

CITY NOT ENTITLED TO EXTENSIONS OF ST. RAILWAY LINES

Has Its Track Allowance For Population.
SECTIONS WANT CARS
Several Would Like Conveniences To Run Nearer Than at Present.

As far as London is concerned any street railway extensions are up to the London Street Railway Company. The city now has all the track allowance to which it is entitled, based on the population of the city a few years ago, there have been some extensions to the street railway system since then.

City Clerk S. Baker is of the opinion that while the city has all of its share of not more than a possibility of the company making some extensions in the more thickly settled districts.

The contrary would risk for some concessions from the city for such additions, he thinks. Regarding the proposed extension out High street, for which the residents of that locality have been agitating for some years, Mr. Baker asserts that there are more thickly populated districts of the city that are without street railway accommodation, and these should be served first.

SAFETY

Less Than Four Cents a Week!
Bearer Victory Bonds and Bearer Coupons, if stolen, destroyed by fire or lost, cannot be replaced without considerable difficulty and inconvenience.

Why?
Because the names of the owners are not registered and there is always the possibility of the original bonds and coupons being cashed if stolen.

It is decidedly unsafe to keep Victory Bonds, Debentures, Insurance Policies and other valuable papers in your home.

A decidedly safe place is the Canada Trust Company's steel safety deposit vault.

We place at your disposal a roomy, individual steel box and a special key (no two keys are alike). You may have access to your box any time during office hours. After office hours it is protected by a heavy steel, time-lock door.

The cost of a box measuring 5 1/2 x 24 inches is less than four cents a week.

Clarke, and for a number of years town engineer for North Bay.

A prominent engineer and surveyor, his work was chiefly connected with the development of Northern Ontario. He enjoyed the distinction of having surveyed the town of Cobalt. Of late years, he has been engaged chiefly on contract work for the C. P. R. on the Lake Superior division. He has lived in Toronto in recent years.

BADGES FOR FOOD PRODUCTION SERVICE

The organization of resources committee representing the Ontario Government and Legislature in their plans for encouraging the production of food as a war-time service, has had prepared a food production service badge for awarding to children and others who have done good work during the past season.

It offers the badge to war production clubs, agricultural and horticultural societies, resources committee branches, school boards, teachers, women's institutes, Sunday school clubs, or any other group of responsible persons, at a fraction of its cost for distribution locally at public meetings. In the distribution of these badges the purpose is to commemorate the splendid response made throughout Ontario to the call for increased production in the season of 1918; to stimulate community interest in local achievement; to recognize local achievement in national service, and to encourage a continuance of the work next year.

Tremendous Popularity of the Fur Coat

This season bids fair to be the climax of many triumphant seasons for the smart fur coat. While fashion may have something to do with this the exceptional quality of the skins gathered last winter is an important factor and contributes much to the popularity of these coats. The advantage of early buying will be realized by inspection of the superiority of the skins of which these coats are made, they being the first selection of all the pelts, besides the great demand for fur coats this season will surely create a scarcity later in the season.

Every woman loves beautiful furs. Few understand how to tell a dyed from a natural fur, a piece from a whole skin, or a blended from an entirely natural fur. Nor are they always sure what constitutes a good fur—whether the color should be light or dark or the hair long or short.

It is wonderfully satisfying to go into the Fur Section and know that every single coat there has been individually inspected and selected, and is here because it is the very best coat possible at the price.

SOME BRITISH PAPERS FEAR U.S. MAY BE NAVAL RIVAL

Suspect Wilson's Coming to Peace Conference.

VIEW OF CONSERVATIVES
"Freedom of Seas" Gets Involved in Issues of Election Campaign.

BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.
(Special to The Advertiser, Copyright, 1918, by New York Tribune.)
LONDON, Nov. 25.—Lord George opened the election campaign with a speech this afternoon at Wolverhampton, referring almost entirely to concessions to soldiers and the working classes. The premier wanted to revise agriculture and to settle soldiers and sailors on the land to do away with the slums and provide state-built houses and remunerative work for all.

