ARREST AT GALT THROWS LIGHT ON TRAGEDY

In Gerrard's Possession Was Watch Which Bruce Had on Day of Disappearance—Other Men Are Under Surveillance and Arrests May Follow Inquest Tonight.

GALT, June 15.—(Special.)—Melvin alias "Coon" Gerrard, was arrested last night in connection with the mysterious death of James Bruce, the farm-hand, whose body was found floating in the Grand River on Thursday. In his possession was a silver watch, which was identified as that carried by Bruce on his trip from the farm to Galt to attend the horse show. This was on Saturday, 7th, the last day of the show, and the last time the unfortunate man was seen alive.

Questioned as to where he got the dead man's timepiece, Gerrard told the police a story to the effect that he didn't claim it as his own, but was keeping it for another man. As yet Chief Gorman can obtain but little from him to throw light on the affair. Other arrests are pending, but action will depend to some extent on the proceedings before the coroner, which will be resumed tomorrow evening. Several men are under surveillance and due precautions have been taken to prevent any flitting.

THE BULL IN A CHINA SHOP HAD NOTHING ON THIS COW

Animal Got Into Flower Beds at Kendal Park, Tossed a Policeman, Chased Its Owners and Had to Be Taken Back to Its Stable in an Ambulance.

The bull in the china shop stunt was repeated by a cow in a park yesterday morning. This was no ordinary cow, except for general appearance. Bawling her contempt at the world, she galloped into Kendal Park, a small breathing place at the head of Brunswick avenue, and there disturbed the peace and quiet of the Sabbath morn. Besides this she decidedly disturbed the park police force, a civilian who was helping the officer, and a woman who was watching the two men trying to put a rope around the animal's neck. All three were flung to one side when the cow was being "co-bossed" into submitting to law and order. Several hundred people were treated to an exciting exhibition of mavericks not exactly becoming to a cow.

WARD SEVEN FIREMEN GET BOWLS FROM SAMUEL MAY THRU THE WORLD

Editor World: In this morning's paper we notice an article asking for some good philanthropist to present the firemen of Ward 7 with a set of bowling balls to pass away the tedious hours which they often have to spend when their services are not required. We do not wish to claim honors as philanthropists, but we certainly appreciate the work our fire fighters have done for ourselves and the city of Toronto, and if you will put us in touch with the station, we will be very pleased indeed to supply them with the best "bowls" that we manufacture, including the necessary "jacks," as a slight expression of our appreciation of the fire brigade's services. Yours very truly, SAMUEL MAY & CO., Per L. E. Rice, Manager. Toronto, June 14.

NURSERY CONDUCTED BY Elinor Murray

There has been so much written for the guidance of mothers, so many lectures delivered that it sometimes seems unnecessary to repeat the truths of hygiene. Unfortunately, tho, while many may read and hear, few, far too few, heed the advice.

Those of us who have become habituated to the open window can hardly realize that less than half the population of this city have acquired the fresh air habit. Fresh air is given us deliberately shut out of our homes and seek a health-preserving substitute in drugs. Strange as it may seem, the closed window is not confined to the homes of the poor and uneducated. Many helpless children of wealth are air-starved in magnificent homes.

Once more I shall tell you how I think babies should be treated with fresh air.

If the little one has been accustomed to close and heated rooms gradually get him used to a lower temperature. You will readily understand that a fresh air bath, given in a room where there will be very sufficient to cold and drafts.

Arrange for perfect ventilation during sleeping hours, and have out-door protected position. It is essential, however, that every precaution be taken, plenty of light-weight, but warm clothing must be used when the temperature of this balmy June makes it necessary—and the care must be taken during weather of the opposite extreme that the baby shall be protected from a scorching sun or intense light.

At night the bed should be protected by screens. Always give children a room with a southern exposure if it is at all possible. A south window may generally be opened in winter, less danger of the cold, penetrating winds.

I cannot emphasize too strongly that the child must sleep warm. Adequate ventilation is imperative, but the best of the body must not be lowered.

