The Czar's Plans.

Talk of a New Canadian Loan.

The Montreal Star's special cable says: "The announcement is made that Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Canadian Finance Minister. is coming to England to float a new Canadian loan. This visit is regarded as inopportune because just now Mr. Wilson, a writer in the Investor's Review, states that Canada's finances are in a perilous state. It was hoped that no fresh loans were intended.

France at the Front.

ANTWERP, Oct. 2 .- The World's Exhibit tion, which was opened here on May 5 by the King and Queen of the Belgians, was formally closed today with the distribution of awards. King Leopold and several members of the Cabinet attended the closing ceremonies, and the city was en fete. The largest number of awards granted to any one nation was received by France. Among her awards were 159 grand prizes. Turkish Reformers Arrested.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2. - Forty students in the Gulham Medical School in this city were recently arrested on the charge of conspiring against the Government. In their possession were found documents that were printed in Liverpool, Marseilles, Geneva and other cities, proving the existence of a widespread secret society. Thirty of the imprisoned students were subsequently released. The prisoners declare that their movement was not aimed against the Sultan, but against a corrupt Ministry.

The Queen Becoming Infirm. LONDON, Oct. 2. - Her Majesty has at last confessed her growing infirmities by having elevators put in at Balmoral. One is from the Queen's own apartments to the diningroom. The same improvement has been quietly added to her other palaces. She is almost crippled by rheumatism. Her medical attendants resolutely opposed the project of her going to the Russian capital at New Year's for the wedding of the Princess Alix and Grand Duke Nicholas until they realized that nobody seriously expected the wedding to take place then or at any other time. The Queen has almost wholly given up walking and is conveyed in a wheel chair even in her own apartments. Gen. Yeh Killed at Ping Yang. LONDON, Oct. 2 .- The Central News' Tokio correspondent states that after the battle of Ping Yang, while the Japanese soldiers were engaged in burying those who had fallen in the fight, they found, surcounded by a heap of dead bodies, the remains of an officer very richly clad. On the body was found a letter from the Chinese Government addressed to Gen. Yeh, commander-in-chief of the Chinese orces in Corea. This letter, together with others from the wife of Gen. Yeh and various documents which were also found in the body, fix beyond doubt the identity of the remains as those of Gen. Yeh, who was supposed to have succeeded in making brees by the Japanese. The body was Piease mention this paper.

interred with the honors due the rank of the deceased officer.

Mayoralty Contest in London. LONDON, Oct. 2 .- A poll of the guild electorate of London was taken today to decide who should be the next lord mayor. The poll was made necessary by the opposition shown by Ald. Sir Joseph Renals, who ought to have been elected according to the regular rotation. The voting resulted: Ald. Sir Joseph Renals, 1,462; Ald. George F. Phillips, 1,460.

There were six other competitors. Sir Joseph Renals and Ald. Phillips head the poll. The final voting will take place tomorrow. Today's figures indicate that Sir

Joseph Renals will be elected. London, Oct. 3 .- Sir Joseph Renals, the senior candidate for the mayoralty, was elected by a ballet of the guilds today. British Cabinet Suddenly Summoned. LONDON, Oct. 2.-A special Cabinet council has been called for Thursday next, and the members of the Ministry who are absent from the city have been hurriedly summoned to return. Telegrams have been sent to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, who started yesterday for Italy, and others of the Ministry who are in the country. Sudden new developments regarding the relations between Great Britain and France are summoning of the Ministers. London, Oct. 3 .- The Daily News, referring to the special meeting of the British Cabinet called for Thursday, says: "Rumor is always wrong when it deals with the causes of Cabinet meetings. Wise men do not heed such tumors. The only reasonable assumption at present is that the Angle-French negotiations require the without doubt the reason for the hasty attention of the Cabinet." The News discussess Great Britain's general relations with France and expresses the belief that France is as much inclined to fair dealing and friendly arrangement as England is.

The Standard says that nobody whose opinion has any value believes for a moment that any question has risen that could not be amicably arranged by patient and temperate decision.

The Daily Chronicle alludes to the occasion for summoning the Cabinet as a grave and serious matter.

A New Tree Disease. PARIS. Oct. 2 .- Epidemics or diseases raging among communities, and epizoa, naladies among animals, have a third malgnant in their group, a disease destroying trees. It was at first supposed that the ine chestnuts along the avenue Champs Elysees were being smothered by escaping gas, and their depressed condition was employed to promote electric lighting schemes in the French capital. It is feared that the entire fruit-bearing class will be attacked, and the Department of Agriculture is besieged with prayers from all over the country for help in saving orchards. The reports of the scientists show clearly that neither worms nor gas can be charged with the epifolia, and that its real nature is up to this time a profound mystery. It first attacks the leaves of trees and shrubs, then the branches, and, finally, the stock and the very roots, so completely rotting even the most robust that the wood, in many cases highly available for industrial use, is worthless even for that. English commissioners are studying the phenomenon on behalf of that Government, anticipating its extension through fruit, nuts or green wood to the British Islands.

The Japs' Advance.

London, Oct. 2.-In response to a letter written to the Times by Sir. Halliday Mc-Cartney, secretary of the Chinese legation, in which the writer states that the reports of the battle between Chinese and apanese at Ping Yang are not yet confirmed, the Japanese legation affirms the accuracy of the previous statements that the Chinese were completely routed. An official telegram received at the legation stated that the number of Chinese troops engaged exceed 20,000, and that with the exception of some who fled all were killed, wounded or taken prisoners.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News telegraphs: There is no sign in Tien Tsin that Li Hung Chang's power is waning. His audiences are as well attended as ever. He has several thousand well armed and regularly paid troops who protect visiting Europeans. Much anxiety is felt for the foreign residents, as the populace is behaving insolently and become unusually threatening. The removal of the treasures and archives from Moukden has made a bad impression, being regarded as a display of weakness. The Westminster Gazette prints a dispatch from Tien Tsin saying it is officially stated that 5,000 Japanese troops have arrived at Possiette Bay, near the Russian frontier. The Gazette, commenting on this news, says it is important, if true. Possiette Bay is only a short distance from Vladivostock, and the Japs who have landed there have been sent either for the purpose of guarding the Russo-Corean frontier or to threaten Kirin, wherein is located the famous arsenal of Manchuria.

