Yale and Harvard got away with Cambridge and Oxford in the Athletic Contest.

Took Six Events out of the Nine-Englishmen Carried off the Honors in Distance Runs.

New York, Sept. 25 .- The athletes of Yale and Harvard met the athletic representatives of Oxford and Cambridge universities to-day at Berkeley oval in track and field events and, as was expected, the brawn and muscle of the American collegiants proved to be too much for the visitors, the Americans winning six out of the nine events on the programs Points were counted for wins only, so that the Harvard and Yale men defeated their English opponents by a score of 6 points to 3. Between the American universities honors were equally divided, Harvard and Yale each winning three events. The Oxford representatives failed to gain a point for the wisiting team, the light blue of Cambridge being in front in all three contests which were won by Englishmen. Summaries:

PAUL CZOLGOSZ SAW HIS SON.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Paul, Waldeck and Victoria Czolgosz, father, brother and sister of Leon Czolgosz, the assassin, were granted an interview with Leon in Erie county jail today. The interview lasted 35 minutes, but no information leading to the implication of anyone else in an anarchist plot was given by the assassin. "We learned nothing that we did not know before," said Assistant District Attorney Haller. "He talked more than he has at any previous time, but London, Sept. 25.—The result of the Government invitation to the Imperial London, Sept. 25.—A despatch to the Yeomanry to re-enlist has proved a Exchange Telegraph Company from great disappointment. It was expect. ed that a majority of the men would rejoin. Instead of this, the first week witnessed only thirty applications. New measures will have to be taken to secure recruits. The trouble is largely due to the fact that the men had to wait for months before getting their arrears of pay settled. First American Cup Race To-day 15 Miles out and Return-The Weather Prophets Differ-Challenger's Backers Slow to bet.

RACING WEATHER.

Washington, Sept. 25.-The of-ficial forecaster, Frankenfeld, of the weather bureau, to-night made the following prediction of weather for to-morrow's yacht

We will have to-morfow off Sandy Hook light to fresh north to northeast winds, fair weather.

New York, Sept. 25. - Weather sharps and yachting experts unite in predicting that a breeze will blow tomorrow that will give the Shamrock and the Columbia a race which will be memorable in the long series of cup events. If weather conditions of today presage anything ,this phrophecy will be fulfilled. After four days of almost calm weather a rattling breeze blew in from the northeast early this morning, and at sunrise it had reached half a gale.

Neither Sir Thomas Lipton nor Mr. Duncan cared to risk a trial run under the conditions of wind and water that prevailed in the first half of today, but at 2 o'clock when the wind had fallen the Columbia's mainsail was hoisted and a few minutes later she filled away and set out for a short spin. The Shamrock lay at her moorings all day.

To-night the two yachts lie within hailing distance of each other, swinging at their moorings to a good breeze, in which lies the hope of to-morrows' race. All has been done that skill and expenditure could suggest and none of the principals will make a prophecy as to the outcome. Only the betting shows the trend of opinion and the prevailing odds are 10 to 8 on the American boat.

As in the case of two years ago, the As in the case of two years ago, the course will be patrolled by a fleet of revenue cutters, in command of Capt. revenue cutters, in command of Capt. Walker, of the revenue marine service, and the yachts will have an unobstructed course of at least a mile wide As is usual in all American cup contests, each club will be represented on the opposing yacht. W. Butlet Duncan, who during the past season managed the Constitution, will represent the N.Y.Y.C., on board the Shamrock II. On board the Columbia will be H. M. Gildowney, a member of the challeng ecommittee of the Royal Ulster Verbit shape. ster Yacht club, a gentleman of wide yachting experience.

The first race to-morrow will be a 15mile run to windward or leeward and London, Sept. 25 .- The Yachting World to-morrow will say: "British yachtsmen are quietly confident regarding the chances of the challenger. Should she win they will, it goes without saying, greatly rejoice; but they have been so used to defeat im the past that they will not be particularly disheartened should the Columbia prove to be better than the Shamrock.

BIG RUMPUS

Between Minto and Laurier Over the Distribution of Royal Honors.

Ottawa, Sept. 25 .- There is a rumpus on between Premier Laurier and Lord Minto over honors which were conferred on Canadians. Some of these honors, it is well known, were distasteful to the Canadian Government. They were recommended by the Governor-General without the advice of his Government. Lord Minto, it is understood, takes the view that he does not require to consult his advisers in matters of this kind. In theory his Excellency is doubt right, since the honors stowed are Imperial ones; but practice he is scarcely correct.

practice he is scarcely correct. For the past 25 years at any rate the Governor-General has always consulted his advisers in regard to honors recommended for services rendered the Dominion. That was the general understanding between the Canadian Government and the home authorities. This is a matter which Mr. Chamberlain will be asked to straighten out.

Only Anglicans and Catholics Invited-Has Caused Much Feeling Among

Presbyterians and Methodists. Ottawa, September 26. - The exclusion of the clergy of various, denominations, except Anglicans and Roman Catholics, from the reception of the Duke and Duchess of York is prominently to the front and a large number of ministers have been interviewed on the subject to-day. All of them complain of the religious bodies they represent having been ignored, and in most cases express the opinion that there should be no more distinctions between the religious bodies in the slightest degree, implying a recognition of anything approaching the condition of a state church. Enquiries on Parliament hill this morning elicited a number of frank expressions of opinion that there should be no recognition of one church to the exclusion of others. The authorities had to follow the Canadian order of precedence, but the general feeling apamended and provision made for all religious bodies alike, those having no archbishops or bishops as titular heads to be entitled to their organized bodies, such as the Methodist conference, Presbyterian assembly and so forth, to select their regular representatives, to whom invitations may in future be addressed for all such functions. Feeling is so strong here on the subject that the Government may find it necessary to discuss the precedence question on Sir Wilfrid's return and come to some such arrangement as above outlined.

CARRIE NATION AT TORONTO.

Toronto, Sept. 25 .- Carrie Nation lectured to an audience of about a thousand people to-night, and made an impassioned appeal to the temperance people of Toronto to inaugurate a saloon-smashing crusade, for unless they smashed, they themselves would be smashed. She urged them to "go out and smash in the strength of the Lord, and in a body," and His good angel would go with them. Moses and Nehemiah, she added, were saloon-smashers.

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS.

