LONDON WELCOMES LORD BYNG OF VIMY

WOMEN GIVEN LITTLE PART IN GENOA PARLEY

Leaders of Feminist Movements in Europe Protest Lack of Representation.

TALK RUSS RESTORATION

Financial and Economic Experts of World Discuss Report Prepared in London.

Genoa, April 15.—Women have little part in the Genoa conference. There is none on any of the 34 delegations as a responsible member.

Mme. Alexandra Kollantai, leader of the feminist movement in Russia, objected because the Soviet did not include a woman member, and the women leaders of Germany and the Central European countries emphatically drew attention to the slight they had suffered.

However, several prominent women are included on the various staffs, and the clerical forces of nearly all the delegations consist largely of the gentler sex.

Signora Oliva Rossetti Agresti is the chief interpreter employed in translating the Italian addresses into English at the important sessions.

She is a granddaughter of the poet Dante Gabriel Rossetti and has attracted particular attention, owing to her unusual ability to remember long addresses and deliver them immediately into another language without the benefit of notes.

Signorina Italia Garibaldi, granddaughter of the famous Italian patriot, who attended the Washington conference with the Italian delegation, has been loaned to the Russian delegation by the Italian foreign office.

Signora Ungaretti is an important member of the Italian government's publicity staff, and is entrusted with the task of keeping the Japanese and American correspondents advised on news matters.

Financial and economic experts of Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium gathered this morning to continue the discussions begun yesterday of the condition under which the rehabilitation of Russia will be undertaken.

They were to be joined by the principal delegates of the four inviting powers and Soviet Russia in the afternoon. The discussions were started yesterday at an informal meeting of the more important delegates in the villa of Mr. Lloyd George.

British premier, the basis of negotiation being the report prepared by the Allied experts in London, copies of which were handed to the Russians earlier in the week.

Russia Postpones Reply. The Soviet delegates were to have made their reply to the report today, but this has been postponed indefinitely and probably will be based on the understanding reached at the present series of conferences. It is understood that the Soviet delegates have expressed willingness to acknowledge Russia's pre-war debts and to cancel the work of the Allies if the Allies will do likewise with Russia's war debts.

Yesterday's informal meeting really marked the inauguration of a steering committee and is in line with the efforts of Lloyd George and other leaders to speed up the work of the conference.

It is believed differences of opinion can be more easily adjusted in private conference, thus eliminating long debates at full sessions of the various commissions of which the conference proper is composed.

There has been a total absence of formal dinners and luncheons, but the leaders are dining together in small groups, and utilizing the meal time for conference business. The designation of numbers of small sub-commissions also is in line with this policy of time saving.

Under this scheme, considerable progress has been made.

ARCHBISHOP OF NEW YORK URGES PEACE EFFORTS

John T. Ryan Writes Dublin's Lord Mayor in Same Warning Strain.

"I AM GOING TO SLIGO"

Griffiths Refuses To Let Menacing Situation Alter Intentions To Speak.

Dublin, April 15.—Civil war in Ireland would shock the United States and cost Ireland the loss of hosts of sincere friends, says a message, sent by Archbishop Hayes of New York, to Archbishop Byrne of Dublin, expressing the hope for a successful outcome of the conference between the representatives of the free state and Eamon de Valera's followers, which began Thursday in an endeavor to bring about tranquility in Ireland.

John T. Ryan of New York, has sent the following message to Lord Mayor O'Neill: "The feeling is strong here that anyone who is held to be responsible for any but peaceful methods will forfeit the support and sympathy of all Americans."

The Republican army insurgents today still held the four courts, which they seized yesterday, and no attempt was being made to dislodge them. The courts did not present the aspect of a place preparing for seizure, except for the presence of armed men at the windows.

Arthur Griffith's attention was drawn to the menacing situation in Sligo, where the republican insurgents were strengthening their positions and where he is booked to make an address tomorrow. "I am going to Sligo," was his only comment today.

A party of men raided the Dublin express train for Limerick this morning seized and burned the train, and the Freeman's Journal and the Irish Independent. Armed men also burned thousands of copies of the Irish Independent at King's Bridge and at the Broadstone railway terminus in Dublin.

SHOTS ON COLLEGE GREEN. London, April 15.—Shots were fired last night on the College Green in Dublin at a lorry carrying Royal Irish Constabulary, says a Dublin message to the Daily Mail. No one was injured. British troops have been ordered to their barracks under orders which will not expire until Tuesday. Windows at the central station of the Dublin Metropolitan Police have been shattered with loop-holed steel.

Despite the day's exciting events, it is said, a conflict on a large scale is not expected in Dublin.

A late Dublin dispatch to the London Times says an armed party yesterday seized the British Irish steam packet sheds at the north wall. It is not known how this will affect sailings.

Movements were occurring in various parts of the city last night. It is reported the Republicans seized additional buildings. The caretaker of a telegraph exchange was shot and wounded.

Commandant O'Connor of the staff of the Independent Irish Republican Army, is quoted as saying that there was doubt whether Eamon de Valera would approve any agreement which he knew could not be made effective.

But in any event, added the commandant, "I want to make it clear we are absolutely independent of de Valera's political organizations. We are not going to be made a puppet."

Visualizes the Spirit of Easter

Boo-ing Russians Surround Gen. Semenov's N. Y. Jail

NEW YORK, April 15.—General Gregorie Semenov, ataman of the Cossacks, was still in Ludlow street jail last night, waiting for $25,000 bail. Outside, crowding the street, perched on railings, leaning from windows, even sitting on edges of roofs, were thousands who waited for him, not to cheer, but to hiss and "boo" the leader of the Cossacks.

Most of the thousands who milled about the jail during the day knew the Cossacks. Most of them were men and women of Russian descent who lived in the thickly settled districts of the lower east side.

If they did not know themselves what the hard riding Cossacks can do they had been told by their fathers or mothers, who had fled from Russian massacres, and they had no love for Semenov.

Early in the day police reserves were called out. They milled with the throng, ready to avert any possible trouble, or to open a passage-way through the crowds when call came to the jail. Once or twice the reserves went into the tenements nearby, and drove the people from the roofs. When the rioting general, with his unmistakable moustaches, which flow over his broad cheeks to points under his eyes, was taken out for exercise the roaring hiss which came from the crowd drowned all police order. There was a concerted push towards the jail doors, but the crowd could make no impression on the old red brick walls.

During the day the general's attorneys were busy seeking to get the $25,000 bond, but company after company refused on "patriotic" grounds.

An effort to have Semenov released through a legal vacating of his arrest failed—and the crowd milled on.

The general wants to sail for Europe next week—but his attorneys today said he probably wouldn't.

LONDON LOSES MONEY BECAUSE OF TAX SYSTEM

Aldermen To Sift Annexed District Assessment Method Tuesday Night.

STARTS BALL ROLLING

Ald. Douglass Asks Who Allows Escape From Payment On Full Rate.

Much will be heard of the income and business assessment method of the annexed district at the city council on Tuesday night next. The meeting of the civic heads was postponed a day on account of Easter Monday.

Some of the aldermen declare that the city has been losing heavily in taxes from incomes as a result of the system in vogue at the city hall of assessing city proper residents who work in the annex on the 15-mill rate of the annex.

The act gives Assessment Commissioner Grant the option of assessing for income at the residence or place of business of the assessed. On account of the business tax having a bearing on the income tax, he assesses at the place of business.

"It is this way," said Mr. Grant, "a man is liable for $4,000 income tax. His business assessment is $1,700, and so this is deducted from the income, and he will pay income tax on $2,300."

Here is what it means: City Loses Money. Bill Jones is liable for income tax on $4,000. In 1922 his bill would be $1,400. But Bill Jones, living in his palatial city proper residence, has his place of business in the annex and his $4,000 salary in the annex at 15 mills. Thus he pays $60 income tax, the city suffering a direct loss of $86.

Mr. L. Douglass is the man who brought up this point. He says that Mr. Grant's contention may be quite correct, but this does not explain why these people are escaping paying their income and business tax on the full rate of the city instead of the 15-mill rate. He wants to know who allowed these taxpayers to escape paying their proper tax for so many years.

Mr. Grant stated in his letter that he had nothing to do with the rate. He did not state what rate was applied to these incomes, but Mayor Wilson said that Mr. Grant told him that the 15-mill rate was being applied.

Grant Explains Matter. Mr. Grant's letter in regard to the matter is as follows: "Under subsection 1 of 12 of the Assessment Act every person assessable in respect of income under the section shall be assessed in the municipality in which he resides, or at his place of residence or at his office or place of business."

"Subsection 2 of 12 also provides that the income of a partnership or of an incorporated company, if assessable, shall be assessed against the partners or the company at their chief place of business or against the company at its head office, or if the company has no head office, at its chief place of business in the municipality."

"Under section 2 of this section 12 all partners whose chief place of business is in the annexed district are in the annexed district. Help is in the annexed district. Help is in the annexed district. Help is in the annexed district."

"I have assessed individuals liable for the payment of income tax, under subsection 1, of 12, at their office, Turn to Page 3, Column 4.

95 P. C. SERVICE RIVAL GROUPS MEN SETTLED OF MINERS WAR

Lance Pays Tribute to Men's Efforts To Get Re-established.

Soldiers' Aid Concentrates in Effort To Give Man Confidence.

That fully 95 per cent of London's colony of 5,000 returned soldiers have successfully re-established themselves, and are never heard of by the general public at all, is the statement made by Ed. Lance, secretary of the soldiers aid commission.

Mr. Lance estimates that the soldier colony of the city today includes 17,000 persons, made up of 5,000 men, 3,000 of whom are married, this adding 3,000 wives and an average of three children to a family, or 9,000 children.

Of course, as Mr. Lance pointed out, these figures must necessarily be approximate, on account of the steady influx of men into the city and the constantly changing home conditions.

Mr. Lance, in discussing the re-establishment of the returned men, stated that he could tell of man after man, who in face of the greatest of obstacles, had stuck the job and made good. He stated that he could point to many veterans who were assisted by the soldiers' aid in starting business, and who were gradually fighting through to success as a result of their own efforts.

He admitted that there was a small percentage of men who are yet to find themselves, and in the meantime are drifting, but he said that it was a grave error for anyone to jump to the conclusion that all the ex-soldiers out of work today are to be placed in that class.

For those ex-soldiers who are out of work the commission is endeavoring to provide a practical, if only a partial, measure of assistance for the families, for although not generally known outside of soldier ranks, the commission is a really well-organized social welfare agency, probably the largest organization of its kind in the city.

The work is of a constructive nature, and is a definite effort to improve the personal and community value of the family assisted. Special emphasis is laid on the commission's work among the children. Help is given to the children, and Mr. Lance, where children are concerned, because we have found by experience.

DENSE CROWDS LINE ROUTES PARTY TAKES

DESIRE REST SUNDAY

Governor-General and His Suite Will Spend Easter Quietly.

His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., M.V.O., Canada's new governor-general, is paying his initial visit to London today.

Accompanying him is Lady Byng and several members of their official staff, and the party reached London in a special G. T. R. train just on the stroke of 2 o'clock, coming here from Woodstock, where they had spent the morning.

A warm reception was accorded the party on their arrival at the depot. Mayor Wilson, the members of the council, and parliamentary representatives being on hand to extend London's first official welcome to the hero of Vimy Ridge. Gen. Panet provided an official guard and a band, and these were first inspected.

Immediately after the party adjourned to autos and were given a short brisk ride before reaching Victoria Park, where the official function of the city took place.

Here an enormous crowd was encountered as Lord Byng had let it be known that he was desirous of meeting as many residents of the city of London as possible, and Londoners were out to meet his request.

Meets Veterans. Mayor Wilson here read an official address of welcome and then came the inspection of the cadets, a movement which Lord Byng is closely associated as scout master. The veterans were also on hand and No. 1 Stationary Hospital, which is holding its re-union in the city.

It was figured out that this event at the park would take the best part of an hour, and it was hoped that by 3:15 the party would be on its way to Westminster's new site.

Here also there will be the presentation of citizens. This event will take a half hour and then a start will be made for the Children's Hospital, where a tea is being given by the ladies. There are 300 invited guests. Lady Byng, some months ago, accepted an invitation to this tea.

The tea will take up about the same time as the reception in the park, and then will come the visit to the Westminster Military Hospital and Byron Sanatorium.

In the evening Gen. Byng will have dinner in the mess of the staff at Victoria Park barracks.

Some of the women of the city are planning a later afternoon event for Lady Byng. It will be held at some of their residences, while Gen. Byng is visiting the hospitals.

Sunday will be spent quietly in the city. There will be no church functions. It is stated that their ecclesiastical desire to rest up, as they are facing another strenuous week.

Early in the morning it looked like a bad day for the event, but at no time did the sun come out strong, giving promise of a fair day. The rain, however, was somewhat milder than on Thursday they were in shape.

Address of Welcome. The city's address of welcome follows: To His Excellency General the Right Honorable Lord Byng of Vimy, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., M.V.O., Governor-General Dominion of Canada.

May I Please Your Excellency: On behalf of all our citizens, Turn to Page 20, Column 6.

HUMANE SOCIETY MINISTERS TO NEEDS OF HOMELESS CANINES!

DOGS, in many ways, lead lives almost similar to those of men. Of joy, sorrow, love and even tragedy they have their share. House dogs and show dogs, as a rule, receive the most attention from humans. It is the dog of the street, the mongrel, whose only friend is the passing urchin, that has felt the pangs of hunger and the sickening dread of loneliness.

Within the past few years, thanks to the Humane Society, the number of dog foundlings and sick dogs wandering London streets has been materially reduced.

The reduction, however, spelled tragedy daily for the dog population. Seven thousand four hundred dogs have been sent prematurely from the face of Mother Earth within the past two years in London.

The majority of these executions were carried out in the gas chamber at the pound. A number of dogs, injured by autos and street cars, were disposed of forthwith, a kindly bullet ending their agony.

Electrocution has been advanced as the most humane means to snuff out the lives of diseased and aged canines, but Humane Society officials are opposed to the plan. They claim that, owing to the thickness of a dog's fur, the victim of the "chair" is burned before he pays the extreme penalty. Gas, they say, is the best method.

But there is a bright side to the tramp dog's life. Not all of them are in danger of the gas chamber. Inspector George Tustin of the Humane Society is their good Samaritan. At all hours of the day and night he answers telephone calls regarding lost or homeless dogs. The roads leading to the pound are well nigh impassable, but nevertheless the inspector braves them in daylight or dark, so great is his love for dogs.

The pound is a combination hospital, boarding school, orphan asylum and prison.

Owners of sick dogs can send them there and have them cured at a minimum cost. The board is only 15 cents a day, and this money goes to help the work of the society. Dog fanciers as far away as Detroit have sent their pets to London to be restored to good health.

No time limit is placed on strayed, stolen or lost dogs recovered and taken to the pound. Unless they are suffering from an incurable disease they are boarded until the owner comes for them, or, in the case of homeless dogs, until a home is found for them.

Inspector Tustin prefers to place dogs on farms, for life is sweeter in the country than in the city for the canine.

Separate stalls are provided for the dogs, sometimes as many as 60 being fed and cared for by the society. Two nourishing meals are given the charges each day. At present there are only a dozen or so dogs in custody, but the majority are real good dogs worthy of a home. Each day they wait, barking as if they detect the approach of a friend.

When a visitor does appear they are silent and listen attentively for the voice of their master. In the majority of cases disappointment is their lot. Then they crawl back to their kennels and lie there, their every move and expression telling of their misery.

One dog which is always at the pound is Venus, the great Dane, which belongs to the society. This dog saw service overseas and is now doing its bit by befriending some of the poor little mongrels that cower in their cells and wonder why they are imprisoned.

Venus often accompanies the inspector when he is on his rounds feeding his charges. This dog has a heart as big as its body, always greeting its less fortunate companions with a friendly bark.

Among the dogs living under the protection of the society at present are a foxterrier found destitute, a Boston bull which is a boarder, an English setter which has been lost, a black spaniel taking treatment, and a half-bred collie found starving.

Cruelty to animal cases are on the wane, Inspector Tustin finds. One pleasing feature is that not a case of cruelty on the part of school children has been reported to him. Education along this line by the school principals is responsible for this.

A new era is dawning for the puppy, a period when tin cans will no longer be tied on its tail and when he will know that there is a next meal coming and a place for him to rest prepared.

Civic Commission May Yet Be Made Permanent, Says Dr. Stevenson

IF LONDON desires to make its civic commission permanent feature, plenty of time available, which to make this possible by means of the City of London Bill, explained Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.L.A., Saturday.

The member for London states that should the council and other civic bodies wish he can, upon the opening of the legislative assembly Tuesday next, give notice of motion that when the City of London Bill comes for the house for its first reading he will insert a clause pertaining to the civic commission.

Should Mayor Cameron Wilson and councillors choose to consider this proposal, they must do so at their regular session Monday night.

CLAIMS SOULS TRAVEL IN SLEEP

Dr. Frank L. Riley, Los Angeles Psychologist, Explains Theory.

Can "Will" Direction and Place Before Falling Asleep.

