonorable Attack.

(London Free Press, Jan. 23.)

The petitioners are informed that the petition to the citizens was prepared at the instance of those who are behind the private interests in London that would be directly affected by electrification.

The man employed to solicit the signatures to the petition explains that he did the work because he was paid to do it, and not because he had any heart in the work.

"I am a servant, and do as I am told," he explained apologetically to a citizen who was canvassed.

"Well, I don't know that I could tell you."

Canvasser Was "Loaded."

The solicitor is employed by a firm antagonistic to electrification and they are said to have loaned him to the private interests.

The task of preparing the petition occupied more than two weeks, and four-fifths of those who were asked to sign refused to do so.

P. M. JUDD WAS RELUCTANT TO FINE G. T. R. CONDUCTOR

Egerton Street Crossing Was Blocked and Information Was Laid by Citizens.

Police Magistrate Judd had some degree of hesitancy this morning in imposing a $15 fine upon Daniel B. Beason, of Sarnia, a Grand Truck Conductor, who accepted the technical responsibility for having blocked Egerton street crossing with his train for a period exceeding the legal limit of five minutes on the morning of Jan. 15.

The charge was laid by Mr. W. N. Manning, of the Sherlock-Manning Organ Company, who, with Mr. A. D. Sherlock, was held up for about thirteen minutes between 9 and 9:30 o'clock on the morning in question.

George Lockhart, Mr. Beason's engineer, who was in charge of locomotive No. 476 on freight train No. 87, was also summoned, but the charge against him was dismissed. It is possible that conductors alone will be summoned in future, as it has been shown in a number of cases that the engineer is responsible to the train crew for blocking the crossing.

"This he is not at fault if the train stands over a crossing, as he is not permitted to move, as a matter of safety, without a signal."

The Conductor's Explanation.

Mr. Beason explained that he left his train to go to East London depot to get orders for picking up nineteen cars of freight from that city. He was not then aware that his train was standing on the crossing. While it appeared that his two brakemen were in charge of the train during his absence, Beason refused to try to pull his mates into the trouble to avoid personal responsibility.

"While I wasn't there and knew nothing about it, the train was in my charge, so I will stand the cost," he said.

The magistrate explained that he would not be more severe than he had been in the last case, but could not find less than in the previous instance.

BITTER SPEECH AT OPENING OF DEBATE ON THE SUFFRAGE

Mr. Lewis Harcourt, Opposing Female Suffrage, Attacks Colleagues in Cabinet.

"BAD FOR STATE AND BAD FOR THE WOMEN"

Critical Stage of Forty-Five Years' Struggle to Get the Franchise in British Commons.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Jan. 24.—The critical stage was reached this afternoon in the 45 years' struggle to obtain votes for women which was started in the House of Commons by John Stuart Mill, the great British economist, in 1867.

Alfred Lyttelton immediately after "question time," moved the amendment standing in the name of Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, to eliminate the word "male" from the franchise reform bill, and thus open the way to the extension of the parliamentary vote to women. The mover's arguments were along familiar lines. He urged that the trend of recent legislation was to require women to be called into the councils of the nation. They had, he said, already been called to assist in numerous departments.

Harcourt Better.

Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, who has not forgotten the attempt made some months ago by the suffragettes to burn down his ancestral home at Nuneham Park, Oxford, made a bitter assault on his colleagues in the cabinet, Sir Edward Grey and David Lloyd George, and on the whole project. He said:

"The adoption of methods of violence is an indication of the type of mental balance we may expect from women if they get the vote."

Mr. Harcourt averred that Sir Edward Grey and David Lloyd George were attempting to use the Parliament act to pass a proposal which had never been before the electors, and which would gravely imperil the stability of that admirable amendment to the British constitution. He added:

Bad for the State.

"I am against any forms of parliamentary suffrage for women on the ground that it is bad for the state, and bad for the women themselves."

Mr. Harcourt maintained that if women were to be enfranchised, the policy of adult suffrage would be the only one consistent with political honesty and public justice. He continued:

"Why does the Chancellor of the Exchequer desire to exclude 4,000,000 working-women? Surely not because they are mainly domestic servants. The Chancellor of the Exchequer does not fear to take their pence for insurance. Does he fear to take their opinion?"

Mr. Harcourt concluded that he did not believe the majority of women wanted the vote, and if it were given them it would contribute neither to the happiness of their homes nor to the safety of the country.

The comment of Lord Hugh Cecil on the speech of Lewis Harcourt was as follows:

"His antipathy to the Grey amendment suggests that he has recently been spanked or has never got over the indignity of being hit by a woman." Lord Hugh Cecil characterized Mr. Harcourt's speech as the most damaging he had ever heard against the present Government.

DISMISSED CASE AGAINST MR. MACKAY

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Jan. 24.—The appellate division has dismissed the action brought by W. H. Haines, commercial traveller, against Hon. A. S. Mackay, for alleged alienation of his wife's affections. The court remarks that there are features in the prosecution which do not suggest good faith.

NAZIM PASHA, Turkish Minister of War, Assassinated Yesterday in the Streets of Constantinople.

RIOTING AND BLOODSHED IN SULTAN'S CAPITAL

Killing of Nazim Pasha Has Thrown Constantinople Into Great Turmoil—Peace Delegates May Be Recalled and Resumption of War Seems Inevitable.

[Canadian Press.]

Constantinople, Jan. 24.—11 a.m.—Fighting has occurred at several places in the city this morning. A dozen or more persons have been wounded, and many arrests have been made. Great public excitement has followed the killing of Nazim Pasha, the former war minister, and commander of the Turkish army, who was shot during public demonstrations here last night.

In the Dark.

The lack of information as to the real meaning and scope of the movement in Constantinople precluded in the official view anything in the nature of a preliminary action.

The delegates of the allies were busy all day obtaining the views of the foreign ambassadors to Great Britain and of Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, prior to their meeting at the Serail headquarters this evening.

The New Cabinet.

Constantinople, Jan. 24.—The new Turkish cabinet is constituted as follows:

Grand Vizier and Minister of War—Mahmoud Shekret Pasha.

President of Council of State—Said Pasha.

Interior—Hadjji Adil.

Foreign Affairs (temporary)—Mukhtar Bey.

Justice—Tschurukula Mahmud.

Finance—Rifaat Bey.

Public Works—Batzaria Effendi.

Pious Foundations—Hadjji Pasha.

Agriculture—Djalal Effendi.

Posts—Osman Bey.

Public Instruction—Shukri Pasha.

Another man who is also well advanced in years, applied for the same privilege. He also had been accepting the shelter of the police station for the past few days. He claimed that he came recently from near Glenora when his employer concluded that he did not need him any longer for farm work. P. M. Judd could not see any good reason why he should be kept by the city of London, but there was no way out of the trouble and he also was given a month's commitment.

SISTER DIED A FEW HOURS AFTER DEATH OF BROTHER

Ronald McNaughton a Victim of Heart Failure at Ailsa Craig, and Sister Is Dead From an Attack of Pneumonia.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ailsa Craig, Jan. 23.—Donald McNaughton, aged 86, died at his home here yesterday afternoon from heart failure, and his sister, Miss Catherine, aged 76, died in the evening after a very brief illness with pneumonia. Another sister, Miss Mary, is seriously ill as a result of the shock caused by the double death.

AGED POOR SEEK SHELTER IN COUNTY JAIL OF MIDDLESEX

One Old Man Went With His Own Commitment To Be Sent Down.

Taking himself into his own custody, an old gentleman armed with a commitment for vagrancy, signed by Police Magistrate Judd, proceeded from Carling street station to the county jail unattended this morning, and was admitted to serve a month's term.

The old gentleman had slept in the police cells for the past few nights as he had no home. This morning he begged that something be done with him. The magistrate, taking pity on him, signed the commitment and headed him for the county jail.

He also had been accepting the shelter of the police station for the past few days. He claimed that he came recently from near Glenora when his employer concluded that he did not need him any longer for farm work. P. M. Judd could not see any good reason why he should be kept by the city of London, but there was no way out of the trouble and he also was given a month's commitment.

NORMAL STUDENTS TEACH IN SCHOOLS

166 Embryo Teachers Are Distributed Throughout the City Today.

The public schools of the city are today in possession of the students of the Normal School.

This morning 166 embryo teachers were distributed among the various schools and taught the various classes. The regular teachers were present, and checked up the work of the students, making reports to Principal Radcliffe.

Four schools—Alexandra, St. George's, Aberdeen and Talbot—were utilized this afternoon also, it being impossible to accommodate all the teachers in training at the morning classes.

Inspector Edwards supervised the arrangements, and reported the scheme working most satisfactorily.

CUT IN WATER RATES MAY MEAN AN ADDITION TO THE TAX RATE

Ald. Richter Cannot See Why Commissioners in Their Dying Moments Should Make a Reduction of Ten Per Cent—City Council's Surplus Reduced by $18,000.

The announcement that the water commissioners had decided to reduce the water rates 10 per cent created a wide divergence of opinion throughout the city today, many declaring that the step was inopportune and unwise at this time.

The reduction means that the city council's estimated revenue will be reduced about $18,000, probably more. Chairman Pocock figured that the least it would amount to was $17,500, while General Manager Glaubitz stated that it would be probably $18,700. It seems probable that the actual amount will be somewhere between the two sums, approximately $18,000.

This is about three-fifths of a mill on the tax rate, as the city council will have to figure without that surplus when the rate is struck in March next.

Operating at Cost.

Chairman Pocock justified the reduction, declaring that the citizens were entitled to it.

"We can afford to make the reduction," he declared. "My idea is that public utilities should be operated at as nearly cost as possible. The surpluses should go to the citizens themselves in the way of reductions on heat or light, or any other thing. We should not charge the ratepayers more than that."

Ald. Richter interviewed.

Ald. Richter considers the step ill-advised at the present time.

"It is possible that the water commissioners did this to get even for the citizens voting them out of office," he declared. "I do not know exactly what the board did, but in general language, I do not think that the water commissioners, or any other civic body, should, in its dying moments, enact any legislation that would seriously affect the board following. This matter could have been left with all confidence to the council, who would have dealt fairly with all parties concerned."

New Districts Favored.

Some criticism was offered today that the annexed districts, favored by exceptionally advantageous terms, would be further favored by a reduction in the water rates. It is claimed that they should have been compelled to pay for a few years at least what the remainder of the citizens have been paying for a long time. The surplus would not reduce the tax rate of the suburbanites, as it is fixed at 15 mills for fifteen years, but it would materially reduce the rate of the ratepayers in the older portions of the city, who have financed the water department for many years.

FAIRBURN IS ANXIOUS TO COLLECT DAMAGES!

Man Declared Innocent of Blowing Safe at Arva Tells of His Life in the Jail Here and at Kingston—Thinks He Should Be Reimbursed for His False Imprisonment.

Peter Fairburn, who was found guilty and sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary on a charge of being connected with the robbery at Arva last March, and who was released after serving ten months of the term, being declared innocent, has not a very exalted opinion of Canadian justice.

Fairburn was arrested the day after the crime in company with John Murray, alias Murphy, alias "Reddy" Thompson, in a local hotel, and when tried they were found guilty and sentenced to three years' confinement.

At the time that he was sentenced, Fairburn protested vehemently that he was innocent of any connection with the deed, and so impressed his counsel, Mr. P. H. Bartlett, that the latter entered an appeal. The application for a new trial was granted, and yesterday morning Fairburn was discharged.

Fairburn Talks.

When seen by a representative of The Advertiser, Fairburn stated that he had no complaints to make in regard to the treatment he was accorded since the time of his arrest, except that he was denied his usual mail on a number of occasions.

ICE FAMINE IS LOOMING UP AS RESULT OF MILD WEATHER

Two Weeks of Freezing Necessary and Two Weeks More To Harvest the Crop.

While Londoners sing the praises of the weatherman for his moderation and consideration, the keen coming forward of a flock of "doooms," predict that the city will suffer without a supply of the cooling crystal next summer unless something happens in the way of a mercury drop.

Thus far it has been found impossible to harvest a pound of ice in the vicinity of London, and at least two weeks of steady zero weather is required to put a sufficiently thick coat for a yield.

Two weeks further would then be required to do the cutting, and if this one month is not forthcoming between now and spring, it will be absolutely impossible to buy local ice at any cost in London next year. There is no plant in London capable of producing a sufficient supply by artificial means, and it may be necessary to import ice from outside points to meet the demand.

LAMBETH EXPECTS A FAST NEW SERVICE

Steam Cars To Be Received From London and St. Thomas.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Lambeth, Jan. 24.—Lambeth expects very shortly to have an interchange of car service with all the steam railways in Canada. This is a big proposition, but negotiations which have been going on for some time with the railway commission are reported to be going along so favorably that an order is expected to be issued allowing all cars to be run in over the London and Lake Erie lines. This will give Lambeth a quick connection as far as freight is concerned with all the roads running into both London and St. Thomas.

The proposition from an industrial standpoint is one of the greatest importance to Lambeth, as it will enable shippers of cattle, grain, farm products in general, as well as prospective industries to get in quick touch with all points served by the big trunk lines.

Found Dead in Bed.

[Canadian Press.]

St. Eleanore, Que., Jan. 24.—A traveling salesman named Mansell, representing Lever Bros., of Toronto, was found dead in bed this morning at the Hotel Louise.

His Name Connected With Recent Charges Entirely by Mistake.

In its issue of Dec. 27 last, the London Advertiser published a report of various charges in connection with municipal affairs at Guelph, wherein serious reflection was cast upon the name of Dr. Henry O. Howitt, medical health officer of that city. "Notice of complaint preparatory to an action for libel has been served upon the London Advertiser."

Nobody in connection with the matter ever intended that the name of Dr. Howitt should in any way have been included in the petition. It was all a mistake on the part of the person drafting the petition. When charged with criminal libel at the police court at Guelph each one of the twenty who signed the petition made a complete apology and explanation of the mistake.

The London Advertiser is anxious to do anything in its power to undo the harm which has been done to Dr. Howitt, and apologized to him for the hurt it played in giving publicity to the matter.

DECIDES FOR CROWN AGAINST C. P. R. SYSTEM

Company Claimed $239,000 Through Fraudulent Customs Entries.