The first accident of the shooting season is reported from New Bruns wick, where on Saturday a thirteenyear-old lad was mistaken by hunters for a deer and fatally wounded. These accidents are far too common; every year at least half a dozen of them occur, and the repeated warnings of the newspapers seem to have no effect in diminishing their number. Probably they would not be so frequent if they were dealt with in 'a different way, and the men who do the shooting punished for their carelessness instead of receiving the sympathy of their friends and the public, as is often the case now. There is really no more excuse for a man of windward and leeward work. The who fires at an object he sees moving Shamrock I suffered from poor handin the woods, without having made out clearly what it is, than if he fired in America and England, and she sufa gun at random in a public place. There are so many people in the woods in the hunting season nowadays that by her sails failed to keep up in the no sane man will shoot on mere wind. In her races with the Shamrock chance when he sees an indistinct II., her spars had been stiffened and to be cultivated to the exclusion of all object moving about in the bushes. ABOUT TELLING THE TRUTH.

"Should a minister in conducting a funeral service speak the truth concerning the deceased?" asks the Woodstock Express. That depends somewhat on whether he happens to be a married man and father of a family, and how well his life is insured, says the Hamilton Times. Truth is mighty, of course, and all that sort of thing, but we cannot think of a candid minister dealing openly and vigorously with the average deceased without seeing visions of a snapping coat-tail making frantic efforts to put distance between its wearer and a pursuing club. And perhaps it is not always necessary to bruit abroad the faults and follies of our kind over their dead bodies. There are few men whose sorrowing relatives' hearts might not be lacerated by post-mortem candor of the kind hinted at.

But the opposite evil is to be avoided also. While it is not necessary to microscopically peer into all the little corners of a man's life to find material for scandal with which to spice an obituary or a funeral sermon, it is equally wrong to indulge in excessive eulogy. Let us leave that to the tombstone man and epitaphy. How often we find the tombstone falsifying fact and glorifying baseness! When charity in the face of death can find nothing to hold up beside the strong light of truth for youth to emulate or age to praise, let us be silent; when we can extol a good trait, let us do so freely. We cannot help or hurt the dead; we may hurt the living who mourn; and we may help to fix for others a false standard of excellence. It is not necessary to wrong anybody or to do violence to anybody's feelings. Let us always be charitable in our judgments of the dead;

"Who made the heart, 'tis He alone Decidedly can try us; He knows each string, its various erica's best, the people manifest an interest in these races far keener than that aroused by any enterprise projected in the world of sport, comments the Windsor Record.

The contending yachts will be so nearly matched on form that genuine seamanship, rather than tricks and devices of construction, should prove to be the deciding factor in influencing the results of the races. It is not who has the better boat, but which side has the better sailors, that will be the chief question at issue in the forthcoming cup races. Designer Herreshoff has done his best in Columbia, and Designer Watson has followed suit with Shamrock II., and the question now arises whether Skipper Barr or "Wicked Willie" can get the most speed out of a 90-footer in the delusive waters and treacherous airs of the cup course off Sandy Hook. On this side, of course, the feeling is all with the British boat, and the Canadians have gone so far as to figure out a victory for Sir Thomas Lipton. The Columbia in 1899 beat the Shamrock I. by ten minutes in an average ten-knot breeze, and by six minutes sixteen seconds in a twenty-knot still millions of acres of unappropbreeze. There was no reaching in riated land just as good as that from either of these races, both consisting ling, as is generally acknowledged both fered even more from the frailty of her spars and standing rigging, wherements found necessary had been made, going to leeward in a and a half minutes in thirteen and a half miles, while on a broad reach in a thirteen-knot breeze, with the wind slightly abaft the beam, she gained four and, a quarter minutes in seven miles. These results are said to indi-races of 1899. Under all these circumstances Sir Thomas' new boat would appear to have a very good fighting chance to lift the cup, even assuming that the Columbia is a little faster than she was in 1899.

An illustration of how time heals even the worst wounds, occasi is to be found in the fact that. th President of the United States to-day is the son of a Southern mother, and had two uncles who fought on the Confederate side during the Civil War.

There is much in the contention o Mr. Ralph Smith, M. P., in his address before the Dominion Labor Congress that Canadian labor organizations should be found on national rather than international lines. Officials in our own country and of our own country are far more likely to understand the conditions, laws and people to be dealt with in Canada than officers living in the United States would.

Now that the immense wheat crop of Manitoba is safely harvested the people are taking stock of what the yield will be this year, and the general estimate outs the value, for the Province alone, at about $30,000,000. When it is remembered that, all told, there are but some 35,000 farmers in Manitoba fit will be seen that the returns to each are very large. There are probably 40,000,000 acres in Manitoba under cultivation, and there are which the splendid crop was taken this year.

THE MARKET

Planet Office, Tuesday evening eptember 24. John Waddell, of the firm of J. B

Stringer & Co., gives The Planet the following grain gossip:
Wheat—The volume of receipts continue light, with the mills good buyers at 66c for standard samples. Some demand exists for export, but price is rather high for that market at pres-

The coarse grains are in good demand, as they have been from the start of the season, Receipts are only moderate, rather under the demand, and this fact has put the market up to some extent, and barley brings 95c this week for best samples. Oats 33c and

Beans , the old erop are entirely sold out. The new crop is not to be had to any extent yet, but by next week a limited quantity will have found its way to market.

The situation is an unsettled one pt this writing and buyers are hard to find at any fancy figures anyway, all believing in lower prices. A fair quotation probably, is $1.20 to $1.30 for best prime samples for "immediate de-livery," Dealers anticipate an active trade in them next month and on.

The following are the prices: Wheat 66c. Mixed oats, 31c. White oats 33.c Barley, 95c. Corn, shelled 50 to 52. Ear corn, 48c. Beans, Primes, $1.20 to $1.30.

Buckwheat, 45c.

HAY. The following are the prices:. Hay, clover, $5.50 to $6. Hay, baled, $6.50 to $7.50 per ton. loose, $6 to $7. Hay buyers are paying $4.50 to SEEDS, Millet, 40c., Red. Clover ,$4.50 to $5. Alsike, $6 to $7 Timothy, $1.00 to $2.25. Alfalfa, $6 to $6.50.

WOOL AND HIDES. Wool, washed, 12c cash, 13c trade. Wool, unwashed, 7c cash, 8c trade. Caif skins, 6c to 7c per lb.
Lambs and shearlings, 20 to 25c.
Cow hides, No. 1, 6c; No. 2, 4 1-2c.
Pelts, 15 to 20c. Horse hides, $1 to $2.50.

HOUSEHOLD SUPPLIES. FISH.

