MEN IN BULLET-SCARRED CAR HELD IN BUFFALO AS SUSPECTED BANDITS

Two Placed Under Arrest in American City Admit Having Been in Toronto Yesterday—Montreal Police Find Saved Off Shotgun Was Purchased by Stranger in Montreal.

THREE MEN ARRESTED AT CHATHAM

Associated Press Despatch.
Buffalo, July 27.—Police today arrested two men on a downtown Buffalo street in a travel-worn car which bore signs of having been in a gun battle. There were two bullet holes through the sides of the automobile and several spent bullets lying on the floor. An investigation was started to determine whether there was any connection between the car and Toronto's $130,000 daylight hold-up of Tuesday.

The men said they had been in Toronto yesterday. They had in their possession a bill of sale for another car, and evidence that several cars had been purchased and disposed of through the manipulation of the bill of sale.

TRACE ORIGIN OF GUN.
Montreal, July 27.—The sawed-off shotgun dropped by bandits who held up and engaged in a gun fight with bank messengers in the heart of the downtown district of Toronto Tuesday morning, was purchased by a stranger, believed to be an American, from T. W. Boyd & Sons, sporting goods merchants, 27 Notre Dame street west, last Monday or the Saturday previous.

An excellent description of the purchaser of the shotgun has been given to the local detective office this morning by the salesman of the gun. The description was wired to the Toronto police this morning.

The law of the province insists upon the names and addresses of purchasers of revolvers only being taken by sellers of such weapons, thus the actual identity of the purchaser of the gun in the Toronto case is still unknown.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.

Chatham, July 27.—Three hikers, claiming to be from Montreal, are being held here on suspicion of being the bandits who held up a messenger of Police Groves, while an investigation into their movements is made.

The three men were picked up when they tried to sell an automatic, tendered to a man in this city, who informed the police. The clock was stolen from the dashboard of a motor in Glencoe.

The chief stated that he had satisfied himself that the four men who, in an old Ford car, purchased an inner tube at a local garage, tendered a new $20 bank note in payment, were not concerned in the Toronto holdup. The men were found and questioned and the car examined, but nothing was found. The car belonged to William Kearns of Ridgeway.

POLICE FIND CLUES.

Bronte, July 27.—Clues to the Toronto bank bandits are believed to have been found along Twelve-Mile Creek, near to the bridge over which the Oakville and Hamilton radial passes. Five men were seen Sunday and Monday morning along the bank of the creek, and these men answered the descriptions of the bandits.

Twelve-Mile Creek is a historic one, for it is only a mile or so from here that William Lyon Mackenzie hid in a cave when he was pursued after the rebellion of 1837.

Besides the descriptions which tally, two clues have been found along the creek, which may help to prove the identity of the men who camped here. The first is an envelope of four inches by ten inches from D. Pike of Toronto, along with four expensive fish hooks, labelled No. 1 grade, hollow-point fish hooks.

From these it is hoped that the clerks in Pike's will remember the men who bought them.

The second is a bill from a Toronto address on King street for two safe keys. This was found yesterday. The most important clue yet obtained to the identity of the bandits is obtained from little Eric Osterholm, son of a bridge painter. He spoke to the five men who were camping and who asked him to catch minnows for them. One of the men said: "Are you from England?" The boy answered, "Yes, I'm from Fleetwood. The man replied, "We know Fleetwood and Blackpool as well as you do. I am from Manchester."

Mr. Arthur Riggs, of Bronte says that on Sunday evening about 5 o'clock he saw a man on the river bank. He yelled to him and three men jumped from the tall reeds and walked to the first man. None of them answered though Mr. Riggs spoke a second time.

A fifth man, further down the creek also joined the group. As they were 80 yards away Mr. Riggs can't describe their faces but says three men were dressed in blue suits and one in a shirt and trousers.

NO TRACE LOCALLY.
Although London police are keeping a strict vigil for the bandits who shot Toronto bank messengers in a street battle a few days ago and escaped with $125,000, they have not picked up any suspects whom they thought were worth holding for Toronto authorities.

The only developments in the case, of which the local officers were aware, was a report in the morning papers to the effect that a Toronto laborer had seen several men alighting and disembarking in a clump of bushes in a Toronto suburb.

REDUCE PARKING TIME TO HALF-HOUR LIMIT

Auto Owners May Leave Cars Only Thirty Minutes in Certain Districts.

Chief of Police Robert Birrell has received instructions to enforce several new parking regulations in London.

Chief of these is regarding the parking of autos on Dundas street, between Wellington and Talbot street, and Richmond street, between York street and Queen's avenue. The time limit for parking in these areas has been cut from one hour to a half hour.

Angle parking, without lights, will be allowed on the market square every night.

Angle parking will be allowed on Wellington street, between York street and Dufferin avenue.

Cars parked in the angle parking areas require only a rear light, instead of three lighted lamps.

WILL STAGE PARADE

Each day brings more cheerful news of the plans the London Old Boys are completing to be in the Forest City on Old Boys' Week, August 4-11, and of the co-operative arrangements that are being made by the railroad companies to efficiently handle the crowds.

Word was received this morning that the special C. E. R. train of twelve coaches or more, carrying the Detroit and Windsor old boys, will arrive in the city Sunday noon, and it is planned to have a lively parade upon their arrival.

The delegations from Chatham and Ottawa will also arrive C. E. R. while the Hamilton contingent will come in on the Canadian National.

The Toronto boys will take both roads to London, and an exceptionally large representation is expected from the Queen City.

Edwin Smith, chairman of the London Old Boys' Association, informed The Advertiser this morning that the delegates from the Great Lakes route and will arrive here on Friday aboard the boat train from Point Edward.

"As the time draws near the success of the 1923 re-union grows more apparent," Mr. Smith declared enthusiastically. "Quite a number have already arrived for the celebration, and from about the 1st of August on the railway companies are adding extra coaches to a number of the trains so that all make the trip in comfort."

Representatives from T. Eaton & Co., of Toronto, who have been awarded the contract for decorating the city, will reach London on Monday next for the preliminary work.

Dundas and Richmond streets will be a mass of flags and banners, while a special electrical and color display will be erected at the main corner.

"Most of the members are now wearing their badges, and this should be an incentive to local interest," Mr. Smith added.

THINK GERMANY WILL COLLAPSE IN FEW MONTHS

Expert Observers See Fall Unless Reparations Issue Solved.

AWAIT ANSWERS

France and Belgium Sending Replies to Latest British Note.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
London, July 27.—Germany is given three to six months longer before complete collapse financially and economically as well as politically, in official and semi-official circles reaching the British government today, settlement of the reparations problems is held vital to stave off the disaster.

The British advice does not stress particularly the events of the past week, the terrific slump of the mark to unimaginable lows and the mutterings of Royalist revolt. British observers intimate the situation in Germany may drag out for several months.

Reaction to these reports of impending collapse is the government's desire to start immediately upon negotiations to effect a settlement of the reparations question and save Germany from a crash which might involve the rest of Europe.

The government understands replies to its note and memoranda sent to the Allies a week ago, will reach London this week-end. France and Belgium are sending separate replies, as is Italy, it is understood.

MRS. MURRELL WAITS TO SEE HER SON IN JAIL

Permission From Prison Inspector Is Not Expected For a Week.

Decision as to the advisability of allowing Mrs. Murrell to see her son, Sidney, held in the county jail on a murder charge, is not expected from the office of W. W. Dunlop, Ontario inspector of prisons and charities, until early in the week.

Mrs. Murrell's request was forwarded to Toronto by J. M. Donahue, counsel for the young desperado, yesterday afternoon. The communication will not be received at Toronto until today.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Murrell is waiting patiently. She expects to hear that she will be able to see her boy soon.

However, she does not think she will be given permission to embrace him, but expects steel bars will separate them. She is confident Inspector Dunlop will alter his "no visitors" order for her benefit.

BELL TELEPHONE WILL NOT INSTALL EXCHANGE

Rumor Regarding New System Is Denied by General Manager Beard.

Contrary to a rumor that the Bell Telephone Company of the city planned installing a new exchange this fall, General Manager C. H. Beard denied the report this morning when asked by The Advertiser.

"It would take two years at least to install another exchange," said Mr. Beard. "A new building would have to be erected, and the idea of having a new exchange this fall is ridiculous. It is hoped in the near future London will have two exchanges, but it could not possibly be until 1925."

Increasing the system is steadily going on, and by this fall 800 new lines are expected to be put in.

New York, July 27.—German marks sold in the local foreign exchange market today for 90c a million, the lowest quotation in history. Before the war, when the nominal rate of exchange was 238c each, one million German marks would have cost $238,000.

Blames Lurching of Car In Richmond St. Fatality As Cause of Boy's Death

Mother of Ernest Stark Claims Lad Thrown Through Window On Arising To Give Woman Seat.

The jury empaneled to inquire into the tragic death of Ernest Stark, aged 12, who was almost instantly killed at 6 o'clock last night, when his head and body became jammed between two Richmond street cars, adjourned until 8 p.m. Thursday, after viewing the lad's body in Logan's Funeral Home at 12:30 today.

Coroner Dr. Cameron Wilson agreed with the jurors that it was necessary to visit the scene of the accident before reaching a conclusion as to responsibility for the lad's death. They will therefore meet at the corner of Piccadilly and Richmond streets for the purpose of examining the tracks and determining whether the sway of the street cars can be ascribed to negligence on the part of the London Street Railway Company.

At 8 o'clock Thursday evening, several witnesses will give evidence in police court, where the jurors are expected to reach a verdict.

That the unfortunate boy came to his death through no fault of his own, is the opinion of eyewitnesses questioned by The Advertiser this morning. Mrs. William Stark, the youngster's mother, was in no condition to offer a clear explanation of the accident last night. Dr. George Ingram, Briscoe street, was called to treat her for nervousness and shock, however, and she was able to describe her son's death in minute detail today.

Just Back From Port.
Mrs. Stark, accompanied by Ernest and her younger son, Bernard, returned from Port Stanley on the 5:10 trolley yesterday afternoon, after enjoying a few hours at the lakeside. They boarded Richmond car, No. 64, which would take them near their home on Huron street. At Dundas the vehicle became so crowded that a dozen women were forced to stand.

About 160 feet past Piccadilly street Mrs. Stark asked Ernest, who was sitting next to the window on the left side, to give his seat to one of the standing women.

The boy rose to comply. At that instant the car lurched violently, throwing the youngsters forward with great force. He extended his hand to protect himself, but both hand and head crashed through the window.

Simultaneously Richmond car, No. 68, in charge of Conductor Harold Griffiths and Motorman A. Coleman, came south, passing the other car, and inflicting a fatal gash in the helpless boy's head. According to the mother, both cars were swaying from side to side. Her son's head was barely six inches outside the window.

YOUNG MEN FACE LIQUOR CHARGES IN CHATHAM COURT

Eight Prominent Citizens Appear, Accused of Numerous Violations of O. T. A.

ONE PLEADS GUILTY

Case Adjourned To Allow the Production of Girl Witnesses.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.
Chatham, Ont., July 27.—Eight of the most prominent young men of Chatham and the surrounding district appeared before County Magistrate S. B. Arnold this morning, charged with numerous violations of the Ontario temperance Act, on various dates. At the request of the defence, this case was advanced to August 1, in order that the witnesses, all girls, may be summoned to appear.

The men involved are well known, and with one exception pleaded not guilty to the charges laid by High County Constable Peters. George Pritchard, Blake McColg, Duncan Campbell, Johnnie Wilson, Zeke McKenzie, Noble Duff, Henry Pick and Terrence Robert are those mentioned in the charges.

Long before the hour for opening court, the large room was crowded. Standing room was at a premium and many conjectures were made as to the outcome of the case. Outside the building, on the streets and wherever two or more gathered together, it was the one topic of conversation.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the presiding magistrate accompanied by Crown Attorney H. Smith, K. C., and the lawyers for the defence R. L. Brackin, K. C., M. P. F., and Alex. Clark, made their appearance. None of the accused was in court at this time.

Pick Pleads Guilty.
Harry Pick was the first one called. He pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor in other than a lawful place. This was the only charge of this nature laid and Pick was the one who alone pleaded guilty.

One of the other, Duff, Campbell, Pritchard, Robert, McColg, Wilson and McKenzie, were called and walked with nonchalance up to the bench. Here the charges were read to them and as one man, they pleaded not guilty. The information in every case charged them with violating the O. T. A. by having liquor in other than a private dwelling or other authorized place.

McKenzie faced six different charges, while the others will have to defend themselves on two each.