LOS ANGELES, April 13. — The thrill of an airship poised, the flight of a bird on the wing, twinkling stars in the night—are as nothing when compared to the freedom of a soul that leaves its body in sleep and delves into the secrets of the unknown.

Dr. Frank L. Riley, widely known scientific investigator and scholar of things occult, who says that searchers for fundamental truths are proving to their own satisfaction that the soul is a tangible thing and has a vital existence with power to function both within or outside the body.

Dr. Riley's personal experiences long ago convinced him that his soul does travel into the unknown world while his body is in sleep, and an incident which occurred last week in a public lecture room took on the form of scientific and material proof to witnesses who saw what transpired.

Woman's Dream.
"This is a most amazing coincidence," said a woman to Dr. Riley, at the close of the lecture. "Last night I dreamed I was at the bedside of a friend who was very ill, and while trying to comfort her you also came into the room. Your image was so strongly impressed upon me that I would have known you again anywhere I saw you. You seemed to be a relative of my friend and were there to try to relieve her suffering. I do not understand it."

"You really did see me," said Dr. Riley, "it was at the bedside of my sister. She had been very ill and I went to sleep in my own home thinking about her. During the night I slipped out of my body and went over to be near her, but as I have grown accustomed to my soul traveling at night I thought little of the incident."

"But I was not there," said the woman, "I was in my own home." "Your soul was there," replied Dr. Riley. "It had traveled to the side of your friend while your body slept, and you were conscious of its activities only as a dream. Had you known more of the spirit realm you would have realized that your soul was traveling instead of thinking the incident a dream."

The soul leaves the body of every one in sleep," says Dr. Riley. "Men who have devoted their lives to psychic research say that all souls are out of the body in sleep, although few people realize it.

"It is very simple to direct a soul on its mission before going to sleep, and people who are familiar with the radiograph which is now attracting world-wide attention can easily understand the sympathetic relationship existing between a man's soul and his body. It is similar to that which exists between the broadcasting and the receiving radiophone. As long as the attachment is perfect and the sympathetic vibrations unbroken the message will go direct. "The soul returns to the body naturally, because of the magnetic attraction between them—or the 'silver cord' as it is referred to in the Bible. Through these demonstrations people are beginning to understand the teachings of the Master in reference to taking up the body and laying it down.

Direction Possible.
"It is possible to direct the soul much more easily than the body and with greater satisfaction. It draws itself out of the body substance and can glide into infinite space.

"A vivid experience of the Countess of Tankerville, when she was Lady Bennett, is identical with that of the soul of one leaving the body when in sleep. The Countess of Tankerville is an advanced student along spiritual lines. She was very ill and seemed to have breathed her last. Relatives standing by her bedside thought she was dead, but as they silently waited in grief the countess was having a very strange experience.

Soul Crosses Ocean.
"She thought her soul was crossing a vast ocean and as she drew near the port she saw half a dozen friends who had died many years before, standing on the quay ready to receive her. She realized that the final separation between her soul and her body had not yet taken place. An intense yearning to fly flashed through her. "I will not die yet," she declared vehemently and with a mighty surge of will she paused in her flight and a moment more she was returning to her body.

Radiant Beings Appear.
"When that occurred she lost sight of the people on the shore and three radiant beings appeared. There was no light or shade in their gossamer garments, but a light from somewhere within seemed to radiate through them, enveloping them with a wondrous beauty. As they faded from her vision she wondered if they were guardian angels come to her assistance—and then she returned to the consciousness of her grief-stricken family."

And continuing, Dr. Riley said: "The appearance of Napoleon at his home on the Isle of Corsica almost simultaneously with the moment of his death at St. Helena, is a matter of history, and it illustrates the point that a soul can materialize itself before the final separation has taken place."

HARROW, April 14.—James Lonsberry, aged 6 years, fell from the haymow in his father's barn, a distance of twelve feet, to the concrete floor below and badly fractured his collarbone. He was unconscious when picked up.

BYNG TO WEAR BUSINESS SUIT

Secretary of Governor-General Writes Asking Citizens To Do Likewise.

Wants Top Hats, Tuxedos and Evening Gowns Left At Home.

Dress suits, tuxedos, fancy vests, evening gowns, top hats, gold-headed walking sticks, ivory cigarette cases, etc., are absolutely passe during the visit in London of the governor-general of Canada, His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy.

Such was the substance of a message received Friday afternoon from Captain Balfour, Lord Byng's secretary. Consistent with the policy announced by the governor-general when he commenced his tour at Ottawa, citizens, including His Worship Mayor Wilson, the aldermen and all other civic dignitaries are asked not to adopt any extraordinary measures to insure a welcome for the visitors. Lord Byng and his staff will assume, the secretary notifies the local authorities, plain business attire, and expect that Londoners will do likewise. Therefore, it follows that those who arrive for the various functions in silk toppers and cutaways will tend to overshadow in grandeur the vice-regal members themselves.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown of the Western University executive informed The Advertiser Friday afternoon that as the condition of the university grounds is somewhat muddy as yet, it's strictly advisable that all automobiles be parked on the roadway while the ceremonies are in progress.

KILLED IN GUN BATTLE

Former Irish Volunteer Believed Victim of Factional Vengeance.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Vengeance for his alleged betrayal of the Irish cause was ascribed by police as a possible motive for the shooting of Patrick Connors in a gun battle with six other men in Central Park West, last night. Connors was wounded five times and is not expected to live. A former member of the Irish volunteer army, he was sent to jail by the British government for his activities. While in prison he is alleged to have revealed information which reacted to the detriment of the movement. Upon his release, about a year ago, he immigrated to the United States. Members of his family, police said, admitted that Patrick had received a number of threatening letters within the last few months.

LAUNCH TWO NEW BOATS ON HURON

Goderich Fishermen Add to Fleet Speedy Craft Built During Winter.

CEREMONIES OBSERVED

"Margaret MacDonald" and "John Graham" Are 33 and 36 Feet in Length.

Special to London Advertiser. GODERICH, April 14.—The two new fishing boats which were built at the harbor this winter were launched this week with the usual ceremony. They are the largest fishing boats in use here, one being 33 feet long and the other 36 feet, and are built to develop a greater speed than any of the others.

The Margaret MacDonald, owned by MacDonald Bros., was launched on Wednesday afternoon, the young lady after whom the boat was named breaking the bottle over it as it slid into the water.

The boat will carry four sails, two masts, a jib and a main topsail. The two masts and the engine, which will develop sixteen horsepower, will be put in place later. The Graham boat, which is named after the builder, John Graham, was also launched. She has a sixteen horsepower engine, the type used in Lake Erie fisheries. The Birmingham's hoist was used to lift her into the water to avoid the risk of swamping. This boat has only one spar and sail.

Both boats are very firm and smart-looking, and are important additions to the fishing fleets at this port.

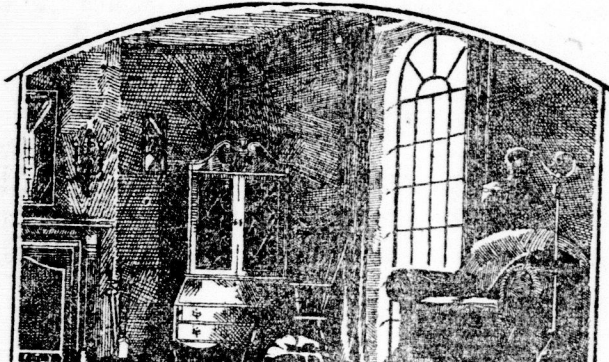

TRUSTEES ATTEND MEETING.

"Older Than the Dominion of Canada"

"OLD BOYS" UNFOLD TALES TO PREMIER

Regale Lloyd George, While on Recent Trip to Wales, With Stories of His Father.

CRICCIETH, Wales, April 14.—Premier Lloyd George is never so happy as when swapping stories about his boyhood days with old cronies of his native Wales.

During his last visit here he gave a tea party to 19 ancients who were his father's pupils at Troedyrall school more than 60 years ago. The senior "old boy" was John Jones, 91, who still works as a carpenter. Next to Jones was William Davies, an assistant teacher under the premier's father, who testified to the latter's handiness with the cane on occasions. Another guest was John Williams, now blind, who used to carry love messages between the premier's father and mother.

Tell Tales of Father.
The "old boys" told their best many stories of his father he had never heard before, and all were in the best of spirits. Old John Jones made the premier roar with laughter by the quaint way he told a story of the local indignation many years ago, when a minister preached from a text which another minister had used the previous Sunday.

Mr. Lloyd George always tries to take things easy while here, but members of his cabinet and newspapermen seldom let a day go by without appropriating part of his time.

Chief Pleasures.
Getting up late in the morning, working in the garden, and listening to Welsh music are his chief pleasures during his visits, and when the weather is threatening he sits on his covered balcony wrapped in a gaudy shawl. "The day," he remarked on his last visit, "that I must go back to school in a few days. They say I am playing truant. Yet they all followed me, including the newspapers. I wish they would leave me alone for at least a fortnight; it would be better for them, and certainly better for me."

This Man Could Not Walk a Mile

WILLIAM GRAHAM SHOUTS THE PRAISES OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Hurt in 1919 He Searched in Vain For the Remedy He Needed Till He Started To Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lindsay, Ont. (Special).—Mr. William Graham, who lives at 162 Queen St. here, is shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. And when he tells the reason why the story is truly wonderful.

"I was hurt in 1919, Mr. Graham states, 'the nerves in my left leg and arm were paralyzed. I was in such shape I could not walk a mile. I could not go out at night as I would be sure to fall over.

"I tried eleven doctors and used different liniments but got no benefit. Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me a lot of good. Now I can walk fifteen miles. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers."

Dodd's Kidney Pills put the kidneys in shape to strain all the impurities out of the blood. That means pure blood. Pure blood means good circulation and that means new strength carried to all parts of the body. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make strong, healthy kidneys.—Adv.

What Easter Means.

THERE IS a danger that church people themselves at times lose sight of the true significance of Easter. It is not simply a time for special music, for a display of flowers, and a general opening of the spring season.

It is more than that. It is, in fact, nothing short of being the keystone of the whole Christian religion. It is the great central fact, and without it there would be no Christian religion at all.

Without it the birth of the Redeemer, His life, His teaching, His matchless humility and His fathomless love, His suffering in Gethsemane, and the final sacrifice on Calvary would amount to nothing more than the story of the life of a good but a mistaken man, and we make the statement with all reverence and respect.

When the Master gave up His life the test that was to answer yes or no to His claims was staged. Had that tomb remained closed with the great stone that was rolled against it we would, of "all men, be most miserable."

The fact that that stone was rolled away while under the eyes of the Roman soldiers—the fact that Christ did rise from that newly-hewn grave—the fact that He did appear to many people after that—these things form a chain of evidence that completes the life of Christ on earth, and gives the Christian church to-day the justification for its existence and its teaching.

It is important in this day, when so many brainy men seek to teach that the Master was a great moral teacher, a propagandist for the existence of a super-man, and an advocate of the golden rule idea, but nothing more, that His people should reassert with devotion and confidence the fact of Easter in all its glorious reality, and proclaim without reservation or doubt their belief in the completed life and sacrifice and resurrection of the Man of Galilee.

Civic Positions.

ONE OF THE city commissioners in Calgary believes in going after the salary list with a vengeance. He is quoted as having said that the offices of assessor, city clerk, city engineer, medical health officer, treasurer, controller, superintendent of the power department, electric light superintendent, chief of police and chief of the fire department, are worth $3,000 a year, and that of storekeeper, rental agent, superintendent of public works, waterworks superintendent, building inspector and superintendent of parks is worth $2,250. At present the salaries of some of these officials is shown in the following list:

Office	Salary
Assessor	$3,450
City Clerk	3,450
Engineer	2,550
Med. Health Officer	4,500
Treasurer	3,450
Controller	3,450
Power Supt.	3,750
Elec. Light Supt.	3,800
Chief of Police	3,750
Chief of Fire Dept.	3,750
Storekeeper	2,400
Rental Agent	2,800
Supt. Public Works	4,050
Waterworks Supt.	3,450
Building Inspector	2,450
Parks Supt.	2,350

Now, this same thing is going on all over the country, although the proposed cuts are not so drastic, and the chances are that the salary cut in Calgary will not be anything like as serious as this commissioner proposes.

What is going to be the result? The officials who are worth anything, and who have qualifications to fit them for other work, are going to get out. Holding a municipal position is not the most enviable thing in the world at any time. Being the servant of the public at large is not the most pleasant thing that can be imagined.

Many times at election we notice that there is an investigation started, or threatened. An engineer is liable at any time to find his work criticized or ridiculed by a man who couldn't run a chain or take a level to save his neck, and yet he feels competent to act as super-critic of a technical department.

A civic official is like any other individual. He likes to look forward to promotion, and also to reaching a place where his services will be recognized. He does not like to feel that he is always on the thin edge of the way out. And so it is that the public business, if this tendency of salary slashing is to continue, will not appeal to men of standing in the profession.

The Coal Strike.

IT WILL be noticed that some of the trains in Canada are starting to curtail their use of coal. It tends to bring home to this country the seriousness of the gigantic struggle that is going on in United States.

It is an easy matter for the householder, to whom the word "coal" means only the bin down in the cellar, to think that he is not particularly concerned with the affair, and that it will be applicable only to industrial concerns.

The first few weeks of the strike will serve to show him that he is

NOW BE CAREFUL
WITH THAT—YOU KNOW
THERE ARE DISHES
IN THAT BASKET!

wrong, because a strike in the coal fields of United States is a coal strike in Canada.

The statement is made by strike officials, and it has not been contradicted, that the plants of the United States Steel Corporation in the Pittsburgh district now have only enough coal to carry them for 72 hours, and that the shutdown of these mills will throw 200,000 men out of work, and that before the end of the week 150,000 men in the railway craft shops will be idle as a result of the suspension of coal-hauling trains through the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania.

This is only the beginning. As the strike continues other industries will be drawn into the vortex of unemployment and additional hundreds of thousands of men forced into involuntary idleness.

Coming at a moment when business was just beginning to pick up the strike can only be described as a national calamity.

Men Want To Vote.

THE men of Japan wish to vote. Under the existing constitution, which was adopted in 1889, the lower house of the Japanese parliament is supposed to be a representative body. As a matter of fact it represents only the upper strata of Japanese society. The electoral franchise is so limited that no man is permitted to vote till he has, for two years, paid taxes to the amount of 3 yen. A yen is the equivalent of 49 cents in Canadian money.

This restriction bars from the franchise the great mass of Japanese workers. Landholders and tradesmen comprise the majority of the electorate. The present agitation, which has culminated in violently riotous demonstrations, is for the purpose of compelling the imperial diet, or parliament, to grant unrestricted manhood suffrage.

Despite the impressive popular demonstrations it is unlikely that the reform can be accomplished at this time. The Kenseikai party, which is proposing the change, is outnumbered in the lower house more than two to one by Saikukai, or government party. And even if the measure were to be passed by the lower house it would require the sanction of the house of peers, which is composed of hereditary nobles and conservative notables.

In due time Japan will be compelled to take the step which is now being blocked by entrenched conservatism. Unlike the Chinese, the Japanese masses are learning the ways of the modern world, and they are determined to win full citizenship.

From the hidebound autocracy of a little more than half a century ago, Japan has made rapid strides, but she still has some distance to go before she can be rated as a democratic constitutional monarchy. Oligarchy dies hard, but it is certain to die when a people is awakened.

The people of Japan are awakened sufficiently attested by the fact that the Japanese newspapers are almost unanimous in supporting the proletarian demands and by the additional fact that the hitherto voiceless proletariat is gathering in great crowds to discuss the lynching of stubborn parliamentarians.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Good Friday being a fine day, many a backyard bore the brunt of the first enthusiastic charge of the spade brigade.

About the only thing that can be had for nothing now is your set of income tax papers. They don't begin to cost anything until you've filled them out.

HON. ARTHUR MEGHEN received a cane from LLOYD GEORGE. Very nice, but rather suggestive of the caning he got from the people of Canada on December 6 last.

There's something wrong in Peterboro. The ratepayers there voted $350,000 for the construction of a filtration plant, and when all the bills were paid it was found there was $25,000 left over. Time for an investigation.

Windsor has been busy, the same as other centres, in hacking pieces off civil salaries. The result is that the chief water-squirts of the first department now get $2,500, a come down of $500. It has yet to be shown that 100 per cent efficiency comes from slicing salaries.

We no sooner quit worrying about the mud than we have to consider the dust. The Watford Guide-Advocate says so: "The business section of Watford has been gotten out of the mud, but there is yet a serious question to combat—the dust nuisance. This should be seriously considered at once by our town fathers."

"And now we are told that Wales wants home rule. We thought they had it. At any rate there used to be an old Welsh law that when a man's wife did not obey him he could hit her over the head with a broomstick three times. What more could a man ask?"—Renfrew Mercury.

Husbands generally in this part of the country will be indebted to the editor of the Mercury for drawing our attention to this excellent custom.

The statement has been made to THE ADVERTISER several times within the past weeks by farmers in this section that the poor condition of the roads around here is due to the heavy trucks that try to force their way through when the frost is coming out of the ground. "When you put a three or four-ton truck on these roads just now," said one informant, "you might just as well take out a tractor hitched to a plow and run it through the soft spots." He further added that the average car used in the country is a very light one that caused very little damage.

