ARE YOU

UNDER-INSURED?

When you took out your insurance you did so to protect your dependents. It has been estimated that the present day value of a dollar, as compared with a very few short years ago, is only about Sixty Cents.

Therefore in the basis of your insurance requirements a few years ago, you are now underinsured about 40%.

Your requirements for Life Protection have probably increased. See our local Agent, he will explain how in a reasonable way you can make up the missing 40%.

A Century of Oddfellowship

The members of Stella No. 125, in common with thousands of other lodges over the continent, observed the one hundredth anniversary of the Order by attending service last Sunday morning in Zion church. There was a good turnout, over 125, Alpha lodge sending over at least a dozen members from Almonte to fraternize upon the auspicious occasion. Many were ill and could not get out, whilst the bad roads prevented others from getting in from the townships. The service was especially prepared for the occasion, the preacher, Rev. Mr. Dobson, being himself a member of the Order. The music was appropriate and the scripture selections had a special bearing upon the works of benevolence and charity, as taught in the precepts of "Friendship, Love and Truth." The preacher, in his sermon, briefly sketched the growth of Oddfellows in America in the 100 years, it having its origin April 26, 1819, at Baltimore, Md., when five men organized the first lodge. Now its members are counted in the millions, and its works of benevolence are prodigious. Last year alone some $6,500,000 was expended in its work of relief. The preacher drew strong lessons from the success of this organization and pointed out how the work of evangelizing the world could be promoted by a wider practice of the spirit of fraternity. To the Oddfellows he pointed out the wonderful opportunity the present world condition (after the war) afforded them for the exercise of their principles in reconstruction. The anthem, "Come Let us Join the Cheerful Song," and "Ye Fair Green Hill of Galilee," the latter by ladies only, Miss Simpson taking the solo. After the address a duet, "Love Divine," was rendered by Miss Queen Allen and Dr. J. A. McEwen. The organ numbers by Mr. J. W. Given were "Pastorale," by Lefebvre Wely, Allegretto by Gounod, closing with The Oddfellow's Grand March.

Smiths Falls Boy Run Over

The News says: William Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hines of Beckwith street, was seriously injured yesterday morning by a lumber wagon, which had a heavy load on and was driven by Mr. McWilliams. The boy was on a bicycle and had caught hold of the wagon, being in conversation with Mr. McWilliams. It is supposed he lost control of the bicycle and it went over, throwing the lad under the wagon, and it passed across his stomach. He was quickly removed to the Public Hospital this morning (Wednesday), but there is no hope of the child's recovery. His parents were in Merrickville on business at the time and are greatly grieved over the lad's accident. He is thirteen years of age.

Being an Editor

Most any man can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days a week, four weeks a month, and twelve months in a year and edit such stuff as this: "Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry. Joe Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, landing on his back porch. While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them, and bit Mr. Green on the public square. Mr. Frang, while harnessing a broncho last Saturday, was kicked just south of his corn crib."—Exchange.

France's Timber Loss

Sixteen billion feet of timber was cut in the forests of France by the allied armies, according to figures submitted to the peace conference by M. Comper-Morel, commissioner of agriculture for France. The Germans cut about five billion feet for their own use from the forests in that part of France they occupied, and shell fire and wanton destruction by the Germans accounted for 3½ billion feet. M. Comper-Morel asked that one of the peace terms be that Germany be required to furnish to France eight billion feet of lumber and timbers to replace that cut for the German armies.

Books Among the Troops

The enemy was no respecter of persons. Anything belonging to the Allies was fair target for him. During the first six months of 1918 the Canadian Y.M.C.A. in France suffered damage through shell-fire alone to the extent of $2,000. It was two thousand dollars less to spend on the Canadian Soldiers. See announcement on page 6.

A Warning for Canada

In this, and in another fact, there is a warning for Canada. The people of New Zealand at home recently voted for prohibition, but this home verdict has been reversed by New Zealand soldiers overseas, who voted three to one for the license system. The same thing occurred some time since in B.C., when the home population voted for prohibition and B.C. soldiers overseas reversed the result. The rum ration in the trenches and liquor at officers' messes has been a bad school in morals for our boys overseas. The people of Canada are going to have a strenuous fight if prohibition is to be maintained here.

Sale of War Savings Stamps will Continue

The report that the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps is about to be abandoned by the Dominion Government is denied in the following statement issued by the Minister of Finance:—"The war savings movement is gaining momentum, the sales increasing with each month. It is however an experiment and, if after a fair trial, it is found that the movement on the present lines is out of proportion to the success attained, the question of discontinuing active propaganda will then have consideration. In any event war savings and thrift stamps will be on sale for public purchase during the entire current year and as large a measure of volunteer support as possible will be welcomed."

The Government will not repeal the order-in-Council prohibiting betting, and there will be no racing on Canadian courses until late summer or fall.

The largest shipment of Chinese silk ever received at Ogdensburg was ferried across the river from Prescott on Monday and started for New York last week by special train. It consisted of twenty-five carloads valued at more than three million dollars.

Capt. G. N. Abbott, one of the best-known marines on the river and lakes started from his home for the Sherman, of which he was commanding officer, and dropped dead on the street. He was a skilled mariner and trusted employee for many years of the Hall Company, of Ogdensburg, where he made his home. Capt. Abbott was a native of Brockville, and had been sailing for several years. He leaves a widow and one child.

A whole year's subscription to THE HERALD costs only a little more than two pounds of butter, less than a bag of potatoes, and only a trifle over three dozen eggs, and yet so many are careless about it. A bag of plain paper received a few days ago cost all but $200. How many yearly subs. it takes to equal that is easy calculating. If you have 100 or 200 or 300 subscribers in arrears for a year or two you will realize how the account stands. Prompt renewals are essential to the financial success of a newspaper now-a-days, and we hope to have the hearty co-operation of our readers in this regard.

Received Arts Degree

In the list of Queens students who have received the B.A. degree in the recent exams, we note with pleasure the names of Miss Jean Shillington Rose, daughter of Inspector Rose, Carleton Place, and Harvey Wilson (returned soldier) also of our town.

Retail Merchants to Organize

A meeting of the merchants of Carleton Place is called for Thursday evening, 1st May, in the Council chamber to be addressed by Mr. J. C. Campbell of Ottawa, the district secretary, when it is hoped to organize a branch of the Retail Merchants Association in Carleton Place. Mr. Campbell will be assisted by one or two prominent merchants from the capital, all the local merchants are invited to be present.

McRae-Neill

A quiet wedding took place last Wednesday morning when Miss Pearl Winifred Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Neill, was united in the holy bonds to Mr. Benson Alexander McRae, of Smiths Falls. Miss Verna Miller, of Ottawa, acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Harold Miller, of Ottawa, both cousins of the bride. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. McRae moved to Perth taking the train from there for Toronto.

Rink Co. declares a Dividend

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Carleton Place Rink Co. was held on Friday evening last, when the report of the year's affairs was presented. The price for skating has not been advanced, although labor, insurance, taxes and everything else has gone up, and still the management were able to report a surplus from the season's activities, and a dividend of 3 p.c. was declared. Not very large to be sure, but the treasury must not be depleted, and under normal conditions the investment should improve. The old directors were re-elected, but as they have not yet met the officers for the current year are not yet appointed.

Zion Welcomes Her Soldiers Home

Some twenty odd of the soldier boys who went out from Zion Church were accorded a congregational welcome last Tuesday evening in the school room. Of some 60 who enlisted seven paid the supreme sacrifice, three received distinction, several were wounded, two were prisoners of war. The reception took the form of a supper served by the ladies to the soldiers and their nearest relatives. Some of the list were absent from town, but those present fully appreciated the welcome. After the supper a programme was rendered, those taking part being Misses McEwen, Simpson, McRostie, Allen, Elsie Cameron, and Odo Frizall, and Miss Bromley of Pembroke. The chair was occupied by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Dobson who accorded a cordial welcome home to the boys. On behalf of the soldiers Driver D. G. Cameron responded, and in a very eloquent address told of the splendid work done at the front, gave a graphic account of some of the experiences of the soldiers at the front dwelling chiefly on the bright spots and leaving the gruesome side to be imagined rather than pictured. The evening was a pleasant one for all concerned.

Almost five million persons have died in British India from Spanish influenza and fully a million others are believed to have died in the native states from the same cause, according to report of the Indian Government made public.

The Dominion forest reserves includes an area of 23,024,640 acres, and the permanent staff employed thereon is: District inspectors, 4; supervisors, 13; forest assistants, 5; forest rangers, 98; total 120, according to the annual report of the Department of the Interior for the last fiscal year.

American soldiers, members of Company "O," 5th Battalion, Ogdensburg, attended the funeral of Gunner Stanley Ward, of the 5th Reserve Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, at Prescott. Prescott returned soldiers also took part. The American soldiers escorted the remains to the Anglican church and to the cemetery. Gunner Ward died in a Kingston military hospital.

Amendments have been made to the prohibition regulations which provide for the forfeiture of intoxicating liquors when sent to a bogus consignee. Under the new regulation, if the consignee or owner cannot be ascertained, and no claim is made within fifteen days, forfeiture may be ordered. Provision is also made for forfeiture of seized liquor, although no conviction has been obtained.

GIVE THEM NOW

(One has said: Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up till your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their hearts can be thrilled by them. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them. Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial.)

If you have gentle words and looks, my friends,
To spare for me—if you have tears, to shed,
That I have suffered—give them not, I pray
Until I hear not, see not, being dead.

If you have flowers to give—fair lily buds,
White roses, daisies, meadow—stars that be Mine own dear namesakes, let them smile and make

The air, while yet I breathe it, sweet for me.

For loving looks, though fraught with tenderness,
Kindly tears, though they fall thick and fast,
A word of praise, alas! can naught avail,
To lift the shadows from a life that's past.

And rarest blossoms, what can they suffice,
Offered to one who can no longer gaze
Upon their beauty! Flowers in coffins laid
Impart no sweetness to departed days.

THE JOURNEY OF LIFE

You will find this journey of life is not always what it seems, or that it lies all the way through verdant valleys and flowery meadows. It is not always bright with the sunlight of pleasure. You will not find a bed of roses to recline upon every time you are weary. Don't expect it, or you will very likely be disappointed. You will find that about the time the path gets past the schoolhouse it switches off into some rather rough country. You will very probably find some rough hills to climb and some deep gullies to cross. The briars will tear your nice clothes and the stones will wear out your fine shoes, and you will have blistered heels and stone-blisters in plenty, before you get through.

There is only one way to avoid all this. That is to sit down, a whining beggar by the roadside, despised and self-deceiving. But if you are going through you must brace yourself for hard climbing. You will find plenty of roses by the way, but they grow among thorns, and if you would gather them you must not be afraid of a few scratches. All the fruits worth having are near the tops of the trees. You can have your game suppers and your quail on toast, too, but the game is wild and the birds roost high, and you can't put salt on their tails to catch them. You can have all this, we say, but just as likely as not when you get it you will have no teeth to chew it with, so you mustn't build too much on that.

