Elgar Choir At Hamilton

The Elgar Choir scored another distinct triumph last night at Hamilton, when it presented a miscellaneous programme before an audience which filled the Grand Opera House. While its efforts were not so ambitious as those of the previous season, the singing of the choruses, part songs, and solos, lost none of its interest. Every number was given a fine reception, but perhaps the Eighth Part Song, written by Chas. Dickerson of New York, after the last concert given by the Elgar Choir, with the request that he sing this year, won the greatest favor of anything attempted by the choir on this occasion. The number had to be repeated in response to the demands of the audience. The ladies' chorus in the rendering of the Stabat Mater Steviosa, also had a splendid reception, while the singing of the Hand Organ Man by the male chorus evoked such marked appreciation that a repetition was necessary. Miss Mildred Potter of New York, the contra-tenor soloist of the evening, made a decided hit. A double encore was necessary after her rendering of "Long, Long Ago." Miss Potter's beautiful voice was heard to splendid advantage, and a bright future is predicted for her, this being but her third season in the work. Encumbers were heaped upon Reed Miller, the tenor, who was in excellent voice, and was compelled to return at each appearance.

Bruce A. Carey, the gifted conductor of the choir was the recipient of hearty congratulations on the success that attended his choir's work last evening, as to his efforts much of the credit is due.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Your hair gets soft, fluffy, and luxuriant at once.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scourge robs the hair of its lustre, its strength, and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots furnish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store, or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire, soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

SKILLED LABOR CAN GET JOBS

So States Mr. T. Y. Thomson of the Brantford Labor Bureau.

Mr. T. Y. Thomson, who is in charge of the Government Labor Bureau, has opened up an office in the Temple Building on Dalhousie street. Mr. Thomson's duties are to look up skilled labor, sort them out, and fill the vacancies. Already many skilled mechanics have been placed. Ladies, too, are not exempt from securing positions through this office, and already six ladies have been placed.

Barbers too, have been given positions, not only in this city, but in the surrounding towns, but there are a lot in this trade out of employment both here and elsewhere.

Mr. Thomson stated to the Courier yesterday that the demand for skilled labor, though not great, is usually steady, and the factories will employ few who are not skilled. Mr. Thomson is of the opinion that employment conditions will open up in about two weeks, and work become more plentiful.

Paul Warren, an outfielder from Chicago writes asking a berth with the locals and this will also be laid over for the Rube's consideration. Warme last year played in the Central association in the Middle West, a Class C organization.

High Explosives

Whole Tub Full of Suffragette Boquets Was Found.

BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 12.—A tub charged with high explosives and with a quantity of suffrage literature in the vicinity was found to-day on a window sill at Moor Green Hill, Highbury, near here, the residence of Arthur Chamberlain, brother of the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. A fuse attached to the bomb was connected with a photographers lamp in which a candle had been burning. The flame however was extinguished before it reached the fuse.

A postcard addressed to Reginald McKenna, home secretary, was found nearby. It bore the words: "Military is not dead, but if you are not already, you soon will be."

Price of Meat To Take Tumble

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 12.—Meat prices, especially beef, are due for a big tumble about May 1, according to Richard Stroud, a well known cattle exporter, who has just finished a tour of important Canadian cattle centres. Mr. Stroud pointed out that for the first time in years distillery fed cattle, instead of being exported to the old country, will be slaughtered for home consumption. He says that there are 53,000 of these cattle around the distilleries of Upper Canada, which will be available. Old Country prices don't justify the exporting of the cattle this year, and the Canadian consumer, he claims, will reap the benefit.

Barber will conduct a series of studies on "Portraits of Jesus." Each study is complete in itself, but the entire course will be very beneficial. The class is open to all women.

At The Y. M. C. A.

The Brantford Y. M. C. A. is going to send a contingent of swimmers to compete in the Ontario championships. The team selected to go is as follows: L. Verity, H. Ryerson, T. Pollock, Les. Watts, B. Smith, R. Deagle, M. Smith and H. Harris. If the Y.M.C.A. is fully represented there is a good chance of them showing up well but all their swimmers are not sure starters.

Morison Smith, one of the scouts, who helped his section to win the scout swimming championship, is going well in the 50 yards sprint, but owing to some indisposition his start is doubtful. It will seriously handicap the chances of this city if he does not start, and it is a pity to see him fall off after the training given him by George Mosley. Verity, another of the good men is not certain, to be able to present himself.

Instructor Mosley thinks if these two swimmers are able to assist the team, the chances are good for one of the Ontario championships coming to this city.

Meanwhile all swimmers are requested to get into the tank regularly, especially on Wednesday evenings.

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—The filing and registration of the will of the late Maurice Redpath was admitted this morning at the court house, although the will had been written on the back of a photograph, which had subsequently been destroyed. The document was admitted on the strength of affidavits supplied by J. H. Redpath, brother of the deceased, and Mrs. J. H. Redpath, his sister-in-law, who swore to having seen and read the will before the destruction of the photo.

The wording of the will, as sworn to in the affidavits produced, was: "I leave everything to Puss (Marjorie Smith) over and above what is left after paying my debts."

(Signed) "MAURICE REDPATH."

The will was dated November 30, 1912, and the death of young Redpath occurred January 13, 1914, the photograph being afterwards destroyed by the young lady to whom the estate was left and whose picture it was.

The young man, who was 23 years of age, died after four hours' illness, after watching a fire on a cold day.

Cold and Colder Yet

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 12.—All cold weather records for the winter were broken to-day when the mercury dropped to 16 degrees below zero. Reports at the local weather bureau showed that the record breaking temperature was general throughout this section. Trains from the west and north were from one to six hours late, and telephone and telegraph communication was interrupted. Additional suffering was caused by an 18 mile wind which accompanied the severe cold.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 12.—The cold weather record of yesterday was broken to-day. The mercury fell rapidly during the night and this morning the official figure at the government meteorological bureau was 20 below. This is the lowest record since 1874. In suburbs, 25 and 38 below was recorded.

Cold in Michigan.
DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Temperatures ranging from 15 to 26 degrees below zero were reported to-day from cities scattered throughout Michigan.

At Sault Ste. Marie 26 below was recorded and at Houghton. At daybreak this morning it was six below in Detroit. Several fires in different parts of the state totalled a loss of more than $300,000. The most serious fire broke out early to-day in the business portion of Port Huron. For a time the south side section of the city was threatened. The total loss was estimated at $250,000. Five buildings, including the opera house, were destroyed.

Cold at Syracuse.
SYRACUSE, N.Y., Feb. 12.—For the second time this winter the thermometer reached 20 below zero to-day. The lowest temperature recorded in central New York was at Pompey, where the mercury dropped to 37 below. Other towns in central New York reported temperatures at marks between 18 and 30 below.

SAYS KING GEORGE IS GOOD AUDIENCE

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Marie Dorso, the charming little New York actress, now playing in London, fresh from the "command" performance of Sardou's "Diplomacy" at Windsor Castle, gave the correspondent of the New York American an account of "how it feels" to take part in a State production.

"Certainly it was a great honor to be included among the players called to Windsor," she said, "for I believe I am the first American to be so distinguished. The experience was delightful, albeit rather nerve-racking."

"We dined first in the castle—the menu was long and excellent, embracing many varieties of game, especially fowl. After dinner, which was not at all hurried, we dressed for the play. My dressing room was a very sumptuous apartment, but by the time dinner was over all were very nervous."

