Mr. Fogg.—Why aren't you in school, Bobby?

Bobbie.—"Cause I read in the history-book that great an' successful men usually started in life without many educational advantages, an' I'm more ambitious than the other boys."

Minard's Liniment cures Diphtheria.

A countryman walking along the streets found his progress stopped by a barricade of wood.

"What's this for?" said he to a person standing by.

"Oh, that's to stop the fever from spreading," replied the other, by way of being jocose.

"Ah," said the countryman, "I've often heard of the Board of Health but I never saw it afore."

The following note was recently received by a Higginsville (Kan.) school-teacher: "Respected Miss: please excuse Willie for absents. He fell down stairs just before school time and we feared his internal injuries was hurt at first, but they ain't. The doctor says that no part of his anatomy was hurt but the brewing of the epydermis of the outside hide

"Have you taken everything you need, Jim?" asked the mother of James Delaney Atherton, aged twelve, who was about to start for a week's trip. "You'd better let me look at your bag."

"Everything's in it," said the boy, in a fever to be off. "Every single thing I need."

"Brush and comb?" queried the mother.

"Brush and comb!" cried James Delaney Atherton, indignantly. "Why, mother Atherton, I thought I was going on a vacation!"

Minard's Liniment relieves neuralgia.

"Mamma, didn't you say last week you wanted the carrying knife and the chopper sharpened?"

Mrs. Suburb.—Indeed I did. Bless his little heart! How thoughtful you are! They are both so blunt as to be useless.

"Well, I'll take 'em round to the cutter's for you."

"How sweet of you to do such things for your mamma, my little cherub. I'll wrap them up."

"No, don't wrap them up. I want them to show. There's a boy out there waiting to lick me, but I fancy when he sees me coming he'll go home."

In a church, as the story goes, there was introduced a new hymn last Sunday, and, after the close of the services, the organ blower found his way to the player's bench and asked in a meek voice: "How did the music for the new hymn go this evening?"

"Oh, very well, very well, indeed," replied the organist; "but why do you ask?"

"Well, said the blower, "I'll tell you the truth. I was a bit nervous and a bit worried about it, for, you see," he went on explaining, "I never bl'w for that hymn before."

Items of Catholic Interest.

The Pope, it is said, has notified directly to the Sultan his accession to the Pontifical throne, and not, as was the custom in past centuries, through the medium of the French Embassy.

The reception into the Church of Rev. Robert Hugh Benson, M.A., son of the late Archbishop of Canterbury, which has already been referred to in these columns, took place at Woodchester, Rev. H. Reginald Buckler, O. P., officiating. Mr. Benson was an active member of the Anglican "Order of the Resurrection."

Another conversion noted by English journals is that of Rev. S. W. A. Williams, until recently curate of St. Clement's Nottingham, W., who was received into the Church at the Oratory of the Sacred Heart, Bournemouth, by Father Redman, S. J.

Mgr. Andrian, Archbishop of Marseilles, has sent M. Combes a protest against the suspension of his salary. He claims that the President's action is not only a violation of the Church's right of speech, but a violation of the articles of the Concordat as well.

The first Swiss Catholic congress has just taken place at Lucerne. The object of the organizers is not to deal with any Catholic grievances for in Switzerland Catholics and Protestants are quite on a footing of equality, but to organize their strength and make it more effectually in public life.

Archbishop Farley has created a new office in the New York Archdiocese, that of director of the diocesan convents, with the powers and privileges of a vicar general. Mgr. John Edwards, rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, was elevated to this place.

The movement to erect a statue to Mgr. Nugent in Liverpool continues to receive a steady flow of public sympathy and support, subscriptions coming in from people of all creeds. Already the committee has in hand the sum of £1,390, about £290 more will be needed, and this amount is certain to be forthcoming. On the pedestal of the statue it is intended to have three plates commemorative of Father Nugent's labors on behalf of the homeless and suffering poor.

Rev. Father Henry of St. Patrick's Church, Cincinnati, contemplates the establishment in his parish of a St. Vincent de Paul Society whose members shall be women. This will be a radical departure from the accepted order; but the plan was originated and found efficacious in Venice under Cardinal-Bishop Sartorio and Pius X., and Father Henry thinks it may succeed equally well on American soil.

