WINDSOR WINS VALLEY LEAGUE TITLE

Defeated Canning in Final Game at Windsor—Score 6 to 2

WINDSOR, Feb. 23.—Windsor captured the championship of the Valley League when they defeated Canning here tonight by a score of 6 goals to 2 in the final game of the schedule. Only a fair sized crowd witnessed the game, which was staged on soft ice. The two teams put up a creditable exhibition of hockey and the game was hotly contested.

Ernie Mosher started the ball rolling when he made a long rush and passed to Gertrude for the opening score of the game. The time was five minutes. Three minutes after Gertrude made a long run and passed the rubber to Sam McDonald, who bagged a goal with a shot which had Miller beaten all the way. With five minutes to go, Sam McDonald secured the rubber near the Canning net and rammed in an easy score. Sam McDonald scored shortly after the opening of the second period, when he went from end to end for a fine tally. Ten minutes after play had started, Herb Lyons slammed in Canning's first score from a mix-up in front of the nets.

A few minutes after the third period had started Mosher and Chambers started on a long combined rush, the latter scoring on a close-in shot. Newcombe bagged the final score for Canning when he made a brilliant rink end rush, batting the rubber past Kuhn from the wing.

Only a few penalties were handed out by Referee Neil Wilkie, of Halifax, the game being one of the cleanest played in the Valley League this season. Will-Sammy McDonald was the pick of the locals, he was not far ahead of Ernie Mosher and others.

ACADIA BASKETERS WIN TWO GAMES

Girls Win From Mt. Allison, While Boys Defeat Pine Hill

Acadia Co-eds outplayed the Mount Allison squad here last Friday night in an intercollegiate basketball League fixture, winning by a score of 36 to 11. About four hundred fans witnessed the exhibition. In the preliminary game, Acadia University outclassed the Pine Hill players, scoring a 52 to 17 victory. The intercollegiate League battle was the first for Acadia this year. The league is composed of three teams—Dalhousie, Mount Allison and Acadia. The locals were superior in combination playing throughout and piled up the big lead by good shooting. G. Thomas starred for the visitors, while Colbath, Doherty and McLaughlin were the pick of the winners.

Acadia—Doherty 24, McLaughlin 12, Colbath, Lawson, Chipman, Smith, Currie.
The Pine Hill stars held the locals to a 21 to 11 score in the first period, but in the second session the winners swarmed all over their rivals, scoring at will. Richardson was the star of the visitors, scoring ten points on shots from nearly centre floor. Cox and Davidson were the pick of the locals. "Poodle" McDonald refereed.

Pine Hill—McLeod, Richardson 10, Harrison 3, McIntosh 2, McLeod, Sutherland and Phillips.
Acadia—Cox, Davidson 14, O. Noble 8, Moffatt 1, A. Noble 7, Boutillier 1, Creelman 1, J. Elderkin.

WOLFVILLE HIGH SCHOOL LOST AT CANNING
CANNING, Feb. 23.—Canning High School defeated Wolfville High School in the League fixture played in Canning rink this afternoon by a score of 5-2. A large and enthusiastic crowd of friends of both teams witnessed one of the cleanest games ever played on Canning rink. The ice was heavy but the play was fast and creditable to both teams.

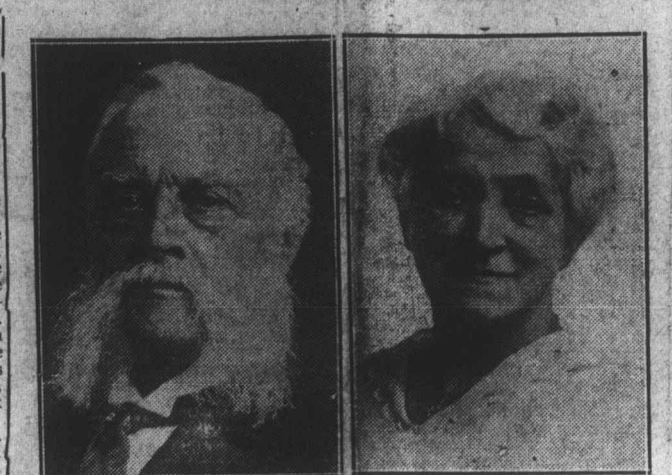

In the first period Johnson scored for Wolfville from a fine wing shot. The play in this period was about even. In the second period Williams from a fine wing shot scored a goal for Wolfville. Leonard McBride then scored a nice goal for Canning when he stickhandled from centre ice. McBride then followed with another goal. Eaton next scored for Canning from a mix-up in front of the goal. In this period Canning had the best of the game and the period ended 3-2. In the third period Eaton scored again and was followed by fine goal made by Ellis. This gave Canning the game by a score of 5-2.

Wolfville—Boates, goal; Cohen and Shaw, defence; Johnson, centre; Prescott and Williams, wings; Mahaney, McKenna and Regan, subs.
Canning—Spicer, goal; P. Meek and Payzant, defence; Ellis, centre; N. Eaton and McBride, wings; Melvin and W. Meek, subs.
Ted Stackhouse refereed satisfactorily to both teams, and the game was one of the most enjoyed of the season.

"DON'T DOUBT YOUR HUSBAND" FINE PICTURE FARE FOR EVERYBODY
Viola Dana has never had a more delightful starring vehicle than "Don't Doubt Your Husband", the new Metro picture that shows at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. Everyone who's married or who thinks of getting married should see this merry satire on the suspicious wife who is always leaping at conclusions and keeping the matrimonial nest in a turmoil. It's clean, wholesome fun, spiced with the paprika of smartness and sizzling with tense situations.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY
The Graham Studio is now entitled to be called an "old timer". When Mr. Graham took the business over on the first of March 1905, it had been conducted for fifteen years or more as a branch of the Windsor Studio. It was continued as such for a number of years in the upper part of the building where now located, and afterward in the premises now occupied by THE ACADIAN. About fourteen years ago the Windsor business was disposed of and the whole time given to Wolfville. The old studio building was again taken over, remodelled and made into the present commodious quarters.

NATION-WIDE GROWER OWNED SALES AGENCY
Commissioner Duncan reports on the Marketing of Fruit and Vegetables
OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—The establishment of a nation-wide grower-owned selling agency which, while obtaining the best price for the growers, would give a maximum distribution without wasteful overlapping, is recommended by Commissioner Lewis Duncan, of Toronto, as a remedy for existing evils in connection with the marketing of fruit and vegetables. "Provided four tests are met, no merchandising, no favoritism, the strictest accounting, and the employment of men of probity," says Commissioner Duncan, "that way lies business."

