LOCAL NEWS.

Miss Mildred Whiteway arrived from St. John's by Tuesday morning's train on a visit to Mrs. W. C. Whiteway.

Notice

DR. PRITCHARD is residing at Mrs. Ryan's Hotel, Cross Roads, for the present. All calls may be left there. Phone 19.

It is rumored that one of the big lumber camps at St. John's are turning out doors, window sashes, etc. in large quantities. These are to be on hand ready for shipment to the Humber at a moment's notice.

Mr. Jonas Barter, of St. John's, so well known by many here, met with a serious accident recently. He was standing near a horse on Harvey & Co's wharf, when one of the animals kicked out and struck him with both hoofs. The kick left him unconscious and in this condition he was rushed to the hospital. It will be remembered that Miss Mabel Barter, daughter of Mr. Jonas Barter, taught in the S. A. School here some years ago.

"He that negotiates between God and man As God's ambassador, the grand concerns Of judgment and mercy, should be ware Of Rightness in his speech. 'Tis pitiful to court a grin, when you would woo a soul; To break a jest when pity would inspire pathetic exhortation."

WESTERN UNION SMOKER

The employees of the Western Union Cable Company held their annual smoker on the evening of Wednesday 7th inst. in the Staff House. About 100 of the guests began to assemble all fully prepared to spend an enjoyable evening. Not were they disappointed. From personal observation it can be said without fear of contradiction that there were more enjoyable evenings of smokers etc. accompanied by some delightful musical items, did much to enhance the pleasure of a social evening, enjoyable.

Mr. Macdonald presided on the piano and accompanied the singers in every song, assisted by Mr. S. S. Smith, Mr. J. H. Meers, George and O'Leary, did much towards the successful termination of a most successful and enjoyable programme.

and the committee is to be congratulated on the success which crowned their efforts. The following took part in the programme: Messrs. S. A. Smith, Arthur George, Capt. Wm. Parsons, John Bishop, Beth Mercer, E. Keefer, Dr. Pritchard and several others.

WEDDING BELLS.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Central Meth. Church on Feb. 10th, when Rev. S. Baggs united in the bonds of matrimony Pearl Bowden Bradbury, daughter of Mrs. and the late Joshua Bradbury, of this town, to Mr. Robert Inkpen Hollett, of Great Burn. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. William Bradbury. She looked very beautiful—gowned in white satin, trimmed with sequin and seed pearls, with bridal veil, coronal of orange blossoms and bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruby Bradbury, and Miss Sussie Hollett, sister of the groom. They were dressed alike in fawn crepe de chine with hats to match, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and maiden hair fern. While the groom was supported by Mr. Robert Parsons.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests drove to the home of the bride's mother, where a reception was held and a dainty repast was served.

During the afternoon numerous telegrams were received from friends assuring the newly-married pair of their good wishes.

They were also the recipients of many and costly gifts, which testified to their popularity. Following the toast list the wedding party went for a sleigh-drive, after which they accompanied the young couple to the station, when they took the train for St. John's amidst best wishes for a future of unalloyed happiness, in which the Guardian joins.

Those taking the chief parts in the play, 'A Poor Married Man,' staged in Cable Hall recently, were: Prof. John B. Wise, Mr. Jas. Dawe, Zoie Ford, Miss May Greenland; Mrs. Iona Ford, Miss Carrie Dawe; Rosmond Wilson, Miss Dorcas Barrett; Billy Blake, Mr. Wilfred Greenland; Juniper Jackson, Mr. John Barrett; June Graham, Miss Eleanor Greenland; Dr. Graham, Mr. H. Batten. The public hopes soon to see these talented players before them again.

If you are a borrower of this Paper, don't you think it is an injustice to the man who is paying for it? He may be looking for it at this very moment.

For Merin's Sake

It was a bright, moonlight night; so bright that the branches of the big fir tree outside cast a solemnly waving shadow on the wall which reminded him of the plumes at a first-class Stratton Ground funeral.

He heard nine o'clock, then ten o'clock, strike. He heard the passage of the servants to prayers. He heard Miss Eunice's clear voice reading the miracle of the loaves and fishes. He heard the bolting and the chaining up of the hall-door which always reminded him of the stories he had heard about castle gates.

He was far too frightened to cry, or even to hide his head under the bedclothes, so he lay, hardly breathing, with the perspiration breaking out on his hands and forehead, and his heart thumping fast and hard.