If Roman reports speak truly, one at least of the best portraits which are being painted of his Holiness is destined to be his gift to royalty. Thus Herr Lippay's first portrait of Pius X., which is to be of life size, is, it is believed, destined for the Czar, who is to be the first potentate to visit Rome after the conclave. Herr Lippay is a noted Hungarian painter who has his studio at Vienna. He was called to Rome by the Pope, who had known him at Venice. His Holiness gave him seven sittings. Before returning to Vienna he received a signed photograph of the Pope, with a dedication, for himself and a cameo for his wife. He is now working on the sketches at Vienna, and he will return to Rome during the present month with the portrait completed.

An important work dedicated to Pius X. will see the light in a few days. Fifteen years ago Mgr. Joseph Wilpert began his studies of the pictures of the Catacombs, and the results of his labors are now embodied in a handsome volume, "La Pitture delle Catacombe Romane," with over three hundred illustrations. Some of these have already been reproduced in German magazines, but the greater number are still unknown. Most of them are phototypic and polychrome reproductions from the original, so that the student is at last enabled to examine scientifically the different stages of early Christian art and its bearing on many dogmas of Catholic faith. Mgr. Wilpert's work may be said to crown the labors of De Rossi, Marucchi and other archaeologists who have devoted their lives to the study of the Catacombs.

Four Sisters of St. Benedict have been employed as teachers in the public school at Arlington, Ill. They were persuaded to seek employment there by a Protestant lady, Mrs. Anna Norris Kendall, the wealthiest woman in Bureau county and an active leader in educational movements. They attended the teachers' institute in August and asked for positions. Superintendent Claude Brown was in doubt concerning his duty in the matter and applied to the State Superintendent of Education, Mr. Baylis, in Springfield, who says that he is without authority to prevent the Sisters from teaching. About ninety-five per cent. of the patrons of the school are members of the Catholic Church and previous to the employment of the nuns the teachers were of this religious faith.

Rev. Patrick J. Grant, Irishman by birth, American by naturalization, Paulist, priest by profession, once man of the world, of travel and many accomplishments, thirty-five years of age, striking in appearance, a reformer by nature, has instituted a persistent antivice crusade in the "New Tendency," says the "New York Sun." Folks up that way call him the "Fighting Priest." Father Grant says the vow to clean out the wholesale immorality in the Paulist parish was not an impetuous resolve, but grew upon him gradually as pitiful stories of wrong came to his ear.

Quite a good deal of comment has appeared in the daily press lately relative to the selection of a coadjutor for the Archdiocese of Boston, says the "Republic" of that city. Some of the papers have gone so far as to say that Bishop Harkins has been selected, but there is no foundation for this report. The most that can be said at this time is that it has been definitely settled that Archbishop Williams' health is such that a coadjutor is to be appointed at once. While the general health of the Archbishop is fair, his sight is very poor, and it does not seem to show any improvement. There is little question that Bishop Harkins will be the first choice of this gathering. Under the rules, however, three names must be selected, and it is presumed that the names sent to Rome will go in this order: Bishop Harkins, of Providence; Bishop Brady, of Boston; and Bishop O'Connell, of Portland. The final selection, of course, is made in Rome, and while it does not follow that the first name will be selected, it is believed that Bishop Harkins, if he will take the place, will receive the endorsement of our Holy Father. Bishop O'Connell's age (Bishop Harkins and Bishop Brady both being about sixty) is very much in his favor, and it may develop that Bishop Harkins and Bishop Brady will both prefer that Bishop O'Connell take up this work.

Much interest has been aroused among Newark, N. J., firemen over the proposition made by Rev. James J. McKeever that he would hereafter award a gold medal to any member of the department who saved a life at a fire. He said he would bear the expense himself as long as his purse held out and after that would call on his friends. Father McKeever broached the plan at the funeral of Fireman William F. Boland, of Engine Company No. 11, who met his death in responding to an alarm of fire. The combination chemical wagon was overturned and Boland's skull was fractured which injury resulted fatally. Charlotte Wells was burned to death in the fire to which Boland and his comrades were hurrying. During the celebration of the High Mass at Boland's funeral Father McKeever took occasion to say that the work of the fireman was not as well recognized on the part of the public as it should be. Boland's death was mourned in every home in the city, he said, because a fireman has a place in the hearts of every man, woman, and child. The fireman belongs to every home, the pastor declared, as he was essentially the protector of the home from an enemy worse than the soldier enemy to one's country. I think it will not be out of place to state here," continued Father McKeever, "that it would be a good plan to provide something whereby firemen would be publicly commended in their work of saving lives. With that end in view and with the cooperation of the chief and fire commissioners, I hereby offer a gold medal to any fireman that saves a life at a fire. If my own purse will not stand the drain I will see if some of my friends will not help me out."

