The Low Cost of Service.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The other night we referred a difference about the spelling of a certain word to the dictionary. Although the degree of the dictionary did not suit the majority, it was of course accepted without question. And as we laid the book and the subject aside, there came to me a realization of all that unquestioning acceptance meant. The reason that we accepted that verdict with such absolute faith was that we knew that our question had been answered by a committee of learned men who had devoted years of labor to studying that and similar problems for us. We knew that we had in them a corps of faithful and intelligent servants and so we gave the matter into their hands with perfect faith that it would be properly attended to.

Do you remember in your First Reader the story of the boy whose uncle promised him that he would serve him a pudding which a thousand people had helped to make? When it came in for dessert, some very simple pudding was brought in and the little boy thought he had been deceived; but before his uncle had finished telling him of the men and women who had helped to cultivate and transport the rice and spice and sugar, etc., that went into the pudding, he was convinced that he was really eating what a thousand people had helped make for him, and was as astonished and impressed as his uncle could wish.

As I laid aside the dictionary, after availing myself of the efficient service of those learned and studious men, that First Reader story came back to me and I, too, was suddenly impressed by a realization of the innumerable servants who wait on the humblest of us.

They say the cost of living is high to-day. In some ways it was never lower. My dictionary is a small one, costing about $3. It will last me at least ten or fifteen years, and I shall surely use it hundreds of times in that period. Does not that make the cost of service pretty low?

A man in Boston writes a letter to a friend in San Francisco; he buys a stamp and posts it. With the purchase of that two-cent stamp he buys the services, not only of all the men who actually handle that letter and the bag that contains it, but also of all the firemen and engineers, the brakemen, the mail cart drivers, etc., who will help to bring it to its destination.

Think of the number of servants represented by a public library full of books. For the writing and correcting and printing of each one of these little volumes there was required the work of innumerable men, both brain-wise and hand-wise. And all of these are your servants.

Think of the number of men and women who become your servants when you pay five cents for a telephone call.

These are a few of our servants, but only a few. You can think of plenty more for yourself. After all it's quite a wonderful world we are living in, in this twentieth century, isn't it?

HOW TO PRESERVE YOUTH AND BEAUTY.

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor's book, such for instance, as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents for cloth-bound copy, addressing Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y.

The womanly system is a delicate machine which can only be compared to the intricate mechanism of a beautiful watch which will keep in good running order only with good care and the proper oiling at the right time, so that the delicate mechanism may not be worn out. Very many times young women get old or run down before their time through ignorance and the improper handling of this human mechanism. Mental depression, a confused head, backache, headache, or hot flashes and many symptoms of derangement of the womanly system can be avoided by a proper understanding of what to do, in those trying times that come to all women.

Mrs. G. H. WILLIAMS.

Mrs. G. H. WILLIAMS, of Lumberton, Va., writes: "It is six years since my health gave way. I had female trouble and all the doctors (I employed three) said I would die. I was not able to do my work, and to hire someone to do it for me. Finally I read in the paper about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and decided to try it. I had not taken but one bottle until I found it had done me good. I took in all five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and now I am able to do all my housework, and have gained fourteen pounds. I advise all women, female trouble, to try your 'Favorite Prescription.' It's the only medicine on earth."

Prince Kropotkin

His Extraordinary Career—His Arrest—His Escape—His Gospel of Sociology and Mutual Aid.

Prince Kropotkin, the famous Russian scientist and sociologist, reached his 70th year recently, and many of his English friends, among whom he has resided since his dramatic escape from a Russian prison in 1876, have presented him with a memorial, which says:—

"Your services in the cause of physical science, your contributions to geographical and geological discovery, your criticisms and extensions of the Darwinian theory of evolution are matters of world-wide recognition, and have greatly enlarged our understanding of general Nature—while your criticisms and emendations of current political economy have similarly widened our outlook on human and social life."

Born of a noble family, Kropotkin was at one time a member of the Tsar's Corps of Pages and held high official positions, but his activity in the movement for Russian freedom led to his arrest. Mr. A. G. Gardiner gives a graphic account in the Daily News of his arrest, his escape, and what he has done in the way of social investigation.

