

ELECTORS CROWD THEATRE AT WOODSTOCK AND HEAR SPEECHES FOR MELVILLE

Speakers Greeted With Hearty Applause and Their Points Were Driven Home in a Logical Manner—Mr. Melville Spoke of Canada's Prosperity and Showed Present Gov't Stood for the Square Deal for All—Colonel Melville Fearlessly Attacked Class Legislation of the Farmer.

(Staff Correspondent.)

Woodstock, Oct. 24.—A rousing meeting in the interest of Lieut-Col. W. W. Melville as representative of Carleton-Victoria in the House of Commons was held in the Hayden-Gibson theatre here tonight.

Col. Melville himself addressed the electors and was followed by Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. General, and Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor.

The theatre was crowded, every available seat being occupied and many standing in rear of hall. The women were out in force and showed a keen interest in the various questions under discussion. The speakers were greeted with hearty applause and their points were driven home in a clear and logical manner.

Hon. Mr. Meighen made a fine impression and his remarks were given the closest attention. The proceedings were continued at one point by Mrs. Minnie Isabel Adney, who wished to be a candidate, taking part. She mounted the platform and made accusations against both candidates. Her remarks were greeted with roars of laughter. Col. Melville said a glowing tribute to the part played by women in the war, and the manner in which the returned men were being looked after. He urged his hearers to support Col. Melville in the election, and was still willing to do his share in advancing the interest of Canada.

Hon. Mr. Rogers made a short address and placed clearly before the audience the advantages that would come through the election of Col. Melville. These points were highly instructive and clearly showed that the choice of Col. Melville as a candidate had been a wise one.

Col. Melville, in opening his remarks referred to the fact that women were taking a keen interest in the affairs of the country. He felt that they would be of great assistance, for although men could be fooled women could not.

When Mr. Carvell had resigned, Mr. Caldwell had been nominated, but only as a representative of a few farmers. "Mr. Caldwell does not represent," said Col. Melville, "all the farmers. He says he speaks for a class. We do not want class representation. We want combined efforts of all the people so that we can make proper reconstruction in the country."

"During the last few years we have had a great war, just because the classes were trying to rule. At present in Canada we have the classes Mr. Caldwell represents. He says tariff is too high, and it is clear he will go on tearing things to pieces. He tears down freight, etc., he will only make matters worse and cause reduction of wages, in fact Mr. Caldwell said only a few days ago that laboring men were getting too much anyway. I believe in fair wages and fair prices. I am in favor of reducing the tariff on all essentials to a reasonable amount, but I am not willing to destroy factories by any act. These matters of tariff and duties must be dealt with for the whole Dominion, and not with certain sections. We have the returned soldier problem. Men worked over there at lower wages than they would have got at home."

"Some have come back sick and crippled and some disabled. There has been talk of $2,000 war gratuity. The Minister of Finance said the country could not stand it. There are laws in the plans so far offered. If I am elected I will do the best I can. I will personally investigate the case of each soldier in Victoria and Carleton and see what is best suited for his needs. I have had experience with soldiers, and Mr. Caldwell is no more fitted to look after the soldier than a blacksmith is to fix a watch. If elected I will do all I can to give the returned soldier a fair deal. If elected I'll be independent of party, I am an independent Conservative, and I'll do my best to represent this constituency properly."

Mr. Meighen.

Hon. Mr. Meighen said: "This is the first election that I've attempted to address a maritime province audience. Today I saw evidence of the enterprise of citizens of this town. Your fine agricultural buildings are a credit to the community. We have had a very temperate year over this province, a lament few of us have yet been to reach. The carrying on of Canada's part in the war was the first claim on our government, and possibly we, as members of the government, did not get about as much as we should. As a result much information has got about considering the government. We had to do many things in order not to see our country disgraced. We do not worry about what the people say so long as the country held in the right. My experience has been that 80 per cent. of the people desire to do right as they see it."

"The Union government was elected to see that Canada did its share in the great war. Is there one person ashamed of the part Canada played in the war? Everything was done that a country could do to hold our place and bring credit here."

"Let the men who went over there have the credit, and do not give it to those who remained at home."

"The election of the Union Government brought encouragement to the empire to our four divisions. It told the boys that the people of Canada were behind them to the last day of the war."

"I know of some who can point to cases of returned men where more could have been done for them, but we did all that could be done to help both disabled and others."

"Thirty million dollars a year is being paid on behalf of the wounded and disabled soldiers. And in those activities we have exceeded every other nation on the face of the globe. England and United States both send delegates to Canada to study our methods and today the United States plan for wounded soldiers is an exact copy of our own. We have granted unbounded a gratuity much larger than any other country. A committee will report to parliament next week on what further should be done for the soldiers."

"By our farm settlement scheme we have placed 15,000 returned soldiers on farms. This system has been most successful and we have placed more soldiers on farms than all the other dominions put together and the United States thrown in. Generous assistance has been given to men going on farms. We have spent $25,000,000 already on this scheme, and it will cost 125 to 150 millions before it is finished."

"A candidate has been nominated by the farmers. The farmers have done some good in the west. There should, however, be no occupational policies."

The speaker pointed out that Mr. Caldwell would be independent in parliament. He would be called upon every day to decide for one party or the other.

Hon. Mr. Meighen said that the tariff had not been revised for at least ten years. The tariff only produced 147 millions out of a total revenue of 280 millions. The tariff now produced less than it used to, although three times as much income is needed. He then went into the matter of taxes and explained the sources of the country's income as told of the workings of the income tax which was heavy on big incomes.

Referring to the tariff on implements, he stated that the duty now was the lowest since confederation and it was not a great hardship on the farmer. He showed that the tariff made permanent industries in Canada. There were some people who made promises that were pleasing to the ear, but no party could wipe out tariff. Some people had claimed discrimination against the farmer but this was not so as far as the government was concerned. A prosperous agricultural people was necessary to the country, and the prosperity of Canada depended on the advancement of the farmers. He then answered some questions in regard to the Grand Trunk system. He felt that under the circumstances the system must be taken over and that there was no other course left open to the government.

Miners' Conference Failed To Reach An Agreement

Conference Breaks up and 500,000 Miners Will Quit Work on the Eve of Winter

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—The last government effort to avert the coal strikes set for November 1, failed utterly tonight, and half a million miners will quit work on the very eve of winter, with the nation's busy running dangerously low.

Even an appeal from President Wilson, sick in bed at the White House, was not enough to bring peace to a conference that was torn and on the breaking point half a dozen times during the day. Charges and counter charges flew thick and fast as the group of operators and miners fled what hopefully four days ago.

While the operators announced that they had accepted the President's offer to wipe the slate clean and negotiate a new wage agreement, the miners charged that the operators had bolted without the consent of Secretary of Labor Wilson, who was the storm centre of an extraordinary fight to save the country untold distress and suffering.

Surrounded by a score of miners, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, hurried from the hall and halted long enough to announce that the strikers ordered an after a full day's work on the closing day of the present month.

The President's appeal was made through Secretary Wilson after the latter had exhausted every possible effort and had pleaded until a strike seemed, and averted the two sides to get together negotiating their differences, resorting to arbitration only if the important point in the proposal, how long the miners stay at work, was open and the miners stay at work.

PRES. WILSON FAILS TO SAVE FROM DISSOLUTION THE GREAT INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

The Public Group, the Last Remaining Element of the Body, Finally Adjourned Last Night—Conference Called to Find Some Common Ground for Cooperation Between Labor and Capital on the Outcome of Which Some Strikes Were Held in Abeyance.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—With a recommendation to President Wilson that he create a commission to carry on the work which the National Industrial Conference was unable to accomplish, the public group, the last remaining element of the body, finally adjourned tonight.

Despite two attempts by Mr. Wilson to save from dissolution the gathering, tonight's adjournment brought to a formal close the conference, called by the executive, to find some common ground for cooperation between labor and capital on the outcome of which were held in abeyance strikes affecting the entire industrial life of the nation.

The report of the public representatives declining to assume the task for which the original gathering was called, was transmitted to the White House through the chairman, Bernard M. Baruch in the form of a thousand word letter. No information was forthcoming from the White House as to the President's next move to bring industrial peace to the country.

Although the report was not made public, it was learned that the document summarized the proceedings of the fourteen days the conference was in session, put the stamp of approval on the plan for industrial boards suggested by Secretary of Labor Wilson, and recommended the calling of an election to settle the question of whether the peace adjustment. It was drafted by a committee of five delegates, of which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was chairman, although four or five conferees were opposed to final adjustment, only Dr. Charles W. Eliott, president emeritus of Harvard University, voted against the motion on final tests.

Delegates urged that the high cost of living and other problems be pressed for immediate solution before dissolution, but a strong majority of the representatives, it was said, felt that the conference virtually came to an end with the withdrawal of the labor group Wednesday, and that the public group was not sufficiently representative to undertake a general program, and also was handicapped by popular disfavour.

The industrial board plan of Secretary Wilson, which met with favor among the delegates, provides for boards of employers and employees in each industry with a general board of appeals and as a final resort, in cases of disputes, an umpire chosen by the parties to the dispute, or from

PARLIAMENT TO PROROGUE LAST OF NEXT WEEK

Session is in its Dying Days and Many of the Members Have Left for Their Homes.

KEEN INTEREST IN BY-ELECTIONS

Government Expects to Carry Carleton-Victoria Although Expect Vote to be Very Close.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 24.—The session is in its dying days. Tonight scores of members left for their homes and prorogation is expected by the end of next week. The Grand Trunk purchase agreement made substantial progress through its committee stage in the commons today, and will be sent to the Senate on Monday night. In the Upper House it is expected that it will receive strong opposition, and it is likely that a number of government supporters will come out against it. Its passage, however, is practically assured.

