

Three Sarnia Men Burned To Death In Wreck at Wanstead
Dispatcher James G. Kerr Killed at Lobo Station By Express Train

OLD KING WINTER'S FIRST BLOW A "KNOCKOUT" FOR WIRE AND RAIL SERVICES

Steam and Electric Traction Demoralized, While Telephone and Telegraph Are Temporarily Put Out of Business—Street Railway Sweepers Keep Lines Open by Strenuous Effort—Churches Using Niagara Power Are Lit With Candles.

Western Ontario's first snow storm of the year, which swept over the district from the northwest Sunday and today, left a trail of stalled and late trains, broken telegraph wires, interrupted communication, and temporary cessation of hydro power, in its wake.

RAIL AND WIRE SERVICES HIT.

By afternoon the fall of snow had materially increased, the weather was colder, and heavy winds added their quota to the storm that gave this section its first taste of real winter.

Despite the preparations that had been made to meet the "first storm," Nature lent herself to the effort to the things up. The snow was of the wet, sticky variety that clings and banks, breaking down wires by its weight, and giving transportation companies considerable difficulty in removing it from their tracks.

WHEEL TRAFFIC DIFFICULT.

This morning vehicular traffic in the city was handicapped by the same sticky snow, the wheels of all wagons resembling huge snow balls. Deliveries were all late as a consequence.

An indication of the severity of the storm is the fact that until late this morning not a line had been received over the Canadian Press wires in London. The wires are down in all directions and telegraph service was practically "dead." The Canadian Press wires were later restored.

CONSERVATIVE MEMBER THROWS UP HIS SEAT

Mr. Morrison Admits Corrupt Acis On Part of His Agents.

TWO BY-ELECTIONS ON

[Special to The Advertiser.] Winnipeg, Nov. 10.—The MacDonnell by-election has been called. Mr. Morrison, the Conservative candidate, today handed in a long written statement at the opening of the trial, in which he admitted that corrupt acts on the part of his agents during the campaign were not of trivial nature.

CROSS-PETITION DROPPED. Winnipeg, Nov. 10.—The cross-petition against Richardson, Morrison's Liberal opponent, is dropped, and Morrison pays all the costs of the trial. Alfred Andrews, counsel for Morrison, admitted that the corrupt acts in Morrison's interests were not of a trivial nature.

VOTING TODAY.

Montreal, Nov. 10.—Voting is taking place in provincial by-elections in Zimungton and St. Johns.

The seat in St. Johns was rendered vacant by the decision of Sir Lomer Gouin, who was elected by two constituencies at the general election last year to represent Port Neuf. Four candidates, all Liberals, are in the field. They are: St. Brassard, official Liberal nominee; St. Poulin, who ran second to Mr. Brassard at the party convention to select a candidate; M. Robert, a former member, and L. Trodeau, independent.

The campaign between the candidates has been most vigorous.

Beliss Acquitted on Charge of Killing Boy For a Ritual

Kiev, Russia, Nov. 10.—Meadel Beliss was acquitted by the jury today on the charge of murdering the boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in March, 1911.

The trial of Beliss has been one of the most sensational in years, the greatest interest being shown in it by all sections of the civilized world. Beliss was accused of killing the boy in accordance with the alleged Jewish ritual which it was charged required that the blood of a Christian should be used in the Passover ceremonies. The most noted medical experts and theologians of Russia were called as witnesses in the case. In Great Britain, Canada and the United States, mass meetings were held protesting against the charges. So high had feeling grown over the trial that Kiev for many weeks has been patrolled by large bodies of troops. It was feared that if Beliss was found guilty there would be a general massacre of the Jews.

Holding Knew Nothing of Affair Until After the Collision.

HAS SLIGHT INJURIES

Brakeman H. Holding, of 356 Rectory street, was leaning against the side of the baggage car of No. 46 when the train entered the station. His hand and wrist had been jammed, but otherwise he was uninjured.

"We had orders to leave London at 12:10, but did not get away until after 3. We were bound for Sarnia, and were being pulled by engine No. 875.

NO WORD RECEIVED FROM LOST TRAIN

At 3 o'clock no word had been received as to what occurred to No. 7 on the Sarnia branch. Telegraph wires are all down in that direction and no information could be secured.

THE WEATHER.

TOMORROW—FAIR AND COLD. Forecast. Toronto, Nov. 10.—8 a.m. Today—Gales, westerly to northerly; colder, with local snowfalls and flurries. Tuesday—Decreasing northwest to north winds; generally fair and cold. Temperatures. The following were the highest and lowest temperatures during the 24 hours previous to 8 a.m. today:

Weather Notes. A severe storm which has passed north-erly from the Gulf of Mexico is centred over Lake Ontario, causing gales from Lake Superior to Newfoundland.

WANSTEAD GRIM SPOT IN HISTORY OF REAL WRECKS

Crash of Today Recalls Awful Horror of Years Ago.

TERRIBLE SCENES THEN

Almost a Repetition of History in Freight Wreck of This Morning.

The blinding snow, the crash, the rending, the roar of the engine as it plowed its way into the caboose, the almost instant flames that leaped forth to finish the destruction, the twisted mammoth of steel and iron, the awfulness of the accident seemed an echo of that other Wanstead tragedy—that tragedy of Christmas when 32 lives were snuffed out.

Wanstead a Grim Name.

The toll of death at the freight wreck was small—almost infinitesimal—compared to the other, but tragedy in its grimmest form has linked the name Wanstead with all that is terrible in railroad history, and the second Wanstead disaster is one that will live not only in itself, but in the memory of the disaster that it recalls.

The same inferno of twisted steel and wooden beams, the same terrible flashes and roar of flames as they crackled nearer and nearer their human prey, the same terrible death by fire, all formed a grim memorial.

A Sinister Coincidence. Almost on the same spot as the Christmas disaster, the sinister history of Wanstead has another crimson, scorching flame-like record by this morning's tragedy.

There were no Christmas toys, no home-going travellers, to add to the pathos of tragedy, but there was the loss of human life. The dead men were midway employees—paid to take hazardous chances, but their awful fate was none the less terrible.

The most awful death that is imaginable—that by burning—was their fate.

LEADER ROWELL WILL ADDRESS CONVENTION

To Be Present at Selection of Candidate for East Middlesex Election.

Mr. Newton C. Rowell, K.C., Liberal leader of Ontario, will address the convention of the East Middlesex Liberal Association next Saturday for the selection of a candidate. It is expected that the nomination will go to Mr. John Laddlaw, of Westminster.

PINNED UNDER CAR.

Yarmouth, N. S., Nov. 10.—Earl Middleton, aged 19, chauffeur of the Eastern Motor Company, was killed in an automobile accident in the outskirts of this town. Middleton was returning home late at night when at the top of a hill the car skidded and overturned. He was pinned beneath the car and strangled to death.

REPORTS OF A DISASTER MADE CONFUSION AND SUSPENSE AT STATION

Scenes of confusion were witnessed at the Grand Trunk station when the news of the accident was brought in on train No. 8. Because the telegraph wires were down, there was no method of communication with the scene of the wreck. Vague reports of derailments and accidents were reported, but no confirmation could be secured.

NO. 8 CLUB IN FAVOR OF EXTENDING THE BALLOT TO WOMEN

At the regular Sunday afternoon meeting yesterday of No. 8 Club, of Dundas Centre Church, the following resolution was moved by Mr. W. A. Bayley, and seconded by Mr. Henry B. Ashplant, and carried unanimously:

"That whereas, women, because of injury to the home and the family, are the greatest sufferers from the traffic of strong drink, and

"Whereas, women of Ontario are as a class well educated and quite as capable as men of voting intelligently, and

"Whereas, the principle holds good to women as well as to men, that those who obey the laws and pay taxes have also the right of a voice in the making of such laws;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the members of No. 8 Club of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, express our opinion through the public press, that the ballot, in all questions of temperance and moral reform, should be extended to women on the same terms as to men."

DISPATCHER KERR INSTANTLY KILLED BY EXPRESS TRAIN

Obscured by the Storm, He Was Struck Down While Working.

