Weight of Guns and Supply of Shells Brings Allies Victory in Western Fight

Lloyd George's Work For Munitions Bears Fruit

BOMBARDMENT OF GERMAN POSITIONS IS TERRIFIC

"Biggest Thing in History of War," Writes London Artillery Officer in Giving a Day-by-Day Account of the Glorious Victory of the Last Week

London, Oct. 2.—As in the earlier battles of the war, the victory in the last fight was mainly a question of shells. Our supply was unlimited, but the Germans had to economize in ammunition; therefore they lost. So writes a London artillery officer, in giving a detailed account of the last week's battle in northern France.

The Fight Day by Day.

"There was no element of surprise in our success," he says. "Although the actual advance came on Saturday, we knew of the plan on the previous Sunday, and began preliminary artillery operations on Tuesday. The Germans must have known what was up so soon as we began systematic wire cutting operations along the extensive front. They tried to turn the tables on us by firing into our wire, but they did not have half enough guns or ammunition to keep up the pace we set.

"On Tuesday we began the work of wire cutting and parapet pounding. Eighteen pounders, with shrapnel and howitzers with high explosives, started at dawn and continued throughout the day, systematically smashing the German defenses. At night the Germans came out to repair the damage, but were swept back by the most prodigious of machine gun fire.

"Wednesday was a repetition of Tuesday. There was no stinting of ammunition anywhere along our line, although the number of guns in action was wonderful. It was noticeable that the German defenses were not so strong as the ammunition, making only a feeble reply, and their guns were rapidly inferior in number and strength. On Wednesday night repair work again was attempted with tremendous losses. Thursday was the same story.

Grows More Intense.

"On Friday we intensified our fire. All along our section of the front the German wire was down in large areas, and they were badly breached. The Germans had brought up more guns and ammunition, and increased their artillery strength. Our trenches and searching for our batteries and observing stations. But the weight of our inexhaustible supplies of shells began to tell. The German front trenches became well nigh uninhabitable from constant pounding, and the German line that the front line was very lightly held.

"Meanwhile the superiority of our aeroplane equipment also was evident. The numbers of our machines was so great that we were able to keep observers in the air above the German lines at all times, with plenty of machine guns to fire at every German attempt to make observations above our positions.

"On Friday night, this machine gun fire was like rain, falling constantly on the German positions and preventing repair work on the wire. Then at 4:30 o'clock on Saturday morning, the real bombardment began. Along our section of say, five miles, there must have been 8,000 shells fired in five minutes. The bombardment was the biggest thing in the history of the war. The flash of guns was so continuous as to give an almost unbroken light in the grey dawn. Four shells fell every yard.

"The earth shook as its continuous gust. We had guns everywhere and all were firing their hardest at carefully registered points in the German trenches. For every yard of trench four shells fell within five minutes, and each shell had a radius of destruction of at least twenty yards. After five minutes there was a second pause. The guns were switched to longer ranges, and the infantry began its work.

"Now it was the guns' business to

MORE EVIDENCE THAT SPEED OF CHARGE WAS VITAL ELEMENT IN THE SUCCESS OF THE ALLIES

Paris, Oct. 2.—From the accounts given by wounded soldiers and others who have returned from the front, the story of the charge which marked the critical point in the new offensive movement is being gradually pieced together. One point on which there is general agreement is the great speed with which the movement was executed. A colonel in the infantryman who was wounded in the fighting between Souain and Suppeles, in the Champagne, says:

"Our captain said to us, at the moment for the charge. 'You will have to run hard for we are in the first wave of men,' and we did run. When we came to the first trench we leaped over it with a stab at the occupants. 'You do not hear nothing but the hoarse breathing of your neighbors and the roar of the guns. Bullets whistled about everybody's ears from one side, evidently from machine guns.

"Our captain shouted: 'Stop at that redoubt.' We were just in time. Three machine guns were punning away at us and several others were being brought out of a tunnel. We bayoneted them back and front. You have got to be quick in a charge that they ground their feet, means death. It is speed alone that counts."

Lieut. C. — of the Colonial infantry, who was wounded in the Artois district, protests at stories that German soldiers surrendered without a fight. "It is only at the last moment," he said, "when they realize that their fire cannot stop them that they ground their arms and throw up their hands. Even then most of them don't give in, but fight on with French knives and revolvers. It was in one of these encounters that I was wounded. I was fighting with two Germans. I killed one of them who had slipped off my arm with his knife. A sergeant behind me killed the other."

Women Address Recruiting Meetings in York County — The Army Service Corps — Nurses Dead at Dardanelles

Recruits at Fredericton

No. 1 Heavy Battery of Halifax, commanded by Lt. Col. F. Minden Cole, was converted into a Siege Battery and sent to the front in the month of June, 1915. It is expected that Cole will enlist some men in Fredericton. Three officers commanding the 84th Battalion. They are—Hiram W. Wade, 48, Fenwick; Harold Armstrong, 33, St. John; Sidwell Smith, 33, Parker's ridge.

R. C. R. Wants Men.

Capt. M. E. Roscoe, formerly of Fredericton and now adjutant of the 84th Battalion, is recruiting in the city. He is recruiting in the city. He is recruiting in the city.

Recruits at Fredericton

Platoon of the 85th

The other day the Halifax Echo announced a splendid gift by a number of Halifax gentlemen to the 85th Battalion N. S. Highlanders for a Pipe Band. At the same time Mrs. Robie Unkitch made a handsome gift towards a Regimental Fund for the same battalion.

Mrs. Laurie of Oakfield, widow of General Laurie, has now forwarded $250 to the fund of each of the four Nova Scotia Overseas Battalions, and $100 to the fund of the 85th. Miss Laurie joins her mother in this extremely appropriate action.

One Woman's Example

Among the speakers at a recruiting meeting in Sackville this week was Miss Harrington, who spent nearly a year in a hospital in France. She is now devoting her time to recruiting work, paying her own expenses. Miss Harrington declared if the women of this country fully realized the situation, if they had been permitted to see as she had seen, she did not think they would hold their hands when they wanted to enlist.

She also told of a recent visit she paid to the battlefields of the Marne where towns and villages had been destroyed by the Germans in their advance last year. Many of these places are now nothing but heaps of ruins. She said the French women were wonderful. They do not weep for their husbands or other relatives. They are all working for France, and if a husband or father or brother or sweetheart is killed—it is for the fatherland, and the women go on just the same, dry-eyed, heroic, brave.

In German Camp

A photograph of Lieutenant R. R. Steeves of Sussex and Lieutenant E. D. Bellow, also of the 7th Battalion, has been received by C. McN. Steeves of this city. Lieutenant Steeves letters tell of good treatment by the Saxons.

Prince Of Wales Had a Close Call

His Auto Destroyed By Shell As He Stood Near

WAS WATCHING BATTLE

Speeding Towards Front He Left Car to Mount Hill For View of Conflict — Repeatedly Running Into Danger, He Replied "I Have Plenty of Brothers"

Paris, Oct. 2.—An officer attached to the British staff, who returned to Paris today, says that the Prince of Wales had a miraculous escape from death during the battle of Loos. Strictly accurate details are that the prince was speeding towards the front in an automobile. He ordered the driver to pull up at the foot of a knoll, while the prince mounted and watched the progress of the fighting, through his binoculars.

While he was standing on the hill, a shell fell on the automobile, utterly destroying the car and leaving the driver to pieces.

Repeating with running into danger, which the heir to the throne must avoid, the prince replied: "Well, I have plenty of brothers."

Three Die at Fire

Elizabeth, N.J., Oct. 2.—Three men were killed and seven women injured, three of them seriously, in a fire which destroyed the heavy stable of C. Rheln here today.

Bulgaria Regarded As Linked With the Enemy

London Papers Give News Chief Place in Editorial Comment — Meanwhile Armies Are Being Assembled on Serbian and Greek Borders

New York, Oct. 2.—A cable to the Herald from London this morning says: "Sir Edward Grey's statement on the Balkan situation, indicating that Bulgaria has decided to throw in her lot with Germany, the leading subject of editorial comment in the newspapers this morning."

The Daily Telegraph says: "It is obvious now that the Teutonic powers hold King Ferdinand in the hollow of their hand, and that Dr. Radolavoff, despite all his apparent bluntness, is little better than an agent for executing his ruler's wishes."

The Daily Chronicle remarks: "Bulgaria is apparently preparing for war under German and Austrian direction. As well-wishers to Bulgaria, who feel she was cruelly wronged by the treaty of Bucharest, we would fain believe, even now, that she will abstain from this act of national infamy."

The Daily News observes: "In the turmoil of Balkan politics, wrong horses have been backed with tragic frequency. Bulgaria, if her king is to overbear the judgment of her ablest politicians, will have furnished a classic instance of that fatal error."

The Daily Express says: "It would seem that Ferdinand, the Couburg-Bulgarian king, has decided that Bulgaria shall play the same ignominious role as Turkey and share the same fate."

Paris, Oct. 2.—German troops have re-merged the Austrian forces on the first line along the bank of the Danube, according to the Petit Parisien's Bucharest correspondent. He adds that the German battalion which tried to cross the river at Semendria on last Saturday was destroyed. A detachment coming to its help in a large was drowned. Several attempts at various places to cross the river were repulsed with heavy losses. "Bulgarian soldiers are deserting in large numbers and taking refuge in Roumania. Eight hundred arrived on Thursday at Calafat. Most of them belonged to the cavalry regiment at Widin. A majority of the men saved their equipment. They declare that the Bulgarian women are doing their utmost to prevent the men from joining the colors."

Paris, Oct. 2.—It is reported from Athens that Bulgarian troops from Sofia are moving in the direction of the Serbian frontier and that other forces are being despatched toward the Greek border.

Taking All Men Up to 58

Milan, Italy, Oct. 3.—Bulgaria is mobilizing all men up to the age of fifty-eight years, according to the Corriere della Sera's Bucharest correspondent. No citizen under forty-five is permitted to leave the country, and martial law has been proclaimed. Pro-German manifestations are reported in Bulgarian cities along the Danube. Bulgarian artillery, he asserts, is being massed along the frontier of Dobruja, a part of Roumania bounded by the Black Sea and the Danube, which was taken from Bulgaria in 1878 and given to Roumania. This section has a cosmopolitan population.

PUTTING ABSINTHE TO PRACTICAL USE

Paris, Oct. 2.—Stocks of absinthe now are being converted into an ingredient for explosives at a co-operative distillery at Pontoise, which has been supplying clear alcohol extracted from beet root to government explosives factories, where it is used in the manufacture of gun cotton. Unable to supply the demand, the managers of the distillery conceived the idea of buying up the stocks of the forbidden beverage, which had been seized in the warehouses of manufacturers. The liquor is transferred to alcohol chemically.

French Make More Progress Against Enemy

Advances From Trench to Trench on La Folie Height—Bulgaria Getting Ready — Russian Successes Offset Gains by Germans

NEW PROGRESS FOR THE FRENCH IN THE OFFENSIVE MOVEMENT OF THE ALLIES ON THE WESTERN FRONT IS REPORTED TODAY BY THE WAR OFFICE IN PARIS, ADVANCES FROM TRENCH TO TRENCH ON THE HEIGHTS OF LA FOLIE IN THE ARTOIS DISTRICT.

