The Buying and Selling of Situations Further Investigated.

Members of Parliament Looking After Increased Indemnity—The Ontario Express Company's Bill Passed the Senate Committee.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—Following is a continuation of the testimony given yesterday before the Public Accounts Committee, the witness (L. N. Charlebois) having stated that Ernest Dionne and Horace Talbot got goods from A. C. Larose, drygoods merchant, which were paid for by Governmental checks. Witness admitted that another official of the department named Vance accompanied Dionne and Talbot to the store and had a running account there, but witness did not remember if he was ever connected with these checks.

The chairman—Why did you make out these accounts?

Witness (after hesitating)—I suppose to defraud the Government.

Mr. Lister remarked (looking over at Wood)—You mean the party could have got at the bottom long ago if they had been anxious.

Col. Denison (the member for West Toronto) sitting behind Mr. Wood, said to Mr. Lister, "You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

Mr. Lister—If you can't speak like a gentleman you needn't address me.

Mr. Denison—I will speak when I like.

Mr. Lister—I won't take it from you.

Mr. Denison—You have got to.

Mr. Lister (going towards Denison)—Now have I got to?

At this critical point the chairman restored order.

Horace Talbot was the next witness. He swore most positively that the goods charged in the accounts produced were regularly ordered and regularly delivered. He was the officer to order the supplies and to receive them, and he swore positively that he did not receive them.

Q.—Did you ever deliver goods purchased for the department to other officials?

Ans.—No.

Q.—Did you ever present Mr. Baillarg, the late Deputy Minister, with a silk dress for his daughter?

Witness, who had been scornfully indignant at all these questions, now answered: "This is so low it turns my stomach. It is false—false like all the rest."

When Mr. Lister took the witness in hand he took occasion to tell him that he should not be so insolent before a Parliamentary committee. To Mr. Lister witness said he was expressly authorized by the Deputy Minister of the Public Works Department to purchase goods from Larose and get the accounts made out in the name of another person. They did not imagine that the Opposition would inquire so minutely into these affairs. Witness denied trying to buy Larose off from giving evidence or trying to buy his books.

Mr. Larose owner of the store where these goods were purchased, corroborated his bookkeeper's evidence. He received Government checks but he never sold any goods to the Government. He was told by Dionne and Talbot that he would have to get another name as the head of the department would not pass an account in his name. He was asked to make out the accounts by these officials and they brought him back the checks.

COCHRANE'S CASE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—In the Cochrane Committee yesterday additional evidence was given as to the transaction in which Hedley Simpson paid $200 for a lighthouse. It became important to prove whether, when the money was paid into the bank for the purpose of meeting the note given for a portion of the party indebtedness, Mr. Cochrane was a member of Parliament. W. L. Payne, solicitor, Colborne, said that the payment was made on Jan. 25, 1888. Mr. Larke, of the Standard Bank, said it was made on Feb. 29. Mr. Cochrane took the oath on Jan. 31, but it was by no means certain that a man does not become a member of Parliament until he signs the roll. Mr. Cochrane was elected in the previous December and gazetted shortly afterwards. Wesley Goodrich, who gave a life lease of a farm and $200 for the position of bridge tender on the canal, said that the $200 was handed to Mr. Cochrane who was to take it to Mr. Payne to be applied in payment of old indebtedness of the party. It is contended that Mr. Cochrane in this case acted merely as the messenger who carried the money; but it is evident Mr. Cochrane was aware of the corrupt practice of bartering Federal offices for money, while his consent is shown by the fact that the Government would appoint the victims only upon his recommendation.

John Wade, son-in-law to Obadiah Simpson, stated that he carried out the bargain with Wesley Goodrich about the old man getting the farm. It was Mr. Cochrane who first told him that Goodrich was willing to give the lease for his farm if he could get a position on the canal.

Mr. Barron put in a letter from Mr. Cochrane to Sir John Macdonald recommending the appointment of the bridge-tenders on the Murray Canal. There was an indorsement on the letter in the handwriting of the late Premier giving direction for the appointments to be made in accordance with Mr. Cochrane's recommendation.

Mr. Mulock put a few other letters in, the most remarkable feature about them being that after the appointments had been made the department wrote asking for particulars as to the ages of the men. The committee will meet again on Thursday.

FRESH INQUIRIES.

Mr. Somerville is moving that all accounts and vouchers in connection with payments for W. Inglis Bradley, clerk in the Railway Department from July, 1884, to December, 1885, be produced, and that S. L. Shannon, W. L. Cameron, A. P. Bradley and Alfred Croit be summoned as witnesses before the Public Accounts Committee. Mr. Mulock has moved for all papers in connection with the Toronto harbor contract.

INCREASED INDEMNITY.

The session is now in its fifth month and the cry from some quarters for an extra indemnity becomes louder. A caucus was held in room sixteen yesterday afternoon when the House was in supply. Even the Minister in charge of supply, Mr. Foster, left the chamber and not a single Government supporter was in his place. The caucus was considering the indemnity question, and it is understood that the Government promised to consider the proposal to grant $500 extra.

The Torch of War

May Soon Be Lighted Again in Europe.

Intense Interest Aroused by the Dardanelles Affair

England to Largely Increase Her Fleet in the Mediterranean.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The semi-official statement which the Porte has issued in regard to the agreement with Russia touching the passage by the Russian volunteer fleet through the Dardanelles is quickening the British Foreign Office in its efforts to obtain concerted action on the treaty powers in demanding full explanations from the Porte within two days. Lord Salisbury's attitude appears to have changed from one of pretended indifference to one of keen diplomatic activity. From Chateauccil, where he still abides, he has roused the officials of the Foreign Department here, through whom night and day cipher dispatches pass in a stream to and from the European capitals. A high official of the department takes the view that the Russo-Turkish agreement will make necessary on the part of Great Britain even if she has to act alone. Lord Salisbury's position, as it is understood to have been communicated to the powers, is that the Russo-Turkish agreement is an evasion of the Treaty of Paris. Turkey could not assent to open and flagrant violation of the treaty by giving Russia the right to send warships through the straits, but she makes concessions tantamount to the same privilege in permitting the passage through the Dardanelles of a volunteer fleet equipped with guns and filled with soldiers. Be the developments of diplomacy swift or slow British intervention ultimately appears to be inevitable.

AN EARLY DEMONSTRATION

The Paris Temps distinctly indicates that the French Government intends to support the Sultan's right to enter into a special contract with Russia outside of the articles of the treaty.

With the straits trouble is directly involved the question of Egypt. Moukhtar Pasha, the Porte's commissioner in Cairo, has renewed his demand through the Khedive for the evacuation of Egypt by the English. Cairo advices state that if this demand is refused Moukhtar Pasha will ask the Sultan to recall him and to leave the post vacant as a protest against the Khedive's contumacy towards the Suzerain.

The British ambassador at Constantinople, Sir William White, is on the worst possible personal terms with the Sultan, and it is said he will be withdrawn.

In commenting upon the Dardanelles question, the Post protests against the idea that the powers desire to make England play the role of a dupe. The Post declares that if any change is necessary in the present situation it must be effected by the concerted action of the nations interested. It is certain, it adds, that England will continue to protest against the passage of the Dardanelles by Russian war vessels, but up to the present time none of the treaty obligations have been violated.

It is reported in Berlin that Count Kalnoky, the Austro-Hungarian Minister, views the Dardanelles incident with gravity, and has proposed sending a joint European note to the Porte.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—There is no doubt that the attention of Europe is at the present moment again painfully concentrated upon Turkey. That luckless country is at present a prominent factor in two important questions, both dangerous enough to furnish the spark which may light the torch of war in Europe—the Datdanelles incident and the question of the evacuation of Egypt. In Parisian official circles it is reported that the first act of the new Turkish Cabinet will be to bring forward the question of the evacuation of Egypt by the troops of Great Britain. It is also rumored in the same circles that the Porte will, practically speaking, at the same time address a circular to the powers, announcing that it does not intend to modify the treaties affecting the passage by foreign warships of the Straits of the Dardanelles. Russia's demand in connection with the detention of her volunteer warships were classed as so arrogant that the Weener Allegemeine-Zeitung, of Vienna, characterized Russia's action in the matter as a direct provocation to England and the other friendly powers.

The main Dardanelles question does not center so much upon the Moskowa's detention going and coming from Vladivostock as upon the similar delaying of the Kostroma, another vessel of the volunteer fleet, practically a transport returning from Kamschatka with troops on board. This stoppage took place while the Russian ambassador, M. De Nelidoff, was still insisting upon an apology and indemnity for the delay forced upon the Moskowa. The result was that the Russian ambassador not only demanded a further indemnity in the case of the Kostroma, but in addition, though it is not denied that this vessel had troops on board, M. de Nelidoff demanded the dismissal of the commandant of the Dardenelles, and that a superior official of the artillery department should wait upon the steamship company's agent at Constantinople and tender an apology upon the part of the Turkish Government.

The Neue Freie Presse, of Vienna, recently in what was said to be an inspired article, claimed to see plan and system in these repeated straits incidents which always end in victory for Russia. The plan, according to the Neue Freie Presse, is to accustom the turkish guardians of the Dardanelles to the passage of Russian ships with soldiers and arms on board, whether previous notice has been given or not; to let the commander of the fortress and his subordinates know that Russians are always right in the end, and that they will be censured for during their duty. Thus the ground will be prepared for the execution of a future surprise on Constantinople.

