Signing of Peace Treaty at Versailles Today Brings Great World War to Formal End

TREATY OF PEACE IS SIGNED AT VERSAILLES TODAY; VANQUISHED GERMANS ARE THE FIRST TO PUT NAMES TO HISTORIC DOCUMENT

China Refuses To Enter Pact, Declining To Sign the Treaty Because She Was Not Permitted To Make Reservations —General Smuts of South Africa Signs Under Protest—Imposing Ceremony Is Carried Out in Beautiful Hall of Mirrors of Versailles Palace, Where France Was Forced To Bow To Germany's Will in 1871 and Sign the First Treaty of Versailles.

Versailles, June 28.—The world war was formally ended today by the signing of the peace treaty with Germany. The epochal meeting in the hall of mirrors began at 3:10 o'clock, and the German delegates, the first to sign, affixed their signatures at 3:13 o'clock. They were followed by the American delegates, headed by President Wilson, and then by the plenipotentiaries of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, and the other nations in alphabetical order.

China's delegates did not attend the session, declining to sign the treaty because they were not permitted to make reservations.

The treaty was deposited on the table in the hall of mirrors at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon by William Martin of the French foreign office.

Premier Clemenceau entered the palace at 2:20 o'clock. A few minutes before 3 o'clock the fifteen enlisted men from the British, French and American armies entered the hall amid decorous cheers. The Chinese delegates, shortly before the hour set for the signing of the treaty, reiterated their intention not to sign.

At 2:50 o'clock all the delegates were seated except the Chinese, who did not attend.

The Germans entered the hall at exactly 3 o'clock. Premier Clemenceau called the session to order at 3:10 o'clock.

Premier Clemenceau put the direct question to the Germans whether they were willing to sign and execute loyally all the terms. The other delegates did not arise when the Germans came into the hall.

The protocol was signed by all those who signed the treaty. The Rhine arrangement was signed by the Germans, Americans, Belgians, British and French plenipotentiaries.

At 3:44 o'clock cannon began to boom, announcing the completion of the ceremony of signing. The signature had not, however, as a matter of fact, then been completed, for at that time the smaller nations were still signing in alphabetical order.

The proceedings were formally closed at 3:49 o'clock.

Premier Clemenceau, in opening the session, said:

"The session is open. The allied and associated powers on one side, and the German commission on the other side, have come to an agreement on the conditions of peace. The text has been completely drafted, and the president of the conference has stated in writing that the text is about to be signed now is identical with the 200 copies that had been delivered to the German delegation. The signatures will be given now, and they amount to a solemn undertaking faithfully and loyally to execute the conditions embodied by this treaty of peace.

"I now invite the delegates of the German commission to sign the treaty."

SMUTS SIGNS UNDER PROTEST.

Versailles, June 28.—Gen. Jan Smuts, one of the delegates representing the Union of South Africa, signed the treaty under protest. He objected to certain territorial settlements, making a lengthy statement.

Gen. Smuts said that the indemnities stipulated could not be accepted without grave injuries to the industrial revival of Europe. He declared it would be to the interests of the allied powers to render the stipulations more tolerable and moderate.

CROWDS CHEER AS "BIG THREE LEAVES VERSAILLES PALACE

Versailles, June 28.—As Premier Clemenceau, Premier Lloyd George and President Wilson emerged from the palace, the great crowd gathered outside swept aside the cordon of troops, cheering madly. AOIN

The three statesmen were swept along by the surging thousands.

Many soldiers broke ranks and joined in the demonstration, while guns boomed and low-flying airplanes seemed to fill the air.

The German delegates left the hall first, the representatives remaining in their seats. Those who had assembled in the hall then went to the terrace to see the fountains playing.

Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau and President Wilson were photographed together on the terrace. After the demonstration the three allied leaders left Versailles in the same automobile, the crowds following and cheering.

WILSON SIGNED AT 3:14 O'CLOCK.

Washington, June 28.—Signing of the peace treaty was begun at 10:30 o'clock, Washington time. The official report to the state department said President Wilson signed at 3:14 o'clock, Paris time.

Dr. Hermann Mueller signed at 3:12 and Dr. Johannes Bell at 3:13 p.m. for the Germans.

Thousands Gather at Palace of Versailles To Witness Signing of Peace Treaty

Versailles, June 28.—The signature of "The second peace of Versailles" in the long Hall of Mirrors in the chateau of France's great monarch Louis XIV, today restores to Versailles its old place as the stage of "all the glories of France" dimmed in more recent days by the memories of mob excesses during the French revolution, the military downfall of France in 1870, and the proclamation of the German Empire in the same hall. Representatives of the nations of the world gathered there to sign and seal the instrument undoing the work of conquest of Bismarck and von Moltke and inaugurating the sway of the league of nations in place of the ill-adjusted European balance of power.

Ceremony at Three.

The ceremony was set for 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but hours before that time an uninterrupted stream of automobiles began moving up the cannon hill of Champs Elysees, past the arch of triumph and out through shady Bois de Boulogne and park of St. Cloud carrying plenipotentiaries officials and guests to the ceremony. They reached Versailles over a thoroughfare kept clear by pickets, dragoons and mounted gendarmes, and were cheered en route by throngs gathered in the flag-decked suburban towns of Boulogne, St. Cloud and Sevres-Ville D'Avray for a passing glimpse of the world's celebrities of the conference.

In the meantime thousands upon thousands of partisans were packing regular and special trains upon the three railroads and interurban lines leading to Versailles, and contending with the residents of Versailles for places in the great Place D'Armes before the chateau or in Chateau Park, where the playing of the famed fountains of Versailles would mark the end of the ceremony. They could hope for only a brief glimpse of the delegates, but they wished to be able to say later that they had participated in the event.

A Brilliant Scene.

A company of Republican Guards, in brilliant full dress uniforms, drawn up at the end of the court as a guard of honor, presented arms as the leading plenipotentiaries passed. On entering the building by the portal through which the Paris mob burst in the early days of the French revolution, the delegates mounted by the marble, or Queen's stairway, to the suite of "Queen's apartments" and the Hall of Peace, through which they gained access to the Hall of Mirrors. The wall of these apartments were hung with antique goblin tapestries representing scenes of the triumphant reign of Louis XIV., and were carpeted with old Savonnerin rugs of the same epoch.

Enter in Groups.

To reach the peace table, the plenipotentiaries passed through a space reserved for some 400 privileged guests, who were instructed to be in their seats well in advance of the entry of the delegates. It had been arranged that the delegations, instead of struggling in without order, as they did when the original terms of peace were communicated to the Germans should make their entrance by groups, each one being formally announced by ushers from the French foreign office. This formality was not prescribed for the Germans, who were given a separate route of entry, coming into the chateau through the park and gaining the marble stairway through the ground floor. Thus, there was no occasion for the guard of honor to render them military honors which were reserved for the allied representatives. Dismounted guardsmen, with drawn sabres, who lined the marble staircase and the Queen's apartments when the allied delegates passed, remained in their places, however, for the entry of the Germans.

Clemenceau In Centre.

Seventy-two chairs for the plenipotentiaries were drawn up around three sides of the table, which formed an open rectangle fully 80 feet in length on its longer side. The chair for M. Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, was placed in the centre of the long table facing the windows, with those for Premier Lloyd George and President Wilson on the left and right hand, respectively. The allied delegations were arranged in the same order as when the terms were presented to the Germans, but the German delegates, this time, instead of facing their accusers, were assigned seats at the side of the table nearest the entrance, which they could take after all the others were seated.

This arrangement would permit them to leave after the signature of the treaty before the allied delegates, not waiting for the semi-state procession of allied delegates through the long suites of the chateau apartments to the terrace, from which to witness for a time the playing of the Versailles fountains before returning to Paris.

Soldiers To Watch Signing.

The treaty will be signed under the watchful eyes of forty-five stalwart British Tommies, French poilus and American doughboys, the real "artisans of the peace," which has been slowly taking definite form during the long months of the Paris conference. Marshals and generals of the allied armies

TREATY MUST BE RATIFIED BEFORE PRISONERS WILL BE LIBERATED

Clauses Inserted in Peace Pact Stipulate This.

WILL BE NO DELAY

After Ratification in Release of the Enemy Prisoners.

Paris, June 28.—In the completed peace treaty signed today at Versailles, the newspapers say, were certain stipulations which, it was hoped, would hasten ratification of the treaty by the German National Assembly. The Journal says the allies, following the German example of 1871, stipulated that the liberation of German prisoners would be dependent upon the ratification of the treaty by the German Assembly, and that if the Germans approved the treaty at once the prisoners would be released without delay.

VICTORY and PEACE

TO STRIKE OR NOT TO STRIKE.

In the interests of the whole city of London, and the labor movement in particular, The Advertiser would respectfully advise the members of the Street Railway Union to go slqw before precipitating a strike that would tie up the local transportation service.

The Advertiser is a friend of the labor movement and has consistently supported the reasonable demands of the organized worker. But it realizes full well, after close contact with citizens of all walks of life, that, with or without justice, there is a feeling in the public mind that the London Street Railway is attempting to use the union as a means of securing advanced fares.

If this idea becomes firmly fixed in the public mind, no amount of argument will disabuse the people of the conviction that the interests of the company are paramount and the interests of the employees secondary.

It is stated that other unions may be involved if the street railway goes out next Wednesday. The result would be to throw the city into industrial chaos and to divide labor on an issue that is not clean-cut nor devoid of the appearance of company interference.

The employees of the company, on the other hand, by a show of some forbearance, can withhold their strike decision until at the earliest opportunity the people of London have an opportunity to vote on the question of increased fares, which is the democratic and satisfactory way of deciding that issue.

The Advertiser believes the employees of the company would quickly reap the benefit of such a decision, and they would enable the city to maintain a street car service and prevent other dislocations in trade.

These men will vote tonight on the question of a strike. The company has the responsibility for the wages paid its men. The men should not permit the company to make the issue a struggle between the community and organized labor.

This is the stand that will win for the employees of the street railway. Let them decide to defer their strike until the citizens as a whole have given their answer at the polls.

Wife Claims Wine, Women and Horses Turned Al's Head

Mrs. Henrietta Jolson Seeks Divorce From Actor Hubby.

Oakland, Cal., June 28.—Alleging that success turned Al Jolson's fancy to "wine, race horses and women," Mrs. Henrietta Jolson today filed a suit for divorce. She says Jolson sent her to California from New York last March, declaring "he loved her better 3,400 miles away."

"He tells me I'm only a small town kid, anyway," she said.

Mrs. Jolson asks $2,000 a month alimony, declaring the comedian's income exceeds 3,400 a week.

News of his wife's divorce suit today failed to jar Al Jolson from his usual good humor.

"Indeed," he said, "It's a surprise to me. Why, I intended leaving in a day or so to spend the summer in California with my wife."

As to the "wine, race horses," etc., Jolson denied he drank, but said he was fond of race horses.

VANCOUVER UNION MEN DECIDE TO CONTINUE STRIKE

Workers Hold Out For Reinstatement of All Strikers.

Vancouver, June 27.—With general strikes elsewhere in Canada practically at an end Vancouver strikers voted five to one this morning, to continue their strike, at a meeting at which 4,473 persons voted. The issue is declared to be the "discrimination" of certain employers who refused to reinstate all strikers without distinction.

PARLIAMENT MEMBER SURRENDERS HIMSELF TO WINNIPEG POLICE

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, June 27.—F. J. Dixon, one of the members for Centre Winnipeg in the Manitoba Legislature, walked into the police station last night at 8 o'clock and gave himself up. A warrant for his arrest was issued early in the week on a charge of sedition. He is in Manitoba jail without bail. Mrs. Helen Armstrong, one of the strike leaders in charge of girls' unions, was admitted to bail last night, $4,000 being the amount demanded.

TORONTO CITIZENS JITNEY OR WALK WHILE STRIKERS "SIT TIGHT" AND AWAIT OFFERS

R. C. Harris, Provisional Manager of Queen City System, Declares There Is No New Proposition To Make To the Men At Present—Legality of Board of Conciliation Is Questioned.

Toronto, June 28.—Citizens of Toronto celebrated peace day by walking and jitneying, as they have been doing for a week. There was no sign of peace between the warring factions connected with the street railway service, which has imposed this hardship on the people. Having definitely rejected the offer of the Ontario Railway Board to pay them 48 cents an hour (maximum), for an eight-hour day, the men are simply sitting tight and awaiting expected further offers of the new manager, R. C. Harris. This authority declared this morning that no further offer had been made to the strikers, and there was, at present, nothing further to be offered.

A question has been raised as to the legality of Judge Barron's board of conciliation, now that the management of the railway has passed into the hands of the Ontario Railway Board. F. H. Phippen, the company's representative on the board of conciliation, declares that his powers are not affected by the change.

In the meantime, it is now hardly possible to have the cars running before Tuesday next at the earliest.

CLEMENCEAU GIVES SCHOOL CHILDREN A "PEACE" HOLIDAY

Paris, June 28.—Today will be a school holiday throughout France in honor of the signing of the peace treaty. Premier Clemenceau, as minister of war, has remitted all punishment in the army, excepting such as corps commanders consider indispensable in the interest of discipline.

Paris will continue its celebration of peace in the evening with military torchlight parades in all the twenty arrondisements of the city.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE FOR PEACE SIGNING SUNDAY IN PARK

London's big Peace Thanksgiving service will be held in Victoria Park on Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, in the vicinity of the bandstand.

This was decided at a hurry-up meeting of joint committees representing the city, military authorities and religious interests held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, presided over by Ald. F. E. Harley in the absence of Mayor C. R. Somerville.

Music will be furnished by one or more bands, familiar hymns will be sung, and short addresses will be delivered by Lieut.-Col. W. H. Emsley, deputed by Brigadier-General Shannon to represent military headquarters, civic representatives and representatives of the Protestant and Catholic churches.

Owing to the short notice for the service, clergymen of all the churches are specially requested by the peace celebration committee to make announcement from their pulpits at their morning services.

JOE MANENTI SAYS "NOT GUILTY"; WILL BE TRIED BY JURY

Charged With Forging American Bank Notes.

Joe Manenti, an Italian and former resident of this city, charged in police court this morning with having forged American bank notes in his possession pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by jury. Preliminary examination of the prisoner will be made on Thursday, July 3, in arrangement with the crown attorney and W. G. Bartram, counsel for the defendant.

Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop intimated two weeks ago during the hearing given Lebert Kresella, a 19-year-old Italian charged with a similar crime and bailed to appear for trial on July 3, that Manenti while he was in London used Kresella as a tool to pass forged bank notes.

Manenti was arrested in Hamilton on Thursday, and brought to this city yesterday after the police had searched a month for him.

Vegetable Growers Visit Gardens of Neighborhood

Members of Association Taken Round In Motor Cars.

Through the kindness of several automobile owners among the vegetable growers in the vicinity of London, members of the London Branch of the Ontario Vegetable Growers and friends to the number of about seventy-five, visited the gardens of F. G. and C. W. Fuller, J. J. Davis, G. W. Bycroft and N. Sanderson, on the afternoon of June 26th. After a critical inspection of these up-to-date gardens all partook of a sumptuous repast provided by the ladies at the home of Mr. Sanderson.

The association has accepted an invitation from the Dominion Seeds Limited, to visit their trial grounds the latter part of July.

It has been decided to hold the annual picnic early in August.

STREET RAILWAYMEN SAY EMPLOYEES OF FACTORIES IN CITY WILL JOIN IN STRIKE

Seem To Think That a Walk-Out Is Inevitable, But Some Aldermen Believe That There Is Still a Chance For Tact To Avert Trouble.

Aldermanic opinion as to the inevitability of a strike of the street car employees following the city council's decision not to grant increased fares without the consent of the municipal electors, was somewhat divided this morning. Ald. Sam Manness and some others are optimistic, and believe that even now, if proper tact is employed, the strike may be averted. The contrary view is also freely expressed.

Almost Inevitable.

Street car men seem to be unanimous in the opinion that the die has now been cast irrevocably, and that a walk-out next Wednesday is almost beyond doubt. Many of them claim also that the employees of several factories are ready to go out in sympathy. They say that so far as their own strike is concerned they will do everything in their power to prevent its being attended by disorder of any kind.

Fear Disorders.

Members of the local trades and labor council express a fear that the strike will be followed by serious industrial disorders. They profess a desire to prevent anything of the kind, but declare that the condition of unrest is so general and has reached such a point that a strike of the street railway employees will almost surely give the necessary impetus to the existing tendency toward widespread revolt against existing conditions.

Council Pledged.

They say also that the trades and labor council is practically pledged, now that the city council has declined to grant the one concession which they believe could have prevented a strike, to stand behind the street railway men in their decision to go out on Wednesday.

Acting Mayor E. S. Little, asked this morning if any action would be taken to try to avoid a strike, expressed the view that the matter was entirely out of the hands of the council, and that nothing could be done.

OPPORTUNITY GIVEN EVERYONE TO TAKE PART IN THE SPORT

Events For Young and Old At St. Andrew's Picnic.

HUNDRED PRIZES GIVEN

Big Family Supper Served Later in Pavilion At Springbank.

Everyone, big and little, in the congregation, ministers, elders, teachers, Sunday school officers, down to the tiniest tot in the primary department, had an opportunity to take part in the program of sports of the annual picnic of St. Andrew's Sunday school, held on Friday afternoon at Springbank Park. For this reason there was exceptional interest in the various events, which occupied over two hours. At the conclusion 100 or more prizes were distributed.

Special cars conveyed the pupils of the school to the park at 2:30 o'clock, scores of other people of the congregation following later, until the outing developed into a regular church picnic.

A big family supper was served in the pavilion by the Ladies' Aid, several hundred enjoying the tempting meal.

The following were the sports and the prize-winners:

Boys, 4 to 6, 25 yards—1 Munro Clark, 2 Oswald Fuller, 3 George McNeill.

Girls, 4 to 6, 25 yards—1 Shirley Thompson, 2 Shirley Fraser, 3 Barbara Culbert.

R. E. O. A. INDULGES IN SARCASM BY RESOLUTION

Departing from the usual solemnity of its meetings, the Real Estate Owners' Association last night passed the following ironical resolution:

Resolved: That whereas there is at present a great demand for modern houses to let, such as red pressed and tapestry brick bungalows with all conveniences, costing from $3,500 to $4,000 that can easily be rented at from $15 to $20 per month, including water rates and taxes;

The association believes it is up the more progressive organizations of the city, such as the Trades and Labor Council, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary and Kindred societies that have done so much to build up London, to undertake this work and never mind any government loans or aid from the old civic cow.

The members of the R. E. O. A. feel that they have had their share of the good things in the housing business, and will be pleased to welcome these brotherly associations into the landlord class, and share a little of the profits which we as individuals have so long enjoyed as a monopoly.

DISTRESS CERTAIN IF HUSBAND MUST STAY AT HOSPITAL

Wife Pleads With Magistrate To Rescind Order.

TUBERCULOSIS TROUBLE

Cecil Haines Will Be Examined Carefully To Determine Condition.

With a sick baby to care for and $75 back rent to pay, Mrs. Cecil Haines, 23 Empress avenue, resents a court order to her husband which may necessitate him becoming a tubercular patient at Victoria Hospital, just when he had begun to regain his health and ability to provide for the family after long sickness.

A baby of the family was buried only two months ago, Mrs. Haines, who came to police court with her husband, and who looked pallid and tired, told the magistrate.

Supposed Open Case.

The husband is charged with disobeying an order of the medical officer of health, Dr. W. S. Downham, to remain in Victoria Hospital until allowed to return to his home. He was diagnosed some time ago as an open, advanced case of tuberculosis, although he insisted this morning that he felt well and was able to work.

Dr. Downham explained that as an open case, Haines was a danger to his family and those with whom he came in contact, to whom it was possible to communicate the disease.

Magistrate Graydon advised Haines to attend next Thursday's clinic at the hospital, where he will be examined by experts in the treatment of the disease who may establish a careful diagnosis and decide whether he is fit to work or whether as a danger to the community he must become a patient in the hospital tubercular ward.

The Great Question.

"But what is to become of my sick baby; and how am I to pay the rent, if Cecil has to go to the hospital?" Mrs. Holmes asked.

Social workers decline to aid the family unless the husband goes to hospital, Dr. Downham told the court.

The magistrate explained to the couple that the husband was in no way to blame, but should have sincere sympathy. He hoped that the examination at the hospital would show that Haines was now a closed or non-infectious case, and could be allowed to resume his work. In the meantime the case was adjourned until July 12, until a report of the hospital clinic is obtained.

Rev. Dr. Johnston To Stay With Church At Montreal

Former London Pastor Withdraws His Resignation.

Montreal, June 28.—That Rev. Dr. Johnston has a secure place in the affections of his congregation was evident not only by the large audience that assembled at the church, but by the enthusiasm with which his announcement that he had, with the unanimous approval of the session of the church, withdrawn his resignation, was received.

Dr. Johnston explained that he had been led to take the step announced last Sunday, hastily, and under evident misapprehension. He expressed his own pleasure in learning his mistake, and was glad that with the entire approval of the session and the board of trustees he was able to make the present announcement.

Applause that must have been most gratifying to Dr. Johnston greeted this statement. Francis McLennan, K. C., John W. Ross and the chairman, Arthur J. Hodgins spoke in the warmest terms of the work which Dr. Johnston had accomplished in the American Church and in the city during the past fifteen years.

The following motion was then proposed by A. E. Middleton Hope, and seconded by Bruce Taylor, and carried unanimously by a standing vote, and with an enthusiasm that was evident in the faces of the large audience.

"Resolved, that this meeting has heard with intense satisfaction Dr. Johnston's statement of his purpose to withdraw his intimation to the session that he would place his resignation in the hands of the Presbytery at a meeting subsequent to June 30. We desire to express our affection for Dr. Johnston and our confidence in him, and our loyalty to the session and the board of trustees, and our desire to co-operate earnestly with them in all the work that lies before us in these days of reconstruction."

Dr. Johnston in thanking the congregation for so warm an expression of loyalty to his leadership, referred to the spirit of unity that was apparent as giving promise of greater blessing in the future than the church had ever enjoyed.

"Never," he said, "since I have known this church have I had such hope for its future as today."

Rev. Dr. Johnston was formerly pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of this city.

HIGHER WAGES FOR FIREMEN AND THEIR OILERS PROPHESIED

Organizer Says U. S. Rate Will Be Equalled.

Addressing a meeting of 200 members of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers in the Duffield block last night, A. A. Woodward of Toronto, second vice-president of the international brotherhood, expressed his belief in the probability of a decided increase in wage scales for stationary firemen and oilers in this country shortly.

The minimum rate in Canada is 55 cents an hour, but it is expected that, at the conclusion of a membership and organization campaign, which is being instituted in this city and throughout the country by Mr. Woodward, the wage scale will equal that now in force in the United States, where the minimum rate is 62½ cents an hour.

The organizer will spend the next ten days in London, and will address another special meeting of the brotherhood next week.

Twelve new members were initiated last night.

J. Mills, representing the Machinists' Union, made a stroug appeal for organization amongst mechanical workers in the city, and asserted that co-operation and close organization were prime necessities for advancement of labor influence and betterment of conditions at the present time.

Former Londoner Will Attempt a Long Flight

Leuit. H. A. Yates Called To Make London To Cairo Trip.

Ottawa, June 28.—To be called upon, on three hours' notice, to fly from London to Cairo, has been the experience of Lieut. Harry A. Yates, an Ottawa boy, according to a cable received yesterday. Since the armistice Lieut. Yates, with Lieut. James Vance, a Toronto boy, has been flying Handley Pages for the Royal Air Force between London and Paris and other continental points in connection with the Peace conference.

His Peace Conference "bus," fitted out like a pullman with electric lights, card tables, intercommunicating telephones with the pilot, wireless telephone and wireless telegraph, was designed to carry twelve passengers and cost in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand dollars. In addition to carrying a number of British Ministers between London and Paris, Lieut. Yates recently brought part of the Belgian Cabinet from Brussels to London and also carried the Argentine Minister from London to the Midlands. His teammate on the Cairo trip is a young Toronto airman, James Vance, who has also made an evitable reputation with these giant planes.

Lieut. Yates is the son of George W. Yates, former city editor of The Advertiser, and now private secretary to Premier R. L. Borden.

CANADIANS BEAT YANKS IN BASEBALL GAME, 2—1

Fine Pitching of Elnie Tate and Clever Fielding Responsible For Victory.

Pershing Stadium, France, June 28.—Canada defeated the United States at baseball today, 2—1. The contest was the only event at the stadium. It was a well-played game, and was heartily cheered by soldiers and sailors. The Canadian victory was largely due to the pitching of Ernie Tate. Canada scored both runs in the last of the fourth. The American score came in the seventh. "Nig" Wright, the Canadian shortstop, played well. Carmel, who played left field on the Canadian team, prevented an American score in the second inning by making a fine running catch.

PECKINPAUGH NOW LEADS BATTERS IN AMERICAN

He Ousts Ty Cobb From High Place Cravatr Has High Mark in Nationals.

Chicago, Ill., June 28.—Roger Peckinpaugh, New York, with an average of .395, has dethroned Ty Cobb, Detroit, for batting honors in the American League, according to averages released today, and which include games of last Wednesday. But Cobb has been out of the line-up all week. As a result, Veach, a team mate, has worked up to a tie with the Georgian for second place, with a mark of .358. Besides leading the batters, Peckinpaugh broke the tie which he shared with Sisler, St. Louis, last week, for runs scored, and is in front now with 41 to his credit. Ruth, Boston slugger, slumped in batting, and dropped to 17th place, with .303. However, he added another home run to his string and leads with six. Chapman, Cleveland, continued to lead sacrifice hitters with 22, while Johnston, a team mate, with 17 stolen bases, continued to show the way to base stealers.

Cravath, Philadelphia, by picking out home runs in the week, leads that department, with eight, and continued leading National League batters who participated in 20 or more games. Cravath's average is .408, acquired on 62 hits, made in 47 games.

Olson, Brooklyn, leads the runmakers with 35, while Bigbee, Pittsburg, continues to lead the base stealers with 18. Lee Magee, Chicago, leads sacrifice hitters with 14.

THEN AND NOW.—At the evening service tomorrow in Ridout Street Methodist Church the pastor, Rev. J. E. Holmes will speak on "One Hundred Years Ago And Now." Miss Mowat will sing and Harry Milligan will play the violin.

TWO YEARS FOR CAPT. A. MINARD, JUDGE DECREES

Strong Plea For Leniency Is Made by Accused in Court.

TERM MAY BE SHORTER

Authorities Can Consider the Case At Any Time and Make Change.

"Under the circumstances, and having due regard for your family, at present it is my duty to impose a sentence of two years in penitentiary," said Judge Talbot Macbeth at the courthouse this afternoon to Capt. Asa Raymond Minard, who a week ago pleaded guilty to three charges of forgery. "I feel very sorry for you, Mr. Minard," the judge had said previously, after hearing the prisoner's plea for leniency. "The crime is a very serious one. You not only stole from the Government, but committed the very serious crime of forgery."