While the political situation in the Balkans is continuing to absorb attention, Bulgaria is disposing her troops with a view to eventualities. She is reported to be moving forces toward the Greek border, as well as in the direction of the Serbian frontier. Bucharest despatches received in Italy say that the Bulgarian artillery is being massed along the Deobruda front of the Roumanian frontier.

The situation on the eastern front is little changed, according to the latest official reports. Teutonic gains near Ivinik and in Volynia seem fairly well offset by the reported progress of the Russians in the central sectors, where they are admittedly on the offensive.

BUT THE TURKS SAY THIS

Contradicting a recent British announcement of success in Mesopotamia, the Turkish war office declares that the British offensive, resumed on September 27, was a failure, a violent attack being beaten off despite the fact that the British outnumbered the Turks four to one.

It is also said in the Turkish statement, that heavy losses were inflicted on a British force which landed on the bank of the Tigris, north of Korna.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The French War Office reports: "In the Artois district, the enemy artillery yesterday bombarded very violently our positions to the east of Souchez. Nevertheless we made perceptible progress from Loos, to reach on the heights of La Folie."

"In the Champagne district, the German artillery bombarded our new lines near St. Leger. To the east of the Marais farm, our troops conquered an important section of the positions of the enemy, which constituted a salient of the actual line to the north of Meudon."

"In Lorraine German reconnoitering parties have attacked two of our positions near Moncel and near Somerville. They were repulsed and pursued by French troops back to their own lines. The night passed quietly on the remainder of the front."

"Squadrons of French airplanes have thrown down a very large number of projectiles on the railroad stations and the railroad lines behind the German front, particularly at the junction of Guisboulout-Amfionville."

"During last night's operations, our aeroplanes were successful in bombarding the German lines."

TYLER DUNPHY DIES SUDDENLY

Death came suddenly last evening to Tyler T. Dunphy at his home, 355 Sandy Point road. He had finished his evening meal and sat down to look over the paper when he expired. He was born in Fredericton fifty-seven years ago, but had resided in St. John for a long period, being connected with the Dufferin hotel staff for many years. He is survived by his wife, a daughter of the late William Bannister of the local post office staff; one brother, Austin Dunphy of Fredericton, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Herrin of Minneapolis. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon from St. Paul's church.

REV. N. FRANCHETTE OF HARTLAND WEDS

Woodstock, Oct. 2.—The marriage of Miss Lucinda Smith and Rev. Nicholas Franchette of Hartland took place this morning. His Lordship Bishop Richardson officiating, assisted by Rev. A. S. Hazel of St. Luke's church. The bride wore a traveling dress of navy blue. She was given away by Percy Graham, her brother-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Franchette left on a trip through New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

THE MONTREAL OVERDUE

Montreal, Oct. 2.—No report of the C.P.R. freight steamer "Montreal," bound from London to Montreal and now several days overdue has been received. No serious anxiety is felt, however. It is probable that she has been delayed by fog. Her officers and crew number seventy-one.

STILL NO WORD

No word has as yet been received about the missing steamer Eastington.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 2.—The number of known dead, reported dead and persons missing in Louisiana and Mississippi as a result of Wednesday night's hurricane is put at 549. Property damage is estimated at $12,000,000.

GREAT RECRUITING CAMPAIGN BY LABOR MEN IN LONDON BEGINS

London, Oct. 2.—An energetic recruiting campaign which is supported by the labor organizations will be inaugurated today by military pageant rallies in the four quarters of the metropolis and is regarded generally as a final test of the voluntary system.

Lord Kitchener and Premier Asquith have accepted the assurance of organized labor that required recruits would be found. The war minister had explained that he had already raised enough men for the new army, but the recruits were insufficient to replace wastage. The promise of the labor organizations have given much relief to public opinion in view of the recently expressed antagonism of certain trades.

AUTUMN MAY YET SEE GREAT BATTLE FOR WHICH WORLD HAS BEEN WAITING

London Times Man at Front Says This Depends on Supply of Men and Munitions—Germans Suffering Heavily in Soldiers and Guns

London, Oct. 2.—The Times' correspondent with the British headquarters in France reports that the torrential rains and cold biting winds on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—March-like weather—were unfortunate for both sides, but especially for the attackers, because they prevented reconnoissances, made all aircraft work difficult, depressed the men, and interfered with the artillery observation work, while the spongy earth lessened the effect of the shell fire.

Regarding the German defence, the correspondent says: "Some people talk as if there existed an endless series of German positions, stretching right away to the Rhine. This, of course, is unbelievable. We are ignorant of their number, but it may be said that it is strictly limited, since fortified positions are not the work of a magician's wand, but of arduous labor."

"The enemy is suffering heavily in guns and men and, even if he gets plenty of reinforcements, he is suffering a strain of the most harassing kind of the war, and his resistance power weakens with the loss of each fresh position. If men and munitions are forthcoming to the allies the autumn may still see the decisive battle on a grand scale for which the world has been waiting."

IMPERIAL THEATRE DURING NEXT WEEK
The Imperial programme for Monday and Tuesday will be a continuation of extra special bills and will include the highly amusing Lasky comedy "Snobs," featuring the eminent comedian Victor Moore. "Snobs" is one of Geo. M. Cohan's successes and enjoyed almost one whole year's run in Broadway. In the same programme with "Snobs" will be the 6th chapter of the Vitaphone serial "The Godless" in which Celestia is found working almost miracles among the destitute and suffering people of New York's squalid East Side. The anticipated weekly will complete the picture programme.

However, the big item of Monday's programme will be the Great Richards' Mystery. The name of this personage is well known to the only information the Imperial feels justified in giving out at this stage. Suffice it to say, the act is beautiful, artistic and a startling surprise.

The Evening Times and Star

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Cassebury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

At eight o'clock last evening a very small audience was assembled in a very tenacious school room, to hear what would be one of the most powerful and convincing addresses delivered in the whole course of the recruiting campaign.

At eight o'clock last evening, on Union and Charlotte streets and around King Square, were many hundreds of able young men, strolling or standing about, to all outward appearance indifferent to the fact that their lives were being offered, and never will offer again, such an opportunity to prove their manhood and their right to call themselves by the name of men.

How is this condition of affairs to be explained? These young men are not cowards. They are of the same blood and the same breed as those other young men who have gone to the front and have written the name of Canada large upon the pages of the history of this war.

The local branch of the Red Cross Society and the workers of the St. John Ambulance Association are to be congratulated upon the success of their endeavors in the first year of war work, as shown in reports submitted at their annual meetings yesterday.

Much, very much, money will be required to permit the Patriotic Fund to continue to fulfill its mission. Even granting full success to the Auction, there must be other sources of supply. Those who cannot go to fight can at least help in this way.

The appointment of Mr. J. J. McCaffrey as recruiting agent for York county, will be universally approved, and is a guarantee that the campaign in that county will not lag.

The British artillery officer says it was because the Germans had to economize in ammunition and the British had an unlimited supply of shells that the latter won in the recent fighting.

Today's news from Bulgaria appears to confirm the belief that the government is determined to support Germany, while a very large section of the people favor the Allies.

The strenuous fighting on the western front has focused attention on the mighty armies locked in death struggle there, and for the moment less thought has been given to happenings in other parts of Europe where the war is being waged.

The Balkan situation is in the position of Mahomet's coffin, but a few days at most must determine Bulgaria's course, which means, also, the settlement of policy by Greece and other nations.

With every month, it is more than probable that the Allies will not rest till the task imposed upon them by the Berlin seekers after world-domination has been well done and the slate cleared.

Canada, it would seem, must play even a larger part than has appeared likely. Britain calls for more battalions from the Dominion and she must have them. That increases the insistence of the call for recruits. Men and more men are more than ever the cry, and it is evident that the training time at home will be shortened and an early opportunity given all to have a share in the glorious deeds that are thrilling the world.

Delegates to the convention of the Master Horsehoers' National Protective Association at Cleveland, declared that on account of the hard surface of automobile roads a horse's shoes wear only one-fourth as long as formerly.

MR. WHITMAN. "Is this a first-class post office?" inquired the stranger. "It's as good as you will find in these parts," retorted the native with justifiable pride.

MR. WHITMAN. "Mrs. Judkin read a paper before the suffrage club yesterday afternoon." "Did it show careful preparation?" "No," but Mrs. Judkin did.

MR. WHITMAN. He had been calling on her twice a week for six months but had not proposed. "Ethel," he said, "I am going to ask you an important question."

MR. WHITMAN. "O, George," she exclaimed, "This is so sudden. Why do you ask me this? What date have you and your mother decided on for our wedding?"

with the submarines has been found. These reports are being closely scrutinized on account of the hearing they may have upon the naval policy of the United States. They reaffirm officers of the navy in their conviction that the Dreadnought still is the mainstay in warfare on sea, and tend to dissipate the profound impression created by the spectacular and for a long time apparently unoppressed operations of the German U boats around the British Isles. According to the reports, destruction or capture of fifty submarines actually had been reported several weeks ago, and it was regarded as possible that the number might have reached seventy. A dinner was given recently in London which, while not a formal state affair, was attended by high government officials in celebration of the destruction of the fifthth under-water enemy. Reports of the dinner apparently were suppressed by the censor, in accordance with Great Britain's policy of keeping Germany in doubt as to how many of the boats have been destroyed. Methods Used in Detection. While the greatest secrecy is thrown around the means employed, the United States government has information concerning the principal methods which have been successful in meeting the German war zone campaign. A submarine telephone has been developed by which it is possible to detect the approach of a submarine by sound from observation boats or stations planned off shore, connected with points in the mainland. For the capture of these craft, whose presence has not been detected or even suspected, the government's reports describe how huge nets have been stretched across the channels through which the submarine may be expected to pass, and in open waters, near steamship lanes, or in the vicinity of warships, nets suspended between floats have been spread broadcast. Armed patrol boats watch, and when the floats disappear beneath the water, showing that a submarine has become entangled, the patrols congregate at the place and when the victim comes to the surface, as it inevitably must, to disentangle itself, it is destroyed by gunfire or captured. A splendid type of mine also has been devised, which is laid in large fields that have proved particularly dangerous to submarines approaching steamer lanes. The German methods of supplying submarines with oil and provisions, either at sea or from concealed places along the coasts of the British Isles, have been ferreted out and practically disposed of. This compels the boats to return to their bases at more frequent intervals, and leaves them only a comparatively short time in position and equipped for effective duty. Acrobates are described as exceedingly useful in locating and following the trail of submarines. They can detect one even a hundred feet beneath the surface. It is the habit, the report says, of the German submarines to slip into favorable positions along the steamer lanes and lie on the bottom for long periods, rising occasionally to the surface for observation and other purposes. As the batteries are not exhausted by this method, the boats, not being in motion, only a very brief stay on the surface is necessary to renew the air supply and take a hurried observation. Under-sea boats adopting these tactics have been the most difficult to catch. Here the aeroplane has shown its great usefulness, as the comparatively shallow water along much of the British coast makes it possible for the aeroplane operators to see the ships lying on the bottom. The aeroplane notes the position and notifies the nearest destroyer or patrol boat which speeds to the spot and waits for the submarine to rise.

