OPENS SUBWAY NEGOTIATIONS WITH DOMINION COMMISSION

Board of Control Seeks Informal Interview to Secure an Estimate of Eliminating Grade Crossings in London—City's Share Will Be Fixed at the Conference.

Through the city solicitor, the board of control has opened up a correspondence with the Dominion Railway Commission for an informal interview with the chairman of the commission for the purpose of discussing the subway question in London. At the last meeting of the city council this matter was referred to the board with instructions to ascertain what steps are necessary for the city to take in order to get the Government grant toward subway construction.

The Ridout street crossing was recommended for the first subway, and plans for eliminating the tracks at grade on this street are now being prepared in an amended form, the previous plans having provided a greater width than was deemed necessary.

Upon the interview will depend largely how much the city will have to pay toward this expenditure. The whole cost has been estimated at about $50,000, and the city's share of this has been put down at about $13,000.

34 1-2 ACRES IN
W. LONDON SOLD

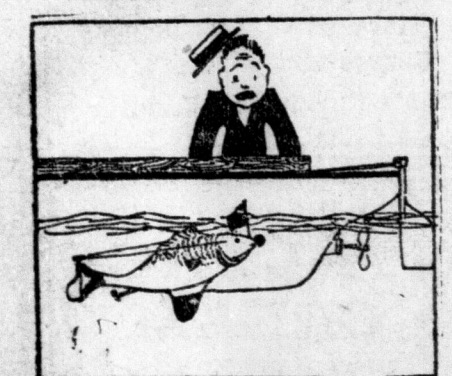

Fred J. Nash Has Completed Transaction With James Greig.

PRICE PAID IS $10,000

Another Ten-Acre Plot in the Eastern Section Sold to Toronto Man.

One of the most important real estate transactions in the history of West London was completed today, when Fred J. Nash, real estate dealer, sold to James Greig, proprietor of the Clyde Hotel, 24½ acres fronting on Oxford street, north of the C. P. R. The property is part of the old Coombes property, and while Mr. Greig has not decided for what purpose he will use the property, it is probable that he will subdivide it. There has been some talk of constructing a summer hotel on the property and having mineral water piped to it. The price paid was about $10,000.

Mr. Nash has also sold about ten acres on Second street to Hensall & Wood, of Toronto. The property has already been subdivided. The price was not made known.

Our Fish Story
EVEN THE FISH NEED
GASOLINE THESE DAYS

[BY OUR STAFF FISH LIAR.] Onekama, Mich., July 15.—Leo Kelly, director general of Portage Lake, has solved one of the oldest of mysteries. Kelly operates the motor boat ferry service. A few weeks ago Kelly observed a mysterious disappearance of gasoline from his reserve tank in the boat. Each night a gallon or more of gasoline disappeared. Kelly searched for leaks, tested his valves and could not find the cause of the shrinkage in the supply. He began to suspect that someone was pilfering during the night. Two nights ago off Red Park he heard a faint put-put-put—dead ahead. The night was clear and he could not see any power boat ahead, but blew his whistle, slowed down and peered into the night. Not a sign of a vessel could he see.

Last night he solved the mystery. Watching his vessel to learn the cause of the loss of gasoline he heard an odd sound under the keel and casting his light down to the surface of the water, he saw an eighteen-pound picker sucking gasoline from the escape pipe at the water line.

Application of Pulmotor Restores Electrocutted Lineman to Consciousness.

WAS CAUGHT IN TREE

London Electric Employee Shook While Working on Wharfedale Road.

J. D. Fulcher, 472 Charlotte street, a London electric lineman, was saved from death by electrocution by the prompt application of the fire department pulmotor at noon today. Fulcher was working with a gang on Wharfedale road near Oxford. Reaching up into a tree he accidentally threw a wire across another, forming a short circuit and throwing the full current into his body. His body stiffened out and, losing his grasp of the limb on which he was working, he fell. Branches of the tree providentially saved him from dropping to the ground.

Fellow-workmen carried him to the ground and endeavored to restore him to consciousness with a small respirator they had in their emergency kit. The pulmotor, however, restored the man to consciousness, and he was removed to his home in the police ambulance.

VILLA RESTING UP

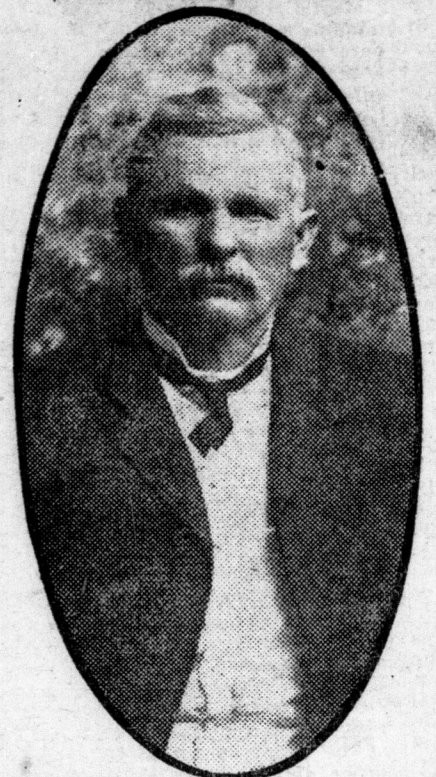

Will Move On Mexico City Within Eight Days.

[Canadian Press.] El Paso, Texas, July 15.—General Francisco Villa, his staff and a small escort arrived today at Juarez to spend a few days at the border. The northern divisional commander is expected to return south and have his entire army moving toward Mexico City within eight days. The Villa troops are spread over Southern Chihuahua, while at Juarez General Villa will arrange for supplies. While it is known that his supply of artillery ammunition is ample, he is short of rifle cartridges.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, July 15.—More than 500 Londoners, on the annual excursion of the London Retail Grocers' Association, are here sightseeing. Refreshments galore, more than 150 large baskets, were distributed through the coaches enroute. The baggage car, converted into a refreshment booth, kept others happy.

Former Premier Injured His Chance by Vicious Attacks.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 15.—Word has been received at Ottawa that if the deferred election in Le Pas goes against the Manitoba Government Premier Roblin will throw up his hands and send in his resignation.

There are three deferred elections in the northern part of the province. That at Le Pas is fixed for July 30. The others come later.

Parties Would Be Tied. It is believed that Le Pas will indicate how the others will go. Should the Government lose the three they would have a majority of but one in the legislature, and when a speaker had been elected the two sides would be equal.

Hurt His Chances. Both parties are said to be bending their energies to the winning of the Le Pas seat. Speeches by Sir Rodmond Roblin after the recent election are said to have hurt the chances of the Government in Le Pas.

Fateful Wind Brings Remains Back to His Own Cottage Terras Beach.

A FRUITLESS SEARCH

Patrol Beaches and Search Country After Learning of Disappearance of Patrick.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ridgeway, July 15.—Escaping from his cottage at Terras Beach, five miles south of Ridgeway, at 12 o'clock last night, Cuthbert Patrick, aged 28, a wealthy Detroitier, threw himself in Lake Erie. This morning his body was washed upon his own beach an off-lake wind having carried back all that was mortal of the unfortunate man, to almost his own doorstep.

Under medical care for the past three years Patrick was the victim of a nervous breakdown, and the successful attempt to take his own life is believed to have been accomplished while temporarily insane. For the past six weeks he has been staying with his wife at Terras Beach, and during that time was under a physician's care.

As soon as his absence from the house was noticed last night, a search was instituted by the cottagers. The beach was patrolled, boats put out into the lake for some distance and the surrounding country was searched, but no trace was found until the dawn, when the body was discovered on his own beach.

It was immediately brought to the undertaking parlors of J. C. Locke, Ridgeway, from where it will be forwarded to Detroit for burial this evening.

Patrick is survived by his wife only. The tragedy and the part that fate played in washing the body back to his own cottage has thrown a pall over the summer gaiety of Terras Beach. Because of his nervous trouble Patrick was not as intimate with his cottage neighbors as the most of summer resorters are, but the sympathy of the entire beach has gone out to the young widow who is prostrated by the tragic death of her husband.

REFUSED AID;
RESIGN POSITIONS

Bathing Camp Instructors Refuse Responsibility For Bathers' Safety.

WANTED AN ASSISTANT

Work of Looking After 400 Swimmers a Day Too Much For Lone Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pourée who this year entered on their third season in charge of the city's south end bathing camp at the foot of Rectory street, today sent in their resignations to City Engineer Ashplant to take effect at once.

For over a month Mr. Pourée has been trying to get an assistant on busy days, as he and his wife look after the comforts of the bathers, give instructions, mend the bathing suits and are responsible for good behavior on the beach. As many as 400 have been in swimming on some afternoons, and girls especially, take advantage of the bathing opportunities and have been responding in larger numbers on every ladies day at the camp.

For his work Mr. Pourée draws a salary of $15 a week, while Mrs. Pourée is paid $5 a week. Mr. Pourée said today that he did not want his wife to become a washerwoman for the city, and because the city would not investigate and ascertain the increase in the amount of work at the camp he did not want to be further responsible for an assistant on busy days.

The resignations will come up at the meeting of the board of control on Friday.

"I want somebody to come out and take over the city property and give me a receipt for it by Saturday," said Mr. Pourée today.

A Tribute to The Advertiser's
London Development Number

John F. Langan, one of the owners of the Vancouver Sun, and one of the best known capitalists, who is at present residing in Vancouver, has written to The Advertiser as follows: "Your special edition of July 13 is one of the best pieces of city advertising I have seen anywhere during my twelve years of development work in Western Canada."

"I have never seen anything better. The editorial page is an inspiration to the young manhood of London and should be effective."

Yours very truly,
JOHN F. LANGAN.

NEGRO MAID SAYS
MRS. CARMAN RAN
THROUGH KITCHEN

This Directly Contravenes the Statement of Accused Widow.

HUSBAND LOYAL TO HER
Swears the Hand That Came Through Window Was That of a Man.

[Canadian Press.] Mineola, N.Y., July 15.—More details of the story of the Carman's negro maid, Celia Coleman, as told the grand jury yesterday, became known today at the Bailey murder trial.

Besides saying that Mrs. Carman had hurried through the kitchen from the backyard immediately after the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey was fired, the girl, it is understood, said Mrs. Carman had on a kimono at the time. Mrs. Carman herself said she wore a kimono but insisted that she was in her bedroom.

Saw a Man's Hand. Dr. Carman, who is here, said today that he was sure the hand thrust through the window going to the Carman place, was a man's. He recalled he said, that on the wrist he saw a man's cuff.

Alvah Smith and Daniel Raynor, members of the grand jury and close friends of the Carmans, said they were excused from the jury today. Their request was granted. Their withdrawal still left a quorum of grand jurors and the proceedings will not be invalidated.

Niece to be Summoned. With the resumption of the hearing District Attorney Smith announced that he had issued a subpoena for Mrs. Ellen Corby, a niece of Mrs. Carman. It is understood that she was one of the two women who have been sought since the shooting, and said to have been in the doctor's office and who fled when they heard the shot fired.

The first witness examined today was Henry De Beauvoir, who testified to seeing Mrs. Bailey going to the Carman place. It was thought likely that Mrs. Carman would not be called before the jury. His counsel had agreed to waive immunity for her, but in the opinion of the district attorney it was not necessary to have her testimony today.

