

Councillors not doing job says President

UNB's student councillors came in for a hard rap on the knuckles Monday. Students Representative Council President Roy Neale told the councillors that many of them were lax in their jobs, and not fully representing the students.

"Its your job to be up on your faculty and its interests," said Neale. "Its pretty hard to do that when you don't even know the president of your society. You're supposed to come through you to this council."

Its fundamental that we do this," he concluded. Councillor Barb Baird agreed with Neale, but noted that it was pretty hard to get student feedback if the students weren't interested in giving it.

The matter was dropped.

In other council business President Neale announced that applications were open for a Fall Festival and Winter Carnival coordinator. Members are also needed for the committee, which this year will be responsible for two campus 'weeks' instead of the traditional one. There won't be any big name group, Neale announced, but rather there will be more student groups hopefully participating. Money that was to have been used for the band - $8,000 in all - will be funnelled into other festival and carnival events.

This year's fall festival - the first ever - will be from October 30 - election day - to November 4. Red and Black will run from Tuesday to Thursday inclusive that week in the SUB ballroom. Other activities will include a pub in McConnell Hall, and a residence-run ball.

The Drop in the Bucket campaign, fresh a year's absence from the UNB campus, is back again. Starting October 16, the five day campaign will involve students in raising money for children in other nations. The campaign was held here in 1970-71 and was fairly successful, but for some reason the campaign was dropped last year. Next month's campaign will see students all over the campus and downtown area soliciting funds for the 'bucket', sponsored by the Canadian Save the Children Fund.

Barb Baird was unanimously appointed returning officer for the fall SRC election, but she said Wednesday that she's decided to run again for herecouncil seat, and won't be able to take the job. So council will be faced next Monday with the duty of appointing a new returning officer.

Several points of information were issued by the President. Neale said that the Irish Eyes pub at McConnell Hall was successful, and that a financial breakdown was forthcoming. Special entertainment for the pub was the Dublin Corporation.

He also announced that the College Hill Social Club has succeeded in getting new premises in the Old Student Centre. Last but not least, Neale told the council that the Brunswickan will be changing printers. Beginning October 6, the newspaper will be printed in Moncton. The tabloid is presently published in Woodstock.

Saint John River cleanup may be forthcoming

BY MARGOT BREWER
Saint John River clean up a general review of federal government policy on the Atlantic Canada commercial fishing ban and insights into a Marine National Park were reviewed by Federal Fisheries and Environment Minister Jack Davis Tuesday night. Davis held an informal press conference at the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel during an overnight stop over in Fredericton. He was here to meet with the Liberal candidate for York - Sunbury Ray Dixon and York - Sunbury Liberal Party executives. Davis was on his way to an International Salmon Symposium in St. Andrew's where he was the keynote speaker.

Mr. Davis revealed that there will be an announcement soon concerning Federal assistance to aid in cleaning up the Saint John River. He noted that already there has been a considerable amount of money spent by private industry to achieve this end.

"There has already been $30,000,000 spent by industry in New Brunswick to clean up the Saint John River. In five years time, the river should be clean and able to support salmon again," he said.

He added that he does not feel the International Joint Commission will have to intervene in the clean up negotiations.

"The Commission steps in only when there is a water quality question between the two countries," he said.

"The Commission is in effect a type of court or referral pot when there is disagreement between the U.S. and Canada. However I don't feel that if the planners and project designer agree there will be any need to bring IJC," he said.

Davis expressed the hope that there will be a Marine National Park on the West Coast of Canada in 1975.

"We hope that we will be able to achieve a marine wilderness area set aside in British Columbia, or possibly in the Lake area. Many locally declared parks do however extend their boundaries out to sea to protect their own recreation resources."

He also reiterated his previously expressed concern on the effect of the commercial fishing ban imposed in June of this year.

"I realize that the Maritimes and Quebec are seriously affected by the ban but I feel that the bonafide fishermen are being generously compensated," he said.

Davis feels that the January 1/76 fishing phase out by the Danes will assist in the rejuvenation of salmon numbers in Atlantic waters.

"With more escapements in use, and their increased usage the salmon will have a greater chance of reaching the spawning grounds and replenishing themselves," he said.

"I am skeptical about the Danes recently reported catch numbers and although their planned January 1, 1976 phase out in Atlantic waters seems long term and drawn out to us, over the five years they will have at least cut their catch in half."

He expects certain complaints on the overall compensation figures but feels that the monies allocated have been generous.

"This is the first situation where fishermen have been compensated and I naturally don't expect that everyone is satisfied. However, it was agreed that there would be a group settlement and we can't do much more if there is further reaction to compensation figures," he said.

"The more industrious fishermen may be receiving a lower income while the not so industrious may be receiving more. If we did not, however, ban commercial salmon fishing totally, at the time, we would have had to cut the season in half thereby cutting their salaries. Instead of doing this we chose, in a sense the harder route for which they will be receiving a stabilized income, over the next five years."

UNB '71 - '72 year book to arrive in November

Ken De Freitas, this year's editor of "Up the Hill", plans to have a bigger year book this year.

By NANCY CARR
UNB's 1971-72 yearbooks won't be arriving until late November or early December, according to last year's co-editor, Ken De Freitas. De Freitas, who is also editor of the '72-'73 book, plans to have the books here sooner next year, however. "My main ambition," he said, "is to have the '73 yearbook ready for registration next year." To do this, the yearbook must be sent out for publication by the end of next

Summer registration healthy

By NANCY CARR
Although figures for enrolment in UNB's 1972 Summer School were down from previous years, the combined Intersession and Summer School programs have had a healthy registration of approximately 2,750 students. According to John Morris, Director of Intersession and Summer School, the Intersession program was expected to attract about 200 students this year. However, more than double this amount took advantage of the spring session. Enrolment in summer school dropped from 2,750 last year to about 2,300 students this year. But the reduced number of students is nothing new, said Mr. Morris, as the figure has been decreasing evenly since the peak year of 1970 when 3,055 students enrolled in the summer session.

May, following Encaenia, but he is convinced that this can be accomplished. Another ambition of De Freitas' concerns the present sale of the yearbooks. Only 800 have been sold so far. He said the low sales can be partially attributed to many students missing the sales booth at the rink because they participated in the pre-registration scheme. But he is determined to make up for the sales deficiency by instigating some sort of sales campaign.

Students should realize, he stressed, that yearbooks that can now be ordered for $5 at the S.R.C. Office will cost up to $8 if not purchased until next fall.

The '71-'72 yearbook of which De Freitas was co-editor was sold for $3. However, he says, "there is not really a hike in price."

Hard-cover yearbooks, he explained, have always been sold for $5 and the $3 price was for a soft-cover, shorter edition.

This year's book will be expanded from 180 to 288 pages. To cut back on costs, most of the color photographs will be replaced by duotones, tints, and colored pages.

The reason for the switch back to the higher priced volume, said De Freitas, is because of the protestations of last year's graduating students over the cheaper book. He also feels that most of the students he has spoken to this year also prefer the idea of a hard-cover volume.

Regarding the composition of the '72-'73 yearbook, De Freitas says "It is my ambition to include as many students as possible - from sports, clubs, social activities, and so on. Everyone has a 50-50 chance of being in this yearbook."

Applications open for Fall Festival

By BOB JOHNSON
Applications were opened this week for the chairman of this year's Fall Festival.

SRC President Roy Neale said, "We hope to have the backbone of the committee by next week." This would give the committee just over four weeks in which to work before the scheduled Oct. 30 opening date.

The festival will run until Nov. 4 and will consist of events staged by the students themselves.

Asked if students could expect a big name group to be taking part in the festivities, the SRC president said it was thought the committee should draw from the students on campus to provide the bulk of the entertainment.

