GAINED 65 POUNDS

"Five years ago when I was first married, I had wonderful energy. I could be on the go all day long without feeling the least bit fatigued. I had a great appetite and could eat anything. I weighed 147 pounds. I used to be busy every minute of the day and, when day was over, I could go to bed and never waken once during the night. Thirteen months ago my first baby was born. After that my energy seemed to leave me. I was tired all the time. I had to force myself to do my household duties. Instead of being pleasure as formerly, these duties became a real task. I lost all desire for food and nothing would tempt me. I had to make myself eat. I would go to bed at night and toss from side to side for hours at a time. After a while I would doze off only to find that I had been sleeping for ten or fifteen minutes. Naturally when morning came, not having slept, I started the day completely tired out. I was shaky and nervous. The least noise would startle me and make my heart race along. I could see that my hus-hand was worried. I was losing weight every week and had al-ready lost 54 pounds. I tried all kinds of tonics, but they didn't help me. One night, a night I shall never forget because it started me on the way to health and happiness again, my husband brought in a bottle of Carnol. A friend told him that Carnol had friend told him that Carnol had saved his wife's life, so he insisted upon my trying it. Six weeks after I began taking Carnel, my weight increased from 93 pounds to 158, an increase of 65 pounds. And, am I well these days? and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it tasn't done you any good, return the empty bettle to him and he will refund your money. 8-622

Mr. Garvia Tells

LLOYD GEORGE TO GO. Ever since Mr. Lloyd George for Coalition Government six years Lloyd George to resign and announced a series of drastic articles, of which the following is the first to appear in the "Observer:"

"First, so far as the East is con rned, the Government has irrevocably lost the Great War which it was one of Mr. Lloyd George's chief purago. Secondly, the necessit fundamental change in the per onnel and system of our nent is unanswerably proved. Thirdly, the moribund Coalition is dead at ast, Mustapha Kemal of all men having killed it as surely as the sparrow killed Cock-robin. Fourthly, the Premier's position has become quite intenable with any credit to himself

r advantage to the country." "We take the last point first. Mr. Lloyd George was a great leader in the war, and we shall never forget it. If he can only make up his mind at last, though late, to sacrifice his office in order to regain his influence, he will he a great leader once more in due time, and perhaps sooner than is thought by most persons now that his stock is low. But for the present his public usefulness is exhausted For so infinitely clever a man it is strange that he has made the old stale mistake of so many of his predecesors. F has lingered too long and hopel say outstayed his luck.

"If he now endeavoured to extend his tenure still more abnormably, he would find the ground quietly but firmly cut from under his feet by majority which is not his own and now means at no distant date to have another head. Unionist unmistakab. ly mean to unite. They know that they can now do better fighting on separate—even if paralled—lines, than if they went to the polls under Mr. Lloyd George's personal leadership. That attitude is inevitable. Liberals in the constituencies will as unmistakably re-unite in their turn. Nothing the Premier can now attempt would sufficiently arrest that process. The main currents of events at home, as abroad, have passed beyond his control.

NOT THE MAN HE WAS.

"The reasons for this anti-climax are obvious. Alone of living states men the Premier has been seventeen years in office. When he should not expect to continue forever, it might seem frange that he did not go out long since—in circumstances which would have ensured his speedier and more powerful return. The thing is explicable. Eight of his seventeen years in office have been equal to more than an ordinary generation of wear and tear. No mortal man could stand it and remain as good as he was. Neither in insight for home and foreign politics nor in any kind of consecutive directing energy is he equal, or anything like equal, to the nan he was at his best.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Dear Sir -I am in receipt of your my remarks about Captain Arthur that I greatly regret having made an such statement, and that certainly realized it would have caused any resentment or grief to any person. I

I am merely a recorder of what is told me. Both on the Rosalind, going to Newfoundland, as well as in St. John's and aboard the Terra Nova, I often heard Captain Jackman spoken of; and naturally I wrote what I was old. I should like to point out that 99% of all the remarks about Captain Jackman were of highest praise. All coincided in declaring him fearless. efficient, generous; in short, a splendid type of seaman. In my article I took occasion to mention his fine and manly qualities; and I deeply regret having been so indiscreet as to let a slip of the pen wound anybody's feelings. I wish it were understood how fond I am of Newfoundland and her people; how much I admire the country and the population for their sterling qualities; and how highly I esteem the hospitality shown me. If you will allow me to make amends for my regrettable remark by thus apologizing, both by writing you thus, and by | Cough requesting you to print this letter in the Newfoundland press, I shall esteem it a favor.