Stood Up Straight.

During the time that he was waiting for the decision of Judge Macbeth, and after it had been handed down, Capt. Minard stood erect, with his hands clasped behind his back. The only time that he made a move at all was when "two years" was mentioned. At this point he clasped and unclasped his fingers.

"In passing sentence upon me," Capt. Minard had said, "I ask you to deal more generously with my family than I have done. Since my son was killed my wife has been in the valley. My boy, who fought and was wounded, is back. I am asking you to consider that burden. He will take my place as head of the family during the period that I am taken away."

May Be Shortened.

His plea for leniency was not for himself, he said, but for his family. He had lost his honor. It was in a moment of weakness that he committed the crime. Captain's pay was not sufficient to give his family all that he wished to give them.

Judge Macbeth, in concluding the case, said that the authorities might at any time look into his case, and if it was thought that he had expiated his crime, the time of his imprisonment would be shortened.

CONDEMNS COMPANY FOR TRYING TO USE COUNCIL AS BUFFER

Ald. Manness Says It Is "Herring Across Trail."

The action of the London Street Railway Company in trying "to use the city council as a buffer between itself and its employees" was severely condemned today by Ald. S. Manness. The company alone, he declared, must be held responsible if a strike occurred. Its action in seeking to throw upon the city onus in connection with the wages paid to its employees, was a definite attempt to draw a herring across the trail, and was no more justified than would be a demand from any stock company that the city council interfere in a dispute between it and its men.

Mr. Manness pointed out that because a company increased its employees' pay it was not thereby automatically able to charge more for its product. That was a matter governed in the case of an ordinary corporation by competition, and in the case of a public utilities corporation must be considered as an entirely separate issue.

YOUNG VICTIM OF ACCIDENT MAKING A GOOD RECOVERY

Tommy Wilson's Escape From Death Miraculous.

Tommy Wilson, 321 Horton street, the 8-year-old boy who was struck on the head by an electric train and thrown over the L. and P. S. R. bridge into the shallow river 50 feet below, yesterday morning, is reported this afternoon to be making very favorable progress at Victoria Hospital, where he is a patient.

Physicians regard the boy's escape from sudden death as miraculous. He is suffering from a severe wound on the scalp, where the steel front of the car struck him, but is not injured in any other respect, except from the effect of nervous shock.

It is believed that the boy struck the water almost flatly after his 50-foot fall, and that the water broke the impetus of the drop, and saved his life. The water where the boy sank was only three feet deep.

Chester McDonald, son of Jerry McDonald, proprietor of the Iroquois Hotel, who was a passenger on the L. and P. S. R. train which struck young Wilson, waded in his clothes into the river and found the injured boy by groping in water up to his waist, and carried the boy to the bank.

"EDITH CAVELL" LODGE FORMED IN THIS CITY

Lillian Burridge Nominated for Position of Worshipful Mistress.

To the memory of Edith Cavell, a ladies' Orange lodge has been formed in the city. The new lodge has been designated Edith Cavell, No. 285.

The grand worthy mistress, Mrs. Jeanie Gordon of Toronto, presided at the excellently attended first meeting held in Orange Hall, Market Lane, on the 20th inst. There was a large number initiated, and the following named officers were nominated for the ensuing year:

Sister Lillian Burridge, worshipful mistress; Sister Lang, deputy mistress; Sister Bolton, chaplain; Sister Allen, financial secretary; Sister Savill, recording secretary; Sister Roach, treasurer; Sister Cornelius, director of ceremonies; Sister McCabe, first lecturer; Sister Lottie Lang, second lecturer; Sister Johnson, inner guard; Bro. Hugh Knight, outer guard; Sister Grosvenor, first committee; Bro. Cross, guardian.

The ladies of Langemarck Lodge assisted in the work of initiation, together with the district master, Bro. J. Carson. In conclusion refreshments were served.

HAS EXCELLENT CHANCE.—The condition of Pte. Arthur Lockhart of the Canadian Garrison Regiment, who was seriously injured while wrestling with a comrade at Carling Heights last week, was today reported to be very favorable, with excellent chances for recovery. Pte. Lockhart is a patient in the Western Ontario Military Hospital at Tecumseh Barracks, suffering from paralysis as a result of an injury to his spine.

Great Increase In Tourist Traffic as Result of Peace

Motors Full of Strangers Pass Every Day Through City.

One effect of the restoration of peace has been the large increase in automobile tourist traffic through the city from the United States this summer. Every day, numbers of motor loads of strangers stop over in town on their way through Western Ontario to American border points.

Owing to the thoroughness with which the London Motor Club has "signed up" the road from Brantford to Windsor, there is little danger now of going astray. Questions in regard to directions have been reduced to a minimum.

One complaint heard daily from strangers is in regard to the roads, coupled with the frequent statement that the Canadian bit of the Roosevelt Memorial Highway through Western Ontario, via London, "can't come to soon."

The London Motor Club is this year continuing its good work of "path-finding" for the travelling public on the highways by placing signs along the roads from London to Ipperwash Beach and Grand Bend.

SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN TEAM BOLTS

J. H. Broadhurst, Veteran, Is Sent To Hospital.

HEAD AND BACK HURT

Jumped From Wagon When Crash With Pole Was Imminent.

James H. Broadhurst, a returned soldier, who resides at 1000 Oxford street, Knollwood Park, was seriously injured shortly after 9 o'clock this morning on Piccadilly street, near Adelaide, when he was thrown from a wagon driven by Albert Marshall, of Dalton P.O., when the team drawing the vehicle ran away. Broadhurst alighted heavily on the pavement, striking his head, inflicting a large gash on the top of his skull, and a bad scalp wound at the back. In addition to the above injuries he is suffering severely from shock, with contusions to his back and abdomen.

When picked up by spectators of the accident, Broadhurst was semi-conscious, and insisted on being taken to his home when the police ambulance arrived. In the meantime first aid was rendered by Corp. Boyd of the Army Medical Corps, and J. Wonnacott, an expert in first aid work, who witnessed the accident. Dr. D. L. Douglass of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Commission, Vocational Branch, was summoned and latter attended to the injured man.

Sent to Hospital.

He ordered him into hospital, and Broadhurst was removed to the Western Ontario Military Hospital at Tecumseh Barracks this afternoon, where several stitches in his head will be necessary to close the wounds.

In Serious Condition.

Dr. Douglass stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that Broadhurst was in a serious condition, but that he would recover unless complications set in. Broadhurst, who is taking a vocational course, following his discharge from the army, was proceeding down town from Knollwood Park this morning. Marshall passed, driving a team, with two wagons, one of which vehicle being hitched at the rear. He asked Broadhurst if he wished a ride, and being late for his course the injured man accepted the invitation and mounted the driver's seat with Marshall.

Had to Jump.

When turning from Elizabeth street on to Piccadilly the wagon jolted, knocking Marshall, who was driving, off the seat and down on to the shaft. The jerk on the reins frightened the team, and they bolted. Marshall falling off the wagon and escaping injury. Near Adelaide street the team attempted to cut the corner between a post and tree, and seeing that a crash was inevitable Broadhurst jumped, striking his head on the pavement with the above results.

The runaway team dragged the overturned wagon around the block, and was brought to a stop when it struck another telegraph pole smashing the wagon badly. The rear wagon became detached before the impact, and was not damaged.

Broadhurst served overseas for three years with No. 2 Field Ambulance, and was recently invalided home as a result of a serious illness. His bride came to London from her home in England [illegible] last month.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

DEATH OF JOHN FOSLETT.

John Foslett, husband of Catherine Ann Foslett, died at his home, lot 8, Harris street, Delaware, on Thursday. He was in his 69th year. The funeral will be held on Sunday at 2 p.m., to Delaware Cemetery, where interment will take place. Services will be conducted at 1:30 o'clock.

LATE MRS. BARNES.

The death took place at the family residence, 14 Hyatt avenue, on Thursday afternoon, of Mrs. Amy Barnes, wife of A. F. Barnes. Mrs. Barnes had been in her usual health, and was taken suddenly ill and expired in a short time. She was born at Mount Brydges 57 years ago. She is survived by her husband, three sons and four daughters, also one sister, Mrs. N. Tait, city, and three brothers, Edward Tole, Petrolea, Robert of Wallaceburg and James of West Lorne. The funeral will be held from the family residence on Saturday morning to the G. T. R. depot. Interment will be made at Petrolea, Ont., at which place the family resided before coming to this city. She was a member of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church.

NURSERY RHYMES

For All the Little Children Who Dance to the Tune of the Profiteers.

BY JOHNNY TROTTER.

Sing a song of profiteers!
A pocket full of pelf!
He takes away the poor man's hide.
And thinks he's skinned himself!

* * *

The king was in the counting house,
Counting out his money;
Along there came a profiteer—
The rest is simply funny!

* * *

Little Bo Peep had lost her sheep,
And didn't know where to find them,
They'd met the textile gentlemen,
And left their wool behind them.

* * *

Little Bob Borden,
Sat with the warden,
Eating his dividends pie;
He sank in his thumb,
For a fifty per plum
And said: "What a premier am I!"

* * *

Jack and Jill
Went up the hill,
To get a few buckets of water,
For the soup was too thick,
And they thinned it out quick;
And the stock soon went up by a quarter.

* * *

Ba! Ba! black sheep!
Have you any wool?
Yes, sir! Yes, sir! Three bags full!
Some for Lord Textile,
And some for his dame,
But none for the public, and no one's to blame!

* * *

Hickery, dickery dock!
The mouse ran up the clock!
The clock struck two
And then 'twas through;
The mouse went on strike, too.

* * *

Hi! Diddle! Diddle!
The cat and the fiddle,
The butter jumped over the spoon,
The profiteer laughed to see such sport,
And then he grabbed for the moon.

* * *

Sing a song o' sixpence,
A pocket full of gold,
Four and twenty profiteers,
Singing, "Boys Be Bold!"

* * *

Rich man, poor man, beggarman, thief,
That's enough! Somebody,
Please call the chief.

* * *

Poor Mother Hubbard
Went to the cupboard,
To get her poor dog some bacon;
But, arrived at the spot,
The cupboard was not—
If it isn't nailed down it is taken.

* * *

There was an old woman
Who lived in a shoe,
She had so many children,
There were other reasons, too.
So she gave them a spanking,
And sent them to bed,
With the prayers of the profiteers.

Sunny Side of Market Attracts Most of Those Who Are Out To Get 'Bargains' Straight From Producer

Gooseberries and Raspberries Make First Appearance, the Latter Being "Only" 40 Cents a Box — Eggs Keep High in Price.

"Keep on the sunny side," seemed to be the slogan over at the Saturday market this forenoon, the public apparently having developed a catlike desire to bask in the sunshine and chase the chills out of the bones.

Especially was this the case among several people who had taken long drives in from the country in the early morning hours.

"Beats everything the way the weather can change so suddenly," remarked the War Bread lady as she counted out a "batch" of the strictly fresh eggs, laid within the past two days, for one of the people paying her two cents a dozen more than was being asked farther down the line.

"Why should eggs be forty-eight cents a dozen the end of June?" inquired a bargain hunter. "Are the hens turning profiteers also?"

"The hens are quitting laying," was the reply. "I get one dozen eggs a day now where I was getting three dozen a while ago. The hens are taking a summer rest."

The Question.

Strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries, cherries were among the tempting offerings, the housewife finding it difficult to decide whether she would pay a dollar a basket for "common ordinary red cherries," a dollar and a quarter for white cherries, or two dollars a basket for black cherries, or wait for a drop in price.

She remembered a Tuesday a few weeks ago when friends told her she was silly to pay 20 cents a box at that time of year for strawberries, but she bought berries, plump and firm, and has been thanking her lucky stars ever since. She could have had berries today for less money from some dealers, berries small, soft and watery for 18 cents, or berries only slightly better for 23 or 25 cents.

Green gooseberries. She seized upon them at two boxes for 25 cents with vision of jars filled with delectable, jelly-like gooseberry jam. A little farmer on she was asked 20 cents a box for larger gooseberries, but she figured it out that she had bought to good advantage, and she wondered anew at the diversity of prices to be found within a few yards at a Saturday morning's market.

Raspberries made their debut, a small quantity of rather small red berries, which the smiling owner announced were "just 40 cents a box."

"Only."

There were green peas "only" 50 a quart shelled, or two quarts for 25 cents in the pod; three bunches of beets, 25 cents, and in the good old-fashioned way the people who have these things growing right in their own back yards stopped to ask the prices just for the satisfaction of finding out how much they were saving and gloating over it.

One exhibit round on the west side of the market house appealed to different people in different ways, according to temperament and prejudice. It was a business-like looking little cage of Japanese mice, screened with wire, one panel of the door left confidingly open to invite escape.

"What darling little things," gushed one woman as she paused to watch the clean little animals of pure white and dainty buff yellow and white, with their long tails, pointed ears, sharp little noses and bead-like eyes.

"They don't all say that," said the proprietor and guardian of the Japanese mice. Some of the people give a holler the minute they catch sight of the mice and jump clear to the other side of the walk. They act as if you couldn't hire them to come round this side of the market house again."

LOCAL NEWS

CORONA COMING.—On July 4 the transport Corona is due at Halifax, with 7 officers and 157 other ranks.

MAKING MONEY. — The London-Lambeth bus is doing business on Yonge street, Toronto, and reports say it is making about $200 a day for the company which leased it there.

ANOTHER THEFT. — Thieves entered the barber shop of J. H. Karn, 653 Dundas street, and left with several razors and a box of cigars. The police are working on the case.

LONDON MEN ON ORDUNA.—London men aboard the Orduna, which docked Friday at Halifax, are: A. W. Brownlee, F. G. Grayson, F. W. Greenwood, W. Haigh, Corp. F. G. James, G. Milliken and C. J. Blake of 17 Roberts avenue.

BOARD MEETING WEDNESDAY.—The board of education will meet on Wednesday of next week. The date of the meeting ordinarily would fall on Tuesday, but as that day is a public holiday, the board has decided to postpone the meeting until the next day.

SPECIAL SERVICES.—Special Dominion Day services will be held on Sunday in the First Methodist Church. Rev. Dr. Peever will preach in the morning on "The New Testament and Nations and the Treaty of Peace." At night his theme will be "Confederation, Canada and the New Era."

MAURICE GOOTSON CHARGED.—Maurice Gootson, junk peddler of 41 Maitland street, charged by License Inspector J. E. Keenside, under section 40 of the Ontario temperance act, with having liquor for sale without a license, will appear on Thursday. Gootson had his case adjourned by police magistrate Graydon in court yesterday.

SINCERE THANKS.—The sisters in charge of Mount St. Joseph Orphanage extend sincere thanks to the gentlemen of the London Motor Club who so generously devoted time and money to contribute to the happiness of the little ones of the institute yesterday. Needless to say the children enjoyed the afternoon very much, not only the ride itself, but the ice cream, candy, etc., to which they were treated so wholeheartedly.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT.—Successful, financially and otherwise, was the concert held in the Chestnut Green Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the Lend-a-Hand Class. The program, which was an exceptionally fine one, follows: Mrs. J. Branch, Miss Headley, Miss Park, George Jackson and Mrs. Jackson, solos: Miss Edith Maitland, readings. George Lethbridge accompanied on the piano. After the concert those on the program and the old people of the church were served with refreshments. The proceeds of the concert will be devoted to the purchase of a piano for the church.

TREATS FOR KIDDIES.—The London Motor Club this week made a number of little children happy through giving the annual June treat to the wards of the Protestant Orphans Home, Mount St. Josephs and the Thomas Alway Hall Home. Thursday afternoon the children from the Protestant Home and the Children's Aid Shelter were taken for an automobile drive all round the paved streets, a stop being made at Victoria Park during the grand hour when ice cream was served and a half pound box of taffy given to each child. A similar program was carried out on Friday afternoon for the little people of the Mount St. Joseph Orphanage.

LADY JEAN HOOPER FOUND GUILTY; HER SENTENCE DELAYED

Counsel Pleads She Is Really a Crusader.

Rev. Lady Jean Hooper was found guilty of fortune-telling this morning by Judge Talbot Macbeth, who was trying the case at the courthouse. She will appear again on Monday, July 7, when J. M. McEvoy, her counsel, will make application for leniency. In the meantime Judge Macbeth will present a statement of the grounds on which he found the prisoner guilty to her counsel.

"I submit that the woman emigrated to the country as a missionary of the Spiritualist Church," said Mr. McEvoy. "Her evidence is in a sense the strongest evidence of the crown," he added, in stating that she did not wish to deceive anyone.

A Crusader.

She had left a good home in England rather than give up her belief. She was as much a Crusader as the men who had given up their lives in establishing their faith. Present-day spiritualism was a new interpretation of the old belief. Int Acts xxii, verses 17, and 18, he said, St. Paul had gone into a trance and seen Christ.

People were always incredulous regarding new things. If a man had come and landed in Newfoundland fifty years ago and told the people that he had flown from Ireland in an airplane he would have been prosecuted.

Other Miracles.

Mr. McEvoy said that Lady Jean did not know what she was saying when in a trance, and was therefore not responsible. Some years ago a man had been on exhibition in a local window while in trance state. He had held a large boulder on his chest which he could not have done ordinarily. If the physical powers could be made greater, why could not the mental powers? was his question.

"When a person tells me that she has a familiar spirit who infallibly answers any question, I can't beleive it," said Judge Macbeth.

RODE BOX CAR, BEING HARD UP FOR MONEY

Joseph Atfield, only three weeks out of the army, after serving in France, rode in a Grand Trunk box car from Brantford to this city, because, he told the magistrate in police court today, he had spent his first month's war gratuity on clothes and other necessary civilian articles, and did not care to buy a ticket to travel when he could ride free in a box car.

When the train arrived here it was found that the box car in which Atfield was found had been broken open, and merchandise was missing. A bad report of Atfield's character followed him from the Brantford police, but he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

SALUTE OF 101 GUNS ORDERED TO BE FIRED AT HEIGHTS TONIGHT

Will Mark Signing of Peace Terms At 5 o'Clock.

FOUR GUNS TO BE USED

Crews Will Be in Charge of Corp. Chambers of Ordnance.

A peace salute of 101 guns will be fired at Carling Heights today at 5 p.m., in honor of the signing of the peace treaty, and this is regarded at military headquarters here as the greatest number of guns ever fired at one time in this city. The firing will be directed by Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, A. A. G., M. D. No. 1, who has had considerable overseas service in the artillery, and gun crews have been selected from miscellaneous artillery details at Carling Heights Camp. These will be in charge of Corp. Chambers of the Ordnance Corps, assisted by Sergt.-Major McSherry.

Four Guns.

The guns to be used this afternoon are 4.5-inch howitzers, and they will be fired at 20-second intervals, the firing to last about thirty minutes, unless an unforeseen accident occurs. The guns will be directed to face the C. P. R. tracks, and will be situated on the hill overlooking the old rifle ranges at Carling Heights. Members of the military police will be on duty to prevent the crowd from approaching the danger zone, as although blank charges are to be fired, no person will be allowed to approach within reasonable distance of the muzzles of the howitzers during the salute.

Lieut.-Col. Brown will be assisted by Capt. J. N. Cantin of the Army Ordnance Corps, and other officers. It is quite likely also that Brig.-Gen. L. W. Shannon, C.M.G., officer commanding this military district, will be present during the firing of the salute. The Canadian Garrison Brass Band will be in attendance.

Ordered by Ottawa.

Orders came through today from Ottawa authorizing the firing of the peace salute, and the original intention a military headquarters here was to fire the guns at noon, but no official confirmation from Ottawa of the signing of peace could be secured at that time. A similar peace salute will be fired at every military centre throughout the Dominion of Canada today, according to information given out at Wolseley Barracks, and this salute is one of the largest ever fired in Canada, a royal salute fired on the King's birthday consisting of only 21 guns, or about one-fifth the number to be fired today.

THANKS!

In less than twenty minutes more than half a dozen telephone calls came to The Advertiser, and the tenor of all questions was the same:

"We wish to know from The Advertiser if the news of the signing of peace is official?"

The Advertiser appreciated the unspoken compliment.

TREATY OF PEACE

will take the first places on the benches provided for privileged guests invited to the ceremony, but the fifteen privates from each of the principal armies will stand within the inclosure reserved for the plenipotentiaries and high officials of the conference as the visible sign of their role in bringing into being a new Europe. The soldiers will stand in the embrasures of the windows overlooking the chateau park, a few feet from their commander-in-chief, Marshal Foch, who will be seated with the French delegation at the peace table.

Ceremony To Be Short.

The ceremony of signing the treaty will be shorter than expected, as most of the seventy-two plenipotentiaries will have to write their names only twice, once on the treaty and once on the protocol containing changes and interpretations of the parent instrument. The convention covering the left bank of the Rhine and the treaties regarding the protection of minorities in Poland will be signed only by the delegates of the great powers.

Even the full number of seventy-two may not sign the treaty, since the Chinese have indicated that they are opposed to signing the instrument on account of the Shantung settlement.

Arrangements were made by the French authorities to keep the hour of the arrival of the German plenipotentiaries and officials secret, it being desired to keep it from the public so that the possibility of a repetition of the unpleasant incidents attending the departure of the old delegation from Versailles might be avoided.

LLOYD GEORGE WILL ADDRESS HOUSE ON PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Paris, June 28.—The text of the peace treaty will be presented to the Chamber of Deputies on July 1 by Premier Clemenceau, the Echo de Paris says. Former Premier Viviani is said to have been intrusted with the drawing up of the general report of the treaty.

Premier Lloyd George, the paper adds, will address the British House of Commons on July 1 on the peace negotiations.

$40 FINE OR ONE MONTH IN JAIL IS PENALTY HERE FOR TELLING FORTUNES

Mrs. Mary Lane Found Guilty by Judge.

MAY CONTINUE LECTURES

Judge Asks Questions About Husband and Son, Said To Be Killed.

After having been found guilty by Judge Talbot Macbeth at the court house this morning of telling fortunes, Mrs. Mary Lane was fined $40 with an option of one month in jail.

E. W. Flock, her counsel, submitted that the evidence was not sufficient to convict his client. The two witnesses of the crown were not bona fide ones, as they had been sent by the police for the purpose of trapping her. She did not deceive them, for they could not be deceived.

"My client is practicing her religion, the same as everyone in this free country is entitled to do," he said. It was his opinion that the conversation between the accused and the witnesses was ordinary conversation. She was talking to them as one mother would to another about her children.

Voluntary Offerings.

Regarding the taking of money that was given voluntarily, he said, "The Salvation Army tells a man if he cuts out 'the booze' he will be much better, and then passes the plate."

"Every missionary has been persecuted by those who do not understand."

"Spiritualism is growing in England, the United States, and Canada.

"She took a voluntary offering, as is done in church. If she made a charge she would be wealthy today."

When Mr. Flock proceeded to mention the fact that her husband was dead, Judge Macbeth interrupted. He called upon Mrs. Lane to come forward.

"When did your husband die?" he queried.

"Fifteen years ago," she answered.

Judge Had Heard Things.

"I heard that he left you in Strathroy twelve years ago."

"Oh, my, no! He died in England. I never came to this country until seven years ago.

"Your son was killed in action?" he asked.

"Yes."

"I heard you had not a son killed. Where was he killed?"

"He was killed in France on the day of the armistice."

"What regiment was he with?"

"He was with an English regiment. I think it was the Army Service Corps."

Judge Macbeth promised that he would deal lightly with her if she would assure him that she would not charge money for telling fortunes or accept voluntary offerings for telling them. She wanted to know if she could still continue to lecture on spiritualism, as she had supported herself by doing that.

"You can lecture as much as you like, you can teach as much as you like, practice your religion, charge as much for your lectures as you like, and draw as large a crowd as you can," answered the judge.

New York, June 28.—Financial Review.—Another flurry in call loans, which duplicated the previous week's maximum rate of 15 per cent. and the approaching signing of the peace treaty, removing certain long-existing speculative elements, gave this week's stock market a partial setback but losses were largely recovered later, when easier monetary conditions were restored. Recurrence of money stringency was attributed to the heavy mid-year requirements for account of interest and dividend payments, these causing large withdrawals of funds by interior banks.

With the virtual conclusion of the work of the peace conference renewed attention was drawn toward the many economic and industrial problems which are expected to accompany post-bellum conditions. Trading declined perceptibly in volume as prices receded, but became active again, speculation assuming broader dimensions, especially in steels, coppers, equipments and numerous industrials, including food and chemical issues. Rails were again in the background, excepting several of the low grade shares, the investment division being retarded by delay of federal legislation, but earnings in the main continue fairly satisfactory. Suspension of the dividend on Baltimore and Ohio common, that action having been taken in connection with the new bond issue, also tended to restrain operations for the rise in transportations.

There was heavy export of gold to South America and Spain this week, the movement to the latter country being the first since the removal of the embargo on precious metals.

STOCK MARKET IS STRENGTHENED BY PEACE SIGNING

New York, June 28.—Announcement of the signing of the peace treaty had little perceptible effect on trading in the stock market here today except a manifestation of increased strength. Prices among leaders, especially the so-called peace industrials, had already scored gains of 1 to 4 points in anticipation of the news.

In financial circles generally, the announcement was received with quiet satisfaction but without comment.

London Council Turns Down Increased Fare and Decides To Take a Plebiscite.

SERVICE AND SPEED

Company Must Restore Regulation Schedule on System at Regular Intervals.

The city council last evening voted down a motion by Ald. W. A. Wilson to put into immediate effect an agreement with the London Street Railway Company for increased fares on the basis of the Trades and Labor Council's recent recommendation, and adopted a recommendation from No. 1 committee to submit to the municipal electors the question or granting such increase.

The council also adopted the recommendation of the committee that notice be served on the company to discontinue its non-compliance with the order and direction of the city engineer regarding speed and service, and passed resolution on motion by Ald. S. Manness, seconded by Ald. L. S. Holmes, instructing the city solicitor, in case of refusal on the part of the company to conform to the order, within ten days after receipt of the notice, to take the necessary legal steps to enforce the penalty, which is cancellation of the franchise.

Railwaymen Say Strike.

John Ashton, who attended the meeting as a representative of the executive of the Street Railway Employees' Union, stated that the council's action would unquestionably be followed by a strike of the street car men next Wednesday, and Sergt. Fred Young of the Trades and Labor Council declared that that body would stand behind the street car men in their action. He also expressed the opinion that the trouble would not end with the street car strike, but would involve many of the factories and possibly lead to very serious disturbances and sympathetic strikes.

Submit To Electors.

A recommendation to submit to the electors at the same time as the street car fare question, the question of the disposal of the federal square site and the selection of a site for the new city hall was defeated by a vote of the council. A fourth recommendation that the Prince of Wales be invited to visit London was adopted, and the question of a peace celebration was left with power in the hands of the mayor and Ald. Little and Harley, who will confer with the ministerial alliance before deciding on a course of action.