Did you ever know a woman to regret that she knew how to do exquisitely fine needle work or plain sewing, to bake light, wholesome bread, or delicious pies or cakes? Did you ever know one who was ashamed of her still in picking and preserving, or who was unwilling to admit that she could arrange a table, order a course dinner, and if need be, do the cooking herself? No, indeed, but many a woman has spent years in trying to acquire a knowledge of household affairs of which she should have been mistress before she was fairly in long dresses. The mother who fails to instruct her daughter in such branches defrauds her of woman's best right, the right to a knowledge of how to make a home. Perhaps only a home for herself but, oh, how pretty and pleasant it can be if the tact, the skill, the grace of a trained hand and eye and taste are there to bring it into perfect symmetry.

We resemble insects which assume the color of the leaves and plants they feed upon, for sooner or later we become like the food of our minds like the creatures that live in our hearts. Every act of our lives, every word, every association, is written with an iron pen into the very texture of our being. The ghost of our murdered opportunities, squandered forces, killed time, forever rise up to rebuke us and will not down. How hard it is to learn that like begets like, that an acorn will always become an oak if anything; that birds of a feather will flock together. Let our young people especially, remember this, and be careful with what "birds" they associate.

Whom shall we blame when life's joys are tarnished and the sweetness turned to bitterness? Whom shall we blame for the strained and weakened eye that makes the sunlight painful? Whom shall we blame for the seared and deadened conscience that makes duty a task and honor a burden? We fancy that the conscience of none of our readers is yet so far deadened that he will not quickly answer, "I, myself, am to blame."

A right act strikes a chord that extends through the universe, touches all moral intelligence, visits every world, vibrates along its whole extent and conveys its vibrations to the very bosom of God.

It is easier to keep a friend than to recover him when lost.

Your character cannot be essentially injured but by your own acts.

Y.M.C.A. PLANS OVERSEAS

The Overseas section of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. has issued an official announcement of its plans. In laying out its military work for 1919 it was estimated that without further appeal to Canada for funds, the necessary work remaining being possible by utilizing canteen funds and balances of contributions, and by realizing on its assets in stocks and equipment.

The liquidation of these assets is now in progress, so far as the work permits, the decreasing numbers of Canadian Troops in France opening the way to a reduction in equipment, in expenses of operation, and in stocks. As the number of Canadians in England is maintained by new arrivals from France the program there must be well continued.

It is right that every Canadian soldier should know that every dollar collected in Canada for Overseas, as well as every cent of profits from Overseas operations, such as the canteens, and the entire realization of assets Overseas will be spent in his service on this side of the Atlantic.

The Overseas Executive of the Y figure that the funds obtained from these sources will permit the continuation of the Y program until demobilization in France is complete, and in England until August 31st. Since by that date it seems certain that every Canadian will be on his way to Canada there is no prospect of even the last soldier from Overseas suffering from any serious curtailment of the Y.M.C.A. program.

Moving to Carleton Place

Mr. Melville Fleming, who has been a resident of Smiths Falls for many years, expects to move his family in a week or two to Carleton Place, where they hope to reside in future. Mr. Fleming has been residing on Merrick street, over the river, for the past six years and has recently sold his residence. Mr. Fleming, who is a moulder by trade, was formerly an employee of the Frost & Wood Co., but for the past couple of years, has been employed in the moulding shop of Findlay Bros., Carleton Place. Their many friends in town wish for them every success in their new home.—S.F. News.

Many a woman goes out shopping dressed in silk and enveloped in perfume whose hard working husband hasn't had a new suit of clothes or a decent meal in five years. Yes, and many a loafer stands on the street with a stinking pipe in his face, his tank full of booze and his mouth full of profanity whose hard working wife hasn't had a new dress or a kind word since she was married.

A VALUABLE MEDICINE FOR THE BABY

Baby's Own Tablets are a valuable medicine for all little ones. They are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the bowels and stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; banish colic and worms and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. S. P. Moulton, St. Stephen, N.B., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for a long time and find them a most effective and valuable medicine. I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What to Do with Them

Among the most precious things that ever come to a man is one of those impulses or emotions looking toward something that is nobler and better in his own life, some haunting vision of a good and worthy thing that he ought to be or to do. We all have them, and if they do not plant in our soul some vital seed that will bear its fruit of good in the days to come then our life has been the scene of a real, and often far-reaching tragedy. These emotions seem very fleeting indeed; but they are likewise very precious, for we may capitalize them so that they will become the actual gold of character and achievement in some future day. It may be hard to explain how this can be done, but the warning may be given, that to allow the emotion to expend itself as emotions is quite fatal. Mere feeling that has not added to it the sterner process of willing or strenuously purposing or striving to do, will never get us anywhere, and may indeed become an agent of vitiation and weakness rather than a source of power.

IN EVENING GOWNS

Formal Apparel Shows Tendency to Sheath Draping.

Silver Motifs and Jade Tulle Over Satin—Tunics Are Edged With Fur.

Brilliant we must be if we are to dress for the evening in any of the new frocks. The only choice left us is that between two manners—that is the brilliancy of color or brilliancy of light reflected from spangles and metal cloths.

A few of the more conservative women still wear the browns and blacks of the early season, and these serve as a background to make the other frocks appear still more brilliant. With the amount of spangles, sequins and metallic tissues used this would hardly appear necessary, but the lively shades of rose and purple are decidedly charming. A genius at scenic effects could hardly select a medley of colors with better results than was notable one evening lately at a small affair where the rose color and silver tissue frocks flashed up as vivid notes in contrast to the brown and black velvet gowns worn by the majority of the women.

One cannot help but note that most of the formal evening gowns show a decided tendency to the sheath draping, and so closely is the hem drawn in that it would not be possible to use lace in this manner. Heavier materials serve as foundations and overdraperies of tulle or chiffon may or may not exist. One thing is evident, and that is a complete lack of anything bordering on the quaint or unsophisticated. Frocks of this type are strictly reserved for the jeune fille.

Among the tight, sheathlike gowns is one described as of green jade tulle over a satin foundation, the tulle embroidered in motifs of silver and tufts of feathers. Another is of black tulle embroidered in gold and black. This model also makes use of the feather trimming in black.

Callot's evening gowns, recently exhibited in Paris, are described as altogether wonderful. One of black silk muslin is shrouded in embroidered tulle. A long piece like a stole trails from the back of the neck to the hem of the skirt, although part of it is lost from sight underneath the skirt. Low and round at the neckline, it is edged with jet embroidery and strings of the jet fall from each shoulder.

Cheruit is sponsor for long evening gowns, longer than Callot shows hers, who, however, modifies the shortness by a narrow panel-like train.

Paquin's evening gowns are also long, an effect produced by elongated panels on irregular lengths of material.

FOR AFTERNOON OR STREET

This charming frock of blue serge with black satin fringed sash and very stylish embroidered panel, is a beautiful model for afternoon or street wear.

Wash Suits for Children.

Despite the fact that there has been considerable talk in cotton goods lines about price cutting and cancellations, manufacturers of children's wash suits are still doing a good business. With the exception of the cases of a few small retailers there have been very few cancellations, and firms are working on the large orders that they received for spring delivery. Military styles are big sellers, and it is expected that they will continue so during the next season.

TREE PLANTING

An exchange gives the following set of rules for tree planting that may be of use to amateurs, etc.:

1. Do not allow roots to be exposed to drying winds, sun or frost.
2. Prune, with a sharp knife, any bruised or broken roots.
3. Have the holes large enough to admit all the roots without cramping.
4. Plant in good loam, enriching with thoroughly decomposed manure.
5. Do not allow any fresh manure to come in contact with the roots.
6. Spread the roots in their natural position, and work fine loam among them, making it firm and compact.
7. Do not plant deep. Let the upper roots be about an inch lower than they were before.
8. Remove all broken branches and cut back at least one-half the previous year's growth of wood.
9. If the season is a dry one, water thoroughly twice a week.
10. Keep the soil in a good degree of fertility. Mulching in the fall is beneficial.

The amateur is recommended to follow the above rules. Well-cared for trees add much to the beauty of a lawn and home, as any citizen of good taste will admit. The tree-planting movement inaugurated this spring is in line with the best designs for civic improvement. It should bear excellent fruit before the summer is upon us in Ontario.

A Few Poultry Don'ts

Don't think that good chicks can be obtained from poor stock.
Don't forget that grit is the hen's teeth.

Don't forget that a broody hen setting a few hours on fertile eggs spoils them for eating.

Don't forget that eggs are porous and will absorb bad flavors if they are placed near them.

Don't think spoiled feed can be fed laying hens and still have good flavored eggs.

Don't feed poultry at irregular times.
Don't keep a male bird with hens not intended for breeding.

Don't blame the incubator for poor hatches when the breeding stock lacks vitality.

Don't fail to keep the poultry house clean, dry and sanitary.

Below Your Equator

there is, in the form of the intestinal canal, a wonderful laboratory, within which are manufactured the very materials which are vitally necessary to sustain life, and also violent poisons which directly and indirectly cause disease and death.

Food waste, if allowed to accumulate, stagnates and gives rise to poisonous matter. This, if allowed to be absorbed into the blood, produces 90% of the disease that attacks mankind, from a transient neuralgia to a permanent hardening of the arteries.

Bright's disease, liver trouble, heart enlargement, high blood pressure, skin affections, rheumatism, insomnia, nervous exhaustion, mental affections, all may be caused by such self-poisoning, the warning of which is obstinate or habitual constipation.

Nor is it safe or sufficient to take castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., in the effort to force the bowels to move. Not only will the constipation grow worse with the continuance of such remedies, but the dose must be constantly increased with an ever-weakening effect.

But Nujol acts differently—and successfully. Nujol is not a drug—does not act like any drug.

Nujol brings about thorough and natural bowel evacuation, at regular intervals, because it helps Nature to restore and to maintain the proper mechanism by which body waste is removed and its stagnation prevented.

Nujol overcomes constipation by removing its causes. Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and send coupon for free booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."

Warning: Nujol is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade-Mark. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.

FAKE GRAIN VARIETIES

(Experimental Farm Note.)

Each year many farmers are the victims of plausible agents who are selling so-called new varieties. Making extravagant claims they charge a corresponding price and only too often the farmer who naturally desires more productive varieties if obtainable, pays an exorbitant price for a supposedly new and prolific sort, which is either an old variety camouflaged with a new name or else a selection whose qualities are entirely unknown. Being divisible into classes, these agents and their claims can be grouped conveniently as follows:

First, those who take a high yielding, prolific variety such as Banner or O.A.C. No. 72 oats, give it another name and introduce it as a new variety.

Second, those who are selling a variety that has been multiplied from a peculiar plant or from extraordinary heads found in the general crop. The producer thinking it a valuable variety, offers it for sale before its qualities are known.

Third, those who are offering for sale to a few customers only, a wonderful variety that was produced by a secret process of selection or else has been grown from a few seeds found in the toms of the ancient Pharaohs.

A fourth class might be made of those who sell a variety for what it is, but make extravagant claims for its yielding ability. This is well illustrated by the Alaska or seven-headed wheat.

