MIGHT HAVE BEEN MURDER

John McMullin Brutally Assaulted by Jerry Daley. Severely Injured by Assailant's Kicks Before Help Came—Daley Got Three Months.

What was almost a murderous assault was committed yesterday by Jeremiah Daley, his victim being John McMullin. Both are young men. The assault occurred in what is known as No. 3 coal shed, situated off Smythe street. There were several witnesses to the affair and their description of what happened as given in the police court this morning shows a disgraceful condition of affairs.

Both men had been drinking and by his own admission McMullin was so drunk that he did not know who it was that assaulted him on Mill street being drunk. Daley knocked McMullin down and kicked him several times about the head and face and would probably have inflicted more serious injury had he not been forcibly prevented. McMullin's face presented a woeful appearance when he was taken to the hospital. When called on to plead, Daley pleaded he was not guilty, but there was plenty of evidence to prove he was. Deputy Chief Jenkins conducted the prosecution.

During the afternoon McMullin was arrested on Mill street being drunk. Dr. Christie was sent for and recommended that the man be sent home as he needed medical attention. Chief Clerk and Deputy Chief Jenkins at once went to the North End station. The deputy then returned to the city and with Detective Killen started an investigation and shortly afterwards arrested Daley. Their evidence was such that Detective Killen started an investigation and shortly afterwards arrested Daley. Their evidence was such that Detective Killen started an investigation and shortly afterwards arrested Daley.

McMullin was fined $8 or two months in the workhouse, but on account of his condition was allowed to go, but was warned that if he was seen entering a saloon he would arrest him and send him to jail to work out the two months. Dr. D. E. Berryman, who was in court and examined McMullin, said his injuries, while severe, were not serious, but he needed careful attention. His honor gave Daley the option of having the case settled in the police court or going before a jury. Daley preferred to have it settled at once and his honor ordered that he had gone to a higher court he would have probably gone to Dorchester for two years.

TOO MANY GRITS, SAYS SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT Presence of Another Deadly Microbe on a Girl's Lips. Better for Canada Had the Result Been More Even—Laurier Won't Talk.

(Special to the Star). MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 5.—Sir Richard Cartwright, in an interview this morning, said it would have been better if the result of the dominion elections had been more evenly divided, but that with the exercise of ordinary prudence the Liberals should remain in power at least ten years longer. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was in town today on his way to Ottawa, but he refused to be interviewed.

TWO KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK. ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 5.—As a result of a wreck on a branch line of the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railroad in Ball ground, Cherokee Co., Ga., late yesterday two men are dead and several others seriously injured. Details of the wreck are meagre, but it seems that the train ran off a trestle into a pond.

PORT ARTHUR CANNOT RESIST MUCH LONGER.

Japs Have Captured Commanding Fort on Wantai Hill, Dividing Russian Defences—Battle Imminent Near Mukden.

TOKIO, Nov. 5, 4 p. m.—It is reported that the Japanese have occupied Wantai hill, sunk several transports and have set fire to a battleship at Port Arthur. There is no confirmation of the report.

ANOTHER BATTLE IMMINENT. MUKDEN, Nov. 5, via Peking.—The uninterrupted activity conspicuous between the opposing positions, that on the plain and on Hung Pao Hill, occupied by the Japanese, and on Manshan Hill, named after a Russian general, daily threatens a formidable outbreak. From Hung Pao, the capture of which by the Japanese was reported on Oct. 12 by the correspondent of the Associated Press, the Japanese are now shelling the Russians with captured Russian guns and the resulting feeling among the Russians indicates that this spot, which is the most prominent along the entire line, will doubtless initiate the coming battle. Occasional casualties are reported at Pienchiang on account of its exposed position, as the apex of an aggregating wedge used against the Japanese right.

POLICE COURT Twelve Men Who Drowned Their Grief—Two Assault Cases—Main St. Grocer Fined.

There were twelve men in St. John who so deeply regretted that the people of Canada have decided in favor of Portland, Maine, in preference to St. John, that they drowned their sorrow in whisky. The police authorities fell into the hands of the police and this morning paid some four and some eight dollars. There were others who resorted to the ardent to alleviate their suffering, but escaped, for as one officer remarked this morning, when a man is drunk he is not a criminal.

John Hanley, arrested on suspicion of assaulting Miss Sarah Ann Williams by using threatening language to her, was fined $10 for giving tobacco to a minor. His honor said that if the police instead of looking for drunks would pay more attention to such cases as this the boys of this city would be a lot better off.

George Robertson, the Main street grocer, was fined $10 for giving tobacco to a minor. His honor said that if the police instead of looking for drunks would pay more attention to such cases as this the boys of this city would be a lot better off.

RUSSIA AGREES TO ARBITRATE

Four Nations Will Settle North Sea Dispute. Russians Still Insist That Jap Torpedo Boats Were With British Fishing Fleet.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—Russia has accepted the telegraphic draft of the Anglo-Russian convention for the commission of inquiry into the North Sea incident submitted to Russia on Wednesday. The commission will sit in Paris and will consist of five members, Russian, British, American and French. Broad outlines for the inquiry are laid down by the commission, but the commission will have a wide latitude in determining all the relevant facts.

