COLORED RACE AND THE COMMUNITY

Few Extracts from Address Delivered by Rev. Neil Herman in the First Presbyterian Church, New Glasgow on June the 8th.

"There never was a time when the colored man was not. We find him at the very dawn of creation. We find him in Eden, for God made all nations of one blood.

And you will find him in the Old Testament. The only man who stood by the prophet Jeremiah was an Ethiopian.

And you will find him in the New Testament—that Ethiopian, an eunuch of great authority, under Candace the queen of the Ethiopians.

And you will find him away down there in the cotton fields of the American republic, where he emerged, in the early sixties, and took his place among the free men of the world.

You will find three hundred million of the colored race in Africa. You will find him in the West Indies. You will find him in Canada. He is here lifting and pulling and sweating in your modern workshop.

He is cleaning your community: he is drawing your heavy loads: he is no shirker.

You can fire no stones at this colored man. You dare not, and cannot call him a lazy black man.

The colored man is here as a thinker. He is doing his own thinking. He is giving us a literature peculiarly sweet, rich and passionate.

We have the poet Dunbar—the colored Dunbar—Dunbar with a soul as rich as the best of any poet of our day.

The colored man has the soul of the mystic. The man who wrote "Swing low, sweet chariot," has the soul of fire, and expresses the soul of a people who has a right to its soul, to achieve all that God has placed within their breasts.

The colored man is here with a moral capacity for right or for wrong. He is a moral dynamic, that can construct a civilization or blow it up. It is for us white folks to say what it shall be.

And the colored man is here with his religion. He has brought his God with him. He has brought that passion for God and his Redeemer from the cotton fields of the sunny south. The black "mammie" who crooned

25 Years in Service of Conference

REV. SAMUEL RICHARD DRAKE, General Superintendent of the B.M.E. Church who will preside at the Annual Conference to be held at Windsor June 24 to 30th. The General Superintendent received his first appointment from the Annual Conference held at Brantford in 1899. He has an unbroken record of continuous service since receiving this appointment. He has been uniformly successful in his appointments. He served as pastor of Nazrey Memorial, Niagara Falls; Toronto; Ft. Erie; Buffalo; Brantford, London. General Superintendent since 1908.

her little ones to sleep, with the lullabys of the south, possessed a faith and a love that touched the succeeding generations whose children are with us tonight.

What shall we do with the colored man? Give him a chance. Make it easy for him to express his soul. Give him a larger opportunity in the field of industry. Give him a larger scope in the domain of learning. Help him to live the morally heroic life. And in hat life of the spirit, so dear to the colored race, make it more and more possible, by every power within your reach, for the colored man to realize that the white man is not a carping, church-going hypocritical profiteer, but a follower of Him, who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and give His life a ransom for all.

English Are Experts With Colored Problem

(By The Associated Negro Press)

New York, June—"The English Way" with the race problem pleases Robert Herrick better than the American way, according to his article in the New York Nation this week. Mr. Herrick is a contributing editor of The Nation and author of various novels, of which the latest, called "Waste," has just appeared.

He found himself not long ago on the British Island of Careacou in the Caribbean—an island whose population of about 2000 consists of colored people and a mere handful of white officials. "I had no preconceived formulas about the race question," he writes, "and so I give what I saw and felt for what it may be worth."

"I had two stock questions that I put to the white officials 'How many crimes of violence have occurred in your jurisdiction in the last two years?' Sometimes they had to go back four and five years to find a case of first class assault or murder Compare that with any rural district of a similar density of population, either North or South, in the United States! My other question was: 'Can a white woman of the upper class go safely anywhere at any time of day or night in your island unescorted?' The answer to this was a stare of surprise. 'Of course! Why not?'"

The English government, says Mr. Herrick, wants the Negroes who live in places like Careacou, under British rule, to govern themselves loyally. His account of his visit is sufficient testimony to the success of the plan. He will take up French colonies in an article about the island of Martinique, to appear in The Nation next week.

Colored Fighters Win Their Battles

(By The Associated Negro Press)

New York City, June—Two minutes after the second round of the scheduled feature twelve round bout between little Al Brown and Willie La Morte, the white boy was kissing the canvas, somewhere in dreamland, Saturday night at the commonwealth Sport Club. The blow that kayoed was shot in so swiftly that few saw

NEGRO SCIENTIST UNLOCKS TREASURES

Dr. George W. Carver Reveals New Uses for Peanut, Pecan, Sweet Potato, and Clay.