From the Wingham Times we take the following: "When will people learn to conserve the beautiful gifts of nature, asks the Midway Gazette. It has been brought to our attention that some grand shade trees on the roads in the township of Carrick have been cut down, where they were no detriment to the road whatever. The time has passed for this destruction to go on, and it is an offence against the law."

It takes long years to grow a beautiful tree, and only a few whacks to lay it low. Better think long and seriously over those few whacks.

NOAH'S POETRY

IN MY GARDEN.

Along about this time of year I always get enthused a lot, about the kind of oats and squash I'll stick upon my garden plot.

I always start with lots of pep to make a decent kind of show, and talk about the size and weight of them there things I'm goin' to grow.

I've got a shovel and a hoe, a barrow and a sprinklin' can. I cut a swath into the sod as big as any Clydesdale span.

'Tis then I stick the turnips in, likewise cucumbers, oats and hay, oh, when it comes to sinkin' seed I am one fine unconquered jay.

And every spring I do the same, until a month has skipped away, until the burdocks and the grass are shoutin' like a crop of hay.

Tomatoes in my harvest time are lookin' bilious in the eye, while beans and carrots rarely get a fraction past two inches high.

But still I like to have my ding, and sink a hole down here and there, and prance around my garden plot, and wear an agricultural air.

I'm always in the market, too, for all the latest fads and frills, and if I don't do nothin' else, I help the seed man pay his bills.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

Death Peril Lurks in Tainted Water

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

ANY city has murdered thousands of its citizens by supplying them with impure drinking water.

The water you drink may look clear and sparkling, may taste refreshing when you drink it, and yet may contain the deadliest germs of disease.

Following installation of water filters and adoption of other means of purifying city water, death rates from typhoid and dysentery always have fallen remarkably.

In a big city the water supply is regularly inspected by bacteriologists, people trained in the special work of testing the purity of water. Accordingly, it is not these days very dangerous to drink water out of the faucet.

When special pollution of the water supply occurs the public is supposed to be notified at once by the authorities, so that they may take precautions.

Greater caution is usually required in the country and in small cities where water is not regularly inspected and where there is any uncertainty regarding its purity.

In such cases the water should be either boiled or filtered or chemically purified with chlorinated lime under a chemist's direction.

The domestic filter as ordinarily used has a limited sanitary value. If the water is infected, reliance should not be placed upon any household filter operated in the usual way. Bacteria, as typhoid, may often grow through the walls of a filter.

When water is not infected, but muddy, household filters are serviceable in rendering it clear.

To be really sure, however, that the water you drink will not cause sickness and possibly death, you would better boil it and play safe.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

Read Your Character — — — No. 189—The Voice Range

Here is one that you can try on the family in the next apartment, if the walls are thin.

You don't have to hear what they are saying to tell in a general way what kind of people they are. All you need to hear is the tone of their voices.

Detailed explanations of the meanings of various types of voices have been given in previous articles, but for quick work, for rough-and-ready analysis, you have only to separate voices into four classifications, representing four distinct types of people.

First of all, note whether the voice is high or low in tone. Then note whether it is loud or soft.

The high, loud voice denotes a person of the mental type who is lacking in self-restraint; a thinker, but more than likely of undisciplined and ineffectual thoughts.

The high, soft voice indicates the thinker who has learned how to think to good purpose.

The low, loud voice indicates the non-mental type (practical rather than theoretical), of vitality and energy, who is expending that energy and vitality uneconomically, and who upon occasion can be inconsiderate, harsh or even brutal.

The low, soft voice is the voice of the practical, level-headed man or woman who is likely to act and think to the best advantage under varying conditions. It is the voice of a self-restrained and efficient person.

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY GABE

BIG PETER. By Archibald Marshall. Dodd, Mead & Co., New York. $2.

AN OLD lady after entering London's best-known book store the other day asked the clerk in charge of new fiction for a nice book. She did not care, she said, whether the characters were rich or poor, witty or stupid, provided they were all nice. When the clerk lifted astonished eyebrows at the unexpected petition, the purchaser added the serene comment: "There are plenty of delightful people in the world, if authors would only write about them."

What the old lady was seeking, had she known it at the moment, was a copy of Archibald Marshall's latest novel. "Big Peter" is a thoroughly nice book. Graceful, leisurely digested, the story moves over the pages with pleasurable ease and utmost candor. It never hurries.

neither does it mark time. Its style is soft as thistle-down, so obvious that a child could foretell what will appear on the next page. Yet with the spirit of a child we affectionately follow. We do not care that other authors may be praised for their brilliance, their vigor, nerve, versatility—what you will. We are conscious only of this: that here is a writer who, sacrificing these glories, has used such gentlemanly constraint as to give us a tender and really lovable book.

"Big Peter," as far as the actual plot goes, is a scorching, red-hot melodrama. A young Britisher, digging hard to earn a livelihood from Austrian soil, accidentally learns that he is heir to a peerage. He returns to England. But in the process of establishing his claim he runs head-on into nasty experiences, very nasty, indeed. No less than three villains smolder with desire to outwit this innocent-minded hero as well as the aristocratic heroine. Yet never for one moment do we feel that their tissue-paper wickedness can dought but collapse before the hero's simple righteousness. Toward the end of the book there is even a murder, which is described in realistic detail. Are we distressed? Not at all. Our reaction, if we admit it honestly, is almost disappointment; our grievance rather forces the words: "Well, that wasn't much of a murder. Too soon over with!" Indeed, we do not care a button because one man so lost his temper as to deprive another individual of life.

The blame for our flippant mood can be justifiably placed upon Mr. Marshall himself, for in a method quite his own he has given us an assuring smile, a knowing wink. And by such secret signs we saw at once that all incidents of this book had been deprived of the power to shock, they were without reality. Does one not always laugh when reading that the Duchess ordered Alice's head chopped off? So, here as well, one smiles at roguery.

Mr. Marshall, as you will see, has devised a beatific balm that spreads over his melodrama like a maternal patina, making it wholly innocuous. By complete subordination of narrative details to this balm, to this atmosphere of gentle humor, he has as if by miracle deprived a lurid tale of all luridly, if the coined word may stand.

"Big Peter" is soothing; it is cool and pleasant.

THE TORTURE OF INDIGESTION

Thousands Made Miserable By This Trouble

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Relieves It

What is indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stomach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a churn. It is covered by a strong, muscular coat and lined with a soft, delicate membrane which secretes the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach, the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it, with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it.

But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have indigestion.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the most wonderful medicine in the world for strengthening the stomach muscles, and providing an abundance of pure, full-strength dissolving fluid to completely digest every meal.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" does this because it keeps the kidneys active, the bowels regular and the blood pure, which insures pure Gastric Juice.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" will correct your indigestion or dyspepsia and enable you to enjoy every meal. Try it.

TWO DIE FROM GASOLINE FUMES

Engineer and Mate of Tanker Die At the Sarnia Wharf.

All Efforts To Rescue Men From Death Were Futile.

SARNIA, April 14.—Roy McDonald, first mate, and Clifford White, third engineer of the Imperial Oil, Limited, steamer Royalite, lost their lives at noon today in a compartment of the hold of the steamer, both men being overcome by gasoline fumes. All efforts at rescue proved futile, as the rescuers were in turn overcome by the fumes of the gasoline in their attempts to reach the men.

Clifford White, according to eyewitnesses, descended into the compartment to release a hose off a heater pipe along the bottom. He tried it on and started to climb a ladder to the top and when he had ascended about eight feet he was seen to swoon and fall off. Roy McDonald, the first mate, witnessed his fall, and immediately descended with a rope to tie around White's body. He got down and managed to place the rope under White, but was unable to secure the knot before he succumbed to the fumes.

Watchman Goes Down.
The watchman, who was standing at the hatchway, also went down to the rescue with a rope fastened around his body and was unable to accomplish anything owing to lack of air and was soon overcome. He called for assistance and Alfred Darlington, a railway fireman, came over and went to the watchman's assistance without any rope. His efforts, combined with the efforts of others who managed to get around the top in an unconscious condition. A hose was then dropped into the hold compartment in an effort to draw the fumes from the bottom, but this was not successful.

James Struthers, 317 Emma street, placing a mask of the army type on his face, then went down into the compartment with a rope, which he placed around White's body and it was brought up to the deck of the steamer. Struthers was almost overcome when he got out. A diver's suit was subsequently secured, and James Struthers, garbed in the suit, went down twice, and in the second attempt was successful in getting out the body of McDonald.

Take Bodies to Morgue.

The bodies were taken to Phillips' morgue, but owing to the absence of the coroner attorney it has not yet been decided whether an inquest will be held or not.

Coroner Dr. William Logie was first on the scene, and Drs. A. N. Hayes and A. R. McMillen and J. F. Sadler were also called. Both McDonald and White were dead when they were taken from the hold. The city pulmotor was telephoned for and was dispatched immediately to the scene of the accident, but was no use. The heads of both men were submerged in gasoline when found. McDonald resided on Essex street, and is survived by a wife and one child, and White resided on Davis street, and is survived by a wife and two children.

MAKE EFFORTS TO OBTAIN RELEASE OF SEMENOFF

Anti-Bolshevik Leader's Attorneys Try to Free Client Who Defaulted Bail.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Attorneys retained by Gen. Gregorie Semenov, former leader of anti-Bolshevik forces in Eastern Siberia, resumed their efforts early today to secure the release of their client from the Ludlow Street Jail, to which he was committed last night on default of bail. It was declared that in a few hours a new bail bond to replace the one cancelled yesterday by the Fidelity and Deposit Company at Maryland would be arranged, and that the Cossack chieftain would again be at liberty.

Several surety companies refused to furnish bonds for Semenov, pleading "patriotic reasons" for their action. As a result, the general surrendered to Sheriff Nagle shortly after 4 o'clock. He declared his occupation was "lieutenant-general," and that he was 32 years old.

A hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings against Semenov by the receiver of the Yurovets Home and Trading Company, which caused his arrest in this city, was called for this afternoon.

FLOOD REACHES HIGH LEVEL

Many Families Around Windsor Have Been Isolated.

WINDSOR, Conn., April 14.—High water in the Connecticut River is making a new record in this town, and on the meadows it has gone back so far that a number of houses heretofore safe, have been isolated. Some families took their cattle upon the house verandas for protection, as the barn floors were covered. It was possible early today to row a boat from the First Congregational Church in Windsor to a rise of land near the Congregational Church in South Windsor.

TRAIN GOES OVER EMBANKMENT

ONAWAY, Mich., April 14.—An entire passenger train on the Detroit and Mackinaw Railway left the rails near here yesterday and plunged down a 20-foot embankment. All but one of the passengers escaped serious injury. The accident was caused by a softening of the track by flood waters of the Black River. The crest of the flood has passed here and similar reports were received from other towns in this part of the state, which were threatened earlier in the week by the high water.

FAMOUS TENOR IMPROVES

Physicians Report John McCormack Has Passed Crisis.

NEW YORK, April 14.—John McCormack, the famous tenor, who was stricken with an affection of the throat here last Saturday, and whose illness became alarming on Wednesday, was declared today to have passed the crisis, but he will not be able to sing again for several months. The physicians in attendance upon the singer asserted the illness would not affect the quality of Mr. McCormack's voice, as the infection was above the larynx.

All concerting arrangements made by Mr. McCormack have been cancelled, and he has given up his plan to leave on May 2 for a tour of Ireland and continental Europe.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK, HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work—sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

To all women whose heart is weak and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS as the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Beanson, Loganville, N. S., writes: "As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your little remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

LOSES LIFE ON RAILWAY TRACK

E. B. Osborne of Preston Believed To Have Fallen From Train.

Inquest Into Fatality Will Be Opened At Galt.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, April 14.—About 3 o'clock this morning the engineer of a C. P. R. eastbound train noticed the body of a man lying on the tracks about seven and a half miles from the city, and on investigation it was found the man had been killed, presumably by the preceding train going west, the passenger due here at 2 o'clock.

Coroner J. H. Redford of this city was called for, and on arrival on the scene he identified the victim as E. B. Osborne, a well-known and highly-respected retired gentleman of this district, who, with Mrs. Osborne, had made their home during the past winter at Hotel Kress, Preston. The body was badly mangled, a wheel having passed over the chest, severing the head and left arm from the body.

The remains were brought here, and since the accident occurred in Wellington County, Coroner T. Orton of Guelph was notified, and an inquest will be opened here Saturday morning.

It appears that deceased went to Toronto Thursday morning to spend the day. He had intended returning home on the train reaching here at 8:30, but because of its crowded condition waited over for the midnight train, advising his wife by telegram that he would not be home until then. How he met his death is a mystery at present, as he was never missed, but there is no doubt but that he was killed by the train on which he was travelling, as no other had passed.

He was about 62 years old and was born in Galt a member of one of the city's best-known families of the early days. He left here when young, going to Hamilton, where he spent many years, later moving to Toronto, where he was engaged in the brokerage business. Several years ago he returned to Galt and bought a farm near the city, which he operated until his youngest son went overseas with the Flying Corps. He met his death in an air raid. Major Eric Osborne of Toronto is a son, and Mrs. Stuart of Blair road, this city, is a sister. There also survives his widow. The funeral will take place in Hamilton on Monday.

JEWISH MEN PLAN DRIVE TO AID KIDDIES' HOSPITAL

Committee Hopes To Raise $2,500; Calling Men's Mass Meeting Sunday.

Jewish men of the city are planning a generous endowment for the War Memorial Children's Hospital. At first a few of them talked about it, then they formed a committee to take up the matter, consisting of J. Harris, chairman, who has associated with him Messrs. B. Lewis, Max Lerner, Sam Weinstein, M. Siskind, B. Rosenbloom and I. Goldstick.

Friday afternoon the committee met in the office of Mr. Lewis to consider ways and means of raising the money and to fix an objective. It was decided to hold a mass meeting of Jewish men on Sunday afternoon to inaugurate a drive to secure at least enough to endow a room. "We intend to get at least $2,500," Mr. Lewis stated to the Women's Department of The Advertiser. "But we will not be satisfied with that if we can get more. Our ambition is to make the endowment as large as possible."

The introductory address will be given by the chairman, Major T. J. Murphy.

The first conference will be asked to decide whether or not further conference will be held, and if so, to elect a conference committee. The full program of the conference will be announced next week, according to Dr. H. W. Hill, chairman of the conference committee.

FEAST OF PASSOVER BRINGS GLADNESS

Unleavened Bread Reminds of Flight From Bondage of Egypt.

KNOW JOY BY CONTRAST

Always Recalls Seasons of Sadness in Rejoicing, Says Hadassah Member.

While Christian people the world over are rejoicing this week-end in the Easter season, Jewish folk are in the midst of the joyous celebration of the Feast of the Passover. The feasting in London, as throughout the world, began with sundown on Wednesday night, and continues until next Wednesday.

It is a time of gladness and of thanksgiving for deliverance from the bondage of Egypt, just as it has been through the centuries which have intervened since the flight and miraculous crossing of the Red Sea. It is a time for visiting and entertaining friends, and it is a time for the eating of unleavened bread.

With regard to the unleavened bread and its association with the Passover, a prominent member of the London Hadassah Chapter said on Friday, "Even amidst greatest rejoicing and festivity, the Jewish people always recall times when they did not dwell in a land flowing with milk and honey, times of great national distress."

"We eat unleavened bread at this time to call to our remembrance the fact that our people, through long years, were in bondage in Egypt, and that, when they made their flight, they were obliged to leave so hastily there was no time to set bread with yeast and bake it. They took the dough and baked it in the sun, and so, we recall their privations by eating the hard, unleavened and unsalted bread."

Rummage Sale Has Real Style

Big Departmental Store Features Introduced at First Presbyterian Event.

Many of the features of a big departmental store in a big city were adopted to give a more businesslike and metropolitan air to the immensely successful rummage sale held in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church Thursday afternoon, under the auspices of the Women's Association in aid of its work.

There was even the "store detective" and the order on the books that all articles sold must be wrapped to be carried away.

Such a fine collection of goods had been made under the general co-operation of Mrs. J. C. Gunn that it was considered well worth while to divide these up and place them in well-ordered departments. There were ladies' suits to suit fastidious people to with Mrs. Fysh as head of the department. Mesdames Wright, Gibson, Robinson, and W. Simson had the dressgoods, and Mrs. McFarlane, Miss Howie, the children's wear. Mesdames Wright, Mitchell and McLarty presided over boots and shoes, and Mesdames A. and John Skenhead and Miss Hanson managed the men's wear department. Mrs. Swift and Miss M. Harrison had hosiery as their specialty. Mesdames F. Spittal, Broderick and Miss Hill offered fancy goods, and Mrs. George Lethbridge and Miss Addie Reid looked after the fetching millinery. R. D. McDonald gave valuable assistance in the "machinery" department.

The sale started at 2:30 o'clock, and such was the demand of customers for the goods that practically everything was gone by 5 o'clock, but two or three coats. The proceeds amounted to about $175. Mrs. F. M. Millman is president of the Women's Association, and Mrs. J. B. Allen the treasurer.