Mr. Duncan was appointed by the Minister of Labor to investigate an alleged combine into the distribution of fruit and vegetables in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and finds that the Nash Combination of jobbing and brokerage houses is a combine which is operating and has operated detrimentally to the interests of the Canadian public, including in that term producer, consumer, and trade opposition.

He will be abroad three or four months, and will visit Germany and the electrical centres of France, Switzerland and Great Britain.

WOLFVILLE TAKES OVERTIME BRIDGEWATER
BRIDGEWATER, Feb. 20.—Playing just as close a game as the score indicates, Wolfville and Bridgewater fought ten minutes overtime here tonight, before the college town team made the goal that gave them a three to two victory over the locals. The game was a thriller from start to finish and immensely pleasing to the enthusiastic spectators.

WOLFVILLE LOSES TO BRIDGEWATER

In Poor Exhibition of Hockey Last Night—Score 5 to 4.

In the poorest exhibition of hockey witnessed at Wolfville this winter, the Bridgewater team defeated the locals last night by the score of 5 to 4. The ice was heavy which made fast hockey impossible, and the game was attended by only a fair sized crowd. The Wolfville band enlivened the proceedings somewhat by furnishing a splendid program before the game and between periods.

Promptly at 8:30 the teams took their places on the ice, with Ted Stackhouse handling the whistle. The visitors carried the play into Wolfville territory. Thomson relieved the situation with a rush down the ice but failed to score. Bartheaux and Dick combined but lost to the Bridgewater defence. Finally after five minutes of play Rand scored the first goal, and in another minute Spidel scored for the visitors. Fraser carried the puck the length of the ice but failed to score. Dick put the home team in the lead when he netted the puck with a long shot. Play then began to speed up a little and shots were scored 3 to 2 in their favor. Bishop carried the puck the length of the ice and scored for Wolfville, but Ernst scored almost immediately for the visitors. For the balance of the period the play was mostly in the Bridgewater territory but the locals were unable to score, and the session ended with the score 3 to 2 in their favor.

The play in the second period was slow and uninteresting, with Wolfville having the better of the territory. The only score, however, was made by the visitors from a mix-up in front of the goal. The count was not allowed at the time, but during the intermission following the period Wolfville agreed to let the goal count.

The final period saw a little faster hockey, the locals trying hard to break into the lead. Thomson scored for Bridgewater when he brought the puck out from behind the net and poked it in by mistake. Encouraged by this lead the visitors began to wake up and forced the play for a time. Maitland put Bridgewater two ahead, and the locals' chances looked slim. Just before the period ended Thomson, in the prettiest play of the evening, skated the length of the ice and netted the puck, making the final score 5 to 4, in favor of the visitors.

MRS. JOHNSON H. BISHOP
While the bell of the Baptist church was summoning worshippers to the mid-week service last evening there passed away at her home here one who for many years had been a faithful and consistent member of that congregation, in the person of Mrs. Johnson H. Bishop. On June 3rd next she would have celebrated her eighty-seventh birthday and up to the last she preserved to a wonderful degree all her physical and mental faculties. For a few weeks she was confined to her room but on the day of her death she was able to be out of bed. At 2:30 in the afternoon she fell into a gentle slumber from which she only awakened in the "better land".

Before her marriage she was Miss Freedom M. Borden, a daughter of the late Henry Borden, of Town Plot. She was one of a family of twelve, only one of whom, Mr. Benjamin Borden, of Berwick, now survives. Mrs. Bishop was a lady who was held in the highest esteem. A good wife and mother, she was not neglectful of church and community obligations, and in the days of her active life was a useful and devoted member of society.

The greater part of her long life was spent in Wolfville, and for the past forty-eight years she resided in the home on Main street where her long and useful life came to an end. Her husband, the late Johnson H. Bishop, predeceased her three years ago—20th of this month, and she is survived by one daughter Lola, Mrs. J. F. Ryan of Truro, who was with her during her last days, and three sons, Harding Y., with whom she resided, and Lewis and Moston, of Seamon, Sask.

SHORT SESSION THE TALK NOW AT OTTAWA

Important Inter-Provincial Conference to Consider Senate Reform Will be Held Shortly After Close.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—It is now made absolutely certain that the present session of the Dominion will not be called upon to deal with the proposed Government measure for Senate reform. Previous to the opening of this Parliament it was generally assumed that a measure would be submitted in this fourth session, but the Speech from the Throne referred only to the calling of a conference between the Federal and Provincial Governments to consider the question of amending the British North America Act to permit of some reform of the upper chamber.

That conference, as was intimated last week in the debate on W. F. Maclean's resolution regarding federal power to amend the British North America Act, will be held very shortly after the close of the present session and the present session from present indications will be much more brief than was at first anticipated, for there is little of a highly contentious nature likely to be submitted to Parliament.

Again it now appears that much less than six months will elapse before the fifth and last session of this Parliament will be called. That session will, it is believed, shortly precede the general election. So it is believed that the next appeal to the people may be held in the same month in which the King Government came into power—December.

As to the inter-Governmental conference to deal with amendment to the B.N.A. Act and Senate reform, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, in the debate last week on Mr. Maclean's resolution made a notable appeal for open-mindedness at that gathering. His actual words have not yet been printed. They follow:

"I appeal to all those who will have to speak in any authoritative way on this question not to put difficulties in the way by untimely and immature statements in regard to this conference. It ought to be a momentous gathering. Everybody should go there with a free open mind and convinced that they should listen to all the arguments and try if possible to come to an agreement and meet the wishes of the majority of the people of Canada."

A CRISIS IN CIVIC AFFAIRS

PRESENT conditions in our civic affairs constitute a crisis which may very profitably engage the attention of every citizen. The retirement of Mr. Stairs from the position of town manager, to accept a similar position which gives promise of more speedy advancement, makes it incumbent upon the people of Wolfville to again consider the appointment of such an official.

It is no use to deny the fact that there has always existed a considerable element of opposition to the town manager idea among our people, and not a few citizens are still inclined to look upon the innovation as a mistake. THE ACADIAN was the first to suggest the appointment of a manager, and while we do not undertake to assume responsibility for everything that has been done in connection with the undertaking we are still convinced that under proper conditions the idea is a good one. No one will question that Mr. Stairs has been a conscientious and faithful official and that he has done his best to advance the interests of the community in every way. Coming to Wolfville as a perfect stranger to our needs and naturally with little knowledge of small town problems, he gave himself to the task and no one can deny that he has rendered good and efficient service. Unquestionably his experience here has been of value, and had he stayed Wolfville would have profited by this experience. As it is Windsor will be the gainer and Wolfville the loser by the change. The question which now faces our citizens involves a decision between seeking another man to take the position which Mr. Stairs has vacated and returning to the former method of conducting our civic affairs.