WIRES WERE TANGLED

Victim Had Gone With Linemen To Straighten Out Havoc of Storm.

Unable to see its approach on account of the driving snow, James Grant Kerr, 497 King street, was struck and instantly killed by Grand Trunk express No. 3, westbound, near Lobo, this morning about 11:30. He was a dispatcher on the Grand Trunk, and was out on the line in company with two linemen attempting to repair telegraph lines that the storm had de-ranged, when the fatality occurred.

Well-Known Railroader.

Mr. Kerr was one of the best-known railroad men in this city, having been a dispatcher for the past twelve years. He was called at 4:30 this morning to go out in company with several linemen and superintendent repairs to the lines which had become tangled in the blizzard of Sunday and was engaged in this work at the Lobo town line, almost opposite the Lobo station, when he was struck. No one saw the accident, as the men who were with him had their backs turned at the moment he was struck. Turning, they saw the body lying beside the tracks. Investigation showed that death had been instantaneous.

In Forty-Ninth Year.

Mr. Kerr was in his 49th year and had been a resident of this city for about twelve years, coming here from Toronto. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Kerr; two sons, Fred T. and James G.; and three daughters, Florence, Beatrice and Minnie.

Dr. C. C. Ross, of Hyde Park, was notified of the accident and has ordered an inquest.

LADY SUICIDES.

Kentville, N. S., Nov. 10.—Mrs. W. B. Moore, wife of a prominent physi-cian, of this place, committed suicide by drowning. The body has been found. Mrs. Moore had been in a very critical state of health ever since the loss last April of her only child.

KILLED NEAR WANSTEAD CONDUCTOR MOFFATT, Sarnia Tunnel. BRAKEMAN HOLLORAN, of Sarnia. BRAKEMAN STAPLETON, of Sarnia.

KILLED AT LOBO STATION JAMES G. KERR, Dispatcher, London.

SERIOUSLY INJURED NEAR WANSTEAD BRAKEMAN WM. RYCKMAN, 113 Wellington St., London. ENGINEER W. H. HALL, of London. FIREMAN H. HOLDING, 356 Rectory St., London.

Four Grand Trunk employees killed, six more or less seriously injured, trains derailed by telephone and telegraph posts blown across the rails, are some of the awful results of the storm which has been raging in London and district for the past 24 hours.

Three of the men who were killed, two of whom are thought to be Londoners, met death in a rear-end collision between two Grand Trunk freights a few miles west of Wyoming, and a short distance from the spot where so many were killed in the Wanstead wreck.

WORD OF HORROR DELAYED.

The accident occurred shortly after 5 o'clock this morning. All wires between London and Sarnia being out of commission, word was not received at the local Grand Trunk offices until after 12 o'clock.

The other fatality occurred opposite the Lobo station, the victim being Mr. James G. Kerr, for many years a dispatcher on the Grand Trunk in this city, who was instantly killed by Grand Trunk express No. 3, a short time after it left London.

LONDONERS ESCAPE DEATH.

The London men, Hall, Holding and Ryckman, were coming to this city "deadhead" from Sarnia. Their caboose was attached to freight No. 2nd 18. It stopped at Kingscourt Junction for a few moments, and then continued east. They all retired a few minutes after leaving Kingscourt, and were asleep at the time of the accident.

PINNED UNDER WRECKAGE.

Conductor Moffatt, brakemen Holloran and Stapleton were all in the caboose ahead of the London men, the regular caboose of the freight train, and when the collision occurred, the rear caboose telescoped the one in front and pinned the three Sarnia men under the wreckage.

The rear end of the London caboose was broken through, and the London men were able to crawl out through an aperture and over the big freight engine, which had been overturned across the rails.

BEGGED TO BE KILLED.

A few moments after the collision fire broke out in the cabooses and the three Sarnia men were burned to death before they could be liberated.

The moans and screams of the men as they lay pinned under heavy beams and trucks could be heard for a distance, and as the fire reached them they begged piteously to be killed. One man kept calling for someone to strike him over the head with an axe or something else. The members of the crew who were not injured worked frantically, but they could do nothing and were forced to stand helpless and watch their comrades die.

TRACKS ARE TORN UP.

The tracks were torn up for a considerable distance, a number of the freight cars were totally demolished, and engine No. 183, the one which struck the rear end of the freight, lay on its side across the tracks.

NEARBY PHYSICIANS HELPED.

Word was sent by relay to station after station only to learn that the wires were down all along the line. Finally it got far enough to get in touch with London. Immediately ambulances were notified and physicians were called. Drs. Drake and Seaborn hurried to the Grand Trunk station, but they had to wait for a long time before Grand Trunk express No. 46 from Sarnia, five hours late, arrived in the city, carrying the injured in the baggage car. Dr. Brandon, of Watford, accompanied the injured men to this city. He and two other physicians from that section of the country hurried to the scene of the wreck early this morning, and did all possible for the injured men. The people from nearby were at the wreck in hundreds in a short time, but too late to prevent the cremation of the three men.

EXPRESS WAS DERAILED.

The London auxiliary was ordered, and with Superintendent W. B. Davidson aboard, left for the scene of the wreck. No assistance could be had from Sarnia, as Chicago Express No. 4, due in London at 2:35 a.m., ran into a tele- phone pole stretched across the tracks near Sarnia and was derailed. The line in that section was tied up for a considerable time. Express No. 6, also from Chicago, due in London at 11:55, but over two hours late when it arrived in the city, was re-routed and arrived in London ahead of the other trains.

Somewhere between Wyoming and Strathroy the brakes set suddenly and brought the train to a stop. An investigation was made, and it was found that the pilot was broken completely off. The rear-end brakeman was sent back to Bag, and for two miles found particles of the pilot along the tracks.

PASSENGERS TOLD OF WRECK.

Passengers on No. 6, when they arrived in London, were the first to spread the news of the collision. One man told The Advertiser that although he had only had a brief look at the wreck, it was a bad one. "The cars and engine were piled on top of one another, and fire was burning in some of the cars," said he. "The bodies of the three men who were killed will never be recovered. They were incinerated. It is fierce down there, and if there are any more accidents I will be much surprised. All you can see is clouds of snow."

ROBLIN AND SAMUEL.

The good knight, Sir Rodmond Roblin, is much worked up over Mr. Samuel's impressions of Manitoba as delivered to a Montreal audience. Here is what he said in his cultured way to a meeting at Minnedosa on Friday night:

"When you see meddlesome, impudent, slanderous Samuel, who by accident holds a portfolio in a British government, making false statements at the dictation of a small Grit coterie, who stuffed this jelly-bag of an Englishman with such an extent that he was willing to make a statement in the city of Montreal which he knew to be false, you will know how to treat him."

"I can assure Mr. Samuel if he ever visits Manitoba again he will be hauled before the bar of public opinion and made to swallow his falsehoods."

Sir Rodmond is quite obviously "a perfect, gentle knight." What he means by "jelly-bag" is a little obscure. But whatever may be thought of Premier Roblin's intelligence, or his use of English, or his accuracy of information, and statement, there can be no doubt as to his courtly manners. It is no Philistine with whom the British minister has to wrestle.

No doubt Mr. Samuel was imprudent to say anything about Manitoba's educational backwardness. He might have known that Sir Rodmond could not help fitting the cap on his own head, both personally and premierly. A stately gentleman, but unintelligent, full of sweetness, but without light, he was bound to feel the force of Mr. Samuel's observations. Long and steadily refusing to allow a compulsory school system to corrupt the simplicity of his Manitoba flock, he must regard any comment on their illiteracy as a personal attack upon himself. As a cabinet minister of Great Britain Mr. Samuel ought to have avoided a contentious subject. It may be said in extenuation, merely that as a member of a progressive government he could not quite realize that compulsory education might at this date be a party issue in a civilized community. Far from underestimating the civilization of a western Canadian province and viewing it as a seat of buttafies and fashians and wild savagery, the mistake of many English travellers, Mr. Samuel made the error of forgetting, for a moment, in a burst of surprised and indignant feeling, that the premier of Manitoba is the avowed opponent of book-learning for the masses.

