

Poetry.

FEAR NOT TO DIE.

Written for the Huron Signal.

Fear not to die! The fading vapor breath, Could never prove the patriot's greatest care.

Fear not to die! If amidst life's strife, Fate brings thee to the gates of death;

Fear not to die! The world's misdeeds, As from a man's guttering shrine he kneels,

Fear not to die! What art or skill can do, Yield to oppression's bitter, bloodstained hand,

Fear not to die! Wouldst thou be free, To nature's God thy child's homage lend,

Fear not to die! And lo! the world's wrongs, Will in thy presence cease and cease to be,

Fear not to die! In life's path, Steadfast in principle, in conscience clear,

W. BANNATYNE.

Our Story Teller.

FLORENCE KNOWLTON'S FORTUNE.

"Never mind, the mud will not hurt her; she's only a school-mistress."

The voice in which these words were uttered was sweet and soft, but it fell harshly on the ear of Florence Knowlton,

The gentleman drew in the horses and with grave courtesy addressed Florence,

"Pardon me madam! I did not observe you in season to slacken pace. I hope my carelessness has not seriously inconvenienced you."

Florence bowed slightly, but she made no audible reply, and the gentleman, pausing to take a second look of the sweet face, now flushed and averted the reins, and the equipage sped away.

Florence forgave the proud lady of Oakwood for her scorn, when she remembered the discipline life brings, but which, as yet, had failed to purge this dress from Miss Rivers' character.

Life's trials, thus far, had been spared her; she was undisciplined in the hard school of affliction; and Florence, who young as she was, had passed far down into the valley of shadows, could look leniently on the faults of one destitute of experience.

She remembered also, that once not very many years ago, she, too, had been haughty, and arrogant, perhaps, though never heartless or selfish; she, she had been the child of wealth, and nurtured in the very bosom of luxury.

Tender parents, a magnificent home on the Hudson, unbounded wealth, troops of admiring friends, everything that goes to make up a destiny which the world calls fortunate, was hers; but there had come a change. No one is wholly responsible for his own misfortune, and Knowlton, by a series of ill-advised investments, had lost everything but the sad inheritance of property. The blow prostrated him. He was laid on a sick-bed, from which he never arose; and a few weeks after his death, his delicate wife slept beside him in the village burying-ground.

What more could she ask for than the great gifts which fortune had bestowed on Miss Rivers? And her life was soon to be crowned with a marriage with Graham Sturtevant, the world-celebrated lawyer at the Blue Hedges. Florence had heard a great deal of talk about this unexpected event among the gossips of Woodford. She had listened to the young man's praises until she had felt some curiosity to behold the object of so many virtues and graces—a rich, handsome, talented, generous, noble and high-minded above all others, so the story ran; and devoted as she could desire to his high-born lady love.

Well, Florence had seen him at last, and he did not disappoint the idea she had formed of him. A tall, distinguished-looking gentleman of twenty-eight or thirty, mild, clear colorless face, very dark gray eyes finely cut features, and curling brown hair. They looked well together—Mr. Sturtevant and Miss Rivers—she with her dark, Oriental style of beauty, and he with his handsome person, and the easy discommodated air which so well became him.

And did Mr. Sturtevant cast out one thought after the quiet little school-mistress, whose next neighbor across the aisle of the carriage had so liberally bestowed with mud? One glance into the veiled, dissipated face of Miss Rivers might have answered the question.

During the remainder of the ride, all her efforts to engage him in conversation signally failed. He was reserved and taciturn, hardly polite. As he assisted her to alight he gave her a clue to his abstraction, and made her the life enemy of Florence Knowlton, by remarking:—"Woodford is extremely fortunate in the choice of a teacher this summer."

He studied her face closely as he spoke, as though to mark the effect of his words. The effect was quite marked enough; he could not have asked for anything more decisive.—Miss Rivers blushed crimson, tore off the dainty glove with which she was trying, with an angry gesture, as she repeated:

"I dare say you are correct, Miss Knowlton. If her bold appearance does not greatly belie her, is a person well suited to the course station she occupies."

Mr. Sturtevant's fine eyes kindled; he seized her by the hand, and with a sharp response, but he checked the words before they were uttered, bowed courteously, and drove away from the gate of Oakwood.

One fine summer day there was a picnic in the grove near Woodford. Florence went over to the ground with her pupils, and there was not a livelier girl present than the school-mistress. Her simple white dress became her pure beauty; the crimson scarf lent additional whiteness to her snowy neck; and the cheap hat, with its blue ribbons, contrasted well with the brown of her hair, which the sunbeams kissed into coils of tawny gold. Graham Sturtevant was there, and at his side, as usual, was Miss Rivers, resplendent in silks and laces, gossamer as a tropical bird.

The day wore on—the speeches were over, dinner had been served, the company separated, each group or party enjoying themselves in their own way; some at the swim, some giving little concerts, and others strolling on the bank of Swift River, which skirted the grounds.

Among the latter, was Florence. She had left the crowd, and wandering to the bank of the stream, had seated herself on a fallen tree which lay across a jut of water. It was a picturesque but dangerous seat, for the banks, shaken by the constant damming of the rains against their base, were treacherous in many places, and a slight jar might displace huge fragments of earth and stone.

A little farther down the stream are Mr. Sturtevant and Miss Rivers; the gentleman gazing upward at the sweet face of the school-mistress, the lady fretting the boom of the stream to diamonds with a willow switch broken from the tree at her side.

"What a beautiful picture! Is it not?" queried Mr. Sturtevant, a little maliciously, of his companion, as he noticed the contemptuous glances she cast in the direction of Florence.

Adelaide's face darkened, she gave no reply, but moved away up the shore, while Graham, drawing an inaudible whistle, strolled off to join the merry company at little distance engaged in fishing fortunes.

Adelaide hurried on to the side of the fair girl. Her step startled Florence from a reverie in which she was indulging, she sprang up quickly, and she broke off the fragile crust of earth where she stood, from the bank. She felt her foothold giving way; she realized the fate that awaited her, and, with imploring eyes, she held out her hands impudently to Adelaide for succor. The lady might have saved her; full well she was assured of the power, but Adelaide's face grew cold, white, and stern as marble—was she to save her? The evil spirit triumphed over the good in her breast; she turned her back on the suppliant, and no eye save that of Omnipotence saw her black sin.

There was a hollow plunge; a faint, faint cry, drowned by the roar of the water, and then all went on as before. A smile of fiendish satisfaction stole on the ghastly countenance of Oakwood's proud mistress; she muttered through her closely shut teeth:—"It was not my hand, I am not to blame."