[Canadian Press.] Ottawa, Jan. 23.—In the exchequer court today, Mr. Justice Audette handed down judgment in the case of the King against the Canadian Pacific Railway. This was a case where the crown sought judgment against the defendant company for a large amount of money allotted to be due for customs duties on goods imported into Canada on the defendants' railway. The claim was for an amount over $239,000. The defendant company denies the amount of the claim with the exception of $1,827. The case grew out of fraudulent entries by a customs broker of the C. P. R. named Hobbs, who was prosecuted and convicted under the criminal law. The issues turned upon whether the crown or the C. P. R. is to suffer by the fraud of Hobbs. Judge Audette gives judgment in favor of the crown for the amount of duties actually collectable on the goods imported. Costs go to the crown.

FOR INCITING STRIKE

Three Leaders in Porcupine Trouble Given Three Months.

[Canadian Press.] Calgary, Jan. 23.—The United Farmers of Alberta are for universal peace, opposed to war, and very much against Canadian naval policies of both the great political parties. They would have Canada lead the world in a great disarmament movement. So declared an anti-naval resolution adopted by an overwhelming vote just before adjournment. In six hundred delegates only twelve were against the resolution. The discussion of the resolution preceded the first real fireworks of the convention, and brought out impassioned oratory. Other important features of the proceedings were the adoption of a unanimous vote for an out-and-out free trade resolution favoring legislation which would practically exempt from taxation lands which may be situated within the limits of the municipalities.

MOUNTAIN MYSTERY.

Somerville, N. J., Jan. 23.—Investigation has been begun for the case of Dr. John Morrison, a New York physician, who was burned to death in a fire which destroyed his summer home at the foot of Mount Morristown near here yesterday. Recently Dr. Morrison's house was robbed, and two mountaineers were imprisoned in the Somerset County jail for a time on suspicion. Neighbors of Dr. Morrison have declared their belief that some of the mountaineers deliberately burned the house for revenge.

USE HIGH COMMISSION FOR PANAMA DISPUTE

U. S. Suggests All Points of Difference Be Referred to Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The reply of the United States to the British note of protest against the Panama Canal act was made public by Secretary of State Knox tonight, simultaneously with the transmission of the note to the British Parliament by Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs. The note states that the outset that the United States Government disagrees with the British interpretation of the Clayton-Bulwer-Hay-Pauncefote treaties, but discussion of this important phase of the controversy is reserved by Secretary Knox for another occasion. With respect to Sir Edward Grey's suggestion that the Panama dispute be submitted to arbitration if the canal act be not repealed, Secretary Knox holds that such a proposal is premature. Mr. Knox bases this view on the ground that Great Britain complains only of something that possibly may happen, and also that arbitration should not be resorted to until the two Governments have failed to settle by diplomatic negotiations any matter of dispute between them. The most interesting feature of Mr. Knox's note, however, is his proposal that all facts in the case which may continue to be the cause of a difference of opinion between the two Governments be referred for investigation and report to a joint high commission of inquiry, such as was provided for in the recent general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain, which was ratified by the United States Senate in a hopelessly mutilated condition.

FOR UNIVERSAL PEACE

Alberta Farmers Want Canada To Lead in Disarmament.

[Canadian Press.] North Bay, Jan. 23.—Three leaders in the Porcupine strike were prosecuted under the Lemieux act for inciting a strike at the Hollinger Mine and were found guilty yesterday before Magistrate Torrance and sentenced to a five hundred dollar fine each or three months in jail. The accused refused to pay the fines, preferring to spend their three months in the Sudbury jail, if necessary, as a protest against what they consider an unjust law. Barrister Godfrey, of Toronto, conducted the prosecution. A. G. Staght, of Haliburton, counsel for the accused, states he will appeal from the sentence.

TWELVE OF CREW LOST

Norwegian Bark Goes Down Off the Coast of England.

[Canadian Press.] Great Grimsby, England, Jan. 23.—Twelve of the crew of the Norwegian bark Agda were drowned when that vessel foundered at midnight on Tuesday off Spurn Head, at the mouth of the Humber. Three other sailors, the only survivors of the wreck, who were picked up by a trawler and landed here today, told the story of their sufferings. The vessel, which was bound for Rio de Janeiro, sprang a leak on Tuesday during a violent storm, and her holds rapidly filled. The member of the crew took to a boat, which was capsized three times. On each occasion some of the struggling sailors were swept away and sank. Three survivors clung to the boat and drifted for twelve hours, washed hither and thither by the varying currents before they were sighted by a Grimsby fishing vessel, which rescued them with great difficulty.

NEW PARIS PROBLEM

How To House 120,000 People Evicted From Dwellings.

[Canadian Press.] Paris, Jan. 23.—The formidable problem of finding accommodation for 120,000 who are to be evicted from their dwellings, owing to the sale of the antiquated fortifications of Paris to the city authorities by the French Government, is now before the municipal council of the French capital for solution. The space occupied by the wall, 21 miles in length, encircling Paris, and the "firing zone," 500 yards in width, facing it, is to be converted into public parks. This space is now covered by many thousands of wooden ramshackle houses, occupied in most cases by the poorest class of work people and rag pickers, but in many instances turned into resorts for criminals and tramps. The proprietors pay a small sum for the privilege of being allowed to construct these huts on the ground, and many are subject to destruction in case of war. The amount of money expended on these old fortifications, erected in 1840, and now to be razed, is estimated to have exceeded $200,000,000. It is impossible to enter the city without passing through one of the seventy gates now used as stations for the collection of the tax imposed on provisions coming into Paris from the country districts.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM, Limited

White Sale, Embroideries

Saturday Will Be Another Busy Outfitting Day

TOMORROW being the last Saturday in January, the greater part of this advertisement is given up to news of wearing apparel, etc., in the January sales at considerable reduction in price. In placing so much before you at this season, so much below the cost of production of same, does not mean that we ourselves must shoulder all the loss of profit in January clearing-up time. As a matter of fact, most manufacturers are glad to take less than cost of production on season-end merchandise, which distributes the losses more evenly. Fortunately the amount to be sacrificed is only a small percentage of the season's output, but the savings to our customers aggregate thousands of dollars. Look the advertisements over these days carefully, much will surely be found of interest to every reader.

January Sale of Women's Whitewear

THIS SALE presents advantages not available when this sale is over. It is only reasonable, when any product is bought in immense quantities, and when both manufacturer and retailer are content to curtail part of their profit to bring about a greater volume of business, that undoubted advantages result to the store's customers. This holds true to our January sale of Ladies' Whitewear, in which the makers have co-operated loyally with us.

These old fortifications, erected in 1840, and now to be razed, is estimated to have exceeded $200,000,000. It is impossible to enter the city without passing through one of the seventy gates now used as stations for the collection of the tax imposed on provisions coming into Paris from the country districts.

CHINESE PIRATES. Amoy, China, Jan. 23.—The disorderly elements in the province of Fu Kien have become so formidable that the authorities are unable to cope with them. In the neighborhood of Ningwa the traffic has become unsafe except for very strong parties, and these are compelled to keep to the principal roads. Piracy is very frequent on the Dragon River, even large vessels being attacked.

DISCHARGES HIS HELP. New York, Jan. 23.—Walters agitating a strike found their plans anticipated at one of the large Broadway hotels early today when the Hotel Knickerbocker management discharged every one of the 250 waiters and bus boys in its employ. When Proprietor James B. Regan called all of the men into the main dining-room they believed he was to announce the concession of their demands, but instead he declared he had been harassed beyond endurance by their dissatisfaction and reiterated demands. Captains and all were forced to walk out.

LONDON, FRIDAY, JAN. 24.

MORE BLOOD IN THE BALKANS.

The coup at Constantinople threatens to plunge the Balkans back into the horrors of war.

Moslem fanaticism has been brought to the boiling point by the decision of the cabinet to accept the demands of the powers. The Grand Vizier, Kiamil Pasha, and his ministers, have been intimidated by street crowds, and have resigned, giving place to the militant wing of the Young Turk party.

In the melee, the war minister and commander of the Turkish army, Nazim Pasha, was killed. He took command of the forces after the Turks had been routed at Kirk Kiliseh, and seems to have organized the defences at Tchataldja with some success, and to have revived in a degree the spirit of the troops.

The powers advised Turkey to surrender Adrianople, and to leave with them (the powers) the disposition of the islands in the Aegean Sea. Adrianople is a tender spot with the Turkish race. It was the capital of the European empire for 200 years before they conquered Constantinople. History, sentiment and religion combine to passionately attach them to the ancient city, and to fortify the new Turkish cabinet in a policy of resistance to the last. It is the counsel of desperation: the loss of the last vestige of moral support from the great powers may result in the total expulsion of the Turks from Europe by force of arms. The powers would have saved them Constantinople, a large part of Thrace, and perhaps some of the Aegean Isles, but the issue may now be left to the arbitrament of war. If the Turks have improved the armistice to strengthen their commissariat and drawn on their Asiatic reserves, they will give the Balkan allies a stern fight in the last ditch. The defences at Tchataldja are a ring of forts, which are practically the outworks of Constantinople, though 25 miles distant.
Vast sums have been spent upon these works, under German direction. They have halted the Bulgarian advance. If the new Turkish cabinet, therefore, remains obstinate, and has the support of the populace of Constantinople, which makes and unmakes governments, there will be another "bath of blood," more dreadful than the last, before the soil of Europe is purged of the pollution of the Ottoman.

A SIGNIFICANT REBUKE.

The Gazette, the only Conservative morning paper of Montreal, murmurs against the British jingo who want another conference to force the imperialist pace of the colonies. Canada, it says, shows no "need of an imperial lash." She is going along very willingly. "The extremists (in Great Britain) cannot expect or hope for any more." "Things would go on better, however, if there was less seeming desire on the other side of the ocean to regulate affairs here according to the ideas that have their birth in European continental conditions."

The jingo "extremists" are not all on the other side of the ocean. The Gazette keeps a tender silence about the same kind with a little rougher necks in this country. No matter what some British statesmen may think or want of Canada, we need not go any faster than is expedient, and it is our own fault if we do. The actions or talk of some over there is to be blamed, but the flunkies, timeservers and Little Canadians in this country should not go scatheless. The Gazette should attend to Ottawa as well as to Westminster.

There are Canadians enough who are eager to tie us up with imperial machinery that will work about as well as a Christmas mechanical toy.
And Unionists at any rate have publicly recanted on inter-preferential tariff. However, it must be said of the Gazette that it has been candid enough on the subject of the Canadian naval policy, and broad enough to give a word of approval to Laurier's course. It is highly significant that the leading Conservative organ of Montreal should attack British jingoism so squarely and perhaps by implication the moths in Canada that swarm around the dying lamp of British Toryism.

A ONE-SIDED INTERVIEW.

It was a blunder, to say the least,
that the vice-president of the Grand Trunk and other officials of the company were not permitted to hear more than one side of the case in their visit of inquiry to London.

The Mayor undertook to present the railway situation from his own point of view. In so tremendously important a question as the future of the London and Port Stanley Railway, the members of the London and Port Stanley Railway Board were not even invited

by the Mayor to discuss the matter with a company wishing to lease the road.
Mr. Wainwright and his party came to London to seek information from the civic authorities, before framing a bid. They got only such official information as the Mayor chose to give them. It is peculiarly unfortunate that Ald. Richter was not present, since the interview was private, and the public have no means of knowing what the Grand Trunk have been told. Ald.
Richter would have laid before them
the varying opinions on the question of the operation of the road, whether by steam or electricity, or lease or civic management. As it is, they probably heard that nothing but electrification would be considered. It is to be hoped they made inquiries in other directions. If they did, they have already found that the Mayor does not speak in the matter for the bulk of the manufacturing and commercial interests.

It was like the Turks to shoot their best soldier, preliminary to resuming the war.

Everybody now favors further inquiry into the railway situation but the London Free Press and Mr. Beck.

Mr. Rowell has been advocating his "abolish-the-bar" policy in Berlin.
Carrying the war into Africa, as it were.

The British Government has left the members of the Commons free to vote as they like on the suffrage question. But the suffragettes won't.

The Ottawa Free Press, like the Toronto Globe, suggests that Mr. Beck copied his public manners from Sir James Whitney. Mr. Beck has always had manners of his own, and had nothing to learn from his chieftain.

While Mr. Maclean, M. P., of Halli-fax, rapped Hon. Walter Long for his offensive references to Canadian Liberals, the Hon. Walter's son was a listener in the gallery. Listeners seldom do anything good of themselves, but it may do the Hon. Walter good if his son is wise enough to report to him Mr. Maclean's remarks.

It is to be hoped that the rebukes given by Liberal members of the Canadian House of Commons to British politicians who are continually aspersing the loyalty of Canadian Liberals, will echo across the Atlantic.
Earl Grey has done something to squench these mischief-makers. They call themselves empire-builders, but they are empire wreckers.

A ONE-SIDED ARRANGEMENT.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"Why is it that Hendrix is able to dress so much better and live in so much finer style than you do? I understand that his salary is no higher than yours."

"The explanation is very simple. He has a daughter and I have a son. My son has to pay the expenses for both whenever they go anywhere together."

THE WAY UP.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
Two men toiled side by side, and one wrought well with brain and hand.

And bravely thought to prove his worth; the other idly planned And dreamed of what he had the power to raise him from the throng;
The people were amazed to see how fast he got along.

They say that worth will always win;
But 't is that idler bosses now;
The other's working still.

A SUGGESTION.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
When modesty begins to boast about itself it should also change its name.

SOME WEATHER PREDICTIONS.

[W. J. Lampton.]
Where, oh, where is the zero weather
We were promised we should get?
Where, oh, where is the good old winter,
Which has not arrived as yet?

Where, oh, where are the jingling sleigh bells?
Where are all the skaters at?
Where, oh, where are the coal man's profits,
Which beforetimes were so fat?

Where, oh, where are the blooming blizzards?
Where the streets chuck full of snow?
Where, oh, where are the icebound
That about now ceased to flow?

What, oh, what is the Weather Bureau?
What that meteorological bird?
It ain't no prettiest bird;
It's a shorter, uglier word.
What?
—W. J. Lampton.

CANON HENSON'S FAREWELL.

[Public Opinion.]
Canon Hensley Henson was installed as dean of Durham yesterday.
Last Sunday, saying farewell to his congregation at St. Margaret's, Westminster, he said: "At the close of my ministry I desire to reaffirm the position I outlined at the start—congregational worship is the true ideal of the English service in a parish church."

BE CONTENTED.