The Standard's Vienna correspondent says: "The Dardanelles agreement which was concluded behind Kiamil Pacha's back by palace officials compelled Kiamil to resign. It is suspected also that a secret treaty has been concluded, with the approval of France, to come into operation two years hence; when the Black Sea shipbuilding and dock plans have been executed." The Standard's correspondent at Constandinople attributes the change in the ministry to the Sultan's suspicton of a plot to take his life, such suspicion arising from a sudden extinguishing of the gas in the palace during a storm recenely, and an explosion of fireworket on which occasion the Sultan forthwith dismissed and arrested several officials.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—The North German Gazette holds that the Porte's assent to the claims of Russia is less important as a breach of treaties than serious as disclosing the new line of policy adopted by Turkey towards Russia.

The Viehnese presse (semi-official) anticipates sharp antagonism between British and Russian influences at Constantinople, and recommends that England become more amendable so far as Egypt is concerned. In the opinion of the Presse the new position of affairs does not involve any danger to the peace of Europe. The great powers, it holds, have no grounds for taking any active share in England's impending diplomatic measures.

The waiting attitude which the German and Austrian Chancellors are alleged to have recommended to Lord Salisbury is explained by official advices received tonight from Constantinople to the effect that the life of the new Turkish Cabinet will be brief.

It is the expressed conviction in official circles here that Lord Salisbury, relying upon the general ultimate support of the Driebund Ministers, will accept the advice proffered him and await the outcome of events.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 9.—Newspapers have expressed confidence that in view of the entente cordiale between France and Russia the powers will hesitate to protest against Turkey's concession to Russia as regards the Dardanelles for fear of raising thorny questions regarding Bosnia, Cyprus and Egypt, while Turkey, strengthened with the knowledge that the Franco-Russian entente is a counterpoise to the Driebund, will not be easily intimidated. Thus these papers believe peace is ensured.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says: "England has intimated her intention to increase the Mediterranean fleet largely.

Advices received from Cracow, the ancient capital of Poland, now in Austrian Galicia, states that the householders of Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland, have been ordered to prepare to accommodate a large number of troops within a fortnight, that a great concentration of Russian forces is in progress at that point, and that the Russian police have warned newspapers not to publish anything about these movements. Troops to the number of 150,000 have been ordered to Warsaw, which will bring the number of Russian forces on the Polish frontier up to 500,000.

CONMEE CONFIRMED.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

TORONTO, Sept. 5.—Ferguson, J., and Osler, J. A., delivered judgment in the Court of Appeal this morning at Osgoode Hall in the West Algoma election case. This was an action brought by one William Powley, as petitioner, to unseat James Conmee, M. P. P. (Liberal) for West Algoma. At the recent by-election Conmee defeated MacDonnell, the present Conservative member for the riding in the Dominion House.

The charges of bribery and corruption alleged against Conmee, M.P.P., were tried before Ferguson, J., Osler, J. A., at Port Arthur on July 21, 22 and 23. All the charges were disposed of and dismissed with the exception of one serious accusation which the petitioner was allowed to add at the trial. This allegation was in effect that Conmee personally promised one Mrs. Tennent that if she would procure her husband's vote in behalf of the Liberal cause she would be favored with a position as keeper or cook of a boarding-house on the line of the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western Railway, which road Conmee was then building as a contractor. This charge was supported by the evidence of Mr. Tennant in person and Mr. Aaron Squier, who last year was mayor of Port Arthur, and is now president of the local Conservative Association.

Squier swore that he heard this conversation between Mrs. Tennant and Conmee and positively declared that Conmee made the corrupt promise as charged. The conversation was said to have taken place on a street in Port Arthur, where the parties happened to meet a few days before the election.

Mr. Conmee was put in the box to answer when he admitted having canvassed the woman for her husband's vote under circumstances somewhat similar to those described, but he positively denied that any corrupt promise was made in regard to procuring Mrs. Tennant a position as cook or the keeper of a boarding house; he simply urged her to bring her husband out to vote for him.

The judges criticised this evidence very closely and came to the conclusion that they ought to accept Conmee's account of what had taken place in preference to the testimony given by Mrs. Tennant and Squier, which they said "looked fishy." The judges deemed it incredible that Conmee could have acted in the manner charged under the circumstances described, neither could they believe him to be such a fool as to utter a corrupt promise within the hearing of the president of the Conservative Association, even admitting that he might have done so in secret.

In conclusion the judges discard the evidence of Mr. Squier and Mrs. Tennant and ordered judgment to be entered in favor of Conmee, dismissing all the charges of bribery and corruption, and awarding the seat to Conmee for the ensuing Governmental term.

DURHAM, Ont., Sept. 7.—A very sad accident occurred Saturday afternoon at Latona, in Glenelg township, by which James Young, aged 67, lost his life. Mr. Young had driven to a neighbor's, a distance of a mile and a half, on a road cart, and when ready to return drove over a little knoll with one wheel of the cart, upsetting him and landing him on his head. He died in two minutes. The deceased leaves a wife and large family.

THIS IS A THIRSTY WORLD.

Abundance of Water in the Gospel Well.

Talmage's Sermon at the New York and Pennsylvania State Fair.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Dr. Talmage's text to-day was Genesis, xxix., 8: "And they said, we cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."

There are some reasons, said the preacher, why, it is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great Interstate Fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens, horsemen just come from their fine chargers, the king of beasts, for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which is in every way nobler, and speak to these shepherds just come from their flocks, the Lord himself in one place called a Shepherd, and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep, and preach to you cattlemen come up from the herds, your occupation honored by the fact that God himself thinks it worthy of immortal record that he owns "the cattle on a thousand hills." It is appropriate that I come because I was a farmer's boy, and never saw a city until I was nearly grown, and having been born in the country I never got over it, and would not dwell in cities a day if my work was not appointed there. My love to you now, and when I get through I will give you my hand, for though I have this summer shaken hands with perhaps 40,000 people in 21 States of the Union all the way through to Colorado and north and south, I will not conclude my summer vacation till I have shaken hands with you. You old farmer out there! How you make me think of my father! You elderly woman out there with cap and spectacles! How you make me think of my mother! And now while the air of these fair grounds is filled with the bleating of sheep, and the neighing of horses, and the lowing of cattle, I cannot find a more appropriate text than the one I read. It is a scene in Mesopotamia, beautifully pastoral. A well of water of great value in that region. The fields abound about it white with flocks of sheep and other flocks coming to be watered. I hear their bleating coming on the bright air, and the laughter of young men and maidens indulging in rustic repartee. Meanwhile, Jacob, a stranger, on the interesting errand of looking for a wife, comes to the well. A beautiful shepherdess approaching, followed by her father's flock of sheep. It was a memorable meeting. Jacob married that shepherdess. The Bible account of it is: "Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice and wept." It has always been a mystery to me what he found to cry about! But before that scene occurred, Jacob accosts the shepherds and asks them why they postpone the slaking of the thirst of these sheep, and why they did not immediately proceed to water them. The shepherds reply to the effect: "We are all good neighbors, and as a matter of courtesy we wait until the sheep of the neighborhood come up. Besides that, this stone on the well's mouth is somewhat heavy, and several of us take hold of it and push it aside, and then the buckets and the troughs are filled, and the sheep are satisfied. We cannot, until the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."

Oh, this is a thirsty world! Hot for the head, and blistering for the feet, and parching for the tongue. The world's great want is a cool, refreshing, satisfying draught. We wander around and find the cistern empty. Long and tedious drought has dried up the world's fountains, but nearly nineteen centuries ago a shepherd, with crook in the shape of a cross, and feet cut to the bleeding, explored the desert passages of this world, and one day came across a well 1,000 feet deep, bubbling and bright and opalescent, and looked to the north, and the south, and the east, and the west, and cried out with a voice strong and musical that rang through the ages: "Ho, every one that thirteth, come ye to the waters!"

Now a great flock of sheep to-day has gathered around this Gospel well. There are a great many thirsty souls. I wonder why the flocks of all nations do not gather—why so many stay thirsty; and while I am wondering about it my text breaks forth in the explanation, saying: We cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep.

We want a good multitude to come around the gospel well. I know there are those who do not like a crowd—they think a crowd is vulgar. If they are oppressed for room in church it makes them positively impatient and belligerent. Not so did these Oriental Shepherds. They waited until all the flocks were gathered, and the more flocks that came the better they liked it. And so we ought to be anxious that all the people should come. Go out into the highways and the hedges and compel them to come in. Gather all the sheep off of all the mountains. None so torn of the dogs, none so sick, none so worried, none so dying as to be omitted. When the elections come the whole land is scoured for voters, and if a man is too weak or sick to walk to the polls a carriage is sent for him; but when the question is whether Christ or the devil shall rule this world, how few there are to come out and seek the sick, and the lost, and the suffering, and the bereft, and the lame, and induce their suffrages for the Lord Jesus. This well of the gospel is deep enough to put out the burning thirst of the 1,400,000,000 of the race. Do not let the church by a spirit of exclusiveness keep the world out. Let down all the bars, swing open all the gates, scatter all the invitations: "Whosoever will let him come."

This well of Mesopotamia had a stone on it, which must be removed before the sheep could be watered; and I find on the well of salvation to-day impediments and obstacles, which must be removed in order that you may obtain the refreshment and life of this Gospel. In your case the impediment is pride of heart. You cannot bear to come to so democratic a fountain; you do not want to come with so many others. It is to you like when you are dry, coming to a town pump, as compared to sitting in a parlor sipping out of a chased chalice which has just been lifted from a silver salver. Not so many publicans and sinners. You want to get to heaven, but it must be in a special car, with your feet on a Turkish ottoman and a band of music on board the train. You do not want to be in company with rustic Jacob and Rachel, and to be drinking out of the fountain where 10,000 sheep have been drinking before you. You will have to remove the obstacle of pride, or never find your way to the well. Jacob with a good deal of tug and push took the stone from the well's mouth, so that the flocks might be watered.

