SIR ROBERT'S MESSAGE TO CANADIANS

DIPLOMATIC WAY TO SETTLE DISPUTES

Applies Specifically to Pacific Questions But May be Employed Generally.

(By Ben Dehon, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press.)

Washington, Dec. 11.—Sir Robert Borden, Canadian delegate to the Washington Conference, today issued the following statement in regard to the new treaty which is to replace the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

"Four great nations have solemnly agreed that every controversy between any of them, arising out of a Pacific question and capable of settlement by diplomatic methods, shall be brought to a joint conference of all four powers, and shall be there considered and adjusted.

"The purpose is to create the custom and establish the practice of conferences for peaceful settlement of international differences.

"Out of such custom and practice, whether under this or any like treaty, will be developed that public opinion among the nations which, alone, can assure the enhancement of public right and the maintenance of the world's peace."

Relates Only to The Pacific.

"This treaty, in terms, relates only to the Pacific, but, as the convention of 1871 although applicable only to the Great Lakes extended in spirit and practice to the entire boundary between Canada and the United States, so we may confidently trust that this spirit, which is to govern all controversies between the four powers, I hold its acceptance as a notable step toward the assurance of peace."

Sir Robert, who has been suffering from a severe cold, was reported to be in a somewhat improved condition this evening. He is still under the doctor's orders to remain in his suite at the Lafayette, however, and it will likely be several days before he is able to resume his conference work.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. T. W. Crothers, former Minister of Labor in the Borden cabinet, and who was appointed to the Senate about two months ago, died suddenly at his home on Carling avenue, Ottawa, on Saturday evening.

The late Mr. Crothers, who was 71 years of age, had been in poor health for the past year, but not until a couple of weeks ago had his condition given rise to any serious fears. On Saturday, however, the deceased senator appeared brighter than he had been for some days past, and during the afternoon he went to his room with the intention of having a rest.

When his wife went to call on him to meet an old friend who had called at the house, she found he had died in his sleep.

The late Senator Crothers was born on Jan. 1850, at Northport, Prince Edward county.

Vancouver Hotels Reopen Their Bars For Sale of Beer

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 11.—To bring the beer question to a show-down, a number of hotels in Vancouver have reopened their bars for the sale of malt liquor and are doing a rushing business. The increase in the number of clubs obtaining charters is said by hotel men to be the cause of their decision to force matters to an issue. Hotel proprietors claim that the clubs have little or no investment at stake, while they have thousands of dollars tied up in first-class buildings.

Local police authorities met in session here Saturday to discuss the situation and decided that there was nothing they could do until February 1, when, by virtue of new charter provisions the city of Vancouver assumes "control and regulation" of all clubs within the municipality. Some eighteen hotel bars, holding incorporation rights as clubs, which opened for the sale of beer to members at ten o'clock a membership, appear to have a clear field of operation, in the opinion of police officials.

CANADIAN TROOPS MANAGED TO BE ON THE SPOT WHEN NEEDED, SAYS FIELD MARSHAL FOCH

Says Most of His Success in Holding Back the Enemy Was Due, in No Small Degree, to the Bravery and Activity of the Canadian Corps Which Was Always Ready.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—"If I succeeded on many occasions in holding back the enemy, these successes were, in no small degree, due to the bravery and activity of the Canadian corps which was always ready. When at times of critical import it seemed that the troops were almost ready to die with fatigue and it still became necessary for me to call for troops to a danger point to repel the enemy the Canadians were always first to volunteer for the service, and, in some way, they always managed to be on the spot when they were needed. This was not merely owing to the fact that they had such a commander as General Currie, but to their own indomitable spirit and courage."

—General Foch

This was the remarkable tribute to the Canadian Corps paid by Marshal Foch in an address given at His Majesty's Theatre here this afternoon when he was a guest of honor of the Canadian Club. Many costs and hats were worn, but no one was injured in the tremendous rush that followed the opening of the doors of the theatre for the reception of the distinguished visitor. Over a hundred officers, blazoned with decorations, filled the stage, and Marshal Foch was almost inconspicuous among them attired in the plain blue uniform of a marshal of France, with but two medals and a star. He was accompanied by General Sir Arthur Currie and Lieutenant Col. A. A. Magee, President of the Canadian Club, and several minutes were taken up in cheering when he arrived.

That it was in no small degree due to the Canadians that the Germans had not backed their way through to Paris in 1918, was another assertion of the Marshal, and, in 1918, the final appeal was met with a cry of "en avant" from their commander, General Currie.

The Marshal was subsequently entertained at the Windsor Hotel by the Alliance Francaise, following which he entertained for Quebec city.

Belated Returns Add One More To Conservatives

Perry Sound, Ont., Dec. 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Belated returns from the Perry Sound constituency, in the election announced in Perry Sound constituency, and final returns indicate the election of Col. J. Arthurs, a Conservative candidate, over Dr. W. Mason, the Liberal Standard bearer. The latest reports give Col. Arthurs a majority of sixty over Dr. Mason. Official declaration of the returns will be made on December 16.

India Authorities Have The Jump On Moplah Rebels

London, Dec. 10.—(By Canadian Press.)—The Indian authorities in Kerala, India, today issued a statement which stated that nearly nine thousand Moplah rebels have surrendered to the authorities in India in the past fortnight, while the remainder of the rebels are on the run. The military hope to conclude the operations against them by the new year.

YUKON MUST RETURN LIBERAL TO GIVE KING ABSOLUTE MAJORITY

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—(By Canadian Press.)—The Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, premier, today issued a statement which stated that the Liberal government must win a majority in the Yukon constituency in the next election, following the election of Col. J. Arthurs for Perry Sound, to give the Liberal government a majority in the House of Commons. The return of Col. J. Arthurs for Perry Sound brings the total of Liberal seats in the House to 117 or 118 when a speaker is elected from the Liberal side of the House. Should the Yukon return a Conservative, the standing, after the election of a speaker, will be Liberal 116; combined opposition 118 or 119.

COMPTROLLER OF CURRENCY A SUICIDE

Particularly Distressing Are Circumstances Surrounding Death of J. E. Rourke, Formerly of St. John.

DISCREPANCIES IN INTEREST COUPONS

Worked Upon Nerves of Comptroller, Causing Him to Commit Rash Act.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—J. E. Rourke, comptroller of currency in the Finance Department, committed suicide by poisoning late on Saturday. The circumstances surrounding his death are particularly distressing. For several months Mr. Rourke, who was one of the senior officials of the Finance Department, had been acting for the Deputy Minister in connection with the general independent audit of the Victory loans which a firm of commercial auditors has been making.

Through this audit discrepancies in connection with interest coupons were brought to light. Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, immediately placed the matter in the hands of the police, and it is understood that investigations have resulted in the identification of an official who is now in the hands of the authorities.

Enquiries Proved Unsettling

The result of the enquiries had proved especially upsetting to Mr. Rourke, who had lately been continually engaged on the matter. Since early in the year, he had been working without respite and his health had been steadily declining. He had been in the hospital for some time, and officials of the department, he had been told that the strain of the last month had proved too great for him and that his mind had become temporarily unbalanced. He had been, recently, and especially on Saturday, they state, he showed signs of unreasonable depression, but otherwise seemed to have full control of himself and no one for a moment thought of anything more than a slight nervous condition—possibly strain and overwork. Apparently, his condition must have been much worse than was thought by his family and friends.

