Former Secretary to Sir Adam Beck Refuses to Answer Questions.

WILL TALK LATER

Claims He Was Not Given Time to Properly Prepare His Case.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Statements by E. C. Settell, former private secretary to Sir Adam Beck of the provincial hydro-electric commission, that he had been brought straight from the jail without any opportunity to prepare his defense and his subsequent refusal to answer any questions put to him on that ground, featured the opening session of the inquiry of Judge Colin Snider of Hamilton into the charges made by Settell in his letter to the hydro chairman after his attempted flight from the country.

The inquiry opened at the parliament buildings this morning. After an hour of fruitless questioning, Settell was released from the stand until he has consulted his counsel.

Settell, who arrived from Hamilton in the custody of detectives at 10:30, was immediately sworn and placed on the stand. W. S. Brewster, counsel appointed to assist Judge Snider, read to him question and answer of the preliminary hearing of the charges which was conducted in Hamilton jail. To all questions answered by him at that time Settell this morning refused to make a direct confirmation or denial of their substance. On every occasion when he was asked whether he had made such a charge or answered such a question he answered: "I don't know; I do not recollect," or "I can't recall."

Pressed for a reason as to his refusal to answer any questions, Settell stated that he was acting on advice of his counsel.

Admits Sending Letter.

After an hour of such examination, with every question being answered in the above form, Settell was taken from the stand and will be given an opportunity to prepare some answers after he has seen the script of the evidence taken in Hamilton jail.

He admitted sending the letters to Sir Adam, and stated it was marked "Private and confidential." Mr. Brewster then attempted to lead the witness over his answers to questions put by Judge Snider in the Hamilton jail.

The first charge taken up was that officials of the hydro commission had taken private contracts during hydro time and that one-half to two-thirds of their time was spent in this way.

Mr. Brewster: "You made that charge?"

Settell: "I would like to make a statement before giving evidence. I think I should be granted that privilege. That at least should be extended to me."

Judge Snider: "You may make a statement later."

Mr. Brewster: "Will you answer that question?"

Settell: "I decline to answer."

Judge Snider: "You know that this court has the power to inflict punishment on you for such refusal."

"That letter was written under the most distressing circumstances," stated Settell. "I was in a most distressing state of mind. I was brought

FRENCH BELIEF IN BALDWIN SHAKY, LONDONER ASSERTS

Archie Screaton, 232 Queen's Avenue, Returns After Four Months in Paris.

NO UNEMPLOYMENT

While in the days before the British election the French people believed the Conservatives would be returned to power, there was some trepidation as to the foreign policy which Stanley Baldwin would pursue, according to Archie Screatop of 232 Queen's avenue, who returned on Saturday night from Paris.

Having spent the last four months in Paris, where he was staying with his son, Fred H. Screaton, Mr. Screaton knows something of the political feelings of the citizens of the capital city.

Ramsay MacDonald, he says, was extremely popular in Paris, and there was a very general regret that he was forced to resign. His policy in Europe had the solid backing of the French in general, and they place their hope of comfort and progress in the fact that Mr. Baldwin will carry on the foreign policy which has been in force for the last seven or eight months.

Continuity Usual.

Mr. Screaton refers to the fact that it has always been Great Britain's declared practice to give continuity to foreign policy, and says that if this happens Europe will make further strides in commercial progress during the reign of the Conservatives.

"As for the Russian trade pact," he says, "there was no enthusiasm for that in France, or at least in Paris. For one thing there was never so much trade between Russia and France that it appeared as vital to them, and, of course, they did not approve of the government guarantee of a loan to a country which had repudiated its debts.

"On the other hand, France herself cannot pay her own war debts, and there is no immediate discussion of her possibility to do so. There is no unemployment there, and the official figures give less than 10,000 unemployed in the whole country. However, that is no criterion of the financial condition of France, and she will have to depend on a foreign loan to stabilize the franc, I believe.

Dawes Plan Only Hope.

"The Dawes plan is accepted now in France, and the people are beginning to recognize that in this lies their only hope. At first, I think, there was some doubt and resentment, but they have come to a more practical outlook lately. As for M. Herriot, he is the most popular man in Paris. He has a very large political following throughout the country. He is a clever, well-read and well-educated man, and the best man just now to be in power. The close touch which was maintained by the British prime minister and the French radical was as popular as it was salutory in effect on the position of the country and of Europe as a whole."

Mr. Screaton describes the weather in Paris for the last four months as cold and wet and far from enjoyable. He crossed on the Berengaria, the ship on which the Prince of Wales returned home, and ran into very dirty weather in mid-Atlantic. He was too seasoned a sailor, however, to be sick, and did his rounds of the shelter decks each day in spite of the northwester.

Face Powders Cause Asthma

Associated Press Despatch.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Many kinds of face powder cause asthma, according to Professor Payser, a Berlin physician, who has a large practice among singers and actors. In a recent contribution to a medical journal he warns stage celebrities that they must be careful about the character of powder and paint they use if they wish to protect their throats, noses and lungs from injury.

CRUISER SEEKS TRACE OF SEA ADVENTURERS

Fate of Americans Who Left Norway For Labrador Unknown.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Nov. 3.—The United States cruiser Trenton will sail today in search of the Lief Ericsson, a 40-foot sloop, with three American adventurers aboard, which is six weeks overdue at Battle Harbor, Labrador. The little vessel left Bergen, Norway, last July, it being the intention of the navigators to bring it to America over the same route that Lief Ericsson followed. William Washburn Nutting and Arthur Hildebrand, writers, and Eric Todahl, a painter, are the men aboard. All three are known to be expert sailors.

It is thought that the craft may be icebound in the drifting floes of the far north Atlantic, and the Trenton will begin its search in that locality.

RADIO PLEAS TO FINISH CAMPAIGN

U. S. Presidential Candidates Confident as Fight Nears End.

BIG VOTE EXPECTED

Preparations Being Made Today To Bring Out All Elections Tomorrow.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Nov. 3.—The election campaign of 1924 is passing through its final hours in a swirl of activity destined to make political history.

For the first time two presidential candidates, President Coolidge and John W. Davis, are preparing to address an election eve message to the same audience—a radio audience that will extend the country over.

Two candidates for the vice-presidency likewise are upsetting precedent by continuing through pre-election Monday their speaking campaigns. Governor Bryan is completing a swing through his home state of Nebraska and Senator Wheeler is winding up his coast-to-coast speech-making tour in Baltimore.

Senator La Follette, having laid his case finally before the people in a Saturday night address at Cleveland, has returned to his home in Madison, Wis., and Charles G. Dawes is awaiting in Evanston the verdict of tomorrow's balloting.

Plan to Get Out Vote.

Managers for all three of the presidential tickets, after making the usual pre-election claim to victory, devoted much of today to perfecting machinery to get out the vote. A fair weather forecast for most of the country fitted in with these preparations and appared to presage a record vote.

Besides making a decision among the three presidential candidates, the voters will choose tomorrow the complete membership of a new house of representatives, thirty-four United States senators, thirty-four governors of states, and a host of local officials.

In several states the local campaign has seen an almost complete obliteration of party lines. The La Follette movement, seeking strength from both of the old parties and helping Democrats in some localities and Republicans in others, has turned topsy-turvy the established order in more than one political community in the west. In other localities the Ku Klux Klan issue has operated with equal force to tear down party alignments and becloud the outcome with uncertainty.

Claims of Parties.

The Republican claim to national victory is based on an assumption that Coolidge and Dawes will sweep both the east and the west and cut into the border land of the solid south.

The Democrats declare that Davis and Bryan will take the border states as well as the south and will nose out a victory by a combination of different states in the east and west.

The major strength of La Follette and Wheeler is conceded to be in the northwest, with Wisconsin as its cornerstone.

BRITISH FAVOR COOLIDGE.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 3.—Long special despatches from New York and Washington are furnishing British newspaper readers with the latest probabilities and possibilities in the American presidential election and are being given front page prominence in all the London morning editions. All dwell upon the uncertainties of the outlook, but most of these favor the chances of Mr. Coolidge. Attention is called to the possible importance of the result in relation to the European outlook. The Westminster Gazette, in this connection, does not expect that any change in the United States international relations will follow, "unless the improbable happens, and La Follette is elected."

This paper adds: "If Mr. Davis is elected he would take a plebiscite on the League of Nations, but the result would almost inevitably be repudiation of the league."

The Daily Express editorially predicts the election of Mr. Coolidge.

BUDDHIST PRIESTS CHARGED WITH ATTACK ON COUPLE

Associated Press Despatch.

Rangoon, Burma, Nov. 3.—Four Buddhist priests and one layman have been placed on trial for the attack perpetrated early last month on Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gleason, American missionaries, who were badly beaten by the natives.

BODY OF CLIFTON WRECK VICTIM IS RECOVERED

Canadian Press Despatch.

Owen Sound, Nov. 3.—A body, supposed to be that of one of the sailors from the wrecked steamer Clifton, was picked up near the dock at Southampton this morning. The body was in a badly decomposed state, was clothed in overalls and had a life-preserver about it. The owners of the Clifton have been notified.

WEBSTER TO SEEK P.U.C. RE-ELECTION

Will Agitate For Better Street Lighting If Named Again to Commission.

R. J. Webster announced to The Advertiser this morning that he would again be a candidate for office as a member of the public utilities commission.

Mr. Webster, who is just completing his first term of two years as a commissioner, will thus be the running mate of T. W. McFarland.

Mr. McFarland, who is completing his sixth term as a commissioner, last week announced his candidature.

Mr. Webster points out that having had two years' experience in connection with the work of the commission he is now in a position to render even better service to the citizens than in the past.

He expressed approval of the commission's business methods in interesting itself only with matters of principle and leaving the details to be worked out by Manager E. V. Buchanan and his staff.

Mr. Webster intimated that he would put forth every endeavor to have the lighting of the streets improved during the coming year, favoring the council increasing the appropriation for this particular purpose by at least $10,000 each year for the next few years. The appropriation could be spent with profit and benefit on a lighting system similar to that being tried out on King street at the present time.

Chairman Jared Vining and Commissioner Philip Pocock, the other two members of the commission, have still a year of their present term to run before they must stand for re-election.

The identity of the fifth member of the commission is always indeterminate to the extent that the mayor is ex-officio a member of the commission. Mayor G. A. Wenige is, thus far, the only man to definitely announce his candidature for the position of London's first citizen.

COURT DISMISSES APPEAL AGAINST SMITH CONVICTION

Counsel For Former Provincial Treasurer Argues on Technicality.

DELAY IS REFUSED

Application of Appeal From Sentence Will Be Made by Peter Smith's Lawyer.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The appeal of Peter Smith from conviction on the charge of conspiring to defraud the province, came before the second divisional court this morning, and was dismissed. The prisoner was not present, as the appeal is only upon a point of law. Chief Justice Latchford presided and with him sat Justices Magee, Middleton, Orde and Smith.

T. H. Lennox, K.C., appeared for Smith, and W. N. Tilley, K.C., with Macgregor Young, K.C., for the crown.

The appeal opened with an effort on the part of Mr. Lennox to secure a hearing at this time of an appeal from the sentence, as well as on objections to the trial judge's charge, and his alleged failure to properly direct the jury. The appellate court ruled that he would require leave to appeal from the sentence. Mr. Lennox then asked for a postponement, so that he might argue the whole case at once. This was refused. Mr. Lennox then proceeded with his argument on the two points open to him, and had to fight his way through his argument, the comments from the bench from time to time not offering him much encouragement.

Following judgment dismissing the appeal, Mr. Lennox stated that he would give notice this afternoon of appeal from the sentence, which was three years imprisonment and joint responsibility with Aemilius Jarvis, Sen., for a $600,000 fine.

FISHERMEN DROWNED IN ATLANTIC STORMS

New York Marine Police Now Searching For Missing Craft.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Nov. 3.—Two fishing boats with nine men aboard were reported missing, and another boat with eleven men aboard was towed into port today, as an aftermath to the high wind which swept the waters off New York yesterday and last night.

Three men are known to have been drowned and two boats were sunk during the height of the storm. The boat rescued was found helpless off College Point, Long Island, by marine police in a patrol launch. All available police boats are being used in searching for missing craft.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS HERE TOTAL $500,000 IN OCTOBER

Nearly a half million dollars has changed hands during the past month in property transfers in London, and an increasingly brisk realty market is reported. During October there were 167 transfers of property, chiefly dwelling houses of a fairly high value. Total value given for property transferred was $473,759, a figure much above the total for September.

Labor Ministry To Resign Tomorrow, Is Expectation

MacDonald Likely To Call On King Tomorrow To Announce Resignation.

CABINET PROSPECTS

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 3.—The expectation in well-informed quarters is that the Labor government will resign tomorrow, and that the king, in accordance with custom, will call upon Stanley Baldwin, as leader of the victorious Conservative party, to form a new ministry.

Mr. Baldwin will probably progress rapidly enough in the allotment of posts to enable him to announce his chief appointments before the end of the week, and to confirm custom by attending the lord mayor's banquet on Saturday as premier, with his leading colleagues.

The political writers are indulging in their favorite amusement of appointing the cabinet, but all their assignments are speculative. It is noteworthy, however, that virtually all agree that Lord Curzon will not head the foreign office again.

The Daily Express says strong influences are working to secure the inclusion in the ministry of either Lady Astor or the Duchess of Atholl, following the precedent set by the Laborites in naming Miss Margaret Bondfield as parliamentary secretary of labor.

One of Mr. Baldwin's chief difficulties in arranging the cabinet, according to the political writers, arises from the fact that there are more capable candidates for office than posts to give them. On the other hand, it is contended that his big majority enables him to disregard the claims of cliques within the party, and to please himself about his selection.

DUCHESS OF ATHOLL

prominent British politician, who is slated for a post in the Baldwin cabinet. She is expected to succeed Miss Margaret Bondfield as minister of health.

FRANK BARNED,

Londoner wanted for the murder of Smylie Muirhead of Niagara Falls, who has been captured at New Orleans. A wire to The Advertiser from Superintendent Molony of the New Orleans police last night stated that Barned had confessed to the crime. See story on page 14.

BARNED CLAIMS KILLING ACCIDENT

Londoner Denies He Planned Murder—Blames Death on Muirhead.

DESCRIBES DEATH

By ALLEN DOWLING.
Special to The Advertiser.

New Orleans, Nov. 3.—The crippled Canadian held in parish prison here in connection with the death at Niagara Falls, Sept. 27, of Smirlie Muirhead is ready to go back and prove his innocence, he said, in an interview with an Advertiser representative today.

"It is true the car I was driving killed Muirhead, who was with my wife and his own at the time," said Barned, "but the killing was accidental. I had nothing against Muirhead, in fact, just met him the night before. It is true I was estranged from my wife because of another man, but Muirhead was not the man. I agreed to go back without fighting extradition because I am innocent, and will prove it."

In Good Health.

Barned was turned up by a man in New Orleans with whom he has been associating. Barned said Monday he did not know why this man had informed on him. Barned is 26, and despite his badly-crippled condition, appears in good health, and is nice looking. He said he has been married four years, his wife being about 25. He said they were estranged because of another man, but the night before the accident had made up, he said. He was to meet his wife in town. "I was in the automobile alone," said Barned. "It had been giving trouble when I saw my wife and Muirhead and his wife, I drove close to the curb in order to hand my wife a note when the car became unmanageable. I shouted a warning, and my wife and Mrs. Muirhead sprang to one side. Muirhead, however, jumped directly in front of the car and was knocked down.

"Lost My Head."

"I lost my head and drove away. After a while I became calm and turned back to surrender. When I neared the police precinct I thought better of that resolution, and decided to leave. I abandoned the car and got on a train. I soon afterwards came to New Orleans. If it had not been that I was turned up I probably would not have been captured. I just learned after my arrest of Muirhead's death. I did not know what happened to either he or my wife, who was struck a glancing blow by the fender of the car."

Barned said his wife was living at the Muirhead residence, and that he had met Muirhead the night before. Barned said he had been out with his wife until 11 o'clock, and had agreed to meet her in town. To complete the reconciliation, he said, she had agreed to forego the other man, and that relations between Barned and his wife were amicable.

MAYOR SAYS HE WANTS LAW OBEYED

Wenige Calls For Further Explanation to Charges of Rev. John Agnew.

PASTOR IS FIRM

O. T. A. Plebiscite Stand of Chief Magistrate Again in Limelight.

Mayor Wenige is in trouble again. This time it is over a statement reporting him as censuring local police for a recent liquor seizure on the ground that enforcement of the law was a matter for provincial police.

Rev. John Agnew of Ridout Street Methodist church, in his Sunday night sermon, criticized Mr. Wenige severely for the laxity of this attitude, and his worship now denies that he ever made such statement, and that he is for enforcement of the O. T. A. by city police. Mr. Wenige is emphatic in his protest; Mr. Agnew is equally firm in stating that he has nothing to retract.

"The chief of police will tell you that my stand has been just the very opposite," declared Mr. Wenige to The Advertiser. "I am for the enforcement of existing laws all the time and for all possible co-operation in the enforcement. My record in that regard is a whole lot better than that of my critics."

Asked Explanation.

At his breakfast table the mayor read of Mr. Agnew's sermon at Ridout Street Methodist church. He called Mr. Agnew by telephone and requested an explanation. Speaking to a reporter later, the clergyman said that he had nothing to retract from his statements. He had based his talk on a newspaper interview. The mayor had not denied that interview at the time.

Rev. Mr. Agnew said he had nothing further to add to his remarks last night. He wanted to see co-operation in the enforcement of the act. If the mayor had declared himself as against civic police being used to carry out the act, then the mayor was not co-operating.

Mayor Wenige calls for a retraction from Rev. Mr. Agnew, and states that if such is not forthcoming in 48 hours he will regard the clergyman's remarks as without foundation and incorrect.

Stumbling Block.

The O. T. A. has been a stumbling block for Mayor Wenige ever since the plebiscite was first rumored, and the uncertainty of his expressed opinion has probably contributed to his present trouble.

Moderation league advertisements during the campaign announced Mayor Wenige as a member of the Moderation league committee. Mr. Wenige promptly had his name removed from the list, but it appeared again in the league's business stationery and other advertisements without protest.

Mr. Wenige told The Advertiser that he intended voting against the temperance act, but at the same time publicly expressed himself, at a meeting of the Victoria school mothers' club as thoroughly in agreement with prohibition arguments advanced by Mrs. Alex. Calder in her address.

The mayor has evidently wished to please both sides, and his hesitation in making clear his position has brought difficulties. The man who sits on the fence is a target for both sides.

Dislikes Stand.

License Inspector Walter Bolton, in commenting on the sermon of Rev. John Agnew in reference to the enforcement of the O. T. A. in London, stated this morning that he had investigated absolutely every case brought to his attention since his appointment two years ago.

"Mr. Agnew's insinuations were not very nice," declared the inspector. "I talked to him over the telephone this morning, and was told that he had not seen the press reports of his sermon.

"Mr. Agnew has never been in my office, nor has he ever given me any information, by letter or otherwise, of O. T. A. infractions that he knew about. I would be pleased to have any details tthat he may have regarding infractions of the law."

A prominent county official in commenting on the sermon declared that the small majority for government control in the recent plebiscite would show that the O. T. A. was better enforced in London than almost any other Ontario city.

GERMAN GENERAL TAKEN ON FRENCH TERRITORY

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, Nov. 3.—General von Malthausius, condemned by default some time ago by a French court-martial at Lille on a charge of stealing furniture during the German occupation, has been arrested at Forbach, says a Strasbourg despatch to the Petit Parisien.

The paper says it is believed this is the only case in which one of the thousands of German officers condemned by default for offences during the occupation has been caught on French territory. The general, who was a colonel in the quartermaster corps at the time of the alleged offence, went to Forbach to visit the grave of a relative.

FRANCE RAVAGED BY HUGE FLOODS

Thousands Thrown Out of Work When Rivers Flood Big Factories.

CRISIS NEARS.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, Nov. 3.—Swollen by the incessant rains of the last week, coming on top of the dampest summer and fall in many years, the rivers of Northern France are rising with unprecedented rapidity, threatening widespread destruction.

The Seine has risen over six feet in the last two days, likewise its tributaries. The Marne is already overflowing at Epernay, Vitry-le-Francois and Chalons; the Saone is rising two inches hourly, and the Doubs even faster. In the Argonne, the Meuse has turned miles of country into a lake, and the region of Epinal is under water. The road between Epinal and Nancy is cut near Charmes, where a number of factories are submerged.

A combination of flood and gale has ravaged 7,000 acres in the Somme valley, flooding more than a hundred cottages on the seashore near St. Valery. A similar situation threatens Boulogne and the region of Hazebrouck is one vast lake.

RIVER MEUSE RISES.

Associated Press Despatch.

Liege, Belgium, Nov. 3.—The river Meuse is rising rapidly, and all the low-lying sections are flooded.

THOUSANDS OUT OF WORK.

Associated Press Despatch.

Charleroi, Belgium, Nov. 3.—Nearly the whole of this region is under water, and immense damage is reported. The big Hainault metal plant at Couillet is flooded, as well as the Marcinelle electric plant, throwing thousands of employees out of work.

The authorities are organizing boat services to convey food to flood victims. It is expected the gas plant will be put out of commission at any moment, plunging the city into darkness.

SEINE OVERFLOWS.

Associated Press Despatch.

Brussels, Nov. 3.—The river Seine is out of its banks south of this city and thousands of acres are under water.

Doctors Oppose Issuing Scripts

Special to The Advertiser.

It is intimated that the medical men dislike the job of issuing scripts, and may ask the Ontario medical association to formulate a scheme which would relieve doctors of the responsibility.

GUY LOMBARDO HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Severely Cut and Bruised When Dragged Fifty Feet by Car.

Guy Lombardo, 153 Horton street, an employee of R. J. Young & Company, was severely cut and bruised after being struck down and dragged fifty feet by an automobile driven by Vicars Fisher, 99 Ridout street, on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Lombardo was hit by the motor car while crossing the corner of Richmond and Bathurst streets. At the time it was thought he was seriously injured, but medical examination by Dr. W. J. Tillman revealed that no bones were broken.

His condition was reported to be slightly improved on Sunday.

FISHERMEN ARE CALLED GOD'S CHOSEN DISCIPLES

Saying that the church of God had been criticized by great men of past ages but still remained, Rev. J. R. Bythell of Christ church, Port Stanley, delivered an inspiring address to members of the men's club of Christ church last night.