At Creighton University Omaha, on Sep. 31 was celebrated the fifty-first anniversary of the entrance of Rev. Charles Coppens into the Society of Jesus. The day was appropriately celebrated with solemn services at St. John's (college) Church in the morning, followed by a reception in the university hall and by a social gathering at the college in the evening.

The day was appropriately celebrated with solemn services at St. John's (college) Church in the morning, followed by a reception in the university hall and by a social gathering at the college in the evening. Father Coppens, born in Tournhout, Belgium, May 24 1835, entered the Society of Jesus at Tournhout, Belgium, September 21, 1853. Arriving in America the same year, he entered St. Stanislaus Seminary, a normal college for young Jesuits, at Florissant, Mo. In 1865 he was ordained to the priesthood in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York. Father Coppens' career is remarkable for the fact that he has passed these fifty years in the interests of education, devoting his time entirely to study and the classroom. Besides contributing frequently to magazines and periodicals, Father Coppens is the author of the following books: "An Introduction to English Rhetoric," "Orationes Composition," "Logic and Metaphysics," "Moral Philosophy," "Moral Principles and Medical Practice," "A Systematic Study of the Catholic Religion."

Itching Skin

Distress by day and night—That's the complaint of those who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum—and outward applications do not cure. They can't. The source of the trouble is in the blood—make that pure and this scaling, burning, itching skin disease will disappear. "I was taken with an itching on my arms which proved very disagreeable. I concluded it was salt rheum and bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two days after I began taking it I felt better and it was not long before I was cured. Have never had any skin disease since." Mrs. E. E. Ward, Cove Point, Md.

Private cablegrams from Rome announce that the appointments of an auxiliary Bishop of New York an Archbishop for the see of Milwaukee, to succeed the late Most Rev. Frederick X. Kizer, and a bishop of Columbus, to succeed the Most Rev. Henry Moeller, appointed coadjutor of Cincinnati, have been postponed till November 1.

Notwithstanding the increase of tuition fees, there was no perceptible falling off in the attendance at the opening of the sixth scholastic year of the University of Notre Dame, Ind. Over 600 students were enrolled, including those from the extreme East, Western and Southern States. There late reporting for work. An extra year has been added to work in the preparatory department. This has raised the requirements for admission to all the college courses. The faculty remains the same as last year, excepting four new instructors who have been assigned to the preparatory department Notre Dame now offers to students fourteen complete courses of study all leading to degrees. It is one of the most advanced and best equipped educational institutions in the country.

New York papers announce that a certain house which was once reputed to be the most luxuriously appointed abode of vice in the metropolis has now been turned into a home for poor unemployed Catholic girls. Since Sept. 1 the house has been in the possession of a little group of Franciscan Tertiaries, with Sister Francis at their head, who previously had the home at 109 and 111 on the same street. The name under which the building is to serve its new purpose is, appropriately, the House of the Transfiguration.

We read that at a recent meeting of Protestant religious workers in Boston examples of the need of religious education were cited. To a man eighty years old, on his dying bed, it was that Jesus Christ was dead. "Father" Osborne of the Society of St. John the Evangelist, West End, told of recently meeting a girl seventeen years old who had never heard of Jesus Christ or Adam and Eve; and the same minister recently ran across a business man who was not acquainted with the name Judas Iscariot. We very much doubt it is in the city of Manila there could be found among the "benighted Filipinos" three such instances. Yet our non-Catholic friends send missionaries to the Filipinos!—S. H. R. view.

We regret to have to record the death of Hon. F. de St. C. Breckon, Postmaster of this city, which occurred at an early hour this morning.