CONSIDER SOCIAL SERVICE.

With some social service work under consideration, the Girls' Canadian Club has invited T. D. McCullough, secretary of the Social Service Council for Western Ontario, to address the next regular meeting, next Wednesday evening. This will be held at "Lenmore," the King street residence of the Y. W. C. A., the club members meeting there for tea, previous to the program and business.

Do You Envy English Woman's Complexion

Mrs. Asquith, famous diarist, in a recent interview took occasion to remark that the Englishwoman's complexion is far more beautiful than that of the average American woman. The truth of this assertion is admitted, if reluctantly, by all who have been in England. But Margot did not mention the fact that the ladies of her country are much given to the use of what is commercially known as mercerized wax, remarkable as a facial rejuvenator. This wax has the peculiar property of absorbing the soiled and lifeless particles of sour skin as they appear, the fresh new skin underneath, with its bloom of youth and health, then being in evidence. The process is quite harmless, causing no inconvenience. Mercerized wax can be had at drug stores here, as well as abroad, and if you will procure about an ounce of it and apply a little at bedtime, like cold cream, washing it off mornings, you soon will behold in your glowing cheeks a close resemblance to the wonderful transparent beauty of the Englishwoman's complexion.—Adv.

Freeman of Ottawa, who was prevented coming to the banquet in her honor several weeks ago because of illness.

The Nightingale Club of the Y. W. C. A. goes out to Mount Brydges, on Tuesday, 18th, to present the play, "Where the Lane Turns," which is to be given before a London audience in the Masonic Temple, April 27. The Nightingale Club in this is following the lead of the big professional companies which "try out" their productions "in the provinces" before appearing in metropolitan theatres. In this case, it is assumed that the artists are "ready for any audience." The Mount Brydges people are giving the proceeds of the play to the War Memorial Children's Hospital.

HOLD EASTER BAZAAR.

The April meeting Thursday evening of the Empress Avenue Mothers' Club took the form of an Easter bazaar, the school auditorium gaily decorated for the occasion in a color-scheme of red and green. WINDSOR GETS A GREAT RECEPTION FROM ASKIN ST.

Mr. Walker Gives Boys Hearty Welcome to South London's Church.

The Askin Street Groups again made a big hit with the public last week-end. What happened? Well, here goes. On April 1st the Askin Street Hawks and Elks journeyed to Windsor to play basketball. In these games Windsor was victorious. Last Saturday the Windsor boys arrived in London with the intent purpose of cleaning the locals works. In the afternoon they were a great help to the local basketball moguls by refereeing several C. S. E. T. basketball games.

The games started at 8:15 sharp. The Thistles for an opener showed the Imps how they thought the cage game should be played. The Hawks were out of luck and came out on the wrong end of the score. The last and feature game of the evening went to the Elks. The Windsor boys could not get wise to the locals' combination. The game ended 31-21 favor Elks.

After the game, oh, what a feed they had, Pies and cakes galore, and here and there a few sandwiches thrown in for good measure. "Kitch" Willoughby, in all his glory, acted as chairman, and when he wasn't stealing Frank Shaw's cake he did admirably well. Our biggest worry was Harold Todd, and he seemed to think it his duty to stick around the kitchen. Whether he was afraid someone was going to steal the "chicken," or watching "Spider" Webb, who, by the way, has a habit of walking off with pumpkin pies, will forever remain a mystery. Feeds are never feeds unless you have a few speeches. We had one from Bob Liddle, who welcomed the Windsor boys. Mr. Walker, the Askin Street Sunday school superintendent, who is gradually becoming an orator. He asked the visitors to come over the Askin Street on Sunday.

Our pleasant evening came to a close just as the church bells struck twelve. The next day at 4 o'clock they headed again to Windsor.

WISE CRACKS

George McCracken was going to visit his best girl the other evening, so he thought it would be a good investment to purchase a shave. So without further thought he wended his way to the nearest barber shop. The tonsorial artist very diligently covered George's "Map" with lather. Then he sat down. After a few minutes our hero started to get anxious and after an hurried consultation with his Ingersoll said, "See here, my man, how about shaving me?" The knight of the brush got up and rubbed George's face, and replied: "What's all the hurry, boss. I was just waiting to let some hair grow."

McVicar was engaged in his favorite pastime of breaking stones, when his minister came by. "Good morning," said the minister, cheerfully. "Quite a lot of stones there to break yet." "Yes," replied cheerless Mac. "Them stones are like the Ten Commandments." Why so? asked the minister. "You can keep right on breaking them, but you can't ever get rid of them," grunted Mac.

Bob Ferguson and Chas. Colbert were arguing about their dogs. "Dogs have more intelligence than most of their masters," maintained Bob.

Charles could not agree on this, so they decided to ask Thornton Fitzgerald, who was in the room. "Sure," replied Thornton. "Why I have a couple like that myself." And he is still wondering what caused the riot.

Jack Johnston—"It's a nice day, don't you think?"

Phil Burton—"No, not on a nice day."

Meyer Lerner to Allan Kay—"What an awful gash you have on your forehead?"

Allan Kay—"Oh, next to nothing—next to nothing."

STRANGE!

Have you ever noticed that the letter G is the initial letter of the following words: God, good, goodness, gladness, glory, grand, great, greatness, gratitude, grace, gospel, gold, gift, germ, genuine, genteel, gentleman, growing, gallant, generous, gifted, gleaming and guardian?

And that D is the initial letter of the following words, viz.: Devil, death, damnation, darkness, doubt, downwards, dullness, desolate, despair, drink, dirt, dust, dungeon, distill, dwindle and disturbance?

Perhaps only a coincidence, but it seems strange.

BOY'S MANHOOD MORTGAGED BY DILATORINESS

By L. M. Houlding, Secretary of the London Boys' Work Board.

"What are you going to make of yourself, Bill?" is a common question of the boy to boy, parent to boy, instructor to boy and church to boy; common but vastly more important in its consequences than any other question save that of his decision to follow the Christ.

Keeping in mind the boy, the leadership and the church, let us honestly and frankly discuss the question of how we can wisely direct the boy into his proper life-long calling.

Few teen-age boys know themselves. Their whole life spells activity, and they rarely ever take time to sit down by the side of the road and watch themselves go by with the definite object of placing themselves into their life's work. I know of nothing finer to make these boys think than the use of a well prepared self analysis blank, such as that issued by the London Boys' Work Board. A large number of boys answering the many printed questions, received a revelation of their own temperament and were more than surprised to know of the variety of opportunities of work open to them in the industrial, professional, commercial and agricultural fields.

Self Determination.

Every boy must study his own talents or faculties or capabilities and alongside of this self analysis he must place his knowledge of the jobs available in life. This plan should at least give him a general direction.

He needs help. He looks to the public schools and finds no solution to his hunger for a knowledge of vocations and their requirements. In the average school he gets little to help discover his individuality. One of the liveliest agitations in educational circles today is for vocational educators. Detroit, like many other wide-awake cities, has full-time vocational directors, who not only help the boys while in school, but they follow them out into their employments.

In London today we need a new hotel, it is true; we also need a union station and many municipal improvements, but there is even a greater and a more insistent need. If it is true that boys are the greatest asset in the community, then it naturally follows that one of the first acts of the new board of education should be the securing of two efficient vocational counsellors or directors one for boys and one for girls; experts who not only assist the boys and girls to find their callings, but who will see that they get better facilities for training in the schools, where the boy spends 1,000 hours a year in a man-making process.

Education is misunderstood by so many chaps. They see their pals out making money, and they want to cut school and light on to the first job that presents itself. Here is where the church can step in to dignify education; to concern itself with the boy who is too anxious to pass out into the domain of toil and at an early age mortgages his manhood.

Let the church assist the boy to choose his calling and get ready for it, to teach that education means better jobs, higher wages, greater efficiency, truer happiness, nobler citizenship and increased service.

What is of more value to the church, a skilled efficient man, or a cheap, idle man, disposed to worthlessness. The church answers this easily, but it so often forgets its mission to the young, growing manhood, and spends its time in a sort of mutual improvement society for adults. The teen-age boys drift out of the church body so easily, and then we strain our patience, our energy and our money to bring them back into the church membership and church relationships.

The church has a mission to the growing boy to guide and inspire him. I owe much to the splendid leadership of men in the church of my boyhood, which had vision enough to handle our gang so ably, that when it came time for us to choose our life's work they were prepared to wisely suggest the occupations open to us through their knowledge of our dispositions, our faculties and our ambitions.

Vocational Guidance.

This is the age of service. No unit is more fitted than the church to point out to the inquiring boy the jobs that will best enable him to serve his community yielding him the maximum amount of enjoyment and of service. If we were conscientious about this task it would not be necessary for two of our strong denominations to go over to England and Scotland in order to recruit preachers for Canadian pulpits.

Most of the failure and disappointments in life, and possibly much of the crime that abounds, may be attributed to the fact that so large a proportion of boys go out from public schools and Sunday schools imperfectly prepared to meet the demands of the world in which they find themselves living.

There is something for every boy to do, as leaders and parents find out what it is. Love plus capacity will conquer employment tasks, therefore study the boy's inclinations or desires, which are almost positive indications of capacity. Once you have helped him make a choice your responsibility will increase by intelligent guidance. If any parent or leader wants help you can always call the Boys' Work Board, phone 341. A serviceable text book is "Profitable Occupations for Boys," by E. H. Weaver.

LORD BYNG, YOUNG LONDON WELCOMES YOU!

[By a Staff Reporter.]

With the utmost anticipation and also with evident concern, the boys of this fair Forest City have been waiting the imminent visit of one who will prove to be Canada's most popular governor-general since the time of Confederation, the Right Honorable Baron Byng of Vimy, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., M.V.O., etc., and his wife, Lady Byng.

Since their arrival in Canada some seven short months ago, when they made their "debut" at the Canadian National Exhibition, they have been met with characteristic enthusiasm which reached to infinite extremities. Canada is proud and exultant in her "Hero of Vimy," whose career is so well known to every local Canadian. Nothing creates so much admiration—yes, even envy—in the heart of a boy as does the sight of one who fought for liberty and peace. At every turn we meet some poor chap minus an arm or a leg or with some disfiguring scar reminding us of his service for us. Then does the "soul of a boy" revolt against the narrow confines of his stature and is filled with an urgent desire to do his bit for those courageous men who have done so much for us.

Lord Byng, who arrives today was among those who faced the veritable hell of Vimy, so clear in our minds through constant description, and still more vivid is the late commander of the Canadian corps as we see him today—honorable, clean living and upright—truly a boy's man. In every paper on every hand we meet his smiling countenance, which makes us revere and respect him, not only for his position, but for his impressive personality.

When it was announced that Lord Byng desired to meet personally as many Londoners as possible, the news was received with great joy, especially among the boys.

Owing to the extensiveness of the reception program, young London has not been awarded much opportunity to display its prowess as desired. The Boys' Naval Brigade, from which a guard of honor has been selected, will, however, be on hand. This brigade is recognized as one of the most efficient in the Dominion. The Boy Scouts will also be out in full to finish up the representation of our future citizens.

AT LAST! ONE GOOD EFFECT OF ELECTRIC STORM

Scouts of Eighth Troop Out En Masse Despite Inclement Weather.

The Scouts of the Eighth London Troop met at their clubroom on Friday, March 31. Although the electric power was not on and the rain was coming down hard, the boys did not stay away from their meeting.

Points were given for the competition in neatness of uniform. Patrol Leaders Blackwell and Burrows are in the lead at present. Announcements were made and then various work was carried out. Games were played. The Scouts were dismissed early.

LATTER DAY SAINTS BOY SCOUTS ARE BUSY

Thirteen Pass Tenderfoot Examinations on Monday Night.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Tenth London Troop of Boy Scouts preparations were made for a big hike on Friday night. Scoutmaster Robert Blanchard gave a speech which was very well received. The troop also made sure all the details were ready for their part in the welcome of Lord Byng of Vimy, Canada's popular governor-general, who visits the city on Saturday. Thirteen of this troop passed their tenderfoot examinations at this parade.

EFFECTS OF SMOKING.

Some interesting experiments have been made recently to prove the bad effects even of moderate smoking on athletes. It was found that a baseball pitcher after smoking one cigar lost twelve per cent in accuracy and fourteen per cent after smoking two cigars. In shooting at a target rifle men lost four per cent in their score from smoking one cigar and six per cent after smoking two cigars. Bicycle riders after smoking two cigars or three cigarettes lost nine per cent endurance and increased their heart beats ten per minute. Similar tests with fencers showed a serious loss in precision in lunging with a fencing foil at a target after smoking two cigars. All these athletes gained in accuracy and endurance when they did not smoke. From Canadian Mentor.

START ANNUAL SPRING TRAINING FOR BASEBALL

Ahmeeks Left For the South On Friday Morning at 8 a.m.

The Ahmeeks, London's most progressive Tuxis Club, once more staged their annual London to Port Stanley tour. Said tour has been harbored in their meagre minds since their stupendous initiation ceremony, and a great deal of superfluous anxiety has been exhibited during the past week, due to the fact that the proverbial weatherman has been dishing up a varied and not exactly favorable degree of sunshine.

Much argument ensued as to the proposed route of locomotion. Of late years the L. and P. S. tracks have been gratefully patronized, but this year certain Ahmeeks have observed in certain papers that numerous well-meaning hoboes who, doubtless affected by the spring fever, had strolled along the tracks to view the countryside and have since been bailed to court to contribute to the country's coffers considerable of hard-earned cash. Now, as the majority of the club members have recently purchased spring apparel and are not very flush, they have judiciously avoided the railway ties.

They consequently betook themselves southward by the Wellington road route. The mud had little effect as their twin-sixes (pedal extremities) came through intact. A prompt start at 8 a.m. was made, and as usual, some were late and only overtook the gang as they were passing through the metropolis of Glanworth. Fred Rose set the pace (for the first hundred yards), but soon subsided to a contented amble. The aggregation kept somewhat together, not being distributed at more than half-mile intervals over the countryside at one time.

Despite their grueling pace hunger soon overtook them and camped at their heels until they unanimously decided to eat about 11 a.m. All members had been warned not to bring prepared lunches, but as usual one poor demented chap departed from the established custom and brought sandwiches. Needless to say he was ostracized for the time being. Sausages and bacon occupied a very prominent position, but they soon were stowed away in one more prominent. The farmer, who evidently resented the intrusion on his rail fence as a camp fire, appeared in time to hasten them on their journey.

For some time they were lost in the maze of streets boasted by St. Thomas. A cooling and refreshing swim was enjoyed at the St. Thomas "Y" and renewed their vigor momentarily. They stopped for a respite at Mr. T. R. Elliot, their mentor's summer home, a few miles from the lake shore, and reached Port in ample time for tea. After wandering about the almost deserted resort and lamenting the fact that there was no dancing they boarded the cars and returned to "Skin" Thomas, where they took in a thrilling (?) show. Needless to say they slept all the way home and the bread-earners were doubtlessly late for business this morning.

The Hornets' Nest

Who are we? We hate to pat ourselves on the back, but we believe ourselves to be the liveliest bunch of Trail Rangers in the city. If you come from Missouri and have to be shown, you'll soon see. George Mace is mentor of our group, and Mr. Hartley McVicar is the chief ranger, and they hail from New St. James' Presbyterian Church.

We thought we would tip you other Trail Rangers off, so you can train in order to make the National athletic meet look like something. You know the old saying about "dark horses." Well, that's us.

Our regular meeting was held on Wednesday, and as usual was a "hummer." Mr. W. D. Beamer, former head of the Boys' Work board, gave us a talk. His subject was "The Aims and Duties of a Trail Ranger." That the fellows appreciated it is putting it mildly. The way they "buzzed" around afterwards was a site for sore eyes.

If you think that honey bees are the only ones that store up honey you are an awful "ignamus." Just go into the "Y" diningroom next Wednesday night and watch the hive of Hornets gather it in.

Enthusiasm is a great thing, and it will take you a long way. Inject it in your group, and it will work wonders. The "Hornets" have it. Watch 'em.

WOLVES CLUB ARE OUT FOR SPRING BASEBALL

They Purpose Holding a Concert to Purchase Equipment.

The Wolves Club are out for spring baseball equipment. In order to get this it is necessary to put on a concert. The club since its inception has been more or less self-supporting, and according to one of its most influential members, to "keep up the good work." The plan up to the present is not complete, but the scene of their attempt is to be the Ryerson school. They have been very successful in obtaining the services of the Apex Four to take part in the concert. They will put on two comedies, "The Little Red School House" and "The Amateur Dentist." Besides these wonderful entertainers they have engaged the Sunset Quartet and other well-known talent. This concert will be held on Thursday, April 20, and a large crowd is anticipated.

WINCHESTER CORPS ENTERTAIN VISITORS

Bunch of Fellows From Wellington Street Church Are Guests.

Among the visitors to the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps ranges were some of the boys of the Naval Brigade, also some of the officers of the Wellington Street Methodist Church Rifle Corps. Mrs. Fortner also visited the ranges in the afternoon.