John Brandau Accused Mrs. Turnbull of Breach of Promise of Marriage,

And Gets One Dollar as Balm for Wounded Feelings,

But He Pays the Costs-Miss Lyons, of Hamilton, Secures $1,000 - Two Interesting Cases at Stratford.

STRATFORD, Ont., Oct. 3.—The case of Brandau vs. Turnbull, tried at the assizes yesterday, is without precedent in the judicial history of this county, and one rarely heard of in any other part of the country. It is that of a man suing a woman for alleged breach of promise of marriage. The court room was filled with spectators. The parties to this suit are John Brandau, a farm laborer and carpenter, of Wellesley township, about 38 years of age, and Mrs. Robt. Turnbull, of Stratford (nee Annie Forest, of Wellesley). The plaintiff is a rather awkward looking German farm hand, and the defendant, a middle-aged woman, who evidently deeply felt the annoyance which the revelations of the case entailed. Her husband, Mr. Robt. Turnbull, occupied a chair beside her counsel, and at intervals consulted with him as to the questions put to the witness.

The plaintiff's case was outlined by his lawyer, Mr. Maybee. It was about 1880, he said, that the defendant first consented to marry the plaintiff. Brandau was at the time working on her father's farm, in Wellesley township. The defendant says that the engagement was broken off in 1891 because plaintiff was dissipated. Brandau denied her complaining to him regarding this, and says he did not drink and that the charge of drunknness was merely a quibble. While Brandau was in Rostock defendant was going with another man. He then burned her letters but did not lose hope. In 1892 the engagement was renewed, and defendant admits that in April, 1893, she was engaged to plaintiff. By her father's death, in the fall of 1892, she became heir to about $10,000. On March, 1893, she became engaged to Robt. Turnbull, of Stratford, and during the latter part of March and the beginning of April, according to her own admission, she was engaged to both. She says that in April, 1893, plaintiff came to her brother's house and asked her if she was going to marry Turnbull, She told him she was, and she says that he then released her from her engagement. Brandau denies that he released her. Early in 1892 a man named Marklinger was paying attentions to the defendant. He seduced her, and in the fall of that year she gave birth to a child. At an interview with plaintiff in May, 1892, she told him of her trouble, and they decided that the engagement should stand in abevance. Defendant afterwards married

Mrs. Turnbull, the defendant, sworn, admitted the engagement. It was broken in 1890 and renewed in 1892. After their reengagement she told him of her disgrace and he fainted. She wanted him to marry her right away, as she had no mother or sisters and wanted some one to look after her. He simply said to her that he would see; but subsequently wrote to her that he couldn't marry her after what had happened. In February, 1893, she wrote him to know if he had given her up and if she was free to marry someone eise. To this she said she received no answer, In the following April Brandau learned of defendant's engagement to Robert Turnbull, and became very abusive. Defendant urged plaintiff to drop the matter and call it all settled. Finally plaintiff walked over to defendant, put his hand on her shoulder, kissed her, and said he would call it all settled. The defense offered evidence as to Brandau's drinking habits, but his lordship rejected the evidence, owing to complete particulars not having been furnished. After lively arguments by counsel and a charge by the judge, the case went to the jury. Plaintiff's counsel asked for between $2,000 and $3,000. The jury returned a verdict for plaintiffdamages, $1. His Lordship refused to allow the plaintiff any costs of the suit.

MISS LYONS GETS $1,000. Lyons vs. Wilson was an action for breach of promise, brought by Miss Agnes Lyons, of Hamilton, against Mr. Davis McKee Wilson, of Stratford. No counsel appeared for the defendant. The plaintiff related to the jury her story briefly. She met defendant at Hamilton, where he was a clerk, in 1887. In June, 1888, the parties became engaged. and a year later plaintiff received her engagement ring, and December was fixed for the date of the marriage. Plaintiff prepared her trousseau, but the marriage was postponed till the spring. Defendant left Hamilton and lived in Peterboro for some time and then came to did not know they had moved. Stratford. Numerous letters were exchanged between the parties, about 100 of | times." which were produced in court. Up to July. 1892, defendant, in his letters, professed undying love for the plaintiff, but subsequently married Mrs. Kilburn, a widow with three children. The jury assessed the damages at $1,000. PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY. Salvation Citadel and Prison Gate Home.

A Food and Shelter Depot Where Supper, Bed and Breakfast May Be Had for 13 Cents or a Wrestle With a Wood Pile.

Victoria Hall, since it became "Salvation Citadel," has undergone some rapid and radical alterations. The provincial head quarters and necessary offices are now situated there. The change in the body of the hall is striking. The gallery has been re-moved altogether and this gives the room a bright and airy look and keeps the cailing at a respectable distance. The stage has been fitted with seats tier above tier, and nicely finished. The seating space of the building has been entirely rearranged. The floor has an elevation of two feet, sloping towards the stage. This makes it possible for everyone to see and hear from any portion of the building. The parlors on the south side of the building have been put to various uses, principally connected with the Prison Gate Home and Shelter Depot that are being instituted by the army. On the first floor, formerly occupied as a corset manufactory, is arranged a kitchen and pantry. This part is partitioned off, and windows are left opening on a lunch counter. Tables will be placed in the front of the counter. On the next story is the sleeping room, with accommodation for 36 beds. Space is economized and the beds arranged in stands, one above the other. This is the cosy end of the shelter. From a window the other portion can be seen. It consists of looking woodyard, and here the applicants for a night's lodgings will be sent to earn that boon by sawing wood. Bed, supper and breakfast will be given for exactly 13 cents or its equivalent on the wood pile. A neat bathroom and lavatory adjoins the bedroom, and down stairs in the basement where the wheels of printing presses used to hum merrily, a reading and lounging room will be fitted up. Men who have nothing to do and nowhere to go will be made welcome, and by this means unfortunates will be kept away from bar-rooms and saloons. Away up on the third flight rooms have been arranged for the use of the officers who will be in charge of the shelter. More rooms have been fitted up on the north side of the building for the officers in charge of the army. Away down where the gymnasium used to be a small hall is being fashioned in amphitheater style to accommodate 300 people To the rear and behind the stage are the rooms of the janitor. The dwelling to the south of the hall has been rough cast and remodeled and in it Staff-Captain Collie and family reside. The officers expect to have the shelter in operation in about three weeks.

The army officers will leave check books with philanthropic persons who are in the habit of providing money to shelter homeless people. Instead of money they will receive a check, and once a month the army will call on these charitable persons and collect the amounts. This will prevent the money being used to buy liquor, as often happens when indigents are supplied with cash.