[Anonymous.]
The fish that gets away, my boy,
The biggest seems to be;
Like-wise upon the topmost branch
The choicest fruits we see.
And yet the fish we catch are good,
The fruit we pluck is fine,
So be contented with your lot,
'Tis idle to repine.

Don't mourn the fish that gets away,
But glory in your catch;
The fruit upon the topmost branch
The highest ones may match.
Waste neither time nor tears upon
The things you fail to get,
But make the most of what you have,
And fame will find you yet.

UNREPRESENTED MINORITIES.

[Montreal Witness.]
How long will our minorities endure being unrepresented? There is not one case among the one-sided legislatures of our provinces where it would not be a decided advantage to have a stronger opposition. In some provinces the majority party has become so strong and so fixed that there is no incentive to fight, and the opposing party just waits for its disintegration from with-

in. This is in no case due to fault of the electors, but of the voting system.
Had we proportional representation
there would not be a single province in Canada without a strong fighting opposition, watching that in all things it walked uprightly.

THE BOY—WHAT HE WOULD BECOME.

[Public Opinion.]
"What I Should Like To Be and Why," was the title selected by Lord Northcliffe for his annual prize essay competition for the boys at Chatham House School. The following figures show the number of boys out of 100 essayists who chose the professions
here named:
Engineer, 24; farmer, 12; sailor, 8;
naval officer, 2; soldier, 5; flying man, 4; lawyer, 4; architect, 3.

OLD FRIENDS MISSING.

[Toronto Star.]
We miss the articles that used to appear in some Canadian newspapers about the folly of the fossil free traders in England, and how they were giving way to the young, progressive chaps who would regenerate England by taxing the food of Englishmen, and causing them to eat horses and dogs, as they do in protectionist countries. When the Unionists took up the advocacy of a food tax the noise was enough to make Cobden turn over in his grave.
Now they have abandoned them, and the silence is as deep as that of the grave itself.

A POOR UNDERSTUDY.

[Montreal Witness.]
Mr. Austen Chamberlain has found it wise to deny that he cast any slur on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's imperial loyalty.
Strange, then, that his words should have deceived us all, and among us Lord Grey, who, as usual, chivalrously sprung to the vindication of Canada
from a renewal of the contemptible libel that half of them are in English.
Mr. Chamberlain poses as an understudy to his celebrated father, but his father, however unwise in his later life, at least knew the colonies too well to listen to the continued shrieks of certain Canadian newspapers determined to libel their own country.

REFUSED TO PAY FARE WAS FINED IN COURT.

East End Man Had Fun With Conductor, But It Proved Costly.

Harry Shrimpton, a young man who rode on an Oxford car from the corner of Hamilton road and Adelaide street to Dundas and Richmond streets last night without paying his fare, found that ride was rather costly this morning when he contributed $3.50 at the Carling street court. On account of his age he was Shrimpton, who was slightly under the influence of liquor, declined to pay up when approached several times by Conductor George Edlington, of Oxford car
No. 70. Edlington handed the man over to P. C. Cecil McRoberts when the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets was reached.

AGED INSPECTOR WAS STRUCK BY TRAIN.

Donald McCuaig May Not Recover
From His Injuries.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, Jan. 24.—While walking over the foot crossing into the C. P. R. passenger coach this morning, Donald Mc-Cuaig, aged 70, inspector in the C. P. R.
freight department, was knocked down by a yard engine as he was crossing the road. He is now in St. Michael's Hospital with three broken ribs and a badly crushed foot, which will have to be amputated. On account of his age he is suffering greatly from the shock, and his recovery is doubtful.

WANTED HIS MEDALS.

South African Veteran Dead in Grace

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

Young Winnipeg Woman Fatally Shot
While Handling Pistol.

Winnipeg, Jan. 24.—Miss Vida Banks, 20, training as a nurse, is dead as the result of shooting herself in the abdomen accidentally with a small revolver. She heard a dog barking outside, and being alone with her sister, became alarmed and picked up a revolver from the sewing machine and started to investigate.
The pistol was discharged with fatal

Pauline Johnson's Latest Book of Poems Full of Fine Verse

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

Several weeks ago, I hailed as one of the most important publications of 1912 the collected poems of the late Dr.
W. H. Drummond. Today I call the attention to my readers to another book of verse, also a final edition of a poet's life-work—"Flint and Feather,"
by Miss E. Pauline Johnson. This tall, handsome volume (published by the Mussen Book Company) will take its place with the work of Dr. Drummond as a distinctive and highly-productive of the Canadian muse. A melodiously interesting introduction to the publication; for its author, the Indian poetess, is lying in a Vancouver hospital, where the doctors hold out no hope for her recovery. It is hoped by her friends that this volume will have such a large sale that her heart will be cheered by the knowledge that her work is appreciated by her fellow-Canadians. But whether the book sells well or not, Miss Johnson may nevertheless have left behind her a body of verse of such unique character that her name will never be forgotten in the annals of Canadian song.
While other poets have surpassed her grace and perfection of style, no singer of the north has approached Miss Johnson in voicing the spirit of the North American Indian.

Future generations of Canadians will consider this the most romantically told of the old days of primitive life on this continent passed away, the daughter of an Iroquois chief should have caught the color, mould and form of the Indian's life, and should have transmuted it into simple, sincere passionate poetry. For the distinction of this notable book lies just in this fact—Miss Johnson glories in her Indian origin and makes the joys, sorrows, and the romance of the Indian main theme of song. The very name of this volume, "Flint and Feather," is witness to her pride of ancestry.
"Flint," she says in a charming foreword, "is the Indian's weapon of war; it is the arrow-tip, the heart,
quality of mine own people; let it, therefore, apply to those poems that touch upon Indian life and love. The lyrical verse herein is as a

"Skyward floating feather, Sailing on summer air."

And yet that feather may be the eagle plume that greets the head of a war rior chief; so both flint and feather bears the hall-mark of my Mohawk blood."

In the biography sketch which serves as an introduction to the poems a sketch for which students of Canadian literature will be grateful, we learn that Miss Johnson, whose Indian name is Tekahionwake, is the youngest child of a family of four born to the late G.
H. M. Johnson, (Ojibway name),
Head Chief of the Six Nations Indians, and his wife, Emily S. Howells, an English lady from Bristol. Pauline Johnson was born on her father's estate, "Chiefswood," near Brantford,
and obtained her schooling in that city.
At an early age she took to verse-writing. In due time she became a contributor to leading Canadian and American magazines, and showed great eloquent talent that her friends advised her to give public readings of her poems. For a number of years she travelled England, the United States and Canada, and achieved a great success on the public platform. In 1894, her first book, "The White Wampum," was published by John Lane, in London, England, and her second volume,
"Indian Boyhood," was brought out by the Macmillan Company in 1903. For the last four years the poetess has been a resident of Vancouver, and her poem in praise of that city testifies to her love of "The Queen of the Coast."

As I have already indicated, the most prominent element in this body of verse is the portrayal of Indian life.
Poems like "Ojibwa," and "As Red Men Die," describe the customs of the savage; "Dawdine" is a beautiful love poem; "A Cry of an Indian Wife,"
"The Cattle Thief," and "The Corn Husker," breathe the wrongs of a vanquished race. The last-mentioned poem is one of the best in the collection.

Hard by the Indian lodges, where the bush Breaks in a clearing, through ill-fashioned fields,
She comes to labor, when the first still hush
Of autumn follows large and recent yields.

Age in her fingers, hunger in her face,
Her shoulders stooped with weight of work and years,
But rich in tawny coloring of her face.

She comes a-field to strip the purple ears.
And all her thoughts are with the days gone by Ere might's injustice banished from their lands
Her people, that today unheeded lie,
Like the dead husk that rustle through her hands.

Near of kin to the Indian poems are those which interpret Nature. Miss Johnson's best poems are those in which she finds the emanations from the mighty mother soul who speaks
in the wind, in the song of the river, in the roar of the sea, and in the flowering prairie. We find coloring here from all parts of Canada, vivid descriptions of the varied scenery from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Miss Johnson has been a great traveller, not only on railway trains, but in her cane on distant northern rivers, and alone with her sister, she sings of "Shadow River," or of "The Song My Paddle Sings," that she utters her sweetest note. "Penseroso" is a poem of solitude and depth of feeling; its fine
opening stanza is as follows:

Soulless is all humanity to me
Tonight, My keenest longing is to be Alone, alone with God's gray earth That seems Pulse of my pulse and consort of my dreams.

Another poem, "In the Shadows," reflects a brighter mood, and shows
Miss Johnson's command of metre—
I am sailing to the leeward,
Where the current runs to seaward Soft and slow,
Where the sleeping river grasses
Brush my paddle as it passes
To and fro.

Other poems in the book celebrate the joy of love and the passion of patriotism. There are at least half a dozen narrative poems, the best of which is "The Legend of Qu'Appelle Valley." Then there are poems

Every time anyone says anything about the department, Herr Glaubitz gets out a thousand yards of verbiage.

And here's a little point from his latest report: He says that 500-horsepower for two hours can be developed by running the water up the hill and down again (about as easy as lifting oneself over a fence by his shoe-straps, we imagine), and that 500-horsepower for four hours can be developed by adding two feet to the Springbank dam. Which wins?

But the most interesting report that the people of London could receive from Herr Glaubitz would be: "How I Examined the Contract Between the City and the Hydro-Electric Commission."

MRS. NORTON TELLS ECONOMICAL HOUSE- WIVES WHY AND HOW TO USE FRUITS

[BY MRS. ALICE P. NORTON.]
Head of the Department of Home Economics of the University of Chicago.

Twenty-five years ago the most intelligent housekeeper could do nothing more than provide for her family plenty of simple food, well cooked and well served, at a cost within her means.

We know now that food must be selected to provide certain necessary things. While the well, strong child, active in play and work, is sure to be well nourished if he has access to plenty of food, the less vigorous child, or the child who wakes up in the morning unrefreshed, perhaps because he has not had enough fresh air through the night, or the child who has bought candy or pickles on the way home from school and so temporarily satisfies his appetite, may not get enough food to make him grow as he should and to provide for his activity.

With our increased study of food, fruits and vegetables have been gaining much importance. The fact that most of them have so little of the so-called food value, that they are so largely water, used to make us feel that they were an accessory rather than a real need, and that the money spent for them was spent for a luxury.

Now we know that the water in the fruits and vegetables hold in solution mineral salts, chiefly of lime, iron and phosphorus, that are most necessary for life, and particularly for growth.

These mineral salts are present not only in the bones, but in the muscles and in the fluids of the body. The child who has not enough of such mineral matter will have soft bones, poor teeth, and will fall in growth and development.

With young children fruits must be given more liberally than vegetables, because little children rarely like vegetables, they almost invariably like fruit. Fruits for the very young child must be cooked, or ONLY THE JUICE USED. With older children, the uncooked fruit may be used, provided

MRS. ALICE P. NORTON.

it is always thoroughly chewed. Dried fruits should be used much more than they often are.

Vegetables, as a rule, are much less expensive than fruit, so if part of the mineral salts are supplied through vegetables, it is an advantage both in cost and in variety.

Children who do not care for vegetables, often will eat them in the form of cream soups. The mineral salts will be present, and the added milk will increase the nutritive value.

Such soups may many times be made from the water in which vegetables are boiled; for instance, the water in which spinach has been cooked, or cabbage, or asparagus, may be made into delicious soup.

The cobs of corn that has been used for corn fritters, or even the pods from fresh peas, celery not quite nice enough to serve as a salad, all may be used in this way to provide stock for soup.

and the most valuable part of these vegetables the mineral salts, will be used.

A cream soup is nothing but a very thin white sauce, with the vegetable flavor. For two cups of vegetable, thickened with an equal amount of milk, thicken with four level tablespoons of flour, rubbed smooth in a little milk, stir in two tablespoons of butter or butterine, or clarified beef fat, and salt to taste. A general proportion for salt is one teaspoonful to a quart. The soup should be strained before serving.

Cream soups may be made from dried green or split peas, dried lima beans or lentils, and from potatoes, as well as from onions and tomatoes. The dried vegetables should be soaked overnight and cooked until very soft, rubbed through a strainer, and used with the water in which they were cooked. A little less flour may be used for thickening these, as they contain so much starch.

Another way in which children may be given vegetables is in the form of Scotch broth or beef stew. For older people the green salad is an admirable way to serve vegetables, and the number of salad vegetables available in the ordinary market is increasing.

Often wild plants might be gathered and used as we use the wild fruits. Cowslip or marsh marigold, dandelions and chicory, are used as greens. Milkweed is sometimes used as a substitute for asparagus. Dock, sorrel, winter cress, and the round-leaved mallow are all used for food. It takes time to gather these, but it means being out of doors, and if it may be combined with a walk with the children it will be worth while.

I knew one mother whose baby carriage went into many a field after flowers and herbs, even though it had sometimes to be lifted over a stone wall or through a fence.

Low priced meats are not always the cheapest, says Mrs. Norton in her next article, discussing in a practical, common-sense way this food we all eat.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

Washing Gloves.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you kindly let me know how to wash chambray gloves with a good result? From one interested in your columns.

KANDY KID.

A.—Wash them in lukewarm, soapy water; then rinse through clear water once or twice, and dry in a moderate current of heat. Keep pulling the gloves into shape during the drying or they will turn stiff and hard. Some people prefer to finish the drying by drawing the gloves on the hands to preserve the shape.

Cold Cream Recipe.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you kindly publish in your columns the formula for cold cream, given by Miss Billie Burke, as a suggestion for useful Christmas presents, given in The Advertiser about two weeks before Christmas? Also the formula given for lished on Dec. 30?

Thanking you in anticipation.

A.—1. White wax, 1/2 ounce; spermaceti, 1/2 ounce; lanolin, 1 ounce; sweet almond oil, 2 ounces; coconut oil, 1 ounce; orange flower water, 2 ounces; tincture of benzoin, 5 drops.

Put everything except the orange flower water and benzoin into a double boiler and heat until they become liquid. Don't let the mixture boil, as that will spoil it. Take from the fire, and add the orange flower water, in which the benzoin has been poured. Add this only a few drops at a time to the warm oil, heating well until it is perfectly cold, light and fluffy.

2. Take rolled oats and putting them in a grinder reduce them to a fine powder. This oat dust should then be stirred into one cup of skimmed sweet milk—previously heated—until a thin, spreadable paste results.

Have the milk as hot as can be borne with comfort, as warmth is what the cuticle craves in midwinter.