"Jesus appointed fishermen to spread the gospel in the early Biblical days and this request still applies to the fishermen of today," continued the rector.

"For this reason, I honor and respect a fisherman above all other men, believing with my whole heart that he is a chosen disciple of God."

Mr. Bythell gave other instances in part where Jesus had appointed fishermen to spread his word.

An encouraging number of men attended the special service, marching to church in a body.

MINISTER DELIVERS PLEA FOR SUPERANNUATION FUND

Rev. R. J. D. Simpson, D.D., Toronto, was a visitor at London Methodist churches yesterday. At Askin street church in the morning he made a strong plea for the Methodist clergy's superannuation fund. He pointed out that the ministers were not permitted to take up any other work, and they derived income from no other source. They went through long periods of schooling, and had to go to whatever church the conference assigned them, regardless of the stipend which that church might pay. In the evening Rev. Dr. Simpson was the speaker at Dundas Center church.

"Y" MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN ADDS 438 NAMES TO ROLL

The results of the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign held recently show that 438 new and renewed memberships were brought in. The total amount of money received was $2,263 according to the report submitted by William Benson, auditor.

E. J. Jenkins, general secretary, says that the campaign was justified on the basis of its results as a social feature alone; that as soon as the new members get into the spirit of the "Y" game they will come to understand the association and what it means.

There may be no need to have your lenses changed, but it certainly would be advisable to have your eyes examined and find out for sure. If your glasses do not seem as good as they did a few weeks ago, call and let Mr. F. Steele give them a thorough examination free of charge.

ANNIVERSARY IS WELL ATTENDED

Rev. W. E. Wilson, Toronto, Is Special Preacher at Wellington Street Church.

Rev. W. E. Wilson of the King street mission, Toronto, was the special preacher at the morning and evening services in Wellington street Methodist church yesterday, when the anniversary of the commencement of the Sunday school was observed.

Using apples, grapes and other fall fruit as illustrations for his talk to young people, Rev. Mr. Wilson spoke of the fruit of the spirit being the result of good or bad seed having been sown. Services were exceptionally well attended. Church decorations were beautifully appropriate, having been carried out by members of Mrs. Joseph Holliday's class.

Extensive musical programs were given at both church services, as well as at the session of the Sunday school in the afternoon. James Cresswell conducted the 40-piece orchestra and fine music was given. Mr. Creswell has been director of the church at Wellington street for 25 years, and has the enviable record of not having missed a Sunday except through illness.

Rev. H. J. Uren, president of the London Methodist conference, was the special speaker at the great rally of members of the Sunday school in the afternoon.

Special collections yielded $1,305 for the church fund. The objective had been placed at $1,200. Part of this will go to pay interest on the church mortgage, part will be used for current expenses, and the remainder is to be used as a nucleus for a fund to redecorate the church during the coming year.

At the close of the evening service a special musical program was given at the request of Rev. Mr. Wilson, Gounod's "Sanctus" and Ketelbey's "In a Monastery Garden" were heard.

CHRISTIANS HAVE SEEN GREATEST APOSTASY

G. J. Glover Gives Splendid Address on "Civilization Doomed."

The greatest apostasy the Christian faith has ever known has taken place in the last ten years, according to G. J. Glover, who spoke on "Civilization Doomed" at Hyman hall last night.

It was claimed that there is imminent a cataclysm that will completely rout the present world social structure, which is falsely named civilization, and that the time of stress which this will occasion is coincident with that described by the prophet Daniel and also Jesus, who said that unless those days were shortened no flesh would be saved.

"The intimation plainly is that some will be saved, passing through that crucial period, and becoming loyal subjects of Christ, the new King who took to himself his great power in 1914 and began his reign by subjection of earth's kings," said the speaker.

True religion is based upon true principles, he continued. It will succeed the downfall of the present so-called civilization in the near future. Satan has been the god of this world or social arrangement, which is fast disappearing. God's kingdom will take its place. It will bring the people the blessings of life, liberty and happiness instead of the present political corruption, financial oppression and misrepresentation of God's word of truth by organized clergy. Love will then be the motive of all. It will replace selfishness, concluded the speaker.

GEN. KING AGAIN HEADS BADMINTON PLAYERS

London Garrison Club Elects Officers For the Ensuing Year.

Brig.-Gen. King was re-elected president of the London Garrison Badminton club at the first meeting of the playing season, held at the armories on Saturday afternoon.

Hon. C. S. Hyman was re-elected honorary president, with Major Hume Cronyn vice-president. Capt. V. Hodson was again elected to the position of secretary.

Capt. C. Chambers, J. D. K. Black and Fred Betts were elected members of the committee.

The tea committee for the year will include Mrs. E. Williams, Miss M. Myott and Miss Gussie Wilson.

It was decided by members of the club that the annual fee should be raised from $5 to $7, and the entrance fee set at $5. This was done in view of the fact that three new courts have recently been installed at considerable expense to the club.

Nine courts were in operation on Saturday afternoon, about fifty members of the club being present.

Membership in the club will be slightly increased this year because of the additional playing courts at the armories. Seven names have been already nominated.

LARGE FLOCKS OF GEESE PASS OVER PORT STANLEY

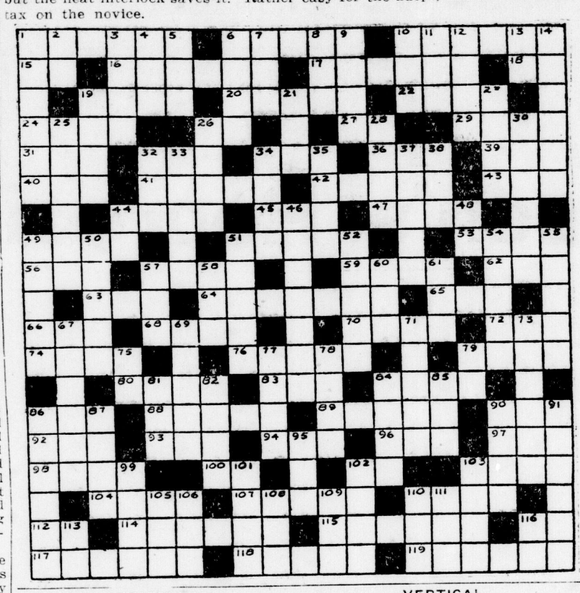

With colder weather prevalent all over Ontario, hunters in the district of Port Stanley yesterday say that large flocks of wild geese were seen heading south and flying quite low.

As it was late when the flock was seen it is possible that these were the geese the people in London saw at 11:30 last night. Although no swans were heard or seen the honking of the geese could be heard at a long distance.

According to reports Jack Miner's ducks and geese have started to migrate from the Kingsville farm to the southern United States.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE NO. 17

Loosely woven, the warp and weft of this one are not drawn too tightly together. If the puzzle has a fault, it is in the abundance of black squares, but the neat interlock saves it. Rather easy for the adept, and not an undue tax on the novice.

BERTRAM R. BROOKER PURCHASES MARKETING

Former Business Manager Secures Control of Business.

Bertram R. Brooker, who joined Marketing in 1921 as business manager, has returned to the paper after an absence of a year as promotion manager of a Toronto paper. He has purchased the interest of W. A. Lydiatt in the business of Marketing Publishers, Limited, becoming president of the company and assuming ownership of the publication with the next issue.

During his previous three years' connection with Marketing Mr. Brooker built up a wide connection among advertising men and publishers in Canada. More recently he has become even more widely known through articles he has written for this paper, for Printers' Ink, and other advertising journals in the United States.

Mr. Brooker came to Canada from England in 1905 and was connected for some years with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, then building in the west. His newspaper career began in Winnipeg, where he was connected at various times with the editorial and advertising staffs of the three dailies then published in that city. He enlisted with the Canadian Engineers in 1916, and following his discharge became advertising manager of the Regina Leader. An invitation to return to Winnipeg came from the Free Press, for which paper he acted as promotion manager for three years, immediately prior to his coming east to join Marketing.

Her only ornament was a necklace of pearls, a gift of the groom. The young couple left by motor for London, Niagara, Toronto and points east. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Gibb will reside on the groom's farm, 12th concession, Moore.

SEVERAL INJURED IN KLAN FIGHTING

Clash at Niles With Knights of Flaming Circle Claims Victims.

Associated Press Despatch.

Niles, Ohio, Nov. 2.—An investigation into yesterday's rioting between the K. K. K. and Knights of the Flaming Circle, an anti-Klan organization in which 13 persons were wounded, two probably fatally, was started today by the military intelligence corps.

No disturbance having been reported since late last night, the gradual withdrawal of the 145th infantry, Ohio National Guard, under command of Major-General Benson W. Hough, ordered out by Governor Dohaney when trouble started yesterday, began late today.

The list of wounded was increased to 13 when sentinels came across the body of Owen Skully, 63, of Niles, early today. On being revived, Skully said he had been assaulted by three men. He was taken to Warren hospital suffering from lacerations and a fractured hip.

About 20 men were rounded up by the militia today most of them on charges of intoxication.

More than 600 troops were on duty this morning, and others arrived during the day as parts of the various units of the 145th Infantry ordered out by Governor Donahey.

Major-General Benson W. Hough of the Ohio National Guard, arrived early today and took charge, relieving Col. L. S. Conelly.

BOB LIDDLE TO BE HONORED BY MEMBERS OF LONDON 'Y'

An official tribute and farewell will be made Bob Liddle, former industrial secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here, on Wednesday evening at 6:30 at the "Get acquainted dinner" to be held at the association building.

The directors of the St. Thomas staff will be present at the dinner.

MIDDLEMISS RESIDENT BADLY HURT IN CAR CRASH

Graham McDonald of Middlemiss was brought to Victoria hospital this morning suffering from a compound fracture of the jaw and a fractured skull which he received in a motor accident Sunday night.

Mr. McDonald was motoring with his wife and another person when his car ditched. He was thrown from the motor and hurled against a telegraph post.

At Victoria hospital this morning his condition was reported to be critical, although not as serious as first anticipated. An X-ray was taken in an effort to find the extent of his injuries.

BASKETBALL PLANS.

In order to prevent basketball stars from getting on one team and killing the interest in the game for the lesser lights, a system of hit and miss basketball will be played at the Y. M. C. A. The contest will be so arranged as to give the amateur as good a chance as his more practiced opponent.

MANY BICYCLES STOLEN IN LONDON RECENTLY

Bicycle thieving in London has become quite prevalent within the past few weeks, according to the police.

Last night, William Brackston, 748 Emery street, reported that his wheel, a Red Bird, had been stolen from the market. The bicycle bore serial No. 5514.

As many as a dozen bicycles have been stolen from downtown sections of the city in a very short time, police state. Several thefts of wheels have been reported from the market square.

Police are keeping a vigilant lookout for the bicycle thieves and are making a vigorous effort to stop repetition of this type of theft.

INDOOR GOLF AT "Y"

An indoor golf course will be part of the "Y" program this winter, if 125 persons desire to practice putting during the coming months. At a recent meeting of the directors it was decided to install the indoor golf nets for practice driving, provided there is sufficient demand to justify the action.

MATCH IGNITES GASOLINE WHEN OWNER TRIES LOOK

William Roe, 100 Dreaney avenue, was severely burned about his arms last night by a fire which destroyed his auto. He was taken to Byron sanatorium. The blaze is said to have started when Mr. Roe, with the aid of a lighted match, attempted to see how much gasoline was in the container of his machine.

OVERSEAS IMPRESSIONS TOLD TO BROTHERHOOD

At its annual meeting, the brotherhood of King Street Presbyterian church heard two fine addresses on overseas subjects by Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D.D., and George England.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh spoke on "A Trip Overseas," while Mr. England chose as his subject "Overseas Impressions."

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Frank McKay; vice-presidents, Hugh MacKenzie, W. S. Mitchener; secretary, George Brewster; treasurer, John Colbert; executive, Robert Briggs, Harry White, Kenneth MacIntyre.

LAUNCH DESTROYED.

Fire, which is thought to have started in the engine, completely destroyed the gasoline launch owned by one of the fishermen at Port Stanley yesterday.

The boat was tied to the dock when flames were seen by people, who at once notified the fire department.

By the time the hose was laid, the launch was nearly destroyed. It is not known whether insurance covered the loss.

Hidden Treasures

A Memory of the Past, Yet a Custom of the Present.

In every romantic soul, and others not so romantic, there lies a spark waiting to be fanned by the breeze of "Treasure Island" with its immortal Long John Silver or the skipper's tale of "Davey Jones' Locker," the keeper of the ocean's lore.

Then, the mirage has faded and we realize the hardships, the lives lost, the fortunes forever locked in the bowels of the earth—and the key thrown away. The slip of paper, the poorly drafted map describing the chest near the three palms on a remote island in the south seas, these are reflections that make us realize that the custom of hiding treasure is with us still.

The bureau drawer, the office desk, the poorly constructed safe, even the mattress holds its hidden wealth—hidden yet not safe.

The aggregate of our present day concealed riches, in Canada alone, makes the buried gold of far off days pale into insignificance.

And, too, the treasure of those days had but to contend with theft. Now we have theft, fire, dependents, life, pleasure and comfort.

The London and Western Trust Co. is the keeper, in a vault—in reality a sunken island—of important documents, bonds, jewelry, etc., for hundreds of far-sighted clients, each receiving individual steel boxes with private key. It safeguards fortunes by mechanically perfect electrical controls and walls of steel and concrete. No stealthy intruder, no matter what his methods, nor a dishonest employee could enter without a battery of artillery and without waking the city of London with insistent alarms.

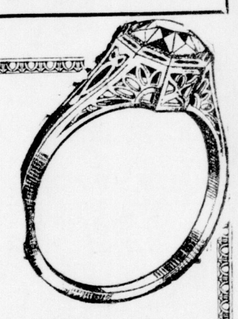

May we show you the strength and intricacies of this island vault which protects your life's work at but a negligible sum per year?

NEW SUBSTATION PLANS PROGRESS

P. U. C. Drafting Department Preparing Specifications For Carling Street Buildings.

Plans and specifications are being prepared in the drafting department of the public utilities commission for the new sub-station to be erected on Carling street.

The plans will be submitted to the commission at its regular meeting next Thursday, when, it is expected, instructions will be given Manager E. V. Buchanan to proceed almost immediately with the construction work.

The plans as prepared call for a two-story building, 20 feet by 60 feet, the full size of the property retained by the commission for the site of the station. It is understood that the new station will be built of brick with stone facings, lintel and coping, etc.

The new sub-station will be known as sub-station No. 4, taking the number of an old station on King street, near Ashland avenue, which was abandoned some time ago. With the completion of the new station the commission will have in operation 11 sub-stations in all.

It is understood that the intention of the commission is to erect a substantial station of a permanent as well as up-to-date type, so that the needs of the district may be fully taken care of.

The new station will serve the downtown district. The boundaries of this district roughly are: Wellington street on the east, the river Thames on the west, King street on the south, and Pall Mall street on the north.

The need for sub-stations throughout the city arises through the necessity of "stepping down" the hydro power as it comes into the city. The power is transmitted over wires from Niagara Falls 110,000 volts strong. It is first stepped down at the hydro-electric power commission station from 110,000 volts to 13,000 volts. It is further stepped down by means of transformers in the sub-stations operated by the local commission from 13,000 volts to 2,200 volts. Street transformers perform the final step down from 2,200 volts to 110 volts, the strength of the electric current which enters the homes of the people.

It is expected that the commission will construct the new sub-station itself, such a policy having been followd in the case of all the other sub-stations, with the exception of that at the corner of Kitchener and Cabell streets.

AGED WOMAN'S FIGHT FOR SUPPORT ENDS

Chief of Police Birrell Seeks Home For Mrs. Lenina Baxter.

Fifty-five years old, broken and aged, but struggling to keep up a front, and tired from futile attempts at search for work, Mrs. Lenina Baxter presented a pathetic figure in police court this morning, where she appeared as a vagrant.

Mrs. Baxter was arrested yesterday after she had been ordered out of her boarding house because she was behind in her rent.

She told Magistrate Graydon her story. She had been working and struggling for a long time, but her health had failed her.

Chief Birrell, who has known Mrs. Baxter for thirty years, told Magistrate Graydon that the police station was no place for her. She was a respectable but unfortunate woman, who was unable to work, and she should be confined to the aged people's home.

Mrs. Baxter was remanded until provision could be made for her. Chief Birrell will communicate with the mayor in an effort to find her a home.

CHELSEA GREEN TO TALK CLOSING OF TERRACE ST.

A meeting of the ratepayers of Chelsea Green will be held at Chelsea Green school on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. City Engineer Near, Ald. John Greer, chairman of the board of works, and Mayor Wenige will likely be speakers.

The closing of part of Terrace street and the opening of Edna street will be discussed for the benefit of interested citizens of the district. Mr. Near said today that an agreement had been sanctioned by the Richards-Wilcox firm regarding the closing of part of Terrace street, but this street would not be closed until Edna street was opened fully.

NINE FIRES OVER WEEK-END KEEP COMPANIES BUSY

Response to nine fires over the week-end, all of a minor nature, constitutes almost a record for the local fire department. Five calls from different sections of the city were received by the fire department on Saturday. Three were answered on Sunday, and a small fire at 1 Renwick avenue was extinguished this morning.

The total loss, according to Chief Aitken, would not amount to more than $50 or $100.

Chief Aitken stated today that with the commencement of colder weather, a greater number of small chimney and stove fires can be expected.

"MONDAY CLUB" MEETS.

The regular monthly meeting of "The Monday Club," embracing the Presbyterian ministers of the city, will be held this evening at the home of Rev. (Col.) William Beattie, Central avenue, pastor of First Presbyterian church, and president of the club.

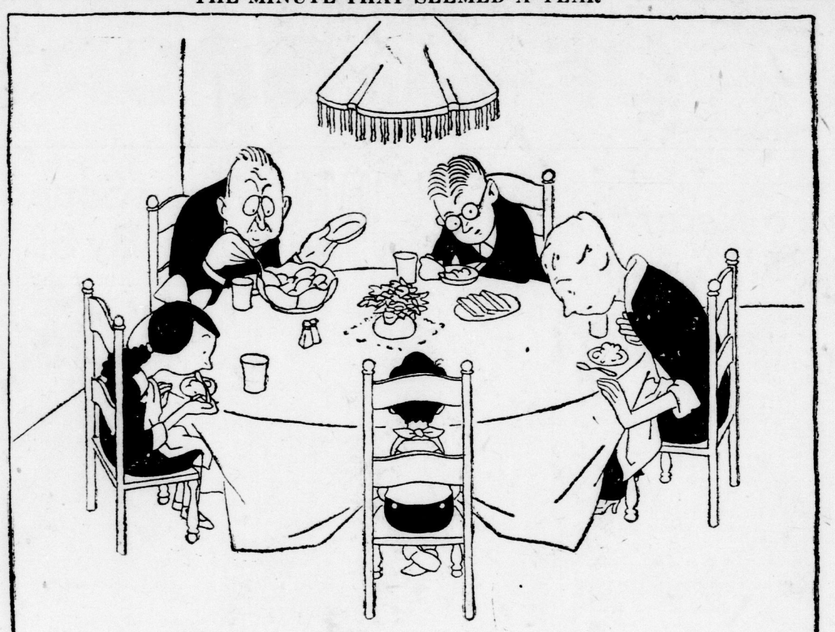

The meeting will be in the nature of a social evening, Dr. Beattie and Mrs. Beattie being hosts to the members of the club and their wives as well.

It is expected that the officers for the ensuing year will be chosen at the meeting.

ST. JOHN'S MOTHERS' UNIT.

The members of St. John's mothers' unit will hold their regular meeting tomorrow evening in the schoolhouse, when an election of officers will be held.

THE MINUTE THAT SEEMED A YEAR

ANTIQUE PAVEMENT CLAMORS FOR REPAIRS

New Road Possible Next Year on York Between Richmond and Ridout.

London's oldest pavement, that antique stretch of psuedo cobble-stones on York street, between Richmond and Ridout streets, will be repaired once again this year before the civic works department completes its paving operations of the year. It will be the third installment of repairs made this year.

The stretch of pavement was laid before 1906, and the paving company's contract has long since expired. It is a pavement without concrete base, made pretty much of tar, sand and stone. The tarry content lost its life some time ago, and the pavement has become dry and brittle. Holes appear in the surface with remarkable rapidity, and no sooner are the holes repaired than new ones break out all around the repaired area.

Such a disease can only be remedied by an entirely new asphaltic pavement, and such is reported to be on the program for 1925.

PRIVACY WILL MARK TALK ON EDUCATIONAL SURVEY

The survey committee of the board of education, with Trustee A. R. Cairncross as chairman, will tomorrow hold a private meeting with Dr. Horace L. Brittain, head of the bureau of municipal research, Toronto, to consider the reports of the institution concerning the board's administration of the educational affairs of the city.

In conversation with the Advertiser this morning Trustee Cairncross stated that the meeting would be strictly of a private nature, closed to the press and officials of the board; in fact, to all but the members of the specially appointed survey committee.

Trustee Cairncross stated that having considered the report and conferred with Dr. Brittain concerning it, the committee would make its report to the board of education at its regular monthly meeting next Thursday.

CANADA RESUMES DIRECT POST SERVICE WITH ITALY

A direct parcel post service with Italy is to be resumed on Wednesday with the sailing of the Valfiorita from Montreal. For some time past the service has been via England and France. The direct service means a lower cost, but the sailings are not as frequent as to insure the parcels arriving in Italy as quickly as by England.

The choice of routing is left to the sender, says an announcement made by the postal department today. The regulations will be the same as for those which cover parcels sent through England. That is, they will be subject to the usual rules covering packing, customs declarations and prohibited articles.

VISIT AYLMER.

Adjt. Spooner, together with Mrs. Spooner and Lieut. Dickson of the Salvation Army headquarters, Clarence street, visited Aylmer corps at the week-end services at that point. The St. Thomas cadets were also present under the leadership of Corp Cadet Voisey.

City Churches

ST. PAUL'S RANGERS.

