ALL CANADIAN AND BRITISH TROOPS WITHDRAWN FROM VLADIVOSTOK PROHIBITION BECOMES EFFECTIVE IN THE YUKON TONIGHT

YUKON TERRITORY GOES DRY TONIGHT, WAS LAST AREA TO SELL ALL KINDS OF LIQUORS

Twenty Licensed Saloons in District Will Be Closed—Government Dispensaries Will Be Opened At Dawson and White Horse Under Control of Commissioner.

Dawson, Y. T., Aug. 30.—The Yukon Territory goes "dry" tonight, when the law enacted last spring by the Yukon Legislature abolishing the saloon goes into effect. Twenty licensed bars now existing in the Yukon, of which ten are in Dawson, are all connected with hotels or rooming houses.

A Government dispensary will be opened at Dawson and another at White Horse under the control of Commissioner MacKenzie. Between now and February a plebiscite will be held throughout the territory to determine the future of the liquor business.

With the closing tomorrow of its saloons, all Canada is under prohibitory legislation.

Yukon was the only district in Canada where sale of all kinds of liquor over the bar was permitted during the whole course of the war.

FOOD PRICES TAKE SUDDEN DROP ON DETROIT MARKET; DEALERS PREDICT A STILL GREATER SLUMP

Porterhouse Steaks Show Decline of 15 Cents Per Pound in Three Months—All Kinds of Groceries Are Reduced in Price From 5 to 10 Per Cent.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Detroit, Aug. 30.—Prices of meats and groceries in Detroit are on the wane. Porterhouse steak that sold at 65 cents a pound three months ago, was offered for 50 cents yesterday. Today lamb chops that sold for 43 cents a pound last May, were quoted today at 32 cents. It's the same in groceries, cream, cheese, eggs, flour, and canned goods are all down anywhere from 5 to 10 per cent, and if predictions of those responsible for the decline are worth anything, prices within the next 60 to 90 days will see a larger cut yet.

Potatoes sold on the market here today for $2.25 to $2.40 a bushel for best grades. Grapes were going for 55 to 60 cents a bushel, and sweet corn and tomatoes were going for what they would bring.

Tomatoes averaged $1 a bushel, and green beans were 10 cents a quart. Eggs sold at 52 cents a dozen, the lowest price reached this year for strictly fresh. Peaches were plentiful at $3.75 a bushel, and bananas that two weeks ago cost 40 cents, were offered today at 15 cents a dozen.

DRESSED HOGS ARE DOWN $5 PER CWT.; HOW ABOUT BACON?

Remarkable is the drop in prices of dressed hogs on the local market. When a shipment of live hogs came into the city last week they were a little lower than the week previous, but there was no mention of the drop in dressed hogs, as very few had been offered. These hogs, dressed, were then quoted at $31 per cwt., and even as high as $32. This morning some of the butchers in the market announced that the price was now $27 per cwt., or $5 lower than a few weeks ago. Live hogs also dropped in price, and fat hogs went down from $18 per cwt. to $17 per cwt. The question being asked generally is: "How much cheaper will this make our ham and bacon?"

Windsor Man Seriously Hurt At Ferry Dock.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Windsor, Aug. 29.—John Gengas, one of the men employed in repairing the dock of the Ferry Company at the foot of Ouellette avenue, narrowly escaped death today, when a sixteen-hundred-pound hammer on a pile driver dropped down the hole at lightning speed, and crashed to the ground, striking him on the head. He was taken to Hotel Dieu, where it is expected he will recover.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 30.—Conditions nearer normal than for ten days so far as railroad transportation was concerned, as a result of Southern California residents today. With the engineers, conductors, firemen and a majority of the yardmen and brakemen pledged to return to work, after their strike in sympathy with striking employees of the Pacific Electric Lines, railroad officials arranged to move trains on virtually normal schedules.

CRAZED MOTHER BEATS DAUGHTERS TO DEATH

Buckingham, Va., Aug. 29.—William Suddaker, 47 years old, wife of a railroad engineer, today beat to death with a hammer two of her daughters, Mildred, aged 15, and Mary, aged 6, and then attacked another, Grace, aged 18, who carried an infant sister in her arms. The crazed woman finally was subdued by a neighbor.

MONARCHY IN HUNGARY IS NOW PREDICTED

Christian Nationalist Party Are Reported To Be Heading Movement.

Vienna, Thursday, Aug. 28.—News dispatches from Budapest and editorial comment in Hungarian newspapers very generally express the belief that events in Hungary presage a return to the monarchical form of government, it being declared that the Christian Nationalist party are thinly veiled monarchists. #### AUSTRIAN CIVIL SERVANTS STRIKE

UKRAINE AND POLAND TO JOIN IN FIGHT AGAINST BOLSHEVIKI

Canadian, Japanese and British Troops Have Been Withdrawn From Vladivostok—General Denekine's Forces Are Reported To Be Retiring in Disorder in Kherson Region.

London, Aug. 30.—Under the agreement between the Petlura Government of Ukraine and Poland the former renounces all claims to Eastern Galicia, the Polish Government undertakes not to enter territory occupied by the Petlura troops, and both governments will combine military operations against the Bolsheviks, according to a wireless dispatch sent out by the Soviet Government at Moscow.

The same dispatch declares that all British, Canadian and Japanese troops have been withdrawn from Vladivostok and that in the Kherson region the forces of Gen. Denekine are retiring in disorder. It points out that this retirement is important to the Bolsheviks because it strengthens the defence of Kiev from the south.

TROOPS TO SILESIA ORDER NOT CERTAIN

Baker Says Yanks Are Not Now Being Sent.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Uncertainty was expressed today by Secretary Baker whether American troops would be sent to Silesia to maintain order while the people were holding a plebiscite to determine their form of government.

"No American troops are being sent to Silesia now," he told the house foreign affairs committee today. "I am sending 5,000 troops to France to relieve the first division troops, who have been in Europe for a long time, and should be returned. Under an inter-allied agreement to have military forces in Silesia for a time, the American troops may be sent to Silesia for duty, but I do not know that they will be sent."

"Why replace the first division troops to France?" demanded Representative Mason. "We must keep our troops there to guard our property," Baker answered, "and we must keep troops in the Rhine country under the terms of the armistice. It is necessary now to retain about 10,000 combat troops in France, and from 30,000 to 40,000 supply troops."

German Army of 40,000 Men Assembles in Lithuania Is Ready To March Into Russia

Germans Call Themselves "Kolchaks" and Claim To Be Going Into Russia To Aid the Anti-Bolshevik Government of Admiral Kolchak—General von Goltz Is Believed To Be the Real Leader.

Paris, Thursday, Aug. 28.—A modern equipped German army of 40,000 men has assembled in Lithuania, and is preparing to march into Russia on the pretence of helping Admiral Kolchak, according to Lithuanian sources here.

Word to this effect was brought to Paris by Chief Engineer Steibko of the Lithuanian railway system, who declared the Germans talked freely of a common understanding between Germany, Russia and Japan.

In describing the situation to the Associated Press, the correspondent M. Steibko said that the large German forces which have reoccupied Lithuanian territory from which they have been several times ordered away by the Lithuanian Government and Marshal Foch, were entrenching themselves and making preparations for a march through Russia. They called themselves "Kolchaks," and pretended that their immediate object was to reach and co-operate with the admiral's forces.

The Germans had partly evacuated the region, but since August 1, according to Steibko, they have been concentrating troops and armaments in Lithuania, with their base at Shavli.

Nine Peerages and Eight Baronetcies Included in List.

London, Aug. 29.—The titular honors conferred upon naval and military leaders in the war by parliament are more lavish than most people expected, consisting of nine peerages, eight baronetcies and one Grand Commandership of the Bath.

The money gifts are in keeping with custom since the eighteenth century. At the close of the War of Succession, Marlborough received with his dukedom, £25,000 a year during the life of Queen Anne. After Blenheim he received the manor of Woodstock, in the park of which Blenheim Palace was erected at a cost of more than a million dollars.

ONE DESERTER GETS TWO YEARS; ANOTHER 6 MONTHS

Latter Receives Leniency on Account of Conditions.

For desertion from the 135th Battalion in 1916, when it was stationed at Camp Borden, Pte. Arnold Henley was sentenced to two years' imprisonment with hard labor this morning, when the district court martial, which was held about two weeks ago, promulgated its sentence. Henley was also put under a stoppage of pay, amounting to $21.65, to cover certain expenses when he was arrested by one of the officers, and it pleaded for the man on the grounds that he is of low mentality, that he was medically unfit, and that he had deserted each time to go to a wife and three children in the wilds of Northern Ontario, who practically had to take care of themselves on 100 acres of land, only part of which is cleared.

Both promulgations were delayed because of General Shannon's absence, for permission had to be obtained from Ottawa before Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown could conduct the service.

EAST MIDDLESEX VOTERS CAN APPEAL UNTIL SEPT. 6

Some Contradictory Reports About Byron Sanatorium.

Sept. 6 is the last day of appeal for East Middlesex voters regarding omissions of names from the enumerators' lists.

Many soldiers who are patients at the Sanatorium have complained that they have not been approached by enumerators.

LANDING PLACE FOR PLANES ON TORONTO ROOFS

Suggested by Engineers of Toronto Harbor Commission.

SERVED BY ELEVATORS These Would Take Passengers Up To the Embarking Platform.

TORONTO, Aug. 29.—A landing place for airplanes on the roofs of twenty or thirty acres of buildings on Toronto's inner harbor is suggested as a probability by Engineer Cousins of the Toronto Harbor Commissioners, in a letter to the mayor.

Engineer Cousins states that the harbor commissioners have a view the development of the inner harbor over a period of years, into a downtown or central district, the buildings in which will be restricted to five or six stories, and that the plan is to build a landing place on the roofs of these buildings.

NEGROES' INFLUX BLAMED FOR ROTS

Chicago Police Corruption Is Also Held To Be a Factor.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The chief cause of the recent "rot" in this city is to be found in the importation of negro labor from the South, with no previous preparation by the employers to provide necessary housing conditions, according to the report of the special grand jury made this afternoon.

The negroes, according to the report, were crowded into the already congested negro district and overcrowded into the white sections. Ill-feeling followed, the report states, and the drawing of a negro boy after he was knocked from a raft, said to have been done by a white man, precipitated the riots.

The jury reports "that only the worst elements of both races participated in the rioting."

The jury returned nine more indictments, charging both whites and blacks with murder and assault with intent to kill.

"Political contamination and corruption in the police department" was also held to be partly responsible for conditions which led up to the riots, according to the report, which urges a "thorough housecleaning of the police department of all grafters."

Mesopotamia, the Land With Great Past and Even Greater Future, If Made British Protectorate; Irrigation Solution of Its Only Great Problem

Where Water Is Provided Barren Desert Becomes a Luscious, Green Paradise of Wonderful Fertility—Euphrates Provides Gigantic Salmon—British Engineers Already Have Tamed Great River and Made It Follow Set Courses.

(By a Returned Officer.)

Today, as you read this article, imagine yourself swept on a magic carpet, suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye, over continent and ocean to the land of the Eternal East. Let us imagine you chosen to come down and settle on the banks of the Euphrates by the Hindiyah dam. It is sunset, but the land is still hot and the light breeze cools not at all. "What a change! How different it all is! Every sense seems assailed by a new and unknown sensation: the tinkle of a donkey's bell, the silhouette of a silent camel caravan going in single file across the desert; the wide river fringed with palms; the various old boats, each with a cloud of canvas to catch the light breeze, creeping up the river; the creak of an old water wheel lifting the water for irrigation; the weird, singing cry of a shepherd encouraging his flock homewards. As you stand taking it all in, a dignified old Arab with white beard and flowing robe passes, saluting you with a Salam Allakum (God's peace be with you). Then your eye falls on the great dam and you observe some Arabs, half-naked, are busy fishing. And what monsters they are getting. The Euphrates salmon weighs anywhere from fifty to two hundred and ten pounds. They are spearing them after throwing in little pellets of a drug which make the fish foolish and easily approached. You notice they have already caught nearly a ton, and have them lying in the mahallah, which is moored to the river bank. If you wish, they will sell you one, and you will later learn what glorious eating they are.