Within the past few days intelligence of the relations between Russia and Japan have been of the most bellicose character. So imminent had hostilities between these two powers seemed that one report on Monday stated that war had been declared by Japan.

Laurier's Insult to the People. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has offered a gratuitous insult to the 50,000 electors, who signed petitions protesting against the Grand Trunk Pacific deal.

A DESPATCH FROM VANCOUVER B. C. dated the 9th, contains the following: "The steamer Danube arrived last night from the north, bringing in election returns from Bella Coola, Cassiar district, the last district that was in doubt. The returns resulted in the election of Clifford, conservative, by 43 majority, making the definite returns 22 Conservatives and 20 Liberals, labor and socialist."

MORE MILLIONS LAID ON TAXPAYERS. There is no escaping the extravagance of the Laurier government. A few days ago the country was startled by the magnitude of the expenditure proposed for 1903-04.

From the Old Country. (Canadian Ass. Press) LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Standard referring to the Alaskan boundary commission, says here in London we are content to wait the publication of the judgment, whereas in Ottawa and New York a lively game of speculation is going on as to its tenor and probable consequences on both sides of the Atlantic.

THE POLICY SHOULD BE GENERAL.

For five long years the Liberal government permitted Germany to wage war on Canadian commerce without retaliation. Because Canada saw fit to grant Great Britain a customs preference of 32 1/2 per cent, Germany raised a tariff wall against this country which closed out Canadian produce.

The City of Patterson N. J. is under water. The loss is two million dollars. Patterson's population is 105,771, is the third city of the state in population and manufactures. It is connected with the Delaware River by the Morris Canal. The Passaic River here descends 60 feet in one perpendicular fall and affords immense water power, which is utilized in numerous mills and factories. Sixteen bridges cross the river which below the picturesque cataract called Passaic Falls, flows between vertical pinnacles of basalt. The 14 factories of Patterson are the largest in the United States and it has been called the "Lyons of America." Some 17 thousands of people have been rendered temporarily homeless by the inundation, and millions of dollars worth of property has been destroyed by over-flowing of the waters.

A MAN named William S. Hacker of Wilmet Valley, came to this city on Wednesday accompanied by his wife, for the purpose of consulting Dr. Good-will relative to insomnia and nervous depression from which he had been suffering for two or three months. On Thursday he disappeared from the boarding house in which they were staying. Search was made in every direction for him but no traces of him could be found until Saturday afternoon when he was found dead in a stable in the rear of John H. Bell's shoe store, Great George Street. A knife in his hand and blood covering the unfortunate man's body indicated what had happened. A coroner's jury rendered a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death by his own hand while in a state of despondency. Deceased had a valuable and beautiful farm and residence, which he sold early in the summer when he first became unwell. He spent some time travelling and then returned and repurchased the property, paying upwards of a thousand dollars more for it than he had previously sold it for.

B., while hauling their trawls on the Banks, Thursday, thirty miles off Scoterie. On the dory not returning in time to the vessel, Captain Sealey sent a searching party, but without finding any trace of the men. Next morning the dory was found bottom up, with Hare's body clinging to the strap, in the bottom, with his hands firmly clasping it. No trace of Perrie's body was to be found. Hare's body was landed at North Sydney, and will be forwarded to Newfoundland for interment. Both were unmarried.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Cheese Board at Charlottetown on Friday last. After a number present had spoken in high terms of the late James E. MacDonald, a prominent member of the Board, a committee was appointed to prepare in conjunction with a committee from the Dairy Association, a set of resolutions to be presented to the Board Committee on the 21st of John Anderson, Lancelin MacDonald and R. Jenkins. Considerable discussion took place about the bidding on the board, it being claimed that prices were run to an extreme height, and that the highest bidder would only take the limit, four hundred cheese, thus blocking the board. Next morning the parties pushing him would refuse to buy at the former bids. It was felt that with present limits no remedy is possible without changing the rules of the Board. Following were the sales: Hazelbrook, 135; Hillsboro, 100; Union 115; Cornwall, 75; Horace Hazard, 104; Red Point, 114; Lakeville, 200; Cardigan, 80; St. Peter, 80; Orwell, 280; St. John, 180; St. Bridge, 200; Red House, 108; New Perth, 120; Summerhill, 170; Emerald, 370; Kinkora, 290; Dillon & Spillet at 10 1/2 1/2; Mount Stewart, 115; Hampton, 150; O'Leary, 150; Winslow, 50; Gowen Bras, 75; Kensington, 160, were not sold. The following is the bulletin: Montreal, weak and declining, English, 10; Montreal, 10 1/2; Brockville, 10 1/2; English market, 55 to 56. At the meeting of the directors the question of sending a delegate to a dairy conference was discussed, and Inspector E. T. Morrow was selected.