"While waiting for the performance to begin I peeped through the curtain—afterward I was told it was a very daring thing to do—and I saw two huge crimson chairs awaiting their royal occupants. These chairs, placed apart from the others, have fastened themselves forever in my memory. Presently I saw the King and Queen enter.

"Every one stood up while the national anthem was being played, and then the curtain went up. Whenever I gazed over the footlights at the scene I felt that all my youthful dreams of royalty, pomp and magnificence had been realized. Laughter and applause were frequent all evening especially at Lady Tree's quaint comedy lines.

"The Queen a stately and gracious figure and young Princess Mary, at the King's side, were very animated. Mr. Du Maurier, of our company, received the royal good wishes after the performance, which he conveyed to us in turn.

GET TOGETHER.

An Old Home Week having been decided upon for Brantford during the coming summer, the great thing now is to get together on behalf of making it an unbounded, and a clean success.

The last time there was such an event here was in 1899 and it was held in December. Despite the inclement period of the year, and to many the inconvenient time, because of the close approach of Christmas, hundreds came and the entire affair proved most enjoyable.

Mayor Spence sounded the right note at the meeting when he urged a sane and a properly conducted jubilation. There is no reason in the world why there should not be a harmless week of fun without the horseplay which not long ago took place in both Hamilton and Guelph.

NO ACCOMMODATION.

The Toronto Globe contains this special despatch from Ottawa: "The British sloop of war the Albatross, stationed at Esquimaut, has been obliged to go to Seattle for repairs to a broken shaft. It was found that there was no firm on the British Columbia coast able to carry out the necessary work of making a new shaft, although the drydock at Esquimaut was adequate for the accommodation of the boat.

The Toronto organ seems to think that the above constitutes a reflection upon the Borden naval policy; in reality it is the very reverse. Under the Laurier plan, which remains as at present, it will be seen that even for so small a matter as a new shaft there are no adequate facilities in connection with the Dominion. And yet in face of such a condition of affairs the Globe has been frantically yelling for Canada to lay down three dreadnoughts, with immediate despatch.

If the organ does not see what an absolute give away it has made of itself in this essential, the general public will.

CONSERVATIVE ACHIEVEMENTS.

The Borden Government has only been in office for a little over two years but here is a partial list of what they have accomplished:

1—Settled the boundary question of Manitoba, by extending its limits so as to place it on an equality with Saskatchewan and Alberta. Extended, at the same time the boundaries of Ontario and Quebec.

2—Passed the Agricultural Aid Bill, appropriating $10,000,000 spread over a period of ten years, for agricultural instruction in the various provinces.

3—Established a system of government owned elevators in Western Canada. One elevator of 3,000,000 bushels capacity is already built at Port Arthur, two are being constructed at Moosejaw and Saskatoon, and others will be built in Alberta, on the coast and at Hudson Bay.

4—Established a parcels post system, inaugurated on Feb. 10.

5—Pushed construction of the Hudson Bay Railway, so that the whole road is now under contract, and 150 miles have been graded. Harbor work is also well started.

6—Introduced Highways Bill, appropriating $2,500,000 for road construction. (Killed by the Senate).

7—Secured reduction of cable rates to Great Britain and the West Indies.

8—Passed British West Indies Agreement, with preferential tariff rates of mutual advantage to Canada and the Islands.

9—Started vigorous development of the great national harbors of Canada, including those at Halifax, St. John, Quebec, Montreal, Hamilton, Port Arthur, Fort William, Vancouver and Victoria.

10—Introduced Branch Lines Railway Bill providing for the acquisition of branch lines in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces to the advantage of the Intercolonial Railway. (Killed by Senate).

11—Introduced a bill to fulfil a long overdue debt of Canada to the Old Land by offering the price of three Dreadnoughts for the British Navy. (Killed by Senate).

Just compare with the above what the Laurier Government didn't accomplish during fifteen years of office and the average individual can speedily realize how greatly the Canadian people have benefited by the change of administration.

THE FLOOR SPACE CHARGE.

The Courier has been asked to define the "Floor Space" charge in connection with Hydro Electric system. The situation is just this. Under the Hydro Electric plan citizens are in effect joint owners. All well conducted corporations have to set aside so much per month for interest, sinking fund, depreciation, and so on. The floor space levy is to cover these capital charges. It should be remembered that there is no metre rent as with gas, and that the floor space charge is for the proportion of the plant placed at the disposal of each consumer. Without such a demand the rates would have to be made higher. Another thing which citizens should bear in mind is that under Hydro there are no profits declared as such.

When earnings show a surplus over all levies, then there is another cut in prices. This has taken place already in many other communities, and doubtless Brantfordites will enjoy a similar experience.

And to think that pretty soon people will be paying for the ice which Jack Frost is at present so generously chucking at us without charge.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Help boost Home Week. Now is the time to put on your screen doors.

Sixty-two below zero at White River! By the gods, but it is quite balmy in this neck of the hemisphere.

Brantfordites intend to show that they can hold an Old Boys and Old Girls re-union without any Hooliganism.

And to think that pretty soon people will be paying for the ice which Jack Frost is at present so generously chucking at us without charge.

The comparatively small majority of the Asquith Government in connection with the first division with reference to the Home Rule bill, emphasizes the fact of breakers ahead.

The House consists of 670 members, and according to the latest figures, available to the Administration had a clear majority of 104. Of their full strength 264 are straight Liberals and the rest of the following Nationalists, Labor men, and Independent Nationalists. There must have been a good deal of bolting to account for the shrinkage in the normal lead.

To The Editor

ARMENIANS GRATEFUL

To the Editor of the Courier: Sir,—Armenians of this city are thankful to his Worship, Mayor Spence, who arranged with Mr. Atkinson to take six Armenians each week to work. This will be highly appreciated by our people, for they are really suffering as the result of the hard times, which has been on for some time.

Our people do not believe in getting a loaf of bread which is not the product of their labor. It pays to encourage such people.

I will be glad to hear from anybody who can give employment to one or more than one Armenians.

Mr. Balfour on the Higher Values in Ethical Scale.

Mr. Balfour continued his Gifford Lectures on "Natural Theology" at Glasgow University on Monday. In his last lecture Mr. Balfour said he had endeavored to show how aesthetic emotion required something beyond the ordinary naturalistic explanation of the universe if its values were to be adequately maintained. He now applied the same general line of argument not to the question of beauty, but to questions of morality. He left aesthetics, and passed to ethics.

Dealing with the higher values in the ethical scale, he characterized those higher values as dependent on and connected with their altruistic and unselfish feelings for the family, the tribe of mankind. Had natural selection produced altruistic feelings, beliefs, and emotions? He answered, "Yes." Had natural selection produced higher values in the ethical scale? His answer was as direct and simple.

A theistic setting was an absolutely necessary setting for their ethical judgments and emotions and it alone could add to the conception of a powerful and ingenious deity, author of all that is beautiful and all that is good.

Asquith Majority Drops Amidst Unionist Cheers

Walter Long's Home Rule Amendment Defeated in the British House of Commons.

LONDON, Feb. 11—The amendment to the King's speech from the throne proposed by Walter Long, calling for the submission of the Home Rule issue to the country at a general election was defeated last evening by 333 votes to 255.

When Mr. Balfour moved the rejection of the Home Rule Bill at the last session of parliament the government had a majority of 98. The reduced majority of 78 obtained drew cheers from the Opposition. Some of the Unionists shouted "Resign."