Now that the paste is ready for use spread it over the face with a wooden spoon until every bit of skin is concealed from view.

What next? Sit quietly for twice forty minutes, then retire to the bathroom and wash off the paste—which by this time will be dried—with lukewarm water and a mild soap.

Used frequently this bleach will keep the facial skin in beautiful condition.

He Is Lonesome.

Dear Miss Grey: I am 26 and am very lonesome. Since my mother died I have been alone. Life does not seem the same to me, and I have thought that I ought to get some nice girl and settle down in life. I have a good position and am quite able to support a wife. Would you kindly advise me the best way to approach a girl in this subject?

A.—I am sure if you are a desirable young man you should have no difficulty in winning the affections of some good girl. I would suggest that you join some church organizations, at whose social affairs you might meet a desirable girl. Go about where there are young folks.

Use of Ramekins.

Dear Miss Grey: What is served in ramekins? Are the ramekins cups ever used without the saucer?

INQUIRER.

A.—Baked custards, individual scalloped oysters, baked tomatoes, or anything in small quantity in cream sauce, may be served in ramekins, and if placed upon a large plate may be used without the saucers.

Card Etiquette.

Dear Miss Grey: I am wondering where you have been so helpful to others, and want to ask you to help me. Please tell whether or not you leave your visiting card when the lady is at home?

R. J.

A.—When returning a first call, or paying a party call one should leave the cards upon the table in the hall when passing out, or in the drawing-room before the hostess enters.

ALL SAINTS' A. Y. P. A. ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

The Members of Christ Church Society Given a Pleasant Social Time.

A most enjoyable time was spent on Wednesday evening in the parish-room of All Saints' Church, when the young people entertained members of the A. Y. P. A. of Christ Church, about 100 being present. All sorts of amusements had been provided for the guests, and there was not a dull moment throughout the entire evening.

The young folks became acquainted with each other by filling in cards bearing the words: "I am a _____, who are you?" And this unique method broke the ice almost immediately. Prizes were offered for several contests, cards and on one occasion twenty-two different nationalities were represented. Katherine Gunn; violet contest, Miss Freda Webb. Partners for refreshments were secured by a game of "The Jolly Miller," into which all entered heartily. At the close of the evening's fun, Rev. C. R. Gunne, of Christ Church, and Mr. Frank, expressed briefly the thanks of the visitors for the pleasant time. Mr. William Risler, president of All Saints' A. Y. P. A., acted as chairman.

PROGRAM RENDERED BY THE CHILDREN

Unique Affair at the Monthly Meeting of Rectory Street Mothers' Club.

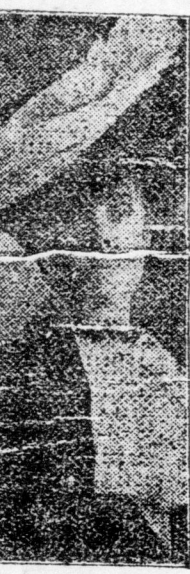

The Rectory Street Mothers' Club held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, the program, taking the form of a "children's evening," being entirely rendered by the young folks of the district, under the supervision of Miss Matthews. Each child showed marked ability, and the entertainment was a most pleasing one.

The program was opened with a march by the children, present, and piano duets and solos, songs, recitations and violin solos completed the list. Among those taking part were Misses Irene Bassett, Ivy Brooks, Gladys and Grace Maker, Bessie McLeod, Alberta Baldwin, Violet and May Brooke, Ella Thorpe, Willie Bugler, Birdie Beadle, Marjorie Mitchell, Olive Burnard, Marie Simpson, Christie Wanstall, Margery and Dorothy Lee, Annie Ward, Annie Mason, Margery Wickens, Helen Mitchell, Mary Mason, Margery Golby, Ruby Parker, Elsie Crocker, Gladys Day, Addie Wallace and Vera Henley. A chorus, "Afternoon Tea," by a number of girls, won much applause.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program. Miss Matthews occupied the chair, owing to the illness of Mrs. Shortt, the president.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

THE NEW FIGURE.

What a power Fashion is! Who, ten years ago, would have believed that these loose garments and large waists would have figured on the Fashion plates of the day. Not to our friends the doctors, nor to dress reformers is due the disappearance of the wasp-waist and the hour-glass figure. Fashion herself was in the mood of something new, and striking, some change—no matter what—but change. Not that Fashion had any thought of health or hygiene in her head. She was simply tired of the same old figure. In a moment of inspiration she thought of a straight front corset. She put the straight front corset on the market, and an immediate and curious change was observed in women's figures. They were no longer round like a sausage and tied in the middle, with astonishing protruberances above and below! The straight front corset gave relief from pressure—one breathed more freely, one digested, one lived! Fashion considered the possibilities of the large waist and designed fascinating garments for the came. Women who once compressed their long-suffering bulk into eighteen, nineteen, twenty, and twenty-one inches, began to think twenty-four small. Today the woman who is not of the girth of the Venus de Milo is a reproach to her sisters. Nature may have made them on slender lines, but this is no excuse! She must make of her rib line her waist, for nothing short of twenty-seven will make her fashionable. From six to eight inches gain to the waist in a few seasons—think of it! Fashion has done for the female figure what neither doctor nor dress reformer could do. She has restored the natural figure of woman.

But Fashion has by no means abandoned the corset. It is as essential to the well-dressed woman as ever; and the corset is surely quite harmless, even beneficial, provided it does not pinch and squeeze. Capricious Nature, however, having invented, or rather rediscovered the large waist, now finds it necessary according to her ideas to compress other parts of the body. She has pronounced war upon hips, she considers them quite superfluous. They interfere with her ideas of dress. Her new idea is to give freedom to the upper part of the body and to compress by most ingenious devices the lower half. Above the waist line the corset of today is a mere belt. Below it is a vice of astonishing contrivance. It is so constructed as to squeeze into as straight lines as possible all the curves and lines of the form which sculptors and painters hitherto have considered beautiful. Let the waist be as large as possible, but let there be nothing but straight lines below. The woman who can squeeze all her plumpness into the vicelike hip corset of the day, and make her figure below the waist resemble an Egyptian mummy, is she who has the fashionable figure. She is Fashion herself! Waist and garments are free. We breathe as we have never breathed before. We digest. We live. What if we "sit down"? Surely that is a small matter in comparison with the sectored livers, distorted ribs and stifled breath! There is not a doubt that Fashion will be able to demonstrate to us that sitting down is no longer fashionable.

A LARGE COLLECTION.

Mrs. Elmer Nutting, of Cambridge, Mass., is said to have the largest collection of postcards in the world. It numbers more than 30,000 specimens. The United States navy presented Mrs. Nutting with a set of convenient postcards collected when the fleet made its cruise around the world. Mrs. Nutting has herself been around the world more than once, and many of her cards show the spots she has visited. Her friends remember her birthday by sending postcards, and on one occasion twenty-two different nationalities were represented. Most of the cards being written in the language of the sender. These cards are kept in eighty albums and a number of

HOUSEHOLD TIPS

To reheat a pie stand it in a deep baking dish filled with boiling water for half an hour. Twenty minutes before it is to be served put it in the oven to heat the crust.

Tin funnels should not be used carelessly. The action of acids on tin is very dangerous. For this reason it is much better for every housewife to have a porcelain funnel.

When mending broken china, also place it to set in a large box of sawdust. By this means it is easy to stand the article in any desired position, so that its own weight holds the piece in place when the cement is hardening.

Sweet potatoes are deliciously served in the following way: After they have been boiled until done, mash them and put in a generous supply of cream and butter, then beat them until very light, and put them in a baking dish, and bake them in the oven until they are a nice brown.

Cold rain-water and soap will remove machine grease.

A faded cotton dress can be made white by boiling it in cream of tartar water.

When you wish to cut rubber, first wet the scissors or knife. It will cut much easier.

If a fire is used constantly during the day, replenish the coal frequently and in small quantities.

THE PROGRESSIVE DRUGGISTS.

Love Affairs of Great Men

Love at first sight? In spite of scoffing, some illustrious men have pleaded guilty to falling in love at first sight.

One of the conspicuous cases was the sudden infatuation of King Alfonso of Spain, for the young Princess Kua of England, now his wife and mother of several children. They met first at a ball in Buckingham Palace.

Sir Joshua Reynolds, the famous painter fell instantly in love with Angelica Kauffman, the only woman R. A. ever elected. She was a chance visitor at his studio one day, and ever afterwards Sir Joshua called her "Miss Angel."

The great Gainsborough fell in love with a lady who, while walking along a lane in Sudbury, came between him and the sunset. He looked up and his fate was sealed. She made him a most estimable wife. John Galsworthy, who, though a rugged peasant, became famous for his paintings, fell in love instantly with a very gifted and wealthy young lady, who accepted him, and they lived happily ever afterwards.

While Robert Burns fell in love a number of times, he was probably the most deeply touched when he met his first love, whom he calls a "bonnie sweet, sensie lassie."

BIZARRE HEEL EFFECTS.

Contrasting heels on the low shoes have met with so much success in Paris that new models appear every few days. One of the stylish Paris actresses has been wearing low black satin shoes with contrasting bows and heels. At one of the recent cross-country meetings at Auteuil some of the fashionable women wore shoes that had a narrow gold band around the bottom of the heel.

Peach stains are very difficult to remove, but try soaking the fabric in spirits of camphor before wetting.

NEALE WILL NOT REPORT UNTIL MIDDLE OF JUNE

Has Been Granted Leave of Absence by London Club Until the 20th of That Month—Courtney, of Brantford, Awarded $9,500 Damages as Result of Automobile Accident.

[BY JINX.]

In accordance with his expressed wishes, Oskee Neale, left fielder of the London baseball club, will spend the first month or so of the coming baseball season poring over a few musty volumes in the Wesleyan College, Parkersburg, West Virginia. President Stevely, of the London Club, has notified Neale that he need not report until June 20, as he requested in his letter some weeks ago. This means that Manager Deneau will have to cast about for a good outfielder to fill the vacancy caused by Neale's absence so that the club might be able to struggle along during that time with one of the utility men filling the position.

Courtney Gets Big Sum of Money.

Lou Courtney, the Brantford shortstop, who was drafted by Portland, and will leave for the coast accompanied by Matt Hynes, the local pitcher, who was also drafted by the Portland team, has been recently awarded $9,500 damages as a result of an automobile accident in which he was the principal victim. The accident occurred about two years ago, and the case had been dragging along in the courts ever since.

Courtney is at his home in Randolph, Mass., at present, and he is keeping himself in shape by skating as much as possible. He believes he can hit .400 on the coast next year, and although he realizes that he will have to show his very best to make the team, he is confident of landing a steady job.

In a recent issue of the Ottawa Free Press, an extract of a letter Courtney wrote is printed. It deals with an incident at Brantford last year, which has nothing to do with baseball. But it is worth reading nevertheless. Here it is:

"Coose showed me a bundle of letters from Brantford. I can't coax any more I met up there to ever send me a card. I don't blame one of them, however. I took this particular one for a drive out on the river road one Sunday eve, got on the wrong road and wound up in a sand pit. I tried to turn the wheel around and he got scared and tossed me out on my ear. When I came to, the fool horse was about two miles down the road up against a fence. The girl was nearly hysterical and all things considered, it was a delightful party. When I get that 9 'thou' I'll give that girl a ride in my auto.

"Say, Coose says Tasker is thinking of quitting the game. I guess he'll be on the job when the winter is over.

"What do you think of the team's prospects for next year? They look to me like the one best bet in the league. Slemin looks to me like a find; that disposes of your outfield. Another good reliable pitcher and a shortstop, and I can see the team in front."

Behold! Here Is a Baseball Player Who Is Not a Hold-Out

Bill Baker, of South London, Signs a St. Thomas Contract Without a Murmur, and Explains He Did Not Show Much Last Season.

"Bill" Baker, the big South London lad who was a member of the twirling staff of the Brantford Canadian League team during the major part of the summer, and who, upon obtaining his release from that club, signed with the Berlin "Busy Bees" (who were not exactly a mission band) for a short time, has received a contract from the St. Thomas Club. Baker immediately signed the document, which contracted for his services at the same sum as he received last season. Bill is perfectly satisfied with the financial inducements tendered him, as he states that he did not show much while enrolled on the St. Thomas roster.

Baker, who was the most promising youngster uncovered in these parts during the last decade, was not used much in the race last year, as Amby Kane was coaching him for this year's race. The Brantford papers, with whom Baker was in wrong, kept demanding his release, until finally Kane let him go. Baker had speed to sell, but owing to the fact that Kane tried to teach him a different "wind-up" he had considerable difficulty in finding the place, which falling earned for him the cognomen "Wild Bill." His best showing was made in a 14-inning contest with Matt Hynes in Brantford, when he defeated the elongated future big leaguer by a close score.

Since the close of the Canadian League, Baker has been engaged as an attendant at the London Hospital for the insane, and his spare moments have been taken up in umpiring indoor baseball games and learning how to curl. Bill has become quite a curler, and like other famous baseball luminaries, such as "Mooney" Gibson and Bob Emslie, has become an adept at the Scottish pastime. Baker is vice-skip on Thorne's rink, which was to have taken part in the preliminary tankard games at St. Thomas this week. Judging from the strength of his arm, as displayed in the summer months, he ought to be able to curl twenty-three hours in the day without tiring.

TECUMSEH WHIST SCORES.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Tecumseh Whist Club on Thursday evening in the club rooms, Ashplant and Jones won the prize with a plus score of 14. Other plus scores were as follows: Sanders and Sears, plus 11; Grant and Duggerell, plus 10; Smith and Raymond, plus 8; Wilcox and Anders, plus 2; Southcott and Ferris, plus 1. There were six tables engaged in the game.

A. M. C. TEAM WON EASILY FROM FIRST HUSSARS

Hussars Gained Early Lead But Could Not Hold It—Game Was a Good One.

The A. M. C. shoved the First Hussars four or five runs in the first inning, and the score of 17 to 8. The game was a well-played one, and provided some interest for the large gallery of spectators.

The Hussars gained an early lead, but went to pieces in the latter stages of the game. Livingstone, pitched up in the last few innings, and until his team got off to a safe lead, the Hussars could do little with his offering. Bruce Dineen endeavored to stretch a nice three-bagger into a home run, but was nipped at the plate on a nice throw by Brodison to Ward.