The agent in the first case is a financial shark who is obtaining money by false pretences. He perhaps does the least harm of any beyond the confusion created in the nomenclature of varieties and the money which he takes from the farmer.

In the second case the agent may be acting in the best of faith and with the conviction that his claims will be justified by the resulting crop. Perhaps they will be, but the varieties are legion that have been introduced in this way and have been found worthless in comparative tests with standard varieties.

The third agent, though, is the real out and out grain fakir and should be liable to prosecution. The farmer who is deceived by his pretences almost deserves to pay the price of his credulity.

It is the right of any person who has multiplied out a selection of grain to sell it for what it is and charge any price he sees fit. Against these well-intentioned, legitimate transactions we have nothing to say beyond warning the farmer, that at the best he is likely only buying an old variety and that exceedingly few of these amateur selections are ever of value.

What is advisable is that in every case before buying a variety that he intends to grow as a general crop, the farmer should consult the reports of his nearest Experimental Station. The remedy for the actual frauds that are perpetrated is in his own hands. As long as he will buy the agents will sell, and the efforts put forth by the cereal stations of Canada for the improvement of crops will continue to be partially frustrated.

Victory Bond Interest on May Day

May Day will see $18,000,000 paid in interest to the holders of Victory Bonds issued in 1918. This will be by far the largest single interest payment ever made in Canada. Incidentally, it is only one of many, for Canadians will draw over $70,000,000 in war bonds' interest this year. The question arises, how much of this money will be saved? Will the over 1,000,000 holders of Victory Bonds in the Dominion become systematic savers, thus helping themselves and the country, or will they discontinue saving? A large portion of these $18,000,000 should be invested in War Savings Stamps, which are Government bonds and just as secure as Victory Bonds are. Victory Bonds started hundreds of thousands of people saving, who should continue the practice, which is made easy through War Savings and Thrift Stamps.

£100 per Family for Drink

The poverty of the submerged masses of London is explained, in part at least, by further facts mentioned in Public Opinion. The drink bill of the United Kingdom last year was £250,300,000—approximately $25 per each man, woman and child. The drink bill during the war equalled one-eighth of the war bill. And while the war bill was for four years the drink bill goes on apparently forever. In fact last year's bill for drink was the largest in the history of Britain.

During the war the British expenditure for drink averaged £100 for each family of five. Nor is the evil confined to the lower levels in society. A writer in the London Daily News says that he has been informed that in two weeks more champagne has been consumed in the House of Commons than the ordinary supply for half the session. "I have heard," he says, "of one dinner at which 18 people are said to have consumed 19 bottles."

Mr. John Willoughby, of Elmsley township, breeder of Holstein cattle, sold to Messrs Burnie and Sloan of Ventnor a yearling bull, "De Kol Mutual Bourges," which weighed 935 pounds, and brought $450.00.

Take Zutoo

You know how quickly Zutoo tablets cure headache and break up colds—how soon they allay the fever. Take them at once when you feel the first pain or shiver—the first symptom of a cold. Taken then, they will prevent the Grippe. Taken after it has developed, there is nothing better for the pain and fever.

FORESTRY PRODUCTS

Trade returns indicate that forest products are being sent abroad in steadily increasing quantities and at the same prices, generally speaking, which prevailed before the armistice was signed. In British Columbia an order for 70,000,000 feet of lumber was placed recently, but it was followed immediately by a demand for higher wages by the various classes of workmen through whose hands it would have to pass, and coupled with this the further demand was made that only "white" labour should be employed. These difficulties were accentuated by the scarcity of tonnage, the situation with regard to which, is, however, steadily improving. On the Atlantic Coast orders aggregating 170,000,000 feet have been received since the first of the year. In addition 200,000,000 feet have been sold but are awaiting shipment. To move the lumber already on hand and ordered will keep all available tonnage fully occupied for the balance of the year. The existence of so large a stock of lumber awaiting shipment on the one hand and the placing of further orders on the other, give rise to some uncertainty as to the future of prices. It is, however, generally assumed that prices will remain steady, as lumber is one of the fundamental requirements for the carrying out of reconstruction plans in all countries. In British Columbia a slight reduction in price was required as a condition precedent to the placing of recent orders of considerable size.

Something Wrong

A sale bill bearing the signature of "Will Quit Work" has been going the rounds of the press and purports to be a Missouri auction sale, giving evidence of what queer combinations can be made by a printer who is suffering from the effects of a night out and badly pieced the galley. The bill announcing the sale includes the following list:

Twenty-five good cows, broke to work; 41 head of cultivators, coming in soon; 10 head of shovelling boars, with scoops by side; 8 piano mares; 120 rods canvas belting, better than new; De Laval cow, with ice-cream attachment; McCormick binder, in foal; Poland-China Bobsled, due to farrow in April; 14 head of chickens, with grass-seed attachment, in good working order; 2 J.I.C. riding heifers, good as new; spraying outfit, can be ridden or driven by children; 15 billy goats, 70 bushels capacity, with spraying nozzle and other attachments; many other articles too numerous to mention, which I expect to get at night between now and date of sale.—Country Gentleman.

Woman's Statement Will Help Carleton Place

"I hated cooking because whatever I ate gave me a sour stomach and a bloated feeling. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped until I tried simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. Because it flushes the ENTIRE bowel tract completely Adler-i-ka relieves ANY CASE sour stomach, gas or constipation and prevents appendicitis. The INSTANT action is surprising.

W. J. Hughes, druggist.

Confide your News

We presume there never was a newspaper in any locality that gave all the local happenings. It is often that some one comes or goes that the reporter does not see. It happens that the family is missed several times. They get the impression that the editor does not care to mention them. This is a mistake. In most country towns the local work is the hardest work connected with a newspaper. A man may be a good editorial writer but a flat failure in the local work, and vice versa. Editorial material is obtained by study, by reading newspapers, sometimes by using scissors. Persons and local happenings can't be read and clipped from other papers, not by a jugful. It takes physical as well as mental exertion to get out four or six columns of local news in a town of this size. Most people take a local paper to get the local happenings. Don't be afraid to tell the editor or reporter that you have friends visiting you. There are lots of people who are interested in your friends. You owe it as a duty to them to let your friends know of their doings. Perhaps you think the paper shows partially, but just you see if the paper doesn't treat you right if you give it a chance.

WHEN TO PLANT

Some garden plants are quite hardy and others are sensitive to cold but they may all be thrown into four groups so far as planting seeds and setting out plants are concerned, says a bulletin from the National War Garden Commission of Washington.

The gardener must judge from his location and climate when to plant all of group one. This group includes smooth peas, onion sets, spinach, turnip, mustard, radish, kale, potato and cabbage, and collard plants, which were grown in the seed box or hot bed. The ground should be planted as early as the ground can be prepared even though some nights are still frosty.

In group two are included beet, carrot, chard, lettuce, parsnip, salsify, wrinkled peas and onion seed, and cauliflower, celery and lettuce plants from the seed box or hot-bed. This group may be planted 10 or 14 days later than group one.

In from 10 to 15 days after group two is planted, group three may be planted. This embraces sweet corn, snap beans, pole beans, okra and tomato plants from the seed box or hot-bed. These plants need some warm weather to start off right.

Group four is the hot weather bunch. These are best planted a week or two after the apple blossoms have fallen. The weather then should be settled down into a good comfortable warm temperature. In this group are the lima bean, cucumber, muskmelon, watermelon, squash, and pumpkin, and eggplant and pepper plants from the seed box or hot-bed. These plants in group four will not stand any frost.

Will We Never Learn from History?

"War has tortured, starved, mutilated, impoverished, depraved, and maddened a great part of two continents," says the London Nation. "Yet this policy of the armed and the unarmed camp must carry society on to the next war, and the war after the next."

"Well does Europe know these war-statesmen and their works. Mr. Churchill's 'real securities' were the 'securities' of Napoleon after Jena, of Metternich at Vienna, of Bismarck at Versailles. They are only worse, because their trust is still more in chariots and horses and still less in the word of the Lord."

Cause for Thankfulness

Among the many good Irish stories one of the best concerns a certain old Connemara farmer, who, upon waking up in the night, saw a apparition at the foot of the bed.

Reaching for his gun, he promptly perforated the ghost with a bullet. To his surprise the following morning he discovered that it was his own shirt of which he had made a target.

He was relating the experience to a friend, who asked him: "What did you do when you discovered what it was?" "Oh," replied the farmer, "I just knelt down and thanked God that I hadn't been inside it."

What Dicky Said

Five-year-old Dicky had been a regular attendant at Sunday school for several months, when one day his mother took him to see a circus parade. Each passing cage drew a question from the little fellow. As the wagon containing the rhinoceros rumbled up, the beast opened its huge mouth to its full width. "Dicky gave one look at the animal, and jerked at his mother's dress.

"Mamma, did God make that?" "Yes, dear."

A moment's pause; then determinedly "Well—I ain't going to Sunday school any more."

Harold—"I thought you made a resolution not to drink any more."

Percy—"I did."

Harold—"But you are drinking as much as ever."

Percy—"Well, that isn't any more, is it?"—Pearson's Weekly.

THE HERALD

TUESDAY, APRIL 29th, 1919

The two main ideas promoted by the Canadian Trade Commission at present are: "Buy less abroad and make more export."

It is said the high prices are climbing down. To be sure they are, but they are extremely careful of their steps. Are they afraid of straining themselves in the descent?—Kingston Whig.

SIR THOMAS WHITE stated in reply to Mr. J. H. Sinclair in the Commons Monday that the following was collected from the business profits tax: 1916-17, $12,506,516; 1917-18, $21,271,083; 1918-19, $32,970,061.

"The war acted as a barrier to trade and so enhanced values during the war period," Dr. Michael Clark told a Toronto audience. And he added: "A tariff acts in the same way. It doesn't matter whether the barrier to trade is a dreadnought or a customs house. That is how the protectionist got wealthy."

At the peace conference the Council of Four presented the text of a peace treaty provision for the prosecution of former Emperor William by a court of five judges "for a supreme offence against international morality and the sanctity of treaties." The court is to be composed of representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States. It will fix the punishment of the accused, whose extradition is to be asked.

Thirteen Others That Were Neutral in the War Are to Be Asked to Join—Amendments to Covenant Will Be Fully Discussed and Japanese May Renew Their Demand for Racial Equality.

PARIS, April 28.—The revised covenant of the League of Nations, made public Sunday, goes before a plenary session of the Peace Conference at once for final action. What is in store for it there is not yet clear, as negotiations have been active for the past few days with a view to adjusting the reservations made by the French, Japanese and Belgians when the committee adopted the revised text.

The French amendments were designed to reinforce French military security, but these may not be pressed owing to the military security which France obtains under the settlement of the Rhine frontier.

The Japanese delegates have not yet indicated whether they will renege their amendment on racial equality, as that depends somewhat on the settlement they are able to secure concerning Kiao-Chau. The Belgian amendment relates to the choice of Geneva as the seat of the League, and this also is in the way of adjustment.

