Pilorships Swamping to Magga.

Pilgrims Swarming to Mecca. Lordon, June 28.—The pilgrimage to Mecca has been extraordinarily large this year, the total number of pilgrims already heing about double that of last year. Over 20,000 have passed through Suez alone, and it is estimated an equal number have arrived at Mecca by overland caravans. The usual resultant conditions of the pilgrim ceason favorable to epidemics have been consequently aggravated, and the Egyptian Quaranthe Board has declared all the Hadjaz littoral to be foul and applied severe measures to prevent the spread of cholera and other diseases. Cholera has been rife at Mecca for some time.

London, June 28.—The new British mattleship Hood came very near meeting grave disaster recently, less than a week after she was commissioned. She was found one day to be leaking badly, and the water gained so rapidly that she had to be docked. The leak was caused by the opening of the seam of two of her keel plates, which had not been properly riveted. Instead of the rivets being driven properly home, they had been driven but half way in, and dummy stude placed on the other side. The discovery caused considerable excitement, as had the Hood been at sea when the plates started, disaster sould have been inevitable. grave disaster recently, less than a week

THE CAMP.

A Visit From the Minister of

Hon. J. C.Patterson, Minister of Militia, was the guer of Lieut. Col. Smith and staff at the cmp yesterday. He will remain over totay and spend his time mingling with the filters, and, to use his own words, he will ack for information about camp life, in order to present the volunteer's case and fight his battles in Parliamen with an intelligent idea of what is needed.

teer's case andight his battles in Parliamen with an intelligent idea of what is needed.

It was about; o'clock when the Minister of Militia appered on the field in company with the D. A. t. They walked leisurely over to the cease of the field, Col. Smith indicating the dierent points of interest on theway. On the tear they were buttonholed by Joseph Maraall, M.P., and Surgeon Roome, M.P., olthe Twenty-sixth. After a handshake and a chat here the Minister was taken over to the Thirtieth Rifles. The battallon wa allowed to stand easy and the officers cased out to be presented. After another hashake and a "Howdy-do-glad-to-meet-yell from all, the Windsor lawyer started in on a free-and-easy impromptu addres. He first of all disolaimed any intends of inspecting the troops from a military point of view. "I come here as a civilian," said Mr. Patterson, "in order to acquaint myself a far as possible with the life of volunteerin camp. I have to fight your battle in harlament and obtain your money for yes, and I like to know what I am talking about."

One of the officers a this junction volunteered the assuring intelligence that in that case they were all ready to back the Minister up.

Mr. Patterson wenton to state that he would be present for acquie of days. He was also certain that he could learn more by talking with the officers about the camp that by reading a dozen statistical reports. a dozen statistical reports. The decadence of enthusiasm among the modern volunteers also came in for a little decultory discussion. When the Minister had been a volunteer he had not found a dearth of that article, but the commander of the Thirtieth hinted that times had probably changed since then, and slived that a little trouble or strife night possibly reawaken in the breast of the furth awain the ardor for military life that was now apparently dead or dying.

With a polite bow the Minister withdrew, the officers went back to their stations, and the battalion continued their drill.

party. One particular monkey seemed to attract Mr. Crockett's attention, and he passed the remark that it looked very much like Major White. A nudge on the arm from a companion caused him to look round, and there was the major himself, boiling over with rage. Mr. Crockett took immediate means to recover himself. "Ladles and gentlemen," said he, "it's very evident that an apology is due to some one, and if you will decide to whom it is due I will make it on the spot."

This was the straw that broke the came 's back. Major White immediately withdrew, and, after a time, the party returned to their hotel. Mr. Crockett had hardly got into his room before a friend of the major waited on him to demand satisfaction and a meeting.

"As I am the challenged party," said David, "I believe I have the choice of weather the beauting of the major white that I will meet him in fifteen minutes with bow and arrows in the city park."

All's right with the world.

IF THE taxes on the Northwest farmer are reduced to the lowest possible notch, under the Liberal programme that would follow there would be no lack of immigrants. The contented settler is worth a dozen hired immigration agents.

OTTAWA Electric Street Railway Company collected 2,000,095 car fares last year, and paid 8 per cent. dividend. Ottawa has a horse car service also. It is proposed to amalgamate the two, and the city has arranged to take an annual rental of $450 a mile and grant a franchise for 30 years. The power used is chiefly obtained from the Chandiere Falls, but it is not always reliable.