BRITISH SUCCESS IN DESTROYING SUBMARINES IS NOW ADMITTED. Washington, Oct. 1.—Great Britain has discovered and put into effective operation means of combating the submarine which, according to official reports to the United States government, already have resulted in a loss estimated at between fifty and seventy German submarines. The reports declare that the British admiralty confidently believes it has crushed the German under-sea campaign. New methods of offence and defence that may revolutionize naval warfare have been adopted, and high British naval officers are of the opinion that unless the effectiveness of the submarine is increased, it will no longer constitute the menace that it has to commerce and battle fleets. The British censorship has prevented the disclosure of details concerning the developments. Within the last three weeks, however, confidential reports to various government departments from representatives in European capitals of neutral, as well as belligerent, countries have confirmed the British admiralty's view that an effective means of dealing

PANTALETTES FIND FAVOR IN WINDY CHICAGO

So far New York has frowned upon the pantalette. The frills and ruffles of Broadway show no sign of declining favor, and in spite of the fact that the pantalette seed falls on stony soil. In Chicago it is different. Due perhaps to a combination of western modesty and windy streets, the pantalette skirt is growing increasingly popular. Miss Edith Ponto, who is shown wearing a pantalette in the accompanying photograph, claims that they are an excellent protection against the wind and cold and infinitely less bothersome than the full skirts now in vogue.

STOCK EXCHANGE MAN AND CHORUS GIRL WED

Boston, Oct. 2.—A romance which joins the stage and the Stock Exchange is revealed in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Florence Helen Williams, who sang for four years as a chorus girl in small parts with Montgomery and Stone, to William Stackpole, member of the New York Stock Exchange and well known in society.

Mr. Stackpole, who was graduated from Harvard in 1898, makes his headquarters with Hayden, Stone & Co., of 25 Broadway, New York. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stackpole of Cambridge, Boston, and Nahant society. He maintains membership in several Boston and New York clubs. Mr. Stackpole has been a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1908. He lives at 22 East 55th street.

The bride five years ago came into the office of Charles Dillingham to ask if by any chance she might get a position in the chorus of "The Lady of the Shippes," in which Miss Elsie Janis appeared with Montgomery and Stone. Several attractive young women of no stage experience had been taken into

Planned to Elope But Changed Mind and Told Husband—Latter Shot Intruder and Himself Was Stabbed to Death

Boston, Oct. 1.—With four bullets in his head, Peter Mercediano, aged thirty-one, drew a knife and stabbed another Italian, Peter Peone, through the left temple, killing him instantly, at the Peone home on the fourth floor of 18 Silliman street. Mercediano is dying at the Relief Hospital, and Peone's wife is locked up at the Hanover street police station as a material witness.

The tragedy came as an end to an illicit romance between Mercediano and Mrs. Carmela Peone. Mercediano, who has a wife living in Newark, N. J., has been living some time at 18 Wiggin street, North End. He met Mrs. Peone while engaged in painting her home, the little fourth floor tenement in Silliman street, a short time ago.

He fell violently in love with Mrs. Peone and suggested that she run away with him, leaving her husband and her three children. The police say she agreed to this and the couple made plans to elope. It was arranged that Mercediano was to come to the house after Peone had left for work and then they were to pack their belongings and flee together. However, Mrs. Peone had a change of heart. She suddenly decided not to run away with the man, from Newark, and in a moment of remorse told her husband of the whole plan which she and Mercediano had formulated.

Husband Hid in a Closet

Peone, armed with a five-shooter of large calibre, hid in a closet in the bedroom of the little tenement, instead of going to work, as usual. It was his plan to avenge himself on the man who had tried to win away his wife's affections. True to his promise, Mercediano arrived at the Peone home. He brought with him a suit case and shortly after reaching the house went into the bedroom and began packing Mrs. Peone's clothes in this. The woman apparently said nothing to him of the change in her plans, nor of the presence of her husband in the closet, awaiting the minutes of vengeance.

While Mercediano was busily packing the clothes, Peone, the husband, opened the closet door.

Levelling the revolver at Mercediano, he fired five shots. One of the bullets passed through Mercediano's neck, another pierced his right cheek, a third flattened itself against his jawbone, breaking it; and a fourth shot grazed the man's temple, while the fifth shot went wild.

Bleeding profusely from his wounds, Mercediano grappled with Peone. The latter had a fully loaded revolver in his pocket, but made no attempt to use this. Instead as he closed in on Peone he drew a stiletto from his pocket and with one vicious lunge sent the fine blade of this deep into Peone's left temple.

Peone, with the stiletto in his head up to the hilt, dropped to the floor. Slayers Staggered to Street.

Mercediano then staggered down three flights of stairs to the street. Swaying from side to side and leaving a trail of blood in his wake, he made his way slowly up Silliman street. He caught sight of a policeman standing down the street and lurched into the doorway of 48 Silliman street.

Seeing the bleeding man stagger into the doorway, Patrolman James Keilher, made for the place on the run. He found Mercediano lying in the hallway making a feeble effort to throw a loaded revolver away.

Patrolman Keilher summoned the patrol wagon of Station 1 and it arrived with Sergeant McDevitt, Patrolman Jacob Jacobson and clerk Wm. French. Keilher, French, after looking at Peone, thought he was alive and started with him down the street and lunched into the doorway of 48 Silliman street.

Peone was also sent to the hospital. The medical examiner said that Peone had died instantly when the knife blade penetrated his temple. Mercediano is not expected to recover.

Message to Woman Written on Door

Inspector Thomas Whitten of Police Headquarters was assigned to investigate the North End murder. With Policeman James Callahan, the inspector found the following message written in red pencil on the outer door of the flat occupied by Peone:

"My Dear Carmela: 'I'll come around tomorrow to find out, yes or no, if you will come with me or not. I will kill you if you don't. Do you understand? Because I am crazy about you and I love you with all my heart. I will send a young fellow around to get your clothes and if you don't send them I will come myself. I salute you, dear, with all my heart. I remain,

The note had no signature, but the impression prevails the note was written by Mercediano.

GREATLY DISCOURAGED OVER BABY'S ILLNESS

Mrs. Jos. Gaudreau, Notre Dame des Bois, Que., writes: "Last autumn our baby was very sick and we were greatly discouraged. The doctor did not seem able to help him and we began using Baby's Own Tablets which soon made him a fat, healthy child." Thousands of other mothers give Baby's Own Tablets the same praise. The Tablets regulate the stomach and bowels, break up colds and simple fevers, expel worms, cure colic and make teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Young Alfred had been reading the evening paper and passed contemplatively for a few moments.

"Father," said he, "what is 'inertia'?"

"Well, if I have it, it's pure laziness, but if your mother has it, it is nervous prostration," responded father, with a yawn.

Judge Enlisting as Reserve Private Had Difficulty in Getting Leave—Generous Money Gifts

(Montreal Gazette.)

A visitor yesterday at the new headquarters of the Montreal branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, on the third floor of the Drummond Building was Harry Thomas, who for twelve years has been a representative of the C. P. R. at Hong-Kong, and recently interested in the relief work for the families of soldiers which is being done there.

"Everybody in Hong-Kong is busy," he said. "The young men have nearly all gone to the front, and the older ones who remain are on the reserve force, doing their best to take the place of those who would be doing police and other supplementary military work. The desire to do something of real value is universal among the British who have been unable to get to the front. As an illustration of this, I may tell you a little story of a happening in the early days of the war which amused the whole of Hong-Kong. When the reserves first began to drill, under the direction of a sergeant of the regular forces, the non-com. was determined to make it plain to all who expressed desire to serve that they were not playing at soldiering, and must expect to do all kinds of things, and do them without question. One morning he lined up several privates, and after putting them through a really hard spell of drill, proceeded to give them their details for later in the day. When he announced to one of them that he would be on duty in front of certain banks and other buildings in the financial section for a certain number of hours, the private answered: 'I beg pardon, sergeant, but I am afraid that I have a number of matters of importance to pass on today, and it will be difficult for me to neglect them.' The sergeant was indignant. 'You will do as I tell you,' he replied. 'Your private business can wait. Later, he went to one of his corporals and asked the name of this private who had ventured to suggest that he had business which was of importance sufficient that he thought he could neglect his military assignments. 'Don't you know him?" queried the corporal. "That is the Hon. H. H. J. Gompertz, the puisne judge of the colony, and he has half a dozen important judgments to render today." After a moment or two of consideration, the sergeant approached Pte. Gompertz and informed him that under the circumstances he would be excused for the day.

"Talking of guarding banks and business houses, I might say that more than one bank official of high rank shouldered a rifle and did sentry work in front of the business house of which he was directing spirit."

"In matters of patriotic relief, Hong-Kong has more than done its share. Early in the war it sent $50,000 to the Prince of Wales' Fund, and it has contributed liberally to aeroplane funds, Belgian relief and tobacco lists. This last has met with a ready response, and continues to be steadily supported. The desire to help the Belgians was

An English town council, after a protracted sitting was desirous of adjourning for lunch. The proposition was opposed by the mayor, who thought that if his fellow councillors felt the stimulus of hunger the dispatch of business would be much facilitated. At last a rather illiterate member got up and exclaimed: "I am astonished, I am surprised, I am amazed, Mr. Mayor that you will not let us go to lunch."

"And I am surprised," replied the mayor, "that a gentleman who has got so much 'ham' in his mouth should want any lunch at all!"

A NOVEL SERVICE

A special service for the munition workers of St. John is announced to be held tomorrow evening in St. John's (Stone) church at 7 o'clock.

STORIES OF SOME OF LITERARY FAMOUS

Conan Doyle's Own Story of His Authorship—Eccentricities of Jerome K. Jerome—Sir Edwin Arnold in Japan

Douglas Sladen's Twenty Years of My Life (E. P. Dutton & Co.), although it opens with an autobiographical sketch, is really more about the lives of other people than it is about himself.

IT'S TIME FOR OVERCOATS

and they are here in splendid array. Come and spend your self in one and see what the mirror has to say—no adverse reflections. Wear it and see what your friends have to say.

A GOOD PLACE TO BUY GOOD CLOTHES

mean. He did not even want to read the manuscripts.

mean. He did not even want to read the manuscripts. He preferred to read them himself. It did not take him long because he did not come across anything worth publishing by the second page he did not read any further.

Early Career of Arthur Conan Doyle.

Of all the men who used to come to No. 82 Addison Mansions, Mr. Sladen recalls none more vividly than the success of Jerome's two periodicals, The Idler and Today, than Arthur Conan Doyle and Israel Zangwill, and the former had been writing for ten years before he achieved commanding success.

Study in Scarlet Sold for Only $125.

"My first decent price was $2 from the Cornhill for Habakuk Jephson's statement in 1886. Then at New York, 1888, Ward, Lock & Co. brought out All a Story in Scarlet, paying $28 for all rights. I have never had another penny from that book. I wonder how much they have had. Then came 'Michael' at the end of 1888, which got me a more solid public.

H. G. Wells

H. G. Wells was first married when I made his acquaintance, and had got through the first married part of his career, on which he draws for so many of his books.

THE PAIR OF THEM

"The pair of them looked ridiculously young. Wells was very boyish in those days; he was slight in figure and youthful in face, with thick, rebellious, fair hair, and a charmingly impulsive manner. It seems odd to think now that then he suffered from such very bad health that he was not expected to live long.