After the tragedy, was discovered in the morning, written by Mr. Rourke, and protesting his innocence of any connection with the Victory Bond coupon discrepancies whatever.

Born at St. Martin's.

Mr. Rourke was 48 years of age and leaves a wife and two children. An old and trusted official, he first joined the civil service in the department of the receiver-general at St. John, N. B., in 1894. He first came to Ottawa on April 1, 1911, on his appointment to the post of comptroller of currency. He was born in St. Martin's, N. B.

Coroner Craig has decided that an inquest will not be necessary. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Officials of the department are reluctant in regard to the coupon discrepancies, although it is rumored that they amount to around $38,000. But none of Mr. Rourke's own work, or that of anyone under his charge, is authoritatively stated.

(The deceased was a son of the late James Rourke, ex-M. L. A. for St. Martin's, and was well known in this city. He was a member of the St. Martin's Division Savings Bank for some time. Dr. Moran, West Side, dentist, is a brother-in-law.)

Lucknow Gave The Prince of Wales Great Reception

Strike Proclaimed by Disloyal Element Was Disregarded by the Populace.

London, Dec. 11.—A Rouser outfit from Lucknow, India, says that Lucknow gave the Prince of Wales a great reception. Following the official welcome and the inspection of the guard of honor by the Prince, a proclamation was formed by a strong escort of the 100th Queen's Lancers. The welcome was really remarkable. A strike was proclaimed by the disloyal element but the populace clearly disregarded it. Behind the lines of British and native troops guarding the thoroughfares, were massed unbroken crowds, shouting and standing at attention. While bands of cheering were chiefly confined to the European quarters, the whole demeanor of the natives was one of friendly curiosity.

Evidently, the action of the Indian government in taking steps to put an end to intimidation by the extremists was pleasing to the native mind which loves paganism. Strike and other forms of disorder were clearly disregarded by the natives. It is believed more than four thousand natives were present.

Obvious precautions were taken to prevent a recurrence of what happened at Bombay when the Prince was there but proved to be quite unnecessary.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAR EAST AND NAVAL REDUCTION PROGRAMME OF PRIMARY CONSIDERATION

With Four Power Treaty in Final Form Principals at Arms Conference Enter Fifth Week Confident of Winding Up Major Duties by End of Year—Japan Only Disgruntled Power.

Washington, Dec. 11.—With the four power treaty in final form, and an agreement on naval ratio regarded as practically assured, the Arms Conference goes into its fifth week with its principals confident they can wind up all their major duties here by the end of the year. The problems of the Far East and details of the naval reduction programme, including the question of Pacific Island fortifications and naval bases, now become the subjects of primary consideration. The Far Eastern discussions are to be pressed forward at daily meetings of the committee of the whole, at the same time that the naval situation is clearing up through continued communication with the foreign capitals, and while the separate negotiations over Shantung and Yap are verging toward decision.

Lone Bandit Held Up Canadian Pacific Train

Goed Through Express Car, Finding Nothing of Value, Jacks the Job.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Dec. 11.—An attempt was made by a lone bandit to rob Canadian Pacific Railway train No. 2 a few minutes after it left here Saturday night. There was nothing of value in the express car, which was in charge of Dominion Express Messenger D. Gray, and the bandit jumped from the train just after it had passed Paquet Station. The train was going about thirty miles an hour. A search is being conducted for the bandit by a posse of G. P. N. and provincial police.

When the train left Moose Jaw, Gray was confronted by an armed man who fired a shot from a revolver and ordered Gray to hold up his hands. The bandit disappeared from the train, and the messenger's Colt revolver, and took the sawed-off shotgun and threw it from the train. It was found this morning about two miles east of Moose Jaw. Gray tried to assure the bandit that there were no valuables in the car. After opening the outside door of the express car, Gray told the masked man that he did not know the combination of the inner door. Whereupon the robber cut the combination and knob from the inside door with an axe. Finding nothing of value, he jumped from the train. Gray, instantly pulled the signal cord and the train stopped. The country south of Paquet has been scoured, but nothing has been found of the bandit.

Chinese Negotiations. The negotiations relative to China, although proceeding separately, also are receiving the careful attention of the Japanese, while the naval question some hints that they would prefer to see a decision in that quarter also before they make their acceptance of the "5-5-3" final and binding.

It is the general expectation that the result of the Far Eastern discussions will be a united declaration of policy by the nine nations represented here, embodying the "four points" application of them as may be found possible. Such a declaration, a part of which was given official sanction by the nine nations at yesterday's plenary session, it was expected would be contemplated in the form of a "gentlemen's understanding." Some of the plenipotentiaries, however, want to write it into a treaty, and a decision on that point is yet to be reached.

Round House of C.P.R. At St. Stephen Burned To Ground

Special to The Standard. St. Stephen, N. B., Dec. 11.—Two small fires occurred here Saturday afternoon at about 4 o'clock. One broke out in the packing room at the Clerk Street station, and the other in the round house of the Canadian Pacific, a small two stall affair of wood with brick sides, was destroyed. The Shore Line train from St. John had just arrived, some hours late, and the watchman at the round house was down the tracks a few yards attending to the care of the train when the fire started. From some unknown cause, and before entrance could be made, the old structure was enveloped in flames and beyond saving. Locomotive No. 43 of the Shore Line train was in the house and was stripped of woodwork by the flames. The damage is estimated at less than $600.

Held Responsible For Brother's Death

Remitted from Argument Over Elections—To Prefer Murder Charge.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—Arthur LeCompte, 37, of St. Vincent Station, was found eminently responsible for the death of his brother, Horace, aged 25, by a coroner's jury at St. Vincent Saturday.

Evidence at the inquest was to the effect that Arthur had admitted striking Horace on the head with a bottle on Thursday last and when it had broken, striking him in the neck with the jagged ends. It is probable that a charge of murder will be preferred against Arthur LeCompte.

PREMIER ELECT NOT WORRYING OVER CABINET

Resignation of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and Cabinet is Expected This Week.

NEW CABINET WILL THEN BE FORMED

Presumed New Premier Has in Mind the Men He Will Summon for Cabinet.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—(Special to The Standard.)—The resignation of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and his cabinet is expected to be placed in the hands of His Excellency, the Governor-General within the next week, and following this act it is expected that Hon. Mr. King will be called upon to form an administration. The formation of the cabinet will then be the next step to be taken, and the names of the men who will be called upon to form the cabinet will then be announced.

It is understood that the names of the men who will be called upon to form the cabinet will be announced in the next few days.

Mr. King has spent most of the time at his apartment at the Marlborough, where, in comparative quiet, he has been able to catch up on a multitude of things which had to be left undone while he was away from Ottawa during the campaign. On his return to the capital, Mr. King found piles of correspondence and other matters needing his attention, and these he has been dealing with since election day. He has seen very few visitors and few, if any, of these were men whose names have been mentioned in the great mass of cabinet gossip which has been going the rounds.

Miramichi Claims Second Victim In Twenty-Four Hours

Fisherman Returning Home Over the Ice Goes Into Air Hole.

Special to The Standard. Chatham, N. B., Dec. 11.—Miramichi River claims another victim, another sad accident occurring here last evening opposite Longville. Edmund Jimmie, a fisherman, while on his way home from his fishing activities at Oakpoint was drowned about four o'clock yesterday afternoon within sight of his home. Mr. Jimmie, in company with some other fishermen was homeward bound to spend the weekend with his family. When nearing Longville he parted from the others, taking a short cut across the ice. He had not gone very far when he walked into an air hole, and before his companions could reach the spot after hearing his cries he had gone down under the ice, and the Miramichi River claimed its second victim in twenty-four hours. Grappling was started immediately, but, up to this hour, his body has not been recovered.