According to information received by The Advertiser, the case was ready to proceed on the written information and statements of the girls who were mixed up in the alleged parties at the time the charges were laid. This did not satisfy R. L. Brackin, who asked an adjournment, which was granted. He stated that he wished to have the girls in court so that he could cross-examine them. The ages of the girls are given, with one or two exceptions, as being under 16, and it is expected that charges of supplying liquor to minors will also be placed against some of the men.

Girl is Chief Witness.
The chief witness for the crown, Verna Smith, will probably receive the most searching examination, as it was through her that the charges were filed. The report says that her father discovered these parties and that he then undertook to investigate turning it over to the police.

After court was adjourned, the young men congregated at the top of the stairs and conversed with their solicitors. Fear of publicity seemed predominant in their minds.

After probably 20 minutes, the boys assured their friends that the case was running was waiting at the door on the west side, and dashed for it in single file, successfully reaching the door and hiding behind the sides until out of range of the court house. As they crossed the sidewalk they covered their heads with their arms.

Called Many Witnesses.

POLICEMEN MAY BE ASKED TO TELL VIEWS ON FORCE

Mayor Intimates Same Procedure Adopted in Fire Hearing Likely.

WILL SATISFY PEOPLE

Members of Department Likely To Get Same Chance as Firemen.

Will members of the London police force be called upon during the present "survey" of that department to register their opinion as to administration and air any grievances that they may harbor?

While obviously reluctant to tender any definite statement to this effect today, Mayor Wenige, chairman of the police commission, hinted broadly that such action would be forthcoming, if not already accomplished.

The Advertiser referred to the survey of the fire department, relating that it had been reported that members of the different fire brigades had been separately quizzed by members of the citizens research bureau, who are still conducting, at the instigation of the city council, what they term as "administrative surveys" of all municipal departments.

"That was a good thing, wasn't it?" questioned Mayor Wenige. "By that procedure any member of the department, who felt that he had a grievance, was able to register the same, without fear or favor. Many had complied from time to time, but the place for them to air them was at this investigation."

"When this fire probe was first started by Dr. Brittain and his aides, there were those members of that department who felt right away that, in their opinion, the result would be far from satisfactory. I had several of them call upon me from time to time, asking when they were to be given a chance to be heard." Now they have had their chance.

Remains Non-Committal.
Mayor Wenige acknowledges the truth of the recent report in The Advertiser that members of the fire department were quizzed separately and privately as to their opinion as to the charges of "dissemination and favoritism" in the department. He declares most emphatically, however, that Dr. Brittain and his experts will issue no report about the fire department. Will each member be asked his private opinion about Chief Turn to Page 2, Column 5.

MICHAEL TAGGIE SAYS HE HAD LOST MEMORY

Admits in Police Court This Morning That He Imbibed Liquor.

Michael Taggie admitted this morning in police court that he had imbibed copious "slugs" of hard liquor, but pleaded that it was his first appearance in nine months.

Pending a report about the charges, showed Michael to be slightly in error. There were several occasions which had slipped his memory.

This loss of memory did no work greatly to the prisoner's detriment, though, the court deciding the minimum fine of $10 and costs would be sufficient.

MAYOR NON-COMMITTAL ABOUT SUNDAY BATHING

"Will Pools Be Open?" He Was Asked; "Maybe," "Maybe Not," Is Reply.

If Mayor Wenige is massing for another attack upon the members of the public utilities commission, he is moving his forces behind a smoke screen. In an official communique today he announced that peace had yet to be declared, but he declines to shed the light of publicity upon his movements.

"Will the civic bathing pools be open Sundays?" he was asked. "Maybe," quoth the mayor.

"Maybe not," was the suggestion. "Maybe not," agreed the mayor. "Are you preparing for further developments," he was asked. "Maybe," explained the mayor. "Maybe not," was the suggestion again.

"Maybe not," agreed the mayor. In the meanwhile all is still calm. The public utilities front, and except for such minor eruptions as Phil Pocock's criticism of city paving wares, and Ald. Wilson's reiterated declaration that he will be comfortably seated as usual at the council session, there is nothing to mar an otherwise perfectly quiet and tranquil day at the city hall.

GRAHAM CLAN, 500 STRONG, GATHERS FOR PICNIC

500 ANSWER CALL OF GRAHAM CLAN, ATTENDING PICNIC

Scots From All Over Canada and the States Gather at Springbank.

A "BRA BRICHT DAY"

Thursday was a "Bra bricht day" at Springbank, when nearly 500 members of the Graham clan from all parts of America gathered to celebrate their third annual picnic. From early in the forenoon until evening the hills and dunes of the Springbank park echoed to the shriek of the bagpipes, and with the park filled to overflowing with Scots of the Graham clan, it required no great stretch of the imagination to transport oneself to the heathered hills of Bonny Scotland.

The picnic of the Graham clan has become an annual event, which is looked forward to by an ever-increasing number of families related to the Graham line, and besides the enjoyment of the picnic as an outing, there is that trait in all true Scots which prompts them to answer the call of "the gathering of the clan."

To make these gatherings realistic, the clan at last year's picnic elected Douglas Graham of London as chieftain of the clan. This puts these worthy Scots in great shape to carry out the traditional gatherings and customs of the great Scottish families, and they have instituted a register in which Grahams from far and near are adding their names and proving their hereditary connection to one of Scotland's greatest lines.

A "Deefert" Matter.

Family reunions, as Canadians understand them, are usually a matter of the gathering of probably two dozen people, but when the Grahams gather their clan, "Auch, maun, it's a deefert matter." Instead of two dozen, they gather in hundreds, and yesterday's picnic found 500 happy Grahams and descendants of Grahams dispersing themselves on the grassy slopes of Springbank.

To understand what the clan means to a Scot, it is only necessary to glance at the names and addresses of those who gathered at the picnic yesterday. From Vancouver, Winnipeg, Montreal, Port Worth, Texas, Michigan, and all parts of Ontario, the clansmen came to the picnic, a gathering of the national and family pride which every Scotchman cherishes, which draws them like steel to a magnet.

This point was well brought out yesterday by the Rev. John Crawford in his address at the picnic when he said: "The pride of a Scot is one of his greatest assets. He is proud of his clan, his name, his country, and when he comes to a new country, he retains this pride, which stands back of his integrity and his purpose. It is his pride of accomplishment, which has been responsible for the wonderful development which has been put through in Canada."

Dine at Noon.
The picnic was formally opened at noon when a monster dinner was served in the west auditorium of the park pavilion. At this dinner over four hundred of the clan were seated, and a second sitting had to be laid before all had dined.

Following the dinner, a musical program was put on, and instrumental and vocal numbers were rendered by different members of the clan from various parts of the Dominion. Chief Douglas Graham was in the chair, and his remarks, humorously interlarded with numbers, was a complete entertainment in itself.

In addition to the musical numbers, a speech by Rev. John Crawford brought rounds of applause as he stirred the Scottish hearts of his listeners by recounting the achievements of the Scotch, both in Canada and throughout the world.

The musical numbers for the most part followed a Scottish strain, and the duet by the Misses McGugan of London, "Will Ye No' Come Back Again," brought tears to the eyes of

Hopes For Early Ending of Reparation Fuss Fade

British Official Circles Believe France Will Hold On Until the German Spirit Weakens and Disruptive Forces Become Dominant.

By MAL O'FLAHERTY.
Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, London, July 27.—Hopes of an early settlement of the reparations problem engendered by the recent diplomatic moves by Great Britain are gradually fading from public consciousness. In official circles here today it is expected that France and Belgium will send a carefully worded reply, expressing their views on the British draft of a proposed reply to the last German note, but in no case is it expected that this Franco-Belgian message will produce any complete and definite plans for restoring order in Europe's muddled affairs.

It is expected rather that these more than one of the Grahams.

Hold Sports Program.

After the concert program was completed the clan gathered on the bleachers of the baseball diamond to see the sports program run off. The races were put on for the children only, the elders taking their enjoyment from the very evident fun which their sons and daughters were having in the races and baseball matches which were put on. The results of the races were as follows:

Boys and girls, under 6 years—1, Graham McAlpine; 2, Marion Turner; 3, Helen Turner.

Boys, under 8 years—1, Oliver Campbell; 2, Jim McSweeney; 3, Duncan Pollard.

Girls, under 10 years—1, Jean Campbell; 2, Marian Campbell; 3, Grace Annet.

Boys, under 12 years—1, Donald Blue; 2, Lorne Graham; 3, Cliff Pollard and Oliver Campbell (tied).

Girls, under 14 years—1, Florence Campbell; 2, Irene Graham; 3, Mary Graham.

Boys, under 14 years—1, Graham McKendow; 2, Court Carmichael; 3, Lesley Smith.

Free-for-all, girls—1, Florence Campbell; 2, Irene Graham; 3, Grace McKendow.

Open race—1, William Sinclair; 2, Hughie Carmichael; 3, Donald Graham.

Ball-throwing contest, girls—1, Agnes Mitchell; 2, Florence Campbell; 3, Ila Clare.

Lively Baseball Game.
A fast baseball game between the "Kilties" and the "Highlanders" proved that the Graham clan members, although boasting a proud and ancient lineage, have become masters of America's greatest pastime. The clan watched the game with an interest which bespoke the Scotch love of sport, and the spectators were treated to a real game in every sense of the word. The game was close throughout, but a two-bagger hit in the last inning proved the undoing of the Highlanders, and the Kilties walked off the field with a score of 7 to 5 in their favor.

The batteries were as follows: Kilties—W. A. Campbell, pitcher, and Hugh Carmichael, catcher.

Two scratch teams of girls staged an amusing game of softball after the baseball match, and although not as fast as the first game it was responsible for a lot of fun, and the girls enjoyed themselves to the limit.

At 6 o'clock the clan reassembled at the pavilion for supper, and another jolly meal was "tucked away."

The afternoon's sport seemed to have created a lot of appetites, and the last of the huge piles of sandwiches dwindled rapidly along with the remaining cakes and tarts. The tables were cleared once more, and a final sing-song was indulged in.

Auld Lang Syne.
The party remained at the supper table for an hour singing "Auld Lang Syne," giving toasts to the chieftain, and repeated renditions of "an masse" of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," in appreciation of the trouble and care to which that doughty Scot has gone in making these clan gatherings possible and in making them the success diplomatic exchanges will develop temporary measures of a fruitless bickering over principles and details. The belief exists in London that France is now patiently marking time, dabbling in the disruptive forces now so powerful in Germany, to break whatever strength remains in the possession of the conquered enemy. With the value of the mark descending to abysmal depths, affecting the Reich's public spirit, it is looking her best chance since the Ruhr invasion if she, at this juncture, showed signs of relenting. Therefore it is to her great advantage to delay a response to Great Britain's note until the expected German explosion occurs.

they have been for the last three years.

Speaking about this year's gathering after it was all over, Chieftain Douglas Graham said: "It is only a family reunion this year. There's only a few of us here. You should see us when we all come out. Last year there were over 900 registered at the picnic, and that did not include the balm."

VICTIM OF FATALITY.

In the lower left corner above is Ernest Stark, killed last night at 6:20, when pulled through the window of a Richmond street car by a car proceeding in the other direction. At his side is his brother Bernard, who was with him at the time. Above are, left to right, Edward, a brother, his mother, Mrs. William Stark, and another brother, Herbert.

Blames Lurching of Car In Richmond St. Fatality

Stark stated today. "I asked him to give his seat to one of the women, and he was about to do so. As soon as he rose, however, the car seemed to jam, hurrying him through the window. I don't know what happened after that."

Mrs. T. J. Hockney, sister-in-law to Mrs. Stark, declared the accident could have been avoided had the car windows been protected with iron fencing with which the more modern vehicles are equipped. A couple of steel bars had been built outside the windows, but these apparently provided no protection.

Provincial Officer T. Y. Stratton, who was on the death car, rendered assistance when the lad's body was carried into the drug store, along with several others. William Stark, the youth's father, was called and arrived just as an ambulance came to carry away the corpse.

C. B. King, manager of the London street railway, gave assurance this morning that he would make a thorough investigation into the affair. He deplored the accident, but thought it was one of those unavoidable fatalities for which no blame could be attached to anyone. Conductor John Graham and Motorman J. Purcell were placed in charge of other street cars when they came to work this morning, cars 64 and 68 being kept in the barns.

Suffering From Shock.
Mrs. Stark is still in a serious state as a result of shock. She could only be quieted last night by the administration of a palliative and the injection of cocaine.

Bryant, the drug clerk who attempted to save the lad declared in the day that in addition to severe external injuries, the boy's neck had been broken.

The late Ernest Stark is survived by his parents and four brothers, William, Louis, James, Herbert and Bernard. He was a popular young man at school and in the McCormick Manufacturing Company where he worked for a short time this summer. The body will remain at Logan's funeral parlors until arrangements for interment are made.

