Torontonians Who Shoot With the Rifle .

The Maple Leaf Hunting Club have located at Fry's Camp, above Seguin Falls, for many years. This fall they bagged fifteen deer, the heaviest weighing 300 pounds, another 265 pounds, and the lot averaging over 200 pounds. They were out two weeks. The accompanying illustration explains itself.

KING DODDS FLAILS MARTER.

A Conservative on the Result of the London Election.

Ex. Alb. E. Kixo Donos, the able ed itor of the Sportsman, scarifies things in general over the London election, in even

Only a man so saturated with partizan bigotry as to be willfully blind can be surprised at the defeat of the Conservative candidate in London on Tuesday last. Mr. Essery's election last January mayor of the western city was a stain up-on the intelligence of the citizens and if presentative in the Legislature after ten-months' experience of him as their chief months' experience of him as their chief magistrate they would have proved them selves unfit to exercise the highest privi

Mr. Essery in January last defeated a better man than himself by his disgrace-ful appeals to religious bigorry. Know-ing the Protestant electors of London far outnumbered their Roman Catholic fellow citizens, he by every art in his power aroused the passions of the less intelligent of the protestant electorate and was borne of the protestant electorate and was some on the wave of fanaticism he had created on the wave of fanaticism. It is cause for into the Mayor's chair. It is cause for congratulation that such furious outbursts telligence of our people may for a time be clouded by passion, but a soher second are even more ready to crucify he bigot than to crown him. Such has been the fate of Mayor Essery, his championship of Mr. Meredith's cause in the late general election nearly cost the opposition leader his seat, and a majority that according to nts seat, and a majority that according to the judgment of the best posted men in London ought to have been between four and five hundred was reduced to 137, largely through the wild harangues of this furious demagogue.

Heavy though the load was that the Conservative party had to carry in such a conservative party had to early it such a candidate the burden was increased when they imported Mr. Marter, the opposition leader, into the campaign. The torch of religious intolerance had been held aloft by the candidate and his leader appeared London were the sorriest political deliver ances that ever issued from the mouth of a member of the Legislature, much less from one who for the time being at any from one who for the time being at any rate, poses as a political leader. It was the veriest twaddle ever heard outside the circle of a country debating club, and no wonder that those who listened to it mar-velled that such a man should pose as a leader of anything more pretentious than a tea party.

The large majority gained by Mr. Marter in North Toronto no doubt influenced outsiders to the opinion that he was an able politician; the real truth is that the man opposed to him was, if possible, a bigger crank than himself, and the electchose what they considered at the time to be the lesser evil of the two. Had he have remained away from London it might have been possible for the Conservatives up there to claim that an able man had been selected to fill Mr. Meredith's position, but it was not possible to make them believe any such story after they had lis-tened to his small talk. The descent tened to his small talk. The descent from William Ralph Meredith to Marter from William Raiph Mercanian mind is too unfathomable for the common mind to grapple with, and those electors of London who heard his speeches in favor of Mr. Essery must have been paralyzed with astonishment at such a man being chosen successor to so able a predecessor.

The editor of this paper is known as a taunch Conservative all over Canada, but servative support given to his opponent. Mr. Marter may in the scrength of his own conceit imagine himself a sounder own concert imagine hunself a sounder Protestant than those who proclaim their faith in less public places than in the mar-ket squares and on the house tops, but the severe rebuke administered to him by this dulged in. Again, his declaration on the Prohibition question was such a bigoted one that fair minded people resented it. He is one of the temperause by Act of Parliament advocates, who believe in passing such legislation without a cent of ists of that character the electors have very little use. Mr. Marter's personal very little use. Mr. Marcot opinions on any public question are not of any moment, but what he says in his of the logarity, as leader of the Conservative party in the Ontario Legislature him such a scathing rebuke. parish politics of Muskoka, in which school he was educated, won't do in the school he was educated, work to in the broader arena of provincial legislation, and we much fear Mr. Marter wasn't caught young enough to make him a broad and liberal minded citizen.

> FRONT OR SIDE DOOR.

Which Shall the People of New York use on Sunday.

The agitation in New York in favor of opening the barrooms for certain hours on Sunday has been taken up by the New York Herald, which is printing pages of interviews with leading men on both sides of the question. The concensus of opinion so far obtained is certainly in favor of doing away with Sunday closing. New York has tried it and it has failed. Sensibly the people say, if you cannot enforce a law do away with it and try something else. Here is what the Herald says editorally :

Next to the municipal reform measures that will come up at Albany in January no question of greater interest and imporclaim the attention of the Legislature than that touching the Excise law in its application to Sunday.

The existing law requires all saloons to be closed on that day, and makes the sale of any kind of liquor in them a criminal But as everybody knows this law has never been enforced except in a sporadic way, and except in that way probably never will be enforced. It has not been enforced because its enforce ment has not been demanded by popular sentiment. Its very existence on the statute book has but served as a weapon for police blackmail and political intimida-

Whether the custom now general in spite of the law can be recognized by the Legislature and made lawful with advantage to the community; whether, in other words, the opening of saloons on Sunday words, the opening or saloons on Sunday under proper restrictions is desirable or undesirable, is a problem on which opin-ions will naturally differ. On this question the Herald gives on another page

this morning some interesting views in addition to those presented yesterday.