The window was quietly thrown up and the man entered the room. Then Merin was aware of a blinding light flashed in his face; and a voice he knew too well said to the owner of a head and shoulders which now appeared at the window:

"There's a kid here, and he's a-wake!"

"Knock his blooming little head in," was the amiable reply. Merin heard it; desperation loosened his tongue and he said:

"Father! Don't hurt me! If you want me, I'll go with you. But don't let Miss Coverdale hear us!"

Broome dropped the lantern on the bed and it went out. "My God," he exclaimed. "Why—Merin! My boy Merin! And what did you say about Miss Coverdale?"

"This is her house, father," replied Merin. "And she is so kind to me, and she brought me here."

"What's all this?" he said hurriedly. "Now then, Broome, quick's the word. We've no time to lose. And look here, you young—"

"Bootoms," said Merin's father, "I'm not going a step further. This is my boy, whom I thought I had killed, and this the house of a lady whom I—once knew very well. No not a step further! Back, I say!"

"What!" hissed his companion. "Because you've found your blessed kid here, you're going to chuck me over like this! Not you! And if you don't move, I will!"

He made a step towards the door, but Broome barred his passage. "Look here, Bootoms," said Broome. "I mean what I say. If it was only because she's taken care of my kid I'd prevent any harm being done her if I could."

Merin sat up. Hitherto he was under the impression that the sole object of this nocturnal visit was to take him away, but his father's last words opened his eyes to the fact that his good benefactor and not he was the object of the visit.

Bootoms advanced towards Broome, and with a hideous oath grappled with him.

Merin at this moment uttered piercing cries for help. Bootoms hurled Broome to the ground, and the terrified boy saw him strike the fallen man a couple of heavy blows with something which flashed in the moonlight, run to the window, climb through it and disappear.

In a few minutes the house was in an uproar. Miss Eunice came in with a candle in one hand and a poker in the other at the head of the shuddering, whispering servants— ahead even of the tall footman. (To be continued.)

A WISE FATHER.

"Where is Jack?" asked Mr. Rogers, as he came in at six o'clock. "He was late to dinner last night," and he's going to be late again to-night."

"I saw him with that Smith girl," answered his daughter. "She is a new girl in town—very pretty, but terribly bold. I am sure she is not nice. I do wish Jack wouldn't go with her."

Presently the door opened and Jack came in. "Jack," said his father, "I want to show you something."

Relief and interest showed instantly in the boy's face. The dreaded question was not to be asked, after all.

Mr. Rogers led the way to his workroom in the attic. There were his carpenter's bench and his tools and his lathe; and in the corner was the dynamo that worked the lathe. Jack had seen them all many times. "What is it, father?" he asked.

Mr. Rogers laid his hand on the dynamo. "Jack, by means of this a mysterious power becomes mine. We call it electricity, but no one knows what it is. We only know that if we treat it the right way, it will enable us to do wonderful things. It will work our mills, and light our houses and our streets, and run our cars. It will enable man to do more than any other power that has been discovered. But at the same time, if you treat it the wrong way, it will strike you dead."

"Yes, father, I know that," said Jack.

His father turned toward him with an earnestness which Jack had never before seen in his face. "There is an other power, very like it in results. That is the mysterious feeling that men have for women, and women have for men. Treat that right, and it will bless your life and ennoble it and make you ten times—yes, a hundred times—the man you could ever be without it. Nothing on earth will do so much for you if you treat it right. But treat that feeling wrong, and it will curse you, and blast your life, and fill your soul!"

For a moment they looked each other square in the eyes. Then together they went downstairs in silence.

In the hall below Jack put his hand on his father's arm. "I know what you mean, father, and I know it's true!" he whispered.

SOMEBODY ELSE.

Somebody else didn't do the right thing. And so he was crabbed and cross; Some choir member saw fit not to sing.

And so his own voice was a loss. Somebody else let his light become dark.

Stepped aside to the pathway of sin, And so he permitted his own little spark.

To leave at last and grow dim. Somebody thought him on life's row.

Somebody bargued to bear; spat and took time to When he was o'burdened with care;

Somebody others assisted and loved, Others less needy than he; Somebody false to true friendship had proved, So he as his friend ceased to be.

Somebody gained more of earth's transient store, But gave less than surely was due; Somebody said what should not have been said,

In fact, what was said was not true. So his burdens he dropped, upon others let fall, He folded his hands and sat down; So he not surprised, when the Master shall call, That somebody else wears his crown.