As this paper has repeatedly pointed out Wolfville is too small a town to afford two high priced officials when the work might be easily and efficiently performed by one. We called attention to this at a time when the position of town clerk was vacant and when the proposition of engaging the services of a manager was under consideration. Other towns have adopted this method of combining the two offices in one man, and if that could be done in Wolfville we believe it would work admirably. The difficulty is that few men are adapted to the dual position. Many otherwise good town clerks are altogether unfitted for the position of manager, and many men who would make admirable managers have not the qualities which would enable them to do the clerical work of the town office.

In view of these facts and of all the circumstances it will be well to give plenty of deliberation before arriving at a decision.

Meantime the duties of the Mayor and Councilors will be increased but will not be greater than have been successfully undertaken by their predecessors of other days. Time was when citizens were found willing to assume these duties and give all the time necessary to their performance, and why should it not be the same now?

STOPPING THE PAPER

EVERY once in a while the editorial mail contains an epistle from an individual with a hobby or a grievance. These epistles emit wrath about something that has been printed in the newspaper, or about something that hasn't been printed. But they have an unvarying conclusion, which is a threat to "stop the paper".

Of course every editor respects the opinions of his fellow men, whether they chance to be readers of his particular paper or not; if he didn't he couldn't expect his fellow men to respect his opinions. But the editor who undertook to vary the policy of his newspaper to suit every complaint or humor, every hobby of several thousand readers, would soon find himself in the poorhouse or the padded cell division of the lunatic asylum. For this reason an editor with a mind of his own and a certain amount of work to perform every day is obliged to keep a special corner of his waste basket ready for the communication of heated individuals who feel the impulse to "stop the paper".

People have been "stopping papers" for a great many years, but for some inexplicable reason newspapers continue to be published. The answer probably is that where one individual with narrow conceptions and hidebound prejudices takes offense at some truthful article, several hundred more are inclined to applaud it. Another reason why editors are more or less contemptuous of the "stop-the-paper" bulldozers is that the great bulk of our citizens respect a newspaper which is frank and courageous, even when they disagree with its policies, while they have only disgust for one which trims its sails to catch every passing breeze.

This is a free country, and nothing is freer than the privilege of taking a newspaper or leaving it alone. Editors would be the last of all persons to wish it otherwise. But the dear reader who imagines that "stopping the paper" also stops the presses is the victim of a childish illusion. He hurts himself far more than he hurts the offending editor or newspaper.

LESSONS TAUGHT BY PROPHETS APPLICABLE TODAY

AT A local church on a recent Sunday the minister announced his intention to undertake a discussion of the prophets at the mid-week service during the coming weeks. He found it necessary to explain that while his hearers might be inclined to regard this as rather a dry subject a further study would induce a very different opinion.

We regard this proposition to give an increased attention to investigating these bible writers as a hopeful sign, and are sure that those who engage in the study will not find it uninteresting. One cannot but be impressed when following the conditions depicted by these prophets of old with the fact that many of the problems there-in discussed find counterpart in those of the present day to a wonderful degree. Possibly in every age of the world's history a similar experience may have prevailed, and if so it merely proves that after all human life as the days go by is very much as it has been since the world began.

We are not of those who like to imagine that world conditions are speedily growing worse, and yet, perhaps, at no time has there existed a greater need of strong preaching than at the present time. In the writings and warnings of the ancient prophets our ministers will find many texts that are exceedingly applicable to present day needs.

SUCCULENT FEEDS FOR DAIRY COWS

In order to secure maximum results from Dairy Cows, succulent feeds must become an important part of their ration. Cows fed a succulent ration will consume more roughage and are more capable of assimilating the concentrated foods added to the ration. It is equally true that a succulent ration (supplied to the ration) will increase production and incidentally lower the cost.

Succulence may be supplied in the form of roots or silage and a combination of the two may be used to advantage as a dairy cow will usually respond to variety in roughages just as she does in the case of variety in concentrates. Turnips are the only reliable root crop in the Maritimes and take the leading place as a succulent food—mangels being an uncertain crop in most sections. True, the production costs are higher per pound of dry matter than for silage crops yet they require less expensive machinery and storage facilities.

Feeding tests conducted at Fredericton, Experimental Station have also shown that turnips are equal to corn or sunflower silage in milk production, although there is a slight tendency for the cows to lose more weight.

Silage, however, has one decided advantage over turnips in that it may be fed during the summer months when pastures are short and lacking in succulence. Soiling crops may be used but not as conveniently and as cheaply as silage.

There is a great variety of crops that may be used for silage. The more important ones are corn, sunflowers, and oats, peas and vetches. Well cured corn admittedly makes the best silage. Sunflowers, however, have given slightly higher yields at the Fredericton Experimental Station and in feeding tests about equal corn. They are not so palatable as corn, however, and sometimes there is difficulty in getting cows to eat sufficient for best results. O.F.V. makes good silage but the yields secured at Fredericton do not warrant its general use.

With the low price for dairy products as compared with the high price of concentrates it is necessary that the dairy farmer should use every means possible to secure economic production of milk; therefore he should feed succulent food liberally, especially to his heavy producing milk cows, as by this means he can cut down the amount of concentrates necessary for a heavy milk flow. C. F. Bailey, Superintendent Experimental Station, Fredericton, N. B.

REV. JOHN BLACK

Mrs. J. Rolph received the sad intelligence on Monday, Feb. 16, of the death of her son-in-law, the Rev. John Black. Mr. Black was pastor of the congregation at Adnac, Sask., and had laboured there faithfully for several years. His entire ministry was spent in the North West. During the war he went overseas and suffered to some extent on the battlefield. On his return he finished his studies at Saskatoon and was ordained by the Presbyterian ministry.

Shortly before his death he travelled some distance in the cold to visit a sick parishioner, from which illness resulted ending in death. Though he had only spent a few years in the ministry his whole heart was in the work, and wher-

HOW CANADA'S ONLY QUADRUPLETS LOOKED ON THEIR FIRST BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mahaney of St. John, N.B., are the proud parents of Canada's only quadruplets, three girls and one boy. They celebrated their first year on this earth on December 25th. So far as is known they are the only 1000 births in Canada. Statistics show how rare this occurrence is. In England this occurs only once in 400,000 births; in Germany, once in every 100,000, and in France, only once in 2,000,000. The above shows the mother and the babies. From left to right, the children are: Edith May, Edna Louise, Lydia Christine and John Douglas.