CRUDE OIL CHEAPER. Pittsburgh, July 15.—Further reduction in the price of crude oil was announced here at the opening of the market today. Following are the prices: Penna. crude, $1.70; Mercator, $1.27; Newcastle, $1.27; Cabell, $1.32; Somerset, $1.02. The reduction in Penna. was five cents a barrel.

Health Hints for Hot Days

Some person, believing the city engineer capable of solving human afflictions as well as public works grievances, has written a letter to Engineer Ashplant asking for instructions on what to do in the hot days. The person having written in a facetious tone Mr. Ashplant replied in the same tone.

He said:

Don't eat anything.
Chew it thoroughly.
Don't drink ice water.
Boil it.
Let your wife have her way.
Give your thermometer to your enemy.
Avoid vacations, excursions.
Avoid change of dogs.
Don't discuss the following: Heat records, immigration, tariff, street oiling, minimum wage, garbage bills, tire trouble, new thought, cubist poetry, creditors and debtors.

STEEL COMPANY TO EXTEND.

[Canadian Press.] Hamilton, July 15.—A sign of returning prosperity was contained in an announcement made today by Basil Magor, vice-president of the National Steel Car Company, that his concern had let the contract for an extensive addition to its passenger car department.

HON. F. D. MONK LEFT BORDEN
GOVT. FEELING PUBLIC LIFE WAS ROTTEN AND RULED BY GANG

Letter Written Before Death Expresses Supreme Disgust With Conditions—An End of Personal Interest and Egotism.

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, July 15.—A letter from the late Hon. F. D. Monk, who resigned from the Borden ministry over the naval issue, has been published in Le Veve here and in which the former minister said that public life in Canada was rotten and overrun with gang rule. It has been argued in Montreal that Mr. Monk really resigned from the Government on account of ill-health, and Le Veve has sought to contradict this belief. The letter in which Mr. Monk criticized public life was written to Raoul Carignan, of Lachine, in 1913, in explanation of his resignation over the naval issue. Mr. Monk also says: "We are living in an era in which personal interest and egotism are the paramount considerations. In this young country of ours it is high time that we should conduct ourselves in political life as we conduct ourselves in the relations of private life—that is to say, with honesty and straightforwardness. A reaction is required."

Cities Will Deport
Many Good Men

More People Likely To Be Sent Out By Government Than Are Brought In—A Serious Situation.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 15.—The Government is being inundated with applications for the deportation of stalwart men who are without employment. Ever since the administration announced that it would remove forty-five Ruthenians from its doorstep in Ottawa, other communities have been taking the stand, following the example. Now the movement has become most popular. Every place which has idle men wants to get rid of them.

May Be Deported. Where a man who has come to Canada within the past three years finds himself out of money and employment and has to support a family, he becomes liable to deportation as one who has become a public charge.

More Out Than In. It has been semi-officially stated that the exodus of people from Canada would be greater this year than the influx. At the rate the deportation movement is growing it looks as though the exodus would be very much greater.

POTATOES GROWN WHERE WATER WAGONS STOOD

Progress Has Eliminated City Storage Shed Replacing It With Fine Crop of Tubers.

Just what city progress is sometimes becomes hard to determine when one finds a flourishing crop of potatoes growing where once a building stood, on a site that is near to the heart of the city.

Some time ago the old familiar landmark on King street, west, given the appellation of shed, where the city's road scrapers, sprinkling carts and other vehicles in connection with the work of the board of works were stored, was torn down.

It was understood that another building was to be erected in its stead.

NIAGARA FALLS IN GALA ATTIRE TO WELCOME MASONIC DELEGATES

Reports to Grand Lodge Show Increasing Prosperity—425 Lodges Are Now Enrolled.

[Canadian Press.] Niagara Falls, Ont., July 15.—The 59th annual communication of the grand lodge of Canada, A.F., and A.M. opened here today in the Arena Bink. The city is in holiday attire and banners and flags float in the breeze everywhere. The attendance is expected to reach from 1,000 to 1,300. In connection with this communication, Grand Master W. D. McPherson, K.C., M.P.P., of Toronto, and the officers of the Grand Lodge of Canada are joined with the grand master of the grand lodges of the United States and other provinces of the Dominion, to the number of 35 celebrating the 100 years of peace that have existed between the United States and the British people.

Delegates Welcomed. After the usual ceremonies which attend the opening of grand lodge, Mayor O. E. Dore, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city and Worshipful Brother J. W. Wensley extended the welcome of the craft of the Power City.

The grand master in his address reviewed the work of the past year which has been the most prosperous in the history of the order. The receipts total $47,241 an increase of $2,544. The ordinary expenses amounted to $17,429 leaving a surplus of $29,812 as against $29,723 for the previous year.

Grants to benevolence from the ordinary fund totalled for the year $29,192 and the interest on the semi-centennial fund was $5,415. The semi-centennial fund now stands at $103,487. The total membership is estimated at 57,300, an increase of 3,300.

425 Lodges On Roll. There are 425 lodges on the roll duly warranted, 18 working under dispensation for the year, making an increase of 11. The returns are incomplete. Thirty secretaries of subordinate lodges having failed to make the returns to the grand secretary. In the ruling given by the grand master during the year, one in which he stated that a man who is partially a cripple but who can perform all the literary requirements is eligible for membership. This also applies to hunchbacks. The grand master made sympathetic reference to the dead and the great loss of life in the loss of the Empress of Ireland and the toll of human life in the great lakes in the storm of last autumn.

First Romance of New City Hall. The first romance in the Spence block, now known as the city hall, has come to light. The affair could enter the building several months ago and Arthur Fisher, then a reporter of the Advertiser, and Miss Myrtle Denison, stenographer in the office of the city clerk, became the victims of a mysterious machination.

Miss Denison, who is now Mrs. Fisher, is a valuable employee in the office and this morning the board of control decided to keep her in her present position. Her marriage would perhaps be a secret if an order had not been entered to change her name on the city records from Myrtle Denison to Myrtle Fisher.

VACCINATION BEFORE BOARD OF ALL BUTCHERS

Epidemic of Smallpox Threatens City in Fall, Says Chairman.

AFTER THE FAIR BOARD
Police Station Must Comply With Order to Make Place Sanitary.

That the board of education may be asked before the opening of school in September to issue a general order that no pupil will be admitted unless a certificate of vaccination is shown, was a suggestion made at the board of health meeting yesterday. The suggestion produced some discussion, and J. R. Haslett declared that in his own opinion vaccination was a relic of the old times, and that the board should not take any measures were not taken there would be an epidemic of smallpox in the city in the fall.

The board sent out notices asking all physicians to co-operate in stamping out suspicious cases of smallpox by immediately reporting any case that has the least symptoms of this disease.

To Hold Fair Board.
A communication will be sent to A. M. Hunt, secretary of the Western Fair board, to the effect that the board will be held responsible for the condition of the fair grounds in Queen's Park during the fair week, and if these are not improved over what they are now, the toilets will be closed.

"The parks board blames it on the fair board, and the fair board blames it on the parks board," said Dr. Burdon, "and the only way we can protect ourselves is to notify one of them that the closets will be closed, and then close them if they are not in proper condition." It was the opinion of the board that there ought to be a comfort station at Queen's Park.

To Visit Police Station.
The police station, which has been declared insanitary, will be visited next week, and a consultation held with Magistrate Judd, to ascertain if it will be cheaper to spend some money and have the place fit for human beings than to have a sign tacked over the entrance, reading: "Closed by Order of the Board of Health."

FAMOUS HORSE DEAL IS STILL IN PUBLIC EYE

Not a "Regular Horse," But an "Exhibition Animal."

Echoes of the recent deal between James McCartney and William Fox occasionally come home to the humane society officials. In fact, one of the horses in this deal has come home to the humane society to roost, and the path of the humanitarian seems clear. At the time this famous horse deal, which has already been written in the history of the city, was consummated and McCartney had a chance to look over the horse, he decided he didn't want the horse. He took it back to Fox, and Fox brought it back to him, and then the poor animal was tied in McCartney's yard and left to starve, neither man claiming ownership and neither man accepting the responsibility of feeding it. The humane society took the horse and fed it. McCartney was arrested for cruelty to animals and fined $5. He is now appealing the case. The humane society is spending 27 cents a day for the horse's upkeep, and even that price will hardly keep him up, according to officials of the society.

Lieut.-Col. Garthshore, who is interested in the society; Magistrate Judd, who fined McCartney; Mayor Graham, to whom the society appealed to have the horse put in the pound so that it could be sold; Agent Adam McGuire, who seized the horse; William Fox, who sold the horse, are all awaiting with intense interest the outcome of the case.

The society has tried to work out the horse, but the horse won't work. The horse has paralysis of the spinal column and cannot be ridden, and it cannot be driven. If all the officials are truthful, the animal is not a regular horse, but one of those horses kept for exhibition, and should be owned by a man who can afford to keep him in the barn and let him "eat his head off."

ACCUSED WILL NOT TALK

Fred Mathews, Charged With Arson, Is Committed for Trial.

Fred Mathews, the 15-year-old Englishman, charged with setting fire to several buildings on the orphanage farm of Rev. T. B. Clarke, near Dorchester, two weeks ago, was committed for trial by Squire Chittick yesterday afternoon. Young Mathews had nothing to say, although at the time of his arrest, it is alleged that he admitted his guilt to County Constable George Chittick, Rev. Mr. Clarke and others.

A pile of old rags was discovered last week in the drive shed, which the young man is suspected to have placed there. Mathews was discharged from the farm some time ago, but he was placed on the farm staff again.

Time for Changing Priests Throughout Western Ontario Not Yet Announced.

No definite time has been announced for the changes of the various priests, appointed to new dioceses throughout Western Ontario by His Lordship Bishop Fallon, made public last Sunday.

It is the rule that the changes shall take place on August 1, and that the priests will be in their new charges sometime before then.

According to information from St. Peter's Parish yesterday, the changes will probably be made in the next two weeks.

MILK DEALERS HIT ALSO
Retail Dealers Who Didn't File Affidavit Cannot Sell Meat.

If the milkmen and butchers of London would try to emulate the bakers, who recently adopted neat, white, clean uniforms as their daily dress, and whose wagons are clean enough to eat in, they would evade much criticism. Members of the board of health came to the above conclusion at a meeting yesterday afternoon, when they authorized Sanitary Inspector Lutman to serve notice on some two dozen butchers who have not yet complied with the board's order to file an affidavit showing where their meat was slaughtered, that they can no longer sell meat. If they continue selling meat after this order is served upon them they will be forthwith summoned to the police court.

After Milkmen, Too.
Dr. J. S. Tamlin, veterinary inspector, was authorized to take drastic steps to compel milkmen to obey sanitary rules on their farms, and he was specially advised to cause several notices to be served on the milkmen who recently caught selling a fluid that looked like two per cent milk, will know the board is not joking. Dr. Tamlin recently notified a light milkman that they would have to make material changes in their methods of handling milk on the farms, and he was told in nearly every instance that the milkman didn't expect to stay in the business. The board instructed him to close these dealers up immediately if they did not take steps to comply with the law.

Butchers Must Clean Up.
Every retail dealer in the city will receive notices in a day or so that he will be held personally liable for the condition of the market which he buys, and that he will be taking his own chances if he buys from farmers who make their deliveries with dirty wagons and dirty hands. Copies of these notices will be kept by the board, so no dealer can say he did not receive one. These copies will be used against the dealer when he is summoned for failure to see that he gets clean meat.

PARTY THROWN OUT AUTO DROPS INTO DITCH

Arthur Keene Will Ask City To Pay For Motor Wrecked in Excavation.