THE DARK SIDE OF LIFE.

Scenes Enacted at the Carling Street Court-A Pensioner La Trouble-Found in a Vacant House,

Joseph Cain, who left one leg on a battle field, occupied a place in the cage at the Police Court this morning. Like other old soldiers a penchant and a pension were the means of getting him into trouble. Mr. Cain's penchant is a liking for liquor, and the quarter's pension money that he has just received supplied him with means to gratify his taste. He was also charged with being disorderly. "When were you here last?" the police magistrate asked.

"Seven or eight years ago, sir."

"Yes, sir." "You can go."

Cain was out of the cage and preparing to depart when the magistrate noticed the "disorderly" part of the indictment. "Stay where you are," he ordered.

And Cain, with his martial training, halted abruptly, faced about and came to

Narrow Escape. Massillon, Ohio, Oct. 2-Passenger trains

No. 35 and 36 on the Cleveland, Lorraine and Wheeling Railroad collided at Pauls, five miles north of here, this morning. No. 35 was loaded with Knights Templar bound for Cleveland. The collision was caused by the carelessness of Engineer Buell, of the north-bound train, who had orders to pass No. 35 at Coxey's Siding. The engineer mistook a freight on a side track for the south-bound express and started ahead. A moment later he met the train he supposed he had passed. Only the reduced speed at which he was going prevented a frightful list of fatalities. Everybody was more or less bruised, but no fatalities resulted.

Miss Mary Magnire. Mr. C'iff Murdy, of Lucan, acted as groomsman. The bride was remembered by her numerous friends, as seen in the beautiful and costly array of presents, not the least of which was a handsome black horse, presented by her brother. The happy couple, amid a shower of rice and congratu-lations, left to spend their honeymoon in the Queen City.

In the report of the results of the depart. mental examinations last August the AD-VERTISER credited Strathroy with only two successful senior leaving candidates. It now transpires that no fewer than five candidates out of a possible six were successful. The earlier report was due to errors of officials at the education department. A 33 per cent record of candidates successful is not one to be proud of, but an 83 per cent record is a very different thing. The latter is the Strathroy record for 1894. PERTH. Mr. Fowler, architect of Knox Church. Mitchell, brought a claim against the contractor of $2,000 for errors, which will make a big difference in the price to be paid for the church.

A Couple En Route to Montreal Were Fleeced by an Acquaintance.

HAMILTON, Oct. 2.-Mr. and Mrs. Goldstein, of Buffalo, who were on their way to Montreal, had to stop off at Hamilton today owing to a trick practiced on them by a Buffalo sharper. When Mrs. Goldstein was waiting for her husband at the station in Buffalo a man with whom she was slightly acquainted approached and asked her where she was going. She told him to Montreal, whereupon he offered to purchase her tickets for her, as she had a child to care for. Mrs. Goldstein gave him $18 and the man returned with two tickets. When the conductor came around collecting it turned out that the tickets were from Buffalo to Hamilton. The couple had very little money, but Hamilton Hebrew citizens helped them on their journey.

Heavy Hack Hire-Night Schools-To Change the Name of a School.

The Board of Education held another short session last night, completing the business by 9 o'clock. High School Inspector Hodgson presented a report on his recent inspection of the Collegiate Insti-tute, which reflects very creditably on Principal Merchant, his efficient staff and the school board as well. The school grounds, buildings, class rooms, halls, waiting rooms, teachers' private rooms, desks, blackboards, lighting, heating and ventilation were rated first class, but the closets were rated third class, as they are inadequate for the largely increased attendance. The equipment of the institute was thoroughly satisfactory; every subject on the programme was taught; the division of duties and ratio of pupils to teachers are satisfactory, and the character of the teaching of English classics, drawing, mathematics, French and German, reading, science and commercial were first class. The drill, calisthenics and gymnastics were rated at third. The concluding statement

"It affords me pleasure to report that the institute is in an exceedingly efficient condition. As I remarked in speaking to the pupils, it is in my opinion second to none in the Province.'

The report was sent to Nos. 1 and committees. No. 2 committee's report recommended the payment of several accounts and the japanning of the deck roof of the Collegiate Institute. Trustee Greenlees called attention to an account of $14 for hose ordered without instructions from the board or any committee, and which, he said, had not appeared in the accounts. He understood that trustees were expected to order goods only in case of emergency, and then not to any amount exceeding $10. He heard that the chairman was the offender this time. Mr. MacRobert said his reason for ordering the goods was a proper one, He had been at Aberdeen school and found that the hose was absolutely necessary. It turned out that the item was included in the accounts. It was recommended that A. Westman be paid $24, and this covered the $14 bill for the hose.

Mr. Powell brought a matter up which had never reached the columns of the newspapers before. The chairman had not committed a beinous crime, but it was time this kind of work had been dropped. He (Mr. Powell) heard of the account, and he went to the treasurer's office and had the books overbauled. There it was found that two cabs engaged for an afternoon's outing by a committee had cost the city $13. Something must have been wrong. The report was adopted and the matter

Referred to No. 1 committee. Principal Merchant reported 618 pupils on the Collegiate roll for September, with an average attendance of 563-an increase over September, 1893, of 51. No. I committee recommended the establishment of night schools at Colborne and King streets, with Messrs. Bryant and May as principals respectively. Adopted.

Accounts to the amount of $1,996 17 were recommended for payment by the audit committee. Trustee Wilkins gave notice of motion that the name of Askin street school be changed to Victoria. Trustee Jeffery moved that a new stove be secured for Queen's avenue kindergarten. No. 2 with power. Trustee Jeffery moved that some steps be taken to obviate the necessity of using so many scribblers. No. 2. No. 2 will investigate the cause of the offensive odor in some of the rooms in Lorne avenue.

CANADIAN BUTTER AND GOV-ERNMENT INTERFERENCE.

At a meeting in Ottawa recently, purporting to be made up of Dominion butter manufacturers, a resolution was passed to the effect "that something should be done towards having our butter placed in better condition on the British market, with a view of securing for us a larger portion of the trade with that country," and a committee was named "to lay the views of this meeting before the dairy commissioner, Prof. Robertson, in order that he may bring the matter before the Minister of Agriculture and members of the Dominion Government."