General opinion in Parliamentary circles here is that the debate in the Commons has had valuable results. Passions have been allayed and hopesfulness in any case temporarily replaced by the feeling of despair which was caused by the deadlock. Premier Asquith's conciliatory speech on Tuesday set the tone and this was adopted by all, notwithstanding an occasional uncompromising, even harsh, note. Owing to the ignorance of the Government's promised proposals, the discussion was conducted to a great extent in a fog, but it is felt now that the parties are drawing sensibly nearer a settlement.

The drop in the government majority is, however, partly explained by the fact that a score of coalitionists were absent on account of illness, and eight followers of Wm. O'Brien were either absent or refrained from voting.

The Liberal morning papers admit that Sir Edward Carson's speech yesterday was the most powerful and effective he has ever delivered, but declare that it was not persuasive.

The Daily Chronicle considers that if the Carsonites really represent the feeling of the official Opposition leaders little can be hoped for from any olive branches the Government can hold out.

The Times says that the Ulster Unionists will not accept the plan proposed by Sir Horace Plunkett, but are willing to consider a proposal for the exclusion of Ulster for a term of years, after which a plebiscite should be taken on the question of the incorporation of Ulster in the Home Rule scheme.

Women Rule Quaint City of "The Movies"

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12—Did you ever hear of Universal City? No? Well, it's ruled by women. It is the only incorporated city in the world where moving picture players are the sole residents.

It is situated in the hills which bound the San Fernando Valley, some miles from here.

Less than a year ago it consisted merely of a cook house and an outdoor stage or two.

This unique centre of picture players is officiated by a woman, mayor and a woman chief of police.

Lois Weber, one of the few successful women producers of moving pictures, holds the highest office. And Laura Oakley, a photo player of many parts, has the universal distinction of being chief.

A street in Universal City is a capital reminder of a typical early time Western town. One of its interesting features is that everything in it can be and is utilized, at one time or another for pictures.

For people who suppose that dangerous scenes and hairbreadth incidents are "faked" on the screen may be interesting to know that for the past several months there has been erected emergency building and for the past several months, there has been a resident physician on the grounds who has had all sorts of cases from a broken toe to a general smashup to treat.

Should Spend More To Preserve The Fisheries

"When I gave you recently my first instalment of impressions on the fish situation in Ontario," said a Toronto expert, "I asserted, without fear of successful contradiction, that Ontario waters, particularly in Old Ontario, had become unduly depleted."

"In former years, no country in the world was blessed with a greater profusion of game fish than this Province. Anglers long ago conceded to our brook trout, lunge, and black bass the highest place in the fishy tribe. Of these, the black bass was pre-eminent for fighting qualities. Not only are these three fish particularly desirable as furnishing sport, but, for table purposes, equal the best sea fish obtainable anywhere. In Ontario, as a matter of fact, the trout, lunge, and bass are superior as the sea fish are injured by carriage and long keeping.

Two Members of Bass Family. "Of the black bass, there are two species, the large mouth, and the small mouth, the latter is the black bass proper of sportsmen. It is generally considered the harder fighter of the two. Both varieties of the black bass are found at times in the same waters although the large mouth is more widely distributed than its cousin.

"Apart from their fighting qualities there is not much to choose between them, though many people have the idea that the flesh of the large mouth black bass is inferior to that of the small mouth. The flavor, however, depends very much more on the water from which the fish is taken than on any peculiarity of the fish itself. When captured in the clear, rocky rivers of the North, the greatest epicure can scarcely distinguish between the species, but, when taken from weedy, mud-bottomed lakes, the large mouth, like all other fish, may be favored by its environment. The small mouth black bass is not found in such localities as I have mentioned, and, therefore, is not contaminated.

"Unfortunately, owing to the carelessness of our people days gone by, the bass have been almost exterminated in the southern part of Ontario. The only good fishing grounds left that are readily available are in the St. Lawrence River, the Western parts of Lake Erie, and the Georgian Bay but even in these waters the fish are becoming fewer and fewer in number, while those that remain never get a chance to attain the maximum size.

"No so very long ago in Lake Ontario, even in the vicinity of Toronto, a fair day's fishing could be had, the large mouth being the species found here. Over at Niagara, the sport was even better. Now, however, bass are almost as extinct at the Western end as the pigeons.

The Grand in the Olden Time "The Grand River from source to mouth, wherever there was sufficient water to enable the bass to swim, was a favorite resort of the bass. I have caught the large mouth so a size of four pounds, and I am told that the small mouth gave many a day's pleasure in the same stream. So abundant were they that the farmer's boy, with a pole cut in the bush, a piece of stout string for a line, a coarse-eyed hook, and with a crawfish for bait, could catch in half a day as much as he could carry home.

"In the olden days I knew something about the town of Galt, also on the Grand River. Within a very few miles of Galt, as I remember, there's a small stream called Cedar Creek. This thread of water has been fished for very many years, and still yields a basket of speckled trout. I am told that a dozen or so of anglers are leasing this brook. Now it may impress the general public as a selfish proceeding, but after all it's about the only sure way of conserving the creek for trout purposes.

"Some effort, a useful one, too, is being made by the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries to restock suitable waters with bass, but, unfortunately the ways and means at the disposal of the department are insufficient. Some headway is being made to restock Muskoka and Parry Sound waters, but the progress is retarded by the rapidity with which the fish are being taken out, almost as fast as they are put in. The law is being broken continually; too small and too many fish are being caught, despite the vigilance of the wardens.

Wardens Are Underpaid "The game and fish wardens, certainly in older Ontario, are inadequately paid to warrant them in expending the necessary time to protect our game and fish.

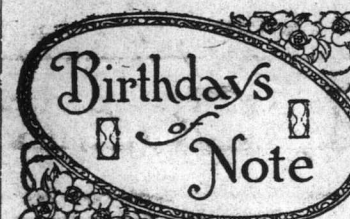

"I maintain that the whole revenue derived from sportsmen's licenses for fishing and shooting, as well as the money from commercial fisheries, should be used in the protection of game and fish. As it is, the reserve goes into a general fund, and all that comes out for the legitimate enforcement of the fish and game laws consists in an appropriation.

"The anglers and sportsmen of Ontario ought to organize locally and Provincially, and impress upon the Government the importance of doing something in a systematic and comprehensive way."

Judge Charbonneau of Montreal, who is sixty-one years of age to-day, bears the nickname of "Appeal-proof Charbonneau." He has delivered more notable judgments in his time than any other occupant of the Bench in Quebec and practically all his decisions have been upheld by the Privy Council. Perhaps the most interesting ruling that he ever made was when he decided that friars and members of religious bodies, who had resigned all ownership in property, could not have the vote. This disfranchised thousands of men in Quebec and led to the passing of a new franchise act to meet the difficulty. As a lawyer Judge Charbonneau was admittedly one of the ablest French-Canadian practitioners of his day. He has been on the Bench for ten years, during which time he has delivered a score of important judgments, the latest being the one in the famous Hebert case.

FISHING.

The winter wans and soon the rains of Spring will start the grasses, and trees will bud and streams in flood will thunder down the passes. Oh, Spring, sweet Spring, you dear old thing, for which all men are wishing, when we can drill o'er vale and hill, to spend the long day fishing! Spring comes apace and soon the face of earth will smile and chuckle, and dames will say to husbands gay: "To work get down and buckle! We greet with roars the grist of chores, with pshawing and with pishing! We take a pole to some deep hole and spend the long day fishing! Spring is the time when people climb from age clear back to childhood, when each heart burns and throbs and years for open air and wildwood! Spring is the joy without alloy, the best the gods are dishing, when we can sneak down to the creek and spend the long day fishing!"

GIDEONS WILL SPEAK IN CITY

"The Use of Bible in Hotel Rooms" Will be Subject Next Sunday.