White fish 10c lb., aressed Lake Huron trout, 10c lb, dressed. Yellow pickerel, 10c lb., dressed. Blue Pickerel, 6c. lb. dressed. Sturgeon, 10c, 1b., dressed. Herring, 25 to 50c, dozen. Perch, 25c dozen.

MEAT. Pork, 9 and 10c. Mutton, 7 and 8c.

OUTSIDE MARKETS.

HENRY CLEWS' REPORT.

Henry Clews, in his weekly report to this journal, says:—
The market seems quite likely to go through a period of readjustment for a few weeks, in which stocks of merit will nold their own, while those which were pushed to excessive altitudes will find their true level. Good earnings and conservative management will probably support the best properties. What will result from the various deals it is impossible to say, as these may be postponed until the market gets into more satisfactory shape, Should business this fall not equal expectations we may see further declines in some securities, and the industrials will be the first to reflect any movement of this sort.

TORONTO DRESSED HOGS. Toronto, Sept. 24.—Dressed hogs are unchanged at $9.25 to $9.50. Hog products in good demand.

Shamrock and Columbia Contesting International Honors.

XCITING BATTLE BETWEEN THE

Thomas Lipton Saired on the WHITE WINGED FLYERS.

C. P. R. Special to The Planet. New York, Sept. 26. - With a briliant autumn sun and a piping breeze the first day of the international yacht races opened with every protaise of perfect conditions of wind and weather. After blowing half a gale nearly al night the northeast breeze subsided a trifle at sunrise, but at 8 o'clock both Sandy Hook and the Highlands of Navesink reported that it is still blowing at 18 knots. It had sweet away every vestige of mist and haze and the Long Island shore was visible from the Jersey coast.

The sea, however, was quite rough, and a heavy surf was pounding on the beach at Sandy Hook. Off the Sandy Hook lightship a little fleet of pilot boats was scudding about under reef mainsail, while two or three tramp steamers bound out tumbled badly in the heavy seas.

Remembering how the breeze fell yesterday, however, from a half gale in the early morning to a light six knots at 2 o'clock, the weather-wise Misses Jennie and Ethel McDonald, were inclined to place only faint faith in the early morning conditions.

> RIVALS PREPARED EARLY. On board the challenger and defender everyone was early astir. About 6 but this morning he concluded that his o'clock the lunch from Columbia's leg which is still lame from a recent tender put some sailors aboard the fall, would prevent his taking an acyacht and they finished up the work tive part in the management of the they began yesterday of polishing off the side paint. Shortly after 7 o'clock the Shamrock's crew was put aboard from the Yacht club; Jameson and Mattey. Porto Rico and went to work stripping the protecting canvas from the boom and bowsprit and putting the forward sails in stops. Meantime Columbia's crew had gone to breakfast and the boat was deserted for about half an hour. On board the two tenders all was excitement and preparation. On the Porto Rico, where the sailors of the Shamrock are quartered, the men were confident that the breeze of early morning, if it continued, was in their favor. Fifteen to seventeen knots, they said, was what they wanted. By 8 o'clock the full crews of both yachts were aboard and every man was as busy as a bee. By 8.10 o'clock both boats had got ing Shamrock about the same time. At 9.05 Columbia slipped its moorings and was taken in tow by the tug Flint. A moment later Shamrock was taken in tow by the Lawrence. Going at full speed, the Flint with the cup defender passed the point of the Hook at 9.12, heading for Sandy Hook lightship.

At that hour the wind had decreased slightly and was blowing at 16 knots from the northeast. As Columbia passed the Hook several of the official boats went by, but at that hour few vessels of the great excursion fleet had appeared, and the racers had the waters practically to hemselves.

TWENTY THOUSAND SPECTATORS Fully 20,000 persons left this morning for the race. The fleet consisted of three ocean liners and many excursion steamers, The members of the Atlantic Yacht Club, accompanied by about 600 guests, went on the steamer 11.15-The yachts are ready to start.

New York, Sept. 26.-11.17 a. m. The yachts have started. At 11 o'clock the wind was blowing 110 knots from the northeast. Official time of start :-Shamrock 11.14.05, Columbia, 11.14.12.

Both boats crossed the line on the starboard tack, but headed around mmediately and went on the port

Shamrock was apparently a few hundred yards ahead of Columbia, but the latter was some distance to windward

In the first five minutes of the sailing the American boat seemed to hold the Shamrock in good shape, but after that the Shamrock began to go away, and at 11.20 it looked as if she might be able to force the Columbia about when it came round on the starboard tack.

The wind has fallen off to about 7 knots and the yachts are moving very starting a little east of the High lands of Navesink.

11.25 a. m.-The yachts are holding southeast on the port tack. Shamrock appears to be gaining and now has a a quarter of a mile lead on Columbia, although the latter seems to be wilittle to windward.

The expursion fleet is keeping well astern of both boats and the yachts are having plenty of room.

At 11.31.10 the Shamrock tacked to starboard and was followed one minute later by the Columbia. It looked as if the Shamrock has forced her to come about. The race, however, is very close, and after 20 minutes of sailing neither apparently has any advantage.

New York, Sept. 26.-11.42 a. m .-Columbia has just crossed Shamrock's bow and is apparently leading by a few hundred yards.

New York, Sept. 26-Noon.-The International yacht race between the Shamrock and the Columbia started at '11 o'clock this morning.

Shortly after crossing the line the Shamrock took a slight lead. There was a strong current running, which impeded somewhat the boats in their

1.25 p. m. - Both yachts have swung around on the starboard tack. The Shamrock, apparently, is leading slightly.

2 p. m.-The Columbia appears to have blanketed the Shamrock and has now ranged ahead and is leading by nearly a hundred yards.

THE HAIRPIN A FACTOR.

New York, Sept. 25.-Two women risoners at the Raymond street jail, in this city, have escaped. The mere fact might not be remarkable, but the manner of the escape was daring, for many obstacles stood in the way of the plan. It is the first time a woman prisoner has been known to escape from the prison. A twisted hairpin and a broken lock, leading to a fire escape told the story of the first means of exit. From the lower platform the women are supposed to have lowered themselves by means of strips made from their skirts to the top of a thirty-foot wall, and from that to freedom. Although a general alarm was sent out at once for their appre-hension, they had not been found at midnight.