An Arab's garden. But let us wander down river to an Arab and his garden. His creekly water-lift, worked by oxen, raises the water into a great camel-skin bag and dumps it into a little channel which runs back among the trees. He grows a variety of fully and luxuriant—bunches of grapes over a foot long—melons and those roses, sugarcane, palm trees and other things, never seen greater fertility—anywhere. When you question the Arab he tells you when he has only applied water—no fertilizers whatever were necessary. Now, having had a glimpse of this country, let us turn from our magic travels.

A fruitful country. History tells us Mesopotamia was wonderfully fruitful, and it is not too much to say that it is one of the most fertile of any country in the world. It is a fact that Mesopotamia is a hot, dry, flat, dusty plain, lying roughly between the two great rivers, the Tigris and the Euphrates which run north and south. Its southern boundary is the warm and steamy waters of the Persian Gulf. Its northern limits stretch to the mountainous regions of the Armenian and Kurdistan mountains, where ice peaks shimmer on the distant horizon. West, the impenetrable barrier of the Arabian desert—an inner ocean of white, lifeless sand. And east, the Persian Gulf, which the Tigris and Euphrates are forming a natural line north and south.

Having located its geographical history, let us turn to its geological history. Old as this country is, and astonishing as it may seem, yet it is a fact that Mesopotamia has not been fully born yet. It is still in process of being made. It is a child of the two great rivers, the Tigris and the Euphrates. Year by year they have eroded, worn and torn away the rocks of the vast mountain ranges, and have deposited as silt and alluvium in Mesopotamia. One needs very little imagination to realize this if he once sees the swirling, dirty yellow flood waters of spring or sees the Government dredges at the mouth of the river trying night and day, year in, year out, to keep a channel open for ships. The thousands of tons of mud which come down every day are deposited in the slack waters of the mouth and delta, and as a result Mesopotamia creeps out and grows. Even in historical times it is known that a place as far up country as Kut was once a sea port. Over two hundred miles! So we see that all of this vast land lying between the rivers is silt and alluvium laid down, bit by bit, by these mighty rivers. No wonder it is fertile if given opportunity.

WHERE BARRENNESS WILL BE CHANGED TO FERTILITY BY MEANS OF ALL-POWERFUL WATER

Map of Mesopotamia, the Land of Promise, drawn for The Advertiser by the writer of the accompanying article to illustrate points mentioned.

A chance, for it is dried river mud.

Irrigation From Antiquity.

Since very remote antiquity this country has been successfully irrigated. Water channels were easy to build, and slaves were cheap. The only thing which needed watching was the spring floods. Holding walls or "bunds" were needed to keep the water in bounds. If it once broke through on account of the flatness of the country tremendous areas were inundated, and whole populations died out.

Long before the time of Christ, when the mighty Assyrian civilization in the north and the Babylonian in the south were at their zenith, irrigation and dry farming had become very important sciences. Here there was a warlike and cruel people, holding in subjection most of the then known world—always plundering and ravaging—bringing home as trophies gold and silver and precious stones and beautiful women and slaves—always slaves—thousands of them. These that slaves to the land and drove by the lash to work early and late. Thus it was possible to elaborate great systems and deep canals. Human life was incredibly cheap. One Babylonian historian relates that when the floods broke through a "bund" and the king commanded that slaves be thrown into the breach. He actually states that slaves to the number of several hundred were cast in, but the result was unsuccessful. But cruel and heartless as they were, the Babylonians made of this whole country a veritable garden, and it undoubtedly teemed with as dense a population as has ever been known in history.

Different Today. How different now is this sparsely peopled, almost totally arid country! One finds many mounds and ditches scattered here and there over the desert—the last traces of bygone civilization not quite totally erased by the hand of time. The rivers no longer keep to their banks, but great sections of them have wandered off and wasted themselves in marshes. Looking at the map one notes that the Euphrates has so wasted and wandered away its waters that at one point in lower Mesopotamia it ceases to have any distinct course and only partially collects itself together many miles lower and again becomes a river. Turning one's eyes back to the map, one finds that the Euphrates has risen and fallen on this land, one begins to understand why it is a total waste, and the awful and destruction according to little with such highly technical work as irrigation and the constant raising and lowering of the land. The Greeks and Romans ruled as conquerors successively. Mahomet and his fiery followers swept the country in 637 A.D. And since about 1200 A.D., our friend, the lazy Turk, has ruled (or misruled) this forlorn land. His policy of stagnation—his fatalism—his belief that Allah wills all things, have been deadly narcotics to progress.

Damming the Euphrates. Two Englishmen, both brilliant engineers, had before the war tried to "shake the Turk awake on this subject" and had partially succeeded—Sir William Wilcox and Sir John Jackson. Two works of large magnitude have been attempted. One, the damming of the

NO HOOK, LINE AND ROD LANDED THIS FELLOW

Euphrates Salmon captured in the way described in the article.

Euphrates at Musayib, to regulate the waters below this point. This is complete and is working successfully. The river here has had two courses which run separate, for nearly 100 miles and make a very fertile country. The river would deepen one channel and use it exclusively for several years—then, following some whim at a spring flood, it would switch back to the old channel and leave the other nothing but a trickle. This was a terrible calamity to the Arab, for without water to drink or to water his gardens his position was hopeless. He had to abandon everything and migrate over to the new channel and start afresh. As this process kept on repeating itself and constantly kept the luckless population of this district on tenterhooks, Sir William Wilcox conceived the scheme of putting a dam across the river just where it was about to divide, and by careful regulation feed both channels their share. This great dam was completed shortly before the war. As the ruins of Babylon were close by, hundreds of thousands of bricks were used in its construction. The dam was salvaged and built into this dam. It has 39 arches and sluice ways, and is known as the Hindiyah Barrage. This scheme has been a wonderful success, and the results are now becoming apparent. This strip of country is now a veritable garden. Dates—date palms, grapes, wheat, barley, pomegranates, lemons and oranges grow in profusion. The small fruits and vegetables are wonderful.

A Second Scheme. The second scheme only started is a much larger one, and seeks to draw off the flood waters of the Euphrates high up in Mesopotamia, at a place called Ramad. This would act as a tremendous storage reservoir of water, which could be let back into the river in dry weather as needed. Its secondary use and very important also, would be to curb the worst of the flood, and so save the dikes and levees of lower Mesopotamia. At Ramad there is a small brackish lake of about three miles breadth (Lake Habbaniyah), not far from the river. This little lake is the centre of a very large depression in the desert, and if a canal were cut through from the river this depression could be utilized as the reservoir. The water would flood and fill it for many miles, and by a system of gates could be returned to the river as needed. Sir John Jackson & Co. had contracted before the war with the Turks for this work, and had it under way.

During the last of the fighting in Mesopotamia, when the Turks were driven up-river through this town, they utilized the small metal dump cars used for earth excavation at machine gun posts. They set them on end, and half buried them on the sides of this canal. From such vantage points they did deadly execution until they were silenced.

How soon this great scheme will be completed it is hard to say, but although it will cost millions of dollars, if Mesopotamia becomes a protectorate or a part of the British Empire, it is certain to be rushed to completion. Great Britain at present has a small army of engineers and agricultural experts working out fresh schemes and teaching the Arab the science of gas engines, water lifts and piping. India would be ready to send many emigrants to such a land. As an outlet to its crowded millions, Mesopotamia would be ideal. This would act as a machine, not better than Mesopotamia is a land with a great past, and those who have studied it believe it has an even greater future. Let us watch it with interest.

INSPECTOR WILL SUMMON MORE OF TAX-DOGGERS License Inspector J. W. McCallum threatens a wholesale summoning of scores of citizens who have not paid their municipal vehicle licenses. The mayor is numbered by the inspector among those who have not donated the one dollar license fee for each vehicle in operation.

More than two thousand licenses have been paid to date, but citizens are slackening up again, the inspector states, and another court appearance of unwilling vehicle owners he thinks will give the proper impetus to the payment of the licenses.

In a test case in police court recently a lawyer retained by three owners to investigate the validity of the municipal vehicle license bylaw pronounced it impossible to resist successfully.

WAR VETERANS ASK GRANT OF $3,000 FROM CITY COUNCIL

That the city council should be asked for a grant of $3,000 with which to facilitate the plans being made by the Great War Veterans' Association for the reception of the Prince of Wales, was the decision of the reception committee of that organization at its meeting last evening. The members commonly agreed that further plans could not be formed without the co-operation of the council. Six delegates were appointed to go before the council next Tuesday evening.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 returned men are expected to be in London on the day of the prince's arrival, and in regard to their welfare, the committee wishes to provide a free meal in one of the buildings on Carling Heights prior to the prince's arrival. With that object in view, representatives of every ladies' organization in the city will be requested to meet in the G. W. V. A. clubroom on Thursday afternoon next at 3 o'clock. Then from the assembly, a committee will be formed which will make the arrangements for the supplying of the "feeds," if the scheme is deemed feasible. The ladies' organizations requested to be present at the meeting will be: I. O. O. F., Red Cross K. of C., Army Hut Ladies' Auxiliary, St. John's Ambulance Society, the Ladies' Aid Societies of every church in the city, also every mothers' club and the ladies of the Salvation Army.

Some Fear Among Them That Prices May Crumble, Says Bradstreet's.

London reports to Bradstreet's that wholesale and jobbing firms are experiencing a busier trade as the fall season and the Western Fair approach. There appears to be increasing evidence that buyers will take the usual amount of goods. There is some fear that prices may crumble, but while such a feeling is not unreasonable, there seems to be little at the present situation to justify such an attitude. Some wholesalers are advising their customers to avoid over-purchasing and to buy for actual requirements. The growing scarcity of goods makes it apparent that the early buyers are the ones who are most likely to have their wants satisfied.

Crop conditions are only fair, but considering the fact that the farmers are showing a disposition to absorb a good amount of commodities such as wearing apparel, groceries, etc.

"COPS" NOT INSULTING

Chief Does Not Agree With Windsor Magistrate.

When a Windsor man called a policeman a "cop," recently the man who used the term was fined for using insulting language.

Chief of Police Williams says he is not particular what Londoners call his police force members as long as they do not interfere with carrying out of proper duty or become really abusive. "I don't mind anyone calling my men 'cops,'" the chief said today. "It's a slang word, but it isn't abusive or insulting."

GIVEN COMMISSION
AND DECORATIONS
FOR WAR SERVICES

Capt. Priker, M. C., Visits His Friends Here.

WILL BECOME FARMER

On Demobilization He Will Occupy Farm Bought Near Burford.

After almost five years' war service, Capt. M. C. Priker, well known in London, was in this city recently on a short leave from Halifax, and during his brief stay, Capt. Priker visited many of his local friends.

Overseas in the war, the outbreak of war in 1914, this officer was attached to the 7th Regiment here, and was promoted to sergeant-major of his unit.

When the call came for first contingent volunteers, with headquarters at the local armory, Capt. Priker recruited the London quota to the 1st Battalion, and later recruited volunteers for the 78th Nova Scotia Highlanders from this city. On September 26, 1914, he volunteered for overseas service himself and was accepted by the Army Service Corps, leaving on the same day for England, where he was assigned to the 1st Field Butcher's Battalion, D. of S. and T. at local military headquarters.

Following a short stay in Valcartier Camp, he proceeded overseas with the first Canadian contingent, and under his leadership supplies were issued to the 2nd Canadian Brigade stationed on Salisbury Plain. In January, 1915, No. 1 Field Butcher's Battalion was formed, and Capt. Priker was granted a commission and given command of this unit. A few weeks after the first contingent sailed for France, the local officer was ordered across the channel with his unit.