THE LAUGH LINE.

There are few places that have given birth to more humor than the court-room. Many have heard of the humor of the famous Lord Ellenborough.

One day a young member of the bar rose to address the court in a grave criminal case. "My unfortunate client," he began, repeated it two or three times, and then stopped short.

"Go on, sir, go on!" said Ellenborough. "So far the court is with you."

At another time Randle Jackson who despised technicality and revelled in eloquence, began his argument with "In the book of nature it is written."

Ellenborough broke in with, "Be good enough to mention the page from which you are about to quote."

One day during an important criminal trial a surgeon was called to the stand, and when asked his profession said, "I employ myself as a physician."

"But," said Ellenborough, "does any one else employ you as a physician?"

When Westmoreland was in the House of Lords he rose to give his opinion on a question in debate and said, "At this point I ask myself a question."

"And a stupid answer you are sure to get to it," murmured Ellenborough.—Sunday Magazine

WHALE CUTS OFF CABLE CONNECTION.

Sometime ago the cable connection was suddenly cut off between Skagway and Juneau in the Fairbanks district of Alaska, and for a while the trouble could not be traced. At last the cable ship Burnside found what was wrong. In some inexplicable way a large whale had become entangled with the cable, and the divers from the cable ship found it with a half hitch of the cable around its head and lower jaws. They removed the dead whale and re-established the connection by mending the break in the cable.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

Moscow, Feb. 5.—Relations threatened between Russia and Turkey are threatened if the Angora Government executes the Communists recently arrested there, the semi-official paper, Pravda, hints.

Vienna, Feb. 5.—Serious fighting between Socialist workmen and Pan-German Irregulars marked the arrival of General Ludendorff at Klagenfurt, Carinthia, yesterday, when he attempted to address a National peasant congress. Workmen attempted to drag him from his car, and called him "Germany's grave digger, bloodhound and murderer." He was not allowed to deliver his address.

Canton, Feb. 5.—Forty thousand troops under General Hsu Tsung Chi are marching on Canton to reclaim the southern capital for Sun Yet Sen, and a sanguinary battle is imminent. Foreign warships are anchored in the harbor of the river for the purpose of protecting the interests of nationals, and conditions in the city are chaotic with all business houses closed and barricaded.

London, Feb. 6.—Hortatio Bottomley, formerly member of Commons for South Hackney, and now serving seven years for fraud, appeared in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday for settlement of his affairs. Worn, thin and pale from confinement and thinner than at the time of his trial, he was weak and limp, with one arm in a sling. He has been eight months in the prison hospital suffering from neuritis and insomnia.

London, Feb. 7.—Princess Mary, wife of Viscount Lascelles, gave birth to a son tonight, the first grand child of the British Royal House. The Princess and infant are reported in excellent condition.

London, Feb. 7.—The marriage of the Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyon has been set for April 26th at Westminster Abbey.

New York, Feb. 7.—Traffic into New York city is practically paralysed to-night as the result of a heavy snowstorm which began this evening and was continuing unabated at a late hour. The weather bureau predicted 7 to 9 inches.

THE LAUGH LINE.

A very good golf story is told by a well known judge against himself. The judge is an ardent golfer, and he recently had a case before him in which he felt it necessary to ask one of the witnesses, a boy, the usual question whether he was acquainted with the nature of an oath. The ingenious youth calmly replied: "Of course I am. Am I no' your caddie?"

A west end dealer in stuffed animals, who also keeps a few live creatures for sale, gave his shop boy permission to sell the stuffed specimens, but told him to call his master when a customer asked for any of the living animals.

One day a gentleman called and demanded a monkey. "Any of these?" asked the boy who was in charge.

"He pointed to the stuffed specimens." "No. I want a live monkey," answered the customer.

The boy stepped to the door of the back shop, and called to his master. "You're wanted, sir!"

Notice to Fishermen.

On the 13th June, 1922, the Government reduced the Export Tax on Fish, viz: Cod, Haddock, Hake, Ling, Pollack and Malibat, dried or otherwise preserved.

On the 17th November, 1922, the Government removed the export tax altogether from the above named fish, and the amount paid as export tax was to be paid the Exporters and they to repay the fishermen.