There are those in the community who will take a strict or puritanical view of Sunday," an innovation from which no good and only evil can come. They will will view the matter in a more liberal light. They will concede the greatest individual freedom consistent with the public goest and the rights of all. They will held that a law which is a dead letter because it is not supported by popular sentiment may be safely medified or repealed; that a custom which has been community or infringement of the rights on Sunday may be permitted with safety

This we must say is the more sensible as well as more liberal view. It is to be remembered that New York is not a puriconcenhered that New York is not a pury nanical town of the past century, but a cosmopolitan metropolis of a liberal and progressive age. Its teeming population is made up of all nationalities, of people from every clime. It embraces hundreds of thousands of German citizens and critis a day of innocent enjoyment and re-creation, and the beer hall, with its music and other attractions, a family resort. There they enjoy themselves without disrder or intemperance, without interfer and even the working man who remains at home has come to regard beer or light wine

Of course Sunday opening is not to be encouraged except under restrictions that will be a guaranty against any abuse of general neensing of rum stops or tolera-tion of disorder or intemperance is not to be countenanced. The right to keep open should be limited to certain hours and granted by special license only to places which will not abuse the privilege and on conditions which will require the business to be conducted in a quiet, or derly way and without interfering with the usual observance of the day.

This is done with advantage in many cities of Europe, and it can be done with advantage here. Properly restricted there is no more objection to it in the estimation of a majority of citizens than there is Sunday excursions during the sur If we are not mistaken, favored the step during his term of office, and Mayor Strong may well favor it when

THE FREE LUNCH QUESTION.

The movement among the saloon-keep ers of Minneapolis to abolish the freelunch counter, and set aside at least a portion of the cost of it for the relief of the unemployed during the coming win-ter, is a capital idea. The free lunch is an unmitigated nuisance. Like most, if not all, other schemes for buying business, it is based on a false principle Custom which has to be bribed is seldom worth having. As a mere matter of busi-ness, it may be doubted whether the free lunch inducement helps trade at all. ple who are going to buy something te drink buy it anyhow. This is the way the matter, looks from a scrictly business standpoint The aggregate cost of the free lunch counters in a city foots up a surprising amount; and it is estimated that several thousand dollars might be contributed to the support of the unemployed if they were abolished. It is something worth considering in other cities,—Fair Play.

SOUND WORDS.

The Rev. George Clarke Cox on Wine and Prohibition.

Os Sunday, Nov. 18, the Rev. George Clarke Cox, eector of St. Paul's Church, Poughkeepsie, preached a sermon in which he defended the use of wine by clergymen, and characterized many of the stock arguments of advocates of Prohibi-tion as "lies." He said that so long as we have the example of our Saviour using wine, which has never been claimed to have been not intoxicating, we must acknowledge that the problem before us is how to use and not abuse it.

The total abstinence societies," said the Rev. Mr. Cox, "have done a great deal of good, but it is sometimes for that temperance people go as far as to say that the use of intoxicating drink is not compatible with a Christian life. When they have said this they have lied; uttered a deliberate lie, they have this is not and never has been true There are objections to Prohibition other than failure, if it has failed. One of them is in having made Prohibibition a political issue instead of a moral issue. I think it takes away from man the liberty of action to stand up and do as God directs him—the liberty which will not be shackled with laws unless those laws be accord with God's laws. So long as Prohibition does this, or attempts to do it, it must fail to secure the support of sands upon thousands of people who would give their efforts to the success of a moral issue.

The rector condemned the State control of the liquor traffic as practiced in South Carolina, but commended the Scandinavian system and advocated its adoption here.

"Dr. Holmes said," continued the Rev. Mr. Cox, "'Why should I shave my head because some other man has water on the brain?' Why should we abstain from wine because somebody foolish enough, wicked enough, and reckless enough to get drunk? The saying has been sent abroad that the Christia minister who drinks wine is as bad as the drunkard. This has been said in this city, I venture to say, a hundred times in It is not true, and to say it is a eat wrong which greatly injures the

TO SUPPRESS LEAGUES.

THE movement in the city of Montreal btain legislation suppressing leagues med for certain purposes, to which we red some months ago, has taken tical shape in the form of a petition he legislature. The petition was sent ast week and reads as follows :-

His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor to the Honorable the Legislative Coun cil, and to the Honorable the Legis-lative Assembly of the Province of he undersigned respectfully submit : at they are citizens of the Pro-e and especially of the city of Mont-they carefully follow the legislative by the Quebec Parliament at they approve every legal and reaeffort made with an intention to ocial reforms, but they think it duty to protest against the extreme compelled by those who show uch zeal in connection with these our petitioners consider dange public peace, contrary to the welfare, and hurtful to business nce and operation of certain as composed in most part of secideas do not of their fellows, and who, in despair ng the triumph of their apinions and the ordinary means, themselves into bodies, which nize themselves into groups of character, and assume the preof guardians of the public s, as social reformers, or as apostles rganizations are generally comunknown people, without any worth, moral influence, or repuwho are incapable of obtainthem to disseminate their nd principles (if these can be qual ch names) in the councils of the vertheless these men are conheard crying out in the most that they alone are the reable of making the greatn ty, and the happiness of the if one believes their acts and rated claims, they aim at noan to constitute a new power to be the only one always order about as if they were catening if need be like new drive from the temples the heir narrow fanaticism.