He is survived by a sorrowing widow, formerly Miss Annie Rolph of Hantsport, with whom we deeply sympathize in her sad bereavement, also with every member of the bereaved ones, especially with the mother. Interment was in Saskatchewan.

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT

Given Under Auspices of Baptist Church Choir.

A capacity house greeted the presentation of the grand concert in the Empire Theatre on Saturday evening, under the auspices of the choir of the Baptist church. The concert, which was under the efficient management of R. G. Burns, was a decided success from every point of view, every number on the program being received with enthusiastic applause, and everyone taking part acquitting themselves in a most creditable manner.

It would indeed be difficult to specialize on any particular number, but the big feature of the evening were the solos, "The Garden of Your Heart" by Edward Teschemacher; "Mate O' Mine" by Leslie Cooke, and Yum-Yum-Yum-Yum (encore) from the Dumbbells, which were effectively rendered by R. G. Burns. Mr. Burns possesses a voice of unusual quality and many with fine expression and artistry, each number being received with appreciative applause.

The three choruses, "June Night"

"California", and "Linger Awhile", were under the splendid management of Miss Marguerite Lawrence; while the playettes "The Days of the Week" and "Mother Goose", were arranged by Miss E. Hume.

The complete program was as follows:

- Chorus—June Night.
- Solo—"Shall We Have it Bobbed or Shingled", Miss Marguerite Lawrence.
- Reading—"Between the Soup and the Savoury", Miss Dorothy Swaine.
- Trio—"Every Girl Loves a Sailor", Isobel Shaw, Viola Mosher, Frances Kennedy.
- Solo—"Mate O' Mine", R. G. Burns.
- Playette—"Days of the Week".
- Male Quartet—"The Bridge", Messrs. J. Pulsifer, H. Rolph, J. Folker and W. Pulsifer.
- Playette—"Mother Goose".
- Chorus—"California".
- Reading—"The Heart of a Clown", Miss Dorothy Swaine.
- Solo—"The Garden of Your Heart", R. G. Burns.
- Chorus—"Linger Awhile".

The personnel of the choruses were as follows: Aileen Yeaton (who sang the solo in the California chorus), Avril Smith, Mary Macumber, Marjorie Pulsifer, Dorothy Bradshaw, Eloise Newcombe, Laura Newcombe, Elsie Perry, Mary Beckwith, Florence Blackburn, Phyllis Davison, Lorna Cohoon, Grace Whitman, Aspel Kewley.

Those taking part in the playettes were: Mary Hancock, Frances Kennedy, Isobel Shaw, Viola Mosher, Bertha McDonald, Jean Lockhart, Rosamond Shankel, Grace Frizzle, Basil Starratt, Lloyd Hart, Wilbur Hancock, Allen Phillips, John Folker, Gerald Johnson.

Miss Claire McDonald is to be highly complimented on her success as an accompanist. Mrs. H. L. Smith was the accompanist for the playettes.

The proceeds of the concert will be added to the funds already on hand for the purchase of an electric blower for the pipe organ in the Baptist church.

PUBLICITY CAMPAIGNS WHICH GET RESULTS

(From the Financial Post)

The course of community advertising certainly does not run smooth. The Boards of Trade or publicity organizations are between the Scylla of public apathy and indifference and the Charybdis of enthusiasm without judgment. The success of an advertising campaign by one city stimulates another and when an organization starting out in a small way has begun to show results then there is often a popular demand that such publicity should be extended to cover wider fields. General "boosting" is advocated by those who have no clear conception of the function of publicity nor of what the community has to offer the rest of the world.

There are many instances in Canada of communities well adapted to appeal to the holiday-seeker, imagining themselves manufacturing centres in embryo and devoting the time and money that might profitably be given to telling of their scenic charms to futile boasting of their industrial opportunities, so-called. The natural home pride of the citizens leads them to attempt to sell what they hope to have, rather than what they have and in consequence money and effort are wasted and the program eventually comes to naught. Frequently the only effect of such publicity (?) is to stimulate a spurious demand for real estate, or to flood the city with people seeking work who may after become a charge on the public purse. In many cases retailers or professional people are attracted who merely divide up the business already there.

The requirements of community publicity are the same as those of a business, namely, a knowledge of the commodities to be sold, then an analysis of the markets for such goods and finally a selection of the best methods to capture these markets. The best business men in each community really owe it to themselves to take an interest in such co-operative efforts and to apply their own business acumen to the policies of the general campaign. They must be prepared to pay for expert knowledge in this as in other classes of work, to apply sound methods and thus, not only prevent wastage of public moneys which will add to the general cost of their individual prosperity but instead to realize greater success as a result of such work.

The Financial Post would like to see Canadian communities take advantage of one of the greatest modern methods for improving business conditions, namely—intelligent publicity, and would urge that the cities and towns which are launching campaigns see that such are well thought out and then carried to conclusion in the most effective way. This means also the highest class of satisfactory pleasing service for and to the visitors. Vancouver by its attention increased the average length of stay in 1924 six-tenths of a day over 1923 which represented nearly three million dollars extra profit for the citizens.

WIVES WANT CHANGE

The problem of the happy marriage is generally thought to be new, something peculiar to the jazz, restless, high-pressure days we live in. But in the fundaments, says Henriette Fragonard in the Birmingham Mail, it is as old as mankind itself.

It is a commonplace that a man and a woman can drift apart simply because they have ceased to find anything to say to one another. The woman gets discontented; her thoughts roam away from her man, and a sense of revolt against her dull life makes her mood dangerous just at the time when her husband thinks her placid and wishes that she would take an interest in his doings.

A man too often forgets when he sets out in the morning to make his living that he is going for the next eight hours or so to live a varied life. Possibly, if he works in an office, he would call it a dull life. But even a routine life is a change from the life of the home. In fact, he walks out of one life into another, and in the evening walks back again. Meantime the wife of the "woman's-proper-place-is-the-home" type of husband has not changed either her environment or her interests. And the husband probably gets impatient if she begins to tell him of household incidents, forgetful of the fact that those incidents are the only things that have happened in her life all day. . . . They never realize these dull-witted men, that the wives, whose narrow range of interests they sometimes deplore, want to walk out of their home life for a few hours; they want a change, they want human contacts, if only those casual contacts which the husband makes in the course of his business day.

GASPEREAU

On Sunday, Feb. 1, Cyrus N. Davison, a well known and highly respected resident of GasperEAU Mt., departed this life in his 77th year. He had been in failing health for many years but was confined to his bed only a few days before his death.

He was a good neighbor and kind husband and father and leaves a sorrowing wife and three daughters, Mrs. Gabrielson, of Harvard, Mass.; Mrs. Elisha Tracey, of Hantsport; Mrs. Joseph Vaughan, of GasperEAU; and six sons, Calvin, Douglas, Ambrose, Kimble, Earnest, and Roy, of GasperEAU Mt.