A party in the automobile of Arthur Keene, was thrown out, and the machine practically wrecked, when the car went into an open ditch at Waterloo and King streets last night. The ditch had been dug by one of the road construction gangs, and Mr. Keene had no warning that he was in danger, until the wheel went over the side, and the car dropped. There were four in the party, and all were thrown out, but not injured. Many of the parts of the car were broken.

Mr. Keene stated to The Advertiser shortly after the accident that he intended to make the city responsible for the damage done to the car.

"This is the first time I have had to walk this season," he added.

BRITISH SOCIAL UNION WILL HOLD BIG PICNIC

Organization Plans For Annual Outing to Be Held at Pt. Stanley Saturday.

At a meeting of the British Social Union held in Hyman Hall last night arrangements were made to handle a crowd of 400 for the annual picnic on Saturday. A special train will be run at 1:15 p.m. to accommodate the large crowd expected. Badges will be for sale on the train. Fifteen races will be run off in the afternoon, while a special orchestra will supply the music for the dance to be held in the pavilion on Fraser Heights in the evening.

YOUNG LADY ASSAULTED AND PUT INTO BOX CAR

Victim in Serious Condition, Says Two Negroes Attacked Her.

MONTREAL, July 14.—Gertie Hodge, 17 years of age, Valley Field, Que., was found at noon today in a box car in the C.P.R. yards in Montreal in a serious state as the result of an assault. She was taken to the Western Hospital. The girl says she came to the city yesterday to see the Robinson circus, and after the night performance she was grabbed by two negroes and hurried into a railway car where she was assaulted and robbed of jewelry and money.

The circus was going to Farnham, Que., and she says the two men in question must have thrown her unconscious body into a box car at Farnham on a train bound for Montreal.

At the time this famous horse deal, which has already been written in the history of the city, was consummated and McCartney had a chance to look over the horse, he decided he didn't want the horse. He took it back to Fox, and Fox brought it back to him, and then the poor animal was tied in McCartney's yard and left to starve, neither man claiming ownership and neither man accepting the responsibility of feeding it. The humane society took the horse and fed it. McCartney was arrested for cruelty to animals and fined $5. He is now appealing the case. The humane society is spending 27 cents a day for the horse's upkeep, and even that price will hardly keep him up, according to officials of the society.

Lieut.-Col. Garthshore, who is interested in the society; Magistrate Judd, who fined McCartney; Mayor Graham, to whom the society appealed to have the horse put in the pound so that it could be sold; Agent Adam McGuire, who seized the horse; William Fox, who sold the horse, are all awaiting with intense interest the outcome of the case.

The society has tried to work out the horse, but the horse won't work. The horse has paralysis of the spinal column and cannot be ridden, and it cannot be driven. If all the officials are truthful, the animal is not a regular horse, but one of those horses kept for exhibition, and should be owned by a man who can afford to keep him in the barn and let him "eat his head off."

Mr. Keene stated to The Advertiser shortly after the accident that he intended to make the city responsible for the damage done to the car.

"This is the first time I have had to walk this season," he added.

A party in the automobile of Arthur Keene, was thrown out, and the machine practically wrecked, when the car went into an open ditch at Waterloo and King streets last night. The ditch had been dug by one of the road construction gangs, and Mr. Keene had no warning that he was in danger, until the wheel went over the side, and the car dropped. There were four in the party, and all were thrown out, but not injured. Many of the parts of the car were broken.

WOULD CLOSE PORT BATHING-HOUSES

Chairman of Board of Health
Will Take Action If City
Has Jurisdiction.

The condition of the bath-houses at Port Stanley, which has been the cause of considerable complaint by Londoners, was brought to the attention of Dr. F. L. Burdon, of the board of health, today, and he said that if the city had jurisdiction in the case he would close the bath-houses up, on the ground that they were insanitary.

Bathers who use some of these bath-houses say they are compelled to disrobe in the rooms and then roll their clothes in a bundle and have them checked until they come out of the water. They say that these conditions do not provide the best accommodations for the patrons.

PROSTRATED BY HEAT NAME IS UNKNOWN

Colored Victim of Sun Is Unable to Give Name—May Not Recover.

Prostrated with the heat as he was crossing the C. P. R. tracks at Richmond street, a colored man was taken down after two o'clock this afternoon. He is in a serious condition and may not recover.

As far as the police could learn his home is in Buffalo. He told Driver Elmer Walsh of the motor patrol that he resided in that city. He attempted to tell his name but was unable to make himself understood.

BIG EXHIBITORS COMING

Live Stock Men Will Attend Western Fair in Large Numbers.

A study of the Western Fair prize lists this year reveals the fact that the increase of $1,500 to the live stock department has been well adjusted throughout the list. The exhibit of horses has always been a very attractive feature of London's exhibition, and this year promises to be even better than ever. Five hundred of the $1,500 increase was placed by the board on horse classes, and it certainly will bring the best there is to be found in the city. The secretary has already had considerable correspondence with a number of large cattle breeders, who have intimated their intention of bringing their herds to the exhibition this year. Exhibitors of live stock of all kinds at the Western Fair invariably express themselves as well satisfied with the business the fair does for them, and there is such a fine large farming country surrounding London, there are always plenty of buyers for first-class stock. The management has erected another large horse barn, so there will be plenty of good stable accommodation, and everything possible will be done for the comfort of exhibitors. Prize lists, entry forms, programs and all information will be promptly given on application to the secretary at the general offices, Richmond street.

This Sounds Like an Imitation of the Queen Mary Story

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, July 15.—A story is printed of an incident which occurred on the recent visit of the Empress Eugenie, widow of Napoleon III. She was walking in the Tuilleries gardens, where once stood her splendid palace. She picked a flower from the border. An attendant saw her and said: "Picking flowers is strictly forbidden. I must report you."

He demanded her name and address and she answered timidly: "Eugenie." The attendant was struck by the melancholy of the aged empress, and relented, saying: "That is not a name. However, never mind this time, but do not do it again."

WILL CO-OPERATE

Centennial Church Arranges for "Go-to-Church" Sunday.

The Centennial Methodist Church made final arrangements last night to co-operate with the Old Boys' Association in the "Go to Church Sunday," planned by the association for August 2.

The church board is making every effort to bring about a number of members to the church for that Sunday as is possible. An attempt will also be made to have former members of the choir in attendance. The day will be given over to special services, and plenty of music will be an added attraction.

At its meeting last night the church board decided to raise the salary of Rev. H. Graham, the pastor.

J. May and Alfred Allen were appointed representatives to the financial district meeting to be held some time in September. The place of meeting has as yet not been decided upon.

SNACK ISLANDERS ON PILGRIMAGE

Start For Twenty-Fifth Annual Trip to Fishers' Happy Hunting Ground.

A CARLOAD OF SCENERY

Enough Equipment Provided
To Relieve Whole Lake of Its Fish Crop.

Where the fish jump up against the sun, where the line hisses through the air and falls into the lake with a musical splash with the attached flies that big black bass are just longing for. That's where a party of fourteen tried and true London experts of the hook and line have gone today. They started in their special car on the 4:55 Grand Trunk for Warton. From Warton they will have a fourteen-mile drive. Then they will be at the happy hunting grounds—Snake Island.

For twenty-five years the party has been called to the Red Bay region to pull out of the water the shiny black bass that infest small bays and lakes. Perhaps they will do the same for twenty-five years more.

The car, as seen at the Grand Trunk station today, resembled a small expedition, or a trip into some far-off sea. There's provisions enough to last a party twice its size for several months. It's a safe bet that there is every imaginable kind of fly and paraphernalia to tempt the coo bass to nibble, just once. The skill of the fishermen will be put to the test in landing them. That there will be some pretty fights under the green-wood trees over the pools is as certain as it is that there will be a healthy lot of fish brought back to the Forest City when the party returns.

Those who do much towards relieving the lake of the congestion of fish are: William Ward (president), Thomas Gillen (secretary-treasurer), Colin Currie (chaplain), W. H. Skinner, J. B. Scandrett, George Loveless, Frank Adams, William T. Reble, Charles Keen, Edward Hayden, J. C. Treblecock, Bruce Wanless, John Ferguson, Dr. George Bentley, of Cleveland, and formerly of this city.

THIEF ESCAPES

Breaks Into Cash Register at Shoe Store and Makes Getaway.

While Antonio Morre, the youth in charge of the shoe store at the corner of the Tecumseh House, yesterday afternoon, was cleaning the floor in an adjoining room a clean shaven young man, wearing a blue suit and white shirt, was looking to be about 21 years of age, opened the cash register and took out $3 or $4.

Mr. Morre saw him just as he was clearing the till, and running at him, grappled with him, but he got away and running upstairs made his exit through the side entrance out into York street. He was chased by the police, but escaped. The youth, who returned, reported the matter to the police.

Up to three o'clock this afternoon no trace had been found of the alleged thief.

Battleship "Texas," which is on a tour of the world for a long time, showing great interest in American methods of training and life afloat, and in return he told his young visitors all they wanted to know about British naval cadets.

SHORT POLICE COURT

Only Two Drunks Appear—Crime
Seems to be on the Wane.

Police court made a record for the year today. Only two drunks were arraigned. Both were discharged. Cases in police court have been falling off in number of late. Added to that there have been no serious charges entered for several months. The natural conclusion would seem that petty crime is being eliminated from the city.

TWO BOYS DROWNED

Small Punt Capsizes in a Rough Sea Off Digby.

[Canadian Press.]
Digby, N. S., July 15.—A double drowning accident occurred at Barton last evening. Three young men, Kenneth Perry, of Barton, and Reginald and Claude Miner, sons of late Dr. Miner, of Dorchester, Mass., were out motor-boating.

When returning from the boat in a small punt during a rough sea, it capsized, throwing its occupants into the water. Young Perry swam ashore. Reginald Miner also swam ashore, but returned to save his brother, with the result that both were drowned. The bodies were recovered this morning, and the inquest held resulted in a verdict of accidental death.

Reginald Miner was aged 20 and Claude, 16.

PORT STANLEY SEASON RECORD THIS YEAR

Business Active, Heavy Fish Catches and Many Visitors at Lakeside Town.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Port Stanley, July 15.—Harold Tanton, of London, is spending a two-weeks' vacation at Log Cabin.

Mrs. (Capt.) Taylor, of London, wife of Capt. Taylor, No. 4 fire hall, is spending a few weeks at Mrs. Crosby's cottage.

The businessmen of Port Stanley say this season is a record-breaker for business. The grocery, hardware, shoe and other lines have been very active.

The fishing is picking up again, and most of the tugs are out on the lake. Several sportsmen who have come to Port to fish lately have caught as many as 100 fish each. Last Tuesday evening one man caught 18 whitefish between 6 and 9 o'clock. This is considered a pretty "good catch."

The fishboat Lulu May left at 6:45 this morning for her fish nets. She has had large catches lately.

The State of Ohio left last evening for Cleveland with about 75 passengers on board. She makes this trip every other day.

The local banks say business is exceptionally good, particularly their rural business. Farmers say the crops were never better than they are this year. Rev. J. Durrant, of the Methodist Church, is hoping that he will be able to take the services on Sunday.

Yesterday the Producers Fish Company had a large catch of whitefish, about 100 boxes. This company now has sixteen boats fishing in Lake Erie. Port Stanley ball team played Nieder Indian ball team on Saturday last. Port Stanley winning by a score of 5 to 3. The game was interesting, and the Port Stanley club is locally regarded as a regular Connie Mack team.