On the principle of the old adage that "Good wine needs no push," our good Canadian butter should need no puffing up in the English market by Prof. Robertson nor by anyone else, and it does not. Give the Englishman fresh butter of the right quality and he will willingly take it on its own recommendation. On the other hand, no one can possibly create a market for bad butter, no matter from where it is sent. We have some recollection of Government interference in the article of butter. Some years ago a consignment was sent to Britain from an experimental station after it had been kept until it was in an "off" condition, and with results which, as a matter of course, were in no sense satisfactory. The price commanded in England was low, and it has been reported that the Government had to pay the difference to the Canadian farmers who supplied the cream for the experiment.

The needs of the butter industry of Canada today are simple. They are well known to every shipper, to hundreds of dealers, and to almost every farmer, and the country needs no expensive trips or inquiries abroad to discover the truth. There is now and always a good market for first-class Canadian butter in Britain, Hundreds of dealers in Canada are ready to buy and to ship. If there is to be improvement, it must be made here, either by co-operative creameries or by such other means as are found to be best. But it is absurd to suppose that the reform will come from abroad. Indeed, to be successful the butter industry must follow the lines of the cheese business and be left to the enterprise and effort of the Canadian -Reports having been published to the effect that certain Toronto alderman demanded money from the electric light company for the purpose of securing the acceptance of the company's tender for street lighting, a public investigation will be made before the county judge. This action has been promoted by Ald. McMurrich and Hallam, who very properly hold that so serious a charge should be probed to the bottom, and the guilty men, if they exist, brought to book. Publicity will injure no honest man.

GENERAL BOOTH'S ARRIVAL.

Gen. Booth, the veteran founder of the Salvation Army, who is now on this continent, is one of the remarkable men of the age, worthy to be ranked with men of genius, such as Gladstone, Browning, Bismarck, Napoleon. The latter was for a time the great conqueror, but his triumphs soon faded into the ashen gray of fatility, while the salutary and saving results of the world-wide organization founded by Gen. Booth will go on forever. This from the St. John (N. B.) Globe is well said: "No doubt there is considerable curiosity to see and hear an eminent man, but also is there a desire to show appreciation of his personal character and of the greatness and usefulness of the work which he is doing. The world admires genius and is generally willing to encourage it when it has proven that it deserves to be encouraged. In the great things for humanity which Gen. Booth has accomplished in the 29 years which have elapsed evidence that his genius displays itself in love of mankind, in effective organization, in skillful management and in successful the work is not his but God's."

in the addresses presented to Hon. Mr. position to consider the public needs as pound, which has prevented the profitable use of his right eye. First Minister of the Crawn.

PRINCIPAL CAVEN AND THE KNOX JUBILEE.

The Knox College Jubilee celebration at Toronto naturally draws attention to the head of the teaching staff, Principal Caven. Those who heard his recent address in this city before the Methodist General Conference do not need to be told he is one of the few public speakers who could stand verbatim reporting. A man of deep sincerity, quiet in manner, reproachless in courtesy to friend or antagonist, singularly lucid and logical in mind, firm withal, it is not often the sauvitor in modo, fortiter in re, is more happily exemplified. The Presbyterian Church has no special leader-all its ministers being regarded as bishops-but if there is any one man who possesses more than any other one man influence with the General Assembly and the Church at large, that man is Principal Caven. His tall, spare figure, his keen yet kindly face, are known to thousands. The ADVERTISER presents its best wishes alike to Knox College and its worthy principal.

-If the Guelph Herald is well informed. the recent sad experience of the people of Erin village should prove a warning to every municipality in the Province. According to this authority, diphtheria was brought from Orangeville to Erin by a young girl who had in the former town been nursing an aunt who died of the disease. When she came to Erin this girl slept with another aunt, Mrs. Bilback. Mrs. Bilback took sick and died. The attending physician reported to the medial health officer that the cause of death was sore throat. Then Hiram Bilback, a son of the deceased, took the "sore throat" and walked about the village and, Dr. Mc-Naughton says, "gave the disease to nearly twenty others." Three of the twentychildren of Messrs. Sanders, Overland and Ramsbottam-died. The lesson cannot be too strongly enforced that only by prompt medical action and complete isolation of those afflicted as soon as possible can the ravages of this dread disease be stayed. When it is stayed, then there should be earnest inquiry as to its source. It is a filth disease; it cannot thrive where absolute cleanliness is enforced.

NOT WOLFE'S SWORD-SOME

OTHER SWORD. There is no more skilled searcher after the truth with regard to early Canadian history than Douglas Brymner, who has charge of the Dominion archives under the Ottawa Government. It has been left to him to make the research which proves how effectively innocent Mr. Patterson, Canadian Minister of Militia, has been taken in through the purchase of a sword | injured. He could not read without injury, that was reported to have been the weapon and pains in the head were incessant. Witwith which the redoubtable Gen. Wolfe Patterson was recently represented as having paid a large sum for this alleged Wolfe sword, and he presented it to the Dominion with a great flourish of trumpets. It was said that the aword had really been left lying on the Plains of Abraham for 90 years; that it had not been discovered. though the scene of the conflict had in the interval been searched over and over for relics; and that it was in the best of

Mr. Douglas Brymner has now in his possession evidence that overturns these contentions. The sword which General Wolfe used when he fell at Quebec is now and for 58 years has been at the United Service Museum at Whitehall, London. It turns out that when Wolfe's effects were sent home from Quebec after his death his sword was among them, and it was subsequently presented by the warrior's executors to the United Service Museum, with all the correspondence relating thereto. The whole was recently inspected by the writer of "Memoirs of General Wolfe," who is preparing the work for Macmillan's biographical series, "Men of Action."

It is thus clearly proved that the Quebec sword of General Wolfe lies in the Royal United Service Institution, and that Mr. Patterson, the Canadian War Minister, has in this matter, as in some others, jumped at a conclusion. His sword should be "withdrawn from circulation," seeing it is

THEY WOULD MAKE A GREAT

ONTARIO FRUIT IN MANITOBA-There seems to be good demand for Ontario grown fruit in Manitoba, if it reaches the market in first-class condition. The Winnipeg Commercial makes the complaint that it is not always marketed as it ought to be. It asserts that a lot of the fruit sent up this year should never have been shipped. Peaches and plums were especially out of condition, and "early since he began his work there is ample apples" were received that must have been porary supplies several hints that should be of value to our growers and shippers. Action for $5,000 Damages Resulting From a Runaway.