Miss Haswell Will Give "Sham" at Alexandra This Week.

Tonight and for the balance of the week, Miss Haswell will present at the Alexandra Theatre the charming comedy, "Sham." This play will be best remembered as having been produced here some years ago by Miss Henrietta Croxman, after having scored an unmistakable triumph in New York during her six months' run at the Wallack's Theatre. Tho "Sham" is a society comedy and flings many a satirical shaft against those who stoop to delect and subterfuge to maintain their positions, New York society enjoyed the piece immensely. There is no sting in the occasional flashes of satire in "Sham." The play is a comedy, and Miss Haswell, in the role of Katherine Van Riper, the little social hump, is simply irresistible. All her exuberance, freshness and charm find expression in this play. The same capable company will be in support of Miss Haswell.

Miss Feldman at the Star.

An extra attraction for next week, the musical drama, "The Star Theatre," have been successful in securing Miss Sadie Feldman, the Toronto girl formerly with the Star Theatre, and well known in the musical comedy world. She has been booked for a high-class production next season, and the management are to be complimented on securing her services before she leaves for her rehearsals in New York.

"Quo Vadis" at the Princess.

The conflict of pagans and Christians, described in Henryk Sienkiewicz's romance of the last days of Rome's most tyrannical ruler, Nero, and entitled "Quo Vadis," and which is vividly projected by the Kleine-Cines Photo-Drama Company, and being booked by the photo-drama, "Quo Vadis," will be seen in Canada, for the first time when it will be presented by George Klein at the Princess Theatre, after noon and evening, at popular prices.

Howe Festival, now at the Grand, is well merited, because it affords not only a most interesting and amusing, but a life alike for young and old. It is noteworthy not merely for the human interest and dignity of the subject matter, but equally so for the photographic quality and realism of presentation that characterizes every scene. It is not too much to say that only by means of such an exhibition can the great majority who are unable to experience the joys of travel realize the pleasures and reap the advantages that are denied to those who are unable to travel and contact with nations whose habits and customs are so widely different from ours. Indeed, it is so fascinating that it affords an opportunity to the masses of cultured men and women witness every new program presented by Mr. Howe, as it is a sort of camera insurance for the whole world is visible—a veritable modern Olympus.—Commencing Monday afternoon, an entirely new program will be presented to the public, which will feature what are reproductions of the scenic grandeur of the Alps.

ST. MARY'S, June 15.—(Special.)—The public library has been undergoing extensive alterations for the past two weeks, a special staff being engaged in cataloging the books, by the Dewey Method of Classification.

At the residence of Wm. Dellow, brother of the bride, Centenary, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at noon on Tuesday, June 11, when Miss Dellow and James Craigie were married. The bride was attended by her sister, Lottie, while James Dellow, the noted St. Mary's athlete, supported the groom. The happy couple will take up residence in St. Mary's, where the groom occupies a responsible and lucrative position with the St. Mary's Cement Company. The name Dellow has become widely known, because of the achievements of Jimmie and his senior brother, Will, who has been his trainer. A large circle of friends will join in hearty good wishes to the young couple.

Wednesday of next week will see the opening game of the season in St. Mary's, when the locals line up against the London team in the district house.

The London team recently beat Bradford, and the contest here on Wednesday of next week, should prove the most exciting ever witnessed on the flats.

Civic Holiday will likely be observed in St. Mary's on the first Monday in August.

Mr. C. E. Treacy of Chicago is holidaying at his home here.

Mr. Egerton Red of Blanshard was married to Ada, youngest daughter of Mrs. E. Kennedy.

UNUSUAL ANIMALS REACH RACE TRACK

Dufferin Park Claimed Sunday Morning by Circus Cavalcade.

BIG CROWDS LOOKED ON

Little to See Yesterday But Much Is Promised For Performance.