With sincere regrets, my dear Sir hat I have been the cause of any trouble, and trusting that you will accept this apology in the cordial spirit in which it is sent, I am, Very truly yours, GEORGE ALLAN ENGLAND.

mination other than his. However, we avoid the possibility infringing upon the learned Magiste's jurisdiction by treating this al as if it was from a judge on uestion of withdrawing a case jury. That is a question which lways presents itself to a trial judge end of the case for the prostion, for he has to be satisfied that vidence is sufficient to warrant nviction before allowing the case go to the jury. Is the evidence then, sufficient first, to show the nmission of the crime charged and, f so, to enable a jury to say that the ensed was the guilty party. In wil cases the preponderance of probility may constitute sufficient round for a verdict but in criminal es something more is required. artin B. in Rex. v. White (4 F. F. 84) in summing up a criminal case to a jury told them that "In order to able them to return a verdict mainst the prisoner, they must be tisfied beyond reasonable doubt of nis guilt; and this as a conviction reated in their minds not merely as was to acquit." The prosecution has side a recess under stairs, where apount for it, shortly after the accusred by his superior landlord to amount but to a probability, to blish the crime of arson for the umes a fire to be accidental

ROBERT EDGREN

Georges Carpentier said of Dempsey: "They told me he could not box, but he is the best boxer I ever saw.' I've often heard people say that Dempsey can't box; that he is just a big strong fellow who hits hard. That seems to be a general impression. founded on nothing more than the fact that Dempsey doesn't stand in the "Well." said Jack, "there are only helpless as a turtle turned on its House rung with cheers. two things in boxing. One is to hit back. the other fellow, and the othes is to keen him from hitting you.

THE CHEEK BONE PUNCH.

"Another reason why a body punch is the best punch is that now-a-days most fighters don't think of anything but socking the other bird on the chin and most any hoxer covers his chin fairly well.

"If I want to hit 'em on the chin I hit 'em on the body first to bring their guard down or make them bend over to where they'll be easy to hit. It never bothered me to fight tall men. They come down to my height when I double them up with a body blow. Sometimes that one punch is enough, One punch in the solar plexus dropped Carl Morris on his nose.

In an ordinary scrap between fellows who aren't professional boxers the one who can deliver a good body punch wins. A fellow who isn't a boxer never expects a body punch and ha no defence for it.

"The knockout punch on the head that everybody knows about is the chin. But maybe you notice that I often land my first head punch a little high—on the cheekbonc, maybe. That's because I'm trying to drop one over just above the eye tooth and at the side of the nose-a better knockout point than the chin if you reach

"If your punch is chopping down it may graze the chin, and a grazing punch on the chin is a better K.O. sock than & punch square on the but-

"Another nice point for a punch is back of the ear at the base of the skull. A hard wallop there may be dangerous, but a few little chops just make a fellow woozy so he doesn't know where he is, and then the finishing is easy. That's what got Carpentier. I liked Georges and didn't want to mark him when I knocked him out. Of course knocking him out was part of the game, same as it would be for him to knock me out if he could.

"Landing punches is a matter of making your man move the way you want him to, so he'll leave openings. and then being in position to hit when you get the chance. "Take that fight at Toledo. Lots of people say a fighter can't tell how he'll fight until the fight starts. Of course a fighter can't be so dumb that he won't change his plans if he sees a better way to win, but I never

WONDERFUL STORY, "THE FOX." The story is one that Carey has wanted to produce for ten years. He wrote it, gathering most of the material from his wealth of picturesque experiences on the Western range. It embodies all of those qualities that countless fans have told Carey they liked most. Carrying a dramatic punch and a quivering thrill of suspense in every one of its surprising Mustad's Hooks twists, it sweeps everything before it in its swift rush of plot—its blow upon blow of the most absorbing situations ever devised. And through all of the vigorous action and thrills and spectacle runs a thread of sentiment that binds the interest with a strength as powerful and as satisfying as human sympathy itself. Step by step the story builds-now tense, now humanly humorous, now thrilling, now breathless, now tender—and all pyramiding

Inmates of Sanitarium.