ROBLIN AND TWO EX-MINISTERS TO FACE NEW CHARGES

Winipeg, Oct. 1.—With only one important crown witness yet to be heard—Professor Brydson—the preliminary hearing was adjourned today until next Wednesday afternoon.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS

Two striking addresses at the evening session, one by Rev. D. Hutchinson, D. D., on What the Church Should Expect of the Sunday School, and the second by Dr. Morrison, on Spiritual Power for Christian Service, were the features of the annual convention of the St. John County Sunday School Association at the Carleton Methodist church, West St. John, yesterday.

MISSIONARY BISHOP HERE

An interesting visitor to the city today is His Lordship Bishop Hamilton of Mid-Japan, who is on a tour of Canada. He was met at the depot by Rev. R. P. McKim. His Lordship left Japan in last July and will remain in the dominion until December, when he will return to his missionary diocese.

A NOVEL SERVICE

A special service for the munition workers of St. John is announced to be held tomorrow evening in St. John's (Stone) church at 7 o'clock. Hon. C. and Rev. Mr. Jarvis, chaplain of the 62nd regiment, and John Home Guerin, will address those present on "Servants of Your King."

IN PORTLAND PLACE

The city commissioners visited Portland Place, North End, this morning to determine for themselves the need for the water and sewerage extension asked for by Armstrong & Bruce. They want an extension of 700 feet in Wellesley street and one of the same length in Dufferin street, to provide for rapid development of the property. The estimated cost would be about $4,000, and the owners would guarantee ten per cent on the cost until the revenue from water totals that amount.

J. J. McCaffrey IS RECRUITING MAN FOR YORK

Appointed Officer in Charge of Enlistment in That County—A Tribute to Organizing Ability and Recognition of Good Work Done
J. J. McCaffrey, proprietor of the Queen Hotel, Fredericton, has been officially notified of his appointment as recruiting officer for York County in succession to Major Days. McCaffrey has joined his battalion at Aldershot.

LOCAL NEWS
FOURTEEN DEATHS
At the board of health offices this week, fourteen deaths were registered, resulting from cholera, pneumonia, influenza, heart disease, meningitis, consumption, heart disease, cholera infantum, cerebral embolism, osteomyelitis tibia, carcinoma of stomach and rheumatoid arthritis.

TO BE NURSES.
Miss Mabel Ketchum of West St. John left this morning for Boston en route to Newport, R. I., where she will take a course at Newport Hospital.

NEW POSITION
Walter Shaw of Wall street, who was in the employ of the I. C. R. for nearly twelve years, has resigned to accept a good offer from the Boston & Maine Railroad.

ON WESTERN TRIP
H. C. Groat, superintendent of the C. P. R., will be accompanied by Mr. J. G. Groat, who is creating on a trip to the west, going through Upper California to Vancouver, thence to San Francisco, and returning home through the United States. They will be away about five or six weeks.

MEN LIKE TO GATHER THERE
A wonderful transformation has taken place in the recruiting rooms at the corner of Mill and Union streets, thanks to the efforts of a special sub-committee appointed by the general recruiting committee. These large store premises, almost an auditorium, which have been generously loaned by Thomas Ward, are now resplendent in patriotic bunting, war pictures and numerous attractive decorations.

ST. JOHN TO HAVE PART IN WORLD MOVEMENT IN JEWS' INTEREST
A world-wide movement in the interests of the Jewish race in all countries following the war is soon to be launched. St. John Hebrews are to have an active part in it. A meeting is to be held in Montreal on November 7 and there will probably be present one or more representatives from this city as well as delegates from all parts of Canada where there are Jewish communities. The intention is to discuss proposals for aiding kinsmen in other lands in the rights of citizenship.

POLICE COURT
In the police court this morning Timothy Boyle was sentenced to a fine of $88 or go to jail for twelve months for using abusive language to his wife in their home in Hillyard street yesterday afternoon and also for violently resisting arrest and assaulting Policeman Hamm.

Why Rob Yourself?
When you buy this newspaper the assumption is that you like its news or views. But do you get full value out of it? Do you take advantage of all the opportunities it offers? Are you a reader of the advertising?

The Man In The Street

Well, October is making a lovely start. How does the coal-burner look—You've got a fine chance to fill it at the patriotic auction. Every householder this week felt that the fellow who first murmured about "not missing the water till the well runs dry," had a pretty good head.

No, He's Trying to Explain It Away
Wm. Salt, inspector on Manitoba government works, has admitted altering records and getting $11,800 hush money. Now watch some smart Alec asking if he "talked it up."

A Deep Inquiry
A commission is now investigating the sale of two submarines to Premier McBride in the west. Because it was underwater craft that were sold was no reason why the sale should not have been on the level.

New Brunswick's share of the patriotic fund is exhausted—buy something next week at the Patriotic Auction and help towards that $80,000.

Clever business man, a member of New York Cotton Exchange, shot himself in cemetery, says dispatch—carrying his business forethought to the last hour.

Living in Boston has some consolations—the Red Sox have won the pennant again.

We are not fussy, but this weather has our full and free permission to continue just as long as it wants to.

At the same time fall weather is quite appropriate for the fact that is overtaking Germany; Hitzcock's beating the mercury to the zero mark.

Presbyterian social meets in St. John next week but the delegates will have to go some to crowd the war news and the patriotic auction out of the newspapers.

Recruiting Rallies in Dock Street and Imperial Theatre
Rev. (Capt.) Thomas Harrison, chaplain of the regiment now at Sussex, who has created so much interest by his speeches in this city and vicinity for the last few weeks, will be the chief speaker in the recruiting rooms, corner Mill and Dock streets this evening. The chair will be taken at eight o'clock by P. J. G. Kowilton, and besides the Rev. Mr. Harrison, H. A. Thompson, who has three boys in khaki, will tell why he urged his sons to take up arms.

AN I. C. R. RUMOR
Fredericton Mail—It is reported that the late Evan Price of Campbellton, will be succeeded as superintendent of the Moncton-Campbellton Division of the I. C. R. by W. R. Fitzmaurice of Newcastle, who had been assistant to the superintendent for some years. S. B. Wass of this city, assistant superintendent in charge of the St. John and Quebec Railway under I. R. C. operation, is mentioned as successor to Mr. Fitzmaurice.

Just a Few of the Bargains--Look Them Over--Then Get Ready To Buy!

DRY GOODS AND HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

In this department will be found a wide variety of all kinds of dry goods and furnishings for home, valuable and substantial. There will also be found here a large and unique collection of pictures framed and unframed, many of them of much intrinsic and historical value, including several copies of the great list of goods to be offered from this department will be rugs and squares in Mirapore, Axminster, Ingrain, Brussels and Rag Carpets; washable bath mats; blankets; table covers; bed comfortables; quilts; shirt-waist boxes; utility boxes; trunkly towels; a large lot of sofa cushions, many of them of rare beauty, and a wide assortment of other articles.

LIVE STOCK.

Any intending purchasers of live stock are assured of excellent opportunities at the big auction. Purchasers should be on hand on Tuesday at 2 o'clock in the Queen's Rink for that is the hour planned for the opening sale of live stock and by live stock is meant animals of rare value, many of them pedigreed and prize-winners. Among the numerous donations to be offered in this branch are a pure-bred Holstein bull, a draught horse valued at $200, a half-dozen sheep, several pigs, including some prize-winning Yorkshires, fifty hens, with turkeys, geese, ducks, and other valued members of the farmyard, besides a driving pony and a donkey. Farmers cannot afford to miss this sale! People about the city would do well to attend, for it is an easy matter to buy and have your purchase dressed!

FARM PRODUCTS

So generous has been the response of the farmers and people of the country sections to the appeal for donations, that it has been necessary to store their gifts of farm produce in the Queen's Rink, and there they are piled in endless variety, vegetables the equal of any to be found in the province, hundreds and hundreds of barrels of them, besides butter and eggs fresh and choice.

BUY NOW FOR THE WINTER STOCK

These goods must be sold! You have your choice at your own price!

- 1,000 barrels of potatoes.
  - 500 barrels of cabbage.
  - 300 barrels of turneps.
  - 200 gecks of tomatoes.
  - 5,000 pounds of squash and pumpkins.
  - 1,000 boxes of apples and crab-apples.
  - 400 pecks of carrots.
  - 400 pecks of beets.
  - 5,000 pounds of buckwheat.
  - 500 bushels of oats.
- And a lot of other goods being received daily, including plums, pears, and small fruits of different kinds, with several tons of hay and feed and other products of the farm. No householder can possibly afford not to be present when the sale of these goods is in progress. There is no use to ask you to be present—we know already that you will!

CARRIAGES AND SLEIGHS

As fine an assortment of sleighs and carriages as could be desired will be found in the Queen's Rink! They will be offered at bargain prices, though every one is of up-to-date manufacture, in good condition, and represents a good sum in cash. These wagons, sleighs and carriages, include three runabouts, a picnic carriage especially built for Mr. Jordan of Boston, several striking rubber-tired vehicles, single-seaters and double-seaters, pony carriages and sleighs, donkey carriage and sleigh, pony with folding rear seat, double bob-sleigh on springs, a handsome sporting sleigh, an English wagonette, and a varied range of others—all real good values.

DRUGS AND DRUG SUNDRIES

Except for the filling of prescriptions the department allotted for the sale of drugs and drug supplies will in all respects have the stock of a modern drug-store, though minus the appearance. Here will be found medicines of different kinds, cases of cough-mixtures, Sherrill's balsam, Hawker's tonic, shaving lotions, perfumes, several hundred cakes of Pepp's and Clever's soaps; toilet soaps in endless variety, 300 pounds of Castle soap; many gross of tins of best talcum powder; similar quantities of tooth paste, a miscellany of toilet supplies; lavatory extracts of all kinds; confectionery in chocolates, fancy candies, mixed goods; tobacco, cigars and cigarettes of favorite brands, and many other articles which space will not permit of mention.

CHINA AND ART.

This department exhibits a choice lot of goods of beauty and value. Here to be found stock from the leading stores about the city, all kinds of the things that women prize for the table, for the china closet, the buffet, and the mantle ornaments representing high cash figures, china sets for dinner and tea, including a handsome set of limoges valued at $90, vases artistic and unique, lamps of late design, delf and crockery in excellent variety, several Brown Betty tea-pots, bean crocks, and numerous other articles of appreciable quality.

REMEMBER YOUR PLEDGE.

You promised those gallant lads now fighting for you in the trenches to care for their loved ones at home. You can keep your promise by buying at the auction for no matter what you buy the money goes to the

PATRIOTIC FUND.

REAL ESTATE.

Valuable lots of land in the city and suburbs are to be offered for sale every night next week. You are always safe in buying real estate for you know where your money is, and you have a chance here that is seldom given—an opportunity of buying good saleable building lots given by patriotic citizens in order that the patriotic fund may be increased. There are more than a hundred of these lots and many of them will be real bargains. Take a look at the list in St. Andrew's Rink and pick out those you wish to buy.

GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS.

The prudent householder will be present every day while articles from this department are being sold. Nothing from a grocer's stock can be named but will be found in this section in St. Andrew's Rink in the very best of quality, great quantities, and wide variety. You can buy enough to last for years, you can buy your Christmas commodities, you can buy more than can be mentioned here, but a few of the articles, just a few may be referred to: Sugar, flour, butter, tea, coffee, cocoa, chocolate, nuts, pickles, marmalade, sauces, jams, breakfast food, soap, biscuits, spices, jellies, hams, peas, canned goods to no end, anything in fact that a grocer sells you will find in this department, and you can purchase whatever you want for the best price bid.