Lloyd George impressed his hearers with the necessity of respecting the rights of the worker. He was surrounded by reactionaries, the Government of the past two years, and said the reactionaries had not been confined to one party, and he was not sure labor was free from reactionaries.

There are men who play with the very antiquated notion of limiting the output. It is believed Lloyd George and the coalition are prepared to meet any reasonable demands of the people to effect a smooth transition from war to peace.

While Liberal and Labor attention is chiefly directed toward domestic questions, some of the Conservatives, and all raise a cry of alarm against the American naval program, in which the globe is to be divided into two main areas, the British press now fully accepts the view that President Wilson is coming to Europe to enforce the acceptance of his views of freedom of the seas at the peace conference.

Discussing this freedom of the seas in connection with the president's visit, the papers enlarge upon Mr. Wilson's difficulties at home, being faced by a hostile majority, both in the House and the Senate, and being forced to wage another war.

The Observer says: "We do not believe some of President Wilson's supporters accurately interpret his mind when they proclaim with unreserved doctrine of the freedom of the seas, securities of the character and small, in order to give Germany to wage another war."

Mr. Lloyd George expressed his thanks to Sir Joseph as chairman of the great army of workers for the great ability, energy and organizing power Sir Joseph as chairman of the great army of workers for the great ability, energy and organizing power.

MEWBURN WANTS HALO
Says He Kept His Promise That Farmers' Sons Would Not Be Taken.

HAMILTON, Nov. 25.—Hon. S. C. Mewburn, minister of militia, spoke to the Canadian Club this evening at its luncheon at the Royal Connaught Hotel. He said that in demobilization the soldiers who had seen the longest service would be the first to be taken home. He suggested that a hall should be erected in memory of the fallen. The militia men, Mewburn said, had not received proper recognition. Every member of the local corps who was physically fit had some overseas service. The Canadians had suffered 45,000 casualties at the front. He entered the army in 1898, he said.

Some of his former friends had been assassinated because some of them were drafted after their armistice was signed. He found that there were 15,000 men on harvest leave, and he believed that he had kept faith with the farmers. People were begging and pleading with him to allow their sons home in time for Christmas. In many cases this was impossible. Uniformed Fighting Men Charge Through Police To "Get 'Em."

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Hundreds of soldiers, sailors and marines broke through the lines of police surrounding Madison Square Garden tonight and attacked International Socialists who had gathered for a meeting at which Bolshevik doctrines were expounded. The men and women leaving the hall broke and fled as the men in uniform charged past the police, but were pursued into the side streets in all directions.

The attack on the Socialists came at the close of a meeting which threatened to break into a riot. It was called ostensibly against the execution of Thomas J. Mooney, but Scott Nearing, who presided, and the other speakers devoted most of their attention to denouncing the release of "political" offenders.

Display of Red Flags. Several men and women were arrested for displaying red flags and for shouting slogans. The police were unable to prevent the demonstrators from making an assault on the stage. Scores of fist fights were interrupted in the opening of the doors of the garden. The soldiers and sailors who were unable to get into the meeting sent out a mob to break up the gathering. The men in uniform charged past the police, but were pursued into the side streets in all directions.

Madison Square was the rallying point for the military. They quickly staged an anti-demonstration, at which speakers denounced the Bolsheviks. The opening of the doors of the garden was the signal for an attack, which the police were unable to repel. The soldiers and sailors who were unable to get into the meeting sent out a mob to break up the gathering. The men in uniform charged past the police, but were pursued into the side streets in all directions.

Many Mooney Meetings. More than 100,000 members of the American Union of Labor, Workers of the World, and other labor organizations in all clothing centres of the United States were urged to wear black armbands in honor of Thomas J. Mooney, sentenced to death on December 13 for the Boston bombing. It was announced that the armbands would be distributed in New York, Boston, Rochester, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton.

The question of a general strike, it was said, has not been considered, because 75 per cent of the workers are now striking here for the 8-hour day. The German mission on peace preliminaries will not be quartered in the immediate vicinity of the city.