About forty members of the different units of the city were present, and three firing beds were in use under instructors Galloway, Nicholls and Nye.

In the evening about twenty members and their friends met at local headquarters at 860 William street, when the bronze match medal for the month of March was presented to Chas. White by Miss Emma Reynolds.

The team picked to represent the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps of the city of London were as follows: C. White, Wm. Galloway, F. Galloway, L. Nye, D. Chapman and W. Brady as spare man.

The team picked to represent the girls is as follows: Miss L. Brewer, Miss Eliza Reynolds, Miss M. Wells, Miss P. Fortner and Miss Emma Reynolds.

BOYS' NAVAL BRIGADE DEFEAT WINCHESTER CLUB

Navy Boys' Dominion Rifle Team Show Their Ability.

A most successful shoot was held on the armories indoor rifle range Wednesday night, April 5, when a most decisive victory went to the naval team. Being the youngest team in the city, and then in their first match, beat the oldest team (with such fine shots as the Winchester's team has got) by 49 points, goes to show that these sailor boys are going to take some beating. The best shot of both teams was W. Harding of the Naval Brigade, who made a grand score of 48 points out of a possible 50. The way this youth is handling the rifle, he will make one of the best shots in the country. L. B. Barnes and Horner are going to make a bid for the naval cup next month. These two boys are making great headway. The best shot of the Winchester team was C. White, with a fine score of 47 out of a possible 50. Mr. Murtagh captained the Winchester Club, that being in charge of him, and Chief W. O. Aikens handled his team of Naval boys. Chief W. O. Penticost was in charge of the range, and every boy knew exactly what to do. They were told to fire one sighting shot, and then were told what the shot registered on the target, and then silence reigned supreme except by the crack of the rifle. Each relay were given the same lecture, and after the match was over, Mr. Murtagh gave a short speech. He told the boys that his team was beaten squarely, and that he had never shot in such a good and clean match before, as good sportsmanship was the order of the day. He further told them that each boy had done his best, but the Naval boys were the better. Chief W. O. Penticost replied briefly, and gave the Winchester team the Naval boys' appreciation for their splendid showing, and that the Naval boys were open to any challenge from any team, and that this match was the first of many to come. Chief W. O. Aikens did not have anything to say, but you could tell by his countenance that he was satisfied with the splendid work of his team on their first match, and is looking forward for big things from the Naval boys. The score was as follows:

Winchesters.	Naval Brigade.
C. White 47	W. Harding . . . 48
W. Galloway . . . 39	R. Barnes . . . 45
F. Galloway . . . 38	J. Crocker . . . 42

FORMER C.S.E.T. TEAM PLAYS WINDSOR TUXIS FIVE

The Trail Ranger Quintet Uphold the Honor of the Windy City.

Last Saturday the Windsor Tuxis and Trail Ranger teams visited London, playing a return game with the Askin Elks and Hawks. Both fixtures were good. The Tuxis tilt was one of the fastest games the "Y" floor has ever seen. The Elks showed the way for Windsorites. Shaw played his usual game, which is hard to beat, and led his confederates in the attack. The Windsor team put up a game struggle but lost out. The final score standing was 31-to-22. In the second game the Windsor Trail Rangers easily vanquished the Hawks. Leishman, for Windsor, was the best on the floor. Score 20-to-38.

AHMEEKS DEBATE PRESS VS. PULPIT

Former Win in Debate Respecting Influences Exerted by Either.

The regular weekly meeting was held as usual on Tuesday night. The supper was dispensed with for the evening, as a number of school members were in the midst of rigorous examinations, and they had previously expressed uncertainty as to whether they would be able to attend. However, the attendance was exceptionally good and the members who had graduated from school, or at least, school had for the most part graduated from them, expressed their sympathy for their hard studying co-workers, among them the popular pretor of the club, "Bob" Ferguson.

The minutes were read and unanimously approved, Claude Gunther, vice-president, occupying the chair. Business arising from the minutes was discussed and disposed of in a businesslike manner, as parliamentary procedure has been adopted by the club. The various committees reported as to the progress made in their departments during the week.

The committee in charge of the radio concert, which the club is preparing, and the date of which has not yet been announced, received suggestions and valuable information from the other club members. The athletic committee reported that all the members were training for the approaching athletic meet with great vigor. Their only apprehension is that some over-anxious members may exert themselves to an excessive extremity. The committee in charge of the impending Good Friday hike to Port Stanley stated that all arrangements had been completed and posted a series of directions which they had compiled. After other business was concluded the club reverted to a pleasant and an amusing half hour of friendly argument.

A debate had been arranged by the program committee for the evening. The participants were: Chester Kay, leader of the affirmative, ably assisted by Cecil Kemp, and Leonard Gidley, aided by Claude Gunther, composed the negative team. The speakers all spoke remarkably well. Leonard Gidley displayed the most knowledge of the material he had gathered together. The affirmative side, however, had collected such a veritable bombardment of arguments that the judges had no difficulty in reaching a decision in their favor. The subject under discussion was: "Does the press exert more influence than the pulpit."

Mr. T. R. Elliott, mentor of this progressive club, afterwards pointed out to the debaters many valuable arguments which they had overlooked, and expressed his approval at the way in which they conducted themselves.

A pleasant social evening was afterwards enjoyed, the members engaging in friendly rivalry upon the billiard table they possess, and which they use to good advantage.

THE Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS WILL BE HERE TUESDAY

Why Prepare For This Gigantic Circus?

This is not a question but a fact, the "Y" is getting away to a good start for the big event of the season which takes place in the form of a circus Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. A monster parade was staged this morning; crowds lined the streets to see the frills and frolics of some real clowns.

The circus practically closes the indoor work on the "Y" gym, and something is being offered to the public that is not seen every day.

NEW BOYS WORK BOARD.

The initial meeting of the new Boys' Work Board of London was held this week. There were a great number of new faces present and indications are that this year's board will outclass any other we have had in so far as doing things is concerned. Mr. A. R. Kennedy, managing editor of The London Advertiser, and a man who is very keen in boys' work in London, was elected chairman, with Rev. F. W. K. Harris vice-chairman. Mr. Houlding is the executive secretary, while Mr. S. R. White of Askin Street Methodist Church Mr. G. McAllister of First Methodist, and Mr. J. S. Lovell of the Religious Education Council of London were elected as the executive. With these men at the helm it is certain that the interests of the boys of London will be well looked after. Of course, this board only has control over C. S. E. T. work, but co-operates with other bodies for the betterment of the boys of London.

Mention should probably be made of the retiring chairman of the Boys' Work Board, Mr. W. D. Beamer. Mr. Beamer has done a whole lot for the boys of London, probably more than most boys are aware of. Previous to being appointed chairman of the Boys' Work Board, Mr. Beamer took a keen interest in the athletic side of the C. S. E. T. program, and much credit is due him for the success some of our athletic events met with. During Mr. Beamer's term of office as chairman of the board, he had many difficult and trying matters to deal with, the most important of which probably, was the resignation of the London Boys' Community Council, which he dealt with in a fine manner. Instead of accepting the council's resignation and "firing" them, he gathered the boys together and in a fatherly manner restored order once more. We are glad Mr. Beamer is still connected with the Boys' Work Board.

It is to be hoped that this year's board will take an active part in boys' work during the next year, not only by attending meetings and drawing up resolutions, but by getting out with the boys and making the gatherings and events which they pass on a success.

L. C. I. REVIEW.

We have had the opportunity of scanning the L. C. I. Review this week. It is a noteworthy fact this paper has developed this year from a very mediocre paper to one of the best school papers we have had the pleasure of reading.

The editorial pages are marvelous, covering, as they do, so many subjects in so short a space for their completeness.

The criticisms of Mr. Landon we read with added zest. We do not envy Mr. Landon his job. The splendid article by Miss Ernestine Partridge on "Candianism" was exceptionally well written. This paper, we think would find it advantageous to have at least one of the Lower School students on the associate editors staff. Next year we believe all of the present editorial staff hopes to go higher in the field of learning, so it can be readily seen that if the L. C. I. Review hopes to carry on as they are going now, it is absolutely essential to have an experienced man ready to jump into the harness and carry on. With the possible exception of the "jokes," which, by the way, were rather "moldy," this issue of London's Best School Paper is worthy of comment.

To thine ownself be true,
And it must follow as the night, the day:
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

A Challenge

I, William Galloway, of Unit 1183, of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps, do hereby challenge Naval Cadet Barnes, of the Boys' Naval Brigade, of the city of London, to a friendly contest to be shot on Saturday, April 22, 1922, over the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps Ranges at Winchester valley.

A reply to this challenge will be received by Chief Instructor Murtagh, of 860 William street.

The object of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps is to teach the safe and accurate handling of a rifle; to encourage better marksmanship and sportsmanship among the boys and girls of Canada, and develop the qualities of fair play and manliness which make for self control, so essential to success in after days.

Romance Begun in Constantinople Terminated by Shooting Affray

DETROIT, April 14.—Daniel George, 33 years old, 710 Solway avenue, is held by Highland Park police on a charge of assault with intent to kill following the shooting last night of Kaspas Sarkisian, his best friend, in the presence of Zabi, George's 21-year-old wife. Sarkisian is not seriously hurt. A love triangle led to the shooting, according to the story as reconstructed by the police from admissions of all three principals.

George came to the United States several years ago, according to information in the hands of Highland Park police, leaving behind him in Armenia a wife and two small children. He prospered moderately and saved his money.

About a year ago he crossed the ocean with the intention of bringing back his family, but in Constantinople fate in the guise of two black eyes, a winsome smile and a pretty girl intervened.

Shortly after George had brought board of trustees, composed of representatives of the government and at least six representative ex-service men nominated by the Dominion Veterans' Alliance, and that this board be empowered with the administration of the canteen funds.

Other proposals dealing with the after-care of ex-service men, Extension of the period during which applications for supplementary war service gratuity for former members of the Imperial forces previously domiciled in Canada, and that further payments on account of war service gratuity be made to the dependent next of kin, and an amount equivalent to that which would have been paid had the soldier returned at the end of his period of service, will also be presented to the parliamentary committee.

The legislative committee will also seek for the appointment of a retired soldier to the civil service commission, and a number of changes to the civil service act, designed to correct conditions which have placed ex-service men in a lesser standing than they would have occupied but for war service.

BODY OF ROBERT BOSTON INTERRED AT MELROSE

Large Number of Friends Pay Last Tribute to Former M. P. For South Middlesex.

The funeral of Robert Boston, former M. P. for South Middlesex, took place at Melrose on the afternoon of Good Friday.

The church was filled with friends of the deceased. The chief mourners were: Judge Duncan C. Ross, St. Thomas; Mrs. Austin Hutchinson, Toronto; Mrs. Ernest Gunn, Colburn; his sisters; Mr. and Mrs. William Boston, a brother of the deceased of Oklahoma; William B. and James Scott, nephews, and Jane Scott, a sister of Melrose, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson of Toronto.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Neil Campbell of Melrose Presbyterian Church, and Rev. John Crawford of London, both of whom made appropriate addresses. Those present joined in singing with much feeling the 23rd Psalm, Jesus Lover of My Soul and Rock of Ages. Then those present saw the remains of the one they all loved and respected laid beside his father and mother in "God's acre," adjoining the church. The tombstones in the immediate vicinity bore the dates of 1835. Lobo is one of the old settled townships of Middlesex, and the funeral brought together very many of the old residents whose "sun is dipping in the west."

PRISONERS BREAK JAIL AT DETROIT

DETROIT, April 14.—Police today are searching for seven prisoners who escaped from the House of Correction last night. The men, serving terms ranging up to fourteen years, are believed to have hidden in the chapel during the evening service, and to have jumped from a third-story window after the other inmates had been returned to their cells. Officials of the prison were unaware of the escape until informed by the police, who were notified by a relative of one of the escaped prisoners.

WOODSTOCK HOSPITAL PATIENTS GO TRAVELING AS BIBLICAL CHARACTERS. Special to London Advertiser. BRANTFORD, April 14.—Three patients from the Ontario Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock were taken off one of the Grand Trunk trains here this afternoon. It is stated that the men escaped while they were taking their usual exercise in the grounds of that institution late this afternoon, and wandered down to the station at Woodstock where they boarded the train, wherefor and why they did not know.

When the conductor asked them for their tickets one of the men said, "Jesus carried His own cross, and my friend is carrying mine." When the train arrived in the city company was notified, and the police, who at once responded to the call and took them into custody.

At the police station, when asked by Acting Detective Stanley who they were, one of them said: "I am John the Baptist of the first generation." They all seemed to be under the delusion that they were personages of the Bible.

Officials of the hospital were informed of the men being detained here, and attendants are being sent to take them back tonight.

GIRL PLANS FOR SAFE BLOWERS

Stenographer Used As Scout by New York Gang of Bandits.

Watchman Unfolds Story To Detectives, Revealing Crooks' Methods.

NEW YORK, April 14.—A story of a gang of safe blowers, working with the aid of a girl stenographer used as a scout, today was obtained by detectives investigating last night's raid on the Royal Insurance Co. building, 84 West 11th street, in which nearly $75,000 worth of cash and securities were taken from a number of offices.

The police claimed to have obtained the story from George Breckenridge, a watchman, who was found bound and gagged. Detectives say Breckenridge confessed being a party to the robbery, although he professed not to know the names of any of the robbers.

The superintendent of the building stated that Breckenridge, a member of the police reserves, had obtained his job as watchman on the strength of a letter of recommendation written on police department stationery and purporting to have been signed by Captain Wray of the East 6th street station.

The girl who obtained employment in one of the offices chosen by the gang, made plans and learned the method of handling the money. Then she would turn her information over to her bandit lover and resign, police say, sharing in the loot when the gang did the job.

The insurance building had been thoroughly combed by the bandit gang of nine, who calmly knocked off work to munch a midnight lunch, as evidenced by crumbs found littering the floor in front of one safe that had been ripped open.

Gang Scared Off. Apparently, however, the gang had been scared off after cracking seven safes, for a full kit of expensive burglar tools were discovered in one office. While the loot was placed at $75,000, the estimate was only tentative, for the check-up was delayed by the fact that many of those robbed had left the city for the Easter holidays.

Police forced entrance to the building when Breckenridge hurried his head through a window on the eighth floor, sending the shattered glass to the street. They found the watchman, trussed and gagged, with the lower half of his body thrust into a mail sack.

He said a gang attacked him, bound him, and then went from office to office, ripping open the safes and departing with the contents.

Raiders Separate. Suspicion was directed to Breckenridge by the absence of wounds, although he claimed to have been severely beaten.

The nine men drove up in an automobile about 9:30 p.m., after the engineer had left the building for the night. They hid in the cellar until Breckenridge went to the tenth floor in an elevator and brought down the last occupant of the building.

Then the gang rode up to the sixteenth floor in the elevator, where they divided into several raiding parties and began their work.

WIRTH VISITS PRELATE. GENOA, April 14.—Director Wirth, the German chancellor who heads the Berlin delegation to the economic conference, paid a visit today to Monsignor Signori, Archbishop of Genoa, to express appreciation of and gratitude for the interest displayed by Pope Pius in the work of the conference. This already had beneficially affected the gathering, said Dr. Wirth.

Germany, added the chancellor, was looking with satisfaction upon the efforts of the pontiff towards universal peace.

"Only by following the advice of Pope Benedict, confirmed by Pius XI, can the world again find the peace it has lost," the chancellor concluded.

TO GET NEW YORK CHICAGO AIRLINE. CHICAGO, April 14.—Daily flights between New York and Chicago by airplane, carrying 200 persons, will be inaugurated soon, according to announcement by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick. They provided for two passenger planes costing $2,000,000 each with a capacity of 200 persons and 25,000 pounds of extra freight. The New York-Chicago trip is expected to take ten hours.

The PLAYHOUSE and the MOVIE THEATRE

EDITED BY CABR.

"Irene" To Be Feature of Grand Theatre Programs Next Week

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" and Vaudeville Also Offered—
Special Attraction at Majestic Is "Prince of Mythland."

ONE of the most popular theatrical announcements of the season is that which the Grand Theatre now makes of the engagement of the Vanderbilt Producing Company, for Saturday next, to present the immensely successful musical comedy, "Irene."

The musical score of this outstanding production is familiar to the whole of North America, and the statement alone that Lady Duff Gordon has a hand in the costuming vouches for the quality of the production.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," that old and loved play of childhood, is another attractive theatrical event of next week, to be presented at the Grand Theatre, on Thursday and Friday, while the first half of the week will see a fine vaudeville and picture bill.

A special attraction of all next week will be the presentation at the Majestic Theatre of the big musical extravaganza, "The Prince of Mythland," under the auspices of the London Advertising Club, in which the complete cast will be local.

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND BODIES

Mrs. Howard Houlette, Waskatenau, Sask., writes: "I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters."

"My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once."

"In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood-cleansing medicine such as

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.
A remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-five years, and one without an equal for all diseases and disorders of the blood.

"IRENE" AT GRAND.