Upon arrival in Belgium he was attached to a British division, with working headquarters directly behind Ypres, where he superintended the handling of the meat supply for the entire division.

Following the evacuation of the division from the general command, and incidentally gaining his captaincy and the Military Cross. He stated that he was in that city now, and will return to Western Ontario with him in the near future, Capt. Priker having purchased a farm near Burford. He will be demobilized in a few days.

It is interesting to note that when Capt. Priker obtained his commission as captain, he was the youngest man in the division.

Following the armistice, Capt. Priker returned to Canada and was stationed at Halifax, where he is his present headquarters. His wife and young son are in that city now, and will return to Western Ontario with him in the near future, Capt. Priker having purchased a farm near Burford. He will be demobilized in a few days.

WIFE AND CHILDREN LIKELY TO SUFFER IF HUSBAND BECOMES PATIENT IN THE SANATORIUM

Magistrate Puzzled and Will Interview Mayor As to Peculiar Case of Hardship.

Magistrate Graydon will interview the mayor personally in an endeavor to make some definite arrangement to alleviate the troubles of Cecil Hains and his wife and family of three children, who live at 23 Empress avenue.

Hains is an open case of tuberculosis, and has been brought to police court for the first time on June 25 for being at work while he was considered by Dr. W. S. Downham to be dangerous to himself and those with whom he came in contact.

Would Become Patient.

Two weeks ago Hains promised the police magistrate, who has been puzzled to know what to do with the sick man, that his family would not suffer, should he be brought to become a patient at the Byron Sanatorium.

Today in police court Mrs. Hains accompanied her husband to the magistrate, who was asked to interview her and her children if her husband were committed to the sanatorium. She has a partially disabled left hand, which prevents her from working. Her husband, she says, recently has ordered her to move because the rent is unpaid. A city organization interested in social work has promised to supply food to the family while the husband is a patient, she says.

Interview Mayor.

Hains said that since he was in the hospital, he has been unable to go to work to get money for his family. The magistrate explained that he would try to get the mayor to take up the case, and promised to interview the mayor in order to find a way out of the difficulty.

The magistrate will appear again on Tuesday to hear the decision of the court.

ROUSCH AND THORPE ARE TIED FOR TOP PLACE IN NATIONAL

Tyrus Cobb Still Maintaining Lead Among Batters in American League.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Ed. Rousch, one of the batting stars in Cincinnati's penitentiary, is making a strong bid for the title of National League batting champion today. He is tied for second place with Jim Thorpe of Boston for second place, with a batting average of .326, while Garry Herrmann of the Philadelphia club, who is trying to break the stranglehold of Cobb, is in third place with .325.

With the close of the season a month away, Tyrus Cobb is in no apparent danger of being dethroned as the champion batter of the American League. His Detroit star is safely in the lead with an average of .340. Cobb's team mate, who is in second place with .326, "Babe" Ruth, the sensational slugger with Boston, who is striving to break the major league home run record of 25, established by Buck Freeman of the Washington Senators, has also tied for a total of 50 runs in 105 games.

Eddie Collins, the Chicago second baseman, is in third place with .325. St. Louis for honors in base-stealing, with 26, having a margin of two.

BRANTFORD MAYOR AND ALDERMAN TO MEET ON PLATFORM

Placing Street Shows Led To Crossing Swords Publicly.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
BRANTFORD, Aug. 29.—Mayor MacBride was in his office promptly at 2 o'clock today, waiting to meet Ald. Allen, in order to complete arrangements for the joint debate which has been on the tapis for some time. The debate is the outcome of a series of letters in the local press, in which Ald. Allen attacked the mayor because of the placing of certain shows which were brought here by the G. W. V. A. Ald. Allen's first letter appeared while the mayor was in the hospital, and upon his recovery he scathingly replied to the alderman's criticism. At the meeting today Warden McCann was present at the request of the mayor, and Ald. Allen was accompanied by A. Farley, his legal adviser. The discussion was short, sharp, and to the point. Mayor MacBride agreed to leave the matter of general arrangements to Ald. Allen. Only on one point did the mayor raise an objection. When Ald. Allen proposed the name of John Muir as chairman, a point-blank refusal was registered. "It is a public meeting. Let the people who come to the meeting appoint the chairman. I don't care who he is, so long as he understands how to conduct a meeting fairly to all concerned," was the way the mayor put it. Ald. Allen would not consent to this, and after some argument the mayor finally suggested any one of the following: Judge Hardy, Sheriff Westbrook, Warden McCann or City Clerk Leonard. It was then decided to ask Sheriff Westbrook to preside, and the date agreed on was Friday, September 12, in Victoria Hall at 8 p.m.

PRINCE SHAKES HANDS OF 2,500 AT THE CAPITAL

Ten Times That Number Waited Meantime For Their Turn To Come.

A POPULAR RECEPTION
"Common People" Had Inning With H. R. H. by Lat-ter's Request.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—"The common workday people" of Ottawa had their inning with His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales today, and the result was one of the greatest of spontaneous receptions which could be imagined or desired. During some 30 minutes the royal visitor shook the hands of more than 2,500 persons, old and young, and in the meantime another crowd of ten times that number was waiting more or less patiently outside the city hall for their turn to come.

The popular reception, which was arranged at the special request of the royal highness, took place at the city hall between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. The crowd, which numbered 2,500, had begun gathering, with the result that by the time the prince arrived the hall was packed. The prince, who was dressed in a light blue suit, and who was accompanied by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of York, and the Duke of Gloucester, entered the hall at 3 o'clock. The prince, who was dressed in a light blue suit, and who was accompanied by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of York, and the Duke of Gloucester, entered the hall at 3 o'clock.

Although the reception was timed to end at 4 o'clock it was not until half past four that the doors of the city hall were closed, and then the prince, with the aid of a megaphone, succeeded in announcing that the prince found it impossible to shake hands with everyone, he was coming outside to speak to the waiting crowd. Immediately afterwards his royal highness appeared on the steps of the city hall and the cheers broke out anew. Men, women and children shouted their welcome and appreciation of the prince's visit. The prince, who was dressed in a light blue suit, and who was accompanied by the Duke of Devonshire, the Duke of York, and the Duke of Gloucester, entered the hall at 3 o'clock.

More Than Pleased. When silence finally prevailed he assured them of his regret that he could not shake hands with everyone in Ottawa. "But I have only two hands," he said, "and I can only shake hands with one of them at a time. However," continued the prince, "I want to assure you that I am more than happy to be a visitor to your beautiful city, and I have felt more than pleased with the splendid welcome you have given me." There were more cheers as the prince made his way to his waiting automobile, and the crowd swung in behind, following his car up the street where still more waited to cheer as the prince went by. All along the street from the city hall to the Chateau Laurier he stood up in the automobile, held firmly by Admiral Halsey, who had secured a grasp on the young prince's belt, and waved his hat or his hands to the people along the street, smiling gaily all along the way.

At one o'clock today the prince was tendered a luncheon by the Government at the Chateau Laurier. A strictly official list of guests in attendance, and this evening at 8 o'clock he was the guest of honor at a dinner given at Government House by their excellencies the governor-general and the Duchess of Devonshire.

Becomes C. W. V. In addition to becoming one of the Great War Veterans, the prince signified his intention of taking part in some way in the Labor Day celebration at Lansdowne Park on Monday, and himself made the arrangements today to visit the park during the progress of the demonstration. His royal highness will be unable to remain at Lansdowne Park for any length of time, but has arranged that his carriage shall go along the Government driveway and through the exhibition grounds en route to a hotel where he will attend a civic reception at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

A MOTHER'S TRIALS

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Break-down.

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy toll, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed with nervousness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and the cure at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unfailing way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you.

NEW UTILITIES PLANTS OPENED AT STRATFORD

Sir Adam Beck and Toronto's M. O. H. Officiate at Ceremony.

EXTENSION TO HYDRO
And Remodelled Waterworks Officially Declared Open by Visitors.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
STRATFORD, Aug. 29.—"If the Government is fair and stands with its back to the wall, we will have under control the Grand Trunk System within a few months," declared Sir Adam Beck this evening in the course of an address in connection with the opening of the hydro-electric and waterworks plants here today. "When you take something out of something that is not there, you have pretty nearly taken all. That is the position of the Grand Trunk."

"When that time comes, consolidate all the railway systems of the country under one control," said Sir Adam, "have an independent body in control, and give it plenty of freedom. Do not inject politics and patronage or any other such obnoxious things. Get politics out of it, and we will show the C. P. R. that the people are not so far behind in ability to run a railway. Be dyed-in-the-wool politicians all your lives and you will be slaves all your lives."

Nowhere to Nowhere. Sir Adam had some words for the railway policy which produced such conditions as existed today. "We have got a railway running nowhere to nowhere. We have transcontinental railways galore. You paid for them. Now they are busy tearing up the parallel lines."

One good thing which had been done, he said, was the elimination of the railway lobbyist, one of the curses of public life and a disgrace of the people. Sir Adam's address was largely devoted to a review of what had been accomplished by the hydro commission and the growth of the enterprise. "If you operate all public utilities under this system railways will be no longer, he asserted."

Supply U. S. Cities. As a result of the power being supplied by the hydro system, said Sir Adam, 30,000,000 less tons of coal were necessary to be imported. In spite of the vast sums invested in the scheme the municipalities had not felt any burden. He hoped that within ten years $100,000,000 would be invested in hydro enterprises in Ontario alone. "If we had it we could sell 1,000,000 H.P. to the United States industries coming to Canada."

Sir Adam declared it to be the duty of the Dominion Government to recompense the commission for the extensions to the Ontario system for munitions purposes. "It is not a question as to whether we need the money, but a question of whether we are entitled to it. If we are then the Government will have a hard time getting out of it before we are through," said the speaker.

Dealing with the radial situation, Sir Adam declared that until the position of the Grand Trunk was finally settled it would be impossible to make any move in regard to the parallel radial line. Transportation conditions today, he said, threatened to stifle industry, commerce and agriculture.

Melon Cutting. The speaker condemned the Bell Telephone Company for the recent increase in rates. He declared that the capital was inflated, and that the day following the granting of the increase a melon of three millions was shared by the company.

"You are unique in your water supply," declared Dr. Hastings, medical officer of health of Toronto. "You have in Stratford probably the purest and best water in Ontario." He referred to the fact that in the past two years there had not been a single case of typhoid fever in the city, and pointed out the enormous sums this disease cost Canada and the United States each year. The great difficulty in health reforms was doctrinal illusions of the people. Dr. Hastings dealt in detail with the various measures adopted by the Toronto health department, and the results obtained through a "safe" water supply and pure milk.

W. S. Dinningham of Toronto, who was mayor when hydro was inaugurated here, reviewed the local history of the scheme.

Nothing Helped Him Till He Took Tanlac—Gains
Twenty-Two Pounds.

"I have not only gotten rid of one of the worst cases of stomach trouble a man ever had, but I have also gained 22 pounds in weight besides, and you may know by that what I think of Tanlac," said Robert Surges, of 663
Herman street, Burlington, Wis., in a conversation with a special Tanlac representative at the Central drug store
in Milwaukee, recently.

Mr. Surges, who is running as conductor on the East Troy and Burlington
Electric Line between Milwaukee and Burlington, had been with his company for many years.

"For the past thirteen years, that is,
continued, 'my stomach had been
boiling all up with gas, and many a night I have been walking the floor
on account of the misery caused by it.
Last winter I was in such a bad shape
and so run-down that it took me 20
minutes after leaving my run to walk
home, a distance of only four blocks.
I was dreadfully short-winded, and
the gas pressure on my heart was frightful. I was very bilious, and had frequent dizzy spells and terrible headaches. I couldn't sleep, was afraid to eat, and had dropped down 50 pounds
in weight, and hardly had the energy to strength to ring up the fares on my car."