A. Gatecliff and Barney Dunlevy proved capable and satisfactory umpires.

The teams were: A. M. C.—Beaton, Dineen, Taylor, Barry, Ryan, Richardson, Wallace, Ward and Livingstone.

Hussars—Flint, Roberts, Ashwell, Ward, Hill, Brodison, Perry, Simmons, Campbell and McLeod.

The score: Hussars... 8 A. M. C. 17

Batteries—McLeod and Ward; Livingstone and Taylor.

ST. MICHAELS' OUTLASTED SPEEDY VARSITY SEVEN

Fastest Game Seen in Toronto This Winter Results in Victory for St. Mike's.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—What was unquestionably the best game of hockey, amateur or professional, played in Toronto this season, was that at the Arena last night, when St. Michaels outlasted University of Toronto and beat the Blue and White by 6 to 4. There was one solid hour of thrilling, dashing, combination hockey.

A dizzy pace was set—so dizzy that both teams were very much exhausted after twenty minutes of the second period had elapsed. Those who thought that Quebec's H. A. A. team was a fast one against the Tecumsehs here a week ago were more than ready to admit that the St. Michaels-Varsity game last night was faster.

Referee—J. B. McArthur, Toronto.

Juarez Results.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 23.—Teehan landed two winners at Juarez today. The Cinders in the second and Mary Emily in the third. Favorites and second choices won everything but the last race. Summary:

First race, 6 furlongs—1, Roberto, 105; 2, Auto Girl, 104; 3, Commendation, 103. Time, 1:04 1/4.

Second race, 6 furlongs—1, The Cinders, 105; 2, Veyanoke, 113; 3, Kenneth, 105. Time, 1:13 4/5.

Third race, 1 mile—1, Mary Emily, 105; 2, Duncraggan, 110; 3, Callithumpian, 103. Time, 1:40 1/5.

Fourth race, 5 1/2 furlongs—1, Irish Gentleman, 103; 2, Florence Roberts, 102; 3, Prince of Lismore, 105. Time, 1:06 1/5.

Fifth race, 5 1/2 furlongs—1, Gemmel, 103; 2, Song of Rocks, 101; 3, Percy Henderson, 104. Time, 1:07 1/5.

Sixth race, 6 furlongs—1, Royal Dolly, 101; 2, Gellio, 103; 3, Annie McGee, 109. Time, 1:14 3/5.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES.

New York, Jan. 23.—After an exhaustive inquiry the State Athletic Commission has decided to refer the case of the recent Rivers-Cross bout at the Empire A. C. to the attorney-general's office at Albany. While no formal charges have been made, it is alleged that the management heavily oversold and crowded. The athletic commission board heard testimony from many witnesses. It was decided, however, to appeal to the attorney-general. Another meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday.

STEWART (NICK) WILSON, star right wing man of the Hyman team in the City Hockey League, "Nig" was a member of the London Junior A. H. A. team three years ago, but has since been playing with the St. Peter's Club. This year he has been one of the mainstays of the Hyman team.

Brantford Opinion

Brantford Courier: It will be some game when London meets Paris to fight it out for the group championship. The encounter should be well worth watching. The Londoners are the heavier team, but it is a question as to which has the most speed. The Parisians cannot be judged by their performance here because of the soft ice.

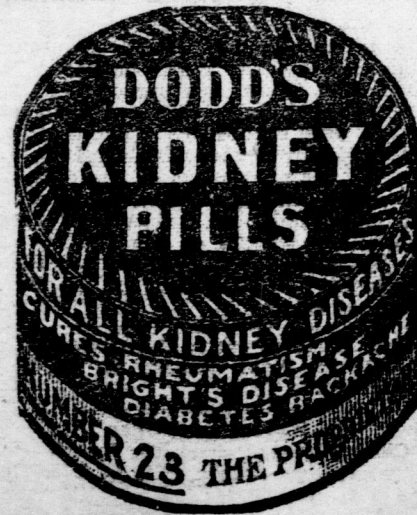

It was a clean case of being outclassed, and it was quite unexpected, in view of Brantford's close game with Paris and Paris' overwhelming defeat of Quebec, while the London-Guelph score was only 10-4. This can be explained by the fact that a stronger Guelph team met London than that which played Paris, and that when Paris was here they could not break away on account of the soft ice.

JOHNSON WILL MEET JEANNETTE IN PARIS

New York, Jan. 23.—It will be Joe Jeannette and not Al Palmer whom Jack Johnson will box in Paris on June 24, the eve of the Grand Prix, should Johnson be permitted to leave this country, according to Dan McKettrick, a prominent boxing promoter, today. McKettrick, who sails today to stage the bout between Willie Lewis and Odrian Hogan, one of the latest French middleweights, said he had a signed letter from Johnson, wherein he agreed to meet Jeannette in a 20-round bout in Paris on June 24. He exhibited the letter in which Johnson said the guarantee of $50,000, win, lose or draw, was satisfactory, and that he would be ready to sail for Paris as soon as the final arrangements had been made. McKettrick said he had been assured by authoritative sources that Johnson would be able to make the trip to Paris.

WATERLOO WON ANOTHER.

Waterloo, Ont., Jan. 23.—The Waterloo Junior O. H. A. team recorded their second victory tonight, when they defeated New Hamburg by 4 to 2. Today's steady downpour of rain put the ice in rather soft condition, but a good, keen game was witnessed. Clayton, Waterloo's centre, put up a line game. The teams: Waterloo: Goal, Mickus; point, Weseloh; cover, Glas; rover, H. Devitt; centre, Clayton; right, M. Devitt; left, Wendal. New Hamburg: Goal, Schmidt; point, Wauk; cover, Ritz; rover, Baker; centre, Bowman; right, Bruder; left, Ritz. Referee—Harvey Sproule, Toronto.

WINGHAM SKIP WINS AGAIN AT ST. PAUL

Only Two Ontario Curlers Were Successful in Ten o'Clock Draw Yesterday at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 23.—McFvor, Port Arthur and Crawford, Wingham, were the only successful Ontario curlers in the 10 o'clock draw last night and the 8 o'clock draw this morning at the big bonspiel. Following the results of the Ontario rink:

Minneapolis event, 8 a.m. draw, Wednesday: Crawford, Wingham, 14; Hunter, Minneapolis, 19.

Patrick event, 8 a.m. draw, Thursday: Holland, Duluth, 11; Tovell, St. Marys, 6.

11 a.m. draw, Duluth event, the Ontario curlers' scores were: Seaford, Rockwood, skip, 15; Ament, skip, 9.

The Minneapolis event: Wingham, skip, 12; White, skip, 9.

GUNBOAT SMITH WON.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 23.—"Gunboat" Smith defeated Al McClusky, of New York, last night in a heavyweight battle that had been scheduled to go ten rounds. Police stopped the fight in the third round when McClusky virtually was out.

MURPHY WANTS TO TRADE PLAYERS WITH HUGGINS

Is After Kenechey and Sallee, of the Cardinals.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 23.—President Charles W. Murphy, of the Chicago National League Club, arrived here last night, and announced that he came to see Miller Huggins, manager of the St. Louis Nationals, and endeavor to obtain by trade or sale both First Baseman Kenechey and Pitcher Sallee, of St. Louis. Manager Huggins said he might meet Murphy, but that neither of his players were for sale or trade under any conditions. Murphy said that his trading material consisted of Philan, Sheppard, Sallee and Cheney as well as cash.

CASSELMAN'S Clearaway Shoe Sale

HALF OFF! QUARTER OFF!

The latest loose leaf in our business encyclopaedia is that at least once in a season there must be a housecleaning in order that our stock shall be always up to the minute. Customers who know this store will realize and appreciate the meaning of reductions such as above heading indicates, and when you consider that an advance of from 10 to 20 per cent has been only recently announced by all manufacturers, the amount you save on each purchase during this sale is really more than half or quarter off.

Big Bargains For Little Feet

All broken lines and odds and ends have been classified and sized up, and we find the greater proportion in many are in the smaller sizes, and some of our very best styles in the world will be found at half-price. All regular sizes, too, will be found, but bigger variety in the smaller. All must be cleared before stock-taking next month in order to make room for new spring stocks.

Four No-Hit Games in 2464---These Men Pitched 'Em

MULLEN

When a major league playing season ends, the eight clubs comprising the league have played 1232 games, theoretically—sometimes they forget to play a game or two at the far end when the games make no difference in the standing of the clubs involved.

Thus, the two major league organizations play each year 2464 games. Each team plays 154 games, half at home, and half on the road.

And out of this number of exhibitions of the national sport in the major organizations, in 1912, but four were "no hit" contests—only four pitchers defeated their opponents without giving a hit.

Of the quartet one was a veteran of 11 years, two were recruits and the fourth had been playing big time just about long enough for the pin feathers to begin sprouting.

Three of the "no hit" games were played in the American league and one in the older organization.

The veteran pitcher was George Mullen, who, for the first time since he joined Detroit, pitched a no hit game, July 4, against St. Louis. Six men reached first, five walking and one on an error. Detroit won, 7-0.

On August 20 Carl Cashion, of the Washington club, pitched a six-inning

Earl Hamilton, the sensational young left-hander of the St. Louis Browns, held Detroit hitless, his team winning 5-1.

Jeff Tesreau pitched the only no-hit game in the National, against that slugging crew, the Phillies, September 6, the Giants winning 3-0.

M'LEAN, OF REDS, SIGNS WITH ST. LOUIS CARDS

Nothing Doing in the Way of Trades With Cubs, However.

[Canadian Press.]

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 24. — John (Larry) McLean, the erstwhile Cincinnati catcher, signed a contract here yesterday with the St. Louis National League team for next season.

Manager Miller Huggins, of the St. Louis Nationals, held a conference with President Charles W. Murphy, of the Chicago Nationals, but announced at its conclusion that there was nothing doing in the way of trades. "I have said before and reiterate, that neither Saleor Konestchy are for sale. Murphy wanted these two men," said Huggins.

Knight Engine Overshadows All Others

According to the December issue of the Automobile, the success of the Knight engine has not been confined to the past. Each season new firms have taken up the manufacture of it. While those firms who have been fortunate enough to possess the Knight motor license, increase the models in which this type of motor is used.

Panhard & Levasor, who hold manufacturing rights for France, now build only two models with the poppet valve. In all other models they use the Knight type motor.

Many new firms, such as Moirs, Greig and Clement Bayard, have secured licenses for the Knight motor. Moirs is bringing out four Knight motors. Greig, although having only one model at the present time, intends to bring out a 6-cylinder Knight.

The entire output of the Minerva factory consists of Knight Motors. This Belgium firm builds and markets four distinct types, at the same time building power plants for several other continental firms.

Non-poppet valve systems, other than the Knight, seem to be taken up very slowly. Many firms have purchased non-poppet valve patents and, after testing them out, have abandoned them.

The situation looks exceedingly favorable for the Knight motor. The increasing number of firms taking up the manufacture of this motor seems to justify the soundness of the judgment of those whose early faith in the Knight motor have made such results possible.

DOINGS IN CITY HOCKEY CIRCLES

King Street and New St. James will meet in the Presbyterian League between 7 and 8 o'clock tonight at the Simcoe street rink in the first of the United Church League games while Memorial and St. James will meet in the second contest. In the third game, Dundas Centre and Hill Street will play, and St. Pauls and All Saints will meet in the last game of the evening.

The Advertiser trophy, donated to the London City Hockey League, has arrived, and will be placed on exhibition in Thomas Gillean's window on Saturday. It is a beauty and will be exceedingly worth winning.

The London Juniors journey to Woodstock this evening, and will meet the juniors of that town. The Woodstock team is a fast one, and the local team will be strengthened considerably for the trip.

That much-arranged game between the First Hussars and the Junior, H. A. septette may be pulled off at the Princess Rink Saturday night between 6:15 and 7:15 o'clock. At least, Secretary Vining thinks it will.

The Manufacturers' League benefit games will be played this evening. They were called off last night, and postponed until tonight. Manager Lancaster promises a good sheet of ice at the Westminster Rink, and the games should prove interesting.

Rumor has it that Hagerman, the star Orient Club player of the City League, had a rib broken as a result of a fall he sustained in the Hyman-Orient game on Wednesday night.

Pete McLean, of the First Hussars, had a couple of teeth loosened Wednesday night in the Hussars-Meds. game. The accident was caused by an unintentional blow from Hill's stick.

Harold McPhillips, of the First Hussars team, takes an occasional trip to St. Marys, and while there never fails to get on his skates and play a practice hockey game with one of the St. Marys teams. He is regarded as some hockey player in that section as well as around here.

Arthur, Morrison, Thorne and Crowley, of the Hyman City League team, are all members of the Empire Brass team in the Manufacturers' League.

The church leagues will resume operations at the Simcoe street rink this evening, after nearly a week and a half of rest owing to the thaw of the past couple of weeks.

AMUSEMENTS

"Way Down East."

For the 18th consecutive season, and making its annual visit, "Way Down East" comes to the Grand on Wednesday evening. The visits of this delightful play of New England life are always hailed with delight by lovers of what is pure and sweet in the drama. "Way Down East" is a play of yesterday, today, and always. It has human nature and a pleasant fragrance, and is refreshing in its very homeliness. There is no play on the American stage today that has as firm a hold on the heartstrings of local amusement seekers than this offering from the pen of Lotie Blair Parker, and year after year it goes through the country winning new admirers and retaining the

JOHNNIE KILBANE.

At last Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, threatens to come out of the retirement he has been in since he defeated Abe Attell and became boss of the 122-pounders.

Kilbane hasn't done much since he won the title. His hardest work has been to step through some short-distance bouts with boys who were not dangerous. Of late challenges have poured in upon the champ and he has accepted the most persistent and dangerous, Charlie White, of Chicago. White isn't a real featherweight. He is a small light-weight, finding it difficult to scale lower than 125

ringside and the best he would make for Kilbane was 126 several hours before the scrap.

White is in training for his match with the Cleveland boxer, which he says is set for Feb. 7, at Omaha. The agreement calls for eight two-minute rounds with big gloves, clean breaks and no hitting in the clinches—a nice exhibition, guaranteed not to shock bachelor girls. White and Kilbane could box indefinitely under such terms without doing any damage. They are both wonderfully clever, and when two clever men meet with a clean break and no-hitting-in-the-clinches agreement, the bout is slow and uninteresting—but the fighters don't care.

who still wore the kilt, was asked by a modernized fellow-clansman: "Sandy, are ye no' could w' the kilt?" "Na, na," replied the loyal Sandy, "but I'm near kilt wi' the cauld."

because they get the money. It is the public that gets the bunk, by paying to see a couple of wise guys in a shadow boxing exhibition.