Among this season's bookings the management of the Grand Theatre feels confident that there will be none to receive a heartier welcome than the Vanderbilt Producing Company's production of James Montgomery's universal success, "Irene," a musical comedy by Harry Tierney and lyrics by Jos. McCarthy, which for the past two years has delighted audiences in all parts of the globe. It comes to the Grand Theatre on Saturday of next week for matinee and evening performances.

It is needless to tell the story of the play, for it is so well known that a repetition in print seems useless. It is the enormous success the play has had that is much more newsworthy.

Originally produced at the Vanderbilt Theatre in New York on Nov. 18, 1919, it crowded the popular theatre on 48th street for two consecutive years, or to be exact, ran until June 18, 1921, making theatrical history so far as musical comedy runs were concerned.

At the time there were thirteen other companies playing the piece, both in this country and abroad, all controlled by the original producers of the play, so that nearly every spot of any prominence in the civilized world has seen and heard "Irene."

There is not a photograph or player-piano company in this country able to keep their dealers supplied with enough records of the many song hits, so great is the demand for these tuneful gems.

It has always been a rule with the producers never to let one of their productions run down or become stale, one of their first contracts when the play received its first presentation and was found to be a success having been that made with the titled modiste, Lady Duff Gordon, who has always had a free hand in the costuming of all the organizations, and who has, by her artistically placed "Irene" in the category of plays noted for their wonderful costumes and coloring.

The interpreting company is all that could be wished for, and the chorus well chosen for its capabilities. As in the past, the company carries its own symphony orchestra.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Comes.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the one show in the world that will never grow old. No matter how often it is seen it always pleases, bringing back as it does fragrant memories of childhood. For the Grand Theatre Thursday and Friday of next week W. H. Kibbie will present his sumptuous revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with all the old features and many new ones. The Kibbie "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company is the finest now on the road, and has played with great success wherever it has been booked. Its engagement in London will be welcomed by the hundreds of theatre patrons who have already seen the great Harriet Beecher Stowe production, and who never fail to witness it when opportunity offers.

Present Vaudeville.
The Grand Theatre has an especially attractive vaudeville and picture bill for the first half of the week commencing on Monday afternoon. The picture feature will present bewitching Marie Prevost, the newest screen favorite, in "Nobody's Fool," a picture in which she has already won the highest praise of acting critics. Those who remember Miss Prevost's delightful comedy in "A Parisian Scandal," in which she was starred a few weeks ago, will see an even more enjoyable production in her new feature.

Comedy will not be neglected, for the bill also contains Larry Semon

SPECIAL ATTRACTION.

ALL NEXT WEEK—"The Prince of Mythland," presented under the auspices of the London Advertising Club.

In one of his funniest releases, "The Suitor." This picture is replete with thrills and comedy, and contains all the melodramatic stunts in which Semon excels.

The vaudeville bill is headed by the Grady Trio, one of the best musical turns on the road. The Grady Trio feature saxophones and banjos, and have made a distinct success in the larger vaudeville houses of the United States. The Franklin Duo have a sensational equilibristic act of an attractive character, while Tom Greely, comedian, has a succession of gloom-chasing laugh numbers. Jim Blue and company, comedy, singing and talking duo, are also to be numbered among the best in their line, while Homer and Dell, versatile musicians, complete a particularly well-balanced bill.

"PRINCE OF MYTHLAND" AT MAJESTIC.

"The Prince of Mythland," the musical comedy being offered at the Majestic Theatre all next week by

Helena Morrill As "Gypsy Girl"

"Arlene," the gypsy girl, is one of the outstanding characters in Balfe's beautiful opera, "The Bohemian Girl," to be heard at the Grand Theatre today.

The Advertising and Sales Club of London, will be a surprise even to the most hardened critic.

All details in the training of the large cast have been worked out, and the company has been rehearsing in conjunction with Jack Cortese's seven-piece orchestra for several days.

Soloists have been carefully selected by Mr. Elmo Drake and Mrs. Drake. Their work, it is predicted, will reflect credit on the teachers of London.

Only the best dancers and dances will be introduced.

Few of the shows on the road today carry scenic effects as elaborate and of such variety as have been obtained for "The Prince of Mythland."

Dear Sirs:—

As we approach the end of the fifth year during which time we have continuously used the columns of the leading newspapers of Canada to advertise The Literary Digest to the Canadian public, we are pleased to say that the results of this publicity have been very satisfactory.

Of course, the "Digest" occupying as it does a unique position in the periodical world, by presenting the consensus of public opinion throughout the world on all the important subjects that interest mankind, appeals only to those men and women of intelligence who would keep abreast of current thought and action. For this reason it is necessary that we select only newspapers of high quality to carry our announcements. The papers we are using in Canada measure up fully to the required standard.

If one would reach the better class of Canadian readers one must do so through the journals constituting the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association.

Very sincerely yours,
THE LITERARY DIGEST.

George A. Dawe
Advertising Manager.

What more striking tribute to the power of Daily Newspaper Advertising could be had than this letter from the publishers of a WEEKLY PERIODICAL, which has gained its circulation through the daily press. We repeat their comment, based upon five years' experience:

"If one would reach the better class of Canadian readers one must do so through the journals constituting the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association."

PLACES FIFTY DODGE CARS
IN LONDON SINCE OCTOBER

W. J. Chisholm Makes Remarkable
Showing in Automobile Business For Stranger.

Coming to London last October as the local agent for Dodge Bros. motor cars, and a total stranger in the city, W. J. Chisholm has placed more than fifty Dodge cars in this district since his arrival in the city of London. This is a remarkable showing, and especially so in the automobile business, for a man who arrives in the city a stranger, and asked for the circumstances that led up to his coming to London, Mr. Chisholm replied:

"For three and a half years I was with the Dodge Bros. agency in Mount Clemens, Mich. In October, 1920, I sold out my business interests in Mount Clemens and moved to Detroit, where I was sales manager of the General Sales Company, a wholesale auto accessories firm. In September, 1921, I decided to take a Dodge Bros. agency again, and so resigned my position in Detroit.

"I scoured the States of Ohio and Michigan looking for an agency, but with no results. It was quite by accident that, while driving through London a few weeks later, I established myself here. Noticing the scarcity of Dodge cars in this city, I made inquiries which resulted in me becoming the dealer in this district."

Mr. Chisholm is a Canadian citizen, having been born in Walkerton, Bruce County, Ont., September, 1921. I decided to take a Dodge Bros. agency again, and so resigned my position in Detroit.

"People are daily appreciating more and more the exceptional value in the Dodge car," stated Mr. Chisholm. "Dodge Bros. have one of the best systems of advertising, if not the best, of any motor car manufacturer in the world."

"An advertisement was the text of a sermon delivered recently by Rev. C. A. Rowell, pastor of the United Church of Hindeale, a Chicago suburb. He chose the ad 'Over 700,000 Owners,' which had been flashed across the country on billboards and through leading newspapers and magazines by Dodge Bros., Detroit."

"Standing out prominently on one side of the pulpit was the whole page advertisement, mounted on a big placard, bore the simple message, 'Over 700,000 Owners,' and the name of the manufacturer. On the opposite side of the pulpit, on another placard, stood a color advertisement, brilliantly illustrated and splendidly worded. Rowell referred to the beautiful use of color, the choice selection of words, the artistic illustration, and compared them with the simple statement of accomplishment in the three-word message, 'Over 700,000 Owners.'"

"It was a special sermon to children, and the pastor emphasized to his youthful congregation that they should be known by our deeds even more than by our words." The two advertisements, in which a simple statement, backed by the good repute of one manufacturer, contrasted sharply with the colorful messages of the other, served him admirably as an illustration, and the sermon proved exceedingly interesting.

"Dodge Bros. also maintain a department to deal with motor car thefts reported by owners and insurance companies. Every two weeks the complete list reported is sent to Dodge Bros. dealers and service stations in all parts of the country. Copies of the bulletin are also mailed to a national list of police bureaus."

"There is only one way to do vulcanizing," he went on, "and that is the right way. There are other ways on the market, but they are fakes in every sense of the word. I started vulcanizing with one idea, and that was 'Quality.' That is why we are so busy all the time, and we do not believe in cheap work."

"No matter what business a person takes up he should only have one standard, and that is the highest."

Succeed In London

LONDON weathered the storm of business depression. Because the city is situated in the center of the greatest and richest agricultural district in Canada, it was able to hold its own while other cities instituted bread lines and unemployment doles.

Naturally London businessmen shared the fate of London. They are part and parcel of London, and as London gains in prominence, so will its business houses, retail and wholesale increase their trade. The two are inseparable.

Officials from all parts of the Dominion have predicted a bright future for the city. With its transportation, educational and other facilities, London cannot help but grow.

London businessmen know this. That is why they remain in the city and believe in succeeding with London.

REPAIRED 10,000
TIRES IN ONE YEAR

"During the past year I have vulcanized more than 5,000 tires, and counting those I have vulcanized I have repaired around 10,000 tires."

This statement, which would seem rather exaggerated to those who are not acquainted with the "ins and outs" of the tire business, was made by Art Wilkes, proprietor of the London Tire Repair Depot, when asked if he could remember how many tires he had fixed in the past year.

"I was the first to start a vulcanizing business in Western Ontario," he continued. "That was 12 years ago, and I began in the same place that I am now, namely 354 Wellington street. Of course business did not start with a rush, but through honest effort and endeavor it grew gradually, and last year was the best year I have ever experienced."

"We vulcanize and repair tires and tubes, and sell retail the best makes of tires in America. In our repair work we use the best materials that money can buy. Our service is unequalled in Ontario today, and our opinion is unbiased. By that I mean we tell our customers the truth about the condition of their tires. We do not repair casings if, in our own mind, we do not think they are worth it."

"Only the most modern equipment and machinery is used in our shop," explained Mr. Wilkes. "We can handle all sizes of tires, from the 3-inch tire up to the 8-inch giant pneumatic cord."

The O'Brien Business College, "The

in London.
The proprietor and principal, W. J.
O'Brien, is a collegiate institute commercial specialist, and is also the possessor of a chartered accountant's intermediate certificate. Mr. O'Brien devotes his whole time, during college hours, to teaching, and his shorthand and commercial teachers.
In addition to the regular shorthand and commercial subjects, Mr. O'Brien himself specializes in salesmanship, cost accounting, advanced account and civil service subjects.
The typewriting department, which is equipped entirely with the latest Underwood typewriters, the kind of machine Mr. Jarrett used in the Canadian typewriting championship contest in Massey Hall, Toronto, on Friday, April 17, when he won the championship typewriting contest for the second time, is the only one in Western Ontario that is using blank machines entirely, the only way by which touch typewriting can be properly taught.
In this department, fifteen students have recently won the Underwood certificate for proficiency in typewriting, and a fifteen year old girl won the Underwood bronze medal with two bars. Mr. O'Brien also is an enthusiastic expert on and teacher of the Dalton, 10-Key, Adding Machine, the kind used by Miss Jeffrey of the Western Assurance Company, who won the Canadian championship in the adding machine contest in Massey Hall, Toronto, on the same night as Mr. Jarrett won the Canadian typewriting championship.
The filing system used in the O'Brien Business College is the most modern, and gives satisfactory results.
The demand for graduates of the O'Brien Business College has been greater than the supply. There is not one graduate of the O'Brien
Business College, desiring a position, who is not now employed. No other business college in Western Ontario is so fortunate now. Many employers are now paying higher salaries to graduates from the O'Brien Business College than they are to experienced office help, who previously attend other colleges.

London Dealers Report More Pronounced Buying Attitude By Public.

HEAVY JEWETT ORDERS

Maxwell Vehicles Receive Greater Attention in Foreign Countries.

BY J. L. MIDDLETON.

The first robin, the caterpillar, the marble players, and all the old-time harbingers of spring are as nothing compared to the clattering of the roadways and the streets of London by motor car devotees, as heralding the coming of spring and the touring season.

Already London dealers are feeling the effect of the response of the public to the call of the open, and that the condition in London is typical of Western Ontario is reflected in greatly increased business. The unusually heavy demand upon the factories during March has been followed by a more pronounced buying attitude on the part of the public, and already dealers are beginning to worry just a bit over prospects for quick deliveries if the increase continues.

Not only is there greater interest apparent on the part of the public, but conditions have brought increased merchandising efforts on the part of the dealers. Automobile values, both in new and used cars, are better today than ever before, and the determination on the part of the manufacturers and dealers to put the prices of their products at rock bottom has had the effect of inspiring confidence and loosening purse strings. Then, too, there is the ever-present fear that the predictions of price increases are well founded, that is promoting the present buying wave.

"Automobile dealers in London have one big advantage over dealers in every other field," says Frank McLachlin. "This advantage is summed up in a few words—inherent desire on the part of the public. Some time try the experiment. Stand on any busy street corner and ask the first 100 persons you meet, who do not already possess automobiles, whether or not they would like to have one, and their answer invariably will be 'Yes.' Of no other article of merchandise, outside the bare necessities of life, is this true. I look forward confidently to the time when every hand, clerk or executive, will own his own car."

Heavy Orders for Jewetts. Hodgins & Fergusson are receiving many compliments on the high type of construction revealed in the new Jewett Light Six, which has just been introduced locally, and is on exhibition in the Paige sales-rooms.

The frame construction is unusually sturdy. Four cross members are used in place of the usual three, and additional stiffening is given to the frame where the rear motor supports are bolted to the frame brackets. Examination of the driving mechanism back of the 50-horsepower power plant also shows how well built the car is throughout. The clutch is a new dry plate design. Power is transmitted to the rear axle through a hollow drive shaft, and two all-steel universal joints. Both front and rear axles of the Jewett are Timken built. Timken roller bearings are used on the front wheel spindles, and the weight of the car is carried on ball-thrust bearings which makes for easy steering. The manner in which motorists are taking to the Jewett is indicated in the report from the factory that at the present time orders for the Jewett cars total more than $6,000,000.

MAXWELL VEHICLES.

Favorable comment and attention accorded Maxwell vehicles in foreign lands continue to be in evidence, according to H. Leckie, retail sales manager, Universal Motor Sales of this city.

Not long ago "The Car," an English magazine on motoring, praised the Maxwell in comparison with the British home product of corresponding power and high price. Then it was revealed that the Maxwell has been adopted as the standard chassis for fire hose-cart service throughout Australia.

In Spain, the Maxwell one and one-half ton truck was designated for the use of the colonial army. Such excellent service was rendered that the minister of war has recommended that the domestic military forces be equipped with Maxwell trucks.

Now in England, have Maxwells again scored as evidence in an article written for "The Car" by Lord Garvagh.

Lord Garvagh is a Maxwell owner, and he lives on his estate 50 miles from the nearest garage. In speaking of his good Maxwell, Lord Garvagh writes: "Sometimes we go for tours in the mountains, and no matter what strange and weird places we tackle, the Maxwell is always equal to the occasion. The car has covered about 8,000 miles, and it runs distinctly better now than when new. The engine has never been decarbonized nor have the valves been touched."

A new phase of the automobile business, of which the manufacturers and dealers have always been aware, but which they are now having an opportunity to develop more intensively, is the occupational use of cars and trucks. Thousands of cars are now being used by doctors, and some of the larger industrial corporations are buying passenger cars in large numbers for their salesmen and supervisors.

One gallon of gasoline of 64 test weighs half an ounce more than six pounds.

ECONOMY IN OPERATION IS DOMINANT NOTE IN 1922 AUTOS

ADVISES OWNER TO CARRY FULL LINE OF TOOLS

Careful Automobilist Outlines Accessories Which Add To Comfort of Car Operation.

TROUBLE LAMP VALUABLE

Points Out Foolishness of Loading Up Battery With Many Electric Devices.

It is always best to have too many rather than too few things in an automobile by way of equipment and accessories.

It is a well-known fact that a woman can fix almost anything with a hairpin, but this fact does not apply to the male species and the female may not always be along when there is something the matter with a car. Nevertheless, a hairpin is a good thing to include among the accessories, or if not this, at any rate, a spoon of soft iron wire.

Most cars come well equipped with necessities. These often include two headlights, two side lights, tail lamps, windshield, top cover, side curtains, speedometer, horn and clock. Then there is usually a tool outfit for tire restoration and mechanical repairs, which includes tire pump, jack, tire repair kit, a variety of wrenches to fit all nuts and bolts, oil can, set of spark plugs and generally an extra one; hammer, screwdriver, cold chisel, magneto-adjusting wrench and some other things varying with the car.

Trouble Lamp Valuable. There are any number of additions which may be made in the way of tools, or of devices, which some motorists deem desirable.

Some of these things are a trouble lamp attachable to a socket on the dash, a mirror to enable the driver to see what is going on back of him, cigar lighters, foot warmers and elaborate lights for the limousine. The owner should not, however, load up his battery with a lot of electric devices which use up current very fast. Not so as to tools; one may err in having too few rather than too many.

Some owners of a new car fail to appreciate the value of these accessories and consequently through carelessness this and that important article may get misplaced or lost. It does little good to know what ails a car when it fails to go if one does not have handy the tools and materials to do the necessary repair work or adjustment.

On the other hand, some owners become obsessed with an uncontrollable desire to have every possible accessory made, which results in their auto looking more like a machine shop than anything else. There is a happy medium that tends to enjoyment in motoring.