The World's Trotting Record.

Lexington, Kentucky, advices of the 10th say: The world's trotting record to wagon was twice smashed this afternoon by Lou Dillon and Major Delmar, and despite the strong and biting west wind Prince Albert (1 57) came within two and one-half seconds of equalling the world's pacing record held by himself. The trotting record, which was held by Lou Dillon, who trotted the mile in 2.04 1/2 at the Cleveland track. Major Delmar, with his owner, E. E. Smathers driving, reduced this today to 2.03 3/4. For five minutes Mr. Smathers Dillon as if jealous of the record which held the world's trotting record. Lou who had just lost, appeared upon the field and drove for his owner, C. G. Billings, reduced Major Delmar's record to 2.01 3/4. The world's trotting record to wagon was held by The Abbot and its 2.04 1/2, made on the Hartford track and is one quarter second slower than the former exhibition record of Lou Dillon. The track was lightning fast to day, but conservative horsemen declared that the wind made it at least three seconds slower. The weather, aside from the wind, was cold and crisp and the directors of the association had absolutely no hope of breaking a record when the regular programme was disposed of shortly after 6 o'clock without any sensational time. Major Delmar, Lou Dillon and Prince Albert had been warming up for an hour before the special was called, 5,000 people being present. Major Delmar was the first of the special on the track. He was accompanied by two runners. Spars was driving a thoroughbred to break the wind and McDonald was driving beside and to the rear of Major Delmar. The trotter had the pole. A ripple of applause went up when he reached the quarter in 31 seconds and the half in 1.01, the third quarter was reached in 1.31 but he got a little slower in the home stretch and went under the wire in 2.03 3/4. He had trotted a half mile, consisting of the second and third quarters, in one minute flat, but the wind lengthened his time in the first quarter and stretch.

LOU DILLON'S BETTER WORK. Prince Albert then came upon the field. He went the mile in 1.59 1/2. The excitement of the horsemen and spectators was high when Lou Dillon trotted out on the track in front of a wagon. With a frictionless start he was off in a flash, getting the word. A thoroughbred in front broke the wind and another was beside her spurring her on. She reached the quarter in 31 seconds and the half in 1.01. At the three quarter however, she clipped a quiet second off Major Delmar's time for she reached it in 1.30 3/4.

The crowds went wild when the figures went up in front of the timers stand. Down the stretch she came with a big stride and it appeared to the onlookers that she would overstep her running mate in front of her. Dr. Tanner who was driving the runner in front took the pole and the three horses went under the wire together in 2.01 3/4. The only exciting race of the day was the 2.06 class pacing, purse $1,000.00. It was won by the Queen, an even money favorite, in three heats. The amateur wagon race, 2.10 class trot, was won by Queen Wilkes, driven by her owner, E. E. Smathers. The judge today issued an order prohibiting the use of batteries.

The Plant Line.

The Bras D'Or Steamboat Company have decided to abandon the Sydney lawbreaker service through the Lakes and have sold the steamer Elaine to the Star Steamship Company of St. John. The Company will retain the Marion and Waymouth and with these steamers will maintain the service between the Sydneys and Whycomog and to the ports of Northern Victoria County. It is reported that the Plant Line may place a steamer on the Sydney-Halifax route to connect with their service to and from Boston.

Chamberlain Begins His Fight.