Come, all ye thirsty! You have an under fined longing in your soul. You tried money-making; you tried office under Government; you tried picture and sculptures, but these all failed to satisfy you. There are men here who are perfectly discontented. Unhappy in the past, unhappy to-day, to be unhappy forever, unless you come to this Gospel-well. This satisfies the soul with a high, deep, all absorbing, and eternal satisfaction. It offers the most unfortunate man so much of this world as is best for him, and throws all heaven into the bargain.

Come, also, to this Gospel-well, all ye troubled. Compare your view of this life at 15 years of age with what your view of it is at 40, or 60, or 70. What a great contrast of opinion! Were you right the then, are you right now? Two cups placed in your hands, a cup of joy and a cup of grief. Which has been the nearest to being full, and out of which have you the more frequently partaken? Oh, you have had trouble, trouble, trouble. God only knows how much you have had. Well, what do you want? Would you like to have your property back again? "No," you say, as a Christian man: "I was becoming arrogant, and I think that is why the Lord took it away. Well, would you have your departed friends back again? "No," you say: "I couldn't take the responsibility of bringing them from a tearless realm to a realm of tears. I couldn't do it." Well, then, what do you want? A thousand voices in the audience cry out: "Comfort, give us comfort." For that reason I have rolled away the stone from the well's mouth. Come, all ye wounded of the flock, pursued of the wolves, come to the fountain where the Lord's sick and bereft ones have come.

I gather all the promises to-day in a group, and I ask the shepherds to drive their flocks of lambs and sheep up to the sparkling supply. "Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth." "Though he cause grief, yet will he have compassion." "Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivereth him out of them all." "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." The Divine Physician has been healing wounds for many years, and he will give you gentle and omnipotent medicament. But people, when they have trouble, go everywhere rather than to God. De Quincy took opium to get rid of his trouble. Charles Lamb took to punch. Theodore Hook to something stronger. Edwin Forrest took to theatrical disipation. And men have run all around the earth, hoping in the quick transit to get away from their misfortunes. It has been a dead failure. There is only one well that can slake the thirst of an afflicted spirit, and that is the deep and inexhaustible well of the Gospel.

The Typhoid Fever Outlook.

The typhoid fever and malarial outbreak in South London has given rise to a good deal of talk and some investigation, and the ADVERTISER has received a number of very strongly-worded protests on the subject of the neglect of the property owners and of the civic authorities. A Wortley road resident, for example, asserts that the river side of Craig street and Wortley road is a series of open sewers, leading in some instances into the malarial pond allowed to exist and on to the lowlying ground in other cases. There, he says, the disease-breeding filth is permitted to lie in the sun and fester. Another correspondent asserts that "the lack of sewage on Craig street is indefensible, as it leaves the houses without drainage, and gives owners an excuse for getting rid of their filth by running it on the flats. Mixed with the green-scummed water, it forms a fruitful source of disease." And so on. "Why don't the owners petition for a sewer?" asked a No. 6 ward alderman to-day. "Oh," replied a tenant, "simply because what is everybody's business is nobody's business; but of what use is the Board of Health if action, and decisive action, is not taken on the series of nuisances there existing at once?" Another resident said that the health officer should be prepared with a definite report on the extent of the nuisance and its remedy when the Health Board meets. As the nuisance has lasted for years and is growing worse, not a day should be wasted.

Histogenetic

System of Medicine.

All diseases successfully treated by a new system of non-poisonous and tasteless medicines. Send for free book explaining system and testimonials of the most remarkable cures on record.

I have been a great sufferer from a female weakness of long standing, and have been treated by several physicians, and have also been under treatment in the Toronto Hospital, and all failed to cure me. I saw a medical book explaining the Histogenetic System, and resolved to give it a trial. I consulted Dr. Rear, who prescribed these remedies and assured me they would cure me. I had my doubts, but was determined to try once more. I took treatment two weeks, and am utterly astonished at the results. I am nearly well, and no language can describe how thankful I am that my life was spared. This testimony is voluntary, and I believe it honing that hundreds of my sex may try the medicines and receive the same marvelous good that I have. They are good to take, and, unlike any medicine I ever took before, leave no bad effects.

MRS. J. FAWCETT,
June 5, 1890. 102 John street, Toronto.

I was attacked with congestion of the liver and inflammation of the kidneys, attended with excruciating pains in my side and back. Could not lie on either side—could scarcely breathe. The slightest movement caused agonizing pain. Nothing gave me relief. I sent for Dr. Rear, knowing he had cured by daughter of a dangerous illness with Histogenetic Medicine after she had been given up by four skilful physicians. In one week my pain was gone and liver and kidneys acting as well as ever. The cure is complete. It acts the most like magic of any medicine I ever took. I sincerely hope that the suffering ladies of Toronto and elsewhere may try the superior merits of these pure and tasteless medicines. My object in giving this testimony is purely through sympathy for the sick and dying.

Henwood, Harrison and Stanley appointed essayists for the next meeting, which takes place in Brantford on the first Wednesday in December. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: Dr. Dunton, Paris, president; Dr. Minchin, Jerseyville, vice-president, Dr. Keane, Brantford, secretary-treasurer.

DUFFERIN.

The saddest affair that has occurred in Garafraxa for some time took place on Wednesday morning on the farm of Robert Donaldson, near Reading. On Tuesday Archibald Malloy, a stout young man 20 years of age, came to the Donaldson farm to assist in taking in the harvest, but during the afternoon took sick and went to the barn to rest. There was no house on the place, and when the other harvesters started home in the evening they left the young man in the barn, as he preferred to walk home after he had rested a while. On Wednesday morning the dead body of the young man was found in the barn, where he had died alone in the early hours of morning. Previous to Tuesday afternoon the deceased had enjoyed robust health.

The friends of J. J. Wright, of the Point farm, Goderich, will regret to hear of the death of his wife on Sept. 2, after a lingering illness.

Detective Murray, of Toronto, has jailed in Goderich the man Chambers, who is alleged to have shot Constable Bulmer at Clinton a few months since. Chambers was charged with having burglarized a store in Harriston and got away from the town, but Constable Bulmer got on his trail and followed him to Clinton. An effort was made by the officers to capture him in his bedroom, but he opened a fusillade upon the attacking party and then pretended to escape by the window of the bedroom. Two of the constables ran down to the rear of the hotel to intercept his flight, and Bulmer remained to guard the door, Chambers then dashed out and a scuffle ensued between him and Bulmer, during which the latter received a bullet in the breast. Chambers made his escape and took to the woods, and, although a large posse turned out to search, he succeeded in eluding the vigilence of his pursuers. Through the instrumentality of Constable Gundry, of Goderich, photographs of Chambers were struck off and put in circulation, and in due course Detective Murray, of Toronto, succeeded in locating him at Portage la Prairie, where he was serving a term of three months under the name of Gilkinson.

TORONTO'S GREAT FAIR.

An Immense Exhibit and Large Number of Special Features.

The wheel of Time has again revolved, and in a few days Toronto's Great Industrial Fair for 1891 will be open to the public, and people will again be flocking to it from all parts of Canada and the adjoining States. The harvest has this year been good, and the attendance of visitors to the great Fair may therefore be expected to be very large. The entries in all departments are sufficient to completely fill every building on the grounds, as well as the new ones that have been erected during the summer. The Dominion and Experimental farms are each sending very important exhibits, showing the result of practical tests in the various departments in which the farming community are specially interested. British Columbia and Manitoba are also sending much larger exhibits than heretofore. The live stock exhibit will be very fine. The list of attractions, as announced in the official programme issued by the Association, is a very long one and cannot fail to please the visitors, as there will be something of interest to see every minute of the day and every day of the Fair. The Fair will be opened by Major-General Herbert on the 8th of September, and closes on the 19th. The usual low rates and special excursions will be given on all the railways. b

"German Syrup"

Here is an incident from the South—Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the Cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since." PETER J. BRIALS, Jr., Cayuga, Hines Co., Miss. g

Smoke Blossoms.
"Did you ever see a smoke blossom?" Well, the way to make them is this: Buy one of the latest new CAT CIGARS. Light it and blow a ring in a still atmosphere, and then watch it. The smoke making the ring revolves towards the center as you look towards it. While it is floating away a part of the ring shoots slowly away from the rest forming a loop. When the two sides of the loop come almost together the loop seems to burst at its apex and a lily-shaped blossom appears thereon. Try it. Manufactured by

"The Advertiser" advocates Continental Free Trade, and as early as possible after, free trade with the whole world. The British trade model cannot be improved upon.

"The Advertiser" looks forward with hope to Canada's future as that of an Independent Canadian Nationality, believing that such a status would be best for Canada, best for Great Britain, and promotive of the best attainable relations with the United States.

"The Advertiser" advocates prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor.

"The Advertiser" is an advocate of equal rights for women, whether as regards the franchise, or equal wages for equal work.

"The Advertiser" is a believer in Christian Union, and considers the time has come when the various Christian denominations should come closer together. Those bodies which are now nearest should unite first. Under the present system there is an unjustifiable waste of men, means and effort. The ADVERTISER will endeavor to promote the movement for Christian union not alone by direct appeal and argument, but by seeking to present the best rather than the worst side of each denomination.

"The Advertiser" advocates Obligatory Voting as both necessary and practicable. Nothing would so much purify electoral contests. Nothing would so much enforce the idea that the franchise is a duty, not a chattel.

THE WESTERN UNIVERSITY.