The Monroe Doctrine amendment is not expected to encounter opposition if the question of French security is adjusted. Premier Hughes of Australia, has previously indicated his purpose of discussing the covenant as a whole, and he will be the chief opponent of the Japanese amendment if it is renewed.

A semi-official analysis of the revised covenant says that the re-draft was made after consultation with thirteen neutral nations, and examination, the criticisms coming from both sides of the Atlantic. The resulting document, it is declared, does not create a super-state; the League must depend upon the free consent of its component states.

Concerning the Monroe Doctrine, article 21 makes it clear that the covenant is not intended to abrogate or weaken other agreements, so long as they are consistent with its own terms for the assurance of peace.

"In so far as the Monroe Doctrine tends to the same end," it is stated, "whatever validity it possesses cannot be affected by the covenant."

The word "external" in article 10, according to the analysis, shows that the league cannot be used like the Holy Alliance to suppress national or other movements within the boundaries of member states, but only to prevent forcible annexation from without.

Articles 10, 11 and 19 are cited as making plain that the covenant is not intended to make the new territorial settlement in Europe unalterable for all time, but on the contrary, to provide the machinery for the progressive regulation of international affairs of the future.

"Many of the quarrels of the past," the statement adds, "arose from the absence of this machinery, so that the covenant may be said to inaugurate a new international order and thereby eliminate, as far as possible, one of the principal causes of war."

Attached to the text is the hitherto unpublished "Annex" referred to in the covenant, in which are named 31 states, including the self-governing British Dominions, which are to be the original members of the League of Nations, and 13 states to be invited to accede to the covenant.

The original members are all nations which declared war on Germany in May, 1915.

At the conclusion of his address the Premier was given an ovation. Gen. Diaz and Signor Barzilai, one of the peace delegates, then spoke, and were cheered by the soldiers and sailors.

Prince Colonna, Mayor of Rome, asserted that there was complete solidarity of the people of Rome and of Italy with the Government.

Premier Orlando, Gen. Diaz, Prince Colonna and Signor Barzilai entered motor cars and a procession was formed, which proceeded to the Royal Palace in Quirinal Square.

At the place the party joined the King, Queen and Crown Prince on the balcony, and the entire group was acclaimed with enthusiasm by the assemblage below.

It is expected that the peace terms will be handed to the German representatives on Tuesday evening.

OVATION FOR ORLANDO

Rome Approves His Fight for Fiume.

Italians Cheer for America, But Also Shout "Down With Wilson"—Premier Hints That Nation May Have to Endure Suffering in Order to Enforce Its Claims to Territory.

ROME, April 28.—Vittorio Orlando, the Italian Premier, arrived in Rome Saturday from Paris. Rome was beflagged in greeting to the returning Premier. The offices and shops were closed, and the members of some 200 associations, clubs and patriotic leagues, bearing banners with the legend, "Italy, Fiume, Dalmatia," went to the railway station or lined themselves along the thoroughfares which Premier Orlando would have to pass on his way from the station to the Ministry of the Interior. All the Cabinet Ministers in Rome, high officials of state, the prefects, Prince Colonna, the Mayor of Rome, and 300 Senators and Deputies gathered inside the station to receive the Prime Minister.

Banners were displayed bearing the inscription: "Fiume, Dalmatia or Death." Airplanes hovered above, among them a gigantic bombing machine.

For more than an hour the automobile containing Premier Orlando, Gen. Diaz, and Signor Barzilai was surrounded by the immense crowd outside the station that it could not move.

The Premier addressing the crowd which greeted him said:

"It is not time for fine language. In the face of the world, which is judging us, we must have firmness and a calm, serene conscience."

"There are two questions. The first is whether the Government and the Italian delegates have faithfully interpreted the thoughts and will of the Italian people."

"The response was thunderous shouts of 'yes.'"

"I never doubted it," continued the Premier, "for I know the soul of my people, but confirmation was required. The first question is answered; Rome is consecrating our work."

"The second question is to estimate the gravity of the situation. But I do not ask you for an immediate reply. Let us now consider what best or most desirable can happen to our Italy, whose just and praiseworthy attitude has provoked the admiration of two worlds. (Cheers and cries, "Long Live America! Down With Wilson!")"

"We must show that we have taken the worst into consideration. After four years of unspeakable privations and sacrifices, we may find ourselves faced with fresh sacrifices and privations. At this moment Italy is ready, and greater than ever—greater than in May, 1915."

"The decision must be a well-considered one. Food supplies are falling us, but Italy, which has known hunger, has never known dishonor. I do not conceal from you the danger of this very critical hour." (Cries of "We will face anything.")

"I am with you," continued the Premier, "a brother among brothers, and also a chief who asks to obey and follow the will of the people. It may be that we shall find ourselves alone, but Italy must be united and have a single will. Italy will not perish."

At the conclusion of his address the Premier was given an ovation. Gen. Diaz and Signor Barzilai, one of the peace delegates, then spoke, and were cheered by the soldiers and sailors.

Prince Colonna, Mayor of Rome, asserted that there was complete solidarity of the people of Rome and of Italy with the Government.

Premier Orlando, Gen. Diaz, Prince Colonna and Signor Barzilai entered motor cars and a procession was formed, which proceeded to the Royal Palace in Quirinal Square.

DISTRICT NEWS.

APPLETON

Special to THE HERALD.

Miss Minnie McGregor, of Almonte spent part of the past week with Mrs. Oxford.

Mrs. D. A. Macdonald a missionary from Korea will hold a meeting with the ladies of Appleton and vicinity on Monday afternoon, May 6th.

Miss Mabel Stewart returned to Toronto Monday, to resume her studies in the school of faculty.

There will be a reception in the village hall on Friday evening for our returned soldiers.

Pte. Merrill Neilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neilson returned home last week from overseas.

Rev. Mr. Lowry, of Franktown, preached in St. Andrews church Sunday morning.

Mr. Jas. McIlraith of Hopetown, with his son Earle, who has returned from overseas, visited with the former's sister, Mrs. John Turner, during the past week.

Miss Laura Churchill, of Smiths Falls, visited at Mr. Geo. Buchanan's for a few days.

Our schools re-opened on Monday morning after the Easter vacation, with Miss Paul and Mr. Mason as teachers.

We extend congratulations to Mr. Benson A. MacRae and Miss Pearl W. Neill, of Carleton Place on the occasion of their marriage on Wednesday last. Miss Neill was for a number of years in the office of the Mississippi Woolen Mills, in our village.

FRANKTOWN

Special to THE HERALD.

The snowstorm which visited us during the last three days of last week was a regular whooper and was accompanied with a very cold frosty wind. The rain yesterday has cleared it all away again and the mild air of to-day is promoting growth, which is very slow so far.

The Misses Dolly and Hazel Kerfoot, of Smiths Falls, spent last week in the village, the guests of their aunt, Mrs. John Hughton.

A most cordial welcome home was given by the residents of the village and vicinity on Tuesday evening last to Flight Lieut. Harold Edwards and Flight Cadet C. L. Edwards lately returned from overseas. On account of the death recently of their grandfather, Mr. Wm. Edwards, the reception was held quietly at the home of their parents, Capt. J. H. and Mrs. Edwards, the residence being filled in every part. Rev. Mr. Lowry made a felicitous speech introducing the proceedings of the evening, in which he praised the valor and heroism of the Canadian soldiers and said that it was that which had made the Peace Conference and the League of Nations possible. Mr. Harold F. McLachlin read a complimentary address to Cadet Lorry Edwards, while Mr. W. J. Saunders presented the soldier with a gold watch, the same testimonials being given to Lieut. Harold Edwards by Messrs. Harold Bennett and Basil Hughton. The soldiers each made a fitting response for the gifts, after which some sacred music was engaged in by the crowd, followed by a dainty supper served by the ladies. The singing of God Save the King concluded the interesting proceedings.

Rev. Capt. N. A. McEachern, returned chaplain, will lecture on his war experiences on Friday evening next in the Presbyterian Church, to which all are very cordially invited.

Roads are bad again on account of the snow and rain.

Well now, we do not like to see the town council of Carleton Place side tracking the returning soldiers by offering them jobs at sawing hardwood with the buck saw, two cuts at $1.00 per cord, and we regard Mr. Arthur Burgess dignified manly protest against it as quite timely and in order. Our junction town might surely do better for them than that. If they would only come to Franktown—!!

Miss Elizabeth Carley has returned to the village after wintering in town.

Mr. John Edwards of Hamilton, spent last week at his parental home in the village.

Francis Lowry spent the Easter holidays at his home here.

Mr. W. P. Kilfoyle is having the cheese factory fitted up for the season's work.

Mr. Wellington Burns has sowed a quantity of spring wheat already being the first in this part.

Rev. A. D. Fraser, of Appleton, preached an earnest and appropriate sermon in St. Paul's church last Sunday on the Forward Movement, exchanging pulpits for the day with the pastor here who preached at Appleton and Carleton on the same theme.

Mr. and Mrs. George McLellan are indisposed with a severe form of la grippe.

Mr. John Hughton is housed up with an attack of sciatica.

LANARK

From the Era.

Pte. Jos. Richards, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Richards, Drummond, returned home from overseas last week. He enlisted with the Canadian Railway Troops at Calgary and went to France with that unit in 1917. It is fourteen years since Pte. Richards left his home in Drummond for the West and for over eleven years had been employed as trainman between Calgary and Spokane, Wash.

Pte. John Valley, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Valley, formerly of Lanark and now residing in Perth, arrived from overseas Monday after two years service with the Canadian Engineers. Last summer he was awarded the D.C.M. He was not wounded during his overseas experiences.

A peculiar incident occurred one day last week on the road near Herron's Mills. Messrs. J. N. Dobbie and Wm. Mason were motoring along the road when a partridge flew in front of the car. The bird collided with the car and to all appearances was killed, but before Mr. Mason had time to jump out and run back to the bird it had regained consciousness and fluttered away beyond reach. They continued on, and a short distance further down the road a wild duck attempted to fly across their path but the attempt proved fatal to the bird, and Mr. Dobbie brought it to town as his prize. These men are now anxiously awaiting the deer season as they feel satisfied that they can run down a deer in a similar manner—if it will only stay on the road.

On Saturday morning, April 19th, death visited our midst and took to her eternal reward Catherine Dwyer, eldest of the late John Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy was 68 years of age, and was born in St. John's, Newfoundland. She has been a resident of Lanark Village for over thirty years and during that time she had won the esteem and respect of all who knew her. Forty-seven years ago she married John Kennedy, who predeceased her four years ago and the union was blessed with a family of six.

ALMONTE

From the Gazette.

Mrs. Jos. Carr of Carleton Place is visiting her sisters, Misses Wallace.

Master Walter Kennedy of Carleton Place is visiting at his grandmother's, Mrs. John A. Killen.

Messrs. George and Moreau of Renfrew, and Miss Lizzie Moreau of Carleton Place, spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. E. Moreau.

It is now definitely announced that the Ottawa Valley Amusement Co. are making arrangements for the erection of a fine new building on the site recently bought by them. The Company intends to build a substantial theatre here, the cost of which will be approximately $20,000.00.