Tuesday Afternoon.

This afternoon's session resulted in a surorise for many who had heard the case of Delve vs. the G. T. R. The jary retired at o'clock, and at 5 they announced that a verdict had been reached. They found the company's employes had neglected to ring the bell when the train was approaching the crossing; that the plaintiff had exercised reasonable care, and that he was entitled to $1,000 damages and costs. Counsel for the company asked for a stay of proceedings. "It is not necessary," said Judge Robertson. "It is a jury case. If it were necessary I would certainly grant it. I will stay proceedings until the Divisional Court sits to give the company an opportunity to CRIMINAL CASES.

In the case of the Queen vs. Justin Hare, charged with stealing two wagon wheels, the grand jury rendered no bill. True bills were returned against Edward Kilbourne, charged with the seduction of a Dorchester girl under promise of marriage, and Robert Herrington, accused of setting fire to McIntosh's planing mill in Strath-roy on Aug. 18. Kilbourn is out on bail, and when Judge Robertson wished to arraign him he did not appear. The accused will be called upon again, and if he does not attend his bail will be estreated.

Herrington was arraigned, pleaded not guilty, and will be placed on trial on Thursday morning. ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

Another action for $5,000 damages occupied the afternoon. Stephen Bond, of Mount Brydges, is the plaintiff, and Dapiel Lamont and Wm. Pincombe, of Caradoc township, the defendants. Bond, it appears, was driving to Strathroy in March last with his wife. When they reached Lamont's place the horse took fright at some logs ond lumber belonging to defendant and lying on the roadside. Bond asks compensation for injuries received by being thrown out of the rig.

Mr. Stuart questioned Bond first as to whom he bought the horse from. Judge Robertson-I do not think that is of any account. Mr. Stuart-Well, I want to show the character of the animal. The Judge-Whether it was a bob-tail or not, I suppose? Bond said he was driving to Strathroy, and when he reached the corner of the 7th and the Adelaide road the horse bolted at a pile of logs on the roadside. A little further on the animal took fright at some lumber. Witness remembered the horse giving the second kick and that was all. He was taken to his father's house in Strathroy and did not regain consciousness for about four days, when the doctors were probing in his forehead. His right eye became useless and his right knee was badly ness said he could do no work.

"She had the muscles of one leg badly lacerated. Could not go to church. "Oh. that is not evidence." said the court, "unfortunately a great many people do no want to go to church.' As to losses, Bond said he had to employ assistance on the farm. His father helped him, but witness did not know what he would charge.

"Well, you cannot include that. Maybe the father wouldn't charge anything unless he thought he could get it out of the defendants," said Judge Robertson. The plaintiff's wife, Laura Bond, described the accident about the same way as her husband. She was very badly frightened when the horse kicked the first time, and prepared to jump out of the rig, but didn't get the chance-she was thrown out. Witness received severe bruises on her side and shoulders. Mrs. Bond burst into a fit of crying during her examination, and was given a chair. She told of her own injuries and the result of the accident to her husband. He was troubled mentally, and had an unusual fluency of speech-could talk twice as fast as she could. "That's where he has get a big advanage over you," said the judge. (Laughter.) 'Mr. Cameron, there is nothing mentioned of this increase in speech in the statement

Mr. Cameron-Oh, well, several things have been stated which were not worthy of Judge Robertson-It is unseemly for the adge to defend your cause. Mrs. Bond said further that her husband was very forgetful. Mr. Stuart notified the court that he wished to show that Mr. Bond was deranged as a result of the accident. Judge Robertson-Well, then, if that is so, his evidence cannot be taken as reliable. Mr. Stuart-He was not injured to such an extent as that. Mr. Cameron cross-examined Mrs. Bond as to some statements she was alleged to have made. She was asked whether she had told a party in Mount Brydges that Bond was to blame for the accident. "I can't allow you to ask that question," said the judge. "Mrs. Bond is not the plaintiff in the case." "I want to show her cradulity. She has made two different statements," said Mr. Cameron.

"You have got to take her answer to the question" rejoined Judge Robertson. "Rut I claim I have a right to show that the woman contradicted herself; I am confident I have," wound up Mr

"Supposing I am just as confident," said the court, "that you have not. I suppose that would have some bearing on the case. "It is all very good law, but I think I should be privileged to put the query." "Glad I know some law," said the judge, and the crowd laughed. The question was The plaintiff's father said that before the accident his son was a level-headed business man; now witness thought he was rattle-Dr. Berdan, of Strathroy, told of Bond's injuries. From the wound over the right

Dr. McCallum, city, was the third physician called. Judge Robertson objected. The usual number of medical men examined in any case was two. It caused an unnecessary expense. The evidence was admitted.

The doctor said he found the plaintiff as others had-very talkative and apparently unsound in reason. What this condition arose from he did not know. It might be natural.

Judge Robertson again objected and told Mr. Stuart that it was very cruel to call so many witnesses when the point had been proven. "Do you want to take this man's arm from him? Doctors here at $4 a day -it is unnecessary," concluded the judge.

counsel for the plaintiff to show that their Lamont was taken up this morning, and Mr. Cameron moved for a non-suit on the ground that the counsel for Bond had not shown that the obstruction was on the road upon which the plaintiff and his wife were

Counsel and judge argued on the motion, but the court held that inasmuch as the case was of very great importance and likely to be carried higher, it would be better to take all the evidence. Certain questions would be submitted to the jury. John E. Drake was one of the best witnesses, as his evidence was contradictory to that of the plaintiff and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Bond had positively stated that the horse was not being whipped, and was first frightened at the obstructions. Drake, however, said that he was drawing water from a ditch on the side road and near the scene of the accident.

"What did you see?" asked Mr. Cam-

"A man and women coming in a cart. The manner in which the horse was acting made me think some fellow was showing off to his girl that he had a pretty good horse," said Drake. "About 25 or 30 rods down the road the beast was shaking its bead and switching its tail. Bond slapped it with the lines and the horse made a big lunge, and a jump. Several kicks followed closely and soon Mr. and Mrs. Bond were thrown out."

"The horse was switching its tail?" asked Mr. Stuart. "Yes," said the witness.