dition to these associations dthy and dangerous for the other groups of people with still worse in- | first, beyond question, arrogate to themus, who under the name of Protest ant Protective & ssociation or other name which they change if need be, aim at no thing less than to destroy in a near future the harmony and the good understanding which ought ') exist between the different subjects of Her Majesty in this country if they are not stopped immediately in neir bad and criminal projects.

That the said Protestant Protective As ociation have been born and to en root in the religion and national fanaticism of too great a number of our fellow citizens sister Province has extended its branches into our Province of One where it has thirteen lodges and threaten to extend further with its pernicious trines which, the thing is well known. in refusing to certain subjects of Her Majesty equality before the law and continuation of the rights and privileges which have been assured to them by treaties and by the constitution.

That it is a matter of public notoriety that the warmest and most zealous followers of this fanaticism imported from another Province belongs for the most part to al liances and the other groups of the same kind of which mention has already been made and that both work for the same end and with the same tendencies : their aim principally being to boycott all those who do not think as they do or walk as they walk.

That the undersigned citizens and el ectors of Montreal are for the most part in business, wholesale and retail, in the principal parts of the city and are in a position to know well the danger to which the acts of these different associations expose the public peace by creating clashing between citizens of different origin and re ligious beliefs and consequently a contin-ual uneasiness in the midst of them and that alarmed by this state of things and losing the security in which they ually live by the confidence which they repose in those who are charged to safe uard their rights and to watch over their interests they request earnestly the legis-lature of the Province of Quebec as far as its power lies, to adopt a law necessary to put a check on the invasions of this dangerous fanaticism and to make vestige of it disappear from the midst of our people otherwise so submissive and so respectful for the rights of each and every

The promoters of the petition allege that the movement is not in ded be cause Catholics are threate i, which we can well believe, but be e rancor and discord are fostered by the associations referred to. Active support and countenance are being given by high clerical and judicial authorities, the peti tions are printed in both French and English, and are being largely signed by both nationalities, many Protestant names being attached.

We confess to being surprised and somewhat disgusted at this move. When it was proposed some months ago we expressed decided disapproval, and now that it is under way we must again take the same course. The societies aimed at are undoubtedly the Dominion Alliance, the Citizen's League, and the P.P.A No doubt two of these associations are in a great part composed of noisy, clamorous busybodies, insignificant individually and in numbers, but disturbing because of their blatant demagoguery. The P.P.A. is certainly, outside of Rev. Mr. Madill and one or two others, not noisy, though we believe its doctrines pernicious in the selves the possession of all good morals and the guardianship of the public; they are truly bigots of almost intolerable fanaticism, having no respect for the rights of the citizen, no toleration for opposin, beliefs, no conscience where the laws of God or the laws of Freedom clash with their iron-bound intolerance. In fact with the preamble of the petition, except in where it recites that the Protestant Protective Association is born in the religious fanaticism of this Province, we can heartily agree. And we can understand too the exasperation in Montreal that has led to this petition. Ninty-nine one-hundredths of the residents of that great commercial metropolis are sober, law-abiding citizens, who attend strictly to their several avocations, take their pleasures in moderation, believe in the largest possible amount of freedom consistent with the public good, worship at their several churches and in their several ways in peace and quietness, so far as they are allowed, and willing to extend to others a toleration which they desire for themselves. The other or hundredth are divided into two classes. those who break the laws of the country through criminal instinct or moral weak ness, and those who break the laws of decency by reason of their pernicious bigotry and fanaticism. We can says the Montreder, protect ourselves from the first, but how are we to deal with the second, which is by far the most troublesome and the most senacing to the public peace. And a is in the attempt to deal with the second in the same way that the first is now dealt with that this petition has arisen. But it is wrong. The method is wrong and its result if adopted will be failure, because it is in opposition to a deep underlying natural principal—that of the freedom of the subject. You cannot make that a crime which is not a crime in fact. You cannot declare by fiat of the Legis lature, or by any power that can be given to any governing body, that to be a crime which is not a crime. The whole history of the world demonstrates this. And when you attempt this, you simply arouse in support of the oppressed a public sentiment that otherwise would probably be against the very thing sought to be suppressed. Why, the failure, the complete absolute failure of Prohibition, is due to this one fact alone that it creates by law a crime where no crime exists, which the people will not recognize as a crime, and which the law itself is not permitted by public sentiment to punish as a crime. Yet this is the very thing the people of Montreal petition now to have done.