On Monday morning the mills went on to the Daylight Saving scheme, and the order of things became pretty general, but to make it uniform the mayor has issued a proclamation calling upon the citizens to fall in line, and this will likely be done.

At St. Paul's church on Wednesday evening at 8.15 o'clock a pretty wedding took place when Miss Elizabeth Stanley, of Cedar Hill, was married to Mr. Emerson Dean, of Cobden, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dean. Rev. Mr. Sad-dington officiated.

There passed away at the home of Mr. Hutchinson at the age of eighty-one years his mother, who had been a resident of Almonte for the past seven years. The late Mrs. Hutchinson's mother was born in the old country and came to Canada as governess in the family of the late Col. Boyd. Mrs. Hutchinson was born at Hull, Que., in 1838, and was married to Mr. Wm. Hutchinson about sixty years ago, who died in 1870. The greater part of her life was spent around Quyon, and an interesting occurrence in her life was when she entertained the Duke of Connaught and his party as he was going up the Pickanock on a fishing expedition and also upon his return. So well pleased was he with the treatment he received that he not only recompensed her liberally for the services rendered, but also presented her with the Connaught coat of arms, which is still a treasured heirloom in the family. The remains of the late Mrs. Hutchinson were taken to Quyon, where interment was made.

From the Times.

Mr. Wm. Donaldson, after an absence of 18 years, returned to town last week to pay a visit to his father, Mr. John Donaldson. He enlisted in the Canadian artillery, and had just returned from overseas. His home is in San Francisco, where he is yardmaster of the San Fee Railway.

PERTH

From the Expositor.

On Thursday night, April 17th, Susanna Jacklin, relict of the late Andrew Gallagher died at the home of her son, Andrew, the age of eighty-two. The deceased was born near Perth, on the farm now occupied by Mr. George Oliver. Fifty-eight years ago she married Andrew Gallagher of North Burgess, and has since lived on their farm on the north shore of the Rideau. Surviving her are three sons and five daughters.

Early Monday morning night Patrol Kane replenished the supply of liquor used for medical purposes at the House of Industry when he located a suit case on the station platform, evidently dropped from the Montreal train. It was found to be well filled with the liquid forbidden to be brought into Ontario under the laws of the Provincial Temperance Act. The owners were not present.

Perth is going to have a new Public hospital. A committee of the L.O.D.E. met the men's committee appointed at a special meeting held in December last and after discussing the matter thoroughly, it was decided to establish a new Public hospital in Perth.

REDS ARE ALARMED.

Hungarian Bolshevik Leader Seeks Russian Aid.

BERNE, April 28.—The Roumanian Press Bureau learns that Bela Kun, the Hungarian Bolshevik leader, has addressed an urgent appeal to Premier Lenin for an immediate and energetic Russian offensive to compel the Roumanians to abandon their invasion of Hungary.

Bela Hun admits the Hungarian situation is desperate, with the peasants rising in many places and proclaiming the King.

It is learned that the Hungarian Soviet has approached the British military mission at Vienna begging intervention with a view of cessation of hostilities on the Roumanian, Czechoslovak and Hungarian fronts. The Soviet Government has offered to resign in favor of a purely socialistic cabinet, if deemed advisable by the British military commission.

Bela Kun ascribes the Roumanian advance to the influence of the aristocrats, who carry on agitation under the protection of "Renner Bauer and company." Further rude remarks by Bela Kun at the expense of "Renner, Bauer and company" proved clearly the disappointment of the Hungarian Bolsheviks at the fiasco last week in Vienna.

The assurance given by Bela Kun to Mr. Balfour that nationals of the Entente leaving Hungary would be allowed to take all their money and securities in Hungarian banks, according to the promise given to Gen. Smuts, has been contradicted by fugitives who have arrived in Berne. They assert the banks have been instructed to allow the withdrawal of only $1,000. During the journey the Soviet officials asked each trader whether he was carrying more than the money permitted.

FACE CIVIL WAR.

Martial Law Has Been Proclaimed In Bavaria.

BERLIN, April 28.—Military operations against the Soviet Government of Bavaria were planned to begin Sunday, under command of Lieut. Gen. Moehl. The Bavarian Government has announced that Wuertemberg and other Imperial forces are engaged in the movement.

Reports to the Vossische Zeitung state that martial law has been declared throughout Bavaria. Besides have received reinforcements it is indicated, Spartan forces from Munich joining the Soviet troops. The town of Landsht, northeast of Munich, has been captured by Government forces, but southwest of Munich the Soviet troops have advanced along the Fuernm and Ammer rivers to Lake Starnberg and Lake Ammer.

According to a Munich despatch to the Lokal Anzeiger, two leaders of the Independent Socialists and the whole commission for the unemployed at Nuremberg have been arrested. Herr Schmitt, the Spartan leader there, resisted arrest and was shot, while his son was badly wounded it is said. The town hall and public buildings at Nuremberg are held by Government troops. In encounters between armed civilians and soldiers and a Government patrol that city one sailor was killed and several civilians wounded.

Albanian Honor.

Albania is the step-child of Europe. This lonely race has no affinity with any other stock on the continent, according to the New Republic. Divided between three religions, it can make no single appeal to faith. Its sons are not cosmopolitan, they are persistent in their finance and journalism like the enterprising Greeks. There is no one to speak for them save the few travelers who have lived among them. And yet the fact is, that from Byron's day downwards, it would be hard to find a West European who has learned to know the Albanians without admiring them. Consuls, soldiers, missionaries, ethnologists—all come under the spell of this attractive and original race. I have known them myself in all stages of culture. When I survey my own memory's gallery of Balkan character, the men who stand out are nearly all Albanians. They are of all classes and faiths. It was a servant who first excited my curiosity. He was a handsome, spirited lad, and in a time of insurrection I used to employ him to carry large sums of money over a dangerous road. One day when I asked him if he knew a certain short-cut, he answered with the simplest of smiles, "Yes, we always used that path at night when I was with Shahin." Shahin (the falcon) was the most noted brigand of that region. My man then, who had just brought me a big bag of gold, was an ex-brigand. "Troubled to know if I dare trust him, I told the story to the Bulgarian bishop. His comment was short and decisive, "The man is an Albanian, is he not?" That was the verdict of an hereditary enemy on this singular race. It has a name for honor.

Kaiser's Son Gambling.

GENEVA, April 28.—The Swiss newspapers say that Prince Joachim, youngest son of the former German emperor, is one among German and Austrian aristocrats, most of them without passports, who have fled to the new Italian "Monte Carlo" at Campioni, facing Lake Lugano. Joachim, the newspapers assert, favors roulette, and large sums are lost and won nightly.

The Perfect Day
At the Carleton Place Hotel, a demand was adopted for a six-hour working day, with two hours for luncheon, but the Perfect Day will never be achieved until the schedule has it arranged for two hours of work and six hours for luncheon.—Providence Bulletin.

Arthur Balfour's Charm And Powerful Intellect Defined by an American

WRITING in The Dial, Norman Hapgood strongly recommends "The Mind of Arthur James Balfour."

It is, he says, "a challenge to consider Mr. Balfour apart from his political record; as a thinker, a spirit, a personality." And Mr. Hapgood goes on to say:

"He is a fascinating creature, of a fascinating entourage, but his individual importance for history lies in his policy of force and the British style of reform in Ireland—in those long years when he led either the Government or the Opposition—and in his success as a diplomat in the greatest of wars. As his uncle believed in him, he was put in Parliament at twenty-six; five years later he made himself famous by applying to Ireland coercion plus sensible concrete proposals as seen by a mind bred across the Channel; and at forty-four he was Prime Minister. Nobody claims for him a constructive legislative record—in his three most conspicuous subjects, Ireland, education and tariff, he solved nothing—but the House of Commons, which knows so much about Britain's progress, through many years loved and followed him. Britain always has her men of action—her Rhodes, Gladstones, Chamberlains; she has a quiet and prevailing instinct for getting things done; but her governing class also love a measured manner and calm indifference to political prizes. Sir Edward Grey's known preference for fishing over public life, the Duke of Devonshire's devotion to country occupations, Lord Salisbury's indifference, fitted the taste of an assembly of gentlemen long accustomed to rule. Mr. Balfour's manner, his love of philosophy, his rapier-like debating, his personal charm and his courage reached the House of Commons, as they will reach some who merely read his written words. A Briton will pass final judgment on some one by saying he is the sort of man with whom one would like to go tiger hunting.

"His firmness is not to be exploited. Even tragedy is questionable. A perfect type of the British aristocrat has a kind of unobtrusive preference for the agreeable. 'I personally like the spring day,' Mr. Balfour says, in responding to a toast to literature, 'and bright sun and the birds singing, and if there be a shower or a storm, it should be merely a passing episode in the landscape, to be followed immediately by a return of brilliant sunshine.' It is not the Lear or Oedipus type. I know not how true it is, but there used to be a statement current about the time Mr. Balfour was coming into prominence, that the most quoted book in the House of Commons was 'Alice in Wonderland,' and surely there is no book that appeals more unquestionably to a high and rather late culture. The fact that the House of Commons liked it so much is not unrelated to their love of Mr. Balfour, to whom human reasoning appears much as a grotesque.

"This type of mind has made him more formidable in destructive criticism than in positive propaganda or enactment, and it is fit that his most notable piece of writing should be entitled 'A Defence of Philosophic Doubt.' It is an entirely successful defence of philosophic doubt. The misty notions of evidence harbored by the unskilled have small chance against the writer; and his favorite target is the cruder skepticism.

"In insisting on Mr. Balfour's essential Toryism we must emphasize also the superiority of his individual intelligence. Why did he cease to be the leader of his party? Why were the letters B.M.G.—'Balfour Must Go'—posted over London? Who succeeded him? He lost his leadership, in the fight of a decade ago, over the House of Lords because he was not sufficiently rigid and narrow-minded to meet the spirit of the unbending Tories. It was the Bitter-Enders, in the House of Lords contest, who threw Mr. Balfour out. Since those days the leader of the Unionists has been an industrious and mediocre business man, with no troublesome individuality, and apparently Mr. Andrew Bonar Law managed his task, before the world war and since, to the satisfaction of those immediately concerned. Mr. Balfour's reputation seemed to have started on the decline until in the war he emerged as the man most trusted in foreign diplomacy, not for imagination, for conceiving or embracing a startling future, but for tact, negotiating ability, forensic shrewdness and judgment."

Ex-Crown Prince and the War

WHAT responsibility must be borne by the ex-Crown Prince for beginning the war? There is more difference of opinion as regards William the younger compared with William the elder. Everybody knows that if the Kaiser did not plot the war he had it in his power to keep out of it, and that if he had stood aside there would have been no war. The case for hanging William Hohenzollern senior is conclusive. But about the former Crown Prince there is more doubt. Is he a fire-eater, a man delighting in slaughter, a sinister figure who aimed to make himself popular in Germany by great military triumphs, and who drove his father into war by trying to outbid him for the regard of the German army and the German aristocracy? Or is he a rather empty-minded young man, more interested in sports and dissipation than in conquest, who knew little that was happening at the German Foreign Office, who cared less, who has no military ability, and is good-natured and weak rather than powerful and malevolent?