Keen interest is being manifested in the by-elections on Monday. The government expects to carry Victoria and Carleton-Victoria although the vote is expected to be close in both ridings. The grand reform candidate is expected to carry Assiniboia against Hon. W. R. Motherwell, the Liberal representative by an enormous majority, and the United Farmers' party are also certain to capture Manitoba. There is no government candidate in either of these ridings.

A house which contained barely a dozen members, probably not a single member even as much as looked at the treaty, let alone study it. The opposition spoke for the government and it is likely that the vote of the government that it was all right.

Old time Liberals as well as Conservatives have flocked to his ranks, and many farmers, too, have signified their intention of casting their votes in his favor. The electors feel that they should give their support to Col. Melville on account of his qualifications for representing the people, and also for the fact that once before he gave his services to his country and served on the battle fronts of the empire.

The women electors have been taking a keen interest in the campaign for Colonel Melville, and their influence has been exerted on his behalf. The women feel that the soldier candidate will make a real representative of the people, both men and women.

On the other hand it is felt that the Farmers' candidate, Mr. Caldwell, is rather opposed to women having a say in public affairs, and in many cases at his meetings there has been little or no recognition of the women voters. This fact has been much toward turning the women from supporting the farmer candidate.

The returned men have also cast their lot with Col. Melville's followers. In him they feel they have one who knows the conditions at the front during the war, and is, therefore, able to judge the needs of the former soldiers. They consider Col. Melville as one of themselves and that

AUSTRIA BUDGET LAID BEFORE THE NAT'L ASSEMBLY

The Financial Plan Contained Nothing Novel and is Based Largely on Foreign Credits.

Vienna, Thursday, Oct. 23.—(By The A. P.)—The Minister of Finance, Dr. Hoesch, laid the budget before the National Assembly this evening. This contained nothing novel and is based largely on foreign credits, an issue of bank notes and generally increased taxation, both direct and indirect, together with the imposition of a compulsory contribution upon wealth.

LEON TROTSKY TAKES CHARGE AT PETROGRAD

Montreal, Oct. 24.—Believed to be a victim of poisoning, C. A. Picher, 23 years of age, a returned soldier, died yesterday at the Drummond Street Hospital. According to the information given by the police, the victim was taken by two friends to a house on St. Herbert street, occupied by a family which moved there on Saturday. After a friendly talk, a social glass of beer was taken, following which, according to the story told to the police by the tenants, Picher was seen to absorb a white powder and shortly afterwards became unconscious. The family notified the police and because the man was a returned soldier, he was removed to the Drummond Street Hospital for observation, where he died without regaining consciousness.

NEW CLAIMANT FOR FLYING RECORD ACROSS CONTINENT

Washington, Oct. 23.—A new claimant to first honors in the transcontinental air race derby appeared today when the Air Service announced that Lieutenant Alexander Pearson, Jr., established the lowest actual flying time between San Francisco and New York and return yet reported. Pearson's time was 18 hours, 37 minutes and 18 seconds for the round trip, practically ten hours less than that of Captain Lowell H. Smith, or K. O. Lawson, and better than Lieut. B. W. Maynard's record, even after subtracting the 18 hours Maynard spent in replacing his motor.

COL. MELVILLE

Candidate in Victoria-Carleton Federal Bye-Election.

St. Stephen, Oct. 24.—A word returned soldiers of Carleton-Victoria Country Monday in election day. Whom should we vote for? This is the first opportunity to see where we stand as Great War Veterans. Omitting anything we might say of the other man it is up to every soldier to stand by and vote for a real soldier and a man's man.

Colonel W. W. Melville went overseas in 1914 and stayed at the front as long as his health would permit. He has a record to be proud of and one I am sure every man who served under him is proud of. No job too big for him to undertake, no better than that, to make good at, remember the bridge at Valenciennes! Omitting anything we might say of the other man it is up to every soldier to stand by and vote for a real soldier and a man's man.

Colonel Melville was the only company of Engineers available for engineering the other two being trapped by the sudden advance of the enemy and had to take their place with the Infantry. The first Company was driven out by small fire retreating under orders of General Aderson. Colonel Melville successfully got his Company back to the Yser Canal to put in additional bridges and mined those already in use, controlling them so that the last man of ours got over in an emergency and not one of the enemy.

Colonel Melville would never send a man where he would not go himself. Moving to a new front he would not wait for maps and reports but would personally look over the ground—through for war.

We could not get a better man to represent our constituency, one who better, nor one who would do more for all.

St. Stephen, Oct. 24.—What may prove one of the greatest industrial battles in history was believed by some observers here to be forecast by the announcement today of Samuel Gompers, that a conference of the heads of the 112 International Unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor would be held in Washington "in the near future," to discuss present and impending disputes.

Co-operation of the four big railroad brotherhoods and the farmers of the country, as well as the labor organizations of Canada, probably would be sought, it was said, in furthering whatever programme the union chiefs decide upon.

Gompers Fighting

Mr. Gompers' announcement was contained in a telegram to the Illinois Federation of Labor at Peoria. His message was in reply to one in which the Illinois organization asked that a special convention of the American Federation of Labor be called to perfect an alliance of the International Unions of the United States and Canada, and the railroad brotherhoods, more effectively to fight out the life and death struggle of the workers now in progress." stands for these great principles for which Canadian manhood fought and bled on the fields of France and Flanders.

The electors of Carleton-Victoria have already shown where they stand in this bye-election and both liberal and conservative have come out strongly for Col. Melville.

On the other hand Mr. Caldwell is meeting with scant success although he has been in the field for more than a month his cause has gained but little. In some farming districts he has fair support, but the rank and file of voters have not been drawn to his ranks. The farmers generally feel that Colonel Melville would better serve them as their representative at Ottawa. Some of the fact, that, if elected he would be practically alone and would eventually have to cast his lot with one or the other of the parties in the house and so lose his identity as a farmer representative.

Misunderstanding on the Part of Returning Officers May Cause Another Vote on Liquor Question.

ONTARIO FACTIONS QUITE AROUSED

President of Liberty League Says One Returning Officer Counted Votes Wrong.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 24.—Serious misunderstanding on the part of the deputy returning officers as to the way in which referendum votes should have been counted is alleged by the Citizens' Liberty League and it is said that a re-vote may be demanded by the league. J. R. Bell, of the Liberty League, claims that certain deputy returning officers wrongly counted ballots, not understanding whether "for" meant "yes" or "no," and he says one Toronto deputy returning officer counted about five hundred votes wrongly because of his confused idea as to what these answers on the ballots meant. Appeal to Mr. Dimont, chief election clerk for Ontario, pointing out that whereas the members of the League were entitled to their rights and privileges of candidates during the taking of the referendum vote, the officers had not recognized this right. Mr. Bell's letter to Dimont concluded as follows:

"Will you kindly arrange to have the returning officer for each electoral district in Ontario forward to us a statement showing the total number of 'for' and 'no' ballots spoiled or rejected in each place or polling station, and a grand total showing the number voting 'no' or 'yes' in the different electoral districts of Ontario."

Rev. Ben Spence had no direct statement to make with regard to the Liberty League's protest. "A poor loser is a poor sport," he remarked.

GREATEST INDUSTRIAL BATTLE IN HISTORY FORECAST BY ANNOUNCEMENT OF GOMPERS

Calls Conference of Heads of the 112 International Unions Affiliated With the American Federation of Labor—Will Make Plans to "More Effectively Fight Out the Life and Death Struggle of the Workers"—Gompers Warns Employers.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—What may prove one of the greatest industrial battles in history was believed by some observers here to be forecast by the announcement today of Samuel Gompers, that a conference of the heads of the 112 International Unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor would be held in Washington "in the near future," to discuss present and impending disputes.

Federation officials

Decision to issue a call for a meeting of the International Union chiefs was reached by the federation's executive council Tuesday night, but the announcement was withheld. At that time labor officials had become convinced that the National Industrial Conference would be unable to reach any basis for the establishment of industrial peace. It was on the following day that Mr. Gompers, in withdrawing organized labor's representatives from the conference, warned the employers' group that when they met in conference again with the spokesmen for union labor they would be glad to talk collective bargaining. Federation officials today declined to go into details regarding the forthcoming conference. They said subjects to be discussed would rest with the union chiefs themselves and the time of the meeting had not been determined.

TORONTO VICTORY LOAN WORKERS HEAR INSPIRING ADDRESS

Sir George Foster Informed Gathering That Any Fears Gov't Had as to Success of the Loan Had Been Dispelled.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 23.—Five hundred Victory Loan workers, among them 150 men who a year ago were fighting in France, met in Toronto tonight to discuss plans for the Victory Loan drive which starts on Monday, and to hear an address from Sir George Foster, acting Prime Minister. J. W. Mitchell presided, and speeches were delivered, in addition to Sir George's, by E. R. Wood, T. A. Russell and E. L. Ruddy. Toronto's objective in the Victory Loan drive is $90,000,000; but the workers are confident that they will raise much more than that amount. Trophies will be awarded to the teams making the highest collection, as well as to those leading day by day. Each of the speakers referred to the splendid organization in Toronto, and expressed confidence in the success of the loan. Sir George Foster informed the gathering that any fears the government had as to the success of the loan had been dispelled, and the government was confident that the people would do their duty as bravely and nobly as they had before. The unity of spirit which now prevailed in Canada, he said, if injected and made permanent, would be one of the chief factors in the development of the country. It was worth untold millions if that spirit were kept dominant in Canada. The future of Canada, he was certain, was assured.