This was found impossible because the Exporters could not be sure of whose fish was exported and whose was not, so on the 22nd January, 1923, the Government decided to pay 10 cents per quintal to all fishermen who actually caught any of the above named fish, provided he produced a receipt or certificate where it could be proven that the fish was sold between the 13th day of June, 1922, and the 17th day of November, 1922, both days inclusive, and thereby was entitled to the 10 cents per quintal that the Government had decided to give.

The following Committee— H. V. HUTCHINGS, ESQ., Asst. Deputy Minister of Customs, W. H. CAVE, Minister of Shipping, HON. W. W. HALFYARD, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, HON. ELI DAWE, A. W. PICCOTT, ESQ., ROBERT PIKE, ESQ.,

under the direction of H. W. LeMessurier, Esq., Deputy Minister of Customs, has been appointed to go into the payment of this refund. As this work represents the payment of 10 cents per quintal on somewhere near one million quintals of fish to about twenty or twenty-five thousand fishermen, it must be understood that the payment of such a sum to such a number will take time. Therefore, for the guidance of the fishermen, and to facilitate the work and quick payment, the following is requested of those who are entitled to receive payment:

1st—Have you sold any fish either for cash, barter or credit of your account to anyone between the 13th day of June, 1922, and the 17th day of November, 1922, both days inclusive.

2nd—If you have the original receipt from the person to whom you sold fish, with the purchaser's address, forward it to the Secretary.

3rd—If you have no receipt, get a sworn statement from the person to whom you sold the fish, stating the date of sale and quantity sold, with the name and the address of the purchaser.

4th—A Shareman applying for repayment must get an account of the total catch as landed and sold and in each case a record of the vessel, and the name and address of each man composing the crew, so that he may get the payment direct for himself.

Owing to the large number of fishermen involved, the first payment will not be made until March 10th, and it will be for receipts received up to February 25th.

Second payment will be made April 10th and will be for receipts received up to March 25th.

Third payment will be made May 10th, and will be for receipts received up to April 25th.

Fourth payment will be made June 10th, and will be for receipts received up to May 25th.

Fifth payment will be made July 10th, and will be for receipts received up to June 25th.

Sixth payment will be made August 10th, and will be for receipts received up to July 25th.

Last payment will be made September 10th, after which date the accounts will be closed and no further applicants will be considered.

Positively no payments will be made other than on dates named, and it is useless for anyone to bring receipts to the office and expect payment.

Save time and expense by NOT coming, but address all communications to

H. V. HUTCHINGS, Asst. Deputy Minister of Customs, St. John's. H. W. LeMessurier, Deputy Minister of Customs.

The Sale of Work and Tea, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the C. L. B., held in Cable Hall on the nights of Feb. 12th and 13th, was very successful. The booths and tables were prettily decorated and arranged, and were well patronized. The Band of the brigade was in attendance and furnished an excellent treat to lovers of instrumental music. The proceeds were very large, and was very encouraging to the ladies.

There passed away on Sunday, Feb. 11th, after a lingering illness, Ellen, relict of the late Stephen Delaney. The esteem in which she was held was manifest by the large number which followed her remains to its last resting place. She leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, Veronica, two sons, Philip and Arthur, to whom the sympathy of the community is tendered in their great loss.

During the recent heavy frost Bay Roberts harbor has become frozen over, the ice-sheet, extending out to the points. Skating has been excellent, and throngs have taken advantage of the good weather to enjoy the healthy recreation. Hockey matches have been played, and it is hoped the ice will continue in good condition for a long while, so that all may have a chance of enjoying this particular form of pleasure.

Huxley says, "Life is like a game of chess in which the chessboard is the world, the pieces are the phenomena of the universe and the rules of the game are what we call the law of Nature. The player on the other side is hidden from us. But the hidden player is always fair, just and patient. We know, however, to our cost that he never overlooks a mistake or makes the smallest allowance for ignorance. To the man who plays well, the hidden stakes are paid with that sort of overflowing generosity with which the strong shows delight in strength. And one who plays ill is checkmated without haste, but without remorse."

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

Marseilles, Feb. 14.—Smyrna Harbor is strewn thickly with mines that extend out to sea for a considerable distance, says the captain of the Pierre Loti which arrived here this morning.

Halifax, Feb. 15.—Bernar Dollamont, fireman on the Dominion Coal Steamer Watuka, a native of Newfoundland, fell between the pier and steamer when boarding the ship at one twenty this morning at South Terminal. His cries for help told the shipmates of his plight but the body has not yet been located.