There is no doubt of the justice of Mr. Samuel's strictures, and probably Premier Roblin would be glad to lay hold of the educationists who showed things to the British visitor. Mr. Samuel was appalled at the conditions under which thousands of Manitoba children are growing up in illiteracy, and without a knowledge of the English language. The existence of these conditions an article in the October University Magazine amply proves. And yet Mr. Samuel might better have said nothing about it.

As for Sir Rodmond Roblin, under his fostering care Manitoba has strangely become a by-word for corruption and stagnation. His grateful way of inviting Mr. Samuel to come back again will, however, make that Daniel come to judgment in a different spirit, and completely alter his views as to the state of education in Manitoba.

THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

It has been proposed in the United States to abolish the franking privilege so far as members of Congress are concerned. Instead of being allowed the free use of the mails to carry not only their private correspondence, but everything else that can be sent by mail, each senator and representative will receive an allowance of stamps based on an estimate of what should be sufficient to cover the average congressman's correspondence. This arrangement will not be perfectly fair, because some members of Congress will have ten times as much letter-writing to do on public business as others. Still, it will doubtless result in a great saving to the Government.

In Canada, the franking privilege is abused, not to the same extent, but proportionately so. It is only available to members of Parliament and from Ottawa while the House is in session. But during that period they can use it as much as they desire. Probably the worst use to which it is put is in carrying campaign literature. When an election is pending this stuff is sent out under the franks of members to an unlimited extent. Not only Government documents, reports and blue books, but all the literature that is provided by the central committees of political parties. Of course, this is not confined to the party in power at the time, though that one may have somewhat the advantage. All parties avail themselves of the privilege. The country is put to the expense of carrying tons of material for which it is not paid.

Naturally, this privilege is highly valued by members of Parliament as well as by political organizers. The fact, however, that it is the privilege of all parties might make its abolition more palatable to those who are interested. No one would have any advantage over the other; all would suffer the same privation. And if all the material that goes free now had to be paid for it would certainly result in much profit to the Government, and would be a decided saving of the people's money. There would not be nearly so much of it dispatched; but we do not think that would do the members of Parliament very much harm. What he thought absolutely necessary in his own interests and in the interests of his party would go, and would be paid for, and it would probably be read instead of being thrown in the waste-paper basket.

Of course, a member of Parliament may claim that if he has to write to one of his constituents on public business, or if he wants to send him some material that will benefit the country (which means the party), he should not be expected to pay for its transmission. But there is no reason why this extra expense should not be connected with the regular outlay connected with his position. He has to give his time and his labor, and he has any number of incidental expenses which he would not have had were he not in public life. He does not expect to be paid for these; why should he want to be paid his postage bill? It is only because this privilege is an inheritance from the past that we accept it as a natural thing. When one comes to ask for the reason, there is no more reason than there would be if a member put in his bill to the paymaster of the House for expenses incurred in providing refreshments for his visiting constituents.

BRITISH BY-ELECTIONS.

Ever since the general election of December, 1910, the Unionists have been building hopes on by-elections. More than once the tide seemed to be running irresistibly against the Government, but following a series of defeats would come a Liberal victory, which turned back the current and drove the Unionists into angry despair. It was a Liberal triumph last year in a Lancashire by-election, after a succession of Unionist gains, that caused an insurrection in the party against the food tax proposal and compelled the leaders to drop it.

The Government's subsequent good fortune has been disturbed by the by-elections last week in Reading and Linnithgow. Reading has been for many years a closely-contested. Even Sir Rufus Isaacs, now lord chief justice, had a majority of only 99 when he appealed for re-election as attorney-general not long ago. The Unionists now capture the seat by a vote of 5,114, the Liberals polling 4,013, and the Socialists 1,093. Undoubtedly the Socialist candidature cut into the Liberal vote, but the Unionist had a majority of 68 over his two opponents combined. If, as reported, the Socialists intend to contest many ridings as a protest against the imprisonment of Larkin, the Dublin labor leader, the Liberals may suffer considerably from their intrusion. Larkin's punishment, in contrast with the immunity enjoyed by Carson and the Ulster agitators, is resented by English sympathizers, perhaps with some reason. The Socialists, who are making these reprisals on the Government, are not the members of the Independent Labor party, the Socialist wing of the trades union movement. They are the revolutionary group, led by Hyndman, which bitterly opposes the alliance of Liberals and Laborites, and decries the opportunist and reform policies of the Independent party.

The drop of 1,500 in the Liberal majority in Linnithgow, Scotland, is partly explained by the non-resident vote. The Liberal vote fell only 220, but the Unionist vote increased by 1,320. In a by-election all the non-resident vote can be polled, and it is mainly Unionist in every riding, as it represents only property-holders. The Liberal candidate was a stranger in the riding, while the late member, Mr. Ure, who has gone to the bench, was one of the most popular and progressive public men in the country, an ardent champion of land reform. Still, the result is a rebuff to the Government, as in Reading. The other by-elections, which are to follow, may further strengthen Unionist hopes. But it is unlikely that any by-election reverses will swerve the Liberal party from its resolve to pass the home rule, Welsh disestablishment and plural voting bills in the ensuing session. By that time Lloyd George's land campaign may again turn the tables.

After Premier Roblin's reply to Mr. Samuel, Premier Whitney had better look to his laurels.

Sir William Lever, the soap king, will erect a model city near Vancouver. What's the matter with Vancouver? Our local contemporary describes Hon. W. T. White as "Canada's Great Financier." He has been forgiven for taking the platform against the hydro-electric project.

Suffered Intense Agony With His Back. Kidneys Were The Cause.

Weak back is caused by weak kidneys, and on the first approach or evidence of kidney trouble Doan's Kidney Pills should be used, and serious trouble avoided.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right to the seat of the trouble, cure the weak aching back, and prevent any further complications arising.

Mr. John Briggs, Whitewood, Sask., writes:—"I am sending you this testimonial out of pure gratitude, as I am not a believer in patent medicines, but I got so run down, that I became quite willing to give anything a trial. I paid a visit to our local druggist, and told him I was suffering intense agony with my back. He told me I had kidney trouble, and handed me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, saying it was the best thing he could possibly give me."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FOR THE WOMAN OF TODAY

"We'll Ask Miss Grey,"
Is Everyone's Thought
When in Perplexity.

Billie Burke Unfolds the Newest Styles in Salutations for Those Who Wish to Acquire Good Manners.

BY BILLIE BURKE.

A very clever young woman said to me the other day when I asked her why she was not going to marry a man who was not going to give her any children...

"Well, he simply hangs on the very arm of the gentleman, and usually on entering a room the girl precedes her escort by a step or two to be greeted by her hostess. A young woman must never make a movement towards taking a man's arm until it is offered, and she must remember that, unless it is absolutely necessary, 'arming,' as it is called in England, has gone out of fashion."

A gentleman raises his hat when meeting or taking leave of a woman; when he passes her on a public staircase; when he shows her any trifling courtesy; and he should always raise his hat when acknowledging her thanks. A man also always raises his hat upon bowing to an acquaintance who has a lady with him, and he should raise his hat if the lady with him recognizes a friend.

A bow should always be returned. To give the cut direct is a discourtesy. A man never offers his hand first to a lady, but he should be quick to respond if hers is outstretched. When greeting mothers and daughters one should be particular to greet the mother first. Also, one should ignore all others until she has greeted her hostess.

Nothing is worse than two women kissing each other in public. It has been held up to derision by the jokemasters of ages. Men in public elevators are not supposed to take off their hats, but in places like the halls and elevators of hotels their hats should always be held in their hands. A well-mannered girl never acts in such a way that she calls the attention of strangers to herself. She neither laughs nor talks loudly; and, above all else, she never allows any stranger to think she is unduly interested in him.