Heated Discussions.

The committee's recommendations were taken up one by one, and each of those dealing with street railway matters precipitated a heated and lengthy discussion, in which not only the members of the council, but the street railway's solicitor, the president of the chamber of commerce, and representatives of the Trades and Labor Council and the Street Railwaymen's Union participateed.

Peace Celebration.

The peace celebration matter was disposed of first. Rev. Byron Snell appeared as a spokesman for the ministerial alliance, and stated that the alliance had planned to hold a mass religious service to mark the signing of the peace treaty. He suggested that some other day than Sunday would be better choice, since if the pact were signed on Saturday the notice would be very short in which to make preparation for a mas service on the following day, and the ordinary Sunday work of the ministers would be interfered with. He stated that the alliance would work in complete accord with the representatives chosen by the council.

The first recommendation referring to street railway matters in No. 1 committee's report was to the effect that notice should be served on the company forthwith to comply with the order and direction of the city engineer issued on August 2 of last year. Ald. E. S. Little presented the report, but its adoption was moved by Ald. Holmes, who, in undertaking to do this, said: "If Ald. Little wants to hedge on the moving of the adoption of the recommendation I don't mind doing it."

Ald. Little promptly replied to this with the statement that he was not trying to hedge, but he did not feel inclined to move the adoption of a recommendation, the acceptance of which would mean that, in the event of non-compliance, the only alternative would be cancellation of the franchise. He said he did not feel disposed to take responsibility for saddling the city with any such burden as taking over the street railway.

Acrimonious Discussion.

A rather acrimonious discussed ensued between Ald. O. G. Keene and City Solicitor T. G. Meredith. The former asked what had been done last year to enforce obedience to the city engineer's order, and whether it was not a fact that the solicitor had been asked for advice and had professed inability to give it.

Mr. Meredith replied that last year he had been asked only whether the city could enforce the penalty of $10 a day for refusal to comply with the order, and his reply had been that the city could not. The $10 penalty referred to an entirely different matter than the speed and service regulation.

"You knew what we wanted," said Ald. Keene. "Why did you not tell us what we could do. If the committee knows now what can be done to compel obedience, why did it not know last year. I am tired of sitting here and being made a monkey of because the city solicitor will not tell us what we can or cannot do."

"I was not asked," replied Mr. Meredith, and he went on to say that he did not know what the committee wanted. For all he knew the committee might not have wanted to enforce the order.

Ald. Holmes said that the position last year was that the council took the word of one man that the $10 penalty could be enforced in connection with the service regulations, and the city solicitor, who had been instructed to collect this penalty, had replied that the council had no power to collect it. It was not the solicitor, but the members of the council who made monkeys of themselves by not knowing their own bylaw.

Altercation Incepted.

An altercation on a new phase of the subject was intercepted when Ald. Colbert said he would like some information as to what the council was now asked to vote upon.

"It's in plain English," said Ald. Holmes.

"Then why has it taken six months for the special committee to find it out?" asked Ald. Keene. He expressed the opinion that the special committee had done nothing but bungle since it was appointed. Ald. Holmes retorted that the committee had been engaged on the present matter for only two weeks, and any delay that had occurred was due to the interference of the council, which tried to tell the committee when and whether it had finished its business.

Exception Taken.

C. H. Ivey, solicitor for the street railway company, asked permission to say a few words, and having been granted the permission, took exception to the fact that the special committee which had conferred with the management of the railway company was now asking the council to vote on a single matter without hearing the report of what the committee had done during its interviews with the company.

Ald. Wilson said he, for one, wanted to know what proposal the company had made to the special committee before he would be prepared to vote in the present issue. Ald. Holmes pointed out that all the proceedings of the committee were recorded in the minutes, and he expressed the opinion that any alderman who had not made himself familiar with the record was derelict in his duty to the citizens.

Mr. Ivey was then invited to tell the council what proposals the company had made to the committee, and he proceeded to read the proposition already reported in The Advertiser in connection with the recent meeting of the committee. In his first sentence Mr. Ivey ran afoul of the mayor, who attempted to dispose of the first phase of the committee's dealings with the company by saying that as no responsible person was present at the interview this first phase had been left over.

Mayor and Solicitor.

Mayor Somerville—That was the matter of the purchase of the street railway. You say no responsible person was present. Did I not tell you at the time that you could deal with me?

Mr. Ivey—I should have said no authorized person. I am prepared to deal with you at any time.

The Mayor—I am ready.

Mr. Ivey—But it will have to be on condition that you undertake a certain obligation on your part. I am prepared to talk purchase to you on a business basis.

The Mayor—That is the only basis on which it would be considered.

Mr. Ivey declared that in his opinion, which he said was upheld by several of the leading legal authorities in Toronto, the council did not need to go to the people before taking action. He had been quoted as assenting to Mr. Meredith's opinion to the contrary. This was not true. He had suggested in conversation with the special committee that the company would be prepared to hear the cost of defending any action which might be taken to declare the council's action illegal. He had done this simply to back up his statement that he believed the council did not need to consult the people first.

Mr. Ivey added that in all the meetings in connection with the street car situation he had never heard of the question of the council's right to act without a vote of the people, and he could not understand why London's council should "take this lordly stand of saying 'We have no power, and must go to the people first.'"

The Mayor—It surely is not lordly action to consult the will of the people. That is the most democratic way of doing it that I know of."

His worship expressed the view that the matter of increased wages for the men was not an affair of the city, but one entirely between the company and the men.

In reply to a question by Ald. Manness as to whether the company favored consulting the people, Mr. Ivey replied that delay was too dangerous. The damage would be done within five days, whereas taking a vote would necessitate a delay of at least five weeks.

On Behalf of C. of C.

George M. Reid, speaking on behalf of the chamber of commerce, urged the council to take immediate action to prevent the threatened strike. He asked the council to grant the increase in fares on the ground that every man who sold anything was getting more today for his goods than he was thirty years ago, and that the company, therefore, should be entitled also to an advance. It is impossible to get a real expression of public opinion at the polls in the summer time. He did not want to see a strike, and he could not see why the council had not enough backbone to act on its own initiative in the interest of the whole city.

The mayor asked Mr. Reid if he had seen the company's financial statement, and Ald. Cunningham interjected the remark that the company's profits during the last two years had been $150,000 more than in the year preceding, although the same number of cars only were in commission, and the same number of men were employed.

Ald. Holmes pointed out that there was a law in the land, and he stated that the law declared that the fares charged by the London Street Railway Company could not be increased without the consent of the citizens.

The mayor: "We are more anxious than the company that the men's pay should be increased, but we must act legally in the matter. You accuse the council of lacking backbone, Mr. Reid, but you would have it become even more slack by doing something illegal."

Vote Taken.

The vote on the recommendation regarding the service order was then taken, the ayes and nays being recorded. The result was as follows:

Ayes: Ald. Manness, Harley, Holmes, Watkinson, Wilson, Cunningham, Moorehead, Drake, Seabrook and Colbert.

Nayes: Ald. Little and Keene.

Ald. Manness then moved that, in the event of the company refusing to comply with the city engineer's order within ten days, the solicitor be instructed to take the necessary legal proceedings. Ald. Little, Keene and Wilson voting no on this question, the remainder of the aldermen casting affirmative votes.

The recommendation to take a vote of the municipal electors on the question of granting increased fares was then read by Ald. Little, and again it was left to Ald. Holmes to move its adoption. Immediately Ald. Wilson rose with an amendment to instruct the city solicitor to prepare immediately a bylaw to be put into effect forthwith, readjusting the fare schedule in such a way as to provide six tickets for a quarter instead of seven and eight, as at present, and on condition that the regular tickets be accepted as fares on Sunday in the city and that the week-day Springbank fare be accepted for Sunday service on the Springbank route; and on condition also that the company agree to give the major portion of the increase to the employees in the form of increased wages; and on condition that the company agree to restore the cars recently withdrawn from the service and that the company agree to do certain paving work on its right-of-way.

Later Mr. Wilson agreed to certain modifications of his motion, including an amendment of the service clause to specify service to be directed by the city engineer, and a change in the clause respecting the proportion to be paid to the men to make this read a proportion satisfactory to the men.

In moving the resolution, Ald. Wilson said he had seen one street railway strike in London, and he did not want to see another. He believed that the council would pass a bylaw such as was suggested in the resolution, and have it made legal by the Ontario Railway Board. Thirty-six other municipalities had granted street car fare increases, and he did not see why London could not do the same.

Ald. Holmes declared that the profits last year of the street railway company, which was now pleading financial embarrassment, amounted to $44,948, or enough to provide wage increases for all its men of 5 cents an hour. The matter of wage increases was one between the company and the men. The company had been asked several times for an option price on its stock, and had declined to give it. It had argued that the council had no power to purchase the road. If the company were in such a bad way as was represented, one might have expected that it would be more than willing to get rid of its stock but it did not seem to be anxious to do this. The bylaw under which the company operated was a solemn and binding agreement, which the company had violated more than once, and yet it came to the city and asked that another agreement be made. It offered in return for increased fares as gracious gifts actually less than the city had the right to demand under its covenant.

Ald. Holmes went on to say that the last street railway strike in London cost the company, according to its own showing, enough to pay a full year's operating expenses. Another one would cost it as much as would provide an increase of 5c an hour to all its men for four or five years. The men were entitled to more money, but if the council passed the bylaw suggested by Ald. Wilson anyone who traveled on the street cars would have the law behind him if he chose to refuse to pay the increased fare.

L. and P. S. Fares.

Ald. Wilson asked why it was that the London and Port Stanley fares had been raised without a vote of the people if the same thing could not be done in the case of the street railway company. The mayor pointed out that the owners of the road increased the L. and P. S. fares. His worship also pointed out that the argument that other municipalities had granted increases was no criterion of the correct action for the city council of London. The agreements in the other municipalities might be quite different from that in effect here.

John Ashton, representing the street railway employees, said their fight was not with the city, but with the company. The agreement they signed this year did not prevent them reopening the question of wages, even if the council did not grant increased fares. If the men did not get what they were asking they would certainly tie up the service next Wednesday. They were particularly determined that the six cars withdrawn from the service should be restored, so that the eighteen men who had lost their runs as a result of the withdrawal of these cars would be reinstated.

Try To Prevent Strike.

R. H. Hessell, speaking for the trades and labor council, declared that if the members of the city council knew the inner workings of organized labor they would do anything within their power to prevent a strike. If a street car strike were allowed to develop, the city would find that it would be faced with a very serious situation. Other labor bodies were on the brink of a revolt, and this might supply the motive power to push them over the brink. He did not want to see a duplication of the conditions which had developed in Winnipeg.

Fred Young, corroborating Mr. Hessel's serious view of the situation, said that if a strike occurred on Wednesday, the council by is refusal to grant increased fares would have undone the work of the trades and labor council since the beginning of the year in preventing the success of pretending labor men who had sought to foment trouble.

Ald. Cunningham asked whether the trades and labor council or the executive of the street railwayman's union would be prepared to give a written guarantee that, if increased fares were granted by the council, no strike would take place. Mr. Ashton said the executive would certainly give the undertaking.

Then Ald. Cunningham proceeded to disclose the reason for his question. He said that if the company carried out its part of the bargain suggested by Ald. Wilson, which was considerably less than the city could demand as its right already, it would cost $20,000 additional to pay the men who would be reinstated through the replacing on the service of the six cars cut off; the extra cost of the service for maintenance and operation would amount to $15,000 more; another $15,000 would be eaten up by the pavement construction set forth as a minimum; and a 2-cent increase for the men would account for $25,000, making a total of $65,000, the maximum increase in revenue which the company would derive from the increased fares proposed. The street railway employees, through their representatives, had already stated that they would not be content with an increase of 2 cents an hour. Therefore either the company would be unable to live up to its new agreement or the men would not be able to get the increase demanded, and the fight would be on again.

Mr. Ashton later on stated that the increase the men were demanding amounted to 7 cents an hour.

Suggests Company Take Chance.

Ald. Cunningham suggested that, if the company was so sure of its ground that it was willing to stand the cost of any legal action launched to declare the proposed agreement illegal, it might take a chance itself and charge a higher rate of fares without any bylaw authorizing this. After the vote had been taken on the resolution Ald. Little, seconded by Ald. Harley, moved that the company be notified that the council would not object to its putting the suggested increases into operation on its own responsibility. The motion was never put to the meeting, however, as Mr. Ivey declared that the company company would not be doing anything the company would be contravening a bylaw in doing so. The proposal was childish. If a bylaw were enacted the company would no the doing anything illegal until the bylaw were declared invalid, but without a bylaw it could be attacked at any time.

Asked to State Opinion.

Mr. Meredith was asked to state his opinion on the legality of the action proposed by Mr. Wilson, and reiterated his former opinion that the council could not legally act without a vote of the people. Even then the council would have to obtain the indorsation of the Legislature, but this could be anticipated with safety.

The votes on Ald. Wilson's resolution and the committee's recommendation were recorded as follows:

For the resolution: Ald. Little, Harley, Drake, Wilson and Colbert.

Against the resolution: Ald. Manness, Holmes, Watkinson, Cunningham, Keene, Moorehead and Seabrook.

For the committee's recommendation: Ald. Little, Harley, Holmes, Watkinson, Cunningham, Moorehead and Seabrook.

Against the recommendation: Ald. Manness, Keene, Drake, Wilson and Colbert.

The vote on the proposal to send the question of the federal square and city hall site to the people at the same time as the street railway matter was as follows:

For: Ald. Manness, Harley, Holmes and Watkinson.

Against: Ald. Keene, Moorehead Drake, Wilson, Seabrook, Colbert and Cunningham.

Ald. Little was out of the room when this vote was taken.

AUDITORIUM CROWDED AT CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC GRADUATION

Degrees of Associate and Licentiate Conferred Upon Several Students.

The interest of the public in the graduation exercises of the London Conservatory of Music and School of Elocution, held last evening, was manifested by the great audience which crowded the Y. M. C. A. auditorium to the doors for the event.

In addition to the presentation of special medals and prizes the degrees of associate and licentiate of the London Conservatory of Music were conferred upon several students in pianoforte and singing. Miss Gladys McEvoy receiving her diploma as a fellow of the London Conservatory of Music in singing, and Misses Olive Shaddock and Florence McConnell, teachers' diplomas.

Rev. G. Q. Warner, introduced by Principal F. L. Willgoose, was the speaker of the occasion, delivering an address which combined in most palatable proportions wit, humor, philosophy, common sense in regard to art, and what he admitted himself was "sage advice."

"Be simple and be sincere in your art and be gentle with those whose knowledge is inferior to your own," was his admonition to the graduating class, with the amplification, "Don't get to the point where you will be guilty of superciliousness and affectation.

"Don't get to the point where you can't take a joke, even at your own expense. Be simple in your performance and appreciation. It is a great art to make people of slight knowledge of the subject you know feel comfortable in your presence."

Referring to the healthy desire of the normal human being to express feelings and emotions in some way, by some form of creation, Mr. Warner declared that all such self-expression, whether in music, painting or making pie-crusts is art, the art differing in quality according to distinguishing features. "The things that stand out in a creation and make it vary from other creations are the stamp of the artist," he said, adding that the "extra touch," is the evidence of joy in work, the joy and pride like to the joy and pride of God in creation.

"As human beings," he continued, "we are not real creators, but interpreters or mediums of expression between the human race and God. I make no apology for speaking about God in relation to art. There never was a really great musician who was not essentially religious.

"The depths of feeling must reach down to the foundation of religion."

The real artist, he continued, is not a reproducer, but a re-creator when such an artist interprets the works of another. The interpreter who re-creates goes back behind the musical composition to the source of inspiration. As the created work is frequently greater than the composer has ever dreamed or understood, so in re-creation or interpretation of the composition, the musician may discover and reveal in it depths of beauty and meaning unsuspected by the writer. Before the artist can do this, however, it is necessary to go back to the source of inspiration, to read the mind of the Master Creator in the composition.

This explained he held, the difference in interpretation of the same work by a number of artists, played or sung with equal correctness by all, but in each case marked by the stamp of the individuality of the re-creator.

In conclusion, he predicted that the graduates of the evening would always be amateurs in the sense that, really artists, they would always be lovers of music.

Previous to the graduation night formalities, a delightful program was presented by five of the advanced students, Miss Gladys McEvoy, winner of the gold medal for excellence in post graduate singing; Miss Grace B. Smith and Miss Ulah B. Kennedy, each of whom received the licentiate diploma in singing, and the latter winning the L. C. M. scholarship in senior singing; Miss Iva Smith, winner of the Heintzman & Co., scholarship in senior pianoforte; and Miss Gladys Roedding, who with Miss Iva Smith, obtained the degree of licentiate in pianoforte.

Miss Grace Smith, who has a clear soprano voice of considerable power, and whose singing evidences serious interest in musical art and careful study, was heard in two numbers, "Bid Me Discourse," (Bishop); and Schubert's "Erl King."

Miss Ulah Kennedy, gifted with rare musical talent and artistic appreciation, as well as a soprano voice, clear, flexible and colorful was heard in "Elsa's Dream," from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) and the lilting number "Non Destanire," from "Romeo and Juliet" (Gounod).

A contraito voice of exceptional range, considerable power, much sweetness and an appealingly sympathetic quality, combined with developing dramatic power made very enjoyable Miss Gladys McEvoy's contributions, the recitative and aria "O ma Lyre Immortelle" "Sappho" (Gounod) and the aria "Ah, Rendime" from "Mitrane" (Rossi).

Miss Ivy Smith, a slip of a girl with her hair hanging in curls, capturer of the grand prize for artistry in piano playing, surprised and delighted by her brilliant playing of an "Etude de Concert" by MacDowell and the "Capriccio Brilliant" (Mendelssohn), Mrs. McHardy Smith playing on second piano the orchestral parts of the latter. Miss Iva, for her age has acquired a remarkable mastery of technique. Her interpretations evidence both intellectual and emotional appreciation. Another most promising pupil listened to with pleasure was Miss Gladys Roedding, who also was heard in brilliant numbers. She opened the program with a creditable performance of the andante and presto movements of the Mendelssohn concerto in G minor, achieving good singing tone in the andante movement and revealing technical dexterity in the presto. Her second number was the "Polacca Brilliante" by Weber, a clever trio of fireworks.

Miss Rennie played the orchestral parts of Miss Roedding's concerto on second piano.

The accompaniments for the vocalists were played by Charles E. Percy.

After each number, the young artists were showered with bouquets and baskets of lovely flowers till their arms were so laden with these graduation gifts that they could scarcely carry their burdens off the stage.

The following were members of the graduation class and poet graduates who received diplomas, gold medals and scholarships:

Pianoforte—L. L. C. M., Iva Smith, Gladys Roedding; A. L. C. M., Lena Coates, Gladys Udy, Velma Branton.

Teacher's Normal Course—A. T. L. C. M., Olive Shaddock, Florence McConnell.

Singing—F. L. C. M., Gladys McEvoy; L. L. C. M., Grace B. Smith, Ulah B. Kennedy.

Winner of Gold Medal for excellence in Post-Graduate Singing—Gladys McEvoy.

Winner of the L. C. M. Scholarship in Senior Singing—Ulah Kennedy.

Winner of the Heintzman & Co., Scholarship in Senior Pianoforte—Iva Smith.

Winner of the Principal's Gold Medal for General Musicianship—Olive Shaddock.

Winner of the Principal's Gold Medal for Grade 5 Theory of Music—Laura Kirkwood.

Following the graduation exercises, the members of the L. C. M. Alumni entertained the graduating class at a supper party at Wong's.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS ENJOY PICNIC AT WESLEY HALL

Weather Man's Scowl Did Not Prevent a Good Time.

Epworth Leaguers, representing all the Methodist churches of the city, had a good time Wednesday, when the annual picnic was held. An extensive program had been provided as well as a fine supper. Owing to the weather man being rather out of humor, the picnickers gathered at Wesley Hall as had been arranged in the event of rain, and there they indulged to their heart's content in the supper and indoor sports until a late hour.

Prizes were awarded as follows:

Ladies' Time Race—First prize, Miss Charity Webber, Dundas Centre; second prize, Miss Veda Fritz, Dundas Centre; third prize, Miss Laura Travers, Colborne Street.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Necktie Race—First prize, Miss Jessie Short and S. G. Henry, Dundas Centre; second prize, Miss Charity Webber and V. H. Harley, Dundas Centre; third prize, Miss Edna Terry and Wilfred Hulbert, Wellington Street.

Peanut Race—First prize, Miss Allie Rice, First Methodist; second prize, Miss Edna Terry, Wellington Street; third prize, Miss Laura Travers, Colborne Street.

Two-Legged Race—First prize, Miss Veda Fritz and Miss Charity Webber, Dundas Centre; second prize, Miss Allie Rice and Corp. Wm. Hoskin, First Methodist; third prize, Miss Allie Wright and Miss Doris Watts, Centennial.

Ball-Throwing Contest—First prize, Miss Dorothy Letteney, Dundas Centre; second prize, Miss Doris Watts, Centennial; third prize, Miss Charity Webber, Dundas Centre; fourth prize, Miss Allie Wright, Centennial.

Ladies' Broad Jump—First prize, Miss Veda Fritz, Dundas Centre; second prize, Miss Lyla Grant, First Methodist; third prize, Miss Lenore Webber, Dundas Centre; Gentlemen's Broad Jump—First prize, J. H. Harley, Dundas Centre; second prize, Wilfred Hulbert, Wellington Street; third prize, S. G. Henry, Dundas Centre.

Gentlemen Throwing the Ball in a Ladies' Hat—First prize, Rev. Mr. Snell, Hale Street; second prize, Mr. Louch, Dundas Centre; third prize, E. Gairns, First Methodist.

At a late hour, after the completion of the sports the prizes were distributed, causing much gaiety.

RAINS HAVE HELPED CROPS IN DISTRICT

London reports to Bradstreet's that rains within the past few days have aided the crops in some localities wonderfully, but moisture is sorely needed in many districts. In fact, all Western Ontario is more or less in need of rain. Retail trade is very good, and wholesale houses report many sorting orders, but not quite as much business for fall delivery.

HAY TOWNSHIP MAN LOSES TWO FINGERS WORKING ON BUILDING

HENSALL, June 27.—A large number of Masons from Hensall and district motored to Clinton to witness the joint installation of Clinton and Hensall lodges. Bro. H. E. Yorke, district deputy grand master of Masonic district No. 4, South Huron and the installing team put on the work in a splendid manner. The Clinton lodge after the close of the meeting treated the visiting brethren to a fine supper.

A successful lawn social under the auspices of the Methodist Church was held on the fine grounds of J. W. Ortwein.

An unfortunate accident happened to Mr. Purdy, who is working with Robert Munn on the 3rd concession of Hay. Mr. Munn was having one of his outbuildings raised, and Mr. Purdy chanced to put his hand on a timber that David Shirray was hewing with an axe. Before it was really realized what had happened, Mr. Purdy lost two of his fingers under the sharp axe, and a couple of doctors were hurriedly summoned to dress the wounds and care for Mr. Purdy, who had suffered much from the shock and great loss of blood.

A number of girls of the McGregor Circle autoed to Lucan as a little surprise party for Mrs. (Rev.) E. F. McL. Smith, the former president of the circle at Hensall, the occasion of the visit being her birthday, and presented her with some china in appreciation of her services in connection with the circle.

Ptes. Burney and Mennor are the last to arrive here from overseas.

A patriotic service for Canadian Sunday schools and churches will be held in Carmel Church Sunday school at 2 o'clock on Sunday.

If this is to be your year get a Maxwell

THERE are untold numbers in Canada who have felt Old Man Opportunity slap them on the back in the last four months. This is to be their year.

If you are one of them let your mind turn to a larger, more luxurious car—a Maxwell, equipped with every modern device, better looking, better riding.

Give your pride the treat it has looked forward to. Get a self-starting, demountable rim automobile. Get a car that expresses yourself.

A Maxwell costs no more to run or maintain. It gives you many extras in comfort and ease of mind.

Many of the richest men in Canada drive Maxwells.

They appreciate the 300,000-all-alike idea behind the Maxwell. They know that a chassis which has withstood a manufacturing "run" of 300,000 in 5 years without a radical change means a perfection in motor car development.

If your pride could talk it would say:

"Get a Maxwell."

REBORN UNION PARTY IS NO HIT WITH BOB

"Faithful Conservatives" Must Be Heard and Felt.

TORYISM CANADA'S HOPE

"This Virtue Under Guise of Union Is Useless in Eyes of God and Man."

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, June 27.—A highly-interesting interview was given to the press this morning by Hon. Bob Rogers, who is in the city for a day or so casting a casual eye over the political situation.

"What is the news from the West?" Mr. Rogers was asked.

"Nothing much," he replied. "Just the same sort of discontent and unrest that you have in the East. It is the inevitable result of party disintegration. We all know now that Parliament is a mere group of individuals without cohesion and with no contact, with no definite decision or action, and this is followed by such disturbances and unrest as we have today."

"After all," added Mr. Rogers, philosophically, "character is made up of the scars of human experience. There can be no experience without the contact. This virtue under the guise of union that does not extend to the public open acts that help one's neighbor, is useless in the eyes of God and man."

"What do you think of the formation of a new union party?" the ex-minister was asked.

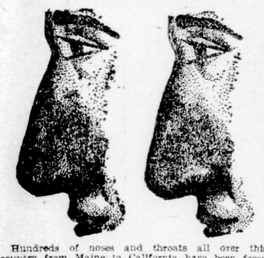

"I do not know anything about it except what I read this morning," he replied. "I know I speak the feelings of loyal and faithful Conservatives everywhere when I say that from this time forward no question for representation in any constituency in Canada will be reached until the organized forces of the Conservative party have been heard and felt. That party stands prepared, with mind and spirit synchronizing, to supply the only immediate safe and sound remedy for the utter lack of confidence that is responsible today for the staggering and ruinous condition of our Canadian industrial activities.

INGERSOLL COUNCIL ACTS ON HOUSING SCHEME AT SPECIAL SESSION

INGERSOLL, June 27.—Further action in connection with the government housing scheme was taken by the council at a special session tonight when a bylaw to provide for the borrowing of $30,000 under the provisions of the act was passed. Communications were read showing that authorization had been given for the corporation to borrow up to $75,000.

The people of Mount Elgin and vicinity feel keenly the loss sustained today by the death of Miss Mary Miller, who for a long period had been prominently associated with the business and social affairs of the village. She was closely identified with the business interests of the village, evidenced by the fact that for many years she was postmistress and local manager of the telephone and telegraph office. She was the eldest daughter of the late John A. and Annie Miller and was born in Jerseyville, Ancaster Township, in 1847. Two brothers, Roger Miller, the well-known contractor, and Austin Miller of Ingersoll, survive. A private funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from the residence of Roger Miller to the Ingersoll Rural Cemetery.