Parade—Leave Dufferin Park today 9 a.m. precisely, to Brock, to Colgate, to Spadina to Queen, to St. George, to Jarvis, to Jarvis to Bloor, thence to Dufferin Park.

Westenders on the way to church yesterday morning had company. The escort was a long trail of gorgeously gilded wagons, stout tight, and some plain ordinary lorries with people aboard in quite ordinary clothes. The church-goers didn't have company all the way, for the line filed into Dufferin race track, tho it alured, it is rumored, several boys whose hair was neatly combed and whose ties were stiffly tied from the straight path of duty. But of course, circus have their attractions in getting the necessary tent work done, the operations were carried on quietly and with the usual circus calculations absent.

CANADA'S PROBLEMS MANY AND SERIOUS

Overcrowding Caused by the Rush of Newcomers Is the Gravest.

"Who will own Canada at the end of the century?" was Rev. Dr. Young's question last night before the Toronto Methodist Conference. It was Dr. Young's first sermon as a member of the "Toronto Conference. He has come from Montreal to take the pastorate of Broadway Methodist Tabernacle. It was said by politicians that this was Canada's century, but according to eminent experts who had visited the Dominion, the conditions in the Canadian cities bade fair to become as bad as in the worst cities in Europe. One of the worst features was the overcrowding in Montreal. It was estimated that over a thousand immigrants pouring into Canada every day, speaking a range of 50 languages, the immigration problem was a formidable one for the church to face. The solution of these problems required no new remedy, but called for the application of the principles of the gospel on a greater scale than ever before. There was no reason to be afraid of the outlook with the air surcharged with a spirit of church unity. Standing together the various branches of the church in Canada would be able to overcome the greatest civic and national moral difficulties.

AUSTRALIANS OUT FOR HUGE TOTAL

Montreal Cricketers Secure Nearly Two Hundred Runs in Two Innings.

MONTREAL, June 15.—Australians, first innings 287, second innings 309. Total 596. All-Montreal, first innings 85, second innings 112. Total 197. The All-Montreal cricket team did not succeed in beating the Australian eleven. They got the routable visitors all out in two innings. Goodman's performance of getting ten wickets for 147 runs contributed largely to the strength of the attack and cannot be too highly estimated. He also demonstrated his ability as a batsman and made 116, the most valuable all-round man on the side. It was a fine treat for the onlookers and the skill with which the Australians stroked all round the wicket was a revelation. Crawford contributed a useful score, making some fine hits. His success with the ball was no less great, for he got 6 wickets for 41. The score: First Innings—Australians: 1, E. R. Mayne, c Goodman, b Lane, 11; 2, H. L. Collins, c Hart, b Lane, 11; 3, G. Polo Yankees 4 1/2 England 4

MAKKEE POLO TEAM WINS SECOND GAME BY FRACTION OF A POINT

Enormous Crowd Sees Englishmen Beaten For International Trophy—Rooting Like a Ball Game.

NEW YORK, June 14.—By the narrow margin of one-quarter of one goal the American polo team won the second and deciding game of the international cup between the Meadowbrook Club and the English team at the Meadowbrook Club this afternoon, and thereby retain the trophy for at least another year. The score was 4 1/2 to 4.

The slight advantage of the United States four over England challenged at the end of one hour of the most desperate kind of play is fully indicated by the trifling difference in the scores of the two teams.

The spectacle thrilled the crowd of 25,000 persons under the dignified assemblage was fairly carried away, and rooted like a typical baseball crowd during the final period of play.

The shrill shrieks of the multitude lining the enclosure rose high above the deeper notes of encouragement from their mate across the field.

When finally the thousands realized that England's invasion had gone for naught, there was a rush of enthusiasts from stands to the field, that fairly proclaimed another American victory in an international contest.

Never for a moment did the action lag, and the game was one continuous spectacle of rushes, first in the direction of the American goal, and then toward the goal of the Union Jack. In this sixty-minute melee the English showed a better team attack than the cup-winning team of last year, but played the game to their own advantage, and the forwards eventually cut down the cup-winning individual play that they actually were the cause of the defeat of last team work and won on merit a game which will probably stand for years as a polo thriller.