An intimate friend of Sir Wilfrid's, who has just returned from that point, states that the Liberal chief is thoroughly satisfied with the result, and predicts that this is the last victory, if it does not ultimately turn out to be a defeat, for the Roblin Administration. Sir Wilfrid has for a long time looked for the turning of Manitoba toward Liberalism, and considers last week's results as eminently satisfactory.

MAYOR MARTIN WANTS TO BE THE ONLY BOSS

Wires Officials Not To Allow Acting Mayor To Sign
Papers.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, July 15.—This morning Mayor Meric Martin wired the assistant city clerk, Rene Baues, from Toronto not to lay any official documents before Acting Mayor Blumenthal.

Alderman Blumenthal was wrathful when shown the telegram, and instructed the assistant city clerk that he was the mayor and declared that if officials did not fulfill their duties and lay all documents before him he would suspend them.

The affair is creating great excitement and trouble is looked for when Mayor Martin finds that not only has the acting mayor signed many documents but in addition has sworn in seventeen new recruits to the fire department which the mayor considers his own especial privilege.

Greatest Navy World Ever Saw ...493 British Warships, Each of Them Fully Manned

(Canadian Press.)
Montreal, July 15.—A London cable to the Daily Mail says the test of mobilization of the British navy, which this year is taking the place of the usual annual manoeuvres, began today.

At the end of February the admiralty issued invitations to the men of the royal fleet reserves to volunteer for eleven days' training, and the results were so satisfactory that no fewer than 493 warships of all classes are fully manned with efficient ratings for the next ten days.

No fleet approaching these dimensions has ever before been sent to sea.

"I, MYSELF, WOULD NOT ATTEMPT THIS FLIGHT FOR MILLION DOLLARS"

Linc In Beachey Says No Man Can Perform the Feat of Crossing the Atlantic By Aeroplane.

ENORMITY OF NATURE WILL BE OVERWHELMING

[Written for The Advertiser by Lincoln Beachey.]

I hope they get across. For their own sakes, as well as for the sake of aviation in general, I hope Lieut. Porte and his aide are successful in crossing the Atlantic in the aeroplane flight scheduled for the 20th. But I don't believe they will be. I can see no termination to the announced attempt but fiasco or tragedy.

I have hesitated, have refrained, from making any statement regarding the Porte venture. So insistent have been my questioners, however, that I cannot longer dodge an opinion.

And the opinion I am now going to express is my absolutely honest belief—founded on my intimate knowledge of practical aviation. Time—and a very short time, too—will show whether I am right or wrong.

ATTEMPT A SERIOUS MISTAKE.

If wrong, I will be glad of it. If right, I will have no compunctions. I believe that a very serious mistake will be made if the flight is even attempted—but I have my doubts if the actual attempt will be made.

This is not a reflection on Lieut. Porte or anyone concerned in the proposed flight; doubtless he and his aides have been sincere in their efforts, and the information they have given to the public. But I believe that the next week or two will prove to them all that the trans-Atlantic flight is not at present feasible, that their theories have failed in execution.

NOT FOR A MILLION DOLLARS.

I realize that in making this statement I lay myself liable to the charge of egotism. But I so dread this flight—or this attempt—that I am bound to speak my mind freely, if I speak at all. I MYSELF WOULD NOT ATTEMPT THIS FLIGHT FOR A MILLION DOLLARS—and have spent five hundred hours in the air where Lieut. Porte has spent one hour.

My prediction of failure is summarized in a few words: THE ENORMITY OF THE PROPOSITION HAS BEEN UNDERSTATED—THE PREPARATIONS HAVE BEEN ENTIRELY INADEQUATE. This, briefly, is the story.

"Waiting" For Aviation.

I do not believe that an aviator can make the flight. I do not believe that the present machine, the "America," is capable of making the flight. I am convinced that the attempt, if made, will only result in giving aviation a terrible "wallop" in this country.

While I do not undervalue Lieut. Porte's ability as an aviator, I am convinced that NO ONE MAN CAN PERFORM THIS FEAT, particularly a man of Lieut. Porte's unproved caliber. Even the assistant on the "America" must be far and away above the average as an aviator.

It is one thing to drive a machine for ten hours, fifteen hours, over a stated course over the land. It is quite a different thing to drive this machine over water, over the boundless ocean, for that length of time.

Must Undergo Navigation.

In the first instance, the aviator is always in sight of good old Mother Earth. In the other, when a man is faced with the endless expanse of water, out of sight of land, the loneliness, the helplessness, will be awful. THE VERY ENORMITY OF NATURE WILL BE OVERWHELMING. And most important of all is the fact that the aviator, possessing an intimate knowledge of navigation. I understand that Lieut. Porte is hardly grounded in the rudiments of this existing science, and must be inflexible once land is lost sight of.

I believe that the mental tension will be more wearing than the physical tax of handling the machine. I do not believe that any man in the world, without training, stand the terrible strain. Long and constant practice alone can fit a man for such a feat.

To be sure, Lieut. Porte will have with him a capable mechanic, but he should have another seasoned aviator, one who has stood the gaff, and who should alternate with him in four or five hour tricks at the wheel. He should have an experienced over-water aviator, like either Charlie Witter or Frank Coffey.

Weakness Will Force Sleep.

Those on the "America" will quickly become accustomed to the roar of the propeller, and absolute physical weariness will induce—even force—sleep. Observing Lieut. Porte as a fellow passenger on the Lusitania, coming from Europe last April, I know him to be susceptible to the wiles of Morpheus, or inclined to drowsiness. Frequently, I had difficulty in arousing him from his deck chair slumbers to go in to uncheon.

Regarding the machine, there has not been enough preparation. I believe that speed has been sacrificed too much to sustaining power. The machine that successfully flies across the Atlantic will, I believe, be one that will travel like a blue streak, that will not falter.

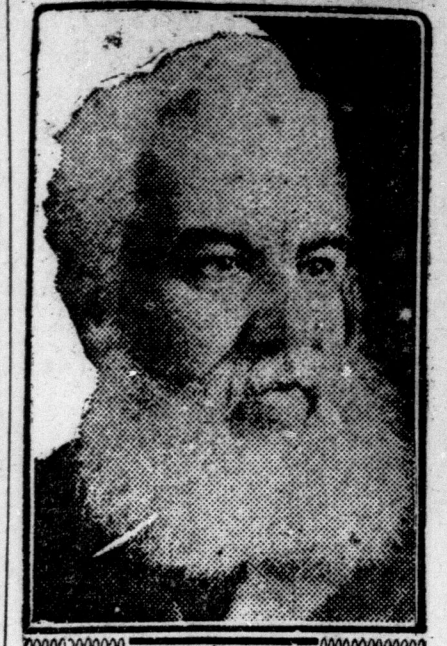

Machine Must Be Exact.

The "America" has been constructed in a hurry. Building a great automobile, bringing forth a splendid breed of dogs, even the gentleman of highest civilization is a performance of "progressive destruction." The first types, weak and insufficient, must be done away with. Their successors must contain none of these weaknesses. Their strength is strengthened, their weakness banished, wherever real progress is shown. BUT IT IS ONLY BY ACTUAL TESTS AND COMPARISON THAT THESE STRONG AND WEAK POINTS ARE DETERMINED AND THE AMERICA HAS NEVER BEEN GIVEN EVEN A HALF-HEARTED REAL TRYOUT.

Experiments Tell Nothing.

The so-called tests that are being

CAN CROSS ATLANTIC IN THIRTEEN HOURS

Dr. Alex. G. Bell

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 14.—

That it is possible to fly across the Atlantic in thirteen hours is the statement of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and former head of the National Geographic Society.

"It is less than 2,000 miles from Newfoundland to Ireland. By assuming two engines, present machines should be able to permit their drivers to breakfast on this side and dine abroad," he says.

er, so the "America" would go, go, GO! This is my honest opinion. If I am wrong, I will rejoice with Lieut. Porte and his companions. But the well wishers of aviation—those who even pray for its success—must not place more than a blind faith in the attempt. They must be ready any day for an announcement that the entire scheme has been abandoned. The "Albi" in the daily news concerning the "America" is ever present to aviation's initiated.

Will Be Crossed Some Day.

When will the ocean be crossed? Perhaps in 1915 or '16. Europeans have not been as hasty as Americans. Noted foreign designers are at work on a trans-Atlantic aeroplane. They build and destroy, build and destroy—but each building and each destruction means progress. With the evolution of the craft is coming an evolution of the aviators, training themselves by flights ever increasing in distance and rigor and hardship. But both man and machine are being perfected by months and months of "progressive destruction." When the intelligent preparation is completed then—and not until then—may we expect the Atlantic to be crossed via the air lanes.

No "Pit" in Mid-Atlantic.

One does not have to confine himself to matters of the air to form a conclusion regarding durability. Take automobiles, instead. FOR TWO YEARS OUR LEADING AUTOMOBILE BUILDERS HAVE FAILED TO PRODUCE A CAR FOR THE INDIANAPOLIS 500-MILE RACE CAPABLE OF GOING THE ENTIRE DISTANCE IN CLOSE COMPETITION WITH FOREIGNERS. LANES, THERE ARE NO "PITS" IN MID-ATLANTIC.

Perfect On Paper.

For instance, the machine developed on paper and in the machine shops, Bob Burman's racer seemed perfect two different years. But there is nothing about it but youth and naivete, and a practical layout is the only test that will disclose the real efficiency of anything. Burman's machine, perfect on paper, proved that it was not.

On my own longest flight of three hours the mental strain was terrific. WHAT WILL IT BE FOR THE MAN AT THE WHEEL WHEN HOUR AFTER HOUR HIS EYEBALLS ARE BURNING AND ACHING IN SPITE OF SERVICEABLE GOGGLES WHEN EVERY MUSCLE IS STRAINED TO THE BREAKING POINT?

I believe that there will be tragedy or death. I fear that aviation in the United States will receive a body blow. In the "America" there should be at least two seasoned, hardy aviators—and the "America" should be a seasoned, hardy machine in itself. It should be thoroughly tried out and be able to "go like the wind." There should be an auxiliary power.

THREE NEAR DEATH FROM LIVE WIRE AT STRATHROY

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATHROY, July 14.—While playing near her home this evening Miss Ada Lindsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lindsay, came in contact with a live wire. The wire had broken and hung down along the pole to the ground and carried a current of over a thousand volts. The screams of the little girl brought her mother and father to her rescue and they took hold of the child to pull her away from the wire. They received a severe shock and were unable to do anything. Mr. T. Burgess, who lives near the pole, rushed to her rescue with a live wire. The little girl still held the piece of wire in her hands when picked up.

Dr. C. H. McDougall was immediately summoned and found that her hands were severely burned. Her life was saved only by the presence of mind of Mr. Burgess, but as it is she is suffering severely from the shock.

May Is Plentiful.

Throughout South Oxford the hay crop is said to be unusually heavy. Considerable has already been cut and stored in the mows of the township's splendid barns. Operations have been hampered by the much-needed rains, and in some instances, considerable hay was down when the rain set in but with bright weather the result will not be serious. Wheat is ripening rapidly, and will soon be ready for the reaper. The showers were badly needed for the small fruits, and the corn and root crops. Berries are being marketed in rather plentiful quantities, but most of the sales are at two boxes for a quarter.

In the police court today an Ingersoll young man, who was charged with being drunk, was sentenced to Woodstock jail for one month. He has been before the magistrate on previous occasions.

Last night they were walking together, when Deno appeared and demanded $100.