Toronto, Feb. 13.—Yesterday's death toll in Toronto from influenza and pneumonia, the heaviest to date in the present epidemic, is fourteen from flu and eighteen from pneumonia.

London, Feb. 14.—It is understood in official circles that the Allied note on the withdrawal of warships from Smyrna declares the Turkish demand is unacceptable. The armistice conditions signed when Turkey capitulated at the close of the great war are held by the Allies to be still in force, and they are entitled to maintain warships at Smyrna.

Berlin, Feb. 14.—A strong French force, including cavalry and artillery, occupied Gelsenkirchen today, according to a semi-official agency despatch, disarmed the German police officials and removed them. Late in the afternoon the whole force withdrew, taking with it the Mayor, President of the local bank of the Reich bank and other officials.

London, Feb. 13.—The French have arrested six policemen of Gelsenkirchen charged with assault upon French officers, and the despatches say the court martial is likely to result in death sentences.

Sydney, Feb. 13.—An immediate and complete tie-up of the whole steel and coal industries of Nova Scotia is feared here to-night as the result of a walk-out today of more than four hundred steel workers employed at the local British Empire Steel Corporation plant. At first about thirty quit work, but the strike has spread with amazing rapidity since noon, and it is feared hundreds more will join the walk-out to-morrow. The most serious possibilities of all lie in the recently concluded alliance between the steel workers and miners. J. B. McLachlan, Sec. Treasurer, Alex McIhtyre, Vice President, and other United Mine Workers leaders are already in conference with officers of the Steel Workers.

Evidences of growing unrest among industrial workers has been pronounced for several weeks past. Not the least notable feature of the strike is its spontaneous character. No strike order was issued; the men simply walked out. The spark that fired the train was the discharge of a spare supervisor in the nail mill. The Company claimed the man defied official authority, and the discharge was made to enforce shop discipline. The Steel Workers claim the man was fired primarily because he was an active Union man. There the matter stands for the present, with the Company mainly concerned with looking after the blast furnaces and other property, while the strikers and sympathizers are working hard to extend the walkout to all other parts of the plant.

Sydney, Feb. 13.—This strike has been precipitated by an incident which is only one instance of the persistent persecution of union workers in the employ of the British Empire Steel Corporation. Foreman Wayne, M.P.P., official spokesman for the striking steel workers, declared in a statement to the Canadian Press tonight: "This fight is to establish the right of any man not only to join a Union and take active part in its work, but also the right to pursue those activities without being persecuted, singled out for discrimination or placed in fear of his job. This persecution must stop. I am now in Conference with the United Mine Workers, and unless we get justice I expect to see the whole of district 26 out in support of us." Questioned as to the strength of the Union, Mr. Wayne said, "actually about 75 per cent are enrolled; morally 100 per cent are with us."

SPURGEON'S BELIEF.

When a man gets to cutting down sin, piling down depravity, and making little of future punishment, let him no longer preach to you. Some modern divines whittle away the gospel to the small end of nothing.

They make our Divine Lord to be a sort of blessed nobody; they bring down salvation to mere salvability, make certainties into probabilities, and treat verities as mere opinions. When you see a preacher making the gospel small by degrees and miserably less, till there is not enough of it left to make soup for a sick grasshopper, get you gone. As for me, I believe in the colossal; a need as deep as hell and grace as high as heaven. I believe in a pit that is bottomless and a heaven that is topless. I believe in an infinite God and an infinite atonement; infinite love and mercy; an everlasting covenant ordered in all things and sure, of which the substance and reality is an infinite Christ.—Spurgeon.

Dolly Nowitt: "D'ye know, Miss Smart, though I've only just met you, there seems to be a sort of intellectual sympathy between us? You know just how to appeal to my tastes you see. Are you a literary woman?"

Uncle Eph had longed boasted that he had never needed the services of a doctor, but now he was ill, and his neighbor felt that the time had come when a physician should be called.
"Come, now, Uncle Eph," said she, "we will call whomever you wish—you know there's a good allopath and a good homopath, and there's a new doctor, an osteopath. Now, who'll you have?"
"Wal," drawled Uncle Eph, "I dunno ez it matters—they do say that all paths lead to the grave!"

Dressed in the latest and most approved motor-cycling costume, with goggles all complete, the motorcyclist gaily toot-tooted his way by Regent's Park towards the Zoo.

Suddenly he slackened, dismounted, and said to a small grubby urchin: "I say, my boy, am I right for the Zoo?"