The body of John Brophy was recovered at noon yesterday near the place where he went through the ice, (drappers) after tedious hours of work, recovered the body of Brophy, who was drowned while skating on the Miramichi River opposite Chatham Friday. The funeral was held this afternoon at three-thirty from the home of his parents to St. Michael's Cemetery.

LONDON CALMLY AWAITS ACTION DAIL EIREANN

Press and Public Awaiting Important Developments of Week Over Irish Treaty.

EXPECT NARROW MAJORITY IN FAVOR

Believed, However, That Pres. De Valera Will Be Able to Put Up Stiff Fight.

London, Dec. 11.—In the absence of any new news, and awaiting important developments of the coming week, the press and public are engaged in estimating the chances in the pending struggle for and against the new Irish treaty. Those best informed seem to reason to modify their view that the treaty will be accepted by the Irish people, but are inclined to take a less optimistic view of its chances.

Expect Treaty to Carry

Present indications favor a narrow majority for the treaty, and probable reference to a plebiscite of the Irish people, is the British Parliament, ratification is considered quite safe. It is admitted that Andrew Bonar Law, even if not approving all the clauses of the treaty, has decided to accept it in principle, or at least not to offer substantial opposition, his view being that Ulster is sufficiently protected by the privilege of contracting out.

Easy Time in Commons

Premier Lloyd George has been utilizing the week-end at Chequers Court in preparation of his speech for delivery Wednesday in the House of Commons. He is expected to speak an hour and a half and to make a powerful plea for the treaty. It is believed that the debate will be concluded more speedily than was at first thought possible, and the treaty ratified and the session closed by the end of the week. The necessary legislation to give effect to the treaty will be introduced on February 1st.

Ulster Premier Silent

The Ulster Premier failed to say anything about the settlement. "I have arranged with my friends on the other side," he explained, "that we will observe the strictest reserve and to the present critical and anxious time I think that course will best serve the interests of all concerned." Respecting reports that Ulster is demanding some financial concessions on lines similar to the privileges southern Ireland had under the treaty, Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech at Newcastle Saturday, expressed the conviction that no responsible Ulster statesman would think of claiming a lower rate of taxation for Ulster than operated in New Zealand or Glasgow. This seems to cut any chance of Ulster getting such relief except to Lord Carson's (formerly Sir Edward Carson) strong opposition to the treaty, and some Ulsterites evidently still hope that he will champion their cause. He could only do this effectively, however, by resigning his post as Attorney General and re-engaging in politics, which is not considered likely.

Founder of McClary Manufacturing Co. Died Suddenly

John McClary Passed Away Yesterday After Illness of Only One Day.

London, Ont., Dec. 11.—John McClary, president and founder of the McClary Manufacturing Company, died at his home here this morning at about noon after an illness of only one day. He would have celebrated his birthday on January 2. Appointed to the position of president of the McClary Manufacturing Company in 1918, Mr. McClary was at his office as usual on Friday, but on Saturday was taken seriously ill and survived only a few hours. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Theresa Gunn, and Mrs. Gathorne, wife of Lt. Col. W. M. Gathorne, vice-president of the company. Mr. McClary was born in Nilotown, Ohio, on January 3, 1859. When 16 years old he left the farm and came to London where he learned tin-smithing and subsequently formed a partnership with his brother Oliver. They started in a house on part of the site now occupied by the McClary plant and gradually worked up a trade all over Ontario in plumbing and tin work. In 1884 the firm commenced the manufacture of stoves. In 1907, the business was incorporated and has steadily grown to its present proportions, it now being one of the largest stove industries in the British Empire.

Must Not Cause Break in Work of Arms Conference

Kato Instructed to Get All He Can for Japan Without Doing This.

Tokyo, Dec. 10.—History, so far as Japan is concerned, is now being made at Washington, and Japan's fate is in the hands of Baruch, Kato, and the other negotiators of the arms conference. Kato is instructed to get all he can for Japan without doing this. The navy swears by him, and strange though it may appear to Americans, there is no one in authority in Tokyo today who can easily overrule him on naval matters. Many believe that Kato is diplomatically holding out on the naval ratio until the fortifications question is taken up and decided, as the two questions are regarded as interlocked.

The Navy Department here is in a state of extreme nervousness, and editorial comment appearing in the national spirit to support Baron Kato in his ratio stand. But both the public and the press remain surprisingly unresponsive. The outstanding fact remains, however, that everyone wants a successful termination and everyone here is optimistic. It is reported that Premier Takahashi cabinet the other day instructed Kato to get the ratio settlement in his judgment, but with a warning he must not risk breaking up the conference. The Japanese instructions have caused some unfavorable comment here among naval men, but represent the attitude of civilians toward the conference.

Dangerous to Go Home

A foreign expert here who has lived long in China and who remarks the resignations are unwise and impractical, said, of course these people have to go back to China. It is easy for Mr. Kato and Mr. Sze to make a compromise. They do not return to their native country, at least not immediately. The extremists in China make it a condition that the Shantung settlement now being negotiated may be rejected by the delegates. Indeed the resignations are extremely embarrassing to the Chinese government.

Power to Wreck Conference

The resignations are only a development of the threat which has been made by China to withdraw from the conference. China has it to her power practically to wreck the Far Eastern Conference, for her refusal to accept its terms is tantamount to withdrawal. This country would then have to elect between sympathizing with Japan as having offered the better terms, or supporting China in her refusal to have a settlement imposed upon her by the great powers.

Truro Youth Dies As Result of Shot From Officer's Pistol

Truro, N. S., Dec. 11.—George Hamilton, the 16-year-old colored youth who was shot by I. C. R. Police Officer Amos Ogden, Friday evening, in the railway yard here, died at a hospital in Halifax Saturday. Ogden says he only intended to frighten Hamilton, whom he thought was trying to break into a car, surrendered himself to the police magistrate here and was released on $1,000 bail.

May Hurt China's Opportunities At Arms Conference

If Resignations Are Backed by Powerful Minority Results May Be Serious.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Events in China within the next fortnight perhaps will determine how seriously the resignation of the Chinese delegates should be taken. It is known here that the decision of the Powers leading to the direct negotiations of the Shantung problem between China and Japan led to exactly the sort of outbreak of students, organizations and radical bores in China as did the decision of the Versailles conference leaving it to Japan to return Shantung upon her own terms.

American here interested in perceiving what would happen and sending messages to China assuring the Chinese that the conference would be held fairly and that China had most to gain from co-operating with the great Powers and making the necessary compromises.

Other Gales

Other gales mentioned, were that of St. Stephen where the saint was stoned to death, the Gata of Herod, which was stormed by the Crusaders, the Damascus gale, where St. Paul passed on his way to persecute the Christians, the gate to Solomon's stables which were capable of holding 4,000 horses.

Outright History

The speaker gave a brief outline of the city's history and told of its capture from the Jubatites by King David who planned the temple later built by Solomon. A building of such splendor that the Queen of Sheba was forced to exclaim that not half its splendor could be told. The city was captured by Nebuchadnezzar, who carried off its inhabitants to Babylon and held them in captivity for 70 years. On their return they rebuilt the temple but never obtained the splendor of the original.