The English four, on the other hand, benefited by the change which brought F. M. Freake into the game in place of Ned Edwards. The veteran internationalist proved a tower of strength, teaming up with both Captains Cheape and Wilson in a manner which opened the eyes of those who had seen the opening performance of the challengers. Captain Cheape fairly outdid himself with his efforts to win defeat into victory, and both Wilson and Freake played polo strokes, fore and back-hand, that astonished the spectators.

The assemblage was fully in keeping with the play that developed. The list of box-holders and grand stand patrons included hundreds of men and women of standing in both American social and official life. To their names must be added hundreds of names, titles and distinctions assure them of a welcome to the royal courts of England and Continental Europe.

While the English four and their supporters were charged that the challengers should have lost the final game by such a narrow margin, they were frank in expressing their opinion that the better team had won and lauded in their praise of the perfect treatment accorded both sides and on the field. They were, however, far from convinced that the same result would develop in another series and expressed the opinion that an unofficial way that another challenge and series might be expected next year, unless unforeseen obstacles should arise.

The terrific heat undoubtedly bothered both the English players and players and Mr. Freake was temporarily stunned by a mallet blow during the play. He soon recovered, and, his training and readiness from both the blow and the heat, played separately until the end. The mishap to Mr. Freake and the fall of Devereux Milburn from his pony in the seventh period were the only accidents of the game.

The two fouls, one of which was called upon each team, were imposed in accordance with the regulations which state that players shall not cross or charge into each other at right angles because of the danger of a bad fall when this occurs. This rule was not carefully observed by the English players, except in the two cases, both teams, and, his training and readiness from both the blow and the heat, played separately until the end. The mishap to Mr. Freake and the fall of Devereux Milburn from his pony in the seventh period were the only accidents of the game.

T. AND D. LEADERS RETAIN POSITIONS

Amateur Football Teams' Results Do Not Depose Any Leaders—Ties For Second Place.

The games in the T. & D. Saturday saw as usual some very clever football, while several changes in league standing resulted. Sunderlands, the leaders of the senior division, lost to the new challengers, the Hatters, by the score of 5 to 0, and so put themselves in a safe position at the top of the heap. The Thistles and the Overseds, who were tied for second, fought out their tussle tied and nail, but neither could score the winning goal, the game resulting in a draw.

In section two, Simpsons walloped the Hatters by the score of 5 to 0, and retained their lead, and again two teams are tied for second place when Wychwood drew with Sons of Scotland and Devonians from Tri Mus. Two games were played in section three that were not scheduled, but the results will be as follows:

A MAGNIFICENT ASSORTMENT OF MEN'S STRAW HATS IN READINESS

Smart Styles, Comfortable Cushion Bands and Smoothness of Finish Distinctive Features of the Showing

EVERY STRAW HAT IS LIGHT, IN WEIGHT, and is provided with a well-drummed cushion sweatband, a feature that makes the hat stick on the head in windy weather without the continual jamming down annoyance, or the consequent red mark across the forehead. It sticks but does not bind or compress. No greater contribution to comfort in the wearing of a straw hat was ever invented.

Every new shape and style, straw and weave has been gathered here, from the largest straw hat manufacturers of the world, providing a selection that is unique even for the Big Store, and offering such a selection that all men, of all ages, can easily choose one that is becoming and suitable to his personality. Come Tuesday. The hats are displayed where you can easily get at them and try them on until you are satisfied in every particular. Many new styles are shown in the split, sennit, Panama and Bangkok weaves, a few of which are listed below:

At $1.25 we have a Dressy Sailor of English manufacture. This is a smart-looking hat, and is nicely finished with black outside band.

At $1.50 is a similar hat of better straw, with higher crown and narrower rim—a shape that will be popular this season with young men.