"I have been treated by specialists,
took all sorts of medicine, and paid
out hundreds of dollars trying to get something to set me right, but nothing seemed to reach my trouble until I got hold of Tanlac, and this medicine has proven to be just what I have needed so long. I am never troubled with gas on my stomach, pains, shortness of breath or any other bad feelings after meals now, and I can sit down to the table and eat just anything and enjoy it. I sleep good and sound every night, and have gotten so strong and well that my work is no trouble to me any more. I am just like a new man, and have heard lots of people who ride my car remark about my wonderful improvement. Tanlac is great, and I have the best reasons for praising it.
Tanlac is sold in London by Standard
Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town."

Secrets of Health and Happiness The Ways Science Does Away With Superfluous Hair

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

The new government among doctors
is the cosmetic
surgeon. Perhaps his reign is less
supreme than it
should be, but a
royal decree by him
is law to his
feminine subjects.
When a "nose" is out of joint, a
scarless, bloodless
operation by a skilled cosmetic
surgeon will change a
malformed proboscis
into one of pleasing lines.

Now legs and knock knees are made symmetrical and graceful. Perhaps
ears and feet are straightened well-nigh
to perfection; superfluous hair and hair
out of place is eliminated.

One of the unalloyed abominations
which the cosmetic surgeon refuses to
tolerate or encourage is the deforming
act of arching the eyebrows. This is
worse than picking a living chicken,
yet foolish women submit to this torture
because Vanity dictates it. To restore superfluous hair is commendable
and ethically proper, despite the gad-
about gossip of the rocking chair brid-
gades and coffee klatches.

A simple way
There is no harm and no discredit to
a pretty woman to wish to be prettier.
Beautiful women should continuously
seek improvement. Should you fall
back or you go forward. There is no
standstill or middle ground of beauty.

"Peroxide," alkalis such as soda, ammonia or other bleaches are fair makeshifts. With a bit of cotton, wool, or gauze they may be applied as an "invisible cloak" to conceal the superflu-
ous hair, but the complete removal is preferable.

An effective depilatory is composed of
strontium sulphide, one dram; zinc
oxide, one-half dram; powdered starch,
one-half dram.

These ingredients should be thoroughly mixed and kept in a tightly
corked bottle.

To use this lotion, mix a small quantity of the powder with sufficient water
to make a thin paste. Spread this upon
the parts to be denuded of hair and
allow to dry for five or ten minutes. Then scrape off the dried paste
with a spatula or dull knife blade. As
the paste is removed the hairs will

come away with it, leaving the skin
free from hair.

Other Methods.
A little cold cream should be rubbed
into your skin after it has been gently
washed with water or a pledge of absorbent cotton. A slight amount of
the cream should be allowed to remain
on your skin to prevent redness.

Another hair destroyer, which is said
to be effective, is composed of sodium
sulphide, two ounces; distilled water,
one pint.

Dissolve the sodium sulphide in the
water and keep it well corked and away
from light. Apply this lotion to the superfluous hair with rubbing and
wipe it off after two minutes.

After the application of any of these
depilatories or dissolvers you should
thoroughly anoint your skin with cold
cream, as these chemicals are very strong and may leave your skin red if
you do not use a cream application.

Answers To Health Questions
E. N. S.—Ques.—What is a good hair
tonic?

Ans.—Quinine 1 tablespoonful, sage 1
ounce, sulphur 1 tablespoonful, boracic
acid 1 tablespoonful, rain water 1 pint.
Steep the sage overnight after pour-
ing the pint of boiling water over it.
Strain and add the other ingredients.
Let this stand two days, strain and use
directly to the scalp. If the scalp is very dry two ounces of glycerine is a good
addition.

E. M. R.—Ques.—What can I do for
enlarged glands?

Ans.—Whenever bacteria or infectious
matter appears at any spot little canals
carry the poisons away and the glands
nearby begin to swell and act as checks
to the poisonous stuff and germs. Enlarged glands therefore may be due to
colds, tonsils, gums, dandruff, pimples,
scalp eruptions, tuberculosis. Have the cause found and removed by examination.

B. A. M.—Ques.—To settle an argument please decide whether it is true
that everybody has consumption and the
reason some people don't feel it is because their health is very good.

Ans.—That is not true. What you
probably mean is that many city dwellers are discovered at death to have in-
haled tubercle bacilli which good living

overcame and so the disease made no
progress in them.

M. P. M. Q.—What can I do for mucus
dropping into my throat from my head?
A.—You should have a thorough examination made by a nose and throat
surgeon to find the exact cause.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical,
hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice
for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and

malformed proboscis
into one of pleas-

Now legs and knock knees are made
symmetrical and graceful. Perhaps
ears and feet are straightened well-nigh
to perfection; superfluous hair and hair
out of place is eliminated.

One of the unalloyed abominations
which the cosmetic surgeon refuses to
tolerate or encourage is the deforming
act of arching the eyebrows. This is
worse than picking a living chicken,
yet foolish women submit to this torture
because Vanity dictates it. To re-
store superfluous hair is commendable
and ethically proper, despite the gad-
about gossip of the rocking chair brid-
gades and coffee klatches.

A simple way
There is no harm and no discredit to
a pretty woman to wish to be prettier.
Beautiful women should continuously
seek improvement. Should you fall
back or you go forward. There is no
standstill or middle ground of beauty.

"Peroxide," alkalis such as soda, am-
monia or other bleaches are fair make-
shifts. With a bit of cotton, wool, or
gauze they may be applied as an "in-
visible cloak" to conceal the superflu-
ous hair, but the complete removal is
preferable.

An effective depilatory is composed of
strontium sulphide, one dram; zinc
oxide, one-half dram; powdered starch,
one-half dram.

These ingredients should be thoroughly mixed and kept in a tightly
corked bottle.

To use this lotion, mix a small quantity of the powder with sufficient water
to make a thin paste. Spread this upon
the parts to be denuded of hair and
allow to dry for five or ten minutes. Then scrape off the dried paste
with a spatula or dull knife blade. As
the paste is removed the hairs will

come away with it, leaving the skin
free from hair.

Other Methods.
A little cold cream should be rubbed
into your skin after it has been gently
washed with water or a pledge of
absorbent cotton. A slight amount of
the cream should be allowed to remain
on your skin to prevent redness.

Another hair destroyer, which is said
to be effective, is composed of sodium
sulphide, two ounces; distilled water,
one pint.

Dissolve the sodium sulphide in the
water and keep it well corked and away
from light. Apply this lotion to the
superfluous hair with rubbing and
wipe it off after two minutes.

After the application of any of these
depilatories or dissolvers you should
thoroughly anoint your skin with cold
cream, as these chemicals are very
strong and may leave your skin red if
you do not use a cream application.

Answers To Health Questions
E. N. S.—Ques.—What is a good hair
tonic?

Ans.—Quinine 1 tablespoonful, sage 1
ounce, sulphur 1 tablespoonful, boracic
acid 1 tablespoonful, rain water 1 pint.
Steep the sage overnight after pour-
ing the pint of boiling water over it.
Strain and add the other ingredients.
Let this stand two days, strain and use
directly to the scalp. If the scalp is very
dry two ounces of glycerine is a good
addition.

E. M. R.—Ques.—What can I do for
enlarged glands?

Ans.—Whenever bacteria or infectious
matter appears at any spot little canals
carry the poisons away and the glands
nearby begin to swell and act as checks
to the poisonous stuff and germs. Enlarged glands therefore may be due to
colds, tonsils, gums, dandruff, pimples,
scalp eruptions, tuberculosis. Have the
cause found and removed by examination.

B. A. M.—Ques.—To settle an argument please decide whether it is true
that everybody has consumption and the
reason some people don't feel it is because their health is very good.

Ans.—That is not true. What you
probably mean is that many city dwell-
ers are discovered at death to have in-
haled tubercle bacilli which good living

overcame and so the disease made no
progress in them.

M. P. M. Q.—What can I do for mucus
dropping into my throat from my head?
A.—You should have a thorough examination made by a nose and throat
surgeon to find the exact cause.

No Empire Parliament

Lord Finlay, former British chancellor, discussing British problems before the Canadian Bar Association at Winnipeg, declared there could be no Empire Parliament, but that there is no reason why a permanent council for imperial affairs should not be established. This view, we think, be generally approved throughout the Empire. A fusion of the dominions and home parliaments would be a cumbersome method of administering the Empire's affairs. More than that, it would be dangerous in that it would hold possibilities of friction and discord. The peoples of Canada, Australia, South Africa, Newfoundland and New Zealand have no desire to interfere with one another's domestic matters, yet under a system of centralization this might easily happen. A confederation of free nations is what the British Empire now consists of, and any new relationship which in the slightest degree lessened our present independence would inevitably tend to create disagreements.

Speaking in London, Premier Hughes of Australia called the proposal for an empire parliament a dream, an impracticable vision. He said:

"What of the future? What is to be our place in the new world? One thing appears certain. Neither the self-governing dominions nor Great Britain would agree to surrender one jot or tittle of their political independence. The idea of an Imperial Parliament is a vision which can never take substantial shape, for it is in its very nature incompatible with the status of sovereignty which now more than ever the self-governing dominions jealously prize. But we must hope that somehow means will be found whereby this great confederation of free nations calling itself the British Empire can work, live and develop together in the highest interests of civilization and the welfare of mankind."

As with our Anzac cousins, the autonomy won by Canada, and so generously agreed to by the home government, is too precious a thing to have disappear in a merger of parliaments, no matter how splendid such an organization might be, or how effective. The new and closer relationship with the object of developing a happier, healthier, stronger empire in a reconstructed world can be made operative and efficient by the establishment of a permanent council, as Lord Finlay suggests, a body that would pass judgment only on such matters as affected the common interest of all, but in all other matters the dominions must retain their present sovereignty, something that would be difficult, if not impossible, under an empire parliament.

Financing Reconstruction

Although the United States has come out of the war in a most favorable economic position, and has really become the monetary centre of the world, her financiers are wondering how they are going to stand it. Uncle Sam has money to buy with and goods to sell, but the other countries have not the goods to sell or the means whereby to purchase. The credit of Britain, France, Italy and Canada has fallen to a serious extent, as the condition of exchange in New York points out. The more goods these countries buy in the States without sending an equal amount back the worse their credit becomes. As a result American financiers are seeking some plan to keep the wheels going and if they cannot find it industrial stagnation to some extent must follow.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to permit the formation of American corporations to finance foreign trade, but it is not making great progress. Some discussion is taking place on a plan offered by a British financial authority to organize a co-operative international pool to aid international credit. This plan involves a loan of five billion pounds, to be distributed among investors in various parts of the world and to be guaranteed by the interested governments. It is proposed that Britain and the United States each guarantee a billion, France half a billion and the balance to be divided among other countries, which, however, do not include Canada.

Whether this scheme materializes or not is for the future to show, but the fact that the financial authorities of the world are centering their attention on this problem shows the importance of developing international trade relations and the futility of attempts to gain national prosperity by declining to have "truck or trade" with the other fellow.

Where 'Prominent Men' Rule

Ontario Conservatives are having a row within their ranks over the question of holding a convention. Unfortunately for the equanimity of the provincial leaders of the party a few progressive spirits have risen to declare that the people should have something to say about political affairs. The Toronto World is leading in the movement and Hon. T. W. McGarry, provincial treasurer, is sponsor for the stand-patters. In fact, in a recent speech at Marmora Mr. McGarry declared that the idea of a convention did not meet with the approval of prominent men of the party and would not be held.

Mr. McGarry must be given credit for adhering to his principles. The convention idea is purely democratic and therefore Liberal; it was the means by which both provincial and federal leaders were chosen by the Liberal party. It has no part in the make-up of the Conservative party, which, as Mr. McGarry pointed out, is controlled by the "prominent men" within. Since Mr. Hears was present at the meeting at which the statement was made, and expressed no disapproval, it may be taken for granted that the provincial treasurer's views were also those of the premier. Whether the "prominent men" fear the wrath of the rank and file may be surmised from the fact that they will permit of no expression of sentiment as to how the party is being conducted. It appears as though the World's efforts are but a forlorn hope.

