No. 33 YONGE STREET, TORONTO. Daily World, in advance, 45 per year. Telephone 223, 224, 254. Private branch exchange connecting all departments.

THE WORLD OUTSIDE. The World can be had at the following news stands: Windsor Hotel, Montreal; Peacock & Jones, Buffalo; Wolverine News Co., Detroit; M. S. Deane Hotel, Chicago; P. O. Box 217 Dearborn, Chicago; G. F. Root, 276 E. Marshall, Wisnigo, Wis.; J. A. McLeod, 100 W. Superior, Milwaukee; J. A. McLeod, 100 W. Superior, Milwaukee; J. A. McLeod, 100 W. Superior, Milwaukee.

SUGAR-COATING THE PILL. The Globe of yesterday continues its advocacy of the Grand Trunk Pacific deal. What the deal really is, the Globe evidently knows, but neither the World nor the public does. But this much is certain, that it is a speculation. This is not a certain fact, but Mr. Wilton, late editor of the Globe, has in substance said that hereafter as a journalist he will not be connected with any journalistic enterprise that is for the promotion of interests of an individual or a group of individuals, and making this statement at the time he makes it is also generally accepted by the public as a protest from him against the proposed exploitation of the country by the Grand Trunk, or rather by the men who have been identified with many previous public exploitations.

Another column the Globe says that the Intercolonial Railway made over $96,000 profits in the last fiscal year. If this is the case, and the Pacific railway, why not extend the Intercolonial to the Pacific, or why not connect the Intercolonial with the Mann & Mackenzie system, even if a portion of that system has to be purchased? Then let the country own the Intercolonial, portions of the Mann & Mackenzie system, and build out to the Pacific. That is what the country will call for. That is what the world wants. That is what the capitalists who own and manipulate the Globe don't want. Such a proposal proposed in parliament by the government acting wholly and solely in the public interest would be supported by the people, but would be attacked by the railways and other corporations.

For the present, therefore, The World asks the Liberal government to extend the Intercolonial to the Pacific, or to commit themselves in any shape or form to the extension of the Intercolonial, that there must be a deal and that the terms of the deal, no deal has to be made. The public interest demands that no deal be made. But there is something the government can do to relieve the west, but it is not on the lines of the Globe. The Liberals of Canada can do a lot of thinking these days, and be based on their thoughts ought to be based on that remarkable declaration of Mr. Wilton's, which, in substance, is that he will not any longer be identified with any newspaper that is used by an individual or individuals to promote their own interests, and that, in substance, he has left The Globe for the very reason that that newspaper has been and is so engaged. Mr. Wilton has no standing before the public, but, except on the truth of these two statements.

Conservatives, too, are equally interested in knowing whether the Conservative party, as a party, is to be dragged into a like admission at this stage of the game, or at an early stage of the game, namely, that in some way terms must be made with the Grand Trunk, or rather, with the gentlemen who are promoting the Grand Trunk Pacific proposition. As far as we can gather, a very decided effort is being made this week to put the Conservative party in that position. Are the rank and file of the Conservative party so minded? We do not think so.

articles published by The London Times on the subject of municipal socialism, are inaccurate and misleading. If any of your readers are desirous of learning the truth regarding municipal ownership in Great Britain, I would refer them to the Lord Provost Chisholm's reply to The Times articles, which appeared in that paper's issue of Oct. 24; also to Sir J. McDougall's annual address to the London County Council, published in The London Times of Oct. 8. There are many other references which I could give, but these should suffice to convince all but those who are blinded by monopolistic interests that the statements regarding the failure of municipal ownership in the Canadian press, are mere phantoms of the mind, which exist only in the imagination of monopolistic directors and their associates. F. Dagher.