The Associated Press has strong reason to believe that the letter from Vigo published in Novoe Vremya this morning represents practically the substance of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's detailed report submitted to Emperor Nicholas today by Capt. Clado. Indeed, it is almost certain that the letter was written by Capt. Clado himself. It has attracted much attention, being accepted by the public as well as by the Novoe Vremya as the complete Russian version of the North Sea incident. Commenting editorially on the letter, the Novoe Vremya says, it shows it was not a case of panic, nor of the misreading of signals, nor of a cool calculation of the time for the arrival of the torpedo boats after they were sighted by the Russian transport Kamohatka. The Novoe Vremya says the commission will have an opportunity of seeing the wireless messages on the subject.

NEW PERIL IN KISSES. Heartless Doctors Discover the Presence of Another Deadly Microbe on a Girl's Lips.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A new danger has been added to the many which afflict the human race, the habit of kissing. According to D. Whittles, a lecturer on dental history and pathology at Birmingham University, the crawcrack disease, common on the west coast of Africa has been introduced into this country. Birmingham, he says, has hundreds of cases, while traces of the disease have been found in many other places. The disease is a venereal disease, and is described as the nematode worm, which has a peculiar penchant for destroying the skin corpuscles in the blood.

Queer Customs of the Chinese.

The Son Who Marries Takes His Bride to Live at His Father's Place.

"China is essentially a land of home-stays, for the sons, contrary to the general rule in western countries, accompany their fathers when they return from a mission who has just returned from China. Sometimes as many as fifty human generations will be found in one habitation and as many as fifty human generations in order to accommodate the ever-increasing family of the palmy days of that famous enterprise. Parrelle was running his bus line in Haled street. Said the narrator: 'Here's a driver, 'Bob' something-or-other, and he had his suspicions that he wasn't getting all the fares he was entitled to. 'Bob' had a habit of talking to himself, and one time Parrelle caught him in the stable reekoning up the day's proceeds. He had emptied his buckskin bag out on to a sack of oats, and was stacking up silver dollars in two piles. 'Here's a dollar for me and a dollar for Frank,' he says, 'and a dollar for me and a dollar for Frank.' He kept on this way until he had all the money equally divided, with a dollar over. Old Frank kept still and waited to see what 'Bob' would do with that dollar. 'Bob' seemed to rather undecided about it himself. He looked at it, and weighed it in his hand. 'I shall keep it,' he said to himself. 'No, I'll let Frank have it. He has to feed the horses.' Parrelle broke in on him then and gathered in the whole pot. Next he proceeded to talk kindly but firmly to his driver. 'It's a good thing you had some glimmers of conscience remaining, you infernal old scoundrel,' he said. 'If you hadn't turned over that odd dollar I'd have fired you, sure.' 'AT IT AGAIN. (M. P. A.) Archbishop Thompson was greatly surprised when he was given the archdiocese of York. He had been suffering acutely from toothache, and upon medical advice had resorted to narcotics. After a particularly bad night he set out for his doctor, though his wife had besought him not to submit to further narcosis, as after them he was 'not hit' for some hours. On the way he met the postman, who handed him a letter announcing his preference from Gloucester to York. He rushed back and burst excitedly into the house, the toothache all forgotten. 'Zoe, Zoe!' he cried, 'what do you think has happened? I am archbishop of York!' 'There, what did I tell you?' rejoined his wife. 'You've been taking that horrid narcotic again, and are quite out of your head.' 'In China everything seems to us to go by contrary, and the front part of the house is devoted to the kitchen. Upon entering the house at the front door is introduced into the culinary department, and so important an adjunct to a household is the kitchen that the population of towns and cities throughout the empire is reckoned by the number of kitchens within the walls. Brick chimneys in China are a thing unheard of, and the smoke from the fire is allowed to roll lazily along the ceiling and out into the court or through an aperture made in the roof. The kitchen fire is usually built in a stove in the corner of the room. 'The dining-room is usually in the center of the open court. Rice is the principal article of diet, with perhaps a couple of side dishes, of vegetables. No table is used, the food being set up on the ground. The members of the family gather around the dishes in an

PARKER'S SIZE.