The Women's Institute met at the home of Miss Evelyn Miner on Thursday afternoon of last week. A goodly number of members were present and much business was done. A play entitled "Aaron Slick from Pumpkin Creek" has been started. The program was in charge of the Home and School Committee. We were pleased to have with us Mrs. Borden, of Wolfville Ridge, who favored us with a very interesting reading.

Many will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Kenneth Hunter is slowly improving.

THE TOWN OFFICE

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN Dear Sir.—The persistent rumor that is current in town, to the effect that it is the intention of the "city fathers" to appoint an assistant in the office of the Town Clerk, does not appear to meet with anything like general approval among our citizens. There are those who hold to the opinion that the work of the office ought to be well within the power of one man and that the salary at present paid is sufficient to pay for the service rendered. Probably no one who has not carefully studied the situation is competent to pronounce on the matter, but before action is taken the situation should receive a careful investigation.

Before the civic election of 1924, which it will be remembered was a rather strenuous one, the present Mayor told the electors that if he were elected he proposed, among other things, to appoint a committee of business men to carefully look into conditions at the town office and make a full report of their findings. I am not unmindful of the fact that pre-election pledges are not always duly carried out, but may I suggest that in this instance it would not be a bad idea to appoint such a commission. It would, at least, satisfy the ratepayers, who, after all, ought to be considered. ONE OF THEM.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT W.C.T.U. MEETING

The increasing interest in our local W.C.T.U. work was shown in the numbers present at the regular monthly meeting held at Mrs. J. Vaughan's on Monday afternoon. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Nowlin. The business part was conducted by the president, Mrs. Taylor; after which the "Frances Willard Day" program on "Temperance Missions" was carried out in charge of Mrs. Hardy, the superintendent of that department. A report read from the Prov. Supt. of Temperance Missions showed that $826.96 had been given to missions last year from the Provincial Unions. Short readings from the life of Frances Willard were read by different members. The chief number on the program was the very interesting address by Mrs. Gullison, who spoke on Temperance work in India. India is not only fighting

DOG OWNERS

Take Notice

Hereafter, in the town of Wolfville, the laws pertaining to dogs will be rigidly enforced.

Digest of Laws. 1.—The owner of every dog in the town of Wolfville, (which has not already been registered), and every person who shall hereafter become the owner of a dog, within the town, whether or not by some other owner previously registered, shall forthwith, upon becoming such owner, cause such dog to be registered, described and numbered in the office of the Town Clerk, and shall thereupon forthwith pay to the Town Clerk a registry fee of twenty-five cents; and on the first day of July in each and every year thereafter so long as he shall be the owner, he shall pay to the Town Clerk a tax of four dollars for each such dog, if it be a male and six dollars if a female.

2.—The owner of every registered dog, if he cease to be the owner of such dog, shall forthwith give notice in writing to the Town Clerk, stating the name and residence of the new owner, or what other disposition has been made of the dog; otherwise, until such notice be given, such registered owner shall continue to be liable for and shall pay the aforesaid annual tax notwithstanding he has ceased to be such owner.

3.—The owner of each dog continually to wear around his neck a collar with a metallic plate, having the owner's name and registered number cut thereon. No bull-dog or mastiff shall go at large within the town without a muzzle sufficient to prevent its biting or doing mischief, in addition to the required collar and plate.

4.—Upon complaint to the Stipendiary Magistrate that a dog is disposed to fight or is fierce, dangerous or vicious, or in respect to which the tax payable has not been paid, or whose owner has with regard to said dog violated any of the provisions of Chapter XIII of the by-laws of the town of Wolfville: the Stipendiary Magistrate may after hearing such complaint, order that the dog be continually prevented from going at large, or he may order such dog to be destroyed.

Under the provisions of Section 2 of Chapter 65 of the Revised Statutes of Nova Scotia, 1923, "Any person may kill any dog being at large and without a leather or metal collar on which the name of the owner of the dog is conspicuously marked". R. W. FORD, Town Clerk. Feb. 23, 1925.

DIGBY HIGH DEFEATS ACADIA COLLEGIATE

DIGBY, Feb. 22.—In the fastest and hardest fought game of hockey seen in Digby in recent years, Digby High defeated Acadia Collegiate Academy by the score of 4 to 2, and by a convincing victory are now recognized champions of the Western Section of the Halifax Herald High School Hockey League. Digby High is playing in great form and are looked upon as a strong favorite in final contests for the Trophy that carries with it the championship of the province.

The game was exceptionally clean, and the penalties handed out were only for minor offences. The lot of the referee is never a happy one but J. W. Merkel and Mr. Johnson, of Wolfville, handled the game in a very creditable manner.

I.O.D.E. BENEFIT GREAT SUCCESS

The afternoon tea and "bridge" held at the Parish Hall Tuesday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of Sir Robert Borden Chapter, I.O.D.E., were both well patronized and a great success. The total proceeds were about $75.00.

The waitresses were kept busy from 4 to 5.30 serving tea in a room that was most artistically decorated and resembled a veritable Japanese tea room. During the afternoon a most enjoyable musical program was given. Solos were rendered by Miss Doris Chambers and Mrs. W. D. Withrow, while a chorus of girls in Japanese costume sang several selections. Those comprising the chorus were Misses Constance Bartheaux, Lorlette Benjamin, Elizabeth Corey, Marion Eaton, Elizabeth Ford, Dorothy Harris, Helen Harris, Dorothy and Margaret Mitchell, Nita and Zelma Trethewey. The accompanist was Miss Ethel Hemmeon, through whose efforts the program was arranged.

In the evening there were 21 tables of "bridge", the ladies' prize being won by Mrs. Harold Major, and the gentlemen's by Capt. S. M. Beardsley.

WOLFVILLE HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED KENTVILLE

The Wolfville and Kentville High School hockey teams played a league game at Kentville last Saturday morning. It was an interesting game, being closely contested, and many fine plays were handed out. Wolfville won by the score of 6 to 5. The teams were as follows: Wolfville.—Boates, Prescott, Williams, Johnson, Shaw, Cohen, Cox, Mahaney, McKinnon. Kentville.—Barnaby, Lockhart, Condon, W. Weaver, McPherson, G. Weaver, Blair.