BURNT TO DEATH. G.T.R. Engineer Murphy Killed in a Collision at Morrisburg. Morrisburg, Dec. 2.—A serious rear-end collision occurred at the Grand Trunk station here this morning, by which J. Murphy, engine driver, was killed, and three other men, and two engines, were injured. At 6 o'clock a freight train was detained here by a hot box, and while it was being attended to, another freight with two engines crashed into the van, completely derailing the train. The men were thrown clear of the right of way, and was found painfully bruised and with fractured ribs. He was caught in the wreck, and his charred remains were found under the boiler of the engine. The officials are reticent about the cause of the accident, but there is no doubt that the design for which prevailed had something to do with it, as the train was being stopped by the lights. The three injured men received prompt medical attention, and the bodies were recovered. Traffic delayed about half a day.

New Postal Arrangement. Ottawa, Dec. 2.—The official circular explaining the arrangements for the preparation of customs duties on postal parcels forwarded from Great Britain to Canada announces that where duty is prepaid a "franking note" will accompany the parcel, and that the following exchange offices in Canada, viz., Victoria, Vancouver, Winnipeg, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, Halifax and Charlottetown. On arrival at any one of the foregoing offices the customs officer will assess the value of the package and the parcel will then be delivered at destination direct to the address thru the mails or at the exchange office as the case may be.

Police Court Record. In the Police Court yesterday Joseph Johnston was convicted of breaking into Jacob Singer's pawn shop. It was further alleged that Johnston stole two copper cylinders from Moses Halpern of Chestnut-street, and this charge will be investigated next Tuesday. Mrs. Margaret Scott was committed for trial for the theft of some articles from the Eaton County Jail. She was acquitted of a charge of stealing a watch from James Finley. Smith, for assisting Level Peit, was fined $10 and costs or 40 days. William Kinton, who fined $25 and costs or 40 days. Rev. C. E. Thomson, president, occupied the chair at the monthly meeting of the York Pioneers Soc'y, held in the Canadian Institute on Tuesday afternoon. After the routine business had been transacted, J. A. Matthews of West Queen-street, read an interesting paper descriptive of early days in North York, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Matthews.

WELL MADE.

Pure flour and pure yeast do not necessarily make good bread. Just so: material is not everything. Prof. W. Hodgson, M.A., Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure yeast-made soap." "What material is more than you think. Try Sunlight Soap—Oatmeal Bar—next wash day, and you will enjoy the benefits of a pure yeast-made soap, and will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 214

AT THE THEATRES.

"Floradora"—A Modern Madras, by Had. don Chambers. Grand—"Spotted Town," musical comedy. Toronto—"Nobody's Claim," with realistic effects. The Ellipse Sisters and others. Star-Topsy-Turvy Burlesques.

The regular meeting of the Toronto Presbytery was held in Knox Church yesterday. Several proposed changes were discussed regarding the aged and infirm ministers' fund. The most important change is to advance the rates paid annually, and a readjustment of the amounts paid out in annuities according to the rates of service given. The main purpose of the changes is to place the fund on a more self-sustaining basis, and to put a premium on the length of service.

Such elaborate care to detail does Richard Mansfield take that the costumes of even the minor characters in his production of "Caesar," given for the first time in New York last night, were made by an expert on Roman costumes and architecture, under the supervision of Alma Tadema, who has had the reputation of being the "sage" of the art. The costumes of the color work on helmet or sandals.

George Evans, known in vaudeville as "Hokey Boy," will turn his "good old" humor into a musical comedy, and take a leading part himself. The latest in melodrama is called "Over Niagara Falls," and depicts in one scene the history of the province of Ontario, from the time of the first settlement to the present day. The play is given at the Grand Trunk Theatre.

Chronic indigestion or dyspepsia, while a very common trouble, has for some time been looked upon by physicians as a serious thing, and that no time should be lost in treating it. The trouble has been shown that the most serious, fatal and incurable diseases of the body, and that their origin is in indigestion. Diabetes is simply one form of indigestion, the sugar and starch food being assimilated by the digestive organs. In the treatment of diabetes, it is beyond question that dyspepsia makes a fertile soil for the seeds of consumption. But the trouble has been to find a remedy that could be depended upon to cure dyspepsia, as it is notoriously obstinate and difficult to cure.