Some time ago a committee from the Reform Club in this city visited Esopus, and during the course of conversation with Judge Parker several members of the delegation remarked that the club had been for some ten years or more collecting data concerning prominent leaders in the state and the political situation in the various counties, and that if Judge Parker desired to have these memoranda the club would be very much pleased to send them to him for use in the campaign. Judge Parker said he would be delighted to have the papers, and several days later a large packing case was deposited at Rosemount containing a great mass of political data. These memoranda were pasted together and arranged alphabetically by counties until they resembled an enormous petition. Judge Parker amused himself looking up the records of a lot of his friends throughout the state, and finally turned to Ulster county, where his home is located, to see what it had to say about those persons he knew well. This is what he read: 'Ulster County—Leader, Gil Hasbrouck. The slickest politician in Ulster county since Parker went on the bench.' 'The language is very difficult to acquire. It was only after several years of sojourn in China that I secured an adequate working knowledge of it. The chief difficulty arises from the fact that the European's ear is not sensitive enough to detect the various tonal qualities of Chinese words. 'There are eight tones in the language, and almost every word is pronounced in eight different ways, which gives to one monosyllabic effect different meanings. As an instance, the monosyllable sang, when changed in a high pitch, means clear, when uttered in a low tone means umbrella, when enunciated with a rising inflexion on the latter part of the word means surname, when pronounced with a half tone rise, on the long a sound, means hush, when spoken quickly with a fall of a whole tone towards the end means to scatter and when a fall of a note is made upon the long a sound means coat. 'Added to these subtle changes in pronunciation is an occasional suffix ending in h or k, which further modifies and changes the meaning. Ryde, Isle of Wight, had a new party of the day—a regatta for children. In shallow water, where drowning was impossible, the children raced in skiffs, canoes, small craft fitted with paddles and in tubs, and had great fun. Oak beams, 1,000 years old recently were removed from the Blue Bell Inn, Bedlington, England. They have been made into handsome furniture by a local manufacturer.

Old Lady—Why do you go around begging instead of working? Trump—'I'll tell you, ma'am, I beg for gin money for whiskey. Old Lady—But why do you drink whiskey? ELEPHANT ROCK.

A Giant Landmark in Eastern Oregon That the Indians...

(Portland Oregonian.) Elephant Rock, the most remarkable and the most colossal of the fast fading Western Indian, stands out against the sky a few miles southeast of Meacham in the Blue Mountains, where it is a landmark to the whites and a symbol to the Indians of the power of their gods and a sign of their greatness. The tourist, in making his journey through the mountains by the old stage road, can look above him and see the giant elephant, moulded in the rugged and crumbling stone, as he juts out against the sky, perfect in every part, and he will wonder as he gazes at the likeness, the perfect lines of the great hulk, at its natural attitude as it stands stretching longly toward the north, and if he is a friend of the aged Indian who may be camped by the roadside he may hear the legend of Elephant Rock. An old and tottering chief, upon whose matted grizzled head the suns of countless summers have beaten until the brightness of their glare has burned out the light from the warrior's eyes, and has turned the world from day to night, knows the story better than all the rest, for he is the doctor, and it is those to whom the secret was imparted by the good Coyote, the chief deity of the Cayuses, he who has always had the good of man in his heart and whose hand is soft for his children. Long, long ago, so the story runs, the white man had not come with his hordes to drive back the Cayuse and take from him the land along the swiring Umatilla, and the Indian was prosperous and happy. His lodges were full of children, whose happy laughter gladdened the heart of the warrior, who returned from the hunt laden with the juicy venisons or the swift flying woodcock. The ground yielded bountifully, the forest teemed with game, the Umatilla dimpled with the salmon as they sprang from the water in sport, and the Indian was glad and at peace. But one day, in the midst of their happiness, a great misfortune visited the land. While the hunting parties were in the woods seeking food for the lodges, they noticed the game fleeing to the south in great fright. Soon a crashing was heard through the trees, and vast shapes appeared, driving before them the inhabitants of the forest. On the invaders rushed in a line, waving what looked to be great tails at their heads, while the Cayuses, roused with the echoes of their cries. The strange visitors tore the largest trees from the ground and hurled the great trunks in sport over the mountains. The warriors fled in a panic to the hills, while the monsters took possession of the land. In time they came to the Umatilla, into which they plunged with glad cries, tossing the water high in the air and churning the current into mud and foam until the frightened salmon threw themselves on the banks to die or were trampled beneath the feet of the invaders. Those that escaped fled for their lives to the River of the North, where they spread the news of the strange doings and led the Umatilla into spray and crushed them into the ground. As a consequence, the Cayuses, skulking from their hiding places, could find no food. The deer had scattered to the winds, while the Umatilla, the fish creek flock of mud, in which nothing could live. A council was called by the head man, and a solemn feast was made, at which the head medicine man offered sacrifices and called upon the good Coyote for relief. Now, Coyote, from his lair on the highest mountain top, had noted their doings. He had seen the Cayuses to the north, and knew that they had been sent by the evil spirits to harass the Cayuses. So, when he heard the voice of his children raised in supplication, he hastened to the land of the Umatilla. Arriving there, he called the elephants before him, and told them to return immediately to their home in the far northland, amid the never changing snows. The herd obeyed, though reluctantly, and peace once more came to the starved Cayuses. The game began to return to their haunts, and the salmon once more ventured up the stream. The king of the herd, however, longed for the green hills and cool, pleasant forest, and ventured back in spite of the orders of Coyote, and roamed the woods and bathed in the water. One day, while standing by deep in the cool waters, he saw Coyote coming toward him over the mountain. Nogg the king of the elephants was the salmon animal on earth, but he feared the wrath of Coyote, and attempted to steal away. The god, however, had seen him in the river and overtook the fugitive on the mountainside, where he gently upbraided him for his disobedience. The elephant, thinking from his manner that Coyote was aved by his great size, grew haughty and impudent, and insulted the god, who thereupon cursed him and decreed that he should stand on the mountain forever, through winter's cold and summer's heat, as a warning to all evildoers. And there the elephant is today, looking with stony eyes toward the northland. The years have come and gone, and the snow have worn away the smoothness of his great bulk and left him furrowed and seamed. The little birds are not afraid of him, and nestle in the clefts made by the flight of time. The deer and the wild fowl rest in his shadow, and the Indian builds his camp-fires around his feet. But the vast shape pays no heed. His head is stretched out toward his home, and his eyes seek for a friend. If any animal comes into the land to do harm he warns him away lest he also be chained to the mountainside in the solid rock to suffer forever and forever the pangs of remorse—the pain of a great disobedience to the good god of the Cayuses.