Eye of the Arrest.

"It is a spring evening in 1874. All scientific St. Petersburg is assembled at the Geographical Society to hear the famous savant, Prince Kropotkin reveal the results of his explorations in Finland, which overthrow all the old theories as to the glacial period in Russia. The fame of the scholar is established. He has that vast range of mind that takes all knowledge for its empire. Mathematician and geologist, artist and author—he wrote novels at twelve years of age—musician and philosopher, familiar with twenty languages and talking easily in seven, he has at thirty become one of the intellectual glories of Russia."

"Kropotkin is nominated forthwith as President of the Physical Geography section. He leaves in a cab, and as he passes down the great Perspective of Nevsky another cab passed him. A weaver leans from it and hails him—'Mr. Borodin.' The two cabs are stopped. From behind the weaver a detective leaps from the second cab—'Mr. Borodin, Prince Kropotkin, I arrest you.' Policemen spring up at the detective's signal. Resistance is useless, and Kropotkin is taken back in custody. Judas follows behind in the second cab."

His Life in Prison.

Two years have passed—two years of life in a solitary cell in that grim fortress of Peter and Paul, whose annals are the annals of the martyrdom of Russia's noblest and best, patriots and poets buried alive, condemned to slow death, driven to insanity in the loneliness of the dark dungeons. Two years, and still Kropotkin awaits the trial that never comes—two years in which the only human intercourse he has had has been by a code of tapping which he has established at the end of many months of death-like silence with prisoners in the adjoining cells. He has preserved his health by walking five miles a day in his cell—a thousand times from corner to corner—and by gymnastics with his stool.

SOPER & MOORE

"He has preserved his reason because through the efforts of his much-loved brother Alexander he had been allowed writing materials and has completed his monumental work on the glacial hypothesis. But he has forgotten the sound of his own voice, for he is not permitted to sing, and has soon lost even the desire to preserve that contact with his old self."

How He Escape.

"And now at the end of two years he has fallen ill, and is sent to the hospital of the military prison. Here in the afternoon he is permitted to walk in the courtyard with armed warders for companions, and here one day takes place that wonderful escape the manner of which he himself had planned and had communicated to his friends outside—the gate open to let in the wood carriers, Kropotkin walking to and fro, hat in hand a signal that he is ready, the stranger talking to the warder at the gate, the sound of a violin from a neighbouring house playing Schubert's 'Serenade' that gathers speed as the crisis comes, until it seems to shriek 'Run! run!' the dash for the gate, the leap into the carriage that sweeps up at the critical moment, the gallop through the streets, the daring dinner in a fashionable restaurant while the police are searching every hiding place in St. Petersburg, the borrowed passport, the flight across Finland to Sweden, the Union Jack, and—England. There is no tale like it outside Dumas. It furnishes the most thrilling passage in the greatest autobiography of our time.—Public Opinion."

Hotel Professor's Latest Degree.

Berlin, Dec. 24.—"D.H."—Doctor of Hotelkeeping—is a degree with which the world will become familiar if plans formulated in Berlin are successfully carried out.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the International Hotelkeepers' League it was decided to establish an "hotel academy" for educational purposes. A fund of £7,500 has been subscribed by the leading hotels in Europe towards the initial expenses of the scheme. The academy, which will probably be situated in Germany, will aim at converting hotelkeeping from a trade into a profession and at educating hotel employees on the same scientific lines as barristers, physicians, and engineers who graduate at universities.

Every branch of hotel work, from that of hall porter to that of general manager, will be taught by specialists. The curriculum will provide for a three-year course, including six weeks' attendance at the academy each year and many weeks' practical experience.

$5,604 Tied on Waist.

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—Examination of the body of Mrs. Sarah Johnson, who with her sister, Miss Mary Scott, died Christmas Eve of pneumonia, apparently in dire want, revealed that a bag around her waist contained $5,604 in cash and three gold watches. In Miss Scott's effects were found deeds and papers showing bank deposits.