Brandon, men who have hitherto been Conservatives joined the Liberals in demanding a sweeping reduction in the rate of taxation. The majority advocated the a visit to England. Liberal policy of a tariff for revenue only, while others thought certain lines should be placed on the free list. The monopolists will not rule the country after next general

HON. DAVID MILLS is enjoying a good laugh these days at the attempt of the London Free Press to make believe that his merits as a statesman were not fully recognized at the Ottawa Liberal convention, while Hon. Mr. Fielding, one of the leading statesmen of Nova Scotia, was given undue prominence. No one more Mr. Mills recognizes the fact that Mr. Fielding is an able man, and a coming member of the Liberal Government to be formed in Ottawa, should he choose to transfer his talents to that House at the invitation of his fellow-countrymen. But there is absolutely no ground for jealousy of Mr. Fielding on the part of On-tario statesmen, and if there were the member for Bothwell, standing as he does high in the esteem of the people of Canada and in the ranks of the Liberal party, and respected by the Liberal chieftain, would be the last to feel that due recognition of the merits of a rising young Nova Scotian statesman in any way reflected on his standing. The London Conservative organ must be decidedly hard pressed for something to cavil at when it is driven to manufacture complaints—to set up imaginary bogeymen—and to exercise its tender soul over purely fictitious grievances of a statesman so thoroughly satisfied with the results of the Ottawa convention as Hon. Livid Mills has expressed himself

LIBERALS ALIVE AND LIBERALS DEAD.

A western Conservative paper quotes the following grumble from the Ottawa Citizen, alive he could have truthfully said "there ain't nothin' to it." There is no ingratitude in thus remembering the honored dead leaders of a great party. The list is undoubtedly limited because the size of the banner was limited, and because the Ottawa brethren who displayed it knew very well that to include the names of Edward Blake, of Oliver Mowat, of Wilfrid Laurier, of Hon. Mr. Joly, and of many other Liberal leaders yet in the flesh would have rendered their banner altegather too ponderous in its demensions. This view may have occurred to our Ottawa contemporary, but to have taken cognisance of it would have spoiled its attempt to make believe that the Liberals regard their party leaders with less respect than is consistent with decency. We are no believers in hereworship, but we make bold to say that we TYROTOXICON. the size of the banner was limited, and worship, but we make bold to say that we and those who have worked with us to promote progressive views in this country entertain just as sincere regard for those who have tolled with us as do Conservatives for their former associates. Liberals may be a tride less theatrical in their swallow all their previous professions. Here we have the London Free Press of today, anxious to make a point at the expense of Hon. Edward Blake, dubbing Hon. Alex. Mackenzie "THE HONEST SCOTCH-MAN." What would the stalwart Liberal have said to such an eleventh hour confession if he had been alive his old friends may well imagine. Why, our city contemporary was one of the leaders in the hounding of Mr. Mackenzie with false charges of dishonesty while he was in public life. It accused him of conspiring with his brothers to defraud the Dominion Government — the most serious charge that could be laid against a statesman who had sworn to protect the public interests. The Free Press revives the stale slander that Mr. Blake intrigued to displace Mr. Mackenzie in the leadership-a libel that Mr. Blake many years ago met in the House of Commons with a challenge to his opponents to bring forward one iota of proof in its support. From the Conservative leader down to the Sproules and the Mackintoshes, they were dumb, and well they might, for the charge had not a scintillation of foundation. The fact was that as early as 1875, three years before his Government was defeated, Mr. Mackenzie wrote to his brother that the libelous policy pursued by those opposed to him-the dis taste which he entertained for constantly meeting unfounded charges of politica corruption and dishonesty-made him seriously consider whether or not, even at that stage, he should retire into private life. Thus it is shown that the disgraceful tactics of his opponents

Now, as we have seen, Mr. Mackenzie is confessed to be an honest man even by those who most severely traduced him The auti-protection wave is rolling over the Northwest as well as over the older Provinces. At yesterday's meeting of the Central Farmers' Institute of Manitoba, in yet attack him, there are those -like Mr. C. H. Mackintosh, M.P .- who are disposed to qualify their attitude to wards him. Mr. Mackintosh has been on He spoke at a Canada Club banquet in London, the other day, and this is how he put it:

day, and this is how he put it:

'Thoy had, too, sent Mr. Blake, and though he'differedirom thathonorable gentleman, and, rerhaps, were he back in Canada should not speak of him as he did here—(laughter)—they had learned to honor him and to feel that he was fighting a square battle, and that, whether he failed or succeeded, he would have the kindly sympathy of every Canadian."

The member for Ottawa is at least candid

The member for Ottawa is at least candid. He has kind words for Mr. Blake, because he is a member of the British House of Commons, but his tactics might change if Mr. Blake were to re-enter public life in If Mr. Blake were to die, we Canada. suppose Mr. Mackintosh would join the Free Press in telling the whole truth about him, whether in Canada or out of it. How can the reading public trust the journal or the public map that only begins to tell the truth about political opponents when they are dead ?