St. Paul's company of Rangers, the first to be organized under girl guide direction in London, will, it is expected, appear for the first time in full uniform at the bazaar being given in Cronyn hall this week. The girls are in charge of the flower stall under the convenership of their captain, Miss Beth Pennington, and their lieutenant, Miss Margaret Harley-Brown. They have also made a very fascinating array of gifts in addition to the flowers which they will have for sale, maple leaf Christmas cards to send overseas, and packages of seeds which should appeal to the home gardener. The uniforms, which it is hoped will be ready this week, consist of navy blue overalls, ranger hats and red ties, and the company is made up of girl guides over 16 years of age.

CLASS ELECTS.

The following officers were elected recently at a very pleasant social evening held at the home of Miss Mildred Keenleyside, William street: President, Miss Freida Cunningham; secretary, Miss Lenore Webber; treasurer, Miss Erma Fritz; social conveners, Miss Mildred Keenleyside and Miss Edna Purdy. These girls are the members of Mrs. John Garbutt's class of the Dundas Centre Methodist Sunday school. The evening was spent in games, after which dainty refreshments were served.

BENEFIT TEA.

Mrs. Alexander Innes, Dufferin avenue, will be a tea hostess on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, when she is lending her home for this occasion in aid of the ladies' aid of the B. of R. T. bazaar, which is to be held on Nov. 18.

ST. JAMES' ANGLICAN.

The fifty-first anniversary of St. James' Anglican church will be celebrated on Sunday, Nov. 16. The special preacher on this occasion will be the Rev. J. D. MacKenzie-Naughton, D.D., of Owen Sound. The choir of the church is arranging special music.

FIRST FIRESIDE MEETING OF "Y" HELD ON SUNDAY

The first fireside meeting of the winter series was held at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, when twenty members gathered in the cosy reading-room of the association building for Bible study.

E. J. Jenkins, general secretary of the Y., spoke of the men of Bible days. He took for his subject "Terah," the father of Abraham, and dwelt on some of the phases of his life which prevented him from becoming famous.

Ed J. Penny presided. Miss Pritchett contributed some fine vocal selections, accompanied by A. F. Penny at the piano.

OFFICIAL RESIGNS.

Following 38 years' service as postmaster at Sarnia, John P. Dawson, postmaster, has been retired. G. B. Dawson, a brother, who has held the position of assistant postmaster, will be acting postmaster, pending the regular appointment.

POSTMASTER RESIGNS.

H. E. Fowler, postmaster of No. 4 sub-postoffice at 1004 Dundas street, has resigned. The position will be advertised as open and a new appointment will be made at an early date.

CHARGE OF MEETING.

Commandant and Mrs. Hurd of the Salvation Army had charge of the Salvation Army meeting at Clarence street citadel last night. The officers spoke on "The Marks of Sin." There was an enthusiastic meeting, during which three converts were received.

THOUSANDS OF WILD GEESE AND SWANS PASS OVER CITY

Forced out of the north country by cold weather and snow, thousands of wild swans and some wild geese late last night passed over London on their way to warmer climes in the south. As early as 11:30 o'clock the migrating birds were heard honking their way over the city, and were seen in the overhead glare of lights, and an hour later the sound of stragglers had not yet died away.

Dazed by the lights of the business section of the city some of the white and dun-colored birds were seen flying quite low and they were easily recognized.

Citizens abroad late last night stopped on the streets to gaze about for a glimpse of the huge flocks. To the uninitiated they were but geese but W. E. Saunders, well-known ornithologist, saw the birds and expressed the opinion that they were swan, rarely seen in this part of the country, as they fly over by night.

Swans have at times been known to visit the Jack Miner farm at Kingsville during the migrating season. Hundreds of these birds flying steadily for long hours, cover great distances.

BALDWIN FIRM RENTS M'CLARY PROPERTY

Steel Business Owned by New British Premier To Open Montreal Branch.

Part of the McClary Manufacturing Company's plant in Montreal has been let to the Baldwin Iron and Steel Company of England, stated John M. Gunn, assistant general manager of the plant in London, this morning.

This is the English firm owned and controlled by the man who will in a few days be the next prime minister of Great Britain. It is one of the largest iron and steel firms in the world. Before the war this company had a plant in Toronto which, however, was closed as not being as suitably located as was desired. This Montreal plant of the McClary company, part of which has been rented, will enable them to carry on their Canadian business in a more satisfactory and efficient manner.

Galvanized steel sheets are the product which the English firm will supply from their new headquarters, and a direct supply to their Canadian customers will insure a saving as well as keping in touch with trade on this side of the ocean.

MONEY REACHES CITY TO PAY FOR PLEBISCITE

W. C. Fitzgerald Establishes Record in Quick Manner of Clearing Up Work.

With the arrival of the checks for payment of poll booth owners, poll clerks and deputies at his office, District Returning Officer W. C. Fitzgerald has established a record.

In most cases it is a matter of three or four weeks before these checks come in following an election. It is a matter of getting all the office work in connection with the elections cleared up and out of the way and calls for efficient office management.

In this case Mr. Fitzgerald is ahead of the men who are entitled to the checks. Up to noon today only 23 out of 270 poll booth owners, poll clerks and deputies had called for their remuneration. However, he expects the stream to be larger tomorrow. As the 79 owners of booths get $8 each, the poll clerks $6 and the 90 deputies $10, the full amount of the checks comes to about $2,072.

ALAS, THE FAMILY PUP IS GAINING IN DISFAVOR

According to W. P. Near, city engineer, dogs are the worst enemies of newly-laid concrete pavement. Exploding the belief that mischievous boys are presistent "vandals" in the destruction of smooth paving surfaces, Mr. Near today declared that playful dogs often got onto a stretch of concrete pavement and meandered all over it before they got away. However, little trouble is being caused on city pavements as the asphalt type cools quickly and walking over the surface a few hours after it has been laid will not damage it.

MUST HOLD UP LETTER TO CARRY OUT ADDRESS

On the desk of Mayor Wenige at the city hall this morning lay a heavy manilla paper envelope. It bore an English stamp and the postmark "Harrowgate."

It was addressed to "Mr. G. A. Wenige, City Hall, London, Ontario, Canada."

And at one side was the bracketed title "Ex-Mayor."

"Not to be opened until Christmas," chirped one wag who saw the innocent humor of the form of address.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Building permits issued at the city hall today included the following: $60 garage, 524 Dufferin; E. H. GOODHEW IS GIVEN SHORT JAIL TERM

Found Guilty of Serious Offence Against Young Girl.

Albert Goodhew, aged 35, was found guilty this morning by County Judge J. C. Judd of an offence against a girl under 14 years of age, and was sentenced to six months in the common jail.

Goodhew, who has been earning a living by selling goods from door to door, was not placed in the witness box by his counsel, E. W. Scatcherd, but insisted that he was not guilty.

Mrs. Goodhew, wife of the prisoner, sat impassively during the trial, which lasted two hours, and when asked to come forward by the court broke down completely. She stated she had been married seven years and had two children, one 3 years old and the other 2 months. Mrs. Goodhew stated her husband had never been in trouble before and had served overseas with a battalion from North Bay.

When Mrs. Goodhew resumed her place among the spectators, the grandmother of the girl who had been injured by the prisoner, walked over to Mrs. Goodhew and put comforting arms around the weeping woman.

The star witness for the crown, the girl of 13, who it was stated in court, was not bright mentally, smiled around the court room as his honor delivered sentence.

Mrs. Goodhew stood below the judge's bench, and smiling through her tears thanked the court for imposing the light sentence. Goodhew, who had been standing with perspiration on his brow, mopped his face and smiled at Mr. Scatcherd.

Mr. Scatcherd maintained that the girl was 16, and declared that the entry in the family Bible of the girl's birth was written in two different inks.

"You can see more than I can," commented the court, after perusing the date. His honor went over the evidence carefully, and declared that he could do nothing else than find the prisoner guilty. He might sentence Goodhew to prison for life and impose a whipping, but that the representations by Mrs. Goodhew had influenced him to some extent in imposing a light sentence.

California Health Authorities Fight to Check Outbreak in Mexican Colony.

21 ARE DEAD

Associated Press Despatch.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—State and federal health authorities today were moving to the aid of Los Angeles in its fight to block the spread of pneumonic plague, which at last reports had claimed 21 victims in the city's Mexican quarter. Ten cases under treatment at the General hospital were said to be critical.

Dr. W. H. Kellogg, state health department expert, surveyed the situation yesterday and announced that though there was no doubt about the nature of the malady or its seriousness, the prospects for bringing it under control were good.

Of the seven who died yesterday, two were men who had died in performance of duty. One, Father M. Brualla, a priest at the historic old plaza church, went about the infected area administering extreme unction to the dying. The other, Emmet McLauthin, was an ambulance driver.

Squads of policemen guard the Mexican quarter day and night. Food and other necessaries are sent through the cordon under strict supervision. The mortality rate of the disease, which is allied to the bubonic plague, approaches 100 per cent.

Ground squirrels probably brought the disease to Los Angeles and communicated it to rats, which, in turn, probably transmitted it to the first human victim through the intermediary agency of a flea, Dr. Kellogg said in discussing the history of the plague in the United States.

The outbreak, according to Dr. Kellogg, is an indirect heritage from the Oakland plague of 1919.

It was Oakland where thirteen cases, all fatal, were reported, that the pneumonic form of plague first made its appearance in the United States, the doctor explained. Heretofore there had been cases of bubonic plague, an allied malady, which reached San Francisco from the Orient in 1900, and years later appeared in New Orleans and Galveston.

The bubonic plague, though stamped out among the humans in San Francisco, was communicated to ground squirrels, probably through rats from the city, and since then it has been, to a certain extent, prevalent among ground squirrels in several counties in California.

BOARD'S INSINUATION RESENTED BY WENIGE

Declares That He Is Vitally Interested in Adequate Collegiate Accommodation.

Mayor G. A. Wenige resents the insinuation made by members of the board of education that he is not interested in the question of adequate collegiate institute accommodation.

The mayor declares that he is interested, but that he still adheres to the policy he previously expressed to the effect that if additional collegiate accommodation is necessary that additional accommodation should be provided by the doubling, or trebling if necessary, of the accommodation at the Central collegiate institute.

"Do you admit that additional collegiate accommodation is needed," the mayor was asked.

"I am admitting that the board ought to know whether or not they need additional accommodation," replied the mayor. "That is their part of the question, but I have a right to my opinion as a citizen and as mayor of the city as to how and where that accommodation should be provided.

"I am with the board of education," continued his worship. "I think the council should issue the debentures of $10,500 asked by the board for the equipment of Empress avenue school. I think it would be good business to issue these debentures this year."

COLD WEATHER FAILS TO HALT PAVING JOBS

Civic Works Department Has Year's Program Nearly Completed.

Cold weather yesterday and today has had little effect on operations of the civic works department. Paving operations and laying of concrete sidewalks was going on today without delay, though the program for the year is just about complete.

"We had a new moon Saturday, but it was a good new moon," one Irish foreman remarked jocularly. "Autumn weather of this year has helped the works department program wonderfully.

Paving between the street car tracks on Richmond street, for two blocks south of the C. N. R. tracks, was completed on Friday night, and was in use Saturday. Wellington street has been opened. About a week's work remains on sidewalk laying in Riverview Heights. PEOPLE INVITE THEFTS, CLAIMED

Cecil Ptolemy, 23, Pleads Guilty to Stealing Four Auto Tires.

Cecil Ptolemy, 23 years old, arrested for stealing four auto tires and tubes from the Ontario Garage last night, gave warning in police court this morning that articles should not be left in a place where any passerby is confronted with the temptation of theft.

The temptation of the four auto tires, valued at $50, placed in a conspicuous place near the street, proved too great for Ptolemy. He snatched thef up, and, hanging them about his arms and shoulders, proceeded down the street.

Ptolemy had not gone far, however, before Police Constable Pope perceived him laboring with his heavy burden. He brought the man to police station.

Claiming to have been a resident of the city for a long time and a respectable citizen, Ptolemy convinced the police that they had unjustly apprehended him. He was allowed to go, but this morning he was again taken into custody by Detective Elmer Walsh, who caught the man as he was about to board a train at the C. N. R. station.

"The Ontario Garage left their tires in a very bad place," Ptolemy told Magistrate Graydon in explaining the reason for the deed. "It would be a strong temptation for any passerby."

After pleading guilty to the charge Ptolemy elected summary trial by Magistrate Graydon. He claimed to have come to London from his home in Hamilton.

Upon Chief of Police Robert Birrell's advice, Magistrate Graydon remanded Ptolemy to jail for one week. Meanwhile Hamilton police will be notified and the man's past record will be investigated.

Despite Western Victory Over Varsity Grid Crew St. Michael's Wins Group

London Collegians Run Away From Opponents in Closing Contest.

THREE TOUCHDOWNS

FINAL STANDING.

	Won	Lost	For	Agst
St. Mikes	5	1	52	22
Western	4	2	62	26
Varsity	3	3	47	61
O. A. C.	0	6	19	75

Western defeated Varsity 23—10 in the final game of the intercollegiate group at Tecumseh Park Saturday afternoon, but as St. Mikes trampled the luckless and down-trodden Aggies still further in the mire of the season of defeats, the win of the Purple and White merely served to wipe out a loss at the hands of their Toronto rivals and to emphasize for the records that the locals should now be wearing the laurel instead of slightly disappointed looks.

A tops'l gale that blew the length of the field from the south swirled down and kicked up dirt storms on the field, and swept the sawdust yard lines away in spots, made the game loose at times, and almost entirely a booting affair. Somebody had to fumble some time, and there were breaks. Winning rugby is creating breaks—and when they happen, taking advantage of them—and Western lost but few opportunities to profit. Three touchdowns, all the results of the vagaries of the gale testify to Western's quickness in seizing opportunities when they came, and with Howell's daily drop kick, provided plenty of thrills for the crowd. Creighton kicked two beautiful drops in succession in the beginning of the fourth period, and put the final polish on a brilliant afternoon's performance, which stood out in the enemy camp.

Western's first touchdown just before the first half closed, brought forth one of the most unselfish bits of football ever seen on a local field, and in Coach Kickley's opinion, as good a combination of quick thinking and unselfishness as has ever been seen in any Canadian football field. Warren had returned a kick to Varsity territory on the first down and as the ball just bounded off Simpson's outstretched fingers, Calder rushed in and made a quick recovery and dashed for the line. Looking back, he saw that the two Varsity tackles were overhauling him, and also that Dutch Simpson, a speedier man than himself was in position for a pass. He tossed the ball over and the quarter-back galloped over the line for a try. Johnson converted for another point.

Johns, tearing madly up the field two-thirds of the way through the third-quarter, scooped up a momentary fumble by seconds and ran 20 yards, and as the pack of tacklers closed in on him, passed to Rose who toted the oveal for a touchdown

The last try came near the last of the fourth quarter, and at a time when Varsity was not only breaking the Western line, but working continually in dangerous territory, even against the handicap of the wind. The game had become a kicking duel again temporarily, and Warren had gained midfield, from where he unloosed a kick, the ball bounding badly, off a Varsity half into touch on the Blue and White six-yard line.

Western plunged four yards on the first down but was held inches from the line on the next. Dutch Simpson submarined through a tangle of arms and legs on a centre buck for the last point of the game.

Western had no marked superiority on the line, but showed better tackling. The local halves had far surer hands than the Varsity backs, and Warren, even against the wind, held his own against the Varsity booting.

The London halves handled the difficult spirals and bad bounders with but an odd slip here and there, but fortunately always a quick recovery. Several times in the final quarter Western seemed to have little left but the wind at their backs, but what plunging there had been was fairly strenuous, and Western may have been easing off.

First Quarter.

Varsity won the toss and elected to play with the wind, Western kicking off into the teeth of the gale.

Varsity kicked out on the first down at the Western 45, and after a gain of a buck and a corresponding loss on an end run, Warren booted to Follis, who fumbled, Parkes recovering and Varsity being forced to rouge. Western 1, Varsity 0. On the second down, Varsity kicked a low bounding ball, which was fumbled successively until a Varsity man pounced on it at midfield, from where Parkes booted on the first down a long punt which the wind carried over the deadline for a quick point. Varsity made their first ground gain with a plunge around the left, after a period of kicking, but an end run was thrown back for a loss of five yards. Varsity kicked to Johnson, who was forced to rouge. Western 1, Varsity 2. Warren was trying to kick the ball out of the danger area, but Varsity laced a deluge of boots at the London backs, who caught accurately. London made the first yards just nearing quarter time on bucks by Russell and Johns, and Warren, to end it raced up and gathered in a loose ball that bounced off Follis.

Second Quarter.

A penalty of yards and giving Western possession was given Varsity for offside. Western on kicks held Parkes on Varsity five-yard, where Varsity was held on bucks. Johnson caught a punt and passed to Maxwell on the Varsity 45. Warren booted a long spiral to the dead line for the tying point. Parkes kicked after two plunges failed. Warren fumbling and recovering. Western kicked to Varsity 30-yard. On the first down Follis went through center for 15 yards. Varsity kicked and on a return Creighton ran back Warren's punt 10 yards. Varsity lost possession for a forward pass. On the first down Simpson gained 6 yards on a fake buck, and on the second Howell drop-kicked from the 30-yard line. Western 5, Varsity 2.

A succession of first down punts, saw Warren finally drop a bounding ball which caromed off a Varsity back out of touch on the 15-yard line. Western was held on a buck and lost possession and a splendid scoring chance when the ball was forward passed on an end run around the Varsity right.

Warren returned the Varsity kick into touch at the 35 and Parkes kicked to Warren, who fumbled, Varsity recovering at midfield. Howell pulled down an end run. Varsity kicked to Warren, and the Western booter returned it on the first down, Calder grabbing the ball after it skimmed the second knuckle of Simpson's index finger, racing toward the line and then passing to Simpson who carried it over for a try. Johnson converted.

Third Quarter.

Varsity booted off to Western's 30-yard line. Warren went through left on a fake play on second down for yards. Johns carried it over 5 yards. Warren booted and on an offside marched down 15 yards. Warren kicked onside on the third down and Varsity lost possession for interference, no ground being involved, as the ball bounded back to the point whence Warren booted it. Johns went around the left for six yards. Warren booted in touch at Varsity's 40. After two end runs Warren booted to own 45-yard. Parkes kicked to Johnson on first down, the London half being carried over the line, for a safety touch. Western 11, Varsity 4.

A fake buck gained Western yards on second down. Two kicks left Western in possession at same spot. Warren kicked, and the ball was knocked out of Parkes' hands, Western dribbling it into touch at Varsity's 20 yards. Warren was forced to kick and Parkes was rouged. Western 12, Varsity 3.

Varsity kicked to Maxwell on the first down on Western's 40-yard. Warren kicked on second down, and Johns recovering a fumble ran 20 yards, and as Varsity tackles closed in, passed to Charlie Rose who negotiated the rest of the distance for a try. Western 17, Varsity 3.

Creighton kicked off, Maxwell running it out to Western's 20-yard. Warren booted in touch at midfield. On the first down Varsity's kick was blocked, and Creighton recovering, ran 35 yards, Warren earthing him. Simpson grabbed Varsity's onside kick on his own 10-yard line. Western was forced to kick to midfield at quarter time, Follis being tacked high.

Fourth Quarter.

Follis bucked through for yards on two downs. Creighton drop-kicked successfully from 30 yards. Western 17, Varsity 6.

Two plunges made yards to Western's 30-yard line. Varsity gained yards again on three bucks. Creighton drop-kicked from 30 yards. Western 17, Varsity 9.

Robinson carried the kick back to midfield. Warren feinted a return of Varsity boot and carried the ball into touch at 33-yard line. Warren booted and though a Western man dashed for the touch line as Creighton lost the ball, the play was called back. Varsity kicked to Maxwell Creighton ran out a bounding ball to 15-yard line. Varsity booted to midfield. Warren kicked on first down, the ball bounding off Follis into touch at 3-yard line The first buck made 4 yards, but the next plunge was hold two yards from line. Simpson submarined underneath the pile of humanity for touch. Western 22 Varsity 9. Maxwell converted. Western 23, Varsity 9.

Johnson return Creighton's kick to Varsity's 45, but Western was penalized 10 yards for offside and another kick given. Warren kicked to Follis, who carried it back 15 yards.

ST. MIKES 4, O.A.C. 0.

Special to The Advertiser.

Guelph, Nov. 2.—St. Michael's college football squad cinched their leadership in the inter-collegiate intermediate group here Saturday, when they triumphed, 4—0, over the O. A. C. twelve in a listless game. Despite the absence of a number of regulars, who were on the injured list, the Aggies put up a good scrap in an effort to break into the win column for once this season, but the Irishmen proved a little too much for them, and the Agriculturists never looked very dangerous at any period. As the Aggies were forced to use a number of substitutes in the final struggle it was predicted that St. Mikes would have an easy victory, but such was not the case. Going into the game minus their flashy centre half "Nig" Lebel, who recently joined the Varsity seniors the Toronto collegians failed to display the same pep that has been characteristic of their play all season, and on this account the game provided few thrills. All four points scored by the victors were made on kicks to the deadline by Lowrey, whose brilliant booting was one of the features. St. Mikes notched one point in each of the first and second quarters, but were held scoreless in the third period, when the Aggies put up their strongest showing.

The Irishmen outplayed O.A.C. in the final session, however and added two two points despite the fact that they were battling against a stiff wind. For St. Mikes, Lowrey, O'Brien, Bart and Kennedy were outstanding, while Roxborough, Conboy and Thompson were the best for the Aggies.

The teams:

St. Mikes—Quarter, Kennedy; halves, Clouthier, O'Brien, Lowrey; flying wing, McKeon; snap, Watson; insides, Callaghan, O'Donnell; middles, Donohue, Dore; outsides, Bart, Thompson; spares Vahey, Flahiff, Garvey, Calligan, Mallon, Irvine and McGarry.

O. A. C.—Quarter, Cox; halves Roxborough, Thompson, Donalds; flying wing, Conboy; snap, Fisher; insides, Schenck, Bamford; middles, Wharry, McDiarmid; outsides, Clark, Wright; spares, McKeon and Reynolds.

Referee—Davis, Toronto. Umpire—Broderick, Toronto.

GALT TEAM PUTS DUNDAS CREW OUT

Norman's Touchdown in Last Quarter Puts Home Crew Ahead.

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, Nov. 2.—Dundas was eliminated from the intermediate O. R. F. U. serie Saturday, when the locals handed them a real surprise package, trouncing them 11 to 9. The Tiger seconds' group honors were thus made sure.