Little is known of the sisters. They arrived two weeks ago at the address where death occurred. Both suffering from coughs which developed into pneumonia, they refused to have medical attention, because of the cost, and even declined to go to a free hospital. Although living in the same room, they slept in single beds and used separate tables, dishes and silverware. Bills were evenly divided between them.

Evening Telegram

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor W. F. LLOYD, Editor

SATURDAY, January 4, 1913.

What is the Object?

If, as is reported, it is true that the Morris Government is seeking power to enlarge the Legislative Council, and the Daily News does not deny it this morning, the question arises: What is the object of the increase?

What specific benefit can the Government hope to derive from increasing the membership for the present session? There has been no difficulty whatever experienced by the Morris Government during the past four sessions in putting through the Legislative Council all the Government measures. There is no accumulation of measures, proposed by the Government, passed by the House of Assembly, and rejected by the Legislative Council, which would warrant a Government in seeking power to increase the membership of the Legislative Council, in order to pass legislation deemed necessary.

No difficulties of the past four years can justify any increase in the number of members of the Legislative Council. There have been no such difficulties experienced and we must seek elsewhere for the object.

Is it that the Government contemplate legislation of a drastic and novel character during the forthcoming session, which they may expect the majority of the present members to reject? Even if it were so, that would afford no justification. First of all the Government would be bound to give the Council a chance before increasing the present membership. Further, that would afford no justification for increasing the membership, if the legislation was novel and drastic and for which the electorate had given no mandate at a General Election. If the object of the move is to be found in some legislation, contemplated this session, what is the Government's game? Time will tell.

But, of course, none of these objects may be aimed at. It may be a pure party move to placate sore and disgruntled party men. Such a solution is not at all unlikely. It has been whispered for months past that much soreness and considerable hostility have been shown to the Government in quarters influenced by the proposed new members of the Council.

If the object of the increase is to placate three important party supporters who are none too pleased with the present Government, it is a highly improper motive. The membership of the Legislative Council should not be increased merely to aid a party which is about to appeal to the country to placate political soreheads.

The increase in membership will in no way improve the efficiency of the Upper Chamber, but it may prove a source of serious embarrassment to the incoming Government in its efforts to promote legislation desired by the fishermen of the country, for all the three nominees reported are Fish Merchants.

SHIP RETURNED.—The Solway left here at daylight this morning for Sydney to load freight but after making Cape Spear found it too stormy to proceed and returned to port.

The Annual Entertainment in aid of Mount Cashel Orphans will take place in the T. A. Hall on Wednesday, 29th inst. Jan 4, 11

ANOTHER STORM.—To-day right across country another storm prevails with heavy rain. The lines are interrupted from Bishop's Falls west. The Reid Mill Co. think the Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques O.K., though they have no information to this effect.

RUMORED FIRE AT HALIFAX.—To-day it was rumoured about the city that a disastrous fire had occurred at Halifax late last night and that most of the waterfront had been wiped out. The report could not be verified to-day, none of the cable offices knowing anything of it.

IN BAD STATE.—To-day Const. Tobin arrived from Bell Island with a man named Mark Parsons, who was in a bad state. The poor fellow is an imbecile and had been knocking about the island without home or friends. His parents reside on the Baillie Line, and they will be compelled to look after him.

SOCIETY APPOINTMENT.—Mr. G. B. Lloyd, of the Money Order Department of the General Post Office, has been re-appointed District Deputy Supreme President, by the Supreme authorities of the Sons of England, in Canada, with jurisdiction in Newfoundland. Mr. Lloyd is well known in Sons of England circles, being head of the Order in Newfoundland for many years.

BODY SENT HOME.—The body of John McCue, who was killed by a train at Grand Falls, a few days ago, was sent to Fox Harbor by the express which arrived here this morning for interment. The man was proceeding to work at 1 p.m. when the accident occurred. He was walking the track and the driver of the engine said that he repeatedly blew the whistle to warn him, but he didn't seem to heed the whistle. One leg was completely severed from the body when the engine went over him and the other was terribly mutilated.