HOUSEHOLDERS' DEPARTMENT.

Just about this time of year every good housewife plans to fill her pantry shelves with bottles of preserves and pickles. Why waste the time and go to such effort when you can secure such delicious articles as these at your own price next week. There is also a display of fancywork such as has never been exhibited before in St. John, luncheon sets, fancy quilts, pillows, sofa cushions, lace, collars, center-pieces, dollies, tray-cloths, bureau-covers, anything in fact which the expert needle can manufacture, and all worthy of special mention for beauty and handwork.

FURNITURE.

An extra large space has been necessary for the display of the great assortment of valuable furniture received. It will be auctioned every day next week. There will be special bargains in these goods. Every article which will be placed on sale is in excellent condition, and there is nothing to be offered which would not be a feature in any home. The list is most lengthy and only a few of the articles on display are possible of mention. Don't miss the sale of this furniture—if you do you'll miss an opportunity such as you've never had before.

Among the many splendid articles to be auctioned in furniture are included mahogany, suites inlaid and open, rockers, chairs of all kinds, arm-chairs, tea chairs, dining room chairs, parlor chairs, bedroom chairs, Turkish arm chairs, buffets, leather seated chairs, plush covered chairs—refrigerators, kitchenets, smokers' tobacco, onyx stands, electric lamps, clocks of different descriptions and all sizes, ebony stands, bamboo tea tables, round oak tables, dining tables, parlor tables, walnut hall seat, shaving stand and mirror, vases, dressers, bureau, brass beds, sewing machines,—in fact, any article of furniture worth mentioning will be found on display. We ask you to carefully inspect these goods, and see if they are not just as good as you would care to buy, and then think that you have the privilege of buying them at your own price.

MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

Have you a piano in your home? If you haven't, wouldn't you just love to have one? If you have, are you satisfied with it, or isn't there something else you would like to have go with it? Under this heading the auction will offer three really good pianos, one costing originally $600, different music stools, music cabinets, music-racks and other essentials. There is also an excellent chance to purchase up-to-date gramophones in excellent condition, gramophone and phonograph records in disc and cylinder—a rare old mandolin of historic interest, and look! two organs such as would delight the hearts of all lovers of music, besides a fine range of musical instruments of other kinds, sheets of music, popular songs, and other similar goods.

HARDWARE STORES AND FIXTURES.

Is there anything you want to buy in a hardware store? You have an exceptional opportunity here to make your purchase. Every article of hardware and general hardware sundries donated to the auction is from the shelves and stock of the leading hardware houses of the city—it is stamped with the name of the maker and standard brands predominate. You can purchase silverware in wide assortment, cutlery of every description, ornaments, vases, valises, standard stove tools, refrigerators, ice cream freezers, ice cream cabinets, canoes, rifles, shot-guns, nails, bolts,—it is difficult to find anything you cannot buy which would be offered for sale in a modern hardware house. What about that purchase you were contemplating? Now is the time—get ready for the auction!

A Few Specials

- Tuesday, Queen's Rink, at 2 p. m.—Sale of live stock of various kinds. At 4 p. m., driving pony, with pony sleighs and carriages; donkey, with donkey sleighs and carriages.
- Tuesday, St. Andrew's Rink, 4 p. m., cash register valued at $350. 9 p. m., billiard table and pool table, each in good shape.

- Thursday, Queen's Rink, 8 p. m.—Lumber worth more than $1,000, in boards, scantlings, shingles, etc.
- Friday, St. Andrew's Rink, 9 p. m.—Handsome nautical cup, original value $250. Yachtmen! Get busy!

WATCH FOR OTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS!

Anything Else You Want?

It is not possible to mention everything here. Space twice this size would not permit it. But bear in mind that there is practically nothing worth while that you cannot buy. Nothing has been said of many articles occupying a prominent place at the auction, but if anything has been overlooked, don't worry—you'll know it can be found on sale. Much could be said as to the quality, quantity, and variety of boots and shoes, stationery, suits made to order, automobile accessories, antique-ware, including candelabrae more than 100 years old, besides some snappy up-to-date gent's furnishings, potted ferns, valuable furs which will be the envy of all women present, and numerous other articles, even to the best to be had in shoe-shines, and the highest skill in dentistry, including sets of artificial teeth. No matter what you ask for—we've got it!

The Hours of Bargains

On Monday the Auction will be in full swing at 7.45 p. m. Every day after that, until Saturday at 10 p. m., sales will be in progress in St. Andrew's Rink afternoon and evening, and in the Queen's Rink morning, afternoon and evening. Country produce will be on sale in the Queen's Rink from 11 to 12 a. m., from 3 to 4 p. m. and from 7.30 to 8.30 p. m. Other departments will be found in St. Andrew's Rink, with the hours of sale from 2 to 6 p. m. and 7 to 10 p. m. Coal and wood will be auctioned every night! Good quality is the term to be used in speaking of either, and an unprecedented opportunity is afforded to purchasers to lay in a winter's supply.

Priest Sends Thrilling Tale Of Landing of Australian Troops To Fight Turks At Dardanelles

(Daily Miscellany) A citizen of Missoula, who wishes that his name be not revealed has received what is undoubtedly the most interesting private account from the European war to reach the Garden city. This letter which is here reproduced in full, was written by the chaplain of an Australian regiment, who shall otherwise remain anonymous also.

This description of fighting is given added interest on account of the fact that it describes actions and trench warfare on the Gallipoli peninsula from which comparatively little has been written. The captain describes among many things a charge that beyond doubt, will someday be famed as one of the world's most spectacular.

The letter follows: My Dear Spectator: Your letter was so welcome, coming as it did from the States, that I could not think or speak of anything but war now. We are surrounded by it here, so you must excuse me if I make the principal topic of this letter. It may be interesting to you to know something of what we have known during the past few months.

The bridge to which I am attached as chaplain, left Egypt on the first of March for an unknown destination. In a few days we were landed and took possession of the Turkish island of Lemnos, which is now the base of the Mediterranean army. A large army of English, French, Australian, New Zealanders and Indians was gradually collected for operations against the Turks and the Dardanelles. Several weeks later, on the twenty-first of April, a huge fleet of troopships and warships left Lemnos after dark and toward midnight anchored under the lee of Imbros, some miles from the peninsula. The Anglo-French troops were to land at the southern end, while the Australian and New Zealand troops were to effect a landing fifteen miles north, on the western side at a place called Cape Tepe.

The idea was that the Anglo-French forces were to sweep the Turks northward along the peninsula and drive them on to us, where being caught between two fires they would be annihilated or compelled to surrender. The powerful shore batteries and the torpedo tubes would then be taken on the rear and the Dardanelles would be opened to the allied fleet. The warships would then proceed through the Sea of Marmara, destroy the Turkish fleet, and then land on the peninsula. The Anglo-French troops were to land at the southern end, while the Australian and New Zealand troops were to effect a landing fifteen miles north, on the western side at a place called Cape Tepe.

At mid-day the Turks were reinforced and began to push our troops back, but reinforcements arriving also for us were able to hold the position. All day troops were landing. Artillery was rushed ashore and dragged up the hills by the men. Jetties were extended, the wounded were collected and attended to and on board a hospital ship waiting out at sea. It was the busiest day I ever spent. I was running about all day over the hills and behind the firing line, absorbing and administering extremeunction to dying Catholics, bandaging wounds, putting improvised splints on broken limbs, carrying water to the wounded and acting as stretcher bearer. Our casualties that day were over 1,000. The second and third days were almost as bad.

I have had several narrow escapes so many in fact that I wonder why I am still alive. I had four bullets in my pack one through a jam tin, out of which I was eating, which spoiled the jam and made me very wild. One through my water bottle, one through a tobacco tin in my pocket, one took the epaulettes of my tunic, and once I had nineteen shrapnel bullets through a waterproof sheet on which I was lying only a few minutes previously.

I have lost count of the shells that nearly accounted for me. I hardly expect to get through the business alive, but seeing that I have been in luck so far, I may. Five nights ago the Turks launched a fierce attack along our line. They intended to push us back into the sea, and with that end in view they sent at least 15,000 men against us. The slaughter of Turks was awful. They came on in mass formation—German style—and in dense columns, only to be mowed down by the concentrated and rapid fire of machine guns and rifles. At one o'clock they broke and fled, but came on again at 3.30 and the slaughter continued with out cessation till mid-day.

Artillery was rushed ashore and dragged up the hills by the men. Jetties were extended, the wounded were collected and attended to and on board a hospital ship waiting out at sea. It was the busiest day I ever spent. I was running about all day over the hills and behind the firing line, absorbing and administering extremeunction to dying Catholics, bandaging wounds, putting improvised splints on broken limbs, carrying water to the wounded and acting as stretcher bearer. Our casualties that day were over 1,000. The second and third days were almost as bad.

Living To Serve and Saving To Give
The Duty of Those in Canada Who Cannot Go to Fight—A Matter For Serious Consideration

(Halifax Chronicle)

Among the many things that call for serious consideration at the present time, the urgent need as we have already pointed out, of thrift amongst all classes of the community. The people of the Dominion generally have liberally responded to the many and various claims which have been made upon their private pockets. But we must not be blind to the fact that much more remains to be done. It behooves us to cast a glance into the lives of those who are in the front line of the war, and to realize that large and adequate sums of public money will be necessary to meet the well-merited needs of wounded and disabled soldiers and the dependents of our fallen heroes, buried somewhere in the soil of Europe. The mistakes of by-gone years must not be repeated in the present instance. Veterans of other wars have been known to die in the poor house. Brave men to whom a frenzied nation shouted itself hoarse, have had to beg for bread and exhibit their crippled limbs to a callous crowd.

There has been in other days almost cynical prejudice against "the old soldier" that has broken the heart of many a valiant trooper. These things must not be allowed to happen again, and adequate sums of public money will be necessary to meet the well-merited needs of wounded and disabled soldiers us with infamy we cannot bear. No excuse avails for such a crime. If our sons owe a duty to the nation it is also under obligation to its devoted and heroic sons. It is our honest pride that Canadian soldiers are the best paid soldiers in the world. We cannot take a second place as regards a generous treatment of our crippled warriors, who return, or the wives and children of those slain heroes whose return is nevermore.

Those amongst us, whose duties, age or physical unfitness have prevented from going forth to fight, are not there by act of force from rendering any service, or making sacrifice for the welfare of the common cause. The lads in the trenches, and the boys on the western front—these have gone out with the knowledge that we do not survive with hands. The country is bearing a heavy burden, and each man's shoulder is bent to the wheel. The Patriotic Fund of this very hour urgently needs replenishment and that same burden will grow with each succeeding day. The country's exchequer is already under heavy demands and demands that will not be heeded. Extravagance in any form is wicked. Waste is worse, for it is criminal.

The call to thrift and to a practice of wise economy on the part of everyone is a call to the service of the Empire. Not thrift for the sake of self-interest, but thrift as it may lead to a saving in order to give to which attention is called today.