At $2.00 we show the world-famous English straws that are Cravenetted, a process which renders them showerproof and causes them to keep their shape and color for a much longer time than the ordinary straw; finished with fine quality trimmings and comfortable fitting leather sweatbands. These are in dressy boater shape, with medium height crowns and modern brims.

Our $2.50 line of Sennit Straws includes smart styles in both English and American makes. One hat of English manufacture has a rather low crown and wide brim, and is beautifully finished with inside lining of brown silk, and has the patent bon-ton ivy sweatband of Morocco leather, which gives perfect ventilation to the head, fits tightly but comfortably.

A Hat of American Manufacture at this popular price is higher in the crown and has narrower brim with thick cable edge. Another American-made hat at $2.50 is in a wide low shape, and has a turned-up pencil edge—another shape that young men will wear largely this season.

At $3.00 is a particularly dressy hat of English manufacture. This is of fine sennit braid with a high crown and fairly narrow brim. It is finished with black silk band, Morocco leather sweatband, and has white silk lining; a hat to please the particular man. All our hats have hat guards attached.

Other Styles of Straw Hats in many different lines, including beautifully-finished smooth split straws of English and American makes, ranging in price from $1.50 to $7.00.

Fine French Hats, of Milan straw, in dressy boater shapes, and priced at $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00.

Soft Pliable Straw Hats, in negligé shapes, with dip fronts, at $1.50 to $3.00.

French and American Bangkok Hats, in boater and telescope shapes; the lightest, coolest hat made, $5.00 and $6.00.

High-Grade Panama Hats, in negligé and telescope shapes, $3.95 to $15.00.

Men's Soft Straw Hats, in fedora shapes, very suitable for elderly men, $1.50 to $3.00.

Guelph Takes Entire Series From Brantford

BRANTFORD, June 15.—Slam's home run in the eighth tied up the game here on Saturday with Guelph, and Pitcher Dorn, off whose delivery the Leafs had gathered 16 hits, asked to stop scoring six runs. Inability to hold the hard-hitting visitors gave Guelph the entire series. Manager Kane left Saturday night on a scouting expedition through the New England League. The Red Sox need two pitchers, an outfielder and an infielder, and the Brantford manager has been instructed to land these men. Score:—

PANICMAKERS ARE PUT TO ROUT BY PRESIDENT'S QUICK DECISION

Big Money Interests Which Have Been Busily Sowing Seeds of Alarm Discomfited by Currency Announcement — Upward Swing of Prices Was Logical Outcome.

(Specially Written by S. S. Fontaine for New York World and Toronto World.)

NEW YORK, June 15.—The most effective blow that has ever been dealt the so-called money trust was struck on Wednesday last when Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, acting with the full approval of the president of the United States, gave notice to the banking world that the campaign of alarms, conceived in political bigotry and resentment and aimed at business confidence and commercial courage, which Wall street has been conducting for months, must cease forthwith, or there would be erected within the shadows of its own creation the gibbet of public opinion upon which the chief executive had promised to hang those who attempted to spread a panic among the people. Since then there has been a panic indeed, but it has been a stampede of those who are seeking to hide from the wrath to come.

Money Trust to Rout

What the money trust failed to do, after months of vain effort, fruitless theorizing and fear-spreading, President Wilson and his courageous secretary of the treasury have accomplished with a statement of less than three hundred words, but every word of which contained a magazine of meaning. The power of the centralized money control of the country to strike terror to the business men, the bankers and the investors of the country began to wane from the moment the government served notice upon it that it has $500,000,000 of crisp, new currency to match against the wealth Wall street can command, either as a stimulus to business or as an aid to the forces of disorder—and as legal money, too, not the unauthorized, panic-born certificates by means of which the clearing houses of the country have in their financial crises assumed the money issuing functions of government, a practice which the treasury was forced to condone because it dare not condemn.