Cable News.

Special to The Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, Jan. 3. James R. Keene, a familiar figure in financial and sporting circles, died to-day, following an operation for abdominal troubles.

PARIS, Jan. 3. A rumor that the Turkish fortress of Adrianople had fallen into the hands of the besiegers, was current on the Bourse to-day.

LONDON, To-day. The discussions of the peace envoys to-day centred on the question of Adrianople to the islands of the Aegean Sea. The Turks continued their protest and indicate their disinclination to yield, while the allies are equally persistent. The Turks offered a slight concession regarding the frontier line between Turkey and Bulgaria in Thrace. This concession included the city of Kanthi. The Allies threatened, unless the Turkish offer included the fortress of Adrianople and the island of Crete, negotiations would be broken off. They said they would give the Turks until Monday to decide and the Turks replied they would be ready with an answer to-morrow. The reports that Roumania is mobilizing its army is characterized to-day by the Roumanian Minister of the Interior, who arrived in London last night, as nonsense. Once mobilization has been officially announced, the Minister added, it will mean Roumania has decided to go to war immediately. We shall never employ mobilization as a bluff or threat. Lately our army has taken steps demanded by prudence, but it is by no means a mobilization. The Roumanian Minister declared his visit to London was a private one, and was not connected with negotiations pending between Roumania and Bulgaria for the rectification of the frontier.

LONDON, To-day. The project of imposing a tax on food imported into British Isles, put forward by some leaders of the opposition in the Commons, created such hopeless dissensions in the Unionist Party, that it renders almost certain the retention of power by the Liberal Government for the two years necessary to overcome the resistance of the Lords that the Home Rule Bill's chances are improved. Ministers will decide against a dissolution of parliament and will push on their legislative programme, especially as Lloyd George has practically overcome his difficulties with the medical profession and secured almost enough doctors to work the Insurance Act before Christmas recess. It was estimated that 70 per cent. of the Unionist Party in the Commons advise 'no tax, but the Times says in fact 17 per cent. would now be a generous estimate of Unionist members who are making this stand. Yesterday 'Bonar Law had a formal conference with Unionist members, representatives of Lancashire constituencies, and advised his friends to wait until January 11, for the adjourned meeting of the Lancashire division of the National Unionist Association of which he would make a statement.

Remains of Victims Picked Up.

Magistrate Hogan wired the following message yesterday afternoon to Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings: "The local constable reports men picking up pieces of bodies at Broad Cove and burying them there."

The portions of bodies found are supposed to belong to the ill-fated "Torrence, and is evidently what the Evening Telegram exclusively alluded to on Thursday. The Deputy Minister has wired instructions to try and endeavor to identify any remains that would be picked up.

My Word for The New Year.

(By R. P.—m.)
Everyone an optimist—
That is my word to-day;
Enough I've fretted, frowned and fumed,
And still the world goes round and round,
And one goes up and one goes down,
And life is forever about the same;
There are always the poor, the lame and the lazy,
The aged, decrepit, the witless and crazy,
But there's a hand to help and a God to bless,
And comfort his poor in their deepest distress.

Everyone an optimist—
That is my song to-day;
I've tried the pessimist's side of life
And it's brought me no good anyway;
If I could groan to rend the rocks
And dry up the fathomless sea,
Or make the mountains bow at my beck,
'T would bring nought of good to me;
There's enough of ill in a single hour
To spread over the whole journey of life.

If we make up our minds to grumble and fret
And think of nought else but strife,

Everyone an optimist—
While we still pray and plod;
I've crossed the bridge a hundred times
In advance of the ground I trod,
And bore heavy burdens to crush my soul
That were never sent by God.
I've painted blackness along my course,
And sorrows and fears to dread;
But before I reached where the black cloud swung
There was brightness overhead.

Everyone an optimist—
The breezes gently blow;
The birds sing sweetly on the wing,
The sun shines brighter when we sing,
The flowers breathe fragrance while they bloom,
There's music in the shimmering skies,
Sun, moon and stars to man replies;
The elf treads softly in the vales,
Rehearsing many pleasant tales,
And sighs and groans are heard no more,
With visions of the heavenly shore,
When sin and strife shall all be o'er.

