Co-Operation is the Watchword.

An appeal to the people of Canada has been made by Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, for increased production.

I especially appeal, in this critical year, to those in our cities and towns who hitherto have not felt the necessity for directing their energies to food production, says the Minister. Individual efforts, even though small and unskilled, will in the aggregate mean much. By applying their labor to cultivating land near their homes, or by assisting farmers, everybody having health can accomplish something. There is need, not only for an increase in supply, but for a wise economy of food. If all labor is not efficient there can, at least, be patience and forbearance where partial efficiency is accompanied by willingness. There is no place in the state now for either half-hearted service or ill-founded criticism. In the common task which faces the country co-operation should be the watchword. The Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture are already giving, and will continue to give, special attention to the many problems involved. The National Service Board and the Municipalities are also devoting their energies to these questions, and I am confident that the various organizations, both of men and women, throughout the country, will give whole-hearted and active support to a work at this special time in a high and necessary national service.

True Brotherhood of Religion.

M Maurice Berres, in a Parisian newspaper, tells a moving and noble story of the brotherhood of all religions in the fighting line near St. Die. In the village of Taintux on Aug. 29, 1914, the ambulance of the French 14th Army Corps was shelled heavily by the enemy, and the hospital caught fire. Stretcher bearers did all they could to remove 150 men from the burning building. One wounded soldier knew he was dying. He was a Roman Catholic. He called for a priest before he died. No Roman Catholic priest was near, but Abraham Bloch, a Jewish Chaplain, heard him, and a soldier taking him by his Casack to be a Roman Catholic priest, called to Bloch. He came at once, and learned what he wanted, looked everywhere for a crucifix. He found one at last, brought it to the dying soldier, and gave it to him to kiss. A few minutes later, Abraham Bloch, who was Grand Rabbi of Lyons, was fatally wounded by a shell, and died, tended by Father Jamis, Roman Catholic Chaplain and Jesuit priest, who remains the sole witness of the incident related, and who tells it.

Kidney Disease Overcome.

Mr. James Proulx, cattle dealer, Shebo, Sask., writes: "For about ten years I suffered from kidney disease, at times I was bed with back ache, and degeneration of the digestive organs. During that time I was treated by four different doctors. One day I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac about the Kidney-Liver Pills and began to use them. Altogether I used six boxes. All I need say is that I feel well now and attribute this condition to the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Injustice.

The world, being in the constant commission of vast quantities of injustice, is a little too apt to comfort itself with the idea that if the victim of its falsehood and malice have a clear conscience, he cannot fail to be sustained under his trials, and somehow or other to come right at last. "In which case," say they who have haunted him down, "though we certainly don't expect it—nobody will be better pleased than we." Where as the world would do well to reflect that injustice is in itself, to every generous and properly constituted mind, an injury, of all others the most insufferable, the most torturing, and the most hard to bear; and that many clear consciences have gone to their account elsewhere, and many sound hearts have broken because of this very reason; the knowledge of their own deserts only aggravating their sufferings and rendering them the less endurable.—Charles Dickens.

"Have you any rags to sell?" said the ragman to a thin-looking woman who was standing at her door.

"No," replied the woman, "excepting those I am wearing at the present time. If you want them you must take me, too."

The ragman scanned the household up and down and a smile lurked around his lips.

"I'm very sorry, ma'am," he replied, "as made for the gate. I can only buy rags, not bones."

She—"Do you believe that too many cooks spoil the broth?" He—"Yes, altogether too many."

Bird Protection.