ST. JOHN'S VERDICT.

The Grand Trunk Pacific scheme is a scheme of many parts and, though it was presented as a whole to the people of Canada, different phases of it were so accentuated by the press and candidates and campaigners of the different constituencies that probably very few votes of approval or disapproval of the plan in its entirety were cast.

Of course certain general features of the policy, such as the cost of the road and the terms accorded to the company were presented everywhere and were evidently unobjectionable to the majority of Canadians. But to a great extent the verdict of the various provinces were verdicts on certain sections of the scheme.

Though the effect of Thursday's election was to set back for at least fifty years the adoption of the principle of government ownership of railways in Canada, it would be unfair to claim that the vote showed that the majority of the people in Canada were opposed to that principle. The only provinces where that phase of the question was emphasized to the exclusion of all others were Ontario and P. E. I., which pronounced strongly in favor.

In the west, where immediate construction was the greatest demand, the presence of hundreds of G. T. P. surveyors working busily through the prairies and mountains for the past year and the knowledge that it would be to the company's interest to complete that section as soon as possible, while a government might find it politic to delay that part so that the whole road could be done at once, undoubtedly had more to do with the result than anything else. In Quebec one cry "Vive Laurier," drowned every argument and took the place of G. T. P. and the tariff and everything else as the greatest issue.

In Halifax, it was enough to defeat Mr. Borden's scheme that St. John was in favor of it and nothing more was needed to defeat Mr. Borden than that he was cheered in St. John.

The vote of St. John was cast upon a feature of the scheme which appealed with no such force to any other constituency in Canada, viz., the failure of the G. T. P. policy to ensure the carriage of traffic to Canadian ports.

The westerner cares not a jot which way his grain goes so long as it goes cheaply and quickly. The people of Ontario are in the habit of forgetting that the map contains places outside of Ontario. The people of Quebec are pretty sure of the summer traffic and do not worry themselves about where it goes when the St. Lawrence is frozen. But in St. John, the matter is vital and their verdict is emphatic that they do not consider that, under the G. T. P. contract, as it stands, maritime ports stand any chance in the competition with Portland.

Had St. John elected Messrs. McKewen and O'Brien on Thursday it would have told the government that it approved the contract. As it is, the government cannot fail to understand our protest and the reason for it, and, as they expect to run elections here in the future, they will, if they are wise, pay attention to it. St. John people have shown they cannot be hoodwinked or bullied. Both processes have been tried, with not a single result. Now the Laurier combination whatever their faults, are shrewd politicians. They know that St. John claims as a Canadian port which should not be ignored; they know it has claims that, if properly presented to the country through parliament will appeal to the majority of Canadians; and they know that St. John will have in the next parliament two representatives with the ability and energy to present and press those claims.

It would have been far better for St. John had the Conservatives been returned to power. But they were not. The next best thing would be some change in the contract providing more assurance that traffic will not be diverted out of its intended course or some additional inducement to offset the pressure brought to bear upon the company toward the same end. And St. John has taken the best way to bring this about.

PORTLAND IS HAPPY.

Nowhere was the success of the Laurier government more joyfully received than in Portland, Me., whose citizens are now confident that the position of their harbor as the winter port of Canada is assured.

Note the quiet jubilation in this clipping from the editorial from the Portland Press of yesterday morning: "Now that the Canadian elections are over, Portland's irritated auditory organs will enjoy the balm of silence. If ever ears burned at the talk of neighbors hers must have burned during the past weeks. It has been 'Portland, Portland, Portland' in the Canadian papers, morning, noon, and night in wretched stanzas and mighty din. For many years the maritime provinces have been envious and jealous of this city on account of its favored geographical position and have rarely omitted an opportunity to say what the British call 'nasty' things, but never has the abuse risen to such a volume and rancor as of late. Portland has been the paramount and almost the sole issue of the campaign—that is, Portland as the Atlantic terminus of the Grand Trunk and in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific plan. Being at the end of the short and easy cut from Montreal to tide-water, this innocent and helpless town is the mark of every political speaker and writer over the border, for both parties alike fire at Portland and declare that at whatever cost Canadian products must take the long way around and go by the way of St. John and Halifax. It is a great relief to have silence like a politics come to relieve the blows of sound. The inflated ears of the fair queen of Casco Bay will surely be glad to have the normal condition. Meanwhile she sits serene and secure by her favored nook of the sea, conscious of neither self-seeking politicians nor unreasoning prejudice and alter the facts of nature or destroy her advantage of position."