MEMBER OF CANADIAN PREFERENCE LEAGUE ANSWERS HIS ATTACK.

A member of the Canadian Preference League has handed The World the following reply to Professor Goldwin Smith's recent criticism of the league in his "By-stander" column: Professor Goldwin Smith's criticism of the league in his "By-stander" column is a masterpiece of misrepresentation. The league is not a political party, and it is not a political party. It is a league of men who are interested in the welfare of the country, and who are determined to do what is right for the country. Richard Harding Davis has written a new and unnamed play, which Henry Miller has written in the style of a comedy, and has a leading part himself. The play is given at the Grand Trunk Theatre.

With his original orchestra of 60 pieces, Mascagni will come to Toronto on next Monday night, to give a concert. The program will consist of the most popular of his compositions, and will also include the famous "Hymn to the Dawn" by Mascagni. The concert will be given at the Grand Trunk Theatre.

REPLY TO "BYSTANDER."

The origin of the Canadian Preference League was simple enough. It was a league of men who were interested in the welfare of the country, and who were determined to do what is right for the country. MAN CAUGHT IN FLYWHEEL.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 2.—Antonio Troina, laborer, was killed to-day by the Pennsylvania engine-room at Fifteenth and Filbert-streets. He had been on duty for some time, and was working on the power-house and became confused. He was in no danger, but in his excitement made an attempt to jump over the side of the dynamo. His feet became entangled in a belt and before he could extricate himself he was sent whirling toward one of the big 20-foot wheels, revolving at the rate of 250 revolutions a minute. Troina was drawn into the wheel and his body was hurled around the belt. After passing thru the wheel he was hurled out with a force which shot him head foremost thru a plate glass door.

TEXTILE TRADE IS TIMID

Afraid to Put Canadian Label on Home-Made Tweeds of Best Quality.

PEOPLE DEMAND FOREIGN GOODS

Home Industry Idea Not Pushed—Manufacturers Will Discuss the Question.

Scotch tweed made in Canada, of wool grown in Canada, woven by Canadian artisans, involving Canadian capital and consumed by Canadians, yet advertised as manufactured abroad. That is one of the contradictions of the textile trade in Canada to-day.

The remedy for this will be discussed before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association within a few weeks. Those familiar with the subject assert that it is merely another instance of the timidity of the textile trade in Canada.

Scotch tweed retails for from $1.75 to $2 per yard. This is for the genuine article. The Canadian-made Scotch tweed brings a little less than the imported goods.

Not Pushing Home-Made Tweeds. And yet manufacturers of Canadian Scotch tweeds are not pushing their stock as made in Canada.

Nearly as Good. "Yes, we use a great deal of Scotch tweed made in Canada," observed one leading King-street tailor, "but much of it is sold as imported goods."

WELSH COAL HAS TROUBLES

Twelve Hundred Tons Stalled in Kingston, Owing to Lack of Boat Accommodation.

IT IS HANDLED VERY MANY TIMES

Steamer Glenagarry, Half-Loaded with Scotch Coal, Goes Back to Kingston for Welsh.

No wonder that the Welsh coal is not making good local consumers. It has experienced much trouble in transportation. It would be unreasonable to expect the coal to be at its best after all the shunting up it has received in getting here.

The fact that the Scotch coal, thru some delay not yet explained, but for which some explanation should be demanded by the Board of Control, arrived here simultaneously with the Welsh coal, tangled up things generally for the municipal fuel management.

Consultation with Mayor. This difficulty was considered sufficiently serious to bring Mayor Cuttle of the Montreal Transportation Company to town, and he had a talk with the Mayor yesterday afternoon.

Will Hold Shippers Responsible. There is a demurrage of $30 a day a ton in the event of the boats being held over four days but an effort will be made to make the shippers responsible for this charge, as it is their fault that the boats were not here earlier.

Secrecy of Harsh Coal. There seems but little hope for even a fair supply of Welsh coal this winter. The dealers are getting some, but it is all "patronized home industry" coal.