OLIVER FOUND GUILTY OF CRUELTY TO HORSE

Fined $10 and Costs in Court Today—Animal Had To Be Killed.

J. Oliver was found guilty in police court today of working a horse with a sore leg and fined $10 and costs. Sergeant Percy Last and Humane Inspector George Tustin declared the horse was dying on its feet. A veterinary surgeon later ordered it destroyed.

Oliver claimed he could not leave the horse at home, because no one was there to take care of it. Then, too, he added, he would be without means of transportation from his place of business. He did not think he was cruel in driving the horse.

Officers stated that when the horse was released from its harness it could hardly stand on its feet.

Four prosecutions of persons charged with cruelty to animals are pending in police court.

Inspector Tustin has been provided with a new car by the city. To his duties, however, has been added that of official dog catcher for London.

POLICE MAY BE ASKED TO TELL THEIR VIEWS

Birrell's administration" the mayor was asked.

The mayor declined to make any clear-cut declaration as to whether or not the investigators may deem that method to be the best. In any event, he is confident, he declares, that the survey of the police department will be quite satisfactory to "the majority of the ratepayers."

"If I had not thought that Dr. Brittain's survey of this or other departments would not be satisfactory, and that the expenditure was not justified, I would certainly not have urged it myself. I have every reason to believe that the people will be satisfied with the report."

Previous Declaration.
The police department probe was included with the survey of the fire department, following repeated charges of petty persecution of citizens levelled in the city council at Chief of Police Birrell and his staff of officers and men.

While the opinion has since been voiced by members of the council that the survey will not be of sufficient scope to cover this phase of the general complaint, the mayor appears to be quite satisfied that the most people will be satisfied. He declines to discuss the question in further detail.

The mayor adds that, within his knowledge, there has been no petition from members of the police department asking for an investigation, although there is one submitted from the fire department.

During one committee meeting early in the term, however, he did declare that there were "26 officers who did not consider that Chief Birrell was the proper man for his position."

Engineers Draw Up Plans Prepare Cost Figures For Dam At Springbank

E. V. Buchanan Believes Expenditure Will Not Be Greater Than That Suggested in 1921—Power Would Be Developed by Hydro Commission.

The engineering staff of the public utilities commission is busy preparing new figures in the cost of constructing a dam at Springbank Park. At a recent meeting of the utilities commission the members present went on record as favoring the construction of a dam at Springbank. When this resolution or expression of opinion was placed before the city council, the body expressed itself as willing to consider the project and asked that estimates of the cost be prepared in order that the matter might be placed fairly before the people. As a result, plans are being drawn up and costs estimated, and it is expected that the necessary information needed by the city fathers will be forthcoming in the near future.

At the time that the matter was gone into in 1921 it was decided that the construction of a dam being built, the construction of a proper type of dam which would retain its position in the worst of spring freshets would be absolutely essential. It seems that from the report submitted by the engineering staff of the hydro commission, the dam would be a concrete dam, with a sandy, soft formation underlying the riverbed, and the dam would be a concrete dam, with a sandy, soft formation underlying the riverbed, and the dam would be a concrete dam, with a sandy, soft formation underlying the riverbed.

It is of hollow construction. The type of dam has its greatest dimension across the bottom, and is of hollow construction, made entirely of reinforced concrete. A concrete apron on the downstream side of the dam would also be necessary as a precaution against undermining of the dam from the wash of the water which would pour over the dam in flood seasons.

The cost of such a dam in 1921 was estimated at $233,400. Labor costs and the cost of materials have advanced since then, and a new estimate is required.

Questioned today as to what the probable cost will be, Manager E. V. Buchanan said: "It is difficult to say. I find that some costs have increased, while other items have become less.

Balancing one against the other, I don't believe that the cost will differ materially from that of 1921."

In discussing the matter further, Mr. Buchanan stated that the power possibilities of the dam are not sufficient to warrant the building of the dam for power purposes, but that in the event of the dam being built, the hydro commission would construct a powerhouse in keeping with the surroundings, and that the power developed would be valuable in operating the Springbank pumps as an added fire precaution at such times as the city runs itself out of the hydro supply.

Raise Water Four Feet.
In commenting upon the effect which the dam would have on the present river level, he stated that the water would be raised about four feet at Dundas street bridge, and that the change in level would disappear just above Becher Island.

When the matter was discussed in 1921, those favoring the building of the dam, put forward three strong reasons for the expenditure which would be incurred. The added sand-bank and the dam would be a concrete dam, with a sandy, soft formation underlying the riverbed, and the dam would be a concrete dam, with a sandy, soft formation underlying the riverbed.

As to the effect that the boating would have on the present popularity of Port Stanley, Mr. Buchanan said: "I don't believe it would hurt Port Stanley in the least. Port Stanley has its own attraction; that is the lake. It has an appeal entirely its own."

TWO FRIENDLESS GIRLS APPEAR IN COURT TODAY

Hilda Bell and Roxie Williamson Are Remanded to Jail by Magistrate.

Two friendless girls, Hilda Bell and Roxie Williamson, picked up by the police as street walkers and charged with vagrancy, admitted they were down and out when they faced Magistrate Graydon in police court today.

Hilda Bell, a young Irish girl, who had been in this country 19 years, but who claimed her only relatives lived in the Free State, admitted she had been guilty of improper conduct on the streets and that she was out of employment.

"I have been working as a domestic, but not lately," she volunteered. "I am now waiting to go to Byram Sanatorium as a patient. Dr. Ferguson has ordered me to go there. I am waiting for Mayor Wenige to sign the papers."

Magistrate Graydon ordered her remanded to jail, and promised her that if it was her desire to go to the institution for tubercular people he would have her sent there.

Roxie Williamson was sent to jail for a week to await the decision of the court as to the disposal of her case.

"She is in need of help," Chief Birrell stated.

The girl sobbed as she told a story of unemployment and a hard battle for existence. She had been separated from her husband, it was understood.

"Just until I can find some way of taking care of you," the court promised.

"Well, hurry then, because if you don't, I can't live," the girl cried.

MAY HAIL INTO COURT UNLICENSED DEALERS

Dr. C. S. Tamlin Says Step May Be Necessary To Bring Milk Men to Time.

After a conference at noon today with Dr. C. S. Tamlin, inspector of herds and dairies, Ald. Leonard Douglass, chairman of the board of health, announced that at the next session of that body—August 13—they would consider the proposal of bringing into court all milk producers and dealers who have not paid for a city license.

All dealers who sell milk to Londoners must abide by the requirements of the city enactments, and take out their license, warns Ald. Douglass, and this applies also, in addition, to those who may sell milk to local firms, but do not themselves enter within the confines of the community.

It is assured that the case will be disputed in court.

LIQUOR IN CELLAR COSTS F. FARRELL OVER $400 TODAY

Gallons of Wine, Beer and Cough Cure Discovered by Inspector.

NO STILL FOUND

Gallons of wine and beer in the cellar and small bottles of cough cure, which the defendant stated, a stranger on a train had donated to him, cost Frank Farrell, of 233 Queen's avenue, $400 and costs in police court today.

If at first you don't succeed, try again, seems to be the motto of the dry enforcement officers in London. Inspectors Cecil Webb, with Miss Land Revenue, operating under the authority of a general writ of assistance, had searched the Queen's avenue house in quest of still but went away apparently satisfied that all was well.

Burels containing rhubarb wine, lemons and yeast cakes floating on rafts of bread were found. In addition some beer was found. The visiting officer, who lay an information under the Ontario Temperance act, charging Farrell with having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling, believed the house contained enough roomers to divert the house of its status as a private dwelling within the meaning of the act.

Officers stated Farrell had declared he had rented a room, the stairway and the cellar of the house. Farrell denied the allegation.

Farrell and another occupant of the house, Charles Gush, declared they were joint tenants with Miss Arbuckle. Eight years ago, they said, she had occupied the house with her husband. However, the brothers had died and Gush and Farrell made arrangement whereby they were to pay $15 a month each toward the rent of the house.

Gush stated that on occasions he had paid the rent and obtained a receipt made out to Miss Arbuckle. Several bottles of a liquid containing a greater alcoholic content than the laws, were found.

Farrell explained that on the train between London and Stratford, a stranger, whom he believed lived in Chicago, presented him with the liquid, which was described as a cough cure, and which he found, when taken internally, was a great relief. He had not seen his benefactor since.

Magistrate Graydon ruled that the house was not a private dwelling, that he did not believe "cough cure" had come into Farrell's possession in the manner described, and that Farrell was not making wine and beer for his own use. Farrell admitted there were about gallons in all.

"This case is not similar to roomer having a bottle in his room for cough cure. I think the penalty should be heavier than in the usual cases. I accordingly impose a fine of $400 and costs."

Magistrate Graydon did not think a charge under the inland revenue act should be laid in connection with the case. He thought the case was frowned on generally throughout the province, and was regarded by some as persecution.

However, in their raid, the officers found contraband American cigarettes. Farrell has been charged under the inland revenue act in this connection.

Blind Institute Asks For a Space at Fair
Blind Representative Calls at Western Fair Offices Yesterday.

The manufacturers' committee of the Western Fair Board met last night in the offices of the fair board to discuss several matters in connection with the new industrial building at Queen's Park. A. E. Silwood occupied the chair. The committee is as follows: A. E. Silwood, A. M. Hunt (secretary), Western Fair, James Gray, Wm. Parsons, G. W. McFarlane, Arthur White and R. H. Ranahan.

The secretary gave a statement of the space already contracted for by the exhibitors in the new building, and the committee expressed themselves as being satisfied that, by the time fair starts, the whole space will be leased.

Mr. Ranahan also gave a statement covering the amount of space leased in the pure foods exhibition, which will be on the second floor of the new building.

Mr. Hunt had an interesting caller at his office yesterday in the person of H. E. Tothie, a teacher from the Provincial Institute for the Blind, at Barry. Mr. Tothie is desirous of obtaining accommodation for a demonstration and exhibit of the work of the blind inmates of the institution, and it is likely that Londoners will have an opportunity of seeing the blind craftsmen making manufactured articles during fair week.

Although blind himself, Mr. Tothie is all sorts of physical and mental suffering from that terrible affliction, can do in equipping himself for the duties of everyday life. No one would guess from his appearance, in which Mr. Tothie gets around, even in strange surroundings, that he is totally blind.

"She is in need of help," Chief Birrell stated.

The girl sobbed as she told a story of unemployment and a hard battle for existence. She had been separated from her husband, it was understood.

"Just until I can find some way of taking care of you," the court promised.

"Well, hurry then, because if you don't, I can't live," the girl cried.

FRIDAY, JULY 27, 1923.

The Utterance of a Great Jurist.

Sir Francois Lemieux, who presided with rare judgment and outstanding sense at the Delorme trial in Montreal, has announced his unwillingness to undertake the work at the next trial. There will be few to quarrel with the decision. Judge Lemieux gave his full measure of service in order that justice may have its way. There have been few cases in Canada in recent years where such excellence of presentation has been seen as was manifest in the crown case against Alphe Delorme.

Sir Francois Lemieux, Roman Catholic and French-Canadian, made it abundantly plain by spoken word and judicial direction that British justice was above all other considerations. In addressing the jury the judge said:

"I understand, gentlemen, I understand, my friends, with your profound respect for all that pertains to the Christian Catholic Church, your horror to have before you a priest accused of a vile, hideous crime.

"What a fall! To leave the altar, where the accused had made the holy sacrifice; to leave the confessional, where he gave pardon of their sins to unhappy souls; then to be stranded at the bar of accusation, at which figure all the sweepings up of justice, the abandoned creatures of the world, the malefactors—what a hopeless fall!

"What a fall—but the Church of Christ is above all courts and she will never suffer any loss before God or in the hearts of the faithful by the fall of one of her ministers.

"And the Church of Christ is in a perilous position here if she cannot furnish in a great district like the district of Montreal eight jurors sufficiently clear-minded, conscientious and faithful to the discharge of their duty to convict the accused if, although he be a priest, they believe he is guilty. "If you are convinced that the accused is guilty and yet you acquit him, then you are lending the office of a priest to the service of a prevaricator and a traitor, so that any man sufficiently lacking in conscience and endowed with the necessary education may invest himself with the sacerdotal robe and invest the church in shame in order to prostitute justice and religion to his crime.

"Not only religion would suffer from such a contemptible and scandalous crime. You would be adding perjury to murder. Perjury is as bad as murder itself and is punishable, the Holy Scripture tells us, even unto the third generation.