INTENSELY INTERESTING LECTURE ON "JERUSALEM, THE HOLY CITY"

Dr. E. J. Ryan Conducts a Large Audience About the Hallowed Spots Which Mark the Scenes of the Triumphs, and Humiliations Suffered by the Saviour.

Only a subject of intense interest, delivered in a masterly fashion, could have commanded the vast throng which gathered for a lecture on "Jerusalem the Holy City," delivered by Dr. E. J. Ryan in St. Vincent's auditorium last evening under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League.

The doctor's subject of itself was sufficient to command attention, but the eloquence, the wit and humor and the illuminating word pictures which he made use of in conducting his lecture, about the hallowed spots which mark the scenes of the triumphs and humiliations suffered by the Son of Man, testified that the speaker was sprung from that race to whom a love of the beautiful and holy and the power of expressing that love and reverence in words, may almost be ascribed as a birth right.

At the conclusion of Dr. Ryan's address, in her usual gracious manner, Mrs. M. A. Quinlan presented a sympathetic welcome.

Other gales mentioned, were that of St. Stephen where the saint was stoned to death, the Gata of Herod, which was stormed by the Crusaders, the Damascus gale, where St. Paul passed on his way to persecute the Christians, the gate to Solomon's stables which were capable of holding 4,000 horses.

Outside the walls near the Zion Gate was the house where the Holy Ghost descended upon the Apostles, where King David was buried, and where the Last Supper was partaken of. HEART WOULD BE LIKE A TRIP HAMMER

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst. You have weak and dizzy spinning sensations, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or any distance you get all out of breath. We know of no remedy that will so much to make the heart stronger and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy normal condition as will MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS. Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes: "I had palpitation of the heart, the least exercise, such as going to the store or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip-hammer and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near. My friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I procured three boxes, and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. My friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I procured three boxes, and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. At times of sickness I weighed 120 lbs. now I weigh 150."

Differences of Opinion Are Admitted But Withdrawals of Minor Members Are Explained as Having Been Matter of Previous Intention—Dr. Koo Presents the Nation's Position as to Territories Leased to Foreigners.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The publicity with respect to the doings of the conference seems to grow less rather than more, and as the average reporter defiantly refuses to confine himself to what he knows, which is quite often nothing, he proceeds to discover all sorts of possibilities and probabilities in the unknown or extremely uncertain world that has been flooded with forecasts of some treaty, or agreement, or protocol, or something of the sort, between three or four nations.

At the moment that the Chinese situation seems to present the gravest amount of difficulty the representatives of the South China Government have taken the occasion to present a programme to the delegations participating in the conference with the avowed object of "saving the conference."

Kappistis Staging Coup Two Years Ago Now On Trial

London, Dec. 8.—The first trial of participants in the Kapp putch was opened before the Federal Supreme Court here after nearly two years had elapsed since the coup d'etat by the militarists occurred. All the leaders were given ample time and opportunity to escape.

The three defendants in the present trial are Traugott von Jagow, who acted as foreign minister during the Kapp regime, and who recently caused a scandal by ridiculing the Minister of Justice for not imprisoning him; Count Wangelin, appointed by Dr. Kapp as Minister of Agriculture, seventy-two years old, and Dr. George Scheile, who gave the press reports for the Ehrhardt brigade and was privileged to read his name, together with that of Kapp, on the first warrant issued after the collapse of the putch.

All three are on bail, the total of which exceeds a million marks. The list of witnesses contains eighty-three names, among them are General Ludendorff and Count von Seeckt's and those of other prominent generals and politicians. The prosecution lies in the interruption of the normal constitution of a dynasty. In other words, the article brought by the Government into action against the Kapp rioters was an attack on the government of Weimar, but was staged merely to enforce it.

As the trial is intended mainly to remove the argument that Kapp's followers were left unharmed, no heavy sentence is to be expected. The only sentence, it is believed, will be the appearance of General Ludendorff in the witness box.

Will Cost German More If Moratorium Becomes Effective

At Present He Lives Cheaper Than French or English.

London, Dec. 10.—If the Allies grant a moratorium to Germany with strict guarantees, such as are favored by Great Britain, it will immediately adversely affect the individual German citizen through the medium of his purse. The German is now enjoying certain privileges at much less cost than is the Englishman or Frenchman and if the country is to escape paying its debts for two or three years, the Allies intend to see that this situation does not continue.

The German, it is true, has not had an easy time with the mark where it is, but in some respects is better off than the victors, and in those respects the Allies propose to equalize, if a moratorium is agreed to. For instance England could not agree to subsidize her railroads and turn them back to the owners whereupon the fares either remained high or were raised, while Germany, maintaining its ability to pay, runs the State-owned railways at a deficit and the German dines cheaper than the traveler in England or France. Through subsidizing certain industries the German Government has made it possible for Germans to obtain manufactured articles for less than the market value.

Aside from heavy, dull statistics and the results of the industrial investigation there will be a distinctly human side to the moratorium for the German. Not only will travel and some other commodities cost the Germans more but their taxes will be put on a par with those of Great Britain, so that no longer can the financial situation of the German citizens be so far divorced from the financial standing of the nation.

While the reparations matter has been almost forgotten in England the last few days it has been a subject of considerable activity. Dr. Walter Rathenau, who said he intended to return to Berlin Monday, is still here and is holding a series of conferences with representatives of the Government in an endeavor to arrange a moratorium, or better that, to gain any concessions possible regarding payments. Dr. Rathenau was not seen many German bankers and is continuing his efforts to official quarters.

The visit of M. Loucheur, ostensibly to see the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, is interesting in connection with Dr. Rathenau's position on the return home. While these discussions are going on in London the British Government expects, or rather hopes that the next reparations move will come from France. There is reason to believe, however, that France would not now oppose a moratorium with very strict guarantees, where a few weeks ago they would have fought such a proposal.

European Postage Rates of Interest

Ignorance of Them Might Cause Your Christmas Package to Go Astray.

It would be well for the senders of parcels to the British Isles to bear in mind that the rate of postage has been increased in accordance with the prevailing rate. Already a large number of Christmas packages have been mailed at the local post office, and in nearly every case the transmitter has affixed the amount of the postage required.

In some cases, however, the rules of the post office have been contravened. Many of the packages do not bear customs declarations, others contain butter, which has not been enclosed in tightly soldered tins, and the parcels are not packed in accordance with the regulations, and a great number are found insufficiently prepaid. Everything that is humanly possible is being done by the postal authorities in St. John, in certain instances local people, and others residing in various parts of the Maritime Provinces, are inclined to overlook adherence to the regulations.

It might be well to point out that the parcel post rates for parts of Europe and South Africa are appreciably different, and unless the sender is absolutely acquainted with the rates, he should inquire from the proper post office officials before mailing his parcel. This procedure obviates untold delay and trouble, which are caused by lack of knowledge and perhaps carelessness on the part of the transmitter.

Senders of Christmas parcels should remember that oils, liquids, etc., can be forwarded only when put up with the same security required in connection with their transmission as samples in ordinary mails. For instance, butter should be packed in a tin box, or glass container, fitted with a lid, either screwed or soldered on and the tin or glass container should be enclosed in a corrugated box with sufficient cotton or spunky material to absorb the butter in case the parcel is broken.