This bout is merely a bung-starter for a later one in California, providing both boys are satisfied with the outcome. If each thinks he can defeat the other in a real fight over a longer distance, it is easy to see them signing for 20 rounds at Uncle Tom McCarey's club.

Kilbane is supposed to be camping on Ad Wolgast's trail also. He has announced his willingness to take on Wolgast over the long route, providing Ad will make 125 pounds, which is not difficult for the 63-lightweight champion.

Which Way Do You Buy Sugar?

Mr. J. Hurlbert,

is so easy to overlook the warning given by headaches, indigestion, memory, lack of power to concentrate the mind, irritability and nervousness. Many a man does not realize his danger until the verge of breakdown. I like the writer of the letter quoted above to refer to the following process and restore vitality and energy to the nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This food cure has a wonderful record.

J. Hurlbert, 28 James street, Toronto, Ont., writes:—"I was much run down in health and experienced my nervous system very much weakened. I was impatient at my condition. I think, brought me trouble. I started using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by the time I used one or two boxes, I felt improvement. The continued use of preparation has thoroughly revived my system so that I feel strong and vigorous and fit for any amount of work. I am now using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Amnion with splendid satisfaction, and recommend them at every opportunity. I am, Sir, your obedient servant. J. Not Ice Yet.

Avoiding ice these days is a difficult task. The cold night will produce a fairly good skate at the arena, but one night's skating and you will do more damage than can be repaired for several days. For instance, the first-class ice Tuesday night before the men were in session. It was cut down to ice next, and Wednesday night there was no skating, the idea being to get a substantial bottom. But the weather got into one of those moods during which it caused general lamentation against the skaters and hockeyists. The best season for rink rangers and skaters was when it commenced to let. But this supply is much alarmed.

This system, which has the same wonderful impression over the world, must be the Marmola Prescription diet method of reducing fat. It is so simple that we are acquiring better results in this country. Any excess that will reduce the excess flesh in one's body without injury to the stomach, the causing of indigestion, or exercising or dieting, or interfering with one's meals is a mighty improvement to civilization and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results however, follow the use of these Marmola Tablets and economical little reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous prescription) can be obtained of any druggist or the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., for seventy-five cents the case, which is a decidedly economical

REV. J. G. INKSTER GUEST OF HONOR

Canadian Club of London Tendered Him a Dinner at Tecumseh House.

WARM WORDS OF PRAISE As a Minister, as a School Trustee, as a Baconian and a Friend, He Will Be Missed in London.

Rev. J. Gibson Inkster was the guest of the Canadian Club last evening at a complimentary banquet tendered in his honor at the Tecumseh House. The attendance was very large, many prominent citizens being present. Mr. James Vining, president of the club, occupied the chair.

Mr. C. G. Jarvis spoke of Mr. Inkster as a Baconian, as a lover of sport, as a minister and as a man. To the members of the Canadian Club, his loss would be felt. His influence on amateur sport in London was for its betterment. As a minister he had rendered distinguished service to the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, and had made his influence felt a great deal further. As a man he had left his impress on his fellows.

Rev. H. H. Bingham, as representative of the Ministerial Association, dealt with Mr. Inkster's work as a minister. The members of the association parted with him most regretfully. Mr. Inkster had thrown himself with enthusiasm into the work of the association, and had accomplished much.

Mr. John M. Gunn regretted Mr. Inkster's departure very much. He had been a useful citizen, showing the keenest interest in everything that would tend to the betterment of the city. As a member of the Canadian Club, he had done much to increase the sphere of its influence.

"We are losing four men," declared Mr. Gunn. "The Canadian and Baconian Clubs are losing a most valued member. The First Presbyterian Church is losing a splendid preacher. The board of education is losing a wise counselor, and we are all losing a very dear friend."

Mr. Inkster spoke more particularly of Mr. Inkster's efforts in the field of education, and regretted that he did not remain in London to carry out some of the many progressive schemes he had in mind.

Sincere Friends. Mr. Inkster was given a most cordial greeting on rising. He thanked the members of the club for their all too kind expressions of good will. He appreciated the kindness and while the statements regarding his worth were extravagant, he appreciated to the full the fact that his friends were sincere in their friendliness towards him.

Mr. Inkster's efforts in the field of education, and regretted that he did not remain in London to carry out some of the many progressive schemes he had in mind.

London's Moral Condition. The moral conditions of the city had been of improvement in certain lines, but he was of the opinion that conditions had become better, and there was a growing desire among the citizens to protect the young and weak from the many pitfalls that beset their paths. A strong moral sense was absolutely necessary to good citizenship.

As a member of the board of education, he had stood for improvement in the city. It was his desire that all new schools should be of such architectural beauty that the child from the hovel and the sordid home would be attracted to the school. He had endeavored to have efficiency in every way, and progress had been his aim. The work on the board had been most helpful to him in every way.

A Field For the Reformer. Mr. Inkster made a strong plea for amateur sport. It was a field for the reformer, and for the men who had an interest in the well-being of the country. Infinite possibilities for good were to be found there, and to any person who had the time and the capacity for sport, there was a field of great opportunity. For his part, he had endeavored to improve the quality of sport, and make it clean and wholesome.

In conclusion, he thanked the club for its kindness. His kind wishes for the citizens of London had been very pleasant, and he parted from them with regret.

Mr. F. W. C. McCutcheon expressed the best wishes of the club to Mr. Inkster.

HIS SUIT REJECTED HE HANGS HIMSELF

[Canadian Press.] Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 24.—In a fit of despondency over a love affair, Reginald Humiston hanged himself in the barn of Robert Thomas, a farmer, at Vanschoy, near here. The young man is said to have been rejected by a lady at Hamilton, Ont., where he formerly lived. He had been in Vanschoy about a year.

ENGLAND'S VERDICT ANXIOUSLY AWAITED

Secretary Knox's Reply to the British Panama Canal Protest Received in London.

A DECISION SHORTLY

Taft Hopes To Be Able to Finish the Matter Before He Retires.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Jan. 24.—An Associated Press dispatch from Washington says: Secretary Knox's reply to the British protest against the exemption of American coastwise shipping from tolls in the Panama Canal having been received in London, it is incumbent upon the British foreign office to come to a decision at once as to the course to be pursued in the continuance of the negotiations; to determine whether the effort shall be continued to adjust the supposed differences between the two sides by further exchanges or to accept Secretary Knox's offer to exchange ratifications of the Knox-Bryce general arbitration treaty as amended by the Senate and refer to a special commission the task of finding the actual facts as a basis for possible arbitration.

Awaited With Interest. Officials here are awaiting this decision with great interest, because upon it will depend the probability of President Taft reaching a satisfactory settlement of the question before he leaves office.

If the British Government should decide to regard as satisfactory the American statement that its apprehensions for the future treatment of British shipping in the canal are groundless, and will so express itself, the incident will be closed at least for the time being, or until some subsequent Congress might endeavor to act in a way as to warrant the charge of discrimination against foreign shipping.

Secretary Knox, in his note, expressly invited the British Government to examine the facts cited by him as a basis for his statement that through Professor Johnson's inclusion of American coastwise shipping in his calculations upon which the tolls are fixed, the British objection that an unjust burden was to be fastened upon British shipping. It should not require much time to confirm that statement, as it is known that Professor Johnson's report is already in the possession of the British foreign office, so that the way is clear to a speedy understanding.

Special Commission.

If Sir Edward Grey prefers to immediately exchange ratifications of the pending arbitration treaty, President Taft is ready to almost immediately appoint the three American members of the special commission provided under its terms to ascertain and report upon the facts. The United States Senate cannot intervene at this stage in the pending action on the part of the President, and while it is true that the special commission would have no power to force arbitration of the question of canal tolls, it is probable that the recommendation of such a tribunal, required by the terms of the treaty to be supported by no less than five of the six members, would carry such weight that it might be difficult to resist the acceptance of its plan.

CORRESPONDENCE

Dr. Campbell's Dismissal. To the Editor of The Advertiser: I notice in your issue of last evening that some members of a benevolent society with which I am connected, have been suggesting that my dismissal from office should be taken up by their executive. I am deeply grateful for the sympathy they show, but I am sure that, on second thought, they will agree with me that it would not be expedient for an organization like ours to enter into a body into a dispute with any Government over the personal affairs of a member. Yours, etc.

BIG NEW YORK PAPERS CONDEMN CANAL REPLY

Do Not Believe That It Will Be Acceptable to Majority of American People.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Jan. 24.—Commenting on Secretary Knox's reply to the British protest on the Panama Canal tolls the Tribune says:

"The fact is, however, that this forcible presentation of the case fails to be convincing to the whole of American nation. It is probably not convincing to more than a small minority. Unmistakingly conceding the transparent sincerity of the President's motives and representations, most Americans fail to agree with him."

"If this country were a unit in support of the policy of last year's law it might still feel it wise to pause before a serious challenge. But since it is widely divided, and since its foremost diplomatic and legal authorities take diametrically opposite views, there seems to be no course compatible with reason and honor, but to recede from the ground which more than half of our people believe we have no right to take at least until our rights in the matter are indisputably ascertained."

Not Reply at All.

"Secretary Knox's reply to the British protest against the Panama Canal act, under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, is no reply at all. It is merely a sharp lawyer's plea in avoidance."

"It avoids the issue of indirect or canal toll subsidies to coastwise shipping, as violative of the treaty, by asserting our undoubted right to subsidize that monopoly directly. It avoids the issue of arbitration by suggesting a special commission, which would have no arbitral power effect."

"But there remains for Congress an issue which has not been avoided. Shall shipping already possessed of monopoly be subsidized even for treaty-breaking purposes? It is too violent a proposition for the Republican secretary of war. Can it be less so with Democrats in Congress?"

The other morning papers make no comment.

SOUTHWOLD PIONEER

Epaphras H. Berdan's Rather Received Farm Early in 1813.

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Thomas, Jan. 24.—The funeral of Epaphras H. Berdan, held this afternoon from his late residence at Payne's Siding to St. Thomas Cemetery, was largely attended. Deceased was born in the same house in which he died, and the land comprising the farm was received from the crown by deceased's father, the late Jacob Berdan, in 1813.

He leaves one daughter and two sons—Mrs. Frank T. Abbott, of Glenora, and William, and George, at home. One sister, Mrs. Adeline Badger, of Byron, Mich., also survives with the following nieces and nephews: Miss Alice Gert-rude Berdan and Clarence C. Berdan of Payne's Mills; Martin I. Glen C. and Stanley C. Abbott, of Glenora.

CHURCH CENSUS FIGURES WILL BE GIVEN OUT TUESDAY NEXT

Boarding House Statistics Present the Chief Difficulty.

The statistics for the church census will not be ready until Tuesday. The Ministerial Alliance, who have undertaken the work of canvassing the entire city, have a big task ahead of them and they find it impossible to have complete returns compiled before the above date.

The chief difficulty that the canvassers are experiencing is with the boarding-house problem. They state that many of the boarders are at work when they call, and it is impossible to meet them unless they visit the house twice.

However, they are meeting with success, and many have finished the districts assigned to them.

All report having discovered several families who have no church connection whatever, while there are others who do not attend for various reasons. It is confidently expected that the membership of all the churches will be materially increased as a result of the canvass. The returns are in the hands of Rev. F. G. Doherty, secretary of the census committee.

KNOX'S CANAL REPLY NOT SATISFACTORY

Leaves Door Open to Endless Bickerings, Declare London Evening Newspapers

[Canadian Press.] London, Jan. 24.—Secretary of State Knox's reply to Sir Edward Grey on the question of Panama is found unsatisfactory by those evening newspapers which comment on it.

The Westminster Gazette, generally looked upon as the mouthpiece of the Government, says that the reply does not bolt the door, but it can scarcely be said to be satisfactory. The suggestion that at any time it is thought British shipping is shown injustice, the United States is prepared to submit the facts to a court of inquiry, says the newspaper, leaves the door open to a long series of bickerings which would do much to undermine the good relations of the two countries.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Coming from any other country than the United States, the tone of Secretary Knox's reply would be deeply resented in this country," and concludes: "Unless international law overrides municipal law, when treaty rights clash with it, international law has no existence and peaceful intercourse between states becomes impossible."

LIFEBOATS FOR ALL

British Seagoing Ships to Carry Sufficient Apparatus for All.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Jan. 24.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: Board of trade regulations issued today to become operative on March 1, provide that British sea-going ships shall carry lifeboats and life-saving apparatus for all on board. Steamships carrying passengers on short excursions between April 1 and Oct. 31 during daytime and fine weather must be supplied with boats for 70 per cent. of the total number of persons they are certified to carry.

Passenger steamers on rivers, estuaries or lakes, must have boats, life-rafts, etc., sufficient for 40 per cent. of the number of passengers, for which the ship is certified.

GUSTAV LUDERS DEAD

Composer of "Burgomaster," "Prince of Pilsen," and "The Fair Co-Ed."

[Canadian Press.] New York, Jan. 24.—Gustav Carl Luders, one of the best-known composers of comic opera and musical comedy in America, died suddenly of apoplexy shortly after midnight this morning, while calling on friends. His widow and a daughter survive him.

Mr. Luders was 45 years old. Among his popular successes were "The Burgomaster," "The Prince of Pilsen," and "The Fair Co-Ed."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PRICES EASIER TODAY

Offerings Were Larger on the London Market.

Hay and oats were the only farm products sold on the market today, and as the quantity offered was somewhat larger than that of any other day this week the prices were slightly easier.

Hay, of which there were some 25 or 30 loads, was quoted from $12 to $14 per ton, with the majority of the sales being made at $13 and $13.25 per ton. The demand during the past two weeks has been fairly brisk, but not until today was the demand satisfied by the number of loads offered.

TODAY IS THE NEWS OF THE

GRAFTON & CO.'S DIAMOND JUBILEE SALE

MEN'S and BOYS' CLOTHING and FURNISHINGS

1853 WHICH IS NOW ON AND BREAKING ALL RECORDS 1913

Our wonderful business—indisputably the greatest in Canada—didn't come by chance. It wasn't built up on exaggerated statements or false promises. It grew and grew and still continues to grow, because we've made good every day of the 60 years of its existence.