"My friends, before the law, everyone is equal." The judge had searched the hearts of the jurymen, he understood, and sympathized with, their feelings, but his devotion to justice, to truth, to the great tradition of his high office, impelled him to point fearlessly the way of duty.

What One Farmer Thinks.

A farmer, writing to the Gloucester Transcript, protests against articles which are appearing in the papers arguing that they—the farmers—shall speed up production to "lower the cost of living, pay off the war mortgage, save the country from drifting into bankruptcy," etc.

The farmer who writes the letter claims that at no time have farmers as a class been unwilling to respond to any call made on them, but he fails to see how it is going to help matters to increase production when in many cases the prices received are below the cost of production.

He says he is tired of reading material sent out by well-paid government officials telling the farmers that it is necessary to farm better, to be more economical, and all the rest of it.

Not is it to be wondered at that he feels his nerves get the better of him at times. If it is necessary—and it is—to have a campaign for economy in Canada, leadership should be established, and that leadership can best assert itself by starting at the top.

Canada has not yet balanced her budget. The country realizes that there are heavy claims on account of war costs and the interest on war loans; that the fixed charges of the National Railways are still a direct levy on the public purse—but the presence of these prior claims which must be met makes it all the more imperative that other things must wait until we get to the point where it can be said that the national debt has ceased to increase; indeed it has started to recede.

Rightly or wrongly, the people in the country look to Ottawa for leadership. They look for steps that may be drastic, and they are prepared to sanction and approve these steps.

These same people are ready to take step for step with any measure brought forth to give us simplicity, efficiency and service at a price we can afford to pay.

Small wonder that the farmers get out of patience occasionally with the amount of advice on economy and production that is turned their way.

Burning the Railroad Ties.

A London man was near Leamington this week, and noticed a huge pile of old railway ties being burned beside the tracks. It occurred to him that this was a serious waste.

The old practice was that the men working on the section used to have these for firewood. At one time it was quite a common sight to see the little hand lorry used on track work coming in at night with a load of old ties.

Railroad men claim this plan has been discontinued because in several places it had been found that new ties, as well as old, were being taken off for firewood, and in order to protect their supply of new ties they were compelled to cancel the privilege.

Yet it is a big waste to burn up all these old ties, and some way could be devised of putting them to a better use than making a bonfire in a land where firewood is becoming increasingly scarce.

The Best Kind of Welfare Work.

Procter & Gamble, with factories and warehouses in 30 American cities and several Canadian branches, have announced their intention of guaranteeing steady employment the year around to all their employees, regardless of trade peaks or depressions.

They announce this as part of their welfare work, but it is really more than that. Welfare work is a term so much used and so vigorously abused that its real intent and scope has been confused.

The firm of Procter & Gamble now announce their willingness to do the one sort of welfare work that will be of greatest benefit to the employee, viz., provide steady employment.

A large percentage of people who work for a living have that skeleton in the closet, that some day they will be "out of a job." They have seen the thing come around that way before, and they know exactly what it means. They know when the orders start to fall off; they realize when the pressure for production is taken off, and when the last man on gets his notice to lay off they are quite sure the thing will soon work farther down the line.

And these out-of-work periods generally come when other shops are suffering from the same thing. Trade moves in cycles, and it is an unusual thing to find one industry going well by itself when the others are slack or shut down. So it is when a man gets his "notice" to lay off he finds that he is one of a number who are out on a quest for work in jobless shops.

The Procter & Gamble idea is big and wholesome. They claim that the plan of "direct-to-retailer" selling is going to bring them a steady flow of business. At any rate they are willing to accept the risks of guaranteeing steady employment to all their hands, regardless of trade depressions.

Such a move gives leadership and direction in a good course. When a firm lifts the menace of unemployment from the homes of its employees it has done a great big day's work.

Growing and Marketing Fruit.

"There is no money in it at that price." Such was the verdict of a London fruit grower when asked to figure how Niagara-grown cherries could be brought in here and sold at 85 cents for an 11-quart basket. Local growers have been able to dispose of most of their cherries at between $1 and $1.15, and claim that at this figure they are able to show a fairly good profit, one sufficient to encourage them to go more extensively into spraying, cultivation and the growing of better fruit.

"I happen to know," stated this grower, "that London dealers were able to buy cherries from the association in Niagara at 65 cents for an 11-quart basket. Out of that price the grower would have to pay as follows:

Commission06%
Picking25
Basket and cover06
Total36%

"Besides that there is his charge for spraying, which has almost doubled in recent years, the cost of cultivation and pruning, besides the interest on his investment, and it must be remembered that he is farming in a very high-priced district. I do not think the grower would have a clear 25 cents for an 11-quart basket of cherries. The only chance of making a living that way is to have an immense production."

It is interesting to note that fruit grown within a few miles of London is selling readily at a price higher than the Niagara product, which cannot be placed on the market here in as good shape as that grown nearby. It has been demonstrated, too, that any fruit that can be grown at Niagara can be grown here. One grower near Springbank has a vineyard in which he has set out over 2,000 new vines, and they are showing a vigorous growth.

Twenty Years to Find Him Innocent.

Henry Lambert served 20 years in a prison at Thomaston, Maine, for the murder of his wife and 15-year-old daughter. Yesterday he was released because the authorities, from new evidence secured, were convinced that Lambert was innocent of the crime.

Lambert would go to jail in the prime of life; he comes out as a comparatively old man.

The government has taken 20 years out of his life, something it cannot replace.

It can be written on a blue-seal pardon that Lambert is an innocent man, but the best 20 years of his life have gone, and it is not within the power of the United States government, with all its resources, to restore even so much as a half-hour of that period.

Lambert's case goes to prove what has often been contended, that innocent people have been sent to jail and innocent people have been hanged.

The One Nation to Increase.

A question asked and answered in the British Commons, comparing armies of 1913 and 1922, shows that United States is the one power to increase. The figures are:

	Army in 1913.	Army in 1922.
Great Britain	106,514	80,919
France	668,743	450,855
Germany	885,000	100,000
Russia	1,300,000	1,300,000
United States	86,500	137,000

* Varying between 900,000 and 1,000,000.

Why does United States find it necessary to increase her army, while at the same time she is steadily refusing to have any part in the League of Nations that seeks to bring about conditions that will diminish standing armies?

While this movement keeps up United States is not in a position to speak with much force on what Europe spends on armament.

Note and Comment.

There's one thing about sitting in the family pew on Sunday morning or evening, no one is going to come around the corner at 50 miles an hour and run you down.

The Gloucester Transcript says that "at London they are giving you the choice of taking your Sunday ablutions in the family bath tub or hiking to the devil's playground at the lakeside and sporting with the half-clad beach beauties."

One entomologist comes out with the statement that only 10 per cent of the fly swatting is effective. The rest of the flies are merely stunned, and once they get over it they are worse than ever, and they carry germs and bite out of pure spite. The only way to make sure a fly is dead, and not just stunned, is to have an auto run over him.

THE HOGGISH MR. DEMPSEY.

(From the Toronto Saturday Night.)

The attempt of the little town of Shelby, Montana, to place itself permanently on the map via the pugilistic route was not what could be called a howling success. In fact it is very doubtful if the presence of Mr. Dempsey of that town were obliged to extract from their pockets in order to see Messrs. Dempsey and Gibbons perform.

Dempsey, it will be remembered, was the gentleman who found it inconvenient to fight in the trenches for 11 per day, but who now demands something like $300,000 for performing a few minutes in the ring.

Dempsey and his manager Kearns are trusting mortals. They showed it when they insisted upon being paid down to the last cent before staging their fight. Then followed a scene of sordid haggling. Dempsey finally agreeing to take a mortgage on the town or some such thing for the unpaid balance.

Perhaps Shelby needed the advertising badly enough to justify the waste of money, but we doubt it. Mister Dempsey is headed for an eclipse, and the sooner it reaches him the better. He may be a good fighter, but he is a poor sport.

A cheerful heart is good medicine.—Proverbs xvii, 22. Good humor is one of the prerequisites of sound judgment. I have seen needful work done by men in excitement and ill-temper, but never truth discovered nor creative things accomplished.

My old gardener used to swear horribly when he was rooting out poison ivy. But when he was studying how to make flowers or vegetables grow better, he was in a friendly mood—whistling or singing.

When our resentment at the wrong things in life outweighs our joy in the right things, our minds are darkened and our power is hampered. If you cannot entirely eliminate anger, make it as brief as possible. "Let not the sun go down upon your wrath."

Immortality

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

Oh, such delight as I have taken In infant grace and childish charms, And all the beauty unmarked Of roguish smiles and dimpled arms!

The countless miles I might have traveled While rocking babies on my knee! The mystery, I've left untraveled Of earth and rock and sky and sea!

The precious paintings and the treasures I could have had for what they cost, And it's impossible to measure The freedom that's forever lost!

But when I hear their merry laughter, They're worth a world of wealth to me, I live in them, here and hereafter, They are my immortality!

Your Health: Here Are Easy Ways To Solve Sunburn Problems.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

Every day or two some anxious individual writes to find out what to do to be beautiful. Red noses, shiny faces, scaly skin, eruptions, freckles—all these things are painful experiences to sensitive souls. Sunburn things to the visitor to the beach or the victim of a day's picnic.

Of course, skins differ. Some people are as unaffected by the sun as they are by advice. Others burn and smart and get red on the slightest exposure. They suffer almost as much as they would from the burn of a fire, or the scald of hot water. Persons of light complexion are more likely to burn than those whose complexions are dark. Such skins must be protected and given appropriate treatment or painful symptoms appear.

On reaching home after exposure, do not bathe your face with water. Apply a good cold cream and carefully wipe it off with a soft cloth. This will remove the dirt and make you presentable until after a few hours soap and water can be safely used.

buried overseas how great an obligation the mother country has undertaken to keep preserved the memory of their dead.

No one can traverse the great territory in which the war occurred without being awe-stricken at the scenes of devastation that still remain, but are rapidly being covered up.

Not a town in thousands of square miles but seems to be built entirely anew, though many are not yet completed. In the country the trees are all gone, either blown to pieces with shell-fire and standing bare and bleak like our maples in winter, or having been cut off close to the ground, nothing remaining but the stumps.

On every hand there are beautiful avenues of stately trees were the pride of the people throughout the land. On every hand there are hundreds of proofs that during the war our soldiers staved off ever-imminent peril like hunted beasts by digging holes in the side of the earth, or under the cellars of buildings, waiting for the moment to come when they should go on to victory or death.

On every roadside there are demolition gangs at work rolling barbed wire to the roadside, where there are ever-diminishing accumulations of wire, screw posts, shells and other war material.

But, on the other hand, one cannot but be comforted in one's amazement of the measures taken to commemorate the great sacrifice the soldiers made in order that civilization might not perish from off the earth. The British cemeteries in France, in Belgium, have been bought at the price of several hundred thousand dollars. The cemeteries in France, in Belgium, have been bought at the price of several hundred thousand dollars.

Do you know that the Imperial War Graves Commission has supervision over no less than 1,300 British cemeteries in France and Belgium?

And every grave of every British soldier there beneath the sod is receiving attention, and is kept as trim and neatly decorated as no one but Old Country gardeners can do. The commission has branch offices at Boulogne, Arras, Ypres, Armentieres and Lille, but we visited only those at Arras and Ypres. Of these, the Ypres branch has in its charge 250 cemeteries within ten miles of Ypres. These are of all sizes, but include the two largest in all the area, the called Tyn Cott, on the Passchendaele ridge, with 12,000 graves, and Lijzenhoek, near Poperinghe, also with 12,000. On every grave is a wooden cross or stone with the name of the hero beneath. The crosses have been never-diminishingly being replaced by stones at the head of each grave that will be permanent. In cases where identification has not been established the inscription is British-like in its brevity. Across the top, "A Soldier of the Great War"; in the middle, a cross; and at the bottom, "Known Unto God." Isn't there something majestic about not "An Unknown Soldier" but "Known Unto God"?

And though in the majority of cases the cross or stone bears the name of the soldier, on scenes of the fiercest struggles some of the cemeteries contain as high as 60 per cent of the headstones unnamed.

And further, the work among the war graves is continuing. Every day reports come of new bodies discovered, and immediately an exhumation party is sent out for recovery and removal to a place beside his comrades. The cemetery foremen are always courteous and one of them informed me that only a few days ago he recovered a sergeant and a dozen men, all from one hastily constructed field grave.

Mothers in Canada may take comfort from the information that no cemetery in Canada that we have ever seen, no matter how well known, gives an impression of such tenderness for the departed as do the multitudes of British cemeteries overseas.

THE SUMMER HOLIDAYS.