Neale added that the dates of the festival were scheduled to coincide with this year's edition of the Red and Black Revue on Oct. 31 and Nov. 2 and the game between the Red Bombers and Acadia Axemen here Nov. 4.

In addition, said the SRC president, we would hope to have the participation of the organizations on campus in making a contribution to the festival by staging an event.

"When you have all these committees working together on a specific project," he said, "they can work amazingly fast and amazingly efficient."

Neale mentioned a beer garden as perhaps just one of the many activities that could be held during the six day event. However, final preparations and organizational work will depend on a committee that to date is non-existent.

Pacey assumes appointment

By GEORGE MCALLISTER, JR.
The appointment of Dr. W. C. Desmond Pacey to the office of Acting President of the University of New Brunswick became effective September 16.

Originally, Pacey was to have assumed the post on July 1, the day after Dr. James O. Dineen's resignation as President. However, due to ill health Pacey was unable to fill the capacity until last week.

Pacey will take up the position until a new President is appointed or until June 30, 1973, whichever the situation calls for.

Georgé A. McAllister chairman of the Joint Nominating committee on the Office of President, noted, when contacted by the BRUNSWICKAN, that the committee's work is progressing very well. He said the committee will make its recommendation to a joint meeting of the University Senate and Board of Governors.

If the recommendation is accepted it will be forwarded to the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council for final approval.

Let's restructure the SRC

There's been talk for as long as we can remember about restructuring the Students Representative Council, thus magically making it more active if not more democratic. Ideas on the subject have been tossed back and forth for years, but nothing concrete has been done.

As expected, there have been the odd, minor changes, but nothing on a scale which would drastically alter the SRC's method of operations. We have a modest proposal we'd like to submit for consideration.

The council right now has a total of 30 members, 29 of whom are elected. The remaining member is the Finance Chairman, who is appointed by the Comptroller. A council of 30 people is rather unwieldy, and with a goodly number of councillors asking the same questions and other such time-consuming trivia, meetings drag on and on.

It is only right that each and every councillor have his or her say, because, after all, they do represent the people. But if the council were smaller, wouldn't the trivia be reduced proportionately?

We feel it would. But before changing the council, it's important to analyze student representation on two other decision-making bodies on campus - the Senate and the Board of Governors. There are five student Senators from UNB and there will be three students elected sometime this fall for the Board of Governors.

These eight people, presumably dedicated, will be operating on behalf of the students in the highest levels of the administration. SRC President Roy Neale has proposed that some of the student senators and student governors be appointed by the council, thus providing a concrete link between the SRC and the other two bodies.

Student representation on campus would be strengthened all around, or so goes the argument. Strengthening student representation is an admirable task, but there are other ways of doing it. In light of the fact that the administration doesn't seem to be too hot on the idea of the SRC appointing members of the Senate and Board of Governors, we would suggest to Neale that these other ways can be acted upon immediately by the SRC. No approval is necessary from the administration to get our own house in order, so to speak.

The SRC can already nominate students to the Senate's various committees, although there isn't any guarantee that the nominations will be accepted. Until nominations are refused, however, it's safe to assume that the administration is at least willing to consider SRC nominations in this matter.

But rather than have the SRC appoint senators and governors, however, we feel it more practical and democratic for the duly-elected senators and governors to become members of the SRC, thus welding the student 'front' into one. But this would add eight new members to an already over-sized council.

So the remedy is simple. Right now, there is one councillor for every 500 students on this campus. Cut that in half, and you get a 13 member council with a four member executive, for a total of 17 people. Add eight, and presto, a new, dedicated, streamlined council of 25 people.

The argument of some people that reps are needed for each and every faculty is no longer valid. Hopefully we are now in the age where we can work together, and take each other's needs into account at the same time. There can be no justification for such a large council, and we must note that our proposal only lowers the number of members by five.

What our proposal does do, however, is provide a strong unit of student representation at all three levels of campus government. As well, it allows for more SRC councillors to be elected at large, and forces petty faculty disagreements into the background.

The need for a more unified campus on every count demands that this proposal be taken into consideration. While we may not be right perhaps it will indeed provoke some discussion, and we'll all be better off in the end.

Vandalism unnecessary

The proverbial student we heard so much about is supposed to be free and easy, with only one or two minor cares - the Vietnam war, for instance.

While that may be all well and good, there are a few people on campus who disagree with this philosophy about caring. They actually don't give a damn about anything. Minorities of this size rarely merit our attention, but this one is different.

These few people were either (a) drunk out of their minds, (b) stoned out of their minds, (c) all of the above, or (d) just plain ignorant. Last week several five year old trees in front of Memorial Hall were broken. The remaining stumps were removed by the Maintenance department.

While trees aren't something we necessarily get upset about, (there are, after all, plenty around) this kind of action is totally unwarranted. We only hope that these grade B morons had their fun. At least their effort won't have been entirely without purpose.

FEEDBACKFEEDBACK

Dear Sir:

Please print this letter in the Brunswickan.

Why are we all here? Why attend university at all? Of course we have fun and some girls find husbands; but most people, I'm sure they will agree, are here to get an education. The education is mainly to help us to get jobs. As far as jobs are concerned the education is useless if we don't pass exams. For some, the education may be useless unless they make good grades on the exams.

Last year during my first-college final exams I witnessed something which could annihilate someone's possibility of making a good grade on an exam or maybe even passing it. This something was the noise made in the rink lobby during the last forty-five minutes of the exam periods. It is very surprising that University students would be naive enough to make so much noise while their fellow students were writing papers that determine what grade those students can get for a whole year of work, especially since

I hope I have pointed out a simple mistake to those few students. I hope they are mature enough to act more responsible next time.

If the professors don't think things will change I implore them to take effective steps, such as possibly not allowing students to remain in the exam hall after they have finished their exams. I hope we students don't need that sort of fatherly control.

Dear Sir:

To Ms. Moreland, author of the insert on P.6 of last week's Brunswickan, concerning the revolutionary advances made on the library cards.

I am truly indebted to your front-line report, because, in my blissful, doddering way, I was unaware that another bastion had fallen, let alone existed, or was under attack, or even was being defended by anyone. At the risk of making your victory sound hollow (far be it from me), allow me to express my gratitude that there were no casualties. The opening sentence of your report merited a little attention; it was stirring, action-packed, carefully constructed so as to capture the reader's undivided attention and lead him onward. In much the same fashion as a 1917 vintage Communist pamphlet designed to inspire and agitate the restless dregs of the intelligentsia. Might I venture to suggest that you revamp the little red book of thoughts and hints for the Women's Lib organizer. I believe that Gloria Steinem can type. If she can't, Germaine Greer can, for a fact.

Really and truly, laying all rhetoric aside, if you are so fired up with revolutionary zeal and hold yourself to be a true proponent of sexual equality, there are plenty of opportunities on which you can focus your endeavours. You could for example attack discrimination in car insurance rates, or that little clause in the marriage contract that awards title to all joint holdings to the woman. Of course I wouldn't ask anyone to dance at their own funeral, so whether you heed these glaring examples of inequality and sexual discrimination is entirely up to you. It would, however, be much more of a meaningful advance than a typographical alteration to a few thousand library cards.

If you think otherwise, I'm quite willing to have my mind changed for me over a coffee in the SUB; I'll give you my unfaltering attention, sympathy, and some heart-felt condolences. Or just leave a note on the bulletin board by the blue lounge, addressed to MCP (Male Chauvinist Pig) Kreiberg. Because that's me.

H. Kreiberg

Sir;

While it will not be the The Editor.