SPEND ENJOYABLE EVENING.

On All Hallow's Eve, at the Sauitarium, Topsail Road, the inmates of the Institution were treated to a Cauld Cannon supper and dance arranged by Dr. Rendell and the nursing staff. Matron Coen who acted as chaperon for the occasion had everything in readiness, and all having enjoyed the Halloween feast, dancing was indulged in late in the evening. The C.L.B. Band, under Capt. A. Morris was present, and willingly gave their services free. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered them by Dr. Rendell on behalf of the nursing staff. The affair did not terminate until 12.30. Mr. R. Wood, who acted at floor manager, was tendered a vote of thanks by acclamation. The inmates of the institution feel grateful to Dr. Rendell, the Matron and Nurses, for their kindness in making the evening so enjoyable for them.

An excellent recipe for cranberry sauce is made by boiling together for 5 minutes, 2 cups sugar, and 2 cups boiling water. Remove scum and add a quart of cranberries. Cook without stirring until sauce is thick and clear.

College Football Game Ends in a Draw

ST. BON'S ARE CHAMPIONS. The inter-collegiate football series which has created such keen rivalry between the three colleges during the past three weeks, terminated so far yesterday, when the Bishop Field and Methodist College teams played, to a draw, allowing the St. Bon's team tighter grip on the championship. Should the St. Bon's eleven lose both their remaining two games, they are still champions. This is the tenth successive season that St. Bonaventure's College has carried away the much coveted honours. To Capt. Raymond Halley and his team, hearty congratulations are due for the excellent games they have played during the season THE GAME.

During the first half the Feildians, defending the eastern goal, had matters all their own way for the first fifteen minutes of play, in making attack after attack on the Methodist goal. The red and blue aggregation appeared to have lost the usual pep, as lisplayed in their former games, and by dint of good luck just managed to clear the leather out of danger. The Felldians secured corner after corner, but did not have the desired punch in forcing the pigshin through. The Methodist boys caused their opponents no little worry before the close of the period. Smith, who replaced FitzGerald in the Feildian goal responded to the occassion when he cleared two difficult shots placed by Angel and Rooney. Play was of a give and take nature before the half time whistle blew, the teams crossing over without a score.

SECOND HALF.

Owing to the late starting of the ame, darkness appeared, and during the remainder of the game the players and spectators alike found it difficult o follow the ball. The Feildians from the outset forced the play down field, and time after time Mott, Collegian goalie was called upon to save, Withers. Press and Long making several tries. Harrington and Angel for the Methodists checked the blues on slaught, each putting up a rattling good game. The backs of the Feild ians moved too far down field in the attack, when Tulliford from the right wing took control of the ball and made one of the longest runs for the season, and placed a stinging shot behind Smith, which he was unable to save. The Methodist forced the issue for some minutes, but Sheppard, the blues stalwart full back proved too much for them, and sent the ball soaring down field. The Feildian forwards got in some very clever combination Press. Withers and Anderson playing good rattling football. Their efforts were rewarded, however, some seven minutes before the close of the game, when Withers secured the desired opening and set the ball between the posts scoring the equaliser. Play now became fast and furious, each team doing its best for a win. The Methodist lads through the efforts of Tulliford made a speedy dash west, the ball hitting the upright and ended up by going behind. The Feildians were awarded a free kick outside of the penalty area just before the close. Sheppard placing a well directed shot to Mott which he handled like a veteran. The all-over sounded leaving the game a draw, Bishop Field 1. Methodist 1. Mr. R. R. Wood refereed. The teams lined up as follows:-

Methodist-Mott Goal; Halfyard, Harrington, full backs; Sparks, Angel Whelan half backs: Tulliford, Peters, Goobie, Rooney and Puddister forwards. Bishop Felid-Smith goal; Sheppard and Morris full backs; Rendell, Lloyd, Eals half backs; Titford, Press, Withers, Long and Anderson forwards. Two games remain unplayed in the series. The St. Bon's playing the

L.D.A. Carried to Extremes.