Tuskegee, Ala., June 14—With magic touch Dr. George W. Carver, negro scientist, who for the past 30 years has been a member of the faculty of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute here, has opened a treasure trove of nature, hidden for centuries.

Concealed under the guise of a sweet potato, a peanut and a pecan, nature had hidden a myriad of useful products, and these have been disclosed by Dr. Carver, who was born in a slave home on a Missouri farm.

The records of this scientist today stand: More than 100 commercial products from the sweet potato, 200 from the peanut and more than 60 from the pecan.

Not stopping with that, Dr. Carver has transformed a lump of southern clay into beautiful colors, one of which is the Egyptian blue, the secret of which was believed to have died and been lost to the world with the ancients of the Nile valley.

This worker with the soil also has been given a Fellowship in the Royal Society of Great Britain and in 1923 was awarded the Spingard medal which each year is given to the man or woman of African descent and American citizenship who shall have made the highest achievement in any field of human endeavor.

it. The first intimation the crowd having that Willie wa sin trouble was in seeing him keel over on his face.

In the other feature twelve rounder, Ansel Bell scored another knockout, the referee stopping the light in the seventh round in order to save Charley (Kid) Kohler from further punishment at the hands of the heavy hitting Bell. The boys were evenly matched, Bell weighing 121 and Kohler 123. Although the white boy has some good fights to his credit, it was apparent after the first round he was not equal to the deadly jabs and crushing eftts with which Ansel cut him down.

LISTENING IN.

Recently we visited one of our larger cities. We were there privileged to witness the gathering of several young ladies of our group, to sit quietly and listen to their conversation. Among the subjects discussed were: bobbed hair, the latest fashion in dresses, shoes and hats, preparation for the coming season's picnics, and so forth. We have nothing in particular against any part of their conversation, for nothing pleases us better than seeing our young women well dressed even though their apparel does not bespeak the height of fashion. Even their discussions of bobbed hair and picnics did not grate upon our nerves.

But, as we sat listening, how we strained our ears, how we hoped against hope to hear spoken just a few words upon the more serious side of life. At times we sat almost breathless with expectancy, waiting to hear some one turn the conversation into another channel, to speak of bettering their own conditions and the conditions of the race, to speak of encouraging their young men friends to begin a bank account with an eye to beginning business for themselves, to speak of pursuing further their education in order that they might become more useful to themselves and to the community at large, to talk of assisting the race to climb one notch higher in the scale of civilization. While we do not claim that discussions upon these subjects do not take place among our young ladies, we do assert that we did not hear it when we fervently hoped to hear it, and we do most certainly hope that they are beginning to think upon and to discuss the more serious side of life.

We also sat unobserved in the gathering places of our young men, fine looking, stalwart, well dressed and manly looking youngmen; young men whose forms would compare most favorably with the forms of the ancient athletes who participated in the Olympic games. I "listened in" on these young men. They talked of horse races, games of pool and billiards and their ability to play these games, dancing, their young lady friends, and one at least, of his splendid daily earning at honest toil.

Fully 95 per cent. of these young men are engaged in useful and gainful occupation. By far the majority of them were unmarried, with no one depending upon them for support. As I sat there and viewed their handsome faces, bubbling over with youth and the vigor of young manhood, through whose veins flowed the germs of immortality, I could understand the Master's feelings when he viewed Jerusalem from the mountain top and said: "O Jerusalem, how often would I have gathered thy children together as a hen doth gather her brood under her wings, and ye would not." How my heart yearned to speak to these young men, to encourage them to think more seriously upon the meaning of life, but lest I be considered an eccentric, or a lunatic I simply "listened in." However they could not stop me from thinking and so I thought of these young men thusly: What a tremendous force of energy, what mountains of strength, both physical and intellectual, what a great foundation on which to build a nation and most certainly a race—if only this great power were properly directed. Can we, the guardians of our people; can we see to it that this energy shall flow through the proper channel? WE CAN AND WE MUST. "What is that in thine hand?" asked Jehovah of Moses when he asked for water for his people. "A rod," was Moses reply. Our Creator replied in two simple words: "Use it."

Letters to the Editor

New Glasgow, N.S.

Dear Mr. Jenkins:—

Your correspondence inviting my opinion or suggestion on the question of Co-operation, is most timely, and I appreciate very much your effort along this line. The race needs men of unselfish minds, big enough to see the other fellows as they see themselves. No greater propaganda could be attempted in the interest of our race, than that of which points to Co-operation.