A Bullet From His Own Gun Ended Prof. Croswell's Existence,

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 25.-A speial to the Times from Rolla, Mo. says: - Surrounded in a barn but a few blocks from the scene of his orime, Professor J. S. Croswell, who on Monday night murdered his sweetheart, Miss Mollie Powell, a prominent young woman of this city, last night sent a bullet through his own heart to prevent being lynched by an angry posse. Ever since the tragedy at the Powell home on Monday evening Croswell has been hiding from a large posse of citizens and college student that ransacked buildings and searched almost every spot in the city. Cros-well was located last night in a barn ear the centre of the town, where he had been hiding probably ever since his flight from the Powell home. When discovered he ran to another arn near by, and here stood at bay Just as the attack was to be made the report of a pistol was heard inside the building, and when the pursuers broke in they found the murderer prone upon the floor. A bullet had pierced his beart.

fendant. THE SITUATION AT NOME.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 25 .-According to reports from Nome, brought by the steamer Oregon, the Indians in that section are threatened with starvation. During the past few nths about 300 natives have visited lome, bringing furs to trade for supplies. As soon as their goods were hisposed of, however, whiskey peddlers got among them, and they changed got among them, and they changed the proceeds of their sales for liquor The Indians have again camped on the beach, generally in a drunken stupor, allowing the season to pass in which they should lay in supplies of fish for use during the long winter period. Unless they are assisted by the Government, it is said, suffering and starvation will surely follow.

Yesterday's Hamilton Spectator, well known as a critical theatrical contemporary, says of the Brace of Partridges, which appears at the Grand here next Saturday evening: Those who attended the Grand Opera house last evening were indebted to H. Reeves-Smith and his clever company for an evening of rare enjoyment. From the first lifting of the curtain to its final fall there was almost conto its final fall there was almost continuous laughter; which, in such pieces as A Brace of Partridges, Mr. Reeves-Smith's offering, is the best proof of success. Make the people laugh and they will overlook any inconsistencies of plot or dialogue.

A Brace of Partridges is a clean, cleverly-written farce, with bits of comedy here and there, that causes stretches of unsettled country, but at all the widely separated towns and villages the people gathered to offer their cheers of welcome to the royal party. There were lumbermen, hunters and miners and some Indians in the little crowds, and the welcome was always a hearty one. The railway stations were all decorated, and each little settlement had a display of flags and bunting.

The largest crowd was gathered at Chapleau, which was passed at darkness, and far to the westward after night had come the people were still

ANOTHER INTERESTING LETTER FROM THE NORTH WEST

John W. Young, of The Planet Staff, Tells of Some of his Experiences While Travelling Through Edmonton and Vicinity.

Concluded from Yesterday. The return journey was worse than the going. The rain had made the road very shippery and the horse in miniature had some difficulty in keeping its feet. By 8.30 p. m. and darkness, I had only gone about two miles so I, feeling that after such a gallant effort my poor horse must really be tired, went to the abode of Cranston brothers, which was out of my way, but promised a good supper for myself. I got my supper. After supper Mr. Cranston accompanied me part of the way home and as my horse wouldn't go as fast as his he fastened the halter of my animal to the pom-mel of his saddle and towed me and my horse behind. I have no doubt we made a peculiar picture in the western darkness. Soon after I had left Mr. Cranston, it began to pour rain, and if any Chathamite wants really to feel comfortable and at home let him take a ride at midnight along a lone western trail with the rain pouring down, the pathway revealed only by the lightning, woods on either side of the trail and no fences, and in fact no houses within two miles; add to this the occasional tinkle of a cow-bell from the woods and the swish of the wind and rain in trees, then I can guarantee that the rider will feel all the comforts of home-as lost to

I had only been over the trail once before and was not too sure of it, but I had one solace in the remembrance that in the West they never lock their doors. Well, I did reach the residence of George Gould about 2 a. m. and I had no sooner neared the house than the dog barked. The owner came out and informed me that a young lady, overtaken by the storm, occupied my bed, and I had to sleep with the hired man. After putting the horse away I did so and slept soundly. I only told this story to one westerner. His only comment was to ask if I had killed the dog. To tell the truth, I rather enjoyed that ride. It was a new experience for me. The only thing that was missing to have made a horrible tale was wolves to howl on my trail and make my horse ride madly home. But there are no wolves in that country so I had to content myself with what I could get. I have a feeling that the West has illtreated me in not furnishing the orthodox wolves that I used to read about in the dime novels. Even a bear or a gopher would have been acceptable, but neither were forth-

The time for return came too soon and I set my face homeward on Sept. 9th. I again rode on the stage, but this time I had the place of honor with the driver. Of course you tenderfooted easterners won't understand that this was indeed an honor for the stage driver is a man of importance in this country. Very few were familiar enough to call him Charlie and the majority of them called him Mr. Stewart, with emphasis on the mister. He does the errands for the whole community and has had an interesting history, and one closely associated with the history of the Northwest. He was born in the Red River settlement in Manitoba. was his father who, in company with the explorer, Anderson, visited the North Country and, penetrating with-in the Arctic circle, found pieces from the wreck of the Franklin expedition and were instrumental in solving the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the explorers in that expedi-

Mr. Stewart was only a boy at the time of the Riel rebellion in Manitoba in 1869, but he remembers his fath er, who was a powerful man standing over six feet, riding up to Fort Garry and kicking Donahue, Riel's partner, out of the Governor's house. Every-body said that Mr. Stewart, Sr., would pay for his hardihood, but he didn't. Mr. Stewart himself was a courier during the Riel rebellion in 1885. He was a courier riding between Frog Lake and Fort Pitt. One time he rode 118 miles in 12 hours with despatche for Gen. Middleton from Gen. Strange Mr. Stewart, Jr., says that Gen Strange was by far the best leader and would have extinguished the re-bellion in half the time had Gen. Mid-

The distance from Edmonton Fort Saskatchewan by the north bank of the river is a little over 20 miles but by the south bank, the route Mr. Stewart was forced to take, it is nearer 40. This mail route by stage is one of the longest in the Dominion and Mr. Stewart told me that it was very on foot would apparently be unable hard on horses. They last only a little over a year at the work. The people in the west are all great horse-men, and have an idea that if a horse has been hitched up once it is perfectly safe for anyone to drive it. On this day Mr. Stewart was driving a horse just fresh from a ranch. It had never had a rope on it till the week before and this was the second time it had been driven. The other horse had been broken about a year, but the new horse "cut up" consider ably. We, however, reached Strath cona safely, with a good deal of the life taken out of the new horse.