On the play Galt should have won by a larger margin. The Valley Town's lone try was a pure gift. The Galt team excelled in bucking, the Dundas line failing to hold them, but the offsides proved costly. In one of the quickest bits of work seen on a local field, Galt scored a try after exactly one and one-quarter minutes' play. Tinning misjudged Kress' kick-off which went into touch 20 yards out. Dundas, through an offside on the first down, brought the ball to their 10-yard line. On the second down, with a nice bit of backline faking, a hole was made for Syke Bell, who went over without any trouble.

Before the period ended Moss booted for a rouge. There was no score in the second quarter. At the start of the third, Dundas got a break on the kick-off. Kress misjudged the ball, but recovered behind the line and tried to run it out, but was tackled and dropped the ball, Wright falling on it. It was not converted. Later Moss put Dundas further in front with a pretty dropkick.

The locals forced the play in the final stanza. Kress kicked for a rouge and a couple minutes later on a blocked kick, Galt got possession 10 yards off the Dundas line. On the first down, Gaskin plunged for eight yards, and on the second, Tiny Norman went over for the winning touch. Kress was again the bright star for Galt, with Goldie and Gaskin also doing good work.

The teams:

Dundas—Flying wing Wright; halves, Parks, Moss, Tinning; quarter, Watts; snap, Hall; insides, Durant, Hammond; middles, Shields, Pearson; outsides, Johnson, Jutten; subs, Lightfoot, Hourigan, Springstead, Kenny, Lewis, Cox, Myles, C. Hill.

Galt—Flying wing, Gaskin; halves, Dakin, Kress Parker; quarter, S. Bell; snap, Martin; insides, Wilford, Newlands; middles, T. Norman, Shuttleworth; outsides, Goldie, D. Bell; subs, Scott, Hull, Hoffman, Crump, J. Norman, Priest and Gossage

Referee—Baillie, Toronto.
Umpire—Dibble, Toronto.

Hamilton R. C.	0	3	31	44

Canadian Press Despatch.

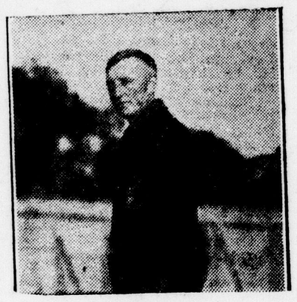

Hamilton Nov. 1.—Varsity seconds, led by Trimble, Plaxton and McVicar, defeated Hamilton rowing club seniors here this afternoon 13 to 8. A terrific wind blowing straight down the field gave Varsity the advantage in the first and third quarters, while the locals were tops when it was behind them.

The blue and white, however, played too hard for a touchdown to beat them even in the final frame, and wasted too many opportunities to kick for single points. Both back divisions, together with Cuzner, D. Scott and Chaffe provided the features. The game was bitterly contested.

WALTHOUR, HORAN WINS.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Bobby Walthour and Jimmy Horan, of Newark, N.J. won the six-day bicycle race at the Coliseum, which ended at 11 o'clock last night after 146 hours of riding.

Coach Fickley To Return For 1925 Football Season

COACH FICKLEY.

Western's football team disbanded after Saturday's game of the season—all but Coach Charlie Fickley, who signed on as coach for another year. He leaves the city today, but will be back early in September of next year to muster the 1925 championship hopes together and improve on the machine he constructed this year.

What was done by Western is first of all a tribute to Fickley as a coach. The material was not outstanding to begin with, but Fickley built a real rugby machine out of what he had, and the team's record proves just how good a builder the former Hamilton Tiger is.

The Western team individually would be the first to admit Fickley's work and worth.

In return for his work, the Western team gave their coach the utmost in loyalty, enthusiasm and fighting spirit.

WATCH WESTERN!

This season has marked a new era as concerns Western University in rugby. Western has had good teams in the past, and to forget them entirely would be unfair, but no team has aroused the spirit of the university nor the interest of the city and Western Ontario as this year's machine has done. There is no telling how far this year's accomplishments will carry Western in the realm of Canadian football. Next year Western will have its own stadium, another step to football greatness.

Western Ontario, in H. B. Rutherford's election to the office of first vice-president of the Ontario branch A.A.U. of C., for the first time is represented in the deliberations of the body governing amateur sport in the province. Rutherford as secretary of the garrison A. A. two years ago, had much to do in the initial success of that venture. The recognition of Western Ontario seemed a bit tardy, but that's all in the past now.

SOUNDS LIKE 'NO THANKS!"

Miss Bobby Rosenfeldt of the Y. W. H. A. team and outstanding all around girl athlete of Toronto, interviewed regarding a story from here which intimated that Toronto girls' teams were going to join the proposed International Ladies' Basketball League, indicated that there was little chance of her team going in, or for that matter, any of the Toronto teams.

"We prefer to go into the L.O.B.A.," stated Miss Rosenfeldt, "and if the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association will give us a square deal, that it what we are determined to do."

There would be, she stated, great local difficulties in the way of international basketball.

"Toronto is a good basketball town, but there are so many teams here that the keen interest is divided, and it would be hard to find enough supporters and followers of any one local team to make the staging of an international game possible financially. The expenses of bringing a whole team from Ohio would be very great. I doubt if they could be borne.

"And anyway, we would rather be with the L.O.B.A."

"The idea of the International Association originated, I think, after the Shamrock-Toronto ladies' difference in the playoff last season," Miss Rosenfeldt continued. "The Londoners were aggravated by the association's stand, and it is my view that to show their independence, and perhaps to do as much harm to the L.O.B.A. as possible, they got in touch with the Ohio bunch.

"At any rate, they are the people who approached us—the London Shamrocks, I mean."

ELGINS ELIMINATE WALLACEBURG KIDS

St. Thomas Juniors Prove Too Strong For Glass Town Lads.

Special to The Advertiser.

Wallaceburg, Nov. 2.—On Saturday the Wallaceburg junior O. R. F. U. squad was eliminated by the much heavier Elgin regiment aggregation of St. Thomas by a score of 16 to 7. In the first quarter Wallaceburg scored a rouge, following a kick by McDougall, and Burgess got over with a touch, which was not converted. St. Thomas replied with two touchdowns by Watkinson and Dawdy.

In the second quarter each side added a rouge, and the third frame saw Skelding score the final try of the game for the visitors. No scoring was done in the last period. Neither side relaxed its energies until the final whistle blew, but the Glass Town boys found it practically impossible to penetrate the solid line of their opponents.

In spite of their big advantage in weight, the Elgins well deserved the win, and showed a superior brand of football in every department. For the locals, Carrigan stood out as best, and Barclay chickled faultlessly. McLean was carefully watched throughout, and was unable to get away. McDougall also played a good game. For the visitors Dawdy was outstanding.

The teams:

Wallaceburg—Snap, Campbell; insides, Shepley, Barclay; middles, Shaw, Burgess; quarter, Carrigan; outsides, Hurley, Jones; halves, McDougall, Shaw, McLean; flying wing, Murdock; subs, Pitts, Fry Phoenix, Clarke, Doolittle.

Elgin regiment—Snap, Johnson, insides, Fyle, Pook; Middles, Johnson, Shingler; quarter, Westrope; outsides, Scott, Skelding; halves, Searle, Martin, Dawdy; flying wing, Rupp; subs, Jewell, McDonald Bluff, Ellis and Westrope.

MITCHELL ELEVEN TO ENTER FINALS

Defeats Woodstock College 4--1 in Deciding Match of Series.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Nov. 2.—Mitchell high school soccer eleven defeated Woodstock college 4—1 in the return semi-final here Saturday, and as the score in the previous game resulted in a draw, the Mitchellites advance into the cup finals against Listowel, winners of their group in the northern section.

A strong wind interfered greatly with the play, and with this in their favor in their first frame the visitors counted three times, while the locals were held scoreless. Sawyer notched the first tally on a pass from Brown about the middle of the frame, and a short time later McClocklin sent the ball past James from a scramble in front of the Woodstock goal. Referee Gibbs of Mitchell called a penalty on Fisher with two minutes to go in this period, for charging within the goal area, and Merryfield, who took the shot, made no mistake. Gibbs' decision seemed somewhat drastic as the offence was questionable.

Woodstock had many golden opportunities of scoring in the second frame, when they had the play decidedly in their favor, but most of these were missed on account of poor shooting. Cohen tallied for the college on a corner kick from Montes, but the Northerners came back, McClocklin scoring a nice shot from a throw-in.

The losers were decidedly off their regular form, and they had every bit as much of the play as did the Mitchell team, but the breaks were against them.

Mitchell has a well-balanced team, and can be expected to give the Maple Town lads a good contest in the finals.

The teams:

Mitchell—Goal, Jenner; backs, Harmer and Herbert; half-backs, Ronnenberg, McNaughton, Meyers; forwards, Merryfield, Brown, Stoneman Sawyer and McClocklin.

Woodstock college—Goal, Janes; backs, Fisher and Johnson; half-backs, Smith, Henry and Tarr; forwards, Linton, Cohen, Montes Lane and Walthous.

Referee—J. Gibbs of Mitchell.

Kingston, Nov. 2.—Displaying the old fighting spirit which carried them through to the dominion championship for the past two years, Queen's Saturday defeated McGill at the Richardson stadium by the score of 16 to 4 in one of the best rugby battles of the year.

The game was a decided reversal of form from last week, when Queens were not very impressive against the Montrealers. Led by "Pep" Leadley and Harry Batstone, Queens tore right into McGill from the start, and, but for two lucky breaks, were much superior. Badstone never played a better game for the tri-color. He caught and ran in faultless style, and even though subjected to a terrific gruelling, he was in the game every minute, and was really one of the brightest stars in the field. Leadley and McKelvey were also largely responsible for the Queens win.

Two City Sextets Practice Tonight

Seniors Will Take To Ice at 7 o'Clock.

Tonight at the Arena the two local hockey clubs work out for the first time this season. To be enabled to do so at such an early date should give the London representatives a decided advantage in the matter of early training over their rivals who are not so fortunate.

Goldie Prodger, manager of the Arena, is more than satisfied with the manner in which the freezing operations have gone along, and late last night announced that an exceptionally fast sheet of ice would be ready for the initial work out.

All prospects for the senior team are urged to be on hand early, so as to be ready to hop over the boards at 7 o'clock. Any aspirants who feel they have the ability to travel in fast company are requested to search their equipment for an old sweater and report with their skates in order to give the officials an opportunity of sizing them up. Hockey of such calibre is an innovation to Londoners, and it is the earnest wish of the hockey committee to give every man a chance to prove his worth.

As soon as the seniors have tired themselves out, the juniors will take the ice and work some of the kinks out of their muscles. Prospects are exceedingly bright for a good junior entry, and there are a number lads of high-class around town who are coming out to demonstrate that they have the goods The junior city league last year was the means of developing some good talent and it wouldn't be surprising to see some of its stars graduate to faster company this season. The committee especially urges every boy in town who feels he can make the grade turn up with his skates, stick and sweater, and be prepared to undergo a stiff course of training and instruction.

Monday and Tuesday's work-outs will be open to the public, and by the end of the week the management hopes to have both squads cut to reasonable proportions and in shape to get right down to business.

As soon as the local and some outside clubs are in good shape, some exhibition games will be booked to give local fans an opportunity of sizing up the hockey prospects of the coming season. Something definitie along this line will likely be forthcoming in the near future

CALGARY'S "EMMA GEES" BEAT ALBERTA VARSITY

Canadian Press Despatch.

Calgary Nov. 2.—University of Alberta, fighting gamely, although weakening toward the finish, went stubbornly down to defeat by the score of 13 to 1 by the fast-stepping Calgary 50th Machine gun squad in the final rugby game of the season here Saturday.

As Calgary won the previous game in Edmonton 8 to 0, they demonstrated beyond any doubt that they are worthy of entering the finals of the Western Canada rugby union against the winner of Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Owen Sound C.I. Swamped By St. Thomas Students

SOCCER KICK-OFFS

By LINESMAN

The Leafs annexed the Brisco charity cup after a well-contested game, and thoroughly deserved their win, having by far the better of the game, especially toward the end.

President Morgan presented the cup to the Leafs and congratulated them on their success. Dave Smith suitably replied.

Forrester and Stark were the Leafs' best forwards, the latter playing the ball unselfishly, and also scoring a good goal. Smith at center half played a nice game, and Hutchings at back also played well.

The teams selected by the council for Thanksgiving Day are good ones, the defence on both sides being excellent, but the Scots appear to have the edge in the forward line, and it will be interesting to see "Bumps" Wright perform against their sharpshooters.

The English forwards, who include the Davey brothers, are a bustling bunch and with Gilbert Dicks at center will keep the Scots' defence busy.

A meeting of the council will be held Thursday at 7:30, when final arrangements for the big game will be completed.

The Brisco cup final was a financial success, but the international game should easily eclipse anything so far this season, weather permitting.

Burgess' absence was felt by the railroaders, but Astles and Whitelaw both played well, while Hazelwood and Thompson were the pick of the forwards.

The international tilt is the main topic in soccer circles now and the Sackville street grounds should be taxed to capacity on Thanksgiving Day. The kick-off is at 2:45 p.m.

Yet another of the Leafs' players is leaving the city. This time it is Andy Forrester, who has decided to return to Scotland. Without a doubt he is a clever player, and his place on the team will be hard to fill. This is too bad with the Leafs in the grasp of provincial honors.

Forrester's place in the Scottish team will be filled by Johnny Whitelow of the railroaders, who is first reserve.

Winners Secure Eight Touchdowns in Semi-Final Wossa Game.

SCORE 46 TO 1

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Nov. 2.—A series of eight touchdowns, a drop kick and three converts notched up a decisive 46—1 victory for the S. T. C. I. in their first game of the W.O.S.S.A. semi-finals against Owen Sound C. I. here Saturday.

There wasn't a person in the park who didn't give the visitors credit for being good sports, and for playing a good game, and with this year's experience they should have a real organization for 1925.

Vaughan is improving on his converting, securing three counters from eight touches. He is undoubtedly one of the outstanding rugby players to wear the blue and white. Quarter Baldwin handled the plays well, as is shown in the fact that seven different players were credited with eight touchdowns, Baldwin himself carrying the ball through twice.

Duimage was outstanding on the visitors' team. He tackled surely though a little awkwardly at times. McQueen is a rare kicker, doing his punting with his left foot. Keeling, Duncan and Cuningham filled many breaches, and did good work in breaking up the locals' plays.

The first period opened with Keeling placing the ball in play near midfield. Baldwin called out Medcalfe, Green and Turner from the line and put them through for yards. Then the back division made a distinct gain with an end run, Baldwin scoring. McQueen kicked the ball well behind the S. T. C. I. goal, but the rest of the line failed to follow up, allowing the locals to return it to midfield. The ball was carried by sheer weight to the Owen Sound goal, where a fumble by Davey allowed McQueen to return it. However, Baldwin decided that Davey should contribute to its return and Jackson carried the ball across for the touchdown.

In the second period Owen Sound allowed the S. T. C. I. to run up three more touchdowns

After the half-time intermission, the visitors returned more to form, and largely through the efforts of Keeling and Dulmage, held the locals to another six points, Vaughan securing his first convert.

The last period started out with Sterling's drop kick. Moore scored with an on-side kick. McQueen secured his kick to the dead line, and Turner made a touch after breaking McQueen's punt.

The teams:

S. T. C. I.—Snap, Hind; insides, Coffey, Turner; middles, Green, Medcalfe; ends, Horton, Moore; quarter, Baldwin; halves, Jackson, Vaughan, Davey; flying wing, Knight; subs, Sterling, Balkwell, Stanbury.

Owen Sound—Snap, McQueen; insides, Briddlebro, Douglas; middles, Davidson, Goldsmith; ends, Black, Cunningham; quarter, Dulmage; halves, Keeling, Duncan, Strain; flying wing, Robb; subs, G. Geggitt, S. Leggitt, Edmonstone, Erbach, Cruper.

LISTOWEL ATHLETES ANNEX TWO TITLES

Win Senior and Junior Championships at Meet in Stratford.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford Nov. 2.—With competitors from Mitchell, Listowel and Stratford, the first annual Perth county track and field meet was held at the Agricultural park here yesterday. The high wind made it impossible to set up any new records, but there was keen rivalry among the 20 athletes competing. The junior and senior championships both went to Listowel, St. Clair Davidson winning the former against P. Pigeon of Stratford. J. B. Binning won the senior honors with ease. F. Neilson of Stratford took the intermediate championship, taking all first prizes. W. Soeder of Mitchell was second.

Silver cups, emblematic of county honors will be awarded to the winners of the intermediate and senior championships and a shield for the junior championship. The senior cup will become the property of anyone winning it three times, not necessarily consecutive. The junior intermediate cup becomes the property of anyone winning them twice in succession. The meet was staged under the direction of J. H. McQueen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A.

The winners are as follows:

Junior—75-yard dash, St. Clair Davidson; running high jump, St. Clair Davidson. shot put, P. Pigeon; pole vault, P. Pigeon; 440-yard run, St. Clair Davidson.

Brisco Cup Won By Maple Leafs

C. N. R. Defeated 3--1 in Deciding Match For Trophy.

The final of the Brisco cup between the Leafs and Railroaders was played before a record crowd on Saturday, and a well-contested game deservedly went to the Leafs, by 3—1.

The Railroaders, minus Burgess, their consistent full-back, put up a good game. The Railroaders won the toss, and at once made their tracks for the Leafs' goal, but Hutchings cleared in good style, and the Leafs took up the attack. Midfield play ensued, but the Railroaders came away and Darroch centered the ball. Hazelwood rushed through after Loch had partly saved. The Railroaders were certainly playing well, but it was soon evident that the Leafs were out to equalize and their efforts were rewarded, Stark scoring with a nice shot. With both teams evened up, the Leafs applied pressure and Askew, in clearing had the misfortune to put the ball through his own goal, giving the Leafs the lead.

The second half was well-contested, but the Leafs' combination was superior. Several corners being awarded them. During an attack by the Leafs, Whitelow handled the ball in the penalty area, and Forrester, taking the place kick, increased the Leafs' lead with an easy shot, which the goalie should have saved. The Leafs were now outplaying their opponents, but were unable to score again.

The teams:

Leafs—Lock, D. Stark, Hutchings, D Smith, D. Smith, Cunningham, Forrester, Dicks, A Stark, Holt and Taylor.

C. N. R.—Wheatley, Askew Knight, Ince, Whitelow, Astles, Macfarlane, Hazelwood, Thompson, Darroch, Bearchill.

Tigers Meet First Loss of Season In Queen City

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—A mean and belated Halloween trick was played on the Hamilton Tigers at Varsity stadium Saturday. This famous aggregation came to Toronto to enjoy a pleasant week-end, bearing an unblemished escutcheon in which four victories were prominently displayed in black on a yellow background, and the small space reserved for defeats was without disfiguration. The Tigers and their supporters were enthusiastically confident that there would be the brief details of another victory inserted underneath the other four, but a gang of local youths whose identity can be easily determined by the fact that they wore light and dark blue sweaters, took the proud banner of the Hamilton visitors and besmirched it in a manner which will mar it forever. Just what will be done to the vandals is not known, but it is likely that the Tigers will try to erase the blot next Saturday in a manner all their own. To make the deed all the worse from the standpoint of the visitors the Toronto youths were encouraged by nearly 12,000 people.

All the above merely means that Argonauts stopped Hamilton's string of successive victories in the interprovincial union at four by slapping them with a 19 to 7 defeat and leaving the result of the race problematical. Argos visit Hamilton next Saturday, and the Tigers must win to capture their second straight title, but if the teams play to their form of their first encounter Tigers will finish as runners-up in the race with Argos out in front. On the play the scullers deserved the victory, and while it was not secured until full time was perilously near they deserved a clear lead earlier in the game.

SENATORS WIN.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—By defeating Montreal 10 to 1 in a scheduled interprovincial rugby union fixture at the Westmount grounds Saturday Ottawa Senators scored their first victory of the season. The win was a decisive one and well earned, as Ottawa fielded much the better team and a squad that worked together at all times. They assumed a commanding lead early in the play, and were never dangerously threatened by the locals. While Ottawa showed every mark of long weeks of coaching and combined in their efforts, Montreal showed a lack of plays. At times the locals became so disorganized that they made mistakes that were costly, and after being placed at a handicap when Tubman scored Ottawa's first three points Montreal never again settled down into play.

Racing Pigeon Club Banquets

Cups Presented To Owners of Victorious Lofts.

The Forest City pigeon racing club held its annual banquet at Chivas' Saturday evening, the cups won this year being presented to the winners of the victorious lofts. Allan Hopkins acted as chairman

It was shown during the course of the meeting that while there had been some good racing this year, many promising birds had been lost. The race are held on Saturdays, and this season, it seemed, had been notorious for high winds during the week-ends.

The various cups were presented as follows:

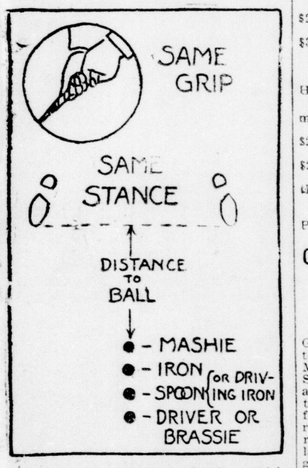

600-mile flight—J. Lightfoot.
500-mile flight—F. Hardy, Lucan.
400-mile flight, Wenige shield—J. Lightfoot
Old bird average up to 600—C. Angle.
1sh mile young bird average—A. Dreissen.

BRIGHT HANDKERCHIEFS.

New York, Oct. 31.—Handkerchiefs of fine French voile are among the novelties. They come in exceedingly bright colors, and each has a bit of embroidery in contrasting color across one corner.

Golf

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT.

Is the same stance and grip used in addressing the ball with a wooden club as with an iron?

Answered by JIM BARNES.

American open champion, 1921; recognized everywhere as one of the greatest golfers in the world. In British open championship, 1922, he finished second, one stroke behind Walter Hagen, the winner.

* * *

I advise the same grip for both woodens and irons—it becomes a matter of habit and makes for better golf. When using irons, the player should stand a bit nearer the ball than when woodens are employed and the feet should be slightly closer together. Of course, the distance a player stands away from the ball is regulated by the length of club he is using.