It is the inherent right of every citizen to ally himself with other citizens for the furtherance of any object they may have in view, providing that object is not treasonable to the constitution. A citizen has just as much right to join the Dominion Alliance as he has to join a church or a singing society. He has as much right to belong to the P.P.A. as he has to a sand peace, encouraged by shich they generally enjoy

When he becomes pestiferous, as he usually does, it is public opinion that must keep him within bounds. You cannot prevent there being thorns, but you can keep away from them, and by proper care keep them where they belong-in the ditches. Any measure of law looking to the suppression of these societies will simply lead to an enlarged growth.

A WHITED SEPULCHRE.

MR. JOHN R. TAIT WAS UD to a week ago the paying teller of the Chemical Bank of New York

He was a leading member of the church, uperintendent of the Sunday school, a rigid teetotaller, a strong advocate of prohibition, and fought and denounced the liquor traffic and all connected with

He was a Sabbatarian of the strictest sort. The Department of Public Works of New York gave employment to two little boys to remove a heap of rubbish from condemned land. In order to get through in time they worked upon a Sunday. Tait had them arrested, although they were so poor they were glad of work at any time

He was a thief and scoundrel of the first water. A week ago he was arrested, and confessed among other things to embezzeling $15.715 of the bank's funds. Now he will go to penitentiary where he should have been long ago.

MOODY'S BOARD BILL.

WHILE Mr. Moody was in Toronto, he, with Mrs. Moody, lived at the Rossin House, which is a compliment to the hotel business-because some of the best private houses in town were open to him worth more than all his diatribes against the trade. Mr. Moody always stops at hotels

The Evangelist was here for three weeks, and his bill at the Rossin was $250. There has been much comment about the same, and many letters have been written and published asking for particulars. We confess to surprise at this. In the first place we cannot conceive that it is anybody's business whether the bill was much or little, and in the second the amount is not out of the way. Mr. Moody and Mrs. Moody were here twenty-four days if we are correct. They would have a bedroom and parlor on the first floor. For this the least they would be charged would be $10 a day, leaving $10 for extras in twentyfour days. If anybody thinks that excessive he knows very little about living in a first class hotel.

I! gling about Mr. Moody's hotel bill is a mighty small business.

"You do not go upon the ice ?" She said, "Why that is queer, When I hear tell of several skates That you've had on this year."

A GENERAL ELECTION.

Will there be an appeal to the country before another session of parliament Hon, L. H. Davies says there will. The London Advertiser has "reliable information" to the same effect. The Toronto World thinks there may, and sundry other persons and papers are of the same opinion. We have been requested for

We opine not. Sir John Thompson who is the deciding party, has not told us his intentions any more than he has art. Hewitt and Gowanlock were not Hon. Mr. Davies or the London Adver-No doubt when he gets back from England he will call us to Ottawa and lay bare the secrets of his bosom for immediate publication, but in the meantime one has to judge by probabilities. And

The revision of the voters' list is now going on. The revising officers have until the 28th day of February next to make their final return. Thereafter the lists will have to be printed, and this what with correspondence, mistakes that will have occurred and have to be rectified, and one thing and another, will take two months. Thereafter a month is required for the issuance of the writs Consequently an election cannot be held on the new lists before the first of June

Sir John will hardly delay a meeting of the House until that date, nor will he be likely to go to the country on the old

WE HAD NO PANIC.

Is another column we reprint in full from Bradstreet's a letter from Mr. C. Cornwell of Buffalo on the causes that saved Canada from the panic that induced such a wide spread ruin in the United States. Mr. Cornwell, the head of a large financial institution speaks with authority, both as a financier and observer. He says that the excellence of our banking system saved Canada from the panic, while the inelasticity of the United States banking system aggravated it in the United States. The letter should be carefully perused by every business man

A deduction to be drawn therefrom is that in Canada capital is plentiful and business confidence will find it investment. The condition of trade relieved from the stress of disaster on the other side of the line, are favorable. All we need to ensure a return of prosperity is confidence and care. No more reckless booms for us but steady business. And we do not want a general election to upset things just now when business is making, even if slowly, towards a normal tone.

NO NINE O'CLOCK CLOSING.

Ox Monday evening the Toronto City Council deal with Ald. Lamb's foolish motion, to refer the question of closing bar rooms at nine o'clock to the people, and dealt with the worthy Alderman at the same time. There was a long discussion. Ald. His Grace of Rochester will go back to England with a heavy heart. Bro. John Cameron, of London, does not approve of him and has said so. However, there are always compensations. Dean Hole's packet will also be heavy.

VERY REV. DEAN HOLE quotes most aptly these lines of Thomas Hood

A man may cry "Church, church!" at every word.
With no more piety than other people:

Because it keeps a-cawing from the steeple.

Mr. A. O. Burkhart, of 84 Bay St., Toronto, has the Canadian copyright for dating slips, the most convenient thing out this season, for the hotel register One dollar, sent to this office or to Mr Burkhart direct will secure a complete set for 1895. If purchased from a United States source there will be an additional cost of 35c, customs duty.

THE Citizen and Home Guard states in its last issue that " merchantile agen cies find that business conducted by moderate drinkers is more precarious and followed by a greater number of failures (than total abstainers), hence rate such firms low as to responsibility." Will our contemporary please give us its authority for that statement ?