It is the latter picture that is drawn for us by Karl Wiegand, an American correspondent who was in Germany in the early years of the war, and who is probably the only journalist who had an interview with the former Crown Prince while the war was raging. Mr. Wiegand had the interview, which was extended over several days, at the headquarters of the Fifth German Army at Stenay, France, in the winter of 1914. He had to exercise considerable ingenuity to meet the Crown Prince, for when he made known his desire through the usual channels he was told that the Crown Prince was wanted to fight and not to talk, and it was plain enough that the Foreign Office dreaded what William might say to an American journalist. Whether the interview was reported by Mr. Wiegand at the time we do not know, but it is recalled by him now in the New York Sun in order to prove that the former Crown Prince is rather an object of ridicule or of sympathy than of detestation.

He spoke excellent English, with what appeared to the fascinated correspondent to be an English accent, and expressed the greatest admiration for the English people and their institutions, openly confessing the doubt that German diplomats and statesmen would ever approach the British standard. At the same time he admitted that for initiative the French soldier was much superior to the individual German. Hanging from the chandelier in the dining-room at the Crown Prince's headquarters was a number of little effigies or mannikins representing soldiers of the nations then at war with Germany, and once in the course of conversation somebody expressed curiosity as to the nationality of the nearest soldier that would have to be thus suspended. A general answered that certainly it would not be American. The Crown Prince was dubious, much to the astonishment of the other diners, for at that time the idea of the United States entering the war was certainly not entertained by a handful of Germans. But the Crown Prince insisted that it was more than a possibility, owing to the stupidity of the German diplomats.

He also declared that his father was surrounded by men who permitted him to know only what would serve their own interests, that he was never favored with an honest opinion that might conflict with his own views or desires. He admitted that the Kaiser was partly to blame for this, since he did not always want to hear the truth, especially if it happened to be unpleasant. "If I say anything I am represented as trying to interfere and told to keep my mouth shut," he said. Speaking of the origin of the war he insisted that Germany was obliged to fight in her own defence, but he confessed that the blunders of German diplomacy had made this inevitable. He spoke up of blunders, never of a deep-laid plot. His detestation of the Foreign Office was heartily reciprocated. There he was suspected of a desire to "butt in," and it was well recognized that as soon as he succeeded his father he would make a clean sweep of the statesmen then in control, with the single exception of Zimmermann.

Mr. Wiegand says that the idea that the Crown Prince directed the Fifth German Army, that of Verdun fame, is an illusion. He commanded the army in the same sense that King George rules the British Empire. Nor is it reasonable to suppose that such a tremendous task as the proposed capture of Verdun would have been entrusted to the least experienced of the German field leaders and by many years the youngest of them. The Verdun plan was worked out by von Falkenhayn, and the general who was supposed to realize it was Gen. Knobelsdorff, attached to the Crown Prince as chief of staff. Of course the idea was that the Crown Prince should reap the glory of the achievement, and it may be that the attempt on Verdun was prompted by dynastic as well as by military considerations. Some great military victory was necessary for the Crown Prince's prestige, for according to the correspondent he wholly lacks the strong personality of his father, and has not the ex-Kaiser's gift of making an imposing figure in the limelight. On the contrary there is something sheepish and even slinking about him. It remains for the League of Nations to consider his case and pass judgment upon him.

Help the Y.M.C.A. Finish its Work For Soldiers

Help the "Y" Construct the Manhood that will Re-construct Canada

ALL the world now knows that the Red Triangle of the Y.M.C.A. was the "Sign of Friendship" to thousands of your brothers, sons, nephews, cousins and neighbours' boys in the last four and a half years. Wherever the Canadian Soldiers went, the "Good old 'Y'" went too. And now it is coming back home with them!

For the support which has made possible the war work of the Y.M.C.A. we thank you. Your money has been well expended. We have rendered full account.

We ask now your continued sympathy and support for Red Triangle Service for our Soldiers during demobilization, and for Y.M.C.A. work for Canada generally during the Reconstruction period. The Annual Red Triangle campaign will be held throughout Canada May 5th to 9th, 1919. The objective is $1,100,000.

The Y.M.C.A. will keep its chain of Service unbroken till the end.

For Our Men Returning

For the soldiers and their dependents, returning from Overseas, we have provided as follows:—

1. A Red Triangle man on board every ship when it leaves Great Britain with a full equipment of games, gramophones and records, magic lantern, literature and writing materials. Where possible, also a piano or an organ. Lectures, concerts, sing songs, instruction re Government repatriation plans, and Sunday Services.
2. Red Triangle comforts and facilities for the men on arrival at Halifax, St. John, Quebec and Montreal, including coffee stalls, with free drinks, free eatables, cigarettes, candies, etc.
3. Red Triangle men on every troop train to provide regularly free drinks, eatables and cigarettes, organize games and sing songs, and furnish information.
4. Red Triangle free canteen service, information bureau, etc., at each of the 22 Dispersal centres in Canada.
5. Red Triangle Clubs in the principal cities of Canada in the shape of large Y.M.C.A. hostels to furnish bed and board at low rates and to be a rendezvous for soldiers.
6. Seventy-five Secretaries to superintend Red Triangle service in Military Hospitals, Camps and Barracks throughout Canada.
7. Tickets entitling soldiers to full Y.M.C.A. privileges for six months at any local Y.M.C.A. furnished.

In addition to our work for the returning soldiers, we have to maintain the Red Triangle service to the full for the soldiers in Siberia, as well as the work of special secretaries in Northern Russia, Palestine and Poland.

For Canada's Manhood

The Reconstruction program of the Y. M. C. A. includes the following vitally important developments:—

1. An increased service to 300,000 teen-age boys in the Dominion—the development of Canadian Standard Efficiency training; Bible Study groups; summer camps; conferences; service for High School boys, for working boys, in the towns and cities; for boys on the farm and for boys everywhere, who have lacked opportunity for mental, moral, physical or social development.
2. Inauguration of Y.M.C.A. work in the country, and the smaller towns and villages lacking Association buildings and equipment, on a plan of county organizations. This will include the establishment of Red Triangle centres for social, recreational and educational work among boys and men, in co-operation with the churches.
3. The promotion of Y.M.C.A. work among Canada's army of workers in industrial plants, both in Y.M.C.A. buildings and in the factory buildings, organizing the industrial workers of our cities by meetings, entertainments, games and sports.
4. The establishment of the Red Triangle in isolated districts where lumbermen, miners and other workers hold the front trenches of industry.
5. Besides these main fields of increased activity for 1919, we have to provide for enlarged work among railway men, college students and for our campaign to encourage physical and sex education. Under all our work we place the fundamental foundation of manly Christianity.

Y.W.C.A.

For the wives and children Overseas, dependent upon Canadian soldiers, and for Y.W.C.A. work in Canada generally, a sum of $175,000 from the Red Triangle Fund will be set aside for the Dominion Council of the Y.W.C.A., which is caring for the soldiers' women folk, and their little ones on the long journey, from Liverpool to Canada, and is also extending its work for Canadian girls.

For their sake also be generous when you make your contribution.

FOR the sake of our victorious soldiers and their dependents, and the happiness of their home-coming; for the sake of our future citizens, our teen-age boys; for the sake of rural life in Canada; for the sake of the social betterment of the toilers in factory and workshop; for the sake of lonely men and boys in our mines and forests; for the sake of Christian Society and Canadian manhood—we appeal to you. Give us your contribution, little or big. Be as generous as you can.

Hand your contribution to the canvasser when he calls, or if you live where it is difficult for him to call, send it by check, money order or registered letter to the National Treasurer, Red Triangle Campaign, 120 Bay Street, Toronto.

Please Note:

We are not asking for money to carry on our work Overseas, with the Army in Great Britain, France or Belgium. That work will continue at its maximum for some months, financially provided for by the liquidation of our assets Overseas, and will not terminate till the last man has sailed for home.

"A question of identity is disturbing me. I'm still hearing a certain song—I think I can never forget it. Are you by any chance the singer?"

"As it happens, I sang a little this afternoon."

"Then the finest thing in the world has happened."

"Did I do pretty well?"

"Pretty well? H-m-m!" he considered the matter judiciously. "Yes, I think I may safely say that."

She laughed as though he had been very witty, then quickly became grave.

"Were you thinking hard for me at the first, when I almost fished?"

"The hardest I knew how. I was afraid you were losing your nerve."

"I was. I never was so scared in my life. It came over me all at once that the next few minutes would probably decide everything for me, and I could see only strangers—critical strangers who wouldn't care. Then I saw you sitting back there and—and then I could sing. Thank you for coming!"

"It is to my happiness if I have been able to help you."

"You're quite welcome, I'm sure. I think for a minute that I could stay away? And are you aware that we have never shaken hands? It is really high time. Would you mind?"

Her smile was sunshine itself. "With all my heart." She put out her hand. He took it and held it.

And he dropped it and stood looking strangely at his own hand. For it was tingling deliciously. And at her touch and the look that went with it his heart had burst into a sudden mad singing—a song not of exile or thanksgiving, but of a longing to which he might never give tongue.

The hand fell slowly to his side. With an effort he lifted his glance to her questioning, startled eyes. He tried to make his voice easy and natural, but it was heavy and stiff.

"I—I congratulate you. I hope—I know—today is only the beginning of many fine things for you."

Then he turned quickly and left her. In his room, when the first daze had cleared a little, he set himself sternly to face this new thing, for he knew now why the old sense of loss—the dream woman shrunk to a wife to whom love was only a bubble to be worn in fair weather—and why the failure of love had ceased to trouble.

"I'm afraid it is."

"I'm very sorry. I appreciate my friends' willingness to help, but I'd hoped to be able to win solely on my merits, in this thing."

"Do you wish us—Mr. Blaisdell to refrain?"

"No. I need to get back into my profession. It means so much to me—in a new way—that I'll be glad to have it on any terms. That doesn't mean that I'm not grateful for the kindness I've had here—but I'm interrupting. And David went back to his drawing. All that day he avoided Esther, sticking close to his table. Not until she was leaving at the end of the afternoon did he seek her.

"Miss Summers, I forgot to tell your aunt that I shan't be back until day after tomorrow. Will you please tell her for me?"

"You are going away?"

"Yes." He made no explanation.

"I will tell her."

"Thank you." And because he was holding himself sternly rigid, lest eyes or tone cry out what must not be said, he spoke almost curtly.

She moved quietly away from him and did not once look back, though she knew he was watching her. But when a door was between them she stopped for a moment, quivering lips pressed hard, both hands tightly clinched. Then she, too, sought Jonathan.

"Mr. Radbourne, the church people telephoned today that I can have the position."

"I am very glad. When shall you be leaving the office?"

"At the end of the week if you can get some one for my place."

"So soon! I—"

"I will stay as long as I'm needed, of course."

"Oh, no! You're quite right to go at once. I can get some one to do your work. But not to take your place. I shall." Jonathan seemed deeply interested in the crystal paperweight on his desk. "We shall miss you very much."