MISSIONARIES IN HONAN.

Disquieting Rumors Received in Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—It was reported some time ago that the Presbyterian missionaries in Honan were in danger of their lives through an uprising which had been threatened by the secret societies in that province. Some time after that report a despatch announced that there was no danger from any such uprising. The Honan correspondent of the Presbyterian writing from Hualching on Sept. 1, says that very disquieting news had come to him from various quarters. The missionaries at Changanet had again had to call the attention of the officials to the danger of their lives from that city owing to their lives having been repeatedly threatened by this same society.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS.

Following directly upon the federal elections comes the announcement of the dissolution of the Quebec legislature. The Parent government has fared rather hardly in by-elections and the premier hopes to secure for his administration support "in that event to his chief at Ottawa. He will not do so well as that, but one would suppose that he would retain control unless it should be found that the revolt in his own party had not been healed by the federal contest.

It is believed that the new government of Ontario will also make its appeal to the people at this time. The Ontario elections took place less than two years ago, and left the government so little margin of strength in the house that the fate of the government has depended on each series of by-elections held since. At present there is a majority of only one, with several vacancies, most of them caused by the unsetting of government supporters.

No general election is called for in this province, but St. John city has been deprived of a member since Mr. McKewen resigned to run for Ottawa last February. This gentleman has run two federal elections since, with unsatisfactory results, and his provincial seat is still vacant. Mr. Dunn resigned his place in the house about the same time and the county elections have allowed no chance to choose his successor. All this while the province has been without a surveyor general and the government cared to open. For the same reason the position of solicitor general has not been filled since Mr. McKewen gave it up. Mr. Laurier's resignation makes an election necessary in Northumberland, and the same reason has been allowed no chance to choose his successor. SOME RELIEF IN THE SITUATION.

COULDN'T LOSE 'EM.

"Hope," said the political boss, "that the boys are standing up by you all right." "You bet they are," replied the candidate, "especially when I line up in front of a bar."

MARKING THE BOUNDARY.

Dr. R. A. Daly Tells of the Work. OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 1.—Dr. R. A. Daly, of the geological survey, returned to his office yesterday after a summer spent in the field in the region of the international boundary between British Columbia and the State of Washington. Dr. Daly is engaged in working out structural section along the line of the boundary and in doing so has to survey a belt from five to ten miles in width and extending on both sides of the border. The location of the boundary is being carried on by Messrs. J. J. McArthur and C. Biggar under the superintendence of Mr. King, chief astronomer. Dr. Daly states that the Americans, who are doing a share of the work, have begun to put up their monuments. They are of aluminum-bronze and are established chiefly on summits, so as to be inter-visible. The metal is eight feet high and is set in a cubic bed of concrete two feet each way. The parties this summer were severely handicapped by the heavy smoke from forest fires, the summer in the Rocky Mountains having been unusually dry. For days at a time the transit men had to lay off and wait for the atmosphere to clear. During the summer Dr. Daly has been working over a territory forty-two miles east of the Cascade Mountains and sixty-five miles between the two crossings of the Kootenay River east of the Southern B.C. divide.

GOVERNMENT MAJORITY MAY BE NEARLY 70.

Additional Returns From the West—Mr. Borden's Defeat Causes Universal Regret— Jubilation in York County.

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—When the returns are all in it is not likely that the liberal majority in the new house will be above ten larger than in the last. The present standing is: Liberals, 135; conservatives, 72, and electors to be held, 10.

Included in the liberal column, however, are seven seats in the Northwest Territories, which are given because they are in the lead, but tonight word from the west says that the conservatives only concede the election of three liberals out of these seven, while the liberals concede Calgary and Qu'Appelle to the conservatives.

Interest here at the present time is centred in Borden. Liberals as well as conservatives deplore the short-sightedness of the people of Halifax in deposing Borden. The conservative press of the country of his people. Among the French liberals this feeling is well expressed by Senator David, lifelong friend and intimate of Sir Wilfrid. He says: "In regard to the defeat of Borden and a few other prominent conservatives, I think general regret will be expressed. In regard to the leader of the government and the leader of the opposition, I am of opinion that their election should be assured in a manner that would allow them to go throughout the country and expound the views of different parties with freedom, which would prevent both from having to attend their own constituencies in order to get elected."