Is another column will be found an ar-ticle entitled "A Good Story Spoiled," THE TEMPLAR produces it from the Adcocate that our readers may have the adventage of the facts. It is remarkable vantage of the facts. It is remarkable that "On the St. Clair" could have fall en into such an error. Our knowledge of the writer assures us that he has not de liberately mis-stated the case, and that he will hasten to undo any wrong he may have inflicted upon Mr. Kribs

Bless you! The man did us no harm. He made a mistake, we are all liable to do that. As to the wrong inflicted in supposing that we were old enough thirty years ago to belong to a temperance lodge, or that we would have done such a thing had we been of proper age, we forgive that in consideration of the fact that it enables us to place an article in the columns of the Templar.

A DESPATCH from Vancouver, B.C. gives particulars of the seizure at that place of a large amount of whiskey owned by J.

was ably dealt with by Ald. Hubbard, of the revenue law. The fact that J. W. Lang & Co. have no whiskey on the Pacific coast and have had none for six the lie but detracts from its usefulness.

BRO BUCHANAN of the Templar says that the London Prohibitionists should be "cursed bitterly" for not electing Essery. Bro, Cameron of the Advertiser thereupon calls Bro, Buchanan "the Hamilton scold," Then Bro, Buchanan accuses Bro. Cameron of having "A hollow laugh." Bro. Cameron reports that Bro. Buchanan is a blatherskite. Go it brethren, the rest of us are having fun.

THE PANIC.

Canadian Bank Conditions Saved Canada From Disaster

CANADIAN BANK CONDITIONS DURING THE PANIC To the Editor of " Bradstreel's.

Sir,—The comprehensive and valuable table of information recently prepared and published in Bradstreet's, showing the condition of the banks of the United States as to loans and deposits in com-parative periods from the beginning of the panic period to September 1, 1894, awakens interest as to the condition of Canada during the same period, inasmu as Canada has more relative similarity to the United States than any other country.

The Bradstreet's report, giving loans and deposits May 1 and September 1893, in the United States, and the figures for Canada, which I have obtained from the government reports, are here-with presented in round numbers to

May 1, 93 ... $1,780,000,000 $175,000,000 Sep., 1, 93 ... 1,425,000,000 170,000,000 $355,000,000 $5,000,000 Dec. 20 0.0 Less than 30.0 United States. Canada.

$1,854,000,000 $227,000,000 1,621,000,000 224,000,000 $233,000,000 $3,000,000 Less than 124 0/0 1 1 3 0/0

As will be seen, during this, the strictly panic period, deposits in the United States pame period, deposits in the United States decreased 20 per cent., while in Canada they decreased less than 3 per cent., and loans in the United States decreased 125 percent., while in Canada they decreased 12 percent, while in Canada they decreased 1 1.3 per cent. The following are the figures for the total period from May 1, 1893, to September 1, 1894, for the United States

EXTRACTS FROM GOVERNMENT RETURNS OF CHARTERED BANKS IN CANADA.

Total Deposits. Total Loans. $226,779,737 923,962,513 923,869,388 918,715,963 May 1, 1893 8175,832,264 September 1, 1893 179,498,322 May 1, 1894 179,403,559 September 1, 1894 182,316,266 BANKS IN THE UNITED STATES, BRADSTREET'S

Total Deposits, Total Loans May 1, 1893 1,790,248,331 81,851,074,291 September 1, 1893 1,425,987,399 1221,092,232 May 1, 1894 1,035,229,357 1,898,392,462

As to the savings banks, while the decrease in the United States during the period was $113,000,000 out of $1,500,000,000 total doposits (or nearly 8 per cent.), the sav-ings banks deposits in Canada have, a near as figures can be obtained, remained stationary or slightly increased.

It seems that, according to the Canadian Year Book, Canada was affected somewhat by the conditions that prevailed in the United States. The four cities of Montreal, Halifax, Toronto and Hamilton show for 1893, a decrease of 3 68 100 per cent. comparing with the figures of 1899 "This percentage," says the Canadan Vear Book, "seems the measure of the effect produced on Canada during 1893 by nancial cyclone which struck the United States 1893 over 1892 5 per cent., while the increased in the United States was 51 per

The things that broke confidence is the United States were, first, fear that the government would not maintain gold payments, and, second, the inelas character of the bank situation, and which 240 banking institutions, whose assets were largely in excess of liabilities were compelled to suspend, although the were perfectly good and afterwards resumed.

Neither of these conditions existed in Canada. The banks and not the government did the legitimate banking business and the currency issued by the banks ha a most perfect elasticity.

The business conditions in Canada has been somewhat similar to our own dura the time under consideration as trade, etc., but with this vital and important difference that she has had This is due to difference in ditions as to currency. Canada's be note circulation, while it increased sh ly, was on June 30, 1893 (perhaps hottest panic date), in round num $33,500,000, and in November, 1 $38,000,000. Banknote circulation limited by the capital of the banks-round numbers $60,000,000 so the Canada had all this time a wide less which was not used.

cate expedient saved the United Star after her fearful panic from collaps The elastic quality of Canad bank currency, the remedy before inste of after disaster, saved Canada from panic itself. If our business men could be made to feel this and to take up in thorogenest the reformation of the current as they did the repeal of the silverp chase clause, we could begin to hope immunity from such dreadful uphear as that of 1893.