Take Up Little Space.

A wise selection of tools for the car will provide everything at all likely to be needed on tour and yet capable of being packed in such a compact space that it does not become an annoyance through the room occupied, nor weigh down the car.

The special tools furnished should be preserved with great care, because nothing else fills the bill quite so well. To these might be added some few tools and parts not needed often, but when they are their absence is a source of great annoyance.

A special file is manufactured for the particular purpose of cleaning off the interrupter points. If one of these is not in the car when they become glazed so that no spark is procured, it is necessary to disassemble the spark timer completely, take out the points and then find a piece of flat, hard stone upon which the points may be cleaned. This may do the work all right, but much time would be saved if the interrupter point file was carried in the car.

Should Carry Folding Pail.

Many Ontario owners have had the

Motor Tourists Spend $7 Per Person Daily On An Average

STATISTICS compiled by Canadian highway officials in all sections of the Dominion reveal that a golden harvest follows in the wake of automobile tourists. An analysis of records kept last season shows that the average motorist spends $7 a day in the community in which he sojourns. With half the world on wheels it is pointed out the possibilities of increasing the volume of tourist travel and the flood of dollars is limited only by the condition of highways and the attitude of residents toward tourists, from the standpoint of welcome extended and accommodations offered.

experience of being caught out on the road by a storm and having to put on non-skid chains. How often have they found that, though these chains were in good condition when leaving the garage and when they were put on, after running a while over rough roads at a fair speed, some of the links were through and began to thrash against the mud guards. This is not only annoying, but often does real damage to guards. Most owners have stopped more than once to wire the loose ends to the side chains to stop the banging and it certainly would be more satisfactory to carry a supply of links and a chain tool so that the broken ends could be removed and new links inserted.

A folding pail is very useful, especially when one has to go up very long hills and finds that the water in the radiator has boiled away. The cooling systems for automobile engines today are very efficient and it is only in exceptional cases that the water will boil out of the radiator, and that is just the reason why an occurrence of that sort is disastrous, because one is not expecting it and is not prepared for it.

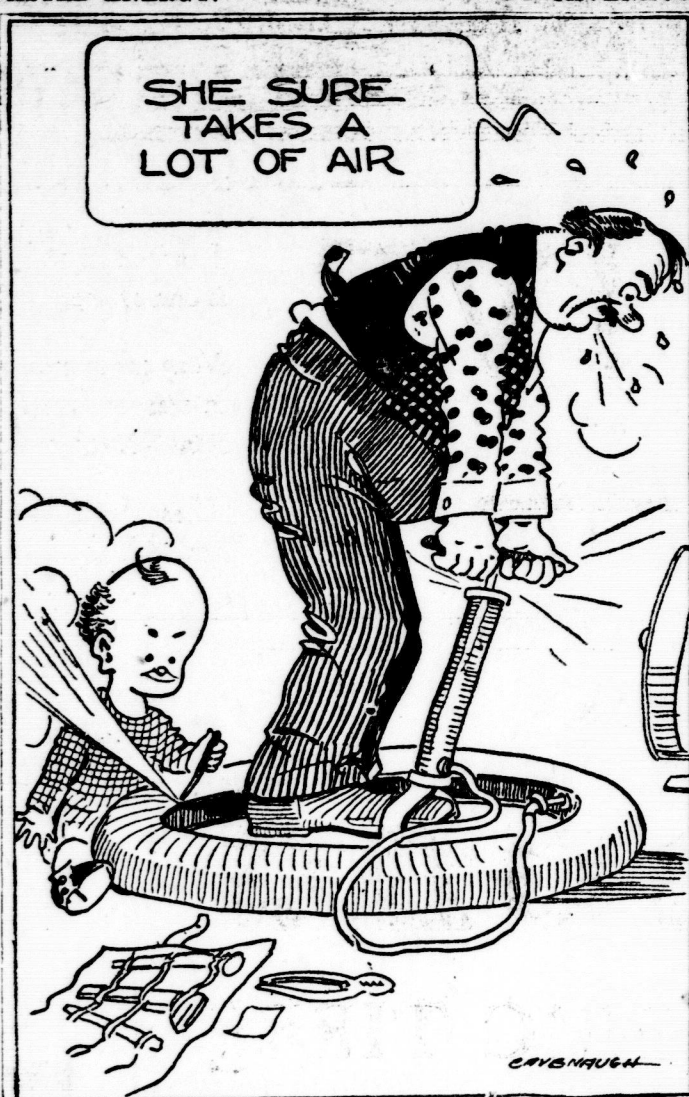

Block of Wood Handy. In sandy country and on dirt roads one often will have occasion to jack up a wheel to change a tire and will find that the jack sinks into the loose sand or dust instead of lifting the car. A block of wood an inch thick and about six inches wide and a foot long will be found a big help under such circumstances.

Working about an automobile means a lot of grease and grime on the hands and possibly oil or grease upon parts of the car, so that it is well to carry a small bag of waste or rags.

It is a good idea to have a three-in-one or similar tire valve tool with which it is possible to remove the valve plunger, cut threads in the valve stem so that the plunger may be properly seated and cut threads on the outside of the stem so that the cap will screw down tight.

WASTED ENERGY.

BY CAVENAUGH.

Consider Convenience of Public Now Watchword of Motor World

Don't drive faster than the following speeds:

	Miles per hour
Within a city, town or village	20
In the open country	25
At street intersections in cities, etc.	10
At cross-roads in open country	12½
Where you have not a clear view of approaching traffic.

HEAD LAMPS.

Must be equipped with an approved type of non-glare lens and proper candle power bulbs, correctly adjusted to eliminate glare. Dimmer and tail lights must be lighted on automobiles left standing on all streets after dusk.

DON'T

Cut in, in front of another car. Slow down suddenly, or turn corners without giving audible warning or holding out your hand. Turn a corner to the right, without keeping close to the curb. Turn to the left without passing the center of street intersection. Pass standing street cars, or pass them on the left side at any time.

URGES NEED OF CAUTION WHEN DRIVING AUTO

Authority Emphasizes Extreme Importance of Attention to Safety Rules.

CHILDREN VICTIMS

Council Formulates Set of Lessons For Operators of Cars.

THE extreme importance of the safety movement seems lately to have become far more universally recognized in Canada than ever before.

In hundreds of communities safety drives either have been held, are being held or are being planned. For this reason two sections of "Safety Lessons for Automobile Drivers" are here reprinted by courtesy of the National Safety Council:

No laws prohibit pedestrians from using the streets. In fact, pedestrians have equal rights on the streets with automobiles and other vehicles. Just because some pedestrians use the streets needlessly and incalculably, there is no excuse for the drivers of motor vehicles not taking every precaution to avoid injuring pedestrians. Pedestrians outnumber drivers by about 25 to 1, and if drivers as a rule become too careless, pedestrians can pass (or cause to be passed) laws that so restrict the use of motor vehicles that their efficient operation would no longer be possible.

Drivers can think of many laws that if enacted, and enforced could limit the movement of the pedestrian, but until such laws are passed we must remember that the law is usually on the side of the pedestrian.

Driver Must Use Care.

Automobile drivers must be especially careful to avoid injuring pedestrians who cross the street at the middle of the block.

Many accidents happen at regular crossings. If pedestrians do not pay attention to your horn, remember that some people are deaf, while others are mentally deficient, and that hundreds of people are using the streets whose old age, youth, infirmities, and physical defects would throw all the responsibility of an accident upon you.

Be especially careful when two or more people are crossing the streets together. Quite often before an approaching automobile one person may stop, or they may separate and go in opposite directions.

Above all, do not unnecessarily or suddenly squawk your horn. Pedestrians may be easily frightened and temporarily "paralyzed."

Public Gets Nervous. Drivers should stop 10 feet behind street cars which have stopped to load or unload passengers.

People who have just alighted from a trolley car are sometimes bewildered and do not know which way to go. Give them plenty of time to get their bearings before attempting to pass them.

Regardless of who you think is at fault if your car injures or kills some other person you are usually held responsible. Juries are inclined to be sympathetic towards and favor the pedestrian.

Moreover, no matter who is to blame, and in spite of large sums of money paid for "damages," the dead cannot be brought to life, nor could anything or anybody console you in case the one killed happened to be your wife, your child, or someone else near and dear to you.

Children Usually Victims.

Approximately 23 per cent of all persons killed by automobiles are children under 15 years of age.

Many drivers are careful on congested business streets, but careless in residential and other districts where children are numerous.

In spite of the danger, many children make the streets their playground, or in chasing each other or a ball they may suddenly dash into the street right in front of a moving vehicle.

Drivers should assume that every child on or near the street is going to dash suddenly in front of their cars. You can not tell by looking at a child what it is going to do. You have absolute control of your car.

(a) Not only when children are playing in the street, but also when they are playing near the curb, or on the sidewalk.

(b) When passing schools or playgrounds.

Look Out For Bicycles.

(c) When approaching persons on bicycles, tricycles, roller skates, kiddie cars, etc.

(d) When approaching youngsters who are "hitching a ride" on the vehicle ahead.

(e) When passing ice wagons and street sprinklers.

Drivers should remember the following:

(a) Caution your own and other people's children about the dangers of the street.

(b) Do not allow anyone to ride on the running board, rear tire, or bumper of your car.

(c) Persons on bicycles, or roller skates, or in carts should not be permitted to hitch on your car. In many communities school children are being taught "Safety." Automobile drivers should co-operate in this good work and take every precaution to prevent accidents to children.

Most children taken to school at state expense are transported in motor vehicles.

For ball bearings the best lubricant is a fluid oil no thicker than the heavier machine oils.

If white lead is used to stop gas line leaks the gasoline will dissolve it.

A new form of balancing machine has been invented to test crankshafts for vibration.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN
CHEESE SALADS

RY this cheese salad the next time you have a fish dinner. It will go right to the spot.

While cottage cheese is delicious all through the summer months, it may be considered a real treat in early spring, and is really at its best.

If you would make your own cottage cheese follow this rule carefully:

Cottage Cheese.
Two quarts sour milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 2 table-spoons cream (either sweet or sour). The milk must sour quickly. When the milk is thick and firm put the pan into a larger pan of hot water. The water should be boiling when the milk is put in it, but it should not boil afterwards.

Let stand about an hour or until the whey forms and separates from the curd. Pour the whole into a cheesecloth bag and hang up to drip as you would a jelly bag. Let drip about six hours. Do not squeeze or press with the hands.

When the whey is all removed from the curd put the curd in a bowl and work smooth with a fork. Season with salt and paprika and beat in cream lightly just before using. When the milk is not scalded hard the cheese is of softer texture and more easily digested.

The milk must sour quickly in the first place or a rather bitter cheese will be the result.

Spring Cottage Cheese Salad.
Two cups cottage cheese, 1/2 cup sour cream, 12 button radishes, 1 bunch little green onions, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, paprika, lettuce.

Wash radishes thoroughly and let stand in cold water for an hour. Slice. Use the white part of the onions. Peel and cut in slices. Add salt and pepper to cheese.

Whip cream and mix lightly with cheese. Add prepared vegetables. Let stand for an hour in a very cold place. Serve on a bed of lettuce and sprinkle liberally with paprika.

Molded Cottage Cheese Salad.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
THREE QUESTIONS

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"Are you frightened?" asked the mountain suddenly.

THE Mountain-That-Wasn't-There acted in the silliest fashion.

First, it stood on its head, then after awhile, tiring of that, it spun around dizzily for several minutes. When it had righted itself it stayed put for a few seconds, then suddenly, without warning, it whizzed by as though it were on rollers and stood behind the Twins.

"Why, we're past it," laughed Nancy. "We must be in the Kingdom of the Diddyevers at last. The Fairy Queen said it was just beyond the Seven Mountains, and this is the seventh."

"But look!" pointed Nick.

The mountain had made a crazy circle and swung around in front of them again. Then it seemed to disappear altogether.

"I wish the old thing would stay away for good," grumbled Nick.

"Where do you suppose it's gone?" Nancy pointed to a tiny speck in the distance. "There it is," she said.

"Say!" said Nick, suddenly. "When this old mountain can move around the way it does how do we know we were walking all that time in the right direction? We may be ten miles too far to the right or ten to the left. There isn't any path to guide us here."

At that the mountain made a quick swoop right toward them, like a person on roller skates, or like an enormous express train. It looked as though the Twins would be flattened out in another minute like two little pancakes, but it stopped right in front of their noses, not a yard away.

"Are you frightened?" asked the mountain suddenly.

"No, if you mean us," answered Nick, bravely.

"Are you mad?" asked the mountain.

"No."

"What are you?"

"Puzzled!" answered the little boy.

"We think you've lost your wits."

"That's the answer," said the mountain kindly. "Only I haven't lost my wits. I'm wisest of all. I'm here to try people's patience, and you didn't lose yours at all. Here's the path. You may go safely over, children."

"You're so scared of me, you can't hardly breathe," he said calmly. "I don't like it if girls to be scared of me, so you can just get up another plate and cup and saucer and sit down there on the other side of the table and eat your supper with me."

To eat supper with her uncle's murderer! Here was a grotesque jape of fate. It was unthinkable. Absolutely. The man divined something of what was passing in her mind.

"All in the line of business, in it, girl," he said, with a backward jerk of his head toward the front room where he had killed her uncle. "I didn't have a thing against him personally."

"There were dishes here on the table," she babbled hysterically. "They found them here after—after showing how he'd fed you first, and—"

"Sure he fed me," he interrupted. "I was hungry, hungrier than I am now. Alla same, you gotta eat supper with me."

He twisted her wrist to emphasize his wish. She uttered a little moan. "Don't! Oh, don't hurt me any more!"

Beaten, body and soul, she went to the cupboard and got herself plate and cup and saucer, knife and fork and spoon.

She sat down opposite the man and tried to eat. It required every atom of will power to induce her throat muscles to permit her to swallow.

Dan Slike watched her with savage satisfaction. He found the situation intensely amusing. To murder her uncle and later eat a meal with the niece. What a joke!

"I saw two mules and a horse in the corral when I came by," he resumed. "Looks like a good horse—better than the one I left up in the timber. I'll ride your horse and lead the other. Listen, I expect tomorrow some time you'll have a few cents a-calling on you. I'll likely take those Golden Bar citizens till about then to pick up my trail."

"WHY," SHRILLED THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY, "IT'S RAPE TUCKLETON!"

CHAPTER XIII.

"YOU see," said Dan Slike, as he topped his mount, "I ain't been hard on you. I only took what I needed. Think of that and be happy."

He whirled the horse and rode away.

Hazel remained standing beside the corral gate. Suddenly she was conscious of a great weariness. With dragging steps she returned to the kitchen, where there was a man standing in the middle of the room.

Nothing had the power to surprise her now. She would not have been

THE United States Senate has taken up the naval limitation treaty which was signed at the recent conference on limitation of armaments in Washington.

This treaty aims to cut down the number of battleships owned by the world's great nations.

This, it is thought, will make war less likely and save much money.

The treaty sometimes is called the "5-5-2 treaty" because it provides Japan shall have three battleships for every five owned by Great Britain or the United States.

Thus, under the treaty, if the United States has 20 battleships, Great Britain may likewise have 20, but Japan may have only 12.

"Don't say it," she cut him short. "Billy Wingo is no murderer. However, you can set your mind at rest. I'm not likely to marry Billy Wingo, or anybody else."

His eyes, savage and mean, held hers steadily. "I came over here, tonight, to get you. I'm taking you back with me tonight to my ranch."

"You're taking me to your ranch!" she gasped. "Me?"

He nodded. "You, nobody else."

She laughed harshly without a note of hysteria. "You're two hundred years behind the times. Men don't carry off their women any more."

"Now for the first time she smelt his breath. It was rank with the raw odor of whiskey. So that was what had given him the wild idea of carrying her off by force. The man was drunk. Sober, he was bad enough. Drunk, he was capable of anything."

She reached toward the lid lifter. Rafe seized her wrist and jerked her sideways.

He was striving to kiss her and she, face crushed against his rough shirt, fought him like the primeval female every woman becomes in like circumstances. Her right hand clawed upward at his face. Her left arm, doubled between their two bodies, she strove to work free so that she could grab his gun.

Rafe received three distinct clawings that considerably altered the appearance of one side of his face, before he was able to confine those active fingers.

"Here!" he bawled in a fury. "I'll fix you!"

He tried to seize her by the throat and his thumb slipped by mistake into her mouth. She promptly clamped down hard on the thumb. With a yell, Rafe released his grip on her body and worked a thumb and ring finger into her cheeks in a frantic effort to force open her locked jaws.

He jumped back against the wall.

When Hazel's reeling senses had re-established their equilibrium, she found herself on the floor, lying across the inert legs of Rafe Tuckleton. She raised herself on her two arms and looked at him. He was breathing very lightly.

She dragged herself on hands and knees to where he had thrown his six-shooter.

Rafe groaned a little. He rolled over and sat up, his chin sagging forward on his chest. He moved his head and looked at her vacantly. The blood ran down his cheek and dripped slowly off his chin.

The light of reason glared of a sudden in Rafe's eyes. She could see that he was absorbing the situation from every angle.