Mr. Tarte says in La Patrie: "Borden should not be humiliated by his defeat. He assumed command of the forces of the opposition under very trying circumstances, and he had to oppose a party that was solidly organized and led by a brilliant chief. The conservative press generally laments the loss, but so does the liberal. The Winnipeg Free Press says: "The liberals have carried every seat in Nova Scotia. Mr. Borden is himself among the fallen. It is highly doubtful, in view of his own defeat and the verdict of Nova Scotia upon the question at issue before the country, whether he will remain in public life. This would be regrettable, as, although he is far inferior to Sir Wilfrid and to Mr. Fielding, he is better equipped for leadership than any other man in the conservative party. This, however, is a domestic matter which conservatives can settle among themselves."

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—The biggest surprise to Toronto liberals yesterday was the defeat of Mayor Urquhart in North Toronto. The liberals had boasted that they would capture three of Toronto's seats, or at any rate North and South. To Mayor Urquhart the disappointment is keen, since he was absolutely certain of victory. The result in Centre Toronto was the subject of much jubilation among local conservatives and of corresponding chagrin on the part of liberals. E. F. Clarke, entering late into the field, found himself confronted with the most perfect organization that either party ever had in Toronto constituency. But his personal popularity and distinguished public service were too much for even this most powerful organization. The triumph of the liberal Claude MacDonnell in South Toronto was a keen disappointment to liberals. The constituency had been deliberately carved out of the heart of the city with a view to securing a government supporter and until two or three days ago liberals confidently boasted that they would capture the riding. Hartley H. Dewart, however, did not prove to be nearly so strong a candidate as had been anticipated.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 4.—The result of the elections in Vancouver was a surprise to both parties. Conservatives were certain of victory as Mortimore, socialist, and McCreer, independent liberal, were thought to be strong enough to draw largely from the vote of the liberal candidate, McPherson. Both socialist and independent, however, lost their deposits, and to the great surprise of McPherson and his friends the large silent vote piled up a majority for Ellis, conservative, of 83.

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—The trial of men arrested on the charges of conspiracy to perjure, laid by Ald. Ames' agent, will not begin until next week. In the meantime, Hon. Mr. Freton has grown very hot under the collar and today declared himself as follows: "It must be disquieting for all respectable people and citizens when they see that a political party can sink low enough to have recourse to such outrageous proceedings to gain any point in elections. I may say that the liberals have nothing to fear, and that proceedings will be pushed to the end on the part of the defendants, and there may be some startling revelations affecting some high officials, even those holding positions on the bench."

Freton is quite right concerning startling revelations. It is quite likely that some high officials will be placed in rather unpleasant positions if all the facts in connection with the case come out. The offenders will be prosecuted. Ald. Ames is not a man to amuse himself with such things and there appears to be abundant evidence in this case. FREDERICTON, Nov. 4.—There was no greater victory won anywhere in Canada yesterday than that of the conservative party in York county. The Glenora tonight, referring to the result of the election in York, says: "Mr. Crockett was backed by a united organization—not a single dissenting voice, not an indifferent man among those of influence in the party. It is true that opposing party influences against him were powerful, very powerful. The whole force of the federal government patronage was naturally brought to bear. The hitherto invincible Mr. Gibson was straining every nerve to assure his own success; government acquisition of the Canada Eastern, with all that it implied, was being used to the fullest; railway surveying and locating parties were active; two leading ministers came to the constituency with the influence which the prestige of their position lends; a dozen and one other forces were at work; all legitimate enough in party warfare. Mr. Gibson had carried the last election by 54 majority. But Mr. Crockett entered the contest to win. "It will be seen by an analysis of the returns that Mr. Crockett carried every parish in the county but Kingsclear. He swept St. Mary's, along the Nookwash, and Stanley; every parish on the east bank of the St. John from Douglas to the Carleton county line, all of the parishes on the west from the boundary to Kingsclear, and New Maryland and McAdam in the back were his also. Of thirty-two polling sub-divisions, he carried twenty-three, wiping out the last liberal majority of over eight hundred, and giving a conservative victory by 104. "Mr. Gibson carried the city of Fredericton and the town of Marysville and Kingsclear, and of all the sub-divisions he had majorities in only nine. The Fredericton Herald has the audacity to say tonight regarding the opposition victory as follows: "The employment of an unstated amount of money and refreshments did their work in this constituency." Doesn't that sound good? Every sane man in York knows that it had been no corrupt influences used, to say nothing of other influences, the liberals would have been lucky if they saved their

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—It is a foregone conclusion that Mr. Belcourt, the senator member-elect for Ottawa, will be speaker of the new parliament. James Cookburn was the first speaker of the house of commons, and occupied the chair from 1867 to 1871. He was re-elected speaker for the second parliament, which met on March 5th, 1873. Mr. Anglin was speaker during the Mackenzie parliament, and the following him during the conservative regime were Hon. Mr. Blanchet, Sir Geo. Kirkpatrick, (now Judge) Oulmet, and Hon. Peter White. Edgar succeeded White.