DEPOT BATTERY AT GUELPH WILL BE DEMOBILIZED SOON

About 125 Men, Remnant of 63rd and 64th, To Go.

GUELPH, Nov. 25.—Major W. E. Woods, casualty officer from London headquarters staff, arrived in the city this morning in connection with the demobilization of the members of the depot battery who are at present quartered at the armories. These men, who are about 65 in number, will be demobilized at once and will probably be all back in civilian clothes with their discharges in their pockets by Wednesday morning at the latest.

For those who do not reside in Guelph, transportation to their homes will be received and each man will be round by himself civilian dress. It has not yet been decided whether or not they will be allowed the uniforms they are wearing at present, but this will be decided either today or tomorrow. Those who have served overseas will be given three months post-discharge pay.

There are still about sixty of the men who are away on harvest leave, and these men will not have a few days to go for duty again. This has been changed, as every one of them must undergo another examination to receive a medical board before they can be discharged. The depot battery is composed of the 63rd and 64th, and is commanded by Capt. Bell. He is the officer in command of the depot battery at present.

GERMAN BATTLESHIPS MAY BE SUNK AFTER PEACE PROCLAMATION

Entente Will Thus Avoid Controversies Rising From Division.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—After an inspection of the German battleships and cruisers held by the Entente and final settlement of their ownership by the peace conference, all the vessels, probably will be sunk, as apparently there is no disposition on the part of the Entente to risk the controversies which would be likely in case of an attempted division of them.

THE BEST KIND OF POLICY

Men often ask the question, "Which is the best policy for me? Upon first-class risks it makes no difference to the company. Some writers have argued from a one-sided view, that the less money paid for protection the better; but it all depends upon circumstances. Protection is not like house rent, or like an article that can be worn out and consumed, and leave no future value behind it. Life insurance must inevitably couple the future with the present. A man of limited means and large insurance needs will find the cheapest insurance in a full life participating policy, while the man of larger means or of independent fortune may profitably take the ten, fifteen or twenty payment policies. In the event of early death, the latter will have paid more, but in case of living he will not only pay less in the aggregate, but will experience the satisfaction of having his insurance fully paid up before he is old. It is simply an outworking of the law of average, as the interest equalizes the different propositions.

Notwithstanding the higher cost, the advantages of endowment insurance are distinct and worthy of the most careful consideration.

Send for our Booklet, which will tell you in detail just what is the best policy for you. Write us today.

GERMANS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Hair becomes charming, wavy, lustrous and thick in few moments. Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

For a few cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as though your hair, taking care of it, is a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking care of it, is a young girl's after applying some Danderine. THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate To Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve. Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and restoring healthy hollows and angles by the soft curves of lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Is This Your Bill?

"The Sins of the Flesh" are punished in this world—not in the next. Disease is not an accident, nor is it sent by Providence. It is Nature's punishment for the breaking of her laws. Hemorrhoids, for example, occasion an infinite degree of discomfort, suffering and misery. So does a fissure or a fistula. But such punishments are meted out to those who sin against Nature in two ways, by neglecting to maintain regular, easy, thorough evacuation of the bowels—what is a worse habit, the taking of pills, castor oil, purgative mineral waters, salts, etc., with the mistaken idea of overcoming constipation by forcing the bowels to move unnaturally.

But the Nujol Treatment for Constipation prevents such sins of the flesh, or mitigates the punishment therefor. Nujol helps to re-establish easy, regular, thorough evacuation of the bowels. Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug. Nujol is absolutely harmless. Nujol keeps the waste matter soft, moist and easily voided. Nujol is not absorbed, does not effect the body—acts as a mechanical lubricant, which can be used for any length of time. Get Nujol from your druggist. Take Nujol according to directions.

PUNISH BULGARIA.