REFEREE SMITH AWARDED WINDSOR WIN OVER CANNING

WINDSOR, Feb. 19.—The following official affidavit has been signed by C. R. Smith, the man who handled the whistle in the recent Windsor and Canning game. "The incorrect statements from Canning correspondents, concerning the Windsor-Canning game on Wednesday night, make it necessary for me to emphatically state that Windsor scored a legitimate goal in the second five minutes of overtime play and won a clean cut victory. The Windsor team left the ice on completion of the full overtime period and not until the signal sounded." (Signed) C. R. Smith. Windsor, N.S., Feb. 19th, 1925.

POTATO EMBARGO

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The embargo on Canadian potatoes, announced as effective from Friday last, owing to the suspected presence of the Colorado beetle, is certain to remain for an indefinite period, the Canadian Press learns from reliable circles. The approximately 1,000 tons now afloat will be the last England will receive from the Dominion for perhaps many years.

The minister of agriculture, with many professions of regret, declares that the action has been delayed as long as possible, but the home producer must have protection from the introduction of the beetle pest.

ANGLO-SAXON WORLD URGED TO SAVE ST. PAUL'S

Interest aroused abroad in the project undertaken by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, London, England, to safeguard the cathedral for generations to come has led to their making an appeal not only to the British Empire but to Anglo-Saxons throughout the world to assist in preserving the great national memorial, threatened by crumbling inside the massive piers which support the famous dome. The task is to inject cement under pressure into the piers, which when built were filled internally with rubble, and thus give new life to these enormous columns. For this it has been established that the sum required may approximate 250,000 pounds, or nearly $1,250,000. This photograph shows workmen repairing time-worn stone ornaments on the top gallery.

CANADIANS DEFEAT ENGLISH TEAM BY SCORE OF 4 TO 1. Canucks Won International Title in Tourney With Swiss, Belgians, French and English

PARIS, Feb. 22.—The Canadian University Students hockey team, which is officially recognized at home, defeated the London Lions, including some Canadians, representing England, by a score of four goals to one in the final of the Jean Potin international cup at the Palais De Glace here Saturday night. Teams representing Switzerland, Belgium and France were eliminated in the preliminary contests. Simard, of University of Montreal, scored the first goal for the Canadians in the first period, and Sexton, of King's College, Halifax, N.S., who was the backbone and captain of his team, equalized for England. Rainville, of the University of Montreal, who was the star of the Canadians, playing brilliant hockey throughout, put his team in the lead early in the second period and Caron, of Laval University, added two more shortly afterwards. The game was a good exhibition of hockey, with the Canadians showing superiority throughout, being in much better condition than the English team.

CANNING HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS KENTVILLE

Canning High School defeated Kentville High School in Canning rink Thursday afternoon, Feb. 19, in a league fixture by a score of 3-2. The ice was in excellent condition and a large and enthusiastic crowd of supporters of both teams witnessed a game which was clean, fast and thrilling throughout. The game was a fine exhibition of hockey. The line-up: Canning—Goal, Eugene Spicer; defence, Philip Meek, W. Payzant; centre, Donald Ellis; wings, Leonard McBride, Nathan Eaton; subs., William Meek, Fred Melvin, Charles Lombard. Kentville—Goal, F. Barnaby; defence, Leo McPherson, George Weaver; centre, Walter Weaver; wings, Louis Lockhart, S. Cohen; subs., Congdon, Don Blair, Harry Hoyt refereed satisfactorily.

CANNING DEFEATED KENTVILLE

In League Game at Local Rink—Score 3-1. Canning won from Kentville last Friday night in the last league game in the local rink by a score of 3-1, in a game that was exceptionally fast considering the poor condition of the ice. The play started off at a fast pace and after ten minutes of good hockey Buck Bennett, who was playing a star game for Kentville, slipped the puck by Miller from a fast wing shot. Canning made desperate efforts to score during the remaining minutes of this period but failed to do so on account of the good work of the Kentville defence. The period ended with the visitors leading by the score of 1-0. The second period produced some fast hockey but the soft ice prevented accurate shooting. After nine minutes of play Lyons evened the score by a rush down left wing and a swift shot from close in, which Barnaby had no chance to save. Ten seconds before the period ended Hoyt secured the rubber at centre ice and stickhandled down to right wing and fooled the Kentville goalies on a low shot. The gong ended this period before the puck was faced-off at centre ice with Canning leading by a score of 2-1. The third period opened with Canning on the defensive and although Kentville made desperate efforts to score, the stellar work of the Canning defence kept the Kentville players from again getting into the scoring column. Miller in this period made some fine saves and his work in this period was a big factor in saving the home team from defeat. After about eight minutes of play Lyons slapped the puck past Barnaby from a face-off in front of the Kentville net. Play continued very fast during the rest of the period, but no further scoring resulted. It would be impossible to pick any individual stars from the home team as all the men played stellar hockey. Buck Bennett and W. Kennedy were the pick of the visitors. Mention should also be made of Barnaby, who turned in a fine performance of goal tending. The score ended, 3-1 in favor of Canning. The teams: Kentville—Barnaby, goal; Corbin and Parker, defence; G. Kennedy, centre; Bennett and W. Kennedy, wings; Cox, sub. Canning—Miller, goal; Huston and Newcombe, defence; Lyons, centre; Hoyt and Grant, wings; R. B. Eaton, H. Eaton and H. Bennett, subs. Ves Laing and C. Bowly refereed satisfactorily. Several penalties were handed out but all for minor offences. Attendance about 600.

KENTVILLE TURNS TABLES ON CANNING

Win from Canning at Kentville Rink by Score of 10 to 2. KENTVILLE, Feb. 22.—In a fast game in the Arena Saturday night, the home team defeated the Canning aggregation by a score of 10-2. Good ice, conducive to fast skating, with clever stickhandling featuring, kept the 600 fans keyed up. The Kentville players were in fine form, with Gordon Kennedy the outstanding player. He and Brother Waldron each scoring four goals. The game was called at 8:30 and after five minutes play the Kennedys, in a pretty combination went through the defence and Gordon scored on a pass from Waldron. Parker in a brilliant rush passed to W. Kennedy who hit the net. Corbin, in a spectacular rush passed to G. Kennedy who sagged the net again. Then in one of the prettiest combination plays credited to them, the Kennedy brothers passed back and forth across the ice, W. Kennedy landing the puck with a shot from right wing. With one minute to go, Ted Hueston, in an individual rush scored the first goal for the visitors. Fast play featured in the second period, G. Kennedy scoring two minutes after the whistle blew, repeating the trick a few minutes later by a rush the length of the ice. Corbin, in the last minute of play did some clever stickhandling down the ice and scored. The Kentville team again had the edge of play in the third period, when three more goals were landed, "Buck" Bennett getting the first from right wing, three minutes after opening of play. W. Kennedy, after a dash by Corbin, sagged the twine and repeated the trick from L. Wing a few minutes later. Canning added another goal to their lone tally, when Grevatt, on a pass from Newcombe, hit the net behind Barnaby. The Kentville goalie played a splendid game. Miller also made many saves. Hueston and H. Lyons starred for the visitors. Line-up: Canning—Miller, goal; wings, Grevatt and Hoyt; centre, Lyons; defence, Hueston, Newcombe; subs., H. Eaton, B. Eaton, Bennett. Kentville—Goal, Barnaby; wings, W. Kennedy and Bennett; centre, G. Kennedy; defence, Corbin, Parker; subs., Cox, Oylor. Referee—Ves Laing, Kentville; C. Bowly, Canning.