BILLIE BURKE

Nothing is worse than two women kissing each other in public.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

A Reader to the Rescue.
Dear Miss Grey: In Thursday night's issue of The Advertiser, "A Constant Reader" asks how to paint a homemade rag carpet. Some years ago we painted one and found it very satisfactory. Firstly stretch the carpet and go over carefully with a good thick flour paste. Let this dry thoroughly before painting the carpet.

Painting a Carpet.
Dear Miss Grey: "A Constant Reader" wishes to know how to paint a rag carpet. This is how I have done one with good results. Tack your carpet down firmly where it is to stay; then go over it with a paste made of flour and a little glue; let dry. Now take one pound whitening, one half-pound yellow ochre, one quarter-pound glue, dissolve in three quarts of hot water. These can be put on with a whitewash brush. When dry paint with a good floor paint.

A Farmer's Wife.
A—I am sure "Constant Reader" will join me in thanking "A Farmer's Wife" for her helpful letter. If she tries this method or that suggested by "Wyn," I hope she will write us again and let us know how she succeeds. Thanks "Farmer's Wife."

To Whiten Hands.
Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly answer a few questions for me?
1. What is good to soften and whiten the hands?
2. What is good for enlarged pores of the face?
3. Can you tell me the name of a real good talcum powder?
Thanking you in advance, I remain,
KITTY.

1. Rub in every night before retiring a little of this lotion: Rose-water 1 ounce, glycerine 1 ounce, juice of half a lemon. Draw on a pair of soft gloves to protect the bedding.
2. This is good for the enlarged pores: Eau de Cologne 1 part, peroxide 1 part, tincture of benzoin 1-2 part, borax 1-4 part. Can be applied with a soft cloth night and morning.
3. There are many good masks on the market, and for obvious reasons I could not recommend one above another.

Crossing the Bar.
Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no mourning of the bar
When I put out to sea.
But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.
Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark;
For tho' from out our burst of Time and Place
The food may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.
—Tennyson.

Tea-Table Talk

Wonderful Mrs. Barr.
In her biography "All the Days of My Life," recently published, Mrs. Amelia Barr, the well-known novelist, gives interesting glimpses of a long and useful life. Mrs. Barr has made a remarkable record in literature. She did not start writing novels till she was fifty-five, and she has written sixty. Instead of resting at eighty-one she writes her autobiography—a volume of over five hundred pages. She is still working, and writes every day, from six in the morning till noon.

"I am now," she says, "an old woman. Many people tell me so, and there is the indisputable evidence of my 82nd birthday. But truly I am unconscious of being old. My day's work is as long as it was 20 years ago, and I have had them, I have rarely a headache now. I was rarely without one then. I enjoy my food. I have made my living for 42 years in a stooping posture, but I am yet perfectly erect, and I ascend the stairs as rapidly as I ever did."

Home Finances.
In her volume, Mrs. Barr touches on the subject of financial matters in the home, and the plight of the woman kept ignorant of her husband's financial affairs. "When we were first married," she writes, "I tried to win my husband's confidence, and I was kindly but decisively made to understand that I was going beyond my sphere. No Scotchman ever tells his wife the truth, and the whole truth about his affairs. And as I remember the position occupied by English and Scotch wives as 50 years ago I feel heart burn with indignation, and I wonder not at any means they now take to emancipate themselves. I knew women at this time who spent weeks and months in fears and anxieties that could have been dispelled by one word plainly and honestly spoken. When a husband says only, 'Gestosterde was rich today,' you must do as well as you can; his silence about his position has been not only cruel but humiliating."

Never elated while one man's oppressor;
Never dejected while another's blessed.

What Sympathy Is.
In this couplet from an Essay on Man, Alexander Pope sums up the law of noble life. Perseus was these lines that Dr. Frank Crane had in mind when he wrote the following about "Sympathy" in the current issue of Woman's Work.

Much that is called sympathy is not that at all. It is a form of selfishness, and irritable sensitiveness to pain. It is illustrated in the Jew, who, when the tramp told him a tale of hunger and cold, exclaimed: "Ikey, Ikey, throw this man out. He's breaking my heart!"
Real sympathy is sympathy with another's joy, and getting a feeling is productive, stimulating, helpful; also rare. An English poet wrote: "Anybody can sympathize with the sufferings of a friend, but it requires a friend's success. Sympathy with joy intensifies the sun of joy in the world; sympathy with pain does not really diminish the amount of pain, but it is something in the adversity of even our best friends that is not displacing."

Canadian Dolls For Children of Old London Slums.
N. C. of Women Ask That Canada Be Well Represented at Doll Show—Exhibit To Be Distributed at Christmas.
The following letter has been received by the editor of this page from Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, of Toronto, corresponding secretary of the National Council of Women of Canada. Mrs. Cummings is well-known in London.

It might be mentioned also that a copy of the letter was read at a recent meeting of the Local Council of Women, which several members volunteered to dress dolls for the doll show section.
The letter.
Dear Editor: The National Council of Women of Canada has been asked to bring the following appeal to the notice of the general public in the hope that a hearty response may result.
The Ottawa Daily Mail, of London, England, is making an effort to distribute Christmas gifts among the very poorest children in London, and we are asked to make the scheme known to your readers. It is intended also in this connection to hold a doll show at Westminster, opening on Dec. 8, in which there will be a Dominion section and the dolls and toys shown there will afterwards be given as Christmas gifts through school teachers, hospitals, etc., to those very poor children who would otherwise be forgotten.
It is believed that this will serve two purposes: It will help to give real pleasure to many poor children who otherwise would go without Christmas gifts. It would further remind the thousands who visit the dolls show how warm and nice the children of London still remain in the hearts and affections of fellow countrymen and countrywomen across the seas.
Any who are willing to help this good cause are asked to send either dressed dolls, or small sums of money, direct to "The Editor, Over-Seas Daily Mail, 8 Carncliffe Street, London, E. C., England," before Nov. 30. The dolls are to have the words "Dominion section" firmly attached to each with a piece of tape.
In the hope, therefore, that Canada may be well represented in this effort, I remain, sincerely yours,
EMILY CUMMINGS,
Corresponding Secretary National Council of Women of Canada.

DOLL I THE GRASS

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

CHAPTER I.

A long time ago in a beautiful country over on the other side of the sea there, lived a king who had twelve sons—just an even dozen.
When they grew to manhood he told them that each must go out into the world and find a wife for himself.
"Each wife," said he, "must be able to spin and weave and make a shirt in one day; if she could not do this, he said that the girl could not be a daughter-in-law to him.
So the twelve sons started out. Each was given a horse and a new suit of mail.
When they had gone a little way they all turned upon the youngest son, whose name was "Pickles".
"You cannot go with us any further," said they in one voice. "We do not want you any more."
Poor Pickles said, "All right." He stopped by the wayside wondering where he should go all alone.
When he had been sitting for a little while, the grass near him stirred and out came a little white thing. As it came near to him he saw it was a fairy with a tiny lassie.
She said to him: "Will you come down in the grass and see 'Doll I'?"

THE PARISIENNE AND HER MODE OF DRESSING.
The young Parisienne is like a good builder. She believes in a good foundation, and sees that she has it. It is one of the criticisms of the American woman that the "American" is not so fastidious about her underwear as she is herself. The French woman is a lover of exquisite lingerie, and prefers quality any day to quantity. It is an article of her creed of elegance that the well-dressed woman should begin to dress from below, and that as much taste and care and expense should go with the lingerie as with the outer garments and accessories. She is never foolish enough to stock up her wardrobe with underwear, chemises, petticoats, etc., that may become useless in a couple of seasons because of the out of skirt and bodice. Amongst us there are women who wear petticoats three yards at the bottom, with tight outer skirts a yard and a half wide, who continue to wear umbrella shaped garments which make the tight outer skirt bulge at the knees! This would be quite an impossible procedure in the eyes of the French woman. If she were poor and could not afford narrow undergarments in soft crepe de chine or china silk, being capable and skilful, she would immediately set to work to have her three or four yard petticoats made into two garments. She would remove all fullness from about the knees. Corset-covers made with square cut decol-

Caroline Coe's Letter to a Young Housewife

Dear Eunice—
When you cook your rice do you boil it in plenty of water? A cup of rice in three quarts of boiling water should be boiled twenty minutes. Take up in colander. (Have you one? Buy it because you will need one.) Let cold water run over it a couple of minutes to cool and plump it. Set colander back over hot water to keep warm. The cup of rice, uncooked, may serve rice for dessert, with cream and sugar, and rice for steak and enough should be boiled a pudding that needs a mold don't buy one, use those little brown Betty cups. They are just the right size.