BECAUSE OF their atrocious methods in the war, none of the central powers so richly deserve the harshest punishment as do the Bulgarians. Infamous and unspeakably bestial as have been a thousand deeds of Germany, Austria and Turkey during the four years of struggle, they are overshadowed by the mercilessness to which the Serb has been subjected at the Bulgarian hands. When the Bulgarian Government surrendered, making inevitable the collapse of Austria and the Turk, there was a feeling that in the final settlement Bulgaria should escape the fullest retribution. Something ought to be done, it was argued, in recognition of the fact that Bulgaria kicked away the underpinning of the Kaiser's war alliance and at least hastened the downfall which Foch's blows had made certain. Now that we are learning on unquestioned authority that a large section of the Serb civilian population was systematically massacred there will be no further desire to make any concessions to Sofia. There isn't the slightest doubt now but that Bulgaria hoped to so cripple the Serbian people that at the war's conclusion the latter would no longer be a rival in affairs of the Balkans. The butcheries, that are vouched for by correspondents whose reliability cannot be doubted, were not the result of the hot rage of battle. Long after the campaign had ended with the Bulgarian occupation of King Peter's country, these wholesale killings of men, women, and even children, were carried out with the business-like methods of an abattoir. Day by day, at a certain hour, the victims were herded to places definitely set aside for the purpose and destroyed. There was nothing haphazard about it. These atrocities show a dispatch and smoothness in their carrying out that could only have sprung from some central authority or organization. Somebody "higher up" must have planned these slayings, and the fact that they went on openly for many months indicates that they carried the approval of the Bulgarian people. When the Entente got around to the Balkan tangle, the men who were directly responsible for this colossal crime, and the masses who supported it, must be well punished.

IS A SLUMP COMING?

NO QUESTION is engaging public attention at the present time more than that relating to the effect on business of the ending of the war. It is easy to assume that as the war brought material prosperity to Canada, its termination will bring depression, if only for a period of readjustment; especially when this view is supported by historical precedent. There is, however, no actual precedent for present conditions. There has been no previous world war, wiping out millions of lives and incapacitating millions more, laying waste billions of dollars worth of property, diverting the traffic of the seven seas from its usual course and compelling nearly every producing nation to abandon its regular industries for a period of years.

So far as Canada is concerned, the closest analogy is found in the Civil War in the United States, when for four years North and South gave up everything to the musket and the sword. When the war was over the South, the losing side, entered the throes of a depression from which it did not begin to recover until recent years. The North, on the other hand, entered a period of great prosperity, but with a great slump in the price of every commodity except cotton. Even this, however, does not form a true basis for judgment as to present-day conditions, for the inflated prices during the civil war were due to the depreciation in the value of the paper money which the government issued, whereas today high prices are due chiefly to the high cost of labor and the consequent scarcity of products.

Canada's war prosperity has been caused by high prices obtained for farm products and to war orders, which set a high price on labor. The demand for her products has exceeded her imports, leaving the balance of trade in her favor. The question is, will these conditions continue? Mr. Hoover and other food experts tell us that for years stricken Europe will not be rehabilitated to the extent of being able to feed herself, therefore Canada's farmers will continue to reap the benefit of high prices. The stopping of immigration and the enlistment of nearly half a million of young Canadians, which depleted the labor market, produced an industrial condition which will not be changed quickly, and with twenty million men killed or permanently maimed on the battlefield it is doubtful if immigration to Canada will be great for some years. Of Canada's enlisted men returning at the rate of 20,000 a month, probably not more than half will be able to resume at once their old places in the producing line.

These conditions do not indicate that there will be any sudden change in the labor situation, unless many of the men and women now engaged in industries are thrown out of employment. In this connection bankers, with traditional caution, are warning against excessive optimism; and it is assuredly the case that if business men prepare for an industrial crisis it will not come. The fact cannot be overlooked, however, that Canada's industrial position is potentially advantageous. The devastated countries must be rebuilt. Steel, besides supplying food, can supply timber, steel, shoes and other articles of clothing. The recent Victory Loan of $600,000,000 is pledged to the purpose of keeping the wheels going and the orders are surely available. There is really no sign at present that there will be a slump in the labor market or in the prices of commodities.

there have been numerous advances in prices since the armistice was signed and industrial firms are calling for help louder than ever.