City Hall Notes. The Local Board of Health will meet this afternoon and Dr. Sheward will meet this afternoon.

A MILLION BARRELS.

Enormous Sales Give to Schlitz Beer the Leadership.

It is announced by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. that over a million barrels of Schlitz beer have been sold during the year ending Dec. 1, 1902.

From the very start, these men decided to double the cost of ordinary brewing, to utilize every drop of water, to use every bushel of malt, to use every pound of hops.

They built refrigerating rooms of 400,000 cubic feet capacity, and they have since the aged their beer for months before it was bottled. The result has been beer which is not sufficiently aged causes illnesses.

Over One Million Barrels of Schlitz Beer Sold in One Year

This makes us, by over one hundred thousand barrels, Milwaukee's largest brewers, and Milwaukee, as you know is the most renowned brewing center in the world.

THIS IS HOW IT WAS DONE

For fifty years we have doubled the necessary cost of our brewing that Schlitz Beer might be pure. We age our beer for months before we market it. That is why Schlitz Beer doesn't cause biliousness. We cool Schlitz Beer in plate glass rooms, and all the air that touches it comes through air filters. We filter Schlitz Beer through wonderful filters, then sterilize every bottle after it is sealed.

Dr. Newell

Moses to place the infant in the bullrushes where he was found by the Egyptian king, the destruction of the first born of all Hebrew children, was listed under the heading "Blood-shed."

"Bull-rushes," the tribulations visited upon the Egyptians to force them to release their Hebrew bondsmen, "The Plague," the chapter relating to Moses' mission to Pharaoh and receiving his instructions for the rescue of his race, "Bash," signifying the burning tree which bore the voice of the Lord, proceeded, etc.

The speaker arouses the keenest interest of his audience by carrying his class along thru the discourse, asking questions for the whole class to answer, such as: "What did he turn the water into when the rod was placed in his hands?" Some of the class evidently had not attention directed at this point, for, instead of answering "blood," a few replied "wine."

Gradually the speaker broadens his subject, so cunningly does he drift from the lesson to a sermon that he is scarcely observed, at all times his language is made up of homely phrases, and his illustrations are so pertinent as to hold the interest without exception.

In fact, his Bible lessons are composed of large bits of the scriptures, and sketches of the subject in hand, the characters, biblical hero, the period, the people, the habits, their relation to God; in fact, a most alluring array of facts are thus presented for the consideration of the class in a succinct manner, and, without, most pleasing, the tendency is to bring out the striking features of the story, the creation and the progress of the people from that date on down thru his history, pointing out the logical conclusions, and, in the simplest manner, seeking to establish the inspiration of the book of books.

Mr. Newell has a most engaging manner. There is no suggestion that he is preparing to deliver a most powerful sermon, using biblical characters as vehicles for his message to his audience. The interest is centered so gradually that when the climax is reached, the student finds himself instinctively wondering why he had not suspected what was coming. His personality is well-learned, and so impressive as to command breathless attention. His style is singularly entertaining, and yet his figures of speech deal with affairs of everyday life. For instance, Mr. Newell was dwelling upon the character of the pleasures of the world—upon the sordid things of life. He was talking of Moses and was robed in purple; had at his command all the wealth of a mighty monarch. The people worshipped him; all earthly pleasures were his, to be indulged in at will. It was these things that he was commanded to give up by the Lord in order to lead his people out of bondage. He was to know what privations were, and from his lofty position in the eyes of the world—Egypt's world—he was to become a wanderer without a home. He had been debarred with the worldly pleasures, and, becoming a servant of all these privileges. After this bit of exhortation, Mr. Newell turned suddenly toward the side of the hall, pointed into the balcony, and in a most impressive manner, with well modulated tone and uplifted hands, observed: "You, young lady, sitting there in that balcony with the blush of youth on your handsome face and sunshine in your eyes, remember that sitting near you is a white-haired lady with lined features, on the verge of old age. Not long since she was the picture that you now present, and, remember, too, that you will soon be in the same position as she occupies. This is the ultimate end of earthly joys, of life, but the Christian's life extends on into the future, into eternity."