Instead of complying with his demand, they shot him with nine bullets entering his body. A charge of murder was placed against each of them, and county detectives detailed to investigate the story.

Postmaster Fisher, Who is Dead at Wingham, After 50 Years of Good Service

[Canadian Press.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 14.—Unless she is wanted by officers of some other city, police here tonight said they could not hold Mrs. Charles C. Craven, 20 years old, widow of Charles Craven, the train band, who, they said, had confessed she had hidden $54,000 of her husband's loot. The young woman tonight defied detectives. She is held on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Craven was killed five months ago by detectives who trailed the pair as suspects after an Alabama train robbery. The woman told the detectives that most of the $54,000 in cash and jewelry was obtained in was buried near Savannah, Ga.

Mrs. Craven also is known as Eva Slack MacCorkle. She ran away from a convent in Ontario some years ago. She says she was put there by her stepfather, who was former governor of West Virginia. She declares she met Craven in Norfolk, Va., a little more than a year ago, and that they had been married only about eight months when he was killed.

"One never would think that I spent thirteen years of my life in an Ontario convent, would you?" Mrs. Craven said. "Nevertheless, it is true. I was born more than 10 years ago, and when a small girl my father died, and I was placed in a convent at Milton, Ont. My mother then moved to Charleston, W. Va., where she is now."

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach and normally causes that full-bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated and inflamed by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases, the acid and wind over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonsful of Danderine, which is a really effective antacid and food corrective. MUST SECURE LICENSE.
LUCKNOW, July 14.—The council at its regular meeting today passed a bylaw making it necessary for tobacco dealers to secure a license before selling cigarettes.

WHY LEAVE A DISTRICT THAT WILL PRODUCE CROPS LIKE THIS?

[Special to The Advertiser.]
CHATHAM, July 14.—Kent County certainly holds the record of Canada in the growing of corn. Thomas Smith, a farmer of the township of Dover, came into the city this afternoon with a large corn stalk, eight feet eight inches high.

It is a sample from his corn field, and he states that nearly every stalk in his ten acres of corn is just as high. The field presents a very beautiful sight, and is a sample of what can be grown in a very short time on the fertile Kent land.

Mr. Smith stated to The Advertiser that his corn was planted on May 22, and it is already out in tassels. The variety of corn is the early Learning, and the prospects are that there will be a bumper crop all over the county.

Mr. Smith states that the crops of Robert Smith and Robert Perry, his neighbors, which were planted about the same time, are equally as well advanced as the sample he exhibited to his city friends today.

There is no doubt that Western Ontario is the Garden of Canada.

OXFORD INVADED BY ARMY WORM

Many Fields Already Destroyed by Insects, Causing Great Loss.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
WOODSTOCK, July 14.—That the dreaded army worm is on the borders of Oxford County for the first time in its history, and has already destroyed vast fields worth hundreds of dollars, was the news brought to the city this evening by District Agricultural Representative J. W. G. Gault.

He will at once communicate with the experts at Guelph with a view of securing every assistance to stop the ravages of this destructive pest.

He brought with him several hundred of the worms, which range in length from two to two and a half inches, and are most voracious. Fields in the vicinity of Burford, on the borders of Brant and Oxford, which a few days ago were knee high with luxuriant crops, are the Government official states, cut more clear than they could be by the finest hawm mover ever invented.

More than a dozen fine fields have been completely ruined. Mr. Sutton states, and the farmers are in terror. Some of the dairymen told him that since the destruction of the fields they are finding difficulty in securing pasture for their cows.

The heaviest damage seems to have occurred in the vicinity of Mulr. It was reported at once, and the agricultural expert was startled when he saw what had happened.

Many hope to be able to fight the pest, as the Leamington onion growers did recently, with paris green and molasses. Mr. Sutton states that the worms are literally millions of the worms, and that they seem to be working along the banks of a small creek, going in an opposite direction to that in which the water is flowing.

In many places the farmers are digging trenches to keep the worms from reaching adjoining fields. A strange feature so far is that they have not attacked the oats.

CHURCHES MADE MONEY

Supplied Provisions for Visiting Crowd on Monday.

ST. MARY'S, July 14.—The old Stone town has assumed its normal condition today after having a record-breaking attendance to the Orange celebration held here yesterday. The Knox Presbyterian Church, Methodist Church, St. James' Church, Anglican and Baptist Churches added considerable to the church offerings by running dining tables yesterday, which were well patronized. The heavy downpour of rain that set in in the evening sent the large crowd scurrying for home.

The Stone town's next holiday will be civic holiday, Wednesday, August 5.

POLICE AFTER SCORCHERS

[Special to The Advertiser.]
SARNIA, July 14.—It is the intention of the police to stamp out the reckless driving of automobiles that is being done in this city. Autos speed on the main streets, and seldom slow up at dangerous crossings.

The practice has grown to an alarming state, and lives of bicycle riders and pedestrians are in danger. The number of wheels that are smashed up each day by autos is steadily increasing. Many of the machines are operated on the wrong side of the street and turn the corners in any manner.

WILL DISTRIBUTE OIL

[Special to The Advertiser.]
SARNIA, July 14.—The Government Steamer Sinoce is at the Northern Navigation dock here, where she is taking on board several carloads of lighthouse oil, which she will distribute along the lighthouses on the lakes. The boat makes several trips here each season to load oil.

Herbert Green, colored, claiming Harrow as his home, was arrested by High Constable Peters today and locked up for the time-being in the city police cells. Green is suspected of breaking and entering a car at the M.C.R. Station, Charing Cross, last evening, and taking therefrom a quantity of goods. The theft is being investigated by Detective Heenan, at whose instigation Constable Peters took the man in custody.

William Duff, Frank Hallinan, Alfred Colman and Edward Ellis appeared in the county police court today and were each fined $5 and costs on charges of crap shooting, to which they pleaded guilty.

TWO HORSES RUN AWAY

Accidents at Kippen, But Drivers Escape Injury.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
KIPPEN, July 14.—William Doig, while going to work at a barn at Robert Dalrymple's place, had the misfortune to let his horse run away. Mr. Doig was driving through the town when one of the wheels caught in the post, scaring the horse and throwing Mr. Doig out. Luckily he escaped without injury. After the animal had done considerable damage to the rig, he freed himself.

James Jarrott had a somewhat thrilling adventure the other day when he was riding a horse named "The Duke" and the horse began to run away. After running a considerable distance and doing damage to the rake and what it came in contact with, it was got under control. Mr. Jarrott escaped unhurt.

Wesley Harvey and Ford Sparks are once again on the rounds, buying horses for the west. Although the business is not as brisk as a year ago, yet it seems as if the farmers are disposing of their choicest animals for good prices.

Jacob Straight and little daughter and Miss Singleton of New York are paying a visit to Mrs. Straight's mother, Mrs. Peter Daymond.

Alex McKenzie spent a day or so with his mother in Bayfield, and with his friends in Goderich.

The annual Sunday school picnic of the two Sunday schools was a fine success.

LUCKNOW, July 14.—The council at its regular meeting today passed a bylaw making it necessary for tobacco dealers to secure a license before selling cigarettes.

KEEPEE INTEREST FINE POTATO CROP IN-BLENHEIM DISTRICT

Early Growth Being Shipped in Large Quantities to Eastern Points.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
BLENHEIM, July 14.—The splendid rains of yesterday came at a most opportune time. The crops were in great need of moisture, but now the ground is well soaked.

The early potato harvest is in full swing, and is of good quality, and the yield satisfactory. Shipments are being made to eastern cities.

During the storm yesterday a small barn on Mrs. McDougall's lot was struck by lightning, and one end slightly damaged. The lightning played havoc with the electric light circuit, with the result that the street lights were out of commission last night.

A large number of Orangemen and friends went to St. Thomas yesterday to the celebration.

Mrs. Beale's Funeral.
The funeral of Mrs. Beale took place yesterday from her late residence. Deceased had been ill for a long time, and death, which came on Saturday night, was not unexpected. She leaves behind a husband, a grown up family of two sons and three daughters. Sol of town, is a son. Mr. Roszel, who is the butcher business here a short time, ago, is a brother.

Mrs. McNutt, formerly of this town, and a daughter of Sol Burk, was engaged to teach in the school on Saturday. She had been ill for some time.

Going to Toronto.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 15.

THE FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS.

THE Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, at its meeting in Halifax this week, has emphasized a demand previously made for all from the Dominion Government in the fight it is carrying on. The Liberal Government of Ontario was the first to come to the help of the people in this contest with a dread disease. Under its legislation an appropriation was made towards construction of sanatoria by municipalities, and provision made for a daily allowance for each patient. This law is still in force, and with its assistance the London Sanatorium was built and is maintained. But the experience of our citizens shows that even this would not have been sufficient unless supplemented by the generosity of the people, and especially the energy of a band of philanthropic women.

But while it is true that matters of health come primarily within the scope of provincial work, the ravages of consumption are too widely spread for remedial measures to be confined to a single municipality or province. An establishment for the cure of tuberculosis will be helpful in the locality where it is established. But the residents of that locality will still be exposed to the infection from its less-protected neighbors. Preventative measures, to be effective, must be general, and not localized. If the danger from the disease throughout the Dominion is to be successfully met it must be by some system of general, rather than of local operation.

The case is pre-eminently one for the Dominion Government to take up by some legislation of general application. At present beyond some trifling expenditure in the way of paying a few delegates to conventions and some like, it is doing nothing. Apparently it has plenty of money to spend for other purposes. It can erect unnecessary public buildings in little villages; its cabinet ministers can take expensive jaunts not only through Canada, but all over the world; it can facilitate transportation throughout the Dominion, and aid railway corporations and other more or less private interests. Why cannot it do something to prevent the disease which carries off more people each year than any other? It can spend fourteen millions a year or more with the ostensible object of fitting the people to withstand some imaginary invader whose forces may never materialize. But here is a foe already on our shores, well entrenched, and pursuing its march with deadly energy. Is there no money to fight this enemy? A minister of public health, if a man could be found suitable for the position, would be worth more to the country than a minister of militia. If the public treasury is being depleted, as it always is under a Tory Government; if there is a shortage in the money for public expenditures, why not cut a million or two off Col. Hughes' budget and apply it where it can do some good to the people? There would not be so much fuss and feathers exhibited in its disbursement. There would not be so many honorary colonels necessary for its staff; but if properly expended the results would be more apparent and more practical good would follow.

This should not be a matter of party policy. It should not appeal to Liberal more than Conservative. It is something for the general welfare on which all could unite. And we are quite satisfied that if Sir Robert Borden would take it up and initiate a wise and generous policy of aid in the contest with tuberculosis he would have the hearty support of Liberals and Independents of all classes.

LAW REFORM IN ENGLAND.

IT is probably true that in these days the poor man is better off than formerly as regards litigation and its costs. Lawyers discourage litigation for one thing, and endeavor for settlements, as physicians labor to remove the causes of disease. But, still, complaints are often heard, founded certainly on plenty of facts, that the poor man fares badly through his inability to engage a lawyer or the burden of paying one.

In Great Britain a new set of High Court rules has been recently issued, and put in force, by which any "poor person," one who can satisfy the Court that he is not worth more than $250, excluding his clothes and tools of trade, or not more than $500, if the judge choose to allow this extension, may on application have counsel assigned to him to conduct his case.