WINNIPEG. Oct.-Strict enforcement of the Lord's Day Act, recently inaugurated by city and provincial authorities in Manitoba, has brought loud protests from many sections of the community and it will probably be a subject of much discussion at the next session of the provincial legisla ture as amendments to the act will be sought by Labor members. With regard rigid enforcement of the act, the sale of everything except meals in restaurants is prohibited on Sundays. British Empire

The Duke of Devonshire has accepted the chairmanship of the Executive Council of the British Empire Exhibition, in succession to Lord Morris, who has been appointed a Vice-Presi-

At a meeting of the Executive Council recently, a vote of thanks, moved by Lord Southborough, was accorded Lord Morris for his valuable services during the past three years. He was Chairman of the Provisional Committee formed in 1919, with the idea of holding an Overseas Exhibition. When this was merged in the larger scheme as now constituted, he became chairman of the Executive Council.

The appointment of the Duke of Devonshire, a former Governor-General of Canada, to succeed Lord Morris is a fitting tribute to the Overseas

Mr. Robert Donald has written resigning his membership of the Committee of the British Empire Exhibit-

He explained that his resignation was in consequence of his being opposed to the policy adopted with regard to supplies to Empire produce to the restaurants of the Exhibition, a policy which he believed to be out of harmony with the spirit behind the Exhibition, and would upset the expectations held out to the Governments of the Dominions as inducements to participate in the Exhibit-

Mr. Donald in the course of his letter contended that support had been given by some of the Dominions on the assumption or in the expectation that only Empire and Dominion produce would be used. In consequence of the reports of the Exhibition's representative in the Colonies, he had proposed that all articles of food and drink supplied to the restaurant "should be produced within the Empire with the exception of excisable drinks, cigars, cigarettes, and hors d'œuvres, and in the case of those articles alternative British products should be encouraged and tenders should be invited from caterers on those terms.'

WISHES OF THE DOMINIONS. It was further stated by Mr. Donald that a memorandum had been handed in to support the theory that the restaurants at the Exhibition could not be run without drawing upon foreign sources for meat, fish, fruit maize, cheese, eggs, and various other articles, but Mr. Donald had pointed out that he had put the case against going outside the Empire for the supply of every article mentioned.

"I was amazed." Mr. Donald added, "to find that during the discussion it was contended that Canada could not produce good bread from its own wheat. I gave my personal testimony with regard to the bread in that Dominion ,but was flatly contradicted. It seemed to me that the members of the Committee were considering supplies to an Exhibition, rather than supplies to a British Empire Exhib-

Mr. Donald expressed the hope that the wishes of the Dominions would be careful considered and the high ideals behind the Exhibition more strictly observed.-English Papers.

Dublin's Huge Losses

The extent to which Dublin has suffered materially. as a consequence of the Rory O'Connor "rebellion," was partially revealed in the Recorder's Court recently, when no fewer than 613 claims for compensation for malicious damage to property. amounting to six million pounds, were listed for hearing. Most of these claims arose out of disturbances since June 28, when the Four Courts bombardment began. Mr. O'Byrne, on behalf of the Provisional Government, applied that all claims should be adjourned till the December Sessions, as the Government desired to have an opportunity of considering the whole question, with a view to introducing in the Provisional Parliament proposals by which portion of the liability would be borne "by the nation at large." The Government recognized that it would be unfair to assess the whole amount on Dublin ratepayers. The Recorder, in granting the adjournment, said he was determined that the items would be carefully sifted, and not a penny allowed that claimants could not legally prove.

McMurdo's Store News

THURSDAY, Nov. 2. There are some sufferers from Gout and Rheumatism, who find that ordinary remedies fail to reduce them, and those people naturally dread the onset of winter when damp and cold weather is the rule, and when attacks of gouty and rheumatic trouble are more frequent and severe. To those sufferers we suggest the judicious use of Gibson's Gout and Rheumatic Mixture. Higher in price than most remedies of the kind; those who have used it speak very highly of it, and it has of course the reputation of a stan-dard remedy on the other side of the Atlantic. Price $2.20 a bottle.