Noses and Throats Freed of Catarrh!

Hundreds of noses and throats all over this country from Maine to California have been freed from Catarrh with all its annoying features. These noses and throats were pretty bad—some of them. They had bothered their owners for long periods. The noses had been stopped up—crusts formed—mucus gathered and made discharges which had to be constantly blown out on handkerchiefs.

Some of this purulent mucus dropped into the throats belonging to the above noses and made them raw and sore, with an annoying constant tickling sensation.

Little wonder that the eyes accompanying these noses and throats became watery and weak—the breaths foul and the sense of smell gradually disappearing.

But what a change has come over these same noses and throats through the Method of treatment originated by Catarrh Specialist Sproule, 368 Trade Building, Boston. They become once again the clear, sweet, useful portions of the body their Creator intended. All the loathsome mucus disappears, because there is no more inflammation and Catarrh germs to cause it. The eyes, the nose, the throat become free and clear. Those stupid, dull feelings vanish—and the happy individuals meet their friends frankly grateful they need no longer worry over what serious thing their Catarrh is going to develop into.

OXFORD LABOR JOINS FARMERS TO OUST GOVT.

Warden Lillico Named Joint Candidate To Fight For Ottawa Seat.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, June 27.—John H. Lillico, reeve of Blenheim Township and warden of Oxford County, was today unanimously chosen as the candidate of the United Farmers of North Oxford and the Independent Labor party of Woodstock for the Dominion House.

Only one ballot was necessary, Mr. Lillico winning from D. M. Ross, reeve of West Zorra, by a vote of 122 to 64. John Scott (Labor), H. Webster (Labor), James Calder (farmer), East Nissouri, and George Oliver (farmer), East Nissouri, and J. D. Wilson (Blenheim) were also nominated, but withdrew from the contest. The convention, the first of its kind ever held in the north riding of Oxford, unique in its personel and unanimity, was the outcome of a vigorous campaign conducted by the United Farmers here since the beginning of the year.

The convention today was a joint one, the farmers' clubs a few weeks ago inviting the Independent Labor party of Woodstock to join them for political purposes. The Labor party, however, did not take advantage of the convention as was expected, only seven delegates attending.

D. M. Ross Prominent.

D. M. Ross, the defeated aspirant for the candidature today, has been very prominent in the developments leading up to today's meeting. Following the vote on which he was defeated, he moved the resolution making Mr. Lillico's candidature unanimous. D. M. Ross was voted to the chair, and in his introductory said:

"We cannot keep out of politics because politics is the business of the people." The old party system was breaking up in this country as well as in other countries, and new groups will be seen in the coming elections. "We expect strong opposition, and we are going into this campaign without experience or funds, but we are going in with a determination to win," said Mr. Rose amid applause.

Exorbitant Profits.

John Lillico believed that the labor unrest had been brought about by the exorbitant profits by certain classes during the war, and the flaunting of that wealth before those who actually did the fighting and bore the burden during the time of strife. He stated that the farmers were not striking for shorter hours, but for better representation in the parliaments of the country.

"The farmers, despite the fact that their prices are fixed in the foreign market, are not afraid of competition of the world, yet as workingmen we are afraid of the competition of each other."

He said he referred to the great work done by the women during the war, and he deplored the fact that, while they were working every spare moment to knit socks for the soldiers, the men who were supplying the yarn were making a clear profit of from one to two dollars a pound. He stated that he would not accept the candidature unless it was made unanimous.

Real Grievances.

D. M. Ross declared that the farmers had real grievances. They were not Bolshevists or anarchists, but believed in law and order and in the proper use of the ballot. The farmers and laboring classes needed more representation in the House of Commons.

John Scott, the Labor nominee, claimed that the vested interests of the country kept the workers and producers separated and robbed them through this method.

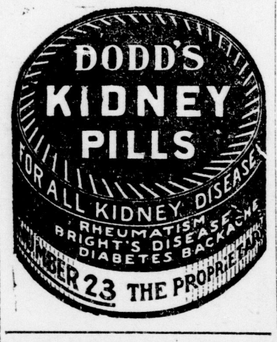

James Calder of East Nissouri, brother of John Calder, the Liberal member for North Oxford in the Legislature, stated that the people of North Oxford were not very highly elated on the stand taken by their member (Mr. Nesbitt) in the Federal House in connection with the cost of living committee investigation. Mr. Calder said that Mr. Nesbitt evidently did not want the truth in investigating. He claimed Nesbitt was a corporation man. "If all the men were like him on the committee the inquiry would not amount to a snap of the finger," thought Mr. Calder.

George Oliver, another nominee, intimated that if the country was to pay off its national debt it should legislate to double the production of agriculture. He claimed that the legislation of the country can be shaped to do that. He retired in favor of Mr. Lillico. H. Webster and J. D. Wilson, other nominees, spoke briefly.

AMEND CRIMINAL CODE IN REGARD TO CRIMES AGAINST WOMANKIND

OTTAWA, June 27.—The Government measure from the Commons amending the criminal code in respect to sexual offences, was indorsed by the Senate today.

Senator Robertson stated that the amendments to the criminal code raised the age of consent from fourteen to sixteen years in the case of girls; that in the case of girls previously chaste, the age of consent is raised to eighteen years, and to 21 years in the case of a woman employee and her employer, the penalty being two years. Six months' imprisonment or $500 fine is provided for unmarried persons registering as man and wife at hotels. The bill was read a second time and concurred in by a vote of 25 to 15.

Makes Wrinkles Go "As If By Magic"

Want to banish every wrinkle—from face, neck, hands—easily, quickly, completely? Try the famous saxolite formula. Nothing else so nearly meets every requirement. Why? Because it is correct in principle and really, truly assists nature. Possessing remarkable astringent and tonic properties, it both tightens the skin—thus naturally smoothing out the lines—and improves capillary circulation and nerve tone—tending to strengthen loose tissue and bring about a healthy condition. Yet, powerful as the saxolite lotion is, it won't harm your skin in the least. And it's easy to get the inexpensive ingredients at your druggist's, and so easy to mix them.

Just dissolve one ounce powdered saxolite in one-half pint witch hazel—that's all. Bathe your face in this—immediately every wrinkle and crease is affected, even the deepest. You are perfectly astonished and delighted with the result. You look like you've lost years from your age!—Advt.

SHOWER OF SULPHUR FALLS AT DAWSON FROM SOME FAR-OFF VOLCANO SPOUT

DAWSON, Y.T., June 27.—A sulphur-laden shower of rain, a phenomenon, fell over Dawson and its vicinity last evening. A thirty-minutes' downpour left pools and sidewalks streaked with a yellow substance, which chemists declared is sulphur, and which they think was carried in the upper atmospheric currents from some distant volcano eruption.

A similar precipitation has been reported at Eagle, a hundred miles north of Dawson, and also in Northern British Columbia.

About 150 excursionists viewed the wonders of the nightless day on June 21, at this "end of the world." The visitors went to Fort Yukon to witness the sun's complete marathon of the arctic circle.

SIGHT OF FIVE CHILDREN CHANGES FARMER'S MIND ABOUT MARRYING WIDOW

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GUELPH, June 27.—Just because cupid fell down on his job after he had made arrangements for a wedding, it became the painful duty of Col. Clark, city relief officer, to send a woman and her five children away from Guelph yesterday afternoon. It wasn't in this city however, that Dan C. pulled off the error, but in the county of Waterloo, where lives a farmer, according to the woman's story, who wanted to marry her—until she arrived on the scene with her five little ones. Then the spark of love departed.

The woman told Col. Clark that she left Deseronto some days ago for Kitchener, where she expected to be married to a farmer. In her opinion the man got cold feet after he looked over the flock and he advised her to come on to Guelph, where there were all kinds of opportunities for work. She took his advice and came on here, but, owing to the fact that she was without means, had to apply for relief.

The entire family was taken to the children's shelter, where they were kept for a night and a day, and during that time the woman told her story. Col. Clark then decided to pass the responsibility on to Kitchener, and he made arrangements yesterday afternoon for transportation of the family back to that city.

COMMUNISTS ARE PREPARING FOR REVOLT IN ITALY

Italian, German and Austrian Radicals Are Active.

COPENHAGEN, June 27.—(By the Associated Press).—Italian, German and Austrian Communists held a conference in southern Tyrol a few days ago for the purpose of preparing a revolution in Italy, says a dispatch from Vienna.

The revolution was fixed for the middle of July.

BERNE, June 27.—A counter-revolutionary movement in Hungary, during which a monitor on the Danube was seized by the anti-government forces, has been put down, according to advices to the Vienna correspondent's bureau from Budapest.

The messages indicate that the counter-revolutionary movement developed on Tuesday.

The officers, who took possession of the monitor, used the vessel's guns for bombarding the soviet headquarters, while numbers of their supporters on the banks of the river, it is declared, cheered for the cause of royalty.

Many Persons Wounded.

There was considerable rifle and revolver firing, during which numerous persons were wounded.

A Budapest dispatch to the bureau filed on Thursday stated that the movement had been quelled and order restored.

In referring to the outbreak, Bela Kun, the soviet foreign minister, is quoted as recommending harsher measures to the central executive committee. "The present weakness of the dictatorship is responsible for these troubles," he declared. "The bourgeoisie must be crushed without mercy. To proclaim kindness and leniency would be to shake the confidence of the proletariat. We do not want equality, but the dictatorship of the proletariat."

30,000,000 FEET OF TIMBER GONE SO FAR IN ALBERTA'S FIRES

CALGARY, Alta., June 27.—The forest fire situation in Alberta is the worst in years, according to Forestry Supervisor E. H. Finlayson, who stated this afternoon that fires are raging in many districts. Rain is badly needed and a very heavy downpour will be required to check the progress of the flames in some sections.

He declared that 30,000,000 feet of valuable timber has already been destroyed.

FATEFUL YEARS FOR ALL WOMEN

How Best To Overcome the Troubles That Afflict Women Only.

The most fateful years in a woman's life are those between 45 and 50. Many women enter this term under depressing conditions, through overwork, worry, or a neglected condition of the blood, and so they suffer heavily. Still, variations of health at this time can be relieved by home treatment.

Among the commonest symptoms are headaches and pains in the back and sides, fever-flushes, palpitation, dizziness and depression. Women stand in need of rich, red blood all their life, but never more so than in middle age, when the nerves are also weak and overwrought. Now every woman can prove the prompt help afforded to her health by renewing her blood supply. It is a test that any ailing woman can make by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for these pills make rich, red blood, which in turn helps the appetite, strengthens the nerves, and restores robust health. Thousands of women have found in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the means by which new health and a brighter outlook of life were gained. In proof of this is the voluntary testimony of Mrs. H. S. Peterson, Milford, Ont., who says: "I have suffered greatly from those troubles that afflict my sex, and I have found that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in such cases not only do all that is claimed for them, but more. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done so much for me that I urge every weak woman to try them, and they will soon realize the great difference in one's health they make."

If you suffer from any of the ills that particularly afflict womanhood you should avail yourself at once of the health help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get them from any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Trying To Pass Bill Which Will Outdo the War-Time Election Act.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, June 27.—The emptiness of the vote taken in caucus yesterday for the perpetuation of Union Government, and the formation of a Union party, with a platform, a policy and an organization, has been exemplified during the brief space of time which has followed the announcement.

Apart from the fact that there were absent from the gathering three of the original members of the Union Government, namely Messrs. Crerar, Carvell and MacLean, together with several others who were classed among the supporters of Union at the election of 1917, namely Messrs. Fielding, Pardee and others; apart from the fact that when the resolution was put through the gathering a considerable number of those present refused to raise from their seats; apart from all these things the decision to perpetuate Union as a permanent party was futile joke.

Camouflaged Tory.

Whatever organization may be formed out of the remnants of the present Government will be a Tory organization; whatever government is reconstructed out of the diverse elements now endeavoring to hang together, will be a Borden Government; whatever policy and platform is adopted will be a platform of high protection and special privilege.

An attempt is to be made to hold by-elections. But the Government cannot find a safe seat for a Unionist in the whole Dominion, even in Toronto.

It has been stated that there will be no franchise act this session. Nevertheless, the Government is now endeavoring to get through Parliament an act which it is hoped will work better than a franchise act; better, in fact, than the war-time election act of inglorious notoriety. The new naturalization act (or rather de-naturalization act) has all the earmarks of the old war-times elections measure.

Terrible Powers.

This act grants to the secretary of state "absolute discretion" as to the granting or revoking of certificates of naturalization. The secretary of state is a member of the Government. As such he has power to refuse applications for naturalization, without giving reasons for so doing and without recourse by appeal from his finding on the part of the applicants. He has power also to revoke certificates, though these may have been granted twenty years ago, and he may or he may not permit the man whose certificate is challenged to plead for an inquiry. In any case, the onus is upon the man challenged to institute the inquiry, and if he does not, his certificate is withdrawn and he is declared an alien, without home or country, though he may have been a respectable citizens of the Dominion for a score of years.

Among the variety of causes for which naturalization certificates may be revoked is the fact "that a man was not of good character at the date of granting of the certificate." The man who is to be judge of "character" is the secretary of state, and it does not appear to matter much, whether the challenged party in the space between becoming naturalized and the present day has become a good and reputable citizen or not. He is to lose his citizenship, his franchise, and his reputation, if the secretary of state (who is a member of the Government) sees fit.

Some Members Protest.

Against this nefarious counterpart of the war times election act Opposition members, including particularly Ernest LaPointe and Hon. Jacques Bureau, strenuously voiced opposition last evening. With them stood three members of the Government, namely Davis of Neepawa, Johnston of Last Mountain and Clark of Red Deer. But the solicitor-general, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, for whom a position on the exchequer court is even now being prepared, stuck to his guns and refused to budge.

Since the resolution calling for the perpetuation of Union government was passed, an organized attempt has been made both in the House and in the cost-of-living committee to discredit Hon. T. A. Crerar and the Western Grain Growers.

An Engineered Attack.

The attack is obviously engineered by former colleagues of Mr. Crerar, and, so far, has failed in its object. But the purpose of it is plain. The so-called rejuvenated Union is to be a Tory Union, if such a thing can be. It can have no affiliation with the agricultural element of the country, nor with the consumers. And it desires to divert public attention from the disclosures of the cost-of-living committee in connection with the financial ring which has been bleeding the country white during the war, by endeavoring to show that the farmers' organizations which have been forced to band together for self-protection have been profiteering.

These attempts, though aimed directly against the ex-minister of agriculture, have alienated the support of almost every western man from the Government.

As a matter of fact, any permanent organization which may arise out of the present administration, must of necessity be Tory in character, and any policy which that organization may adopt will be of the special privilege variety.

THE RIOT ACT WILL REMAIN IN EFFECT IN WINNIPEG CITY

No Parades or Large Open-Air Meetings Can Be Held For a Week.

WINNIPEG, June 27.—It was announced at a conference this morning of municipal and military authorities that the riot act will remain in effect here for some days yet. It was also announced that no parades nor large open-air public meetings can be held for another week.

Permission to open the Labor Church by a mass service in Victoria Park Sunday evening was refused.

No further statement on the business transacted at the conference was given out. It is understood, however, that the city is ready to deal with any aftermath of the strike that may call for prompt action.

ONTARIO ELECTION COMING THIS FALL IS TORONTO REPORT

Liberals' Choice of Dewart Starts Speculation.

MR. PROUDFOOT RETIRING?

Reported as Saying He Has Attended His Last Liberal Gathering.

[Canadian Press Dispatch.]

TORONTO, June 27.—A provincial general election this fall, as a result of the selection of Hartley Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., by the provincial Liberal convention in Toronto yesterday as Ontario leader, is being forecast by some local Liberals. They say that the agreement entered into by the Ontario Government with William Proudfoot, M.P.P., while he was the Liberal leader pro tem., not to bring on a general election before next spring, after another session of the Legislature, goes by the board by reason of the Liberals having repudiated Mr. Proudfoot as leader and placed Mr. Dewart at the head of the party in Ontario.

It is pointed out that Mr. Dewart was the only member of the Legislature who voted against extending the life of the Provincial Parliament until after the war. That Mr. Proudfoot takes his rejection by the party seriously is evident from a statement credited to him at a private dinner given by local Liberals last night to the temporary Dominion Liberal leader, D. D. McKenzie, M.P. Mr. Proudfoot pointed out that he had been in politics for forty years, and been leader of the so-called Liberal party for two years in the Legislature. He is said to have announced that the dinner last night was the last Liberal gathering he would attend.

Mr. Proudfoot today made arrangements to have his personal belongings removed from the office of the Opposition leader in the Parliament Buildings.

TROOPSHIP EN ROUTE TO HALIFAX WITH CANADIANS ABOARD

LONDON, June 27.—The Baltic and Northland sailed yesterday for Halifax. The Baltic carried 79 officers and 2,447 troops, namely, the 23rd Reserve from Ripon, under Major D. E. Lante; 29 officers and 1,432 men for Montreal, 15 officers and 737 men from Witly, 106 machine gunners from Seaford, 5 officers and 168 men from Kinmel Park, and 24 officers and 14 nurses from London.

The Northland had on board 57 officers and 32 nurses from the 13th Reserve stationed at Ripon, 9 officers and 909 men from Kinmel, 26 officers from London, 57 repatriated imperial officers.

Cols. R. L. Harwood, C. A. Corrigan and John Wise are on the Baltic, and J. A. Norton and E. G. Mahon on the Northland.

What Makes Men of Blood and Iron?

Men of Stamina, Force, Success—Men Who Lead the Way

Physician Explains Secret of Strong Nerves, Keen Active Brains and Great Physical Energy—Says

Nuxated Iron Helps Put Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men.

Will War Help Make New Race of Super-Men With Strength and Endurance Like Athletes of Old?

It is the men of blood and iron—on a par with the war-hardened fellows returning from camp and field—who will forge ahead in the business and political life of the country today. Living in the open, eating coarse foods and leading regular lives, have made blood rich in iron for these strong, healthy, vigorous specimens of manhood. But no such opportunity for building up their health is open to thousands of men and women in civil life, whose wearing tasks and iron-impoverished food sap their energy, and make them weak, anaemic and run-down, and often cause their blood to literally starve for want of iron.

In commenting upon the probability of building up a stronger race of people by increasing the supply of iron in their blood, Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, says: "Iron is absolutely necessary to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. Without iron there can be no strong, red-blooded men or healthy, rosy-cheeked women, and unless this strength-giving iron is obtained from the food we eat it must be supplied in some form that is easily absorbed and assimilated. Refined foods and modern methods of cooking have robbed us of much of the iron which Nature intended we should receive. For supplying this deficiency and increasing the red blood corpuscles I know of nothing more effective than organic iron—Nuxated Iron."

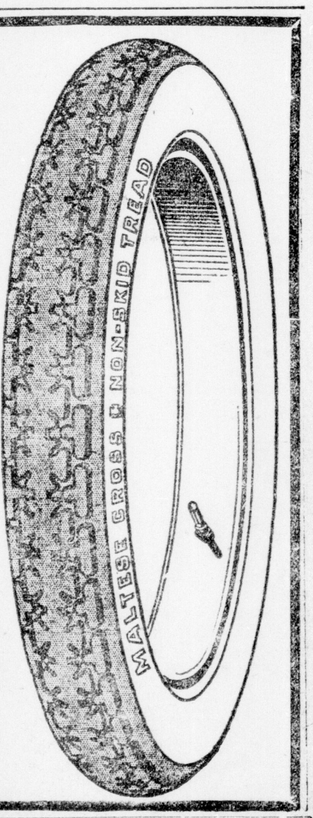

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed above, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists. Sold by Cairncross & Lawrence, Standard Drug Company, Limited, Taylor Drug Company, and all other druggists.

The New Liberal Leader and the Advanced Policy

A bulletin announcing that Hartley Dewart, K.C., was chosen Liberal leader for the province of Ontario appeared Thursday on The Advertiser boards. It was not long until several groups of men had gathered, and then they formed themselves into a small crowd and gave three cheers.

Later on during the evening passersby, observing the news, expressed their approval vociferously. It was an indication that with a large element in the community the selection of Mr. Dewart was gratifying. The people of the province regard him as a man of great vigor and high courage, and while he will not be popular with any of those influences, journalistic or financial, described in a phrase as "the Toronto crowd," he will appeal to the majority of the old-line Liberals of Ontario.

Despite the fact that the Toronto coterie which stood with union government did not favor Mr. Dewart, their strength was to be estimated by the showing made by Mr. Proudfoot, M.P., at present holding the position of Liberal leader. Major Tolmie, a chaplain in the war and a splendid force in any community, was a worthy opponent for Mr. Dewart, but the latter had the advantage of having been in the fight for Liberalism in the last campaign and to have since attacked the queer administration of the Ontario liquor department and brought about a farcical investigation, which is by no means cleared up to public satisfaction.

Mr. Dewart finds himself without the support of the Toronto Globe. His attitude on the temperance question did not satisfy the Globe, it says. But it is doubtful if any other stand of Mr. Dewart satisfied that newspaper, because he was a staunch supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the last campaign. Mr. Dewart, it may be taken, will stand by the Liberal attitude on the temperance question, which will find its expression when a plebiscite is taken. Traditionally, Liberalism will hold to the rigid curbing of the liquor traffic.

No leader will be more active in serving the people than Mr. Dewart. He has subscribed to the broad program of reform for the whole people laid down in the resolutions presented to the convention. He will be one of the most attracting figures the legislature has ever had, and should be premier of the province after the people have had an opportunity to declare themselves. Not only that, but Mr. Dewart is likely to surround himself with active and forceful young men. Arthur Roebuck, we feel sure, will sit for a Toronto constituency ere long, and many others of his type will be attracted by the leadership of Mr. Dewart.

There will be no more secretly-arranged compacts with the Ontario Government. There will be a tendency to search the questions of the province to their sources, and to give to the people information in the dramatic way Mr. Dewart has. The people do not want a milk-and-water opposition at Toronto, no matter what its numbers, and at the first opportunity they will rally to the banner of such a leader as the Liberals have chosen.

Prof. Louis Wood of the Western University deserves a great deal of credit for the minimum wage clause contained in the new Liberal platform for the province of Ontario. He brought the question to the front some months ago by sending articles which he had written on the subject to the press and to the leaders of the country's thought. The Liberals of the province were quick to see in this clause an advance in working conditions for the people of Ontario.

And it will work no hardship on the employer. In fact, most employers will be glad to pay the figure designated by law to all those who are employed.

A minimum wage insures to the employee at least a sufficient return to support himself or herself. It makes certain that girls will not be driven to prostitution because of the smallness of their wages, and it will give to everyone an assurance of a reasonable, if small competence.

While the rich have become richer, the combines have flourished and the country has seen its dollar go down in value, there will be a feeling of security to the whole community through the adoption of the minimum wage.

The adoption of Mr. Roebuck's proposal, that permanent commissions should be established to consider the prices charged for commodities, is another creditable piece of work. No finer check on exorbitant profits could be given than the publicity which would attach to a revelation of profiteering. Public opinion, supported by expert investigation, would work great reforms.

A few days' uncovering has opened an ugly, festering sore in the country. Having discovered the trouble, who shall say the country has not the ability to discover the remedy? It is when these things are kept in the dark, when the short-sighted and the selfish demand the covering up of evil, that the people suffer dumbly and without chance of relief. The new Liberal policy is a fine forward step toward making Canada safe for its sons and daughters.

Just here The Advertiser would say that in the event of the party being returned to power in the near future, the leader should consider the advisability of studying the affairs of Ontario from a standpoint of the best ability obtainable. If matchless ability has been shown by any Conservative, if, for instance, Dr. Cody should prove to measure up to expectations in the educational portfolio, displaying the democratic attitude we hope for, he should be made a member of the Government and permitted to finish his work. Let us make Liberalism a less insular and self-contained thing, and seek the best brains for the province no matter where they are to be found. No one party has a monopoly of ability, and the sooner we realize it the better for Liberalism.

Isolate the Hohenzollerns

The rumor that the ex-crown prince escaped from Holland into Germany will strengthen that sentiment amongst the Allied publies which favors isolating the whole Hohenzollern tribe from the rest of the world, putting them out of the reach of reactionary influences which are likely to be active in Europe for many years. Any time the old junker crowd desires to make mischief, proximity of the exiled Hohenzollerns would furnish them with a spectacular leadership. No country adjacent to Germany should be considered as an asylum for this breed. The ex-kaiser and his sons cannot be trusted. To place them on an honorable parole in any of the neutral capitals of Europe would be to invite another European if not a world explosion. The Allied nations owe it to themselves and that part of Germany which sincerely seeks to be rid forever of imperialism to see to it that Wilhelm and the rest of the family, if they escape the gallows or the prison, are removed to some "St. Helena." An "Elba" would be too near for safety.

France Not Grabbing

An American magazine accuses France and Italy of grabbing territory after the most approved Teutonic manner, using their influence at Versailles to secure rich "loot." Italy is arraigned for "helping herself" to Fiume, the Dalmatian coast and ports of Asia Minor. France is scolded because of her insistence in taking over the Saar valley. So far as France is concerned the charge does not hold good. The French coal fields of Lens, the pits from which the republic gets the fuel for its industries, has been systematically wrecked by the Huns. In controlling the output of the Saar valley collieries, Germany's fuel region, France is assuring for herself sufficient coal to cover the years when her own mines are being restored. The peace terms as summarized make it clear that it is not the intention to have the Saar valley pass into French hands permanently. Germany destroyed methodically, planning to have an advantage over France after the war. Clemenceau has met this move by securing control of iron and coal deposits vital to German industry until France shall once more be on equal terms. The justice of this will be admitted by unbiased opinion. To have left the Saar district in Germany's hand would have meant the fall of France to a fifth rate posititon industrially and commercially.

Bury the Animosities

"Let bygones be bygones," which might be described as another rendering of the golden rule, would be a good working motto for adoption by both sides of the Winnipeg controversy now that hostilities have ceased. The struggle has caused a lot of soreness that will be healed the quicker if treated with the well-known and soothing balm "forget it." It will not be a healthy thing for the west, or any section of the country, should Winnipeg's industrial war produce a crop of vindictiveness.

One way in which this can be avoided is by employers, private and public, not too rigidly barring the doors against re-employment of strikers who have forfeited their jobs. Of course, the employer whose business was temporarily demoralized by the desertion of his men over a quarrel that was none of his can hardly be expected to provide a prodigal son welcome to those seeking reinstatement, and it would be unfair to those who have filled the gaps. But the employer will make a mistake if he permanently closes out the striker instead of taking him back as opportunity arises or even going to the length of making the opportunity.