Red & Black

Oct. 25

By FORREST ORSER

The Red and Black Revue will be held in the SUB ballroom again this year. The ballroom was chosen over the Fredericton Playhouse to decrease expenses and to allow the Revue to be aimed at a university audience, rather than the general public, said director Peter Ashton.

Organizers have planned to put the stress on comedy in the show aimed at a wide range of subjects, including UNB itself, but with less folk singing than in previous years. There will also be a kick line.

Scheduled for October 31 and November 1 and 2, it will act as a focal point for other student activities during the production week. It will also be an opportunity for students to perform on an amateur level.

Plans call for renting sound and lighting equipment to make better use of the ballroom, and for more elaborate costumes and scenery.

Mugwump Journal

By EDISON STEWART

Elsewhere in this paper, specifically on the editorial page, you'll find the Brunswickan's idea for revamping the SRC. While we may not be whizzes at restructuring student democracies, there is a good deal of validity to the statements made in this week's editorial. Our only hope now is that the SRC will take them to heart and consider them seriously.

Saga Foods have been having some pretty tough times lately. During the summer, SRC President Roy Neale nagged them enough so that he finally got a look at their books. Apparently Saga didn't do too well last year and now there have been problems in both the SUB and Lady Dunn Hall. The girls at the Dunn ate at McConnell Hall Tuesday night when they found a pile of dirty cutlery at their own eating spot. When they moved to McConnell, the guys went to the Dunn, and confusion reigned supreme.

Earlier this week in the SUB, Mike Shouldice of CHSR and myself have been bugging them about the new drink sizes they've got out. They were overcharging on the drinks for a while (the 10 cent glasses were going for 15, the 15 cent glasses for 20, and the 20 cent glasses for 25 cents). But after I contacted Saga the prices went back down. Somebody there was under the mistaken impression that the drinks had gone up. Saga's SUB manager Mark Steepe, who was also under that impression, checked his files and found different, however.

Milkshake portions seem to be smaller this year as well, but that may be my imagination.

SRC Veep Mike Richard, whose term is up next month, will be running for one of three student Board of Governors seats. Rick Fisher will be trying for one as well. So far, no other candidates have been announced.

Speaking of Fisher, he commented Monday night at the SRC meeting that the tiles in front of the library have been changed from sure-slip to semi-slip. Now only one foot goes.

And now, a personal gripe...

There's a fountain just outside the Brunswickan office that has been in a state of disrepair for months now. Come on fellows, we're getting thirsty...

Here's some good news...Red and Black is getting started again, and they could use your help, especially if you've got a talent of some sort. See Peter Ashton in the SUB office in the SUB if you'd like to participate. Another good cause that needs your support is the Fall Festival, currently being organized by the SRC. If you've got some spare time, the campus sure could use your help.

And before I break down because I've been so nice this week, I'm going to sign off. Good night to y'all. You too, Team Canada.

Dean of Students tries to maintain contacts

By JEFF DAVIES

Maintaining contact with students, developing a liaison with other student services, and gathering information for reviews of the health centre and accommodations and placement office have kept Dr. Frank Wilson, UNB's Dean of Students, busy this summer.

Dr. Wilson has had visits from individual students seeking assistance in problems ranging from academic to financial but has also devoted time to working with student organizations and committees.

Having officially assumed his position only two months ago, he is still in the process of "trying to get the office set up." He has recently moved into his quarters in the old Student Centre.

Dr. Wilson sees himself as a representative of the students, both individually and collectively, before the administration of the university. He tries to interpret university regulations to the students and answer any general questions they might have.

What is the outcome of this? "In most cases we've either found the answer or found someone who has the answer," says Dr. Wilson. He added, however, that he doesn't anticipate always being able to find solutions. To date, he has found students to be excellent

A lot of Dr. Wilson's efforts have gone into studying student services to see where UNB stands in relation to other universities. He has been working with the student committee which is in the process of studying the health centre and feels they are "getting very close to a report."

As for the report, Dr. Wilson feels that "most people will be contented with it." He says the report will bring about "quite a different type of health service." He feels that the present program was ad-equated when it was instituted but that we have merely outgrown it.

One change already made in the operations of the health centre is that there will be seven clinics a week. "This will hold the fort until we get the recommendations that come out of the health service review."

The seven clinics are scheduled for Monday 2 to 4 p.m., Tuesday 2 to 4 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m., Wednesday 9 to 11 a.m., Thursday 9 to 11 a.m., and 7 to 9 p.m., and Friday 9 to 11 a.m.

Dr. Wilson is also involved in the filling of teaching positions and the consideration of applicants for scholarships and awards. He is chairman of the senate undergraduate scholarship committee.

The Dean of Students worked closely with the New Brunswick Union of Students this summer in its dispute with the provincial government concerning the loan and bursary program. Dr. Wilson says he is in "complete sympathy" with Roy Neale, secretary of the union. He feels the NBUS should take full credit for the changes announced last week by Youth and Welfare Minister Brenda Robertson. His assessment of the recent changes is that "we haven't got any more money but we've got a better distribution of it." He added that he thinks it is better to have the money in the form of bursaries rather than loans.

He feels that the government should undertake "a complete review of the whole situation... Hopefully the government will do this before we get into another academic year." Any such review, said Dr. Wilson, "should certainly include good representation from the student body."

One thing he is not clear of, with regards the new policy announced by the provincial government, is "whether they are going to review all the applications with the idea of increasing all levels of loan and bursary money or are they simply going to break it out differently." The level of money increase, said Dr. Wilson, is the "critical point."

We asked Dr. Wilson just how he would handle a grievance of students such as the one which occurred a few years ago when certain students complained of being harassed at the campus following their attendance at an anti-war protest in the U.S. Dr. Wilson declined to say just how he would react in such a situation so as to "leave all the avenues open" for real life situations. He did not wish to be bound by set patterns of action, preferring to "handle each request as it comes."

Dr. Frank Wilson, Dean of Students.

Kerr seeks PC nomination

Robert W. Kerr, assistant professor of law at the University of New Brunswick, is seeking the Progressive Conservative nomination for York-Sunbury in the up-coming federal election.

Professor Kerr

Professor Kerr has been National President of the Young Progressive Conservatives and the National Vice-President of the P.C. Youth Federation. He has also served for two years on the Policy Co-ordinating Committee, which has been working on party policy under the chairmanship of National P.C. Leader, Robert Stanfield, as well as being a member of a special Task Force on Canadian Sovereignty.

He is author of "Legislation Against Discrimination in Canada", published by the New Brunswick Human Rights Commission. Professor Kerr received a Bachelor of Arts degree from UNB in 1964. He then obtained his law degree from Dalhousie Law School and his Master of Laws degree from Harvard Law School.

Search for day care funds continues

By JEFF DAVIES

The search is continuing for funds to provide a new day care centre for UNB.

At least for the present, the centre will remain in operation in the old structure - the brown barrack below the library. The lease on this building expired on July 1 but the university has agreed to allow the day care centre to continue there on a month to month basis.

As an alternative, the university had made available 19,000 square feet of land along Windsor Street for the construction of a new centre. To date, the operators of the centre have been unsuccessful in their bid to have a building constructed on this site.

The university has not provided a building on the grounds that its funds are limited and academic construction has priority.

The Fredericton Kinsmen Club has offered $1,000 to back a mortgage for a new building, but Donna Poh, director of the centre, says that it would not have been possible to pay off the mortgage. Mrs. Poh told the BRUNSWICKAN that a major drive would be undertaken to obtain the necessary funds for the construction and expressed confidence that the campaign would be successful. She said it "definitely should be our last year" at the old building.

Mrs. Poh expressed a desire to have students volunteer their services for part time work at the centre. There are currently nine full time employees and one part time janitor. Eighty-one children are enrolled either on a daily or half daily basis five days a week. The centre commenced its operations for this year on September 5th.