But before there can be real co-operation, there are some things that are essentially vital to be considered as obstacles in the way, which demand that such things be hurried. One of those things is prejudice, a subject on which you have very fairly mindedly written or commented on in a recent issue of this paper. Petty prejudices are taking the life out of anything that pertains to real progress among our people. The saying that one is a West Indian, an American, etc. is too frequently used, and is standing in the way of unity, love, fellowship, and under these circumstances, there cannot be any thing like co-operation. If the matter is considered psychologically as to racial antiquity, we are all foreigners and strangers in Canada.

Real co-operation requires the burial of race prejudice. A second thought is, that if there is to be co-operation, there must be more of race appreciation. This is one of the most vivid revelations of the failure of the colored race than any thing that one could think of. Is not the limited support that is being given to your paper an evidence to substantiate this? Why are the Chinese, the Jews, the Europeans and other races so successful? It is because of the appreciation that each person gives to a man of his own race. Of

B. M. E. Conference Notice

All members and delegates to the B.M.E. Conference, which is to be held in Windsor beginning June 24, are requested to be present at its first session next Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

WELLAND NOTES

Mrs. W. J. Wilson and two daughters and son attended the concert at St. Kitts on the 5th.

Mr. George Burns and Mr. J. James of Buffalo lunched with the Misses Wilson on Sunday and attended the Baptist Sunday School.

The Philathea Bible Class of the Baptist Sunday School held a banquet in the Sunday School room on Saturday eve. in honour of two Baraca members, who are leaving for the summer months. They held their monthly business meeting on Tuesday evening the 10th at the home of Mrs. Ray Schram. Several items of interest were discussed to extend the work of the class. At the close of the business session the hostess served a luncheon.

course there is much consideration given our race by other races. Take a man of the medical profession of our race, by whom is he largely patronized? The people of other races, otherwise starvation is bound to stare him daily in the face. This is indeed a curse among our colored people in this country, and before there can be co-operation among our people to welcome an era of progress and race prosperity, there must be more of appreciation of one another. His position and ability must be recognized. Speaking of the Maritime Provinces, and particularly Nova Scotia, eleven ordained ministers. Of this number eight are foreigners. Three are what would be called natives. There are three lawyers, all of which are foreigners. There are 3 medical practitioners, they are also foreigners. There are at Dalhousie University, Halifax, about twelve or fourteen medical and law students. They are all foreigners. The so called foreigners, then are the ones who are the representatives of the race. These are therefore convincing evidences for forgetting ones nationality and let us all pull together for the betterment of the race. The story is told of a white man with whom seven colored men were employed. A piece of work was being done that needed the pulling together of all the men employed. They were watched by the overseer as the work was in progress. The result was, that as the men pulled together, progress in the work was made. The white man called out to another to come and see one of the wonders of the world. What was it? Seven colored men were pulling together. Before there can be real co-operation which will eventually bring prosperity and success to our race, there must be race appreciation, race unity, and a burying of race prejudices.

Rob Wills of Credit For Hard Earned Victory

(By The Associated Negro Press)

New York City, June — Although Harry Wills won that much talked of and oft postponed bout with Bartley Madden at the Queensboro Stadium Monday night, June 4th, much of his victory is being robbed of its glory through prejudice and that alone.

Eyewitnesses of the fight sitting at the ringside say that eddie Purdy, the white referee needlessly interfered with Harry so often that Wills became badly confused. To many, it appeared that Wills might be "under orders" not to knock his man out. To the majority, however, it was plain that Wills was doing his best to finish the white man in as short order as possible. That he did not put Madden to sleep should not cause the cry of derision which white sport writers have let loose regarding the ability of Harry.

It is well known that the man selected for Wills' entertainment after a long lay-off in the ring is a tough bird, as tough as they come and one who has never been knocked out. He was badly beaten in his fight with Wills, so badly that we predict that Bart will want to rest up for several days recuperating. Tom Gibbons stayed the limit with Jack Dempsey last summer and the next day looked as though he had never been in a fight with the world's champion heavyweight. The game now may be to keep Wills from a real money fight with Firpo and then later with Dempsey as had been proposed by Tex. Rickard. We don't think it will work and regardless of what the wise ones among the other race think, it is our opinion that Wills can take the measure of both the South American and the champion.

OWEN SOUND NOTES

The Presbyterian General Assembly having closed, conditions in Church circles are once more normal.

It will no doubt be interesting to many of our race to know that one of the prominent commissioners at the General Assembly was Rev. Dr. Cropper, of British Guiana, who speaking at B.M.E. Church outlined missionary activities in the country where he and his wife are labouring.

Dr. Cropper is a native of Jamaica but left Halifax, N.S. 27 years ago to labour in British Guiana.