There are untapped resources in every household which can now be liberated for the national cause. The patriotic planning of the housewife, who serves a wholesome but less costly dish, in order that she may give a little to the Red Cross or other funds. The patriotic saving of a cigar, the giving up of some unneeded dress, jewelry and the donating of the money thus saved to help forward the work of relief amongst injured soldiers is a form of national service within the reach of everyone. It is but paying the merest pittance to point out that the giving of what we can readily spare, and that which we shall never miss or feel is not giving at all. It is the bestowal of a boon upon a soldier. It involves no sacrifice and it is essentially sacrificial service which the entire demands and needs are when we give for our preservation and freedom we need to maintain to the extent of our

Three Recruiting Meetings Held And Five Men Enroll

Attendance at Meetings Not Large and Response Not so Generous as Hoped For—The Issues Laid Before the Citizens in Unmistakable Terms

Three meetings were held in the city last evening in the interest of recruiting, and excellent addresses were followed with keen appreciation. Five men enrolled, four from St. John—Wm. A. Dale, Chester G. Whittaker, Harry Leroy Little, Edward Beahra, and Wm. G. Dunlop, of Apohaqui, and Last Night's Meeting.

W. H. Barnaby was chairman at the meeting at the Centenary schoolroom and at the opening of the church choir gave O Canada. The attendance was very small.

Rev. Geo. F. Bond, Sackville, brother of the late premier of Newfoundland, was the chief speaker. He remarked that in Germany there was no need of recruiting meetings for every man of military ability, whether he liked it or not, he was serving and was serving now, or if not, he would be called upon to do so.

"But we British have it as our glory that we are not compelled to serve as soldiers. We never have compelled a man to be a soldier. We invite them to serve and I hope we shall be able to respond without compulsion. Lord Kitchener at present at least is not a believer in conscription but he believes we shall have enough men without having to resort to a law to compel men to do their duty and to set up to their rights and privileges as British subjects."

"We as the State in Britain; ours is a democratic regime under which we live as British subjects and every man is called upon to exercise the highest privilege a man can exercise when he is asked if he will respond to his country's call. Thank God for the privilege."

Rev. Mr. Bond then sketched the work of the 100,000 men of the British army, the contemptible little army as the Kaiser had termed it and said that they in a sense professional soldiers but they saved Paris, they saved France the empire and the world.

It was that "contemptible little army" that made the magnificent retreat from Mons. The world had not been told all that retreat yet. Perhaps it would never be told in detail for in its heroism and its grandeur it would be lost to the admiration and the emulation of the world because it was so full. All through the war its magnitude made it impossible to realize all.

At first Germany had busily circulated the truth that it was England that had forced war upon them by designs upon the integrity of Germany. "Why England, with its little army of 110,000 men, fewer than were on the borders of Germany at any time, could not have designs on Germany with 76,000 of that army in India. But Germany has given up that now; it is not now so blatantly told as it was and now we know as we never did that Britain went into this war because she was compelled to for the sake of her honor, which would have been enough, and always will be sufficient in the case of England, but she was compelled to go into the war for her own defence and the defence of her overseas possessions, to save them from the fate of Belgium and northern France."

Kitchener's Army. The 8,000,000 men who had joined Kitchener's army were such as had never been gathered in an army in any part of the world. In point of numbers, in motive, in composition and in morale it was the most magnificent army the world had ever seen. (Applause.) It was an army in which there was no marked difference between the rank and file and its officers. Thousands of men in the ranks were from the highest social position in civil life, professional men, scholars, university men—Oxford had no students left but those who were physically unfit and foreigners—business men and others so that in composition it was vastly superior to that which had been raised in Britain or any other country.

"There has never been an army like it; it is an army that has responded to the call of duty, the call of honor, the call of country."

Rev. Mr. Bond then said that there were still occasionally to be found in Canada men who did not mind whether Britain overcame or was overcome; he was afraid there were many more than they sometimes cared to acknowledge. These men wanted while the others were fighting, to stay at home comfortably and profitably and, even so far as they dared, to make money at the expense of those who had gone and were spilling their life's blood that those who stayed at home might do so in comfort. That was not only shameful but it was criminal. Every man, unless he had a superior call at home, should be at the front or preparing to go.

Really in Danger. "It is an actual literal fact that we are in danger. It is true that our hearts have been unified in the last few days; they have been heavy enough for a long time, but we must not yet be too optimistic. A victory such as we have had does not mean that we shall see a sudden termination of the war. Germany has been preparing for it for forty years and I have seen an excellent calculation that she will be able to keep them at the front in that number until Jan. 1 next. After that she may feel the strain although I have seen another calculation that she may keep the mess up until the spring.

"Germany has been preparing for this for forty years. What does this mean? It means that we are confronted by a nation whose animus towards us is such that while she would not design to inflict serious loss, it may be, upon Russia, and she might not on France, though Bernhardi said that France would have to be crushed—yet the great animus of the German nation is towards us as British. Britain has been to her the huge effete nation that she stretched across her path in her ambitious longing for her place in the sun."

Wanted British Colonies. Rev. Mr. Bond then went on to show what the British colonies were the prize that Germany wanted most as a result of this war, and pointed out that the men who were being recruited now were going not for adventure, he thought, so much as with the stern determination of a deep resolve and while he would utter a word but in honor of the men who in the first army went and did so nobly, he thought that the men now going in their country, the assistance that the Belgians merited to drive the enemy again from their country. The speaker told of the preparation that Germany had been making for years and the advantage that she took to spendly further her preparation, the time of the Boer war, of the ambitions she cherished; and lastly of the terrible penalty that every eligible citizen should be the victor and we the vanquished. He made a plain appeal for recruits. He asked every eligible citizen to consider the matter carefully and act accordingly to his conscientious judgement, considering what help and what can be backed off by timely assistance.

Rev. P. R. Hayward. Rev. P. R. Hayward was an advocate of conscription. He would like to see the government enforce such a policy but under the present system he thought every possible means were worked to get at the young men and make them seriously consider the matter. Some, he said, might ask why he was not making his appeal in khaki. He had for them a reply. He said that he had considered the situation carefully more than once and had wavered on indecision time and time again. He believed that being a married man his time had not yet come and that those who have no one depending on their support should fall in first. He appreciated that many married men had decided otherwise and he honored them for their step they took.

"You should fight," he said, "because the British empire stands for principles higher than any other empire. If it were to show Germany that England could make bigger guns, could produce bigger and superior shells and could put more men in the field, he would not shoulder the gun. He was intended to be for our sake, not for the empire's sake, but for the world's sake."

W. E. Earle called upon "Budd" Tippetts to speak but was informed that the returned hero was compelled to return home on account of trouble with his wounds.

Following the meeting the older men discussed plans, and as throughout the city, regular meetings will be held in all parts of Lancaster, as far as Grand Bay and all the outlying districts.

Two on West Side. At the recruiting meeting in the West End last evening, only a small number of people welcomed the speakers who went to the West Side in the interests of the great cause. Recruiting Sergeant W. Tomlin took the names of two young men, both of whom promised to enlist subject to the approval of the medical officer.

Captain A. J. Mulcahy, chairman of the meeting, introduced the speakers of the evening, in a ringing appeal to the patriotism of the young men of West St. John, and splendid appeals for men were made by Rev. F. S. Porter, Lieutenant Ted Keefe, and others.

Patriotic numbers were played by the Carleton Cornet Band, the popular West Side organization, which has been accepted for active service.

Rev. F. S. Porter, in acknowledging three cheers and a tiger, said that if he had on the king's uniform he would feel worthy of the applause.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair! Double Its Beauty in Just a Few Moments

25-Cent "Danderine" Makes Hair Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what please you most will be a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. Its difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, soft and wavy; and has an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that all you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

will be held in the hall. The meeting was well attended, the addresses were good, but there were no immediate results. Rev. P. R. Hayward and Rev. Gordon Dickie were the speakers. They reviewed the matter carefully and placed it clearly and concisely before the gathering; young men, unmarried and unattached, they urged, should rally to support of the flag. The audience was apparently enthusiastic.

H. S. Mayes entertained with songs and Miss Wayne with patriotic readings. Rev. Mr. Dickie reviewed very feelingly and impressively the pathetic plight of the people of Belgium and the cause of humanity. He told of the importance of their plucky stand and the assistance that they had been making for years and the advantage that she took to spendly further her preparation, the time of the Boer war, of the ambitions she cherished; and lastly of the terrible penalty that every eligible citizen should be the victor and we the vanquished. He made a plain appeal for recruits. "Those men live in the midst of great events, are the last to conceive the significance of those events," said Mr. Porter.

"Are you alive to the significance of the situation?" Speaking of the inability of people to retire from the war, some to visualize the scenes of warfare, Mr. Porter said that when a recruiting sergeant mounted a platform, hastily constructed on ruins of a Zeppelin raid in London, recruits flocked to enlist. Amid the ruins which had occurred in actual warfare these Londoners knew what war

THE GAINS ON THE NORTHERN LINE

The British have made big gains south of La Basse, capturing the towns of Hulleuck and Loos near Lens. The French have captured Souchez and are pressing on Ghenvichy. The gains are in detail by the shaded portions on the map. Further south the French have made important gains between Reims and the Argennes.

of Canada under a German military governor. John Keefe, father of Lieutenant Keefe, of the 28th Battalion, asked the young men who could possibly go, to consider seriously the situation in the war zone. He asked them to think of ruined Belgium, of battle-scarred Poland, of France, of Italy—all fighting in the great cause with every able-bodied man a soldier.

Lieutenant H. M. Teed. Lieutenant Teed, war hero, was greeted with prolonged cheers. The gallant officers told of outrages of which he saw results at the front. He told of a boy nine years, whose hands had been cut off by Hun. He instanced the case of a girl of six, whose face had been punctured by a German bayonet.

As to dangers at the front, Lieutenant Teed pointed out that he had been there and had returned. Germany, he said, was not beaten and that before she was beaten, Germany and her allies would put into the field one-fifth of the total population of the Germanic countries and Turkey—that is one-fifth of 140,000,000 people.

"That is what the war means; that is the measure of the call which Great Britain and her allies must meet, perhaps, before victory is won. Men are needed—needed more than people here seem to understand. Lieutenant Teed drew a clear intimate crowd-picture of trench life, and his personal experiences show that the fighting line is not the most unpleasant place in the world by a long way. "What the men at the front want most are socks, wristlets and scarfs. The wristlets and scarfs should be longer. The body belts should not be sent. The men will not wear them."

Telling about his first experience with gas, Lieutenant Teed said while the Belgians and the French people were hastily vacating the zone, a spy, disguised as a major, ordered the Canadians, verbally to retreat.

The Canadians paid no attention to the order. Later, it was found that the "major" was not attached to the headquarters staff and was probably a spy. The meeting closed with the playing of the National Anthem.

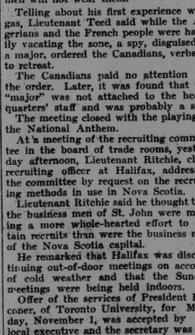

At a meeting of the recruiting committee by request on the recruiting methods in use in Nova Scotia. Lieutenant Ritchie, chief recruiting officer at Halifax, addressed the committee by request on the recruiting methods in use in Nova Scotia.

Lieutenant Ritchie said he thought that the business men of St. John were making a more whole-hearted effort to obtain recruits than were the business men of the Nova Scotia capital.

He remarked that Halifax was discontinuing out-of-door meetings on account of cold weather and that the Sunday meetings were being held indoors.

Offer of the services of President Falconer of Toronto University, for Monday, November 1, was accepted by the local executive and the secretary was authorized to wire acceptance to Principal Falconer.