NOTES.

So wags the world. What makes a fortune for one man ruins another. Last year the great trotting stallion Directum earned thousands of dollars for Monroe Salisbury, the man who leased him from his owner, Mr. Green, of California; this year he has lost hundreds of dollars for Mr. C. C. Melvor, formerly of Montreal, but now of the Golden State. Mr. Mc-Ivor agreed to pay Mr. Green $5,000 for the horse for a year, to defray all expenses and to give Orrin A. Hickok, whom he engaged as trainer and driver, 25 per cent. of the gross receipts. During the whole season the horse made $7,000, of which Hickok received $1,750, $5,000 went to Mr. Green, and the balance, along with $1,700 added, in expenses. Fortunately Mr. McIvor is a rich man and will not feel the loss to any great extent, but he is grievously disappointed over the disaster that has attended his venture. Had it turned out differently he had intended to go in for breeding and racing on a somewhat extended scale. Mr. McIvor. readers of The Advocate will be interested in knowing, owns the Linda Vista vineyards at Mission San Jose, and the wines produced by him are widely cele brated. No frosts occur at Linda Vista to blight the vine, and there is no rain during the ripening season to decay the fruit. The exposure of the western slopes of Mission Peak is such that the dew forming on the grapes during the night has time to evaporate before the morning sun shines on the fruit to blister it. Joaquin Miller gives his impressions of the little pueblo of Mission San Jose as he first knew it and now : " As we drove up between the dove-grey trees, dove-grey, as if the dove and the olive had kept companionship in some sort ever since the day that Nosh put forth his hand from the Ark, the same soft winds came down to welcome me. More than thirty years had gone, and I, a gray, worn man now, but the same sweet musky smell of mother earth, the same sweet kiss of welcome and I was, for a minute at least, young and strong and glorious as of old. Right and left and far away rolled the hills of gold and flame. The herds, the horses, their picturesque riders clad in red, the waving yellow fields of wild oats-all, all all gone! and in their places only this line and lane of gray and solemn olive trees cleaving its way through a billowy, burning sea of wine grapes. After a mile or so of this red sea, and the soft, sweet air all the time like a benediction of the dead and departed Jesuit Fathers, we dashed through the Alameda of cypress suddenly into the golden garden of Linda Vista. Oranges, lemons, dates and palms, and there sure enough stood the banana waving his broad leaves, fearless of frosts even on Christmas eve.

This strikes us as offering a pretty dismal lookout for horse owners in the East ern States. The prospects of Hamilton and Windsor getting into the Grand Circuit are greatly improved by this state of affairs, in which case trotting will boom more than ever at those two places. But what Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston, Guelph, Woodstock, Quebec, and other racing centres will do has not yet been determined. They will all doubtless put their best feet forward, and we should advise them to set about making arrangements as soon as possible. There is no thing like taking time by the forelock in these matters. There is some talk about building a new track just outside the limits of the city of Toronto and of having five or six weeks' racing during the year, both running and trotting being included Whether the project which we know is on foot will ultimately come to anything cannot at present be said, but we would strongly advise racing promoters in these parts to be careful what they do, for assuredly any abuse of the present provisions of the law as regards betting on chartered race courses will lead to their repeal and to all forms of wagering being strictly prohibited anywhere and everywhere under heavy penalties.

NECESSITY is not only the mother of invention but of the latter's twin brother, discovery. McKinley forced Canadians to go further afoot for markets for their produce. Hard times and a depression in prices have caused the American breeder to seek in Europe a market for the trotting horse. Up to date his quest has resulted most satisfactorily, for more light harness horses and of better value have been shipped over the seas this year than in any previous year. This is not only true as regards the United States, but also as regards Canada, for numerous shipments have been made on Canadian account and have turned out well. Recently King Humberto, of Italy, noticed a span of American-bred trotters being driven through the streets of Rome. He was so much taken by them that he caused inquiries to be made as to their origin, the upshot being an mighty little racing next year in New order for five high-class trotting stallions and Auglo-Arabs. This is a mighty good is now located in the Grand Duchy of Baden, Germany, reports an ever-increasing demand for good stock. He says that prices are remunerative, and that dealers can depend upon retaining the market providing they act squarely. Dan McPhee, another Toronto trotting horseman who has settled in Europe, makes the same report as regards Austria. Russia also has made a number of importations recently, while at a late sale in London, England, a lot of eleven good roadsters averaged $650 a piece. If this kind of thing lasts the breeding of trotting stock will continue to be lucrative, always providing that the industry is pursued on intelligent and appreciative lines. The days of grubs have gone. Horses now-a-days must be smart in looks, smart in action and generally wellbehaved, or the most paying place for them will prove to be the knacker's yard.