WHO SHOULD DECIDE?

THE QUESTION of feeding the Germans is a very live one, at the present time. Who should decide it? Like all other questions, the first thing to do is to ascertain the facts. Are the Germans as badly off for food as several other countries? Russia is in bad shape. It was stated by a man who knew, that from one-fourth to one-third of all the peasants in Russia will starve before spring, without any hope of relief. Germany is the cause of it. Austria has for months had great suffering, and Turkey is equally as badly off. And so, it seems, would be the condition of every country in Europe, with Serbia as bad as Belgium, and Germany caused it all. Stories are told how brutally Germany treated prisoners, now returning ragged, dirty, sick and starving, so sick and starving that many died on the way. Germany did it all. It was not the Kaiser alone, or his war lords with him alone, who caused all the suffering. Even German women nurses have spat in the water before allowing our boys a drink. The Kaiser and his war lords have had no monopoly of cruelty.

Charity begins at home; feed first all our own. It is time enough then to heed the injunction "If thine enemy hunger, feed him." There is no injunction to feed him and starve yourself. There appears to be a very strong sentiment against slobbering over with sympathy for Germans the very minute they cry out for help. The wounds they caused, the rags, the suffering, the deaths, the tortures are all lying open before us appealing for the first right to be helped. The cry of Germany may come from the same selfishness that brought on the war. They may have plenty. The proper course to adopt is to ascertain the facts, and help to the uttermost all our own, including Russia, before Germany is helped. Those most entitled to decide when that shall be should be those who have lost a husband, son or brother in the war, those who have fought, and those who did not feel the "heavy horny hand of the hellish Hun" to decide.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Yank ranks and Yank banks have played quite a considerable part in this war.

Von Hindenburg says his army is now impotent. But as he is as big a liar as the rest of them, we wait until we hear from Foch.

As he signed his abdication papers the ex-Kaiser shivered. And it wasn't a "flu" symptom, either, although shortly after he flew to Holland.

Lord Bryce says the world is not yet altogether safe for democracy. However, there is no question but that it is distinctly unsafe for autocracy.

The British are about to enter Kiel and Wilhelmshaven. Isn't there some high Dutch promontory from which W. Hohenzollern could witness that event?

The ex-crown prince has taken up his residence in a paragonage. His presence will pollute the atmosphere of sanctity which is supposed to surround such places.

Sir Thomas White officially denies that Canada is to forego all claims for indemnity against Germany if a billion dollars is expended in Canada for materials to be used in reconstructing Northern France and Belgium. The finance minister explains that the orders which Canada expects to receive is something quite apart from an indemnity demand.

GREAT BRITAIN'S DEAD.

[New York Telegram.]
Official statement by James I. MacPherson, parliamentary secretary for the war office, of British losses in killed will make the total of the total on all fronts was 658,965, of whom 37,336 were officers. The roster of casualties totals 3,049,301.

The total casualties of the United States have just been announced as 109,000.

Each country suffered alike in that the best, the youngest and strongest have gone.

In defence of motherland and liberty the bones of Britain's heroic sons lie scattered from the English Channel to the mountains of Italy, from the Golden Horn to the Holy Land.

Men from every quarter of the land of the Angles; brawny men from the northern border in the kilts and tartans of their clans; men from Wales, and some loyal men from Ireland, were bravely reinforced by brothers from overseas. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, far off India all rallied nobly to the cry of battle and sent of their bravest and best.

What the Canadians did at Ypres, on the Somme and at Vimy Ridge, and what the Anzacs did at Gallipoli will pass into war annals of heroism.

The figures give the lie to those propagandists and traitors who have been persistently asking, "What are the British doing?" They're letting the French do all the fighting!

England's contemptible little army, "Kitchener's mob" and "the first hundred thousand" certainly did more than "woman service on behalf of the world."

SONG.

[Edward J. O'Brien in The Century.]

Clouds all that was fair.