"Just as any ordinary horse would do to whip away the flies," said Mr. Stuart. "Flies in March !" remarked Mr. Cam-

"I guess there were not many flies," said Judge Robertson. Drake further said that he waited upon by Bond and questioned as to what he saw the day after the accident, but he refused to say anything. John Lamont, a brother of Daniel, was driving along the Adelaide road to Strath-roy on March 10 in company with his "missus." He saw Bond hit the horse with the lines. Mrs. Lamont first noticed the accident, and when they reached the place Mrs. Bond told them that the horse had been causing trouble ever since they left Daniel Lamont and Wm. Pincombe, the two defendants, and Chas. Crapp were also examined. Lamont drew the logs from his woods and placed them on the side of the road because he could not haul them to Strathroy. The sleighing was bad. Pincombe had drawn the lumber from Mount Brydges and was compelled to leave some of his load by the roadside on account of heavy teaming. Both defendants were waiting for improved roads, and intended to remove the timber as soon as conditions were favorable.

The reputation of the horse was then brought into question. Alvin Barclay had driven the animal about five years ago, and said "it had plenty of life, lots of grit, and kicking powers." The horse had kicked the witness once without any cause. "What kind of grit did you say the horse possessed?" asked Judge Robertson.

"Good grit." "Do you mean clear grit?"

"Yes, sir." "These clear grits are believed to be ery bad," said the judge. (Laughter.) Barclay stepped out of the box and the ourt called for the next witness.

"Don't know whether I have any more." said Mr. Cameron. "You don't know that you have," rejoined the judge. "Well, I hope you

THE LONDON BOYS HARD AT WORK. Monday and Tuesday evenings were hard practice for the London Rugby football team, there being a goodly number of the boys on the field, which greatly encouraged their most energetic captain, Harry Pope. Practice was commenced at 5 o'clock, and the boys underwent a thorough training for two hours each evening. Every member is sar reduced his record from 2:07% to 2:07, requested to show up each evening this and Rubenstain reduced his record, made week, rain or shine, so as to get into good at Columbus last week, from 2:082 to 2:08. shape for Saturday's struggle, and, as Capt. London's club this year-although a number of their men are away who played last year-are full of hope, and are fully determined to make a stand for the championship, which should be no trouble for them under the present management. All who do not show themselves on the field tomorrow evening at 5 o'clock will get the captain and "whipper-in" after their heels, and if the lash drops on them it will be heavy, and they will remember it. The team that will play against Petrolea will be announced tomorrow.

CORBETT'S LATEST. Boston, Oct. 2.—Corbett has issued another "statement." After disputing the right of the Olympic Club, of New Orleans, to declare Fitzsimmons the champion, he says: "Now let these men who are seeking notoriety at my expense get together all the fighters in the world who bave $10,000 to wager that I cannot defeat them-no weight or color barred, I will deposit $10,000 with David Blanchard, Boston, as an evidence of good faith and I will devote any one week after July next, and will fight one man every night during that week. I mean this, and this will be the last time I will ever train for a pugilistic contest. Now, you wouldbe champions-Robert Fitzsimmons, Peter Jackson, Ed. Smith. Peter Maher-here is your chance. I will take Fitzsimmons on Monday, and after him first come first served. I will fight before the club that offers the largest purses. I bar no one. This goes for all. The soreheads will say this is a bluff, but money talks, and let some of them cover mine if they dare. Now, if New Orleans wants a fighting carnival and desires to settle who is the champion heavyweight of the world, this is their opportunity. I hope to convince the public during the week arranged by the club that I am what I claim to be, the champion heavyweight of the world."

Local Market. Reported by A. M. Hamilton & Son. WREKLY REVIEW.

London, Tuesday, Oct. 3.

This market has been well attended during his week, and trade improved to a great exthis week, and trade improved to a great extent. Receipts of all kinds of grain were much heavier than for some time. There was a steady demand of sufficient strength to absorb all offerings. Among the principal features of the week we note a decline of about 20 per 100 lbs in the price of oats. Buyers claim it was necessary to reduce prices here a little as they could not find a profitable market to sell in at the old prices. The price at the close was 80c to 81c for the bulk of receipts. Of course, there were some loads sold at let o 2c over and under these figures, but they were about the ruling price.

of trust funds, placed in Mr. Bridgman's hands by a St. Thomas lady for investment. There will be much regret felt in this city that Mr. Bridgman, who for several years was solicitor here for the M. What adds to the unfortunate nature of the case is the fact that Mr. Bridgeman was married last month to a lady residing in the vicinity of Ridgetown. A late dispatch says that Mr. Bridgeman was making arrangements for the payment of the moneys, and was to be released this evening.

TWO VIEWS OF THE FAIR.

(From London Free Press of Sept. 29, $1894.) Indeed, so strict has been the police supervision in this respect for the last few years that London has obtained the name of being a very poor "camping ground" among dead beats of all kinds. But for the 52nd week, with the odd day or two in the calendar thrown in, these regulations are relaxed -as far as the Queen's Park is concerned at least-and lotteries and gambling schemes of the worst kinds are allowed to flourish without any apparent restriction whatever, and all this in the face of the statute Both the police and the fair directors are well aware of the existence of this statute, but they are alleged to have an understanding whereby the former do not molest any of the fakirs who are willing to pay the latter's price to "work' on the fair grounds.

(From London Free Press, of Oct. 3, 1894.) At the late Western Fair in this city, certain persons were allotted stands on pretense of plying an honest calling, but who shortly disclosed a different design. It stands to the credit of the board of directors of the Western Fair that whenever they became aware of such proceedings, the offenders were ruled off the grounds. Whatever fault or failing led to complaint in other directions, they are to be held as exonerated from the charge of sanctioning this violation of the law. We desire to emphasize these remarks for the reason that it was broadly hinted at the time by those who misunderstood the attitude of the directors on this point, that they and the police seemed to be in collusion to wink at the gambling devices in question. No suspicion of the kind had any warrant or justification. On the contrary, when the matter was first brought to their attention the board of directors held a meeting and recorded their entire disapproval of it, and, as by the police. It could not truthfully be said of the Western Fair that "gambling was tolerated" by authority. Indeed, a surance is given that this year the be