I stopped at the Strathcona House with J. R. Boyle, a product of Lamb-ton county, but now a leading lawyer of Strathcona and member of the law firm of Taylor and Boyle. firm of Taylor and Boyle, Mr. Tay-lor has charge of the Edmonton end of the business. Mr. Boyle was ex-the could ford the river on a coal bed. Seams of soft coal crop out on the river bank all along the Saskatchewan. The seams are from 2-12 feet to 8 feet thick, and one seam is 25 feet thick. They run into the bank a hundred yards. These seams of coal are so high above the river that the miners are not troubled by water and the drifts are easily ventilated. The coal is harder than the Pennsylvania hard coal and sells at $2.50 per ton delivered, or $1 per ton at the mine. The sand in the Saskatchewan river at this point is rich in gold. At Fort Saskatchewan the farmers ofgrizzly is simple in construction. The sand is washed down an incline plane of fine wire. Beneath is a cloth and the gold being heavier than the sand it drops through and is caught by a flannel cloth beneath. The cloth is washed out at night and the gold dust obtained. Soem farmers make as high as $4 a day and they generally average $2. A couple of companies are dredging the sand from the bottom of the river and are washing it. One company sold an $800 gold brick to the bank a day or two before I reached Edmonton. This was the result of months' work, I think. The only dredge found to work satisfactory is the bucket dredge. The suction dredge was tried, but owing to the presence of gravel it did not work very well.

Mr. Boyle kindly took me over to Edmonton and pointed out the places of interest. We crossed the river from Strathcona by the ferry which runs across just above the town. The current of the river is very swift here and it is utilized in cuming the ferry. When a boat is working to windward the wind pushes on the sail and the keel or centreboard holds the boat steady. In the case of the ferry boat the water pushes on a keel at the stern of the boat and a cable above the boat holds the ferry steady. The idea was something new to me and II observed it with interest. As we were crossing we were able to get a good view of the old Hudson Bay fort built over a hundred years ago. At this point is still standing and still used as a store house. The north bank at this point rises in two divisions forming quite a wide plateau a hundred feet above the river. On this level space half way up the hill, the old fort stands. The palisade has long since disappeared, but the buildings are still there and a hundred yards or so behind on an eminence stands a two storey house, once the home of the factor, but now the club house of the Golf Club and the Tobogganan Club. By chance, we obtained a privilege not allowed to the outside world. We had a look through the store house of the Hudson Bay Co., once the old The building was empty the time, having been cleared for the reception of the fall supply of goods, and we were told that within a month the building would be filled with provisions, which later would be transshipped to the trading posts in the far north. We saw the canon once used in the defense of the old fort but now stored away in an un-used corner like farm machinery in the east, that being replaced by more modern appliances, is left to rust in a dark corner of the stable. We also saw the rifles, which it was said, were used in defense of the fort in 1885, when the place was attacked. I doubted this, but my memory isn't good enough for me to vouch for its correctness or to deny it. I read an account of the rebellion about two weeks before, but I remembered no-thing about any engagement at Ed-

The situation of this old fort is very pretty one. Above you see the katchewan. Across the river lies Strathcona, its many roofs and build-ings showing bright in the sunlight. All down the river can be seen the nouses of straggling Edmonton, and the whole seems wrapped in a man-tel of green—an effect given by the grass and trees, which even on the 10th of September were still green. Tradition has it that in the old days a Blackfoot Indian shot a Cree In-dian, against whom he held a spite. The killing occurred just back of the fort and 150 feet above the river. The Blackfoot then rode down the bare face of the cliff where a man on foot would apparently be unable on horseback. Yet 'tis said that the fearless indian and his horse reached the bottom safely and escaped de spite the target practice which seven Crees, friends of the dead man, were indulging in. The story may or may not be true, but it lends a touch of romance to an historic spot and as pretty a piece of Canadian landscape of the many beautiful places this Do-minion, with a future, holds within its realms To tell of all the many prettty views even around Edmonton, would take too long, and as Edmonton expects to have some day a Shakespeare to tell it right, I will leave the heavier sask than I care to undertake, to the unfor tunate mortal who is expected som day to attempt it. I might say there is nothing which the Edmontonite doesn't expect. Edmonton is the world, and he looks with fine scorn and a feeling ceedingly kind and showed me all the sights to be seen in both towns. The rivalry between Strathcona and Edmonton has only to be seen to be realized, as both places are exceedingly jealous of each other. I met Alex. C. Rutherford, brother of Peter Rutherford, of Chatham. The former is a prosperous lawyer in Strathcona, and senior member of the firm of Rutherford & Jamieson, barristers, etc. jealous of each other. The coal and gold mines along the Saskatchewan river are of more than passing interest. Chas. Stewart, the stage driver, told me that at one place

I remarked to a native one day, "For simplicity and honesty give me the Westerner.'

"Well, youngster," said the denizen
"of the land behind which the sun sets.
"Don't you play too much on that simplicity business. The Westerner may be honest to the extent that if you drop your pocket book he will return it. But if he can run it up you on a deal, he'll do it every time, and if you don't watch yourself he will run at up you so far that you will only have

There has always been an unwritten code in the west that anything a man might leaves when riding through the country should remain untouched till he could return and get it. The west residents claim that this stood until the foreign emigrants came and they soon put a stop to it. The matives claim that the Gallitiaans will pick up anything handy. They have not sufficient nerve to go into a house for the purpose of stealing, but they will pick up anything lying around. It is a remarkable fact that there is less crime in Western Canada than in any new country. An addition was being made to Morris Brothers' store at Fort Saskatchewan, and the whole rear of the store was open, yet nothing was

I have heard that the only time safe was cracked was in the barracks of the Mounted Police at Calgary. There is no doubt that the Northwest Mounted Police, stationed as they are throughout the west, are resp for the splendid order, and they deserve the warm approbation of every order loving Canadian. The Mounted Police of Canada have done their duty and deserve as much praise as any South African veteran, and perhaps more. Their work has been done and is being done in a cold country, and they ride long patrols in all kinds of weather. They have also subdued the many ruffians who once sought the west when the east became too hot for them, and now the west country is the quietest and contains the most lawbiding and peace-loving men to be found in the Dominion.

They like, however, to look on the wine when it is red, and they like to drink it. They speak of Walker and Seagram with a tone of tenderness. Their very voice, when they utter these words, seems to have a corresponding words, seems to have a caress in it. Drunkenness is not looked down on here, and I heard one young lady from Calgary say,

"Let the boys go out and have their drunk and a good time. It is to be expected. The only unfortunate thing about it is, that we girls can't go and lo likewise.