FOREIGN RELATIONS COMM. APPROVES MORE RESERVATIONS

Four Approved Yesterday Gives Congress Authority to Say Who Shall Represent U. S. on League of Nations

Washington, Oct. 23.—Four more reservations were approved by the senate foreign relations committee today as part of its new programme for qualified acceptance of the peace treaty.

Its action brought the number of reservations approved by the committee up to fourteen, and while it was said no more were to be considered for the present, it is considered likely that there will be additions as senate consideration of the treaty proceeds. The four accepted by the committee majority today provide for decision by the congress as to who shall represent this country in the League of Nations and as to what other international representative shall be chosen under the treaty, for validation of proceedings relative to enemy property only insofar as such proceedings do not violate the laws of the United States, for renunciation by this government of any part in the German colonies, and for a blanket provision to conserve the "national honor and vital interests" of this nation. The ten subjects covered by the reservations were:

Fair Vale Outing Club's Programme

Will Hold Aquatic Sports Next Year — Constitution Adopted and Officers Elected.

A meeting to complete the organization of the Fair Vale Outing Club was held at St. John last evening.

At 8.30 the chairman, Mr. W. White, called the meeting to order and stated the purpose was to complete organization, adopt constitution and by-laws, and elect officers for the ensuing term.

The meeting last evening was very enthusiastic, the members claiming that now they had adopted constitution and by-laws the club would be better and stronger than ever. When the spring opens it will be prepared to start athletic and aquatic sports.

At the meeting last evening the following officers were elected:

President—Major Frost.
Vice-president—Kenneth Spear.
Secretary—L. Dow.
Treasurer—Harry Machum.

The executive committee will be composed of the officers of the club and five elective members: R. F. Gooderich, Mr. Murphy, Mr. F. Quinlan, Wm. J. Swetke and James Logan.

You Already Know

It is the Dainty Enclosed Model of the Car Men Everywhere Praise so Highly

The Essex Sedan

A legion of friends waited the coming of the Essex Sedan. It came, already known, in a sense. The touring model foretold its quality and performance. It hinted the dainty beauty to be expected.

So men bought the first Essex Sedans, unseen, solely on what they knew of the touring model.

are exclusive to light weight cars. Any motorist knows that such quality, material and workmanship, would be impossible in a big car at the Essex price.

Essex Size No Bar to Supreme Performance

One owner writes: "The Essex proves that size is no more essential to fine performance in a motor car, than in a watch. It is just the best car qualities in a small case."

The Essex was designed as just such a car. How it met our aim is best answered by what thousands who own and know the Essex, say of it. Come and ride in the Sedan. See if you too find the appeal, that won so many admirers.

Women like its daintiness. The finish and pleasing appointments gratify discriminating taste. It is the sort of car you instinctively expect to see in any gathering of fine motor cars.

But it is Essex performance and endurance that must always appeal strongest to men. Power for the hills, speed and endurance to which no distance is a barrier, alertness and prompt pickup in crowded traffic—these are qualities which will always win the affection of thorough-going motorists.

Another member of the Essex family that will especially interest those to whom smartness, combined with supreme performance appeals, is the Essex Roadster.

From the first Essex popularity has been the motor sensation of the year. Because in the Essex men found qualities they never hoped to obtain except in high-priced cars.

With two buys a waiting for every Essex we can produce, it is obvious that you must act promptly to secure an early delivery.

Now It Speaks For Itself

More than 1500 Essex Sedans are now in service. Every day more than 100 new Essex owners are added. Of these, a large proportion get Sedans. It is becoming the popular all-seasons car.

Just hear what owners say of the way it excels its promise. Their chief joy is in its ambience. Abundant surplus power handles the extra weight of the Sedan with ease.

That is why many buy it, who formerly found enclosed cars too sluggish to be desirable.

Big Car Performance Small Car Economy

These days everyone is talking about the Essex Sedan. You will hear much that may lead you to regard it as a large high-priced car, because owners in describing it invariably compare it with big costly cars.

Their speech reflects the spaciousness of its interior; its luxury finish; its solidness and quiet riding ease. All qualities usually regarded as exclusive to big expensive cars.

Yet the Essex is not a large car. It has the wanted big car qualities. But it also enjoys such advantages as upkeep economy, handling ease and liveliness, that

KEEP ST. JOHN HUMMING

Canada is running a great National Store. Great Britain and other lands come here to buy our surplus agricultural and industrial products. These are the orders that are keeping Canadians busy and prosperous. That is where the money comes from that is paying our farmers for their surplus products and providing full pay envelopes for our workers. But Great Britain and our allies are temporarily short of "cash." So Canada must extend them "credit"—just as any storekeeper extends credit to any customer whose financial standing is good. The success of the Victory Loan 1917 and 1918 made possible the giving of these credits.

A continuation of these credits and the maintenance of our valuable overseas markets—depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919. You will therefore plainly see how closely bound up with the Victory Loan 1919 is the prosperity of everyone in Canada, without exception. Do not think your individual co-operation "does not matter." It does matter. Unless Canadians to the last man support the Victory Loan it will not be the success that our continuous prosperity demands. Let St. John do its share to keep things humming.

DON'T "LEAVE IT TO GEORGE"

Canada was never lacking in war enterprise—war strategy—war efficiency. She always carried out successfully her plans of war.

Now—we must apply the same determination and energy to the plans of peace, for we now have new problems to solve.

We are faced with the great work of readjusting our country from a War to a Peace footing.

Our immediate duty is to provide the national working capital, without which it will be impossible to carry out the Plans of Peace.

Demobilization, bonuses to soldiers, civil re-establishment, credit loans to Britain for the purchase of Canadian surplus products, ensuring continued employment to our workers. All these call for national capital, and the Victory Bonds 1919 will provide that capital.

Therefore, the success of the Victory Loan is not something that concerns "the other fellow" only.

You have a part to play.

Your individual prosperity is at stake.

YOU must support the Victory Loan just as enthusiastically as your fellow citizens.

Canada must have the money to carry out the Plans of Peace.

FORMER PREMIER APPEARS BEFORE SENATE TO ANSWER

Joseph Caillaux Charged with Premature and Dishonourable Peace with Germany

Paris, Oct. 23.—Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, appeared before the High Court this afternoon in answer to the charge of bringing to a premature and dishonourable peace with Germany. Antonio Dubost, the President of the Senate, who also presides over the High Court when the senate sits as a body, entered the senate chamber shortly after two o'clock and 2.30 summoned M. Caillaux to the bar. The 64-year-old Premier has grown thin during his long period under detention in prison and sanitarium, but he walked into the court today with a steady gait and without any display of emotion. The public seats in the Chamber were occupied by an expectant crowd as the session opened. After calling the roll of members of the court, reading the decrees constituting the tribunal, and asking the usual formal questions of the defendant to his identity, etc., Senator Dubost called upon the procureur, General Lescoupe, who asked that the trial of the case should be deferred until the second half of November. Lescoupe based this upon the time required for witnesses from America to arrive. M. Caillaux arose and declared himself ready for immediate trial. D.

Mr. Lloyd George and his Government must look to their laurels, another new party has entered the lists to fight the good fight for power on the parliamentary battlefield. They style themselves, "The Royalist Party" and have already promised to restore our historic Constitution, build more houses, and provide cheaper food, coal, clothing and railway fares. "Do not think for a moment," said Captain Chitty Thomas, M.C., representative of the party, to Daily Express representative yesterday, "that we are mediaeval in our ideas. We are modern, though not exactly progressive. We do not believe in forcing progress like a hothouse plant. Let it take its course. We would like to go back to the comfortable days when a King was a King and the lords had real administrative power. "We intend to restore the liberties of the subject in the shape of the removal of restrictions imposed on the worker since 1914, and give labor, so far as companies are concerned, a real interest in production by means of profit-sharing. "You talk like a democrat and yourself a royalist," said the Daily Express representative of the party. "The liberties of the people were greater fifty years ago than they are now," replied Captain Chitty Thomas. "Look at the present-day restrictions on public liberty," he added giving a few examples. "There has been a war," pleaded the Daily Express representative. "True, but it is over," was the retort. Men treat voting women with a respect as a potential power, declared Miss Adella Potter, of New York, formerly national organizer for woman suffrage party in the United States, speaking at the intimate luncheon of the Delphic Club at Windsor Hotel, Montreal recently. Club of which Mrs. J. E. Davis, president, is to meet fortnightly for study and discussion. Miss Potter, speaker yesterday, sketched the story of the struggle of American men for the franchise. In the years during which women have the right to vote in New York she said, the woman voter has shown a disposition to be independent party politics, and to stand only for party which showed a definite record of action along the line of reform in which she was interested. It also observed that the women have a keen interest in exercising the franchise, registering without particular solicitation and informing themselves on the questions involved in the test.

FORMER PREMIER OF FRANCE APPEARS BEFORE HIGH COURT TO ANSWER TREASON CHARGE

Joseph Calliaux Charged With Intriguing to Bring About a Premature and Dishonorable Peace With Germany—Senate Acts as High Court.

Paris, Oct. 23.—Joseph Calliaux, former Premier of France, appeared before the High Court this afternoon in answer to the charge of intriguing to bring about a premature and dishonorable peace with Germany. Antonio Dubost, the President of the Senate, who also presides over the High Court when the senate sits as a body, entered the senate chamber shortly after two o'clock and at 2.30 summoned M. Calliaux to the bag.

The ex-premier has grown thin during his long period under detention in prison and sanitarium, but he walked into the court today with a steady gait and without any display of emotion. The public seats in the Chamber were occupied by an expectant crowd as the session opened.