"I haven't thanked you—"

"Please don't thank me for anything. I have done nothing any one could not have done. It is," he said huskily—"it is to my happiness, my great happiness, if I have been able to help you a very little."

Then he looked up and saw her face. "Miss Summers! You look overtired, and I have kept you standing. You must sit down, and let me get you"—

"It is nothing at all." She forced a smile to her lips. "It is only the reaction from yesterday. The ride home in the car is all I need. Good night, Mr. Radbourne."

And when she was gone he sat down and took a small mirror from a drawer and looked long and sadly at what it recorded. Suddenly he dropped the mirror and bowed his head on the desk.

David walked the next morning from the station to Aunt Clara's house. She greeted him in astonishment and offered her cheek for a kiss.

"This is a surprise. Shirley's out too. They've gone for a picnic and won't be back until dark."

"Yes; I saw them start out. How is she?"

"Shirley's quite well and seemingly enjoying herself."

"I suppose so," he said.

"And the boy too?"

"He didn't know me. I came to get Shirley to come back."

"Are you out of debt then?"

"Not quite."

"You've had a raise, or has something better turned up?"

"I've had one little raise. Nothing else has happened that I can count on. But we can get along nicely now, thanks to your help."

"For which you're not thankful at all," she smiled grimly.

"It was a mistake."

"Humph!" she sniffed. "Have you lived with Shirley four years without learning that she can't stand?"

"You must help to convince her it is best. She must come before it is too late."

"What do you mean by that—before it is too late?"

"I mean while I still want her to come."

"Eh?" Aunt Clara stared sharply at him. She put on her spectacles that she might stare more effectively.

Then a light broke in on her, a light too incredible, too dazzling, even for Aunt Clara's confident mind. "Eh?" David quivered. Do you mean to tell me—do you mean there is another woman? Who is she?"

Aunt Clara took off her spectacles, rubbed them mechanically and donned them again. Her hands felt nerveless to her lap.

"I don't know what to do," she repeated. "For the first time in all my existence I—I have no precedents. You must leave me for awhile until I can think this out."

He rose. "You can't think it out. I have tried."

"You'd better lie down and get some sleep. You're looking quite bad."

"No. I'll go out and find David Junior."

"Perhaps that would be better."

He went. For an hour Aunt Clara sat alone, trying to work out the hardest problem of life—how to raise a love from the dead—and all she achieved was a bitter self reproach for the first time in all her existence.

A ripple of childish laughter came to her through an opened window. She rose and looked out. She saw the Davids, little and big, sitting chummi-ly on the lawn. Then Aunt Clara thanked God that David and Shirley had been given a son.

"We have that much to start with, though it seems little enough just now."

When it was time for David Junior's dinner and nap she summoned David to her sitting room again.

"David," she began very meekly for Aunt Clara, "I've been thinking it over. I ought to blame you, but I can't. I've had all I could do blaming myself. Are you thinking I am a selfish, meddlesome old fool?"

David shook his head wearily.

"But I am. I was lonesome alone here in this big house, and I really thought—but never mind that now. Does she—that other woman know?"

"I think not."

"Is she—in love with you?"

"Oh, no! That is impossible. Oh, no!" he repeated. "That couldn't be. It would be too terrible."

"It's terrible enough as it is. Are you going to tell Shirley?"

"That wouldn't help matters, would it?"

"I suppose not," she sighed. "David, you must be very gentle with her. It isn't her fault she wanted to run away from hard times. All her life we have spoiled her, her father and mother and Mabel and I. I did it worst of all, as I never spoiled my own child. David, come over here."

He went to the chair beside her, and she reached for his hand very awkwardly.

"Oh, David, it's going to be very hard for you—all because an old fool!"—Aunt Clara was crying now noisily and unaccountably because she had had little practice. "And I'm afraid that when you see Shirley you'll find it even harder than you thought."

Wood as Fuel.

Experiments on wood as part substitute for coal in gas making have been carried out in France. The wood used was saw-pine in the form of billets cut from the middle of the trunk. The charge of the wood was about half the weight of that of coal, and carbonization occupied half the usual time. When running one retort with wood to every two with coal, no appreciable difference in the calorific power of the gas was noted. Of the two by-products—small coke and tar—the former amounted to 5 to 10 per cent.

Trimming and Staking Tomatoes.

This method of handling tomatoes has come into very extensive use in the past few years among the commercial market gardeners, owing to the high price of land and backyard gardens. The plants as a rule are set two feet apart each way and after planting are given one cultivation. The sticks are then set; driving them down about a foot into the ground, and leaving from five to five and a half above the ground. These sticks may be made from mill edgings, saplings or anything else of a similar nature about one and a half inches square and strong enough to hold the plants when the fruit is fully grown. After driving the sticks and tying the plants to them the ground should be covered from four to six inches thick with very strawy manure, as a mulch. This mulch will keep the moisture in the ground and, at the same time, remove any necessity for cultivation and other disturbance of the roots. In growing tomatoes on the commercial stem, such as is used in this method, all side branches which appear where leaf stems join the main stem of the plant are removed as quickly as possible. If they are allowed to grow it will take away very valuable plant food from the growing plant. The plant should be tied every eight or twelve inches to the stake and when they have reached the top are cut off.—A. H. MacLennan, Ontario Vegetable Specialist.

A Joy Forever.

An aspiration is a joy forever. To have many of these is to be spiritually rich.—Stevenson.

Motives.

Mr. Gladstone was once heard to remark that if all the wits of men were to be united in one brain, that man would be unable to appraise with perfect justice any single moral action. "The shades of the rainbow," he wrote, "are not so nice, the sands of the seashore are not such a multitude, as are the subtle, shifting, blending forms of thought and of circumstances that go to determine the character of one act. But there is one that seeth plainly and judgeth righteously."

CO-OPERATIVE EXPERIMENTS

How to Obtain the Most Practical Kind of Information.

Kindness and Cleanliness Two Chief Points to Observe in Caring for Dairy Stock—Cow and Young Calf Should Be Separated in Not Over Three Days.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

CO-OPERATIVE experiments have been conducted in agriculture throughout Ontario annually since 1886. Previous to the war the number of farmers conducting these experiments reached over 5,000, and in 1918 (the last year of the war) the number was slightly over 3,600. Some of the leading varieties of crops now grown in general cultivation throughout Ontario were introduced through the medium of the co-operative work, such, for instance, as the O.A.C. No. 21 barley, Marquis spring wheat, O.A.C. No. 72 oats, O.A.C. No. 3 oats, Dawson's Golden Chaff winter wheat, O.A.C. No. 61 spring rye, Canadian Beauty pease, O.A.C. No. 81 Soy beans, Rye buckwheat, Golden Bantam sweet corn, Early Amber sugar cane, Dwarf Essex rape, Irish Cobbler potatoes, Yellow Leviathan mangels, Grimm and Ontario Variegated alfalfa, etc.

The co-operative experiments enable practical farmers to obtain information regarding varieties of field crops, mixtures of grain for grain and for fodder production, ways of increasing soil fertility, etc., for their own particular farms which they cannot possibly get in any other way. They furnish hundreds and even thousands of object lessons annually, which form centres of interesting study along the lines of progressive agriculture. They enable farmers to get a supply of pure seed of the leading varieties of field crops which rapidly increase in quantity and which furnish seed for sowing and planting in large areas and for selling at good prices. The whole work leads to a substantial increase in farm profits and to a steady advance in agricultural education throughout Ontario.

The plan of the co-operative work for 1919 is printed in circular form and has already been sent to all the successful co-operative experimenters of the past few years. Other interested farmers could secure a copy of the circular by applying to the Department of Field Husbandry, Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Care of Cow and Young Calf.

Kindness and cleanliness are the two chief points to observe in caring for dairy stock.

About a week before the young calf is expected, the cow should be placed in a clean, well-bedded, comfortable box-stall. The practice of compelling cows to give birth to their calves, tied in the row, is cruelty for the cows, dangerous for the calf, and bad for the whole herd. Privacy and quietness should be the rule at this time.

The cow should be allowed to lick the calf dry, and should be kept tied until the after-birth is removed. The two may be left together for one to three days. Some remove the calf at once, but if it is to be reared, it should be left with the dam for two short time, in order to give the young animal a good start. Leaving cow and calf together for a day or two also tends to remove inflammation from the udder of the cow.

If necessary the cow's udder should be bathed with warm water or some form of liniment such as camphorated oil, or equal parts of turpentine and vinegar and an egg in one quart of the mixture.

In case the cow and calf are all right, they may be separated in not over three days, and the cow be returned to her regular stall. The calf may be allowed to remain in the box-stall, if not needed for another cow, or be placed in the nursery along with other calves, as this will cause it to forget its "mammy" more quickly. It should receive its mother's milk for a week, whole milk for two or three weeks, then skim milk and other suitable feeds for six months, and be kept dry and clean at all times.—Prof. H. H. Dean, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR MAY 4

MAN MADE IN THE IMAGE OF GOD.

LESSON TEXTS—Genesis 1:26-28; Ephesians 4:20-24; Genesis 2:7-9. GOLDEN TEXT—God created man in his own image.—Gen. 1:27.

DEVOTIONAL READING—Psalms 8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God Our Creator and Father.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What God Expects From His Children.

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Loyalty to Our Heavenly Father.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The Dignity and Worth of Man.

1. The Creation of Man (Gen. 1:26-28).

1. Time—when the earth, his home, was ready for him. The order in creation shows design on the part of God. He anticipated man's need in storing the coal in the earth, piling up minerals in the rocks, storing electricity everywhere, causing the water to gush from the valleys and hillsides, preparing plants and herbs for the healing of man's injuries and food and raiment adapted to every climatic condition.

2. His nature (vv. 26, 27). He was created in the likeness and image of God. This act was preceded by a special counsel of the Godhead. It was said, "Let us make man." This precludes the foolish and wicked assumption that man ascended from or through the brute. He came into being by a special creative act of God. This creative act is confirmed by Christ (Matt. 19:4; Mark 10:6). With such testimony we can dismiss the evolution theory as to man's origin as a human vagary. This likeness and image is not physical and bodily, but intellectual. (Eph. 4:24), and moral. (Col. 3:10). Man is spirit, soul and body (1 Thess. 5:23). God's likeness is reflected in man's tripartite nature. As there is a trinity and unity in God, so there is a trinity and unity in man. Spirit is the highest part of man, that which makes it possible for him to know God. The soul is man's self-conscious life, the seat of his emotions and desires. The body is the seat of the senses, the agency by which he knows the world. God made man with a personality capable of having fellowship with himself, with whom he could share his glory.