New system avoids chaos

By GARY CAMERON

Pre-registration is a step in the right direction towards avoiding the first of the year chaos at the rink. Although first time around problems delayed the sending out of registration kits this year, approximately two-thirds of returning students pre-registered. Most of them benefitted in terms of saving time in line-ups, having to go to the rink only to have photos taken for I.D. cards.

According to UNB registrar

D. C. Blue, "the registrars' office benefitted from pre-registration by advance knowledge of class sizes and a spreading out of the heavy fall workload."

Next year will see few changes in the format of the kit with fewer forms needed. Hopefully the pre-registration kits will be distributed sooner, facilitating earlier course approval by department heads and ending the necessity of long line-ups at the rink.

Beer and Brewing

More beer is drunk than any other alcoholic beverage in the world for three main reasons: 1. The climate; 2. The Protestant ethic; 3. It's quicker to make.

Nobody knows the who, when or where of the first brewed product. Historians have traced it back at least 6,000 years. The Babylonians, the early Chinese, the Pharaohs, Caesar's armies all knew it.

But it may have been made long before them. Perhaps by an aboriginal people - even in that land mass which has been reshaped by geology and politics into what we now call Canada. For beer is dependent on barley, a grain that grows prolifically on Canadian soil.

Today, Australia, Jamaica, even Mexico and Japan, have great locally produced beers and ales to range beside the famous ones of Britain, Denmark, Germany and Holland. So does Canada.

The amateur beer-makers don't claim to be brewmasters for Carlsberg or Lowenbrau. But, on the other hand, they can produce excellent beers in all respects, as good if not better than the normal commercial product.

This year Saga foods will be initiating a new system of providing daily meals to out of residence students. The plan entails paying a certain fee in order to receive the same meals as those students in residence.

Off campus meal plan changes locality

By BOB JOHNSON

Students participating in the off campus meal plan being offered by Saga Food Service will be eating their meals in the residence dining rooms instead of the old student center.

Garry Knox, food service director for Saga, said they had sold 35 of the plans and that this small number did not justify the exclusive use of the cafeteria in the Stud to serve these people.

A number of physical education students had complained to the Dean of Students saying that they would prefer to have à la carte meals served in the Stud cafeteria, the food director said.

The residence dining rooms (McConnell and Lady Dunn) could serve an extra 100 people, but should the number participating in the off campus meal plan increase over this number then it will be necessary to move back to the original building, he explained.

In the meantime, the old student center will revert back to the à la carte setup which was established there last year. It serves many of the students who find it closer to their classes than the SUB, said Knox.

The meal plan is similar to plans Saga operates on other campuses and is a result of the many requests they had last year for such a service.

It offers two options, lunch and supper during the week-days at a cost of $216.38 per term or the same two meals for the entire week at $283.93 per term.

Asked why more students were not taking advantage of this service, Knox said where it is a new plan to the campus it will take some time before all the students find out that an off campus meal plan is being offered at UNB. He believes that more plans will be sold as the year goes on and when the second term begins in January.

Course evaluation based on questionnaire

By RICK BASTON

In a recent interview with SRC vice president, Mike Richard, it was revealed that UNB would in all likelihood have course evaluation within the next couple of years. A pilot run was made last spring but unfortunately the report will not be released until sometime in October.

The UNB course evaluation program will be based on a slightly modified version of the evaluation questionnaire used by Loyola College of Montreal.

The Loyola program has been in use for several years now and is published annually as a student version of the university calendar. It has a much more comprehensive outline of the course and the statistics of how the students evaluated the course and the professor. This program is a substantial part of the criteria for both the student and the professor in judging the courses.

The report on the pilot run is not available but Richard explained to the Bruns in a general way the results of the report. Each department was asked to pick a freshman course and another course to be evaluated by the committee. A total of sixty courses were evaluated.

The results were excellent. Almost all of the courses were considered to be good and the instructors were considered to be doing good jobs. All the comments, both favourable and unfavourable were passed onto the instructors for their benefit.

Several departments had previously conducted their own course evaluations. When these were compared with the evaluation statistics they were found to be similar in nature. The cost of the entire survey was $300.

All of this is fine, but just exactly what is the point of it? The main benefit is that it will tend to raise the quality of education on campus. The evaluation will provide valuable feedback for both the student and teacher and also cut down on the failure rate in course. It could prove to be the best investment that the university will ever make.

Insurance policy "reasonably good coverage"

By JEFF DAVIES

"Seeing as we're paying for it, we might as well use it," says Students Representative Council President Roy Neale referring to the group insurance policy which covers UNB students.

The Maritime Life Assurance Company provides hospital coverage for foreign students at the university while also giving coverage to Canadian students supplementary to Medicare services. The cost is $8 for Canadians and $55 for non-Canadians, with the money being included in the price of tuition. The coverage lasts from September 1, 1972 to August 31, 1973.

Wherever you go during that year, you're covered. Get a puck in the mouth during an intramural hockey game and Maritime Life takes care of the dental fees. The policy also takes care of prescription drugs and infirmary costs, none of which is included under Medicare.

The coverage is divided into four basic areas; life insurance, accident benefits, infirmary coverage, supplementary health care, and primary sickness benefit (for students not covered by Medicare.) Canadian students from provinces other than New Brunswick continue to receive Medicare coverage from their own province through a reciprocal agreement.

While the term life insurance is self explanatory, accident coverage included dismemberment insurance, medical expense insurance and dental expense insurance. Supplementary healthcare coverage denotes major sickness expense insurance and prescription drug insurance.

Included under primary sickness expense insurance are surgical and anaesthetic expenses; medical fees (for students not covered by Medicare); consultant fees; diagnostic, laboratory and X-ray examination expenses and physiotherapy; ambulance coverage; and maternity coverage.

Infirmary coverage takes care of the expenses charged by the university infirmary up to three dollars a day for a period not to exceed one year.

Hospital coverage for foreign students takes care of medical expenses for the students and their insured dependents who are not eligible for coverage under the Provincial Hospital Plan.

"I think it's reasonably good coverage," said Dr. Wilson, the Dean of Students. "Of course we can keep reviewing it." Such a review will be carried out during the next year.

The university will shortly be distributing 4000 copies of a descriptive leaflet concerning the insurance policy.

A history of student aid

By JOHN BALL

The number of students assessed as requiring student loans over the $1700 limit grew from 2.4 percent of total recipients in 1968 to 2.6 percent of the total in 1970 according to figures in the Higher Education Commission Report of February 1972.

A feature not implemented until the 1968-69 academic year, was the means test. One of the aims of this test according to the Higher Education Commission Report of 1969 was "that parents make a specific contribution toward the educational costs of their dependants."

This new formula represents an increase in federal allotment from $1000 to $1400. The provincial financial commitment on a per student basis remains unchanged at $700.

The demonstrated increase in the level of need has led responsible authorities at both the federal and provincial level to make more dollars available to students. The formula to be applied this year

Sex anchored

This will attempt to discuss just a few of the many things you learn in life, which are not included in the university curriculum. Sorry, it will not include how to spend money, stay happy, keep your roommate from destroying you or anything as relevant as that. Topics which are covered try to show the initial dangers and problems of sex and how, once eliminated, you have a thousand other problems. Extracts from a recent conversation with Dr. Meyers, the director of Student Health on the campus, are included to assure that information contained in the article is up-to-date. It is not intended to be written only for the young females on campus. It is, however, written to them. I hope they read it, think about it, agree or disagree, and express their thoughts.