It is well to remember that a treaty between Canada and the United States for concerted action in the protection of birds was concluded on December 7, 1916. This is all right as far as it goes, but unless measures are provided for making sure that the treaty regulations are observed it will have little or no practical value. Lady Aberdeen, when in Saint John, asked the members of the Women's Council as to what action the body would take in reference to this bill. The importance for concerted action, or indeed for any action at all, had not been brought to the attention of the council. As a matter of fact, the whole question of the conservation of the national resources of the continent is only beginning to appeal to the intelligence of the people who are in a sense the trustees of these resources. It is not that a people are indifferent to, or ignorant of, the natural wealth of the country, but that in the lawlessness of the endowment the fact that there might come an end to these rich possessions escaped remembrance. Now, however, it has become imperative to protect and preserve many of the resources that have been regarded as inexhaustible. This is particularly true of the birds, and it is to prevent the total extinction of many species that this and other protective treaties have been made. Without co-operation on the part of the men and women of Canada and the United States, however, legislation is no avail. To effectively protect the birds and to give any force to the treaty regulations, conscientious and capable officers are necessary, and these officers must be paid. To meet this requirement a bill for the appropriation of money for this purpose was introduced in the Congress of the United States. In it the provisions of the treaty prohibiting the killing, capturing, sale or purchase, exportation or importation of any birds to or from Canada, except

"Give Till It Hurts."

THE ONLY WAY THAT MAKES A GIFT INTO A SACRIFICE
There is a great deal of talk about giving. It is a noble thing to do, but it is not until the giving hurts, until there is a sacrifice of so much of a man's income that he feels the difference, that he is justified in believing that he is doing his bit.

"Give till it hurts" when the canvassers for the Fund call on you, and you will feel more as a patriotic Canadian should feel than if you put them off with a gift so small that it doesn't lighten your pocket.

The people of Nova Scotia are face to face with the fact that eight hundred thousand dollars have to be raised for the use of the dependents of our Canadian soldiers in 1917. If every man, woman and child in the Province contributed equally, each would have to give one dollar and sixty-five cents—the average family—over eight dollars. Clearly, thousands of men must give far larger sums if the total amount of $800,000 are to be raised. There is no use in saying that the money ought to be secured in some other way. There is no other way this year, and the wives and kiddies must be looked after. So the one and only thing to do is to "give till it hurts."

Did They Kiss the Bride.

As a class, contractors have big hearts. A group of them were gathered at Sulphur Springs, Texas, last summer, to attend a "letting." As the county judge was opening the bids word was brought to him that a rival couple waited outside for him to perform the marriage ceremony. Thereupon the letting was adjourned and the judge hurried out to earn his fee and make two hearts beat as one.

"Bring them in, Judge," called the contractors. The couple accordingly was sent for and soon after they arrived, hand in hand. Uncouth they were, right out of the cotton field, as great as grass and greatly shocked at being ushered into the presence of so many distinguished people. After the marriage ceremony had been spoken, one of the contractors jumped up and said:

"Boys, let's start them housekeeping." He quickly passed around his hat; then took it to the dazed and "abridged" bride and poured sixty-eight dollars into her lap. It was more money than the couple had ever seen before at one time, and they came near having heart failure.

Girl a Nervous Wreck At Eleven Years of Age

Was Tired Out, Pale and Sallow—Would Tremble Till the Bed Would Shake—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Cured Her.

In the schools of to-day there is found an alarming proportion of weak, nervous children who have little chance of developing into healthy, useful men and women. Nature requires the assistance of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to help them over a trying period and set them on their feet.

There would be fewer worried glances if the nerves were invigorated, less irritation in the school and home, more robust health and greater pleasure in the school tasks. This letter bears a cheering message to parents whose children are weak, puffy and nervous. It shows you what may be expected from the use of this great restorative.

My little sister at eleven years of age became nervous, irritable and nervous all the time. She had no appetite, was listless and drowsy, and her complexion grew pale and sallow. Finally she had to keep her bed weeks. I tried everything I could think of, but she would not get up. I was getting very worried under the doctor's treatment, mother decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After she had used about four boxes improvement was noticeable, and it was wonderful to see how much brighter and stronger she grew week by week. She used ten boxes altogether, and she cured her. She got fat and rosy, and went to school every day with an amount of energy that she never seemed to have before. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to any mother, for it was indeed wonderful what it did for her."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 25¢ per box, 50¢ for 2 boxes, $1.00 for 4 boxes, $1.50 for 6 boxes, $2.00 for 8 boxes, $2.50 for 10 boxes. Sold by all druggists, or direct from Dr. J. C. Chase & Co., Limited, Toronto.