For the further guidance and information of those who are or intend to send parcels overseas, a complete reading parcel overseas, it should be borne in mind that packages are subject to customs regulations, and the sender of each parcel is required to make for customs purposes, upon a special form, which can be obtained at the post office, an accurate statement of the nature and value of the contents and other particulars. Under-valuation of the contents, or failure to describe them fully, may result in the seizure of the parcel. The net weight of the various parcels should be ascertained, and the postage stamps affixed to the parcel.

About sixty letters which are undepaid in postage on an average are received daily at the local post office. In some cases, letters which call for as high as twenty cents in postage are only a three cent stamp, while in others the sender had neglected to affix the war stamp. Many American citizens, when visiting in St. John, heedlessly place American postage stamps on their communications. Such occurrences necessarily result in delay at least, and can do doubt be eviated by the exercise of more care.

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lucan, Ont., writes:

"I give you much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk just as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

Salts If Kidneys Or Bladder Bother

Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Solomon Says-- Being the Confessions of the Seventh-Hundredth Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Blessed Be the Steam-Roller of Matrimony, Which Turneth Folly into Wisdom, Egotism into Modesty, Spinsters into Wives, and Bachelors into Human Beings!

HOW long, oh ye Ozymies, will ye continue to scoff at the follies of the married, and to taunt them with your "Now-you-see-it!"

For, verily, in the School of Experience, Marriage is the finishing course, wherein a man acquirith subtlety and a woman getteth wisdom and diplomacy. And until the Steam-Roller of Matrimony hath passed over them, a youth and a damsel are as fields of stubble and highways of uncrushed rock.

Consider, how a Bachelor "ethers" and poseth and docteth stunts for the admiration of, and played a role for the delight and confusion of men. For, lo, the woman hath not had her vanity extracted, nor the man his Ego suppressed.

And, unto THEM, all the world is but a stage, and all the other men and women mere lookers-on!

Yea, they are so brilliant in their own conceit! But marriage reduceth the conceit, and curbeth the headlines. It toneb down the opinions, smothereth the sharp points of the wit, and flieth the rough edges of the temper.

Verily, verily, the Married Woman hath acquired an understanding of Man, and hath learned to bear with his idiosyncrasies; she hath acquired the skill to direct the country around his vanity and to avoid treading upon his nerves and his tender spots. The spinster seeketh to dazzle his eyes; but the wife knoweth when to substitute soft-soap for paprika, sugar for spice, and sympathy for sparkle.

For, all the vanity and self-assurance of maidenhood have been crushed out of her and turned into the wine of amiability and the milk of charity.

And, even as a woman, so is a man filled with self-rightification and whims and ideals and childish conceits.

Marriage giveth him an understanding of women and filtheth him with toleration. It maketh him less scintillating, and more soothing; less soul-distracting, and more enduring. Yea, while the married state robbeth him of his dash and his spice and his swagger, it taketh away also his self-complacency and vain glory. But the "cocadoodle doos" of the Bachelor are a weariness to the ears.

Then, blessed be the Steam Roller of Matrimony, which turneth folly into wisdom, egotism into modesty, spinsters into wise women, and bachelors into human beings!

And, blessed be the husbands and wives and widowers, and all those who have been humanized by the alchemy of marriage, ye even unto the much-dreaded!

For, without them, the journey of Life would be as a ride in a second-hand diviner over a detour covered with broken glass!

Health Talks

There is a law of compensation in Nature which never fails to operate. We must pay for whatever we get.

Modern life has contributed endless comforts and many luxuries. But the busy-busy of present-day existence demands its toll of those who participate.

The brain and nervous system, delicate as they are, can not withstand, late hours, loss of sleep, wrong eating and other bad habits and this must and does result in serious impairment of action and, sometimes, in complete derangement of the functions of the brain.

"General paresis" and "general paralysis of the insane" are names given to a disease which was unknown a century ago. Today it is all too frequently met.

In cities and countries where social standards are low, it is commonly observed. Persons in the active years of life, from 30 to 50, are attacked, and men are more apt to have the disease than women. Nervous persons are particularly liable to paresis.

One out of ten inmates in every insane asylum is the victim of general paresis, or "G. P.," as the doctors call it.

In these diseases there is slow degeneration of the brain substance. Eventually the brain becomes smaller and lighter. The spinal cord and nerves are affected in a similar way.

You can see that such organic and structural changes are sure to result ultimately in permanent injury to the action of the mind and nervous system.

As a matter of fact, the victims of general paresis become weak in mind. His memory is impaired, his judgment is lost and after a while his moral fibre is gone.

To begin with, there are extreme nervousness, fear, headache, irritability and loss of power to perform mental work. These symptoms persist sometimes for years. Then appear melancholia, mania and paralysis of the muscles. The patient walks unsteadily, he can hardly write because of trembling hands, he talks thickly and ultimately becomes helpless and bedridden.

The G. P. patient forgets his engagements and neglects his business. He talks at a great rate. "He arches the skin of his fancy with the rainbow of ecstatic hope." He may have delusions and fancy all sorts of strange things.

When you discover peculiar and unusual mental symptoms in yourself or a member of your family, you should see your family doctor. Don't grow morbid over the condition. It may be of no consequence whatever, but, even if it is, early attention may relieve it. General paresis, for instance, has been cured if a fundamental disease which, taken in the beginning, may be overcome. The longer it is neglected, the more hopeless the outcome.

This disease used to be counted among the incurable conditions. With improved methods of treatment it is looked upon far more favorably. A quiet life and peaceful surroundings added to proper medication give hope of recovery if taken in hand early enough.

London, Dec. 11.—England's order draught completed almost completely, authorized by Parliament, will be modified so as to continue work on two of them if Japan is allowed to keep the Mutsu, the draught completed almost coincidentally with Secretary Hughes' announcement of his scrapping programme. This information, obtained by your correspondent from an unimpeachable source at the Admiralty, gives an indication of the battle that may yet be waged within the Washington Conference around the single Japanese warship.

"We cannot stand by idly while Japan has two such ships as Mutsu and the Nagato on the seas," said a British naval official, "it would be absolutely necessary for us to build at least two of the post-Jutland ships, for which contracts have been let."

It is not hard to understand the English naval point of view. The Mutsu, although of only 33,800 tons carries a battery of eight 16-inch guns and embodies every lesson the war taught. The only vessel England has that compares with these Japanese moderns is the Hood, which is several years older and embodies some of the war ideas, but not all.

The Admiralty does not feel, however, that the question of retaining the Mutsu need upset the question of ratio to which this Government is already committed, although it would require a modification of the scrapping scheme enunciated by the United States. In fact, naval circles are rather inclined to sympathize with the Japanese in their desire not to sacrifice a vessel which was virtually in commission before the Washington proposal was made, and the more general view is that retention on this point may make many other knotty problems much easier, as it will be related upon as a Japanese victory by the "big navy" and militarist elements.

The British idea for a settlement is based on the retention of the Mutsu as part of the Japanese fleet, and the construction of two new ships by England and the retention by the United States of the West Virginia and the Washington. These additions to the respective naval strengths are to be compensated for by the scrapping of sufficient tonnage now listed as effective to restore the 5-3 ratio.

The suggestion also has been brought forward that the scrapings should not take place until the new vessels are commissioned. Thus Japan would send to the junk heap very soon tonnage to equalize the acquisition of the Mutsu; the United States would cut off some older ships as the West Virginia, and the Washington took their places with the fleet, and England would make no reduction until its new vessels are off the ways and out-fitted, which might also be a way out of the replacement tangle.