By JUDY STEEVES

Since the Age of Majority Act was passed in the last legislature, all females 19 years of age and over can get the Birth Control Pill very easily provided they pass the initial physical examination and have $2.50 a month to pay for it. Those female students under 19 years of age must have written consent from a parent or a legal guardian. Any doctor at Student Health, like all New Brunswick doctors, could be held responsible by the parent for prescribing the pill to someone under the age of 19, who does not have this proof of consent. The clinic will not ask you a series of heavy questions, either. Many of the doctors working at universities strongly recommend that females take it. The possibility of pregnancy is too great and too shocking to allow it to upset your school year. Most young girls cannot envision themselves in the state of pregnancy at the time of sexual intercourse. The fear of becoming pregnant can slowly fade out of mind, especially if you are passionately involved with a new friend, an old friend, or just anybody.

Nevertheless, nature paces us on a 28-day menstrual cycle, if you have not already upset it, and allows approximately 24 to 48 hours for conception during that time. This might sound like a "helluva long time to play around" each month, but it isn't. Furthermore the consequences are too real, too earth-shattering to put yourself through. Why bother? You will have nothing to gain by an unwanted pregnancy except a depression, multitudes of philosophical questions which you are not prepared to answer at this stage in your life, and a strained relationship with some male who will try to be the man he supposes he now is.

Let us assume you decide not to take the pill, for some reason which may be discussed later in the article. Then, it happens, just like that with a "it was our first time, goddamit" or "we were always so careful". You are pregnant, not him (blaming him is a stage you may go through).

You can have the baby, on principle, even if you would rather not. That is just the beginning of one solution. Afterwards, leaving school, adoption, and marriage questions appear. This, for the most part, is a sad solution. If you have rushed into a sexual relationship, why should this have anything to do with marriage? Unwanted children have no place in today's over-populated world. You cannot manifest maternal desires by giving birth to a child you know you will not have time for.

We know there are a billion things to be done for mankind and the world in every field. Here you are at an "institution of higher learning" where, even if it does not allow you to think for yourself, it does provide you with countless means of gaining knowledge. Gracious, young women should no longer rob the world of their ideas with their excuses of shyness, dumbness, disinterest or femaleness. They must come out of their shadows and present their ideas to debate, to influence, and to inspire.

The second solution to your pregnancy is not to have the baby. This can be carried out in several ways. Suicide, puncturing your womb, falling down a long flight of stairs to list a few which are effective, except they involve other rather serious problems. Do you understand?

In Canada, legal abortions may be performed only if the health — mental, as well as physical — of the woman is endangered. These abortions are okayed and arranged by therapeutic abortion boards at each hospital. These boards usually comprise a psychiatrist, a gynecologist, and other respectable doctors of the community. In Fredericton, it is difficult to be approved for mental reasons by the board unless you are considered almost psychotic. Since most young women are physically very capable of having children, the chances of a legal abortion here are almost nil. If you are from out-of-town, you could consult a general practitioner in your area and ask him to refer your case to the local abortion board. As you can see, it is generally advisable not to get your hopes up for a legal abortion.

The backwardness or conservatism of these Canadian abortion laws is utterly disgusting. They are due partly to years of male chauvinism on the part of doctors, lawyers, and legislators. The men are not bothered by unwanted children because their wives have been contraception-conscious or they have had the necessary amount of money for an abortion or for raising the child. Unfortunately, many women, whose lifetime occupation has been raising children do not understand contraception or comprehend the necessary amount of money and time that a child requires. The passivity and innocent sacrifices of the historical role of women also take its share of blame in this dilemma of unwanted children. We must realize that women are more than breeders and that rearing children should only be done by those who want to undertake it. Women must assume responsibility of their own bodies.

Lastly, in solving our pregnancy plight, is the possibility of an illegal abortion. This is easy provided you have $300 to $600. Think about that, in terms of tuition, books, etc. It's a lot of money. But, nobody will be aware of your disgraceful situation. To date, the closest city providing safe, skillful abortions is Montreal. You can telephone an abortion clinic for arrangements and, within 24-hours, be perfectly cured and back home. Most girls, who have never taken the pill usually begin it after their first abortion. However the rate of re-occurrence is surprising. So, some girls do not like the pill.

And why the hell should we? There are such things as side effects, i.e. sore legs, tiredness, weight gain, etc. Besides, men do not have to take anything. Granted, science is still working on the morning-after pill and pills for men, but at this time, the birth control pill is acknowledged to be the best method of contraception. Furthermore any woman who psychologically wants to take the pill has few side-effects — usually none — except peace of mind and a greater sexual enjoyment.

afterwards. He might think it was "some other chick". His carelessness or yours could leave someone (probably female) sterilized in their later years. Females who contract it will notice a gradually heavier discharge, which may not present any pain. Thus you could be a carrier and not realize it until it is too late.

When you do suspect or realize that you have it, see a doctor, be prepared to "spread the ole legs for some cream" and take your penicillin prescription daily. It will go away. Student Health would like the names of any persons you have been in contact with. If possible, you should comply here. It is strictly confidential and a good way of controlling this disease. You wonder: how can you tell if he has VD? Ask him beforehand and hope he is right. If you are suspicious of his answer, stop or use a rubber.

Be sure.

With all these considerations, you may wish there was no such thing as sex. Actually, some doctors admit that every time a woman has sexual intercourse, she almost "takes her life in her hands." This risk includes her method of contraception, abortion, or in child-birth. However remote these endangering possibilities may seem, they ought to be clearly understood by all those who indulge. So what makes it all worthwhile?

Why good, clean sex, of course.

The biggest problem with this is that nobody really seems to know what "good, clean" sex is. Poor woman, she has been so misunderstood, mistreated and misdirected in history by the male psychologists, medical authorities, society's restrictions, the nuclear family, democracy and on and on. We must realize that she is not faultless in causing and perpetuating this pattern and is probably more to blame than anything else. First, Freud and his women patients describe the female orgasm as one occurring in the vagina. There are several conclusions to be drawn from this. An important one enforces the belief that women have no great sexual desire alone and must be pursued and encouraged by men for sexual stimulation (i.e. we must be entered to have sexual release).

The discovery of the clitoris and female masturbation came along to disrupt these beliefs. Quite probable, masturbation and clitoral orgasms were known before Masters and Johnson; but it seems no woman would come out and announce it. (Why should she? It would be like trying to tell people that fart intensity was significant in personal development.) Clitoral orgasms are not only working but overworking. Most women can have four or five orgasms while her partner is resting after his first or second. Therefore clitoral orgasms are not the supreme fulfillment of female sexuality. Most women do not know what that would be. Obviously, there is only one way to find out and that is not to passively be made "love to."

Much of your socializing this year will probably be to ease or obliterate your boredom. There are many things to do on your own which will provide more stimulus than forcing yourself to date a male, just for the date. Boredom can result in talking with someone and saying nothing; yet, saying everything you have to say but feeling nothing. Regard your school year as if it was a precious piece of grassy, dew covered earth. You must accept it, but you can do whatever you want to with it. You can nurture it with knowledge, cover it with manure, or dig it up for examination. Please, do not just stand there on your land and watch nature die.

There is so much you can do for yourself. For all of us.

This article is not trying to provide ready-made reasons for the novice to start taking this additional estrogen. It wants you to be aware of the complexity of sexual involvement. Inevitably, at university, you will be faced with "problems" or situations demanding your decision on the matter of having sexual intercourse. At that time, thinking, under pressure from the willing partner, becomes confused. Understand yourself. This is your life. You must examine your sexual dimension, make a decision, and be prepared to face the consequences. Be reasonable, not frustrated. Taking the pill does not mean you will be an easy girl. Whatever follows for you sexually is up to you.