"Harrison C. Young, who has charge of the hardware store in MacDougall & Secord's establishment, told me that he had come into the country many years ago, and that he was the first white man married in Edmonton. He saw, the last fight between the Blackfeet and the Crees. The engagement took place on the hill just across the river from the ford of the Hudson Bay Co. in whose employ Mr. Young was, and was fought in the year 1869.

There was one incident of my visit to Edmonton that gave me pleasure and that was to learn the many friends that Augustus Bridle, a Kent boy, had made during a winter's so-journ in the fur market town. He was leader of the Presbyterian choir and, on his departure, left a large number of friends. I was sorry to learn, however, that Mr. Bridle was laid up during August at Prince Al-bert. He had left Edmonton to take bert. He had left Edmonton to take a cance trip to Prince Albert on his way to Stratford, Ontario, to take charge of a choir there. On the trip he cut his foot and, blood poisoning setting in, he was laid up for over a month and almost died. However, when I left Edmonton I was glad to learn that he was re-

One of the most remarkable men One of the most remarkable men of the many in Edmonton is Frank Oliver, M. P., owner and editor of the Edmonton Bulletine. Mr. Oliver went to Edmonton from Winnipeg some 20 years ago. He ran a store first and white so occupied and established the Edmonton Bulletine, at first a little sheet the size of a piece of notepaper but now one of the brightest papers in the West. The Bulletin is published twice a week. Mr. Oliver is short and spare and his foot-prints throughout the riding and his remarkable skill in politics remind one of the late Robert Ferguson, M. P. P. for East Kent. He contests the P. for East Kent. He contests the constituency obviously, as an independent but everyone knows he is a pendent but everyone knows he is a warm Leberal, yet he always man-ages to be elected by an overwhelm-ing majority, although from observa-tion I should judge that there are as many Conservatives as Liberals, if not more in Alberta. Some idea of the wonderful tact and knowledge of the people, displayed by the owner of the Bulletine, may be gained from the fact that although Mr. Oliver is essentially an Edmonton man living in Edmonton, still he is able to secure a substantial majority from the voters in Edmonton's rival, Strath-

In response to a remark that the Bulletine was an excellent paper and well spoken of all around the country, Mr. Oliver said: "What of that? What satisfaction is there in knowing you have a good paper if you don't make any money out of it? Of course, things aren't as bad now as they once were. There was many a struggle to put the paper where i s. Why, man, we starved to do it but we did it. "Yet after all, what was the u of that struggle when you have to of that struggle when you have to endure the condescending kindness of the men wno because they take a little $2 "ad" in your paper think they own it and graciously patronize you correspondingly. In a large city, you can dodge down a side street and avoid them but you can't do that here because they would see do that here because they would see you going. Here, however, it is dif-ferent, but I wouldn't exchange my home in Edmonton for a home in any city in America. and there was no reason under the sun for it. It was just a result of the boom in Winnipeg. Since then however, she has recovered, and during the past ten years has made won-derful strides forward and she has a wonderful future in store.

Mr. Oliver has been rightly called the father of Alberta, and political friend and foe all speak well of him. I was only sorry that I only had time for about fifteen minutes chat with Mr. Oliver, which I regretted very much, as I would have liked to learn something about Edmonton past and present, and Mr. Oliver is the man vho could tell it. Edmonton has one distinction. It is the greatest fur market in the world. About the time I left, Hyslop and Nagle were expected in with some $62,000 worth of furs and another was only the beginning and within a few months the fur brought in from the far north and sold at Edmonton will aggregate many hundreds of thousands of dollars. As is the Chicag grain market to America so is the fur market at Edmonton to the world. Here the price of fur, you might say, is made. Nearly all the skins are shipped to London, England and there disposed of. J. D. Foster, real estate agent at Strathcona, is an Ontario production, who once taught school in Lambton county. He boards with A. W. Toll, an old Kent county boy. Mr. Foster kindly furnished me with considerable He boards with A. W. Toll, information about the country. Mac-dougall & Second are the leading merchants of Edmonton. They have a large departmental store and do a large fur trade in conpetition with the Hudson's Bay Co., a commercial organization that has such a hold on the trade of the country that, when you realize it, you wonder how Macdougall & Secord could thrive. Mr. Macdougall began in a little store 10x20. Mr. Secord, twenty years ago, came west from Brantford, I was told, to teach in an Indian school. he was appointed teacher in the Edmonton school, but got on a tear—a little thing in itself but meaning much to him for it founded his fortune. He took some food and went north, trapping for the winter, and thus made a little money. That summer he began trading with the In-dians, but the Hudson's Bay Company bought him off for a couple of thou-sand dollars. He then went further north and after a time appeared in Edmonton as one of the leading fur traders. Then the partnership was formed between Macdorgall and Secord, and the firm now do an immense business. Both parties are credited with being worth over $100,000. Two days are very short, and I was forced to leave Edmonton with scarcely a birdseye view of this re-markable town, the farthest north business centre of Canada,

noted lecturer on stock-breeding declared some time ago that all stock success, either in breeding or feeding nust have its foundation fixed upon on dea, brain power of the animal, and that animal temperament and power of assimilation of food were dependent upon the brain strength of the animal, and that breeding for intelligence was a thing that should be placed first in the lists, and then the other desirable qualities would be much more easily secured. In this he was emphatic, that in the dairy the brain function of control of milk flow was not made enough of by the men who were breeding dairy cows. There was, in his opinion, no such thing as profitable milk-giving by a cow of low brain development, or equal-ly low mental power. The cow of small brain and flat, dull eyes did not possess the vital quality sufficient to make her a good milker. She was either a cow that gave a good mess of milk for a while and dried off early, or was no milker at all. Of course, he said, this did nat refer to a type of cattle that milker at all. Of course, he said, this did not refer to a type of cattle that had their milking qualities bred out of them, and that aided by quickly drying them off to promote the beet habit. The cow of the largest active brain, strongest nerve power, indicated by the bright, protruding eye, other things being equal, was the best cow, and of most extended milking period. The idea most extended milking period. The idea was how to control this nerve force by quiet and gentle methods, humane care. and as nearly as possible uniform con-ditions, and have this abundant energy find its expression and escape in the form of milk. The highly-bred raceform of milk. The nignly-bred race-horse—a bundle of nervous energy— finds expression in the training and the racing; and the brain of this horse is the promoter of the energy of that "electric battery." In this brainy cow the milkpail is the reservoir of this dis-charged surplus energy, and the idea of the lectiver was that high evallence. the lecturer was that high excellence must be promoted from brain supply.