Whatever the opinions regarding the great question which Chamberlain has raised or the probable issue of his campaign, it is generally admitted that he opened it last Monday night at Glasgow in a manner most befitting the momentous occasion; and he can no longer be accused of nebulousness in his presented case. For nearly two hours, only referring occasionally to fairly full notes for figures and statistics, Mr. Chamberlain held a vast and enthusiastic audience absorbed by one of his finest oratorical efforts, as though inspired by a knowledge that the practical collapse and breakup of the Unionist party, left him in sole possession of the field. He spoke with more than his customary energy and persuasiveness, lacking nothing in lucidity of either phrase or argument, while his appeal to the working classes, upon whom more than any other section the community—especially since the defection of the Duke of Devonshire from the administration—the success or failure of his preferential scheme will depend, is prominently calculated to enlist their support. St. Andrew's hall, where Mr. Chamberlain spoke, was packed with men and women, cheering and waving handkerchiefs, as the chairman Sir Matthew Arthur, led him to the platform.

Hon. Mr. Ritchie, the member of Parliament who was recently chancellor of the Exchequer delivered a speech at Crofton, London, last Friday evening on Free Trade, and the reason for his resignation before an audience of four thousand. There was a large Liberal element present. The reception to Ritchie was not harmonious consisting of cheers, hoots and counter cheers for Joseph Chamberlain. Mr. Ritchie said that if any person expected to hear denunciation on his part of his late cabinet colleagues they would be doomed to disappointment. Mr. Chamberlain's administration of the Colonial office was the most successful of the present generation.

Tax Payers Insulted.

On Wednesday, October 7th, in the House of Commons, at Ottawa, Sir Wilfrid Laurier insinuated that the anti-Grand Trunk Pacific petitions were not genuine; that, indeed, a suspicion of forgery attached to them. Mr. Borden, the Opposition leader, thereupon demanded that the whole matter be referred to the Committee of Privileges, in order to establish the bona fides of this protest from the taxpayers of Canada. This step has been taken. Already Conservative members are in receipt of letters at Ottawa from constituents who had signed the petition, protesting against the deliberate insult dealt out by the Premier to over 100,000 people. These letters will be read in the House of Commons; they will be read in the Investigation Committee. It appears that the members of the Liberal Government think there are not in Canada tax-payers with enough independence to raise up their voices in protest against the foolish Grand Trunk Pacific project and condemnation of the Government's course. The investigation into the petitions will teach them differently; the letters of protest against the Premier's insinuations by the signers of the petition will emphasize that teaching. The people are right in not tamely submitting to the gratuitous and unwarranted insult of even such a high personage as Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Banquet to Borden.

R. L. Borden was tendered a splendid banquet in Ottawa on Thursday night last by Conservative senators and members of Parliament. Nearly two hundred covers were laid at the Grand Union hotel. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, president, the vice chairmen being A. A. Lefurgey and J. E. Leonard, the two youngest members of the Commons. Throughout the evening strong and enthusiastic speeches were made and a splendid musical programme was rendered. "Our Guest," proposed by F. D. Monk, called for Mr. Borden a splendid speech. Senator Miller, Dr. John Haggard, J. P. Whitney, J. D. Hays and T. Chas. Cairn replied to the toast of the legislators of Canada. "Federalist commercial and agricultural interests of Canada" were responded to by Messrs Kamp, Ball and Borden. Telegrams were received from prominent Conservatives, bearing good wishes.

Anglo-French Treaty.

Paris advices of the 8th, inst., say:—It was learned in authoritative sources that the terms of the general treaty of arbitration between France and Great Britain have been concluded by Foreign Minister Delcasse and the authorities in London. All the substantial features of the treaty have now been settled. There only remain minor questions of detail and the signing of the treaty. These formalities are so far advanced that the treaty is considered to be an accomplished fact today. The advanced state of the negotiations have not yet been communicated to the public. The treaty follows the general lines of the Hay-Panofcoe arbitration treaty which to a considerable extent served as a model.

Letter of Condolence.

The following letter was sent on Monday to the widow of the late James E. MacDonald, M. L. A., of Cardigan: Mrs. Georgina MacDonald, Cardigan: Dear Madam.—On behalf of the Dairy-men's Association, we desire to tender you our heartfelt condolences on the death of your late lamented husband. Mr. MacDonald was held in the highest esteem by all who attended our meetings, where his ripe business experience made him a valued member, and his kindness and courteous consideration, a warm personal friend. While expressing our deep sorrow at his loss, we pray that the gracious God and Father of all will give you strength to bear the heavy burden of affliction. Sincerely yours on behalf of the Association and Board.