Suddenly she stopped; her white hands clenched each other firmly; she grew absolutely livid with the rush of anger; for, striking out from the shore with the desperate power of a strong arm, she beheld Graham Sturtevant. The current was swift; the mighty surging of the tide might have driven her, but she could not swim. She had produced no visible effect in the progress of the bold swimmer. He reached the spot where Florence had gone down, and diving, came to the surface some rods below, with the girl in his arms. A few moments afterwards, and he had borne her to the shore, where, declining all offers of assistance, he succeeded in restoring her to consciousness.

Greatly to the surprise of all Woodford, he insisted on carrying her to her boarding place in his chaise; and the next day, he called to inquire if she had sustained any injury by the accident.

The chill which Florence had experienced, joined to anxiety about her school, brought on a low nervous fever, that confined her to her bed for a fortnight, during which another teacher was provided; and when she was at last able to sit up, the physician positively forbade all exertion. Her very life he said depended on her keeping quiet and restful. But how could she be quiet when Edward's continuance at her studies hung solely upon her wages? She could not bear a fit of weeping when she thought of the disappointment the poor boy would experience at renouncing the cherished object of his life.

Scarcely had she dried her eyes, and resolved to put her trust in an overruling Providence, when a letter was handed her. It proved to be from the president of the college where Edward was studying, and its contents filled the soul of the girl with deep gratitude. An unknown friend, so ran the note, had paid in full the expenses of her brother for the entire course of instruction; and a receipt for the same was inclosed.

Florence closed her eyes in much thankfulness. God had not forsaken her. The next morning she was following paragraph appeared in the Woodford Chronicle, under the head of personal:—"Our heartfelt sympathies are for our young and gifted fellow-student, the well-known attorney Graham Sturtevant, in his misfortune. We learn that all the vast wealth which he has so long held in his possession, by some legal defect, law, or quibble, of the nature of which we are ignorant—the property of another. Mr. Sturtevant will retain immediate possession of the fortune individual, and devote himself more entirely to his profession, which, we think not, will afford him wards she was seen in public with Mr. Monmouth, a rival suitor, whose fortune though very handsome, was inferior to the patrimony which had belonged to Graham Sturtevant.

Edwards, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Witness, however, denied that the proceedings were instituted through any private animosity on his part. Alexander Cameron, the enumerator, identified the schedule which she had in her possession, and that he had no authority to make the present investigation—that if any errors had been committed the enumerators were the proper parties to correct them.

Wanzer Letter A. FAMILY SEWING MACHINE. The simplest, with the greatest variety of work, is more easily managed, less liable to get out of order, and runs lighter than any other Shuttle Sewing Machine.

R. M. WANZER & CO., Show-Room next door to the "Signal Office."

GODERICH, SEPT. 7, 1871.

THE DIVISION OF COUNTIES. FOR REGISTRATION PURPOSES.

In other sections, five cents a signature has readily got 2,000 names to a petition asking Sandfield Macdonald to divide a County for Registration purposes.

IS NOT THIS THE QUESTION? THE HAMILTON LINE OR NO RAILWAY AT ALL FOR NORTH HURON!

We advise the people of North Huron, who have not made up their minds on the railway question, to consider the matter carefully.

DR. RYERSON'S APOLOGISTICS.

The Chief Superintendent has sent us a long document, in which he replies to criticisms that have been made on the new School Bill.

It was, furthermore, alleged, that undue partiality had been shown in granting Provincial Certificates to students of the Normal School.

Now, what is the result? The result is, that but four candidates have reported themselves in all the counties of the Province for examination for First Class Certificates.

It now happens that the very parties who have heretofore been most vociferous as to the equal qualifications of First Class Normal School Teachers.

failed in their recent examinations, they may not be considered as having been absolutely rejected, when the Examiners recommend temporary certificates to be granted to them.

It is, however, objected again, "It is hard for old teachers to be set aside, because they cannot qualify under the new system."

Is it possible to believe that Dr. Ryerson has so suddenly become merciful to County-educated teachers as the second paragraph of the above would indicate?

We have never objected to the raised standard of qualification, which we deemed absolutely necessary to dismiss more suitable candidates the awkward squad of inefficient teachers.

In claiming that Normal and County Board teachers are now on an equal footing, Dr. Ryerson forgets to say on what ground he considers one or two Seasons' "experience" at the Normal School equal to five years actual teaching.

mentioned this morning at 10 o'clock with the Single Seel Race. Entries were made by Sadler, of the Tyne; Brown of Halifax; and Kelly. Sadler came in first by two boat lengths.

The Grand Pow Wow with the Indians of Manitoba.

The Treaty Conference between the Indian Chiefs of Manitoba and the Lieut. Governor of the Province, which commenced at Lower Fort Garry, on the 23rd July, and continued over ten days, was a very interesting and no less amusing affair.

After several further days of chaffering in a similar strain, the following proposal was made:—"My Prince, Grand Orestles, Kasias, and Wa-usuk-koon, came forward, the latter being spokesman.

To this the Commissioner replied:—"I am proud of being an Englishman. But if Indians are going to be dealt with in this way, I will take my coat off and change places with the speaker, for it would be far better to be an Indian."

On Wednesday, at Toronto, the steamer Songest was making a trip to the Island when a boy fell overboard.

ONE OF THE MOST DESIRABLE Business Stands in Goderich. For Sale.

THE PREMISES OCCUPIED BY R. B. SMITH, CONSISTING OF A 3 Story Brick Building, fire proof floor and dwelling.

Goderich, August 23th, 1871

Mr JOHN HARRIS Which he is determined TO CLEAR OUT AT AN Enormous Reduction FROM THE USUAL PRICES.

FARMERS! Here is a chance to save money. Husband (Returned from jail on Judge Jones) Mary I have examined these certificates and found them straight as a string.

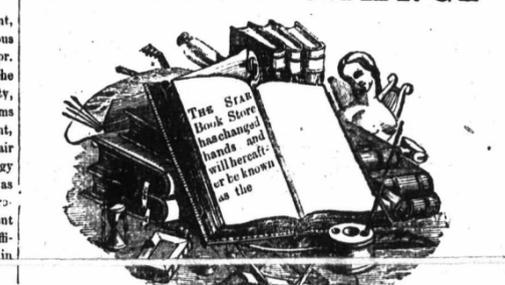

FOR SALE. A BAY MARE 5 YEARS, OLD BAY Field Road. J. MCCLUSKEY. September 5th 1871. A FARM FOR SALE.

NOTICE. MR. ARMSTRONG, HAVING RECOVERED from his recent severe illness, will be found at his office West St. each day from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., or at his Room, No. 39 British Exchange Hotel.

NOVELTY BOOK STORE. CAMERON'S BLOCK KINGSTON STREET GODERICH, THREE DOORS WEST OF THE HURON HOTEL.

THE NOVELTY BOOK STORE. Clearing out sale of Wall Paper, Borders and Window Shades, to make room for New Goods.

NOVELTY BOOK STORE. HURON HOTEL BLOCK KINGSTON STREET GODERICH. Goderich, September 1st, 1871.