PATCHED-UP LONDON TEAM HANDED PETROLEA BITTER DOSE IN NOTABLE VICTORY

Defeated the Oil Town Terrors by 10 to 6 and Presented District Title to Sarnia—Result of the Game Was a Big Surprise to Petrolea and London Alike.

[BY JINK.]

With a team that was patched up in several places with scrubs, who were called upon at the last moment, London Junior O. R. F. U. aggregation beaten on the field at Tecumseh Park Saturday afternoon, and put the famous Petrolea squad down and out by a 10-to-6 count, and, incidentally, handed the district title to Sarnia. It was probably the biggest surprise ever pulled off in local rugby circles, and was undoubtedly one of the best games seen here this season.

Petrolea Stunned. Confident that they would easily beat London, and have to play off with Sarnia for the district championship, the Oil Town brought a special train to London Saturday with about two hundred rooters. The result of the game stunned the Petrolea team and surprised its supporters. It was the first time in several years that they had been beaten out in their own district, and that London should turn the trick, made it all the more humiliating. It was the second successive time they had been beaten at London. Last year the score here was 1 to 0 in favor of the locals, the game being played on a snow-covered field.

London Leads at Half-Time. That gave London new hope, and weakened Petrolea's confidence. The first quarter was not productive of any more scoring, but this London team played like a lot of terriers in the second period, and Petrolea was forced back time and again. If Petrolea threatened London's goal, Ross' toe came to the rescue, and it was not long before the Oil Town squad were on the defensive. The visitors only struck point seemed to be in their backing. Ross again punted over the Petrolea line and the visitors were forced to rouse. Just before the half ended, London secured its first point, when the ball was run out at the side in trying to carry the ball out from behind the line. Weld dropped the ball when he went over the line, but it was out of the danger zone and only went for one point. The half-time score was: London 2, Petrolea 1.

London Scores a Touchdown. Early in the second half, in the first five minutes of play, to be exact, London practically put the game on ice when Ireland went over for a touchdown. Curham tried a kick on Petrolea's third down near the visitor's 15-yard line. The kick was low and the ball bounced off one of the Petrolea players and bounced back over the Petrolea line. A bunch of London players, Ireland foremost, were on it in a flash. Ireland picked it up and ran it around back of the goal and scored a touchdown. Ross easily converted it, and the score read London 8, Petrolea 1. From that minute the famous Oil Town squad faded. London was not easing up any, and it looked like a commanding lead. The third quarter ended without any further scoring. London scored twice in the last quarter, and with the score 10 to 1 against them, Petrolea tried hard to brace up, but the score had its effect. The ball a little more often, it is likely the visitors would not have increased their score. London was penalized for offside interference several times, but Referee Anglin did not seem to be able to catch any of Petrolea's work in this respect. It was on a piece of London offside interference that Petrolea got the ball on London's ten-yard line. A series of passes kept the ball over for a touchdown, which was not converted. The score then was London 10, Petrolea 1.

Peat Had to Retire. One more touchdown would have given the Oil Town a score of 13 to 10 against them, and there were some breathless moments in the remaining ten minutes or so of the last half. Corner and Chatto were penalized on separate occasions, and Petrolea tried hard to score during their absence. Corrie played several times, but at this stage while trying to tackle Ross. He missed the ball and turned over his absence. Corrie was badly hurt. The game was delayed for nearly five minutes before he recovered. He was forced to retire, and a substitute took his place. Petrolea tried for several gains by long backward passes but Ireland's tackling ability and untiring speed were up in these plays several times. Ross and Ross and Weld were also playing a great game on the back division, and the game ended with Petrolea fighting a losing fight.

A Plucky Bunch. Every man on the London team played a magnificent game, and a plucky bunch of fellows never dropped a London uniform. For Petrolea, Connie Webb, Peat, McGowan and Pollard were the stars. Referee Anglin was pretty good and the best of the game comparatively clean owing to the non-appearance of the other Toronto official, Capt. J. A. Judd, of the London team, was sworn in as umpire. He acted to the satisfaction of the Petrolea crowd. The teams were: Petrolea—Colhan, fullback; Edwards, Glasgow, Knight, halves; McGowan, quarter; Clark, center; May, Pollard, scrum; R. Webb and Stevan, inside wings; J. Webb and Smith, outside wings; Peat and Pearson, outside wings. London—Richardson, fullback; Weld and Ross and Chatto, halves; Wright, quarter; Gower, center; Edwards and Martin, scrum; Fitzgerald and Duffield, inside wings; Fiddes and Ireland, outside wings; Steele and McKay, outside wings. Referee—A. Anglin, of Toronto. Umpire—J. A. Judd, of London.

Notes on the Game

It was a fine, snappy, scrappy game. But the scraps were not serious. It was a hard blow to the big crowd of Petrolea rooters, who came with the team. The question is, if London can beat Petrolea 10 to 6 with a scrub team, what could it do with its regular team? Figure it out for yourself. Football is just as uncertain as baseball. Not a London supporter conceded the local team a victory before the game started. Does the best team win the district? It is doubtful if Sarnia can compare with Petrolea as an all-round football aggregation. Teddy MacGowan, who has played on the Petrolea team for six years, says it is the first time Petrolea lost the district title in his experience. Teddy says it was an "off day". Johnny Ross' punting was the feature of the game. He kicks quickly when he gets the ball, and few of his punts were blocked. Ross is undoubtedly one of the best kicking half-backs London has yet produced. Ireland certainly proved to be a find, and it is too bad that he was not uncovered sooner. He would have been valuable at Sarnia and at Petrolea. As a tackler he's a wonder. It was the first time local Rugby enthusiasts had a chance to root and they certainly took full advantage of the opportunity. It was one continuous roar after that touchdown. WILLIE RITCHIE WILL MEET TOMMY MURPHY

Bout Has Been Arranged at San Francisco For Dec. 5—Ritchie in Good Shape.

New York, Nov. 9.—Willie Ritchie vs. Harlem Tommy Murphy at San Francisco Dec. 5. This match was clinched here today when Harry Foley, manager of the lightweight champion, telegraphed to James W. Coffroth, at San Francisco, formally accepting an offer for the bout. The match was made without regard to the outcome of Ritchie's battle with Leah Cross here tomorrow night. Ritchie described himself in first-class shape tonight. "I weighed just 124½ today after light work," he said "and at that I am just what I need. I feel strong and I would wish to be, and if Cross can beat me, I will have no excuses. "Did you see I said 124½?" Ritchie continued. "Well, that's correct. A lot of these fellows seem to think I'm a white horse and I do with my regular team, but this 123 pounds is natural for me. It's my best weight."

London Evens Up For Farce of Last Year

Local Victory Over Petrolea Saturday Pays Up for Happenings of Last Season When Points System Was in Vogue.

THE FINAL STANDING. Sarnia 23 Won. 23 Lost. 1 For. 2 Agst. 35 Points 19 London 22 Won. 22 Lost. 2 For. 2 Agst. 25 Points 22 London 1 Won. 1 Lost. 2 For. 2 Agst. 25 Points 22

London's defeat of Petrolea on Saturday certainly evened up a lot of things in local football. Last year London was robbed of the district title by the points system, just as Sarnia would have had to surrender the championship this season had not London and Sarnia opposed Petrolea's efforts to make the same ruling this season. Petrolea is a good team on its own field. It is a good team against Sarnia and London prove this. But away from home the green and white is another proposition and a much easier one. Last year London won three and lost one game, while Petrolea's record was much the same as it is this year. On the points system Petrolea was awarded the district title. London and Sarnia practically changed places this season. Last year Sarnia won only one game, the last one of the schedule, beating Petrolea at Sarnia, much the same as London beat Petrolea on Saturday. It points counted this year, a peek at the final standing reveals the fact that Petrolea would carry off the championship easily. However, the points system will not again be used in this district, in all probability. Unless Petrolea can win a game away from home it looks as if the Oil Town squad will have to do without the district title. Last year London had the best team in the district, but the district title went to Petrolea. This year Petrolea has the best team, and the title goes to Sarnia. It is pretty near London's turn to win this district. Junior O. R. F. U. group No. 5 certainly produced some queer situations.