When we tell you that you can come here and get more for your money than you can get anywhere else, you can believe it, and, because thousands of Canadian men do believe it and know they can believe it, our clothing business has grown beyond the reach of rivalry or competition.

And the reason is clear and simple. We manufacture all the clothing we sell, and when you buy from us, you therefore buy directly of the makers, and save the middleman's profit. Consequently, our prices are fully one-quarter to one-third below the prices of other stores.

Now, in addition to this original saving of 25 to 33 1-3 per cent, we've reduced still further nearly all our lines of Men's and Boys' Suits, Overcoats, Trousers and Furnishings. Your saving during this great Half-Yearly Sale will be fully one-half.

Even if you don't need clothing for immediate use, it will pay you to buy, under these conditions, for next fall and winter. It's a money-saving opportunity that no economical man can afford to disregard.

CLEANS THE HAIR AND MAKES IT BEAUTIFUL--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

In a Few Moments Your Hair Looks Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant—No Falling Hair or Dandruff.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies, and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong, and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

"Ah, this is what I've been looking for, for years"

Old people are delighted with Oxo Cubes—delighted with their handiness—goodness—convenience—cheapness. None of the old-fashioned inconvenience of sticky bottles and jars—none of the bother and delay of home-made beef-tea—Oxo Cubes have done away with all that.

Simply a Cube—a cup—hot water—and a cupful of hot steaming delicious Oxo is ready in one minute. No fear of putting in too much or too little—each Cube is accurately measured—deliciously flavoured—and perfect in quality, strength and goodness.

A splendid "nightcap" is an Oxo Cube in a glass of hot milk. Oxo removes digests. Note the strength that Oxo gives is lost in the process of assimilation. That's why doctors recommend it for children, invalids and the aged.

CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, HEADACHY, LIVER TORPID?—CASCARETS SURE

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight with Cascarets. Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets sweeten and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box from any drug store will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bully and cheerful for months. Don't forget the children.

10 Cents. Never gripe or sicken.

ROWELL INVADERS HOSTILE RIDING

A Great Crowd at Berlin Hears and Cheers the Liberal Leader.

SCORING FOR WHITNEY

In Powerful Address Government is Criticised For Delaying Compensation and Tax Reforms.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—N. W. Rowell, leader of the Opposition, invaded a hostile constituency tonight. To show that people in these parts had fully awakened to tax reform and other matters over 800 turned out to hear the Opposition leader expound the Liberal doctrine, and crowds were barred owing to the smallness of the hall. It was one of the largest rallies in Berlin.

Sir James Whitney and the Government, more particularly the Premier, were scored on several points. Mr. Rowell tackled the workmen's compensation act, and criticised the Government for its dilatory methods in handling such an important question. He touched upon tax reform, and told of the necessity of a revision of the assessment act, which would lift the burden of taxation from the shoulders of progressive citizens and make the unprogressive pay their share to the state. He wound up with a powerful plea for the abolition of the bar, and on the conclusion of his oration received an ovation.

Social Problems. Social problems had not received sufficient attention from the Ontario Government, he said, in referring to workmen's compensation.

W. H. Proudfoot, M. L. A., had introduced a bill in 1910 covering this question, which the Government had put out of commission, and as a result widows and orphans had suffered misery. At the present time 45 per cent. of the accidents were not traceable to negligence on either side. They were pure accidents, but no compensation was allowed. This was an unjust system. It took the progressive Government five years to even get someone to look into this question," he said. "If that is the kind of a Government you like, vote for it until the Premier is as old as Methuselah. We have a Government which has not felt the touch of the modern movement which is working for the uplift of the masses. It can't be explained in any other way. Surely it is not pure caseness. Despite the procrastination with this much-needed legislation if they introduce a bill at the coming session which is adequate, they will have our hearty support. If they do not we will introduce one, and will force the Government members to place themselves on record. It cannot be too radical to suit us, because it will be beneficial to the working men, the masses. He said workmen should not have to contribute. Liberals were opposed to this. Even poor, unprogressive Spain and Russia were ten years ahead of Ontario under Sir James Whitney.

Tax Reform. Mr. Rowell used his usual argument for tax reform. The Government should lessen the burden of taxation on products of labor and place it on land. A man who improved his property was helping the community, and therefore the brunt of the taxation should not be borne by him because of his industry. Another man who owns vacant property, which increased its value because of surrounding influence should have to pay his share, which he did not do under existing conditions. Under the present law a progressive manufacturer was penalized while an unprogressive one was benefited. For 20 years organized labor had been seeking a change in the assessment law, and today all classes agreed to a change, but Sir James did not heed the demand.

Assessment Changes. Then the speaker referred to the work of the assessment committee a few weeks ago, when Sir James was not sufficiently interested to even listen to the evidence of experts from all parts of the province, but at the last minute said there was no demand for a change and threw the bill out.

The Government was not awake to the need of different and better social conditions. He then launched out against the liquor traffic and read statistics showing that intemperance was the greatest modern curse. He said that the fight against liquor should go hand-in-hand with the fight against tuberculosis. He scored the Government proposal to cut out treating. To close the bar was the only solution. He supported local option and stated that the bar, judged by its fruits, was a hindrance and not a help. Local option was the first step to kill the traffic.

Dr. J. A. McQueen, M. L. A. for North West, scored the Government for not grasping the problem of preventing tuberculosis. He told of J. P. Downey, ex-M. L. A., introducing four bills on the subject in the Legislature, but they were all killed by Sir James Whitney, who did not think that the question demanded attention. The speaker said that this disease killed more than the ravages of war, yet the Government hesitated to take the necessary steps. "But we will make them move," said the doctor. "Sir James may be hard to convert, but when you get him on the run he runs fast."

Best Day's Work. The best day's work the Liberal party ever did was to select Mr. Rowell as leader," said W. H. Proudfoot, M. L. A. for Centre Huron, and he prophesied a surprise for Sir James at the next election. After telling the audience of the strong grip the Liberals were securing in Ontario, the speaker launched on a plea for an adequate workmen's compensation act. The time had come when workmen when injured should get compensation without going to the courts. The attention of such a large crowd was indicative of the growing interest in vital public questions taken by the people of Berlin and Waterloo, said Mayor Euler in welcoming the Liberal leader. He commended Mr. Rowell for educating the people when no actual election was in sight. Tax reform was a question of vital interest in these parts, and he believed that the majority of the people looked for a revision of the assessment act. There were 120 industries in Berlin, which was an indication of the need of an adequate workmen's compensation act.

Dr. J. F. Honsberger, president of the North-West Liberal Association, acted as chairman.

LONG'S SPEECHES GRATUITOUS INSULT

Unionist Interference in Canada's Affairs Criticized by Opposition Speaker.

WEST INDIAN AGREEMENT

Hon. Dr. Pugsley and Hon. F. Oliver Urge Lessening of Tariff Taxation.

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—A bill confirming the reciprocity arrangement between Canada and the British West Indies occupied the attention of the House during the entire session today.

Treaty Not Followed. In committee, Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Hon. Geo. Graham, and others objected that the bill differed from the treaty, because it limited the preferential duties to goods imported direct from a British country to Canada. The word "direct," they insisted, meant shipment from a British Indian port to a Canadian port, while the treaty contained no such limitation. Mr. Foster held that goods shipped in bond through the United States to Canada would be considered as coming direct.

May Sue Roblin. Before the orders of the day, Mr. McNutt, Liberal member for Saltcoats, complained of the statements recently made in the Manitoba Legislature by Sir R. P. Roblin, charging Mr. McNutt and Hon. Frank Oliver with crookedness in the Macdonald by-election. Mr. McNutt said the charge, coming from the premier of a province, was a grave one, and he would welcome an investigation by the House. He went on to say that if Sir Rodmond Roblin repeated his statements outside the Legislature he would bring an action against him for libel.

Replying to an inquiry, Hon. Dr. Rocher, minister of the interior, stated that the South African veteran land scrip would be extended for an additional six months.

Hon. George E. Foster, in moving the second reading of his bill to bring into effect the reciprocity treaty between Canada and the British West Indies, said that he would not detain the House with any statement. The bill had been fully explained on the reading, and the provisions of the treaty were well known to the public.

An Unexpected Bomb. A. K. McLean, Liberal member for Halifax, complained of a statement made by Mr. Foster in London last summer to the effect that no reciprocity agreement would have been made with the British West Indies had the Liberals won the last Dominion election. He pointed out that the reciprocity agreement was along the lines suggested by the royal commission of which Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. William Paterson were members.

He was becoming weary, he said, of the oft-repeated charge that reciprocity with the United States meant disaster to the Empire. This charge was being made by members of the Unionist party in Britain and by missionaries they sent out to Canada. He said the speeches made by Right Hon. Walter Long in this country constituted a gratuitous insult to the people of Canada, and were on a par with the "muddling and vacuous utterances" constantly proceeding from the English tariff reformers.

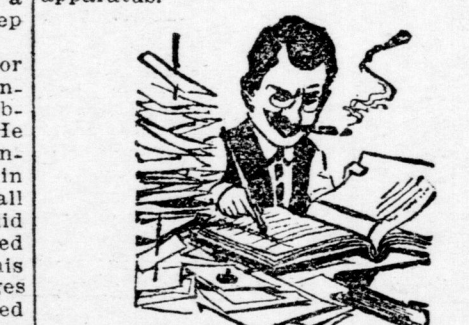

These remarks created a stir, as it so happened that Captain Long, A. D. C., of Government House, brother of Right Hon. Walter Long, and the young son of the latter, were in the Speaker's gallery at the time. Mr. McLean created a stir, as it so happened that Captain Long, A. D. Get Rid of All Indigestion

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do its Work?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

A Day's Work is So Much Play to the Man With a Stomach Kept Right With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and their composition has been approved by the highest authorities. There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is known among physicians, as the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water-brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box and are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

When I Studied Flour

LIKE many other women, some of the things I have used most I have known least about. Flour is one of them.

When I studied flour, I was surprised to learn that only about 72% of a grain of wheat is fit to go into flour; and only about 40% goes into Rainbow Flour, which is the very best flour made.

That is why it pays to remember the name of the most carefully made flour and insist on having it.

I heartily recommend Rainbow as being all that a good flour should be.

The great difficulty of the miller is to separate perfectly the waste particles from those that belong to good flour.

If he is too zealous he takes away much of the good gluten without which flour will not raise properly. If he is careless he is not particular about leaving in some part of the five skins, the germ and the "crease dirt," and the fibre. His make of flour would be impure, bad in color and poor in keeping qualities.

It is only the expert miller who can make perfect flour.

Mr. Foster was a poor commercial agent for Canada. The minister was circumnavigating the globe for the sake of getting better trade relations with Australia and New Zealand and the British West Indies, but was ignoring the United States. Our total trade with the British countries above-named was $60,000,000 and our trade with the United States $450,000,000. It seemed to him that Mr. Foster was acting in a manner so frivolous as to make Nero fiddling at the burning of Rome appear to be a serious-minded person. Many western farmers were holding large quantities of oats because they could not be sold for more than 16 or 18 cents a bushel.

Hon. T. White said it was useless to discuss reciprocity, because it was a dead issue in this country. The people had decided against it and there was now no popular demand for it except in a few districts. If another election

House adopted. He added that the Government had no present intention of decreasing the taxation in Canada. On the contrary, it put economic times and limejuice on the dutiable list in order to give a preference to the West Indies.

Mr. Foster said in reply that Trinidad would not have entered into the agreement at all unless some preference was given on cocoa.

NAZIM PASHA, TURK WAR CHIEF, ASSASSINATED CABINET RESIGNS YOUNG TURKS IN SADDLE

Successful Revolutionary Camp Follows Public Demand for War.

New Minister Will Refuse to Surrender Adrianople to the Allies.

Constantinople, Jan. 23.—Nazim Pasha, former minister of war and commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces in the recent war with the Balkan allies, was shot in the streets here tonight during disorders in the city.

Nazim Pasha stated before the grand council yesterday that he would like to continue the war, provided he had the funds to do so. As the powers refused to provide any money in case of the war being continued, he yielded to the suggestion of the other members of the council and advised the surrender of Adrianople.

Nazim Pasha has been criticised somewhat severely for his conduct of the operations at Lule Burgas, especially by the Young Turks' army officers.

Populace Demands War. The crisis came with dramatic suddenness. The Grand Vizier, Kiamil Pasha, and the Ottoman cabinet resigned, and Mahmoud Shekfat Pasha, formerly minister of war and commander of the constitutional army, which enthroned Mehmed V as sultan, was appointed grand vizier.

Yesterday the grand council, representing the intellect and wealth of the nation, pronounced in favor of peace almost at any price. Today a vast crowd, drawn from all classes of the proletariat, declared for war rather than peace without Adrianople. And because the crowd was backed by general public opinion, the Government surrendered and relinquished office, making way for the same men whom the popular movement brought to the top after the revolutions of 1908 and 1909.

The resignation of the cabinet was announced in the following official statement:

"The decision of Kiamil Pasha's cabinet, taken in response to the note handed to the Turkish Government by the European powers, to abandon the fortress of Adrianople and part of the islands in the Aegean Sea, and the convocation of an extraordinary assembly of the Grand Council of the Ottoman Empire, to which the cabinet's decision was submitted—a course contrary to the prescriptions of the constitutional charter and violating the sacred rights of the people—roused the indignation of the Turkish nation, with the result that the people made a demonstration before the Sublime Porte and brought about the resignation of the Government."

Blodless Revolution.

The council of ministers met shortly before noon to give final shape to the note according to the proposals of the powers. About 2 o'clock people from all quarters began to gather in front of the gate to the grand vizierate. Enver Bey, one of the leaders of the Young Turks, who was identified with the campaign in Tripoli, and Nadje Bey, a prominent Unionist, arrived about this time, and were reported to inform the cabinet that it must retire.

Enver Bey soon issued from the vizierate and announced that he held the resignation of Kiamil Pasha, which he was taking to the palace. This was greeted with tremendous cheering, which was frantically renewed an hour and a half later when he returned with an aide appointing Mahmoud Shekfat Pasha Grand Vizier.

While awaiting the return of Enver Bey, the enthusiasm of the crowd was kept at a fever pitch by addresses and the waving of banners. After a flying visit to the Porte, on his return from the palace, the Young Turk leader proceeded to the residence of Mahmoud Shekfat to communicate the imperial message.

Movement Not Planned.