Editor of the Advertiser: Sir,—Please give me one inch of space in your "Tixer" and I will settle the swimming pool problem for the mayor, regular alderman and the "obstructionists."

First, I would cut the holidays down to one month. From the 15th of June to the 15th of August is sufficient, for all the short time either teacher or pupil spend in the school their health is in no danger of suffering on account of less time wasted in long holidays.

Secondly, as the preachers say, I would ship every big husky boy over 11 years of age down to the fruit district, where the good fruit is rotting on the trees, and let them help to save the crop, and the farmers would be glad to have a strong boy to assist on the farm where there are so many chores a boy of school age could attend to. If these boys only got their hands dirty, it would be a good help to the parents in moderate circumstances and they would have to be industrious instead of turning the hair of our city officials gray trying to save them from a watery grave. I fail to see where supervised swimming pools have lessened the rate of drowning accidents. When there was only the swimming hole in the river, not half as many boys and girls were trying to swim, as there was not the same excitement as under present conditions. Also I do not think the over-burdened taxpayer would relish the idea of spending $25,000 for two more swimming pools. Mr. Buchanan should remember that the average taxpayer is not drawing a salary of $300 per month. It is enough to pay taxes for education without paying for all the frills and tommyrot of "Education Dave" on your page says.

Yours for ACTION AND COMMON SENSE.

BELIEVES CITY PAVING NOT STRONG ENOUGH

Ald. Drake Supports Pocock in Claim For Heavier Material.

Ald. Gordon Drake stated today that Philip Pocock is right when he claims that the city is not laying down pavements of sufficient strength to withstand the increasing heavy traffic of the street railway company. And he adds that the company is not laying rails of adequate weight.

"We will need heavier rails and a heavier foundation from now on," Ald. Drake concurs. "It has been all right in the past with the little cars, but they are now starting to use the bigger vehicles, and the present trackage and pavement cannot stand the pace. The little cars had a carrying capacity of perhaps 90 passengers, while the bigger cars, especially the new ones, can jam in from 150 to 200 people."

"Pocock is right, and if the city purchases the road at the end of the year we will have to lay new foundations and heavier rails. As an instance, the rail that was laid out here on the Hamilton road, from Rectory to Spadina streets, is now practically worn out and should be replaced with heavier material at once."

Ald. Drake points out that there are two streets that will have to be paved without delay. One of them is Richmond street.

"I'm afraid to drive down that street any more," he explained. "I expect any minute to see a street car run off the track and strike an automobile or pedestrians. Just stand on the corner and watch two cars pass on that thoroughfare, and they will nearly rub one another."

Popular Officer Tells How He Gained 37 Pounds

"Last winter, for the first time in years, I didn't miss a day on account of sickness," said Napoleon Girardeau, 653 Colonial avenue, Montreal, popular police officer, in relating his experience with the Tanlac treatment.

"It's near a year since I gained 37 pounds by taking Tanlac, and I've never had a sick day since. I had indigestion for ten years, and at times thought the end was near. I lost 27 pounds, and was just a skeleton of what I had been."

"But it seems now like I never had indigestion, and I eat big feeds of meat and potatoes, and sleep like a log. I owe my health to Tanlac."

THE COACH'S JOB

Something of the taskmaster, the general and the diplomat, and a lot of the doctor must be hidden away in the man who would be the coach of a successful football or track team.

Emergencies of all kinds are his daily routine. A thorough knowledge of first aid is as essential as a knowledge of the game played by his men.

Bumps, bruises, strained ligaments and muscles are every day happenings but the coach never becomes contemptuous of them. He knows that if neglected, they may result in anything.

Trainers everywhere keep Absorbine Jr. in their lockers. They use it not only for sprains, cuts and bruises, but for the skin and blood protection of its disinfecting properties. In one convenient container it combines the functions of a number of preparations.

It is the first of all the First Aid requisites in use, in all of the leading athletic clubs.

And there are just as many everyday uses for Absorbine Jr. in the homes of Canada as there are in the training camps. Always keep it in the home where you can "jump to it" in case of emergency. $1.25 at your druggist.

SCHOOL ENJOYS TRIP TO PORT STANLEY

Members of Anglican Summer School At St. Thomas Have Pleasant Time.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 27.—About 60 members of the Anglican summer school, which is being held this week at Alma College, journeyed to Port Stanley yesterday on a special car attached to the L. & P. S. train leaving the city at 2:50 p.m. A delightful time was had, the afternoon being spent in bathing, boating and fun on Inverness Heights. The picnicers returned to the city on the 6 o'clock car.

Tonight the first open-air meeting was held on the lawn. After a brief service of song, Miss Shaw, returned missionary from Japan, addressed the conference, dealing with "Problems of Japan." Canon Brougham, closed the service and the day's activities with a brief but valuable talk.

Arrangements have been completed for next Sunday's services. Rev. C. E. Jenkins, M.A., B.D., rector of St. Paul's Church, Brantford, and dean of the summer school, will preach in the morning at Trinity Church and in the evening at St. John's Church.

The school will officially attend the morning service in a body. Miss Florence Keffer of Brantford will sing at this service.

St. Thomas, July 26.—There is strong agitation on foot in this city to have imported umpires from Toronto or some other large city take charge of Southern Ontario League baseball games, in order that both teams may get a square deal.

This custom is followed in Galt, Guelph, Preston and Kitchener, which make up the Inter-County League. There has always been more or less criticism regarding the decisions of the umpires at the games in the cities con-

Officers Issued New Cartridges

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, July 26.—The supply of "chilled shot" furnished the police force some months ago has been called in. Action was taken as a result of the gun fight in which bank messengers and robbers participated on Tuesday morning. It was this form of buckshot that Constable Armstrong fired from his revolver while pursuing the car in which the fleeing highwaymen made their escape.

With the sudden invasion of bank robbers in Toronto, Chief Dickson has concluded that the regulation cartridge of the smokeless type will prove more effective when necessity requires the use of weapons by the police.

The fans in St. Thomas would certainly support any move in this direction made by the executive of the league. The name of Sammy Lee of Hamilton has been suggested in this city as a capable man to handle an amateur baseball game.

The opinion here is that an outside umpire should be used, or that the visiting umpire should preside behind the bat. Newspapers in other cities have been asked to send a referee who would like to see steps taken along this line.

HARVESTERS' EXCURSION CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

More harvesters than ever will be needed this year in Western Canada on account of the bumper crop. Special trains will be run by the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is advertising the usual low rate of $15 to Winnipeg, plus a half cent per mile beyond to destination in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Returning the fare will be $20 from Winnipeg, plus a half cent per mile from starting point. Going dates are August 15, 22 and 29, according to the territory in Ontario. On each date at 10 a.m. and last special at 10:30 p.m. on each date. First special train will leave Toronto on each date at 10 a.m. and last special at 10:30 p.m. on each date. Full information may be secured from any Canadian Pacific ticket office. Early 23, 29, 30, Aug. 1, 2, 3, 5, 12, 14.

HUSKIE, CUP DEFENDER, SHOWS HEELS TO REST

Leads Chirya, Kingston, Ont., Challenger By 400 Yards To Finish Line.

Associated Press Despatch.
Watertown, N. Y., July 26.—The Huskie, flying the colors of the Crescent Yacht Club of this city, defender of the George Cup, today showed her heels to the other four yachts contesting for the cup on Chautauque Bay, crossing the finish line 400 yards ahead of the Chirya of the Kingston Yacht Club.

The race was the first event yesterday, was 400 yards in length. The Chirya, the Huskie, the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, which finished second yesterday, was 400 yards behind the Huskie, and the Latoka of the Oswego Yacht Club was a quarter mile further in the rear.

A list of officials for the Ontario Championships track and field meet to be held here August 4, will be submitted to Chairman A. T. Taylor at a meeting of the L. A. A. A. committee to be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

The whole program will be gone over as well as arrangements made up to date. The committee in charge, is already justified in believing that this

TWO CITY SOCCER LOOP GAMES ON TOMORROW

Leafs vs. St. Andrews and W.O.R. vs. Westminster Is Saturday Bill.

Two City Soccer League clashes are billed for tomorrow afternoon. Maple Leafs and St. Andrews mingle at Springfield Park, with a kick-off at 3 o'clock, and W. O. R. and Westminster Hospital at the latter's grounds kick off 15 minutes earlier.

This is the W. O. R.'s home game, but, owing to some misunderstanding, the W. O. R. secretary had difficulty in securing another field, hence the reason for playing on the Hospital grounds.

The manager of the Hospital team has undertaken to have the field marked off for the game, as a return for the Hospital grounds, which have been the scene of many a game.

The following St. Andrews' players are requested to be on hand at 2:30: Knight, Wilson, Brewster, Robertson, McClelland, Darroch, H. Johnston, Sutherland, Peckie, Dicks, Watkins, Wansly, G. Johnston.

Tonight. St. Michaels vs. St. Marys.

St. Peters stretched into the lead in the C. A. A. A. race last night, when they handed St. Martins their second straight reverse of the second series.

It was a free-hitting duel, and errors popped into critical places just helped in the general run-getting melee. The first series of three games was a run-getting duel, and errors popped into critical places just helped in the general run-getting melee.

It was anybody's game after that. St. Martins tied the score with a lone tally in the third, and crept into the lead again in the fourth with their last scoring effort. For the second time in the series, St. Peters plunged upwards and counted four runs. The champs were unable to do anything with Nopper's slants in the fifth.

CRICHI BEATEN IN FIRST—FOR 15 ROUNDS SMILES TWISTED SMILE, FACING TERRIFIC PUNISHMENT HANDED HIM BY ITALIAN

Shattered Jaw Cut Artery and He Grew Steadily Weaker From Loss of Blood.

By W. O. McGEHEAN.

New York, July 26.—John Dundee, born in Giuseppe Carrota, became the featherweight champion at the Polo Grounds last night. Eugene Criqui, the only soldier champion the ring has ever known, passed gloriously, quite as gloriously as did Jimmy White, the like flyweight of England.

He was dropped in the first round by a left hook to the jaw for the count of nine, in the second round he was battered to the mat by volleys of rights and lefts. For ten of the fifteen rounds there was a picture of a man being tricked from the twisted mouth of the champion.

Criqui was shot through the jaw at Verdun early in the world war and a piece of one of his ribs was grafted into the lower maxillary. It seemed as though the first left that Dundee landed twisted this bone askew and cut one of the arteries in the Frenchman's face.

The dark stream of blood that started down the Frenchman's chest through the last of the bout, it stained his white shirt and his black star a dark crimson. It poured down Dundee's gloves.

40,000 Saw Passing. Something like 40,000 saw the passing of the French featherweight champion in this same ring where he had won the title from John Patrick Kilbane.

The fight was over in the first round practically when the first left hook sent Criqui to his haunches on the canvas. Dundee could not knock him out.

As the blood started to well from his mouth and his knees began sagging, Referee Jack O'Sullivan moved to the Criqui corner and asked the Frenchman if he wanted to continue. Criqui nodded his head so vigorously that the blood splashed down to the soiled white canvas.

When Criqui was dropped twice in the second round it seemed certain that he would not be able to weather the next round. But the gallant expatriate crawled out of his corner to meet Dundee trying to smile with that twisted face of his.

Dundee, chewing a wad of gum, came around him and pecked at the scars of Verdun, then he battered the Frenchman against the ropes. Criqui reeled, but he could not be dropped. The fight continued the Frenchman seemed to grow stronger despite the fact that he was steadily losing blood.

Four of those who were long right at Dundee, but the Italian was dancing around the ring as nimbly as Mr. Kilbane. He kept on the defensive, but he was not a coward. He was a fighter.

Dundee was much too fast for the Frenchman, who was working hard to keep his head. Dundee was always advancing, and he was always winning.

Dundee repeated his trick twice, both times sending Criqui reeling. He was starting the fight again when the bell ended the round.

Round Four. Criqui started the attack, but he was either short of over, and a series of punches resulted. Dundee was a little slower, and he was always winning.

The challenger dodged a half dozen leads and aside from an occasional left jab, he kept on the defensive. Dundee started bouncing off the ropes, striking at the flying target, but it was useless. They were in a light clinch when the bell rang.

Round Five. Criqui worked up blood, while his hands were working feverishly. Dundee wasn't even fanned. Johnny landed half a dozen times, but he was always winning.

Dundee pounced the champion's knee and landed a right. Criqui was left over three stiff lefts. Criqui poked his left to Johnny's head. The pace had changed, but still Criqui could not solve his opponent. He was warned for hitting the floor. Criqui began chopping up under cuts when the bell sounded.