McGILL ROLLS UP BIG SCORE ON R. M. C. TEAM

Shaughnessy's Team Showed a Return to Oldtime Form. Montreal, Nov. 9.—McGill Rugby players showed a return to their early season form on Saturday when they defeated the Royal Military College by what could be called a big margin. The match was one of the most spectacular seen in Montreal for some time, the play being replete with sensational runs and brilliant kicking. The Royal Military College players added to the interest, making the game more open than any of the previous matches played on the local campus this autumn. Both teams made costly mistakes.

QUEEN'S LOOKED LEAD AGAINST VARSITY TEAM

Kingston College Were Given a Bad Beating by Toronto University. Kingston, Nov. 9.—Queen's fell down badly before Varsity in the senior intercollegiate game here yesterday afternoon at the University Athletic grounds. The score being 29 to 9 in favor of Toronto. Varsity needed the game and Queen's did not, for Varsity has now the championship before it, when eight days ago no such hope existed in view of the big lead of McGill. Then Queen's put a win over Shaughnessy's team when in the pink of condition, but faded before the blue and white yesterday. There is an excuse for the large score, as Hazlett, Queen's long-distance punter, who won the McGill game, was in no condition to play owing to a badly injured knee. His kicking was very poor in comparison to what he did a week ago.

In proven reliability, it is old. Every feature of its luxury and convenience that commands admiration has proven itself right in twelve months of rigorous tests. One year ago, the Russell led with those identical features that are now being heralded abroad as new—and with some advancements that won't be found elsewhere for several years to come. Electric starting with a motor built into the engine—electric lighting with each lamp independent of the other five—tire inflation by means of an engine-driven pump—extra long wheel base—extra wide springs—extra big non-skid tires—low-slung, flush-sided bodies—were all standard features of the Russell-Knight a year ago. Today in the 1914 Russell, they are perfected by reason of 12 months' use. There isn't a single experiment—a single unproven feature—in any part of the Russell-Knight. New in advancement—proven a point of time—the Russell affords a wealth of dependable service that makes it unquestionably the safest investment in the motor-car field. This you'll freely admit, once you've seen the tried-it—experienced the pleasure of riding in a proven car. A Russell representative is near you.

Russell-Knight 1914 Chassis and Standard Bodies are as follows: Russell-Knight 4-cylinder "29," 7-passenger Touring Car.....$5,000 6-Passenger Touring Car.....$3,250 6-Passenger Phaeton.....$5,000 Both chassis are built with Landauler and Limousine bodies at proportionate prices. LITTLE TALKS

No. 34

WHEN one realizes that anything from a hair restorer or a patent clothes wringer to a complete drug store or an entire manufacturing plant can be profitably presented for the consideration of the purchasing public, at small expense, in a newspaper's Classified columns, one ceases to wonder at the increasing popularity and use of Want Ads.

You can use advertising in your business, Mr. Merchant. You will use it if you want to see your business GROW. Try a little advertisement in the Classified columns of this newspaper, if you can't afford, as yet, to be a big display advertiser.

Put your business announcements in these columns.

Put it forcibly, clearly, honestly.

It will be carried into the homes of thousands of readers—readers who are spenders—readers who will favor you with their patronage if your goods and prices are right and your announcements confidence-creating.

Try the Want Ad. columns. They'll prove a tonic for your business. And you'll continue taking the tonic with the increasing benefits of every dose.

McFARLANE NAMED CON. CANDIDATE FOR E. MIDDLESEX

Convention Saturday Selected a Man To Contest the By-Election.

BITTERNESS EVIDENCED

Speakers, in Warm Remarks, Show Much Factional Feeling Prevails.

As predicted in the pre-convention "dope," ex-Heave John McFarlane of West Nissequoy defeated on the Thorndale continuation school question three years ago, and who made an unsuccessful attempt to regain control of township affairs later, was selected as "conservative" candidate in East Middlesex Provincial riding at the convention on Saturday afternoon. Mr. McFarlane, who is president of the East Middlesex Conservative Association, is a Glass man, and the whole support of the Glass faction, as well as the personal efforts of the member-elect in the Federal House, was thrown behind him in the effort to win the convention.

Despite the fact that he was selected at the first ballot, the race between the successful candidate for party nomination and his five competitors was a close one. Of the 96 ballots cast 49 were marked for McFarlane, giving him just the required number to squeeze out a majority.

Factional feeling, that the same bitterness and factional feeling which marked the first convention for the recent Federal by-election, is still rampant was demonstrated at Saturday's gathering. It did not end in a voting fiasco, and charges of "stuffed ballots," as did the first Federal convention, but the soreness of many of the Tories was evidenced in their declarations from the platform.

Without specifying the candidate who was to blame, R. L. Guest, Fanshawe, ex-president of the association, characterized some of the convention electioneering as "rotten."

"There are men who have been going up and down this riding, night and day, selecting delegates and soliciting support. This is distasteful to me. It is rotten," said Guest, who was one of those nominated for party choice. "If any man is not worthy enough to win this convention on straightforward conduct then he is not worthy enough to represent you at Toronto."

"I had thought of being a candidate and allowing my name to go before the convention, but I will decline the nomination and ask that my name be withdrawn. If ever I am a candidate here I want to be one in a straightforward way and not as some of the candidates here you now."

This declaration from their ex-president drew "Hear, hear," from the delegates and the "gallery" of interested spectators.

Broadside for Piper.

Ex-Warden R. M. Piper, runner-up at the last Federal convention, and from whose showing there had been touted as the most likely candidate for provincial honours until the McFarlane "boom" was started, was given a broadside by Freeman Talbot, Lambeth, who allowed his name to go before the convention.

When Candidate Talbot's turn at the speaking came he too paid his respects to the electioneering dodges that had been worked.

"There has been election talk that I am not fit to represent you," was his opening salutation. "It has been said that I am a contractor and a farmer. I am a farmer. I have always been, and will always continue to be. I would be surprised if you do elect me, but just the same I am going to allow my name to go before the convention. Some time ago I saw Mr. Piper, who is considered to be the strongest candidate, and told him that if he was going to allow his name to go before the convention I would not. He said that he would not go, so I decided to allow my name to come before you. Now, Mr. Piper says that he will allow his name to come before you. I am a politician; you will never get it out of me."

Criticizes Whitney.

R. H. Harding, Thorndale, another of the candidates, hit the core of his convictions, and proceeded to criticize the laws of the Whitney Government. He pledged himself to work for an amendment of the assessment act, to secure a few hundred manufacturing goods as farm produce is now branded, and better laws for the prevention of diseases in animals. The "special privilege" attitude of the present Government did not find an echo in his professed sentiments, for he declared himself for a policy of "special privileges to none."

Depends on Canada for Fruit Supply

French Crop Has Been Decidedly Short This Year.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—That France will have to depend to a considerable extent on Canada for her fruit consumption this year is shown by a return to the Trade and Commerce Department from Mr. Philippe Roy, Canadian commissioner-general in Paris. Mr. Roy reports that the French fruit crop has been decidedly short, except for apples and grapes, and goes on to say: "In short, it is to be expected that fruit consumption this year will be closely dependent upon Algeria, Spain, Canada, and the United States."

As it has been estimated that the French people consume 1,500,000,000 kilograms of fresh fruit per year and $7,000,000,000 of dry fruit, this will mean much to Canada.

Applying This Paste Makes Hairs Vanish

Toilet Tips.