Our readers might notice if there is any conection between brain power and their best cows.—London Farm &

There are colts and colts, as the saying goes, but the differences between the young growing horses are to a very large extent due to the management and to the feeding. Colts are born, it is true; but to a large extent they are made by care and attention, and of these the feeding is the most important. A young animal may be very justly compared with a plant. The seed may be of the best, but unless the culture is equally good the growth is stunted. The young animal of whatever kind is sub-ject to the same natural law. It is worth while to mention this, Maine Farmer says, for it is quite a common occurrence to see the avoidable deter-ioration of a wellbred young animal, due simply to this mistaken thought that blood will tell. Blood represents years and generations of the best breeding, feeding, care and education, one generation inheriting the gains made by previous ones. So it will be a simple loss of money to pay high prices for the service of a sire of high character and then think that inherited in cter, and then think that inherited influence will work out the problem with-out sufficient food to support it. An animal eats its food, chews and grinds it with its teeth, and makes it into a pulp by mixture with the saliva, which is really the first of the digestive and event fluids. The teeth crush grind the food, and the more palatable this is the more is the flow of this fluid. Thus with pleasant food the masticaion in the mouth is most perfectly per formed, and as the saliva is a solvent and a chemical fluid as well, the food has its starch to some extent changed into sugar, and so goes into the stom-ach partly digested, one of the facts which should be duly considered by the

Every animal loves a change of foods. It is possible for any animal to live on a single food, but it will never improve on it. Wild animals in a state of nature never improve. They cannot improve; this is easily seen to be an impossible thing for them. But mankind is an improving animal, and when civilized is constantly bettering his condition, and improving everything he Wild animals in a state dition, and improving everything he comes into possession of. It goes without saying that this is the result of in-out saying that this is the result of intelligent feeding.

Feeding paves the foundation for training, and every step gained is firmly fixed and made the basis for future improvement. Thus it is our horses are constantly bettering their records in every way, and what has been accomplished is only a starting point for future improvement. All our live stock has been subjected to the same influences. We have two-year-old cattle which weigh as much as the old five-year-old steers.

fluences. We have two-year-old cattle which weigh as much as the old five-year-old steers.

Our cows at two years old yield more butter in a week than any average three of the stock of fifty years ago. Our lambs come to market under a year, and bring the values of two or three year old wethers of a generation back. Of course, this increases the profits of the breeders and feeders, and is equally an economy to the consumons. The lists of foods at command almost bewilder the scientific students, not to think of how the farmers and stock feeders are at a loss to choose this or that as being the most effective, and thus economical, and profitable. At the same time education runs alongside of the train of improvement, and as we gain in scientific information we apply it to practical uses. In regard to our live stock interests, this advantage is perceived on every hand. With improvements in horses, there are gains made in every way in our live stock.

This is all a result of the application of the ultimate principle of economy, by which the art of feeding animals has been so greatly extended, and by which our choice of foods is enlarged go that by the extension of the knowledge of the chemistry of foods the feeder is able to vary the bill of fare and economize in the cost.

A Life-long Fighter.

General Maximo Gomez, the Cuban leader, is the most interesting figure in Cuban history, next to Estrada Palma. The old liberator is not a native of Cuba, but his life has been one of de-Cuba, but his life has been one of devotion to struggling causes. Gomez is a San Dominican, who has been fighting in one country or another for sixty years. He got his military training in the Spanish army, and after passing through one revolution he left home and settled in Cuba. That island has been his home ever since, except for the time he has served in banishment. In 1895 he was given the supreme command of the Cuban forces, and for three years gave Spain as difficult a fight as she ever had in any of her colonies, and managed to lose comparatively few of his own men. At 78 General Gomez, in spite of his campaigns, is vigorous and active.

health will take care of itself. If peo-ple only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses, "the eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very cen-tre of health and the common source of disease, which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discov-ery." "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood,—by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a temperance medicine, containing no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant. of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs,

What Catarrhozone is and is Not Catarrhozone is not a wash. You cannot force liquids into the lungs. It is not an ointment to be snuffed up the nostrils. Ointments are useless and disgusting. Nor is it a powder to be blown up the nostrils and still further irritate the already congested and irritated membrane. It is simply balsamic and healing substances breathed into the lungs and throat. Cures of course. That is nature's way of curing, and nature's way is the only true way. FINE EXHIBIT AT AUSTIN'S Magnificent Millinery Display at the Big Bargain Centre.

Many Delightful Attractions Viewed by Planet Representative on his Visit.

Yesterday was opening day at one of Chatham's favorite shopping places, The Bargain Centre, and the various departments of this popular establishment were at their best. It is rarely one has the pleasure of viewing such a magnificent and well assorted stock as Mr. Austin has gathered together from the famous marts of the world. Upstairs in the beautiful millinery reception rooms were some of Chatham's fairest matrons and maids, attracted by the display of handsome millinery. Hats from the famous Parisian makers were to be seen. World-renowned artists have sent their daintiest conceptions such as would delight the heart of a fairy and which brought forth many expressions of praise from the ladies

Shaggy materials are the smart novelties for hat making foundations. Shaggy long haired felt for trimming is also much used and among the finer materials velvets will be to the front-panne, cross mirror and plain welvets in a variety of colors. Persian effects in velvet will also be quite smart. A novelty material for making and trimming is marbelised marlines and marbelised cloth in soft dainty shades, as well as black and white effects, which will be very fashionable. Shapes will be low and broad us heretofore. Broad toques and low hats, ostrich feathers, birds, breasts pompoms and wings promise to be much worn. Ornaments are very beautiful the round cabouchon being very modish. Jet rhinestone gilt, steel and old silver buckles will all be worn, the latter being decidedly different to anything that has been used in former seasons. Prevailing colors are grey, fawns, greens blues, also green and blue mixtures and black and white, nickel grey being one of the latest. Among the most popular shapes are the gainsborough and the tricolor, while the florodora and annozon plateau hats still remain in fasion. In ready-to-wear hats the variety of shapes is very great and the range of trimmings inexhaustible.