Tom, Mar... Friday on... and let al... My brot... ed as int... West, an... there, in... ing. Net... was green... ly was not... Over the... months h... trials is... Bingham a... their story... We were... Mr Preston... of the Hi... Friday last... lang. It i... now been... will speed... place in t... Mr Raden... to pupils... sympathy i... ness, and... covey... My mot... timent, de... and Station... County I... from P. A... Minutes of... January, S... 1871. The... and the sty... credit to... thing a far... AHMED... Miss Jea... be glad to... on the lam... at Gange... men and... and receiv... as their i... this count... Nison a... lets or sev... atreng res... mension... gravely a... the grad... Newly... Bookstore... now grown... attention t... issue... The Pri... Mr Savage... supply the... 000 man... which w... moned 6... to take th... during four... GODERICH... pressing... will rise... to raise us... at day even... was to repl... amount, to... a Humber... particulars... was very c... cees were... pool of Sou... sing un... THE WIN... pressed th... for. We o... with labor... eight miles... FARM BU... to ban in... Goderich... money. A... mae this... Saunders, H... MARTIN... was the s... eva he was... das ago w... down with... was sittin... nating Str... a dispute o... "saw" I was... usually... result of... about 2 o... wood, on I... bers, bel... found in f... lions at M... Carroll, o... another t... scene. Right... about this... soon we... found t... not than... downess c... loping. I... for the dis... perator of... I hope, I... punish... law. I su... a case. I... assasin... judge agai... NAVAL... great two... importance... Britain... though the... have been... which sin... has been... and, there... very est... built to... and, as w... success in... almost inc... sh, where... for, and t... always p... the great g... by the ski... a rock in... light in... Gibraltar... groupish... shore on... Ocean in... the Captai... Megera--... the success... at Sedan... and almost

As it was, however, he managed to force measures through Parliament by the aid of his faithful "martyr" friends, which proved, as predicted by Mr. Blake, to be unconstitutional, and they were consequently disallowed by the Ottawa Government. We trust, however, that the days of the Patent Combination are numbered—and that ere long the reins of Government will be in the hands of the Reform party, when the distinguished gentleman whom we this day have met to honor, shall guide the destiny of this noble Province towards that great, happy and prosperous future which we trust is yet in store for it.

Gentlemen, permit us once more to welcome you to Galt, the Manchester of Canada, and South Waterloo one of its first agricultural counties, and long may you live to take a prominent and leading part not only in the government of Ontario, the chief of the Confederated Provinces, but in that of the Dominion of Canada, which we trust will ere long embrace every Province on this continent owing allegiance to the British Crown. And may God grant that Canada may long remain in happy connection with Britain's great and glorious empire.

Signed in behalf of the Reformers of South Waterloo. ROBT. McLEAN, Chairman. JOHN ALLAN, Joint Secretaries. JAS. McFERRIDAN

The "fair trial" cry got up at the general election following the Confederation of the Provinces, resulted unfortunately in the return to both Parliament and the Ontario Parliament, this large gathering of Reformers bids you a most cordial and hearty welcome to the South Riding of Waterloo. The great majority of these gentlemen—though your names are as familiar to them as "household words"—have never before had the pleasure of meeting you face to face. This meeting, then, is held for the double purpose of giving the Reformers of this and the adjacent Ridings an opportunity of seeing and hearing you and other prominent men of the Parliamentary Opposition, and that you may mingle with your political friends in the county in order that they may give you the strongest possible manifestation that your untiring and arduous labors in Parliament, your eager and constant watchfulness of the rights and interests of the people are neither unobserved nor unappreciated by your friends and supporters in this part of Ontario.

In the Dominion Legislature every measure of the Government, of which we may specially mention the Intercolonial Railway route, the Manitoba question, and the Pacific Railway, was thoroughly sifted, its objectionable features pointed out and ably criticised and opposed, but in no case did this careful, thorough and most necessary action on the part of the Opposition degenerate into anything approaching factiousness. Mr. Mackenzie while enjoying the entire confidence and approval of his colleagues in Parliament and of the Reform party throughout the country, was at the same time, and in almost equal degree honored and respected by the Government, and this too, while they had a wholesome dread of his able criticism and fearless exposure of what is believed to be wrong. Among other members of the Opposition who had ably assisted Mr. Mackenzie, it may not appear invidious to mention the name of Mr. James Young, the member of this riding, who, though a young man without any previous Parliamentary experience, wrought out for himself a record such as few public men have ever done in so short a time—a record as creditable to himself as it must be pleasing and satisfactory to his constituents.

There is another question that must necessarily come before the next session of the Dominion Parliament, which in point of importance exceeds anything submitted to its decision since the confederation of the Provinces, and that is the treaty of Washington. The representative of Canada on the Joint High Commission appears to have sacrificed the best and highest interests of the country by appending his signature to that important document. The mysterious silence of Sir John A. Macdonald since his return from Washington must soon be broken, and the country looks forward with confidence to Mr. Mackenzie and the Reform Opposition to see that the rights of the Dominion to the most important fisheries in the world, be not bartered away without an adequate and satisfactory national equivalent.

At the head of the Government of Ontario is a man who obtained the position he now holds from his namesake at Ottawa, and who has held it ever since in humiliating subservience to the demands of the same exacting and unscrupulous master. A weak and willing tool in the hands of his old political antagonist, there is apparently no political degradation too low for him to descend to. At one time we find him while professing to be a Reformer, using all the influence his position gives him to secure the defeat of Reformers at the polls. At another time we find him opposing with the whole strength of the Government a series of resolutions moved by Mr. Blake on the Nova Scotia subsidy, and immediately thereafter, in order to save his Government from defeat, he turns round and votes with the Opposition for these same resolutions, and drags his slavish followers in the mire along with him.—It is hard to say whether the more to despise and condemn his subject truckling to his Ottawa chief, or his open, shameless bribery of weak and corrupt men to aid him in carrying out the orders which he so meekly and implicitly obeys. If any of his obsequious followers become restive under the Ministerial whip, another turn of the Government grindstone dangles before their eyes the tempting bait of a Sheriff's sword and hooded hat, or the massive key of the Registry Office, and forthwith they wheel into line and do their master's bidding with grateful expectancy of the good things to come. Thanks to Mr. Blake and the Reform Opposition, these and other similar scenes have never again been exposed before the last general election, and the true character of the Ontario Government was seen by the most casual observer. That election, though sprung on the country, like the words of a Government organ, "like a thunderbolt from a clear sky," resulted in scattering the old supporters of a Government like chaff before the wind, so that comparatively few of them gained re-election. In addition to this, Mr. Blake's vigorous and able criticism of Government Policy, his powerful and fearless exposure of their wrong doings—aided as he was by the excellent tact and great Parliamentary experience of his friend and colleague, Mr. M. Kellar, prevented the passing into law of many an ill-advised and crude piece of legislation.