3. His rank and power (vv. 26, 28). Man, the last in creation, was placed

THE COUNTY PROVINCIAL HIGHWAY

A few weeks ago a number of the Reeves of Lanark County and Reeves of Carleton County, the Wardens and representative men of both counties met in Carleton Place for the purpose of discussing the location of the proposed County Provincial Highway having for its terminal the cities of Kingston and Ottawa and passing through the counties of Frontenac, Leeds, Lanark and Carleton. At that meeting the designation of the Highway through the county of Lanark, which had been made by the County Council at its January Session, was heartily endorsed, and a committee composed of Messrs. C. J. Foy, of Perth, C. M. Forbes of Lanark, and Wm. Nichols, of Carleton Place, appointed with instructions to confer with the County of Carleton in the matter of connecting the designations of Lanark and Carleton. Last Tuesday this Committee together with Messrs. Heber and Hogarth, representing the Highways Department, met a declaration of Carleton men, the Warden and several Reeves, when all joined in a general discussion of the project in all its phases. Those present were William Huber and George Hogarth, engineers, Ontario Highways Department, William Hemphill, Reeve of Carleton County, J. D. Ferguson, Warden of Lanark County, W. F. Bell, Deputy Reeve, Nepean, George Flewellan, Reeve, Goulbourn, Robert Cox, Reeve, Huntley; William H. Pratt, Reeve, Marlborough, Chas. J. Foy, Reeve, Perth; C. M. Forbes, Reeve, Lanark; William Watters, County Road Superintendent, Lanark County, Bower Henry, Nepean Twp.; Wm. Nichols, Carleton Place. At the conclusion of an exhaustive discussion of the whole matter and taking into consideration the service and the practicability of the various routes proposed, and having regard to local needs as well as through traffic the following resolution was carried unanimously:

It was moved by George Flewellan, seconded by Robert Cox, that Carleton County link with Lanark County in the proposed County-Provincial Highway between Kingston and Ottawa, at a point known as Ashton village, that the said highway in Carleton County follow the ninth line of Goulbourn to Stanley's Corners, thence North to old Stittville on the twelfth concession of Goulbourn, along the twelfth to Eagleson's Corners at the town line between Goulbourn and Nepean, thence along the base line to Bell's Corners and on to Ottawa by the toll road, provided that the portion of the old toll road from Bell's Corners to Richmond be taken into the county road system. The discussions were carried on in a friendly spirit and although at the outset it seemed that a settlement of the question was very remote, the logical conclusion came to the front, made all the clearer and stronger by the remarks of Mr. Huber, representing the Department of Highways, who pointed out that while primarily such an highway would serve as a connecting link between the two counties it must also be viewed in the light of local needs as it was in fact simply a higher and better type of highway than the present county roads. It was suggested that the counties shape themselves to begin sections of the proposed highway without any delay and as work was already proposed on certain sections of the route for this summer these plans may be changed to conform to the type and standard of a County-Provincial instead of ordinary county standard.

Rest a Minute

An exchange remarks: Often women complain about being tired, when, in the majority of cases it is their own fault, says the Delineator. They do not take care of themselves. They do not husband their strength. When they have an opportunity to rest, they fail to take advantage of it. Then they wonder why they get tired so easily—why they wear out.

The trouble with most women is they don't know how to take things easily. They think that, because they have many things to do, they must attend to them all at once. They must keep steadily at work until the last task has been accomplished, when, as a matter of fact a minute's rest now and then would give a great deal more energy to be expended in disposing of these manifold duties.

Thus, if the housewife is her own cook, she will find countless opportunities to rest a minute while working in the kitchen. To do this, however, she must see to it that the kitchen furnishings include some piece of furniture upon which she can truly rest.

"Rest a minute!" You don't have to take a long nap in bed, with the shades drawn. Just close your eyes, and let your whole body relax. It won't take more than the time that is necessary for a water to boil, or the loaf to brown, but it will do you a world of good.

"Rest a minute!"

THE WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE

Toronto, April 28.—The Legislature prorogued on Thursday last with a short and somewhat sombre ceremony. There was a bare quorum of members present and a few ladies in street attire. The Lieutenant-Governor was attended by a guard of honor of military officers but he himself wore civilian dress. The bills passed by the House were read by the assistant clerk and His Honor assented to their becoming law in His Majesty's name. He then read a formal address reviewing the work of the session and commending the members for their efforts.

His Honor's speech mentioned particularly the passing of the housing act, educational legislation, the granting of seats to women, the temperance act amendments and referendum, the creation of a Ministry of Labor, amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Mining Act, and other acts. The list of bills assented to was a lengthy one.

Toronto has found the Housing Act unsuited to its present needs, and the Prime Minister has promised to validate by legislation any scheme which the city may decide to embark upon to solve its own peculiar problems. Liberals have not sought to embarrass the Government in connection with its Temperance proposals, their attitude apparently being that the Government must shoulder responsibility for its own legislation as the Liberals undertook to do upon their "Abolish the Bar" platform in 1914. The granting of the right to women to become members of the Assembly has been advocated from the Opposition benches from the day the Government adopted the Liberal platform of enfranchising the women, and this measure went through with particular harmony. Another matter Liberals feel they may congratulate themselves upon is that at last the Government has seen fit to follow the urgings of the Opposition since 1914 to create a department of labor presided over by a responsible Minister whose chief concern will be to study and promote legislative and administrative action for the betterment of the conditions of the workers of the province. The Government temporized by first creating a Trades and Labor Branch under the Department of Public Works with a Superintendent at its head, then by announcing in the Speech from the Throne this year that this gentleman would be made a Deputy Minister, and finally by adopting the Liberal attitude that the Labor unrest industrially and shortage agriculturally called for distinct and separate consideration by a Minister unhampered by other important duties.

The Opposition during the past session has lived up to the traditions of our constitution, by constructively aiding the Government to pass progressive laws instead of indulging in obstruction. The present Workmen's Compensation legislation was initiated in the House by William Prondfoot, the present Leader of the Opposition, in 1910, based on the principles of the British Act modified to meet Canadian conditions. As a result of the Liberal agitation the Government appointed a Commission to investigate the matter, but it was not until after continued pressure from the Opposition that the Act was passed in 1914. The provision made this session for the payment of full medical aid to industrial workers was a Liberal plank in the election of 1914.

A Three Months' Fast

That a pig can retain life for three months without nourishment has been demonstrated to Uriah Pendleton of Mulmer. Last December Mr. Pendleton was puzzled over the mysterious disappearance of a sow. He had ceased to think of his loss when a couple of weeks ago the sow reappeared in the barnyard. She weighed 450 when she vanished, but came back a skeleton, every bone being discernable. The sow had forced her way into a small passage between the remains of a stack which had been cut down sheer and the new straw stack built over it, and was unable to get out. There she remained for three months and six days without anything to eat or drink other than what nourishment could be obtained from the straw within reach. The animal is picking up and has already commenced to put on flesh.—Gananoque Reporter.

The Breezy Western Way

They were playing poker in a Western town. One of the players was a stranger, and was getting a nice trimming. Finally, the sucker saw one of the players give himself three aces from the bottom of the pack.

The sucker turned to the man beside him and said: "Did you see that?"

"See what?" asked the man.

"Why, that fellow dealt himself three aces from the bottom of the deck," said the sucker.

"With what about?" asked the man.

"It was his deal, wasn't it?"

DISEASE COMES THROUGH THE BLOOD

To Cure Common Ailments the Blood Must be Made Rich and Red

Nearly all the common diseases that afflict mankind are caused by bad blood, weak, watery blood poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, lumbago and rheumatism, debility and indigestion, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve troubles. It is bad blood that causes disfiguring skin diseases like eczema, and salt rheum, pimples and eruptions. The severity of the trouble indicates how impure the blood is, and it goes always from bad to worse unless steps are promptly taken to enrich and purify the blood. There is no use trying a different medicine for each disease, for they all come through the one trouble—bad blood. To cure any of these troubles you must get right down to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is just what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. They make new, rich, red blood. They simply purify and enrich the blood, and the disease departs. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands of cases after other medicines had failed. Here is proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure. Mrs. M. Stills, who resides near the town of Napanee says: I cannot praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly. I was very much run down in health, suffered from frequent spells of indigestion, biliousness and sick headache. I had an almost constant pain in my head and my housework was a course of dread. In fact I felt so miserable that life held but little enjoyment. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I did, and the result was simply marvelous, and can best be summed up by saying that they made me feel like a new woman, and fully restored my health. I would advise every woman and girl who has poor blood, or is run down in health to give these wonderful pills a trial. I can never without them in the house.

At the first sign that the blood is out of order take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and note the speedy improvement they make in the appetite health and spirits. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

Memorials of Our Heroes

A statement on the work of the Imperial War Graves Commission, signed by Mr. Rudyard Kipling, announces that memorials to commemorate the parts borne by particular armies, divisions, or regiments in campaigns and battles, such as, to name only a few, the Canadians at Ypres, the South Africans at Delville Wood, the Australians at Amiens, the British at the breaking of the Hindenburg line, will be advised upon by a fully representative military committee.

"Sir Frederick Kenyon recommended that in each cemetery there should stand a Cross of Sacrifice and an alter-like Stone of Remembrance, and that the headstones of the graves should be of uniform shape and size. Plain headstones, measuring 2 feet 6 inches by 1 foot 3 inches, were therefore chosen; upon which the cross or other religious symbol of the dead man's faith could be carved and his regimental badge fully displayed. The regiments have been consulted as to the designs of these badges. In due time, wherever a man may be buried, from East Africa to North Russia, his headstone will carry his regimental badge identifiable the world over.

"The commission feel that relatives should, if they wish, add a short inscription of their own choice. These will be at the relatives' expense, and it has been found necessary to restrict the length of the inscription to 65 letters. Every cemetery will keep registers of the dead buried there.

"It is inevitable that there must be single graves and groups. There is a strong sentiment among all ranks that such scattered graves look lonely; and the instinct of the service demands that those who fell by the wayside should be gathered in to rest with the nearest main body of their companions. That is what the commission, with all due care and reverence, proposes to do."

All letters should be addressed to secretary, Imperial War Graves Commission, Winchester House, St. James' Square, S. W. London.

Y.M.C.A. Loss in France

Perhaps the Canadian Y.M.C.A. never did anything for the troops that was more appreciated than its provision of libraries since the armistice. For instance, the 31st Battalion received 500 volumes through the Y, and a few days later there were only 80 left on the shelves. The 29th was given 159 books and two hours later not one remained. One man made a habit of reading two a day somehow. A feature of the class of reading is the marked preference shown for what is termed the heavier reading. Books on electricity were particularly in demand. Of fiction and poetry Service's "Songs of a Sourdough" ranked first. The boys seemed to like the jingle of it and the rhymed lightness in its stories.

Buffalo in Dominion Parks

The report of the Department of the Interior for the last fiscal year contains the information that during the year there was an increase of 537 buffalo in Buffalo Park, Alberta, and only 14 of a decrease. There are 2,920 buffalo in this park. In Elk Island Park there are 161 buffalo, and the increase during the year 27, with no losses. There are 8 buffalo in Rocky Mountain Park, making a total of 3,069 of these animals, all healthy.

Government control of the sale of liquor in Ontario will come into effect on June 1st, and the Ontario License Board is arranging for this. The license year ends April 30th, but the Government is not in a position to take over the business by May 1st, so advantage is to be taken of recent amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to extend the licenses for a month.