Among the hats which attracted the largest share of attention was a large Dutchess of Devonshire. This is a very beautiful hat with a large shape with six large ostrich feathers drooping towards the front. It is trimmed with black silk lace and tulle with a high band and void of trimmings underneath with the ex-ception of a steel band. Another was a large brown velvet placque made of tucked and shirred velvet drooping in front and flaring at the side. Trimmed with feathers of the same shade with a large bow of fringed satin at the back. hand also is trimmed with feathers

Another very pretty creation was a mink turban, the rim made of brown shirred velvet and the crown of cream velvet and tulle. Mink forms the side trimmings and is caught at the back with a steel

A great favorite was a large toque draped on the brim with green velvet and angora tulle. It is made with a blue feather crown and a breast effect for a side trimming.

Another much admired one was port-hole castor colored tailored hat, turban shaped, with a brim of ma-chine stitched ruffled velvet. The crown is made of folds of white camel's hair trimmed with taffeta ribbon and quill.

The other departments in the store are worth more than a passing men-tion. Their lines in dress goods, staples, small and fancy weaves, art mustins, furs, silks and gent's furnishings is very complete and con-tains all the latest novelties and up-to-date and fashionable goods. Above the staple departments is an elaborate display of embroidered linens. This firm handles a full line of Liddell's household linens, one of the most noted frish manufacturers.

Their curtain and upholstering department is perfect and is shown to advantage by a large moonish re-This up-to-date establishment is

Many Charming Accomplishments of Deft Designers Noted in Brief Visit.

At Miss Cooksley's splendid show rooms the millinery opening was very successful. The trimmed hats were very prettily made up while the readyto-wears, are of the latest and most pleasing designs.

Among the trimmed hats is to be seen a castor and brown formed in strips of castor felt. The under brim of castor, is ornamented by straps of velvet, held by steel cubuchons. Drapery of brown velvet and a handsome quill effect finish the garniture. Another of the very pretty ones is Marquise Trianon of tan silk and berge velvet. The brim outline is made of new crush silk and velvet, and crown of Angora. Wide black velvet bands and strass ornaments adorn the Splendid Display at This Large Dry Goods Establishment.

Many Captivating Millinery Designs are Exhibited-Other Departments.

At Thibodeau & Jacques' this season the millinery opening has been a huge success, owing, no doubt to the ex-Misses, Wrighton, Byrom and Prescott, the head milliners and their capable assistants. The store is very prettily decorated, principally in green and white, the millinery department and the store being divided by white lace curtains and beautiful palms and ferns, The silent salesmen are very nicely decorated, and are truly silent

Some exceedingly pretty hats are shown. Among them are a Ea Chasse, which is of black velvet with black silk cordeliere tied round the crown, with two tassels at each end. Large white Amazon plumes form the side trimming.

Another is a Continental, made entirely of folds of silver grey velvet. The crown is of the bell shape. At the side, held by two cabuchons, pre clusters of black and white wings. Another beautiful trimmed hat is a Marquise Trianon, of tan tilk and beige velvet. The brim outline is made of the new crush silk and velvet and crown of Angora. Wide black velvet bands and Scrass ornaments adorn the side and back, with a gose in the

About Fall Underclothing

Let us consider the matter.

A climate that ranges through a hundred and ten or twenty degrees of temperature during the year ought to call for considerable care in regard to clothing.

We Canadians have the best and loveliest land on the tace of this sunny globe, but we are not a people who can afford to neglect certain precautions in dress. Pneumonia waits at the shoulder of the man who wears gauze next his skin in late September.

So far as underwear goes we have three seasons in the year. It's the between-season now, and high time for fall weight knit goods-garments like these:-

Plain gray merino undershirts and drawers with sateen facings, ribbed cuff and ankle. Sizes 16, 38 and 40 500

Cotton shirts and drawers, fall weight Choice of two styles, a plain pink and a fancy stripe, both sateen trimmed with ribbed cuff and ankle. The plain line are in small, medium and out sizes.

Foreman's Grand Millinery Display now at its B st.

The Planet Man's Interesting Interview -Gains Some Idea of what will be worn During this Season.

A passerby on King street canno help but be attracted by the beautiful display of millinery made in Foreman's window. An artist has been at work here, and the effect is a most creditable one. The display however, is only, an idea of the wonderful richness of the showing inside. If one is attracted by the window, they cannot help but be charmed when they entler the millinery show-room of this establishment. Everything is very tastefully gotten up and arranged with such skill as to meet the admiration of all who view it. The competent head milliner and her able assistants have really outdone, themselves this year in their efforts to suit the demands of their ever growing patronage. Last year it was thought that the limit was reached in the fine display of millinery art, brings forth new ideas, and new patterns, which are simply irresistable.

This season more than any other, sees so many new ideas carried out with such charming results. The prevailing colors will be watercress green and verdigias, made in every tine and wood shades up to fun, browns, browns, pearl grey turquoise blue, old rose and castor, black and black and white moire, more than any other color precommates. The shapes are in many styles of the Gainsborough and many large effects. Toques tilted on one side or both, with sweeping breasts and plumes, also birds. Antique lace is very largely used, and soft liberty silks. Chenille in jet and steel squared passementeries, panne velvets in plain and Parisian effects are favorites. Much stitching and solid shirring is used also the overlapping frills. Tips formed the brim of a large black velvet picture hat, faced in with gold and cream applique chiffon, two very handsome black plumes sweeping about the left side to the back. The tilts decidedly to the left. From the bandeau, decorated with a mass of loops of rich black ribbon and a Rhinestone cabuchon. Much admired was a grey toque in two shades of panne velvet, trimmed with steel and chenille passementieres over old rose liberty silk. Velvet straps stitched and caught at back with steel orna-

A particularly handsome mink toque had a soft angora crown with antique lace over rose liberty silk, tilted high on both sides, with a broad band of mink. The crown comes over and is caught at the side with Rhine stone crescent.

One stand of large black hats makes a very fine showing. Among the sold are two for Detroit, one for St. Paul, Minn., and one for Montreal. They also have a complete stock of outing hats.
They have, this year, made a specialty of a handsome lot of felt, and camel's hair cloth, in every shade for smart suit hats.

One very beautiful hat which was much admired was a handsome emerald green toque, with a long sweeping breast. Antique lace and brown fur form the crown, and is fastened by a Rhinestone bar.

Their outing hats are very prettily gotten up with white camets' hair and Persian trimmed effects.

This firm also has a very large business in linens and dress goods. Their imported linens of Irish, Scotch and German manufacture are of the best shown in the city.

shown in the city.

Their dress goods department is stocked with goods of the very best weaves, and of the finest and most upto-date manufacture.