As it was, however, he managed to force measures through Parliament by the aid of his faithful "martyr" friends, which proved, as predicted by Mr. Blake, to be unconstitutional, and they were consequently disallowed by the Ottawa Government.

As it was, however, he managed to force measures through Parliament by the aid of his faithful "martyr" friends, which proved, as predicted by Mr. Blake, to be unconstitutional, and they were consequently disallowed by the Ottawa Government. We trust, however, that the days of the Patent Combination are numbered—and that ere long the reins of Government will be in the hands of the Reform party, when the distinguished gentleman whom we this day have met to honor, shall guide the destiny of this noble Province towards that great, happy and prosperous future which we trust is yet in store for it.

Gentlemen, permit us once more to welcome you to Galt, the Manchester of Canada, and South Waterloo one of its first agricultural counties, and long may you live to take a prominent and leading part not only in the government of Ontario, the chief of the Confederated Provinces, but in that of the Dominion of Canada, which we trust will ere long embrace every Province on this continent owing allegiance to the British Crown.

Signed in behalf of the Reformers of South Waterloo. ROBT. McLEAN, Chairman. JOHN ALLAN, Joint Secretaries. JAS. McFERRIDAN

The "fair trial" cry got up at the general election following the Confederation of the Provinces, resulted unfortunately in the return to both Parliament and the Ontario Parliament, this large gathering of Reformers bids you a most cordial and hearty welcome to the South Riding of Waterloo.

In the Dominion Legislature every measure of the Government, of which we may specially mention the Intercolonial Railway route, the Manitoba question, and the Pacific Railway, was thoroughly sifted, its objectionable features pointed out and ably criticised and opposed, but in no case did this careful, thorough and most necessary action on the part of the Opposition degenerate into anything approaching factiousness.

At the head of the Government of Ontario is a man who obtained the position he now holds from his namesake at Ottawa, and who has held it ever since in humiliating subservience to the demands of the same exacting and unscrupulous master. A weak and willing tool in the hands of his old political antagonist, there is apparently no political degradation too low for him to descend to.

There is another question that must necessarily come before the next session of the Dominion Parliament, which in point of importance exceeds anything submitted to its decision since the confederation of the Provinces, and that is the treaty of Washington. The representative of Canada on the Joint High Commission appears to have sacrificed the best and highest interests of the country by appending his signature to that important document.

At one time we find him while professing to be a Reformer, using all the influence his position gives him to secure the defeat of Reformers at the polls. At another time we find him opposing with the whole strength of the Government a series of resolutions moved by Mr. Blake on the Nova Scotia subsidy, and immediately thereafter, in order to save his Government from defeat, he turns round and votes with the Opposition for these same resolutions, and drags his slavish followers in the mire along with him.—It is hard to say whether the more to despise and condemn his subject truckling to his Ottawa chief, or his open, shameless bribery of weak and corrupt men to aid him in carrying out the orders which he so meekly and implicitly obeys.

If any of his obsequious followers become restive under the Ministerial whip, another turn of the Government grindstone dangles before their eyes the tempting bait of a Sheriff's sword and hooded hat, or the massive key of the Registry Office, and forthwith they wheel into line and do their master's bidding with grateful expectancy of the good things to come.

Thanks to Mr. Blake and the Reform Opposition, these and other similar scenes have never again been exposed before the last general election, and the true character of the Ontario Government was seen by the most casual observer. That election, though sprung on the country, like the words of a Government organ, "like a thunderbolt from a clear sky," resulted in scattering the old supporters of a Government like chaff before the wind, so that comparatively few of them gained re-election.

EMPORIUM!

New Goods Arriving Daily AT J. C. DETLOR & CO'S.

JUST OPENED A CHOICE LOT OF

New Dress Goods,

New Flannels, New Fall Tweeds,

ALSO A LOT OF KID GLOVES ALL COLOURS AND SIZES

J. C. DETLOR & CO., Goderich, July 26th, 1871.

JUST RECEIVED

D. FERGUSON'S Fifty Cases of Boots and Shoes,

TO BE SOLD AT THE USUAL LOW RATES.

A Call Solicited. Goderich, 15th August, 1871.

NEW DRY GOODS NOW OPENING AT R. B. SMITH'S

The first instalment of this Season's Goods in which are over 70 pieces of Fancy Dress Goods in the LATEST STYLES.

LUSTRES AND ALPACAS, HOYLE'S PRINTS, SKIRTS & SKIRTINGS, HOLLANDS, TABLINGS, WINCIES, FLANNELS, &c., &c., &c., R. B. SMITH. Goderich, 11th August, 1871.

FASHIONABLE TAILORING. W. & J. KAY

HAVE ENGAGED A FIRST-CLASS CUTTER, AND ARE PREPARED TO MAKE SUITS TO ORDER AT CHEAPEST RATES.

THEY HAVE RECEIVED NEW TWEEDS & COATINGS, NEW ALPACAS, NEW PRINTS, &c

Goderich, March 6th, 1871.

Apprentice Wanted. A STOUT LAD TO LEARN BLACKSMITHING

THE NEW GROCERY STORE WHITELEY & ELLIOTT DEALERS IN GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, WINES & LIQUORS.

Apprentice Wanted. TO LEARN THE BLACKSMITHING, A STOUT LAD from the country preferred

Young Ladies' School. The Misses McMillan will re-open their School on Monday, 28th August.

SAGINAW 1871 And Goderich. STEAMER "St. OHIO"

Wanted to Purchase. A GOOD SALT WELL, if with buildings erected, preferred.

HARNESS SHOP. CHARLES VIDEON, RESPECTFULLY INTIMATES TO THE PUBLIC

FEED! FEED!! FEED!!! Samuel Curran Would respectfully announce to the public that he has opened a

FLOUR AND FEED STORE In connection with his Grocery, On Victoria Street, (Opposite Somerville's Grist Mill.)

Of Choice Family Groceries, Which is just arrived and will be sold very CHEAP FOR CASH, and delivered anywhere in town.

SPECIAL VALUE IN TEA. A CALL SOLICITED. Goderich, August 16th, 1871.

GOODS AT COST. W. R. CLAYTON Smith's Hill, INTENDING TO LEAVE THIS SECTION ABOUT 15th September next, has resolved to SELL OFF AT A COST, his entire stock of DRY-GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, AND HARDWARE,

A Splendid Chance TO SECURE BARGAINS. N. B.—All parties indebted must call and settle, not later than the 15th September, or their accounts will immediately thereafter be put into Court for collection.

Smith's Hill, 21 Aug. 1871.