St. Patricks Will Open at Canadiens On November 29.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—Applications for franchises in the National hockey league have been requested by representatives of interests in New York and Pittsburg, while it is likely that Philadelphia also will seek admittance to the pro hockey circuit.

At the annual meeting of the N. H. L. here today Col. John Hammond of the Madison Square Garden syndicate presented the case for the proposed New York club, while Richard Carroll represented the Pittsburg moguls.

It is the intention in these two cities to enter the N. H. L with teams next season. No decision was reached in either case, their representatives being asked to formally file their applications. Mr. Mastbaume, a theatrical man of Philadelphia, also interviewed the N. H. L. directors on the question of a franchise in the circuit.

The rule of kicking the puck in the no-offside area was legalized. Kicking the puck is allowed under western rules all over the ice, except that it cannot be kicked into the goal.

The new Montreal club and the Boston club were formally admitted to membership.

It was announced that the opening game of the schedule would be played Nov. 29, with Canadiens at home to St. Patricks, while the New Montreal club will play at Boston and Ottawa at Hamilton.

L.A.A.A. Has Hard Week

Exhibition Games With Western Grid Team Planned.

It is possible that Western will get out one night this week and help The L. A. A. intermediates in preparation for their big game Saturday, despite the fact that the Purple and White squad has officially been disbanded.

Both teams have been pulling strong for each other this year instead of showing the usual lofty indifference to each other's campaigns.

It would be the best kind of workout imaginable for the intermediate squad to have Western pitted against them, even if the hard knocks were cut out. Fairly strenuous rugby can be played without any serious injuries. Several of the Western players have offered to get out and form an opposition, and are not asking any let-downs in the way of hard, strenuous play. If the whole team got out the intermediates would be tested out both offensively and defensively. Warren's booting in the games here has been every bit as good as Wilson's, and the Western wings would give the intermediate halves some real practice on getting out of tight situations.

The drill tonight marks the start of an intensive five days of training. If London does not wipe out that four-point lead Saturday, it will not be for want of condition or drill, that much is certain. London never before had an intermediate squad that has put in as much consistent drilling as the one which represents the city this season.

TORIES CAPTURE TOTAL 410 SEATS

Labor Wins in 152 Ridings and Liberals in 40 Only.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 2. — The jubilant Conservatives with 410 seats in parliament, as compared with Labor's 152, and the Liberal's 40, have not yet ceased celebrating their victory. In contrast, former premiers Asquith and Lloyd George yesterday conferred together at the former's London home on how best to retrieve the fallen fortunes of the Liberals, while the members of the Labor government were engaged in the equally doleful business of preparing to quit their official residences in Downing street, and the other attractions of office holding.

Under the British law ministers qualify for pensions only when they have served four years in office and even then they are expected to plead that their financial resources are unequal to the strain of living in the manner to which they have been accustomed as ministers. Hence the loss of their official salaries, which they enjoyed for a brief eight months, will in many cases hardly be recouped by their ordinary vocations on their retirement to private life.

Ty Cobb's Brainwork Won Title of Greatest Player

Study, Thought and Instant Action Placed Pilot of Tigers On Height Untrod by Others Since Game's Inception.

By H. G. SALSINGER.

CHAPTER I.

Ty Cobb was the greatest ball player in history. He achieved that distinction not because he was the fastest base runner, nor the best base stealer, nor the fleetest fielder, nor the greatest hitter. He became baseball's greatest player because he had the best baseball brain ever developed, the fastest thinking brain in the realm of baseball. Because he had the ability to conceive a situation and take full advantage of it before his opponents awakened to it. He was a keener student of the game than they and he understood the game better than they. What is more he understood them—the other players—better than they understood themselves. He knew their strength and their weakness. He knew their virtues and their faults as far as playing ball was concerned. He was the greatest player because he thought ahead of them at all times. The play directly in front of him was not his aim, but the play that was to come after. The play of the moment, until he scored, was merely the foundation for the play that was to come.

He was not the greatest fielder, for a dozen men in baseball towered over him as outfielders. He was not the greatest place hitter, for "Wee Willie" Keeler was a bit better in placing hits. He was not the greatest slugger, for a few dozen men have been able to hit a ball harder than Cobb ever could. He was not the fastest man in the game for several others were just as fast, a few even faster.

Not the Body, But the Head.

The difference between Cobb and all the other stars of baseball did not rest in the body, but in the head. He thought quicker than anyone else, and he knew how to put his mechanical skill to more advantages than any of the others.

They said that he made many of his hits because he was so fast. He hurried the play, and compelled infielders to make fumbles and bad throws by over-hurrying.

Cobb had speed, yes. But baseball's dozen other men just as fast did not make infielders hurry so they fumbled and threw badly, enabling the runner to beat the play the way Cobb did.

One of the greatest sprinters of all time was Bernie Wefers. Baseball men who saw him run decided he would star in professional baseball because of his speed. So they tried to make a ball player out of Wefers. They failed. Wefers was fast. He was faster than any man of his time. But he did not know what to do with his speed. In baseball, having speed and knowing how to apply it are different things. Cobb knew better how to apply it than other men just as fast. Cobb could have been trained to run straight-away, and would have made a remarkable sprinter. But the biggest asset as a sprinter in him, would have been his break from the mark. He would have had the jump on all competitors.

Study the Unexpected.

In base running his brain work was as conspicuous as his speed. He started before they expected him to start. He went when they did not expect him to go, and he made no attempt to advance when he was expected to. He always crossed them up.

Nearing a bag Cobb's next move was always figured out. He knew exactly what he wanted to do. More than that, he was certain of what the other fellow would do. That made it easy for him to act. He knew how to escape the fielder.

Cobb was not the hitter that the sluggers of the old school were, not in the strict sense of the word. He was never a natural hitter; they were. But Cobb made more hits than the men naturally fitted for hitting, again because of his brain. He thought faster than the pitcher. As he knew the workings of an infielder, or an outfielder, so did Cobb know the system of the pitcher he was opposing. He batted accordingly.

Scientific Baseball.

He did not use mystic powers. He had no occult gifts. He simply reduced baseball to a scientific basis and figured it out accordingly. Cobb's plays may appear mystifying, but in that they resemble a conjuror's tricks. The feats of a magician are astounding and beyond comprehension until they are explained. Then they become extremely simple. Cobb's play was always just as simple. Once explained by him, once he gave the reason for making the play the way he did, it became clear and simple. Analyzed, most great achievements become reduced to the same simple, comprehensive level.

He thought faster than any man that ever wore spiked shoes. And he thought more thoroughly. He saw the little things that the others missed and he took advantage of them. Nothing escaped his observation. The mechanical performances of a fielder, the minute physical characteristics of a pitcher, were studied by Cobb, analyzed by him, and then used as the basis of his attack. He built his offense against the weak points of their defence.

There has been but one Cobb. There is likely never to be another. In him were strangely combined all those qualities that were needed to make the perfect competitor, a man with playing faults but with the most highly developed competitive spirit and the finest developed brain that the national pastime of the United States has produced.

CHAPTER II

Cobb's Secret Ambition.

Ty Cobb was never a perfect player. There has never been a perfect one. Cobb is recognized as the greatest because he came nearer perfection than any of the other leaders of baseball.

Cobb had one outstanding mechanical fault and that was a weak throwing arm. This weakness could have been avoided. Cobb has only himself to blame for it. Cobb wanted to become a pitcher. As a boy he played on the infield at short. But the ambition of every boy who likes baseball is to be a great pitcher. That was the secret ambition of Cobb.

Never during his long years in baseball has Cobb become fully convinced that, had he concentrated upon pitching, he could not have become one of the great moundsmen of the game. He brought his ambition with him to the majors and he nursed it through all these years. Whenever he could enlist the services of a catcher, Cobb practiced pitching. He would work with the catcher for half an hour or more, generally more. And while he worked, Cobb pitched twice as many balls as any regular pitcher would in the same length of time, for Cobb pitched as he played, with a nervous speed.

Cobb's Pride Hurt.

He managed to develop what players describe as a "dinky hook," meaning an amateurish curve ball delivery. He never was able to pitch a real fast ball and what he called his slow ball was ineffective because of faulty delivery.

Players who looked over Cobb's pitching were never impressed by it, and this hurt Cobb's pride. The result was that he tried all the harder.

We remember one brilliant spring day in San Antonio, Tex. It was in the spring of 1909 and the Detroit team was training there. Cobb had recruited a catcher and was having his morning workout, pitching.

The late Herman Schaefer, then a veteran and wise in the way of baseball, walked over to Cobb and said to him:

"Listen! Take a piece of advice from me and cut out this monkey business. Forget that you are a pitcher. You ain't. You can never be one. You've been pitching for four years that I know of an' you ain't got no more stuff than a high school boy. There's a lot of good pitchers and there's a couple of thousand that's better than you'll ever be, but there ain't a lot of outfielders with good throwin' arms and my advice to you is—quit this tryin' to be a pitcher an' save your arm for the outfield."

Didn't Take Advice.

Cobb did not take the advice. Instead he tried harder to prove that Schaefer and the others were wrong. He never proved them otherwise than right, but while he continued pitching Cobb wore out his arm. It gradually weakened and base runners, quick to observe the weakness, took advantage of it.

As a fielder Cobb never compared with Tris Speaker, Harry Hooper and a number of others in his league. His weak arm was his greatest handicap, but he had another fault in fielding, and that was failure to play position for batters.

Cobb, during the days when he was climbing to the peak and after he held the heights, rarely ever changed his position in the outfield. He stood rooted to nearly the same spot in each game, playing a "dead" center position. Other outfielders moved according to the batter and the catcher's signals to the pitcher. An outfielder's position should depend upon the position of the batter, right or left-handed, and upon the pitcher's delivery. A right-handed batter, for instance, will not hit a high fast ball on the outside to the same spot that he will hit a low curve ball, pitched on the inside. When the catcher sign s the pitcher the outfielder starts moving with the pitch, having taken up what is known as the natural position for that batter when he came to the plate.

Relied on His Speed.

Cobb never did this. He played every batter practically the same way. And there never was any serious objection to this, for Cobb depended upon his mechanical ability, and there was reason for his faith in himself. There has never been a man in the history of the game who could break away as fast as Cobb. If Charlie Paddock had been gifted with Cobb's quick start, he would have established a new world mark for the 100-yard dash, because Cobb was at the top of his stride, with his second step. He moved at top speed almost at the instant he started.

It was because of this speed and developed judgment of fly balls that Cobb managed to be a good outfielder, while playing a "stationary" position. But he would have been a better out fielder had he moved according to the batter's position and the catcher's signals. He would have gotten more fly balls and stopped more ground-hit balls.

Still, this style of play would have taken from Cobb many spectacular chances. Cobb, a born showman, always tried to do everything in the most difficult manner possible. Innumerable times has he started late after a ball, or paused in his run, timing himself shrewdly so that he managed a shoestring or diving catch, or a stabbing of the ball with his gloved hand, while leaping high—all on chances where easy and natural catches were possible. Cobb, skilled in theatricals, had trained himself to introduce every possible thrill into his play, and where there was no natural opportunity for a spectacular piece of fielding, he created the opportunity. He was baseball's master showman.

BROWN AND BLACK.

New York, Oct. 31.—To look down Fifth avenue from the top of a bus during the shopping hours is to realize that brown and black are preeminently the fashionable colors today. There is beginning to be just an infusion of purple, in hat, purse, or coat lining.

BRILLIANTS BEDECK FROCK.

New York, Oct. 31.—One of the new evening frocks of black satin employs brilliants in a novel way. Its very deep hem is sewn with them in a criss-cross pattern that is absolutely dazzling.

HOT OFF THE GRID

Western may be disappointed, but not a whit downhearted.

* * *

They'll not only have a slogan to start next season's campaign with, but a team as well, as few of this year's young crew will be lost by graduation.

* * *

The points pretty well tell the tale even if the record of games does not. Western proved a great scoring machine, scoring almost as many points as both St. Mikes, the winners, and Varsity altogether.

* * *

It was windy, and the wings were winded Saturday. The quartet of outsides must have done the modified marathon distance, and when they weren't going down under sailing boots, they were resting up by doing heavy line work

* * *

Saturday's game was not good football, but mighty interesting for those spectators who do not profess any deep knowledge of the pastime. There were thrills Saturday that good and straight football does not produce.

* * *

Officials connected with the Western team claim that the team's greatest game was played against St. Mikes on Wednesday. Like the Varsity game in Toronto, Western should have won it with even one good break.

* * *

Western made no kick against the officials, but a picture published in The Advertiser Friday was mute evidence that they certainly didn't catch everything in the St. Mikes game. A St. Mikes player is plainly shown with a stranglehold on "Dutch" Simpson as the two raced for a loose ball.

* * *

The halves always get most of the limelight, but Saturday they had all the chances to take too, and nasty ones they usually were.

* * *

Varsity tarked into the wind as well as Western. They scored seven points sailing right into it.

* * *

"Jo Jo" Stirrett took advantage of the lay-off of the O. R. F. U. intermediates Saturday to see his old teammates pull the unexpected against the 'Fearful Tigers

* * *

Some traitorous Hamilton fan told Argo supporters that Tigers were trembling in their shoes before Saturday's game. They certainly weren't laughing up their sleeves after the game was over.

HARRIERS OF R. M. C. WIN INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET

Canadian Press Despatch.

Kingston, Nov. 2.—Royal military college youngsters came to the front and won the intercollegiate harriers' meet held on the Royal military college grounds here on Saturday. C. A. Thompson, R. M. C., finished first doing the hard six-mile course in 35 minutes and 20 seconds. Goforth of McGill was second, and Stremouth of Queen's university third; "Nate" Rubin of McGill, fourth; W. P. Leboutillier of R. M. C. was fifth, and J. W. Graham, university of Toronto, sixth. It was necessary for four runners out of five to finish. Points scored by adding the numbers in order of finish are as follows:

Royal Military College 24 McGill 32, University of Toronto 35, Queens 52.

WINDSOR C. I. SQUAD BLANKED BY SARNIA

Tunnel City Students Triumph Over Down-River Squad 8--0.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Nov. 2—Showing superiority in all departments and at every stage of the game, Sarnia collegiate defeated Windsor collegiate here yesterday 8—0. A strong wind from the west made the game a kicking contest in which Carter, Sarnia's booter, outdistanced his Windsor rival, Hicks. Windsor was prone to play the American style, and interference was their principal method of gaining ground. Their backs passed and ran better than Sarnia, but the Windsor team was too busy crabbing to play good football.

The first period was an exchange of kicks, which resulted in no scoring. Windsor had the wind this period, but even with this advantage Carter outkicked Hicks. The second period opened like the first, being a kicking duel. Hallam returned a Windsor punt to the deadline for Sarnia's first point. Carter added two more before the period ended. With about two minutes to go Windsor started a march up the field, making 40 yards on three downs.

The third quarter opened with Windsor trying to score on drop kicks. Sarnia blocked their drop kicks twice and saved the day. Just before the three-quarter time Sarnia blocked a Windsor kick on the 20-yard line and Kennedy ran for a touchdown, but Carter missed the convert. The last period was scoreless, and the final count was 8—0, giving Sarnia the round 15 to 5. For Windsor Edwards was the pick, while for Sarnia, Carter, Hallam, Millman and Kennedy were the best. The game was satisfactorily handled by Baird, London and Lalonde, Toronto.

The teams:

Sarnia—Flying wing, Callum; halves, Carter, Hallam, Van Horne; snap, Teskey; outsides, Parsons, Burwell; middles Millman, Ewener; insides, Maitland, Cook.

Windsor—Flying wing, Jubinville; halves, Edwards, Hicks, Chapman; snap, Turville; outsides, Malone, Webber; middles, Parsons, Brooks; insides, Hicks Sanbury.

NEW HOCKEY TEAM IS FORMED IN PT. STANLEY

A hockey team comprising boys who have deserted the troop of boy scouts is being formed in Port Stanley.

It is thought that the scouts will retaliate and form a troop also, but this will prove hopeless, as the ex-scouts are a much stronger bunch, and there are more to pick from.

The opening game will be played at Port Stanley as soon the ice freezes, and a fast game is anticipated by the local fans.

The winners of this game will play St. Luke's church team of St. Thomas and probably others.

WHEN TWILIGHT YIELDS TO LAMPLIGHT

NO other part of the house is more cheerful than the living room when the mellow sunshine streams in through the windows, and adds its own rich pattern to colorful rays and hangings. And no room responds more happily to the glow of the evening lamp. When the daylight is gone, the flick of a silken cord releases this modern sunshine to scatter the night at your bidding.

Portable floor and table lamps, equipped with the correct Edison Mazda Lamps, can increase the cheerfulness of your living room many times over.

To obtain the best results, choose lamps with wide shades which throw the light upward and downward. See that they are equipped with 50 or 75-watt white or frosted Edison Mazda Lamps.

Near you is an Edison Mazda Lamp store, recognizable by the yellow and blue cartons. There you can obtain real information about good lighting.

White Edison Mazda Lamp most suitable for portable lamp use, as the filament cannot be seen.

PASTOR ATTACKS MAYOR OF LONDON

Rev. Agnew Scores Wenige's Attitude Toward Law Enforcement.

FEAR POLICE ASLEEP

Alleging laxity in the enforcement of the O. T. A., Rev. John Agnew, pastor of Ridout street Methodist church, last night scored Mayor Wenige for his stand in connection with the carrying out of the law. He referred to a recent occasion when a freight car was raided by London police. The mayor was reported to have censured this action, claiming that the enforcement of the O. T. A. was a matter for the provincial police.

When the liquor plebiscite campaign was going at full blast a few weeks ago the moderationists said, "Vote for government control and defeat the bootlegger." The prohibitionist forces advised, "Vote to sustain the O. T. A. and a stricter enforcement of the law." Ontario was therefore unanimous that the bootlegger should be done away with.

The people want to abolish bootlegging. They have declared their mind in speech and by their vote. Yet either because the police are asleep or inefficient, or because moneyed interests behind the breweries and distilleries are using their influence, there was laxity in enforcing the law. Rev. Mr. Agnew believed that the London police as a whole were a good body of men and wanted to enforce the law.

"Money is a great power," he declared. "Moneyed interests behind breweries and distilleries must be using their influence to defeat the successful working of the O. T. A."

Rev. Mr. Agnew called for closer co-operation between citizens and police and between provincial and city police and between the authorities and the police. Without such co-operation the greatest success in law enforcement could not be secured.

E. C. SETTELL REFUSES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

here from the jail with no opportunity to see the charges or consult my lawyer."

Refuses Direct Answers.

Judge Snider pointed out that Settell had answered the questions before in Hamilton jail.

"This is a court of inquiry, but it will prejudice my case. Mr. Lucas has already called me a thief prior to my trial," stated Settell.

Judge Snider: "That won't be done again."

Mr. Brewster then continued to read the charges made by Settell and the answers he had given in the jail to Judge Snider. When Settell was asked to admit his answers he refused to make a direct answer.

Mr. Brewster: "Who has been talking to you about not answering these questions?"

Settell: "No person. I am not on trial here. I am merely a witness. If you would give me an opportunity to make a statement I would tell you why I can't answer.

At this juncture I. B. Lucas, for the hydro commission, stated that he was representing everyone concerned in the charges. He wanted the opportunity to ask a few questions. Judge Snider ruled that there would be no cross-examination, but that Mr. Lucas could ask his questions through Mr. Brewster.

"I am surprised at your honor," retorted Mr. Lucas hotly. "I do not want this to develop into a means of spreading scandal without the opportunity of answering it. There are serious charges which have been made; serious, scandalous and untrue. I protest with warmth against any means that spreads them without an immediate opportunity of reply."

Asks Time to Prepare.

Judge Snider: "You have asserted your rights. That is all. You can ask all the questions you like through Mr. Brewster."

Later Judge Snider stated that each charge would be dealt with separately, and that an opportunity would be given for defence.

Mr. Brewster then asked Settell if he had stated that one Southam of the hydro commission had installed a heating plant for the R. Simpson Company in hydro time.

Settell declined to answer. "Those are not charges made by me," he added. "They were contained in a letter marked private and confidential."

Judge Snider: "They are public now."

Settell: "Through no fault of mine."

One of the charges made by Settell was that voucher 382 of the hydro commission would show that money was collected as expenses for trips that were never taken by officials.

Mr. Brewster: "Did you make that charge?"

Settell: "I decline to answer."

Later Settell said: "I want to have time to go over the material I have. I should have that opportunity. The Gregory commission spent a half a million dollars to inquire into hydro and they had time for preparation. A lot of my statements will require substantiation from hydro employees, and knowing the autocratic rule that holds sway at the hydro offices I know that any man who backed up my statements would be a marked man."

Judge Snider: "What do you mean?"

Settell: "They would be marked. They would get no increases, and would gradually be forced out. I refuse to place any hydro employee in that position."

Judge Snider: "If you say the charges are untrue that ends it."

Settell: "You have deleted certain of the charges. Why should I not be able to do the same thing??"

Later when pressed for the reason why he could not answer questions, Settell stated that his memory was very hazy of the jail interview.

Mr. Brewster: "There is no use going on like this. I would ask that your honor inflict what punishment he deems fit."

Judge Snider then allowed Settell to leave the stand and have an opportunity to go over his material for the purpose of answering questions when again called. J. D. Sullivan, counsel for Settell, was of the opinion that Settell would answer when called at a later date.

SAILLESS, CREWLESS SHIP STIRS GERMAN SAVANTS

Krupp Works and Hamburg-American Line Interested in Invention.

SURVIVES TESTS

Utilization of Air Currents Drives Vessel—One Can Operate It.

Associated Press Despatch.

Gottingen, Germany, Nov. 2.—Anton Flettner's "sailless and crewless ship," which has just returned to Kiel after a prolonged successful cruise in the Baltic Sea, is the outgrowth of exhaustive experiments conducted by the University of Gottingen's institute for aerodynamic research.

Flettner, who is the inventor of the rudder bearing his name, propels the sailless ship through the medium of two giant hollow metal masts, 9 feet in diameter and 50 feet high. The mechanism, which sets cylinders inside the masts in motion, and which creates the propulsion force through utilization of air currents, can be operated by one man with an ordinary electric toro. The sailless masts are said to yield fifteenfold more propeling force than the same area of canvas.

The initial trial sailings carried on in the Baltic indicate a saving in operating costs of from 30 to 80 per cent. The Krupp works and the Hamburg-American line are said to be interested in exploiting Flettner's invention, and are now engaged in giving it a thorough trial under high sea conditions.