It is clear now that thousands of trades unionists who participated in the great walkout were misled, misinformed as to the real motive behind the sympathetic strike. A liberal allowance should be made for this fact and for the further and more important truth that in Canada, as elsewhere, today there is a social and economic irritation and distress that is inclined to sweep men off their feet, driving them to hasty acts that in normal times they would consider mad. It is said that hundreds of these men in Winnipeg are now jobless. If they remain so, it will breed a spirit of spite that will play into the hands of the agents of violence. It is easy to point out that their own folly has brought them to an unfortunate situation, but that doesn't remove the danger. It will be good business and good Canadianism, whenever possible without injustice to others, that the old relationship between employer and worker be restored.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hartley Dewart—there's a name that will be written large upon the history of this country.

The longer the Germans put off that signing the tougher grows the "crow" they must eat.

Those provincial Liberal delegates had a day's sweeping to do, and they left the hall swept clean.

Some more sunny, cheerful shade than blue might have been selected for the soldier patients at Byron.

The kindly light set in the window for the wanderers has just about run short of oil, to judge from the comments of Liberalism's real leaders at Toronto.

Mr. Proudfoot said the year's extension was arranged at a caucus of Liberal members. Then there was at least one Liberal member who was not invited.

The Noble Eighteen who left the Liberal party in response to a pocketbook impulse have been joined by those who left in 1917, most of whom felt the same inspired urge of the dollar bill.

One effect seen from it is that it enables Mr. Rowell to burn all his bridges behind the crowd that has taken charge of Ontario Liberalism and to become an out-and-out Unionist.—London Free Press.

There is nothing left for the rest of us to do, then, but to hire the band and have a real old-fashioned celebration.

Old Soldiers Fade Away

NO. 3—THE MAPLE MAN

By Lieut. George Palmer, 1st Battalion.

Ahead of me on the street he went, and all the land was his. His maple land. But there was no mistaking him. He retained the stamp of what recently he had been. More robust than when the maple trees were three years younger, but not quite so snappy in his civilian clothes as when I saw him last.

There was no mistaking the manner in which his feet met the sidewalk and the unconscious movement of the arm that he had developed through the years abroad.

He walked like one who had unconsciously achieved and had come into his own. Undoubtedly he had been a soldier man. The quick movement of his head and the manner he halted when a window display attracted him indicated to me that he had been over there.

So I quickened my pace and called: "Soldier," I called, and he answered not.

"Civie," I called; and he said "What. What!"

"Soldier," I said. "You surely know. Back to the old life though you go."

"What should I know?" said the civie man.

"T'aint laid down in the new life plan; Don't have to know if I say I don't; And I say I don't and so I won't."

"Remember the old days, soldier lad? The good old times were not so bad. 'Twas early to bed and early to rise, And proverb says that makes us wise."

"Wise to it all,' said the civie man, "From bean to the worn-out bully can, Sentry-go, and the dirty Hun, Jumping-off and bolt-jammed gun."

"Sergeant-Major," I said, quite soft, "It's stored there, deep in your thin-thatched loft, You cannot forget and you never will, The way we licked old Kaiser Bill."

"Guess you're right, old thing-um-bob," Said soldier-man just off the job, "The Hun is a dirty, rotten hound, We'll keep him off our maple land."

Let us shake on that (we cannot drink) But the shake is as good on this, I think, Though back once more to our civie days We'll never forget the Hun—his ways.

I said "bonjour" to the soldier lad, The years to live won't be so bad, We'll have our troubles and our strife But we'll enjoy this new-day life.

WAFFLES.

By R. Ray Baker.

Dale Morgan had a never-satiated appetite for two things. One was music and the other was waffles. He never got enough of either.

He could have eaten waffles, with butter and maple syrup, three times a day; but he let his good sense guide him sufficiently to cut it down to one.

Usually it was in the evening that he went to McSwenson's cafe to indulge in the delicacy that he craved constantly. They had to be good waffles; they had to be made just right, and McSwenson's was the only place in town that could please him.

For a year or more he had been a patron of the place, and for only two weeks of that period was he dissatisfied with the waffles he obtained.

Dale knew something was wrong the minute the hot, honeycombed cake was set before him. It looked too pale to suit him.

"A new cook making them," he told himself, in tones akin to consternation. "I'll bet Jat's quit her job."

He sampled the waffle and then got up and left it. It didn't taste right.

"Got a new cook?" he inquired of the waiter, and held his breath until the latter answered:

"No; Jat's just gone on a two weeks' vacation. She's coming back all right."

So Dale went without waffles for two weeks, and was happy when Jat returned to her post in the kitchen. No one else could satisfy the craving of his inner man.

After his evening meal Dale usually went to a musical show, whenever he could find one, which was not often, because the town was small and theatrical attractions not up to a high standard.

Finally he bought a phonograph, and that helped some, although nothing could take the place of a real live musician. He tried to be one himself, but his voice had no more music than a cowbell, and he simply couldn't make his fingers behave on the strings of a violin, much less to master the art of reading notes.

Came the day when Jat did quit her job at McSwenson's, and that day found sorrow in Dale's heart. Life would never be the same. He searched the town over and finally located a place where he could get waffles that were halfway good but nowhere nearly as satisfactory as those that Jat had made.

"Why didn't I get acquainted with that girl and marry her?" he asked himself many a time, as he bit into a syrup-covered cake and shook his head dismally over the taste of it. "But it wouldn't have worked out right," he would add, "because I've got to have music, too, and can you picture a restaurant cook singing the 'Miserere'?"

Finally Dale outgrew the town and went to the big city to try his luck. In his birthplace he had made a fair living as a building contractor, but he had worked hard. In the city he happened to strike it just right, and he accumulated a great deal more money with much less effort. Less than two years after his change he had a small fortune in the bank and a magnificent home on a fashionable street; but there were two things lacking—a companion to share the home and an efficient "waffler." He advertised far and wide, and tried out at least twenty cooks, but none could he find to fill the bill.

Of music there was a plenty. Nearly every night found Dale at a theatre, usually one where a musical comedy or grand opera was the attraction. So he was well satisfied on that score.

The fact that his palatial home was a rather desolate place, because there was no one to share it, created a yearning in his heart, and soon he began looking about for some one to make him a suitable wife. He found her in grand opera.

Jessie Fairburn was the prima donna in the Acme Musical Concert Company, and she became the object of Dale's admiration—first because of her voice, and second because of her physical charms—from the time his eyes first rested upon her.

Having a friend who knew a man who was well acquainted with the manager of the theatre, he contrived to get an introduction, and during the month that the company remained the attraction there he wooed the newfound ideal. At the end of the month the company went on the road, but with a new prima donna. Jessie had consented to occupy the big house with Dale.

Then how that house did resound with music! Jessie also was a motor enthusiast, and Dale bought her a car that she pronounced perfection. Every afternoon she would take a long drive, usually with a woman friend, for Dale seldom could get away from business.

Now there was only one thing needed to make his happiness complete. That necessary element was a cook who could make the right kind of waffles. He continued his search, but his efforts were fruitless.

At last he gave up in disgust. There was only one chance left, and it looked hopeless. He would try making waffles himself.

One afternoon, while his wife was away on a drive, and he had cleaned up his work sooner than usual, he came home, went into the kitchen and unearthed a cook book, in which he found a recipe that suited his purpose. So he donned an apron and proceeded to cover himself and a good share of his surroundings with flour, milk and eggs. But somehow he managed to concoct a yellow mess that looked as if it might do.

In a drawer of the cupboard Dale found a small brush, and with this he smeared the waffle thoroughly with grease. The brush was an old one, however, and a number of the bristles played truant and stuck to the irons.

After painstakingly picking off the vagrant bristles, during which operation he burned two fingers, he took the pitcher and poured a heavy coat of batter on the lower iron. It began to sizzle and he clamped the other iron down quickly. From between the two at once emerged a sticky mass that spread itself generously over the sides of the irons, some finding its way into the gas flames, which it threatened to extinguish.

He turned the irons quickly, as the directions admonished him to do, and lifted one and peered inside. There was a waffle in the making, sure enough, but it was a sad specimen. He left it a moment, then essayed to turn it again, but in some manner the irons became separated and the half-baked cake slid gracefully into the fire.

Dale stood with his hands on his hips, his face flecked with batter, and raged. However, he was still determined and, as there was considerable batter left in the pitcher, he set to work again.

This time he exercised more prudence and put only a small dab on the iron. It proved to be enough to cover little more than one-quarter of the surface when it had been pressed out.

He tried to add more, and while so doing he let the top iron fall to the floor, where it narrowly missed his foot. He recovered it and proceeded to clean it. In the meantime the batter he had left on the other half of the apparatus burned to a crisp.

Dale ran his hands through his hair in desperation, leaving blotches of yellow on his black locks.

"What's going on?" inquired a voice, and he saw his wife standing in the door, a perplexed look on her face.

"I'm trying to make waffles," he explained. "I've kept it a dark secret from you, but I'm just desperate to eat a good waffle."

She chased him from the kitchen.

"Go and clean up," she ordered, "and I'll try my hand at the business. But don't you dare come near. I'll have to straighten things up and make some new batter."

Half an hour later Dale was called to dinner, and when he sat down at the table, he found a nice plump, brown, steaming waffle confronting him, while more were in the process of making. With trepidation he bit into it, after spreading it with butter and syrup.

"Fine!" he cried, as he slowly swallowed the morsel. "That's the best waffle I ever ate."

She smiled sweetly at him from the stove and turned the irons.

"Of course, you'd have to say that," she said, "even if it killed you."

He tried another mouthful, this time with more confidence.

"I repeat my assertion," he declared, as he cut another piece for transfer to his mouth. "Where-in-the world, Jessie, did you ever learn it? I know of only one other woman in the world that can make these, and she used to work at McSwenson's, back in my home town."

She was laughing.

"That's where I used to make them," she told him.

A THRIVING INFANT.

[Guelph Mercury.]

The policy of protection to overgrown infants got the worst black eye it ever did by the testimony of the business-men who are making three hundred per cent profit, and most of it being for dividends on stock that has never been paid for. A husky child like this is able to make its own way in this wide world.

"ROTTEN STUFF."

[Porcupine Advance.]

In the Sudbury police court last week a man charged with having liquor illegally said in his evidence that the regular price of liquor now in Sudbury was $10 a bottle, and "it's rotten stuff at that," he concluded. In many ways, as has often been remarked before, Sudbury and Timmins have numerous points of similarity.

WHAT'S BRED IN THE BONE.

[San Francisco Argonaut.]

During his recent visit to the coast a member of a reception committee asked Secretary of War Baker if it were true that the Germans were missing American troops doing duty in Germany. "It is true," replied the secretary, "but don't be alarmed. The Government has decided that it's just an instance where the goose-step has gone to their heads."

EXCESS PROFIT TAX.

[Toronto Star.]

The duty should not be so high as to allow of exorbitant profits. But it sometimes happens that excessive profits are made, owing to some turn of fortune, even under a moderate tariff. Let us then couple up with our tariff the excess profits tax and maintain it, as a means of automatically directing to the public treasury the excess derived from protection.

THEIR STATE OF MIND.

[New York Telegram.]

The state of mind of the German people has, in spite of the revolution and defeat, remained the same. One might almost say the German point of view is worse than ever. Not only are the German people as far from any recognition of the true situation as they were before the revolution, but everything is being done to make it impossible for the Allies to trust them and to make it as difficult as possible for the Allies to give them easy peace terms.

MIKE'S DANGEROUS JOB.

[Walkerton Herald.]

Pte. Mike Seigfried, who was cook for the Walkerton Company of the 160th, and who played no small part in the keeping up of the physical proportions of the local soldiery, was accorded a rousing welcome as he stepped from the G. T. R. flier on Wednesday noon. After the breaking up of the Bruce force, Mike was kept in England as cook for a tank battalion. Although more familiar with the flesh-pots than with bayonets his position wasn't exactly a "safety-first" job on that account, as there was no telling when some dyspeptic crank might want to take a round out of the cook, and hence he had to keep himself in a state of preparedness continually.

THEY MADE GOOD.

[Edmonton Journal.]

The Winnipeg papers, in reporting the great reception tendered the 8th Battalion by the people of that city, recall that its commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. Saunders, left in 1914 as a private. On glancing over similar reports from other parts of the Dominion one must be impressed by the large proportion of the returning officers of high rank who enlisted as either privates or subalterns. The 10th came into Calgary the other day under the command of a man who was a lieutenant in the first place. It is evident that large chances were griven to men who work themselves up by services in the field, a condition of things that should exisit in every citizen army.

NEWSPAPERS BY WOMEN.

[Christian Science Monitor.]

That the first attempt to establish a daily newspaper edited, managed and printed entirely by women, has not succeeded is no final proof that the thing cannot be done. One wonders, however, if there is not an element of failure in the fact that such a newspaper seems inherently unnecessary. Women have already a considerable share in the making of the regular daily newspaper, and, as things now go, it will probably before long be quite accurate to say that newspapers are edited, managed and printed by men and women for men and women. A newspaper of general interest exclusively by and for either men or women appears hardly liable to be a profitable venture. More than that, the war has so generally proved that women can do practically any kind of work hitherto done by men that enterprises undertaken simply to keep on proving it seems rather useless.

GOVERNMENT FROM WASHINGTON

[Winnipeg Telegram.]

News dispatches from Montreal yesterday indicated that the Canadian Railway War Board considers that it cannot reach a decision upon the demands of the railway shopmen until the United States railway administration has reached its decision upon similar demands made by the railway shopmen of the United States.

Isn't it about time that Canada exercised her own brains instead of borrowing those of her neighbor? Last year the railway war board granted increases to Canadian railway employees, taking as a standard what is known as the "McAdoo award"—made in the United States. Then the Canadian railways increased their freight rates twice—in order to accord with increased freight rates in the United States.

Next, the parliament of Canada rejected daylight saving and daylight saving was promptly adopted by the Canadian railways, because the United States railways had adopted it.

The Veiled Future

IN all ages men have sought to pierce the veil of the future—but in vain. In their failure they have used the wisdom and means of the present in order to provide for the uncertainties of the future.

The allied nations through their representatives at the Peace Conference are devoting all their power and wisdom to the end that there shall be provided ample guarantees against the calamities of future wars.

The principle of future protection that is actuating the nations in their concern for the welfare of posterity is but a magnified example of that principle which inspires a thinking man to provide for his dependents by means of life insurance.

Men properly accept this responsibility for the welfare of their dependents as a matter of course—so long as they are alive and able to provide. Does not this acceptance of duty entail responsibility for the time when these loved ones may no longer have a bread winner?

The Mutual Life of Canada will gladly send you particulars of its many different plans of insurance. Whether your income be large or small there is a plan to meet your requirements.

THE SHIMMER OF CHIFFON

Gowns Befitting "Summer Nights and Moon Magic", Illustrating Artistic Use of Various Accessories.

(By Mme. Frances, Famous Creator of Fashions, New York City)

Summer nights and moon magic call for evening gowns soft as cobwebs, whose filmy draperies sway in the lightest breeze. The fabric above all others for such a setting is chiffon. It may be called georgette crepe or crepe chiffon, but fundamentally it is the same exquisite material that drapes in perfect lines.

Chiffon may be combined with lace or it may be trimmed with beads and embroidery, but the transparent loveliness of the fabric remains always an inspiration to the creator of women's gowns.

THE FASHION FORECAST.

Grey linen will be very much worn for smart morning frocks and tailored suits. Worn with grey accessories or with a blue or rose hat and parasol, this color is very striking.

Chiffon is used in both light and dark colors for dinner dresses. I am featuring a shade of peony chiffon that is very striking. It is deeper than American Beauty, carrying a trace of purple in the dye which makes the color identical with the petals of the flower from which it takes its name. Petunia is a trifle deeper in tone than peony. This color is also lovely in chiffon. There is a new green which is wonderfully radiant. It is like the heart of an emerald with a dash of blue, which makes it paler than emerald green.

Bronze Popular.

Among the darker shades, bronze is very popular for dinner frocks, largely because this shade is so becoming to the brunette and auburn-haired woman. Bronze "lifts the lights," as an artist would say, and is especially good on a fair-haired girl. All the shades of marigolds and nasturtiums are used in a brilliant glow of contrast in every range of yellow, orange and brown from palest canary to burnt sienna.

Black comes in for a share of popularity, though black chiffon, unless combined with net, is apt to look a bit old or suggest mourning. Black net makes a better summer evening gown than chiffon, if this color is desired.

Of the lighter shades pink is the favorite. This color is so exquisitely feminine, so generally becoming that it is difficult to make a mistake in choosing pink. Twilight, candle light or electric light—it doesn't matter—pink is always pretty and it is the complexion color for most women.

Rose, of course, is another complexion color, but rose is more trying, especially for the older women, because it is rather conspicuous. And yet I saw Ellen Terry in the most wonderfully graceful gown of this color. It was during her last visit to America. Her hair was grey and her figure not exactly stylish, but clad in a gown of rose, minus all trimming, she looked like a wonderful painting.

By all means wear rose if it is becoming to you, but do not "bedizen" it with silver and gold unless you are very young and wish to wear it as a dance frock.

Orchid Shades Exquisite.

All shades of orchid are exquisite. This color is never more lovely than in chiffon and combines exquisitely with pink. It is especially good when worn with a wide pink Neapolitan hat, wreathed with hydrangeas.

All the hydrangea tones are popular in millinery and the long, uncurled orchid plumes that shade from pink to blue or from pink to lavender are lovely on the pastel horsehair hats.

An exquisite dinner gown is one which combines pale orchid chiffon with lace. The blouse is a graceful affair of orchid chiffon. It is cut on generous kimono lines and hangs in graceful folds. A little double ruffle of orchid chiffon appears below the girdle on one side. This girdle is a rare bit of color. One line is pale rose, another violet, and the lower Nile green charmeuse, hemstitched together with gilt thread.

The skirt of this wonderfully beautiful model is cream lace, draped in lines of unusual loveliness. This lace skirt falls over a petticoat of cream charmeuse which preserves the ivory tones of the lace. A scarf of orchid chiffon is attached at the side back and falls to train length.

The hat worn with this costume is very becoming. A broad, flat shape of pink Neapolitan is ruffled with cream lace. A narrow black grosgrain ribbon passes around the front of the crown and ties in a bow at the tip of the brim, where the ends "fall off" and run into long streamers that trail with tantalizing coquetry behind the pretty wearer of this frock, which is one of the most picturesque models of the season.

Silver Lace Gown.

A dress which is in brilliant contrast to the stylish loveliness of the last model is a gown of silver lace. This lace is nearer steel than silver. The fabric is the most wonderful piece of metallic lace that I have ever been able to procure. Tarnished silver is wrought in the most unusual pattern and woven into a texture as softly graceful as chiffon, and to add lustre to the lily it is embroidered in beads which pick out the pattern of the lace.

The fabric of this gown is so unusual and elaborate that it requires little trimming, save that which would give to it a dash of brilliant color. This is supplied by the girdle of cerise charmeuse. The long ends that form a double train are of the same material, weighted with silver bullion fringe.

The sleeves of this gown are long and give another chance for color in lines of lemon yellow and vivid green, which run in bands above the wrists.

It is difficult to convey the gorgeous beauty of this gown in words; nor the loveliness of its color and the barbaric splendor of its fabric.

Black Charmeuse.

A gown which may be called picturesque is a model of black charmeuse with the Grecian over-drapery of net. A high girdle of black charmeuse spans the figure with princess closeness. Above this girdle runs a line of black lace, just a finish to relieve the sharp line of black against the skin, which gleams through the net drapery. The skirt of black charmeuse is draped in lovely lines, whose bias is accented by bands of jet and green brocade, embroidered with emerald beads. Two long tabs are weighted with Chinese tassels of jet and emeralds. The picture part of this gown is the classic drapery of net, which is outlined with a band of jet embroidery.

Now for a girlish frock of bronze chiffon. There is an underdress of bronze charmeuse. A band of dull gold ribbon runs around the bust line. Over this charmeuse slip is laid the simple waist of thinnest crepe chiffon. The round, flat collar is outlined with bronze beads to match the short sleeve finish. The skirt is very full and is ruffled to near-hoopskirt proportions, with row after row of chiffon. The dashing part of this gown is the wonderful girdle and sash of bronze and gold brocade. The entire costume is brought into the limelight by this sash, which gleams and glistens like a thousand prisms of light.

HEART FLUTTERING EASILY CORRECTED

Good Advice to Folks Bothered With Palpitation, Weakness, etc.

If your heart flutters, be careful.

An attack is liable to come on at any time. Excitement, overexertion or emotion may cause it.

If blood rushes to the head, if palpitation and short breath are noticeable, there's cause for alarm.

If you want a good honest remedy try Ferrozone. We recommend Ferrozone because we know it's just right for heart trouble. It cured A. F. Beattie, who lives at Allen Hotel, Bay City, Mich. See if your symptoms resemble these:

Some Symptoms of Weak Heart.

Nervousness,	Palpitation,
Trembling,	Dizziness,
Sinking Feeling,	Heart Pant,
Short Breath,	Weakness.

Mr. Beattie says:

"I was weak and miserable.

"I was subject to heart palpitation and dizziness.

"As I grew worse I began to have trembling and sinking sensations.

"Ferrozone strengthened my heart, gave vigor to my nerves, soon made me well. It's a great rebuilder."

By strengthening the muscles of the heart, giving proper circulation and causing a general rebuilding of the whole system, Ferrozone is bound to do grand work in heart trouble; try it, 50c per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

A Smart Sport's Costume.
Blouse 2822, Skirt 2818.

Here is a very pleasing combination of novelty silk for the skirt, and duvetyn for the blouse. This is pretty for plain and embroidered linen, or shantung combined. Also for serge and satin. The blouse is fashioned after Pattern 2822, which is cut in 7 sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure, and requires 5 yards of 36-inch material. The skirt is developed from Pattern 2818. It is cut in 7 sizes, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist measure. Size 24 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material. Skirt measures about 1 2-3 yards at the lower edge.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

Daily Bible Question Club

UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 29, 1919.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Review — Response to God's love. Selection for Reading. Philippians iii., 7-14.

The questions for this week may be used as an original lesson, or as a review of the twelve preceding weekly lessons. The date, and title of each lesson, where found, golden text, and one question selected from each lesson follow during the present week.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

June 15. Prayer. Matt. 6:5-5; Luke 18:1-14.

Golden Text: In nothing be anxious; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. Phil. 4:6.

11. Matt. 6:5, 6. Why does Jesus so strongly recommend private prayer, and what are its advantages?

Golden Text: Now abideth, faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love. 1 Cor. 13:13.

12. Verses 4-7. What is it in love which tends to patience, politeness, kindness, gentleness and humility?

Golden Text: I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with my whole heart. Psalm 86:12.

WHOLE HEARTED PRAISE IS FULL HEARTED RAPTURE.

When I was in the pastorate I never allowed a dull feeling in a meeting to persist. If my preaching failed to stir spiritual emotion and to get the people to think seriously about eternal things I have never failed to produce that result by getting the people to sing. I have had them sing hymn after hymn, sometimes the women sing alone and then the men sing alone, sometimes while they were sitting and sometimes while they were standing, until the emotions of the people and their spiritual conceptions were stirred very much resembling, I think, the scenes on the day of Pentecost. I take but little stock in perfunctory services where everything is carried on in strict form and where one is reminded more of the formality of death than of the vivid reality of spiritual life.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

TELL IT TO THE SOCIETY EDITOR.

Miss Amy Campbell is visiting her uncle, Superintendent Bartlett, Algonquin Park.

Miss Eleanor Reid of Montreal, is spending the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. John Green, Ridout street.

Mrs. E. E. Braithwaite, son Percy, and daughter Carol, left London yesterday for their former home at Unionville, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robinson, Cheapside street, and their small children have left for Bayfield, to spend the summer months by the lake.

Mrs. N. C. James and family are summering at Ipperwash Beach. Dr. James is unable to be with them, on account of the summer course in connection with Western University.

Mrs. Geo. T. Mann of Princess avenue, with her son and daughter, Mr. William Mann and Miss Grace Mann, leave for their summer cottage at Muskoka, the beginning of the week.

Nursing Sister Edith Craig, who is visiting her parents, Dufferin avenue, is a much feted bride-to-be. Her marriage to Lieut. Thomas Bigges, of the United States army, will take place shortly.

Mrs. M. E. Tracy and grandson, Master Billy Morris of Picton street, have gone to Atlantic City, N. J., for the summer months. They will be the guests of Mrs. Tracy's daughter, Cora Tracy Morris of the American Society of Singers.

DAVIDSON—TYLER.

An interesting but quiet wedding took place on Wednesday last at the Methodist personage, Lambeth, when Georgia Karlene, only daughter of Mr. George Tyler, Gravel road, was united in marriage to Warren Delmar Davidson, youngest son of the late Robert Davidson, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. S. Anderson. The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Davidson, sister of the groom, and the groom by Mr. J. T. Tyler, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony the happy couple left on the C. P. R. train for Detroit and other points west and on their return they will reside in Lambeth.

HASTINGS—GALLAWAY.

"Erie Beach," the home of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gallaway, was the scene of a very beautiful wedding, when their second daughter, Geraldine Margaret, was united in marriage to Mr. Russell Hastings of the Eau road, Harwich Township. The Rev. G. W. Butt of Cedar Springs, officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of pale green georgette crepe, with hat to match, and a shower bouquet of pale pink roses. During the singing of the register, the groom's sister, Mrs. Frazer, sang "O Promise Me." About 100 guests sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast, after which the happy couple left for Detroit, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. On their return they will reside on the Eau road, Harwich.

Under the auspices of the Church Improvement Club and Ladies' Guild of St. George's Church, West London, an enjoyable garden party was held on the church school grounds on Thursday evening, which proved most profitable, as well from a financial standpoint.

The grounds were inviting, gaily illuminated with colored electric bulbs and Japanese lanterns, and dotted with pretty booths, embowered in branches of maple and quantities of flowers.

As a wind-up a novel program was presented in the schoolroom, including an amusing playlet, "The Obstinate Family," in which the clever members of the cast were Misses Ila and Marvia Stephenson and Madeline Jeffrey, and Carroll McKenna, Charlie Tutt and Frank Emery.

The story of "Epaminondas and His Aunt" was told in shadow pictures arranged by Miss Louie Gahan. May Stone, Jean Hodgins and little David Johnston being the genuine artists.

Miss Isabel Mortimore gave two or thre recitations, which proved very popular with the audience.

LUNO—JEWHURST.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon in Ingersoll, when Teresa Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jewhurst, was united in marriage to Robert Edward Luno, a well-known young farmer in Dereham Township, the Rev. E. Sheppard performing the ceremony, at the home of the bride's parents.

About 50 guests were present to witness the ceremony, the wedding march being played by Miss Annie Welt. The bride looked lovely in white silk, with georgette veil, caught with orange blossoms. She carried roses and carnations. Miss Blanche Grayden of Ingersoll, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a dainty gown of pink silk voile and carrying roses and carnations. Little Miss Eva Lossing, niece of the groom, was prettily attired and carried a basket of carnations and roses, among which was hidden the ring. Joseph Jewhurst, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

After a reception the young couple left for Pontiac, Mich. On their return they will live in Dereham Township.