GLADSTONE GIVES CHECKMATE Gladstone has once more risen to the situation. He announced in the House of Commons last night that his Government had determined to pass the bill for granting local self-government to Ireland by the 31st of July. This is fair warning that the bill must be passed and reported to the House of Lords by the date named. The means used will be the closure, provided by the opponents of the Government when in power and now very distasteful to them. master tactician has made the The most popular move so far this session. After giving his opponents the widest possible rope, after proving from their own mouths that their captious criticisms, senseless amendments, inter-minable discussion of unimportant points the organ of the Dominion Government:

There was one name missing, through some oversight, doubtless, from the list given above. It was that of Holton, He was certainly a vory large man, and he filled a large place in public life while he sat in Parliament. But we are not so foolish as to accuse the Ottawa Liberals of intentionally failing to remember this fine specimen of a Canadian statesman.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

A lady of my acquaintance holds that lack of faithfulness in little things, on the part of people with whom you have to do or deal, is responsible for a lot of the minor worries of life.

Every now and again some one raises a superstitious cry about the ill-luck of having thirteen people at table. A lady friend of mine asserts that it is all non-sense. The only time when it makes her a trifle uneasy is when there are thirteen guests and only dinner enough for twelve!

I notice quite a difference in the skill of street ear drivers, particularly in their way of stopping at a terminus. A good driver will slow up neatly, without any the car up with a bump, which can do no good to either horses, cars, or passengers. Cover it up and call it a folding bed, or a sewing machine, for anything, because i sewing machine, or anything, because it the line "I notice they have a piano" appears in the inspector's report you are undone. Even the representative from your ward will let his hands hang limp when the vote is being taken. Taxes first, music afterwards, is No. 1 Committee's motto.

There is one thing about the state the streets in this city that is, I think, to say the least, not very creditable. My object of criticism is found in the unsightly condition of many of the boulevards. One cannot take a stroll without being struck by the neglect into which they have fallen. Like a small boy, whose mop-like hair knows not the smoothwhich they have fallen. Like a small boy, whose mop-like hair knows not the smoothing influence of the comb, these portions of the thoroughfare, in a great many instances, present a pittable spectacle. Tall, rank grass and obtrusive, undesirable weeds take the place of wellkept turf. The curbing is either in an advanced stage of dilapidation, or has entirely disappeared, and it is impossible to tell the difference between the boulevard and the overgrown read-edge.
Such a condition of affairs should not be permitted longer to exist. Who is responsible? Either the civic authorities or the citizens themselves are to blame. If a reform is in stituted it is immaterial which.
The tree planting mania which was prevalent in the city 25 years ago is observable in the beautiful foliage which envelops nearly every dwelling within its limits.
Would that a boulevard improving epidemic might sieze the present generation!
Then London's position in this respect, after the passage of a few years—as is unundoubtedly true of her trees—would be second to no other city on the continent.

CHICAGO'S SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS.

[From La Estrella de Panama, Panama.]

It is a curious thing that, if you tell a Londoner or Parisian that you do not think much of his city, he does not care whether you do or you don't. Tell a Chicago man the same thing and you make an enemy for life.

CANADA FIRST.

(Buffalo Express.)
The sentiment of Canadian independence was more loudly applauded at the sonvention of Dominion Liberals than was union with the United States. We are glad to hear that. Canada should be allowed to work out its destiny in its own way.

TO FOSTER, NOT TO "PROTECT."
[Montreal Witness.]
The policy of the Liberals, at the present ancture, is to foster and encourage home anufacture, not to "protect" it. If you protect" a child against the free winds of "protect" a child against the free winds of heaven, it may indeed seem to be fat, but it will only be bloated, sickly and doomed to premature decay. If you "protect" a manufacturer against the stimulus of healthy competition, you may indeed distress the taxpayers by spoon-feeding him at their expense, but you will develop a morbid growth of over-production, combines and strikes, which will in the end ruin the manufacturers themselves. manufacturers themselves.

A RUN TO FORT STANLEY.

The London Bicycle Club will have a un to Port Stanley this evening, leaving the club house at 6:40 o'clock, arriving in St. Fhomas at 8:05 and the Port at 9. They will return on the 9:30 excursion train. A large turn-out is expected. The members have a very cosy club house in their Picton street quarters. It is conveniently located, nicely furnished and thoroughly home-like. The membership is now nearly 80, comprising most of the best wheelmen in the city.

THE C. W. A. MEET AT SARNIA.