Stray Heifer. Strayed from the premises of the Subscriber, about 1st of June last, a LIGHT BREDDED HEIFER, coming 3 years old. Information that will lead to her recovery will be thankfully received by Goderich, 15th August, 1871.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Partnership heretofore existing between PARKER & GATLEY as Chemists and Druggists in Goderich, Ontario, and G-derich, has been dissolved by mutual consent.

All debts owing to the said Partnership in Goderich are to be paid to GEORGE GATLEY, who will continue the Business in the old stand, and all claims against said Partnership in Goderich are to be presented to and George Galt, by whom the same will be paid.

Dated, in Goderich the 15th July, 1871.

W. G. WILSON Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Insurance & Real Estate Agent

DEEDS, MORTGAGE, &c., DRAWN AND EXECUTED, MONEY TO LOAN AT 10 per cent. Mar. 10th 1870.

For Sale. A HOUSE AND ACRE 1/2, WITH A good bearing orchard

Apply to W. G. WILSON, Goderich May 10th, 1871.

W. HICK JONAS'S BLOCK ARCHITECT Market Square, Goderich, Ont.

ATTENTION HARDWARE. Hardware Store, opposite the Market House.

NAILS, GLASS, PUTTY, CARPENTER'S TOOLS, SPADES, SHOVELS, SCYTHES, FORKS, RAKES, GRIND CRADLES,

MANILA ROPE, HEM AND RUBBER PACKING, LEATHER BELTING, all sizes, SHIP LEAD, all sizes, BOILED AND RAW OIL, BLACK OIL, MACHINERY OIL, TURBENTINE,

And all kind of HARDWARE, For Sale Cheap, BY H. PARSONS & Co., Opposite the Market House, GODERICH, 7th, 28, 1871.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth.

This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed.

But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor yeast does not soil white cap and, by its long use on the hair, gives it a glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS, LOWELL, MASS.

PRICE 15 CENTS. NORTHUP & LYMAN, Newcastle, Ont., Agents for Canada. Sold in Goderich by Parker & Galt and J. Jordan, Goderich & Co., Bayfield, James Buchanan Rodger, J. P. Clark, Easton, J. H. Jones, C. H. Smith, Second, Lucknow, E. H. Wilson, Goderich, and all Medicine Dealers.

W. G. WILSON Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Insurance & Real Estate Agent

COMMISSIONER IN B. I. DEEDS, MORTGAGE, &c., DRAWN AND EXECUTED, MONEY TO LOAN AT 10 per cent. Mar. 10th 1870.

For Sale. A HOUSE AND ACRE 1/2, WITH A good bearing orchard

Apply to W. G. WILSON, Goderich May 10th, 1871.

W. HICK JONAS'S BLOCK ARCHITECT Market Square, Goderich, Ont.

ATTENTION HARDWARE. Hardware Store, opposite the Market House.

NAILS, GLASS, PUTTY, CARPENTER'S TOOLS, SPADES, SHOVELS, SCYTHES, FORKS, RAKES, GRIND CRADLES,

MANILA ROPE, HEM AND RUBBER PACKING, LEATHER BELTING, all sizes, SHIP LEAD, all sizes, BOILED AND RAW OIL, BLACK OIL, MACHINERY OIL, TURBENTINE,

And all kind of HARDWARE, For Sale Cheap, BY H. PARSONS & Co., Opposite the Market House, GODERICH, 7th, 28, 1871.

W. G. WILSON Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Insurance & Real Estate Agent

COMMISSIONER IN B. I. DEEDS, MORTGAGE, &c., DRAWN AND EXECUTED, MONEY TO LOAN AT 10 per cent. Mar. 10th 1870.

For Sale. A HOUSE AND ACRE 1/2, WITH A good bearing orchard

Apply to W. G. WILSON, Goderich May 10th, 1871.

Vertical text on the far right edge of the page, including 'September 7th' and various small notices and advertisements.

er's Vigor,

Gray Hair to Youth and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effective for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the glow and freshness of youth. This hair is thick, checked, and built, and not only cured but can restore the hair, which are destroyed, and can be saved for application. Instead of a pasty, clean and vigorous, will prevent the hair from falling off, and of baldness. Free of any substance which causes dandruff and hair, the Vigor can harm it. It is wanted.

RESSING, found so desirable, it not only does not stain, and it lasts long, it is a glossy and beautiful.

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

WILSON, Real Estate Agent.

STORAGE, &c., 100 AN AT 100 cent.

Sale, 100 ACRES WITH A

BUCHANAN

100 ACRES WITH A

September 7th.

The Typhoon in Japan.

Yokohama advices bring full reports of the typhoon which visited the coast of Japan on the 6th July. At Kobe the entire waterfront, walls, store-sheds, landings, etc., were washed away. The native settlement of Kobe was utterly ruined. The Higo New gave the following in relation to the wreck of the steamer at Kobe:

Among the foreign shipping the most serious loss is the British bark Fride of the Thames, which dragged her anchors, and after striking the Bona wall for some time, came on shore close to the American Hatoba, and at one o'clock went on her beam ends. We have not yet ascertained how many of her crew were lost, but it is certain that the captain, first and second mates, and two others have perished, but the bodies have not yet been recovered. Those who were saved escaped almost miraculously. One was drifting round the harbor for some time, till he was picked up by the Augusta. The steamer Falshong, Oshimaru, and Kinsato, belonging to the C. and J. Trading Company, were carried over the new sea wall, and now lie on the beach a mass of wreck. The Rising Sun is also a complete wreck. The Skifanaru, and two Japanese steamers that ply between this and Osaka, were carried high and dry on the beach, but apparently they have not been damaged beyond redemption. The Taku is reported to be on shore on the other side of the bay. Several large junks, house-boats and cargo-boats were carried close to the Eastern Custom-house, and the beach along the native town is strewn with craft of all description. The Lorchs Race Horse, which was lying near the premises of Messrs Baird & Co. before the storm, craned along the Band, and eventually found her way up Nishi-machi, where she now lies, about one hundred yards from the shore. Many native boats have been completely destroyed in Kobe harbor, accompanied, we fear, with much loss of life.

At Higo the storm appears to have raged with even greater violence than at Kobe. Between 250 and 300 houses have been destroyed along the shore, and about 600 boats were reported lost, the number of small junks left in port being few indeed. Of course the loss of life has been immense. The authorities have not yet ascertained the number of people who have perished during the storm, but the dead are estimated at something between 400 and 600 besides a considerable number of wounded.

One junk which was wrecked had 200 persons on board, all but three of whom have perished. From Tsanpan we hear that the whole of the neighborhood is flooded during a loss of one hundred lives; and that the Dredgers have been carried into the country some considerable distance.