The garden party held Thursday by the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club at the corner of Hamilton road and Trafalgar streets was an undoubted success. The gross proceeds when all returns have been made will amount to over $200.

The vacant lot where the crowd gathered had been made gay with flags and bunting, while the McClary Band furnished music for the evening. An interesting feature of the program was a quaint costumed Rebecca at the well, selling buttermilk.

The contests at the garden party were many and varied. In the peanut-guessing contest the first prize, a camera, was won by Mrs. Beech, 434 Hamilton road; second prize, an aluminum kettle, was won by Mrs. David Williams, school trustee, and Mrs. Sullivan, 985 Hill street; the third prize was a roast of beef, and was won by Mrs. Shaw, Dame street, and Miss Irene Hilbert, 77 Chesley avenue; the fourth prize, a sack of flour, was won by George Shaw, Sackville street, Mrs. Garton, 41 Robert street, and Miss Bendall, 966 Dame street. The second, third and fourth being ties, will be drawn off.

CARLISLE—EMERY.

The Carlisle-Emery wedding, which took place in All Saints' Church, Windsor, on Wednesday morning, drew perhaps the largest congregation that has ever assembled to witness a wedding in that church. It was the occasion of the marriage of May Emery, youngest daughter of Capt. and Mrs. R. Emery, to Rev. Canon Arthur Carlisle, the rector of the church, the Right Rev. David Williams, D. D., of London, performing the ceremony.

The bridal party was met at the door by a choir and the full choral service of the Anglican Church was sung, while the party proceeded through the aisle to the chancel, which was exquisitely decorated with Shasta daisies and banked with palms.

The bride was beautiful in her simple but elegant robe of white net, with veil of priceless antique Renaissance lace. She carried a shower bouquet of sunset roses. Capt. G. H. Emery and Mrs. Emery, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the only attendants, the latter wearing a gown of blue georgette, handsomely beaded with old rose girdle and pink picture hat. Her bouquet was of Shasta daisies and larkspur. Miss Norah Carlisle of London, wore blue chiffon, and Miss Dorothy Carlisle wore white net and pink. Mr. Fred Allworth, Mr. Wallace R. Campbell, Mr. Alex. Craig and Mr. Allan Lewis were ushers.

During the signing of the register the choir sang "O Perfect Love," and while they were leaving the church, the bridal couple were preceded by a long line-up of children of the congregation, who acted as flower girls and pages, strewing roses along the pathway.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Stables, Front street, Strathroy, at high noon, June 25, when their only daughter, Cynthia Winnifred, was married to Sergt.-Major Harry Penprase, of The Chatham Planet, only son of C. A. Penprase, Toronto.

To the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Madeln Larkins of London, the couple took his place in front of a bank of palms and ferns, erected for the occasion. He was assisted by Mr. Smith of Stratford. The bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, dressed in white silk crepe de chine and satin, with an overdress of embroidered net, and wore a veil, also embroidered. She carried a bouquet of Beauty roses. She was assisted by Miss Marie Harris of London, dressed in pink silk and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Reid. The young couple received many beautiful and usefull presents, among them an electric reading lamp, flat iron and toaster, from the office staff of the Canadian Stationary Manufacturing Company of London, of which the bride was a member for five years. The groom is a returned soldier, having enlisted on August 6, 1914, and left at once for the battle front, and was at the taking of Mons when the armistice was signed. For the last two years of the war he was gas instructor at the gas school.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining-room, where a luncheon was served. Among those who assisted at the tables were: Mrs. D. Graham, wife of Councillor Graham, Miss L. Crocker of St. Thomas, and Miss Gertie Brady. The happy couple left on the 3:25 train for their new home, Grand avenue and Cloverdale street, Chatham.

The bride's traveling suit was navy blue serge, with hat to match. Guests were present from Toronto, Stratford, London, Chatham, Bothwell and Fernhill. The groom's gift to the bride was a cameo brooch, to the bridesmaids, gold rings, with onyx and pearl settings, to the best man, a tie pin, with onyx and pearl setting.

"Pleasure is far sweeter as a recreation than as a business."

WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB GARDEN PARTY DELIGHTFUL SUCCESS

Held at Beautiful Rose Gardens of Col. and Mrs. Gartshore.

The beautiful home of Col. and Mrs. Gartshore on Ridout street south was the scene of a most delightful twilight garden party Thursday evening, when the members of the Women's Canadian Club met there on the spacious lawns, to bid farewell to each other until after the summer months. The large and beautiful rose gardens are just at their height of splendor, and they, together with the quaint, old-fashioned plots, with larkspur, sweet-william and flags, won the admiration of everyone present. Indeed, in the half-light, the throngs of people in many-colored gowns, passing to and fro across the grass, gave the appearance of repeating the flower garden even on the green under the trees.

An attractive feature of the evening was an address by Sergt.-Major F. E. St. Austell, who has but lately returned from Siberia. Sergt.-Major Austell is an imperial soldier, who served in the South African war, being severely wounded there. At the time of the outbreak of the present war he was doing journalistic work in Chicago, and immediately came to Canada and joined the Canadian Mounted Rifles in Montreal. Later he was discharged from this unit, but re-enlisted again a year ago last April, and was sent to Siberia as sergeant-major of the Military Mounted Police. Returning to Canada about the middle of May, he is now on police duty in the city.

God Help Siberia.

Speaking of Siberia and conditions there, he declared: "If Bolshevism flourishes in Russia, God help Siberia!" The speaker likened the state of affairs there to a huge volcano, which might blow up at any moment.

In Siberia there is no actual fighting, although the place is in constant unrest, and countless murders occur among the lawless element of the country. Referring more particularly to Vladivostock, at which place he was stationed, he said that it was not at all unusual for him to find any number of corpses in the morgue, from 12 up to 75. It was his daily task to visit the morgue to identify certain of the bodies.

"In Vladivostock there are thousands of Czechs, taken prisoner from the Austrian army by the Russians, and they fight against the Bolshevik element. These Czechs are fine men," he said, "and if they win out in the end it will be well for Siberia.

"Siberia's relation to the present unrest in Russia is somewhat like that of a man sitting on a fence and waiting to see what is going to happen. If the Bolsheviki is downed in Russia, then there is some hope for Siberia. What Russia needs is a few splendid orators to go through the country and sway the people to a better thinking. The Russian people are emotional and would respond to such treatment.

Den of Robbers.

"As it is now, the city of Vladivostock, for example, is a den of robbers, thieves and murderers, who are under no restraint. There is no value placed upon life, and both Bolsheviki and Czechs take it, with barely a thought. The Czechs, however, are amenable to authority, although if they are asked to drive out a section of Bolsheviki at the point of their swords they obey the command, but it is 'on,' not 'at' the point of their swords. Every man in their way is run through. There is a lawless convict element in Vladivostock, which settled there from one of the Pacific islands, and it is also very dangerous.

"The Bolshevist has absolutely no scruples about the way he obtains any money which he may need. He will approach a man and say he wishes to sell him a coat. When the man protests that he does not need a coat, the Bolshevist will insist on the sale, and finally forcibly extract 50 roubles from the man. When the man then asks, 'Where is the coat?' the Bolsheyik walks on, remarking carelessly, 'Oh, you are wearing it on your back.'"

At the close of the address dainty refreshments were served on the lawn. The hostesses of the party were Miss Grace Blackburn, president of the club; Mrs. A. T. Edwards, Mrs. A. B. Greer, Mrs. H. Carling, Mrs. H. White, Miss Yeates, Mrs. (Dr.) Hughes, Miss Weir and other members of the club executive. Mrs. Gartshore and Mrs. Cleghorn were also hostesses of the evening.

SEVERAL PRESENTATIONS ON INSTALLATION NIGHT

Officers of Grand Chapter Eastern Stars Close Session.

Such a lengthy procedure was the installation Thursday evening of the new officers of the Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Stars of Ontario, that it was after one o'clock before the final meeting of the convention was brought to a close.

Several presentations added a touch of graciousness to the occasion.

The Grand Chapter officers presented the returning W. S. M., Mrs. Robinson Maine with a silver mirror, silver flower basket.

The three local chapters, Ruth, Trinity and Forest City united in presenting to Mrs. Maine, a gold key, three or four inches long, with the O. E. S. emblem at the end.

Mrs. Taylor, who was appointed conductor, was presented by the Forest City Chapter with a club bag and basket of flowers. Mrs. Staples presenting the club bag, and Mrs. Stewart the flowers.

Mrs. Mains made the presentation of an O. E. S. emblem, the five-pointed star with electric bulbs of jewels, to Ruth Chapter, in token of appreciation of the kindness of the chapter to her during her term of office as W. G. M. of the grand chapter.

Mrs. Dowling, the first W. M. of Ruth Chapter, was presented by Mrs. A. M. Trick, W. M., on behalf of Ruth Chapter, with an O. E. S. ring.

The delegates left yesterday for their homes very much pleased over the convention and the hospitality extended to them in London.

Who Can Lend One?

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you or any of the Boxites lend me a copy of any paper containing details of the sinking of the Empress of Ireland in May, 1914. I would prefer a Hamilton paper. I tried to get the Spectator, but could not buy one. I would be grateful to anyone who could lend me a copy. If the address is written on it I will return direct and save you what trouble I can. I have a comic recitation, "When Pa Hooks Ma's Dress." Will send it to anyone who wishes it. Would be pleased to receive some for a girl. One more word, if a sprinkle of salt is added to stewed rhubarb it improves the taste and requires less sugar.

MRS. SAM.

Ans.—If you were in London you could call at The Advertiser business office and see the files for May, 1914, with a full account of the disaster. Or if you were in Hamilton you could scan the Spectator's files, if preferred. However, if any paper comes for you I shall gladly re-mail it.

The address of Canadian Belle is sent to Farmerette, and that of Yankee Over Here is mailed to Topsy, as per requests received.

That Old Grey Bonnet.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you or any of your readers supply me with words of "Put on your old grey bonnet"?

Yours truly, OCEDAR GIRL.

Ans.—Who can oblige this girl with an "Old Grey Bonnet?"

Dempsey Will Win Maybe by Knockout

Frank Menke Says Challenger Is Picked by Those Who Have Studied the Coming Bout From Every Angle.

[Written for The Advertiser.]
[BY FRANK G. MENKE.]

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 27.—At this hectic juncture of the Toledo jamboree, the thought is this:

Jack Dempsey will win, probably via the knockout route.

Just how quickly he will triumph depends upon the power of Jess Willard's amidship section and heart region to stand up under the Dempsey hurlings. Those who have studied the fighters from every angle feel that a Dempsey victory probably will come in this way:

He will drive for Willard's stomach and heart until the middle of the champion caves in. Willard stoops to Dempsey's size, whereupon Dempsey shoots a finishing right-hander to Willard's jaw—and a new champion is born.

Unless Willard's stomach has lost its onetime "concrete" resistance, it is hardly possible that Dempsey can topple him for the count by driving exclusively for that spot. Pounding there may bend Willard, but it's unlikely that it will drop him.

Dempsey Will Go for Jaw.

Many ring experts insist that it will be foolhardy to try for Willard's jaw early in the fight. But here's a guess: Dempsey's second lead in that battle will be an overhand right for the jaw of the champion. If it lands with all the force of Dempsey's superbly conditioned body behind it, Dempsey will have paved the way then and there for victory.

Dempsey's almost invariable inaugural attack against big men has been a left rip to the body, followed by a lightning-flash right for the jaw. If his body lead lands, Willard instinctively will bend over. And even if it misses, Willard will lean forward. No human has been born who won't impulsively pull in the stomach and lower the head when a person menaces the stomach. If you don't believe it, jab a finger at the stomach of the next fellow you meet.

Willard Not Too Big for Jack.

Willard isn't too big for Dempsey. The "Utah Mauler" certainly can hit as hard, if not harder, than Willard could hit on the best day of his life. Willard can take a pretty stiff punch—but he never took one like Dempsey can drive from any distance or any angle.

Dempsey is six inches shorter than Willard and 45 pounds lighter. But here's the startling fact: Dempsey's hands are as large as Willard's, his wrists are larger and so are his forearms. And punching power is generated in the hands, wrists and forearms.

Dempsey insists he will take the offensive and force in-fighting. Why shouldn't he? In-fighting is his game—but not Willard's. So the smart trick for Dempsey is to fight the way he favors most—and Willard likes not at all. In toe-to-toe banging—such as Dempsey will try to engineer—the advantage is all with the Utah youngster. Willard's real punching power is in his long punches—those that have the "haymaker" qualities. Yes, he has a great jab—but it never has exhibited knockout force. The long, pile-driver blows—those are Willard's forte.

Jack Good in Close Fighting.

Dempsey, like Bob Fitzsimmons, has the uncanny knack of putting as much dynamite in a six-inch blow as in a two-foot swing. Willard can't. What's the answer in close fighting?

Dempsey is a marvel in speed. He shifts, twists and turns so rapidly that the eye can hardly follow him. Youth gives to him nimbleness, dynamic energy and litheness that are unknown to Willard. The speed of Dempsey and his whirling Dervish antics are calculated to tire the big fellow to a point of bewilderment—if he attempts to keep step with the Dempsey pace. Once dazzled and flabbergasted, Willard is gone, because then he loses sense of direction, coolness, punching judgment, timing and equilibrium.

Watching Dempsey in his workouts with his sparring partners has tipped off the probable object of his early attacks—the heart of Jess Willard. Dempsey has been perfecting drives to the left ribs. Perhaps he has learned the Willard weakness as described by Jim Savage, Havana, former sparring partner of the champion, who said:

Willard Weak Around Heart.

"Willard is almost unhurtable in the pit of the stomach and he's got a tough jaw. But he doesn't like 'em around the heart." There's where he's weak. Pasting him there hard enough will beat him."

Certainly if Dempsey means to pound Willard's heart he can do it without much trouble. The champion never has learned the trick of covering there. And he scorns to do it now. "My body is concrete," he reiterates. And so he covers his jaw alone.

Dempsey as a puncher is superior to Willard. His aim is almost unerring. The youngster is the surest hitter pugilism has produced in many a year. Practically every lead strikes its target. And every hit carries crushing force. Willard, on the other hand, never has acquired the knack of perfect timing and only about one blow in three or four crashes home.

Willard Has Great Uppercut.

But this can be said for Willard:

When he hits, something will bend. And if it's an uppercut, something may break. That's the blow that is Willard's greatest hope for victory. It is his natural punch—a wallop that he can shoot from his knees with all of his immense bulk behind it. He insists that if it lands Dempsey will go down under the impact. And Jess is about right—unless Dempsey has the jaw of a superman.

However, Dempsey says:

"Yep, that's a great punch—if it lands. But it won't land on me."

Dempsey to win—that's the thought. And you can be certain of the fact that he is going to win in the quickest possible time. There'll be no stalling, because every man in the Dempsey camp is down "hook, line and sinker" on bets as to how long Willard will survive. The shorter the time the more they'll win.

"And we're out to win," declares Jack Kearns, who ejaculates again and again.

"Bet you life on Dempsey."

SCHWARTJE RETALIATES; WINS SHUT-OUT GAME

Joe Mollie, One-Time Tiger Batboy, Makes Good Showing With Aces.

SAGINAW, June 27. — Schwartje, knocked out of the box in the opening encounter with the Battle Creek team Thursday, came back this afternoon and set them down with a shutout, while his team-mates were getting to Bullard for two runs. Joe Mallie, one-time Tiger batboy, played for the Aces and put up a fine game. Score:

IT SOUNDS STRANGE, BUT REALLY, FANS, THEY WIN A GAME!

Stewart's Tecumsehs Cause a Real Sensation by Scoring 7 Runs in One Inning.

BY ROY McLEOD.

It was a great game at Tecumseh Park last night in the twilight and London won it by a score of 8 to 3. A pitcher named Gilbert, a lanky individual who wore a London uniform not many moons ago, started for Kitchener, but about all he got was the start and the shock was killing. In the first inning, with London at bat, Beattie yanked Gilbert, with the bases full, none out and two runs, and "Frenchy" Chaput, another former London player, was the martyr on the mound for Kitchener during the remainder of the game. When the dust cleared away and the last out had been made in the first inning, seven runs were chalked up for the Tecumsehs, to one for the Beavers, and the host of fans present were on the verge of hysteria.

Seven Counters in First.

The trouble began when Hefter, the Kitchener shortstop, allowed Mitchell a life on his grounder. Not satisfied with this he repeated the performance for Hagel, and hits by Bullock and "Dad" Stewart, followed by a walk for Miller, a sacrifice fly by Command, singles by Pettinger, Milligan and Hagel and errors by Scanlon and Chaput, netted London the lucky seven counters. In the second, Command, in left field, robbed the Beavers of two sure hits, picking one from Harrison's bat which brought the crowd to their feet.

London Makes Triple Play.

There was no scoring on either side after the third inning and, although he pitched excellent ball, Scott, who worked for the Tecumsehs, was several times rescued from danger by his team mates. In case it be overlooked, let us mention right here that London pulled off a triple play, a real three out, all out, in the seventh, two-thirds of which was accomplished by Mitchell on first base. Nicholson of the Beavers, singled to Mitchell and went to second when Beattie singled to Command in left field. Wade then shot a line drive down first-base way, which Miller speared, one-handed style, touched the bag, doubling Beattie, and heaved to Hagel at second, who completed the triple by catching Nicholson flat-footed before he could return to second. It was a beautiful play, and just to show their appreciation the crowd made a noise.

Snappy Double Plays.

Double plays were also in order for the London nine, the Hagel-Miller combination being responsible for the first, and Pettinger, Bullock to Miller tells the story of the second one in the eighth inning.

London made but one error during the game, Pettinger mussing up Kyle's slow bunt in the first inning. Kyle was on the job as usual, getting on each time, his final resort in the ninth was to let Scott hit him. Chaput pitched fair ball, and Scott's assortment was a puzzle to the Beavers, having six strike outs to his credit. The only extra base hit was one for two bases, by Harrison of Kitchener, in the third inning, scoring Nicholson. The score:

HAMILTON BOXERS WIN EASILY AT DETROIT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Detroit, June 27.—"Bad News" Eber, the Hamilton, Ont., boxer, put it all over Bobby Armstrong of Chicago in their scheduled eight-round bout before the Loyal Moose Club here tonight, in one of the prettiest exhibitions seen in a long time. The work of "Bad News" was a surprise even to those who had looked for great things from the Canadian lad.

Using both right and left to equal advantage, Eber forced the fighting all the way, and several times came perilously close to administering the "kayo" to the Chicagoan.

FLINT DEFEATS BAY CITY IN ONE BIG INNING

Fisher Held the Wolves to Four Hits and Their Lone Run Was a Gift.

FLINT, Mich., June 27.—Flint took the second game of the series with Bay City tonight, winning 7 to 1, by virtue of a big sixth inning. Fisher held the Wolves to four hits, and their lone run was a gift, in which hitting had no part. The locals landed heavily on Cook in the sixth inning, bunching five safeties with a pass and a hit batsman for five runs. Brown led in the swatfest with a single, two triples and a home run. TRAMPQUICK WINS BIG STAKE EVENT AT AKRON RACES

Milverton Horseman's Sensational Pacer Comes Through on Wet Track.

Trampquick, 2:07¼, owned by W. H. Grosch of Milverton captured the $1,000 stake race, the feature event at the Akron, Ohio, race meeting program yesterday afternoon. The race was run on a wet track, a wire to The Advertiser stated. Trampquick's best time in the event was 2:13¼.

This is the second stake event in the last ten days for the Milverton pacer. At Marion, Ohio, a little over a week ago, he took the Union stock yard stakes of $1,000. In this race he won every heat against a field of ten. Trampquick is the sensation of the Ohio meeting this month.

SOUTH BEND GIRL WINS 2:08 PACE, BUT NOT TRACK RECORD

Submarine Did Not Figure in Money — Judges Fine Three Drivers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BAY CITY, June 27.—Extra heats with close finishes of the big fields again featured short ship races at the fair grounds track today. South Bend Girl, a prohibitive favorite in 2:08 pace, had little trouble in taking race in straight heats, trying for track record in third mile, but falling short by half a second.

Favorites In and Out.

Sunburn Pointer, another heavy favorite in 2:14 pacing stake as at Mount Clemens last week, dropped first two heats, and then stepped out and passed rest of the field in next three. Submarine, favorite in 2:19 trot, did not even figure in money. Lady Bird and Hilleck, fighting it out after each had won two heats, and Hilleck taking deciding heat after trailing to three-quarter mark.

Judge Fines Drivers.

The 2:08 pace was never in doubt, South Bend Girl being the class of the field and in front every mile. Starting Judge Jack Winnings found considerable trouble in scoring the big field in the stake race, but after fining Drivers Sturgeon, Elson and Wickert $25 each for beating the pole horse, Marda Wilkes, to the wire in the first heat, things went better.

Lady May stepped out and won the first heat with Sunburn Pointer, favorite, finishing tenth. The next heat went to David B., with Sally giving chase all the way, the Pointer horse moving up to seventh place. In next three heats Gray took Sunburn Pointer out in front at start, and had little trouble in winning, although he trailed Lady May and David B. to three-quarter mark in the last heat, out his horse had too much speed and paced around the others at last turn.

FIFTY-SIX RINKS IN DOMINION DAY ELMWOOD TOURNEY

Fifteen Outside Rinks Mixed With Fours From Various Local Bowling Clubs.

The draw for the London Elmwood Club's Dominion Day tournament was made last night, the entry list showing 56 rinks, the limit set when the club first announced its program. The games will start at 9:30 o'clock daylight saving time on the morning of July 1, on both the Elmwood and London Rowing Club greens, in London South. All that is required now is a fine day and the bowlers will have one of the biggest times of their lives.

Rinks Must Qualify First.

A feature of the Elmwood tournament this year is that three qualifying games must be played by every rink. This means that losing the first game does not necessarily put a rink out of the big trophy event. These qualifying games will go twelve ends each. The sixteen rinks winning the most games shall enter the eliminating series for the Hyman and Ward trophies. A draw will then be made and the two rinks winning the semi-final round shall play off for the Hyman trophy and first and second prizes. The losers in the semi-final in this series will play off for the Ward trophy and first and second prizes that go with it.

The Umpires.

After the sixteen rinks have been drawn, then the next eight highest rinks will be drawn in an elimination series for the consolation event. The umpires appointed are as follows: Dr. Fear, Aylmer; C. Truil, St. Thomas; A. Thrower, London Asylum; Frank Brown, London Thistles; William Hynd, London Rowing Club; G. Clarke, Lambeth; C. B. Adams, Harrietsville; A. Gillette, Aylmer; R. Seldon, Exeter; J. W. Whitcomb, Sarnia; S. Law, Galt; J. Lochead, London Rowing Club; C. K. Bluett, London Thistles, and F. Rogers, Watford.

DANGER LURKS IN EVERY ONE OF US

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As a Germ Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain in the Back are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

RHEUMATISM LEFT HIM AS IF BY MAGIC!

J. B. Ashelman, Fargo, N. Dak.

"I am 82 years old and have been doctoring for muscular rheumatism ever since I came out of the army over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures,' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Mr. Ashelman is only one of thousands who suffered for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false theory that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced legions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatments. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism by taking treatment supposed to drive the Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know that Uric Acid never did, never can and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe, and that without it we could not live!

These statements may seem strange to you, because you have all along been led to believe in the "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman 50 years to find out this truth. He learned it from a book that is now being distributed free by the author, who has devoted over 20 years to the study of this particular disease. If you wish a copy of this book that reveals startling facts about the cause and scientific treatment of rheumatism that have been overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a postcard or letter to H. P. Clearwater, Ph.D., Thirteenth Street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return post without any cost or charge whatever. Cut out this notice lest you forget, and if not a sufferer yourself hand this good news to some friend who may be afflicted. b

"Broken Veins"---The Way Science Now Treats Them

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

"Broken" veins are varicose veins—channels for the venous blood which have become twisted and turned. Commonly enough, varicose veins are disregarded, because they are sometimes temporary, and mend themselves. Often, however, they remain permanent in men and women who stand a great deal, who eat more than they should.

Rubber stockings, elastic bandages, pressure tapes and stitching operations are often necessary to remedy varicose veins. That is to say, until Dr. F. W. Kappelman of Milwaukee devised his new plan of relief.

This method is the use of hot salt water in a definite strength as an injection.

The advantages of Dr. Kappelman's procedure are the ease, facility, and swiftness of the whole plan. It is not tedious, requires only a few minutes, and is simple of accomplishment. There is little cutting, no loss of sensation, no interference with the nerves or lymphatics, the length of stay in bed after the injection is reduced to a few days, and the results are excellent.

The doctor's equipment for this method is relatively simple—a thermometer to register the 160 degrees Fahrenheit, the temperature of the water used; two sterile racehorse bandages, six feet of rubber hose on an irrigation flask, and the usual knife and forceps.

The veins are caught up after the anaesthetic has become effective, and each little twisted part of it snipped off for two inches. The leg is then elevated.

The blood, usually a small amount in the surface veins, is expelled through the opening at the knee, and the veins are collapsed by means of the racehorse bandage, which is wound very tightly around the leg from the ankle to just below the knee.

The 2 per cent solution of salt is held in the flesh three feet above the cut veins. It is then allowed to flow through the tubing into the vein as the bandage is unwound.

The aim of the operation is to obliterate the turn and twisted opening of the vein. This it triumphantly does.

The blood is kept out of the veins while the salt water is introduced. This is all carried out in the manner mentioned.

Varicose veins are troublesome things. Whenever there is a congestion in the kidneys, heart or other internal structure, varicose veins may assert their unwelcome presence. They are painful affections which greatly interfere with work, efficiency and locomotion. Anyone ill with these whirls of red blotches and lines cannot be as productive an individual or as good a wage-earner as he otherwise would be.

Answers to Health Questions

K. K. Z. Q.—What do you advise for a bad breath?

A.—Your nose, teeth, adenoids and tonsils may be the causes of this foul breath. If you are not at all constipated and are fairly active with your limbs, foul breath may be excommunicated by the use of a good toothbrush, a disinfecting tooth paste, dental floss or silk pulled back and forth a few times between the teeth, and a nasal wash something like alkaline antiseptic solution. You may find relief from this annoying feature by taking half a dozen five-grain charcoal tablets two or three times a day.

J. G. G. Q.—What can I do for freckles?

A.—Some so-called freckle remedies contain irritants, such as mercury. These cause serious local as well as other trouble. Commonly, no matter what is used, freckles usually return, and if the skin peels it is better to stop the use of all remedies, because more harm may be done than benefit received. As a trial, one dram salicylic acid to one ounce of alcohol may be used.

Q.—What can I do for perspiring hands?

A.—Wash the hands often in warm water and castile soap. Also massage them with a little rosewater and glycerine.

A DAILY READER. Q.—What can I do for a pain in my right side?