Some of you might fear trouble from your parents about your new prescription. If you are under 19 years of age, tell them it is to regulate you. Amazing, it may seem, they will believe you because they want to. Moreover, they will be greatly relieved.

Another very important consideration you must include is the danger of getting venereal disease. Did you realize it was spreading on college campuses completely out of control last year? Even Time magazine said so. Undoubtedly, this "free love" will have our best minds infected by "gonorrhea" and "syphilis," they have not already been affected by something else. Very seriously though, you may not realize you have it because the guy will be too ashamed, careless or considerate to mention it to you

Lady Dunn residents boycott dining room

By BOB JOHNSON

Dirty cutlery was one on the reasons the residents of Lady Dunn descended upon McConnell Hall Tuesday evening for their supper.

Elizabeth Abraham, house secretary-treasurer at Lady Dunn, said many of the women were not finding the meals very appetizing nor the cutlery very clean. So we boycotted our own diningroom.

She said it was at a stage where the residents were going through the cafeteria line and not finding anything they wanted for their meals. Many of the women were eating little or nothing at all.

"We went in anger," she said, "and after we had done it - we were sorry we did."

Many of the women thought that the manager of the Lady Dunn dining hall was aware of the situation, she explained. We found out later that no one had approached the manager with a complaint.

Miss Abraham estimated that over 50 percent of the residents of Lady Dunn took part in the boycott. However she understood that the overall effect of the boycott resulted in a shortage of about 70 people for supper at Lady Dunn.

Many of the men had supper Tuesday evening at Lady Dunn when they found line-ups at McConnell Hall, she said.

Miss Abraham said she noticed a marked improvement in the cleanliness of the cutlery and the variety of the menu at Lady Dunn on Wednesday.

House representatives met with officials of Saga Food Service yesterday to further discuss problems with the meals at Lady Dunn.

SRC

election Oct. 25

By GARY CAMERON

The Students Representative Council will be holding its fall general election on October 25, one of two elections held annually.

Up for grabs this time are the positions of SRC vice-president, to be elected by the student body and 14 various faculty representatives to be elected by members of their respective faculties. Two representatives will be needed from each of the faculties of Engineering, Science and the School of Graduate Studies; one from Law, Education, Forestry and Business Administration; and four from Arts.

Nominations must be in writing, with the full name, local address and phone number, faculty and year of each candidate, nominator and second. The nomination for VP requires a nominator and 10 seconders, while that of a faculty or class representative requires a nominator and 2 seconders from that faculty.

Nominations for the various positions close two weeks before the date of the election except for positions with less than 2 nominations.

Health clinic hours

SUB expands its activities this fall

These two studious fellows are trying out the newly renovated television watching room on the second floor of the sub. As you notice it is quite a comfortable spot to take in your favorite programs.

By JANET HOGG

Two new carpeted TV rooms have been opened just around the corner from the main blue lounge in the Student Union Building. According to Kevin McKinney, Director of the SUB, expenses amounted to approximately $3000 for the two colour televisions, building platforms, and carpeting for the rooms. To avoid conflict of the channel to be viewed, the TV's are set on different stations. These lounges are open daily until midnight, when the main lounge closes.

ed to approximately $3000 for

This year McKinney is interested in designating one day a week or every two weeks, depending upon the student response, to hold a "flea market" in the SUB. People will be able to register for a booth enabling them to sell any handicrafts or suitable items like leather goods, jewelry, paintings, and used books. Those students who wish to become involved should contact McKinney in the SUB office.

McKinney is also willing to set up non-credit classes for personal enjoyment, such as yoga, sewing, wine and beer making. Student response is an important factor in their organization.

Plans for weekly or bi-weekly pubs in the cafeteria are already in progress. The group "Montana Moose" will entertain at the pub on Sept. 28.

The College Hill Social Club, located on the third floor of the SUB, is open Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday nights and applications for membership are available at the SUB office. The Club is hoping to expand its facilities to the STUD in order to accommodate more students. Along with this change the Club may consider operating their lounge in the SUB for longer hours most days of the week.

Unfortunately the poor acoustics in the Sub Ballroom are preventing the showing of films. McKinney is investigating the possibility of improving the sound reflection, which might involve putting special tiles on the walls. Despite this problem, the Director is still checking for groups available to perform in concert.

will allot $1100 as a federal loan, the next $700 as a non-repayable provincial bursary, and the final $300 as a further federal loan.

However, Mrs. Brenda Robertson, the minister responsible for administering student aid in the province, said in a press conference on August 10 that "...government revisions this year give post-secondary students easier access to funds to finance their education." One of these changes was, "a more lenient parental contribution table when computing the amount of support expected from the family."

Finally, the UNB position on costs to the student as indicated in their calander would seem to be that one could exist here for about $1600. What happens to those students who are ineligible for student aid, bring $1600 or $1700 in their pockets, and discover it costs $2100 to live through the year?

Students may cast votes at universities

OTTAWA (CUP) - University students may vote where they live while at school, if they consider that dwelling their "ordinary residence", Canada's chief electoral officer said today (Sept. 12).

The statement by J.M. Hamel appeared to contradict earlier indications that enumerators would hinder students attempting to register to vote in their university constituencies in the October 30 federal election.

"If a student tells the enumerator his ordinary residence is room 105 in a certain university residence, well that's it," he said. "We cannot ask any more from a student than we can from any other citizen. We don't ask other people for proof of age or of citizenship. No more so can we ask for proof that a student is really on his own. If a student says he's on his own, then we'll have to accept that."

Under the new Elections Act of 1970 students lost the right to be enumerated in both their parents' home constituencies and in their university ridings. Instead, Parliament gave them the right to vote by proxy in their parents' constituency if they couldn't be there on election day.

Regulations from Hamel's office directed enumerators to determine whether students living "away from home" were "on their own". If they were, they could vote in their university riding, but if they were not they could be enumerated only at their parents' home.

"All we are asking enumerators to do if they are in doubt is to ask students if they would be willing to take an oath about the location of their ordinary residence if challenged on election day," Hamel said in an interview.

"It's a personal decision a student must make by his own conscience," he added.

In directives sent to local returning officers last January Hamel said "enumerators should be instructed that whenever an occupant of a dwelling describes his occupation as 'student' they should determine which of the four basic situations applies to that person by determining the relationship of that person to the other occupants of the dwelling and the nature and frequency of that person's occupancy."

(The four situations were married, single living at home, single living away from home, and single on their own.)

The tone of Hamel's instructions indicated enumerators would be scrupulous in ensuring that only students who were financially independent of their parents would be enumerated in university ridings.

But Hamel said today that students could vote in university ridings if they wanted to.

"I want to emphasize that we're not going to submit students to a means test," he said.

But local returning officers have contacted university residence officials to determine "which students, if any, should be enumerated", according to Hamel's earlier regulations.

Hamel explained today that the move was designed to save time, and that any student who was not included on the on the list provided by residence officials could meet an enumerator in a residence common room and get placed on the voters list.

"In Edmonton this morning we got a report that authorities in a university residence said that 150 students might claim the building as their ordinary residence, but now there will be as many as 700 on the list," he said.

"So residence authorities have nothing to do with the result. They're just saving us the time needed to knock on every residence door and allowing us to allocate the appropriate number of enumerators," the chief electoral officer added.

The Election Act itself only mentions students in its section on proxies. All other rulings for student voting are interpretations from Hamel's office.

National New Democratic Party secretary Clifford Scotton said today he is certain students can choose where they want to vote, and is unaware of Hamel's memos indicating anything to the contrary.

"I have a daughter at York and I provide support for her but I consider her on her own. I expect she will vote there," he said. "The unquestionable right to vote where the student pleases must be established," he added.