Round Six. They came together fighting, Criqui taking the attack, but he was impossible to count the blows. The crowd boomed the Frenchman for hitting low in a clinch. Dundee kept whipping over his left over a pile driver. Dundee made several slaying attacks when the fight was getting better in the fighting. They were sparring at the goal.

Round Seven. Dundee came out furiously, landing his right hand. He was impossible to count the blows. The crowd boomed the Frenchman for hitting low in a clinch. Dundee kept whipping over his left over a pile driver. Dundee made several slaying attacks when the fight was getting better in the fighting. They were sparring at the goal.

Round Eight. Dundee landed a left and right, and an attack to the body. Dundee was left over three stiff lefts. Criqui poked his left to Johnny's head. The pace had changed, but still Criqui could not solve his opponent. He was warned for hitting the floor. Criqui began chopping up under cuts when the bell sounded.

Round Nine. Criqui was in very bad condition as he sat in his corner, but Dundee appeared fresh. They fought in the center, and then Dundee stopped back and began punning with his long left. With a pling, in although his legs were wobbling, he could hardly stand. The Frenchman vainly shot his left, while he was very tired. Dundee's repeating left tapped him a half dozen times, and then he landed a right. Dundee was left over three stiff lefts. Criqui poked his left to Johnny's head. The pace had changed, but still Criqui could not solve his opponent. He was warned for hitting the floor. Criqui began chopping up under cuts when the bell sounded.

Round Eleven. Dundee pounced his adversary's head with both hands in a neutral corner, and then Dundee stopped back and began punning with his long left. With a pling, in although his legs were wobbling, he could hardly stand. The Frenchman vainly shot his left, while he was very tired. Dundee's repeating left tapped him a half dozen times, and then he landed a right. Dundee was left over three stiff lefts. Criqui poked his left to Johnny's head. The pace had changed, but still Criqui could not solve his opponent. He was warned for hitting the floor. Criqui began chopping up under cuts when the bell sounded.

Manufacturers' League fans last night saw Murray Shoes down McClarys 4-2 in a pitching battle, in which the winners had much the better of the hitting argument.

Murray Shoes collected seven hits from one batter. They did not, however, have three safe bingles off Oliver's delivery.

The lifted Murray out of the cellar, brought them within half a point of McClarys and dropped Scott-McHales into the last standing place.

After three Murray Shoe batters had gone out in order in the first two of the three safes gathered in, McClarys were responsible for a brace of runs in the McClarys score-sheet. From then on, however, Oliver was unshakable. One solid crack that rolled to center in the fourth didn't do any damage.

With two to get back, Murray's started their installment plan working in the second, making a single and a double good for one counter. They tied it up in the third, and in late sixth Reeves after singling, was doubled home by Silverstein, who stole third, and trotted in on Logan's bobble of Harrison's grounder.

London Man Claims To Have Heard Saint Player Make Claim—Nethercott Sore.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, July 26.—Regarding a letter appearing in a local newspaper Wednesday, and written by John Gilbert, 688 Eglar street, London, to the effect that St. Thomas O. B. A. players circulated a rumor on July 14, Manager Geo. Nethercott announced tonight that he was going to probe the matter to the bottom.

He had telegraphed officials at London asking that they question the man and find out where he got his information.

"If there is any member of St. Thomas Baseball Club responsible for that story he will be suspended immediately," the manager declared. "I am determined to probe this matter and to fire any player, irrespective of who he may be, if it is found that the allegation is true. However, I don't think any member of the St. Thomas Baseball Club would be guilty of circulating such a report. I sincerely hope that the charge made in the letter from the London man is entirely unfounded, but I am not going to stop until I find out for certain."

ARCTIC SHIP BOWDOIN DRIVING TOWARDS POLE

GIVE LIST OF 'BAD WORDS' FORBIDDEN AT SESSION

Mayor Wenige Sends Out Ironclad Instructions Governing Rules of Debate at Council Meetings—No More Will "Roughneck" Terms Be Tolerated.

EVERY ALDERMAN RECEIVES A COPY

Members of the city council had better pick and choose their language with careful deliberation at the next session. The Wenige dictionary, defining what may be said and what may not be said during council procedure, has reached the aldermen from the city clerk's office, and several members have learned to their surprise that it is even unpardonable to voice the opinion that a colleague's actions were "disgraceful."

Evidently the mayor is going to make sure that peace and tranquility will prevail at future gatherings, and the next session will be interesting if his ironclad instructions are obeyed to the letter.

Why, it is even contrary to the best house of commons procedure to arise and remark that Ald. So-and-So is a "wind-bag." In the last clause it is noted that even the charge of "obstructionism" is out of order and that any member who employs such a term may be summarily ejected from the august assembly.

Glancing over his book of rules this morning, Ald. Drake ventured the remark that "he could not see why Mayor Wenige was sending out these documents to all the councilors."

"Why did he not keep one and send another copy to Ald. W. A. Wilson?" he questioned.

Watch Your Step.

Every person had better be careful, and if future meetings are featured as in the past by the mayor's instructions are followed to the letter it may be imperative to shut up shop about 9 p.m.

The mayor has adopted "in toto" extracts from what are purported to be British House of Commons rules, and the following warning has been received by the aldermen today (if they are at their last place of residence):

"The House of Commons will insist upon all offensive words being withdrawn, and upon an ample apology being made which shall satisfy both the House and the member to whom offense has been given. If the apology is refused, or if the offending member declines to express his satisfaction, the House takes immediate measures for preventing further quarrel from being pursued further, by committing both members to the custody of the sergeant, where they are not released until they have submitted themselves to the House and given assurance that they will not engage in hostile proceedings. N. 288, 292."

"The imputation of bad motives, or motives different from those acknowledged, misrepresentation, language to another, or insulting him, in his turn, of misrepresentation, charging him with falsehood or deceit, or contemptuous or insulting language of any kind: all these are unpardonable."

MAN IN TAXICAB KILLS TWO N. Y. POLICEMEN

Fires Point Blank at Officers When They Attempt to Make Arrest.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 27.—Two policemen were shot and killed last night at the corner of Sixty-fourth street and Second avenue, when they overtook a taxicab which had chased across Queensboro bridge.

Hearing a scream, another patrolman ran up, but his comrades told him they needed no assistance. As he was walking away he heard shots, and saw his brother officers fall and the taxi driving off.

Witnesses of the shooting declared the man in the cab fired both shots. The murderer then pointed his pistol at the driver shouting, "Go on or I'll give it to you!"

The dead patrolmen were Charles Reynolds and Frank Romanelli.

ASSURES NEW PAVING ON RICHMOND STREET

City Clerk Reports Time Limit Expires With No Opposition Voiced.

A new pavement on Richmond street, from Fullerton to Oxford streets, is now assured. The period allowed by law to receive petitions against this move expired at midnight, and City Clerk Baker announced this afternoon that no opposition has been recorded.

City Engineer W. P. Neill assures that every effort will be expended, both by the city and the London Street Railway Company to have the entire job done before the snow flies. "We won't be able to start for a couple of weeks, however," Mr. Neill explained. "The company has to lay new steel along the entire length of the street, and this will necessitate a certain delay. Manager King assures me, however, that they will make every effort to have the material here soon. He has been in communication for several days with steel concerns. The company is very anxious to have this work finished this summer."

While no doubt one side of the street will be torn up during the work, the engineers feel that this should not in any way hinder business or prove a detriment to the Fair. He points out that now, as a matter of fact, no person uses Richmond street, south of Oxford street, if they can possibly avoid it.

BOYS ADMIT STEALING AUTO TO GO FOR RIDE

Fred Taylor and Kenneth Wilcott Remanded to Jail in Court Today.

Associated Press Despatch.

Fred Taylor, 17, and Kenneth Wilcott, 16, admitted in police court today that they intentionally stole an automobile for a ride. They were remanded to jail in order that the case may be further investigated, as the court pointed out the boys stood a chance of going to the reformatory, and he wanted to make sure there was no miscarriage of justice before he imposed the penalty.

"We just wanted a ride," said Taylor, when pressed for an explanation. "We drove to Chatham and back to London. We did not damage the car. We stole it from in front of the Patricia Theatre and left it on Campbell street in East London."

"I knew we were going to steal the car," Wilcott admitted.

The car was a small coupe owned by R. E. Duckworth.

"I cannot suspend sentence in this case," Magistrate Graydon pointed out. "The minimum penalty is a year. My present idea is that you will have to go to the reformatory. However, I will remand you to jail in the meantime and have this case investigated, so there will be no miscarriage of justice."

BOWDOIN'S CREW FEASTS ON SEAL ON TRIP NORTH

MacMillan's Ship Completes 1,000 Miles of Its Journey to Pole.

Arctic Bound Explorer Will Head at Once For Greenland.

By CAPT. DONALD B. MACMILLAN.

New York, July 27.—"Since my last message of July 20th, the Bowdoin has worked her way up the coast of Labrador through 40 miles of extremely heavy ice, and is now anchored off Turnavik Island. We arrived here early this morning and in spite of constant handicaps of fog, rain, ice and strong winds, have completed one thousand miles of our journey northward."

"We will have to remain here until the ice in Hamilton Inlet breaks up and lets us through. It is packed with an almost unbroken ice field, held in by the easterly winds, and causing serious delays to a number of fishing schooners which have been caught on the south side of the inlet and are unable to work north to the fishing grounds."

Have Seal Stev.

"Our larder has run short, and I am depending upon my men to supply us with fresh meat. They got some fine young seals yesterday, which the cook converted into seal stew. The crew from one of the fishing boats shot a large polar bear only a few miles from here, and in fair numbers on the ice. Our men have their rifles and ammunition ready, and all are keen for the big game."

"On the way up we passed several ships bound for the gold hunt at Sag Bay with provisions and equipment. A number of Eskimo families have left the Moravian mission and are heading for the gold fields. I examined a number of gold-bearing quartz this morning, but subsequently learned that it had been brought from the interior of Labrador by an Indian. We visited Etah Island and took our two drivers from the tribe of Eskimos there. We are now in our work during the spring months, and there we investigated what are reported to be Norse houses over a thousand years old. This island takes its name from legends of the Eskimos. It means the place of the Norsemen. The ruins consist of two rock houses, which are better described as caves, clearly showing signs of habitation. The floors are paved with flat stones and the walls decorated by simple carvings. The genuine they are the first tangible evidence of the visit of the Norsemen to America, first mentioned in the sagas of Eric the Red, in 1270, although we find a description of Binealand as early as 1130. There is evidence, however, in the oral tradition for possibly 300 years before being recorded, various accounts of discovery of lands, supposed to be Labrador and Newfoundland, have been handed down."

Heads for Greenland.

"Bowdoin, Mr. Sheldon Fairbanks, of Boston, leaves tomorrow on the Labrador mail boat. We have added another man to our crew in the person of Abraham Bromfield of Auckland Bay. If ice conditions permit we shall head across for Greenland about Tuesday, this morning in the Junker all-metal monoplane, in which he left Chicago at 11 o'clock last night, completing in 8 1/2 hours the first non-stop three-passenger flight between the United States and Europe."

DELEGATES VISIT M'GILL FOREST PRODUCTS BRANCH

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 27.—Delegates to the British Empire forestry conference were in Montreal yesterday, where they visited the forest products laboratory at McGill University, after which they went to St. Anne's Macdonald College. Today they go on to the maritimes, visiting on the way the Laurentide Paper Company at Grand Mere. They arrive at Campbellton, N.B., July 30, Chatham July 31, St. John August 1, Fredericton August 2, and return to Quebec and Montreal August 3 and 4.

SIR CHARLES WILSON IS BY-ELECTION WINNER

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 27.—Sir Charles Wilson, Conservative, was elected for Central Leeds in the by-election necessitated by the death of Arthur Willey, the Conservative member of the House of Commons for that constituency. H. Slesser, the Socialist laborer, was second in the contest, and G. Stone, Liberal, third. The vote was as follows: Wilson, 12,085; Slesser, 11,344; Stone, 3,024. As the figures indicate, the by-election fight was confined to the question of constitutionalism versus socialism.

Associated Press Despatch.

Garden City, N. J., July 27.—Eddie Dickinson, president of the Aero Club of Illinois, and Arthur Gray, mechanic, arrived at Hazelhurst field at 7:30 o'clock, eastern standard time, this morning in the Junker all-metal monoplane, in which he left Chicago at 11 o'clock last night, completing in 8 1/2 hours the first non-stop three-passenger flight between the United States and Europe.

NEXT ENTRY, PLEASE!
Now that the craze is all for non-stop records, this "old boss" puts in a claim for a place in the sun. J. W. Campbell, superintendent of the waterworks at Ridgeway, Ont., has taken over the responsibility of the contest, and asks if anyone can beat the record of the horse shown in the above photograph. Thirty-three years old in the spring of this year, it is still hale and hearty and carries its owner twice each week, there and back, to the nearest city, a distance of three miles.