A Startling Change

Since the ultimatum of the secretary of the treasury was sent out from Washington on the afternoon of Wednesday, June 11, the entire aspect of the financial situation in this country has changed. On that day conditions in Wall street were approaching chaos. The prices of investment securities had reached levels that caused many instances where they were touched in the great financial upheaval of 1907. The investors of the country were in a state of complete demoralization. It is silly to say that a fundamental condition was found, that there was no danger. There was indeed very grave danger, and many knew it. The panic was not confined to the great financial groups that sat behind the scenes, but it had reached the people. There is no longer in what direction their delirium may turn. For months Wall street had been in a state bordering upon nervous prostration. There had been parades before its eyes visions of all forms of financial evils. It was told that there was a world-wide money stringency growing and that it was bound to follow the path of the clearing sun. This people here were warned that the worst was at hand. They were told that the tariff readjustment was bound to breed anxiety and unrest throughout the whole business community, and that everybody must prepare for a hard winter.

The Seeds of Fear

The seeds of uneasiness were meanwhile being sown in the west by agents of Wall street. Up till a month ago there was not a cloud in the western sky. Courage and enterprise were the order of the day. The banks had plenty of money, credits were readily extended and there was no thought of impending financial stringency. About a fortnight ago, however, one of the officers of a leading Wall street institution appeared at Detroit as a monitor of the bankers of that section. He drew a very alarming picture of the financial situation in this country. He called his paper "A Look at the Future." He declared that the whole world was in a condition of financial stringency. He pointed out that the available credit, even in the United States, was being rapidly absorbed by the necessities of rival nations. He pointed out that the refusal or inability of Europe to invest in American securities was likely to develop a very difficult situation, since we have for years relied upon Europe through the sale of our securities. He pointed out that the cutting off or serious curtailment of this European market, even for a year or two would cause a serious disarrangement of our domestic financing at home. Continuing, he said:

Sowing the Whirlwind

"The aggregate amount of this financing which must be done is very large. It is, in fact, enormous, and will require the use of every dollar of available credit, even in the United States, so fortunate during the next year or two as to hold on to our present stock of gold, which forms the base of these credits. But we shall probably not be able to do this. Whenever we consider the strategic position of the United States financially in its relations with other nations, there is an inherent weakness always present and increasing, which must be kept in mind. That weakness is the fact that although we normally have a credit balance in trade of over $500,000,000 annually we have in fact other annual international debits of twice that amount, so that our trade balance, not only is wiped out, but as much more in gold might be required to settle our foreign indebtedness. This debt grows out of items which are not included in the statement of trade balances. They are composed of interest and dividends on securities already owned abroad, of freight paid to foreign vessels, of the incomes derived from the estates of our expatriated men and women, the majority of whom belong to the very class of the vast expenditures of American travelers abroad, of premiums insurance, and of many similar items. These items aggregate at least twice as much as our credit balance in trade. Consequently instead of the United States having as a result of its favorable trade balance a credit in the stock of European gold of $500,000,000 annually the truth is that the tables are entirely turned and we have a debit upon us for that amount.

Europe's Heavy Absorption

"Europe has not always nor frequently exercised that power. Generally and under normal conditions it has been more profitable for Europeans to purchase our good securities than to withdraw our gold. This explains clearly their enormous absorptive capacity of our good securities. It also shows that in order to place themselves in a position to draw gold from us it is not at all necessary that they should sell our securities. It is only necessary that they should suspend raising them. Thus an already explained, has been done, and buying has practically ceased. If any attitude should be persisted in for any considerable period it is only to be expected that we shall witness a gradually increasing drain upon our gold reserves. The movement may be checked for a time by the use of credit, but not permanently, if the circumstances described shall continue."