That it pays to own a good sire and then properly advertise him, says a contemporary, is evidenced by the fact that Ambassador, with all his reputation for soft-heartedness, carned for the Kalamazoo Farm $212,000 in service fees. He got some good race horses, too. By the way, the story goes that he was bought at the recent sale in New York for S. A. Browne, one of his previous owners.

THIRTY years ago the 2.30 list could asily have been crowded into half a column of THE ADVOCATE. This year the new comers alone number 2,300, which would take, with sires and records, wenty-three columns at least to set forth. This means that the living standard performers to-day are fully three hundred times as numerous as they were in 1864. Here is a list of the leading trotting sires of the year, judged by the number of new-comers, the reduced records of their get, and the produce of their daughters of standard speed, for the season. It is confined to those whose total amounts to fifteen or over :

The Argentine republic appears to be quite a place for the thoroughbred. Between January 1st, 1880, and December 31st, 1893, no less than 686 imported thoroughbred mares were entered in the stud book published at Buenos Ayres, besides 161 thoroughbred mares foaled in the country; 463 imported stallions, and three foaled in the country were entered in this time, besides eleven pure Arabs

THERE is yet a possibility that a Canadian cricketing team will visit Great Britain it 1895. Everything depends upon the financial arrangements that can be made. Although no more delightful way of "doing" the old country could be dreamt of than as a member of a band of twelve or thirteeen good fellows, it is hard to get a fairly representative team of Canadian cricketers together to make the trip. One would have thought that any man would be willing to subscribe so much weekly to a common fund until a sufficient sum had been collected to see the venture through , but, no, the gentlemen want a good time, everything paid, and to have a trifle over if possible when the excursion terminates. want is all right if it can be supplied, but we very much doubt if it will be. Under the best circumstances the trip can be nothing but a jaunt; it may improve the play of the team and thus, in a way, ultimately benefit cricket in this country, but still the undertaking is of that order that the members of a team should be willing to meet all deficiencies themselves. Failing that they should stay at home. This handing round the hat for the collection of the funds wherewith to send gentlemen abroad to accomplish nothing is played out. When we have an eleven capable of reflecting credit on the country in the playing fields of Eagland it will be time enough to think of sending one. Just now diligent practice at home would be more beneficial.

THE news came to hand on Tuesday that the members of the Concy Island Jockey Club had resolved to go through with their fixed events if they were not illegal, even at a loss to themselves. If, however, the lawyers now considering the subject declared that stake races were prohibited by the recently adopted antigambling constitutional amendment there would be no racing, and those nation events, the Suburban Handic p and the Futurity, would have perforce to go by the board. Whatever the Saratoga Brighton Beach and Brooklyn Associations may do the Coney Island J. C. has determined to stand by the law. It looks to us as if the electorate of New York State have made the gravest pos sible mistake in voting for the amend ment. Racing bids fair to pass out a the hands of respectable people into the tender protection of scalawags prepared to fight the law and to accept the cons quences of their misdoings.

FAST CYCLING IN NEW YORK.

A WEEK OF GREAT SPORT AT MAD-ISON SQUARE GARDEN.

The greatest cycling tournament ever held in America was that at the Madison Square Gardens last week. The contest opened on Wednesday.

The gates of the Garden were thrown open in the afternoon and trial heats were decided until dusk. The formal inauguration of the tournament took place in the evening. The champions of England, Italy, France and America, handsomely costumed and carrying the flags of their respective countries, while the band was The champions of England. respective countries, while the band was playing appropriate airs, encircled the track, and the cheers of the audience, al-though quite large, and certainly appre-ciative, made the strangers feel that they had, indeed, fallen among friends. When Zimmerman shot around as the champion of the world, but still an American, the boys drowned the band with their applause and were sure that there are other wheelmen like bim. At that time Zimmerman had already one fall to his credit, received in the afternoon, and his face was bruised and scratched. been unfortunate in the trials of the one mile professional contest, but nothing serious had happened, and he was the same smiling Jersey boy as when he was an amateur, but truth must be said that his splendid physical condition, which he had when he went abroad, is now seemingly lacking, though he assures all his friends that he is in perfect health.

MANY LADIES AND MANY FALLS.

The evening programme brought to the Gardens hundreds of ladies, and they en joyed the contests as well as the men and The mile novice, class A, showed many carnest amateurs, and, while the tussles were spirited, there were falls on the Twenty seventh and Fourth avenue corner that would have broken the bones of the unfortunates, as it did their wheels, if they had not been in excellent shape Frank Fisher, of the Falcon Wheelmen fell and was run over by two others, and when lifted into the press enclosure he was in a bad way. Inquiry of some of the officials established the fact that every accident up to that time had taken place at that part of the track, which led to the belief that there was some mechanical defect in its construction there, and that it should be remedied before it is too

The international cycle tournament at Madison Square Garden did not show Madison Square Garden did not show any greater drawing power last evening than on the opening night, the attendance being about the same. But the crowd made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers, applauding the exciting finishes in the several races heartily. He has been ailing since his arrival, and although advised not to race, insisted on competing The folly of his action was shown ten mile race for professionals, when the poor fellow collapsed completely after riding a mile and a half. Third Day.