After calling the roll of members, the court reading the decree constituting the tribunal, and asking the usual formal questions of the defendant as to his identity, etc., Senator Dubost called upon the procurator, General M. Lescouvé, who asked that the trial of the case should be deferred until the second half of November. M. Lescouvé based this upon the time required for witnesses from America to arrive.

M. Calliaux arose and declared himself ready for immediate trial. During twenty years of political life, he went on to say, he had sought only the welfare of his country, and in view of his conception of world politics his conscience was nowise uneasy for what he had done. He denounced the prosecution for the way it had aroused public opinion against him and the methods by which "an inquisition against the freedom of human thought" had been prepared against him.

His attorney then asked that M. Calliaux be released provisionally pending the date set for trial, and the court retired to deliberate.

Trial Day Set.

Paris, Oct. 23.—Joseph Calliaux, former Premier of France, on January 14 next is to face his accusers on a charge of intriguing to bring about a premature and dishonorable peace with Germany. This was decided today by the Senate sitting as a high court. The decision to set the trial for January was reached by a vote of 89 to 87. The High Court declined to accede to Calliaux's request for provisional liberty during the campaign for the Chamber of Deputies elections, the vote on this question being 100 to 36. Calliaux has announced his candidacy for deputy for the Department of Sarthe.

Four Reservations Adopted By The Relations Com.

Administration Senators Solidly Oppose Propositions Put up by Republicans.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—Four revised reservations to the Peace Treaty were adopted today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, with the administration leaders voting solidly against them.

The committee also adopted a preamble to the reservations providing that the treaty should not become effective until three of the other principal Allied and Associated Powers had agreed to the Senate's reservations. This, too, was opposed by the administration senators.

The four reservations approved related to article ten, the Monroe Doctrine, withdrawal, and domestic questions. On most of the roll calls the division was eleven to six, all of the Republicans voting in the affirmative.

The reservation adopted relating to Article Ten was identical except for the transportation of one phrase, with the one which President Wilson announced on his western trip that he would be obliged to "regard as a rejection of the treaty."

How to Wash Corduroy. Corduroy was much worn by women and children last year, and the thrifty inclined who may wish to wash the corduroy, but fear the result, will be glad to know that, provided the material is not squeezed, rubbed, or ironed, it may be washed successfully.

Before laundering any lined garment, big or little, loosen the lining to avoid bagging.

Use a mild solution of soap, preferably white castile. Soak the garments up and down in the warm soapy water, and change the water as soon as it becomes dirty.

Rinse in several clear waters until no trace of dirt or soap remains. Hang up the garments dripping wet so that they will dry in the shape in which they were worn. If possible, and hang out in the wind. When dry brush briskly to raise the nap.

For dark corduroy it may be advisable to use a solution of soap bark instead of the castile soap.

In Spite of the H. C. Conditions And Shortage Of Materials We Are Giving Unparalleled Values In Tailored-To-Measure Clothes

HAVE you looked into the windows of the clothing stores these past few weeks? The message they tell you is not very pleasing news for your pocket. The sort of clothes you bought three or four years ago at $15 to $20 are priced this season at $35 to $75—and a very few are shown at these prices. Many stores prefer not to quote prices in their windows. They want a chance to explain to you inside the store why they cannot afford to offer reliable clothing for less than $75.

If you have not fully appreciated the remarkable values the English & Scotch Woollen Co. are giving in Custom Tailored-to-Measure Clothes at Standardized Prices—as low as $20, we ask that you visit one of our 25 Quality Tailor Shops and examine the Fall and Winter fabrics and the finished garments on our delivery racks.

MR. CALDWELL'S PROMISED LAND.

Mr. Caldwell, who claims to be the United Farmers' candidate in Carleton-Victoria, seems to embody the spirit of unselfishness which is abroad in the land, and if he possessed an ability for constructive criticism equal to his faculty for making protests, his candidature might have done something to clear the air. But Mr. Caldwell has no constructive programme to offer the people, and a petulant manner of voicing a rather general feeling that the war has left Canada with some difficult problems on its hands is hardly a recommendation for a legislator at the present time. The aspiration of the farmers to send their own representatives to the House of Commons is legitimate, though the idea of class representation is novel in this country; the election of representative farmers to legislative bodies may be desirable, but Mr. Caldwell's claim to represent the farmers seems to be open to some question—at any rate he is generally regarded as a candidate of the Liberals, who could not muster courage to run a candidate under their own label. Mr. Caldwell has long been an ardent supporter of the Liberal party, and the fact that he has seen fit to attack Premier Foster, the nominal leader of the Provincial Liberals, may only have been intended to create the impression that he was an independent, and to enlist the support of the electors who have no strong party affiliations. In any case he probably figured that his attack on Mr. Foster would not alienate many Liberal votes in Victoria, for, according to all accounts, the Premier's standing in that constituency since he turned down the proposal to extend the Valley Railway has been of no importance.

Mr. Caldwell's views on the political issues of the period are rather indefinite; he is mainly dissatisfied with things as they are—a feeling shared by many other people, who, however, have the grace to recognize that it would have been a miracle if he had left Canada, of all countries in the world, with conditions as satisfactory as they were before. When it comes to telling us how we are to arrive at things as they ought to be, Mr. Caldwell's outlook is barren of fruitful ideas. He pretends to be angry with both political parties, and to hold the tariff responsible for most of the ills that afflict the people, and so far as can be judged from his rambling remarks he lifts up the hope that free trade would cure all our troubles. Possibly he believes that the tariff produced the conditions in which he finds so many causes for dissatisfaction, but the average elector probably realizes that the war produced conditions that made the tariff a factor of very little importance in economic affairs, and that those conditions which largely nullify the normal operation of customs duties still prevail to a very great extent.

Mr. Caldwell's advocacy of free trade will hardly make converts among the enterprising farmers of Carleton-Victoria who are accustomed to follow developments in other countries. This year the United States has bumper crops of all farm products except potatoes—crops which show that during the war there has been a tremendous increase of farm production there. In much of the United States has increased her herds by 2,000,000 head. This year the United States expects to market her big surplus of farm products in Europe. Next year the American farmers will probably continue production on the present scale, but it is altogether likely that next year Europe will recover sufficiently to produce a large measure of her needed foodstuffs. In the circumstances it is highly probable that the United States will have a large surplus of foodstuffs which will be seeking a market in other than European countries. If Mr. Caldwell has his way and the American farmer is given a free market in Canada, the farmers of Carleton and Victoria may have considerable difficulty retaining their present profitable markets in Montreal and other parts of this Dominion.

Mr. Caldwell is keen for the abolition of the tariff on manufactured articles, but there never was a more inopportune time to talk of abolishing the tariff on manufactured goods. During the war American manufacturing industries have developed at an unprecedented rate; in 1914 American exports were $2,364,000,000, and in 1918 they had risen to the huge total of $7,225,000,000; and extraordinary as it may appear to be the increase in the exports of manufactured goods was equal to the increase in the exports of foodstuffs. American manufacturing industries will not slow down all at once, but their markets in Europe are bound to decrease, as reconstruction proceeds there. At this juncture to give American manufacturers free entry to Canadian markets would spell disaster for this country. With the European market taking less and less of the surplus, American manufacturers would dump their products into Canada at slaughter prices. Comparatively few Canadian industries could stand up against such competition; thousands of factories would be forced to close down, and our cities would be full of idle working men. The prospect which Mr. Caldwell holds out is not a pleasant one for the farmers of Carleton-Victoria who sell their products almost entirely in the Canadian market. They could not obtain profitable prices or any prices at all if the industries of our cities were closed down and their workmen deprived of the opportunity of earning wages.

COLONEL MELVILLE.

Colonel Melville's candidature has rapidly developed strength, and it is only unfortunate that he did not enter the contest earlier. His robust personality, and blunt, soldierly manner of addressing himself to the questions of the day has made a fine impression wherever he has had an opportunity to speak at public meetings. His claims to represent the constituency are based on broader grounds than those of his opponent, who pretends that, if elected, he will serve the farmers without much regard to the interests of other sections of the community. It is necessary to the existence of the nation—and not only to the existence of the nation but to the existence of the individual who composes it. It is an instinct—probably the strongest instinct in the breast of man. For the instinct of patriotism drove men of the imminent risk of death not in single spies but in battalions, in droves, in myriads. Yet this instinct as it lies asleep in the heart in normal times, is unsuspected by our modern philosophers, who would have us believe that the dominant passions are the desire of gain or the individual motives of love, philanthropy, altruism. Yet such lies, strong in peace, broke like flax in the fire before the instinct which drove men out to fight for the survival of their nation—the organized community in which, and by which, they lived.

In Colonel Melville's view the most important question which may be considered an issue in the election is the problem of promoting measures designed to improve the returned soldier's opportunities of re-settlement in civil life. In a man who has shared the lot of the soldiers in the battle area such a view is natural enough, and it is justified by the circumstances of the election. In the general unsettlement of political and economic affairs following the war, a by-election is hardly an occasion for the discussion of other questions, perhaps of even greater importance in the long run but less urgent, for the moment. In a man who has shared the lot of the soldiers in the battle area such a view is natural enough, and it is justified by the circumstances of the election. Without the farmers people could not live. But without the soldiers the people of this country would not have liberty today, and a lot of good British people have valued liberty more than life. Mr. Caldwell might doubtless claim that if his views on political questions are somewhat vague his judgments of

THE FINAL EFFORT.