SPURGEON.—Understanding, while in London, that the great papist orator, Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, would preach on Sunday, we went very early, in order to secure a good eligible seat being provided with a letter of introduction from an eminent Baptist clergyman. We were ushered into the seat immediately behind the pew occupied by one of England's devout and elect women, Lady Burgoyne, Mr. Spurgeon, having been very ill for a time, was unable to reach the platform where his moveable pulpit (simply a table with castors) stands, without assistance. Having supported himself by the railing, he immediately commenced an earnest prayer for the presence of the Holy Ghost during service; then followed the hymn, read very carefully and sung heartily by the whole congregation, the tune being raised by the Precentor, who stood by Mr. Spurgeon in the stand; then followed the Scripture reading, with a running commentary on the several verses. Speaking on the Prodigal Son, he said the prodigal would have said when he met the father, "Make me as one of thy hired servants;" but God smothered that part of his prayer with kisses. The sermon was on Luke xv. 17: "In my father's house there his bread enough and some to spare." It being the one thousandth sermon he had delivered, he dwelt on the fact, and asked his people to praise God for sparing his life. After service we had a very pleasant interview with him. His manner in social life is attractive. A lady with me remarked to him: "Mr. Spurgeon, I think I have discovered the great secret of your success; it is Christ, and Christ only." "Yes," said he: "I am constantly striking on the old piece of iron, and it is no wonder that it sometimes gets hot." On Monday night we went to the Tabernacle prayer-meeting. Mr. Spurgeon was present, but was so feeble that, after making some very appropriate and earnest remarks, he had to leave. The elders and members engaged most devoutly in prayer, especially for the health of their pastor, and a revival of God's work. There were nearly two thousand persons present, and a deep spirit of piety seemed to pervade the assemblage.—W. C. Steele in the Methodist.

How to Deal with Scandal-Mongering Sneaks.—Sneaks cannot be crushed out of existence. We have to tolerate them. They are carefully ready to give us absolute cause of offence. They sit by and we cannot tell who has stabbed us. What is to be done with them? Let them, as far as possible, be avoided. If you do not feel yourself sufficiently strong to encounter, without committing yourself when you see him bearing down upon you in the street, turn down by lane, or entry, or even pop into a pub—no, don't do that, for, if you do, no witness that you are a confirmed drunkard, and frequent public-houses at all hours of the day. But do get out of his path. He will do no good—he may do you harm; at any rate, he will try to do so, for it is his policy to raise himself by pulling down other people. If he persists in getting in your way—why, curb him dead.

The New York steamboat men are struggling with a knotty problem. Gen. Belknap said, before the close of the government investigation of the Westfield disaster, that it was the duty of every boiler inspector to go inside the boiler under examination and test the inner plates and braces. Mr. Matthews, one of the inspectors, is a Palmer, and the end of a boiler would have to be knocked off to enable him to get into it, and he couldn't do it then, unless it was a large boiler and well greased on the inside. Now, the question is, whether boilers are to be made larger, or Matthews dieted and rubbed down until he can get into the present ones.

French violet Ink, Blue and Black Inks, School Books, Copy Books, Pens and pen holders, Slates for 5 cents at the Star Book Store.

THE SIGNAL reaching every post office in Huron, many in Bruce and having a very extensive circulation, is the best advertising medium in this section.

Excelsior Grocery, STEPHEN YATES.

A GOOD STOCK OF GROCERIES, CONSISTING OF TEAS, COFFEES, TOBACCOES, SUGAR, SYRUP, MOLASSES, RAISINS, CURRANTS, RICE, SPICES, PEELS, CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE, CONSISTING OF, CHINA SETS, TOILET SETS, STONE, AND BY THE DOZEN. Flour, Feed, Oatmeal, Cornmeal, Dried-wheat Flour, and Provisions generally, always on hand. GOOD AS THE BEST, CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST FOR CASH OR PRODUCE. Opposite the Market, and next door to Jordan's Drug Store. October 7th, 1870.

Shephard Strachan, GROCERIES, GODERICH.

Have been re-appointed sole agents at Goderich for the sale of the celebrated Exeter Factory Cheese. Local dealers supplied at the Factory Prices. SHEPHARD & STRACHAN, Goderich, Aug 15 1870.

Auction & Commission GODERICH & CLINTON, Established 1852.

SALES of Miscellaneous Property in Goderich every Saturday, and in Clinton every Wednesday. Money advanced on Property for immediate sale and prompt returns made. Farm Stock and other Sale practically attended to throughout the County. G. M. A. RUEMAN'S Auction Mart, Goderich, Aug 15 1870.

Goderich Marble works

MADE TO ORDER. Marble-cutting works. In this office stand Mr. A. M. Johnston, Victoria St. Goderich. They have now gone to the States for a supply of the best quality of stone, and will be able to supply.

Scott, Vanstone & Co. MARBLE-CUTTING WORKS.

MADE TO ORDER. Marble-cutting works. In this office stand Mr. A. M. Johnston, Victoria St. Goderich. They have now gone to the States for a supply of the best quality of stone, and will be able to supply.

Tombstones, Mantlepieces, Window Sills, &c., &c., GAVIN SUTHERS, Agent.

In the best style of workmanship and on reasonable terms. GAVIN SUTHERS, Agent, Goderich 17th July, 1871.

TIME IS MONEY. PATENT GROOVED IRON HARROWS.

If you want to do two days work in one of these. THE BEST AND CHEAPEST EVER OFFERED IN CANADA. Only $15 cash, worth $25.00. Inspection invited at D. E. RICHARDS' Blacksmith Shop, Goderich, March 20th, 1871.

Notice to Debtors.

ALL DEBTS DUE TO THE LATE MRS. STRACHAN & CO. must be paid to the undersigned, on or before 15th September, after which date they will be put into Court for collection. D. E. RICHARDS, Goderich, 10 Aug. 1871.

ORDAR POSTS AND RAILS FOR SALE BY STEPHEN YATES.

EXCELSIOR GROCERY, Goderich 25th May, 1871.

Very Thing Wanted

NEW HARDWARE STORE In GODERICH OPPOSITE MARKET HOUSE.

SIGN OF THE CIRCULAR SAW

COMPLETE STOCK OF HARDWARE.

G. H. PARSONS & CO. Opposite the Market House.

Goderich June 22nd, 1871.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1869. AND AMENDMENTS THERETO

In the matter of J. A. R. H. Nelson, Insolvency. A Divided sheet has been prepared, open to objection until the 15th day of September next, after which date and until the 15th day of October next, it will be closed by the undersigned at his office and at the office of Messrs. Birkett and Bell's, Hamilton. JOHN HALDAN Assignee. Dated at Goderich this 17th day of Aug. A.D. 1871.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1869

In the matter of JOHN FAIR and ANDREW BIRCH, formerly trading as John Fair and Co. SALE OF LANDS. By virtue of the powers vested in me as Assignee of the estate and effects of the above named insolvent I will offer for sale by Public Auction at my office, No. 1 King St., West, on the 11th day of September, 1871, the Sixth day of September next, at eleven o'clock, forenoon all the rights and interests of the said insolvent in and to the following parcel of land, viz. All and singular certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situated being and being in the Town of Goderich, in the County of Huron, in the Province of Ontario, containing by measurement, one eighth of an acre of land in the same parcel being being composed of the West half of lot number eleven on the south side of Light House Street, whereas known as running number One hundred and Eleven in the Town of Goderich. Terms and conditions will be made known at time of sale. W. F. FINDLAY, Assignee. Hamilton 24th June, 1871.