FORTUNES OF LITTLE PEOPLE

We all pretend we are not interested in superstitions, but nevertheless we usually are interested. The following superstitions concerning the Fortunes of Little People may prove interesting.

Children are under the special guardianship of those who reside in the other world, but yet are permitted to take an interest in this. Their start in life and their ultimate success or failure depends on a great deal over which their parents have no control. Higher influences rule them, and many little incidents to which the unthinking would attach small importance have been proved by the teachings of experience to have an overwhelming influence on their future destiny.

Entering the World From Sunday To Saturday.

It matters a great deal on what day of the week a child is born.

"Monday's child is fair of face."
"Tuesday's child is full of grace."
"Wednesday's child is full of woe."
"Thursday's child has far to go."
"Friday's child is loving and giving."
"Saturday's child must work hard for his living."
The child of Sunday and Christmas Day is good, and fair, and wise, and gay."

Another version of this well-known rhyme is as follows:

"Born on a Sunday, a gentleman;
"Born on a Monday, fair in face;
"Born on a Tuesday, full of grace;
"Born on a Wednesday, sour and grim;
"Born on a Thursday, welcome home;
"Born on a Friday, free in giving."

- 1 cup thin cream.

Put half the crumbs in bottom of shallow glass bowl, cover with the peaches; put the remainder of crumbs over top of peaches and pour the syrup over top; if not very sweet, a little more sugar is sprinkled over the top. A custard can be made and poured over the top or a cup whipped cream can be used, or if there is an egg white on hand, whip until light with 1 tablespoon of sugar; put over top and dry in oven. This is very easily made. Any rich canned fruit can be used. It will make a can of fruit go further than if served alone.

Banana Whip.

- 3 ripe bananas.
- 1 pint whipping cream.
- 4 tablespoons powdered sugar.
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Mash the bananas through fine strainer, add the sugar and lemon juice. Whip the cream until it is stiff, add the bananas; mix lightly with a fork. Put in cold place until ready to serve. Garnish with red jelly and serve in large bowl or ice cream glasses.

A HUNDRED DOLLARS WORTH FOR THIRTY FIVE CENTS.

When you are awakened from a sound sleep by Cramps, when without a moment's warning pain springs upon you, it is then you would really pay a hundred dollars for the quick relief you could secure from a thirty-five cent bottle of trusty old Nerviline. Nothing like Nerviline to relieve cramps, stomach gas, diarrhoea and kindred ills. Nothing better for Neuritis, cold in the chest and sore throat. The price of Nerviline is thirty-five cents, no more, no less, in all stores where medicines are sold.

MUST QUIT PUBLIC SPITTING.

At the request of the local Sub-District Board of Health, Chief of Police Smith has notified the force that the city by-law prohibiting expectoration on the city streets is to be rigidly enforced hereafter. Leading medical authorities are agreed that expectoration is one of the greatest mediums of carrying such diseases as tuberculosis, influenza, etc., and especially in general will benefit by the enforcement of this health protecting measure.

Answers To Correspondents:

"TWENTY-FIVE"—I can quite understand that you are worried about your skin becoming so dry, because there is nothing that will kill a good complexion so quickly as the dry atmosphere of Canadian houses during the winter time. And, of course, continuous housework will ruin any hands unless you do something to prevent it. The best thing you can do is to rub CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM well into your face and on your hands after each washing, and especially every night and morning. THE GREATEST CAREER TOLL

The Well Known Fighter of World Fight With Jack and Tried to Stop

AT THE STRENGTH OF MY FIGHT WITH JOHNSON there would be 20,000 people outside the building, and quite 40,000 inside. Crowds actually arrived right before an alarm outside in order to be sure of a seat. I spent good night, in fact, I slept until nearly eight o'clock the next morning. I got up and felt in good condition. I had a little music, and a song or two.

To please my wife, who was Irish girl, we sang: "Where the River Shannon flows," which was a grand favorite of hers.

Our party, including myself, went down to the ring, whilst my wife who has never seen me fight in life, for instance, never applauded her, went into the country to see our friends.

And now for the great battle to cost me my title. The referee called us to the center of the ring, and gave us our instructions. We were fighting under the Marquess of Queensberry rules.

We returned to our corners, and the bell went for the first round, and the battle had started. I immediately made for my rival, who backed away. Keeping him on the defensive pressed towards Johnson, who showed out his left.

He boxed at long range and played splendid straight left; we then went into a clinch, and I saw Johnson was no love lost. We punnelled each other with rights and lefts, and then Johnson began to hold.

A Sensational Blow.

The referee called out to us to break, but Johnson took no notice of the order. I then called out to referee "make him break first."

The referee was in the act of parting us when the nigger got home a sensational blow that put me down.

It happened like this—the referee grabbed my left hand; and as he was pulling it down, he unexpectedly got Johnson's chance he was long for. The black was not slow to take advantage.

He brought up a right hand up out, which caught me on the jaw, was a terrible punch. I went down but I got up again at the count four.

Though dazed, I had my wife beside me. I knew that my safety depended getting into a clinch, so I pushed Johnson before he could get in a blow. I got safely into the clinch, and once more we battled at each other bodies with hard rights and lefts.

The arm manoeuvre I managed, got Johnson's hands under my arms. I then closed my arms tightly and held Johnson as though in a vice.

I then called the referee's attention to the fact that the nigger was fighting, which, however, was no fault of his. I called out to my opponent "Come on, Johnson, break away. We're not holding on. Why don't you break and fight like a white man."

Of course, Johnson couldn't break; he held him; but the majority of the crowd thought that Jack was the winner. I may say here that I was the very last person who wanted Johnson to break. The tactics I was using was merely to make Johnson believe that I wanted him to break away.

I certainly would have been in good street had he broken. I requested but he couldn't have done it because as I say I had him glued to me both arms.

In Danger.

I reckon that had the black broken clean away as soon as I rushed into the clinch, then all would have been up with me. I was in bad condition, and a boxer of Johnson's experience would have timed his blow to the exact moment, and a man on earth could have survived. I have always reckoned that had I not been able to beat Johnson in the clinch, the fight would have ended there and then. As it happened when the bell sounded I was on my feet and I figured I had had a lucky escape.

"I'm coming, you nigger." I retorted, and in the round we fought every inch of the way.

"Now, Tommy, don't let too hard was another sarcastic remark passed by Johnson, as we hammered away each other's bodies. The nigger then commenced to say things that I could not repeat in these columns.

"Come on, you yellow cur, I'm here to talk; come on and fight me. I'm going to give you a— of hiding, Tommy." Jack called out, which I retorted—"I can take all nigger can give. Don't be innocent a white man. You too mad because you are a nigger?"

Discussion on these lines was kept up during the next round, when I home quite a number of vicious arm jabs to Johnson's body.

Jack's ribs certainly must have rattled, but the nigger was as hard a stone. I was hitting Johnson to by far the most formidable man I ever met. It was impossible to rub him. My plans up to this period were to get close to Jack's body, and Johnson's left hand slipped over my right shoulder, to crash in right-hand punches to the ribs.

I did this five or six times in a session. The nigger was accurate

Market Strong To Discomfiture of Short Interests

Rails Alone Sluggish, Many of the Issues in That Division Remaining Unquoted.