The manner in which the soldiers of Canada acquitted themselves in France evoked the astonishment and admiration of the world. Every objective they went after they took; they never lost a gun; they never retreated before the fiercest assaults of the enemy. Now Canadians are called upon to emulate their soldiers in effort, but without suffering or sacrifice. In the new offensive for the final Victory. It is up to Canadians to take every objective and refuse to accept the notion of defeat. The campaign will open on Monday, and the rally of subscribers should be prompt. If the campaign for the loan fails, Canada may find herself menaced by the forces of industrial depression, unemployment and widespread discontent. But if success attends our efforts we shall have had abundant proof of the ability of the country to continue along the road of prosperity, and at the same time we will have made sure the fulfilment of our obligations to the soldiers living and dead. In this last lap of our war effort Canada must exhibit the spirit of her heroic soldiers. Let the prosecution of the campaign, which will clean up the war bill and enable Canada to carry on, be the smashing success it ought to be.

WHAT THEY SAY

Pulling Apart.
Farmers' Sun: H. S. Arkell, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, says our only security for the holding of the British market for bacon is in producing hogs to the limit. Then this man O'Connor comes along and threatens to prohibit the export of hogs products altogether. We have such a multitude of officials in this country that one set does not even know what the other is doing and as a consequence one set pulls one way while the other pulls another.

In Praise of Patriotism.
London Morning Post: Patriotism is the instinct of survival in the nation. It is necessary to the existence of the nation—and not only to the existence of the nation but to the existence of the individual who composes it. And I took it home to nail it up over my door, say I couldn't find a nail so I used a pin, getting up on a chair and hammering it in with the back of my hair brush, thinking, Now if I suddenly start in having good luck after this, I'll know the reason.
Which I didn't have any special good luck the rest of the day, and this morning pop called me to get up 3 times without me realizing I was hearing him, and the 4th time he called up, Benny, if you don't hop up out of that I'll come up there after you, and if I do you'll wish I hadn't. Properly meaning he would give me a couple of archeds, and I said there if I was asleep again, and the next thing I knew somebody was yelling, Owtch, confound it to blazes, owtch, holey smokes owtch.
Being pop standing there holding one ankle on account of the horse shoe having fell down and hit it me saying, It ain't my fault, pop, it ain't my fault, it must be on account of the hunk out of the end of it.
What are you blithering about, you confound murtherer? sed pop.
The little hunk out of the end must've kept it from being lucky, I sed.
O, how intensely interesting, you little assassin, how did you have it fassened up there, edway? sed pop.
With a pin, I sed.
With a pin, of all the bone headed tricks I ever herd of, that's the bone headedest, got up now out of that and go to stool and lern a little sense, sed pop.
And he gave me 4 ferse cracks with his hand some place, me being lucky I was under the covers, but wishing I was under more. And I gulch got up and started to get dressed, thinking some time I mite try a horse shoe without a hunk out of it, but not being sure.

political personages are sufficiently definite. He told a Woodstock audience that: "Premier Foster is not a strong man; in fact he is a weak, but honest man."

Mr. Caldwell tells the farmers that they can buy American fertilizer, pay the duty on it, and then get it for the same price they pay to the Canadian manufacturer. If the farmers desire they can import the materials for mixing fertilizers free of duty, and it has been the policy of the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture to encourage them in this course. At one time anyway the Department had an official who gave the farmers advice as to the best mixtures for their particular soils and requirements. Unfortunately the American mixers of fertilizers control the sources of raw materials, and the Canadian mixers have to pay a price for the materials designed to encourage the purchase of the American mixers' product. That has been the case during the war anyway, and though materials are available elsewhere shipping difficulties are still existent.

A BIT OF VERSE

LET BE!
(By John Cox, Jr.)
Bring not a body home which gave a soul
For liberty, embattled over seas;
Let be! let poppies and bright flowers
Bloom where They fell while the swift seasons roll;
Or, gathered as one company, the whole
Rest in some park beneath the ancient trees
Of eastern France, whose soil has been
Forever made for us a pilgrim goal;
Richer are now the soil and soul of France
For that their blood is mingled with her soil;
Noble are we for having couched a lance
For her in fields that once her Maiden trod;
The Brotherhood of Man has made advance,
Anew we sense that Fatherhood of God.

Mother—"No, you must ask him yourself. You'll have a husband some day, and now is your time to practice."
A Good Mathematician.
Newitt—"They say that the person with a strong imagination has absolutely no head for figures."
Barvat—"Don't you believe it. When my wife gets her imagination at work upon her age she can make arithmetic look silly!"
Nagging Wife.
"Yesterday," said Jobson, "I refused a poor woman a request for a small sum of money, and in consequence of my act I passed a sleepless night. The tones of her voice were ringing in my ears the whole time."
"Your softness of heart does you credit," said Mabson. "Who was the woman?"
"My wife."

A BIT OF FUN

"How is your husband getting on with his golf?"
"Very well indeed. The children are allowed to watch him now."
The conversation in the village hotel had turned on war, when one of the company asked:
"Which is the most war-like nation?"
"Vacation," replied the doctor. "It's nearly always in arms."
Full of Wind.
Screecham—"He was a wise poet who remarked that in this world a man must be either anvil or hammer."
Peacham—"Oh, I don't know it seems to me that most of them are merely bellows."

Old Fisherman—"Changeable do ye call it, sir? If it 'ad been changeable, we'd 'ave changed long ago."

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

The Only Real Nerve Tonic is a Good-Supply of Rich, Red Blood.

"If people would only attend to their blood, instead of worrying themselves ill," said an eminent nerve specialist, "we doctors would not see our consulting rooms crowded with nervous wrecks. More people suffer from worry than anything else." The worst of things which the specialist spoke of is the nervous run-down condition caused by overwork and the many anxieties of today. Sufferers find themselves tired, morose, listless and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears, and do not sleep well at night. Headaches, neuritis and other nerve pains are part of the misery, and it all comes from starved nerves.

Doctored nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. Therefore to cure nervousness and run-down health Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. These pills actually make new, rich blood, which strengthens the nerves, improves the appetite, gives new strength and spirits, and makes listless dependent people bright and cheerful. If you are at all "out of sorts" you should begin curing yourself today by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EXPERIMENTS WITH HOME-MADE FERTILIZERS

(Experimental Farms Note.)

When, on account of war conditions and the consequent scarcity of German potash, efforts were being made to secure potash from other sources, the Experimental Farms made a test of the use of seaweed as a source of potash. To put this material into a portable and commercial form it had to be dried and granulated. This work was done in an experimental way on the Nova Scotia coast and some of the product was sent to the Fredericton Station for test.

Both field and plot tests were made with potatoes.

In the field test an area with an application of 1000 lbs. of a 4:10 fertilizer per acre and no seaweed gave 178 bushels per acre. A similar area with the same amount of the same fertilizer and 1000 lbs. of ground seaweed gave 230 bushels per acre. A third area with 18 tons stable manure and 750 lbs. seaweed per acre gave 242 bushels per acre and a fourth area with 18 tons per acre of stable manure alone gave 232 bushels per acre. Green Mountain potatoes were grown and it was noticed that the plants on the seaweed area stood up greener later in the season than where no potash was applied.

Calculating the cost of the seaweed at $15.00 per ton, for which it was stated it could be landed at Fredericton, there was a credit of 52 bushels for the 1500 lbs. of seaweed used where only commercial fertilizer was applied. As the seaweed cost but $12.25 and the extra potatoes were worth at least $1.00 per bushel this test showed a splendid profit from the use of the seaweed.

When stable manure was used however the increase of only ten bushels per acre for 750 lbs. of seaweed showed only a profit of $4.34 in that the potash in the stable manure supplied the needs of the crop to a considerable extent, and emphasizing the value of stable manure for the potato crop there was no practical difference as between the different applications—nor was any difference noticeable in the succeeding clover crop.

In the plot tests of one-tenth acre each with Empire State potatoes, seaweed at the rate of 1000 lbs. per acre gave a yield of 255 bushels per acre and at the rate of 2000 lbs. per acre 257 bushels per acre, while the check plot with no fertilizer whatever gave 122 bushels per acre. The succeeding wheat crop was so badly diseased with Glume spot that the yield was almost negligible and not at all to be relied upon for a satisfactory test. Seaweed at the rate of 1000 lbs. per acre gave 9 bushels and 20 lbs. per acre, at the rate of 2,000 lbs. 7 bushels and 40 lbs., while the check plot gave 5 bushels and 30 lbs. per acre.

While the above data are of too limited a scope from which to draw comprehensive conclusions, the evidence, so far as it goes, shows that if seaweed can be dried and ground and transported for $15.00 per ton, it would have a place, and a profitable place among fertilizing materials.

Near the shore where the seaweed can be had for the hauling its almost universal use with satisfactory results confirms its value as a fertilizer.

Superintendent,
Experimental Station, Fredericton.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, sealding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, urging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a sealding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes painful, this is really only one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent little water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

MILK PRICES REDUCED.

(Halifax Herald.)

As a result of the inquiry held by the Board of Commerce, the prices of cream and milk have been reduced. The decision handed down by the board fixes the price of bread at twelve cents, instead of thirteen cents for twenty-four ounce loaf. Vice-Chairman O'Connor has made the order under date of Oct. 9. This finding will be reported to the full Board of Commerce for confirmation. As to milk, the board reports:

The distributors' price of fifteen cents is with respect to pasteurized and bottled milk, fair.

The distributor's price of fifteen cents is with respect to unpasteurized milk. A fair cash price would be fourteen cents for non-pasteurized and non-bottled milk or fourteen and a half cents for non-pasteurized bottled milk.

Entertainment By Pastor of St. Andrews

Rev. F. S. Dowling was at home last evening to the young men of St. Andrews' Church, especially the strangers in the congregation. A delicious supper was served in the pastor's study by the ladies of the church, the table having Halloween decorations.