Intensifying the Crisis

Now all the while that this institution has been spreading these warnings to the country, it has been doing nothing to relieve the intensity of the money crisis. It has been doing the very thing that it is the duty of an institution that enjoys the privilege of a national banking charter not to do in periods of financial stringency—it has been hoarding its money. For months it has been decreasing its loans and increasing its cash reserves. It has been declining to lend its funds to the merchant and the manufacturer of sufficient credit to tide him over the period of business readjustment and stringency that he has been warned to prepare for. Between Saturday, May 10, and Saturday, June 7, this institution has reduced its loan account from $176,000,000 to $116,000,000 and increased its holdings of cash from $47,823,000 to $56,500,000. By Wednesday the total increase had reached $28,000,000. In the same period the cash holdings and loans of the First National Bank did not fluctuate $300,000. While the panic conditions in Wall street were at their worst this Wednesday there came not a word of reassurance from this institution or its financial allies. They have been warning the sore distressed to believe that these interests were willing to open their doors to lend them helping hands. There was not a word to show that conditions the world over had changed. The belief that general liquidation was a slowing up in business had greatly relieved the strain on the money market. No hope was held out to the merchants of the country that they could now bring their paper into Wall street and it be freely discounted. Nor were the country banks extended credit that they could go ahead and extend to farmers and merchants and manufacturers in their own territory. There was nothing to inform them that the warnings of early May were no meaningless—that the crisis was past—until the secretary of the treasury electrified the country with the cloth making announcement that the bankers' United States no longer had to appeal to Wall street for aid or advice. There were $500,000,000 of notes in the hands of the national government at Washington, placed there by the congress of the United States for just such emergencies, from which the money hoarders of Wall street were preparing to reap a rich reward.

After McAdoo Spoke

It is not enough that there was no need for this money—not after the secretary had spoken. The mere knowledge that it was there ready and waiting for the reassured business world wanted. It found, moreover, to its amazement that the great institution that had been warning the country of the perils that confronted it, and quoting time money rates at 6 per cent. over the period of financial stringency, had suddenly reduced the rate from 6 to 3-1/2 per cent. and in one day had bought $7,000,000 of commercial paper. No necessity in deed existed for action by the treasury. The hoarded surplus of the great institution was being suitably released to fulfill its proper function, and was incidentally giving notice to the world that the action of the national administration had been timely, necessary and efficacious.

That such a material change should have occurred in so short a time might seem rather remarkable to anyone not familiar with the extreme variable sentiment which obtains among those who for various reasons of the ticker. Exposer of High Finance Says — Shorts Cleared Twenty Millions—He's Going Fishing.

Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, the self-styled apostle of finance and capitalist of the "system," has issued another of his luridly sensational stock market prophecies. He says in part: "A certain something eventful will occur which has changed, temporarily, at least, the whole face of financial affairs."

FEAR OF DROUGHT STIFFENS WHEAT Official Forecast Not Encouraging to Bears—Advances All Along Line.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Wheat prices look a violent upward swing today, impelled by an official forecast of protracted dry weather. Throut of the northwest crops needed rain, and there were reports that permanent damage from drought had already been done. The market closed firm at an advance of 7-8c to 1-8-8c net. Corn finished 1-8-8c to 1-7-8c up; oats with a gain of 1-8-8c to 1-8-8c, and provisions advanced from 10c decline to a rise of 2-4c. Except for a momentary dip at the outset, when the market was affected by some over-optimistic reports from Illinois and other important states excited the shorts in corn. Offerings were extremely small. Besides, receivers predicted a falling off in receipts next week. Oats crossed the 40c line and closed at the highest level of the season. The causes were unwelcome heat and absence of moisture. Provisions sagged with the hog market and on account of an expected dearth at the end of the season. Trading was more brisk than usual on a Saturday.

DEVELOPMENT WORK IN S.E. COLEMAN High-Grade Find on Cochrane Attracts Attention—People's Mine Opened Again.

COBALT, June 13.—The People's Mining Company, are now working their property in the southeast. The shaft has already been dewatered to the 200 foot level and development work should commence again in a few days. The shaft which is now down to the 200 foot level will be put down at least another hundred feet probably by contract and exploration will commence from that point. The discovery of high grade ore on the Cochrane after many years' failure has put heart into many companies holding claims in southeast Coleman, which hitherto have been quite barren.