Sad Drowning Accident.

At 6 o'clock last Thursday evening a sad drowning accident took place at the Steam Navigation wharf, the victim being Albert Doray, one of the crew of Sshr. O. P. Silver, which arrived on Wednesday from Sydney and was discharging coal for Clarks Bros. The Captain Edward LeBlanc and the first mate Peter Porrier first heard of the accident from Captain McLean of the ferry steamer Hillsboro. The latter while on the ferry wharf heard a shout and saw some one struggling in the water about a hundred yards from the end of the Navigation wharf. Captain McLean ran to the vessel and informed the mate. The crew assisted by the captain of another vessel began dragging, and after a short time brought the body to the surface about twenty feet from the slip where he is supposed to have lost his footing and fallen into the water. Medical aid was summoned, but on learning the facts and examining the remains an inquest was deemed unnecessary. Deceased was a native of Arichat and was nineteen years of age. Intelligence of the sad affair was wired to his father and the remains were sent over on the Princess Friday morning.

dinal Sarto. We may then anticipate that the new Pontificate will not only not be in any sense a reversal of the policies of Leo, but will be their echo.

Leo's great work was formulated in his encyclicals. He faced an intellectual world that had torn up the very foundations of truth. Hence, it was necessary to relay these foundations, and to reaffirm the rights and duties of men to society, and of Christians to each other.

He will, in all probability, take up the work of Leo on Christian unity; and here his peculiar gifts will contribute to an early success. The Eastern churches, too, are ready to return to the Mother Church.

Moreover, the new Pope is in closer touch with northern Europe than any of his immediate predecessors. He speaks German fluently as though it was his mother tongue.

Sins of the Tongue.

Our dear Lord in healing the man sick of the palsy, said to him: "Son, be of good heart, thy sins are forgiven thee." The Pharisees took up these words at once, and hypocritically as they were, misconstrued them, and said within themselves: "This man blasphemeth!"

This sin does not come from too great a love of your neighbor; on the contrary, if you loved him as much as yourself you would keep still about his faults. Neither does it spring from humility of heart, for the humble man has enough to carry his own burdens.

Another great reason for this sin is the willingness to listen to the slanderous tongue. If people had the courage to tell such slander to mind his own business and sweep before his own door, he would soon keep still. But as long as there are people who furnish material for gossip, there will be plenty to listen to it only too eagerly, and in this manner the evil is spread, it increases rapidly and great damage is done in a short time.

What makes this sin so common is the facility with which it is committed. Time, place, and opportunity, how easily are they to be found! In company with others, a visit, a chance meeting of a friend, may even a visit to the house of God furnish the material.

Often the most difficult part was to keep from laughing at the visitor's amazement. When the poem was read to Field, he would apparently listen for a chance to correct, but he never found it.

The relatives of a lady who had died leaving a legacy to a favorite donkey, in order to secure its comfort, recently came into court and asked for a decision as to who was to enjoy the legacy after the donkey's decease.

accuse him of faults of which you are guilty yourself. Be merciful and you will find mercy; listen not to the evil tongue, and you will not be molested with things you cannot bear without sinning, and often sinning grievously.—B. B., in St. Anthony's Messenger.

High and Low Church.

There is a very interesting situation in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, this city, at present, which well illustrates the status of the High and Low Church controversy in that body and the accommodating spirit of compromise shown by its clergy.

"The hardest lesson that many an aspiring young man can learn is to begin with his shoulder to the wheel," says the Pittsburg Catholic. "He sees the inequalities in life. Why can not be at a bound find influence and ease? Socialism whispers in his ear that he is the victim of injustice that inequalities ought to be adjusted by force."

Fugene Field used to amuse himself sometimes with his visitors. When he was talking he would suddenly stop, think a minute and call his assistant. Instantly his friend would snatch up a pad and listen attentively.

SHORT SAYINGS

Straight to the Point.

We want your trade. We want to interest you in our business. We want our store to be your store, the store of satisfaction. The best persons make mistakes! So do we, but we are always ready to correct them. Please tell us when anything is wrong. We covet confidence and challenge competition. No other store in the city can buy better or will name lower prices for the same qualities as we do.