Mr. Dowling made an address and H. C. Rankine, for the trustees, welcomed the young men. A vote of thanks to the ladies for the supper was moved by Cyrus Inches, seconded by Hugh H. McLean, and tendered by Thomas Guy.

It was decided to form a Bible Study Class, the first meeting to be on Sunday at 2:30 in the study. The organization aims to promote good fellowship and comradeship in the work of the church.

HUN OF INSECT WORLD

Battlefield Covers 25 Miles With "No Bug's Land," Flame Throwers and Poison Barrages.

With the same energy and much the same scientific equipment with which the campaign against Germany was pushed the government is waging war against the Japanese beetle in Southern Jersey.

Upon a dangerous invader, known as the Japanese beetle, but because of its devastating incursions recognized by entomologists as the Hun of the insect world. Agents of the State and Federal Department of Agriculture, who have been fighting it for several years during which it has tenaciously advanced its foothold, now declare it is the most serious of all imported insect pests that American farmers have had to fight, and they are mapping out a plan of action that will convert the line of invasion into a 25-mile square mile of "No Bug's Land."

Liquid fire, poison barrages, neutral zones, "No Bug's Land" and all the other methods that have been used to fight the pest are being marshalled for the great battle in which the beetle, if victorious in getting beyond control, will probably go forth to forage upon millions of dollars worth of crops each year, as has been the case in the past.

According to competent authority, it is not necessary for everybody to stay up until two o'clock to perform the ceremony. It will be entirely legal to go to bed, and set the alarm for two o'clock, when you can jump out of bed or crawl out and solemnly set the clock back sixty minutes.

It is possible that some people will set the clock back before they go to bed tonight, or after they arise tomorrow morning. This practice is permissible, but will not exhibit the proper respect to the demise of daylight time which it might expect at that hour in the morning.

Self-Reliant Woman Replacing Old Type

War Has Brought to the Fore the Woman Who Can Think and Act for Herself.

The war has made a new type of woman, the self-reliant one. Before the outbreak of hostilities, many women were forced by circumstances to run up against the world and had stood the test well. But it was not until the thousands of Canadian men went overseas that the great number of women and to rely on themselves.

The business woman has been for a long time a proof that women could stand alone. Women who had not ventured into the rush of the commercial world had not had an opportunity to show of what mettle they were made. When the occasion demanded, the women of Canada rose nobly to it and for five years have shrugged their shoulders to give emphasis to his ignorance.

"It is a pity, I have a message for him most important," Amos shook his head.

"Write it," said Amos, producing a pen and pencil.

"It is too important," said the Hindu, waving them aside with a flicker of his hand.

"Tell me," said Amos.

"The other about his head slowly. It is too important, besides, if it does not get it at once, it will be too late. It is for his own safety. No, think again. Is he not in, and I can see him?"

"He is out," Amos answered, and the figure was set a little more squarely a danger signal. The Hindu seemed to recognize that Amos was speaking in his native tongue.

"It is your own affair," he said, "I am rather impressed that you are ill."

He hesitated the belief quickly as scuttled down the stairs, not waiting to see the effect of his belief. It was, perhaps, Amos might have replied physically had the visitor been his grandson, but it was not worth following him down the stairs.

"One of them baboons, as they call them," Amos said as he closed the door.

The Hindu might have been amused at the ignorance of the Amos, but he did not for a moment.

"Where are you going?" asked the Hindu, pointing down the stairs.

"To the office," Amos answered, and the Hindu shook his head and went on his way.

"I am afraid it must be this way," said the man, and the Hindu went with them, perhaps because two or three people had stopped to watch them, or perhaps because complaisance, or the sooner get him out of a difficult situation.

Through the passage were the offices of Wilkinson, Brandon and Co. merchants, well known in the city, trading with India and the East. Evidently something unusual had happened. Two or three men were talking excitedly in the doorway, and the coming of the Hindu gave them keen interest.

His captors, for such they virtually were, led him to the rear of the building toward a private room where Brandon, the present head of the firm, sat at his desk. He was a middle-aged man of a man who was obviously detective.

"There is nothing more I can tell you," said Brandon. "Of course, I know many people during the day—some regular visitors, some more or less strangers—and I have Hindu called. This morning the safe was found broken open and the stone gone."

"Had it been there long?"

"Four or five years, Colonel. Mr. Amos asked me to keep it for him, saying nothing about it. Knowing the steel wall, I asked no questions, and indeed, thought no more about it until a week ago, when someone called on me from the foreign office—Mr. Valentine West."

"I know Mr. West," said the detective.

"I trust the man you know is the same man who called upon me," Brandon said. "His credentials satisfied me, and as he carried a government order, I showed him the stone. Tomorrow I have wondered whether the visit was not the pretense to that."

he pointed to the broken safe.

"You said, Mr. Brandon, a Hindu?"

"Yes, I saw him with you, I know. I answer the door opened and the Hindu was ushered in by the two men."

"We found him by the passage, and though we had better detain him for inquiries," said one of the men, the detective. "He seems to analyze the description."

"On the principle that all crooks are alike, eh?" the detective answered. "You said, Mr. Brandon, a Hindu or two had visited you recently. This one of them?"

Mr. Brandon looked at the Hindu who returned his glance unflinchingly.

"It is difficult to say, I think not."

The Hindu smiled.

"You see, there is some mistake about your apology, and I so my wife. These mistakes will happen, I know. One moment," said the detective. "Where are you going?"

"On my own affair," he said, waving them aside with a flicker of his hand.

"Yes, but on what business?"

"It is private."

"Tell me who you are going to and I can send you with me. I will make sure you are all right. I'm detective, you understand, and I have to be careful."

"What do you want?"

"A jewel—a stone, an emerald."

"A jewel? But what has it to do with me?"

COAL HANDLERS MEET.

With Vice-President Young in the chair a largely attended meeting of the Coal Handlers was held last night in the room, corner of Germain and King streets. It was stated that only routine matters were discussed.

here and found in outside districts, persons making the discovery are urged to establish immediate liaison with the headquarters here, either by mail or messenger, sending if possible, actual specimens of the beetle.

"The Japanese beetle is easy to recognize by its appearance, while its presence is made evident by the manner in which it detritates trees and shrubs," says Director Davis. "It is slightly larger than a potato bug, it has a green head and thorax. Its wing covers are tan color, bronzed and sometimes bordered with a greenish tinge. The sides and tip of the abdomen bear a row of white spots, which distinguish it from any other species."

"It is very important that any outbreak of the beetle in new territory should be reported here at once in order that prompt measures may be taken to control it in the new district."

Now for a "nutty" game. Take two nuts and place them on a shallow held over an open fire and to each nut give a sweetheart's name. If either of the nuts hits or cracks the name of the nut which is cracked. If the hearts will increase, if they separate from each other the feeling will grow cooler. Dearest Girls and Boys— In every little of our children's lives there is some fun to be had on Halloween. It always comes on the last night in October and has long been a time for various celebrations. During the season when apples, pumpkins and nuts are gathered in, these things are generally very much in evidence and without all of them it wouldn't seem much like Halloween. However, there are a great many good ways of having fun without incurring or annoying anybody and it might be well to keep that in mind when planning the night's sport. One thing which is always a success is the parade, either at a party or just going about from house to house among your friends. Any old clothes belonging to the family can be made up into a parade costume. If you have a mask a little burnt cork or colored paint will help to make the disguise more perfect.

Halloween night is the time when we just make believe that supernatural influences prevail and spirits both of the visible and invisible worlds are about, thereby showing us our future fortunes. Through this make-believe many games and tricks have sprung up and have been demonstrated for years on that night only. It proves to us that the things we see and feel are all in the make-believe world every day of the year do have heaps of fun.

On Halloween night many common things are supposed to be touched with magic. Little fairies and elves, we play, are everywhere and the witches are plentiful flying through the air, either on cats or broom sticks.

Of course we are not to put any faith in the Halloween fortunes told us through the many tricks we play for they are merely to give us sport for the time and make us merry. A good thing is to get in a good and ten is the best kind of medicine we could take. I wonder if there are any of you who could tell me to make this year's celebration a success.

You all know of bobbing for apples. A tub of water and trying to bite one hanging by a string in a doorway without breaking the skin, swing the parring round your head three times, and it fall to the water. If it is on your shoulder and a letter may be formed which will give you the initial of your future spouse.

Then take the seeds put one on each eye-lid and call one travel the other home, whichever one stays on the longer does not win whether you will soon have a trip out.

Trying for a rain is huge fun. The rain which must be a good sized one is string on and push it steadily to the middle of a soft cotton ball about a yard long. Two people take each end of the string which they put in their mouths an commence to chew—taking it up as fast as they can, the one reaching the rain first gets the prize. The hands kept behind of course. Then there is the feather game. Take three small pieces of paper. Write the words "bionde, brunette and median" on each these to the quill end of three feathers with musilage or paste. Take one at a time in the right hand and gently send it flying with a puff of breath, do this with each feather and the landing nearest to you tells the complexion of your true love.

How about running a certain distance with a mouthful of cold water and see who can retain it to the end of the race.

No need to remind you that the Jack-O-Lantern is quite essential for any occasion whether it be large or small. Choose a nice round pumpkin and cut the top off the end having the stem and cut out the necessary slices for the eyes, nose and mouth, put a light of candle inside and place the top on again at a time in a dark room. The room are really quite spooky and help you to get one a lot in imagination that fairies and witches are quite real.

Now for a "nutty" game. Take two nuts and place them on a shallow held over an open fire and to each nut give a sweetheart's name. If either of the nuts hits or cracks the name of the nut which is cracked. If the hearts will increase, if they separate from each other the feeling will grow cooler. Just before I close don't think I did but so. If done right the nuts need have no dread of this part of the celebration.