The question of reviving the Western University has for some time past been a matter of conversation in private circles, and we think the time has come for us to give public expression and shape towards definite issue the thoughts which have been stirring in the minds of the citizens.

Two questions lie out on the surface: Is the scheme possible? Is it advisable?

The first of these questions has already received practical solution. The extension of its sphere of operations, to which Huron College has been compelled, will have the effect of introducing into the city the professorial staff requisite for the arts course, and it is for the city now to decide whether that staff shall be limited in its operations to the work of training men for the ministry of the Church of England, or be permitted and invited to extend its sphere so as to include general university requirements?

Whether it be turned to the advantage of the city or not, the essential conditions of a university establishment will be fulfilled by the residence within the city of the four professors who will henceforth constitute the working staff of Huron College. The university scheme, therefore, is possible; is it advisable? Our sister city of Toronto will furnish us with an illustrative parallel. The recent census amongst other things shows not merely that Toronto has made an enormous addition to her population during the last decade, but that no other city in Ontario has shown anything like the same ratio of increase. Many reasons may be assigned for this, all falling easily and naturally under the general heading of centralization. There is commercial centralization, railway centralization, governmental centralization, legal centralization and educational centralization. It is with the last that we are specially concerned at present. Announcements are frequently made of the removal of whole families to Toronto with a view to the educational advantages so abundantly furnished by that city, but which are looked for in London in vain. University opportunities in London would not only stop all such leakages of her citizens, but would undoubtedly be the means of attracting many most desirable residents. If this be so, it would seem a matter of supreme importance to the development and well-being of our beautiful city that the proposed university should at once be called into existence and placed on a substantial basis. It would seem that Huron College which, in conjunction with the medical school, would form the nucleus of the university in the proposed increase of its staff so as to meet university requirements, is entitled to every possible assistance not only from the members of the Church of England or from the citizens of London, but from the entire western community. This is no mere question of sentiment, for what we have clearly at stake is the retention of many of our present citizens, the gaining of new with the consequent investment of capital and expenditure of money here instead of elsewhere. Toronto itself is keenly alive to the importance of this point which we are emphasizing, as witness its action with regard to the law school. Nothing can more clearly show how constant and energetic those interested in the advancement of that city are in their efforts towards centralization. A short time ago the Law Society, a body controlled by a majority of Toronto benchers, established a law school with a staff of paid lecturers. The funds out of which these lecturers are paid come from lawyers in every part of Ontario; but not only was no provision made for lectures being delivered in any place other than Toronto, it was even made imperative on every student to take a two years' course at the new law school before admission to practice. In other words, a two years' residence in Toronto was made a necessary qualification for the future barrister or solicitor. A similar spirit needs but to be manifested amongst ourselves to secure for the city a prosperous and brilliant future.

Of the advantages of London as an educational center, the ADVERTISERwill have more to say in a future issue.

LONDON'S TAXES.

Ald. Spencer, civic finance minister, will have a pleasant budget to present to the City Council at its next meeting. The committee over which he presides finds it possible to reduce the tax rate from 22 mills to 18 mills on the dollar. This is effected by the successful consolidation of the civic debt and by a nest-egg of 1 mill on the dollar left over from last year. The rate for South London will be 12 mills.

The city is in good financial shape. What it needs is unity of aim in securing the best results from public expenditures and in keeping the advantageous position of London as a commercial and social center before the world.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

THE St. Thomas Journal has taken possession of its new office. It is an ably-conducted and independent journal, and its enterprising proprietor and editor has the ADVERTISER'S best wishes for his continued prosperity.

SO THE grounds chosen for the military camp for the London district this year are too small and have to be enlarged, and besides were not in good condition when the corps arrived. This is a serious state of matters, and all because it was deemed necessary by the small-minded political managers at Ottawa to take the camp to St. Thomas to bolster up the political prospects of a weak Parliamentary candidate!

‡‡‡

WHILE opening a new public park in Belfast recently, Lord Dufferin told the assembled multitude that he would shortly terminate his career as a diplomat, and that when that happy release arrived he hoped to become more closely connected with the city and corporation in whose ears he was speaking. Our former Governor-General means by this that he will give up the career of diplomacy in which he has scored so many triumphs, to resume his position as a citizen of Ireland, but he probably will not stop there. Who can doubt that Lord Dufferin is destined to make his mark in the halls of Westminster? He would make an able successor to Gladstone in the Liberal leadership. As a manager of men and a conciliator of diverse interests he has few, if any, equals.

A REMARKABLE development in the petroleum industry has taken place in California. The Santa Faula Chronicle thus refers to the experiment:

"The inside pages of the Chronicle of this issue are printed entirely in ink made from crude petroleum, here in Santa Paula, by the Union Oil Company. It marks a possible era in the future of Ventura's oil industry. Research and invention has for many years sought a printer's ink from petroleum, but without success. We find its realization to-day in the beautiful tones and results entirely and alone from the oils produced by the Union Oil Company of this place, without the addition of anything in the shape of pigment or other ingredient. It is a result achieved nowhere else."

There was a time when the refuse from the refineries was either buried or diverted into the running streams. It was regarded as worse than useless. Now it is sold at a profit for fuel. Perhaps Ontario refiners may be able to produce printers' ink at a profit, also.

FATHER WILLIAM'S REMARKS.

"Since you may not recover," the young man said—
And a sob filled his throat like a lump—
"Will you please kick the wall at the height of your head,
And first give a hop, skip and jump?"

Father William was ill with an ossified mind—
Sad symptom that it is o'ertasked—
And he answered, "Young man, I feel strongly inclined
To kick when such favors are asked."

I hope it is not true—this report that the Princess of Wales has set the fashion of having the family portraits painted on the dinner plates. Souvenir spoons are bad enough—no one can relish the idea of clutching an eminent man by the back of the neck for the purpose of conveying food to the mouth—but souvenir plates are worse. FANCY seeing the face of your honored father partially obscured by potatoes and cabbage, and that of your youngest born completely smeared with gravy, not to speak of finding the entire family "in the soup." Family portraits would be scarcely less out of place on the family door mat.

Cheerily played the band at the last concert of the season. Proudly did the performers contort the upper part of their bodies into the shape of the letter S. Blithesomely paraded the happy crowd over the dew-drenched grass. High rose the heels and voices of the children kicking up the gravel. Tenaciously clung those who were seated to the seats whereupon they sat. Fervently listened one music-lover who came under my observation, while patiently, dumbly beside him his pale little boy sat quiet a long, long time. Wistfully speaking at last he ventured to ask him a question, whereat the music-lover quickly turning upon him fiercely exclaimed: "Shut up!" Then did I betake myself from the pleasure ground, sadly remarking, "If music has not charms to soothe the savage breast, what is the good of music?"

To an old fellow like myself who was brought up in the "exploded idea" that teachers and pupils are natural enemies, nothing could be pleasanter than the sight of so many bright young faces on the street a little before 9 in the morning. Actually they are happier looking now than they were during the holidays. At Colborne street school on the morning that school opened a number of children were assembled before the locked doors waiting for admission as early as 8 o'clock. That does not look as if the "shining morning face" was "creeping like snail unwillingly to school."

Of course these immature people have their own cares and worries no less real to them because they seem remote and unimportant to their callous elders. Talk to any wide-awake school boy or girl in London to-day and you will quickly discover that the main thing in life is not the state of the crops, or the markets, or politics or religion; no, it is all embodied in the word "transfers." "Am I to be transferred to a higher grade?" That is the burning question of the day to the school-going mind. Whether it is wise to keep so much first-class youthful material on tip-toe with anxiety and in a state of more or less nervous tension is a problem well worthy of consideration.

I was one of a party of three who went to hear Mr. J. B. Watson's lecture on "Pluck, Patience and Perseverance" in the City Hall the other night. There were six of us counting the umbrellas, for if one of us had omitted to carry an umbrella it would have rained cats and dogs. As it was it did not rain so much as an eye winker of either of those animals. It was an imposing sight to see us proudly marching into the hall, each bearing a big and perfectly useless umbrella, and when we stood them together and they all fell to the floor at once it made an imposing sound. But it is a well known fact that nothing is created in vain. Shortly before the lecturer appeared one of the audience at some little distance from us attracted the attention of his friend three seats in front by playfully tapping him on the head with his umbrella. That suggested a new use for the despised article. At such a time it is futile to wish that you had left your umbrella at home. Far better use it to punch your neighbor in the ribs at the funny points in the lecture, wave it over your head to express enthusiastic applause, and if the odor of peppermint candy from behind is too pronounced for your comfort gently unfurl it and lean it over your shoulder as a means of partial protection.

The most definite impression that I conveyed away from the lecture was that a man can be what he strongly wishes to be. That is true to a certain extent. But in every case the acorn should wish to be an oak; it would be a serious mistake for it to wish to become an elm. Find out what you were meant to be, and then no particle of your work, aspiration or endurance will be "against the grain." It will all be perfectly in accord with the natural grain and growth of your character.

FATHER WILLIAM.

ONE GREAT LESSON.

[Toronto Mail.]

If the census teaches one lesson, that lesson is that we must lighten the burdens pressing upon agriculture, seek earnestly for the removal of the tariff obstructions which confront us at the boundary, and avoid new, expensive, and unnecessary undertakings.

HIGH TAXATION IS AN EVIL.

[Toronto Monetery Times.]

Has the country been unduly burthened for the benefit of industries carried on in the towns? In other words, has protection made dearer what the farmer does not produce and has to buy! There can be very little difficulty in answering this question, we apprehend. This evil admits of a cure, though its application would be difficult.

TURN THE RASCALS OUT.

[Evangelical Churchman, Toronto.]