Next Sunday will be Gideon Sunday in Brantford. Arrangements have been made by which Gideons will speak in at least a dozen services, including two morning brotherhoods and two afternoon men's meetings.

Those who travel through the province and use the hotels, have doubtless frequently met with the Bibles placed by the Gideons (Christian Commercial Travellers' Association) in hotel guest rooms. Nine Brantford hotels at which commercials mostly stop, have between them nearly four hundred of these silent messengers, and could they but speak, many of them would tell a remarkable story.

In the first place, the way they arrived at the hotel is interesting. At some time or another, a commercial traveller wearing the well-known Gideon button, entered the hotel, fixed up for a room and stayed the day or two necessary for the transaction of his business in the city. But before leaving he approached the proprietor: "Have you not the Gideon Bible in your rooms?" "No," was the response, but the hotelman added that he had seen the books in other houses, and would not at all mind having them also, if he only knew how to get them. The Gideon explained that the books would be supplied freely, if he would agree to have them placed in his rooms. So it came about that within a few days of weeks, each room was supplied with a copy of the bible, in a convenient size and clear print volume, and perhaps, as happens in a majority of cases, the proprietor himself had paid the express charges on the package.

Once in its place, the book starts upon its interesting career. Many a time it brings encouragement and cheer to a weary heart.

SULPHUR STILL CAUSES TROUBLE

Illness Caused, it is Said, as Result of Disagreeable Gas.

Owing to the severe weather, also to the fact that the local purifying plant of the Brantford Gas Company is not of sufficient capacity to carry the peak load, complaints were numerous to-day in many homes about the sulphur. One lady called at the Courier to-day and said that her daughter had been seriously ill as a result of inhaling sulphur fumes, and it was her personal knowledge that the lives of several infants had been jeopardized by the nuisance. "When will it ever end?" she asked.

Apparently the company will be up against it until the main purifiers at the wells are installed next June. In the meantime during severe weather Brantford is liable to get sulphur and plenty of it. At other times the supply will be of the mixed variety.

Thank-Offering Tea Was Held

The Women's Missionary Society of the Congregational Church, held their annual Thank Offering Tea, Monday afternoon at the home of the President, Mrs. Oldham, 42 William street.

During the afternoon Mrs. Ritchie paid loving tribute to the life and character of Mrs. Wilkes, one of the members of the society, who had recently passed on to the other life.

The president also spoke for a few minutes on the loss the society had sustained in the passing away of Mrs. Wilkes, who had been a beloved and faithful member of the society ever since its organization.

Mrs. Wm. Watt who had recently visited India, gave a very interesting address on her trip to India and on the manners and customs of the people. She also showed a number of articles of Indian workmanship. Her address was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. During the social hour that followed the program, light refreshments were served by the hostess. The offering with what has come in since, amounted to $102.50.

"Paper's Cold Compound" ends colds and grippe in a few hours.

Don't stay stuffed-up; Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Paper's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

The score does not indicate the play as the game was fast and clean and the locals made the Paris boys step the limit to win. The half time score was 1 to 1 but in the second half the Paris boys came to the limit and pressed the locals to the limit, finally making it 6 to 2. The local A. O. F. team is fast rounding out into a strong organization and hope to enter city league next year. On Tuesday night they defeated the I. O. F. team of this city in a fast game by the score of 2 to 1. The game was fast and exciting throughout.
- Firemen had a Run.
Last night about 11:45 p.m., the fire department received a call from Richmond street, where a storey and a half brick house, owned and occupied by Miss Mabel Peirce, was blazing on the roof. The firemen made a quick run and a line of hose was laid to soak the roof, while chemical tanks were used on the inside. The fire started in the attic and was caused by the pipe leading from the gas stove in the kitchen to the attic becoming over heated and catching fire to the paper on the ceiling. The loss will not exceed $50.
- Eagle Place Hydro.
Eagle Place will in all probability be flooded with the new hydro-electric light to-night. The district has been thoroughly wired and about 350 lamps will illuminate the thoroughfares, when the switch is turned on to-night. Progress proceeds rapidly where the Hydro-Electric is concerned.
- Companies obtaining charters will have hereafter to start within one year and finish within three years.

World of Paths Shown in Man's Loneliness

There is a world of paths in the following two sentences in the report of Sergeant Edgerton, who writes from Cape Fullerton on the northern shores of Hudson Bay, "our most lonely and isolated outpost." "Fullerton during the winter has been very lonely, Constantine Conway, myself and two natives being the only persons here."

From the Hudson Bay district it is reported that the "Indians are law-abiding and give no trouble. There Eskimos have been considered a gentle race. Our relations with them have always been amicable. There are some tribes in the interior who are reported as settling all quarrels by fight, which must result in the death of one of the contestants. Fighting is common amongst the bands of Eskimos who are not civilized. These people live entirely on musk ox, using the hide for clothing. They inhabit the country south of Coronation Gulf and along the Thelon river.

CANADA A COUNTRY OF YOUNG PEOPLE

And One-fourth of All Residents of Quebec Are Under Ten Years.

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—The 18th bulletin of the census of 1911, issued yesterday, contains the statistics of ages of the people by single years, by totals for Canada, and for each of the provinces also comparative statistics of the distribution of the people by age periods in 1911 and 1901.

The largest proportion per 1,000 of persons, under 10 years, is found in the Province of Quebec, with 273.508, as compared with 271.456 in 1901; when it also held the premier position. The lowest proportion is found in British Columbia, with 166.345 followed by Ontario, with 200,316 per 1,000; these two provinces occupied the same relative positions in 1901, the former having 160,347 and the latter 208,993 per 1,000. The provinces, which show a betterment at this age are Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec. The greatest falling off is shown by Manitoba, which has dropped from 270,094 to 248,677, and by Prince Edward Island, which has fallen from 232,086 to 214,590 per 1,000. The Western Provinces are the regions of young men and women as is shown by the large per cent. of the population between the ages of 20 and 45. It is an interesting fact that the highest proportion for this age period is to be found in British Columbia, and that as we come eastward the proportion assumes a constantly decreasing figure.

Where People Live Longer The provinces, showing the largest proportion over 70 years are Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Ontario, with 52.9, 46.6, 31.1 and 34.7 respectively per 1,000, while those showing the lowest are Alberta, Saskatchewan, British Columbia, and Manitoba, with 8.2, 8.8, 12.3 and 13.3 per 1,000 respectively. That Canada is a country of young people is evidenced by the fact that 812,000 persons in every 1,000 of the population of known age are under 45 years of age.

Six Divorces Per 10,000 The proportion of divorces is given as six in 10,000. Of the total male population, 62 per cent. are single, 34.85 married, and 2.33 widowed. Of the female population, 57.37 per cent. are single, 36.97 married, and 5.31 widowed. One man and fifteen women of under 15 years are married. From 15 to 19 years, 1.20 per cent of males and 6.9 per cent females are married.

Influence of immigration The influence of immigration on the relative standing of the sexes is shown by the fact that in 1911 there were nearly 113 men to every 100 women, as compared with 105 to 100 in 1901. For the population under 15 years of age the proportion of males to females is fairly level, with the former having but a slight advantage. In the population between the ages of 20 and 45 this influence is strikingly shown, the aggregate for this period giving 124 males to 100 females. At the age of 70 the ratio of males to females assumes again its normal proportion. From 80 years of age and upward the female population exhibits a greater tenacity of life than do the males.

In all Eastern cities the female population outnumber the male in very nearly a corresponding ratio to the extent that males preponderate over females in the West. Montreal is the only Canadian city where the numbers of males and females are in fairly true proportions.