MONTREAL OCEAN STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

FOR TICKETS to and from Liverpool London &c or Glasgow by the St. Lawrence Captain H. CARTER. Agent, Grand Trunk Railway Goderich, Aug 15, 1870.

TOWN LOTS

TO BE SOLD IN GODERICH. APPLY TO W. J. ALEY, Huron Hotel, Goderich 1st February, 1871.

FARM FOR SALE ON THE BAYFIELD GRAVEL ROAD

BRINGING 122, first concession Goderich Township, 110 acres, 50 of which are cleared, a severing creek runs through the land. The lot is situated on the Gravel road about 5 miles from the town of Goderich. The land is a rich clay loam, being very suitable for wheat or fruit growing. The lot will be sold cheap and on easy terms. Possession can be given 1st October. For particulars and terms apply to H. FAIRBANKS or to J. DAVISON, Goderich. Goderich, Aug 15, 1870.

Valuable Property for sale.

LOTS NUMBER 58 and 59 IN THE TOWN OF GODERICH. On Lot 58 is situated a small Brick Cottage and a large frame House two stories high, and on Lot 59 there is a large two story brick house which can be converted into a first class Hotel at little cost and also a frame Barn. The Lots will be sold either together or separate still purchasers. Terms made known on application to Wm. A. HALL, on the premises, or to Messrs DAVISON & JOHNSTON Goderich 15th July, 1871.

FARM FOR SALE

A FIRST CLASS FARM, SITUATED ON BAYFIELD ROAD, lot 2 1/2 Con. Township of Goderich, adjoining the Corporation of Goderich, containing 125 acres, 30 acres cleared and the balance good bush. There are also three large orchards of the most excellent quality. For sale on easy terms. The buildings are excellent and consist of a very large well finished barn and stable. This is a rare opportunity for a farmer. Apply to J. DAVISON, Goderich.

TOWN LOTS.

FOR SALE 40 BUILDING LOTS, ONE-FIFTH OF AN ACRE EACH, well-situated, rising from the Bayfield Road to Elizabeth Road, Texas road, etc. Apply to ROBERT WILSON, proprietor of the Goderich Hotel, Goderich 17th July, 1871.

FARM FOR SALE. A RARE CHANGE.

THE PROPERTY OF THE LATE ANDREW J. GARVEY, being the South Half of Lot, No. 23 on the town of Goderich, containing 120 acres, 100 acres first class land, to be had at the office of BOTTLE & SQUER, Barbers Goderich. Goderich December 21st 1870.

New Butcher Shop Opposite Henry Martin's HOTEL, HAMILTON ST.

THE Subscriber has pleasure in intimating that he has opened a Butcher Shop at the above address and he will be prepared to supply the choicest quality of meats at a lower price than elsewhere in town. Give him an early call. Orders delivered in all parts of the town hours of the day. ROBERT MCLEAN, Goderich March 7th, 1871.

LANDS for SALE AT BAYFIELD.

LOTS NO. 71 & 72 BAYFIELD CONGRESSION Township of Goderich, comprising 140 acres of the best quality of land, within about 2 miles of the Market place of the Town of Bayfield. There is a clearance of 23 acres which could readily be prepared for crop. The remainder of the land is closely covered with the best of beech & maple timber of splendid growth, an excellent road passes on two sides of the property, which is situated in an old and well settled neighbourhood. ALSO—Lot 14, Range A Township Stanley, containing 20 acres of the best quality of land, which would produce a large quantity of firewood to the acre. The lot runs to the River Bayfield with a considerable fall which could be made available for milling or manufacturing purposes. For terms apply to JAMES D. ALLEN, Goderich, August 15, 1870.

60 BUILDING LOTS

FOR SALE in the Town of Goderich, near the Survey Office. These Lots are very favorably situated for building purposes for Mechanics and others. All being within five minutes walk from the square. For terms and particulars, apply to CHARLES WILDER, Esq., Barrister at Law, Goderich, April 4th, 1871.

TWO FARMS for SALE

FOR SALE two very valuable FARMS in the Town of Goderich. For particulars apply to JOSEPH SHAW, Huron Road, Goderich Township, August 15, 1870.

FOR SALE. A FRAME HOUSE CONTAINING 7 ROOMS and in a good state of repair.

The site is about the best in the Town, being situated on the Bank overlooking Huron and River with South and North view of the Lake. For particulars apply to M. NICHOLSON, Goderich 15th July 1871.

FOR SALE. House and Lot ON CAMBRIA ROAD, NEAR BRICKYARD.

Apply to J. E. PROBERT, Goderich 15th July 1871.

EXCELLENT LAND

COVERED with Maple and Beech, 10 miles from Goderich. For sale cheap, being wanted for the purpose of a farm. Apply to W. H. WATKINS, Goderich, Feb. 10th, 1870.

For Sale. PINE SHINGLES.

Apply to G. M. TRUEMAN, Goderich 13th June, 1871.

Land for Sale.

A VALUABLE FARM, BRINGING 107 1/2 ACRES, W. W. WATKINS, Esq., Goderich, Aug 15, 1870.

For Sale.

LOTS 20 & 21 WELLINGTON ST. ADJOINING the property of Chas. Kellar Esq., on which there is a cottage containing 8 rooms, Kitchen, Parlor and wash room—there is also a driving house 22 x 32 good well, rain-water tank, leading to lot and Brick ash house &c. at present occupied by the subscriber. Apply to D. GORMON on the premises, Goderich 24th June, 1871.

STEAM SAW & SHINGLE MILL, With Farm for Sale.

A FIRST CLASS STEAM SAW-MILL AND SHINGLE MILL, of Beckett's make, with a fine building complete, on the west half of lot 25 in the 11th Concession of East Wawanosh, will be sold on terms very favorable to the purchaser. The mill will cut 5000 feet of lumber per day of twelve hours. It is well situated for business, being in a well timbered country where there is a large demand for lumber. The farm comprises a hundred acres, and has a good dwelling house, barn and stable. The farm and mill will be sold together or separately. Apply to H. HALE, Clinton, W. B. 30.

Choice Farm for Sale

10 1/2, Mattland Concession, Township of Goderich, 107 acres, 40 cleared and the balance in good hard-wood timber. With 20 miles of the best quality of Goderich. A never-failing creek runs through the premises. Terms Liberal. Apply by letter post paid to Mrs. Hildon, Goderich P. O. GAVIN STRUTHERS, Goderich P. O. August 14, 1871.