France Boasts Highest Radio

Associated Press Despatch.

Tarbes, France, Nov. 3.—The highest radio-telephonic station in the world has been opened at the observatory on the Pic du Midi, some 10,000 feet in altitude. The station uses a 350-metre wave length, and has an antenna capacity of 300 watts.

The installation was taken up the mountain in sections, the heavier parts on mule-back, and the delicate instruments by hand.

In addition to assuring communication between the observatory and Bagneres, which has hitherto been precarious owing to the breaking of wires by avalanches, the station will render great service to agriculture by broadcasting weather forecasts.

It is also expected that it will facilitate the study of various radio phenomena, including the "fading" of signals from distant stations.

NEW ENGLISH CLASS AT TECH. IS POPULAR

Instructor B. S. Scott Declares Seven Nationalities Taking Advantage of New Course.

One of the most interesting of the evening classes being carried on at the Technical high school isthat in English for new Canadians.

B. S. Scott, who is the instructor of that particular class, speaks three languages, including French, Italian and Spanish.

Amongst the 25 to 30 members of the class there are represented at least seven nationalities, since in the class there are Danes, Armenians, Greeks, Rumanians, Italians, Jews, one French woman and one Armenian.

Those new Canadians availing themselves of the course offered them vary in age from 18 years to mature years, or those who might be styled as heads of families.

It is interesting to note that the number of Jews attending the class is practically half the entire class. It is understood that those upon whose behalf ex-Ald. Max Lerner made application to the board of education for a class in English, comprise this list of Jews. At the time Mr. Lerner's request came before the board it was pointed out by Principal Beal that such a class was already being carried on at the Technical school, and accordingly Mr. Lerner was so informed with the result as referred to above.

All the usual "sights" of the west country were shown in slides which had the advantage of being faithfully colored, and in the short half hour took his audience all the way from the Irish channel to Westminster and the Houses of Parliament.

He advised the Rotarians to take an "English" trip as often as they could, or as often as they found themselves tired and needing the encouragement which he said they would find in the quiet restfulness of the old country fields and wayside roads.

CHURCHILL REMEMBERS HIS ELECTION WORKERS

Canadian Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 3.—"For union and freedom" is the inscription on a medal presented by Winston Churchill to each of his election workers in the Epping division of Essex, where he was victorious last Wednesday in a three-cornered fight.

A group of Conservatives headed by Sir William Bull, who was re-elected in the South Hammersmith borough of London on Oct. 29, is giving Winston Churchill a dinner in the Constitutional club, and many Conservatives are annoyed thereat. They take the ground that this proceeding is in the nature of forcing the hand of Stanley Baldwin, premier-elect, to include this very new Conservative convert in the cabinet. The general Conservative feeling is that if Churchill gets an office at all in the new ministry it ought to be a very minor one.

'TECH' ENROLLMENT PASSES '23 MARK

Day Classes Now Number 805, Principal Beal Announces Today.

Both the day and evening class enrollments at the Technical high school considerably exceed previous record figures, according to the statement of the principal, H. B. Beal, this morning.

There are 805 full-time day students enrolled at the "Tech.," or 205 more than during the corresponding month last year. The total of 806 students tops the previous high figure since the opening of the school about ten years ago by 185 students.

There are 865 boys and girls, men and women, enrolled for the work of the evening classes. This total is 104 greater than the previous high total.

Principal Beal is confident that the enrollment will reach the 1,000 mark when the peak of attendance is reached after the Christmas vacation.

While there are 850 people attending the evening classes that figure does not represent the number of subjects taken, since each person attending the night school takes from one to four classes a week, the average being two classes.

The attendance at a few of the classes amongst the 50 different courses in which instruction is offered at the night school is as follows: Dressmaking, 115 stenography (shorthand and typewriting), 101; drafting, 93; English and arithmetic, 82; automobile mechanics, 55; cabinetmaking, 47; cooking, 46; bookkeeping, 42; machine shop work, 36; printing, 32; electoral work, 29; English for new Canadians, 27; commercial art, 24; plumbing, 24; millinery, 22; industrial chemistry, 13; wood carving, 12.

METHODISTS MARK CHURCH MILESTONE

First Service Held by Indian Minister Almost One Century Ago.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Nov. 2.—Central Methodist church, Sarnia, which today celebrated its anniversary, is one of the oldest centers of Methodism in Ontario.

The first sermon preached in Sarnia was in 1829, and that was by a red man, as a minister of the Methodist church. Kahkewaquonaby was his native name, but on returning from securing an education in England he was plain Peter Jones. It requires no great imagination to vision the stately red man giving forth the tale that was as wonderful among the surroundings of nature as it is today amid the pretentiousness of the modern church. For a choir he had the birds and the sounds of nature.

Rev Thomas Turner, an Englishman, was the first white Methodist minister in Sarnia. He labored in the years 1832-1834. Turner Hall stands to his memory today as an adjunct to the church. Central Methodist church was built in 1880, and is the largest edifice of Methodism in Lambton county. The pastor, the Rev. J. T Cosby Morris, preached the anniversary services. The morning service was marked by the unveiling of a painting to the memory of the Rev. J. R. Morrison, D.D., presented by the young ladies of the congregation, and a memorial window, presented by Miss Frances Flintoft, in memory of her mother.

E. C. Lebel, a 1924 graduate of St. Michael's College, Toronto, was the winner of the Sir Bertram Coghill Allan Windle gold medal, having won the highest first-class honors in fourth year honor English. He also won honors in history. This promising young student is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lebel of Sarnia.

Fearing the prospect of spending his declining years in the Kent county house of refuge, George W. Bertram, aged 70, attempted suicide in a cell in the city police station Saturday evening, when he slashed his throat with a jackknife. He was rushed to the city hospital, where it is believed at the hospital that he will recover.

Powell, Inwood; James Hand, Alvinston; Elton Zavitz, Croton; Glen Payne, Port Lambton; James Walden, Thedford; H. The final awarding is based on the field standing score and the score obtained by a 60-ear lot exhibited at the annual corn and seed show, which will be held in Forest in January, 1925.

LIGHTS BEWILDER SWANS, ORNITHOLOGIST BELIEVES

The reason that the four or five hundred swans hovered round the city last night was probably confusion of the lights of the city, according to W. E. Saunders, the ornithologist.

He says he has never known of swans crossing over London before on their way from Lake Huron to Lake Erie, and can give no reason for this change of course from their usual route. At first he thought they were wild geese, but on using binoculars and spotting them as they circled overhead he was able to see that they were swans. Several hunters in London also saw the birds and declared they were swans.

The birds were seen from 11 o'clock up to 5 o'clock in the morning, at which time they resumed their flight to the southern lake.

SUBWAYS WOULD SAVE FIRE LOSSES

Chief Aitken Points Out Trucks Often Delayed by Long Freight Trains.

HELD UP SATURDAY

The urgent need for subways at street and railroad intersections, according to Fire Chief Aitken, was never better illustrated than on Saturday afternoon when five fire trucks, responding to an alarm sent in from the D. S. C. R. building, were held up for five minutes.

"This delay might have caused the loss of lives and serious property damage," Chief Aitken declared today. "A 5-minute delay in response to a fire might cause enough damage which, if averted, would pay for a subway."

A long freight train started to cross the Richmond street intersection at the same time the fire trucks arrived opposite the Tecumseh house on Saturday afternoon. Attempts were made to stop the train, detach the cars at the intersection, and allow the fire trucks to pass under the gates, but as this would have caused even a greater loss of time, Chief Aitken ordered that the train pass through with all possible speed.

"On many occasions recently the fire department has been held up at railway crossings," Chief Aitken said. "Fortunately the delays have created no serious loss."

Chief Aitken recommends that all lengthy freight trains should be broken up at the city limits in order that they might pass through the city in two sections. This would not only save the fire department in response to alarms sent in from various sections of the city, but it would speed up street car and motor traffic to a greater extent, Chief Aitken points out.

Mayor Wenize, too, is in favor of more subways at main intersections. He states that they should be installed if for no other reason than that a serious delay to fire trucks in response to an alarm might endanger the whole city.

Chief Aitken's plan for breaking up long freight trains into two sections outside the city will probably be taken up with officials of the C. N. R.

Calling Out the Troops.

Despatches appearing in yesterday's papers carried the following news:

"Headed by Col. Connelly, the 145 infantry headquarters company arrived at 3:05 p.m. They took up headquarters at the city hall.

"Two hundred anti-Klansmen, armed with sawed-off shotguns and clubs, are massed at Main and Federal streets, at strategic points. It was at this point where the three men were shot."

This is not a despatch from Morocco or China, two points at which war is known to be raging, but in Niles, Ohio.

The troops have been called out now because the authorities of United States permitted the Ku Klux Klan to grow and keep on growing. In many cases it is on record that they gladly accepted the assistance of the Klan for election purposes.

United States has itself to blame for the problem it faces today in dealing with the Ku Klux Klan and those who are now fighting fire with fire.

The state stood helplessly at one side while this organization usurped the functions of the state in dealing out law and order. It cuddled a worm, and today finds itself faced with an octopus.

The Minority Rules London.

The city clerk is making an effort to have all voters at municipal elections notified of the day of voting and the place at which the polls are held. The city clerk considers it necessary that some such method is necessary to get the people to vote, and the records of past years show that the clerk is correct.

Figures are available showing the percentage of the total vote registered each year since 1909 to be as follows:

Year.	Men. Per cent.	Women. Per cent.	Total. Per cent.
1909	60	35	50
1910	57	18	45
1911	48	11	41
1912	50	13	43
1913	50	10	41
1914	62	20	43
1915	58	23	50
1916	51	20	43
1917	42	17	45
1918	50	33	46
1919	33	16	29
1920	64	26	44
1921	60	30	53
1922	67	34	59
1923	57	25	41

That means that since the year 1909 the men who have been responsible for the conduct of affairs in London have been elected by 45 per cent of the people, for that is the average number of men and women voting.

In that period the assessment has been increased from $25,664,484 to $69,035,726, and yet 55 per cent of the voters have refrained from voting while assessment has increased $43,371,242. The advance may have been too great or too little, yet there has not been protest or approval from the indifferent 55 per cent.

The general debenture debt in 1910 was $3,138,797; in 1922 it was $6,041,250; the per capita debt has gone from $61 in 1909 to $101.05 in 1922, and this has a very direct bearing on the amount of money to be taken from citizens in the way of taxes, yet this doubling up has been done by councils elected by 45 per cent of the voters.

The expenditure on walks, curbs, sewers and pavements in 1909 was $81,839, while in 1921 it ran as high as $921,070, but this increase received no verdict on the part of 47 per cent of the voters in 1921.

The per capita taxation in 1912 was $13.37; last year it was $35.16, yet in 1912 43 per cent voted, while in 1923, when the increase was almost three times the taxation levy, only 41 per cent of the voters took the trouble to go out and give voice to their feelings.

In 1909 the total taxes for school purposes amounted to $194,891.57, and in 1923 the amount taken from the people was $938,146.38. Yet there was nothing in the vote of 1923 to indicate that the people viewed with alarm such an increase. Records show that 50 per cent of the people voted in the year 1909, while in 1923, with a tremendous increase in school rates, only 43 per cent voted.

Distances are not great in London; polling booths are situated every few blocks; it is not the work of 15 minutes at the outside to go to any of these places and vote and return. It is the one chance in the year that the ratepayers, who are really the stockholders in this $70,000,000 corporation, are called in to say what they think about the way things are run; when they have a chance to turn out those whom they consider incompetent, and replace them with more suitable officials. There have been, on the average, from 1909 to the present, enough non-voters to elect an entirely different council, mayor, board of education and public utilities commission.

It is high time that Londoners used the ballot.

U. S. Votes on Tuesday.

The average man in London, and the same thing would hold true in the district, believes that President Coolidge is going to be re-elected. He probably could not state definitely, step by step, just how this would work out—could not tell which states would vote Davis or Coolidge or where La Follette expects to draw his strength, but in spite of these defects in practical knowledge, he still holds to the belief that Coolidge will win.

The Republican president on Tuesday next must have 266 of the 531 votes in the electoral college. It is not sufficient that he receive more votes than Mr. Davis or more than Senator La Follette. If these latter two combined have more votes than President Coolidge, he goes out.

Mr. Davis, the Democrat, and La Follette, the Progressive, have done ten times the active campaigning that President Coolidge has attempted. He has travelled little and spoken even less. Some critics even go the length of saying that he seems to be content that there shall be a good Republican vote cast in Northampton, Mass., the president's own home town.

The campaign has been foolishly long; all the issues could be placed before the people in six weeks instead of six months. Britain turned out one government and elected another in three weeks, and if United States were wise enough she could do the same thing.

Wide Powers For Inspector.

In assuming office as inspector-general of Canadian banks, C. E. S. Tompkins takes on a responsibility that is greater than that of the average cabinet minister. He has power to take over the assets of any bank to see that the provisions of the bank act are being fully complied with, and to assure himself that the institution is in a sound financial position.

Mr. Tompkins, in order to protect himself from being made the goat for bank difficulties, will have to exercise these powers. He has had enough banking experience to see that if he does not live up to the powers granted him he will become simply a soft spot on which a finance minister could light in case of another Home Bank affair.

If Mr. Tompkins uses his training to do his work, and there is nothing to indicate that he will not, the minister of finance will possess more intimate information regarding the affairs of Canadian banks than has been possible in the past. Having that information, his responsibility automatically increases to see that shareholders, depositors and the general public are protected.

Where Is the Axe?

Where is my fuzzy undershirt, the one I cast aside in May, I mind I throwed it on the floor on one perspirin' spring-like day. But I'll be blowed if I know where that cozy garment's hangin' now, if folks don't leave my duds alone I'll raise one fierce and awful row.

Where is the shaker what I use to make the furnace blow a blast, I can't just think now where it was I put him when I used it last. I've been a-lookin' sixteen ways, I've been scratchin' at my dome, and wishin' folks around the house would leave such things as these alone.

Now, who in thunder's had the scoop I use to shoot the coal about, I searched all over here and there, and then I started in to shout, has someone had that shovel out, a-diggin' up the dahlia roots, I'm mad enough to grab some one and shake him from his Sunday boots.

And where's them canvas gloves I wore when cartin' ashes out below, I know durn well I had them here and used 'em not six months ago. I mind one day a neighbor said as how I was a-throwin' airs, by wearin' canvas gloves like them for cartin' ashes up the stairs. I know I had them gloves right here, I used 'em thirteen times a day, it makes me ruffle up my brow and say things what I shouldn't say.

Who's seen the axe we used to have, I know just where it used to be, but where she is a-standin' now is somethin' that's a-puzzlin' me. I got six pickets off the fence, just where that axe goes in most strange, how can I hew them pickets down and limber up the kitchen range?

I had a wad of weather strip, I got it at a sale one day, and brought it home and then I know I went and put the thing away. But where she is I don't just know, it makes my homely face to frown, to think folks won't just leave these things where I myself have put them down.

There's only three storm windows here, I know as sure as I'm alive, I took 'em off myself this spring and on that day they numbered five. I used one for a hotbed frame, grew lettuce fit to feed a cow, but I'll be blowed if I can think just where them windows is stacked now.

And so I go a-chasin' here and lookin' in each secret spot, I never looked around before 'cause weather stayed so nice and hot. It makes an awful difference now, because the chilly blast she sings, and I am worried sixteen ways, for I can't seem to find these things.—ARK.

A Full Week

What's that old saying they used to have? It ran somewhat like this: People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones. Yes, that's right, word for word.

Well, here's another one, and it's just as good as the other: People who get books from the public library shouldn't leave notes in them that they don't want other people to see.

You see, it came about like this. I wanted a book the other day to read, so I went to the library for one, and after having got a ticket started out to pick a good one. Wanting to know something about how the British elections were going, I got a good novel, a real love story, where the villain gets badly mauled in the last chapter, and where they take up housekeeping with the bride's parents

Looking over the book I came across a piece of paper, just one of those little slips torn out of a notebook, and marked on the top, "Engagements." Some peculiar marks decorated the top of the paper, and they were shorthand, which, being interpreted, read, "Get weighed." Evidently she did, and there was the figure—I mean the numbers indicating the size of the figure—131, which you will all admit is just a nice weight for a girl.

Then below that came two telephone numbers, and beside the telephone numbers two names, of course boys' names. Now, I have no intention of breaking up a lot of fun, so for this purpose they'll be known as David and Jonathan. She's playing them both for a good time. Nothing wrong about that, and a young girl weighing 131 has a perfect right to do such a thing.

So, let's proceed. The next item says, "Thursday, show with—" well, it's neither David nor Jonathan, but another chap, and we'll call him Absolom. Of course that's not his name, it's much shorter, one like Harry or something. Well, she was going to a show with Harry, no, I mean Absolom, on Thursday night. He was to call for her, which is quite the right way, and much better than having him wait on a street corner, where someone else might grab him first.

This girl is a bear for shows, for right under this Thursday date is another which reads: "Show with David." Of course David's not his name, and not wishing to make trouble or break up a good winter's flirtation we're not saying who David is, only that he's not David.

Then comes Saturday. That's right, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, yes, they do run that way. And what for Saturday? Now listen, just one word, "Work." Fine, isn't it, and how that 131 pounds could swing the broomstick, and all such tender arts, but hold—there's two words after that little word "work," and they are "Meet David." Ah, the plot thickens. A little work and a big meeting with David. Of course, as I've said three times before, his name is not David at all, but far be it from us to spoil a good time, and lead to a conspiracy of absence on the part of any of these gay young Lotharios. I don't know who he was, but the name seems to fit in there.

And after Saturday comes Sunday, that's right, and, yes, here's something for Sunday too. It says, "Go driving to ——— with David." Now of course we're not saying where this place is, but it's a snug little city a good 85 miles from here, and it's in Wellington county, and there's only one city in Wellington, but no, sir, we're not going to say which city it was.

Then after that there is just one word, and it reads, "Monday." And after Monday there is a blank, showing that one good week's flying around is enough for any 131 pound girl to plan for at any one time.

My card number at the library is 17,678,463W.

Dr. Frank Crane

A Candidate's Declaration.

Mr. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, said the other day in his speech at Des Moines:

"The duty and interests of Americans demand that their nation should become a member of the league of nations. I express my belief that it is not wise, prudent or safe for fifty-four nations to sit in conference and for America to be absent."

We have no desire to participate in partisan politics, nor to take stands for Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Davis or Mr. La Follette, but the question at hand is larger than partisanship. It refers to picking up the thread that was broken when the senate repudiated the league of nations. Mr. Davis comes out flatfooted and declares that the country should be a member of this league.

It would seem that a simple statement of the case should be sufficient. If fifty-four nations of the world are sitting in conference we cannot afford to be absent.

Either an enormous vanity or an unworthy fear could account for our isolation. The apostles of isolation have been bold enough and are positive enough in their statements. It is right and fitting that those who believe that we should participate in affairs should be equally bold and positive.

The place for the United States of America is among the other nations of the world, who are doing what they can to maintain peace.. It is a singular thing that the United States, who fought the war to end all wars, is taking the stand of going along in the old way, endeavoring to prevent war by the method which has invariably failed in the past.

We know that war is not prevented by preparation and armament and all such things because it never has been prevented in that way.

We know that war can be prevented by an understanding between the nations, or at least we have the hope that it can.

America inaugurated the league of nations. It is not fitting that we should desert the experiment that we undertook.

Little by little those who are in charge of the nation see the necessity of doing business with other nations and taking part in their councils.

It is nothing but right and proper that America should come out flatfooted and take a place in the leadership of the world.

Will Shop in London.

Woman Reader Says That the Idea of Shopping in Detroit Is Much of a Delusion.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—For the benefit of some of the women in this city and district who claim they can shop to better advantage in Detroit than in London, I am writing this letter.

I went to Detroit last week, because I had often heard it said that women's clothing could be purchased there much cheaper than in London, and that the styles were newer and in much greater variety.

The day I went shopping we started out quite early, as we hoped in that way to get better attention by arriving in time to avoid the crowds, but we found that it was a long distance and the travelling was slow on account of the congestion of traffic. When we finally started in the shopping district I started to mentally compare styles and prices with what I had seen at home.

The service was not one bit better to begin with; there was no one with whom I had shopped before who had an idea of what I wanted, and I had to go it alone. When at last I did make a purchase there were some alterations to make, and they could not be finished before the next day, so I had to stay a day longer in order to get the garment. I paid just about the same price as I would for a similar article here in London, and of course had my railway fare to pay as well. I am satisfied now, and before I was in doubt. My future shopping will all be done right here at home.

Bobby Coon Discovers Someone in His Home in the Hollow Tree

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The happiest person in all the Green Forest was Bobby Coon as he headed for his home in a certain hollow tree. The ground was covered with snow, but it was deep enough to bother Bobby in walking. He didn't like that snow, but even snow could not detract from his happiness. He was free once more and back in his beloved Green Forest. Wasn't that enough to make anyone happy? He was free and he was as well as ever. There wasn't even a hint of lameness in that paw that had been caught in a tin can.

Bobby drew long breaths of the fresh, clear air, and every breath made him tingle all over. How good it was to smell the pine trees. Bobby stopped every few minutes just to do this. Had there been no snow on the ground Bobby might have wandered about a bit before going home. But he didn't like the snow, and so he made straight for the big, hollow tree in which he had lived for a long time.

He was so fat that he couldn't have hurried even had there been no snow. Never at the coming of the first snow had he been quite so fat. You see, Farmer Brown's Boy had given Bobby all he could eat. He was quite ready to sleep through the coldest weather. Never had he been better prepared for it. He was thinking of this as he came to the foot of his big, hollow tree.

Before climbing it he sat down at the foot of it for a few moments. He was thinking of the very last time he had started to climb that tree. That had been several weeks before, and he hadn't been able to climb. A little tin can had been fast to one paw so that he couldn't use it. Without it he couldn't climb. Bobby shivered a little as he thought of it.

"My, that was dreadful!" thought Bobby. "I didn't think then that I ever would climb this tree again. That was an awful night. I didn't have any hope at all. Yet here I am as well as ever. My, it will seem good to climb once more."

With this Bobby started up the tree. He climbed straight up to the hole, which was the entrance to his home. There he paused for a look around before going inside. He knew that it was safe to be some time before he would have another look around. Then he put his head inside, intending to go right in and curl up in his bed.