Adds to 'Old Home Week' Song In Honor of Uncle Bill

Wilfred Charles Traher Pays Tribute to Beloved Citizen Whose Last Civic Efforts Were Directed Toward Making Old Boys' and Girls' Reunion a Success.

While he lived, "Uncle Bill" Moore was something as essential to London as the Chamber of Commerce. With practically no claim to fame other than his unbounded good nature and his remarkable cheer and optimism, this man, known to everyone, became a real civic institution. But a few men when they pass will leave behind them such a warm memory in the hearts of all.

"Uncle Bill's" last civic efforts were in connection with Old Home Week, the annual reunion of the old boys and girls of the city. It is during that week that more than one tribute will be paid to his memory.

Wilfred Charles Traher, who has composed "The Old Home Town," London's official song during Old Boys' Week, has added to it another verse in memory of "Uncle Bill."

which will be sung on more than one occasion during the week by Chris. Pink and the Harmonic Male Quartet, all of whom are well-known in local musical circles.

The words of Mr. Traher's verse follow:
(Andante, espressivo.)
We honor the name of dear old Bill Moore,
A friend to mankind, whether rich or poor,
Whose big heart was filled full of love so pure,
We miss you dear old "Uncle" Bill,
But you are gone, your good deeds live on,
Bright gems that have won you renown,
And you're far away, and we all may seem gay,
Still, we miss you, in the old home town.

WANTS CITY CLERK FOR L. & P. S. SECRETARY

Mayor Will Ask a Positive Decision at Next Session of Commission.

Mayor Wenige still believes that City Clerk Sam Baker would make an ideal secretary for the London & Port Stanley Railway Commission. And he gave positive assurance today that this question would again receive consideration when the members of that body meet in regular session Tuesday next.

Back in the spring, when Mayor Wenige and Sir Adam Beck were staging their memorable "pay list" battle, the former introduced for general debate the proposal that the city clerk be forthwith appointed to take the minutes of the commission meetings. Just what happened to his suggestion is puzzling the mayor at this time, but he is sure that he is going to ascertain definitely.

"It should be incorporated in the minutes of the different meetings," it was suggested to the mayor. "So you won't likely find it in the minutes," replied the mayor decisively. "There are a number of things that you won't find in the L. & P. S. minutes."

"The aldermen want more information than they say they have been receiving about the L. & P. S.," he continued, "and I think that the best way to insure that they receive this information would be to make City Clerk Baker the connecting link between the city council and the commission, for the purpose of record."

At the next session of the Port Stanley commission, the members will also consider the general revision of wages as proposed several months ago by Commissioner Donald Wright and agreed from month to month for one reason and another.

TEST HYDRO WIRES.

The hydro lights on the city streets were turned on for a few minutes this morning at 11:45. A test of the wires was being carried out.

ASKS DR. BRITTAIN TENDER OPINION ON CITY SALARIES

Council Seeks Advice as to Remuneration For Respective Posts.

CONSIDER DUTIES

Ald. Drake Expects Increase For Assessment Commission Will Be Urged.

Will the city council have sufficient funds available to tender all salary increases at the city hall after the citizens' research bureau experts have completed their survey?

Reap Greater Benefit.

The salary issue will not be dealt with until that time, but the feeling is now uppermost among the city hall authorities that the employees will reap a greater benefit from this further delay.

Dr. Brittain and his associates have been asked by the council to bring in a recommendation as to what would be considered a fair amount for each respective post, in comparison with the wages paid for the same work in other municipalities, and of course, taking into consideration any differences in duties here and elsewhere.

The experts will, of course, deal with the positions and not the present incumbents, and the council will of course consider length of service and the seniority of their employees.

The aldermen make it quite plain also that they are bound in no way to act upon the recommendation of the citizens' bureau, but it is generally accepted that the latter's report will deal more generously, in the main, than the council was ever permitted to do, or is permitted with such finances as are now available.

Send Half the Amount.

In the meanwhile Mayor Wenige and a minority of the council supporting him in this instance, does not propose to spend the entire $5,000 set aside in the 1923 estimates for salaries. His recommendations, now temporarily shelved, provide for the expenditure of perhaps half of this amount.

The mayor's proposals are divided as follows:
Assessment department, increases totaling $1,268.00
City clerk's office 470.00
City auditor's office 420.00
City treasurer's office 480.00

$3,902.00
In connection with the engineer's department, however, it is pointed out that certain of these increases will not be charged to the $5,000 in the estimates, but to the general fund chargeable to that department.

Ald. Drake is one of those who feels that the experts will bring in recommendations, in one instance at least, that will exceed even those proposed by members of the council. He maintains strenuously that $4,000 will be set for the position of assessment commissioner.

Mayor Wenige disputes Ald. Drake's claim, however, declaring that Dr. Brittain and his assistants have given no inkling of what any of their recommendations will be. And that no report will be submitted to the council until after they have completed their survey of the entire city hall.

EXPECT BRITAIN TO AID U.S. COMBAT RUM-RUNNING

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 27.—Some sort of announcement regarding what Great Britain will do to assist the United States in solving the rum-running problem is expected before parliament adjourns on August 2.

Reports circulated this morning of a British agreement under certain conditions to the United States proposal to extend territorial waters to a distance of 12 miles were semi-officially denied.

CANADIAN IDEALS WARMLY APPROVED BY U. S. PRESIDENT

Harding in Speech at Vancouver Lauds the Dominion's Generosity.

GUEST OF HONOR

Commingle of People of Two Countries Leading to Good Relations.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Vancouver, B. C., July 27.—"We have one more bond in common. We all speak the English language, and in your country and in mine we speak it in the same way."

Thus did Warren Harding, the first U. S. president to break bread on Canadian soil, round out a speech filled with gracious friendliness and good humor in response to a toast given in his honor at a dinner given him by the government of Canada here last night at the close of his visit to Vancouver.

Facing a gathering of representatives of Canadians at the end of a strenuous day of fraternizing on Canadian soil, "Mr. President" expressed his satisfaction with the state of affairs which permitted the free intermingling of immigration and business enterprise between the Anglo-Saxon populations of the American continent.

The burden of his speech at the government dinner was that "the commingling of people and ideals could lead to nothing but good." He found in the ease with which former U. S. citizens coalesced in Canada a promising and natural result of the community of ideas and ideals, which has always existed between the English speaking people of America.

Mr. Harding expressed pleasure in finding established in Canada a fellow-citizen of Ohio, Thos. McCone, now member of parliament for Batford, B. C. Mr. McCone was just one of the thought of the United States citizens who had found in Canada a home prepared for him through several generations of citizenship in which the Anglo-Saxon and Celtic people of the two North American countries had grown side by side in amicable understanding.

BRITAIN TO CONSTRUCT NEW GIGANTIC AIRSHIP

Plan to Inaugurate Air Journey to India Within 100 Hours.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, July 27.—The revised airship scheme which the government has adopted in principle provides for the preliminary construction of one 5,000,000 cubic feet airship, a ship as long as the ss. Mauretania, at Bedford, by a company with a capital of £600,000, of which the government will provide £400,000, and the government will make a second similar loan on condition that an airship journey to India in 100 hours shall be inaugurated.

Efforts are being made to complete the construction of the first airship, which will carry a company of 150 passengers and ten tons of mail matter and will travel 80 miles an hour, will occupy 18 months.

VANCOUVER CITY HAS EFFICIENT PUBLICITY

Colored Photographs Are On Exhibition in C. P. R. Offices in London.

Associated Press Despatch.

The efficiency of the publicity department of the city of Vancouver and their far-sightedness in accomplishing their purpose of keeping the beauties of the Pacific port before the eyes of the world, were well demonstrated in London during the past two weeks. Those who have had occasion to pass the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway have no doubt noticed the five colored photographs on exhibition in the window.

These pictures were shown under the auspices of Vancouver publicity offices.

The photographs are beautiful examples of the photographer's art and are exquisitely tinted in their natural colors. The five pictures are representative of Pacific coast beauties, and judging from reports emanating from other cities where they were shown, have boosted Vancouver and environs to a great extent.

In one of the pictures the prominence of English Bay, Vancouver, is brought out to advantage, and in the background are displayed the yachting and boating attractions of the bay. Another depicts to a nicety the falls at Lynn valley, while the third is of Horseshoe Bay. The other two photographs are of the Capilano River and Stanley Park with its monster pines.

M., according to a report received here yesterday. Mr. Newman was being held for ransom and was killed by the Mexican bandits because the money was not forthcoming, the report said.

Captain T. E. Robson Makes His Hobby Throwing Quoits

County Treasurer Defeated Ontario Champion In a Private Game.

The county treasurer, Captain T. E. Robson, is a quoit enthusiast. And there's nothing worrying him more just now than the fact that he is scheduled to be in Toronto the first week of September to judge cattle, when he might be playing in the big Ontario quoit tournament which takes place in Woodstock that week. Captain Robson was London's champion quoit player about ten years ago, when Dr. Wyckoff offered a gold watch for the winner in a series of matches played throughout the summer. And he proudly displays the watch today among his greatest treasures. This tournament was conducted by the Forest City Quoit Club, in existence at that time, the games being played on the old Horton street ground, between Richmond and Clarence streets.

But the game which Captain Robson considers the best game he ever played was not a tournament game, but a private game played on the old Fire Hall grounds against Robert Sabine of Woodstock, provincial champion. This game, which took place about ten years ago, was exceedingly close, the final score being 41 to 39.

Made Quoits Fly.

Captain Robson becomes very enthusiastic when he is reminiscing about old quoit matches. His descriptions are vivid.

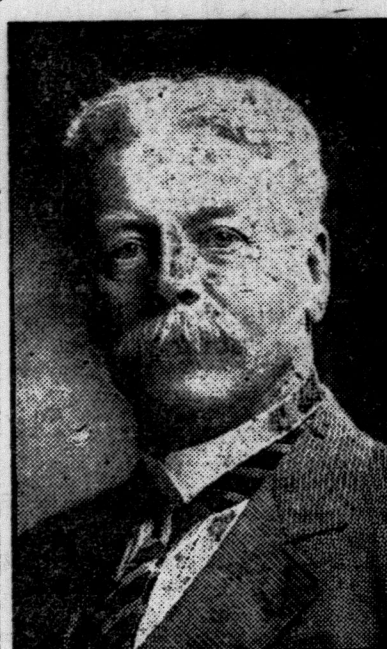

The quoits are flying through the air and falling on top of each other right at the pin. And it's impossible to tell who is nearest without the use of a calliper, a very fine instrument, something like a compass. In the Sabine game every point was won by just a close margin. And when Captain Robson was found to be the winner all the hats went up and the watchers yelled themselves hoarse.

For the last five or six years quoit has not held such a prominent place in city sports, and Captain Robson has not been playing. The Central Fire Hall men still play, however, and Captain Robson has seen some very fine games played on their ground. He mentions George Bolton as one of their best quoiters, who will enter the provincial championship games at Woodstock this fall.

Of the old-time quoiters of distinction, Captain Robson names Matthew Brown, Ralph Harrington and James S. Bell as the outstanding men.

Throw Horseshoes.

Captain Robson got his early practice in the game throwing horseshoes when he was a boy, but did not begin

CAPT. T. E. ROBSON

the game of quoits until about 18 years ago, when he first came to London.

"It is one of the most scientific of games," says Captain Robson. "In it there is no element of chance. The quoit stays where it is played and nothing can move it. The man who is a good quoit must have a good eye, good nerve and be in good condition physically, for the distance is 18 yards, and it takes strength to throw a six-pound quoit that distance. It is really wonderful what you can do when you are feeling fit."

"Quoiting is an Old Country game," played principally by the Scotch, but largely, too, by the English, and there is nothing like it. I only wish I were back in form and playing in the provincial games next September."

WEDDINGS

GEORGE-WAITE.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waite, 114 Vidal street, Sarnia, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding, Tuesday, when their daughter, Martha Pearl, was married to Albert H. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. George, also of Sarnia. Rev. R. McKay, pastor of Central Baptist Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white tulle with a train, and her hair was styled in waves. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses. Miss Lola Webster played the wedding music. Mr. Ralph Phibbs acted as best man, and Miss Eva George, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing a pink tulle dress, and carrying a bouquet of Columbia roses.

Mr. and Mrs. George left later on a honeymoon trip up the lakes on the steamer Hamonic, and upon their return will reside in Sarnia.

WORKED FOR SUCCESS OF CHATHAM CARNIVAL.