New York, Dec. 10.—Opinion in trading circles was rather mixed at the opening of today's brief session, but the market soon turned strong to the discomfiture of shorts, who had covered extensively before active sales.

Rails Sluggish. Rails alone were sluggish, many of the representative issues of that division remaining unquoted. The reports disclosing an increase of 100 freight cars. Sales amount to 640,000 shares.

Sentimental factors in the day's movement included the strength of foreign exchanges, some of which were at maximum fluctuations since the signing of the armistice and announcement of the terms of the "four powers" treaty from Washington.

U. S. Steel.

The November tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation, showing a very small decrease in bookings compared with the previous month and weekly reviews of trade conditions by the mercantile agencies comprised the other developments bearing upon market values.

Trading in bonds was broad, but changes in that quarter were irregular. Liberty issues again denoted rising for profits, while transportation reflected pressure in the market. Total sales, par value, aggregated $10,875,000.

Actual decrease of $38,600,000 in clearing house loans and discounts was something of a surprise in view of the supposed drain on local resources during the week. A cash loan of $7,000,000 reduced excess reserves to slightly less than $10,000,000.

BRITISH LABOR COLLEGE IS FULFILLING AIMS OF FOUNDERS

Educating Workers to a Point Where They May be of Service in the Teaching of Their Fellows — It Stands Square Faced to the Biting Winds of Opposition.

London, Dec. 10.—Strange as it may seem, few papers appear to have discovered the significance of the educational movement that has been built around and about the buildings situated in the ultra-respectable and peaceful quarter of Earl's Court, London. Either the London press was unaware of the activities of the students—or the tremendous influence exercised by these warm-hearted and enthusiastic youths upon their fellow workers in the mines, the factories, and the workshops, to which they return after a year or two in residence at the college—or they consider the new movement scarcely worth their attention, as being like many another outgrowth of the wider Labor movement, the outcome of a particular "kink" of a few zealous and revolutionary persons, destined to run a lively course and then to pass away.

The Labor College, however, has obstinately refused to pass away, and despite enormous obstacles that would have saddened the hearts and stifled the ardor of most people, the original promoters of the "working-class education" movement have the satisfaction of having built up an institution that stands square faced to the biting winds of opposition, with the comforting consolation that the college occupies a high and permanent place in the field of Labor politics. The college is unique in many respects. Without the support of the official Labor movement, either on its political or industrial side, with simply the enthusiasm of a comparatively small group of earnest and enthusiastic students, every one of whom has a high and permanent place in the ranks of the laborer, the claims of the college have been forced upon the Labor movement in the teeth of its most prominent spokesmen.

Qualification for Service.

Whether one agrees with the kind of teaching that is being given among the supporters of this college or not, one cannot fail to admire the earnestness, the enthusiasm, and the disinterestedness of the promoters, the staff, and the students. For it must be remembered, the young man who journeys from mine or workshop for a course of training and study in economics, industrial history and sociology is not actuated by selfish or personal motives, to obtain an education that would place him above his fellow workers and so enable him to secure positions of responsibility in the business world that are denied to them. The "object" of the college is to state that it is the aim of the teaching to raise a man out of his class, but to qualify him to be of service to his class. One of the objections to Ruskin College, arising out of a quarrel between which and the 1908 students the Central Labor College had its beginnings, is that it is a "social science" college of the Oxford type, that the students were fitted for and taken into government service and lost to the Labor cause. Roman contempt for the university in the early days has been a tendency of late years has been to approximate the teaching at Ruskin College to that of the university; and that in itself condemns the Oxford institution in the eyes of the supporters of the Central Labor College, inasmuch as the latter claims that education in the "social sciences" must be partial, that there is a definite and well-defined working class point of view; that in the consideration of value, profit and wages, the point of view of the workers must be paramount.

Hedging On Sales Caused Weakness in Wheat Market

Good Demand for Cash Wheat With Offerings Liberal — Coarse Grains Lower.

Winnipeg, Dec. 10.—With a considerable volume of hedging sales, and a buying power of only moderate proportions, the local wheat market today was acting weaker. After opening lower, futures declined to a low of 108 1/4 for December and 108 for May, and closed 1-4 up from these quotations.

There was a good demand for cash wheat at present values. Premiums advanced 1-1/2 to 2-1/4 during the session, but reacted later in the day and closed from 1 to 2 down. The demand is principally to fill tonnage. Coarse grains were following in line with wheat, and all closed lower. Inspections totalled 1,212 cars, of which 976 were wheat.

Loyal Featured Transactions On Montreal Market

Stock Declined Nine Points on Heavy Selling — Bond Business Light.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—Loyal was again the feature in Saturday's trading on the local stock exchange, the stock declining nine points on heavy selling. It opened two points lower at 55 and the decline from that price to the closing at 48 was almost uninterrupted. There are strong rumors in usual well-informed circles that at the forthcoming meeting of directors of the company, the dividend will be cut. If not actually passed, it is expected that the only feature of interest was the sale of 85 shares of St. Lawrence Flour 3 points higher at 88 1/2 and the turning over of 100 shares of Windsor Hotel at par, unchanged from Friday. Dominion Textile which reached a new high point at 143 closed 1-1/2 points above Friday at 141 1/2. Asbestos closed also in tone and after selling at 113 eased off another point.

Business in bonds was light and price changes were unimportant, the most notable being a 30 advance in Victory Loan 1937, which sold up to 107 1/2 and closed with a sale at 107 1/2.

Grain Prices Sagged On Heavy Market

Chicago, Dec. 10.—In a heavy market grain prices sagged and provisions barely held their ground on the Chicago Board of Trade today. At the finish wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, corn was off 1/2 to 3/4 cent and oats were 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower. Pork and lard finished unchanged but ribs lost 1/4 points.

THE MARKET IN THE WEST INDIES FOR CANADIAN GOODS

(Canadian Gazette.)

Prominent West Indians have on several occasions expressed in these columns the interest with which they look forward to trade with Canada as a means of helping the West Indian Colonies in these difficult times. It is therefore satisfactory to learn that the desire for increased trade is reciprocated by the Canadian manufacturers. It is announced that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association hope to make closer acquaintance with the British West Indies, their Executive Council having approved of a proposal to send a delegation of twenty-five members to those Colonies in January. The objects of the tour are stated as follows:

- 1. To advance by friendly intercourse the mutual interest between Canada and the British West Indies so manifestly apparent in past years, and culminating in the enactment of preferential tariff arrangements.
2. To establish personal relationships between Government officials, business organizations, merchants, bankers, etc., of all countries which are signatories to the agreement.
3. To discuss means of improving Canada's trade with the West Indies, and to consider other matters.
4. To gather information in respect to the business and economic conditions in the various islands, and methods by which existing trade may be increased and new lines introduced.
West Indians will be delighted at the prospect of this visit, and the delegation will be sure of a hearty welcome. In the meantime it is interesting to note the statistics of Canada's imports from the British West Indies during the first four months of the present fiscal year which have recently been published. The quantity of sugar imported into Canada during the four months ended July 31 was 255,598,175 pounds, of which 241,363,806 pounds was under 16 Dutch standard. Of the latter 42,352,680 pounds came from British Guiana, 22,385,195 pounds from Barbados, 943,794 pounds from Jamaica, 1,150,000 pounds from Trinidad and Tobago, and 5,453,999 pounds from the other British West Indies. The imports of cacao for the four months were 45,227 cwts., of which 2,235 cwts. came from Jamaica, 17,359 cwts. from Trinidad and Tobago, and 99,952 cwts. from the other British West Indian Colonies. Coffee was imported by Canada to the amount of 5,205,000 lbs. of which 1,821,000 pounds was from Jamaica. The imports of arrowroot amounted to 47,345 pounds, 41,909 pounds of which came from the British West Indies. Canada in the four months imported 1,485,613 coconuts—527,776 being from Jamaica, 403,800 from Trinidad and Tobago, and 23,088 from the other British West Indies. W. P. Hughes, formerly secretary of the Quebec division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has gone into the subject of trade with the West Indies in a paper presented at the meeting of the Canadian Export Club, and an article by him which appears in Industrial Canada cannot fail to be of interest to manufacturers. He proposes to enter the West Indian market. For the purpose of this article Mr. Hughes divides the British possessions in the West Indies into two groups: (a) the

Firm Undertone To Raw Sugar Market

There Were No Sales Reported of However and Offerings Were Light.