A Princely Prince

The Prince of Wales has made a hit. In Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa he has charmed and captivated vast assemblages of citizens met to do him honor. Many thousands, gathered to acclaim him for what he represents, have been won heart and head by this royal lad's personality. To the glory of unspoiled youth he adds a tactfulness and sympathy characteristic of his father, and still more of his grandfather. Much of what the Prince does and says is, of course, mapped out by those in charge of his itinerary, but it would all be very flat and stilted, save to the snobocracy, were it not for the Prince's boyish interest in things and desire to please which moves him to many delightful informalities. He has robbed the staged demonstration to royalty of its customary heaviness by being his democratic self instead of a mannikin performing as the strings are pulled, a figure to carry a lot of imperial trappings. He has shown himself thoughtful of others, good natured under what at times must be an irritating monotony, and a fine "mixer." In a word, Prince Edward is a "Prince."

Higher Education

Education was always a great leveller. Through the public schools and universities the poor man's son has a way open to success. "There is no royal road to learning," and that fact, coupled with the fact that only by diligent, hard work can learning be obtained, has resulted in a greater number of poor men's sons becoming learned men than the sons of those who did not see the necessity for hard work. Professional men the world over are nearly all poor men's sons. German professors justified the conduct of the kaiser, and this fact shocks or shatters the views held of men of learning. That any educated (or uneducated) man can honestly justify the kaiser's conduct towards Belgium cannot be believed. It was wholesale, unprovoked murder when viewed in its most favorable light. When the other atrocities committed on the women and children are added, the strongest words of condemnation become so weak that the ordinary, every-day criminal appears by comparison to be a saint. There is some very essential element lacking in the education of German universities when this result is possible. No young men of other nations should incur the risk of receiving education from them. It may be that their lives, having been spent where true freedom is unknown, has prevented them from developing a sense of justice. The bondage of militarism may be the cause.

Curbing the Hapsburgs

The Supreme Council of the Allies appears to hold much the same opinion of the Hapsburgs as Col. Watterson, who throughout the war's progress laid consigned the Austrian royal house to a sultry hereafter. The council has peremptorily ordered the Archduke Joseph to resign from the Hungarian ministry, and has told him plainly that the Hapsburgs must not further meddle with Hungarian state affairs. It was hardly to be expected that the Allies would sanction the return to power of the Hapsburgs even under a republican form of government. The Potsdam crew may have manipulated the great conspiracy which started the war, but the Dual Monarchy proved a willing instrument, and once the struggle was on co-operated enthusiastically in a thousand infamies. Hungary will be happier and safer rid entirely of the Hapsburgs, whose rule has been hateful for centuries, and the peace of Central and Southwestern Europe easier to keep with monarchist influence at Budapest eliminated.

California has invited the Prince of Wales to inspect its "sun-kist" oranges, but they will seem tame after Canada's son-kissed "peaches."

Some one should have a talk with the squirrels and find out whether these snowstorms in New York State and Michigan are signs of an early winter.

That Toronto newspaper which told of the Prince's mixing with the "tattered and ragged," wasn't what you would call boosting this fair land of prosperity.

What shall we do with the Union Government? asks the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. Why, that's easy. Give 'em pensions of eight to ten dollars a month, such as the Union Government is paying crippled veterans, and require them to live on the pensions.

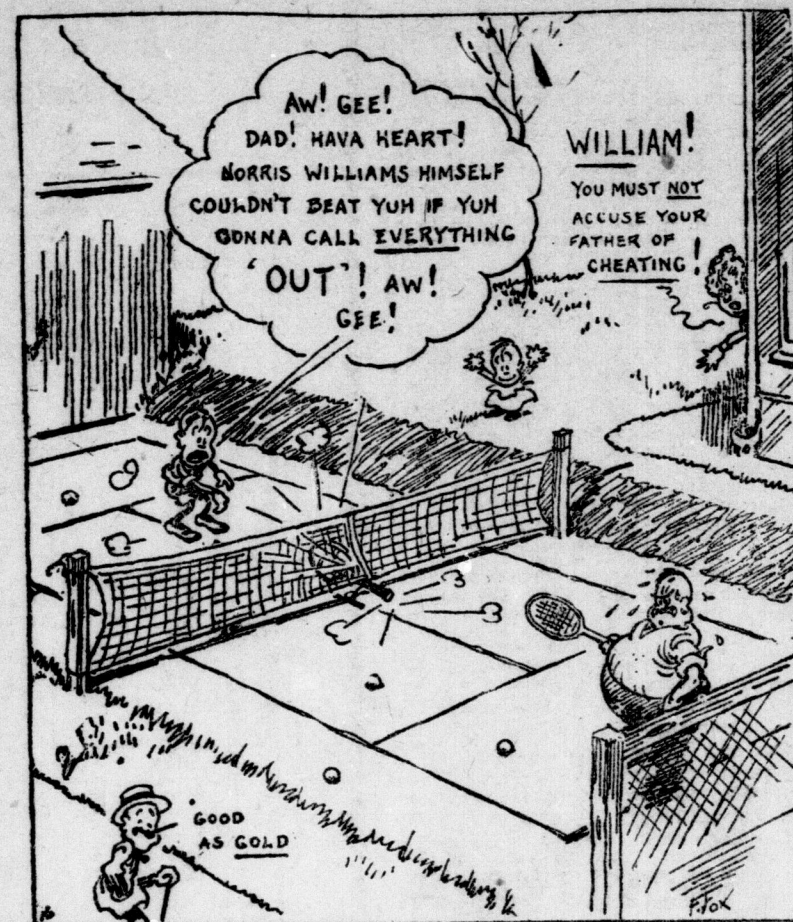

Having heard that Goderich had obtained an enormous steel plant while Hamilton slept, the Hamilton Spectator yawns and asks "Where is Goderich?" It might be answered that Goderich is one of the places where trains hasten to as soon as they can get away from Hamilton.

The recent strike of Yorkshire miners caused $10,000,000 damage to the mines, a coal loss to the industry valued at $15,000,000, besides $12,500,000 to kindred industries. The miners' strike fund of $1,400,000, the result of 25 years' accumulation, was exhausted in four weeks. Who won?

THE TROUBLE LISTENER.

By R. Ray Baker.

He stood at the park entrance, a dark, haired, fashionably garbed man of slender build, and allowed his cane to swing repeatedly against the wall that embraced the terrace. Beneath a small, dignified mustache his lips twitched nervously, and his black eyes, set in a pale, almost emaciated face, roamed restlessly over the throng that was enjoying a late afternoon stroller. He saw two men smoking corn-cob pipes contentedly, chatting amiably as they rested on a bench, against which a pair of crutches leaned. Nearby was a languid young woman with yellow hair shielded by a red parasol, gazing dreamily into space and now and then calling methodically, "Edward, come here!" to a bare-legged youngster romping heedless of her admonitions, on the lawn in the vicinity of a "keep off" sign.

A grimy laborer, clamping his jaws placidly on a plug and carrying a dented dinner pail, his shoulders hunched forward and his feet dragging after him, eluded the entrance, where the wind had separated several flocks and scattered them over the grass.

The laborer glanced furtively about, stepped gingerly on the lawn, and a moment later moved out of sight along the walk, whistling listlessly no tune in particular, the newspaper folded compactly and protruding from a coat pocket.

Two girls passed near the observer with the cane. One was chewing viciously on gum, punctuating her remarks with frequent smacks of her lips. The other evidently had been weeping, for there were traces of tears in her eyes and she carried a wilted handkerchief. "I'd tell 'im where 'im get off it," snapped the gum-chewer. "Don't let 'im put anything like that over on yuh. The 'dear dookin' yuh, a whole dollar's case yuh busted one measly 'fif' cent case. Well, gooby, I gotta hurry home 'r get."

She hurried off through the park, while the other girl walked on down the street, snoring up more salt water when the tiny lace-fringed skirts of linen. All this ceased abruptly at the next corner, where she was joined by a young man and a ripple of laughter floated back.

The man with the cane smiled somewhat grimly and adjusted the stick on his arm.

"The inhabitants of this old world certainly have their troubles," he sighed, and as he turned he collided with a tall, thin, blond young woman clad in pink.

"Pardon," he murmured, and then as he recognized her: "Oh, hello, Evelyn. This is a surprise. What are you doing, that you can't see where you're going? Studying astronomy?"

Evelyn smiled sadly and took him by the arm. "You're just the man I need," she asserted. "I'm in awful trouble—and it's all on account of my no-good husband. Joe, I wish I'd married you. Come in the park and I'll tell you all about it, and maybe you can advise me."

With an air of reconciliation, he allowed himself to be piloted along the park walk. They were just in time to see and hear the amiable discussion of the two old men with corn-cob pipes break up in an angry, sputtering argument over the effect of the peace treaty on the map of Europe, or the high cost of living, or the betting percentage of the major league catchers.

As the man and the girl passed the young woman with the yellow hair, the youngster who had been romping on the lawn came running up to her, splitting the air with shrill, "Come over to this beach."

The young woman, manifesting great annoyance, stopped gazing at distant nothings, seized the bare-legged child by the arms and dumped him unceremoniously on the bench beside her. "Now, what's the matter?" she demanded angrily. "Can't I have a minute's peace? What are you roaring about?"

"I bit my finger," she wailed, and let loose another torrent of tears. "Shut up!" she commanded, and gave him a slap across the face. He became silent immediately, except for some half-suppressed sobs, evidently through fear. She looked up at Evelyn and her escort were passing, and nodded.

"Oh! How do you do, Mrs. Benjamin," she said. "Did you ever see such a kid? I don't have a second of comfort. I wish he'd never been born. He's driving me crazy."

"She thinks she's having troubles," said Evelyn to her companion, as they went on down the walk. "But her troubles are nothing compared to mine. Wait till I tell you. Come over to this beach."

As they were being seated she remarked: "Where have you been the last three years? I heard you went west. And you look so pale. You must have been sick."

He nodded but did not vouchsafe a reply, simply moistening his dry lips with his tongue.

"I heard they were engaged to marry out there," she rattled on. "Well, I got married soon after you left; and we lived so happily till—"

Tears came to her eyes and a choking sob halted her conversation. She blew her nose and resumed: "Ain't it queer to see people like Mrs. Mains back there fretting and worrying about that little boy and thinking she's in misery, while here I am with something real to worry about. Oh,

must be terrible—one of those vampires." Another flood of tears broke forth and Carson looked about uneasily, hesitating to speak lest he say the wrong thing again.

The languid young woman with the bare-legged boy who was such a trial were passing. The youngster was laughing up at his mother as they tripped along, his hand in hers, by the way.

Evelyn looked after them and remarked smilingly:

"Well, Mrs. Haines has got over her spell and the kid's finger ain't bothering him now. Ain't that the limit?" She did not observe a middle-aged man and an elderly lady with grey hair who were sauntering through the park until they were close to the bench.

"Evelyn!" exclaimed the man in astonishment as he and his companion halted. "Why, how do you happen to be here?"

Evelyn leaped to her feet in surprise and confusion. However, in an instant she had regained her composure and was all smiles.

"Mrs. Wilcox," said the man, "allow me to introduce my wife, Evelyn, you remember my speaking about the buyer for the Clayburn millinery—our best customers. Well, this is she."

Evelyn beamed on Mrs. Wilcox. "So pleased to meet you," she said warmly. "My husband has often spoken of you. Can't you come up to the house for dinner tonight? Oh, by the way—Mrs. Wilcox and Walter, dear—meet Mr. Carson, an old friend I happened to meet while getting some fresh air and sunshine."

Carson acknowledged the introduction and presently excused himself. Slowly he walked out of the park, swinging his cane, and entered the hotel across the street. He noticed in passing that the two old men again were smoking in peace.

"Troubles, troubles," he soliloquized. "Everybody has them, and yet eventually they seem to work out all right. But mine—there's no chance."