A DECISION BY THE REFEREE SOUNDLY HISSEL

There was some good sport, and some that wasn't so good. There were some pretty finishes, some fast time and some tiresome contests. "Charlie" Murphy smashed a record, and he did some very clever pedalling when he did so. Apropos of time, one gentleman who kept "tab" was constantly getting his time slower than that of the official timers, so he concluded that either he or the timers were wrong, and, moreover, he was quite sure, he said, that it wasn't he.

The foreign exponents of the art of bicycling were in evidence in the professional events, finishing in front several times. Verheyen and Columbo did good

PRIAL'S UNPOPULAR RULING.

In the final heat of the two mile pro-fessional race Referee Prial made a de-cision which will make him unpopular with the cycling public for some time to come. Verheyen, the German, beat "Harry" Wheeler fairly and squarely in a close finish. It was a popular win, and Verheyen was loudly cheered. Ver-heyen, however, had been looking back during the race, and for this the referee disqualified him and gave Wheeler first place—this, too in the face of protests by the other competitors, who didn't want Verheyen disqualified. In the second heat of the same race, when Wheeler beat Edwards, the former was constantly looking behind him, but that, of course was different, and Mr. Prial took no action. The queer ruling was hissed and hooted for several minutes. The two Butlers, "Nat" and "Tom," rode splendidly, and their earnest efforts were a pleasing contrast to the listless riding of some of the alleged cracks. The so-called press quarters, at the east end of the Garden, was, as usual, the rendezvous of a noisy crowd of "heelers," rendezvous of a noisy crowd of "heelers," passed him. The Jerseyman was never trainers, hangers-on and what not, who headed after this, and won by three parts

WHEELER REATS ZIMMERMAN IN THE FIVE MILE PROPESSIONAL.

Almost every race was marked by a sensational finish. The most exciting event of the programme was the five mile safety race for professionals, in which Wheeler and Zimmerman fought it out between them. He appeared to have the race at his mercy until two laps from the finish, mercy until two laps from the finish, when Wheeler challenged and passed when Wheeler challenged and pissed him Zimmerman tried hard to overtake the flying Wheeler, but he could not quite make up the distance between them, and Wheeler won by six inches. It was my fortune to see him pitch his first game for "the Gray's." He joined them in Cincinnati. and went into the box against the team which finished second in the League player that year. If ever a new League player looked like a "kid," Ward did on that day. The old players started in to guy him. Especially was this the case with him. Especially

He remained a "Giant" till and including 1889, helping to bring the championship twice to the metropolis Then came the Brotherhood revolt, o which he was the chief and leader, Had it not been for Ward's diplomatic lead that forlorn hope would have gone to pieces before it really did. It was his pet scheme, and its failure was a very bit-ter blow for him to bear. Now, as he reter blow for him to bear. Now, as he re-tires from the profession, he manfully acknowledges that his course in 1890 was not for the best interests of baseball.

THE NEW CAPTAIN.

George Davis will captain next year's team. The selection is a popular one. Davis has won his way to the hearts of New York rooters, and among the mem-New York rooters, and among the atembers of the team he has nothing but friends. There can be no doubt about his personal qualifications. His professional capacity as a captain remains to be tested. The withdrawal of Ward from the nine leaves a vacancy which will be hard to fill. That truth might as well be faced. While he was not a brilliant second baseman, he played the position above the average, and good second basemen are almost ar rare as Roc eggs. Brooklyn needs one Washington is experimenting. Louis ville is not sure that it has a man for the position. Chicago, with its great general, has been raking the fields and beating the woods in search of anartist for that place Second basemen who can win applause de not drug the baseball market.

Baltimore has two—Bonner and the sharla committees reducing the num-ber of licenses in the district by not less

But the greatest stroke of policy by the club in this particular instance would be the securing of McPhee. He is the prince of second basemen, and I barnone. "PUT HIM IN THE BILL!"

The eccentric Lord Glasgow, who raced collaboration with the late George Payne, had the very tartar or a temper, which caused all who knew him to play delicately with his lordship, and stroke him always the right way if they possibly could. But a person who did not know him very easily got the nobleman's rag out and raised his dander; then there was out and raised in dame. On one occasion, while staying at the Black Duck Hotel, York, for the spring meeting, he ordered a waiter, in his customary gruff manner, to perform some function which the knight of the napkin did not relish, and, in an unlucky moment, addressed to any rate, Lord Glasgow considered it as such. In the twinkling of an eye the noble lord had pitched the waiter clean out of the window. It might have been a serious matter for the man, had he not managed in his passage through the air to catch hold of the fictitious bird which served as a sign to the hostelry, and so brok his fall. Next morning, when the brok his fall. Aext morning with landlord remonstrated rather seriously with his lordship upon his conduct, the eccentric turfite gruffly replied, "Oh, put the — fellow in the bill!"

The Bill in question contains 225 clauses, and the prevailing opinion in the colony appears to be that it is not in tended to pass it this Session.