There is no disputing the fact that his man of such unassuming mien, earnestness and logical ingenuity is provoking extraordinary interest in Toronto.

VETERANS' LAND GRANTS. Editor World: Will you please let me see through the columns of your paper if the grant of land to the Veterans of '96 descends to their heirs in case of the veteran dying in the meantime, or if his claim expires at his decease. (A case in point). My brother served with the Queen's Own at Ridgeway, but has been dead some five years. Have his heirs any claim? Can you see no reason why a camp grant will oblige a subscriber. Chas. Axford, Bowmanville.

STUDIED LIFE OF MOSES

Beautiful Story of the Babe in the Bullrushes Absorbed Interest at Massey Hall.

OVER 650 AT THE TEA SERVICE

Big Meeting Crowded the Hall and Hundreds Turned Away - Newell's Talk.

Toronto's Bible class, the biggest in the city's history, crowded Massey Hall last night.

Character of Moses. Last night's lesson was composed of the first eleven chapters of Exodus.

Next week the theme will include from the eleventh to the eighteenth chapter of the same. The character of Moses was the central thought of the Bible lesson, and the miraculous preservation of the great Hebrew leader, his tribulations and the human side of his character were also used upon effectively by the speaker.

The practical manner in which Mr. Newell divides and sub-divides his subject is well illustrated in this instance. The chapter touching the circumstances which forced the mother of the babe to place him in the bullrushes where he was found by the Egyptian king, the destruction of the first born of all Hebrew children, was listed under the heading "Blood-shed."

"Bull-rushes," the tribulations visited upon the Egyptians to force them to release their Hebrew bondsmen, "The Plague," the chapter relating to Moses' mission to Pharaoh and receiving his instructions for the rescue of his race, "Bash," signifying the burning tree which bore the voice of the Lord, proceeded, etc.

The speaker arouses the keenest interest of his audience by carrying his class along thru the discourse, asking questions for the whole class to answer, such as: "What did he turn the water into when the rod was placed in his hands?" Some of the class evidently had not attention directed at this point, for, instead of answering "blood," a few replied "wine."

Gradually the speaker broadens his subject, so cunningly does he drift from the lesson to a sermon that he is scarcely observed, at all times his language is made up of homely phrases, and his illustrations are so pertinent as to hold the interest without exception.

In fact, his Bible lessons are composed of large bits of the scriptures, and sketches of the subject in hand, the characters, biblical hero, the period, the people, the habits, their relation to God; in fact, a most alluring array of facts are thus presented for the consideration of the class in a succinct manner, and, without, most pleasing, the tendency is to bring out the striking features of the story, the creation and the progress of the people from that date on down thru his history, pointing out the logical conclusions, and, in the simplest manner, seeking to establish the inspiration of the book of books.

Mr. Newell has a most engaging manner. There is no suggestion that he is preparing to deliver a most powerful sermon, using biblical characters as vehicles for his message to his audience. The interest is centered so gradually that when the climax is reached, the student finds himself instinctively wondering why he had not suspected what was coming. His personality is well-learned, and so impressive as to command breathless attention. His style is singularly entertaining, and yet his figures of speech deal with affairs of everyday life. For instance, Mr. Newell was dwelling upon the character of the pleasures of the world—upon the sordid things of life. He was talking of Moses and was robed in purple; had at his command all the wealth of a mighty monarch. The people worshipped him; all earthly pleasures were his, to be indulged in at will. It was these things that he was commanded to give up by the Lord in order to lead his people out of bondage. We got the price we were after, but we had to take a carload - over a carload, for it helps to fill a second car.

But the honor of under-selling this standard value oilcloth in an advertising position, more than compensates for the extra effort on our part.

5492 Square Yards English and Canadian Oil Cloth, all widths up to 2 1/2 yards wide, in light and dark colorings, in floral, block and tile patterns, table for halls and rooms, well painted and well bound, regular value 50c and 60c per square yard, on sale Thursday, per yard 18c