He nodded to the clerk, who handed him a telegram. With nervous fingers Carson tore open the envelope. "Come home, Joe," it read. "Parks are closed to embellishment. You are confessed. I'm ready for the wedding." Carson looked out the window at the hurrying crowds, which he did not see. The world's just about all right," he murmured. "Dear girl, she stuck to me through it all."

THE MODEST JAZZ-BIRD.

The Jazz-bird sings a barnyard song, a cock-a-doodle bray, a jingle-bells, a boiler works, a he-man's roundelay.

The eagle said: "My noisy son, I send you out to fight!" So the youngster spread his sunflower wings and roared with all his might.

His headlight eyes went flashing From Oregon to Maine; And the land was dark with airships In the darting Jazz-bird's train.

Crossing the howling ocean, His bell-mouth shook the sky; And the Yankees in the trenches Gave back the hue and cry.

And Europe had not heard the like— And Germany went down! The fowl of steel with clashing claws Tore off the kaiser's crown.

What your front door tells.

The two sides of your front door tell a double story about surface protection—there are few better examples. The inside makes plain every day how surface protection is needed in daily use—protection against kicks and knocks, against the scrubbing of cleaning cloth and the countless contacts with many hands.

Outside, the door has all this wear and more—for here are also the full heat of the sun—the driving rain, snow, hail and sleet.

Your front door, however, like everything you own, will be well preserved if given proper surface protection. The elements stop at the protective coating. Rough usage fails to penetrate through. Actual abuse often finds itself powerless to do any damage.

Disintegration must have a surface to begin on—deterioration comes from without. If a surface is coated, the coating suffers the entire attack. Save the surface and you save all.

Surface protection applied to any product of wood, metal, brick, concrete, stucco and plaster, renders the product immune to rot, rust, and disintegration, as long as the surface protection remains intact.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is issued by the Canadian Save the Surface Campaign Committee, for the purpose of educating the public in the Preservative and Protective value of Paint, Varnish and Allied Products for the Conservation of Property, and has received the approval of the Canadian Trade Commission in the following words:

"The realization of the above objects will lead to employment during the Reconstruction Period and bears our entire approval, THE CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSION

Paint this Fall

Because:

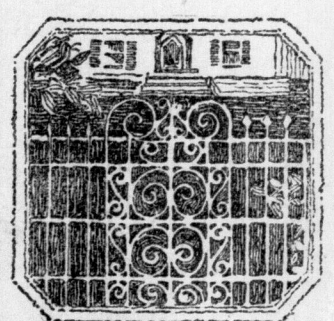

—of proper weather conditions—surfaces are now in their most receptive condition, practically every trace of moisture having been eliminated by the summer sun.

—the wood being dry it absorbs more readily and the paint holds better.

—a surface needing protection should never be allowed to go over the winter without it.

—property needs more protection during winter than at any other time.

"Save the surface and you save all"

An iron fence needs rust-insurance. With this treatment it should last indefinitely. In view of the cost of an iron fence and the long life expected from it, every business instinct calls for surface protection.

BRUNK-HOFELICH.

The bride, dressed in white crepe de chene, and wearing a bouquet of pink roses, entered the parlor on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Gladys Brunk.

The bridesmaid, Miss Eva Walker, of Goderich, was dressed in pink crepe de chene, and wore a picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Little Miss Gwendolyn Hofelich, in yellow silk, carried a basket of snapdragons and made a very pretty little flower girl, while Mr. Ralph Felck acted as groomsmen.

The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreen and asters by Rev. J. E. Hauch. After the ceremony the young couple were entertained at luncheon the tables being decorated with roses and ferns.

Amid showers of confetti they left for a trip to Toronto, Buffalo and Niagara.

"I'll Tell the World!"

Intimate affairs to a company of perfect strangers.

Why Not Teach Manners?

"I'll tell the world!" I don't believe either of those girls will ever raise her voice above a whisper after this—when she is anywhere in public.

Hurray for Moon-face! He was not only something of a wit and something of a philosopher, but something of a missionary as well.

Oh, the people who shout their affairs in crowded cafes and trumpet them in trains and hotel lobbies!

Oh, the impossible persons who can never stop to tell you what a good time they had at such and such a beach without rolling their eyes to all the four corners of the horizon to see what everyone within sound of his voice thinks of them, and the beach and the way he tells it!

If I had the making of a school curriculum I'd give fifteen minutes a day to the teaching of manners.

I would teach boys how to give a seat to a girl, and girls how to say thank you for it. I would teach them both how to speak to each other—and to no one else—without either whispering or rolling their eyes at each other while I was teaching I would make them understand that just about the most patient mark of crass vulgarity in the world is to talk your private affairs in a public place—unless it is to talk to one person and look at another.

If anyone was introduced to me as a princess of the blood and couldn't keep her eyes on me when she was speaking to me, or her voice controlled so that others couldn't hear what she was saying, it wouldn't take a Sherlock Holmes to prove her private affairs in a public place—unless it is to talk to one person and look at another.

"I'll tell the world!" Thanks, Moon-face! Man, for that pertinent bit of slang. You spoke the right words at exactly the right minute.

I would teach boys how to give a seat to a girl, and girls how to say thank you for it. I would teach them both how to speak to each other—and to no one else—without either whispering or rolling their eyes at each other while I was teaching I would make them understand that just about the most patient mark of crass vulgarity in the world is to talk your private affairs in a public place—unless it is to talk to one person and look at another.

If anyone was introduced to me as a princess of the blood and couldn't keep her eyes on me when she was speaking to me, or her voice controlled so that others couldn't hear what she was saying, it wouldn't take a Sherlock Holmes to prove her private affairs in a public place—unless it is to talk to one person and look at another.

Tecumseh's Could Do Nothing With Newton

Lee's Gang Walked Away With Final Game of Series by Hitting Reilly in the Second and Fourth Frames.

(BY BERT B. PERRY.)

"Doc" Newton, former member of the Baltimore International League club, gave a tidy exhibition of hurling over in Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon, and gladdened the heart of Knott's crew by scoring a shutout over the Indians in the final game of the series. The score was 3 to 0.

Billy Reilly was opposed to Newton, and but for a couple of lapses, Bill did some airtight hurling also. The Red Sox collected thirteen hits off Reilly, most of which were made in the first four frames. In the second and fourth innings four blows were "bunched" for all the scoring of the game. Three counters were put over in the second stanza and the fourth chapter produced a brace of tallies.

The contest was no lively as the first two of the series. The players were not so inclined to "cloud up" the slightest provocation. Besides, the Red Sox put the lid on any such problem by chasing Marty Murphy out of the contest in the very first frame when the Brantford centre fielder committed a blunder on a called third strike. Dore called Murphy's bluff, and after that peace and a certain amount of quietness reigned between the official and the players.

Not Reilly's Day.

Newton would be a tough proposition after the Red Sox gave him a lead of three runs in the second, for he let Reilly survive the thumping, and kept him in there when the Lee boys started a bombardment in the fourth. It wasn't Reilly's day. The visitors limped pretty well in the latter stages of the fracas. He had nine strikeouts to his credit, and some of his victims were "bunched" together in the fifth frame. He wasn't troubled with wildness either, his generosity limiting itself to three passes.

Newton Drives in Two Runs.

Moorehead started the work in the second inning by beating out a hit to Reilly, which was later scored by a double to knock down. Cameron replaced Marty Murphy, followed with a double over Emery's head, which scored Reilly. Estelle hit looked like a homer, but it bounced up and hit the signboards instead of rolling under them.

Murphy Knocked Out.

Johnny Murphy required the services of the water bucket and a doctor in the sixth inning when he stole second base. The Indians managed to perish on the sack a considerable number of times. The nearest they came to scoring was in the sixth frame when they walked off a hit to Reilly, but they were not able to score. The game was called on account of darkness. S. Sanford was hurling for the home team, but he had allowed a hit and a run, and was not able to reach first base.

The Junior match between Bear Creek and Poplar Hill juniors was won by the Bear Creek club. Score 4-3.

Motor Cars

Main Office and Factory, Toronto

Now Completely Built in Canada, By Canadians, For Canadians

THE thousands of Canadian owners of Willys-Overland cars and the Canadian public generally, will be interested in this announcement—

Overland cars will be manufactured, not merely assembled, in our completely equipped Canadian Factory.

The public appreciation of the Overland product and policy has built up a Canadian demand which makes this necessary.

During the war the great Willys-Overland Toronto plant was devoted to the production of munitions and aeroplane motors.

Today these complete facilities and resources are being devoted exclusively to the production of Overland Motor Cars.

This modern institution is largely financed by Canadian capital and is managed by men widely experienced in Canadian industry. Not only does the Toronto factory offer the Canadian public the facilities, resources and advantages of a complete Canadian institution, but back of it are all the tremendous resources and experience of the great Willys-Overland organizations in the United States.

Since the cessation of war-time production, which absorbed the whole efforts of the Toronto factory, plans have been formed for Overland achievements in Canada far greater than those of pre-war days.

Processes of manufacture, co-ordination of departments and new materials have been studied—

Personnel has been strengthened by the addition of expert executives and many skilled workers—

The floor space of the present factories is 280,000 square feet and is to be increased by more than 100,000 square feet—

To adequately manufacture the Overland 4, we have invested more than one million dollars in special equipment and tools, in addition to large sums in raw materials and parts. The larger part of this material is of Canadian origin. More than a thousand skilled workmen are being added to our force,—all with a view to placing the entire organization on a stronger, more highly efficient basis than ever before so that complete Overland cars can now be built entirely in Canada by Canadians for Canadians.

The Canadian factory, with the co-operation of the complete Willys-Overland organizations, will specialize in the production of a wonderful New Motor Car—The Overland 4.

It is the product of the ripened experience of the great Willys-Overland organization.

After ten years of experimenting and 250,000 miles of testing, this new Overland 4 is being manufactured by the Canadian organization in Canada.

See Overland 4 at the Canadian National Exhibition

This remarkable new car, with exclusive improvements and advantages, will be exhibited for the first time in Canada at the Automobile Show of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, August 23rd to September 6th.