JULIA ARTHUR RETURNS

Paul Gilmore in Picture—May Robson to Stay in "Legit"—Dancer Sues For $50,000—Clark-Urban Departure

James Montgomery, author of "Ready Money" and "The Aviator," has written a new farce which he has called "My Ford." The play is a glorification of the Ford automobile.

A new play by Hall Caine has been accepted by the Charles Frohman Company for production with Elsie Ferguson in the star role. The play is entitled "The Prime Minister," and, with the exception of "The Christian," will be the only drama by Mr. Caine ever given its first production in America.

George Fawcett is now rehearsing the star part in George Broadhurst's newest play, "What Money Can Buy," described as a romantic comedy in four acts.

David Warfield has returned from San Francisco and has begun rehearsals of a new play written for him by David Belasco.

Lucille Watson has been engaged by Selwyn & Co. for a role in Avery Hopwood's farce, "The Morning After."

Paul Gilmore is the latest legitimate actor to be added to the Griffith forces. Mr. Gilmore is to be featured in a five-reel Triangle production, "The Penitent." Mr. Gilmore has just completed a three months' engagement in Balboas-Pathé productions.

George Fawcett is now rehearsing the star part in George Broadhurst's newest play, "What Money Can Buy," described as a romantic comedy in four acts.

TRIPLET STARS A MOTHER'S GIFT TO BASEBALL

Baseball history was probably made in Brooklyn last week when three tiny boys arrived within half an hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lerner, No. 1539 Prospect Place. Mr. and Mrs. Lerner, both of whom are ardent baseball fans, now have a complete infield. Shortstop Nathan Lerner preceded his least mates by eighteen months.

A new farce by Frank Ferguson, entitled "A Queen High," will be placed in rehearsal shortly by Edna F. MacGregor. The cast will include Rose Coghlan, Alice Fischer, Minnie Dupree, Lucille Watson, Edward Emery and George Beale.

May Irwin will give a prize of $1,000 for the best American comedy produced during the season and will continue the offer each following theatrical year.

George Broadhurst's newest play, "What Money Can Buy," described as a romantic comedy in four acts, has been placed in rehearsal at the Forty-eighth street.

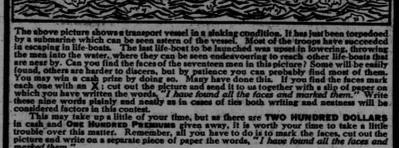

Mary Maurice, the mother of the morning pictures is working with Rose Tappan and Carolyn Birch in a Vitagraph comedy called "Sam's Sweetheart," under the direction of C. Jay Williams.

Julia Arthur, the famous Canadian actress, who retired from the stage in 1911, is to be seen in a new play by the authors of "Grumpy."

WAR PUZZLE

The above picture shows a transport vessel in a sinking condition. It has just been torpedoed by a submarine which can be seen astern of the vessel. Most of the troops have succeeded in escaping to the nearby shore. The last life-boat to be launched was found in a storm, a diver found the men in the water, where they can be seen endeavoring to reach other life-boats that are nearby. Can you find the faces of the seven men in this picture? Some will be easily found, others are harder to discern, but by patience you can probably find most of them. You may win a cash prize by doing so. It is worth your time to take a little trouble over this matter. Remember, all you have to do is to mark the faces, cut out the picture and write on a separate piece of paper the words, "I have found all the faces marked thus." This may take up a little of your time, but as there are TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash and ONE HUNDRED PREMIUMS given away, it is worth your time to take a little trouble over this matter. Remember, all you have to do is to mark the faces, cut out the picture and write on a separate piece of paper the words, "I have found all the faces marked thus."

of Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal Nuggets—the new ready cooked form of Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal, the most nourishing food ever sold. It is an unique meal, can be eaten on the move and is a most wonderful preventer of fatigue in all outdoor life, on the links, motor-ing, tennis, shooting, fishing, "hikes" and the like. Like the Roman Meal, it prevents indigestion and positively relieves constipation or "money back". Your grocer can obtain it for you through his jobber in any part of Canada. Use Roman Meal for your pancakes, muffins and gems. They're the most de-lightful made and may be eaten hot without distress, because of their granu-lar grinding and the amount of branny water contained.

National League. Philadelphia, 9; Boston, 2. Boston, Oct. 1.—The Philadelphia's found Nehf's delivery easy of solution today and won 9 to 2. The Braves went hitless for six innings, but in the seventh and eighth obtained five hits off Meyer for two runs. The score: R. H. E. Philadelphia... 10 10 4 10 2—14 2 Boston... 0 0 0 0 0 11 0—2 7 1 Batteries—Meyer and Adams; Nehf and Blackburn, Gowdy. St. Louis, 6; Pittsburgh, 3. St. Louis, Oct. 1.—A batting rally in the eighth gave St. Louis victory over Pittsburgh here today, 6 to 3. In this inning Hill weakened and the locals hit for two singles and a triple. The score: R. H. E. Pittsburgh... 10 0 0 0 1 0 10—3 4 1 St. Louis... 0 0 0 0 0 0 6—6 11 1 Batteries—Hill, Adams and Gibson; Deak, Salts and Snyder. At Cincinnati—Cincinnati-Chicago, postponed, rain. At New York—New York-Brooklyn, postponed, rain. American League. Chicago, 8; St. Louis, 0. Chicago, Oct. 1.—Ed Walsh had little difficulty holding St. Louis safe today, thereby winning his third straight game of the season. The victors were blanked, 8 to 0. The score: R. H. E. St. Louis... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 7 9 Chicago... 0 0 0 0 0 0 8—8 11 1 Batteries—Kook, Phillips, Hoff and Agnew; Walsh and Schalk. Washington-Boston postponed, rain. Federal League. All games postponed, rain. Bought on Typp's Error. Many and varied are the humorous incidents discussed in connection with the baseball game, but there are few more deserving of a prominent place in baseball's "fun" department than the following interesting story: Jack Hendricks, new manager of the Indianapolis baseball team in the American Association, was once a ball player under manager Pango Castillon and latter "canned" him—in the vernacular of the sand lots. At present Hendricks is a co-manager with Castillon and Freeman Alford recently gives the following account of how it happened: "I was surprised in the middle of the season to learn that he had been purchased from Spokane by Washington. Having nothing to say in the matter, he reported to his owners. Jack was told to cover a bunch of splinters on the dug-out seat and this he did for seven days. On the 12th day the game grew close. In the ninth inning the Washington catcher scored a single and lumbered to first. The Senators needed a run and needed it badly. Castillon, who was coaching off the bench, called to Hendricks. The first-batted himself of his sweater and trotted to the initial sack. "Run for this guy," instructed Castillon. "Go down where I tell you." In wonderment Hendricks took the base. On the second pitch the manager yelled with all his lung power, "Beat it." Hendricks got up his best steam, but was intercepted twenty feet from the second sack by the baseman with the ball in his hands. He strode back to the bench, trying his best to avoid the awful eye of the irate Castillon. "You poor sucker," breathed the manager, with the deadliest venom. "I thought you could run bases." "Who told you I could run bases?" demanded Hendricks with spirit. "I never claimed to be a base runner." "Why you stole 65 bases in Spokane last year, didn't you?" "I stole only 15 bases in Spokane last year," answered Hendricks, truthfully. "The record book says 65, but that was a typographical error by the printer." He screeched and fumed around the baseline until his players grew so nervous that they blew up and lost the game. "Get out of here," the manager stormed. "Get out, you—typographical error, you." Clarke Picks Phillies to Win. Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 30.—Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburg Pirates had this to say of the world's series games today: "In a short series the pitching is the stone of both offence and defence, and one man can generally pull his team through if he is in form. Alexander, to my mind, is by far the best pitcher in the game today and if Moran can afford to rest him up for a week before the series begins without letting him get was wondering what will happen when Tris Speaker, the Boston wily veteran, faces Alexander of the Phillies in the world's series in as couple of weeks. Alexander probably did more than any other man to bring the National League flag to his club, and the same might be said of Speaker, in the American League. The picture shows Tris Speaker, Boston's famous outfielder, whose hitting did much to bring victory to the Red Sox. Hub sharp do not see how the Quakers are going to do much safe hitting. Alexander, therefore, if Moran's one best bet and the Phillies hope to be able to use him in every other game. What Victory Meant to Phillies. New York, Sept. 30.—Pat Moran's Phillies won something besides a pennant at Boston. They won a lot of supporters who have heretofore considered the Quaker aggregation a joke champion, and one that would be utterly at sea outside the box-like Philadelphia park. Wednesday's game in which they defeated Cleveland Alexander drove his rivals into the pennant pole, was the acid test in a way. It was played against a team that certainly has as much fight as the Red Sox and on a field in which the Quakers will attempt to grab the title. The game proved a lot of things not the least of which the Phillies can hit homers on any lot. The game also gave Fandom a chance to size up Alexander working under tension. The big Philly star held the Braves to one lonely single, and issued but one pass on balls. No "checking under the strain" there. And this is the guy that the Red Sox probably will have to beat three times to grab the championship. Mathewson, Bender, Plank or Coombs never went onto a world series. They looking any better than Alexander look today. Catcher Clark Suspended. Chicago, Sept. 30.—Manager Herge of the Cincinnati baseball club, announced today that he had suspended catcher Clark for the remainder of the season. Clark was suspended for the remainder of the season for having been drunk on duty. MRS. W. A. GAVIN, ENGLAND. The English Women's Golf Champion, runner-up in the U. S. Intercollegiate Football League MAY NOT BE FORMED (Frederick Gleason) The Intercollegiate Football League for 1915 is swaying in the balance. Aside from the fact that the three colleges have been hard hit by the European war, where many of the former stars of the gridiron are trying their hand at the war game, the new eligibility rule which is supposed to come into effect this year is the main obstacle in the way of the formation of the league this year. This new rule, which has been adopted by the three faculties of the institutions—the University of New Brunswick, Mount Allison and Acadia College—makes it imperative that any student competing in any branch of athletics must be a bona fide matriculant. The movement was originated at Mount A., but the story is now going the rounds that Acadia, like U. N. B., does not favor it. Notwithstanding the fact that the formation of a league this year is somewhat in doubt, the U. N. B. squad are at work, but holding only light practice pending the arrival of Coach "Humph" Campbell, who is due to arrive here today. If the general "Humph" does not reach here tonight or tomorrow, the U. N. B. footballers are expecting him the first of next week and the real work will then begin. Thus far Vice-Captain Charles Jewett, who although in college this year will be unable to play in the Intercollegiate League, as he has already played on five U. N. B.

Not on the quest of idle pleasures bent; For two proud words we go where we are sent, Honor and Freedom—and we ask no more; Only that if 'tis fated, we shall pour The blood thou gavest bravely; our intent Treads the same road that Duty ever meant To those who yielded thine own before. Not ours, but thine our lives; the joy we knew Within this ancient island-temple shrine, The love and all the laughter were from thee. And grew in beauty as devotion grew. So, going from thee now, we yet shall find In thy free heart Earth's one eternity. Northern France, Aug. 8.

Clark's Services Appreciated. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 30.—A resolution expressing appreciation for the services to the city by Fred C. Clark, retiring manager of the Pirates, has been drawn up by Chairman Robert Garland and will be presented to the council at its session next Tuesday. The resolution has been signed by all the members of the council and the city controller.

