ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 15, 1872. An Examination of the Battle Field.

deserves great credit for the able manner in which he has handled the Opposition this Session. He appears to have displayed even more than his usual fertility of resources, and done it in a manner so unostentations, and so adroitly, that although he has not achieved success he has approached so Opposition; no outburst of angry declam ation, such as disfigured his public appearances of last Session. No instances of bad generalship, with one exception, are to be record of his Opposition colleagues of last Session was regarded with popular disfavor, he succeeded in drawing from the Roman body has touched upon yet, unless accidentally. My learned friend from Hants touched it lightly, but he did not tell us him a confession that they "accepted the anything zery particular about it. I found in almost every house in the County of Sectarian Schools, although Mr. Gough himself is not, thus far, publicly pledged to such a line of policy. His part step was situation" and would cease to agitate for to such a line of policy. His next step was were issued and spread over this Province.

And, really, the truth is that, good looking to secure the return of Mr. McPherson from England in time to vote with the Opposition, while the River du Long Company supposed him safely shelved for the Session. He next secured the services of at least four members who were opposed to Sestarian Schools, mainly by appeals to Sectarian Schools, mainly by appeals to It was endo through ecclesiastical influences two French, not expect it will ever grow less, but Sectarian School members should desert mistaken. Where is that pamphlet now the Government and go over to the Opposition; but with consummate ability he did when the produce of the farm brough choose to announce the fact until after the higher prices than it has this year.

Mr. Kirk—Asks whether that remark is Sectarian School men had fully and hope-lessly committed themselves to his side of the Mr. Kirk—Asks whether that remark is true of the pork. Mr. Blanchard —1 thought that by e and House. When the means adopted to force these men to vote contrary to their own wishes were made known, those members of the of intellect or statesmanship, but it is vote with the Opposition was too patent to the public. It was no secret that priestly pressure was employed unsparingly. Mr. Girouard, for instance, had been denounced by the priests in his constituency, and by School Bill, although he had voted against Mr. Blanchard cheerfully observes :the non-sectarian clause; but he continued Government. To this view of the matter it is all over them, and crops out in every thing they do. Yet they have no leader. Their leader is the man with the tail and Fredericton, and up to a few days ago :in fact, he has not changed his opinion on the subject even yet. But he has explained that he has been followed by threats and remonstrances and urgings from clerical quarters, even to the House of Assembly, and that in self defence he is obliged to vote against his own convictions! The particulars of his case were revealed at an inopportune time for the Opposition. They came when the Roman Catholic members were declaring they had "accented the situation."

The hon. Commr. of Mines says I am a fiddlestick. Do I look much like a fiddlestick, Mr. Speaker? I think I resemble more a bass viol. But if I am a fiddlestick, there are other people that are the fiddle strings, and I will draw the bow across them till I make them screech. The hon. gentleman spoke of ram's horns. I would have more regard for the hon. member for Colchester than to talk about ram's horns. The old ram's horns have ceased to blow even in the person of the hon. member. they had "accepted the situation :" when beyond all other "abominations." gives the lie to the assertion, believed for a time, that the School question has nothing to do with present controversies in the Legislature. The result may be a triumph THE TRIBUNE Counting Room is the southern half of the Office of Mr. George Philps, Broker, Prince William street. It is centrally situated, being near the City Hall, the Banks, News Room, Express Office, Chubb's Corner and the Ferry landing. Humors of Nova Scotia Politicians.

As the Nova Scotia House of Assembly publishes official reports of its Debates, we near to it that the wonder is he did not ac are enabled to procure copies almost of the tually win it. There was no thrusting of exact words used by members in their brilhimself forward as the actual Leader of the liant political disquisitions. And these studied harangues have afforded us infinite amusement. They are far from being either dull or common place reading,they are at once lively and piquant. For instance, what can be happier than the foldetected in any of his dispositions for bat- lowing from the lips of the Leader of the tle. The one exception, noted above, to the perfection of Mr. Gough's tactics was the fact that the manner in which Messrs.