House to Let.

A TWO STORY HOUSE NEAR THE SQUARE. Apply to L. McINTOSH, Goderich 23 July 1871.

FARM FOR SALE.

107 ACRES, 10 W. D. COLBORNE, 100 ACRES 100 cleared, good dwelling house, from 22 x 30 with a commodious kitchen attached also good barn and 2000 feet of lumber. Good bearing orchard well watered by two creeks running through the farm, and good well. One mile from gravel road, 5 miles from Goderich. For particulars apply on the premises to the undersigned, or to Mr. D. Ferguson, Goderich. August 15, 1870. C. STEWART.

For Sale.

A BRICK COTTAGE AND 1 ACRE lot, most highly situated on East Street, Town of Goderich, on the direct Route to and from the Railway Station. Apply to J. V. DETLORE Esq., or Mr. W. CAMPBELL, Goderich July 25th, 1871.

To Let.

ROOMS, LATELY OCCUPIED BY D. S. GOOD-ING'S Law Office, situated in the Post Office. Apply to DANIEL GORDON, Goderich July 24th, 1871.

For Sale.

120 year old Oak, 100 feet tall, also a stubble tree with 100 lbs. Apply to COLIN CLARK, Huron Road, Goderich, 23 Aug. 1871.

DOMINION GARRAGE WORKS. R. J. WHITELY & Co.

PHANTONS Buggies and Spring Waggon. CARRIAGE TRIMMING. LUMBER WAGON. Jobbing and Repairing. Orders in this line carefully attended to. Attention paid to all orders entrusted to us. N.B. Inspection of the work now being turned out is earnestly solicited. Goderich 1st May 1871.

GODERICH WAGON & CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY

Carriages, Waggon, Sleighs, Cutters, &c. JOHN PASMORE, Victoria St. St. Goderich, Goderich, Aug 15, 1870.

NEW Wagon and Carriage FACTORY.

BATES & ELLIOTT. HAVING pleasure in intimating to the public of this town and country that they have opened a Wagon and Carriage Shop on St. James Street, Goderich, Ontario, immediately adjoining the Western Hotel. B. & E. attend personally to all the work entrusted to them, and are prepared to turn out Waggon, Buggies, Cutters, Sleighs, and everything in their line, of the very best material and workmanship and at the very lowest remunerative rates. JOBBING Promptly attended to. ON HAND, a large assortment of SLEIGHS which will be sold Cheap for Cash or Credit. Goderich, Aug 15 1870.

REMOVAL.

ALEX. WALLACE WATCHMAKER AND JEWELER, 107 WEST STREET, GODERICH. THE Subscriber having removed to the Store opposite the Post Office, wishes to thank his friends and the public for the liberal support which they have favored him for the last 25 years, and begs to assure them that no effort will be spared to merit a continuance of their patronage his anxious study will be to supply Watches Clocks and Jewellery which will give satisfaction to the purchaser, and as an art work has been done by myself, customers may depend on having it well executed. A 40's Assortment of Good and Plated Watches, Clocks &c. always on hand. ALEX. WALLACE, Goderich Aug. 15th 1870.

LOOK OUT FOR THE BIG WATCH

AS YOU GO TO THE POST OFFICE DOUGLASS MCKENZIE returns his sincere thanks to the public for the generous patronage extended him, since he commenced business last fall, and is determined to deserve it more and more. He would call special attention to the RUSSELL WATCH which he has on hand a very large stock of, of reliable time-keepers which he sells at a low price, and to guarantee satisfaction to the purchaser. There is nothing more tantalizing than a bad watch, when there is no chance for being annoyed with it, when THE RUSSELL WATCH is to be had cheap. A complete assortment of gold and plated Jewellery, Watches and Clocks repaired in a workmanlike manner. Call and See. DOUGLASS MCKENZIE, Goderich, March 25th, 1871.

BLACKSMITH WANTED.

IMMEDIATELY, A STEADY MAN ACCUSTOMED to horse-shoeing and general country work, constant employment. WILLIAM ROBERTSON, Millener P. O. 14 June, 1871.

Money to Loan on Real Estate.

A PRUDENT INVESTMENT TRUST AND LOSS COMPANY of Upper Canada. G. M. TRUEMAN, Market Square Goderich.

PHOTOGRAPHS $1.00 Per Dozen.

HALF DOZEN on BACK NEGATIVE $1.00 cents, postage free. One dozen from backnegative $2.00 cents, postage free, to any address. Particular Attention paid to Copying old Ambrotypes. For either large or small photographs. The subscriber in returning thanks for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to him, would just say that he has made such improvement in his gallery as will merit the continuance of the same. A Great Reduction on Large Photographs. E. L. JOHNSON, Goderich, Aug. 15, 1870.

Extensive NEW PREMISES

G. N. DAVIS HAS THIS DAY REMOVED TO HIS COMMODIOUS NEW BRICK BUILDING (NEARLY OPPOSITE F. JORDAN'S DRUG STORE) Convenient to the Market. His stock of stoves &c. IS LARGE AND COMPLETE. PARTIES IN WANT OF ANYTHING in his line will save money by inspecting his stock before purchasing elsewhere. ALL KINDS OF JOB WORK WILL BE DONE THE SAME AS USUAL. Goderich, 1st July, 1870.

Stoves! Stoves!

PLAIN AND FANCY TIN WARE, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL. Coal Oil Lamps, &c. Old Iron Copper, Brass, Wood Pickings, and Sheet Iron taken in exchange. I. J. STORY, Goderich, Aug 15, 1870.

VETERINARY.

Noticeto StockOwners WM. CHURCHILL. HAVING ATTENDED THE REQUIRED NUMBER of Sessions at the ONT. VETERINARY COLLEGE passed the final examination, and obtained a diploma; is now ready to attend to the diseases and accidents of all domesticated animals. Calls promptly attended to. References, Prof. Smith V. S. Prof. Thomson, Prof. Barrett, Prof. Buckland, all of Toronto. Office Residence—Stables on and after 1st May on Montreal St. next Block to the Signal Office and directly opposite Foley's Livery Stable. All Veterinary Medicines always on hand. N.B. Will be in possession of a license from the province requiring Mr. Churchill's services will please call at Martin's Colborne Hotel. Goderich 21st April 1871.

Feed! Feed!!

JUST RECEIVED AT Shephard & Strachan's, 20 TON OF BRAN SHORTS &c Middlings, WHICH THEY WILL Sell Cheap for Cash. Goderich, Aug 15 1870.

Notice to Debtors

All parties indebted to the undersigned, whose A/c accounts were rendered last winter, are hereby notified to pay up on or before 1st June, failing which they will be put into court for collection. BUCHANAN, LAWSON & ROBINSON, Goderich, April 20th, 1871.