FARMERS BUILD TROLLEY LINE

The capital for this railway is being furnished by the people of Lacombe and district, many of the shareholders being farmers in the vicinity which the railway will serve, and it is the first line to take advantage of the legislation passed at the last session of the Provincial House to assist what are known as light railways.

POPULAR AT HAMILTON

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 10.—The popularity of the new parcels post system was demonstrated in the flood of inquiries and the amount of business done at the local post office yesterday. GOT TEN MONTHS

English Chauffeur Sentenced at Old Bailey for Bigamy

[By Special Wire to The Courier] LONDON, Feb. 12.—William Smith, an English chauffeur, was today sentenced to ten months hard labor by the Old Bailey sessions court on a charge of bigamy in marrying Catharine Higgins of New York while his wife was alive in England.

The prisoner voluntarily gave himself up and confessed the crime, saying he had been forced to marry the woman by his American employers, who offered him the management of a farm on condition that he did so.

The police produced evidence of previous convictions of the prisoner for theft and other felonies.

Pope Says He Prefers Baseball to Tango

Wishes Latin Countries Would Adopt the Game and Drop the Dance.

ROME, Feb. 12.—After granting an audience yesterday to the baseball teams who are making a tour of the world, Pope Pius said to Cardinal Bissetti he wished all the Latin countries would adopt the American national game and waste no more time on the tango. In a short speech the Pope praised open-air health games to strengthen the body, and advised the baseball players to follow religious practices to strengthen the soul.

With the City Police

There was nothing serious on the list at the police court this morning, drunks comprising the principal offenders.

James Morley of Brant Avenue, did not appear to know much about a dog which was vicious when he was charged with keeping it. He said it belonged to his nephew, but when Magistrate Livingston treated him leniently, and told him to get the dog out of the city, he said he had often warned his wife about the dog and told her to put it down. He was allowed to go.

TOO HIGH TO SPRAY

Tall Trees of British Columbia Worry the Authorities.

Mr. J. M. Swaine, assistant entomologist of the Forestry Department at Ottawa, in a communication to the Vancouver Park Board, admitted that the giant trees of Stanley Park had confronted him with a problem that had left him without resources.

"We are apparently plowing new ground in attempting to spray such trees," said he. "Spraying, even up to 100 feet in height," he said, "was a comparatively simple matter, but with the big firs a hundred feet in height would leave the bigger part of most of the trees untouched."

PUBLIC NOTICE. There will be special meeting of Public School supporters of Section No. 6 of the Township of Brantford in their School House on Friday, Feb. 13th, at 8 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of discussing larger school accommodation. All interested should be present. CHAS. THOMAS, Sec. of Board.

Cords and Tassels Lend Modish Touch to Bags

By MADGE MARVEL

THE REE seems no end to the variety or limit to the beauty of the shopping bags and bags for afternoon and evening use that are displayed by the best shops which pay great attention to the accessories of dress. Of course, the wonderful beaded bags are the most alluring for they give us the knowledge that infinite patience and hand work have been responsible for their exquisite colorings and intricate designs. But there are bags of silk and satin, plain and brocaded and embroidered, bags of velvet and chiffon, bags of fur and of lace, which are equally new and desirable. For example, I noticed a bag at the play the other night carried a lovely girl wearing a gown of chagant taffeta in which old and blue shades shimmered. It was of white satin brocade with a medallion top showing the head of some Empire beauty, and it was set in a rim of Mechlin lace framed in gold bead work. It was in the long shape with a gold tassel at the lower end, and gold cords drew it up at the top. Pale blue satin brocaded in gold roses formed an oblong bag with a ruching of plain blue satin to give room at the lower edge. Rose pink moire was combined with gold-shot chiffon brocaded in pink in another model. Some of these bags are drawn up by ribbons or cords, but many are mounted in frames of gold or silver. They are not difficult to make, and the mountings are easily obtainable. As spring approaches I am told there will be a revival of the Irish crochet

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN MATRIMONY

By Leona Dalrymple

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth, plain and unvarnished, about "the girl in the case" differs from the story series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who follow the fortunes of "Peter" with growing interest.

A Fifty-Fifty Man

PETER, said Paul Brooks, one night as we were all walking home, "just how do you figure out this marriage game, fifty-fifty?" "Fifty-fifty," broke in Ned Cary, before I could proceed. "It's the only way."

"You're wrong," said Paul with decision. "It's got to be fifty-one-forty-nine or there'll be the devil to pay." "Fifty-fifty gives the man a better fighting chance," insisted Ned Cary, with smiling good humor. "You'll find that most often when there's a fifty-one-forty-nine arrangement, the woman's the winner. And when there are the fifty-fifty, eleven odd, or eleven odd, with the man a mere pin-point in the game." "Well," said Paul gloomily, "it's been my experience that if you don't begin with a high hand and keep it heavy you're in bad as the start. I mean my own breakfast" (I winced, for I get my own though I'm not advertising the fact) "and I do a lot of fool things that I ought not have to do and wouldn't have had to do if I'd just put my foot down after the honeymoon. I mean my boss! I'll do this and so and not another thing."

Long Hair on the Job

By Tom Jackson

PIANOS give a living to some people with long hair. Few persons know just what they play—the others do not care. Folks pay three dollars for a seat, and whisper, "Ain't it grand?" while all the time they'd much prefer a little German band. They talk of "motif" and "technique," of "symphony," and of such, and all admit the long-haired one has got a perfect touch, and of the latter there is not the slightest doubt. Oh, no—just ask the man who sits in the box-office of the show. The long-haired one sits on a stool with melancholy face, then he assaults all of the keys from treble up to bass. He thumps the white ones on the face, the black ones on the back, then he grows mad, and with both hands gives all the bunch a whack. All sorts of dms come rushing from the pop piano's works. Some sound like the Bulgarians when they butt into Turks, some sound like tons of anthracite, a sliding down a hole—the racket, though, is "atmosphere," and "art," and likewise "soul." "Bravo!" the people loudly shout, which is the proper thing. Long Hair once more gets on the job, with BIR! and Bang! and Bing! The people are enraptured—or at least they say they are. But realize, it is safe to bet, they'd rather hear by far, or listen to the same hitting-cock this way. One cannot blame the foreign get for getting all his—but really on the level—it's the label brings the biz.

THE FLIGHT OF TIME :: By Michelson

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

NOTHING could possibly be more commonplace than a clock—on its face. Always saying the same thing, until the Frenchmen invented the idea of having them count up 24 hours and asked you to say: "It's half-past twenty-two." But that's another story altogether. The real point is, the way the HANDS have of racing when you want every hour to be only a minute. All very well for the clock to pretend to put its hands over its face, but when these indexes get to be a BLURR and call it, say, eleven P. M. (or twenty-three o'clock) when it shouldn't be but a tick or two past nine, you can't expect any one to feel any respect for it.

The Little Feminist

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

SHE'S just come home for the holidays—the Little Feminist. I met her at a studio tea yesterday, and she was quite the sensation of the affair. She wore the very latest and the very smartest kind of clothes—feminine to a degree—so feminine that they said in every line of them to every casual passerby, "I am a woman; look at me."

But somehow the Little Feminist wore her clothes with a sort of swagger that made them, somehow, in some vague way, absurdly masculine. Her neat little boots were low heeled and sensible enough to evoke the wild admiration of the most sensible faddist on earth, and she carried in a perfectly good little pocket a perfectly good little cigarette case neatly monogrammed, and she hadn't been at the tea five minutes before she had half the other women smoking and the other half looking as if they wished they dared to smoke, too.