The popularity of the delatone treatment for removing hairy growths is due largely to the fact that it is quick in action and does not mar the skin, and since its introduction many beauty experts use it in preference to the electric needle. To remove the hair or fuzz, you mix some powdered delatone with a little water and apply to the objectionable hairs, then in two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin, and the hairs have entirely vanished. Excepting in rare instances one treatment is sufficient. Adv.

"His wife is such a splendid manager!"

HOW often have you heard this said of some one of your lady friends?—one who seems to run her household more easily and smoothly than the average. She has the happy knack of buying well—of making a dollar do a full dollar's work. Yet—after all—it doesn't need a genius to become a skilful home manager. The clever housewife is the woman who never buys haphazard. She selects her food supplies. She doesn't merely ask for "some" ham or "some" bacon, for instance. She goes to the trouble of finding out one definite brand of goods of known reputation—and she sticks to that brand. The Swift Canadian Co., Limited, has solved the food-buying problem for practically millions of housewives all over the world.

Swift's PURE FOOD PRODUCTS

The following are some of the choice Swift specialties. Always look for these brands, and insist on having them:

"Swift's Premium" Ham. "Swift's Premium" Bacon.
 "Swift's Cotosuet." "Brookfield" Sausage. "Brookfield" Eggs.

The housewife who will make a point of asking for "Swift's" is well rewarded. She is assured of uniform tip-top quality always. The name "Swift" is a guarantee of choice, perfectly prepared, carefully selected food products which never disappoint.

BUSINESS PART OF NIPIGON IS WIPED OUT BY FLAMES

Nipigon, Ont., Nov. 9.—The business portion of this village was almost totally destroyed by a fire which started at 8:30 p.m. yesterday and continued until 12:30 this morning.

The fire was discovered in a clothing store and swept west as far as the International Hotel, where it was checked by the use of dynamite. The business places burned included three stores, two restaurants, three barber shops, two poolrooms and two butcher shops. The total loss is approximately $75,000, partly covered by insurance.

UNIONISTS TAKE READING BY HELP OF SOCIALISTS

London, Nov. 9.—Reading by-election was captured by the Unionists today.

Capt. I. O. Wilson, Unionist, captured the seat with 5,144 votes. George Peabody Gooch, Liberal, received 4,021, and the Socialist candidate, Mr. Butler, 1,063. The Socialist undoubtedly cut into the Liberal vote.

MR. SAMUEL SURPRISED AT ROBLIN'S ATTACK

Had Not Intended To Say Anything Derogatory to Manitoba.

London, Nov. 9.—No one is more astonished than Mr. Herbert Samuel himself at the scathing attack that has been made upon him by Premier Roblin, of Manitoba, in consequence of certain remarks alleged to be derogatory to the education policy of the province which the British postmaster made at Montreal during his recent visit.

What occurred, says Mr. Samuel, was that he was asked to give his impressions of the west, and in doing so mentioned that he had been specially struck with the zeal of the people of those provinces for education, with the excellence of their schools and with the fact that great universities had been founded on sound lines. He added that the only exception that he had observed was that in the province of Manitoba the system of compulsory education had not yet been established, and that, as he had been informed, the result had been that a proportion of children, especially of the foreign population of Winnipeg, were receiving little or even no schooling. He had learned this, he said, with surprise in a province so progressive as Manitoba. It is possible his remarks may have been misreported in the provincial press, but otherwise he is at a loss to understand the ground for Sir Rodmond Roblin's denunciation. His statement was based on information he had received from more than one educationist in Winnipeg, in which town, as

KING FERDINAND MAY ABDICATE THE THRONE

Now in Vienna and He Will Not Return Without Austria's Support.

London, Nov. 9.—Dispatches from Vienna indicate that the disastrous second war into which Bulgaria entered after the quarrel with her erstwhile allies in the Balkan league is likely to cost King Ferdinand his throne.

King Ferdinand, who is now at Vienna, is determined not to return to Bulgaria unless he has the support of Austria. He has been most unpopular in Bulgaria since the termination of the war, and it is stated that he has received many letters threatening him with death, while placards with the words "To let" have been posted on the walls of the National Palace at night. The monarch frequently absented himself from Sofia, spending days at a time at Eberthal.

He has had several conferences with Count von Berchtold, the Austrian Premier, and has had an audience with Emperor Francis Joseph. It is stated that his mission fails if he will abdicate in favor of his son, Prince Boris, who, having been brought up in the orthodox faith, is more popular than this father.

TEMPERANCE ACT VOTE TO BE HELD IN JANUARY

Toronto, Nov. 10.—Some days ago it was announced from Ottawa that voting on the Canada temperance act would take place in Welland, Peel and Huron counties on the 24th inst. The temperance interests were officially notified that this date was definite and set about completing their plans for the campaign.

LIVE STOCK AND PRODUCE MARKETS

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—Receipts at the Union stockyards were fair this morning, consisting of 3,338 cattle, 294 calves, 291 sheep and lambs, and 1,512 hogs. Trading was brisk and a slightly better grade of cattle arrived. Prices were generally steady—anything a little easier. The sheep supply was very poor, only 200 arriving. A dull market ruled, with prices higher. Hogs were steady. Quotations:

Butcher cattle, choice, cwt.	$7.30 to $7.60
Butcher cattle, medium	5.00 to 5.80
Butcher cattle, common	3.00 to 3.70

Hogs, fed and watered	8.15 to 9.15
Hogs, f. o. b.	8.55 to 8.65
Calves, per cwt	4.25 to 10.00

PRODUCE.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 8.—Thirty-eight to 40 were the prevailing prices of eggs on local markets today. Butter is steady at 28c to 30c. Spy apples, hand-picked, are selling at $2 25 to $2 50 per bin, and there was abundance of chickens at 13c to 15c a lb. Hogs are steady at last week's figures, 40 to 45. Turkeys bring 22c a lb. Ducks, 15c to 18c. Geese, 15c. Hides, 9c to 10c. Oats, 32c. Wheat, 85c. Hay, $10 to $12; do baled, $16. Potatoes, 85c. On track at bay ports, and No. 2 wheat, 90c. Eggs sorted to 28c per dozen this morning, and prices generally were higher, live hogs being an exception, however. Ruling prices were: Butter 27c to 28c per lb; eggs, 37c to 38c per doz; chickens, 40c to 50c each; ducks, 15c each; geese, $1 30 to $1 60; potatoes, $1 to $1 50 per bag; wheat, 85c per bu.; oats, 30c per bu; hay, $15 to $17 per ton; hogs, live, $8 50 to $5 25 per cwt; wool, washed, 22c per lb; hides, 11c per lb; calfskins, 13c to 14c per lb.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Ontario grain markets are quiet, with no changes in prices. Cables were a little lower, although news from Argentina and India was not favorable. Prices of wheat futures in Winnipeg and Chicago show little change. Corn weaker in the latter market. Flour—Ontario wheat flour, 90 per cent patent, are quoted at $3 45 at the seaboard, and at $3 40 at local points in Ontario, Manitoba, and elsewhere. In the west, the market is dull. No. 2 American corn quoted at 76c, c. l. f. Midland. Rye—No. 2 is nominal at 65c outside. Buckwheat—Prices nominal, all at 22c to 25c. Bran—Manitoba bran is quoted at $21 50 a ton, in bags. Toronto freight; shorts, $22 50. Torts, $22.

SEEDS.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Local merchants are buying from farmers at the following prices: Alsike, No. 1, $7 75 to $8 25; do No. 2, $6 50 to $7 50; do No. 3, $5 to $5 50; red clover, $6 to $7; timothy, No. 1, $2 25; do No. 2, $2.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Baled hay and straw—Baled hay, choice, No. 1, $14 50 to $15; extra No. 2, $12 50 to $14; No. 2, $11 to $12; No. 3, $9 to $9. Baled straw—$8.

That was a good BUY

It is good business to invest in a good range. Coal is high. It is MONEY. A range can save it or waste it. So, choose a range that will save it—that will lower your monthly expense account. The Peerless is designed to heat the oven quickly with the smallest amount of coal. Month by month it makes real economies. It proves a mighty good BUY.