GOING EAST.

[Winnipeg Telegram.]
The removal of the Canadian Northern Railway general audit offices from this city to Toronto conclusively demonstrates that those who control the policy of the Canadian Northern have no intention to comply with the principles of sound business and to establish the head offices of the Canadian Northern in Winnipeg. The policy of the railway management in this regard will be a grievous disappointment to Winnipeg and to Western Canada. Winnipeg is the centre of the system. The West offers by far the greatest opportunities for extensive and rapid development of new traffic. A great deal of that development and of the revenue therefrom, which is needed by the Canadian Northern in order that the railway may become self-sustaining, will undoubtedly be lost to the Government unless its management is alert and on the job, here in the West.

A SMALL TOWN SUNSET.

[Chicago Herald.]
It happened in a little town in Ohio. A visiting guest-stander stood on the veranda of a little hotel watching the sun go down in a splendor of purple and gold.

"By George," he exclaimed to an impassive native lounging against a post. "That's a gorgeous sunset, isn't it?"

The native slanted his head a little and looked critically at the glowing west.

"Not bad," he drawled. "Not bad, for a little place like Hoopville."

JONES GETS A RAISE.
By Imes Macdonald.

Young Mr. Jones reached over and gave his adding machine a few tentative taps and again tapped into a reverie. Five years out of a midwestern college, and David R. Jones had little to boast of in the way of achievement. He had been ambitious, but eager and enthusiastic application to his job for five long years had failed to lift him out of the clerk's class.

When he had taken the job in answer to an advertisement he had been assured of "rapid advancement and a future for the right man." But he was still doing the same work he had been doing after the first three months with the company. He had stuck to one job with sterner and industrious purpose without its bringing him anything in the way of advancement—and now that it was June again the prospect of another long, hot summer in that office galled him.

With a thoughtful air he withdrew from his wallet a clipping which he had torn from his newspaper on the way downtown in the subway that morning.

"WANTED—Athletic young man as boatman on gentleman's estate. Connecticut shore. Must be expert in rowing, swimming, sailing, and boating. Will be generally useful and reliable. $50 monthly and board. See Mrs. Agnes Turner, between 10 and 12 Tuesday, Hotel Arkwright."

And after he had read the ad, through once more young Mr. Jones arose from his desk and entered the private office of his great and exclusive boss, the well-known Mr. Henry P. Riggs. Mr. Riggs, who was generally useful and reliable, was $50 monthly and board. See Mrs. Agnes Turner, between 10 and 12 Tuesday, Hotel Arkwright.

"Well," he demanded.
"I'm Jones," said Jones. "David R. Jones. I've been with this company five years. I have a fair education, a certain amount of brains and some ability. When I came here I was promised rapid advancement and a future, and before I'd read of old age at $5 a week I thought I'd go into the matter with you."

"Well," repeated Old H. P. sourly.
"I want a man's job and $3,000 a year from today or I'm through."

Old H. P. stared, and the barest grin

plained Lotta to her father that night at the dinner table. "He's just a very nice young man who worked his head off five whole years for a grouchy old man who wouldn't give him a chance. So Davy made up his mind to have a better job next fall."

And as usual Lotta hurried through her dinner and slipped down to the beach and Davy Jones.
"Why, darn it all!" said Davy, a few minutes later. "You shouldn't have told him that. Your father was the old guy who wouldn't give me a chance!"

"Lotta says we can," grinned Jones, hugging that willing young woman just as his closer—and then he blurted a little. "However, we won't have to. I'm starting with Rogers, Wyman & Co. the first of September. $3,000 a year."

Whereupon Lotta squeaked his arm around her father's neck and kissed him. "And then he extended his hand with a grin."

"On the contrary, Davy," he said almost gently, "you're starting with H. P. Riggs & Co. at $5,000—and eventual partnership."

And then Lotta graciously transferred her "Davy Jones" kisses to her father and back again.

HAD HACKING COUGH
Couldn't Sleep Nights

Hacking coughs are very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest, and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in an irritated and inflamed condition.