New York, Dec. 10.—There were no sales reported in the local raw sugar market today, but the undertone was firmer and offerings were light. Prices were unchanged at 2 1/2 cents for new crop Cubas cost and freight, equal to 3.60 for centrifugal while the committee quotes old crop Cubas at 2.5-8 cents cost and freight, equal to 3.58 for centrifugal. The raw sugar futures market was firmer on covering and commission houses buying owing to the steadier feeling in the spot market. Closing prices were 5 to 7 points net higher. January closed at 2.23; March 2.24; May 2.23 and July 2.21. The market for refined was quiet and unchanged at 5.20 for fine granulated.

Japanese Resent Bartering Charge Made Against Them

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—Nothing is resented more bitterly by the Japanese delegation than the insinuation that it is withholding decision on naval ratio for the purpose of barter. The Japanese came to a conference, not to get anything, but to give as much as they possibly can without prejudicing their national safety and existence.

There should be any delay in the settlement of naval ratio is exceedingly deplorable. But when we come to consider the gravity of the issue, it is not surprising that immediate agreement has not been reached. When Japan replied the American invitation, she accepted it in the most friendly spirit in which that invitation was addressed to her. In accepting it she was confident that opportunity would be given her for full, unreserved, friendly exchange of opinions on all problems which will be considered at the conference.

That undoubtedly was and has been the real intention of America. President Harding and Secretary Hughes, far-sighted and generous, certainly have no desire to "dictate terms of peace" to any of the nations which they have so graciously invited. If the Japanese have any reason to disagree with the conclusions of the American delegation, it is their obvious privilege and duty to differ courteously and frankly. Surely the American delegation would not deny that privilege to any delegation, even if that meant a labor of six days in the final settlement of a question.

EUROPEAN CONDITIONS AND OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE

Economic Breakdown, Political Ineptitude and Social Unrest—Incongruities in Central Europe—Some Hopeful Signs.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Declaring that the period of prostration through which the petroleum industry, as well as other lines, has been passing is due to the foreign situation, Edward Frazier, president of the Vacuum Oil Company, which has ramifications in many foreign countries, in an address at the second annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute of the Congress hotel tonight, said Europe is suffering from unending economic, financial and social ills. He analyzed conditions as he found them during an extended trip, painting a picture of economic breakdown, political ineptitude and social unrest, and urged as essential that Americans should know the facts and weigh them with all soberness as relates to their own affairs.

"We may erect barriers to keep out the physical diseases of foreign countries, but no wall can shut out the commercial, financial and industrial ills of other lands," he said. "Mr. Frazier described the new map of Central Europe as a projection of geographical monstrosities. The peace commission, in its endeavor to divide up Central Europe along ethnological lines, has seemed to pay little attention to natural frontiers or age-long economic currents, he said, adding that because of the varieties of race migration and race development, any attempt at clear-cut ethnological divisions of peoples is an impossibility.

Czecho-Slovakia, with a population of 15,500,000, contains only 6,000,000 Czechs, and they are determined that no other tongue but theirs shall survive, an effort as hopeless as that which Russia undertook for many years in Poland, he said. Poland contains a total population of 30,000,000, of which only one-third are Poles, and one-half are Poles, and educated Poles, regarding themselves as a distinctive ruling class, look upon industry, commerce and production as enterprises as methods actively unbecoming for them to follow. Jugoslavia has a population of a little short of 15,000,000, of which not quite half are Serbs, and there is antagonism in spirit between the Serbs and the Croats. There are similar conditions, though to a lesser degree, in Hungary and Bulgaria.

"The strong predominant race in all these countries, freed from long oppression, has become aware of its own strength and is beginning to demand for itself a share of the world's goods," he said. "The result is not only internal discord, but a positive external hostility. The ruling races of these new countries view the nations of Central Europe as a whole as a menace to their own existence. There is no permanent national existence without some new federations or alliances, which are practical necessities. As a result, the political considerations overshadow every other problem. One hears much of orientation from a political standpoint and very little about sound economic or financial.

No Political Stability Until Russia Recedes Hereafter.
"Over all Central Europe hangs the shadow of Russia. It is not her attitude toward the carving up of her empire which is the cause of her helplessness. . . It is evident that there can be no political stability in Central Europe until Russia recedes here and the direction that her great strength will be exercised is definitely ascertained. . . . Meanwhile these Central European countries are in a state of industrial, financial and political turmoil. There is everywhere an excess of politics and a lack of real statesmanship. Government is weighted down with a tremendous load of civil and military employees. . . . Not only are these great armies drawn from production, but there are evident certain strong socialistic tendencies which militate against that earnestness of effort and labor which existed among the peoples as a whole prior to the war."

Mr. Frazier declared that there have been created in Central Europe half a dozen Alsace-Lorraine, which will be festering sores for generations to come. Conditions in Northern Europe do not present a much more hopeful present outlook, he said. Every country is spending much more than its revenues, seeking to cover the deficiency by inflation of the currency, and the high cost of living has been intensified by the unprecedented drought of last spring and summer. There is a nervous unrest, an unnatural gaiety, a seeking after pleasures, amusement, shells and oysters are crowded to capacity.

"In contradistinction with England's policy," Mr. Frazier said, "Congress out of our new tax law these provisions which are relief to American capital engaged in export operations. This capital is enormous, and when the residue of earnings comes back to this country it is again subjected to the maximum tax at home. As a consequence, the net returns on American capital in apparently successful foreign operations frequently does not equal what might have been earned on money, without risk, from ordinary bank interest."

Hopeful Signs.
Mr. Frazier saw as hopeful signs the harvesting of crops in Central European countries sufficient for their own needs, with something to spare for export, which he associated with a rift in the dark clouds overhanging Russia. In spite of the crushing debt of debt, Europe possesses potentialities which it realizes will prevent bankruptcy, he said. He believed England, France and the United States cannot permit Germany and certain of the Central European countries to go into insolvency that will bring financial chaos everywhere. A great source of present European expense is the burden of military armaments, and this will surely now be largely lifted with the disarmament conference turning the searchlight never before upon the waste which militarism causes.

"It may be possible that this congress will not accomplish all that is either hoped for or desired," he said, "but, in any event, it will be the giving of the end, for there will be so set at work forces that in time will be irresistible, so that not only Europe but the people of the world everywhere can devote their resources and energies to the pursuits of peace; otherwise, warfare with all its attendant evils cannot fail to bring semibarbarism to a considerable section of Europe."