The District Registrar, who receives the application, keeps two lists, one of advocates willing to undertake the work of inquiring into, and reporting upon applications; the other of those willing to conduct the actual litigation for the "poor persons." If the investigating lawyers, selected by the Registrars from the first list, reports the case as reasonable and fit for the High Court, the applicant will then be allowed to proceed with counsel and solicitor from the second list. Thus the poor man is protected, his expenses paid by the state. This may be another of socialism's wedges. The ideal society will be the ideal correlation of the state and the citizen, a nice blend of socialism and individualism, experience, gradually teaching where to draw the lines.

A NEW PERIL IN PERSIA.

ULSTER, Mexico and the Balkans have been monopolizing the world's attention of late to such an extent that a situation ominous to Great Britain in Asia has developed without attracting notice. This is the rapid Russification of Persia, one of the buffers between Britain's Indian Empire and the Muscovite. A year ago, Great Britain at a conference with Russia, agreed that the civil administration of the northern section of the country should be placed in the hands of the Czar's agents. Great Britain to act in a similar capacity in the south. Now, Sir Edward Grey has discovered that the arrangement has worked out to the disadvantage of Great Britain, and is preparing a protest to be placed before an early Anglo-Russian convention. The object of the agreement was to put affairs temporarily under a businesslike controller for the benefit of Persia.

It was intended to make of Persia a strong and independent nation. Now it appears the Russian agents' every act has been to weaken still further any claim of the Persian for self government. Evidently Russia aims to wipe out Persia and make that country her Indian frontier. While Sir Edward Grey did not mention it, the immediate cause of its anxiety are the rich oil fields of Central Persia at present controlled by the British Government. Once Russia has absorbed Northern Persia, she will turn her attention to grabbing the central and southern parts. The wonder is, in view of the past, that Sir Edward Grey should have agreed to the pact. Russia has never bound herself to the spirit of an agreement, however, she may observe the letter of it. The foreign policies of the two countries are diametrically opposed. At the Anglo-Russian convention Great Britain conceded Russia point after point. Now, it is apparent this mild diplomacy must cease and sterner methods used if Persia is to be saved and India safe.

A NEW GERMANY.

THE newest German liner, one of the three largest steamships of the world, is the Bismarck. These names, Emperor, Vaterland, and Bismarck are symptoms of the aggressive nationalism and imperialism of young Germany. Can it be the land of Hegel and Goethe, the cosmopolitan men of philosophy and science, the men of dreams like Jacob Boehme? In modern Germany there are Pharisees of commerce and war, that know not Joseph, so to speak. Their ships are not christened after saints, classical worthies or philosophers. We hear the strident note of race and force, pride that marks such younger countries as the United States and Canada. These three Teutonic mistresses of the ocean have been built by a new and very formidable Germany, one that would help Great Britain rule the waves.

CHIEF TOBIAS.

CHIEF TOBIAS, head man of one of the Indian tribes, resident in South Kent, stood upon his feet during the Orange celebration at St. Thomas, and rebuked his assembled white brothers. His language was not the native oratory of his ancestors, who, in their day had also risen to rebuke the white man, and at other times to commend him, but there was something of that old-time dignity in his demeanor, and all that crowd of over-indulged "long knives." He knew how unpleasant what he had to say would be to them, yet he did not hesitate.

He told the Orangemen that, if he had had a vote at the last provincial election, he would have cast it in favor of the Rowell policy of "Abolish-the-Bar." It was a principle worth voting for, and a great many Christians, and a great many Orangemen were found wanting when they were weighed in the balance.

A woman interrupted the chief at this juncture, and then the chairman, Rev. R. W. Knowles, of St. Thomas, plucked the chief's coat tails and told him to sit down. The chairman, no doubt, felt that on such an occasion there was no place for anyone who was not ready to extol the assembled company. It was a day of frolic and celebration, and not for the speaking of sound belief—unless such belief were true to the spirit of the occasion. So the chief of an

---and the Worst Is Yet to Come

Indian tribe was caused to subside and to sit down, and to keep his voice in the silence of his breast, and his thoughts in his own head. Chief Tobias had often heard of Christian tolerance and breadth of mind, and this was a gathering of religious crusaders of which he had been persuaded to become a member. But, in the future, he—an original Canadian—must not presume to enter the councils of the white men. Possibly he had come to his feet, filled with a vision of the ravages of the whisky poison, given by the ancestors of these same white men to his ancestors. His was a perished race, his people now as the dried brook that was once a mighty river. Let him take his fine philosophy of life away. He is a savage among the cultured of the earth. Let him be silent.

Robin still wobbles.

Manitoba has decided that there will be no general election this year.

That Beck-Hanna situation will make a fine tonic for Sir James' shattered nerves.

It would be well to hold those Senate appointments open until the Manitoba election is settled.

Judging from recent disclosures in the United States, "Big Business" may be all right when it is not all wrong.

Two grafting Chinese officials have been sentenced to death. And yet they tell us the Orient doesn't progress.

King Alfonso smokes 300 cigarettes a day. Queen Victoria will soon be able to get a dinner set with the coupons.

Odd that people who smilingly will be wheeled into an operating room will quake at the distant rumble of thunder.

An Indiana doctor says that chocolate produces intoxication. Old toppers will now know where to get it days the bars are closed.

When the debating society season opens again the old subject, whether it is safer to travel on land than on water, will be more popular than ever.

Bread and water diet subdued New York rioters in thirty hours. No wonder those hunger strike militants consider themselves as good as a man.

Social Note.—H. Pollman Evans, president of the defunct Union Life of Canada, and much sought after in certain quarters, is summing in Europe.

Mayor Hocken of Toronto says democracy was born with the battle of the Boyne. His worship should be careful or he will be read out of the Tory party.

The Advertiser printed a photograph, headed, "Some Ladies of Lovely Lambeth." This was an error. It should have read, "Some Lovely Ladies of Lambeth."

By the way, what has become of that motor-boat may? The summer resort season is far advanced and the young men who own motor-boats have had no chance yet to appear in uniform.

The Storstad owners may sue for damage to their boat, and the C. P. R. may sue for loss of the Empress of Ireland, but no earthly court can satisfy the claims of the bereaved families.

Why not satisfy this desire for bloodshed in Ireland by a series of contests in "the roped arena." Tom Flanagan is across the pond at present, and he might be induced to manage a contest with Sir Edward Carson under Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Tory Toronto, which, as everybody knows, is subject to political, religious and Orange delusions, tried to work itself into a fever of excitement on the glorious Twelfth by hearing that Sir Edward Carson was assassinated. It is rather unfortunate, indeed, that the story was denied before the Orange Sentinel had a chance to go to press.

The Butte mayor who shot his murderous assassin illustrates the fact that being a preacher doesn't keep one from being pretty much of a man at the same time.

GIRLS!

Willie (to young man caller)—Say, when you were a kid and some chap was calling on your sister, didn't he give you a quarter to go out and spend?

THE FRIEND.

[Detroit Free Press.]
He went along from day to day. And took life's weather as it came. When trouble's clouds hung low and gray.

He laughed and whistled just the same. And when his skies were bright and fair. And when his purse was fat with gold.

And when his friends were true and true. What joys he had he tried to share. With everybody, young or old.

No pose had ever marred his style. No strut had spoiled his modest walk. On wealth he did not found his smile. Nor of himself forever talk.

But, friend to man, he went along. Just filling every sort of day. With strength and cheerfulness and song. And helping others on the way.

He never claimed the thing success. He never won the master's touch. He never hungered to possess. Of gold or glory very much.

But never was he known to shrink. Whenever there were tasks to do. And always he was glad to work. And take his station with the crew.

Men joyed to see him drawing near. Men miss him now he's gone away. He left no lasting record here. Of marble, or his life's clay.

For he was satisfied to plod. And serve his fellows to the end. On every mile his feet had trod. He's now remembered as a friend.

VERY LIGHT.

[Tit-Bits.]
Owner of Racehorse (looking closely at scales)—Williams, you are a trifle over weight. Can't you lighten yourself a little?

Williams (the jockey)—Got on my lightest suit, sir. Ain't had a bite to eat today, and well, just trimmed by finger-nails.

Owner—Well, go and get shaved.

[Well Arranged.]
Maid—Mrs. Naylor returned much cheaper coffee than she borrowed, mum.

Mistress—Well, Mary, put it in a jar by itself and lend it to her when she sends over again.

There were 30,000 Conservative votes cast in Toronto last week, and 25,500 Liberal. But we Conservatives get all the ten seats. After a time the people will wake up to the unfairness of such a system, and evolve something by which the 25,500 will have some spokesmen in the House.

[Branford Expositor.]
The Australian Senate passed a resolution expressing sympathy with home rule. Now a college president cables from Melbourne that the resolution was foreign to the real sentiment of Australians. The best way for the other portions of the Empire, including Canada, to act in respect to the Irish home rule, and Ulster, is to mind their own business. We would be the first to complain if the people of Great Britain offered the slightest interference in our domestic affairs. Perhaps, too, it would be better if some of us who are giving such a lot of attention to the "government of Ireland" would give a little more attention to the government of Canada.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE ADVANCED MINISTER.

To the Editor of the Advertiser:
I am no journalist, nor am I in the habit of writing to the papers, so it is with some diffidence I write these stray thoughts as an ordinary man in the street. I have taken considerable interest for many years in social, political and religious questions. On the latter I would like to say a few words. I do not know Rev. Mr. Norwood, therefore hold no brief on his behalf.

I have read reports in this paper of his sermons and certainly do not always agree with him. I admire his outspokenness. He is certainly on the right track.

What is lacking in and out of our churches is tolerance. What an individual believes or disbelieves is a personal matter and does not concern any one so long as it does not infringe on the liberty and privileges of others. What I would like to emphasize is the fact that the intelligent and thoughtful men and women are today orthodox and evangelical Christianity. Personally, I do not think the Bible is any more inspired than were the writings of Ruskin, Dickens, Thackeray, Scott, Shakespeare and hosts of others. The Bible has not equal in literary merit and beautiful imagery, but to give it a supernatural standing is out of the question today. I am constantly coming into contact with scientific and intellectual men and not one do I ever find countenancing orthodoxy.

Samuel Laing in his Myths of History says, "I do not see how any one who is at all acquainted with the results of modern science and historical criticism can doubt that the materials with which this edifice (Old Testament) was gradually built up consist, to a great extent, of myths, legends and traditions of rude and unscientific ages, which have no pretension to be true statements of real history."

"If the theory of literal inspiration requires us to accept the manifold impossibilities of Noah's deluge, why does it not equally compel us to believe that there really was a rich man who fared sumptuously every day, a beggar Lazarus, and that there are definite localities of a Heaven and Hell within speaking distance of one another, though separated by an impassable gulf."

The assertion is made positive and without any reservation. There was a rich man; Lazarus died, and was carried to Heaven or Hell.

THE MAN ON THE STREET.

ROBBED OF HIS REVENGE.
[Baltimore Sun.]
"Young Fassonby's experience at college was a great disappointment to him."

"In what respect?"
"He had to leave during his freshman year and never did get a chance to haze anybody."

SLIPPERY GOING.
[Kansas City Journal.]
"Did you see me and my chauffeur last night?"

"Yes; you were trying to steer each other home."

"How were we making out?"
"Well, you were both skidding a trifle."

OLD SONGS AND POEMS

WHERE THE SUGAR MAPLE GROWS.

Others may sing of the memories that cling
To the home of the Thistle, or the Shamrock, or the Rose,
But the land I love the best is a region in the West
Where the wild flower blossoms and
the sugar maple grows.