We heard all about the new ideal for woman from the Little Feminist. She told us while she smoked. She looked a bit taken aback when the tea was handed around. I don't know whether she really expected a highball or whether she just wanted to make us think that's what she expected. But anyhow she told us things.

Such interesting things—all about what women are doing and what they intend most emphatically never to do again. I gathered a sort of bewildered impression that the principal thing they were not under any circumstances going to think of doing ever, ever again as long as the world goes round—is to behave themselves.

"Why should we go on being so good and so patient and so forgiving," said the Little Feminist, striking a match with the greatest neatness and decision. "The men don't do that sort of thing. Down with the double standard. When a man takes a sweetheart let his wife take one, too, and make no bones about it. 'Why should she—men don't.' 'Why, nearly every woman I know has some sort of an affair, and not half of them ever intend to marry the man at all. The old-fashioned idea that you've got to marry every man you fall in love with is gone out—absolutely gone out. It's quite impossible, of course—now that you fall in love with so many men at so many different times."

SAID BY WISE MEN

Prodigality is the vice of a weak nature, as avarice is of a strong one.—H. Taylor. Blessed is the man that has found his work. One monster there is in the world, the idle man.—Carlyle. When men first take up an opinion, and then seek for reasons for it, they must be contented with such as the absurdity of it will afford.—South. Some men make gain a fortune whence proceeds a stream of liberal and heroic deeds; the swell of pity not to be confined within the scanty limits of the mind, diddals the bank that throws the golden sands, a rich deposit on the bordering lands.—Cowper. The Mohammedans have ninety-nine names for God, but among them all they have not "Our Father."—Anon. The most happy man is he who knows how to bring into relation the end and the beginning of his life.—Goethe. Faith is found beside the most refined life, the freest government, the profoundest philosophy, the noblest poetry, the purest humanity.—T. T. Munster. The blossom cannot tell what becomes of the odor, and no man can tell what becomes of his example, that rolls away from him, and so beyond his ken on their perilous mission.—H. W. Beecher. I knew a wise man who had for a by-word, when he saw men hasten to a conclusion, "Stay a little, that we may come to the end sooner."—Bacon. Nature is beautiful, always beautiful. Every little flake of snow is a perfect crystal, and they fall together as gracefully as if fairies of the air caught water drops and made them into artificial flowers to garland the wings of the wind.—Lydia M. Child. This portable quality of good humor seasons all the parts and occurrences we meet with in such a manner that there are no moments lost, but they all pass with so much satisfaction that the heaviest of loads, when it is a load, that off time, is never felt by us.—Steele.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Shock Made Harmless by "Turning off" Brain

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins). Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirschberg.

YOU are worried. A messenger boy rings the door bell. He hands you a telegram and over you fall as if shot. This is called a shock. A man is on a telegraph pole. He touches a live wire and almost falls to the ground. This is a shock. Word of the serious illness of her only son is brought to an old mother. She almost succumbs to the news. This, too, is known as a shock.

A man is eating olives or oysters for the first time. They are both pure and fresh. There is nothing odd about them except this, the food has never been tasted before. His eyes begin to roll, he seems to be suffocating; he keels completely over. Pundits call this type of shock the "strange protein shock." Food poisoning is a misnomer given to it. Then there is the shock after an operation or an accident, the shock from drugs, and, finally, chronic and constant shocks known as nerve diseases of a certain sort.

Thus there are these varieties of shock: 1—Emotional shocks. 2—Electric shocks. 3—Injury and accident shocks. 4—Surgical shocks. 5—Food shocks. 6—Drug shocks. 7—Maladies of shocks and others. The tissues which are concerned in shocks are like a wound-up watch spring, ready to go off as quickly as a hair-trigger. The brain, the muscles, as well as the explosive thyroid and other internal organs, are among them. Gas or vapors, such as ether, chloroform, or laughing gas are no protection against shock. The fact that a man is comatose, unconscious, or under an anesthetic does not save his life from shock. The brain that a powder train touched off as easily under anaesthesia as without it.

Experiments on Animals. Dr. G. W. Crile was the first one to emphasize this fact with experiments upon dogs, cats, rabbits and similar brutes. Strong fear, worry and teasing permanently injured the brain of these creatures. Proteins—foreign or new foods—poisons from germs; drugs such as narcotics; injuries and the other kinds of shock cause serious damage to, and may even destroy, the life of those subjected to it.

Therefore, a new procedure and practice has come about in the art of medicine and surgery. Hereafter, whenever bad news must be broken to persons likely to be severely shocked, physicians must be summoned to give medicine that will cut off or switch off the tissues such as the brain, so that when the news is broken the tissues which spring the shock are uncoupled from the rest of the body and can do no harm. Thus when certain new and bizarre or rare foods—proteins—are to be eaten for the first or second time, the doctor must first inject the correct drug to sever the connecting links.

When a bolt is to be opened, a tooth to be drawn, a gum to be lanced, or even the most trivial sort of pain is to be inflicted, the young up-to-date practitioner hastens first to separate the scene of his activities from the rest of the body. Hereafter, whenever bad news must be broken to persons likely to be severely shocked, physicians must be summoned to give medicine that will cut off or switch off the tissues such as the brain, so that when the news is broken the tissues which spring the shock are uncoupled from the rest of the body and can do no harm.

None Need Suffer Now. Cocaine and morphine will not do this separating, and although many different kinds of dangerous shock really come from pain, morphine, the great painkiller, does not prevent shock. Hyoscine, however, curare and a host of new drugs wholly unfamiliar to those not accustomed to administer them, are available for use before the brain can be blocked off from the rest of the body or particularly from the most fearsome shocks. So, then, hereafter the most torturous and timorous person need not suffer from either the longest and most severe operations which require hours and hours, or even so trivial a one as jerking forth a petiferous tooth.

Answers to Health Questions. M. D.—Is there anything safe to use to promote the growth of hair on a young baby? You should not interfere with the scalp of a young infant. A little lemon juice internally often counteracts the falling out of a child's hair. Breast-nursed babies rarely have such troubles.

B. H. R.—What treatment do you recommend for a person about 60 years old with hard arteries? Drink real buttermilk and also take the drug store lactic acid tablets. Avoid all excessive exertion and do not eat much of anything at any time. Never eat after sundown.

W. S.—I always get a cold if I stop my morning cold baths. Yet I believe the cold bath does drain my energy. I am now 50 years of age. What do you advise? Suppose you try a partial cold bath instead of a full one. Stand in the cold water and sponge yourself with cold water. Instead of taking the full cold bath, which you think saps your strength.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic, and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, care of this office.

WHERE are you going?" asked Mrs. Rabbit of Brer Rabbit one evening. "I think I'll go skating," replied her husband. "Be careful and do not drown yourself," said Mrs. Rabbit, as he disappeared out the door.

Brer Rabbit was soon down by the lake, where Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were already skating up and down the ice, while their children sat on the bank and laughed. "Hello, Brer Rabbit!" shouted Mr. Squirrel. "Be careful not to fall in those holes over there."

"Don't worry about me," said Brer Rabbit as he started on the ice. He almost fell as he left the shore, and Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel laughed at him, he looked so comical in the moonlight. Up and down, up and down the lake went Brer Rabbit as fast as the wind could carry him.

Coming down the side away from where Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were, he headed straight for the hole in the ice. Try as he could, he was unable to stop himself. "Cher-plunk!" Down went Brer Rabbit with a shout, which attracted Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel, who rushed over to where he had disappeared.