Belcourt is a prime favorite with Sir Wilfrid, and it is felt to be morally certain that he will once more be the first commoner of Canada. This he will be rather a blow to Archibald Campbell, who has his eye upon the chair, but Campbell will have to be satisfied with the position of deputy speaker. With his indemnity this will give Campbell an honorarium of $3,500 a year. All the Ottawa newspapers deplore the defeat of Mr. Borden in Halifax, even the Free Press generously admitting that his absence from parliament will be a distinct loss to the country. Apart from Borden's admittance to the house of commons, the result of the elections has greatly strengthened the debating ability of the opposition. In addition to good speakers like Clarke, Dr. Sproule, Col. Hughes, Lancaster, Pringle, Fowler and Northrup who have been re-elected, it is conceded that the election of Foster, Peter White, Cockshutt, Ames (Montreal), and Stockton (St. John) will give the conservatives additional fighting force of great power.

George H. Perley, who has redeemed the name of the conservatives, is a well known Ottawa lumberman. Kidd will have a majority of 500 in Carleton Co. Wilson's majority whole is Russell is 749. Gerald Brabason, conservative candidate in Pontiac, has a majority of 84, with three points to spare. The returns as far as heard from in Wright give Laurier a majority of 1,188. In Hull alone the premier's majority was 714. Sir Wilfrid telegraphed to C. B. Mapor of Hull as follows: "Please accept and forward to me the congratulations of my friends in the county of Wright expressions of my sincere gratitude for the good news just sent me, and also the congratulations of the splendid victory."

The Canadian Artillery Association has made arrangements for presentation of an illuminated address to Lord Minto previous to his departure for England. The presentation will be made in the Toronto armories on November 12th. Laurier will arrive in Ottawa tomorrow evening and will be escorted to his home by local liberals and a band. Local conservatives have partly recovered their breath after the ride for which they received last evening. Content as they were of winning seats in Ottawa, it was more than a surprise to find Belcourt elected by a majority of 141 and Stewart by 105 over Birkett and Champagne, conservatives. The most obvious lesson from the returns in Ottawa is that the new vote went liberal. Birkett and Champagne each received a total support, which did not differ very materially from that accorded them in 1900. It was the new voters that constituted the great element of doubt in the constituency. Then there were some 500 new acquisitions to the civil service, all of which were so many liberal votes, while indications would appear to point to the conclusion that the services as a whole are influenced by the probable return of the government decided to support its two candidates in Ottawa. There are other reasons. The government is now carrying on in this city a number of more or less extensive works in the line of building or improvements. These give employment to several hundred men. These votes were recorded solidly liberal. Then there were all the big corporations, including the Canada Atlantic (now Grand Trunk) each of whose employees were counselled to vote for Belcourt and Stewart. Correspondingly on the whole the conservatives had a very uphill fight.

Here's a Puzzle For Somebody AND ALL ON ACCOUNT OF "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD"

"The hold upon the people of Annapolis county which this 'Royal Household' flour has secured of late is one of the most remarkable things I have seen in my eighteen years business experience," said an Annapolis county merchant who attended the Halifax Exhibition. I find that the majority of my customers absolutely refuse to take anything but "Royal Household" and I tell you it is almost a serious problem with some of us as to how we are going to sell the stocks we have of other fairly good flours.

BORDEN IS NOT WORRIED.

Of Course He is Disappointed at the Result, But is Pleased With the Measure of Success Which Attended His Party.

HALIFAX, Nov. 4.—Golf is a solace to the wearied mind and tired body, and when your correspondent called on R. L. Borden this evening at his residence at the Northwest Arm he found that gentleman taking things easy in the anticipation of an afternoon to be spent tomorrow on the links of the Halifax club. Mr. Borden laughingly told the reporter that he had made arrangements for a good game. From all parts of Canada he has received telegrams expressing great regret at the result of the election in Nova Scotia, and especially at the outcome of the contest in Halifax. Asked if he had anything to say regarding his future movements, the reply of Mr. Borden was that he had no announcement to make at present except to thank his friends all over the Dominion for the splendid fight which they had made in the recent contest. He said: "The result in Nova Scotia was a great surprise as well as a great disappointment. It was due to causes which can better be discussed after they are more thoroughly understood. Our defeat here has compensated elsewhere, and especially delighted to know that so many of my colleagues in the late parliament have been re-elected. Besides this, there will be among the conservatives in the new parliament many able men, some of whom became candidates but my personal solicitation and in whose success I greatly rejoice. On the other hand, the country as well as the party has sustained a great loss in the defeat, which I deeply regret, of some very able and devoted conservatives. The opposition, although not quite as strong numerically as in the last parliament, will be able to give an excellent account of itself."

Walter Green, in the role of commander Lord Ronalds, R. N.; Henry Carl Lewis, as Giuseppe; Sydney Stone, as Judson; Lawrence Pollock, as Markham, and George McCellan, as Thomas, are strong supporters. Ethel Brooks Ferguson, the leading lady, as Lady Lumley, has the most difficult role in the play. She is pretty and attractive, and she is very popular with the audience. Maudie Hampton as Cummings, and Francis Marham as Mrs. of the Thornton, are particularly adapted to their parts.