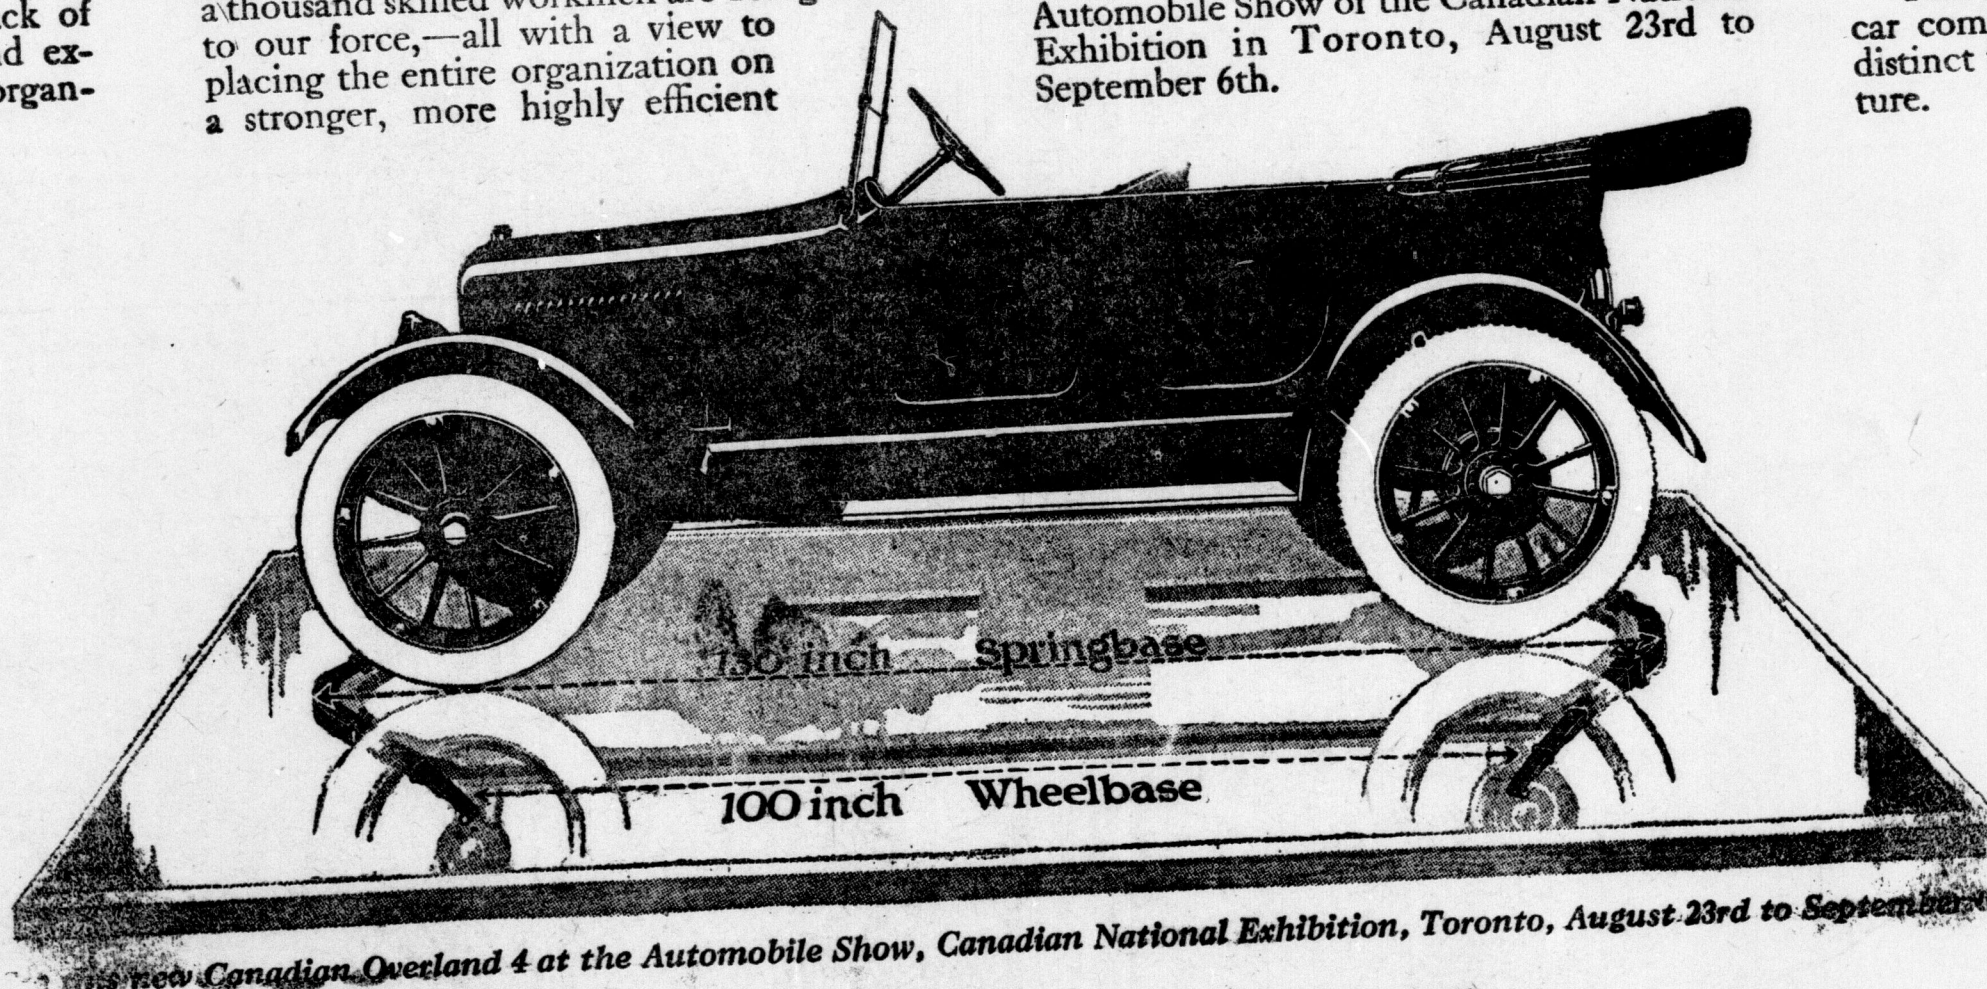

The Overland 4 introduces a new standard of riding comfort made possible by its exclusive new Three-Point Cantilever Spring Suspension, the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.

No motor car ride you have ever had serves as an adequate comparison to the greater road comfort of the Overland 4. You must see and ride in this car to fully appreciate what new era it introduces in motor car history.

The problem that has engaged the efforts of automobile engineers for years has been solved. The combination of the driving-ease of a light weight car with the riding-ease of a heavy, long wheelbase car, has been achieved in this new Overland 4.

In addition to its great comfort, tests show great economy. It is a quality car throughout, fully equipped, beautifully finished.

The introduction of Overland 4, a motor car completely built in Canada, marks a distinct forward step in Canadian manufacture.

BEAUTIFUL ELSIE FERGUSON IN A FILM STORY REVEALING LIFE IN ENGLISH SOCIETY

Popular Screen Star Appearing at the Majestic on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "A Society Exile"—The Majestic Will Adopt Daylight-Saving Time For All Performances, the New Rule Commencing on Monday.

One of the most faithful portrayals of English society life either on the stage or screen is shown in Elsie Ferguson's newest Arcturion picture, "A Society Exile," which is to be shown at the Majestic Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, at three performances, commencing at 2:30, 8:45 and 9 o'clock, daylight saving time. The photoplay does not agree with the false theory held by some people that all British noblemen are idlers and fortune-seekers. Only one person in the picture is of this type, the penniless Lord Elton, who sees desperately for the hand of Nora Shand, the charming young American heiress, which is played by Miss Ferguson. Filled in his play to gain control of the girl's millions, he plots to disgrace her, and succeeds as well that she is hooted throughout England as the mistress of another man and is finally practically banished from the island. Heartbroken she takes up residence in Venice under another name, and in the beautiful Italian city finally finds happiness and her vindication. "A Society Exile," which was adapted from the play, "We Can't Be as Bad as All That," by Henry Arthur Jones, is considered Miss Ferguson's most powerful starring vehicle to date. It was directed by George Fitzmaurice, and the cast supporting Miss Ferguson is an exceptionally strong one.

Prince of Wales' Visit To Canada Shown in Interesting Picture at The Majestic

The management of the Majestic is fortunate in securing for the first time in Canada, a splendid picture of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales at present visiting in Canada. It is an interesting film, showing the young prince in his merrier moments playing with his young brother before taking to the Dominion, and other scenes of his officiating in different great functions of state. It is an intimate picture, with the manly help to the

MARY PICKFORD AND EUGENE O'BRIEN AT THE MAJESTIC LAST HALF OF NEXT WEEK

The Majestic is showing on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Mary Pickford's brightest, happiest and best picture, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Rebecca was a young woman with heart of gold, but a terribly incurable perverse and impulsive sense of curiosity and mischievousness. When the word came that Rebecca was to leave the city and go to the farm, her entire little lovable being was filled with the anticipation of green fields, and plenty of space to caper around in to a heart's content. Although it proved hard to leave all her good friends and pets, she was soon started out on her great adventure, to—in her youthful vision—see the world. Adventures really and truly great did lurk by the way too, for wasn't there the great circus, the funny farm folks, and the greatest adventure of all, Love, which brought forth to maturity, the lovely woman that Rebecca was growing to be. Didn't the young doctor look like Aladdin, and couldn't he perform the most wonderful feat of magic, too? So strong and handsome that he fairly took the young heroine's breath away. Can you imagine Rebecca, and all the wonderful times she had, the happy times, the sad times, and the naughty times? Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm has proved a wonderful screen success, for it is a picture which, having all the elements of appeal to all the different tastes and backed by the world's greatest most popular star, seen at her best, in a picture of such a beautiful happy contented mood, and leaves a delightful effect of seeming to have slipped into childhood for a few hours, and enjoyed all its pleasures and troubles with the enthusiastic zest of that best time in life.

SENNETT'S BEAUTIES DANCE 'THE SHIMMY' IN LATEST COMEDY

Newest Comedy To Be Shown at Majestic Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The new dance which has taken the country by storm, the shimmy, is said to be one of the most difficult dances yet introduced and people all over the country are trying to master it. If you don't know the steps, Ford Sterling and Phyllis Haver, two of Mack Sennett's foremost players, will demonstrate in "Among Those Present," which will be shown at the Majestic next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. This picture is said to be one of the funniest yet turned out at the famous laugh factory and Ford's idea of this new dance will keep one's sides aching from laughter. A band of savage Indians and a vicious bear take part in the action, which is speedy and uproarious.

The story is a good one and the direction of Earl Kenton and Ray Gray excellent. The cast is unusually effective.

WOODSTOCK PLANT TO RESUME WORK ON ELECTRIC SYSTEM

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 29.—Representatives from the American Linsden Company visited the local plant of the concern today and arrangements have been completed to resume work here. The concern has been shut down for a short time undergoing repairs. The representatives announced that the company has purchased the full patent rights of a unit electric lighting and power system and the Canadian supply will be manufactured here. When operations are well under way a large number of men will be employed. The company formerly manufactured jointers and lathe shells and gun mounts for the United States navy.

REUNION OF 71ST.—On Monday (Labor Day) a reunion will be held here of the returned members of the 71st Battalion. In the afternoon a picnic and program of sports will be held at Southside Park and in the evening a dance will be held in the armories.

GEORGE DOWLING DEAD.—The death took place at an early hour this morning of George Dowling, aged 68 years. For years he was connected with the lime business in Beachville. He then moved to Otterville and latterly came to Oxford. He is survived by his widow, one son, Dr. H. G. Dowling of Otterville and one daughter living in Toronto.

Purina Chicken Chowder Helps Hens Molt

Few hens can produce feathers and eggs at the same time. Feathers are mostly protein. Purina Chicken Chowder helps hens molt because it runs high in protein. It is not a tonic, but a wholesome, scientific, balanced feed, to be fed with Purina Scratch Feed. These two form a perfect ration for moulting and laying hens. Grain feeds are not suitable for moulting, and unless Purina Chicken Chowder is fed, moulting will be slow, recovery slow, and the chances of winter egg laying considerably reduced. Feed Purina Chicken Chowder NOW!

You want Eggs next Winter

Ask your dealer for Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Scratch Feed, guaranteed to make hens lay more eggs. Sold in Checkboard Bags only at all Feed Stores.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POLICY

Sir William Points To This as One of Government's Accomplishments.

BRAMPTON, Aug. 29.—Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario, addressed a large gathering here tonight in support of Major T. L. Kennedy, in the Conservative provincial general election. Sir William dealt at some length with the record of the Government, which he claimed was such as to justify the belief that the Government would be returned to power.

He expressed himself as confident on this point, and said the Government had no fears as to the outcome. The various acts of the Government were referred to in substantiation of this faith. Chief among them was the hydro-electric policy, which he claimed had done much to maintain and make sure the industrial supremacy of this province. He said that the hydro-electric policy had prevented a complete industrial collapse during the fuel shortage of a year ago, and today took the place of 50,000,000 tons of coal alone.

Sir William declared that the completion of the plants at Niagara would add 300,000 horsepower to the hydro-electric equipment, and make it the most economic power development in the world.

Temperance Question. Dealing with the temperance question, Sir William pointed out that the policy of the Government was the continuation of the temperance policy of the late Sir James Whitney. The late leader had pledged himself to the temperance cause, and Sir William declared that he would continue the policy.