Richard North conducted his sister up the visle, the bridegroom following close on tisle, the bridegroom following cless on their steps. Ellen Adair and Captain Bohun, left behind, walked side by side. Bessy wore a pretty gray silk and plain white bon-net; she had a small bouquet in her hand that the gardener, Williams, had arranged for her. Ellen Adair was in a similar dress, and looked altogether lovely. Mr. Lea, the clergyman, stood ready, book in hand. The spectators in the church - for the event had got wind at the last moment, as these events almost always do, and many came - rose up with expectation. Of all the party, the bridegroom alone eemed to suffer from nervousness. His answering voice was low, his words were abrupt. It was the more remarkable, because he was in general so self contained and cause he was in general so self contained and cause he was in general so self contained and the cause he was in general so self contained and can be used to you, though, Ellen; she is my mother." calm a man. Bessy, always timid and yielding, spoke with gentle firmness; not a shade of doubt or agitation seemed to cross her. But there occurred a frightful contretemps. "The ring if you please," whispered the officiating elergyman to the bridegroom at that part of the service where the ring was needed. The ring! Oliver Rane felt in his waistcoat-pocket, and went into an agony of con-sternation. The ring was not there. He must have left it on his dressing-table. The little golden symbol had been wrapped in white tissue paper, and he certainly rememhered putting it into his waistcoat-pocket. It was as certainly not there now; and he supposed he must have put it out again.

"I have not get the ring!" he exclaimed hurriedly. To keep a marriage ceremony waiting while a messenger ran a mile off for the ring and then ran a mile back again, was a thing that had never been heard of by the pergymen or any other of the startled individuals around him. What was to be done? It was suggested that perhaps some one present could furnish a ring that might suffice. Elen Adair, standing in her beauty behind the bride, gently laid down the glove and bouquet she was holding, took off her own glove, and gave Oliver Rane a plain ory of the ring; the rest had never taken sufficient interest in her to inquire it; perhaps had never noticed that she were or The service proceeded to its end. Had Oliver Rane gone a pilgrimage to all the jewelers' shops in Whitborough, he could not have chosen a more perfectly fitting ring than this. When they went into the vestry, Bessy, agitated by the mishap and the emotional position altogether, burst into tears, asking Ellen how she came by a wedding

The history was very simple. It arose that is the possession of the ring - through the foolish romance of two young girls. Ellen and one of her schoolfellows named Maria Warne had formed a sincere and lasting attachment to each other. At the time of parting, when Ellen was leaving over which eternal friendship had been vowed together, with an undertaking to wear the ring always. Alas, for time and change! In less than six months afterwards, Ellen Adair received notice of the death of Maria Warne. The ring had in consequence become really precious to Eilen; but in this emergency she had not scrupled to part

As they came out of the vestry, Ellen found herself face to face with Jelly. The erk, and the two women pew-openers, and | The affected parts should be rubbed freely the sexton, considering themselves privfleged people, pressed up where they chose; Jelly, who of course—living with Mrs. Cumber and — could not be at all confounded with the common spectators, chose to press with them. "How could you, Miss Ellen?" she whis-

What Ellen answered, she scarcely knew. Captain Bohun entered the carriage. The situation was wholly unexpected; and if their hearts beat a little faster in the tumult of the moment's happiness, Richard at least was unconscious of it.

"It is the first wedding I ever was at," be-an Ellen, feeling that she must talk to cover the embarrassment of the position. Both were feeling it; and moved as far apart from each other as if they had quarreled; she in one corner, he in the further one opposite. Of course it had been arranged that I should go home with Mrs. Cumberland."
"Is she ill?"

"Dr. Rane thinks it is only nervousness; he said so as we came along. I had to come with him alone. I amsure the people we passed on the road, who had not heard about Bessy thought it was I who was going to be married to him, they stared so into the Eilen laughed as she said it. Arthur Bohun, drinking in draughts of her wondrous beauty, glanced at her meaningly, his blue eyes involuntarily betraying his earnest love.

"It may be your turn next, Ellen." She blushed vividly, and looked from the window as though she saw something passing. He felt tempted there and then to speak of his love. "Jelly is in a terrible way about the ring, fortelling all sorts of ill luck to every one concerned, and is thankful it did not happen to her. Will Bessy keep my ring always, do you think? Perhaps she would not be legally married if she gave it me back and took to her own - when it is found?"

Arthur Bohun's eyes danced a little. "Perhaps not," he replied in the gravest tones. "I don't know what they would have done without it, Ellen."
"I did not tell Bessy one thing, when she asked me about it in the vestry. I will never tell her if I can help it — that Maria Warne is dead. How was it Mr. North did not

FAKE SPOOK.

Matter-of-Fact Buildeg Spoils a Maunted House Story in Indiana and the Ghost as Well.

Shelbyville (Indiana) Correspondence Chicago Tribune.

Four months ago Harvey Spurlin's daughter died at St. Louis Crossing, a small town near this city. She was a favorite in the family, and it seemed no solace could be found for the bereaved parents. Six weeks ago Mrs. Spurlin reported that she saw a strange apparition at her window. She said it came in a long white robe as ghosts usually do and walked noiselessly through the yard and vanished in the air

Finally Harvey told his brother George about the strange intruder. George agreed to assist in running the ghost down, and arranged to be on hand last night. Early in the evening George came and brought his bulldog, a savage beast, usually kept chained. The dog was fastened in a back room and the two brothers located them. selves upstairs in a room overlooking the spook's usual point of approach. Sure encugh at Il o'clock the white form was seen approaching the house. It glided over the fence and into the yard, apparently rising in the air as it approached the haunted room. George ran down stairs, untied the bulldog, and started in pursuit of the visiting spook.

As the dog started towards the ghost it retreated to the rear of the yard to where a gate usually stood open, leading into the barnyard, and thence to the cornfield. But the gate was closed and the spirit went pellmell against it and fell to the ground. In a second the dog had the ghost by the throat and its screams brought George and his brother Harvey to the scene. George caught his dog and broke his hold from the prostrate form, but in doing so tore the white robe from its person, when Harvey recognized the object as the beautiful wife of Daniel Girard. The revelation threw Spurlin into a rage, and he went for his shotgun, and returning presented it at the prestrate woman's head. His brother seized the weapon and prevented a tragedy. The would-be spook is a member of a prominent family, as also are all the parties. The case will be brought up at the next term of court.

SIXTEEN YEARS OF IT.