Now, Brer Rabbit was going so fast he fell in one hole in the ice and his head bobbed out another hole and he managed to pull himself out with his front paws. Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel were yelling "Help! Help!" while Jimmy Raccoon went for a stick to poke around in the icy cold water for Brer Rabbit. Soon Brer Rabbit was scampering up the bank and knocking at Mr. Raccoon's door. "Come in!" said Mr. Raccoon. Brer Rabbit entered and sat down by the fire.

"What's the matter with you?" asked Mr. Raccoon. "I'm drowned!" exclaimed Brer Rabbit, as he tumbled off the chair. "Test Too Severe. 'Do you believe in Platonic love? Do you think it is lasting?' SEND TO CANADA FOR THEM

Nothing In The United States Like Gin Pills For The Kidneys.

"One touch of misery makes the whole world kin". One box of GIN PILLS made a royal friend of Canada of a lady living in the United States. She suffered with Kidney and Bladder Troubles for years. Found it impossible to get relief from any medicine she could buy at her home. Then she heard of GIN PILLS and sent all the way to Toronto for them. But—here is her last letter. It certainly is convincing evidence of the powers of GIN PILLS to help the Kidneys and make sufferers from Kidney and Bladder Troubles feel better.

Doctor's Bulletin Issued To-day Respecting His Condition

[By Special Wire to The Courier] TORONTO, Feb. 11.—Following is the statement issued by the physicians to-day on the condition of Sir George Ross: "Owing to the divergent reports and the probability of a long-continued illness, a definite report on Sir George's condition is necessary, and further reports will be issued when necessary. The acute nephritis has subsided into a chronic condition, leaving Sir George in a much weakened state, in which there are varying waves of improvement and depression. While his condition is serious, it is on the whole favorable." It is signed by Dr. Goldie and Dr. McPhedran. Sir James Whitney slept well last night and got up before noon, dressing himself and taking his usual walk and smoke about the suite. No arrangement for his removal has yet been made.

SENTENCED TO DIE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Hans Schmidt, the former priest, was sentenced to-day to die in the electric chair during the week beginning March 23 for the murder of Anna Amuller. Schmidt was found guilty of murder, first degree, at his second trial, after the jury which first tried him had failed to agree. Schmidt's lawyers pleaded insanity for their client, but the prisoner would not aid them and said repeatedly he wanted to die.

A Kick About Coal Quality

is by no means a rare thing with us, because we take care to buy only the best grades of coal, as we know our customers would not buy from us any inferior qualities—not twice anyway. At it is our policy to keep our customers, we could not afford to give them any but the best coal, full weight, without dirt or rubbish and at a reasonable price.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—The Naval Department has received a letter from Explorer Stefansson, dated Point Barrow, October 25, confirming his telegram to the effect that the Karluk had been carried off in a storm, while the commander was ashore hunting. At the time of writing he intended to journey overland and join the southern party. No hope for the Karluk is expressed and no mention made of any trouble with Capt. Bartlett and the men as was suggested some time ago. Stefansson expects to find the Karluk next spring and if he does not will use the Mary Sachs for his explorations.

WINNIPEG, Man. Feb. 11.—E. L. Taylor, member for Gimli, made statements in the legislature last night regarding the charges of corruption made by T. H. Johnson of West Winnipeg regarding the Gimli by-election last May. He contended that the expenditure of $93,000 in the constituency was legitimate, denied any personal knowledge of corrupt practices and produced a number of affidavits alleging corrupt acts on the part of a number of workers for Arnie Eggertson, Liberal candidate in Gimli. Concluding Mr. Taylor offered to have the whole matter go before the committee on privileges and elections if the opposition would draw its case from the courts. W. Have Plenty of Coal Have You?

WITHIN THE LAW

By MARVIN DANA From The Play of BAYARD VEILLER

Copyright, 1913, by H. K. Fly Company.

As the men left the room Burke turned again to Glider. "Just one thing more," he said. "After I've gone I want you to stay up for a half hour anyhow, with the lights burning. Do you see? I want to be sure to give the Turner woman time to get here while that gang is at work." Glider scrupulously followed the directions of the police inspector. Unusually he had remained in the library until the allotted time was elapsed. He fled from place to place, his mind heavy with distress under the shadow that threatened to blight the life of his cherished son. Finally, with a sense of relief he put out the lights and went to his chamber.

Mary Turner herself, too, was in a condition utterly wretched, and for some cause—Dick Glider. That source of the father's suffering was hers as well. She had won her ambition of years—revenge on the man who had sent her to prison. And now the joy of it was a torture, for the puppet of her will, the son, had suddenly become the chief thing in her life.

She had taken it for granted that he would leave her after he came to know that her marriage to him was only a device to bring shame on his father. Instead he loved her. That fact seemed the secret of her distress. He loved her. More, he dared believe, and to assert boldly, that she loved him. Had he acted otherwise the matter would have been simple enough. But he loved her—loved her still, though he knew the shame that had clouded her life, knew the motive that had led her to accept him as a husband. More, by a sublime audacity he declared that she loved him.

There came a thrill in her heart each time she thought of that—that she loved him. The idea was monstrous, of course, and yet—Here, as always, she broke off, a hot flush blushing in her cheeks.

Mary Turner was just ready for bed when a note came by a messenger who waited for no answer, as he told the raving maid. As Mary read the roughly scrawled message, she was caught in the grip of terror. The man who had saved her from death had yielded to temptation. As he had saved her so she must save him. She hurried into the gown, she had just put off. Then she went to the telephone book and searched for the number of Glider's house.

A few moments before Mary Turner received the note from the hands of the sleepy maid one of the leaves of the octagonal window in the library of Richard Glider's town house swung open under the persuasive influence of a thin rod of steel, cunningly used, and Joe Garson stepped confidently into the dark room.

For a space he rested motionless, listening intently. Reassured, he drew out an electric torch and set it glowing. A little disk of light touched here and there about the room, traveling very swiftly and in methodical circles. Satisfied by the survey, Garson crossed to the hall door, where he listened for any sound of life, without and found none. The door into the passage that led to the storeroom where the detectives waited next engaged his businesslike attention. And here again there was naught to provoke his suspicion.

It seemed to him that everything was in readiness for the coming of his associates. There remained only to give them the signal in the room around the corner where they waited at a telephone. He seated himself in

A CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Tortured Four Years Until He Took "Fruit-a-lives"

RIDGEMOUNT, ONT., May 21st, 1913. "Your 'Fruit-a-lives' cured me of Rheumatism. It was the only medicine that made any impression on me. I was a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism. I was laid up for four winters with Sciatica and Muscular Rheumatism, and was a cripple completely, not being able to do anything. I doctored with four different physicians, but they did not help me. Other advertised remedies were equally unsatisfactory, and I have taken several.

Some neighbor of mine told me that 'Fruit-a-lives' helped him, and I took them faithfully every day and the result was marvellous. For over two years now, I have been free from any Rheumatic pains whatsoever, and I give 'Fruit-a-lives' the full credit for making a remarkable cure."

Glider's chair at the desk and drew the telephone to him.

"Give me 909 Brant," he said. "There was a little wait. Then an answer in a voice he knew came over the wire.

Garson picked up a penholder from the desk and began tapping lightly on the rim of the transmitter. It was a code message in Morse. In the room around the corner the tapping sounded clearly, ticking out the message that the way was free for the thieves' coming.

For a final safeguard Garson searched for and found the telephone bell box and unscrewed the bells, which he placed on the desk. He then took his pistol from his hip pocket and thrust it into the right hip pocket of his coat. Once again, now, he produced the electric torch and lighted it as he extinguished the lamp on the table.