Instead on having a shallow pan, well buttered to cook your candy in (try using pans are excellent) it should never be filled quite half full. The depth at least should be allowed for the swelling. Use one third sugar and two thirds molasses with a little vinegar or lemon juice. Do not allow the mixture to boil until sugar is all dissolved. Care must be taken that the candy does not burn, and as it becomes thick it should be placed away from direct heat. It should be tried in cold water quite as the most important thing of all is removing the candy from the fire at the proper stage. In water it should be brittle but still chewable and not soft enough to stick to the teeth. Generous lumps of butter added near the finish of the cooking improves the flavor immensely.

When ready, pour into well buttered shallow tin-plates and cool just enough to allow handling. Do not butter your hands but pull it as quickly as possible while warm and the tines are given to the one getting their handful the lightest shade. Cut in and if placed away put in covered dishes or waxed paper as the oil causes the candy to melt on the outside. Now I hope dear little friends that these directions will help you to have real good luck with the party and know they will prove that candy can be made without smelling like a whole house with a burnt odor, and without causing everything to be all "stuck-up."

Have heaps of fun anyway, and be sure and let me know just what you tried and what sort of a Halloween racket you really had.

With big wishes for the kiddies' good times on October 31st. Lovingly, DICKIE DECK.

Mrs. L. P. D. Tilley
New President of Canadian Club

Resignation of Mrs. Kuhring
Regretfully Accepted at Annual Meeting of Women's Canadian Club Held
Last Night—Reports Show
Splendid Year's Work.

Soldiers, sailors, and refugees, workers in all fields, mourner at home and the fighting man have all given opportunities for the interesting effort of the Women's Canadian Club. These words from the farewell address of Mrs. G. A. Kuhring on her retirement from the presidency of the Women's Canadian Club at their annual meeting held last evening in the N. H. S. rooms, show the variety of service performed by the club during the year of war.

Secretary's Report
Once more the curtain is lifted and for a brief space we gaze upon the screen where the motions of the past year will meet our eye in quick succession.

At our annual meeting, held in November, our own President, Mrs. Kuhring, told of her many interesting experiences overseas. Following this, in December, we were privileged to listen once more to La Joan Arnoldi tell of the Field Comrades.

In January came Mr. McKenna, the war correspondent, who was privileged for the first time to reveal many incidents and views that the censor had said, "It must not pass."

But that even the things of war may have their humor when dealt with by a master mind was proved to us by the delightful evening spent with A. C. Boney, the famous cartoonist of the Montreal Star.

In March we listened with no little pride to our own member, Mr. Stanley Elkin, tell of some of the post-war problems that had come within his notice upon his recent visit overseas.

In April, Mrs. Aldridge addressed the Club, telling in a simple way of the heroic retreat of the Serbian Army across the mountains, and of the pitiful condition of the women and children who were left behind.

In May we welcomed with our stretched hands Lt.-Col. Harrison, who told us of the part an Ammunition Column has to play in the great theatre of war.

In June, Col. Brown delighted us with the glorious history overseas of our Fighting 28th, and last but not least our fellow-war worker, Mrs. Dennis, of Halifax, came to tell us of the conference at Ottawa concerning the immigration of British women for household workers. Thus ends our lectures.

In December the Club were the guests of the Soldiers' Comforts Association to meet Lt. Joan Arnoldi. At the close of that month we held a reception at which Sir Douglas and Lady Hasen were our guests, the former introducing to us the Thrift Stamp.

In April we gave a luncheon for Nursing Sister Agnes Warner, who at the close told us in a modest, graphic but affecting way of her work of caring for the wounded and sick in France.

We also held reception at the close of Col. Brown's lecture and that of Mrs. Dennis. Our donations have included a sum towards the wedding gift sent to Lady Patricia; $10 towards a tent for a tubercular soldier at Woodstock; and we were also proud to share with other women of St. John in the presentation of a loving cup to the brave men of the first contingent.

Our activities throughout the year have been assistance in launching the Thrift Stamp campaign, our small share in welcoming the soldiers' dependants at the port, our formation of an active Thrift Stamp Club under Mrs. Cowan, our assistance in the G. W. V. A. and Red Triangle drives, our Spangnum Moore committee, our garden party at the residence of the Mayor, and reports sent to Ottawa by the secretary and treasurer of the four years' war work of the Club; and last but by no means least our placing the tables in the post office to commemorate the going forth of the various units from New Brunswick. This was unveiled by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

Our thanks are due throughout the year to the G. W. V. A., Centenary Church, Germania Street Institute, Stone Church, The Natural History Museum, Misses Gray and Richey, Red Triangle, The Board of Trade, His Majesty, Mrs. Hayes, to the many talented musicians who assisted at our functions; to the Post Office officials and Department of Public Works; to the press and our auditor, and also to the many kind friends who helped us individually, and to our own hall committee.

Throughout the year we held 10 regular and 11 executive meetings. We enrolled about 100 new members.

The Club's congratulations this year were heartily given Dr. Mabel Huntington upon the success of her work in our schools, and to Miss Grace Leavitt, who had completed 22 years of loyal work on the official staff of the Women's Council.

Much has been done in the past, but what have we yet to do? We are still wanderers and have no home to call our own. Could not our dream of a Victory Hall be realized in the near future? Were every member of the Club enrolled as a member of the Hall Committee and share their trials and difficulties in securing the loan of a suitable building in which to hold each meeting, I am sure that dream would soon become a reality.

And so I close my fifth and last report of the Women's Canadian Club. It is with no little regret I lay down my office, for its privileges have been many and its benefits to myself not a few.

ETHEL HAZEN JARVIS.
Mrs. McGivern gave the treasurer's report as follows:
Receipts $2,292.74
Expenditures 2,128.64
Balance on hand 164.10

Mrs. H. A. Powell gave a report of the Soldiers' Club Committee which was merged with the Military Y. M. C. A., and which has now discontinued. The furnishings had been divided between the Y. A. D. and the Y. M. C. A.

New members added last evening were, Mrs. Chesley, Mrs. O'Neil, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. L. Conlon, Mrs. C. Williams, Mrs. C. Williams, Jr., Mrs. H. Garter, Mrs. N. Olive, Mrs. Geo. Drake, Mrs. Dowling, Miss Dowling, Mrs. Lugden, Miss Roberta Robinson.

Mrs. Kuhring referred to the fine work of the Soldiers' letter writing committee, Mrs. J. R. Vanwart convener.

Mrs. W. H. Shaw for the hall committee reported and emphasized the crying necessity of a hall for women's meetings.

Mrs. Powell took the chair and Mrs. Kuhring put a motion to the meeting: "Resolved, that as in all other Canadian Clubs, all retiring presidents be made active members of the executive."

Miss McGivern moved as an amendment that the words "for one year" be added, but this amendment was lost. After much discussion the motion passed.

On motion Mrs. H. A. Powell and Miss Grace Leavitt were made additional members of the executive. Many expressions of appreciation of Mrs. Powell's hospitality and splendid work as first vice-president were heard and praise given for Miss Leavitt's faithful services for the past eight years on the executive.

The election of officers resulted as follows:
Mrs. L. P. D. Tilley, president.
Miss Pitcher, first vice-president.
Mrs. W. E. Foster, second vice-president.
Mrs. W. H. Shaw, third vice-president.
Mrs. Dearden, recording secretary.

Beattsey, Mrs. Cortland Robinson, Mrs. John H. Thomson, Mrs. G. K. McLeod, Mrs. W. P. Bonnell, Mrs. Kuhring, Mrs. E. Atherton Smith.
Mrs. Kuhring spoke of the coming convention of the Women's Institute and the request that the Canadian Club would take some part in the entertainment of delegates. This matter, on motion, was left to the new executive.

Mr. Jones, of the Overseas Club, will be in the city shortly, and it was suggested that he might be heard by the club.
Mrs. Kuhring's farewell address very beautifully expressed in feeling terms the happy companionship, loyal support and uniformly pleasant relationship she had had with the officers and members. She thanked the club for the honor and privilege of being their president during the historic times, and gave thanks to the Club Patronesses, to the Mayor and Mrs. Hayes, to Dr. Frink, to the heads of the Military Department, especially Colonel Powell, and to the press for co-operation during her term of office. She spoke of the courage, generosity and self-sacrifice shown by so many in the years of war, which should urge all to keep the flame of patriotism burning brightly on the future way and closed with heartfelt thanks to all the members.
Sincere appreciation of Mrs. Kuhring's work was expressed by votes of thanks moved by Mrs. H. Lawrence and seconded by Mrs. D. P. Chisholm and passed unanimously. Mrs. Tilley on taking the chair was heartily applauded. Votes of thanks were passed to Miss Jarvis, retiring secretary, for her splendid services and to Miss McGivern.
Refreshments were served by a committee with Mrs. Boudell, convener.

circle. This optimistic idea, that Jesus is so well represented on earth today that his personal presence is not essential for the carrying out of his programme, is one to hearten those who are endeavoring to keep the trust which has been committed to them.
What of Peter's presumption? Should not his audacity have been rebuked? Well, Jesus did not rebuke, but encouraged him. In adventures of faith, God is never the first to say "yes." He encourages initiative in all affairs of trust. His reserves are greater than our most daring dreams. Did not Jesus continually stress the preeminence of faith in his training of his disciples? His prayer for them, and for the Church was, "Lead, increase our faith." When the Son of Man returns, we are told, his first interest will be whether we shall find faith in the earth. Every exhibition of confidence in God is met more than half-way by God himself.

"Who goes a step toward God through doubting sin, God goes a mile, through blessing light, to him."
When One is "All at Sea."