Charles Schryver Had Kidney Disease All This Time and Didn't Knew It -How He Found Out and How He Was Cured.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Sixteen years ago kidney disease attacked Charles Schryver, a bricklayer in this city, but he did not know it. It showed itself in the form of pains in the small of the back. They did not amount to much at first, but kept growing worse. Within the past six years Mr. Schryver has almost every week had to quit work for one or two days on account of their severity. Doctors ascribed them to the liver and other causes, and prescribed, but their medicines did no good. Last spring a city physician diagnosed the case as one of diabetes and wanted to prescribe, but Mrs. Schryver said, "No, if it's diabetes, I'll use Dodd's Kidney Pills, which I know will cure me." They did cure him, too, and today Mr. Schryver is free from ache or pain and able to do his day's work, week in and week out, with any man in his trade.

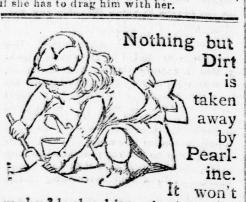

A CINCINNATI man who has suffered for years from the effects of a mosquito bite on the nose, recently made a will bequeathing the sum of $1,000 to be used in seeking a method whereby mosquitoes may be destroyed.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35 cents.

REV. M. J. SAVAGE, in a letter describing things seen in Wales, copies this advertisement: "Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Jones, having cast off clothing of every description, invite personal inspection."

Gibbons' Toothache Gum is easily applied, cures instantly and is sold by druggists for 15 cents.

MRS. PEARY seems to be very much provoked because of her husband's intention to remain in the Arctic regions. She declares that she is going north again next summer to bring him back to civilization, if she has to drag him with her.

make black white-it gives you a clean black, instead of a dirty black, that's all. Colors are restored and freshened by it, and look just as they did when new. They are cleaned, but they are never altered or changed. Safety comes first in washing.

The easiest and cheapest way to get things clean safely is to wash them with Pearline. Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back.

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Knew that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense? Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Casteria had been proven to be absolutely harmless? Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35

Wellington Barnes, a hotel-keeper at Pottersburg, appeared before Squires J. B. Smyth and R. F. Lacey yesterday afternoon on the charge of selling liquor to Indians. Mrs. Rachel Summers, of the Oneida reserve, was the complainant, and she said that on Sept. 20 her son Isaac, about 18 years of age, got very drunk in the city and was arrested. She had learned from Isaac where he got the liquor. Thos. Nicholls, who was accused last week of breaking into the house of Sarah Doxtater in 1888, but was dismissed, as the original information could not be produced, was another witness. He stated that he, with Isaac Summers, went to Barnes' hotel and, after getting a couple of drinks, each purchased two bottles of firewater. Isaac corroborated this story. Barnes denied having sold the liquor, but said the Indians were at his house. The case was laid over for a week to allow of further evidence.

'Williams' Royal Crown Remedy Saved John Weir's Life,"

May be seen in large letters on the covers of the horses that precede the handsome Royal Crown Remedy wagon at Toronto and Western Fairs. To a Globe reporter, Mr. Weir said: "This is a most marvelous cure. I became pale as a corpse; my blood seemed to be turned to water. I had dizziness and a ringing noise in my head; my hands and feet were cold all the time, and my limbs were completely swoolen up to the body. Bome doctors called it consumption of the blood. I got so weak that I could not walk, and finally took to my bed." Mrs. Weir says: "All M. Weir has told you is true, A t times he lay for days unconscious and unable to take nourishment of any kind, and was reduced to a mere skeleton of 84 pounds; and I fully believe that if we had been one day later in getting Williams' Royal Crown Remedy he would be in his grave to-day. So it may well be said 'Williams' Royal Crown Remedy saved John Weir's life. The best druggists keep Royal Crown Remedy, but if your drur grist does not, remit direct to Isaac Williams Company. Always an indefatigable church worker, Miss McLeod some time ago decided to devote her life to the missionary cause. She resigned her position on the city teaching staff, and will be supported in the field by the Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church, Brantford, of which Rev. Thomas S. Johnson, formerly of the Adelaide Street Church, is the pastor. Miss McLeod is the second daughter of the late James McLeod, who at one time conducted a farm years. Miss McLeod was actively identified with the different societies of the church, and all were represented at the meeting last night. Mrs. G. F. Robertson, president of the missionary society, presided, and the missionary societies of the Talbet Street, South London, Grosvenor and Adelaide Street Baptist Churches were officially represented by the secretaries. The Women's Mission Circle, Young Ladies' Mission Circle, the Young People's Band, the Junior Mission Band, and Young Men's Mission Union, were also represented by their secretaries. An address from the circles was prepared by Mrs. Thomas Woodburn and read by Miss Kate McKerricher. Mr. Arthur Woodburn, who will devote himself to a missionary life also, and who commenced his medical course yesterday, read an address from the young people's societies. Miss McLeod replied modestly and feelingly. Addresses were also de-livered by Rev. Messrs. "For a young woman, Miss Eva Brodment, Mr. Harry Dunn; president of the literary department, Mr. D. C. Wilson; secretary, Miss Jessie Boake; treasurer, Mr. Robert Kemp; assistant secretary, Miss Gowman. The election of a president for the living large lar Atkinson; president of the social depart- lique has done an enormous amount of hard the Chicago Times and Evening Post have attracted attention by their marked individuality and literary merit.

"I never catch a breath of cool, sweet, autumn air that I am not vividly reminded of a letter received from her one crisp, October morning; a letter of congratulation and encouragement, not because we were friends, for I had never seen her face, but it came from a generous impulse to commend the efforts of one ambitious to succeed in journalism. And that first season of society reporting, when I wandered around for-lornly at big receptions, almost paralyzed with the horror of being scooped, and suffering agonies from excessive timidity—a plainly dressed, unknown woman, ignored and snubbed by fashionable dames, Miss Biodlique, surrounded by friends and looking like a picture cut of a gold frame, would step from among them and greet me with a spontaneous friendliness as genuine as it was cordial. It was like a pungent odor in the nostrils of the fainting, for it restored self-respect and brought courage and inspiration for the work in hand. It's a small matter to put out your hand to help another, but if your grip is firm and strong it's salvation to a soul floundering in the quicksands.

"Miss Brodlique was a charter member of the Chicago Press League, and for several years held the position of corresponding secretary. She is strikingly original in her literary style, and it has attracted attention throughout the States and Canada. There is something warm and human in all she writes, and through it all runs a vein of pathos and a touch of humor that is as captivating as a vivid bit of color at the throat of a bird.

"She is loyal to her friends, and sincerity is her chicfest charm, but her strength lies not alone in her exceptional talents, but in the gift of continuance in the divine permanence of her own nature."