PEREAU

The friends of Miss Edna Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Greene, Pereau, and James McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McBride, Blomidon, held a delightful reception in their honor at the home of Captain Avery Bentley and Mrs. Bentley, Wednesday evening, Feb. 18, the guests numbering more than 60. From an attractively arranged table the beautiful gifts were distributed, Miss Greene, on opening them, reading the accompanying poetry which was very clever and appropriate. Miss Greene and Mr. McBride, who were taken by surprise, expressed their appreciation of the kindness of their friends and their tangible expressions of appreciation. During the evening Mrs. Lee Newcombe and Mr. Rufus Greene played delightfully on the violin, accompanist Mrs. Alphonse Sullivan. Snapper was served, those assisting being Miss Rosie Bentley and Miss Thelma Roscoe. Miss Greene and Mr. McBride, who served overseas with the 219 Highlanders, are great favorites, and the evening will long be remembered by their host of friends.

HANTS MEMBER IN CRITICAL MOOD

L. H. Martel Says Fruit Growers Don't Want to be Hampered by Unnecessary Regulations. OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—When a vote for $200,000 for civil Government of the fruit branch, Department of Agriculture, was under discussion in the House today, L. H. Martel, Liberal, Hants, advised the Minister of Agriculture to get away from restrictions of the fruit grower. The growers of Nova Scotia were not afraid of inspection, said Mr. Martel, but they did not want to be hampered with unnecessary regulations. "The sooner the Minister gives adequate protection to the fruit grower, the better," Mr. Martel continued. He was interrupted by loud applause and cries of "hear! hear!" from the Conservatives. Mr. Martel said he did not mean tariff protection. He meant protection to the man who put up a pack of good apples. The trouble was that the Minister instead of trusting his inspectors down in the Maritime Provinces, was taking the advice of a lot of highly-paid officials at Ottawa. "They cut off one inspector in my county," he protested. "That is the trouble," came from the Conservative benches. Mr. Martel replied that he did not care whether they were all cut off, as long as there was proper protection. There was an interruption from some of the Progressives. "Oh, it is all very well for you over there who never saw an apple grow, to talk," Mr. Martel declared. "I venture to say that the Minister of Agriculture himself never saw an apple raised. Let him come down to Nova Scotia, and we'll show him how to grow apples." "It is all very well," continued Mr. Martel, "for our people to advocate shipping into the central market of Canada. It is all very well to ask us to sell our produce in Western Canada. We cannot do it under the present system of railway rates, but right at home where our people grow the best apples in the British Empire, we are unable, through the fault of the Department of Agriculture, to get our apples in the English market, which should be our chief market. "What we are asking today is not that you should ask the Dominion Atlantic Railway, nor the Canadian National Railways to remedy the evil, but it is the function of the Department of Public Works to provide properly heated accommodation, so that we will be in a position to ship our produce to the markets of the world. Of course, I am only speaking for Hants, but the people of Nova Scotia are not going to be satisfied, they are not going to put off with long speeches and fancy promises and pats on the back. We want proper facilities in the city of Halifax, proper piers and proper warehouses." Hon. Mr. Motherwell explained the steps that had been taken to remedy the conditions complained of. "I was assured last fall," he said, "when I asked our Trade Commissioner how the situation was working out that the railways had supplied a sufficient number of heated cars, to avoid any reasonable risk, while waiting shipment." Action had also been taken, Mr. Motherwell added, with a view to obtaining proper pier facilities. Mr. Motherwell had also taken the matter up with Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Public Works. Mr. Martel said that the chief fruit inspector for Nova Scotia should be located in the County of King's, where sixty per cent. of the fruit was produced. There had been a rumor that a Mr. Johnston, an inspector at Halifax, was in league with the chief inspector, to have a particular type of loading machine used by the Department. Mr. Martel said that he had no proof to back up the statement, but that it was a general rumor around Halifax. The quicker Mr. Johnston was let go, the better it would be.

WHY NOT SELL IT?

ON EVERY FARM there is machinery, implements, stock, or other things that are not being used and should be turned into money to be used for other purposes. In every home there is furniture, trunks and other articles that might also be sold. The money could be put to use, or in a bank to draw interest. Why not sell such things now? Or perhaps you have chickens, eggs, plants or seed, or service of some kind that you want to find buyers for Piccolo was mute. He gazed at his partner as though desiring a prompting. "Neither Pic nor I know the first thing about ore," said Jack. "I once washed a little gold dust out of a creek when I was up after stock in the Coeur d'Alenes—just for fun, but I don't even know bluestone out of a drugstore window."

"What have we to do?" piped Piccolo. "We go to the place where I got that ore," he paused. "Look for floats," his partner chipped in.

"Ay, that's it," said Angus, pleased to find some hint of knowledge.

Jack laughed and disillusioned him. "I've only heard them talk," said he. "I don't know how to go about it. Then he added: 'It is sure white of you coming along with this news to us, Mr. MacPherson.'

"Oh pshaw!" exclaimed Angus. "Our righteousness is filthy rags. I've only a bit of a notion where you got it. About a hundred and eighty miles north of the boundary is all I know."

"There was a long pause. "Would you?" began Piccolo and paused, then tried again, "would you come in with us, go out with us, I mean?"

Jack raised his head and laughed, and slapped Piccolo on the back. "Would I come in with you and go out with you?" enquired Angus. "It's a good thing I'm gleg in the upk! I get you, as they say in God's Country, all the same. Would I come in as a member of the prospecting party and go out into the land northward with you?"

"That's it," said Piccolo. "Virtue has its reward," said Angus. "Man, ye have proposed, just what I hoped ye would propose."

"All right," said Jack airily, "it's yours, Pic—yours and Mr. MacPherson's if you find it. I can't help you to round-up floats and corral Mother Hubbard!" He laughed again. "Go to it! I'll stay home and mind the ranch. We got that alfalfa to put in."