The costumes of the ladies are handsome. There were numerous curtain calls during the evening. The company in order to arrive in Quebec in time for the opening of the next term, will be obliged to leave St. John immediately after the matinee. It is regretted that there is to be no evening performance.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE. A Largely Attended Meeting Held Last Evening at Silver Falls.

The first of a number of meetings of the Farmers' Institute under the auspices of the St. John Agricultural Society, was held last evening at Silver Falls, in the parish school house. The speaker was Mr. W. E. Fraser of Bedford, Ont., on care and application of farm manure, and the growing of clover; and by C. F. Alward of Havelock, on raising of calves for dairy purposes. Both addresses came up for discussion and many good points were brought out. Short speeches were made by W. W. Hubbard, who spoke on the question of farm labor, and how it might be economized. He stated that he was gathering statistics as to the number of farm laborers required for this province during next spring, with the object of recommending that steps be taken to make supply and demand meet. W. F. Pumphrey of Meductic, N. P., emphasized the necessity of more horse stock upon Nova Brunswick farms, and the possibility of increasing the yield of crops by better methods of cultivation. A vote of thanks to the speakers was moved by F. V. Hamlin and heartily carried. The St. John people attending the institute were R. E. Patheol and S. T. Goding. Messrs. Alward and Fraser will address the institute at Lower Golden Grove.

QUEBEC ELECTIONS. Will be Held on 25th of November.

QUEBEC, Nov. 4.—At a meeting of the provincial cabinet this morning it was decided to dissolve the legislature. The day of nomination has been fixed for the 18th instant, and polling for the 25th. It is expected that the Parliament will be returned to office. Conservatives will put up as good a fight as possible with the hope of strengthening their weak numerical position. Already they possess much debating strength. The liberals will, as usual, run the campaign on the strength of Laurier's name. PRIMAL UNION. The primal union for Sunday school teachers was reorganized yesterday afternoon in Centenary church. Mrs. W. C. Matthews was elected president and leader of the union. Mrs. Robert Reid secretary. It was decided to hold meetings each week, when methods and forms of Sunday school work will be discussed. About twenty-five teachers were present. Miss Gunn taught the afternoon's lesson and Miss Burditt gave an address on plans and methods of Sunday school work. The society is un denominational and all Sunday school teachers are heartily welcomed to its meetings.

NO INQUEST NECESSARY.

Death of William Ogden Was Undoubtedly Not Caused by Any Foul Play

It is hardly probable that an inquest will be held in the case of William Ogden, who was found dead at the foot of Sheffield street yesterday. This morning Ogden's son and grand-son came to the city from Hampton and coroner Frymoyer limited the necessary permit for the removal of the body, which will be taken to Hampton today for interment.

The police have carefully investigated the matter and are now satisfied that Ogden did not meet with any foul play.

He was last seen by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hector, of Sheffield street, who saw him leave about nine o'clock saying that he was going to visit Clara Burns, who resides in Blood Alley.

Ogden had spent a pleasant evening at the Hector house. Mrs. Hector, nee Fanny Stewart, is a bride of but two days, having been married on election day.

Mr. Ogden, after leaving the Hector's went toward the railway track and it was probably his intention to have walked up the track to Duke street, but in the dark stepped over the embankment. He was eighty-two years of age.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

In the York Theatre tomorrow, Sunday, at 3.30 p. m., Bliss Knapp, C. S. E. of Boston, will deliver a lecture on Christian Science, free to the public, by invitation of the St. John church. Mr. Knapp is a member of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, and is an earnest thoughtful speaker of much platform ability. The rapid and phenomenal spread of Christian Science on the North American continent in a few years has amazed the religious world. In 1897 the whole denomination contained only 390 churches and now it contains 860. In international text book, written by Mrs. Eddy, had only passed its 150th thousand, and now it has reached its 25th thousand, and more copies of it are sold in the last twelve months than were sold in the previous ten years. The public is cordially invited to attend tomorrow afternoon. The lecture is complimentary and no admission fee is charged.

DIGS GOLD IN HIS BACK YARD.

Nevada Man Takes $177 in Two Days From Dirt on His Own Premises.

RENO, Nov. 4.—As the result of less than two days' labor C. J. Orth, of Dayton, cleaned up $177. The precious metal was taken from a mine that was discovered from the steps of his kitchen yard and is but a small part of the wealth which the lucky man expects to take out.

The find was made while Orth was digging a well. He panned the dirt one day, found large values, and is now devoting his entire time to working the bonanza. He has rigged up a two thousand gallon water tank for use in washing the dirt.

The earth once worked is turned over back to the ground excavated. In this way Orth hopes to be able to work out the mine and still have his home property.

DIPHTHERIA DECREASING.

The indications are now that Carleton, where for months different homes have been invaded by diphtheria, will before the winter be rid of this disease. During the last week the disease has decreased and today two patients were declared cured by the removal of cards. There was only one new case reported in Carleton this week. In the city proper three cases of diphtheria were reported the present week.