Dissension Among Magistrates. There's an underground rumour in America's League circles that before next season Connie Mack will buy the Phillies' half interest in the Athletics. It is understood that the Shlives have grown tired of the losing venture in Philadelphia due to the wretchedness of the former world's champions and are about ready to step out. Mack owns about fifty per cent of the club and is said to have plenty of financial backing. The Shlives have been unpopular for some time and Mack is supposed to be at loggerheads with them.

Braves' Players for 1916. The list of players reserved by National League baseball clubs for the season of 1916, was issued in New York Thursday by Secretary John A. Heydler, and includes: Shalins, manager; Jesse L. Barnes, Earl S. Blackburn, Frank Braggi, Edgar Collins, Joseph Connolly, B. Conroy, George Davis, Jr., John J. Evers, R. J. Egan, Edward H. Fitzpatrick, H. M. Gowdy, Thomas Hughes, William L. James, Fletcher L. Jones, Arthur N. Nehf, Richard R. Phipps, D. C. Pagan, Maurice Shannon, Joseph Shannon, Charles Schmidt, R. Refused $1350 for Bob Mac. The North Sydney Herald, in speaking of Bob Mac, 218 3-4, a sensational gelding owned by Edgar Campbell, L.L. Mac, writes: "While in Halifax, Mr. Campbell refused $1,350 for the big side-wheeler. Had the deal went through, his was intended to be the purchase of a horse to serve the services of Stephen Purves to sign a three year contract at a handsome salary and tour the Maine and other American circuits. Mr. Campbell showed good sense in refusing such a tempting offer, for since doing so he has won nearly $2,000 in winnings and side bets on Mac." Columbus Races Postponed. Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 1.—Because of track conditions and heavy rains last night, the Grand Circuit races carded for today were postponed until tomorrow.

News of the Boxers. Gilbert Gallant, a Chelsea lightweight, is not discouraged because Charlie White happened to defeat him. He is coming back in the ring to show the fans that he can still travel some, and give them a surprise as he has done before. He is going to tackle Frankie Callahan at the Atlas A. A., Boston, on Oct. 12. Owen Moran, English featherweight, who was a great boxer when in his prime, has become a boxing promoter in England. George Smith, of Canton Hill, Nantasket, writes that Mike (Twin) Sullivan, is his guest and that the lighter twin is getting ready in earnest to return to the ring. Mr. Smith says that Mike is exercising the right way daily and will be ready soon to toss his hat in the ring once more. Mark Slaughnessy, one of the promoters in St. Paul, believes he has the power to stop sports from making bets. He declares that hereafter he is going to declare off all bets on any of the bouts he stages at his club. Ted Lewis, an English lightweight who has been doing some great boxing in the United States, has fought himself into a position where he is going to find it hard work getting any lightweights to meet him in show bouts. He wants a crack at Champion Freddie Welsh, but he will have to give the champion $15,000 and meet him a long bout. It means that Lewis will now have to go against welterweights. Mike (Glover), who belongs in the latter class, would like to get another match with

This Morning's War News Cheering

Paris, Oct. 1.—New progress for the Allied troops in the Givency wood, the capture of additional German machine guns and prisoners in the Champagne region, and the stopping of a German bombardment in the Argonne by a French counter-offensive are recorded in the French official communication made public tonight.

The communication says: "To the east of Senches we have made prisoners of sixty-one members of the Prussian Guard and set free some French prisoners who had been in the hands of the Germans since September 29."

London, Oct. 1.—There was no change today in the situation on the British front in the western theatre of the war, according to an official report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British army in the field.

The communication follows: "On the 29th the enemy made several attacks on our positions northwest of Hulluch. Severe fighting continued all day, with the result that we maintained all our positions, except on the extreme left, where the enemy gained about 150 yards of a trench. Our position has been firmly consolidated. The hostile counter-attacks have now weakened."

"On the afternoon of the 29th, near Hooge, the enemy fired a mine under our trenches south of the Menin road, gaining a footing in our front line. Counter-attacks, delivered on the 30th recovered all but a small portion of the trench lost."

"Today there has been no change in the situation on our front. Seventeen air combats are reported, in only one of which a British machine was shot down. A German machine was brought down inside our lines. Yesterday attacks were made on the railway in the hostile area. The main lines are known to have been damaged in fifteen different places. Five, and probably six, trains were partially wrecked and the locomotive sheds at Valenciennes were set afire. Considerable interference thus has been caused to the German railroad organization."

In the east the Russians appear to be making a much better effort to hold their positions, for, except just in front of Dvinsk and in Volhynia, the German claim to have made no progress, while between those two points and in Galicia, according to a Berlin official report, all the attacking is being done by the Russians. Indeed, the Russian troops, by countering the attack which Field Marshal Von Hindenburg launched at Minsk from the northwest, have succeeded pretty well in straightening out their line from north to south."

Italy also is showing signs of renewed activity, and has commenced an offensive along the Isonzo river, particularly against the important Austrian position of Tolmino."

London, Oct. 1.—The Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company sends the following: "Military writers, in the light of the latest despatches, are of the opinion that the great German thrust east of Sventyarsky (on the main line of the Warsaw-Dvinsk-Petrograd railroad) may be considered at an end."

"The enemy, being forced back towards the Dvinsk-Vilna railway, the Russians are straightening out their front to the south of Dvinsk, and west of Vileka, and in general the enemy's offensive from Riga to the Pinsk region has been arrested. It is pointed out, with satisfaction,

CHARLIE CHAPLIN LOST HIS MOUSTACHE

He Took it Off to Impersonate a Woman — The Story Makes Great Fun — See it at the Gem Next Week — Other Features

Can you picture Charlie Chaplin without his little moustache? Robbed of his facial decoration, he will appear at the Gem Theatre on Monday and Tuesday in a two reel farcical success—a scream from start to finish—"The Woman," in which his little upper lip ornament disappears, and he impersonates a dashing young woman. The two reels are filled with laughs, and who cares for anything else with Chaplin in the lead? See "The Woman" next week, and get ready to laugh before you come.

In addition to the Chaplin comedy, a two part Vitagraph melodrama, "Four Grains of Rice," will be presented. A story of Chinese intrigue and thrilling adventures of a pretty girl in their power. "George Cooper as 'Mot Wong'" leads the cast.

"The New Exploits of Elaine," the further adventures of the fearless heroine are being followed with popular interest, and the showing of "The Cryptic Ring," the key to the millions of dead "Clutching Hand" next Wednesday and Thursday, will be awaited with eagerness. There will also be some good war pictures in the British-Canadian News Weekly. On Friday and Saturday, "The Battle of the Rings," the fourth installment in the new series, "The Mystery of the Grand Hotel," will be presented, while at every show there will be attractive musical programmes by the orchestra.

FEVER AT DORCHESTER. The situation at Dorchester can scarcely be said to be an improved one. Three new cases have developed since Wednesday, bringing the sick list up to more than forty.

Another death has occurred, that of Alma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lauchlin McDonald, Government Terrace. The child is aged three and one-half years. This is the fourth death this week. The most serious case now is that of the Frichard family and a trained nurse has taken charge. The town is still without a physician. It is hoped that Dr. Hamilton of Montreal will assume professional practice at least temporarily.

WANTS MT. ALLISON PLATOON. Lieutenant-Colonel A. H. Borden, officer commanding the 88th Nova Scotia Highlanders, addressed a meeting of the student body in the Esplanade Hall, Mount Allison, and Mount Allison will try to raise a platoon of fifty-five men to go with the 88th. Seventeen men signified their intention of going, and more are expected. This platoon is open to all Mount Allison or other college men. Those interested are asked to write to Captain F. E. Wheelock, officer commanding, Mount Allison Officers' Training Corps.

KELLY ARRESTED

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—Contractor Thomas Kelly was arrested in Chicago tonight. The charges are: Perjury, conspiracy to defraud, and obtaining money under false pretences. Extradition proceedings will be commenced at once, but Kelly will probably fight. When arrested he would say nothing.

POSED AS MAN FOR 25 YEARS

Remarkable Case is Brought To Light in Los Angeles

Charged with masquerading as a man for twenty-five years, Prof. "Eugene De Forrest," a woman, made an extraordinary confession in which she both admitted and explained the charge following her arrest in Los Angeles. Before City Mother Aletha Gilbert and Detectives Fletcher Felts and Charles Herne, Prof. De Forrest, who is a well known teacher of dramatic art, told of two marriages—in one of which she occupied the role of wife and in the other of husband and of another weird romance which she explained had reached the point of abandonment.

Her remarkable story astonished the officers who questioned her and it was not until the detectives held a conference with Chief of Police Siveley that it was decided to detain the woman until further inquiry into the unusual case can be made.

For five years Prof. De Forrest had a studio in the Blanchard Hall building. She now has a class of young women who are studying dramatic art. Both in San Francisco and in Los Angeles she has been recognized as a teacher of ability.

None of her pupils in Los Angeles ever suspected that their instructor in elocution was a woman. The long coat which she wore, her gray hair and other masculine appearances disarmed all suspicion.

Wedding Plans Made To a well known Los Angeles woman the arrest and subsequent revelations will come as a particular shock as Prof. De Forrest was engaged to marry her. The marriage was to occur late in September but a final decree of divorce from Prof. De Forrest's "wife" has not yet been entered.

The arrest of Prof. De Forrest came about as the result of an investigation conducted by City Mother, Gilbert, and by Detectives Felts and Herne. Several days ago reports indicating that Prof. De Forrest was a woman were laid before Chief Siveley. He assigned Mrs. Gilbert and Felts to the case, and later Detective Herne was interested in the investigation.

The facts by the officers before the arrest was made were declared to be elicited as follows: That Prof. De Forrest's maiden name was May Bradley and that she taught dramatic art in San Francisco in 1888 and in Los Angeles in 1898. At that time she appeared as a woman. That she married J. S. Hart, a newspaperman and lived with him as his wife for eighteen years.

That she played masculine roles with the late Madame Janauschek, a celebrated actress of several decades ago. That following the death of her husband, Mrs. Hart dressed as a man and announced that she was about 25 years old—that she intended to wear men's clothes.

That she married Miss Margaret Barton Hawley, a cousin of Bruce Gordon Kingsley in November of 1911 and that a divorce action was brought by Mrs. Margaret Barton Hawley De Forrest a short time later.

Her Remarkable Story With these facts and others the police called upon Prof. De Forrest and asked her to accompany them to the city mother's bureau for interrogation. She readily consented and frankly and without evasion. Here is her remarkable story: The reason why she adopted the attire of a man and of the unusual experiences she had when known as a man.

"Yes, it is true that I am a woman."

DISTRICT WORK FOR RECRUITING IS BEGUN

The recruiting committee representing Victoria, Wellington, Prince and a portion of Dufferin, met last night in the Victoria rink. An executive was chosen and a strong programme was formulated to keep alive recruiting in that district of the city until the end of the war. It was decided to hold a recruiting meeting and another on next Friday evening in the Victoria rink and on Friday night another meeting will be held in a hall, yet to be secured, near Prince ward. The speakers and entertainers at the meetings will be announced later. Two present last night contributed $25 each to be used for the purposes of the meetings.

Those assigned last night to special capacities were as follows: Hugh H. McLellan, chairman; M. E. Agar, speakers committee; Dr. S. H. McDonald, halls committee; George H. Westbury, decorations; R. J. Wilkins, entertainers; Hugh H. McLellan, advertising; Hon. John E. Wilson, finance.