The political atmosphere is charged with scandals. Enough corruption has been brought to light in our political life to bring disgrace upon our Dominion. We trust that all honest public men who love their country and its honor above all else will band together, irrespective of all party ties, and use every effort to bring light into the dark places and to rid our politics of corruptionists. Let us have pure government, carried on by pure men.

CAMP LYNHURST.

A Budget of Newsy Notes from the Soldier Boys' Home.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 5.—The rates of pay of militia per day while on active service, exclusive of allowance, is as follows: Lieutenant-Colonel in command of a battalion, $4 87; major, $3 90; paymaster, $3 05; adjutant with rank of lieutenant, $2 44; adjutant with rank of second lieutenant, $2 13; surgeon, $3 65; assistant surgeon, $2 43; quartermaster, $1 94; captain, $2 82; lieutenant, $1 58; second lieutenant, $1 28; sergeant-major, $1; quartermaster sergeant, 90 cents; paymaster's clerk, 90 cents; orderly room clerk, 90 cents; hospital sergeant, 90 cents; pay sergeant, 80 cents; sergeant, 75 cents; corporal, 60 cents; bugler, 50 cents; private, 50 cents.

Dr. Hanavan, of "D" Company, I. S. C., has been appointed principal medical officer, and the Journal says that Dr. Brown, of the London Field Battery, Dr. Billington, of the Twenty-sixth, and Dr. Kains, of the Twenty-fifth, are all the seniors of Dr. Hanavan, and the regulations are that the senior medical officer in camp should act as principal medical officer. Dr. Brown has in other camps, because of his seniority, occupied this position and is indignant that he, being the senior officer, should be passed over. He has complained to Lieut.-Col. Smith, written the major general, and will wait upon that officer in regard to the matter upon his arrival in camp. Should Dr. Brown's claim not be recognized he will send in his resignation. He is an old regular artillery surgeon, and has been connected with the London Field Battery since 1856.

The general opinion is that the camp has not, so far, been as lively as other camps. This is attributed by the Journal to the fact that the camp is an exceedingly small one as regards the number of men under canvas, and that there are a great number of new men who are not acquainted with each other.

CAMP DOTS.

Some of the boys would like to be home to help the "old man" get in the fall wheat. The date set for the camp is not the best that could have been made, says the St. Thomas Times.

John Garrow, an employe of the Journal, was bitten by Surgeon Brown's spaniel dog yesterday and the wound on his leg was cauterized. His pants were badly torn.

The London Field Battery has a camp fire burning every night. It is expected that Tuesday will find the battery at Port Stanley.

There are 1,614 men in camp, and about a dozen are already in the hospital.

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

EIGHTEEN MILLS

The General Rate of Taxation in the City—Ward Six Will Pay Twelve.

At last evening's meeting of No. 1 Committee there were present: Aldermen Spencer (chairman), Wilkey, Taylor and Judd, Mayor Taylor and Treasurer Pope. Arrangements were made to have 2,000 copies of debentures printed.

Chief Williams' letter asking for $500 for the police benefit fund was read, and the matter was left for the Council to deal with.

Contractor Shea handed in his account for gravel delivered in Wards 4 and 6, amounting to $236 08. It was decided to recommend that he be paid, less the value of the 85 loads which the committee are of opinion he did not deliver.

The committee then struck the rate of taxation for 1891 on the figures submitted by Treasurer Pope. South London is to pay as per agreement at the time of amalgamation 12 mills; for the rest of the city the rate is 18 mills. The decrease from last year's rate of 22 mills was due mainly to the consolidation of the city debt. Then the surplus from last year amounting to $14,150 86, because of an over-estimate for 1890, knocked off another mill.

THE STATE OF TRADE

In the Dominion of Canada and the United States.

There has been a general improvement in trade, according to commercial telegrams, throughout the United States during the week. Drygoods, worsteds, clothing of all kinds, hardware, provisions and lumber are the lines in which activity is most marked. The foreign buying of American securities has improved. Gold has begun to return to this continent. The exports of wheat for the week (including Canada) touch close on 6,000,000 bushels, compared with just one-fourth as much for the corresponding week of last year. The fall drygoods trade is now in full swing.

There is more activity shown in nearly all staple lines in the Dominion. Sales of drygoods are larger. The Dominion reports 17 business failures this week, against 21 last week, and 25 this week last year. The total number from Jan. 1 to date is 1,221, against 1,105 last year.

WATCHING CHEESE.

The Montreal Trade Bulletin says: "The cheese question is being watched with a good deal of interest at the present time, each dealer and shipper keenly scanning his neighbor's operations lest he should steal a march upon him. Up to the close of last week 803,622 boxes of this year's make had been shipped out of the country, against 868,310 boxes for the corresponding period last year, and from New York for the same period 656,022 boxes have been exported, against 782,976 boxes last year. Up to Aug. 29, therefore, the total shipments of cheese from Canada and the United States amounted to 1,459,644 boxes, against 1,651,286 boxes for the corresponding period last year, showing a decrease of 191,642 boxes, or about 11,500,000 pounds.

"The price of finest cheese in this market at time of writing is 9⅜ to 10 cents, which is ⅜ to 1 cent per pound higher than at this time last year, and the question which our dealers and shippers would like to solve is: Does the unusually large shortage on this side to date, warrant the payment of present prices? A letter from a Liverpool house, received in this city by last mail reported the English make as exhibiting signs of a deficit, and should this news be confirmed it may be doubtful if much lower values will be experienced this year. At the moment there is a stand-off, cable limits being ½ to ½ cent per pound below what cheese can be bought for; but at the same time there is no disposition on the part of holders to concede the slightest fraction. A good quantity of cheese is said to be going into cold storage at points between here and Toronto, which would indicate that stocks in the country are accumulating. On this market, however, there are few if any lots to be bought, as holders are very firm in their ideas. Between 20 and 30 factories in the Belleville sections, it is said, have disposed of the balance of the season's make at 10 to 10¼ cents."

The Rich Man's Son.

The rich man's son inherits lands,

And he inherits soft white hands,
And tender flesh that fears the cold.

Like soft hands and tender flesh, many diseases are inherited, especially tendencies to Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis and Stomach and Liver troubles; but there is a remedy, known as the "Golden Medical Discovery," which overcomes these diseases, and cuts off all tendencies toward a fatal result. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, has put this remedy within the reach of all, so that even the poor as well as the rich can obtain it. It is worth more to you than "piles of brick and stone and gold." Ask your druggist for it. It's guaranteed to benefit or cure in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded.

HEED THE WARNING.

You cannot be too careful; you cannot scrutinize too closely. When you ask for CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS, you want "C-A-R-T-E-R-'-S." DON'T BE IMPOSED UPON; see that you get "C-A-R-T-E-R-'-S;" refuse all others; take nothing but the genuine CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

LABOR'S VOICE.

Doings of the Dominion Trades Congress.

Strong Resolutions Passed Deprecating State-Aided Immigration.

QUEBEC, Sept. 5.—Much interest has been manifested here in the proceedings of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress. Resolutions have been adopted that local inspectors be appointed in the chief factory centers of Ontario; that the congress sympathizes in the eigh-hour movement and favors legislative action thereon; that it opposes the importation of either skilled or unskilled labor in Canada, and believes Government subsidies should be withdrawn from all steamship lines decoying such immigrants here; that all telegraph and railway lines should be owned and operated by the Government, and all telegraph, telephone, electric light, street car, gas and waterworks properties by the municipalities in which they are situated; that the Government be asked to prohibit entirely the importation of Chinese labor.

Mrs. Duffey moved to petition the Government to appoint female factory inspectors. This carried.

Premier Mercier again visited the delegates, this time accompanied by all his colleagues, and again expressed his readiness to do what was possible to facilitate their labors. After the Ministers had retired the congress appointed a committee to draft resolutions of thanks to the Government.

The following officers were elected: President, Urbain Lafontaine, Montreal; vice-president, George T. Beales, Toronto; secretary-treasurer, George W. Dower, Toronto. Executive Board—Ontario section, A. W. Wright, Philadelphia; A. Lavigne, Ottawa; Chas. March, Toronto. Quebec section, L. Z. Boudreau, Montreal; Geo. Male, Quebec; Luc Routhier, Quebec.

The question of State-aided immigration was debated at length. Delegates O'Donoghue, March, Jobin, Cribben and Beales strongly supported the adoption of a resolution forwarded to congress by the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, as follows:

"That this Trade and Labor Congress, composed of regularly-elected and credentialed delegates of bona fide labor organizations throughout Canada, having acknowledged that for years past, and at the present time, the labor market of the Dominion has been and is constantly overcrowded in all its branches, mechanical and manual, be it therefore resolved, that the expenditure of any public money, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of assisting, bonusing, encouraging or decoying immigrants of either or both the classes mentioned, adults or juveniles, from abroad to Canada is unnecessary and unjustifiable under such circumstances.

"Be it resolved further, that as a consequence of the existence of such a condition of the labor market in the Dominion of Canada the existing unjust and misleading system of Dominion immigration should be abolished, and that only those possessed of financial wealth should be encouraged to come to this country.

"Be it resolved still further, that it be an instruction to the Executive and Parliamentary Committee of this congress to prepare and present to the Minister of Agriculture and Immigration of Canada a duly certified copy of this resolution, and that they press upon his attention the great importance to workingmen of this subject; also that a certified copy of the same be forwarded to his Excellency the Governor-General for such action as to him may seem most advisable."

It was urged in its favor that it was wrong to take money from workingmen for the purpose of importing pauper labor to compete with them, and it was held that the Government should withdraw subsidies from steamship companies that do their best to decoy immigrants to Canada.