CHORUS:
Hup! Hup! Hurrah! for my native Canada!
For the "Queen of the Summers" and the "Land of the Snows."
'Tis the land I love the best, 'tis the Garden of the West.
Where the wild flower blossoms and
the sugar maple grows.

Green are the hills, when the rivers and the rills
Join the song of the springtime as they journey to the sea;
When the orchard trees are white and the meadow blossoms bright,
And the bluebird is calling to the robin in the tree.

Brightest and best is my lady of the West
In the long days of summer, when the flower-scented breeze Bends the yellow-bearded grain, and I catch the glad refrain
That the wild birds are singing in the leafy maple trees.

Golden and brown is the Queen of Autumn's crown
When the grapes in the purple, ere the time is on the rill,
When the orchard trees are low, with the weight of fruiting boughs,
And the quail piping softly in the stable on the hill.

Fair as a rose is my Lady of the Snows,
As she walks down the valleys with
the winter in her train,
When the skaters laugh and sing, and the merry sleigh bells ring
On the ice on the river, and the snow upon the plain.

9972-A Pretty Gown for Youthful Figures—Dress for Misses and Small Women (With or Without Chemise), and With Long or Short Sleeves.
Figured dimity in white and blue is here shown. The waist is simple, and becoming. It is made with long shoulder effect, and has a sleeve that may be finished in wrist or shorter length. The three-piece skirt is gathered at the top, and finished with a deep tuck fold in front. The pauze may be omitted. Silk, crepe, lawn, gingham, rayon, eponge, duvety, tafetta and linen are also appropriate for this style. The pattern is cut in four sizes: 14, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires six yards of 44-inch material for a 14-year size.
The skirt measures 1 1/2 yards at the foot.

measure your neck only mark 32, 34, or

be. If a skirt, give waist and length measurements. When misses' or child's pat-the age. It is not necessary to write "inches" or "years." Patterns cannot reach you in less than one week from the date of order. The price of each pattern is 10 cents, in cash or in postage stamps.

The hip yoke on some of the new skirts is a marked feature. This yoke is not tight. It really suggests the same line given by the rather loose hip girdle. But it does serve to hold in the fullness of the skirt at the waist line,
and it is quite satisfactory.

Old-Time Vacation Days

"Elspeth Wilson" Recalls Sports of Childhood Years on the Farm.

"Do the children of the present day derive as much real pleasure from their play as those of forty or more years ago, when the country children at least, were dependent upon their own resources for games and amusements?
I have in mind a large frame house in the country, brimful of life and that are gone, of healthy rosy boys and girls, reinforced by a band of city playmates during vacation weeks, and glorious plays they had—Moore-building in mud and sand, storekeeping in the granary; the high jumps in the haymow! also the generous bowl of bread and milk sent out between meals for the youngsters.

One small spoon each was distributed around lest some over-jealous one secure two, and into the bowl we dipped, germs, microbes, bacteria, all unknown to us!
The creek running through the corner pasture afforded a never failing source of amusement. When the water was low and warm a bevy, shaw-hatted, sun-bonneted, bare-legged, and bare-foot to a man hied thither, where we waded, catching crawfish, frogs and pollywogs, unconsciously taking a course in nature study, meanwhile the freshet came and the creek became a miniature river then were planks, boards or old logs tugged and dragged to the water's edge, where with much ceremony, a launching followed. One of our number, whose father was owner of boats plying between the great lakes, proposed this exciting game, and considerable even as displayed in choosing names for our crafts, which we formally christened and presto! off sailed a gallant fleet. On these we fearlessly rode, propelling ourselves by means of poles as far as the fence allowed.

Occasionally, one more daring than the rest, slipped off into the water, yet strange to say no accident befall us of more serious nature.

A wild, boisterous yet an innocent crowd were we who drank from one cup, ate often from the same dish, generously passed the wad of chewing gum around; yet even so far in life's journey none of our number have ever contracted typhoid, consumption, rheumatism or any of the ills which today seem to follow a mere foot wetting.

Our band, indeed, is broken, however.
One sweet young girl in after years, as a bride, lay a mangled heap in a railway wreck, while en route to one of the world's greatest fairs. Another, the dear baby brother, cut off also during accident in his beautiful young manhood, lies in the shadow of the old home, he so dearly loved.

Again I ask, are the children of today with many modern contrivances for their comfort, amusement and health,
any happier or healthier?
heh-jou-rnd.

STRIPES ARE WORN MORE THAN PLAIN MATERIALS

Stripes are worn more than they have been in years, and they are not of dull colors, either. The striped skirt pictured is of dark and light blue ratine, made perfectly straight and gathered about the waist in an upstanding frill.
The corsage is of light blue satin, and the belt is of heavy corded satin in light blue, with dark blue polka dots on it.
The bash ends are finished off with heavy chenille tassels.

OUR FOLKS' CORNER

One of the trials of editing a woman's page is when the printer man, in a fit of absentmindedness sets the wrong word in a cooking recipe. Just the other day the printer set "tablespoons" in a cake formula, "tablespoons" being substituted for "teaspoons," and I hope none of our readers tried to follow "it" to do a "tablespoon" baking powder.
"Three tablespoons baking powder" in a cake would result in rather a bitter mixture, I fancy.

I never thought of it before, but possibly it is this little slipshodness of the printer in general to misinterpret cooking recipes that is responsible in many a case for the "wonders of the newspaper."

Without doubt many of the older readers of our Folks' Corner will be watching the skies today with keen eyes, for you know if it comes on July 15—
ST. SWITHIN'S DAY—
we may expect a shower of rain for forty days. Just fancy!

If you don't know the story of St.
Swithin, perhaps it may interest you.
He was an English ecclesiastic of the ninth century, who acted as chaplain to King Egbert and tutor to his son, Ethelwold. An old English writer tells us that "St. Swithin was a rich treasure of all virtues, and those in which he took most delight were humility and charity to the poor." In 852 he was consecrated Bishop of Winchester and travelled through his diocese, generally on foot and by night, to avoid all disturbance of ostentation. On July 2, 862, the bishop died, and by his own request was buried in the churchyard of Winchester. Here his dust rested for a century, when he was canonized.
The monks, not considering the churchyard a fitting place of sepulchre for a saint, decided to exhum his body for the purpose of depositing it in Winchester Cathedral. The ceremony was to have been held on July 15, but an account of violent rains it was necessary to postpone the event for forty days. Hence the old belief still current:

"On St. Swithin's Day a shower of rain Forty wet days will follow," 'tis plain.

Jean Blewett in the West

Edmonton Woman Writer Describes First Impressions of Talented Canadian Poet and Author.

Anne Merrill, writing in the Edmonton Journal, gives a very pleasant description of a chat with the Canadian author and poet, Mrs. Jean Blewett, of Toronto, at present touring in the Western provinces. Miss Merrill writes:
Mrs. Jean Blewett, poet and author, is a very charming, interesting and versatile woman. A delightful admira-ture of the home woman and the woman of the world. She is decidedly gregarious. She likes people. The human element, "I could not live without people," she said; and to know Mrs.
Blewett is to know that she might have written that well-known poem of which two lines are:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man."

Regarding her poem, "The Native Born" with which many people are familiar, the story of its origin is this:
The London (England) school board offered a prize for the best poem, to be used in the text books as a means of instilling patriotism into the scholars.
Mrs. Blewett sent "The Native Born," and laughingly told me that they mistook her for a man (she had just signed "Jean Blewett")—supposing her to be a French-Canadian, probably. In the note telling her that she had won the prize
this sentence concluded the letter:
"Warm congratulations to the eminent man of letters."

How slow they are over in dear old England to accord any merit to women!

Queried as to her ideas on the women's franchise, Mrs. Blewett told me a story which she said represented her sentiments. It was the best, on the subject she had heard for a long time:

Have cancelled his sailing and taken another boat."

CHAPTER VII.
Confidences.
That night Martha wrote a letter.
During the writing of it she jumped at every sound—a footstep in the hall, the shutting of a door, a voice calling in the street. And yet Martha was guilty of performing only what she considered to be her bounden duty. It is the prerogative of fate to tangle or untangle the skin of human lives; but still, there are those who elect themselves to break the chains gently, to loosen the shackles of the blow which fate is to deliver.

"My Dear Mr. Arthur—
I do not know what to make of it. His likeness to you is the most unheard of thing. He is a little bigger and broader, and he wears his beard longer. That's all the difference. When he came on the boat that night, it was like a hand clutching at my throat. And you know how romantic I am, for all that she believes she is prosaic. I am certain that she sees you in this stranger who calls himself Warrington. It only you had had the foresight to follow me, a sailing or two later. And now they'll be together for four or five days, down to Singapore. I don't like it.
There's something uncanny in the thing.
If she did forbid you to follow him, I should be tempted to follow him to break. You should have followed me."

"Neither of us has the slightest idea what the man has done to exile himself in this manner. He is a little more stern than a gentleman, and he must have been one in the past. But he has never yet spoken a word of his past, or of his people. We don't even know that Warrington is his name.
And you know that's a sign that something is wrong. I wonder if you have any relatives by the name of Warrington? I begin to see that man's face in my dreams."
(To be continued.)

"No, thanks. I was never fond of him, and have not to do with him.
I take a little."
He reached into a pocket and today was keenly alive. She wanted to ask a thousand questions, but the time she looked at Warrington, Arthur seemed to recede. And when the time came for the guest to take his leave, Martha gazed after him with the marvel of her antipathy was gone.

"I wish to thank you, Miss Cletwood,
for your kindness to a very lonely man.
It isn't probable that I shall see you again. I shall next Thursday for Singapore." He reached into a pocket. "I wonder if you would consider it an impertinence if I offered you this old rinker?" He held out the mandarin's ring.

"What a beauty!" she exclaimed. "Of course I'll accept it. It is very kind of you. I am inordinately fond of such things. Thank you. How easily it slips over my finger!"
"Chinamen have very slender fingers," he explained. "Good-by. Those characters say 'Good luck and prosperity.'"
No expressed desire of wishing to meet again; just an ordinary every-day farewell; and she liked him all the better for his apparent lack of sentiment.

"Good-by," she said. She winced, for his hand was rough-palmed and strong.
A little later she saw him pass down the street. He never turned and looked back.

"And why," asked Martha, "did you not tell the man that we sat on the same ship?"
"You're a simpleton, Martha," Elsa turned the ring round and round on her finger. "If I had told him, he would

The Horoscope

Thursday, July 16, 1914.

Caution should be taken today, if the warning of the stars is heeded. Although Jupiter and Mercury are in benefic aspect early in the day, Uranus and Saturn are adverse during the hours of general activity.
Uranus is in a place held as particularly unfortunate for love affairs.
The rule is not a lucky one for new romances. It is particularly bad for persons born between January 20 and February 18.

Filirtations begun on this date are are believed to cause persons easily to deceive one another.

THREATENING WEATHER

AFFECTS MARKET

New Hay Sells for $12 Per Ton—No Vegetables Offered.

Threatening weather and heavy selling yesterday made this morning's market featureless. Hay was offered in small quantities. The commodity is selling at $12 per ton for new hay while old hay is bringing $15. Prices generally are easier for the product. Olds are firm at $15. Only a few loads were offered. Wheat is firm and will probably remain so for some time.

No vegetables were offered, as is usual on Wednesday. Prices in consequence may be a little firmer throughout the city, according to retail selling.

Eggs continue to sell at 25 cents per dozen, retail. Butter is rather scarce but is bringing an average price. Tomorrow will probably see a good offering of raspberries. Fair weather is expected for today, in which case there may be a slight easing in the price.