Hamel claimed such a principle violates the spirit of the Election Act but that students could not be prevented from considering their university dwelling their ordinary residence if they were willing to swear it on election day.

STU senior seeks PC nod

Gordon Hum, a 26 year old STU Senior, is running for the nomination of the PC candidature on September 23.

Hum has had a wide involvement in community affairs both on and off campus in the past few years. Of the campus groups he has been a member of Action Corps, the University Human Rights and Civil Liberties Association as well as playing intramural sports.

In a recent BRUNSWICKAN interview Hum said he "feels that there is too much representation of the average professional politician types and not enough representation of the average citizen." He went on to say that he believed in a people-picked candidate and not a candidate picked by the party big shots.

"I consider myself either undereducated or overeducated" stated Hum, "but with ability to relate to people at all levels of society with personal sincerity rather than political professionalism."

- 9) Karl Marx might well have been a distinguished scholar had he not been a commie.
- 10) Block-booking is a commie front.

PART III Essay (13 points)

As you all know, in constructing a response to a University-level essay question, it is more than imperative to use correct grammar, good language and a priorisyntax which, as usual, is based on the full sentence outline you will design before responding to the aforegiven query. Be sure to tactfully ponder the various angles from which you might attack the question. Do not mix metaphors. Deal only with materials dealt with in class or the texts. Do not improvise. Think. Good luck.

- 1) Describe some of the humorous devices used in "When the Buffalo Find the Tree" and show how some of these devices are related to realism.
- 2) From Leonard Cohen's classic poem "Susanne", we extract the following quotation "... Jesus was a sailor when he walked upon the water". Discuss this statement in relation to the contract of the Seafarers' International Union and navigational priorities on the St. Lawrence River, with emphasis on International Water Boundaries.

Women's intramural team listings

The sports staff apologizes for this seemingly endless and monotonous list of names, but we felt that it was a necessary public service in order to get the women's intramural program off the ground. We hope that those girls who are interested find this list of some use. By the way guys, this is a complete list of all the females on campus.

Please check the list of each house in order to find which house you have been placed in. From now on, any sport (after softball) in which you wish to play, you must participate with only the members of your appropriate house. Therefore get to know your house members and organize teams for all the future activities. It's a great opportunity to meet new friends.

In the near future there will be house meetings for each of the UNB houses and the TC house to decide on the house name. Posters will be placed around the campus stating the time and location of the meeting - KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN!!!

If any one's name is missing from the various lists, please contact the athletics office and leave your name and phone number. You will be notified as soon as you have been placed in a house.

There has been a change in the fall program and as a result Fencing, Tennis and Flag Football will be held on September 27th, September 30th and October 1st respectively. Get your entries in immediately to Athletics Office.

Where did you go this summer? If it was interesting and you'd like to tell the campus about it, come in and talk to us. The Bruns will be starting a Travel column soon, and we'd like your help. Come on in and talk to us about it first.

We're interested in your point of view.

UNB beats Tommies 13-10

In the first league game of the New Brunswick Rugby Football Union UNB's Ironmen started their season off on the right foot by beating St. Thomas' Tommies 13-10.

The game was as close as the score indicates. Both teams scored two tries with only one being converted by each, with UNB scoring an extra field-goal to win the game.

St. Thomas drew first blood with a 60 yd. score by Dave MacPherson, one of the fastest backs in the league, and it went unconverted. He picked up the ball and outran the defenders to the endzone for the try.

The Ironmen got it back and moved ahead on a score by Jim Neville which was converted by Rick Fisher. UNB pulled further ahead on a good second effort by Bryce Eldridge which went unconverted as Rick Fisher was wide on the attempt.

With the score 10-4, Mark Shannon of the Tommies intercepted a bad pass by the Ironmen backfield, which he caught going the wrong way, returning it 85 yd. for a try which he converted himself to tie the score at 10-10.

At this stage of the game several field-goals were tried, including a 60 yd. attempt by Shannon, but it was Barry Ward for UNB that capitalized on a 25 yd. field-goal from a difficult angle that pulled UNB ahead to win.

the Midnight Skulker

Another football game another defeat. Thank whatever you want to thank that they were both exhibition games.

Still it would be nice to win a game or two. I'm sure the boys on the Bombers feel the same way. Hard to say exactly what's wrong, but there are a lot of things that need work and improvement.

The running backs are of good quality, Bob Kay, Darell Brown and Lloyd Picard are all drivers, but it would be helpful to have Bob Clive back in uniform. He has been sidelined with an ankle injury for a couple of weeks. It never hurts to have the man who took second place in the league's rushing derby last year in your starting backfield.

John Malcolm, the starting quarterback has shown promise, but his several years absence from football has shown itself quite clearly. His passing arm is strong, it's just that he has trouble hitting his receivers. But I don't think he should lose confidence in himself.

From the look of things, some of the receivers didn't help the situation much. Some of patterns were a bit ragged.

The defensive line was tough as usual, I think that they could be better. They seem to be toying with their men to much. Not enough hit, charge and stomp.

The offensive line, on the otherhand needs something done to it, or about it and quickly. One fella I was watching, on several occasions couldn't handle two aspirins in a glass of water. The line as a whole has to be able to give better pass protection and stronger blocking on running plays. That's elementary though, I guess.

Oh, by the way I don't bother to mention names or numbers, coz I feel that the offender(s) have enough to live with.

One defensive back in particular looked rather poor, the others have improved with a year's experience.

Punting was a plus for the Bombers as Bob Kay averaged 42.5 yards a kick. It's hard to say anything about the field goal kicking game, coz they have only tried one in two games.

The Bombers have two weeks off before their next game. That contest will be against St. F.X., of their home field. They are tough to beat away, let alone on their home field.

For something else to do and watch while the Bombers have the week off, there are two soccer games here this Saturday and Sunday. The UNB Red Shirts open their season against Memorial University of Newfoundland. The Beothuks are defending AIAA champions, and feature two players from the Canadian National team. Memorial was also Canadian Intercollegiate titleholders for the year 1971.

The Red Harriers, our cross country team open their season on the road. They run at U of Maine Machias on Friday and at Bates on Saturday. For the first time, the Harriers will run against their arch-rivals from Dalhousie University. Two Boston schools, Bentley and Nichols will also be there. In previous years the Harriers have only run against Dal in the championship meet. This meet should be an indicator as to how the AIAA championship meet should go.

Shirts open against Memorial

The Red Shirts will open their season this Saturday, Sept. 23 at 3:00 p.m. at College Field. Facing them in the center circle will be their strongest opponent, the defending National Intercollegiate Champions, the Beothuks of Memorial University of Newfoundland.

Returning to the squad this year are forwards Emmanuel Ezekich, Musibau Fasasi, John Msolomba, backs Bruce Taylor, Clarence Baccus, David Potten, Bob Paquette and Joe Orole. Gary Furlong returns to his half position, while Abbey Akingini will be in goal.

Filling the gaps in the forward string are newcomers Jim Campbell, Bob Conley and Cornelius Mwalwanda. Art Williams, Michael Atkinson and Afam Ogbechie will complete the half line, while Kemal Guruy, Jeffrey Mockler and Jeffrey Faulkner strengthen the forward line.

Come and see soccer at its best as the Red Shirts attempt to move into number one spot by upsetting the best in the nation. On Saturday Sept. 24th at 3:00 p.m. and Sunday Sept. 24th at 1:30 p.m.

Golf tourney here

An 18 hole medal play round will be played at the Fredericton Golf Club to decide the UNB-STU Campus Championship on Saturday, September 23rd.

The draw beginning at 10:30 a.m. is attached.

Results of this match will count toward deciding the varsity team to compete in the Atlantic Intercollegiate Gold Championship to be held at the Mactaquac Golf Club September 25th and 26th.