In the meantime Talat Bey assumed provisionally the portfolio of the ministry of the interior, and Izzet Pasha that of war. In an interview Talat Bey said that the movement had not been planned, but was the outcome of popular feeling owing to the attitude of the Government with regard to Adrianople. He said, "The cabinet was abandoned, he said, disturbances would break out over the length and breadth of the empire. With regard to money, the whole nation would make a sacrifice."

"No compromise was possible," he continued, "the change in the cabinet means that we are going to save the national honor or perish in the attempt."

"We do not want a continuation of the war, but we are determined to keep the fortress of Adrianople at all costs. That is an indispensable condition of peace."

Kiamil Pasha and the other members of the cabinet remain in their residences under guard.

A proclamation, nominating Mahmoud Shekfat Pasha as grand vizier, was read at the Porte at 7 o'clock this evening. On his arrival he was greeted enthusiastically by the great assemblage outside. The portfolio of foreign affairs has been offered to Hasselini Hilmi Pasha, the present ambassador at Vienna, and a former grand vizier.

Talat Bey summoned Noredungian Effendi this evening for a consultation on the foreign situation.

All the Constantinople newspapers not belonging to the Young Turk party have been suspended.

Earlier in the morning all the troops loyal to Kiamil Pasha were sent to practice manoeuvres in the vicinity of the Hill of Liberty, outside Constantinople, while a detachment which had gone over to the committee of union and progress, was sent to the Sublime Porte.

The committee tonight issued a proclamation, explaining its action. It declares that while the Ottoman Government under Said Pasha carried on a victorious campaign in Albania, the succeeding Government under Kiamil Pasha ruined Turkish authority in Albania. It thereby excited the appetites of the Balkan powers, gave the peoples of the Balkan powers, "Mukhtar Pasha's cabinet," con-

THE POWERS AGHAST

London, Jan. 23.—To the ambassadors of the powers who were congratulating themselves that the concert of Europe had virtually settled the near eastern war; to the delegates of the allied Balkan States, and to all London, except the Turkish plenipotentiaries, the news of the resignation of Kiamil Pasha and the appointment of Mahmoud Shekfat Pasha to the grand vizierate, came as a bolt from the blue.

Whether this means war to a finish, with the Young Turks in the saddle, or is merely another exhibition of the resources of Turkish diplomacy, none can say; nor can anyone definitely predict whether the powers will attempt to coerce Turkey into making peace, or stand as spectators while events take their course.

The Turkish delegates have cherished the conviction that the abandonment of Adrianople by the ministry would bring a Young Turk cabinet into power. The fact that Shekfat Pasha has been appointed grand vizier, while Talat Bey, who is a prominent member of the Young Turk committee and deputy for Adrianople, has been made minister of the interior, is significant.

deathblow to the constitution, and its policy led to the formation of the Balkan League. Although it knew of this league, the Mukhtar cabinet disbanded 120,000 troops and sent the army into the spring. King Ferdinand of Bulgaria said, "We shall not find such a weak Turkish Government in office in the spring."

"The general staff had prepared a plan of attack against the Balkan powers, but the Mukhtar and Kiamil cabinets, instead of executing this plan, appointed incapable generals to positions of command, and pursued a policy destructive of the warlike spirit of the army and the people. The Kiamil cabinet, instead of prosecuting the war, tried to restore the Hamidian regime."

Betrayed His Country. The proclamation further charges that the Kiamil Government was displaying unjustifiable weakness in the peace negotiations, while the allies had won the powers over to their side. It declares that Kiamil Pasha betrayed his country by offering to yield Adrianople and the Aegean Islands, and to conceal his treason, summoned a constitutional assembly.

"The Ottoman nation," the proclamation concludes, "could not endure such a Government, headed by a traitor, and thus exercised the right of revolution. Hence the Kiamil cabinet resigned, and the Sultan was asked to summon a cabinet which will be able to take the fullest advantage of the nation's strength to protect the fatherland."

The Ottoman nation cannot sacrifice its rights and will employ all the means in its power to defend them and show that it wishes to live with honor."

ENVER BEY BECOMES A POPULAR HERO

Dramatic Scenes as He Led in Overthrow of the Turkish Cabinet.

[Canadian Press.]

Constantinople, Jan. 23.—Enver Bey, who has taken such a prominent part in the overthrowing of Kiamil Pasha's cabinet, is a popular hero. Nazim Pasha's death by a shot from the revolver of Enver Bey, or from that of Talat Bey, is believed to have been accidental. The two officers, in order to protect themselves from the fire of Nazim Pasha's aide-de-camp, who had shot at them from a window, drew their revolvers and emptied them at him. The bullets struck and killed Nazim Pasha, who was seated inside the room.

The scene outside the offices of the grand vizier, when the leaders of the Young Turk party arrived there in the afternoon, was a very dramatic one. There was a considerable crowd present and great enthusiasm reigned, and someone unfurled a flag and waved it.

The excitement became intense when Enver, mounted on a white charger, came in view, accompanied by several Turkish staff officers.

As he dismounted before the door, and made his request for an audience with the grand vizier, the gates closed as though automatically.

The commandant of Constantinople, Mehmed Pasha, himself stood on guard and refused to allow anyone to enter except Enver Bey and Talat Bey, one of his companions.

BISHOP O'CONNOR DEAD

Had Been Seriously Ill for Several Weeks in Peterboro Hospital.

Peterboro, Ont., Jan. 23.—His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, who had been seriously ill for the past two weeks, died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 8:15 o'clock tonight. It was known several days ago that his lordship could not recover, and he had since gradually weakened. He suffered from neuralgia of the stomach and complications. The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m., with services at St. Peter's Cathedral, and interment at St. Peter's Cemetery.

BABY DIED FROM A BLOW SAYS CORONER DR. WOODS

Death of Indian Child on Chippewa Reserve Is To Be Investigated by the Authorities—The Mother Denies All Knowledge of the Matter.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sunday last, when Dr. Dewar was called to see the child, Mrs. Hill wanted a death certificate issued. Dr. Dewar, after making an examination, and finding the injuries on the left side of the body, refused, and at once reported the case to Dr. Woods, the coroner here. An investigation followed, with the result that the body was removed to Melbourne, and after being viewed by a jury, of which H. D. McKenzie, of Melbourne, is foreman, adjourned until Jan. 30.

In the meantime the post-mortem has been conducted and the cause of death learned. Both women deny having hurt the baby in any way. They say they thought the child died in a fit.

Mrs. Hill has not lived with her husband for some time.

$5.00 Illustrated BIBLE

This is not a meaningless picture book. The illustrations serve a distinct purpose. They enrich the text and they do more—they intelligently explain it so that many a hitherto obscure passage assumes a new meaning.

How matter how many Bibles you may have, here is one that will be used, for these eye-teaching pictures make plain the subjects illustrated. It is not essential to belong to a church to realize the educational value of this Book of Books. Every progressive man, woman and child who wants to advance should be familiar with its educational and literary merits.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The Premier Asquith made quite clear the attitude of himself and his colleagues in the cabinet on the subject of women suffrage this evening, when he moved the adoption of the time-table for the debate on the franchise reform bill in the House of Commons.

The Premier said opinion on women suffrage was so sharply divided on both sides of the House that it was impossible for any Government to propose the enactment of votes for women. While he himself was a strong opponent of the policy he realized that this was a great hardship on supporters of the movement. Therefore, with the full consent of the cabinet he had decided to leave the question to the free judgment of the House.

LONDON AND DISTRICTLate Mrs. Clark.
The funeral of Mrs. Katherine Clark was held yesterday from the residence of her son, Mr. J. Clark, 498 Ridout street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Requiem high mass was solemnized by Rev. Mons. Aylward. The funeral was a private one, and interment was made at St. Peter's Cemetery.Early Chickens.Mr. E. G. Butler, of East London, is the first chicken fancier reported to have a brood of chickens hatched this year, the date being Jan. 21. One of his hens inspired by the recent summer-like weather was induced to take to the nest early, and has hatched a brood of Silkies.Visited Hyde Park.Forty members of Pine Grove, No. 2

George Shaw.Early Closing Brawl.A crowded copy of the new early closing bylaw relating to barber shops has been sent to Chief of Police Williams, and as a result he has instructed Sergeant Birrell to see that the regulation is complied with henceforth. The law requires that all barber shops remain closed between the hours of 7:30 p.m. and 3 a.m. all business days, excepting on Saturdays and days immediately preceding public holidays.Late Mrs. Smith.The funeral of Mrs. Jennie Smithson, wife of Mr. John Smithson, formerly of London Township, who died at Riverside, Man., was held from the undertaking parlors of Griffith & Willie to Woodland Cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. H. H. Bingham, of Talbot Street Baptist Church.
The pallbearers were: Messrs. Joseph Smithson, George Dobson, Daniel Woods, David Dunn, Robert Nicholson and Charles Franks.Get Your License.Chief of Police Williams this morning issued a warning to all owners of motor cars not to operate their machines on the streets of London after Monday next without 1913 license markers attached. New licenses, under the motor vehicles act, must be carried after the first of the year, but the police allow a certain leeway, which, however, will have expired at the end of this week. Therefore, owners who do not appreciate the experience of paying fines into police court will do well to heed the warning.CARRIED THE MAIL

OF FRUIT FARMINGVegetable Growers Will Advise
People in Regard to Vegetables Also.The executive of the London Branch of the Ontario Vegetable Growers have decided to embark upon a publicity campaign disseminate the highest scientific knowledge of vegetable and small fruits culture. Those who are pushing the movement feel that whilst the gardeners around London are capable exponents in their particular branch of husbandry, there is plenty of room for the introduction of more latent methods by the majority of the growers. An interesting program has been published containing a list of expert growers.President Bycroft is much enthused and is boosting vegetable culture in Middlesex.He said that intensive gardening was becoming more imperative every year, to the advantage of the grower and consumer—the latter obtaining a better class of vegetables.
W. J. Bartlett, official booster for the association, stated that the association will undoubtedly play an important part in the Middlesex publicity campaign. A series of meetings have been arranged that will prove exceedingly interesting and instructive. They will afford the city man with a small garden an excellent opportunity of obtaining first-class information absolutely free of charge, which should make his exertions in the future more profitable.The next meeting will be held in the city buildings on Saturday, Jan. 25, at 7:30, when S. D. Dawson will speak on plum culture, and R. Densgate on onion growing.*ST. JAMES' ANNUAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPPEREntertainment Held in South London Church on Thursday Night.The annual supper and entertainment of St. James' Anglican Sunday School, South London, was held on Thursday evening, and was largely attended. At 6 o'clock several hundred children were present, and were served refreshments.
So numerous were the little ones that a second table was necessary to serve them all. The tables were under the direction of Miss B. Kompe, and the number of the Sunday school teachers.
After the supper a program consisting of songs, recitations and musical selections, was rendered by the children. A large number of parents thoroughly appreciated the program, which was under the direction of Miss Jennie Moore.MR. JAMES BRICKLIN

the District Taken In as a Part of the City.A reduction of 10 per cent. in the water rates was made by the water commissioners at their meeting yesterday afternoon, the new rate to date from Jan. 15.For some time, Chairman Philip Pocock has had this matter in hand, and it was brought up at the meeting.
"I think the suggestion a good one," said Commissioner Chapman. "I am of the opinion that we can give the reduction now. I think we should recommend it."Cuts Revenue $18,000."We can well afford it," said Mr.
Pocock. "The change will mean lowering our revenue about $18,000, probably a little more. Our net surplus last year was $26,000. The receipts this year will be $5,000 more than last year, so we will have more than last year to grant the reduction.""Would it not be better to make the reduction 5 per cent. rather than 10 per cent.?" asked Mr. Chapman. "I think it would be safer to take the smaller figure."Meter Rents Too High.Commissioner Stevenson thought that the meter rents were too high. The property owners were assessed $2 a year when $1 as much as should be charged."I think you should make a change in this matter," he urged. The rest of the board would not agree to this.
The discount in future will be 40 per cent. not 30 per cent., as has been the case in the past.To Annex Springbank.The water commissioners will circulate a petition to annex Springbank Park to the city, Chairman Pocock was in favor of the move."If the park is annexed, we will bring the street railway into the city," he urged. "That will give us a drop fare, and other advantages.""If we get a drop fare, the tramway must count in the city's mileage," Mayor Graham pointed out. "If we do not allow the company mileage, we will not get a drop fare. I do not know whether or not it is worth while."However, the board thought it wise to make an attempt to annex the district, and the petitions will be ready shortly. With this park in the city, it would be possible to beautify the river, it is thought.A Hydro Meeting.Chairman Pocock, General Manager Glaubitz and City Solicitor Meredith will represent the water commissioners at the meeting of the hydro-electric commission in Toronto on Jan. 28, to discuss the rates for street lighting.Springbank Pumps.General Manager Glaubitz submitted a luminous report on the Springbank pumping station. He stated that it was impossible to operate the present hydraulic equipment continuously without to their condition. He also reported that it was not economical to develop power at the dam. He suggested utilizing the water in the upper reservoir for this purpose, declaring that he could develop 500-horsepower for 2 hours each day to reduce the peak load. Experts will be secured to report on this.Mr. Glaubitz submitted a report, in which he claimed that the city of London saved $35,000 last year through the operation of hydro-electric.Those present were Chairman Pocock, Commissioners J. H. Chapman, William Wyatt, Dr. H. A. Stevenson,
Mayor Graham, General Manager
Glaubitz and Secretary Ellwood.STRICT ATTENTION TO DEPARTMENTInspector Edwards Issues a Circular to the Teachers.Inspector Edwards has issued a circular to the teachers of the public schools instructing them to pay strict attention to the teaching of deportment in the schools.He called attention to the fact that the regulations of the department of education requires teachers to give instructions in good manners, and directs the inspector to report on the deportment of the pupils.Manners, like morals, he points out, are better taught by example than precept, and he asks the teachers to cultivate proper deportment in dealing with their classes.Inspector Edwards also suggests that a uniform custom of greeting visitors who may be introduced to the pupils be adopted in the public schools.DUTTON IN DARKNESSEngine at the Electric Light Station operation of the plant was $12,263.74, of which $8,000 was for the generation of steam.The cost in 1912, with hydro, was $10,552.28, a saving of nearly $2,000. In addition, the sum of $800 had been allowed the department for load factor correction by the installation of the synchronous motors.The hydraulics pumped 153,000,000