New Device Beats X-Ray.

The British Medical Journal announces that a remarkable scientific discovery is now on trial at one of the casualty clearing stations in France.

The inventor is James Shearer, a Scotchman, 30 years old, a sergeant in the medical corps and working at the casualty station.

The discovery, the Journal says, appears to succeed just where X ray photography fails. It produces pictures of structures hidden far below the surface of the body just at the point where X ray photography ceases to penetrate effectively. In other words, the new work attempts a delineation not of dense structures such as bones but of living soft organs.

By means of this discovery it is possible in broad daylight to obtain detailed pictures of any organ or body, brain, liver, kidneys, and spleen, and to see at a glance by what gross lesion they are affected. This it is possible to see blood vessels on the liver and wounds or cuts in any organ. In one case a concretion in the appendix was seen clearly when the pictures were complete.

The actual finished photos are remarkable and show blood vessels in the brain in detail, also wounds, but not the actual brain substance. In other words, differences, such as diseased areas, are shown.

The apparatus works so long as the body is alive, and even until molecular death has occurred. After that it does not work.

A Diet Squad Record.

A volunteer squad of the N. W. York police force has completed a three weeks' experiment in dieting, the purpose being to show that men could be fed in a way to sustain their strength and bodily vigor for the sum of twenty five cents a day. Eleven of the twelve at the end of the test showed gains in weight. The scientific observers think it has been proven that men may live healthfully and comfortably on three meals a day, the full cost of which is a quarter of a dollar. The experience is not extraordinary.

dezzar, into whose old Mesopotamian kingdom British soldiers are now pushing away, the records declare that three Israelites who had won royal favor, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, declined for conscience sake to eat the rich meats of the palace purveyor, and, living on pulse, at the end of ten days, their countenances did appear fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat. Also it may be added, a great multitude who are neither politicians nor prophets, but just plain people, because they have to, manage to live from year to year at a rate of outlay that falls below the diet squad record. Thrift may be carried much farther than has yet been the case, even in countries in the war zone, before the shirt-craze in flesh of those concerned becomes dangerous.

No Chance For The Germs.

Disease germs cannot live in rich, red blood. It is people in low vitality that fall victims to germ diseases. By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you enrich the blood, increase vitality and prevent disease germs from finding lodgment in your body. There's wisdom in prevention. It's easier to keep well than to get well.

"I've been reading an article on electricity, John," said the wife, as she laid down a copy of a technical magazine which she had been perusing. "And it appears before long we'll be able to get pretty nearly everything we want by touching a button."

"It will never pay here," growled the husband. "You would never be able to get anything in that way."

"Why not, John?" "Because nothing on earth would ever make you touch a button. Look at my shirt."

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAR. 2, 1917

Editorial Brevities

Canada must produce more food-stuffs. We have much vacant land about our homes, which, if cultivated, would greatly add to the food supply. Very little work is necessary, and the returns more than compensate for the effort. By helping to provide the food for your own family you are releasing that much additional for the general good, and reducing the cost of living.

Board of Trade.

The Council of the Wolfville Board of Trade met on Feb. 16th. The following committees were appointed: Civic Improvement—W. A. Colt, J. E. Hales, R. E. Burgess. Trade and Commerce—J. D. Chambers, W. A. Reid, A. M. Young, H. E. Calkin.

Tourist and Press—B. O. Davidson, J. F. Herbin, M. R. Elliott, Edson Graham. Band Instruments and Trophies—J. E. Hales, A. M. Young. Protection of Song Birds—H. G. Perry, C. M. Gormley.