Who would dare say that in such a moment that patriotic statesman, Sir James Whitney, would have hesitated to discharge his duty to the province and to the Empire? Would not the Government have been false to the Whitney pledge if it failed to act as it did?

Explained Bailout. Sir William devoted considerable attention to the explanation of the bailout prohibition had come to the province as a war measure and that it was necessary for the people now to say whether they wished it continued or whether they wished it discontinued. The bailout prohibition was designed to give expression to the various phases of the subject. There need be no misunderstanding as to the various phases of the subject. There need be no misunderstanding as to the various phases of the subject.

H. R. H. Recognizes Sergeant Who Was Runner For Sir Arthur Currie When the Prince Was Attached to the Canadians—Shakes Hands With Blind Workers.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—There is one old lady in Ottawa who believes in her duty to her country and that she doesn't mind telling them so, but this afternoon she nearly fainted at her own audacity. She was one of the 2,000 who gathered at the popular reception of the Prince of Wales at the city hall. Unlike most of the others she refused to just grasp his hand and then pass along, but retained a firm grasp of his royal highness' right hand while she said in an audible voice: "You must marry soon, your highness, and raise some more like you."

The prince, who was accompanied by the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent, was greeted with a roar of applause. He was seen to shake hands with a blind worker, and to recognize a sergeant who was a runner for Sir Arthur Currie when the prince was attached to the Canadians.

"Where do you get him?" asked the prince. "At Look," replied Sgt. Scooby, a one-armed veteran who was a runner for General Sir Arthur Currie when the prince was attached to the Canadians.

A party of 25 blind workers from the Ottawa Blind Association had made the request that as they could not see the prince they be allowed to shake hands with him. They were given special seats in the council chamber, and the prince, who was accompanied by the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent, was greeted with a roar of applause.

"Thirteen nursing sisters, members of the St. John Ambulance Association, and two of whom had been mentioned in dispatches, were among those presented this afternoon."

RAIN GREAT HELP TO ROOTS AND POTATOES
WHALLEN, Aug. 29.—The recent rain has done a great amount of good to corn, roots and potatoes, and has put in a splendid shape for sowing. The threshers are busy and the good yield is reported here of sweet clover grain. There is a lot of good news in the weather for the farmer and very little of it is going to be realized this year. Some farmers have already got their fall wheat in, and some have got their corn in.

First St. Catharines Soldier To Leave, Last To Return, Tells Story.
ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 29.—About the first St. Catharines man to leave for the front and about the last to get back, Lieut. T. Edward Jones, of the 15th Machine-gun Battalion and its half, the Huns, told his story.

"I saw the first Canadian soldier who was killed in the war," he said. "He was a sergeant of the 15th Machine-gun Battalion and it was in April, 1915. There was no support and they drove us back a mile and a half. The Huns were in a poor fellow and pinned one of our saw-burn doors. They ran one of their saw-burn doors. They ran one of their saw-burn doors. They ran one of their saw-burn doors."

Use Assets of Belgian Relief for Education
HERBERT HOOVER'S SUGGESTION
ACCEPTED BY BELGIAN GOVERNMENT.
BRUSSELS, Aug. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—The Belgian Government has accepted the suggestion of Herbert Hoover, director-general of the Inter-Allied relief organization, that the inter-Allied relief of the Belgian relief fund, amounting to about $16,000,000 be devoted to the creation of a foundation for the higher education of children of the workers and of children of limited means.

PATRICIA THEATRE
VOTING CONTEST WON
BY MRS. F. LINDSAY

Mrs. F. Lindsay, 509 Dundas street, was the winner of the Chevrolet
motor car in the Patricia Theatre
voting contest last night with a total of 1,571,000 votes. Ruby Franklin, Savoy Hotel, won the $100 diamond ring, with a total of 82,000. Lena Richards came third, winning the $50 diamond ring,
with a total of 703,000.

The Patricia contest under the management of A. B. Darling of Pennsylvania, was a great success since the day it started, August 1, and has excited much interest locally. Long before the doors were opened a line
of people were waiting admittance to hear the announcement of their favorites, which was given out by Manager
W. L. Stewart on the stage after the first performance. Mrs. Lindsay, the winner of the motor car, was complimented by her many friends. She has worked hard and so has her husband,
who is now walking around on crutches
owing to the loss of a leg in the war.

All the other winners also earned
their prizes, as they were on the job
from morning until night. The ones who came close, but in the close scene
left out of the running by the large number of votes which were turned in
during the last day were also complimented in their good work, but votes counted during the eventful hours before 3 o'clock, when the contest was officially closed and the judges began counting the remaining votes. After announcement by Manager Stewart
roars of applause went up from the different parts of the theatre where
the contest favorites were seated.

COMING ENTIRE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 8 (FAIR WEEK), THREE TIMES DAILY, MATINEE 2:15,
NIGHT 7:00 AND 9:00—The biggest and greatest sensation of the year, "Checkers," now playing Massey Hall, Toronto, at $1.00.

"CHECKERS," A BIG SPECTACULAR MELODRAMA OF THE SCREEN, AT PATRICIA FOR ALL FAIR WEEK

Picturization of Henry M. Blossom's Great Racing Play Is Replete With Thrills, Love, Tragedy, Romance, Comedy and Adventure.

"Checkers," the big spectacular melodrama, will come to the Patricia Theatre for the entire week of the Western Fair.

Henry M. Blossom Jun.'s great racing play was a tremendous success on the legitimate stage for many years, and the Fox screen production directed by Richard Stanton is said to contain fast
action and situations that were found impossible to even attempt to inject in the stage production.

Jean Acker, Thomas J. Carrigan and Ellen Cassidy have the three principal roles and there are fifty other prominent parts in addition to the many hundreds of extras people used in the massive production. The great racing scene at Belmont race track; the smashing
train wreck on the Jersey Central Railroad; Chinatown and its followers; festivities in New York cabarets; thrilling action, and the chase underground; all combine to support the producer's contention that "Checkers" is the greatest melodrama ever filmed.

"Checkers" is the racehorse follower who has allowed himself to become broke. "Remorse" is the name of a horse owned by a southern girl who is disowned by her father because she looks
with favor upon "Checkers" suit.

And in the finale she rides the horse
to a victory which spells love, happiness
and wealth for the hero and heroine.
But all the plottings and counter-plottings and all the dramatic situations and thrilling episodes that ensue before this satisfactory climax is reached is declared to fairly lift the spectators to their feet.

One of the many thrills provided is the rescue of the hero and heroine from a rowboat. And the rescuing is done by a hydroplane which alights near them,
and they clasp the broad wings of the machine and climb aboard.

"Checkers" promises heart thrills and
thrills galore.

It is a vivid melodrama containing all the thrills generally found in serials. It touches the sordid as well as the fashionable side of life and portrays love,
tragedy, romance, pathos and comedy.
Realistic sets show Chinatown, train
wrecks, gambling houses, cabarets, race-
tracks, a southern home, New York
hotel, etc. A chase and running fight underground, the automobile race with
the train, the airplane rescuing the

Reading the above heading startles, does it not? No wonder, when everything we eat and wear has gotten the habit of steadily climbing, bit by bit, the ladder of increased costs. Meats, milk, vegetables, fruits, sugar, tea—in fact, everything we use these days—are steadily increasing in cost and depreciating in quality, with the exception of the one vital necessity in every home—BREAD.

Parnell's Quality Bread

on the other hand, maintains its old quality, which any housewife of the thousands who have used it for nearly half a century will tell you grows better with time, and is still sold at the same price it commanded several years ago. The reason for this is our ever-growing volume of business. If we attempted to bake one or one hundred loaves of bread only, it would cost us double what it does, but we bake thousands upon thousands each day to supply the demand in Ontario between Niagara Falls and Windsor.

IF YOU TRY ONE TRIAL LOAF YOU WILL KNOW THE REASON FOR THIS DE-MAND—and today is the best day you will ever have to order that trial loaf. You can get it at your grocer's, from our wagons, or by phoning us.

rowboat occupants, etc., are calculated
to give lovers of melodrama the real thrills.
It is skillfully directed and the continuity is easy to follow after the first two reels. Previous to that time it lags somewhat in order to properly unfold the story. The hero, the heroine, the victim, the villain and the many other characters are all interpreted by an efficient cast.

GALT MILK VENDORS
RAISE THEIR PRICES,
COMMENCING SUNDAY

Milk Will Now Be 14 Cents
Per Quart—Coffee Cream
Going Up.

GALT, Aug. 29.—As a result of an advance made by the producers the milk vendors of the city today announced that commencing Sunday the price of milk would be 14 cents a quart
instead of 12 cents, 28 cents a pint for coffee cream and 34 cents a pint for whipping cream.

What proved one of the most successful garden parties of the season was held tonight on Trinity Church Rectory
grounds, which was largely attended.

ENTRANCE RESULTS OUT.
In the results out today of the entrance to the faculties of education
the Galt Collegiate made a clean sweep,
all of its five candidates passing.

By defeating Ayr on their own
grounds by two runs the Galt trundlers
won the Waterloo County League championship.

ON WEEK'S CRUISE.
While in Toronto Mayor Mercer interviewed, Sir Adam Beck and was assured that the work of preparing the estimates of the proposed hydro radial fourth district was being rushed with all haste and that they would be ready
by the new year for the interested municipalities to submit the necessary
bylaws to the people.

AGAIN TREASURER.
The convention to attend the recent convention at Calgary, Fire Chief Keyes of this city was elected by acclamation treasurer of the association
for his nineteenth term, despite the fact that he tendered his resignation.

ON WEEK'S CRUISE.
This morning 40 boys who recently joined the Galt branch of the Boy's Naval Brigade recently organized here
left for Toronto, where this afternoon
they started on a week's cruise on Lake Ontario on the Pinta.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL OPENING.
The Technical School opens for the fall term on Tuesday next. The new building on Dundas street, which is the most modern school plant in Western Ontario is now complete. The education department has granted to the school
the standing of a Technical High School, and the staff has been reorganized on this basis. Qualified High School specialists have been secured as heads of all the academic and science departments. Matriculation courses for the School of Practical Science and Household Science departments of the University and Technical High School courses are provided for boys and girls
with High School Entrance standing.
General industrial courses in which the students' time is equally divided between academic studies and practical shop work are provided for boys and girls with 8th grade standing. From the large advance registration the fall term,
which opens on Tuesday next, will tax
the splendid accommodation of the new Technical School Building.

A HOLIDAY YOU WILL APPRECIATE

The Muskoka Lakes have won a commanding place among the summer playgrounds of this continent. They draw their devotees each season from every centre of importance in Canada and the United States. The Muskoka group is composed of three large lakes and some smaller ones. The principal lakes, often called the "Three Graces," are Rossey, Joseph and Muskoka. When you consider the Muskoka resorts are within three and a half hours' ride by the Grand Trunk from Toronto, and proportionately accessible from many other large centres, no more delightful trip
can be planned. A pleasant journey by train; a delightful sail of from one to four hours through beautiful lake and island scenery; a sojourn at a well-conducted hotel or boarding-house, including in such recreations as golf, boating, sailing and fishing. For full particulars and booklet regarding this territory, apply to any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent or C. E. Horning, district
passenger agent, Toronto, Ont.

NO AGENTS AFTER HENSALL BURGLARY

HENSALL, Aug. 29.—A serious case
of stealing took place recently at Dr.
Moir's place west of here. Articles to the value of about $100, made up of oats, honey, forks and a double set
of light driving harness, were taken.
There is no clue as to the thieves.

The Great War Veterans' picnic to Grand Bend was a great success, despite the fact that a heavy shower
came on in the morning and lasted until after dinner.

The musical concert by the Misses Gretta Lammie, Gladys Slay and Catherine Sells in the town hall was legally attended and much enjoyed. The young ladies excelled themselves in reading,
instrumental, violin and vocal selections.

Edward Sheffer, while working in the woods sustained several broken
ribs, owing to the limb of a large tree falling and catching him against a tree, which shattered his escape.