Angus nodded at the little splinter of stone on the table. "If we get a seam of that of any proportion worth talking about," said he, "we have a proposition that would support a large family."

"Well, you two go in," said Tremaine. "You're liable to find it anyhow! I guess Pic don't know where he picked up the stones. But you're the experienced prospector."

Angus bowed his head. "That," said he, "is a matter for you two to settle. I come from Aberdeen."

"Well, what does that mean?" asked Jack. "I only know I'm from Missoula."

"Oh, Aberdeen is entirely different. When I see a chance of having a half-share instead of one-third I feel in my bones that I come from Aberdeen. To translate: I have in me the quality known in this part of God's Country as squeezing a quarter hard enough to make the eagle squeal."

"You have—like fun!" said Jack. "You have—like fun!" piped Piccolo, simultaneously.

"Ye haven't gone strewing other specimens of this around, have ye?" enquired Angus.

Piccolo blushed and—"No," he said. Jack frowned at him. Angus's brows came down and his bright eyes looked piercingly at Piccolo.

"I seem to remember you dusting away at your other pocket after we left Mr. MacPherson's today," Tremaine remarked.

"I was just putting the things back from my left pocket to the right," answered Piccolo in a voice like that of a school boy explaining away some deflection to a school-marm.

He rose abruptly and went to the little bookshelf above the Grand Piano, and there educed an atlas, came back to the table and opened it before Angus, turned the pages, and found the one showing the Northwestern states.

"There's Cobalt," said he, dabbing a fingertip on the page. "Well, look, we went in this way."

Tremaine rose also and came to bend beside them, moved by the delight in maps of the average open-air man as much as by interest in their especial interest in this map.

"That fellow, Mr. Bill," he remarked. "I once heard him say: 'There are two things I can't resist—maps and the smell of woodsmoke.'"

Angus paid no heed to that, engrossed by the map; but although Piccolo made no reply to it either (taking it as a mere aside by his partner) it was to come back to his mind later.

"There," said Piccolo, "we went into B.C. thereabouts." He frowned, worried. "Ye said ye saw Flat-Bow Lake," said Angus.

"I thought so," said Piccolo. "How did it run, the lake you saw?" asked Angus.

"East and West," Piccolo answered promptly, and then: "I see Flat-Bow runs North and South," he added in accents of one puzzled, almost piqued.

"Oh, this is not a big enough scale man. There's an arm to Flat-Bow Lake, and ye doubtless saw it. There's a lot of wee lakes in there that are not on the map. See here: this might just be a river according to this map, but it's a lake—Trout Lake. A bonny lake, I've been up there. Glaciers, and big timber, and grizzly bears! Ay, ay. Here's Kootenay Lake, ve see. That's clear enough. And there's the Okanagan. That's marked clear enough too. They are turning that into a fruit country now and all the cattle will be gone soon, I suppose. I washed gold dust there once in a creek to the South end. It was a small bar but fine while it lasted. Give me a piece of paper and I'll just try to draw from memory the lake and river systems there where you've been in the lower Monashees. I've not been through it all, but many a time have I pored over the maps. Grand things, hunch, as they call it, that ye have strewed other samples from your pocket somewhere. I don't definitely say that ye seem not to be frank with me, Pic, but I feel we should get after this smartly. An assay would give us the exact proportion of the contents, but even without it I've seen enough of rocks in my day to know that it is a remarkable discovery of yours," and so saying he took the fragment of galena from the table and put it in his pocket as if unconscious of doing so.

Piccolo wet his lip. He frowned. He seemed as if desirous to speak, and yet held his tongue—oddly sensitive.

"Yes," said he, "I think we should start right away. We don't need an assay, seeing you know about mineral." Angus peered at him, frowning, nodding his head slowly.

"I must get back to Margaret," said he. "I didn't tell her what I was going out for. In a thing of this kind—" he waved his hand, "I must have proceeded in Rhodesia, Australia, Alaska, and I have learnt. Not a word till the chickens are hatched. There is nobody can give the thing away if nobody speaks, and then—if any one else gets on to it—ye don't need to wonder who blabbed."

"Sure!" echoed Piccolo. "I'll come over, then, and we'll discuss." Angus stood plucking his beard, his mouth twisting, meditating.

"Ay," he said, "quite so," and was lost in thought, staring at the dual twinkles of light on the bells above the telephone box. "Ye're on the telephone I see. Man, there are folks back East and in the Auld Country who think we have no conveniences in the West. But this country is growing up in the age of electricity so it just naturally uses it. Well, I just told Margaret I was driving over to Colvalli for some tobacco; I had some in my pouch but—well, ye see—she will wonder what's keeping me."

I wonder why Americans call Margaret Miggles? Maybe it was a custom in the Auld Country, for a lot of American ways are Auld Country ways transplanted and kept alive here though they have been forgotten in Great Britain. Ay, quite so," he talked on in a monotone. "Miggles! I like Miggles though, the name I mean, ever since I read your story of Bret Harte's. It's the way the stage driver calls: 'Miggles! Miggles!' that caught me, and I canna tell why."

Piccolo sat looking at him with head down, but a keenness in his eyes. He had a surmise that when Angus talked on in this fashion, as in soliloquy, monologue, he was thinking but little of what he said, was really thinking of other matters.

"Well," said Angus, "we'll leave it like this till I see you again. Come soon and," he paused, "tell me anything you have to tell me. But I expect we'll simply arrange about the starting out."

As one tidying up he lifted the map, folded it, and laid it in the open atlas, closed the atlas, then thrust it across the table.

"Good-night," he said. Piccolo went out to hold the horses' heads while Angus laboriously put foot to hub and clambered to his seat, and Jack stood in the doorway seeing him off. The pit-pattering of the hoofs in dust, the frou-frou of harness leather and squeal of wheels went away in the dark under the big blue vault, the tilted Dipper, tall Orion, all the twinkling world.

"Cold a bit," said Piccolo, and turned back into the house.

"Gee," said Tremaine. "I wonder what age he is. When he was drawing that map he looked like an old man, but he looked like a bright kid when he held it up to the lamp so that the little hole I made with my knife point showed light. It's a queer spell that prospecting has for the men it grips."

Piccolo laughed. "We are talking about our recently departed guest, all right," he paused; "but only good of him," he added. "He's a wonderful man."

"You betchar life," said Jack Tremaine. "He was straight about it, anyhow, Piccolo, whatever his reasons for coming to you. I ain't the Angel Gabriel; I don't see in his heart, so I give him the credit of doing it so's to do the fair thing all right. But, oh shoot! That's the best policy. Nothing like being frank."

"That's so," said Piccolo, and replaced the atlas on its shelf. (To be continued)