A communication from the Minister of Finance was read asking for cooperation in the War Loan Savings Scheme. Attention was called to the unsafe condition of the tree in Gasper avenue near R. W. Stora's property. A committee was appointed to interview Mr. Stora and ask to have it removed. Prof. Colt reported progress in plans for railway gardens. It was decided to ask Prof. Blair to give a lecture on gardening at an early date. The committee on bird protection met and discussed plans for work. It was thought best to call a public meeting of bird lovers and plan for work on a large scale.

C. M. GORMLEY, Sec'y.

St. John Ambulance Association.

The Duke of Devonshire, who presided at the Annual Meeting of the St. John Ambulance Association, has become Patron, succeeding H. R. H. The Duke of Connaught. During the past year the Association has instructed over 10,000 people in First Aid and Home Nursing, and also taught over 100,000 Canadian Soldiers what to do in case of injuries. In almost every province school teachers are required to qualify in First Aid, and in the mining districts this also applies to those in charge. The small button worn by the discharged soldier, showing that he has done service, is supplied through the Association. In addition to the nurses and assistant nurses sent overseas, graduates in First Aid and Nursing are proving of value in almost every Convalescent Home in Canada.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were the only two provinces in the East making gains during the year, and prospects are bright for the coming twelve months. W. H. Studd, of Halifax, and Miss Lillian Hazen, of St. John, are the respective Secretaries, and will be glad to answer any inquiries about the formation of classes.

Baptist Roll Call.

The annual roll call of the Wolfville Baptist church took place on Wednesday evening last. There was a large attendance. The service was opened by the pastor, Rev. N. A. Harkness. After songs of praise and responsive reading, prayer was offered by Dr. G. O. Gates. The long list of names was called by Dr. I. B. Oakes, clerk of the church, many responding by quoting passages of scripture. Absent members contributed generously towards the thank offering, as also did the home members, and about $240 was realized. A particularly pleasing feature of the program was a solo rendered very sweetly by Miss Marie Wilson.

At the conclusion of the first part of the exercises Mrs. Buckner was called upon for an address, which was chiefly in connection with the non-conformist church work in England, where she has been laboring. This was listened to very attentively. The speaker concluded her interesting remarks by fervent and repeated invitations to practise the presence of Christ. A short address followed by the pastor, which was well-fitting, appropriate and to the point. The closing prayer was offered by Prof. Hunsay. After singing "God Save the King" the audience withdrew to the dining-room to partake of the daily refreshments provided by the ladies of that committee. A very social, pleasant and profitable evening was spent, enjoyed by all present.

License the Cat.

If any materialistic argument need to be added to that of life insurance (free of premiums) the orchardist, who is almost everywhere hereabouts, needs all the help he can get in the unending war with his insect pests. He is heavily mulcted for a chemical laboratory and mechanical apparatus, also spraying concoctions to be showered upon the insect pests, often with the sole result of relieving their idle mother from bathing them. Granted that these engines and fluid projectiles succeed to some extent, say, when weather conditions are just right and the time of bombardment in relation to the age of the insect chances to be chosen with extreme precision, it is common experience that few of us can get the hired artillery when it can be made effective; while few can afford the cost of ownership and manufacture for their own use. To exterminate the enemies of our birds which destroy the insects' eggs and the insects themselves in large numbers, would seem to be mere common sense, if only because "every little bit helps." But "our little friends, the birds," as Francis d'Assise used to call them when questioned about calling flocks of them around him and preaching to them, are a great help and could be made of marvellous value if every orchardist would emulate the example of Mr. Gormley.

Another argument, sufficiently materialistic I hope, (for I shrink from appealing to anything on the aesthetic side of life at this time of day) is an additional source of town income from the proposed licenses. It might be small, but here again "every little bit helps." If some people killed their cats to avoid the tax, so much the better for the birds and their work. So far as I can gather from a Town Report for the year 1915, (I have not received a later one) and from recent enquiry, the town finances are in a condition difficult to account for, with an alarming adverse balance on current account, due apparently to uncollected taxes. If successive Councils cannot collect the revenues of the town, surely they should not be opposed to giving the birds a chance to help them, and increase our revenue by adopting a form of taxation for ridding the birds and the citizens, too, of a common enemy.