Other prices are as listed: Wheat, per cwt. $1.45 to $1.46. Oats, per cwt. $1.10 to $1.12. Grain per bushel. Wheat, per bu. 35 to 1.00.

PRODUCE. Winnipeg, July 14.—The wheat market opened unchanged to 1/4c lower, oats unchanged and flax 1/4c lower to 1/2c higher for July and October. Following the opening, there was a fractional advance on distant months, influenced by more numerous black rust reports from the Dakotas. July being weaker, owing to a poor inquiry for cash wheat. July was 8 1/2c, October 8 1/4c and December 8 1/4c. Oats were steady, and July flax firmer, October steady, and the heavy movement in winter wheat having a bearish influence. Closing figures were: Wheat, 8 1/2c; flax, 10 1/2c; oats, 10 1/2c; cash flax closed 1/4c lower for all grades; and cash barley closed unchanged.

GOOD NEWS FOR

THE SUFFRAGETTES

British Cabinet Officer Says

Next Govt. Must Take

Up Suffrage.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 14.—That the next government, whatever it might be, "would be obliged to deal with the woman suffrage question as a party measure in some shape or form," was the encouraging message given to a large deputation of international suffragettes at the House of Commons today by Francis Dyke Acland, Parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs.

Lord Robert Cecil, for the Unionists, and James Ramsay MacDonald, for the Laborites, addressing the deputation, expressed the opinion that the time was not distant when the woman would be enfranchised.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Women Suffrage Alliance, in returning thanks on behalf of the visitors, said they were pleased to find themselves within the walls of the House of Commons, which was the storm centre of the world-wide suffrage movement.

The visitors afterward were entertained at tea on the terrace.

E. LAMBERT NOTE FOR McCORMACK

Unofficially Declared Elected With a Majority of Twenty-Seven Ballots.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, July 14.—Judge MacWatt tonight unofficially declared Robt. J. McCormack elected a member for East Lambton by a majority of 27.

The Conservatives have two days in which to enter an appeal, and it is understood that this will be done, although Judge MacWatt's decision is strictly in accordance with the provisions of the Election Act governing the violation of ballots.

Many Ballots Affected.

There are 123 ballots, which, in violation of the law, were put in the ballot box with the counterfoil and printed numbers attached.

Seventy-seven of the ballots are marked for Martyn, and 46 for McCormack. The 123 ballots with the counterfoil attached are from the polling subdivision of Theford.

If these ballots were counted, they would give Dr. Martyn a majority of 31 in that division.

Judge MacWatt declared them illegal. This gives Robert McCormack, the Liberal candidate, a majority in the riding of 27.

Albert Spicer Pulled Out and the Fire Chief Is Summoned.

The cries of the boy's sister attracted Mr. Wilson who succeeded in pulling the unfortunate lad out of the water.

Fire Chief Pritchard, of this city, was summoned and he was on the scene with a lung motor twenty minutes after the body was taken out of the water. The little lad's life was saved.

ADD NIAGARA FALLS

Against Increase.

The grand master has hinted that he is not in favor of the increase of initiation fees to the point which the young men who have taxed their resources to acquire an education and other laudable undertakings, should be prohibited from obtaining the benefits of the order. He does not commend "cheap Masonry" but suggests the "copy method," and does not dispute the right of lodges to fix what they deem proper fees.

The report of Grand Treasurer M. W. Bro. Malone shows the assets of the grand lodge to be $10,000 with no liabilities but the current expenditures.

The funds are all invested in gilt-edged municipal securities and in trust bonds, yielding all the way from four to six per cent.

The report by G. S. May, of Ottawa, to the board of general purposes pays a high compliment to R. W. Brothers, grand lodge of Hamilton, who declines to be a matter of course, since intemperance, whether of language or of appetite, are both against Masonic principles. The old game of knife and tumbler, he says, has been superseded by not a whit less enjoyable and much more satisfying. Lodges are asked to contribute more to the district lodge of instruction and the district lodge of instruction and the district lodge of instruction.

The report of warrants by Abraham Shaw, mayor of Kingston, condemns the use of the loose leaf ledger system for the making of Masonry records in lodges.

Temperance Masonry.

R. W. Brother W. N. Ponton, of Belleville, in his report on the "Condition of Masonry," comments upon the manner in which temperance has worked its way into the banquet rooms of the order, and the use of the loose leaf ledger system for the making of Masonry records in lodges.

It was with regret that he announced the $6,000 outstanding in lodge dues. Of this amount $2,300 is in one district, $2,800 in another and $900 in a third.

Help Build Temples.

Brother Ponton suggests that grand lodge devote some of its funds at a fair rate of interest to help the subordinate lodges erect temples to meet general benefit. He also suggests that grand lodge meet at a more temperate and productive season of the year and comments on the growth of Masonry.

The past grand masters present are, E. T. Malone, J. Ross Robertson, B. Allan, Toronto; Aubrey White, A. T. Freed, Hamilton; James Burritt, Pembroke and Judge Jarling, Lindsay.

Hindus in Canada Being Called Upon to Preach Sedition

Movement to Raise 400 Volunteers to Go Back With Komagata Maru Party For This Purpose

[Canadian Press.]

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 14.—Negotiations are now being carried on by an East Indian, styling himself Behari Lal, with Towner, Jones and Company, of Bombay, for a vessel capable of carrying 300 third class Hindus via the Suez Canal to Halifax.

Verna failed in chartering a boat in Hong Kong for the same purpose. The protector of emigrants, the government office in Bombay, has not yet agreed to issue permits for the proposed 500 emigrants to Canada.

A call for 400 volunteers among the Hindus in Canada to go to India about the time the Komagata Maru sails back, and to preach to the population, is now being issued here. Hindus have also gone East, too, it is understood, in order to get into the United States there with the Maru passengers, is now being issued here.

TRAVEL BY ELEVATOR INSTEAD OF BY TRAIN TO THE SUMMER HOME

[Canadian Press.]

DULUTH, July 14.—That wealthy city people may in the future travel to their summer homes by means of elevators instead of by train, or electric line, was the interesting announcement made today at a convention of the Building Owners' Association.

"It will be a matter of a very short time," stated C. A. Patterson, secretary of the association, and he proceeded to explain his point and to show that it is already being applied on the shores of the Great Lakes.

Mr. Patterson's explanation was, indeed, very simple. It was nothing more nor less than that the owners of tall buildings in congested cities might build bungalows on the roofs of the skyscrapers, and he himself there when they wished to seek relief from the heat of the summer pavements.

A building permit for such a bungalow has already been taken out in Chicago. The summer-home-on-the-sky-scraper idea was explained in connection with an address, pointing out that many new ideas have been promulgated for tall office-buildings. For instance, Mr. Patterson said that in the matter of a very short time elevators would run horizontally in large buildings as well as vertically, effecting a great saving in shoe leather, as well as in time. In fact, he believed that large, busy structures would be as completely equipped with transportation facilities as are the streets of the city.

He also, that patrons would be obliged to pay fares to ride in these cages, and would get transfers from one to another, as is done on street cars now.

SWITZERLAND AS ARBITRATOR FOR GREECE AND TURKEY

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 14.—The Swiss Government has officially acceded to the request made by both Greece and Turkey for the appointment of an arbitrator to settle the differences between these two countries in the event of the negotiations, which are now going on at Smyrna, failing.

A Graeco-Turkish commission is endeavoring to reach a settlement in the emigration question, and an exchange of property belonging to Greek and Turkish refugees.

NICE POSITION FOR DR. REAUME

May Be Appointed Registrar of Essex at a Salary of $5,000.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, July 14.—Hon. Dr. Reaume, minister of public works, said today that his name was still on the list of possible appointees.

This is the compensation which it was stated was being held back by the Government to the Minister of Public Works for his defeat in Windsor, and since it is a $5,000 office it seemed to fill the requirements until Dr. C. N. Anderson, ex-M.P.P. of South Essex, also put in his claim.

According to Dr. Reaume, there are now three after the position, the third man being Dr. Folsom, the defeated Conservative candidate in North Essex.

As to his being retained in the cabinet, Hon. Dr. Reaume was quite non-committal. He states that the point has not been brought up for consideration, his presence at any cabinet meetings since the election, and that the office is one which need not be filled until the next session of the Legislature, when the Government chooses to wait for some opening in the ranks.

Just at present there is no vacancy in the Legislature into which the minister could be slipped.

CARSON HURRIES TO A CONFERENCE

Lords, Commons and Leaders to Discuss the Ulster Situation.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 14.—The House of Lords today finally passed and sent down to the House of Commons the bill amending the Home Rule bill.

Lord Morley, who was among the final speakers, declared that the amendments had so changed the character of the bill, that the Lords might almost as well have rejected it. But the Marquis of Crewe, also speaking for the Government, said that the bill was not unfriendly to Ulster, and that the Lords might almost as well have rejected it. But the Marquis of Crewe, also speaking for the Government, said that the bill was not unfriendly to Ulster, and that the Lords might almost as well have rejected it.

Official Messages Express Belief President Is Planning Flight.

[Canadian Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Although the resignation of General Huerta is confidently expected by the state department and Washington diplomats to occur at any moment, the Constitution, unaffected by the news, are pressing hard their military campaign on Mexico City.

Official dispatches revealed that General Villa, with 15,000 men, was ready for a rapid advance on the Mexican capital, and that General Obregon's forces at Guadalupe were prepared to sweep onward within a few days. Although officials have not been given much to predict, they now firmly believe the Constitutionalists will be in Mexico City in two or three weeks, regardless of what the Huerta Government may do.

The numerous official advices saying Huerta would resign in a day or two, including messages from the Brazilian minister in Mexico City and other diplomats, have raised the expectations of the Constitutionalists, and the official Washington dispatches have also been interpreted to mean that Huerta is ready to abdicate.

SHOWS NO SIGNS OF IMPENDING DOOM.

MEXICO CITY, July 14.—President Huerta was the guest of honor of the French colony at a celebration at Chapultepec Park today in commemoration of the fall of the Bastille.

The president was also seen during the course of the day in various public places and, so far as could be learned, no preparations are being made for his possible departure from the capital.

The British minister, Sir Lionel Gordon, denied that Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock had come here for the purpose of accompanying Huerta to Vera Cruz.

MONTREY IS NOW CARRANZA'S CAPITAL.

"The first and most important consideration in railroad operation is safety." This message has been sent out to all officers and employees of the Grand Trunk Railway, by Mr. Morley Donaldson, vice-president and general manager of those lines.

The company in the development of its safety first work has also taken a novel means of impressing upon its army of workers the necessity of proper facilities, firemen, and others in promoting safe conditions and practices. A request that it be attached to the inside of hats and caps.

This sticker says, "No Grand Trunk employee is expected to take unnecessary chances for the sake of saving time or for any other reason." It will serve as a reminder, easily carried, that "Safety First" methods of work are expected of all for the protection of the employee and passenger alike.

Indeed, every factor that tends toward safe operation is being insisted upon by the officers of the Grand Trunk system. In a bulletin just issued, right methods of living are considered.

"In order to continue in promoting safety, it is every engineer's duty," this bulletin says, "to conserve the natural organs of the body. Normal mind is necessary to good service, and good health is necessary to the normal mind. Temperance in living, plenty of rest, plenty of exercise must be taken in order to be a continuing element of safety in the service. These laws of health being observed, the normal mind is retained and continued and the service benefited accordingly."