Acadia University, the defending champions will be among nine, four man teams expected to compete in the 36 hole championship.

Field hockey team chosen

"It should be an interesting year", was the way Cathy Halkett, coach of the UNB Red Sticks viewed the chances of her field hockey team.

What prompted the statement was that the Red Sticks have lost eight players from last year's intercollegiate championship team. Four members return from last year's squad.

The team, though not opening their schedule until the 28th of this month has Leod, Ann Bedard and Marilyn Watts.

"We are definitely in a building year, Dalhousie will be the strongest team in the league, and therefore will be the team to beat. They have most of their team returning from last year," said Halkett.

The opening games of the season are against Mount Allison on the 28th and the opponent on the following day will be Acadia.

This weekend, a Jayvee-varsity Rep team will take part in the Dalhousie Invitational tourney in Halifax. This is not a university sponsored trip, the team members have to pay their own way if they want to participate.

Bombers show poorly, lose 16-0

By DAVE ANDERSON

Last Saturday, the Bombers were humiliated 16-0 by the UPEI Panthers at college field in a very disappointing contest.

Not only were the Bombers held scoreless, but only once did they penetrate past the UPEI 45 yard line. The lack of offence resulted from many factors, shaky quarterbacking, poor blocking, missed assignments, losing third down gambles, and if excuses are necessary, injuries to Clive and Porteous. John Malcolm was not effective at all, but such a dismal showing must be the result of a general lack of drive by everyone on offence, not just the quarterback. It's safe to say that if those players who aren't doing their job now play the same way in the season we won't win a single game.

The defence, normally the only bright point in a UNB loss, was also below par, as they couldn't hold the fast and well balanced UPEI attack. They gave up a total of 298 yards, 184 yards in the air and 174 on the ground. The greatest problem was the lack of any rush on Read, the UPEI quarterback, giving him enough time to find his secondary receiver or scramble out himself. Once again, the pass defence was spotty, giving up easy receptions at bad times, usually as a result of missed assignments. A win was necessary to build up the confidence of the team, but perhaps the game will still be worthwhile if it serves to show the team their mistakes, and proves how much work the team still has to do.

UNB started off well, but Crossman for UPEI picked off the first of five interceptions, and after a long pass to the UNB 13, UPEI missed a field goal and settled for a single point.

As was the case last week, neither offence looked good, with the advantage going to the team which made the fewest mistakes. Early in the second quarter, UNB missed on a third down gamble and gave up the ball on their own 42. A few plays later, Read hit Campbell on a 25 yard pass play for a UPEI touchdown. The convert was missed as the ball was fumbled, the score 7-0 for UPEI.

The teams pushed back and forth, but UNB had the advantage, making their farthest advance of the game to the UPEI 41, but Kay fumbled ending the drive. UNB got the ball back in good position as the next series, on a good punt return and a penalty, but Malcolm couldn't hit his receivers. With UPEI deep in their own end, their running game came to life, with Osekoski, Read and Yost finding holes in the UNB defence. When UNB got the ball, the offence couldn't move, resulting in the play remaining for the most part in UNB's end of the field.

In the third quarter, UPEI started off by intercepting another Malcolm pass, back to the UNB 43, but missed the field goal. Deep in his own zone, Kay's punt for UNB went only twelve yards to the UNB 15. The defence held though, and got the ball back when UPEI missed on a third down gamble on the 5. Brown for UNB was nailed for a safety touch on the next series, making the score 9-0 for UPEI. A few minutes later, UPEI intercepted again, bringing it back to the UNB 35. UNB held, but another interception by UPEI brought the ball back to the UNB 41, where they were stopped again by a now weary defence. The fourth quarter was just as frustrating as another UNB drive was stopped by an interception. This time UPEI had the ball at the UNB 16 but luckily for UNB missed another short field goal. The game ended on a sour note, as UNB gave up the ball on downs late in the game, and Read hit Campbell again on a 25 yard touchdown making the final score 16-0.

The Bombers are fortunate to have two weeks to prepare for the next game, they need the practice. Hopefully, Malcolm can get his game together, and the offence won't continue turning over the ball to the opposition on fumbles and interceptions. A thank you goes out to the fans, who offered as much support and cheering as could be expected in such a let down. The Bombers are off next week, in preparation for what will be a tough opener at 'X' on September 30th.

Ironmen smash STU 22-0

UNB's rugby team the Ironmen, the defending league champions, opened their season with a 22-0 shutout exhibition win over the St. Thomas Tommies.

The Ironmen's attack and general play was very well balanced with the forwards and the backs each getting two tries. Scoring for the forwards were Mike Burden and Sandy MacIntosh, while Glenn Leslie and Hugh Dickison scored from the backfield. Rick Fisher converted 3 of the 4 tries, and was unlucky on one field-goal attempt.

Several of the rookies blended in well and carried the play promisingly for the Ironmen.

St. Thomas played well in the first half. Only one converted try was scored, that by UNB leaving the score at the half at 6-0. In the second half with the sun and wind at their backs UNB poured it on and scored 16 points bringing the final score to 22-0.

St. Thomas' closest scoring opportunity came during the second half on a missed field-goal by their playing-coach Roger Moore.

The powers that be in the European Rugby Federations have altered the scoring structure slightly, making a try worth 4 points, and leaving converts at 2, and field-goals at 3.

UNB hopes to retain the league championship and go on to win the Caledonia Cup symbolic of the Maritime Championship in Rugby. Last year the Ironmen were defeated by Truro-New Glasgow.

The Ironmen are still looking for new players who would like to learn and play the game. Those interested should get in contact with Bob Cockburn 454-3560 or Barry Ward 475-9471 at the Dean of Men's Office.

Tennis championship

The UNB - STU campus intramural tennis championship is set for this weekend with play commencing Sat., Sept. 23/72 at 9:00 a.m. on the Queen Square courts. Ten men from UNB and 5 others from St. Thomas will battle all day in this round-robin affair. The fifteen players are divided into three sections with the leader in each after Sat's play, entering a round-robin playoff Sunday morning. Each man will participate in four nine-game sets on Saturday; Sunday's play involves two sets for each competitor to determine the 1972 campus tennis champion.

The top three competitors will likely represent UNB-STU at the Maritime Inter Collegiate Championships at Dalhousie University, Halifax on October 6 and 7.

Table Tennis Tourney this Saturday

Table tennis freaks get ready, on Saturday September 30th there will be a tourney just for you.

John MacPherson is the organizer, and his aim is to "promote table tennis at the university, and give players a chance to compete against each other under tournament conditions for trophies and other hardware".

The tourney will be held at the Monseigneur Boyd Family Centre on the 30th, commencing at 9:30 in the morning, preliminary play will end at about 4:30 p.m.. The finals will be held after supper that evening.

"We expect about ten teams, the entry fee is one dollar per person and there will be three players per team. Entry fees will go toward paying for the awards," said MacPherson.

The format for the tourney will be three players per team and each team will play four games, three singles and one doubles match. Each set is worth five points, one each for the singles match and two points for the doubles match. If a team wins its three singles matches there will be no need to play the doubles match.

It will be run in two sections, a single round-robin format with each team in a section playing the others in the same section once. The finals will pit the winner of one section against the second place team in the other section, and vice-versa.

As for the type of competition that will be available at the tourney MacPherson said, "We have the best player in the maritimes competing, he is Wade Gregory, the Maritime Senior Singles Champion. Gregory is a student here at UNB. We also have Don Barnett, the Nb Senior Singles and Doubles champ. So the competition will be hot and heavy.

Anyone who wants to register should give MacPherson a phone call any evening between 5 and 7 p.m.. Dead line for registration is the Thursday, September 28.