What other communities in the United States and elsewhere, apart from the work of the Board of Public Health, are doing in this matter may be found in current periodical literature. For instance, Societies for bird protection are multiplying in every direction. What is being accomplished in the States of New York and New Jersey just now may be learned from the February (1917) number of "Forest and Stream." At page 72 there is an editorial on the subject, from which I have borrowed the title of this article, but nothing of its contents.

If THE ACADIAN can publish at a later date the enclosed letter entitled "The Deadly Cat," contributed to a recent number of The Montreal Star by Mr. Frederick Abraham, I shall be much obliged, for I would like to enlarge the circulation of that letter.

From the Front

ANOTHER INTERESTING LETTER FROM RUSSEL BOATES.

France, Feb. 1st, 1916. My Dear Father,—Mother's parcel and your cigars came a few days ago. Ever so many thanks for both. I sure enjoyed the cigars and cigarettes. I still have most of the cigarettes, as well as the cigars. I wish you would write once in a while for I would like to hear from you. The parcel came while we were in trenches, so you can imagine how welcome it was.

The front we are on now is a queer one, for our six days rest is about six miles from the firing line and there is a big Coal Mine here. Fritz shells the Coal Mine once in a while. He has knocked down the smoke-stack since we were here last, and it sure was a big chimney. It was higher than the one at the Sugar Refinery at Dartmouth. He hit it about in the center; the top part just jumped in the air and fell. The first thing I noticed after coming out of the trenches, was the smoke-stack gone. We were in the trenches for six days this trip. It was not a very strenuous trip, only for it being cold and unable to get rations on account of some channel being frozen up. We were sent hungry for a few days. Of course we knew the conditions and said nothing. Our cook house was about half a mile from the front line and I was surprised when I got to where it was. There was a good sized town battered up quite a lot by shell fire. All that stay in the town live in cellars, (all soldiers of course) to be safer from shell fire. I wish you could see their houses, spring beds and white sheets, piano, everything you could think of. I guess the civilians run and left everything, when the town was shelled. It is surprising the amount of houses that are standing and the town so near the firing line. But there is something still stranger; about two miles behind the firing line is a big village and it is full of civilians, theatres, bar-rooms, everything a town or small city could have. It is very strange for if Fritz ever started he could blow it to pieces.

I only had one very bad scare this trip. It was one afternoon another fellow and myself went after some water and when we started after it every thing was quiet, only for one sharp shell we saw burst right over the water hole. We did not mind that, so we kept on going. We had nine water bottles and a three gallon jug to fill. We just finished filling them when over came a whizz-bang. They are a bird shell. They are only small, weighing about 18 pounds. The speed they travel is something wicked. They got their name from the sound they make, for all you can hear when one comes over is a whizz-bang and about three seconds after you hear it burst. When the first whizz-bang came over, we did not do any standing round as we had our bottles filled. There were about five come right near the water hole and after we had gone up a trench a little ways over came another right in front of us. We ducked our heads and started off again. They kept coming ever one after the other, but we had the advantage of Fritz, for we could hear his gun when he fired, so that gave us time to duck. Well you know he kept putting them over, following us right up the trench. I said to the other fellow, he is bound he is going to get us. But after a while we got past where he was shelling the trench. Then to top it all off when we had got up the trench a ways we came to a sentry and he said to us: "Fritz is putting over gas, I heard the gas horn blow and the gas bell ring. Can't you smell the gas?" We took a good smell, but could smell nothing, but the le dote, the explosion in the whizz-bangs. So we said we couldn't smell anything. "O.S."

this sentry said: "I can smell the gas." So we kind of squirmed into this sentry and we found out he was a new guy, his first trip in the trenches. So we did not pay any attention to that tale. We started off again and had not gone fifty yards when every machine gun in the British army so it seemed opened out and we did begin to think Fritz was carrying out a gas attack. But he was not and we got back all right. It sure is some life for excitement. I will never be sorry I came, if I get out all right but we are going to have a hell of a time this summer. But I guess we will win the war before it is over.