A.—This may be due to gall stones, infection of the bile sac, constipation, muscle strain, sore kidney and other things. Until that is determined and this troublesome thing removed use a vibrator and take bending exercises of a physical culture kind.

R. Y. Q.—What can I do for my baby? She hasn't any appetite.

A.—She should have plenty of fresh air and sunshine. Also see that her bowels are active.

A STEADY READER. Q.—What can I do for dandruff?

A.—A little of the following may be used three times a week:

Sulphur	1 dram
Resorcin	10 grains
Salicylic acid	10 grains
Sulphate of quinine	10 grains
Petrolatum	1 ounce

E. J. C.: Q.—What can I do for boils?

A.—A little ammoniated mercury ointment usually cures mild boils. Apply a cloth which has been wet with hot boric acid to the boils. This will bring them to a head; then a drop of carbolic acid will empty them and ammoniated mercury ointment will do the rest.

B. F. B. Q.—What can I do for a soreness and stiffness in my heels?

A.—Massage, vibration and electric battery will assuage the soreness and stiffness.

Dr. Hirshberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, JUNE 29-30.

Sunday promises to be a lively and interesting day with advantages, pleasure and profit arising from many avenues of interest and accomplishment. These opportunities should be grasped and developed.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a prosperous year. A child born on this day will be popular, progressive and successful.

Monday is likely to be a very quiet and uninteresting day in business affairs; though there may be activity in all other interests and avocations. These, however, may call for the exercise of good judgment and discreet conduct, as there are certain menacing planetary positions which denote peculiar or hazardous situations. Guard against treachery and deception, and be careful in making acquaintances or affiliations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a quiet year, but one calling for discretion. A child born on this day will be impressionable, peculiar, unsettled and prone to act hastily.

STUFFY HEAD CLEARED OF CATARRH GERMS BY "CATARRHOZONE"

To catarrh victims we have just one word of advice—cure it now. The remedy is "Catarrhozone." That it will cure permanently you cannot doubt. Catarrhozone has cured thousands; it will cure you, too.

It acts in two ways: First, it destroys the germ—that checks the progress of the disease. Its second action is to heal the sore places the germs caused. Nice to think of breathing little drops of healing to every part of the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal passages. It is such absolute thoroughness that makes Catarrhozone so effective in grippe, catarrh and colds. Then by its sedative influence upon the mucous surface it clears away the cough and throat tenderness very quickly. We owe something to a science that has given us Catarrhozone—that wonderful remedy which so surely enables us to permanently cure disease of the breathing apparatus. We all know that stomach dosing is useless, and this departure in the mode of treatment is an advance in medical science that everybody can appreciate and value. Complete outfit of Catarrhozone, which is guaranteed to cure any case of catarrh, asthma, bronchial or throat troubles, lasts three months, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; trial size, 25c; sold everywhere.

Middle Aged Women

Women should take warning from such symptoms as heat flashes, shortness of breath, excessive nervousness, irritability, and the blues—which indicate the approach of the inevitable "Change" that comes to all women nearing middle age. We have published volumes of proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest aid women can have during this trying period.

Read About These Two Women:

Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Godden, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman as I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. Frank Henson, 1316 South Orchade Street, Urbana, Ill.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

How Madge Brought Her Interview With Mrs. Stockbridge To An End.

I could not help but see the words which Milly Stockbridge scrawled spitefully across the envelope she had discovered in her husband's private desk. Indeed, when she had finished she shook the envelope before my face.

"There, tell that to your dear Kenny!" she snarled, as my eyes read the words. "Which I hope will be soon," written underneath the request Mr. Stockbridge had put upon the envelope holding his private papers.

She threw the envelope down upon the desk back of her, advanced truculently toward me.

"Now you get out of here!" she said. "Oh, you needn't worry, I'm not going to break up any furniture, although I ought to take an axe to this thing. And oh, what I ought to do to you and that other snake in the grass that I've trusted all these years! But I'll get even with all of you in a bunch, don't you worry. And first, you'll vamoose out of my husband's office. I'm going right now myself, but I won't be spied on and ordered around by any such—"

I closed the door softly between me and her ravings. I saw that she was fast working herself into a frenzy in which she would be capable of anything. Perhaps if I obeyed her she would be placated enough to keep her word and leave the office. I had seen enough to be able to tell Alice Holcombe to inform Mr. Stockbridge that she had been tampering with his desk, and had opened the envelope he had marked not to be opened until his death. How much she had gleaned of its contents I had no means of knowing, or what she might do with the papers her husband had cherished, now that I was safely out of the room.

"Oh, I'm Afraid—"

I listened intently for any sound within the room, but heard nothing, save one rending tear as of stiff paper, the click of a lock, and the slamming of the desk drawer. At the last sound I whisked into the nearest vacant classroom, and from its vantage heard Mrs. Stockbridge's high heels click viciously down the stairs. A few seconds later, from a window, I saw her hurrying down the path to the street.

I lost no time in reporting to Alice Holcombe the result of my encounter. She looked exceedingly troubled when I had finished.

"Oh, I'm afraid she'll do something dreadful this time!" she said. "She's jealous of every thought Kenny has, and to find out that he had been keeping any momentos of which she knew nothing will drive her wild. I wonder what they could have been—surely he isn't still cherishing keepsakes of that girl who threw him over—and yet—did you say there were kodak pictures in that envelope?"

Why Madge Knew.

"I saw two," I returned, "but those might have been of anybody or anything, you know what an enthusiastic amateur photographer he is. Probably the things are most commonplace. It is only her vivid imagination that makes all the trouble."

"Perhaps," she said doubtfully. "But that doesn't make the danger of what she'll do any less threatening. The worst of it is that one can never predict her actions with any accuracy. Sometimes she flies into a rage at once, and raises all the Cain possible right then and there. At others she will brood over a fancied wrong for days, and evolve some fantastic revenge of her own. But at any rate Mr. Stockbridge will be forewarned this time. Tell me again what she said."

I repeated Mrs. Stockbridge's words faithfully. Miss Holcombe's eye widened at one clause, "that other snake in the grass that I've trusted all these years."

"Now, whom do you suppose she means by that?" she said. "I'm the only other person she's known for years, and surely—"

"No doubt she meant her husband," I said shortly, for I did not wish to add to my friend's worry by telling her that I was quite certain Mrs. Stockbridge had meant her and no other by the vicious words she had used.

"Oh, do you think so?" she returned, palpably relieved.

I nodded an emphatic assent.

"I wonder when Mr. Stockbridge will be back," she went on after a minute's thought. "He ought to know this as soon as possible, before he goes home at any rate. Will you watch out for him and tell him as soon as he comes in, or if he telephones ask him to be sure to come back to the school before going home?"

"I will tell him you wish to see him," I said firmly, "or deliver the telephone message from you to come back to the school before going home, but, my dear, you mustn't ask me to make any accusation of Mrs. Stockbridge to her husband."

"Forgive me," she said with prompt contrition. "I should not have asked you. But—I am nearly crazy with all this—you don't know."

As she turned and went swiftly into her classroom I said sadly to myself that I did know just what she was suffering. My eyes had not been blinded since I had taught in the Bayview School.

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

Solving the Problem of Making a Grey Dress Truly Youthful.

"Have you some silk suits, madame" inquired Mrs. Ralston, "Summer suits of silk? Yes, indeed, I have some lovely models," madame replied. "So many of the resorts are cool enough for a light wrap on so many days that I'm featuring some charming coat models of poplin, charmeuse, baronet satin and the rough pongees."

"I think I want a belted coat," Mrs. Ralston said.

"The belted coats are very much used, but the straight line box coat is very youthful, Mrs. Ralston, and looks particularly attractive when developed in light summer silks," madame answered. "I have just finished an exquisite suit of pink baronet satin."

"I had a fancy for grey, madame. Grey is such a cool color," I heard Mrs. Ralston remark as I went back to the dressing room to put on a suit.

I quickly dressed in a grey poplin suit which I think is simply stunning. It is worn with a blouse of grey and green striped georgette crepe. The coat cuts away in front below the round collar, which is really a yoke, and shows this emerald and grey blouse in a very effective way.

When I came out on the stage Mrs. Ralston said:

"Oh, of course, that is stunning! I love the color scheme and the line of that collar. It is so becoming. You're right, madame, this makes a very youthful suit and yet there are some persons who think that to dress in grey makes them look older."

"Oh, that is an exploded idea. Grey can look either old or young, depending upon the lines for which it is developed and how it is trimmed," said madame.

"That touch of gold braid binding the girdle on either side is very striking," said Mrs. Ralston. "Most designers use silver with grey, but in this instance I like gold."

"Silver is charmingly sympathetic with grey, but with the green stripes of the bodice and the other details of this costume the gold braid is a trifle better," madame explained.

"This skirt is very good. Just the lines I like," said Mrs. Ralston. "I always prefer self-covered buttons on a silk suit."

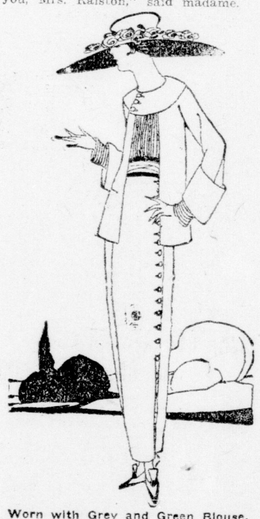

"Decidedly," madame agreed. "Any button that attracted attention to itself would detract from the simplicity of this model."

"The row of buttons on the collar and sleeves are also very effective," Mrs. Ralston remarked. "In fact I like the whole costume very much. Please mark this one for me to try on after you have shown me some others."

"Certainly," said madame, "although I don't believe you can improve on this choice. We have several other colors, and I have——"

"I want to try that hat on, too," interrupted Mrs. Ralston. "I like the picturesque wreath of grey velvet roses on that dull grey straw."

"This hat will be very becoming to you, Mrs. Ralston," said madame.

Worn with Grey and Green Blouse.

I then showed a suit of Chinese blue pongee and another of ochre poplin. Mrs. Ralston liked both of these, but not so well as the grey poplin model. She almost changed her mind, however, when I came out in a lovely box coat of pink chameuse, which shows the daintiest blouse of organdie and Val. lace made in little squares. But when she tried on the grey model she decided that it suited her best and was the most becoming. She did look lovely in it, because she is very fair, with wavy hair and lovely skin.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

MR TURTLE TELLS P ETER WHAT TO DO.

When Jimmie Coon saw Uncle Mud Turtle sitting in the same place on the old log he called to him. It was some time before he could make him turn his head and notice him.

Uncle Mud Turtle looked very wise, and Jimmie Coon called out, "Look out, I'm coming," so Uncle Mud Tutle held on tight and in less than no time, Jimmie Coon jumped from the branch of a tree. By this time, Mr. Mud Turtle didn't care, for he knew he was coming and he was anxious to see the promised frogs.

"Now," said Uncle Mud Turtle, "this is what I have decided. You must tell all the animals to be on the banks of Silver Pond on a certain day at a tain time to see little Peter swim."

"You know you must make him swim or they will never again believe a word you say!"

"How in the world can I make him!" asked Jimmie Coon.

"Wait until I tell you Jimmie Coon. You are very rude and I never can get a word in edgewise. You mustn't let Peter or any of his family know a word about it. You must get Mr. Red Fox to help you!"

"Mr. Red Fox," said Jimmie and now he thought Uncle Mud Turtle was out of his head. "We aren't even friends.'

"You don't have to be. Not at all. It is a business bargain. You get him something to eat he likes best. Either some fresh eggs or a good fat chicken."

"But he can get things to eat himself," grumbled Jimmie.

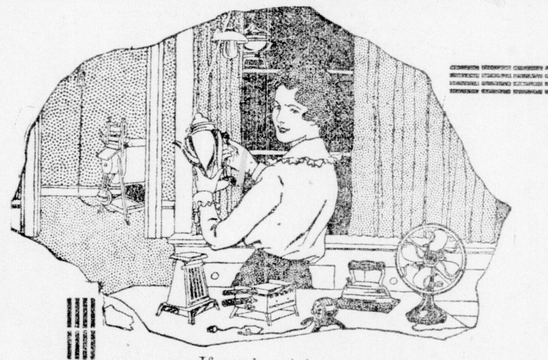

"Of course, he can, stupid, but you get him a good dinner without any trouble to him and he will agree to chase little Peter Rabbit for you right into Silver Pond and if he isn't hungry he won't mind if he doesn't catch him."

"I wouldn't have anything happen to him, to little Peter, I mean, for anything in this world. I have always heard that it is the hardest thing in this world to run with the hare and hunt with the hounds!"

"Nonsense," said Uncle Mud Turtle, "this is the simplest thing in the world to do, Jimmie Coon. What on earth is the matter with you? You don't seem to have any spirit. I didn't say a word about hounds, not a word."

When Jimmie Coon asked Uncle Mud Turtle some more questions, he just went right into his house. You know he carries his house on his back. But he wouldn't answer and say another word.

Jimmie saw it was no use to stay a single minute more so he swam to shore, to ask Teddy Possum what they had better do.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND ETHEL CLAYTON AT THE MAJESTIC

Famous Comedian Appearing in "Doughnuts and Dynamite" —"Men, Women and Money" Is Big Photoplay, Revealing Pitfalls in High Society Life—Big Double Program.

Charlie Chaplin, the world famous comedian, the funny little man with the big feet, who carries a laugh in his hat, up his sleeve, or wrapped around that grotesque cane, whose personality is as a match to spontaneous hilarity, Charlie, the favorite of every man, woman and child of civilization, is to be seen at the Majestic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday on the big double program with Ethel Clayton's wonderful picture, "Doughnuts and Dynamite" is a Chaplin two-reeler packed full of all the funny tricks, and laugh provoking situations Chaplin has ever known. With a remarkable cast of beautiful women, and funny men, fat men, small men and thin men, with beautiful scenes of wonderful house interiors, of the beaches, and beautiful bathing girls, it comes as a guaranteed laugh producer. The latest new reissue of the Chaplin series. No other picture with the same fun as this one.

HIGH SOCIETY AND ITS SNARES REVEALED IN GREAT PHOTOPLAY.

To the traveler of the path of virtue there always is at the end a goal well worth the journey, even though the journey seems beset with pitfalls and temptation of every sort. Tearing down the veil of apparent respectability of the fast set and showing the shallow immoral pleasure-loving sort they really are, such is the purpose of the wonderful picture of Ethel Clayton's "Men, Women and Money," which is shown at the Majestic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, on the double program. Ethel Clayton, as Marcel Middleton, from a poor respectable family, a girl of wondrous beauty and charm, is suddenly precipitated into New York society by the aid of her former school chum, Noel Parkton. She immediately becomes the idol of the smart set; parties and fetes follow one another in her honor until the event of the great ball masque, where while enjoying herself to the limit, she receives a telegram of a fatal accident to her parents, asking her to come home immediately. The change from a social butterfly to a country mouse does not please her, and with the $2,000 inherited from her parents, she returns to the city. After spending her money in luxury and idleness she wakens to the fact that she is becoming heavily involved in debt, and seeks employment with her former dressmaker. She gets along swimmingly until a former admirer has her placed in the lingerie department, where she is forced to be a lingerie model. Forced to decide between going to prison for her debts or exposing her lovely body to the gaze poor beautiful Marcel seems to really have come to the parting of the ways. However, the one boy she admired in all of society's four hundred comes to the rescue in a most delightful way and opens the road to happiness and love.

A remarkable cast guarantees an exceptional production. Lew Cody, the famous man vampire, made famous in "Mickey" and "Don't Change Your Husband" has a clever role, while Sylvia Ashton, Zasu Pits, James Neil, James Wolf, Marie Newell and others are all seen to great advantage. It is said the settings are gorgeous beyond description.

WALLACE REID IN NEW PHOTOCOMEDY AT THE MAJESTIC

Wally Reid's newest picture, "You're Fired," which is to be shown at the Majestic next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, is one of the most delightful and fast moving comedies of the season. With beautiful Wanda Hawley playing opposite, and Theodore Roberts in a splendid character, the story is assured of a splendid interpretation. "You're Fired" is an adaptation of O. Henry's story, "The Halberdier."

Wally plays the part of Harry, a wealthy, idle clubman.

"Harry didn't have to do any work, except to count his millions, but the papa-in-law he sought demanded that he hold a job for thirty days without being fired and to keep it a secret from the girl.

"For 23 days and 23½ hours he had slaved, enduring the snubs of the girl who didn't understand and living in mortal fear of the words:

"'You're fired.'

"Now he had just a half hour to go, and the girl's father was just yearning to see him fail. Harry didn't have any beans around to spill, and so he spilled —THE SOUP.

"—And all over the girl's new gown. Of course, papa-in-law, that seemed now only a lost chance. He was demanding Harry's job.

"But don't forget the POIPERS. Oh, yes, Harry had foiled the crooks and

"LOVE'S FALSE FACES," MACK SENNETT COMEDY, NEXT THUR., FRI., SAT.

What are love's false faces? If you are married to a pretty girl, and if you have a friend who likes your wife, and every time he sees you he greets you with an angelic smile and shakes your hand with a Pythian friendship—you can be pretty sure that he is wearing a false face—that his real attitude toward you is one of animosity and that it would give him real pleasure to be able to push you off a pier into the ocean or drop a bomb somewhere in your vicinity.

In "Love's False Faces," the new Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Chester Conklin is seen as a bartender, who is in love with Marie Prevost, the pretty boarding-house keeper and wife of a lazy husband. Chester pretends to take a great interest in the husband and frames up for him an affair with another girl, one of the beautiful boarders at the lodging house. But his duplicity is finally exposed, and he is given a good trouncing in his own barroom, in one of the funniest fight scenes ever screened.

JOSEPH MARTEL NOTED BARITONE, SINGS AT MAJESTIC NEXT WEEK.

The management of the Majestic makes an announcement of interest to theatregoers of the city. Joseph Martel, the famous baritone, who has caused so much comment on the concert stage this past season, and who left a wonderful operatic career on the European stage when he came to America, is to sing at the Majestic all next week. Of all the great artists whom Londoners have been fortunate enough to hear at the Majestic this summer, Mr. Martel is said to have the most popular voice and personality. It is an opportunity of hearing remarkable talent that no one should miss. The Majestic has presented many celebrities recently, and adequate praise is offered in the splendid reception which each of the great artists have received.

VIVIAN MARTIN IN NEW COMEDY AT MAJESTIC SOON.

Comedy, pathos and drama are interwoven in a most clever manner in this production, and the very popular star, Vivian Martin, has a delightful girl's role in the picture. She plays the part of a little country girl in her own inimitable style, and—well, you know how it is when you try to do something for a friend, and with best intentions proceed to help, and then everything just seems to go BANG, as though someone had thrown a monkey-wrench in the machinery.

Lift Corns Off! Doesn't Hurt!

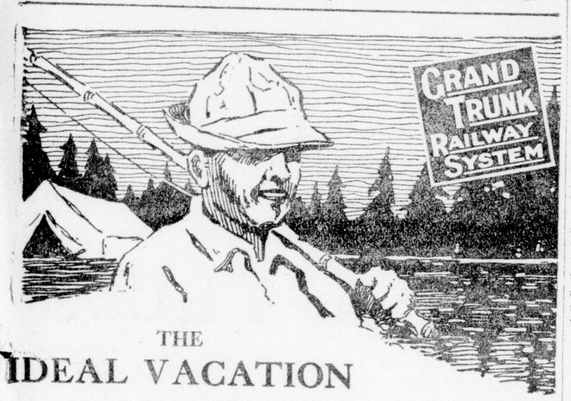

Don't let corns ache twice! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers—Here's magic!

For a few cents you can get a small bottle of the magic freezone discovered by a Cincinnati chemist.

Just ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone. Apply a few drops upon a tender, aching corn and instantly that old bothersome corn stops hurting, then shortly you can lift it out, root and all, with the fingers.

Just think! Not one bit of pain before applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, also hardened calluses on bottom of feet shrivel up and fall off without hurting a particle. Ladies! Keep freezone handy on your dresser. Wonderful!

Do You Remember

The Old Corn Doctor?

He stood on the street, in the olden days, and offered a "magic corn cure."

The same ingredients, harsh and inefficient, are sold in countless forms today.

But they did not end corns, and they do not now. Nor does padding, nor does paring—methods older still.

The One Right Way

Modern scientists in the Bauer & Black laboratories have evolved a perfect method and embodied it in Blue-jay.

In 48 hours, while the corn is forgotten, Blue-jay completely ends it, and forever. Hardly one corn in ten needs a second application.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN LEADS DOUBLE BILL AT GRAND

World-Famous Comedian Appearing All Next Week in "Sunnyside," His Latest Comedy, Along With Norma Talmadge in "The Probation Wife," the Noted Star's Latest Success.

Charlie's life as a farmhand in a small place far out in the country is one continuous grind of tasks of all sorts from daybreak until long after dark. The man or woman, boy or girl who takes in Charlie's latest production, "Sunnyside," will enjoy one continuous round of laughter and amusement.

"Sunnyside" will be shown at the Grand all next week, three times daily, 2:15, 7 and 9. It is a long time since the last Chaplin feature of the million dollar series, so that the time is right for a real good laugh at Charlie's expense. Hot weather or cool it makes no difference, for the antics of this farmer-laborer are sufficient to drive away all thought of weather bulletins and one becomes convulsed at seeing the funny things that this world-famous comedian does in this picture.

Charlie has a tragic existence. He is valet to fowls, cows and pigs, head waiter at the Sunnyside Hotel, and he is sadly bested in love by the creases in his rival's trousers.

Charlie has to milk and feed the cows, plow, and plant, and reap, take care of the chickens and mend the fences. He meets Edna, the daughter of a neighboring farmer and the prettiest girl in the neighborhood, and he at once decides to "stick around" at any price. But his lot grows harder, and from chasing the cows in and out of the village church on Sunday morning to cooking meals for his employer he has a funny though miserable time all day.

One of the funniest scenes is where the comedian rides a bucking steer down the village street just as the people are coming from church. The animal throws him while crossing a culvert, and our hero is landed in the ditch. Stunned by the fall he dreams of beautiful girls who make a stage above his head and in his dreams he joins them in dances ancient and modern. He believes he is being rescued by a rope lined with roses, but in reality he awakes to find the farmer and his neighbor tugging at him with an ice-hook.

Charlie's mode of making love is ridiculous in the extreme, for on one occasion when he started to play the organ his music fell from the organ-stand and a goat that had wandered into the drawing-room ate half of the sheet before it was rescued. And then there come the city man, and in his dream Charlie sees him making love to his sweetheart.

NORMA TALMADGE IN "THE PROBATION WIFE," HER NEWEST PICTURE.

A double feature bill will be shown at the Grand all next week. In addition to Charlie Chaplin's newest picture, "Sunnyside," which will be shown for the entire week, there will be presented as an extra added feature, "The Probation Wife," a story of the rise of a young girl from life in the underworld, in which Norma Talmadge will be seen in a role that fits her to perfection.

Left in the care of a woman who betrays her trust and brings up her charge in an atmosphere of vice, Josephine Mowbray, the heroine of "The Probation Wife" is about to take the first step on the downward path when the resort kept by her supposed mother is raided and Josephine is sentenced to a home for wayward girls. She escapes and meets Harrison Wade, who has been attracted by her when Josephine was arrested. Wade takes her home and, at the best means of protecting her, offers to make her his wife. The girl thinks only of getting away from her past and accepts his proposal. Nina Stockley, who has made up her mind to become the mistress of Wade's beautiful home, tries to win him away from his grateful little wife and almost succeeds. He is much in Nina's company, but Josephine, who has learned to love him, does not let her rival have all her own way. Aided by a wise friend, Huntley McMerton, she arouses Wade's jealousy by appearing in public with her adviser and looking so attractive that her husband realizes that his wife is worth twenty of Nina. The story is told as if narrated by Josephine herself, and the last scene shows her, proud and happy, with a baby in her arms.

BOYCE COOMBS AND COMPANY IN BIG SINGING NUMBER.

A splendid vaudeville feature has been secured for presentation in conjunction with the double feature program to be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Boyce Coombs, "The Different Singer," and his company will be the attraction, and local theatre-goers are assured something worth while in vaudeville entertainment.

The Grand topical review and special music by the Grand orchestra will be added features on the bill.

SMITH AND BAKER IN VAUDEVILLE SKETCH LAST HALF OF WEEK.

Although Charlie Chaplin's great comedy, "Sunnyside," and Norman Talmadge in "The Probation Wife," will remain at the Grand for the entire week, arrangements have been made for a complete change of the vaudeville program for the last half of the week. The vaudeville feature of Thursday, Friday and Saturday's bill will be Smith and Baker, a clever team of entertainers, who will offer an attractive program of up-to-date songs and piano selections. Combining all the essentials necessary to a really good act, Smith and Baker will not fail to satisfy the most critical audience.

This bill will also include a topical review and special music by the Grand orchestra.

Performances At Grand Will Start Earlier Next Week

The management of the Grand wish to announce that during next week, when a double feature bill will be offered, both afternoon and evening performances will commence a half hour earlier, matinees will start at 1:45 and the first evening show will start at 6:30 (Standard time). Owing to the length of the program it will be necessary to do this. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the usual summer prices.

At the Grand all next week. Also Charlie Chaplin in "Sunnyside," and vaudeville.

At the Grand all next week. Also Norma Talmadge in "The Probation Wife," and vaudeville.

Weekly Theatrical Letter

BY BRETT PAGE.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The person who goes to see "The Follies" this year—true as it was of every edition that went before, it is most especially true this year—must be possessed of all his senses thoroughly to enjoy the very real feast offered in almost bewildering lavishness. For a blind man would declare it to be a vision of beauty—many beauties—and an amazing kaleidoscope of ever pleasing colors. It's pleasant to record that this, the thirteenth "Follies," is without hoodoo.

It is futile to do more than attempt to convey an impression of what "The Follies of 1919" is. There are so many episodes, so many scenes, so many persons deserving recognition, it is quite impossible to name them all. So let us not even bother with the order in which the scenes come, nor consider it imperative duty to name each person or every song. Let's just take a birds-eye view of the whole.

At the very beginning, the "Follies" is different. The curtain doesn't rise, for it's already up, and the audience is welcomed from the hot street by the contrasting coolness of the theatre and a Joseph Urban scene of blossoms that's refreshing. The orchestra appears and plays the overture. Suddenly you become conscious of an enormous salad bowl upon the stage, and Eddie Dowling standing beside it, singing "The Follies's Salad." Its ingredients are lovely girls, and then the lettuce leaves part, and up from them springs Florence Ware, "The Follies Girl of 1919."

From this moment until the very last there is a seemingly endless and delightful succession of scenes, songs, dances, pretty girls, tableau and surprises. Let's glance at a few.

Beautiful Tableau.