Mrs. A. E. Pikey, regent of the 24th Kent Regiment Chapter, and Mrs. R. V. Bray, regent of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. E. Chatham, who devoted much time to the recent carnival held in the armories of that city in aid of the war memorial. A final statement of the net receipts will be given out by T. E. Cottler within a few days. The carnival, which was held under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire and the 24th Kent Regiment, was a great success, over $1,600 having been taken in. Special features marked each afternoon and evening of the carnival. Up to date, the different chapters of the Daughters of the Empire have contributed the sum of $1,250 towards the erection of the monument, and liberal donations have been made by individuals and local organizations.

THE MILKMAN'S TRIBUTE.

The milkman came down the side path from the little suburban house with two empty milk bottles in his hand, and sprang expertly into the white and gilt van at the curb. As he handed the two shining bottles over to his assistant, he said wisely: "Now, there's a good housekeeper! Look at them bottles—just as clean as an apron! As if they were out of the milk can! I bet her chiny closet an' everything in her house is kep' as clean as a pin. Some women, you know, thinks an empty wash bottle don't have to be clean. They leave the dregs o' the milk in 'em, an' it gits sour an' smells up the van somethin' fierce. Them bottles looks all smooty, too, an' makes we wisht I didn't have to stop at them houses at all, to leave milk or collect bottles."

"Course lots o' women ain't so bad as that. Some o' them sticks the bottle under the fasset a minute and swishes a little water round in it an' lets it go at that, an' they ain't so bad, either. But o' course some milk sticks to the neck o' the bottle and gets sour an' smells bad. They don't seem to know that they've a little brush you kin git at the tencent store that'll clean out a bottle bright as a dollar in two seconds."

"Now take this here housekeeper. I bet she takes an' puts her milk bottles in the hot dish water, with plenty o' soap in it, and scrubs the insides off with one o' these here brushes. Then I bet vo' she sticks the bottle under the hot water fasset an' rinses it off, inside an' out. It shows it! It tells me that she's the best housekeeper on this here hull block."

"O' course milk bottles has to be washed an' sterilized again anyhow, an' I s'pose some o' these careless women figgers they'll be wastin' their time washin' 'em, but I tell you it sure is a give-away when you see a woman's empty milk bottles standin' on her back porch all smeared up with old sour milk."

YOUNG WOMAN FAILS TRYING TO END LIFE

Foot Catches In Girder As She Drops From Toronto
Bridge.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, July 26.—Angered by the threats of a man to throw her out of a window, Mrs. Florence Smith, aged 24, last night made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by leaping from Sherbourne street bridge. Before climbing over the railing the young woman was seen to swallow some tablets which she had taken from a bottle. After releasing her clutch on the rail, she dropped feet foremost, but had only gone about ten feet when her right leg became wedged between the supporting girders which project beyond the surface of the bridge. Stunned, she remained suspended, head hanging down, but made no further attempt to free herself. Her nerve had failed her and she cried for help.
Motorman V. Unwin rushed to her assistance. To his amazement he discovered the young woman crying frantically for assistance. Using an emergency rope carried on all street cars, he made a noose, and managed to lasso the woman around the shoulders when she attempted to raise herself up to grasp one of the girders.

OPEN AIR MOVIES GAIN POPULARITY AT PORT STANLEY

Hundreds Gather To Enjoy
Evenings With Cool
Lake Breezes.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

Each week the L. & P. S. free movies and the sing-songs on the beach at Port Stanley grow in greater favor with the people of London, St. Thomas, and in fact, the entire district surrounding the Coney Island of Western Ontario.
There have come to be known what are termed "picture crowds" nightly—people who run down from London or St. Thomas just to spend an evening at the movies, preceded, perhaps, by a dip in the lake, and a supper at the L. & P. S. cafeteria, the place where it is cheaper to eat than pack a basket.

Every night there is a first-class show at the free movies, and the pictures are up to the minute. The community singing is led nightly by that well-known Canadian baritone, who has consented to remain some time longer at Port Stanley, despite the fact that he has received flattering offers to sing elsewhere. Mr. Geddes sings every evening in both the L.
& P. S. cafeteria and the L. & P. S.
free movie theatre.

Made Big Hit.
The free movies have made a big hit with the picnic crowds and summer cottagers this season. Some splendid bills have been presented,
but perhaps none has been better than that which will be the attraction tonight and Saturday night. The super-special feature, "God's Country and the Law," a photoplay taken from the well-known novel of James Oliver Curwood, will lead the program, and there will also be two comedies jammed full of mirth.
Monday and Tuesday there will be a complete change of bill at the movie show, and new songs and choruses will be sung at the sing-song, with
Mr. Geddes leading as usual.
The employees of the D. S. Perrin Company will picnic at the lakeside on Saturday, and a good time is guaranteed all who take in the popular outing.

Will Hold Picnic.
On Monday the employees of the London & Port Stanley Railway are scheduled to hold their annual picnic at the Port, and there will be sports and a good time for everybody.
Wednesday, August 1, the Kiwanis Club of London and St. Thomas will hold the boards at Port Stanley, and previous picnics have proven that as funmakers the Kiwanians are in a class by themselves.

LAWYERS AND RECEIVERS SEEK $251,000 FOR FEES

Associated Press Despatch.
Buffalo, July 27.—Three receivers and fourteen lawyers involved in the litigation since the bankruptcy of the L. R. Steele enterprises have asked the United States court to pay them $251,000 for their services out of the live assets of the bankrupt companies.
Federal Judges John C. Knox and John R. Hazel, sitting jointly, today received the bills, and announced they would take them under consideration.

ROBERT KIDD SUCCUMBS IN ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL

Robert Kidd, aged 62, of Denfield, who was seriously injured in falling from a load of hay on a farm near that village early this week, succumbed to his injuries shortly after midnight this morning.
Yesterday he lapsed into a state of semi-coma, and the end was not unexpected. The body was removed to Denfield this morning for interment.

At the Movies Last Night

"Tilly of Bloomsbury."

So far this season all the English films at the Allen have attracted audiences rather larger than usual.
There's a very definite attraction about seeing Trafalgar Square, even if it should be necessary to sit through a rather mediocre film to do so. "Tilly From Bloomsbury," while it does include spots of faulty work,
is hardly mediocre.

Cockney humor, as such, is savorless when it is transferred to the screen. It is tasteless when it has been stretched out as the sole excuse for the existence of a picture. "Tilly From Bloomsbury" has a definite sort of plot, not extraordinary, but intensely real, and while it has its own brand of humor, together with a spicing of the cockney, it doesn't depend on this entirely to get by.
The picture has not the same clear-cut, artistic photography which the majority of American pictures possess, in spite of the fact that a number of the scenes manage to be beautiful. Apart from its technical faults, however, its virtues lie in the acting of Miss Edna Best and Tom Reynolds, and, at least on this side of the water, the appeal of familiar sights and folks. "Old Kate," a familiar figure on the English racecourse, is played by "Herself," and this was one source of pleasure to a number of English people who still keep in touch with the homeland by means of their weekly illustrated papers.

The picture is based on the stage-play, "Happy-Go-Lucky," by Ian Hay. It does not go to the extreme of contrasting St. James with the slum district, but with something very much more effective, the lodging-house atmosphere of St. Giles.
Edna Best makes a great deal of her opportunities at the rather tragic tea-party, to which she invites her prospective in-laws, with their highly developed propensity for
"swank."

It could be easily seen that all the characters had their niche to fill in the stage presentation. The lodgers seemed a trifle unnecessary in the motion picture, in spite of their bearing on the action. The old

Films in a novel manner inter-polate the vaudeville bill at Loew's.
No one presumes to vouch for originality any longer, but at least the witticisms of a film run off in the second vaudeville feature are new to the local stage. The manner of presentation is quite effective.

Two young ladies who sing fairly well, the second act, in which the films are added to by a number of clever impersonations, and the third act, which gets better as it grows longer, go to make up the bill. In this third act, the lady at first appears to be the
"whole show," so to speak, but it finally develops that in addition to his French atmosphere, her partner carries around a certain amount of fugging skill as well as musical ability. The Scotch feature which concluded their act was decidedly good, and also new to the local stage. His nonchalant manner of handling the instrument with one hand was a hit by itself.

Mimi Palmieri, who is the leading lady in the film feature, is one of the newer stars. She appears to be quite capable of attaining much success. "The Ragged Edge" limits the scope of dramatic effects, but she makes something very nice of the role of Ruth Endicott.

Alfred Lunt, in spite of his previous attempt in "Backbone," doesn't appear as yet to be very much at home in the movies. His first scenes in this second attempt are rather good.
Toward the end, however, he actually makes one long to call his attention to the fact that at the present moment he is engaged in portraying

a very much flesh-and-blood sort of leading man.

As far as the story is concerned, it is an old plot transformed with a Chinese atmosphere, which arouses interest to the extent that one forgets having read the story in several dozen
Not the least entertaining feature is "Aw Come," who bears to the hero the interesting relationship of a "Tong brother from the Temple of Yale."

"Single-Handed."

"Single-Handed," the Universal production showing at the Patricia the last half of this week, starring Hoot Gibson, is an action picture from start to finish, and as Rodney Radcliffe, the village boob, Hoot plays the part exceedingly well, and at that he is minus his customary firearms.
Throughout the picture there is a tendency to change to the comedy side, which drags a trifle as the picture proceeds. However, the final scene ends happily and finds Hoot the hero of the story.

Two Universal productions, featuring Billy Fletcher in "The Champ," and Jack Dougherty in "Lonesome Luck," along with a Mutt and Jeff comedy, make up a well-balanced bill for theatre-goers.

Weakness in Oil Shares Lends

Bethlehem Steel Goes Higher at Opening, But Yields to General Decline.

By STUART P. WEST,
Special To The Advertiser.

Wall Street, New York, July 27.—
Heavy selling was resumed in the Northwestern Railway group as soon as the market opened this morning. It had the immediate effect of discouraging new buying and thereby permitting bear traders to offer prices lower down. Some of the oil stocks were very weak again, notably Marland
and the stocks have been adjusting
themselves in the market.

Good for Dividend.
When stocks like Great Northern, Preferred, Northern Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern were sold, the 70's and 80's it was calculated that the dividends from the present year per cent. This hope has been abandoned,
and the stocks have been adjusting
themselves in the market.

Such efforts as were made to hold Marland Oil up level, at which the dividends from the present year per cent. This hope has been abandoned,
and the stocks have been adjusting
themselves in the market.

Bethlehem Steel went higher at the start, following the declaration of the regular dividend of $1.00 per share, but later yielded with the rest of the market. Two months ago the speculative crowd were giving up the Bethlehem dividend as lost, and were talking about poor earning results. Now the figures as they appear indicate over 9 per cent being earned on the common, or nearly twice dividend requirements.

Encouraged Decline.
The weakness in the Northwestern
Railroads and the oil stocks is encouraging a general resumption of operations for the decline and stocks of the mercantile type like Studebaker, Baldwin, Locomotive and American can yield readily.

Complete Lack of Interest
When Market Leaders Are Absent From List.

Reported for The Advertiser
by Johnston & Ward.

Montreal, July 27.—There was a complete lack of interest in the local market leaders. A great many of the market leaders were absent from the list of transactions, and only a couple of issues exceeded 100 shares. Fluctuations consisted of but small fractions, and were meaningless.

Brompton duplicated yesterday's best price of 46, but only a couple of hand-lots changed hands. All the other issues in the pulp and paper group were neglected.

Canadian Cottons changed hands at 111, a fraction below the previous day's price. Dominion Textile eased off to 65, down 4 from the close.

British Empire Textile second preferred maintained firmness at 20 1/2, and Cement preferred is fractionally better at 19 1/2.

In the public utility department odd lot transactions only were registered, with Bell Telephone at 122 1/2, Canadian Traction at 48, Montreal Power at 120, and Quebec Railway at 20.

A few shares of Breweries sold at 49, 46 up. Smelters were traded in at 25, and Asbestos preferred at 7 1/2.

FINE POSTAL EXHIBIT PROMISED FOR FAIR

Toronto Display Will Be Brought to London and a Demonstration Given.

Striving to make the postal exhibit at the 1923 Western Fair one of the most educational and at the same time interesting features on the grounds, the London officials will attempt to procure for the show some of the postoffice novelties that will be shown at the Toronto exhibition. Postmaster Thomas Duncan pointed out to the Advertiser this morning that if part of the Toronto exhibit could be brought to London, the authorities could give a real demonstration, and as the Toronto exhibition closes on Sept. 8 and the London Fair opens on the same day, he sees no reason why the exhibit could not be put in place by Monday or Tuesday at the latest.