Patriotic Planting Club.

The Patriotic Planting Club met in the Town Hall, Friday evening last. After considerable discussion on the best methods of working it was decided to appoint a committee to take a census of the town for the purpose of obtaining information about available lots that might be secured for planting and also help. The committee appointed immediately went to work and canvassed the town thorough ly. They report that they received a good reception from the citizens generally, who favor the scheme and are willing to co-operate by increasing the product of their own gardens and also in helping along the community idea of utilizing all vacant lots. About sixty members are now enrolled. Eighteen parties have offered 100 for cultivation, nine have offered teams, fifteen have offered seed and cash contribution, and seven parties have requested that land be secured for them to work.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Kings Co. held its ninth annual convention in Temperance Hall, Wolfville, Feb. 20-21st, opening at half past 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, with a short program of songs and recitations by members of the local "L. T. U." under the efficient leadership of their Supt., Miss Bassom. After which the business of the convention was taken up. The annual reports of Officers and Supt's were received. On Wednesday morning, further business was transacted and officers were elected for the ensuing year. Mrs. Walter Mitchell, who has so faithfully and successfully filled the office of County President for the last six years, was greatly to the regret of the convention, unable to take the office this year, and Mrs. N. W. Eaton of Carleton was unanimously chosen County President. The other officers elected were:—Mrs. Addie Nichols, Vice President; Mrs. W. O. Taylor, Rec. Sec'y; Mrs. T. B. Hutchinson, Cor. Sec'y; Mrs. N. B. Morton, Treasurer; Mrs. S. B. Chute, Auditor.

On Tuesday evening, in connection with the convention, the local Temperance Union celebrated the 25th anniversary of the organization of the Wolfville W. C. T. U. and with the Y's and officers of the Division and other invited guests sat down to a sumptuous repast. After which the President, Mrs. Sleep, took the chair and after the singing of "God Save the King" introduced Mrs. (Rev.) George Backner of Seaport, England, who was listened to with much pleasure in her "Words of Greeting." We welcome to our town this talented Temperance worker whose ability as a platform speaker is well known. Mrs. Irene Fitch, a charter member and valued life worker of the Temperance Union, was next called upon and responded in a most interesting and graphic account of the organization and history of the W. C. T. U. It was encouraging to learn of the good that has been accomplished through this organization, among which might be mentioned the closing of two liquor saloons in Wolfville chiefly through the efforts of the Wolfville W. C. T. U.

It was regretted that Mrs. J. Kempton, another beloved charter member, was unable to be present and take part in the program. A beautiful flowering plant was sent to Mrs. Kempton, from the Union, as a slight token of their regard for this esteemed Temperance worker. Dr. Tufts, Rev. N. Harkness, Dr. F. Smith, Dr. Manning, Principal Ford and Mr. Chas. Patriguin also were heard in short addresses, after which the meeting closed with singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Cats. In regard to Mr. Hewitt's letter, I would say that I perfectly agree with everything he says, except where he states that I cannot keep cats from my grounds without putting poultry netting all round them, for I can.

In regard to "civilized" letters he has nothing on me in the line of courage; for he or she had not the courage to subscribe to their communication, while I have the ribbon. I was very much pleased with one part of Mr. Parker's communication of last week. I refer to the suggestion to license the cat. But if this were not done, I am prepared to promise for myself and a few other bird lovers, that all owners of cats will tag them so they can be indentified, and that no cat will be executed on them, unless they are habitual offenders and this only after due warning. Now I have positively nothing more to say about cats, as I have stated my case clearly and fairly, and hope that cat lovers can appreciate my sincerity in the matter. I hope at an early date to say a few words about how we may protect birds from their enclosures and also assist them in their building operations.