Delegate Fox, Quebec, showed that all the money spent on immigration was so much paid to drive Canadian taxpayers to the United States, and he quoted the census returns in support of his statement.

The indictment of the Government in this connection grew so strong and general that Mr. Choquette, of Ottawa, called the speakers to order, but was overruled by the chair.

A. W. Wright raised a cry that it was sought to make political capital on this question.

Delegate O'Donoghue, Toronto, said it was useless to cry "no politics." The figures of the census were conclusive and the country was being ruined by the competition of under-paid workmen. The system must be abolished, and if the Government would not do it then abolish the Government. When a government is destroying the cause of the workingmen it was the duty of the latter to destroy the Government.

After further debate the motion was modified in the sense proposed by A. W. Holmes, of Toronto, so as to remove any appearance of partisanship, and was then adopted.

The Legislation Committee reported some measure of success, in obtaining labor legislation at Ottawa. In Quebec their success was only meagre, but "the Legislation Committee for Ontario, has been reasonably successful, having succeeded in obtaining a fair share of much-needed legislation."

Next year the congress will meet in Toronto.

The Hamilton Church Trouble.

HAMILTON, Sept. 5.—At a meeting of the memorialists of the Church of the Ascension it was decided to reduce the salary of the choirmaster from $400 to $250 and to have the gas meters taken from the church and also the motor which runs the organ. No coal or fuel of any kind will be purchased, and the services of the organist will be discontinued after Dec. 1 next. Rev. Mr. Crawford will not at present state what he will do if these plans are carried out by the opposing party.

I have used it for quinsy (outward application) with very beneficial results, and for a case of rheumatism, where its action was swift and sure, and a perfect cure was performed. I consider it a remedy to be prized in every household." THOS. FEARDON, with Johnson & Brown.

'RAH FOR THE FAIR.

The Societies Will Parade in Gorgeous Array.

Unanimous Meeting of Delegates—Arrangements Completed and Committees Appointed.

A meeting of representatives of the different orders of the city was held in the City Hall on Saturday evening last, for the purpose of arrangeing for a grand societies' parade on Sept. 21. Mayor Taylor occupied the chair, and J. C. Thompson, attorney for the International Fraternal Alliance, acted as secretary. The offer from the Board of the Westesn Fair, to supply bands and free admission to the fair grounds to all members of orders in the procession was kindly accepted. After some discussion respecting first place in the procession it was moved by Mr. A. Carrothers, seconded by Mr. Tagg, that the name of each society be written on slips of paper, to be folded and placed in a hat and the chairman to appoint the person to draw the slips. The following is the result: 1, Knights of Pythias; 2, Carpenters' Union; 3, Sons of England; 4, Orangemen; 5, Public School Boys; 6, National Union; 7, Canadian Order of Foresters; 8, Canadian Order of Oddfellows; 9, St. Patrick's Society; 10, Ancient Order of Foresters; 11, Emerald Benevolent Society; 12, Knights of Maccabees; 13, Independent Order of Foresters; 14, Select Knights; 15, International Fraternal Alliance; 16, Ancient Order United Workmen; 17, Woodmen of the World; 18, Collegiate Drill Corps; 19, Royal Arcanum; 20, Chosen Friends; 21, Independent Order of Oddfellows; 22, St. George's; 23, Bricklayers; 24, Royal Templars.

On motion of Mr. Blackwell, seconded by Mr. Hays, a committee was appointed, to include the chairman and secretary, to make all further arrangements. The following were chosen: Mayor Taylor, J. C. Thompson, H. J. Carter, Thos. Tuxford, J. C. Judd, E. T. Essery, W. Heaman, C. O. Stapleton, H. C. Simpson, J. A. Matthews, A. Carrothers, H. Gibbon.

It was moved by Mr. Gillet, seconded by Mr. Campbell, that the lawyers and doctors be invited to take part in the procession. This carried.

Mr. Stapleton asked if the ladies belonging to the different orders should take part in the procession, but no action was taken further than that it is expected that they will attend.

A question was asked respecting the free admission of members of the orders located outside the city, and the chairman promised to make inquiry and notify the committee.

The meeting then adjourned, and the committee remained to enter upon their work. The mayor was appointed chairman, and J. C. Thompson secretary, on motion by Mr. Essery, seconded by Mr. Heaman. H. C. Simpson was appointed grand marshal, Mr. Coo and W. Heaman assistant marshals. It was then decided that the grand marshal arrange the different bands and lodges on the market square. The secretary was advised to communicate with Mr. Browne, secretary of the Western Fair, asking him to extend the invitation to the G. T. R. fire brigade and the butcher boys.

The committee adjourned to meet at the rooms of the Western Fair Board on Saturday evening next at 8 o'clock.

A LA OTTAWA.

Chilian Officials Took Good Care of Themselves at the People's Expense.

SANTIAGO, Sept. 5.—Investigation of the banks shows that many of the Balmacedist officials took care to feather their nests well. Balances ranging from $20,000 to upward of $1,000,000 are carried in the names of men who were known to be poor before the beginning of the war. Such balances will all be confiscated by the Provisional Government.

A report has reached Valparaiso that the city of Coquimbo had been sacked by a mob. The report is generally discredited.

A Washington dispatch says the United States Government has decided to recognize the new Government of Chili at once.

BATTLE WITH BANDITS.

Who Robbed a Train of $20,000—Fifteen Men Killed.

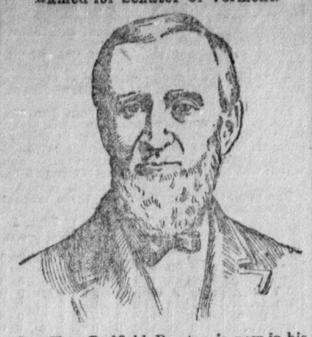

UVALDE, Tex., Sept. 6.—The train robbers who were thought to have escaped across the Rio Grande River with $20,000, which they secured from the express car on the Southern Pacific Railroad, were met yesterday by a body of rangers who had been in pursuit, and a battle took place.

Thirteen of the robbers and two rangers were killed, and several on both sides were wounded.

The robbers held the best position, but were outnumbered. It is said two of them escaped.

REDFIELD PROCTOR,

The Secretary of War, Who Has Been Named for Senator of Vermont.

The Hon. Redfield Proctor is now in his 61st year, having been born on June 1, 1831, in Proctorsville, in the town of Cavendish, Vt. He comes of sturdy stock. In early life he began the study of law, but he put aside his law books to go to the war. His first service was as quartermaster of the Third Vermont, then as major of the Fifth Vermont, and finally as colonel of the Fifteenth. His health was impaired, and after Gettysburg, where his regiment acted as train guard, he returned home and went into farming.

Then he turned his attention to politics, serving several terms in the Legislature. In 1878 his party took him up for Governor. A good deal of mud entered the contest for the nomination, in which war and business records were handled without mercy. At last opposition fell before him. He made a creditable Governor.

From the time of his retirement from office he maintained an active interest in political affairs, and was regarded as one of the party leaders in the State. He would not allow himself to be enticed, however, away from his business again for long continued service until March, 1889, when he accepted a seat in President Harrison's Cabinet as Secretary of War. He was an original Harrison man at the Chicago Convention, and it was his privilege to cast the vote of Vermont from first to last for the successful candidate. Mr. Proctor's administration of the War Department has been creditable to him and satisfactory to the army and the country. Gov. Page, of Vermont, in a letter dated Aug. 25, has appointed Mr. Proctor Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Edmunds.

Fatal Collision in New York Harbor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The tugboat Erie was run down and sunk off Bedloe's Island early this morning by the Cunard steamship Etruria while she was proceeding down the bay on her trip to Liverpool. The son of the captain of the tug was drowned. The Etruria, it is said, escaped damage and proceeded on her voyage.

A Priest Raids an Opium Den.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Father Alyward, a Catholic priest, made a raid the other night on a Chinese opium den. Passing along Halstead street, not far from his church, he saw two young girls enter apartments kept by a Chinaman named Wha Chung. The priest, suspecting something wrong, went to the place, and, admission being refused, promptly knocked the door down, took a revolver out of the hands of Wha Chung, the proprietor, and found the girls in a little back room smoking opium. They confessed to being frequenters to the den and implicated many of their companions. The priest reported the case to the police and a warrant was issued for Wah Chung, who, in the meantime, had escaped.

Charlatans and Quacks

Have long plied their vocation on the suffering pedals of the people. The knife has pared to the quick; caustic applications have tormented the victims of corns until the conviction shaped itself—there's no cure. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor proves on what slender basis public opinion often rests. If you suffer from corns get the Extractor and you will be satisfied. Sold everywhere.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

After Many Years' Absence.

Thirty-five years ago Rev. J. C. Watts, D.D., was well known in this city and surrounding country. He was then in his youthful buoyancy in the Methodist New Connexion Ministry, and was assuredly popular as a preacher and lecturer. Survivors of some of our leading families still cherish agreeable memories of his pulpit ability and superior social qualities. Many regrets were felt by his own and other churches when, some 30 years ago, family bereavement rendered his return to England unavoidable. Since that time he has occupied many of the leading circuits and pulpits of the denomination, and during recent years he has filled and now fills the office of editor of the connexional magazines and manager of the book room situated in old London. By appointment of Conference he is one of the representatives to the Ecumenical Council to be held in Washington next month. Dr. Watts arrived in New York a few days ago and is now in Canada visiting Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and other points. He will reach this city on or about Sept. 17, and it will be a gratification to not a few readers to learn that he has consented to preach in Dundas Street Center Church on Sabbath, Aug. 20, at the morning service.

Street Car Discrimination.

"This is too bad!" said a lady.