The boy gazed at so strange a sight, and thought it must be some new animal for the Gardens.

You may be all right if they have a spare cage," he said when he could find his tongue; "but you'd had stood a far better chance if you'd 'ad a tail!"

The secretary of the ladies' golf tournament was hunting up the competitors, some of whom were woefully behind time with their heats.

"Go round and tell Miss Fremington that if she doesn't attend and play off her game I shall scratch her," he said to his maid-servant.

The girl was horrified.
"I never would have believed master could be such a brute!" she murmured, as she went her way. "I ain't going to take a message like that—not me!"

She cogitated a moment at Miss Fremington's door, and by the time that lady had arrived she had seen her way to modify her master's message.

"Please, miss," she said, "master says if you don't play off your game he'll come around and pinch you!"

The beautiful brunette's sweet smiles changed to dark frowns.
"You deceiver!" she hissed. "I hate you!"

The young man dropped his cane in astonishment.
"Hate me!" he gasped. "Why, it was only yesterday you said you loved every hair on my head."

"Yes, but not every hair on your shoulder," she retorted, as she held aloft a long golden one.

A parish minister met some time ago a prominent member of his congregation—a publican by trade—who, while engaged in the cellar of his shop a day or two previously, had accidentally become immersed in a barrel of liquor, wherefrom, owing to his extreme composure, he was rescued with difficulty, and commenced to condescend with him on his unfortunate experience.

"You must have felt very uncomfortable indeed in such a painful situation," observed the cleric.
"Och, no," was the cheery reply, "I wis in the very best of spirits."

The annual meeting of St. Matthew's Church was held in the Academy on Thursday night. A large number attended. Reports showed the Parish had a very successful year. Rev. E. M. Bishop, the Rector, presided. Mr. Robert J. Mercer was re-elected People's Warden, and Mr. John W. Dawe was re-elected Rector's Warden.

The Hockey match between Brigus and a picked team from the Guards and Fieldians at the Princes Rink, St. John's, on Feb. 15th, proved to be a very interesting one. In the first period the Brigus boys put up a strong front and for a time it looked as though they had matters their own way. But in the second period St. John's pulled up and at the finish of the game the score was City-6, Brigus-3. The game was clean and with practice the losers would be a hard team to defeat.

OBITUARY

There passed peacefully away on Saturday, Feb. 10th, after a short illness, Florence Marion, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. French, of Country Road. The deceased had been in apparent good health until about a week before her death, when she contracted a heavy cold which hastened her end.

Florrie, as she was generally known, was very bright. She often assisted in playing the organ in Coley's Point Meth. Church and Sunday School. Of a cheerful nature, she brought gladness wherever she went. Thus, the news of her passing came as a shock to her many friends.

The Curtis Mission Band, of which she was a member, attended her funeral in a body. She was laid to rest in the Methodist Cemetery, Coley's Point, Rev. S. Baggs officiating. She leaves to mourn beside a large circle of friends, her father, mother one brother, Max, in the United States, and one sister, Stella, at home. Her father is also away from home in the U. S.

A very pleasant evening was spent on Wednesday, Feb. 14th, at the home of Mrs. George Cave, when she gave a Scout Tea. The ladies attended splendidly and enjoyed the social hour and good things prepared by Mrs. Cave. The proceeds of the evening showed that Scout enthusiasm is still as keen as ever.

Bay Roberts, Friday, Feb. 16, 1923.

A GENERAL ELECTION.

It looks now as if the rumors concerning the holding of a general election this Spring, presumably in May, are correct. Everything at present points to this, and we would not be at all surprised to find some definite announcement made soon.

It is also said the Legislature will not be summoned again for the despatch of business. When adjournment was taken in August last it was with the understanding that the House would meet again in October, but this did not happen.

There are several matters of the utmost importance to Newfoundland to be considered, namely, The Railway, the Humber Deal, Reduction of Taxation, etc.

The public of Newfoundland have not been able to obtain any information regarding any of these matters except in a general way, but we presume if an election takes place details, correct or otherwise, will be given, and John Citizen will be given a chance to make his choice.

The present standing of the parties composing the present Legislature are as follows:—

- Liberal-Reform Party, led by Sir R. A. Squires and Hon. W. F. Coaker ... 22
Liberal-Progressive Party, led by Sir Michael Cashin ... 12
Independent ... 1
Vacant seat, late Capt. John Lewis I ... 36

Vagious rumors concerning the Leadership of an Opposition to the present Government are in circulation. It being generally understood that Sir M. P. Cashin will not again lead a Party, the gentlemen named as Leaders are three in number, viz: Sir Robert Bond, Mr. John R. Bennett, at present representing St. John's West, and Mr. A. B. Morine.