Hens. I wonder if the hens have heard of the progress made by the Patriotic Planting Club and have raised the price of eggs, a retaliating measure. Now I do not believe that a hen has any more right to stray into my garden and eat my strawberries and cabbage, than a cow or horse has, but nevertheless they do, and I wonder if the owners of the hens think it fair. Now if I am not mistaken there is a town by-law against hens and other fowls running at large, with a penalty of 25 cents for each and every such offence. I would also say that if my hens should escape from their enclosure and go on some other person's property, they are perfectly welcome to consider them to be wild game and I will also be game. However, I am not giving any licence to remove any of my poultry from their proper enclosure, for experience has shown that to be quite hazardous.

Red Cross Report for the Month of February. Receipts—$226 35; expenditures—$168 45 247 pairs of socks have been brought in; also 53 sets of pyjamas, 5 dressing gowns, 5 pairs wristlets, 3 scrap books and 2 scarfs. A pleasing feature in the record of this month is the fact that our worthy secretary, Miss Fitch, has been made a Life member by one of her home friends who contributed $25 for that purpose.

Greenwich. Mr. Chesley Forsythe, station-master at Eglershouse, spent a few days at his home here last week. Miss Evangeline Elliott spent the week-end with friends at this place. During her two years teaching here Miss Elliott won many warm friends who are always glad to welcome her again among them. She is teaching at Falmouth this year. Miss Gladys Shaw spent last week with friends in Kentville.

The Missionary Concert given by the Methodist church choir on Sunday last was much enjoyed by a large audience. The program consisted of the story of Dr. Grenfell's great work in Labrador, interspersed with many musical numbers consisting of solos, duets, trios and choruses. The reading of the story was beautifully rendered by Miss Lillian Chase, B. A. of Church Street. Miss K. Thorp did some splendid solo work, and the singing of Miss Daisy West and Miss Grace Shaw, of Wolfville, was also much enjoyed. The music was much improved by the help of the violins of Mr. Robert Bishop and Miss Margaret Smith. A large offering was received which will be used for missions. Rev. Mr. Avaults is to be congratulated upon the success of his efforts.

The Community League, which was organized here in the early part of the winter, has proven itself a decided success. Old and young alike look forward to the meetings in the Hall each Thursday evening, where there is always something new and interesting in the way of entertainment provided by the Literary Committee. The Social Committee, who take charge of the meetings once a month, also do some splendid work. Last Thursday was "Social Night" and the committee are to be praised for the pleasant evening's program, which consisted of instrumental and vocal music, readings and a very interesting and amusing affair entitled "Why We Never Married" by twelve supposedly old bachelors and old maids. This program was followed by some instructive games, after which a cheering repast of sandwiches, cake and hot coffee was served by the committee. Beside the home talent the audience enjoyed the duets given by Misses Gates and Colman, of Fort Williams. There were about seventy present. We have many visitors from the surrounding country and towns. We like to have these people take an interest in us and are always glad to share our pleasant gatherings with them. No admission—everybody welcome. The plan of programs arranged for the month of March was read by the Vice-president, Miss Lillian Bishop, and should be very interesting. A few weeks ago a "Homeless' Night" was held when the ladies did the entertaining. To counteract that on next Thursday evening, March 1st, the gentlemen will entertain. The chief subject will be on our modes of getting through the world. Mr. Bnoch Bishop will give us a talk on the "Auto"; while our genial station master, Mr. T. A. Pearson, will tell us something about travel by railways. The music will be provided by Messrs. Philip Bishop and Charles Fenwick. On the following Thursday, March 8th, the young people will shine again. A drama entitled "Fox, Cox and Co." will be given, and the players will be assisted by the Community League Orchestra, of eight pieces, with Mr. Robert Bishop as director.