"What is too bad?" asked the sympathetic bystander.

It was on the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets.

The time was a little after 10 p.m.

The lady explained that cars ran up and down Dundas street till a comparatively late hour, while the last Richmond street north left Dundas street at 10 p.m. The result is that if one were calling anywhere along the Dundas street east line, it would be necessary to leave not much later than 9:30 in order to catch the last car on Richmond street going north!

"Why," explained the complainer, "do they make arbitrary decision that the people up Richmond street must be put to bed earlier than people living in London East?"

The complaint is a just one and must be remedied. The Street Railway Company gets a valuable privilege in using our streets—a privilege for which Toronto now obtains a large sum—and the citizens must be accommodated.

A last car at 10 p.m. up Richmond street north is not up with the times.

Maybe there are other things that your especial case requires to make you happy, but my friend, these, I reckon will give you a lift."

A Cast for Fortune

By Christian Reid,

AUTHOR OF "VALERIE AYLMER," "A DAUGHTER OF BOHEMIA," "HEART OF STEEL," "BONNY KATE," ETC.

The next instant Derwent saw the slender, black-clad form and pale, lovely face of his mother, with a wistful look in the deep-blue eyes, as she said, "My boy! is it really you at last!"

After the first eager questions had been answered, and Mrs. Derwent's anxiety somewhat reassured, Derwent found another surprise in store for him.

"You had no trouble in the journey, I hope?" he said. "It was too bad your having had to take it without a masculine attendant; for that is something you, at least, are not accustomed to, mamma. Sibyl, now, belongs to the new order of independent young ladies, she would start out, with a maid, to go around the world, but you are of the ancient regime, and I fear that it was very disagreeable to you."

"Oh, has Sibyl not told you?" said Mrs. Derwent. "We did not come alone. I confess I should have disliked that very much; though of course, my dearest boy, I would have done that, or anything else, to reach you. But Frank Halbert came with us. It was very kind of him."

"Frank Halbert!" repeated Derwent, in surprise. Then he threw back his head and laughed uncontrollably. "Why, you organized a regular relief expedition!" he said. "What a picture you would have made coming to storm Miraflores!"

"You are very ungrateful, Geoffrey," said Miss Lenox. "It may be a laughing-matter to you now, but it was not a laughing-matter when we thought we might find you dying or dead. What could two women in a strange country, have done in that? One had to think of these things. So it was exceedingly kind of Mr. Halbert to accompany us."

"It certainly was, uncommonly kind," said Derwent, recovering his gravity, "and I beg your pardon for laughing. Halbert is a very good fellow always. Where is he?"

"I parted with him near the office just before I met you. He went in to make some inquiries. Ah, here he is!"

A handsome man of about thirty, well set up, with keen eyes looking out of a refined face, appeared at the partly-open door as Miss Lenox spoke. "So here you are!" he said, holding out a cordial hand to Derwent. "It is a satisfaction to see you still living; and upon my word, young man, I begin to fear this thing has been a hoax. You are looking very well."

Oh, Frank!" said Mrs. Derwent, reproachfully, "I to not think so. He is pale an thin."

I ought to be looking well," said Derwent, "if the best of care could make me so. I have been doing nothing but enjoy- an ideal life and recovering my strength. My wound, however, is not yet healed, and gives me some trouble."

You must have the best medical advice at once," said Mrs. Derwent, while Halbert looked at Sibyl and laughed.

This is pleasant, is it not?" he said. "Think of our anxiety to reach the sufferer, our hurried journey without pause, our eager desire to relieve him from the discomforts he was supposed to be enduring, while all the time he was 'enjoying an ideal life and recovering his strength in the most satisfactory manner! I don't know what you may think of our journey to the land of the Montezumas, Miss Lenox, but I feel rather ridiculous."

"I do not," replied Miss Lenox, loftily. "We came to relieve Cousin Margaret's anxiety and to help her in any need that she might have for us. Of course, incidentally, we should have been glad to have relieved Geofrey also——"

"But since Geoffrey has behaved so shamefully as not to need relief, you are ready to put him aside severely," said that gentleman, smiling. "Come now, is that quite fair? I am extremely sorry that you have taken such a long journey for such an insufficient reason, but I feel your kindness to my mother more than I can possibly express. And, now that you are here, don't you think you may find something to enjoy?"

"I am sure of it," replied Sibyl, frankly. "Since our anxiety about you was relieved by Mr. Morell's visit yesterday, I have enoyed every sight and sound. Yes, on the whole, we will magnanimously forgive you for getting well before we came. And now tell us all about your ideal hacienda."

"I have only one improvement to suggest," said Halbert. "The hacienda is chapter second. Let us have chapter first, the whole authentic account of the shooting, with the cause thereof."

Derwent hesitated for a moment. Should he tell the whole, or only part, of that story? Nothing would have induced him to mention Dona Zarifa's name in connection with the final tragedy when speaking of it to Morell, but these were his nearest friends and relatives; was it not right that he should let them know the full greatness of his obligation? So he told the whole story; and never was narrative listened to with more rapt attention. Three pairs of widened eyes were fastened on his face as he spoke, and when he finished Mrs. Derwent fairly broke into sobs.

"Oh, my dear," she cried, "what can we ever do to show our gratitude to those kind people? They have saved your life twice over. And that heroic girl! How I long to see and thank her!"

"I, too, have a great desire to see the girl," observed Halbert.

"I would go across Mexico to see her!" cried Sibyl. "Happy creature!—to be able to do heroic things, not dream of them! Geoffrey, my respect for you has increased. There must be something more in you than I ever imagined, for fate to have selected you as the central figure of such a story."

"I played a very subordinate part in it, Sibyl," said Derwent. "My role was subjective altogether. All the honors belong to Dona Zarifa."

CHAPTER XVI.

The next few days were full of varied pleasure for the relief expedition, as Derwent still laughingly called the party that had come so far to seek him. Though he had spoken lightly, he was in reality very grateful to Halbert, as well as to Sibyl Lenox, and he was determined to spare no effort to reward them for their kindness. Consequently, he worked energetically in arranging expeditions of sight seeing, in organizing all the details which make such expeditions pleasant, and in providing them with many glowing memories of the beautiful Mexican capital to carry away with them.

Even Mrs. Derwent enjoyed the novel and brilliant sights, the picturesque life, and the marvelous charm of the climate, notwithstanding her perennial surprise at the highly-civilized aspect of most things around her. "Why, this is like Paris!" she exclaimed, in her amazement, when she first saw the Paseo at the fashionable hour, the roadway thronged with handsome equipages, which rolled down the wide avenue, fit for the truimphal progess of an emperor, with flashing wheels, gleaming harness, high-stepping horses, and all the outward paraphernalia of luxury and wealth, or paused for a few minutes in the superb circle, where a band was filling the air with melody, just as the long, level rays of parting sunlight flooded the atmosphere and the surrounding scene with amber splendor.

"Like Paris!" repeated Sibyl. "Oh, no! Paris is tame, compared to this. The social part of the display may remind one somewhat of the Champs-Elysees and the Bois de Boulogne, but where else in the world will one find such a setting for social display as is here?"

"If it exists, I certainly do not know where to find it," said Halbert, looking around at a scene which is indeed almost without parallel in its beauty, the splendid avenue, with its level straightness broken at intervals by magnificent circles embellished with heroic groups of statuary, and its long, leafy vista ending in the superb mass of the Castle of Chapultepec, the lovely outspread valley crossed by the gray arches of an aqueduct that dates from the Conquest, the picturesque mass of the city's towers and domes, and against the eastern sky the wonderful mountain-ranges, wearing such divinely lucid tints of color as no pen or brush can ever describe or reproduce, with the majestic summits of the two great volcanoes towering above, clad in the dazzling whiteness of their eternal snow.

Again and again Sibyl thanked Derwent for having provided the cause which drew them to this fascinating land. In the brilliant sunshine of days filled with color and fragrance, with loitering in rich, dim churches and lovely old world cloisters, in plazas filled with the life of the dark, gentle, courteous people, and on marble terraces below which spread the most beautiful of earthly views, all things painful and disagreeable seemed to fade into insignificance. Yet, solicitous as he was for the pleasure of the others, Derwent could not himself have enjoyed the picturesque scenes amid which they wandered had he not possessed one underlying consciousness, one constant thought, ever with him: "I shall see her again!" But for that, everything would have been a weariness which was now a delight. Only day by day the longing for her presence grew more insistent. Now and then it startled him. Now and then he roused himself from his dream of expectation to ask what he should do when the meeting to which he looked forward so eagerly was over, when there was no longer anything to sustain him in the hopeless pain of separation. "I shall not blow out my brains," he would think, "and that is the only thing of which I am certain. I shall live, I shall work, and perhaps after a while I shall grow used to it, as one does grow used to all forms of suffering; but beyond that I cannot look. Nor will I look. She is coming. I shall see her, I shall touch her hand and meet her eyes again, and that is enough."

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority

Beyond his strength—Swayback (to importunate beggar)—Leave the house sir! Beggar—Certainly. I would not think of attempting to carry it away with the heavy mortgage it has on it.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Husband—My dear, some of my garments are sadly in need of buttons. Yes, my love, I have noticed that, and have sent for my mother. She is a splendid hand at sewing on buttons.

CATARRH CURED, health and sweet breath secured by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Prices 50 cents. Nasal Injector free. W. T. Strong, 184 Dundas street, agent.

Irate German (to stranger who has stepped on his toe)—Mine frient, I know my feet was made to be vaulked on, but dot privilege belongs to me.

WILL YOU SUFFER with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. W. T. Strong, 184 Dundas street, agent.