SARNIA, Ont., June 28.—The race meeting of the Canadian Wheelsmen's Association will be held here on Saturday, July 1, and flonday, July 3. The Sarnia Bicycle Club have done herculeau work in connection therewith, and nothing has been left Undere to resist the medical tempers.

Monday, July 3. The Sarnia Bicycle Club have done herculean work in connection therewith, and nothing has been left undone to assist in making it the greatest meet ever held under the auspices of the C. W. A. Every member has put forth his best efforts in preparing and arranging all the details. The track is a model of perfection, and it has been pronounced by the racers already on the grounds to be in perfect condition. All the committees have completed their work in connection with the management of the meet and for the comfort and amusement of the meet and for the comfort and amusement of the tribute of the visiting wheelmen, and the only remaining anxiety is, will the weather be lavorable? The entry list is enormous, and will require all the discretion and care of the officials. No less than 310 entries have been received for the different classes, and the prizes offered by the Sarvia Club age worthy of the best efforts of the contestants. LAWN TENNIS.

THE ENGLISH LADY CHAMPION.

Liss Lottic Dod, the holder of the ladies' singles lawn tennis campionship, was born at Birkenhead in 1871, and is consequently now in her 22nd year. Miss Dod started playing tennis at the early age of 9, and she quickly picked up the radiments of the game. In a year she was able to beat her elder sister, and only two years had elapsed when she ventured to compete in an open meeting, the Northern tournament, and won the ladies' consolation doubles with her sister. She continued to win prizes, and entered for the championship in 1887. She was only 16 years of age, and her defeat of Miss Bingley in the final came as a great surprise. She woo nagain in 1888, and then retired for two years, only to take premier honors in 1891 and 1892. Miss Dod not only plays a very strong game, but never gets the least bit flurried, and to this much of her success is ascribed. She also plays golf well.

BASEBALL.

ALERIS VS. ATHLETICS.

Old Sol seems to have no particular liking for the Alerts. The game between them and the Athletics of Hamilton had just got nicely started yesterday afternoon when a heavy shower of rain brought disappointment to a big crowd of baseball enthusiasts on the old Tecumsehs, in the box, who with Ripley made a capital battery. The fact that Jones struck out Hiscott, Hynd and Hutchinson in succession is good proof that he is yet a star. The field work of the Athletics, though, was by no means equal to that of their adversaries. Handley and Weber were the battery for the Alerts, and, of course, did good, work.

"Doc" Sippi, who has been playing professional ball with a United States team for a short time, came home yesterday morning, and covered second base for the Alerts. His left wrist is weak, but did not

How to Cure a Corn.

It is one of the easiest things in the world to cure a corn. Do not use acids or other caustic preparations, and don't cut a hole in your boot. social hour spent.

—The sprightly monthly "Onward," referring to the Toronto Methodist Conference, has this to say of the first appearance in it of a talented former South Londoner: The generous recognition of talent anywhere, even in its youngest members, is a marked feature of the conference. Mr. N. W. Rowell, a lay delegate, who is barely of the legal age to entitle him to Conference membership, gave an able address on the transfer question, and one on the Epworth League and its opportunities, which placed him at once in the forefront of the debaters, and elicited hearty congratulations from even those opposed to his views.

No. 3 Committee.

At last evening's meeting of No. 3 Committee, there were present Ald. Fitzgerald (chairman), Ald. Heaman, J. W. Jones, Stevely and Scarrow and Mayor Essery. The petition of Rev. W. T. Hill, for an electric light at the corner of George and Grosvenor streets, was laid over. George Taylor asked to be allowed to cover with sheet iron the frame part of a small addition at rear of 181 Dundas street, Boomer's confectionery. The committee decided not to interiore in the matter. Mr. Boomer has been summoned by the engineer. The engineer and Chief Roe were requested to consult together and recommend to the committee any suggestions or improvements they deem advisable to the fire limits bylaw. The bylaw for reserving the lane and veranda east of Covent Garden market house for the exclusive use of the tenants of the market building for their rigs was ordered to be submitted to the council for adoption. Contractor Beckett called the attention of the committee to the fact that hydrants at the Bernard House, Hodgins House and City Hotel were blocked with rigs, and it was impossible for him to water that section unless he had easy access to hydrants. Chief Roe also said there was great dauger in case of fire; it would cause delay. Unless hotel-keepers keep hydrants clear the privileges they now enjoy of allowing wagons, etc., to stand at hotels will be taken from them. Tenders for coal supply for city buildings until July 1, 1894, were received as follows: J. H. Brooks, 86 35 per ton; Bowman & Co., § 6 50. J. H. Brooks' tender was accepted. No. 3 Committee.