There's Miss Marilyn Hay with her pet dog—Phil Dwyer, the animal comedian, in a "dog shell"—and they do many amusing stunts. There's a tableau entitled "Hail to the Thirteenth Follies," which is very beautiful, and is the best thing Ben Ali Haggin has achieved in this line. Johnny and Ray Dooley do a burlesque called "The Spanish Frolic," as Toreador and Carmen, with a bull of comic possibilities, every one of which is seized.

Marilynn Miller makes her evening's bow in "Sweet Sixteen," and with the aid of sixteen sweet girls combines the song with a dance that is charming. Marilynn Miller is as beautiful as ever, and more than one sculptor, as well as painter, this year will probably try to immortalize her. She dances delightfully and she sings pleasingly.

There are Manhattan's popular pests—the janitor, the waiter, the hall boy, the hat check boy, the taxi driver and the servant girl, who demands four days "out" each week. The janitor is Bert Williams, and the hat check boy is Eddie Cantor. Later Bert Williams, George Lemaire and Jessie Reed convulse the audience with a burlesque on the old sure-shot-Dick acts of other days. Lemaire is the marksman and Bert Williams the miserable person who must serve as his William Tell.

Minstrel Girls.

"I Love a Minstrel Show" reveals a minstrel troupe, not of men, but of girls, the lyrics and music of which were written by Irving Berlin. "Mandy," one of the songs, is especially pleasing. There's "The Circus Ballet," composed by Victor Herbert. Irving Berlin contributes another song, whose title itself is attractive, "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody." Of course, this introduces the beauties of "The Follies." It is sung by John Steele, whose really notable voice is one of the delightful surprises. Although he sings this dainty song wonderfully well, he is even better, for he's more at home, it seems, in "Barcarolle" or "Traumerie."

Eddie Cantor is Funny.

Eddie Cantor is amazingly funny in a knockout sketch which he wrote with Rennold Wolf, entitled "At the Osteopaths." Maurice and Florence Walton are back once more in a Chinese Apache dance. And then the Dooleys burlesque them. The last number is a Salvation Army finale, in which pretty Salvation Army maids appear as they sing "We Made the Doughnuts Over There."

Florenz Ziegfeld, jr., has once more demonstrated that each year he brings to our stage good taste, a stage generalship that's distinctive and a restless ambition to do better and better. His thirteenth "Follies" is the best ever.

E. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will have twenty-six companies on tour and will produce fourteen new plays in New York. The biggest venture will require three hundred persons and close to a thousand costumes. It is entitled "Aphrodite," is from the French of Pierre Louys, and will be seen Saturday, November 1, at the Century Theatre, on top of which Morris Gest's "Midnight Whirl" still is drawing large audiences.

Early in the season a dramatic play of modern times, from the French of Pierre Saisson, adapted by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, will be shown to Broadway.

Welcome Home.

But an even earlier offering will be "Welcome Home," a comedy dealing with the problems of the returning soldiers and sailors. This also is the work of Guy Bolton and George Middleton.

F. Ray Comstock will stage his seventh annual Princess Theatre musical comedy at an early day. No title as yet has been decided on.

At the Longacre Theatre still another comedy by Guy Bolton and George Middleton will have its debut August 18. The title of this comedy is "Adam and Eve."

"The Luck of the Navy," which is one of the dramatic successes of London now running, will find itself transplanted to the stage of the Manhattan Opera House on October 6. For Comstock and Gest are bringing over the entire Queen's Theatre company, including Percy Hutchinson.

"Mecca" an Extravaganza.

When the run of "Aphrodite" at the Century ends—guessed at as about the first of March—its place will be taken by a fantastic extravaganza of the Orient, which has been written by Oscar Asche, author of that delightful spectacle, "Chu Chin Chow." The title of this latest work is "Mecca," and it will be produced in New York before London can see it.

Some time ago another producing firm presented a play called "The Cave Girl" which didn't quite live up to their expectations, so they accepted an offer for it made by Comstock and Gest. It is now being rewritten by Guy Bolton and George Middleton.

And now we come to a comedy not the work of the successful Bolton-Middleton team. This is "The Checkerboard," a new comedy by Frederick and Fanny Hatton, which will reach Broadway early in the season.

"See You Later," a musical comedy by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse, the music by Jean Schwartz, is scheduled for the Casino Theatre in August.

"Phi-Phi," a current Parisian success, will be produced here some time in November. Another Parisian success which will be imported is a farcical comedy, "Bal Taberin." "Brewster's Millions" will be translated into tinkling musical terms, and have its premiere some time in September, with Harry Fox as the star. The same transforming process will be applied to William Collier's old success, "The Dictator," and will be shown here some time in October.

More New Theatres.

We are to have two more theatres—perhaps they're sorely needed to house all the offerings for which plans are being made—and they're both to be the property of Selwyn & Co. They're to be called the Times Square Theatre and the Forty-Second Street Theatre, and both are to rise upon that empty space next door to the Lyric Theatre.

It is expected that these two theatres will be ready for their first nights early in December. And then there will be established a new record in the number of theatres on any one block. With these two new houses, Forty-second street between Seventh and Eighth avenues will possess no less than ten theatres.

Take Over Theatres.

Rumor has been confirmed by the announcement that the Famous Players-Lasky Film Corporation has taken over the B. F. Moss theatres in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx, and that Mr. Moss next season will head the management of about thirty theatres obtained by the Famous Players-Lasky corporation for motion picture exhibition. These form the nucleus of what report declares is to be a string of one hundred or more theatres in which the Famous Players-Lasky organization will show their pictures all over the country.

Undoubtedly this is the most remarkable move yet made to bring the studio and the theatre closer together. Such a scheme was planned some time ago. It was then suggested that motion picture theatres having a cigar store on one side of the entrance and a drug store on the other side would prove a tremendous financial success. But nothing concrete came of the idea. The Famous Players-Lasky move may revolutionize some phases of the motion picture industry.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time To Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots. Simply get an ounce of Othine —double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

SORE THROAT

IS A COMMON AILMENT WHICH UNLESS CHECKED IN TIME MAY LEAD TO A SERIOUS CONDITION. SIMILARLY A COUGH OR COLD MAY DEVELOP AND REQUIRE SUSTAINED TREATMENT BEFORE IT IS OVERCOME BUT IF TREATED AT ONCE MUCH INCONVENIENCE AND SUFFERING MAY BE AVOIDED. AN OLD AND RELIABLE REMEDY IS FOUND IN

Dominant Value

The Gray Dort is the dominant value-car for 1919. There are other cars bigger and heavier. There are cars lower in price. You do not need the costly weight and size and you will not sacrifice Gray Dort refinements to save a few dollars. What you want and need is the balanced value of the Gray Dort. Sufficient power and speed from a wonderful motor; ample room and supreme comfort in riding and driving; standard equipment; beauty of line and finish; a real car, sturdy and long-lasting; and all this at a low price.

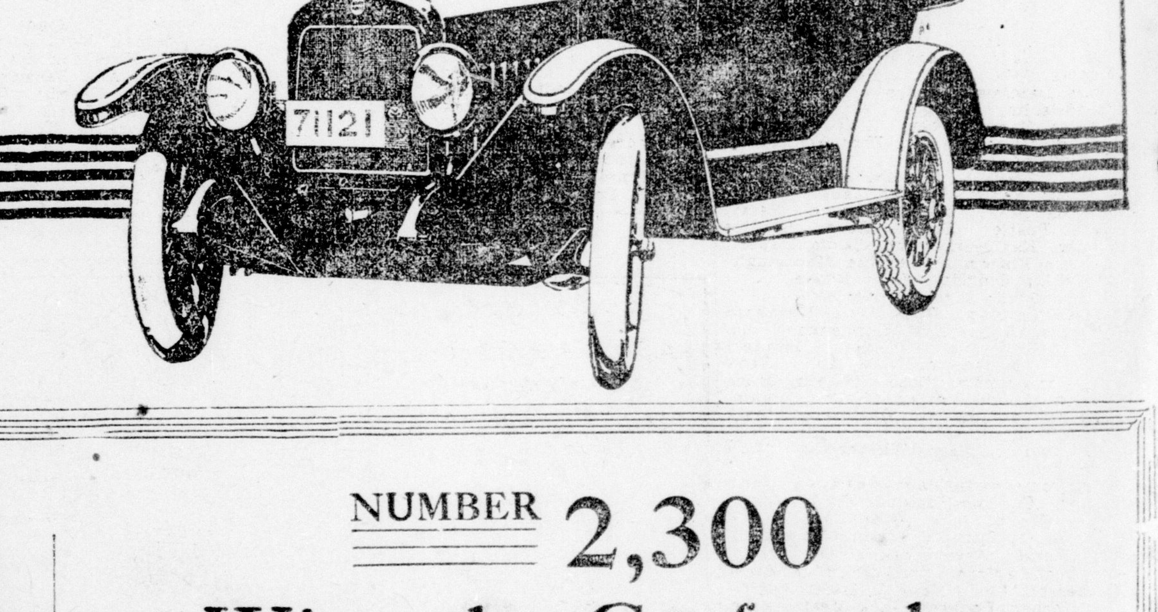

The touring car is $1245; the Gray Dort Special—the car with added refinements and extra equipment, is $135 extra; there are also a coupe, and a sedan. All prices f.o.b. Chatham and are subject to change without notice.

WOMEN CURED AT HOME

Women's disorders always yield from the very beginning of the treatment to the mild but effective action of Orange Lily. Within two or three days after commencing its use the improvement becomes noticeable, and this improvement continues until the patient is completely cured. Orange Lily is an applied or local treatment, and acts directly on the womanly organs, removing the congestion, toning and strengthening the nerves, and restoring perfect circulation in the diseased parts. In order to convince all suffering women of the value of this remedy, I will send a 40-cent box, enough for 10 days' treatment, absolutely FREE, to each lady sending me her address. Inclose 3 stamps and address, Mrs. Lydia W. Ladd, Windsor, Ont.

IN MEMORIAM.

MARTYN—In loving memory of our darling son, Cecil Roy, drowned one year ago today, June 28, 1918.

He little thought when leaving home,
That he would ne'er return.
But now he lies in a lonely grave
And we are left to mourn.
His cheery way, his smiling face
Are a pleasure to recall.
There is nothing left to answer
But his photo on the wall.
In God's safe keeping now you lie,
Oft we think of you, dear Cecil.
And our hearts are filled with pain.
Oh, this earth would be a heaven
Could we but hear your voice again.
—Loving Parents, Brothers and Sisters. b

WALTERS—In loving memory of my beloved husband, the late J. D. Walters, who departed this life one year ago today at the family residence, 1029 Richmond street.

And when the stream
Which overflowed the soul was passed away,
A consciousness remained that it had left,
Deposited upon the silent shore
Of memory images and precious thoughts,
That shall not die and cannot be destroyed.
—Anna K. Walters,
Rochester, N. Y.

LOOKING THEM OVER

Today's game with Kitchener begins at 3:30 p.m., and "Dad" Stewart will likely send Reilly to the mound for the Tecumsehs.

Kyle stole two bases on Milligan in yesterday's game, and Nicholson also pilfered second once. Command was nipped at second by a neat peg from Argus when he tried to go down in the seventh with two out.

Two double plays featured yesterday's game. In the first, Wade hit to Hagel, forcing Beattie at second, and Hagel threw to Miller, completing the double. In the eighth frame, Hefter hit to Pettinger, who threw to Bullock, forcing Harrison at second. Bullock then threw to Miller, doubling Hefter at first base.

Newman is still on the sick list with a sore arm. It is not likely that he will play in today's game.

Scott struck Wade and Harrison out in the fifth, and fanned Argus and Scanlon in the eighth. He also laid down a neat single in the fourth inning, but was left on third.

Hefter, the Beaver shortstop, did not make much noise until along about the eighth inning, when he started his frog imitation stunt. Possibly his ragged work in the terrible first inning removed the surplus energy.

There was considerable crabbing by both teams at the decisions of Umpire Burke. Beattie tried to tell him that Scott practiced stepping off the rubber before delivering the ball, but Burke ruled out the argument. However, he seemed to miss a few of Scott's breakers as they whipped over the plate.

"Frenchie" Chaput tried a float ball last night. That it was a ball and nothing else was the opinion of Umpire Burke, who announced the act to the crowd.

Pettinger got away with a bunt on the third strike in the London victory yesterday. This boy is doing great work these days.

The Tecumseh team improved their batting averages in the first inning last night. They looked like a real ball team, and the infield worked like a machine.

"Dad" Stewart placed a foul in the press box during the game. However, as those present at the time were not strong for fouls of the baseball variety, the ball was returned in record time. There were no casualties.

TIGERS BAT BAGLEY AND BACK UP DAUSS

Jennings Men Win Another From Cleveland Team by Timely Clouting.

DETROIT, June 27.—The locals hit Bagby freely in the second and fourth innings, and won from Cleveland today, 6 to 1. Dauss was given remarkable support. The score:

Cleveland	000 010 000—	1	5	0
Detroit	020 400 00x—	6	6	0

Bagby, Uhle, Phillips and O'Neill, Thomas; Dauss and Ainsmith.

BROWNS WIN AGAIN.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—St. Louis wasted but one of its nine hits off Cicotte today, bunching them in the first, fourth and seventh innings, beating Chicago again today, 4 to 1. The score:

		R.	H.	E.
Chicago	010 000 000—	1	9	3
St. Louis	100 200 10x—	4	9	1

Cicotte and Schalk; Weilman and Severoid.

Boston at New York—Double-header, postponed—Rain.

Washington at Philadelphia—Postponed—Rain.

CINCINNATI WINS THROUGH ROUSCH'S CLEVER PLAYING

One of His Catches in Centre Field Robbed the Pirates of a Home Run.

PITTSBURG, June 27. — Cincinnati defeated Pittsburg today 5 to 2, mainly through the batting of Rousch for the visitors. He secured two singles and a double off Carlson and a triple off Mayer. He also made a clever catch in centre field, robbing Stengel of a home run. Luque relieved Fischer in the second, owing to Fischer's wildness, and held the pirates safe all the way. The score:

		R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	102 010 010—	5	13	0
Pittsburg	010 000 100—	2	6	2

Fischer, Luque and Wingo; Carlson, Mayer and Schmidt.

BILL HOLDEN MAKES HIS DEBUT.

CHICAGO, June 27.—Mann's double, following Flack's walk and Pick's sacrifice enabled Chicago to defeat St. Louis 3 to 2 today.

Bill Holden, a recruit pitcher from Lincoln Memorial College, of Tennessee, made his debut as a big league pitcher and performed well. The score:

		R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	000 000 200—	2	8	1
Chicago	011 000 001—	3	12	0

Holden, Sherdell, Ames and Snyder; Douglas, Bailey and O'Farrell.

RAIN SPOILS TWO GAMES.

At Brooklyn vs. Philadelphia — Game was moved forward.

At Boston vs. New York—Postponed; wet grounds.

RED SOX BEAT HAMILTON FIRST TIME THIS SEASON

Brantford Hit Schettler Freely—Knotty Lee Banished From Game After Disputing a Decision.

HAMILTON, June 27.—Knotty Lee's Red Sox won their first game of the season from Hamilton here today, the visitors hitting Schettler freely, while Estelle held the Tigers to seven scattered hits. Hamilton managed to remain in the lead until the sixth, when three hits and an error netted the Sox two runs, and after that Estelle pitched tight ball, while his team-mates increased the lead.

Knotty Lee disputed a decision of Umpire McKee in the second inning, and was banished from the game. One of the largest week-day crowds of the season saw the game. Score:

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

Red currants made their initial appearance this season on the market today. The market was large, with an abundance of strawberries, which were of poor quality, being very watery.

New carrots were offered today for the first time this season.

Beets were down slightly.

Oats are also down.

There has been no straw offered for sale this week.

Hay was down, and slow of sale.

One load of wheat was sold on the local market today at current prices.

Potatoes were down, and slow.

Eggs and butter took a slight jump.

At the Patricia

TODAY—Mae Marsh in "Spotlight Sadie"; Larry Semon in his latest and best comedy entitled "His Home, Sweet Home"; "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon. Vaudeville: "The Four American Beauties," Hokum Quartet, dispensers of harmonious comedy.

MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY—Evelyn Nesbit in "A Fallen Idol," a play of sensational interest and gripping romance. Big special Sunshine comedy entitled "Virtuous Husbands." Vaudeville feature: "The Three Jacks," comedy singing and dancing trio.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY — William Farnum in "Fighting Blood," the greatest outdoor action drama ever produced. Lo-Ko special two-part comedy, "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon. Vaudeville offering: "The Robias Family" (Dad, Ma, kiddies and dogs). Vaudeville's cleverest family act.

WILLIAM FARNUM DIRECTION WILLIAM FOX
Starring in "Fighting Blood," a photodrama of the great outdoors. Showing at the Patricia Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday next.

Featured in "A Fallen Idol," a gripping romance, showing at the Patricia Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next.

SOLDIERS' COMMISSION COMMENCES SEARCH FOR MISSING WOMAN

The Soldiers' Aid Commission has commenced a search or Mrs. Dorothea Cline, formerly Miss Dorothea Lawrence of Ingersoll, whose husband, Sapper W. H. Cline, returned recently from overseas, after having carried the photograph of his wife through the war with him, to find that Mrs. Cline had disappeared and has left no trace as to her whereabouts.

The missing woman is 21 years old, pretty, and an accomplished musician. She is a soprano soloist, and a talented pianist, and her husband believed that she is probably playing or singing in some church in Western Ontario.

Mrs. Cline was traced as far as this city in 1916, after she had left her mother in Ingersoll, with whom she lived when her husband was overseas in the Second Canadian Pioneers, and visited Miss Hazel Parker, employed in the office of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, in the Dominion Savings Building. Then she disappeared, and her husband, who was then in France, had received no word from her. Before her marriage the missing woman was employed as a milliner.

Sapper Cline, who returned to Canada on June 16, was employed before he enlisted as a telegraph operator in Ingersoll.

LIEUT.-COL. GRAHAM TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham will address returned soldiers at Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning. Of the 32 residents of Chelsea Green who enlisted in the army, 30 served in the front line in France and Flanders, and of this number six were killed in action. The names of those who sacrificed their lives are: Harry Clark, William Speirs, R. Durdin, James Winslow, Alec. Morrison and J. Moore.

EVELYN NESBIT IN "A FALLEN IDOL" AT PATRICIA THEATRE

Appears in Role of Beautiful Hawaiian Princess.

A notable cast surrounds Evelyn Nesbit in her latest and, it is said, greatest film production, "A Fallen Idol," which will be the attraction at the Patricia Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Fox film officials claim to have made a ten-strike in obtaining the services and active co-operation of Evelyn Nesbit in producing this picture, which is said to be wonderfully dramatic and scenically perfect.

Talented as she is beautiful, Miss Nesbit has won an enviable reputation as a film star. In this production she assumes the role of a Hawaiian Princess, who comes to California as a musician. She has a love affair which is interrupted, and she is carried back to Hawaii, virtually a prisoner, by the villain. Her sweetheart follows and also is made a prisoner. The tables soon are turned, however, the lovers are reunited and the princess returns to America.

"A Fallen Idol" is said to exhibit Miss Nesbit's unusual emotional power at its highest and best.

WILLIAM FARNUM IN "FIGHTING BLOOD" AT PATRICIA THEATRE.

Oscar C. Apfel, who wrote and directed the William Fox photoplay, "Fighting Blood," a virile drama of the Kentucky mountains, at one time spent over a year in the Kentucky mountains for his health. His knowledge of the habits, customs and everyday life of the Kentucky mountaineers was of inestimable value to him when it came to writing and staging "Fighting Blood."

The photoplay was made in California. The lumber camp scenes were staged in the San Bernardino Mountains in a section where the scenery is an exact duplicate of that in Kentucky. In the matter of costumes Mr. Apfel was particularly exacting. The Kentucky lumberman dresses differently from the forest worker of any other state, and Mr. Apfel saw to it that the picturesqueness of dress was not lost.

LOBO TEACHER HONORED.

A most pleasant afternoon was spent in S. S. No. 9, Lobo, when the scholars and parents gathered at the school to honor their teacher, Miss Hazel J. Challoner, who is leaving, after teaching six years in the section. After a splendid program rendered by the scholars and addresses by Rev. Mr. Mason and T. H. Smith, Miss Challoner was called to the platform, where Arthur Waugh read an address and Misses Lillian Smith and Edythe Graham, on behalf of the school, presented her with a handsome cabinet of silver as a token of appreciation for her interest in and kindness to them. Though taken by surprise Miss Challoner made a most fitting reply. Lunch was afterwards served by the ladies.

TORONTO FAT STOCK SHOW.

At the annual meeting of the Toronto Fat Stock Show, held recently, it was decided to again have classes for female cattle, also that instead of requiring 30 days' ownership of carloads of cattle, that it would be sufficient if owned by exhibitor at time of entry. This will be welcome news to some exhibitors who were unable to compete in some of the classes last year. b

GOOD TEMPLAR GRAND LODGE TO MEET IN LONDON NEXT YEAR

At the concluding sessions of the Grand Lodge of Canada of the International Order of Good Templars, being held at Hamilton on invitation to hold the next (66th) annual session in this city was accepted, the date being left with the new executive.

Tom MacNaughton of Burlington was the unanimous choice for the office of grand chief templar, the other offices being filled as follows: Grand counsellor, Walter Edwards, Toronto; past grand chief templar, Matthias Brown, Toronto; grand vice-templar, Miss Jean McMordie, Hamilton; grand superintendent of juvenile work, Fred W. Robins, London (re-elected); grand electoral superintendent, John T. Dyson, Toronto (re-elected); grand secretary, A. H. Lyle, Hamilton (re-elected); grand treasurer, F. S. Morrison, Hamilton (re-elected); grand chaplain, Mrs. M. Matthews, Toronto; grand marshal, Frank Webster, Toronto; grand deputy-marshal, Miss Jessie Woodhouse, Dundas; grand guard, Mrs. E. Dix, London; grand sentinel, F. McGuahady, Muncey; grand messenger, William Giles, London; grand assistant secretary, Frank Torry, Hamilton.

The new officers were installed by Joseph H. Day, deputy international chief templar, assisted by Ben Gomme, district secretary, and Mrs. Sam Kerr, past grand vice-templar, Dundas.

The reports of Grand Secretary Lyle and Grand Treasurer Morrison were considered most favorable under the present state of affairs in the country, as was also the state of the juvenile department, given by Superintendent Robins.

The members listened to a most interesting talk by the Chippewa Reserve representative, who spoke of the work of the two Indian lodges, situated at Muncey and Bear Creek.

The grand chief templar's report expressed the thankfulness of the order for the Ontario temperance act, and pledged its unbiased support of all further temperance measures which may be enacted by the present government.

Numerous important resolutions were passed, each being optimistic of the future success of the temperance cause.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A DOG LOVER'S APPRECIATION.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I desire to express my appreciation of your short editorial of June 25th entitled: "Save a Dog or Just Kill Him?" The altruistic sentiment which pervades it is all the more admirable in that it is so rare in these days of selfishness. The self-centered wretch who would thoughtlessly or more often intentionally run over a dog—man's best friend—would do the same thing with a human being did not fear of the law prevent him. A man may be a murderer at heart without being a murderer in act.

On many occasions on the city streets I have stopped my car dead rather than strike a dog. I would willingly wreck my car rather than kill one. The motor man who, rather than strike a little mongrel pup, stopped his car, has his heart in the right place. You could safely trust your life in the hands of such a man.

There is no animal, unless it is the horse, which has more claims on the kindness of man than has the dog. And yet, in too many instances, cruelty upon cruelty is heaped upon these very animals. Truly, the opportunities for service of the Humane Society are limitless. Mr. Editor, let us often have the support of your facile pen in this matter.

Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I remain,

IRRIGATED AND IDLE LAND.

(To the Editor of the Witness.)

In a Montreal paper is given a long sketch of information re irrigation in Southern Alberta. The writer has been over considerable of the land ditched—as I cannot call it irrigation. I am told by the farmers that the ditching is a failure, as one American farmer that flooded his land found that the crop did not ripen and was caught with the fall frosts. He entered an action against the C. P. R. for a reduction in price and other damages, but was nonsuited, although the company settled with him later. I am told the land wants only cultivation, and not irrigation, as the Duke of Sutherland's estate raises immense crops in the same section without irrigation. There was a double shuffle between the C. P. R. and the Laurier Government some years ago. The farmers at Medicine Hat and Lethbridge were not suited with the deal, but the Government and the C. P. R. carried their double shuffle through.

There are millions of acres of land vacant in the vicinity of Calgary, east to Swift Current, and west of Morley Station to the foot-hills, north to the Saskatchewan River, and along the C. P. R. main line; also south of Calgary to Lethbridge and to the American boundary. To the north on the C. P. R. east and northeast of Edmonton, and on the Grand Trunk Pacific for over 100 miles, there are vacant lands that would give homes to ten million people, ninety per cent vacant. And still the Union Government has no land for the returned soldiers who want to get on the land.

It is impossible to believe the rascality of the land dealing in the four western provinces. It would take a man two months or more to look over the four provinces to see the plundering that is going on. They are building railways and putting the country in millions of dollars of debt, and will not let settlers go on the land near the railway, though the lands are vacant, with nothing but gophers to look at the trains passing. Great promises were made to the men who volunteered to save the empire, of grants of land and money to start. The soldiers tell me now, when they want to get on the land it is land heavily mortgaged they are offered.

The public press for the past year and a half has been stating that all the land in Canada is in private hands. Who are the private people? Clifford Sifton and his gang, I suppose. Canada is drifting somewhere. We want a Lloyd George. People thought when they got Laurier as premier that the wrongs of the poor people would be righted. But it appears the grafters got such a hold of the country, through a protective tariff and other rascality, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier could not right the wrongs. I was a great admirer of Sir Wilfrid. But I saw later that he was not the man that Alexander Mackenzie was. He was afraid to give offence or something. The present Union Government cannot be changed too soon.

THEY BUILD YOU UP

It is an assured fact that some day you are going to try Tonal Iron Capsules, the new iron tonic. It is an excellent preparation for curing nervous troubles, anaemia, system weakness, loss of appetite and heart weakness. You never tried anything like these capsules. They are put up in French gelatin, and are soft and easily dissolved, and as a result the ingredients are quickly taken into affected parts of the system. Their action is almost immediate. That is why they have been so successful, and why so many people are recommending them. Why not try a box now? You will be astonished at the results obtained if you are suffering from any of the following ailments: Anaemia (thin or watery blood), Impure Blood, Nervousness, Nerve and Muscle Twitching, Weakness or Palpitation of the Heart, Shortness of Breath, Excitability, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Trouble, Pain in the Back, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Vital Weakness in Men, Mental Worry, Cold Extremities, Numbness, Poor Circulation, Lassitude, or any form of Physical Decline. Price $1.00 a box. If your druggist does not carry Tonal Iron Capsules, mail us $1.00, and we will send a box to you.