If I were looking into the eyes of all the vast company of diversified folk who are reading this Lesson, and the sin of sin in our own times is simply lack of faith. It is what sank Peter sinking beneath the waves, until rescued by the outstretched hand of the Master—Peter who had begun to think of himself and his difficulties, when he should have thought only of his sufficient Lord. "O little faith, why did you doubt?" is the divine rebuke that pierces to the core of most of our difficulties.
When "all at sea," take Christ aboard. Therein is the sovereign remedy for the distresses of individual lives and of the world at large. Had Jesus given a place at the peace table, think you the quickening harvest of selfishness would have been sown? Today, were the nations to seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness how quickly real peace would come to this quivering world. Ship of state, and life-raft, alike need to take aboard the Master whose power is equal to the quelling of all storms.

HIGH COST OF LIVING TAKES LEADING PLACE

Miners' Federation of England Drops Everything to Discuss Living Prices.

London, Oct. 23.—The high cost of living took a leading place in the discussion at a meeting of the Miners' Federation today. Vigorous protests were made by Robert Smillie and Frank Hodges, who declared that since the government's scheme of taxing excess profits had been in operation, articles of consumption had increased eight per cent, making them 128 per cent higher than the pre-war prices. They insisted that the government encouraged excess profits in order to fill the exchequer.

EASE OF MONEY FEATURED THE STOCK MARKET

Buying of the Rails Afforded a Sharp Contrast to Erratic Movements of Preceding Sessions.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The most reassuring feature of today's less active but far more orderly stock market was the greatly eased money and the steady accumulation at substantial advances of high and low grade rail way shares. Call money opened at 5 per cent, the lowest since the summer of several weeks, and the more noteworthy since all loans hold over until next Monday. Time money was in better supply, a few rates being reported at slightly under 7 per cent.

Buying of the rails afforded a sharp contrast to the erratic movements of the rest of the market. The stock market was speculative issues controlled by money and cliques completely overshadowed the more responsive stocks. The demand for transportation was so general as to give rise to the impression that developments of the highest importance affecting those properties may soon issue from the office of Director General Hines.

The Dangers of Porridge. The law was a sadly neglected one with its attendant complications. The bond market was again irregular, moderate reactions in several of the rails and industrials contributing to that end. Liberty issues were steady. Total sales, par value, $15,375,000. Old United States bonds unchanged on call.

RAILS TAKE MOVE ON STOCK MARKET

(Furnished by McDougall & Cowans.) Toronto, Oct. 24.—The afternoon was marked by a more pronounced movement in the rails than the market had seen for some time, with Southern Pacific, Reading and two or three low-priced issues the most prominent. The movement was evidently a recognition of improving prospects for national railroad legislation, which, while it will probably not be all that railroad executives would like, will create better living conditions for the majority of roads that they have had for the past ten years or more.

The movement of speculation was resumed on a small scale. A feature of the afternoon was a sharp break in Smelters, which sold about five points below the previous close. The stock copper market recently has naturally reduced the earnings of this company. Dividend action is due within the next few days, and some speculation is raised in the street whether the directors will continue the present annual rate of 4 per cent. The market was active and strong in general, with spots with a generally firm tone. Sales, 1,576,000.

DISTINGUISHED JOURNALISTS ARE THE STANDARD'S GUESTS

Irvin Cobb, Bozeman Bulger, Damon Runyon and William McBeath Were Guests of The Standard Last Night on a Motor Trip Through the Loch Lomond District—Pleasantly Impressed With Their Hunting Trip in the Annapolis Valley.

After spending a week in the woods around Lake Pescewah, the New York hunting party, composed of Irvin S. Cobb, Saturday Evening Post; Lieut. Col. Bozeman Bulger, New York Evening World; Damon Runyon, New York American; William McBeath, assistant sporting editor of the New York Tribune; Major W. O. McGeehan, sporting editor of the New York Tribune; Col. T. L. Huston, vice-president of the American League; Harry Leon Wilson, publisher and owner of the New York Yankees and famous novelist, accompanied by A. O. Seymour, of the C. P. R., returned to the city last evening on the S. S. Empress.

With the exception of the first-mentioned four, the party returned to New York last night, but the others are staying through and will leave today for Fredericton, where they will add Harry Allen, the famous guide, to their party, and will spend a week or more in the Canadian woods. Last night, following their dinner at the Royal Hotel, Irvin Cobb, Bozeman Bulger, Damon Runyon and William McBeath, in company with A. L. Gibb, city ticket agent of the C. N. R., L. J. Gallagher, K. J. MacRae and Harry Ervin, the party motored, as guests of The Standard, to the Ben Leonard House, where an excellent luncheon was served them in the style that has made Mrs. Barker renowned throughout the province.

Blazing logs on the wide, large fireplace added the right touch of comfort to the evening, and in the stories and reminiscences that flowed along while the cigar smoke curled upward, it is not improbable that many a feature for future magazine stories was born.

Leaving the Loch Lomond House, The Standard party motored to the Log Cabin Fishing Club, at Loch Lomond, registering there, as they had at the Loch Lomond House. Blazing logs in the open fireplace also cheered the visitors here, and it was indeed a happy time for all parties. The visiting baseball men were patting. The visiting baseball men with the trophies of the anglers' art which were displayed in the club house and were surprised at the stories of "fishermen's luck" in New Brunswick.

Shortly after midnight The Standard party returned to the city, and the "metropolitan quartette," as it is beginning to be called, sought the comfort of their couches to recoup strength for their coming onslaught against the moose and deer of the Canadian woods.

In a corner of the dining room of the Royal Hotel last night there stood a chair, splintered up the back and cracked across the bottom, sole reminder of the fact that one Irvin Cobb, author of "Rating in Seven Different Languages," had appeared in a hungry state and departed well satisfied—in fact, so well satisfied that the chair could no longer hold up under the strain of his increasing weight. It was a happy quartette that sat down to their dinner last evening, for the two weeks in the Nova Scotia woods and the pleasant trip across the Bay had whetted the appetites of Bozeman Bulger, Damon Runyon and William McBeath, as well as Mr. Cobb. Lobster was their selection last night, chosen, as Irvin Cobb explained, because it was "the national bird of the Maritime Provinces."

"We got just one moose," said Mr. Cobb to The Standard last night. "In fact I say 'we' advisedly, for we need to bask in the light of the joint achievement. Credit for killing the monarch of the forest falls to Damon Runyon, who proved to be the Dead-End Dicker of the party and brought down his trophy at 300 yards. Bozeman Bulger and myself were present in purely an advisory capacity and perhaps it is due to our expert decisions that Mr. Runyon will have a sporty head to storm his den. It is not as big as the average moose given New Brunswick, as I have been given to believe, but we gave it four years to grow in and if it did not take advantage of the opportunity, we are technically cleared of all blame."

"We spent three days and three nights getting from the town to our camp, but I do not think a more ideal location could be secured than our camp along the shores of Lake Pescewah. We had nice, comfortable quarters, excellent food and a most thoroughly enjoyable time. The air there was fairly redolent with the aroma of apples; I think the Valley must be a wonderfully pretty place during apple blossom time, for it surely is most picturesque when the fruit is ripe and ready for market."

"Perhaps the reason our game bag was not larger was because we got into the woods at a mid-season—between the feeding and the mating period. That is as good as any reason I can think of now, and it sounds rather plausible to me. This is the first time I have played the role of moose hunter, an experience that is shared by my companions, so you can pardon the puffed chest of my friend Runyon and the eagle light that blazes in his eye. In fact this is the first time I ever saw a moose, and when they come charging through the woods at me I usually forget the gun that is in my hand and think more of that happy home back in New York."

"We were just in camp one week, and I don't think I ever crowded more pleasure into seven days than I did back there in the pretty Annapolis Valley."

Damon Runyon also had good words for the beauties of their camp site, saying that the place visited was the best bit of country he had seen—and said it as if he meant it, too.

While the party was at the hotel yesterday evening, one of the boys, who is a strong admirer of Irvin Cobb, followed the famous writer

Problem of The Feeble-Minded

Children's Aid Society Will Have Survey Made to Determine Extent of the Problem.

If the plans of the committee which met yesterday afternoon in the offices of J. King Kelley, the county secretary, meet with success there will be a survey of the province made within the next few months to determine with some approach to accuracy the extent of the feeble minded problem in our midst.

All the members of the committee, which had been appointed by the Children's Aid Society were present with Dr. Mabel Hanington, medical inspector of the city schools, who has kindly consented to co-operate. Permanent organization was completed when J. King Kelley, secretary, was elected and Rev. George Scott, secretary.

There was much interesting discussion. A communication from the Hon. Dr. Roberts was read, and the secretary was instructed to write to the authorities of Manitoba, British Columbia, and Ontario for the purpose of finding out what steps had been taken as a result of the surveys made there by the Canadian Mental Hygiene Association.

A small sub-committee was appointed for the purpose of approaching the city and county officials and asking for information in cases of feeble-mindedness coming under their observation. Other bodies will also be approached in order to enlist the interest of their members in an effort to obtain lists of mentally defective in urban and rural communities. During the discussions Dr. Hanington offered many valuable suggestions, and was also made to what had been done in the State of Maine and the secretary was instructed to write to Augusta for particulars. The meeting adjourned to await the call of the chair.

The names of the committee are: J. King Kelley, K. C., chairman; Rev. H. A. Goodwin, Rev. George Scott, Dr. Mabel Hanington, Miss Grace O. Robertson, Mrs. David McLellan, Mrs. W. B. Tennant, Mrs. A. J. Mulcahey and M. E. Agar.