It is thought that Sir R. A. Squires and Hon. W. F. Coaker will be the twin leaders of the Government forces. No doubt the electorate will see a great many changes in the personnel of the parties. Some of the present members it is said are to be retired and placed in permanent Government positions, while others will be consigned to the political scrap heap.

Whatever happens, it is absolutely certain that never before in her history has Newfoundland required a more qualified, honorable and conscientious body of parliamentarians to deal with her affairs and save her from political destruction.

The vast majority of our people want to remain in their Island Home, and others who were forced to emigrate to other countries would wish to return if conditions were such that they could reasonably hope to secure employment to obtain a living for themselves and families.

THE FISHERY

There is no doubt about the fishermen's position at the present juncture in Newfoundland. He is engaged at the mainstay and the foundation industry of this country, and much as other industries are important contributing factors to the general good of our Island Home, we cannot hope that they will ever take the place of our fishing industry.

There is a chance, though, that if some serious, practical and united effort is not made soon to place the fishing industry where it rightly belongs, Newfoundland is bound to get a rude awakening.

The bulk of Newfoundlanders are to the fishery. Their fathers and grandfathers, and great-grandfathers before them sniffed the salt and invigorating air from the ocean, and venturing out on the billows of the mighty deep in craft and skill,

Notice to Fishermen.

On the 13th June, 1922, the Government reduced the Export Tax on Fish, viz: Cod, Haddock, Hake, Ling, Pollack and Halibut, dried or otherwise preserved.

On the 17th November, 1922, the Government removed the export tax altogether from the above named fish, and the amount paid as export tax was to be paid the Exporters and they to repay the fishermen.

This was found impossible because the Exporters could not be sure of whose fish was exported and whose was not, so on the 22nd January, 1923, the Government decided to pay 10 cents per quintal to all fishermen who actually caught any of the above named fish, provided he produced a receipt or certificate where it could be proven that the fish was sold between the 13th day of June, 1922, and the 17th day of November, 1922, both days inclusive, and thereby was entitled to the 10 cents per quintal that the Government have decided to give.

The following Committee:— H. V. HUTCHINGS, ESQ., Asst. Deputy Minister of Customs, W. H. CAVE, Minister of Shipping, HON. W. W. HALFYARD, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, HON. ELI DAWE, A. W. PICCOTT, ESQ., ROBERT PIKE, ESQ., under the direction of H. W. LeMessurier, Esq., Deputy Minister of Customs, has been appointed to go into the payment of this refund. As this work represents the payment of 10 cents per quintal on somewhere near one million quintals of fish to about twenty or twenty-five thousand fishermen, it must be understood that the payment of such a sum to such a number will take time. Therefore, for the guidance of the fishermen, and to facilitate the work and quick payment, the following is requested of those who are entitled to receive payment:

- 1st—Have you sold any fish either for cash, barter or credit of your account to anyone between the 13th day of June, 1922, and the 17th day of November, 1922, both days inclusive.
- 2nd—If you have the original receipt from the person to whom you sold fish, with the purchaser's address, forward it to the Secretary.
- 3rd—If you have no receipt, get a sworn statement from the person to whom you sold the fish, stating the date of sale and quantity sold, with the name and address of the purchaser.
- 4th—A Shareman applying for repayment must get an account of the total catch as landed and sold, and in each case a record of the vessel, and the name and address of each man composing the crew, so that he may get the payment direct for himself.

Owing to the large number of fishermen involved, the first payment will not be made until March 10th, and it will be for receipts received up to February 25th. Second payment will be made April 10th and will be for receipts received up to March 25th. Third payment will be made May 10th, and will be for receipts received up to April 25th. Fourth payment will be made June 10th, and will be for receipts received up to May 25th. Fifth payment will be made July 10th, and will be for receipts received up to June 25th. Sixth payment will be made August 10th, and will be for receipts received up to July 25th. Last payment will be made September 10th, after which date the accounts will be closed and no further applicants will be considered. Positively no payments will be made other than, on dates named, and it is useless for anyone to bring receipts to the office and expect payment.

1st—Have you sold any fish either for cash, barter or credit of your