Therriault and Girouard were brought to Mr. Gough's tactics was the fact that the guston that it is perfect dish water. It was once a noble liquor fit for a prince to drink, the sound of it went to the ends of the earth, and many a time I have been almost drunk with excitement in this house when I have been drinking of it. But when this trashy dish water came in its place the only result was nausea. There is none of the generous flavor of the good old liquor and the guston with which I once partook of it is gone.

The Halifax "Citizen." Tri-Weekly, $2 50 in advance. Weekly, 1.00 ESTABLISHED IN 1863.

THE combined circulation of the Tri-Weekly and Weekly CITIZEN is now over 5000, considerably larger than that of any other paper published in the Province, and thus the best medium for advertising. This statement we are prepared to prove by our books, and challenge contradiction. Terms of advertising as follows: Commercial Cards, not exceeding 12 lines, one year.

Diberal arrangements made with those desiring more space, or inserting advertisements for a long period. The above rates are for the Tri-Weekly only. If the Weekly be desired in addition one-half must be added to those prices. If Weekly only, price the same as Tri-Weekly. To Merchants and others desiring to obtain reliable reports of the Halifax markets, we can confidently recommend the CITIZEN, it being in fact the only paper issued in Halifax which publishes a regular Commercial Review. Several other journals have attemped it, but have allowed it to drop. In its shipping reports the CITIZEN has always been acknowledged to be in advance of any journal published in the Maritime Provinces, and this has given it a circulation specially large among the persons advertisers most desire to reach, Merchants, Shipowners and men of means generally. It contains mora reading matter than any other Halifax. Tri-Weekly or Weekly, and is the largest paper published in the Province. THE WISDOM OF THE KING

NOTICES OF

Rev. James Bennet, ST. JOHN, N. B.

EVIDENCES of deep and serious thought throughout the volume."-Belfast News Letter, Jan. 24, 1871. "Succeeds well in seizing on the salient points of the words of the Royal Preacher, and in bringing them home to present duty."—Glasgow Daily Review, Feb. 6, 1871. "Characterized by directness of aim, sound sense, and right appreciation of the secred writer's menning."—The Preachers' Lanters, (London), Feb. 1871. "His Book may be recommended as worthy o take a place in the Homiletical Literature of Reclesiastes,"—British Quarterly Review, April

"The production of a highly cultivated mind.
... We have read several works on Ecclesiastes, and well remember the pleasure with which years ago we perused the 'Royal Preacher,' but for fine criticism, comprehensiveness of thought, striking illustration and unostentations, yet eloquent and forcible style, The Wispom of The King, we think, surpasses them all."
—St. Croix Courier, March 6, 1871. "The volume is not an unworthy companion of Dr. Buchanan on the same book."—The Homilist (London), April 1971. milist (London), April 1971.

"A series of charming Essays. . . Each chapter branehes out into innumerable topics of a sesondary and collateral nature, giving to the work a boundless diversity, enriched with stores of ethical as well as of spiritual wisdom, evincing at once acute observation of social life and of human character, and containing the nollest lessons for practical guidance. Our author's style is remarkable for its free, unconstrained flow, almost collequial at times, but invariably signalized by elegance, force, adaptation to the subject, and not seldom by originality of thought in combination with terseness and beautysof expression. . There is about it a freshness, as well as a fullness of practical teaching, rarely to be met with in directional results of the subject, and not seldom by originality of thought in combination with terseness and beautysof expression. . There is about it a freshness, as well as a fullness of practical teaching, rarely to be met with in directional results. This is a bright, breezy book, both interest-"This is a bright, breezy book, both interesting and instructive, We can most conscientiously commend this book generally, as one of the most sprightly, attractive and instructive works of its kind that has fallen under our observation."—Boston Evening Iravetler, May "Every portion of the work indicates extensive scholarship and mature thought."— Belfast Northern Whig. April 8th, 1871. "The force, raciness and robust manliness of Mr. Bennett's style and mode of treatment will arrest attention and excite interest in quarters where preaching or writing of the average quality would fall flat and dead."—Home and Foreign Record. March, 1871. unlity would fall flat and dead."—Home and Foreign Record. March, 1871.