Don't neglect the hacking cough. You can get rid of it with a few doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, the most prompt, pleasant and perfect cough remedy known.

Miss Catherine M. McLean, Craik, Sask., writes: "Last winter I caught a heavy cold and was laid up for some time. I had such a hacking cough I couldn't sleep at night. I didn't think I would get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The next day I sent for a bottle and I soon got relief, and by the time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone, and now I am able to do my work again. I don't think there is anything to equal it."

There are plenty of "pine" preparations on the market trying to live on the reputation of "Dr. Wood's." The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, price 25c and 50c a bottle. Put up only by The T. McBurn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont. N. 12, 26.

Money is needed to carry on the work. We need your help. You cannot afford not to give. This is the first general appeal made to the citizens of London. A canvass is being made this week—a house-to-house canvass, also the business section. The Western Ontario Bible Society appeals to every Christian communion and all lovers of "The Book." Have your contribution ready.

NEW FORD TOUR

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, using the famous train known as the National on your journey and traveling in some of the most interesting territory in the Dominion? The National is a through train which leaves Toronto at 8:35 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The rails of the Grand Trunk are used to North Bay, which is reached early on the morning following the departure from Toronto. A daylight run is made through the lakehead beauties of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario to Cochrane, calling at Cobalt, with its wonderful mining activity. From Cochrane to Winnipeg your journey lies over the Canadian Government railways, with splendid opportunities of inspecting the fertile regions of New Ontario, including the famed clay belt, where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new route of the highest possible standard. The greatest travel comfort is assured, while there is no added expense for railroad fare as compared with any other route. For further particulars apply to any Grand Trunk ticket agent or C. E. Horning, D. P. A., Toronto. Nov. 26

HART SCORES A HIT IN THRILLING PLAY AT THE MAJESTIC

"Border Wireless," His Latest Success, To Be Repeated Today.

HAROLD LLOYD COMEDY

Bert Thomas, the Chinese Tenor, Receives Ovation.

With a thrill in every foot of film, a smashing climax and a love story that is delightfully convincing, "The Border Wireless," the new William S. Hart picture, which was shown at the Majestic Theatre which proved to be one of the best in which that virile western actor has ever appeared.

By linking Mr. Hart's western type of characterization with a distinctly modern situation resulting from the war, involving a wireless plot on the border engineered by German spies, and bringing in a most exquisite little telegraph operator, the authors have succeeded in bringing the drama up to the minute without sacrificing any of that picturesqueness that every admirer of Mr. Hart demands.

The story deals with the fortunes of Steve Ransom, the role portrayed by Mr. Hart, who is the son of a civil war veteran and intensely patriotic, but when his father is swindled out of his ranch in Wyoming by a powerful railroad company, and both his parents die shortly afterward, Steve becomes a vengeful man and a bandit, wreaking havoc upon the railroad that caused his father's last days to be spent in grief.

Rescues the Girl.

Steve meets Elsa, the operator, on her way to the Magdalena Mines with a message for a man named Brandt. Steve rescues her from Mexican bandits and their friendship grows into love. Brandt is a German spy, and the mine is the headquarters for a wireless outfit secretly used to convey messages to Mexico. Elsa is then relayed to Honduras and finally reach Berlin.

By a series of complications a message conveying the information of the steamship date of General Pershing's steamship for Europe is recovered by Steve, while he is in hiding after having been exposed as the one-time bandit by Brandt and hunted by the American troops, of whom he has tried vainly to become one. The commander of the forces secures Steve's pardon, and he is left with the prospect of going "Over There" with the army and his return, of finding Elsa waiting for him.

The story is consistently developed, is full of logical exciting action and is wonderfully well played. Wanda Hawley is the leading woman and a good cast supports the star.

Harold Lloyd is seen in a comedy, "Nothing But Trouble." This comedy is one of the popular comedians best and is worth many a laugh.

Bert Thomas, the Chinese tenor, made a hit in popular songs and Chinese vocal selections.