The Peerless is so well made that repairs are rarely required. The top is made up of sliding sections. Doors are all very strong. Grates fit perfectly and cannot warp. See this range—or write for Booklet "The Cost of a Range."

STREET RAILWAY BATTLES ALL NIGHT WITH GALE

Lines Kept Open This Morning as Result of Hard Struggle With Sweepers and Special Cars—North Lines Hit Hard.

The snow, driven in blinding clouds, drifted across the tracks of the London street railway, and in vacant places where the wind was afforded a clear sweep, piled almost a foot deep.

The company was not prepared for the sudden change and for a time were helpless. Meanwhile the fury of the wind increased and when, last night, in the afternoon, the big sweepers were removed from their winter quarters, and fitted out for their first battle of the season, it was almost impossible to distinguish near-by objects.

North Lines Drifted.

The lines most affected were the Springbank, Wellington and Normal. Part of the line to the park suffered from the blow. The wind sweeping over the rails buried them deep with a covering of wet, heavy snow, which even the big sweepers found difficult to remove.

On the Wellington line similar difficulties were encountered. The snow, which had developed into a nor'wester, gave the railwaymen a battle royal. Frequent trips with the "brush-wagon" and continuous trips with the cars during the night, kept the line open, although at times traffic appeared to be at a standstill.

Normal Line Tied Up.

Another line to suffer a temporary tie-up was the Normal, here, likewise, particularly on Dundas street, cars were stalled and the brushes called into active play. Altogether it was a strenuous night for the company, but this morning a fair schedule was maintained.

On the Wellington line similar difficulties were encountered. The snow, which had developed into a nor'wester, gave the railwaymen a battle royal.

REPORTS OF DISASTER

When the train pulled into London a minute after the caboose and engine that brought the body of Mr. Kerr, a rush was made for the baggage car.

There were the bodies of the men who were killed? someone asked.

"We never brought them in," was the reply.

"An Advertiser reporter questioned one of the physicians as to whereabouts of the bodies.

The doctor was nearly in tears, after working for seven hours with the injured men, and great sobs choked his voice as he replied that they would never be brought any place.

Carson and His Imitators.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
In your issue of the 6th inst., you have an article under the heading, "Carson and His Imitators," referring to the tactics of Sir Edward Carson, the suffragettes and Jim Larkin, and attributing the lawlessness of the latter two to the example, I am afraid your history has got mixed. I am afraid the tactics of Sir Edward Carson, the suffragettes and Jim Larkin, were not the tactics of the latter two to the example, I am afraid your history has got mixed. I am afraid the tactics of Sir Edward Carson, the suffragettes and Jim Larkin, were not the tactics of the latter two to the example, I am afraid your history has got mixed.

So far the Ulstermen have said they will not have home rule, and, of course, are getting ready to keep their promise. Their enemies know they will keep their word, hence the campaign of abuse. Yours,

FOR 3 YEARS WITH H. M. STANLEY IN AFRICA

William A. Colledge, Editor of Encyclopedia. Lectures in Auditorium.

"Second Fiddles" was the subject of an inspiring, forceful and practical presentation by William A. Colledge, D. D., F. R. G. S., in the Auditorium on Saturday night, of the possibilities and limitations of human endeavor, a phase of life in which most people are interested. The lecture was brimful of the experiences and observations of Dr. Colledge, who is both a scholar and a man of affairs. It was not a dry dissertation of facts, but an entertaining and lively presentation of great truths, and running throughout it was a rich vein of humor.

The last few years have witnessed the increasing development of the Player Piano as one of the strongest educational forces in music. Its highest mission was once believed by many to be that of a recreative resource for the unskilled music lover, but now, in the opinion of the greatest authorities, it is as an invaluable aid to the cultivation of a critical taste in music that the Player Piano is to be regarded.

DR. ADAM SHORTT IS THE BOAST OF KILWORTH BRIDGE

Great Canadian Economist and Public Servant Came From Down the River.

IS A DISTINGUISHED MAN

He Is To Be President of British Columbia's University Very Shortly.

The Toronto Star has the following regarding Prof. Adam Shortt: "To the Canadian Club on Monday comes Adam Shortt from Kilworth Bridge. You will not find Kilworth Bridge recorded in any railroad guide nor on any detailed maps of the County of Middlesex. There is no railway bridge enough to confess its name. Only the Canadian Almanac and the Postal Guide list it—and no more—as among the named places of the earth. One does not meet in a week's journeying many people from the hamlet of Kilworth, but when Adam Shortt entered the scholastic, literary, and public service life of Canada, he made up for whatever obscurity might otherwise be attributed to his birthplace. Adam Shortt, of Kilworth Bridge, is either professor, or president, or Doctor Shortt, whichever you may choose to call him. And Ottawa at present lays claim to his name in its telephone book. But from Kilworth Bridge, out of the world's common line of vision, dreaming among fields, Adam Shortt, litterateur, historian, publicist, educationalist, and public servant, made his march and his conquest. Kilworth Bridge is his name of obscurity by the name of this one man."

Dared To Defend Combines. Professor Adam Shortt is possibly the only Canadian who, without being financially interested, has dared to defend trusts and combines, and who has even gone so far as to declare them not only good, but necessary, needing only proper control to be of great service to the state and to humanity. He has often expressed this opinion in private life and to his students and in semi-public places, but last February he enumerated this policy before the old age pensions committee of the House of Commons at Ottawa, and not only confessed the belief, but backed it with reasons, and with the weight of his own name as—among other things—an eminent economist and a man of character.

Professor Adam Shortt is an exception to the rule that great academic and most Canadian university presidents come from the Maritime Provinces. He was born at the small Ontario village before referred to, in 1859—he is fifty-four years old on the 24th of this month. His parents were of Scotch descent. From them it is perhaps that he inherited a love of learning and a thoughtfulness which carried him through the local school-masters' exercises in triumph and landed him first at the Walkerton high school and then at the University of Toronto. At the age of 24 he had his B. A. from that institution. At twenty-five he had his M. A. From that time on his rise was steady. The year after he took his M. A. he became assistant professor of philosophy at Queen's University. Won New Honors. In four years he became lecturer in political science for Queen's, and in three more years he succeeded to the chair, holding it until 1908—sixteen years—when he was appointed chairman of the civil service commission at Ottawa.

Meantime, of course, he had had other honors. As the result of post-graduate work in Glasgow and Edinburgh, he obtained the degree of LL.D. He was a member of the Ontario railway taxation commission in 1904, chairman of the G. T. R. engineers' and machinists' board of conciliation in 1907, member of the Canadian historical manuscript commission of 1907, vice-president of the Ottawa Archaeological Society, president of the Ottawa branch of the Social and Moral Reform Association, and finally was appointed president of the new University of British Columbia, which is not yet fully organized. He has done a great deal of historical research work and economic research work. He has published, for example, such works as "Imperial Preferential Trade From the Canadian Point of View"; "Documents Relating to the Constitutional History of Canada, 1759-61"; and "Life of Lord Sydenham," which was brought out as one of the "Makers of Canada" series.

Raised Scholarship Standard. Professor Shortt's best-known work, and that which has had the most direct effect perhaps, was in connection with the civil service commission. His reputation as a student and unbiased observer was such that his connection with the commission was virtually a guarantee that so far as its scope went it might thereafter be relied upon to counteract the "pull" evil and put the service on its merits, as it were. In addition to this Professor Shortt threw his influence toward the raising of the general scholarship standard in the service. He went upon the theory that the civil service must not be made a mere refuge for men who could not or would not make a success in any other line of work. Partly to keep out that type and partly because he felt that the country should command the best class of service, he kept the educational standards comparatively high. This has had a remarkably good effect upon the whole service at Ottawa.

Outside of this and the other activities of this interesting Canadian there is also the fact that Professor Shortt, by his personal qualities, is able to impart his ideas to men in high places, such ideas bearing fruit without betraying sometimes their originator. Professor Shortt had more than a little to do, it is said, respecting the Lemieux act and the act to regulate combinations in restraint of trade.