"I'll give you five minutes to pull yourself together and get out," she announced clearly. "If you're still here by the time I've counted three hundred I'll begin to shoot."

Rafe started to go by the time she reached sixty. With the six-shooter pointing at the small of his back, her finger on the trigger, step by step she drove him out of the house to where he had left his horse.

Hazel watched him ride away and after a little became at one with the moonlit landscape. She walked back to the house. She felt that she was taking enormous strides. In reality

"Great Oaks From Little Acorns Grow"

A Half-Century of Progress

FIFTY-TWO years ago, a group of idealists in the town of Waterloo planted the seed. They were men of faith rather than of great experience, but they believed a mighty tree would grow.

On February 2nd, 1922, in the town of Waterloo, Ontario, the successors of these men met to take count of the growth and development of the oak their predecessors had planted.

And, as the figures show, "abundantly has their faith been justified."

For the seed planted 52 years ago was the germinal idea of mutuality applied to life insurance in Canada—life insurance at cost, as a scientifically organized service of man to man. To-day a mighty oak shelters the homes of over 80,000 policyholders with $228,000,000 of insurance in the Mutual Life of Canada.

The Count by Decades

The growth of the Mutual Life of Canada to a place among the strongest insurance companies in the world began in 1869, without other assets or capital than faith in the Mutual principle. The figures tell the story by decades.

	Assets	Business in Force
1871	$ 7,830.00	$ 500,000.00
1881	337,102.00	4,266,011.00
1891	1,941,571.00	14,934,807.00
1901	5,749,156.00	31,713,031.00
1911	18,161,847.00	71,020,770.00
1921	48,211,204.00	228,697,118.00

These figures show an ever-increasing rate of wholesome, healthy growth. They indicate the immensely enlarged field of usefulness in the coming years, as every new member helps to make the work of the Company more widely known.

And note that the Surplus Earnings of the year 1921 exceeded those for any other in the Company's history!

Truly, indeed, do "great oaks from little acorns grow".

New Gingham For All Purposes

IMITATION is said to be the sincerest form of flattery, and the fact that silks are masquerading in gingham effects tells to what heights the once humble gingham has climbed along the road to sartorial prominence.

Gingham is used for almost everything under the sun this season. It makes the draperies and upholstery coverings in nursery or informal bungalow and cottage bedrooms; it is used to trim some of the smartest frocks and blouses; it is even this season made into bathing suits. But its first, last and most popular use has been and probably always will be for informal frocks.

The exquisitely fine tissue gingham, now offered in such a wealth of designs, colors and shades, puts gingham definitely into the class of the very nicest of women's summer fabrics, suitable for summer shopping, country club and resort wear, even for informal afternoon affairs like porch parties and garden teas. Of course, gingham always has been liked for children's frocks.

Checks are the most popular design, say the mill heads and importers. In the fine tissue gingham the most sold are those combining a delicate shade with white, in small checks from a quarter to half an inch square. Stripes are good, however, and are offered in a variety of widths and colors.

she was stepping short and staggering badly. She went into the kitchen, she closed the door, dropped the bar into place and fell into the nearest chair.

"Oh," she said aloud, "I wonder what will happen next?"

CHAPTER XIV.

"NOW that we've got Dan out of jail," the district attorney pattered on, "we've got to go on to Bill Wingo, and the sooner the quicker. Me, I'm going out to Walton's tonight and question Hazel."

"We'll go," said Sam Larder decidedly. "I ain't a heap attracted by your methods with the ladies, and I intend to see the girl gets a square deal."

"Me too," chimed in Felix Craft.

The district attorney was none too well pleased and showed it.

The moon was high in the heavens when the three men came to the mouth of the draw leading to the Walton ranch. A quarter-mile up this draw they came upon a man standing beside a horse. He proved to be the town marshal, Red Herring.

"It ain't necessary for you to be watching the Walton ranch," said the crotchety district attorney.

"I got as much right to the reward as the next one, I guess," flared the marshal. "If I wanna watch the ranch, I guess I got a right to do that, too. You don't want to cherish any idea that you own the earth and me, too, Artie Rafe!"

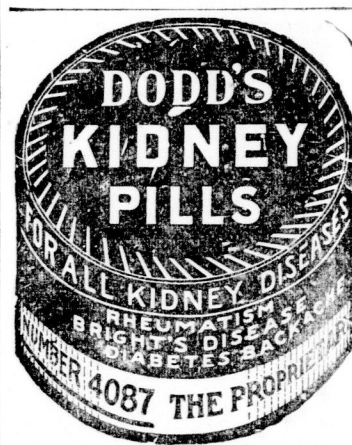

Two hundred yards short of the bend in the draw that concealed the ranchhouse from view the district attorney's horse which was leading, snorted at something that lay across his path, and shied with great vigor, coming within a red hair of throwing the district attorney off on his ear.

The district attorney swore and jerked the animal back. Then he dismounted hurriedly and ran forward to view at close range the object that had startled the horse. The three others pulled up and followed his example.

"Why!" shrilled the district attorney. "It's Rafe Tuckleton!"

RIVAL GROUPS OF MINERS WAR

He declared that Wilkinson would never meet him in a debate.

BOTH STAND PAT.
Hazleton, Pa., April 15.—The third week of the anthracite coal mine suspension started today with no break in ranks among the men, and no efforts on the part of any company to resume, according to statements given out at headquarters of the union.

The streets of Hazleton and all other large anthracite centers in this district were alive with idle miners today in preparation for the observance of Easter, which is always one of their big holidays. In normal times the collieries generally have been forced to shut down the Monday of Easter on account of the Dublin celebration.

ASK NON-UNIONISTS' AID.
Indianapolis, April 14.—With the end today of the second week of the general suspension of work in the coal industry, interest at union headquarters here was centered in the prospect of enlisting more non-union workers in the walkout. The total of 665,000 idle miners, claimed by the unions, showed a gain of more than 25,000 during the week, and the opinion in union circles was that the strike had not yet reached its peak strength.

Gains scored in the Pennsylvania coke districts were the most significant developments from the union point of view, while the only reverse seemed the temporary injunction affecting two important West Virginia activities. In the latter fields, however, the union did not admit any loss of men, who joined in the suspension during the first week. Plans also were being laid by counsel for the union to contest the court orders, with the view of casting them aside, in whole or part.

The support gained in the Pennsylvania non-union fields had encouraged union officials to concentrate much of its work there, new organizers having been sent into the districts. While the hope apparently was to gain a complete shutdown of the mines there, no prediction of success had yet been made by union officials. Organizers in some localities were said to be having trouble establishing contact with the non-union workers, union officials asserting that meetings were difficult or impossible because of the activities of the mine guards.

Life and Character Reading.

APRIL 15. The governing sign of this date is Aries, the sign of Sacrifice. These people are usually very sure that their conclusions and criticisms are unassailable, they usually have a strict code of the times when facts prove them to be wrong. These people need no stimulants, and they should eat plain, nourishing food with regularity. They should not surrender themselves to any one, and they should not let their friends and their pursuits, but learn to listen, wait and expect the higher revelations of life and truth, which is theirs to command. The governing planets are Neptune and Mars, Neptune ruling the waters, and Mars the god of war. People born on this date are under special planetary favor and will do well to make new deals and to close contracts on this date. The Want Ads are your best friends.

ASK HUCKSTERS PAY SAME FEE AS GROCERS

Retail Grocers' Association Object To Their Market Activities In Imported Goods.

A deputation of the Retail Grocers
Association will appear before No. 1 committee of the city council in an effort to have hucksters and farmers selling imported goods on the local market pay a rental and city tax, which the grocers are obliged to pay. This was decided on at a meeting of the Retail Grocers Association last evening.

The members of the association will advise Aldermen and the other aldermen to visit the market some Saturday morning and see the conditions as they really are.

One of the officers of the association said: "We are not objecting to these men selling goods, but we believe that they should be put on the same basis as the grocer, and not allowed to operate on the market without paying their share of the taxes. Some farmers come to London, go to the wholesale and purchase goods which they do not produce themselves, and retail them on the market."

T. H. Rankin was elected treasurer of the association last evening, on account of H. P. Rosser resigning.

Come To Church Tomorrow

"YES, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in a church. But I also know as a matter of fact the average man does not thus worship."

Here are a few benefits to be derived from church attendance:

"You will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if you are not familiar with the Bible, you have suffered loss."

"You will take part in singing some good hymns."

"You will meet and nod or speak to good neighbors. You will come away feeling a little more charitably inclined toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance."

"Join in church work for the sake of showing your faith in your works."

Make your start in church service tomorrow. A fair trial of church attendance will convince you it's well worth while.

The Church's Easter Message.

There is a floral meaning to Easter.
And a musical meaning.
And an artistic meaning.

Yet all these are mere echoes and types of the spiritual meaning of the great day which will be kept tomorrow.

Easter is the anniversary of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.

Church attendance is greater on Easter than on any other day of the year. Some persons will go to church tomorrow who have not done so for months.

The music and the flowers are partly responsible for this; yet we are persuaded that the deep spiritual significance of the day is really the underlying reason. A hunger for the Resurrection note in their lives draws men and women within sound of the Easter message.

The church advertisements on this page set forth that which the church offers to the world. They try to enumerate some of the valid reasons why men and women should attend church.

But yesterday and tomorrow suggest the loftiest, deepest and most conclusive reason.

GOOD FRIDAY AND EASTER—THE CROSS AND THE OPEN TOMB—ARE THE HEART OF HEARTS OF THE CHURCH'S PLEA, AND OF HER VERY EXISTENCE.

They stand for her message of redemption and life.

I am the Resurrection and the Life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die.—John, xi: 25, 26.

By the Cross and the Tomb the Church is differentiated from all other institutions and organizations. They are the symbols of her divine nature and mission.

The Church's Easter message is life—freer, fairer, fuller life. She bears the word of her Lord, "I am come that they might have life, and might have it more abundantly."

Many of us are impoverished of life. Our souls are starved. We lack spiritual vitality. Instead of joyous, buoyant, overflowing lives, we are merely dragging out an existence.

To us all, the Church brings at Easter a message of A NEW LIFE. A RISEN LIFE. A DIVINE LIFE.

Easter is the day of the Eternal Hope. It brings to memory our beloved dead; or most of all, the Redeemer who broke death's power and assures us of a Resurrection.

In every church in Western Ontario tomorrow, whatever its name or usage, one may hear, in Scripture, in sermon, and in song, the Message of Life—of the risen life that is lived by Christ's power.

To the hearing of this message we summon the reader, promising him a welcome and an uplift.

THE MEANING OF EASTER IS FOUND ONLY IN THE EASTER MESSAGE.

Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.—Corinthians xv: 20, 22.

TELL IT TO THE JUDGE.

In a recent scandal case in New York a lady declined to answer a question because, she said, "It wasn't fit to tell decent people."
"Oh, well," replied the lawyer, "just step up and whisper it to the judge."

REPEATS OPERATIC SUCCESS AT GRAND

"Il Trovatore" Presented by Boston English Opera Company Proves Popularity.

SINGERS TRUE ARTISTS

Performers Exhibit Remarkable Genius in Rendition of Pieces.

By special request the Boston English Opera Company presented "Il Trovatore," one of the most beautiful and best-loved of operas, at the Grand Opera House Good Friday afternoon. London theatregoers were so delighted with the presentation by the company when it was here a few months ago that popular request forced the repetition.

The singers were not the greatest artists, but they were true artists who knew their score, and rendered it with understanding and poise, and at some points with a flash of genius. The beauty of the music lost something by dropping of the original Italian text. But, at the same time, the English text gave the singers this advantage—that they came into more intimate contact with their audience in the rendition of the opera.

The voices throughout the cast are delightful, admirably suited to dramatic work and lovely in quality. The chorus itself was adequate, the male voices being exceptionally fine. Outstanding among the ensemble numbers was, of course, the familiar "Ave! Chorus" sung delightfully. Leonora's love song "Of Love Like This, How Vainly," was an exquisite number, and Azucena's wild air, "Upward the Flames Roll," sung with passion, was one of the numbers which will not be soon forgotten. Beautiful, too, was the duet of Manrico and Azucena, "Yes, Heavy Woes," sung in the dungeon, and Manrico's tragic air, "Ah, How Death Still Delayeth!"

The story of "Il Trovatore," which interpreted is "The Troubadour," is a tragedy which has its beginnings in the burning at the stake of an old Gypsy, who is believed to be practicing witchcraft. His daughter, the Gypsy of the opera, sets out to have vengeance. Her first act, an attempt at burning the child of the count who ordered her mother's tragic death, turns back upon her for she burns her own child instead.

The child who is left and who becomes the troubadour of the opera, is really the count's son, who later comes into conflict with his twin brother for the love of "Leonora." The result is a piling-up of tragedy, which is characteristic of grand opera, and which finds satisfaction only in the death of the lovers.

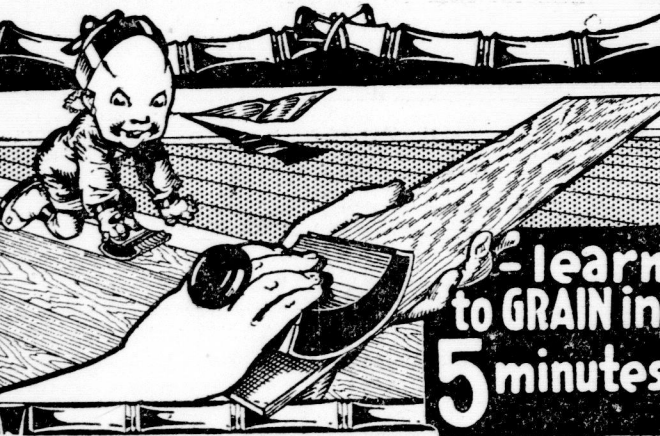

Saturday, matinee and evening, the company will present the "Bohemian Girl," which has already been acclaimed a success by Londoners who attended the two showings already given this week by the Boston English Opera Company.

NATIONALIST AGITATION IN TUNIS CAUSES ANXIETY

Bay Abdicates When Partisans Present Demands to French Authorities.

PARIS, April 14.—The Nationalist agitation in Tunis on the eve of the visit of President Millerand, who is due there towards the end of the month, is attracting considerable attention, although up to the present it has developed any great force. The Communists have joined the Nationalists in the agitation, but it is said in official circles that the number of persons engaged in it does not exceed five or six hundred.

The abdication of the Bey has been reported and denied several times. It is now reaffirmed by a Frenchman, M. Fabre, who was expelled from Tunis, and who declares the partisans of the Bey presented 21 demands for reforms to the French authorities, the Bey abdicating when no satisfaction was given. To this report also an official denial has been given.

Counsel For Hon. R. B. Bennett Protests Court's Decision on West Calgary Contest.

CALGARY, April 13.—An appeal in the Bennett-Shaw West Calgary election case from the judgment handed down recently by Mr. Justice Stuart and Mr. Justice Ives, has been forwarded to the registrar of the supreme court of Canada at Ottawa by counsel for Hon. R. B. Bennett. The judgment of the supreme court of Alberta allowed Mr. Shaw the election by the majority of seventeen votes, the previous recount giving him sixteen. The appeal forwarded on behalf of Mr. Bennett will be laid before the judge of the supreme court in chambers, who will decide whether the record has to be printed or not. He will then decide if the case is to be heard at the sitting in May or held over until October.

MONTREAL MAN STABBED

Stanley Smith in General Hospital With Two Knife Wounds.

MONTREAL, April 14.—What is thought to be an aftermath of the murder of Vincenzo Trescolli, who was killed in his restaurant in the east end of the city, January 5, last, occurred last night when Stanley Smith, 42 years of age, who was a witness in the Trescolli case, was stabbed on St. Catherine Street West, the city's most crowded thoroughfare, by a man so far uncaptured.

The victim received two knife wounds and is now in the general hospital, where his wounds are reported as not serious. At the time of the stabbing, Smith is reported to have said that it did not matter if he were killed, but that if it happened, some one else would be killed later.

SEIZE SHIP WITH WHISKEY

New York Police Patrol Raid Schooner W. F. Dodge Laden With Liquor.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The two-masted schooner W. F. Dodge, said to be bound from Nassau in the Bahamas for St. Pierre, Miquelon, with a load of liquor, was seized by a police patrol as she was entering the narrows late last night, it was learned today. The police said they found 25 barrels of rye whiskey and 403 cases of Scotch.

The craft, which was flying the British flag, was turned over to the customs service squad, and Captain Herman Hadley and his crew detained for an examination.

The police said no clearance papers were found, and no documents were discovered to indicate her owners.

"laden with BREAD"

When young David came bringing rich gifts to Saul, chief among them were loaves of Bread.

Bread, a gift fit for a king.
Bread, the food the whole world shares with royalty.
Precious vitamins were contained in this gift of David to Saul—though neither of them knew it. For the discovery of vitamins is recent. You know now why Bread is all nourishment and no waste. Why its food value is greater than that of more expensive foods which do not contain these life-giving food factors.
You have learned to seek delicious, wholesome flavor in Bread, not only as an indication of the nourishment supplied by pure ingredients, but because it tempts you to eat Bread three times a day, and often between meals.