But Bobby didn't go right in. No, sir, he didn't go right in. In fact, he pulled his head out in a hurry. His nose had told him that there was someone in that hollow tree. His home was occupied! Someone had decided that no one was living there and had taken possession of it. Who it was Bobby didn't know. All Bobby's happiness ended right there. He was filled with anger. That was his house. No one else had any business in there. That was his bed down in there, and he wanted it. He wanted it right then. He meant to have it, too. Whoever was in there would have to get out. Bobby said so over and over to himself. But it was one thing to say it and quite another thing to make that stranger get out. You see there wasn't room inside that hollow tree to fight. Then, too, he didn't know who it was in there.

Bobby shivered a little as he thought of it.

WOMEN DISCUSS CIVIC POLITICS

Citizenship Committee Gathers at Smallman & Ingram Tearoom Today.

A meeting of the citizenship committee of the local council of women has been called for 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Smallman & Ingram tea room for the purpose of considering the municipal political situation.

Mrs. John Rose, chairman of the committee, will preside over the meeting, which is really the first move in the launching of a campaign to secure suitable candidates for municipal office.

Whether or not there will be women in the municipal contest this year has not yet been decided. Rumors are afloat to the effect that some women may try for seats in the council. Mrs. John I. A. Hunt concludes her second term of office this year on the school board. Whether she will run again for school trustee has not yet been made public. Mrs. John Rose, elected last year to the school board, has yet another year to continue in that office.

There is a feeling among the members of the citizenship committee that there should be three women on the school board to strike a proper balance.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks RapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

At the same time Vicks acts as a counter-irritant, stimulating the skin, and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the inflammation.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

HOLD CAMPERS' RALLY AT LENMORE, FRIDAY

Girls Will Discuss Plans To Raise Money For New "Y" Building in London.

A big campers rally will be held at Lenmore on Friday of this week. The campers' association, under whose direction the rally is being arranged is formed of girls who have attended the Y. W. C. A. camp, "Orendaga," at Port Bruce during the past few seasons.

As was the case last year, the rally will take the form of a shower of articles for the lodge at Port Bruce. There will also be a discussion of camp plans for next summer and consideration of some scheme whereby the campers may help in getting for London a new Y. W. C. A. building, so badly needed here. The campers' association alone raised $3,000 to build Orendaga lodge, and they know how to raise money. Miss Helen d'Avignon, camp director, and Miss Billie Graves, big chief, have issued the invitations.

Women's Press Club Sends an Appeal to Attorney-General of Ontario.

The question of the court was discussed at a meeting of the club held Saturday night at the home of Miss Grace Blackburn, Talbot street. And a request was forwarded to Mrs. John Rose, president of the local council of women, asking her to find out the feeling of the affiliated women's societies on this matter. A further suggestion was made that Mrs. Rose represent the women of London in a deputation which will wait on the Hon. W. F. Nickle, attorney-general.

Miss Beatrice Taylor, the new president, read one of her charming poems, and the poet laureate, Mrs. Margaret Clark Russell, presented a quaint little series of verses, to the club and to the retiring and incoming presidents. An impromptu triolet on the hostesses of the evening completed her offering.

Stop—Listen—Think! | Dorothy Dix | Urges Forming the Thrift Habit in Youth

Unless You Want To Be Guilty of Robbing Those Who Care for You, Begin to Save as Soon as You Begin to Earn.

Not long ago a friend of mine died. He was the valued employee of a big company, and for twenty years he had drawn a large salary. He had no children. Only his wife and himself to support.

Yet he left behind him only a used automobile, the commonplace furniture of a small apartment and $500 in the bank. There was no insurance policy. No savings. Nothing to provide food or shelter for his delicate, helpless, middle-aged wife.

All of this man's life earnings—a fortune in the aggregate—had gone for new cars, for restaurant dinners, for fine clothes, for little foolish extravagances that were just the gratification of the moment. His wife and himself had never looked beyond the pleasure of the minute until the grim hour came in which she turned terrified eyes upon a cold world in which she was penniless.

Do you ever think, Mr. Man, that if you should die that your own wife would be in the same position as that unfortunate woman? Do you ever think, Mrs. Woman, what would happen to you if your husband should die or get sick?

You are living up to the last cent of your income. You are laying up nothing for a rainy day, and only luck stands between you and overwhelming disaster.

And why do you run this terrible risk?

Because you are crazy for an automobile, although you know you can't afford it. Because all of your friends live in high-priced apartments, so you pay more rent than you should. Because you give jolly little restaurant parties and lose money at card games that you cannot spare, but you can't run with the bunch unless you are a good spender. Because you can't resist the temptation of pretty frocks, and hats, and good clothes, even if the bill collector does hound your steps.

Those who dance must pay the piper, and it takes all you make—and then some—to live on, but you kid yourself along by thinking that youth is the time for enjoyment, and that when you are older you will begin to save.

You have got it wrong. Youth is the time to save, and unless you form the habit of thrift when you are young you will never save at all. Furthermore, youth is just of itself happiness enough. It does not need anything to enhance the mere joy of living. You do not need a feast when your appetite is keen, nor bought pleasures when you are bubbling over with high spirits and laugh just because it is so good to be alive. It is age that needs all the consolations that money can buy it.

There is no other weakness in human nature so inexplicable as that which makes it risk its own safety, and that of its beloved, for the sake of a moment's gratification. No, it is even worse than that. Men and women deliberately purchase an hour's pleasure with years of misery.

For there is nobody so ignorant, nobody such a dolt, as not to know that the waster and the spender is bound to come to poverty and want in the end.

Life screams its warning to us from every corner. There is not one of us who could not organize a Down-and-Out Club among our personal acquaintances.

We all know men and women who were once prominent in club and social life; men who drove fast cars and gave champagne parties; women who were the glass of fashion, and whose entertainments were the talk of the town; men and women who spent money as if it grew on trees; who lived up to the last cent of their income, and who now, broken in purse, in health, in heart, seedy and forlorn, are pensioners on our bounty or glad to take any menial job that will give them bread.

All of this is as much of a bromidic truth as that thrift means prosperity and spending means want; but we can never take the lesson to heart too much to know that our safety, our independence, our well-being, depends on our banking part of our income. So get the thrift habit, and get it now.

COOLIDGE APPEALS FOR LASTING PEACE

U. S. President Urges Armistice Day Mark Outlawry of All War.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Dedication of Armistice day, Nov. 11, to the establishment of permanent peace, and the outlawry of war, is suggested by President Coolidge in a letter addressed to James A. Drain, national commander of the American legion.

"Growth of sentiment for the outlawry of war from this earth," Mr. Coolidge said, "has been an impressive fact of recent times. Men and women everywhere have been giving their best thought to bring this end into full realization.

"The inclusion of Armistice day in the list of dates commemorating great events in our national history," the letter said, "marked a significant change in our world relationships. Prior to that first Armistice day, which Americans greeted with such enthusiasm, our historic anniversaries had all been of exclusively national character. They recalled events of supreme importance in our nation's life, but of small value as links between that life and the activities of the outside world.

"When, by common consent, Armistice day was added to our calendar of memorial dates it took its place as the one in whose contribution we will always be drawn close to other peoples who stand for liberal institutions."

POLITICAL POSITION IN SPAIN IS SERIOUS

Military Directorate Believed To Have Resigned With Downfall Imminent.

Associated Press Despatch.

Biarritz, France, Nov. 3.—The political position in Spain has become extremely critical, according to passengers arriving from Madrid. Admiral Marquis de Magaze, temporary president of the military directorate, in the absence of premier Primo Rivera, has been in daily communication with the premier, but the latter declines to accept responsibility for occurrences in Spain while he is in Morocco.

Admiral de Magaze is believed to have tendered his resignation, together with other members of the directorate, and it is understood that changes are imminent whereby another government will be formed.

Names mentioned in connection with such a government are General Barrera, now military governor of Catalonia, as minister of war; Admiral de Magaze as minister of marine, and Calvo Solela as minister of the interior.

Another report says Premier Primo Rivera has decided to abandon the holy city of Xauen, which the Spanish Moroccan forces have been holding, and has given orders to that effect to General Frederico Berenguer, who is in command of approximately 20,000 troops.

GENERAL WU PEI-FU SAID TO HAVE LEFT PEKING

Associated Press Despatch.

Peking, Nov. 3.—An unconfirmed report from Tien Tsin says that General Wu Pei-Fu has embarked on a steamer.

Fighting occurred yesterday at Yangtsun, where Wu Pei-Fu's reinforcements from Shantung surrendered without resistance.

A Tien Tsin despatch last night said peace negotiations were proceeding between Wu Pei-Fu and General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the Christian general, who recently seized Peking. An armistice had been arranged, it was added, and fighting had ceased.

CHICAGO

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Wheat underwent a material sag in price today during the early dealings. There was a lack of aggressive buying, and quotations at Liverpool were lower. With a holiday scheduled for tomorrow, traders were apparently disposed to avoid any new ventures for the time being and to close out open risks as far as convenient. Initial prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅜c lower, were followed by a general setback of 1c or more and then by something of a rally.

Despite bullish new estimates of corn yield, the corn market was eased by clear, cold weather, likely to help en large receipts. After opening at ⅛c to ¾c off, prices recovered somewhat.

Oats paralleled the action of corn, starting at ¼c to ⅜c down. The market dropped a little further and then rallied

Futures opened:

Wheat—Dec., $1.40¼; May, $1.45¾.

Corn—Dec., $1.05¼; May, $1.08⅝.

Oats—Dec., 48⅜c; May, 53⅜c.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Munsingwear declared regular quarterly dividend.

Bradstreets says proof that good trade is going forward is found in largest carloadings ever recorded, gains in bank clearings and in reduced number of failures as compared with a year ago.

Dun's Review says that even with the restraining effect of the nearby election, business as a whole has made further headway, and, despite waiting attitude in many quarters, main trend has been toward moderate expansion.

President's decision on sugar duty is delayed by inability of tariff commission to agree on additional report requested by the White House.

THIRTY-SIX HORSES DIE IN $200,000 VILLAGE FIRE

Brockton, Mass., Nov. 3.—Four buildings were destroyed and 36 horses perished last night in a general alarm fire which for a time threatened the entire village of Centerville, a suburb of Brockton, causing a property loss of more than $200,000. Richard Leonard, a fireman, was injured when a beam fell on him.

Local Market

Only a few hucksters made an appearance on the local market this morning, apples being the favorite offering. Snow apples were offered in abundance on Saturday, but owing to the small demand many farmers were compelled to take their produce home again.

Hay was extremely slow this morning, the price ranging from $12 to $15 a ton. Only extra good quality hay brought $15.

Oats were also slow at $1.50 per cwt.

Potatoes are selling at 50c to $1 per bag this morning.

Butter and eggs were steady today at Saturday's quotations, the price being from 50c to 55c for strictly fresh eggs.

Live hog prices were unchanged

A small market is expected tomorrow

VISCOUNT CAVE IS PICKED FOR POST

Former Lord High Chancellor Expected To Be Again Chosen.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 3.—Viscount Cave as the lord high chancellor in the incoming Baldwin administration is the choice of the Conservative press almost unanimously. This is particularly the case since it is understood that Lord Birkenhead, who was lord high chancellor in the Lloyd George coalition government, is not eager for a legal position in the new cabinet, though his name is being frequently mentioned as a probable member of the cabinet.

Lord Cave, who was lord high chancellor in Stanley Baldwin's previous government, is well known in Canadian legal circles. Five years ago he addressed the Canadian and American bar associations and for a while he conducted a newspaper correspondence with John S. Ewart, K.C., Ottawa, on the question of the Canadian appeals to the privy council. In the correspondence Lord Cave stated that his observations while in the dominion led him to the opinion that Canadian opinion on the whole towards continuing the appeals to the privy council was completely favorable.

GRAIN MARKET GOSSIP

Cessation of export business leaves the market subject to the influence of the large visible supply. It begins to appear that statistics must verify the theories of exhaustion of supplies and the domestic situation must improve before the market will demonstrate a decided upward tendency.

Wheat traders are disappointed at the action of the market in not showing a good advance, considering the large buying by shorts.

The short interest has been well reduced, leaving the market in a position to respond to any good buying.

LONDON WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Mrs. Louise Weir Is Found Hanging From Balistrade by Relatives.

Mrs. Louise Weir, 746 Adelaide street, committed suicide yesterday afternoon while in a fit of despondency. She was found hanging by a rope from the upper stairway of her home by relatives who reside at the same house. Death was due to strangulation.

Mrs. Weir lived with her son-in-law, Alfred T. Hardie. She had been ill for some time, but when the family left the house yesterday morning at 10 o'clock she seemed to be in the best of spirits. They visited relatives in Nissouri and returned to the house at 4 o'clock. When they arrived they noticed all the blinds had been pulled down. As the door of the house was opened the body of Mrs. Weir could be seen hanging over the banister. Life had been extinct for some time. She left a note saying that no one was to blame for the tragedy.

Coroner Robert Ferguson was called, and he declared death was suicidal and no inquest was necessary.

J. H. Hooper, a workman, was struck by falling blocks and seriously injured. He was taken to the general hospital, where doctors express hope of his recovery.

TWO THOUSAND ACRES PINE DESTROYED AS FOREST FIRE SWEEPS GRAND BEND AREA

Rapidly Spreading Flames Threaten For Time Whole Summer Colony.

WIND SHIFT SAVES

Bush Fire at Clifford Does Half Million Dollar Damage.

Special to The Advertiser.

Grand Bend, Nov. 2. — Fire laid bare nearly 2,000 acres of bush-land at the north end of the famous Pinery yesterday afternoon, and threatened for a time to destroy all the cottages owned by London people in the summer resort here. Only a turn of the wind and very hard work by a number of Londoners and by residents of this community, saved the summer camp.

Brush was being burned in a clearing about a mile south of the village. It was thought that every possible care was being taken, but a strong wind springing up from the south fanned the fire into a blaze which swept toward the camp. Dry weather had left the pine trees an easy prey to the flames which, rapidly gained in volume and increased in rapidity of advance.

Threaten Cottages.

Hurried calls were spread through the neighborhood, and a score of teams and plows were pressed into service to through up a fire break south of the village. Embers carried high in the air threatened cottages with destruction, and many incipient fires were extinguished by volunteer firefighters.

Quite a number of London people were taking advantage of the fine weather of the week-end and were at their cottages, and they joined in the fight.

It was a terrific fight and for a time appeared almost hopless, but the wind veered shortly before midnight and swinging into the north sent the fire backwards into the burned area, and danger was past.

The burned area is about a mile in length and nearly three-quarters of of a mile in width. It lies on the northerly edge of the famous Pinery which is annually visited by thousands from all parts of Canada and the United States. It is one of the real sights of this district and renowned as the largest area of virgin pines to be found anythere in old Ontario. Fortunately the fire did not get into the real heart of this area but swept over a more sparsely wooded section.

Tonight a vigil is being kept to prevent any recurrence of the fire, and as the wind has died down, danger is believed to be over.

LOSS OF $500,000.
Special to The Advertiser.

Cargill, Nov. 2.—Forest fires in the Greenock swamp, the 15,000-acre tract, spread rapidly, with the high wind last night and today, acres of fine timber have been destroyed with a loss estimated approximately at $500,000. The location of the worst blaze is on the 8th concession of Greenock, five and a half miles west of Cargill, where 500 volunteer workers are engaged in fighting the worst forest fire in the history of Bruce county, while many others are protecting the farm buildings in the vicinity of the fire. Rain is urgently needed.

Families in the fire region spent an anxious night and residents of this town were also greatly alarmed. Reflection of the fire could be seen for a distance of 40 miles.

Following the destruction of one of the big lumber camps on Friday night, farmers commenced plowing around their farms on Saturday in an effort to check the fire, but this only checked the grass fire. Many thousands of people visited the scene of the fire today.

ORANGEMEN MARK GUY FAWKES' DAY

Special Service Held For Members of Loyal Lodge, Following Parade.

Commemorating Guy Fawkes' Day a special service for members of the Loyal Orange lodge was held last evening at Talbot St. Baptist church. Headed by the Hackett lodge fife and drum band, 125 members of the various Royal Black Knight preceptories and Orange lodges paraded from Ulster hall to the church.

F. S. Neeley, county master for London, led the lodgemen, and Alex. Boyd and A. Nevin were parade marshals. Many of those on parade wore lodge regalia of various degrees. At Talbot street church the pastor, Rev. Dr. Bowley Green, spoke especially on the anniversary of Guy Fawkes' Day.

Orangemen still commemorate the seizure of Guy Fawkes and his accomplices on the night of Nov. 5, 1605, as they were about to touch off casks of gunpowder below the English house of parliament, and attempt to cause the death of King James and the legislators of the country. In observing the anniversary of the gunpowder plot London Orangemen will all on Wednesday night burn in effigy Guy Fawkes and afterwards hold a monster banquet at Ulster Hall.

FIX VOTING DATE FOR ST. ANDREW'S

Congregation London Church Will Decide Issue On December 22.

Members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church will vote on the matter of church union on Monday, Dec. 22. Rev. D. C. MacGregor, D.D., minister, made the announcement at yesterday morning's service.

St. Andrew's is the first of the city Presbytedian churches to announce the date for taking the church union plebiscite. Its board of session chose, on Friday night, to appoint the earliest authorized date. It has been decreed that churches may take a vote any time between December 10 of this year and June 10 of 1925, provided notice has been given on two Sundays prior to the balloting.

Rev. Dr. MacGregor asked for careful thought and attention to the issues before votes were cast. The special act of parliament had created a united church of Canada, but had not decided the action of the individual within the church. Each member has the right to vote for or against union. Members may either concur with the vote of the general assembly or isolate themselves from the mother church.

"The issue is now definitely before the church and it is up to individual members to decide just how their interests are to be best served," Dr. MacGregor told his congregation.

It is understood that most Presbyterian churches are taking a vote on church union during the two weeks which follow December 22.

THE SEA HAWK

By RAFAEL SABATINI.

CHAPTER XXVI (continued)

Quivering with rage, Asad watched his departure. On the point of commanding him to return, he checked fearing lest in his present mood Sakr-el-Bahr should flout his authority and under the eyes of all refuse him the obedience due. He knew that it is not good to command where we are not sure of being obeyed or of being able to enforce obedience, that an authority once successfully flouted is in itself half-shattered.

Whilst still he hesitated, Marzak, who had also risen, caught him by the arm and poured into his ear hot, urgent arguments enjoining him to yield to Sakr-el-Bahr's demand.

"It is the sure way," he cried insistently. "Shall all be jeopardized for the sake of that whey-faced daughter of perdition? In the name of Shaitan, let us be rid of her; set her ashore as he demands, as the price of peace between us and him, and in the security of that peace let him be strangled when we come again to our moorings in Algiers. It is the sure way—the sure way!"

Asad turned at last to look into that handsome, eager face. For a moment he was at a loss; then he had recourse to sophistry.

"Am I coward that I should refuse all ways but sure ones?" he demanded in a withering tone. "Or art thou a coward who can counsel none other?"

"My anxiety is all for thee, O my father," Marzak defended himself indignantly. "I doubt if it be safe to sleep, lest he should stir up mutiny in the night."

"Have no fear," replied Asad. "Myself I have set the watch, and the officers are all trustworthy. Biskaine is even now in the forecastle taking the feeling of the men. Soon we shall know precisely where we stand."

"In thy place I would make sure. I would set a term to this danger of mutiny. I would accede to his demands concerning the woman, and settle afterward with himself."

"Abandon that Frankish pearl?" quoth Asad. Slowly he shook his head.

"Nay, nay! She is a garden that shall yield me roses. Together we shall yet taste the sweet sherbet of Kansar, and she shall thank me for having led her into Paradise. Abandon that rosy-limbed loveliness!"

He laughed softly on a note of exaltation, whilst in the gloom Marzak frowned, thinking of Fenzileh.

"She is an infidel," his son sternly reminded him, "so forbidden thee by the Prophet. Wilt thou be as blind to that as to thine own peril?"

Then his voice gathering vehemence and scorn as he proceeded: "She has gone naked of face through the streets of Algiers; she has been gaped at by the rabble in the sok; this loveliness of hers has been deflowered by the greedy gaze of Jew and Moor and Turk; galley-slaves and negroes have feasted their eyes upon her unveiled beauty; one of thy captains hath owned her his wife." He laughed.

"By Allah, I do not know thee, O my father! Is this the woman thou wouldst take for thine own? This the woman for whose possession thou wouldst jeopardize thy life and perhaps the very Bashalik itself!"

Asad clenched his hands until the nails bit into his flesh. Every word his son had uttered had been as a [illegible] to his soul. The truth of it was not to be contested. He was humiliated and shamed. Yet neither was he conquered of his madness, nor diverted from his course. Before he could make answer, the tall martial figure of Biskaine came up the companion.

"Well?" the Basha greeted him eagerly, thankful for this chance to turn the subject.

Biskaine was downcast. His news was to be read in his countenance.

"The task appointed me was difficult," said he. "I have done my best. Yet I could scarce go about it in such a fashion as to draw definite conclusions. But this I know, my lord, that he will be reckless indeed if he dares to take up arms against thee and challenge thine authority. So much at least I am permitted to conclude.

"No more than that?" asked Asad. "And if I were to take up arms against him and to seek to settle this matter out of hand?"

Biskaine paused a moment ere replying.

"I cannot think but that Allah would vouchsafe thee victory," he said.

But his words did not delude the Basha. He recognized them to be no more than those which respect for him dictated to his officer.

"Yet," continued Biskaine, "I should judge thee reckless too, my lord, as reckless as I should judge him in the like circumstances."

"I see," said Asad. "The matter stands so balanced that neither of us dare put it to the test."

"Thou hast said it."

"Then is thy course plain to thee!" cried Marzak, eager to renew his arguments. "Accept his terms, and—"

But Asad broke in impatiently.

"Everything in its own hour and each hour is written. I will consider what to do."

Below on the waist-deck Sakr-el-Bahr was pacing with Vigitello, and Vigitello's words to him were of a tenor identical almost with those of Biskaine to the Basha.

"I scarce can judge," said the Italian renegade. "But I do think that it were not wise for either thou or Asad to take the first step against the other."

"Are matters, then, so equal between us?"