If your mind is not upon your work you cannot expect to accomplish it with any degree of satisfaction to others or credit to yourselves.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be so quickly cured by Shiloh's cure. We guarantee it. W. T. Strong, 184 Dundas street, agent.

In Church—Husband—Dear me, my foot's asleep! Wife (anxiously)—How dreadful if it should snore, John.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. W. T. Strong, 184 Dundas street, agent.

Young Husband—My dear Melanie, I must say that this pudding tastes very bad. Wife—All imagination; it says in the cookery-book that it tastes excellent.

Truth is as impossible to be soiled by any outward touch as the sunbeam.

"Have used one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and am cured of Liver Complaint completely." MRS. J. PECK, Jarratt's Corners, Ont.

The distance of the horizon is determined by the height of the eye above the earth or the sea. On the sea, with the eye at a height of five feet, the distance would be three miles; at 60 feet in height, ten miles.

—Miss Duncan, lady superintendent of the city hospital, left Saturday by special invitation, to attend the opening of the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto to-day. She will also pay a visit to several hospitals in the east, and will spend a portion of her holidays at her home in Woodford.

—A Brantford paper contains the following: "Mr. A. Chris Rush is a musician of more than ordinary ability and his bowing displays good breadth of tone and excellent artistic interpretation. It is cause for regret that he should have recently been moved from his position in the bank here to the branch in London."

—C. A. Zavitz, the O. A. College experimentalist, is very busy just now preparing his exhibits of grain for the Toronto and London exhibitions. The exhibits this year will be larger and more varied than usual. The exhibit will consist of several varieties of all ordinary gains grown in the country.—[Guelph Mercury.

—The Ontario Provincial Board of Health favors the establishment of municipal hospitals and sanitaria for consumptives; and does not see any logical reason why municipal and State Government aid should not be given to such. This is a subject deserving the attention of local authorities.

—Do you contribute to the news columns of the ADVERTISER? If not, why not? The information you may furnish will be interesting to others just as surely as the information furnished by others is interesting to you. Don't be selfish, but do your share to add to the popularity of the paper of your choice as a medium for the publication of news.

—Yesterday afternoon while Mrs. Geo. Morris, 40 York street, was standing by the stove in her kitchen some unknown party in a neighboring yard threw a small apple through the window, breaking it and sending the glass flying in all directions, one piece striking her in the eye and inflicting a small gash. Fortunately she was not badly injured.

—It has been suggested that the frame cottage on King street adjoining the Central Fire Hall be torn down previous to the opening of the Western Fair. This house and lot is the property of the city, and is no credit to its owners. The firemen would be only too pleased to sod the lot, and thus add materially to the already pleasing exterior of the hall.

—Last evening on Parke's park in South London, the Seventh band discoursed some of their sweet music, the programme presented being an exceptionally good one. The evening was greatly enjoyed by a very large number of people. Complaints were made, however, on account of the insufficiency of light, a fault that should receive attention next year.

—The Y. M. C. A. Boating Club have ended their season for the year, their leases for boats having run out on the first of the month. The club will not disband, but will hold young men's meetings every Tuesday evening in Victoria Hall. They had leased six boats during the season, and are in a successful condition. They intend organizing chess and checker clubs.

—Said a prominent London Easter yesterday to an ADVERTISER representative: "There is more lumber being unloaded now on the car shops grounds than has been brought here for a good many years, and there can no longer be any doubt about the intention of the G. T. R. to locate their shops here permanently if the bonus promised by the city is forthcoming."

—A citizen is bringing suit against an American city to recover damages for a case of typhoid fever alleged to have been caused by the offensive contents of a barn cellar. The attention of the Board of Health had been repeatedly called to the cellar, but the nuisance was not permanently abated. The responsibility of citizens and the duties of health officers should never be forgotten.

—There was quite a commotion on Albert street, opposite the residence of R. J. Young, between midnight and 1 o'clock this morning. Two buggies driven at a rapid rate collided, resulting in a smashup. The shouting by the respective drivers and their companions awakened the people of the immediate neighborhood. No one seems to have been hurt. A pair of broken shafts marked the scene of the accident this forenoon.

—The closed mail train, which, commencing this week, goes through to Kincardine daily from London, reaching there at 12:15 p.m. and leaving at 2:10 p.m. for return, is greatly appreciated in Kincardine, affording them the means of obtaining important communications and daily papers several hours earlier than heretofore. Mayor McPherson, of that town, worked unceasingly until this mail train was secured.

—The number of men at present employed in the G. T. R. locomotive shops in Stratford is 655, the largest number ever employed in the history of these shops. The locomotive power of the road is also, says the Herald, in the best condition now that it has been in for 25 years, and is prepared to cope with the largest demands likely to be made upon it. The direct and indirect benefit of such works in a place can scarcely be estimated.

—A social dance was held the other evening at the house of a well-known resident of South London to which a large number had been invited. All went merrily until the hostess, who possesses a violent and hasty temper, suddenly took a dislike to one of the guests, and proceeded to remove him. The young man objected, a row occurred, and it took only a few moments to break up in confusion what promised to be a pleasant gathering.

—"Why is it," asks a Dundas street merchant, "that almost everybody who goes into a store where fruit is on exhibition will take up pear after pear until they have handled a dozen or more, and deliberately press the thumb into each? If these same individuals would mark each fruit thus handled and return again to inspect it next morning, they would invariably find that a rot had started." The fruit man has reason to feel it seriously.

—The grape growers of Essex county are smarting under the ruling of the different railroads raising basket fruit from first class to first class and a half, and have sent a resolution to the different railroads showing the injustice of such a ruling, and asking that the old rates be given. The grape owners say that the new rating would practically shut out all shipping, as they could not compete in the eastern cities with other grape growers further east. London purchasers are interested in this ruling.

—Wm. Underwood and family will remove to London in a couple of weeks. This change has become necessary from a business point of view, the firm for which Mr. Underwood travels requiring that he should reside at headquarters. To say that Mr. Underwood will be missed from Ingersoll does not express the general regret that the news of his departure will create. His genial manners have created a friendship that is shared in by all classes.—[Ingersoll Chronicle.

—Another splendid run was taken by the London Hunt yesterday afternoon. They took a first-class route, one with several jumps, and beautiful weather made the occasion enjoyable. The ground was slightly too dry to permit of the hounds following the scent as easily as usual. The start was made at Trebilcock's farm, on the Asylum side road, in an easterly direction, then a turn to the north was made, then back by the 3rd concession to the river. The finish was made at the Adelaide street bridge.

Ten years ago the establishment of a daily paper in St. Thomas was an experiment and the young men, E. E. Sheppard and the late W. E. Westlake, both at that time of this city, who put their money and their experience into the enterprise were almost as much prepared for failure as for success. It is not necessary to say that they were agreeably disappointed. From the day of issue the Evening Journal met with public favor, and now, on the tenth anniversary of that day, it is entering a new home, and entering on its second decade, full of hope and courage, under the able management of James Brierley, another of London's successful printers. The new Journal building is in some respects superior to that of the Globe in Toronto.

Who Engaged Mr. Radcliffe?

Since Principal Merchant left Stratford Collegiate Institute for London for an increase of salary he has been endeavoring to weaken the Stratford Institute by making bids for some of our teachers. He has been successful, it seems, with S. J. Radcliffe, B.A., who has accepted the English mastership of London for a raise of $100, the figure accepted being $1,100. He is expected to leave on the expiring of two months' notice to the Stratford Board. Mr. Radcliffe is an excellent and a rising teacher.—[Stratford Herald.

W. O. B ble Society.

At a meeting of the members of the Western Ontario Bible Society held Friday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, nearly 50 members attended, including ministers and laymen, Rev. Dr. Sanderson occupying the chair, and Andrew Thompson acting as secretary. The selection of a business manager in place of Dr. Evans, resigned, was the chief item of business, and the choice fell upon Rev. J. H. Orme, Strathroy. A sub-committee, consisting of Rev. Mr. Boyd, Rev. J. B. Richardson, Joseph Jeffrey, H. Mathewson and Andrew Thompson, was appointed to make all necessary arrangements in connection with the new officer taking charge.

A Londoner Victimized.

A Chicago telegram of Friday's date says: "President Apt Elder and Vice-President and Secretary H. L. Barder, of the Elder Publishing Company, of this city, are in jail unable to get bonds on the charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes. An additional charge of having imported an alien under contract was lodged against Elder. It is claimed the concern has swindled hundreds of persons, the company even extending its operations to Canada and Australia. Jared Housel, a farmer lad of 20, from Three Rivers, and Richard H. Jones, the alien in the case, formerly a butcher in London, Ont., made complaint of being the latest victims. Inveigling innocents to sign one-sided contracts to act as "agents" for the company is said to be the method of the swindle. Between 300 and 600 letters a day from would-be "agents" generally inclosing money are said to have been received.

Funeral of W. L. Graham.

The funeral of the late W. L. Graham took place Saturday in charge of the Masonic body, of which he was a member, being junior warden of St. George's Lodge. Despite the bad weather the attendance was large, and universal regret is expressed as a result of the untimely death of a man so generally esteemed and beloved. The pall-bearers were the officers of St. George's Lodge, viz.: Messrs. T. H. Luscombe, W. Hayman, A. Ellis, J. A. Nelles, S. Baker and Prof. W. J. Birks. The brothers and brother-in-law of deceased also acted as pall-bearers. Much sympathy is expressed for the wife of deceased, who is a daughter of George Burdette, city. Rev. Mr. Courtice, in Dundas Center Church, will refer to the demise of Mr. Graham, a leading member of his choir, a week from to-morrow.