Then he went to the door into the hall, opened it and, leaving it ajar, made his way in silence to the outer doorway. The doors there were freed of their bolts, and one of them swung wide. So nicely had the affair been timed that hardly was the door open before the three men slipped in and stood mute and motionless in the hall while Garson refastened the doors. Then Garson walked quickly back to the library. Behind him, with steps as noiseless as his own, came the three men.

When all were gathered in the library Garson shut the hall door, touched the button in the wall beside it, and the chandelier threw its radiant light on the group.

Griggs was in evening clothes, seeming a very elegant young gentleman indeed, but his two companions were of grosser type, as far as appearance went—one, Dacey, thin and wiry, with a ferret face; the other, Chicago Red, a brawny ruffian, whose stolid features nevertheless exhibited something of half-sullen good nature.

"Everything all right so far," Garson said rapidly. He turned to Griggs and pointed toward the heavy hangings that shrouded the octagonal window. "Are those the things we want?" he demanded.

Lost Round

Fast London Team Squelched by Sarnia Aggregation.

That seven goal lead was too much for London Intermediates in the final game of the round with Sarnia at the Princess Rink, London, last night. The locals came within one goal of overcoming it, but they could do no better than secure a 7-1 victory over the Tunnel Town "Dubs" and as a result they will play no more hockey in the O. H. A. this season. Gus Edwards, London's great right wing player, tried hard to keep London in the running, but the best he could do was to score five goals, although he rained in a hundred shots on Cameron that were either marvellously stopped or missed the net by inches.

A Hea-t-breaking Finish. It was a game with a heart-breaking finish. With only a couple of minutes to tie up the round, The London team, with the exception of Wardrope, made one last desperate attack on the visitors' nets to notch that tally, but the time was too limited. Hall and Reid moved up from the defence to the forward line, but with even five men all combining in an attack on the Sarnia goal it was no use. Both teams were pretty much all in when the final gong sounded.

GIRL WILL LIVE IN THE WOODS

Miss Bana Douglass of Maine Will Take No Provisions or Weapons.

PORTLAND, Maine, February 12.—Garbed only in the original attire of Mother Eve, Miss Bana Douglass, twenty-three years of age, of Stratton, will enter the dense woods of Franklin County and remain there two months, some time this year.

She will take neither weapons, clothing nor provisions, but will trust to her woodcraft and her knowledge of game to enable her to live and to come forth fully clad and in fine fighting trim. She is a fearless ranger of the forests, and her friends say she will accomplish her difficult task.

Miss Douglass declares she will come forth at the end of the two months fully clothed in such garb as she can obtain in the woodlands.

Since childhood the girl, a daughter of Gus Douglass, of Stratton, has followed her father hundreds of miles in the woods, has absorbed his funds of woodlore and has studied the forests and inland waters with their teeming life.

He is an expert shot, trapper, fisherman and guide, and just now has another man and Miss Douglass are across the Canadian border on a shooting trip.

Miss Douglass knows every kind of tree and bird and animal to be found in the Dead River region of this State, knows every sort of animal of the field and river banks, and every variety of fish frequenting Carrabassett River and the south and north branches of the Dead River itself, in her home district. She knows all their habits and peculiarities and has no fear of life alone among them for two months.

Stratton is a part of the town of Eustice, forty-eight miles north of Farmington. The settlement and all the region of the Dead River lying thereabout is thinly populated, comparatively speaking, but it offers a great field for the sportsman.

From her home town north to the Canadian border no pond, stream or trail is unknown to this twentieth century Diana and the crack of her rifle almost always brings down that at which she aims. With her knowledge of the woods and game, ability with a gun and endurance, she is deadily equipped for her coming adventure.

Miss Douglass last Summer carried the mails over the rural route from Stratton to and through neighboring settlements for upward of twenty-five miles and in all sorts of weather. She is not of large frame, but is strong and agile.

The girl seeks no notoriety in the venture she will make, and in all probability the outside world will never know she has completed her two months and lived with the forest dangers until the time is up.

Smith's Lone Rush. The second half opened with a rush by Berlin, but Smith pulled off a serpentine rush, only to fall down on shooting. For the first 15 minutes of this half, Childs was the busiest man on the ice, having shots to stop from all directions. The locals forth and last counter was scored by White after 14 minutes of fast hockey after Berlin had been circling in front of Woodstock's goal several seconds. Towards the end of the game Woodstock appeared to be tripping, but they with four minutes to play endeavored hard to prevent a whitewash, but all efforts were of no use. Penalties handed out affected Berlin the worst, while Skelly served two penalties on the fence for tripping. Work of all the Berlin team was greatly improved over a week ago, although they played only little combination, depending on lone rushes as well as following well. Karges played a brilliant game making several spectacular rushes, while the work of Erb and Clayton was away above the previous play.

James Edwards was arrested charged with attempting to commit suicide by gas poisoning at Toronto.

BERLIN SHUTS OUT WOODSTOCK JR'S.

First of Home-and-Home Games in Third Round Results in 4 to 0 Win.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—The first game of the home-and-home series played here last night between the Woodstock juniors and the Berlin White Jacks resulted in the latter winning by a score of 4 to 0.

The game was played on a hard sheet of ice and was very fast. Berlin took the offensive immediately on the puck being faced off and played an aggressive consistent game throughout. The visitors were completely played off their feet, the Jacks' rushes being more effective as well as checking hard and close.

Berlin took the puck and immediately on the puck being faced off and played an aggressive consistent game throughout. The visitors were completely played off their feet, the Jacks' rushes being more effective as well as checking hard and close.

Woodstock tried to get away with combination work, but the Berlin forwards checked like demons and combination work on the part of the visitors was out of the question. Erb scored Berlin's first goal on a fine lone rush after 14 minutes of aggressive playing, while Skelly was on the fence. The Woodstock forwards appeared to be suffering from stage fright, playing back and forward in front of their own goal. Three minutes later Berlin scored their second tally and the last goal of the half, Klahn doing the trick on a nice rush the full length of rink. Checking of Smith and Skelly on the defense was very effective and made several spectacular end-to-end rushes, only to fall down on shooting or be broken up by the local defense men.

CHICAGO AMERICANS GET 15 SUNDAY DATES

Schedule Will Give New York, Boston, Chicago and Detroit Opening Games on April 14.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—American League schedule makers, who announced last night their programme for the coming season, awarded to Boston, New York, Chicago and Detroit the opening games for Tuesday, April 14.

Chicago will have the greatest number of Sunday games, 15 in all. Every other club is given two to three Sunday games with St. Louis getting the extra one.

The only four conflicting dates scheduled with the National League will be played in Chicago on Sundays. In the old days conflicts were more frequent and took place in St. Louis as well as Chicago, but the removal of the Sunday baseball ban in Detroit and Cleveland has made it possible to lessen them.

The season closes three days earlier in the Western section than in the East. Sunday, Oct. 4 sees the end in the former division. The last games in the East are to be played on October 7.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Mary High, of No 2023 West Fifth street, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Mahoney on a charge of disorderly conduct made by Miss Mary Broska, of No 5020 South Seely avenue.

"I found she was going around with my husband," Mrs. High said.

"So I had a friend of mine call her up and tell her it was my husband, and make a date with her. Then I kept the date."

"Why didn't you go home and give your husband what was coming to him?" the judge asked Mrs. High.

"I did, your honor," Mrs. High replied. "I fixed him when I got home."

"H-m-m. In that case you're discharged," Judge Mahoney said.