"Numbers, I fear," replied Vigitello, "would be in favor of Asad. No truly devout Moslem will stand against the Basha, the representative of the Sublime Portal, to whom loyalty is a question of religion. Yet they are accustomed to obey thee, to leap at thy command, and so Asad himself were rash to put it to the test."

"Aye—a sound argument," said Sakr-el-Bahr. "It is as I had thought."

Upon that he quitted Vigitello, and slowly, thoughtfully, returned to the poop-deck. It was his hope—his only hope now—that Asad might accept the proposal he had made him. As the price of it he was fully prepared for the sacrifice of his own life, which it must entail. But it was not for him to approach Asad again; to do so would be to argue doubt and anxiety and so to court refusal. He must possess his soul in what patience he could. If Asad persisted in his refusal undeterred by any fear of mutiny, then Sakr-el-Bahr knew not what course remained to him to accomplish Rosamund's deliverance.

Proceed to stir up mutiny he dared not. It was too desperate a throw. In his own view it offered him no slightest chance of success and did it fail, then, indeed, all would be lost, himself destroyed and Rosamund at the mercy of Asad. He nourished the faint hope that in that coming fight—if indeed the Spaniards did show fight—some chance might perhaps present itself, some unexpected way out of the present situation.

He spent the night under the stars, stretched across the threshold of the curtained entrance to the poop-house, making thus a barrier of his body whilst he slept, and himself watched over in his turn by his faithful Nubians, who remained on guard. He awakened when the first violet tints of dawn were in the east and, quietly dismissing the weary slaves to their rest, he kept watch alone thereafter. Under the awning on the starboard quarter slept the Basha and his son, and near them Biskaine was snoring.

CHAPTER XXVII
The Mutineers.

Later that morning some time after the galeasse had awakened to life and such languid movement as might be looked for in a waiting crew, Sakr-el-Bahr went to visit Rosamund.

He found her brightened and refreshed by sleep, and he brought her reassuring messages that all was well, encouraging her with hopes which he himself was very far from entertaining. If her reception of him was not expressedly friendly, neither was it unfriendly. She listened to the hopes he expressed of yet effecting her safe deliverance, and whilst she had no thanks to offer him for the efforts he was to exert on her behalf—accepting them as her absolute due, as the inadequate liquidation of the debt that lay between them—yet there was now none of that aloofness amounting almost to scorn which hitherto had marked her bearing toward him.

THE · BUILDING · OF · THE · DOMINION

At the Gateway Ports of the World

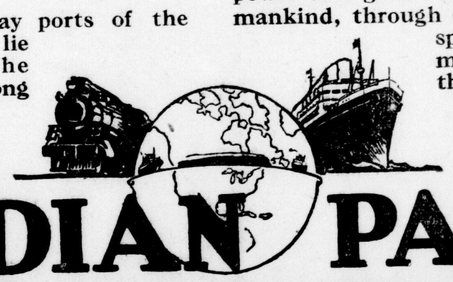

THE great ships of the Canadian Pacific—their magnificence of size and equipment—cruising from sea to sea, with a notable company of men and woman aboard, demonstrate and advertise Canada to the world.

No less than five great cruises will take place early in 1925—one of them Round the World, one to the Mediterranean, one Round America and two to the West Indies.

Within the forty-eight gateway ports of the world linked by these cruises lie the ships of all nations. The Canadian Pacific ships are among the largest passenger steamers touching these harbors, and give an impression of the importance of Canada such as could be achieved in no other way.

Thus they serve as advance agents for Canadian trade all over the world. Certainly, this is one of the great services performed for Canada by the Canadian Pacific. The message of peace, power and good will from our Dominion to all mankind, through each succeeding cruise, will spread the influence of Canada more and more widely over the earth.

DO YOU KNOW: That these Canadian Pacific steamers on these cruises will travel 55,998 nautical miles?

WRECK IN CHICAGO TAKES TEN LIVES

Many Women and Children Killed When Engine Hits Street Car.

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Ten passengers were killed and two were seriously injured early today when a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad freight train, backing into the yards here, wrecked a crowded street car crossing the tracks. Most of the victims were neighbors returning from a Halloween party, and many wore masquerade costume.

The dead are: Katherine Ruedhausen, 21; Mrs. Mary Garritty, 35, and four-year-old daughter, Anna May; Mrs. Elizabeth Burns, 40; unidentified woman, 20; Patrick O'Malley, 57; Bennie Cadelieri, 30; William Walch, 45; Dr. M. Shenkin, 70; Elmer Belanfleth, no age given. Mrs. Garritty and her daughter were suffocated and trampled in the panic which ensued when the street car was shunted across the street and crashed into a watchmen's tower.

Police and firemen were rushed to the scene following the passengers screaming and fighting in the darkness for the exits. Rescuers used saws, axes and crowbars to break away the wreckage and extricate the victims.

Joseph Brahe, 59, crossing watchman, was ordered held for the coroner's inquest tomorrow after policemen found the gates which protect the crossing intact after the accident, indicating, they said, that they had not been lowered to warn the car crew. Two physicians who examined him shortly after the wreck said he had been drinking, and detectives said an empty bottle, smelling of whiskey, had been found in the tower.

The crews of the street car and freight train, also questioned, were released after railroad and car company officials promised Coroner Oscar Wolff they would have them present at the inquest. Carl Olsen, conductor, and Robert Glenn, motorman of the car, said the crossing gates were up as the car started across the railroad right-of-way.

Physicians expressed doubt of the recovery of six of the injured, among them two small children and several women. The unidentified woman wore a masquerade costume and had only an initialed ring as a clue to her identity.

Coroner Wolff and Morgan A. Collins, chief of police, took personal charge of the investigation.

TWENTY-ONE DEAD IS TOLL OF PLAGUE

Doctors Determine Los Angeles Scourge as Pneumonia—Many Stricken.

Associated Press Despatch.

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 2.—Two more deaths and the addition to the health department list of two fatal cases, previously withheld because of disputed diagnosis, tonight increased the official roster of pneumonic plague victims in Los Angeles to 21.

Two other deaths were reported today of men known to have been working in the infected district, but physcians said they were not convinced that the cause of death was pneumonic plague, and the names, therefore, were not written on the list of today's plague victims.

They were Father M. Drualla, a Catholic priest, said to have administered extreme unction to several sufferers in the infected quarter, and Emmett McLaughlin, an ambulance driver. Ten patients were being treated for pneumonic plague in the isolation ward of the county hospital, and three others were quarantined for observation with no positive diagnosis.

FRANK BARNED ADMITS TO NEW ORLEANS CHIEF HE KILLED NIAGARA MAN

London Man Wanted On Murder Charge Confesses Crime, Police Superintendent Declares—Captured On Saturday, and After Denials Finally Admits His Identity.

WILL BE BROUGHT TO CANADA IN FEW DAYS

Frank Barned, London man, wanted in Niagara Falls for the murder of Smylie Muirhead a month ago, and who was apprehended Saturday by police of New Orleans, Louisiana, has admitted his identity and commission of the crime, according to a special despatch received by The Advertiser from the superintendent of police at New Orleans.

The message received last night read as follows: "Frank Barned admits his identity and commission of the crime.—Signed, Guy R. Molony, superintendent police."

Arrest Confirmed.

Confirmation of the arrest of Barned and his admission of identity was received also by The Advertiser from Charles Forrester, superintendent of the London division of the Canadian National Railways, who is attending a railwaymen's convention at New Orleans. In reply to a request from The Advertiser that he identify the prisoner, he wired as follows:

"Frank Barned, confined New Orleans, admits identity; expects to return to Canada in few days."

Worked For C. N. R.

Barned at one time was employed on the C. N. R. under the jurisdiction of Mr. Forrester.

Barned, according to Canadian Press despatches of Saturday, had previously denied that he was the man wanted by Niagara Falls police.

In communication with Chief of Police Stephen Welch of Niagara Falls last night The Advertiser was informed that either Niagara Falls police or provincial police officers would leave for New Orleans the first of this week to bring Barned back.

Chief Welch learned of Barned's apprehension in New Orleans on Saturday morning by a telegram from the chief of police of that city. The wire stated that a man answering to Barned's description, contained in circulars broadcasted throughout the United States, had been arrested. He was travelling under the name of Harry Van Stone. No other details of his capture were given.

Identification Easy.

Barned's identification is made easy by the fact that he wears a brace on his right leg and walks with a decided limp. Chief Welch had a minute description of the wanted man printed in circular form, and, working on the theory that Barned would in all probability make for the extreme southern or western states, sent the circulars to almost every police department in those districts.

Barned was arrested Saturday, exactly five weeks after he is alleged to have driven his automobile, while in a fury, onto the sidewalk at Epworth Circle, Niagara Falls, and ran down three people, killing Smylie Muirhead. Barned's wife, Ruth, was seriously injured. She is still confined in hospital recovering from a fractured leg. Mrs. Muirhead, who was walking with her husband and Mrs. Barned at the time, escaped uninjured.

Barned has travelled over a wide area since he escaped immediately after the crime. He has been traced to San Diego, Cal., where word of him was received by Chief Welch on Oct. 15. He was next reported to be in Tia Juana, Mexico, where he was travelling under the name of M. A. Kroupash.

Apply For Extradition.

Niagara Falls authorities have applied to Crown-Attorney Cowper and the attorney-general's department for extradition papers, and will probably proceed to New Orleans today or tomorrow.

It is not expected that Barned will make any attempt to fight extradition, and it is probable that the United States immigration authorities will take a hand and turn him over at the border to Canadian police.

Barned is believed to have escaped from Niagara Falls by jumping on a bus going over the lower bridge a few minutes after the murder. In Niagara Falls, N. Y., he probably boarded a main line car and from there to a Buffalo high-speed car.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 2.—Following a conference of police officials Saturday a charge of murder has been laid against John O'Grady in connection with the death of Violet Carr.

O'Grady operates a private detective agency and was formerly a member of the city police force.

Mrs. Carr died from the effects of poison taken at O'Grady's apartment, and the coroner's jury, which probed the death on Friday, added a rider that O'Grady's evidence, which constituted a straight denial of any knowledge of the person, was unsatisfactory.

THOUSANDS ARE GOING HOME FOR THANKSGIVING.

Thanksgiving this year falling on Monday, Nov. 10, allows an unusually long week-end, and permits travelling distances which would be impossible in a shorter period. Thousands are arranging to visit the home folks or out-of-town friends.

The passenger department of the Canadian National Railways are making special arrangements on all routes to provide the public with every travelling comfort. Nevertheless, as it is impossible to estimate the number who will be travelling, it would be wise for all those who anticipate taking advantage of this occasion to make their reservations as soon as possible.

CATHOLICS HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES

November Has Special Significance For Members of Roman Catholic Church.

The month of November holds a special significance in the Roman Catholic church and throughout the thirty-day period Catholics in every part of the world will congregate to pray for the dead.

City congregations were exhorted from the pulpit yesterday morning to co-operate with their pastors in making the period one of special devotion.

Today is All Souls' Day, one of the feast days of the year, and two more masses will be said in every church. It is the custom today for the faithful to place the names of their departed relatives and friends on the altar and the celebrant priest offers the mass for the atonement of the sins of the dead.

"None defiled may enter Heaven," Father Chisholm declared in his sermon at St. Mary's church. "Dogma of the Catholic faith teaches us that there is a purgatory where souls stained with sin must suffer a while before they can enjoy the beatific vision.

"The church implores us to aid these souls by our prayers, and this month is set aside for the remembrance of the dead. When death calls we can help ourselves no more, but the church on earth can aid us when we are gone.

"'Have pity on me, have pity on me, for the hand of the Lord is upon me,' these souls cry. It is your duty as Catholics to pray they may be freed from their sins."

KING WINTER MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE

Several Heavy Flurries of Snow Appear Throughout District.

King Winter appears with marked regularity in London. Yesterday he made his first appearance with several heavy flurries of snow. Last year he appeared on Halloween, and on Nov. 1 there was a two-inch fall of snow.

The cold wave is general, and from several points in Western Ontario reports were received of snow flurries during Sunday. In no case was the fall heavy enough to be measured.

The thermometer did not show the weather as cold as it appeared to be or as many imagined it was. The lowest during the 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock last night was 37 while the highest during the same period was 43. On Saturday the high point was 65 with a low point of 44. The barometer on Sunday was higher than on Saturday which is favorable sign for disappearance of the cold wave.

Records show that last year was very similar to this year in temperature conditions.

BURNS ARE FATAL TO LONDON BOY

James Ollson Has Clothes Ignited in Attempt To Put Out Bonfire.

James Ollson, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ollson, 121 Highbury street, died of burns in Victoria hospital Saturday night, four hours after his clothes became ignited while playing with a bonfire.

Saturday afternoon the boy, along with friends, built several fires on a vacant lot directly opposite his home on Highbury avenue. James attempted to put one of them out by tramping on the smouldering ashes. A strong wind was blowing at the time, and burning fragments from the fire were whirled onto his clothes, igniting them.

The sweater he was wearing quickly became ablaze and the boy, frightened at the condition he was in, neglected to seek aid immediately. His chums attempted to extinguish the fire. Finally, however, he ran across the street to his home, where his mother succeeded in wrapping a blanket about the boy's body, smothering the flames.

In extinguishing the burning clothes, Mrs. Ollson herself was severely burned about her hands.

The boy was taken to Victoria hospital by Dr. J. C. Lindsay. His feet and back were badly seered, and he died at 8 o'clock.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, John and Carl, and one sister, Helen. The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home on Highbury avenue to Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Six members of the Ealing school, of which Jimmie Ollson was a pupil, will act as pallbearers.

CANADA DOES NOT BAR ITALIAN IMMIGRANTS

Must Pass Same Regulations As Other Entrants—Italians Protest.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—The same immigration regulations apply to Italians as to practically all other immigrants coming to Canada from the continent Europe, according to responsible officials of the immigration department here. The attention of the department was drawn to a cable from London stating that the Catholic immigration association was protesting against the exclusion of Italian immigrants from Canada.

According to officials of the department, Italian immigrants who can qualify under the regulations are admitted to this country. At present there are only three admissable classes —agriculturists, domestic servants and the wives and children under 18 years of age of an Italian domiciled in Canada. It is pointed out, however, that the majority of Italians are not farmers, and are not anxious to go on the farm. It is not the policy of the department at present to encourage immigration which will swell the population of the cities.

D. Martin, Stratford; H. W. Hambly, St. Thomas; W. T. Goodison, Sarnia; J. H. McGuire, Walkerville, and H. V. Kennedy, Toronto.

The annual meeting of the association will be held on December 20, President Harley announced.

Reports Submitted.

E. N. Hannah, who with President Harley was a delegate to the empire gathering of travellers in London, England, last summer, gave a detailed report of the convention, and declared in conclusion that the status of commercial travellers throughout the British Empire had been raised considerably as a result of the convention.

Reports given by the various committees were enthusiastically received. The president's report was most comprehensive, and was as follows:

London, Ont., Nov. 1st, 1924.

Gentlemen:—

Another year in the history of our association has rolled by, and on behalf of the board of management I take pleasure in submitting for your consideration the 48th annual report. Despite the general curtailment of business during the present year, our financial report shows the association to be in prosperous condition, showing a satisfactory gain in our capital account of $44,013.12.

While the current rate of interest paid on bonds and mortgages has experienced a gradual decline, we are still able to show an average yield on all our investments of 6.30 per cent. We have this year increased our mortgage holdings by about $7,000, and bond and debenture holdings by $28,000; thereby showing a substantial net gain in investments.

Our total investments at this date are $604,395.62, made up of $386,809.69 in bonds and debentures, and $217,585.93 in mortgages, which, with bank balance and accrued interest on investments to date, show our capital account to be $627,987.58.

The membership—2,656—is about the same as last year, or an increase of 13, and is considered quite satisfactory in view of conditions during the year. Our outside agents, located at points having a membership of 50 or more, have looked well after the renewals of our members and have secured several new members.

Thirty-Two Members Died.

During the year your board of management has endeavored to be of service, particularly to our younger members and employees of wholesale and manufacturing houses, in the establishment of a class for the study of the problems of salesmanship. The University of Western Ontario has undertaken the responsibility, and classes are held in the association's rooms each week-end. This is a splendid opportunity for our younger members to improve their knowledge of salesmanship and to be able to analyze the problems of distribution, not simply from their own viewpoint, but from that of the man to whom they sell, and at the same time gain by the experience of our older members, who will attend in an advisory capacity. A diploma will be issued by the association, indorsed by the university, to each member who successfully passes an examination at the end of the session.

The annual report from our actuary shows our financial position to be the strongest in our history. After basing our investments on a yield of 4 per cent instead of the actual present yield of 6.30 per cent, he shows our position to be 107.9 per cent solvent, which should be quite satisfactory for our future outlook in meeting all demands on our mortuary benefit funds.

Your board of management, with the co-operation and assistance of the commercial travellers' association of Canada, Toronto, are still negotiating with the Ontario provincial government in reference to our request that all elections be held on Mondays, and also that the travellers be given the same privilege of the advance poll in provincial elections as already secured in municipal elections. We hope to secure this privilege during the next session of the legislature.

In conclusion, I regret to report that the loss through death has been the greatest in the history of our association, the number being 32, which included a number of our older and valued members.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. E. HARLEY, President.

GALE ON LAKE HURON DELAYS GRAIN VESSELS

One Steamer Overdue 24 Hours at Goderich—Ships Stay in Port.

Special to The Advertiser.

Goderich, Nov.—For the past thirty-six hours a storm of more than ordinary violence has been blowing over Lake Huron. Blowing Saturday morning from the south, the wind increased in intensity to a gale. Last night the velocity increased and the direction shifted gradually through west to northwest by night, a velocity being reached of 60 miles per hour about 3 o'clock in the morning.

With such a gale and heavy seas lake traffic has been considerably impeded. The steamer Bayton from Fort William with wheat for the Western Canada Flour Mills, passed through the Soo on Thursday night, shortly after midnight, and has been overdue at Goderich for twenty-four hours. Concern as to her safety was expressed yesterday, but it is now reported that she is sheltering on the American shore till better weather. The steamer W. D. Reis from Milwaukee, with wheat, arrived this morning at 8 o'clock at the transit elevator reporting one of the worst trips of the season. Steamer Glenlivet reported cleared for Fort William Friday is still in port awaiting the passing of the blow.

Mystery Follows Finding of Two Human Skeletons

Special to The Advertiser.

Simcoe, Nov. 2.—The young son of Alfred Belbeck, superintendent of the Port Dover waterworks station there, while removing sand from a wooded hill on the south side of the farm of Dr. W. R. Pegg, Doan's Hollow, came across a skeleton buried about 16 inches beneath the surface of the ground. Dr. Cook of Port Dover was summoned.

After a careful examination of all bones and skull, which contained every tooth in a perfect state of preservation, the doctor concluded that the body had been buried seven or eight years ago. He believed the remains were those of a girl, in her early twenties.

The residents of the community have no recollection of the mysterious disappearance of any person from the locality within the past four or five decades.

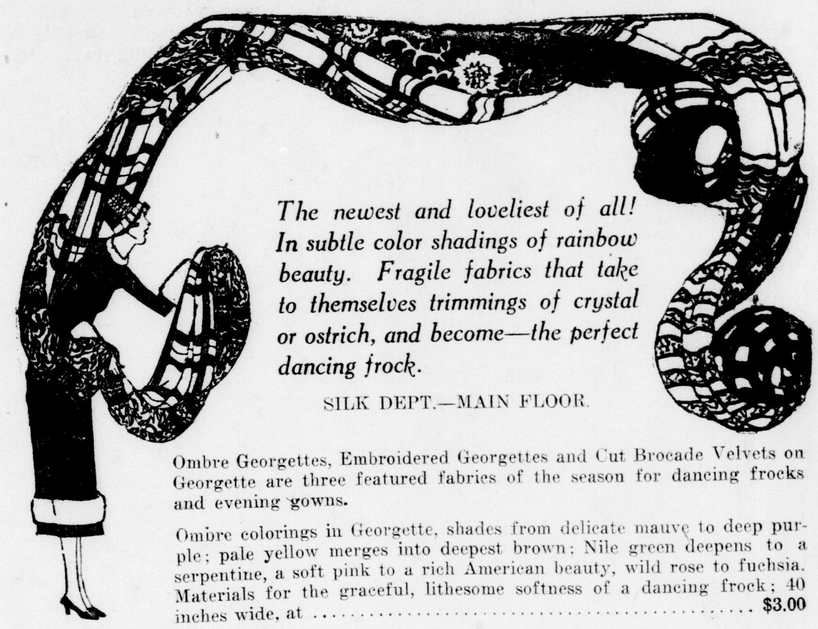

FIND PARISHIONER.

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Nov. 2.—While digging a ditch on Buller street yesterday morning, Thomas Brabyn, this city, unearthed a human skeleton. The excavation is being made on the site of the old Methodist cemetery, and the skeleton is believed to be that of a Methodist parishioner of Woodstock's early days. A jagged hole, suggestive of the mark of a bullet was noticed in the skull, but this cannot be identified with any incident in the known history of the city.

The owner of the property on which the remains were discovered, states that he will see the bones are given proper burial.

To-day I saw

There's a well-known principle which most successful newspapers follow. It's this: That their readers enjoy seeing names in print.

And there's a little machine on the Main Floor just now that's working busily and hard for almost exactly the same reason.

It's the Engravograph, that recently-invented automatic device which provides eight points out of the nine in that famous old adage, "Possession is Nine Points of the Law."

On all the little articles that are distinctly one's own, there's nothing that can place so firm a seal of proprietorship as the Engravograph!

For if there's pleasure in seeing a name in print, there's not only pleasure but convenience attached to seeing one's own name deeply and unalterably engraved by means of the Engravograph.

At any rate, that's the conclusion I drew when I visited the stationery counter the other morning, and now my fountain pen is bristling with a "Judith" that stands out as plainly as the traffic signal at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets.

You'd be interested in watching the Engravograph. It provides quite a fascinating little performance, with its deft, sure movement. Fountain pens, combs, compacts, all sorts of things go into the little groove at the top, and when they emerge there is the owner's name, neatly cut right into the material!

The Engravograph is an impartial machine. It divides all its customers into just two classes, those who purchase in the store and those who don't. If you belong to the former, it works for you with just a "please" and "thank you." And if you're of the latter, it makes a modest charge of only 25c for making your important accessories safe to your person.