"So plain yet so suggetive, so practical yet so profound are these Lectures that while ou read them you feel their deep truth and reality; it hat you are in contact with realities both visible and invisible; that you are in close contact with the beating heart of nature and humanity, and that all their life and hope flow flul and free from God alone."—Fredericton Head Quarters, March 1st, 1871.

"The writer is evidently well acquainted with the literature of his subject, and that acquaint nace reveals itself almost unconsciously in every page. There is no ostentation of reading or learning, but there is everywhere the gleaming forth of light which cannot be hid.
The style is simple, intelligible, graceful. It shows at once that Mr. Bennet is a man of literary culture, who can express his thoughts with scholarly chasteness and good taste. We could not open a page without meeting some thought vigorously expressed. The work is eminently fresh and readable."—Pres. Witness, Haifax.

"He reveals in the treatment of his themes

Halifax.

"He reveals in the treatment of his themes strong common sense, a firm grasp of thought, a logical acumen and a clear insight into human character. Even when dealing with trite idea he imparts to them a novelty and interest by which they are lifted into an importance they searcely deserve. The style throughout is lucid, pure, compact, forcible,—and it is his own—the garb of his own thinking. We have met in our perusal of the book with numerous paragraphs of finished and brilliant rhetorio-fine specimens of pulpit oratory. He is never tame nor tiresome. We have not found one slip shod sentence in the volume."—Christian Visitor, (Baptist) March 6th, 1871.

"We were not repeared to find him writing." (Baptist) March 6th, 1871.

"We were not prepared to find him writing in such a finished style and issuing such a volume as the result of certain preparations made for an evening lecture to his congregation. If all his pulpit performances are equal to these, his people have reason to rejoice in the Providence which guided his steps to them."

Evangelical Witness, May let. 1871.

"This is a remarkably thoughtful, colid book? Mr. Beanet is evidently at home in Metaphysics and Ethics, and he is a shrewd observer of human nature in its ordinary manifestations; consequently he ranges over the lessons of the Preacher with a power of illustration which shows his mastery of the subject. The style is close and direct, and yet so lucid, that any reader may understand every sentence in the volume.

It will, we doubt not, take its place, as it ought to do, among our household expositions of this treatise of observation and Jewish wisdom."—The Presbyterian (Philadelphia), May 20, 1871.

"The lessons to be learned are drawn with a phia), May 20, 1871.

"The lessons to be learned are drawn with a master's band, and are expressed with a combined force and beauty that we have rarely seen surpassed in the production of any author. The ordinary reader will find nothing that is above his comprehension, and yet it would be difficult to find a common place thought or form of expression. A combination of these requisites we deem the highest merit a writer can possess. "We will be much disappointed if the book do not command a wide circulation. Wherever a sound literature is felt to be a deside atum, The Wisdom of the work that the world will not willingly let die."—Saint John Telegraph and Journal.

"The Wisdom of the King is well worth." Journal.

"THE WISDOM OF THE KING is well worth careful reading. Indeed you cannot read much of it at once. There is a constant play of fancy about the thoughts, and often the very words, that is admirably suited to the Scripture book, of which this is an exposition, but which demands such constant attention on the reader's part that he gets tired, for he does not know where it is to end. The style is compact, lucid, often sparkling and epigrammatic, the sentences cut sharply, but with a poetic fullness of original all llustration that redeems them from all hardness."—Halifax Monthly Record, (Church of Scotland).

"Each chapter is so well done, so lucid, yet concise in its exposition, that it is sometimes a flicult to determine which is the best and most interesting,—Stewart's Quarterly, St. John. A few copies of the above work may be had at Messrs. McMillan's, Chubb's, Barnes's. and Colonial Bookstore.