Hair Burned Off Head

By a celluloid comb ignited near kitchen stove.

Ashburnham, Dec. 25.—A celluloid comb in the hair of Miss Alice Bryant, a 15-year-old girl of this place, became ignited to-night as the girl sat beside the kitchen stove. Before the blaze was extinguished nearly all the hair was burned off the girl's head and her scalp badly injured.

Miss Bryant had returned from a drive after supper and sat down by the stove to get warm. She went to sleep and her head nodded down until the comb touched the hot stove, causing a blaze.

Her screams awakened her mother, who smothered the girl's head for a few seconds in a rug, extinguishing the flames. Though painful, the burns are not expected to be fatal.

Mistletoe Tragedy.

Wealthy Young Pittsburg Man Commits Suicide.

Pittsburg, Dec. 25.—Receiving a letter from his wife, Viola, from whom he had been estranged for some time, telling him that she was coming home to him and that they would spend Christmas under the mistletoe, Fred Brill, a wealthy young business man of Corapolis, a Pittsburg suburb, went to the depot to meet her.

Instead of coming, the wife sent word by a mutual friend that she had changed her mind. With his wife's letter still in his grasp, Brill was found one hour later in the library of his home dead from a gash in his throat, inflicted with a long paper knife.

He had left a note requesting his mother to remove the mistletoe.

To-Day's Fatality

Watchman William Tilley Found Dead in Harvey's Bakery—Supposed to Have Been Asphyxiated.

Since the ushering in of the New Year two tragedies are reported to have occurred—one at Grand Bank and this morning's fatality makes the second. At 5.30 a.m. the body of an elderly man was found in the lower flat of the building of A. Harvey & Co's. bakery. It proved to be that of William Tilley, night watchman and fireman of the premises, and the assumption so far is that the victim was suffocated by gas. Tilley went on duty last evening at 6 o'clock. He had been suffering for the past few years from a serious attack of asthma, but last night did not complain to anyone of being unwell. However, at an early hour this morning, after having banked down the fires in the furnaces in order to have them ready for to-day's baking, he started to get the machinery in working order also. For the past few years the engine that drives the machinery has been run by producer gas, which used to be made by the watchman, and it is thought that Tilley was asphyxiated. At the hour mentioned above a workman named Penny, who stands the day watch, went on duty. On entering the place he found no sign of Tilley. He called out for him but got no reply. He then moved towards the engine, and was horrified to find Tilley's body in the pit under the engine. Life was then extinct and death was supposed to have occurred an hour previously. Immediately Penny gave the alarm. The authorities were notified, as well as Dr. Macpherson, and the remains were removed to the morgue to await the post mortem examination which takes place this afternoon. When this is finished the cause of the man's death will be made known. The deceased was 63 years of age and was a life-long and valued employee of A. Harvey & Co., having worked with the firm for 35 years. He leaves to mourn him a wife and four children—three sons and one daughter—whom together with his relatives and friends general and sincere sympathy will go out, in which the Telegram joins.

Another Fire.

Last night, at 9.30, Mrs. O'Toole, a neighbor, discovered the residence of Mr. Walter Andrews, Brazil's Square, on fire. She called people passing and soon Const. J. Nugent was on the scene. He forced an entrance to the house and found the mattress in Mr. Andrews' room on fire and the wood-work near blazing up. The burning mattress was thrown out on the street and a few pails of water extinguished the blaze. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews were out, and how the fire occurred is not known.

Why Who's Who?

BY H. L. RANN.

The question of whether whiskers are an asset or a liability has long played an important part in the political life of the nation. The late Chester A. Arthur tried to set the style by blossoming forth in campaign posters with a pair of side whiskers which looked like a reverse view of a hedge fence, but few men in public life have had the temerity to follow his example. One of the conspicuous few is Chief Justice Hughes, former Governor of New York.

Justice Hughes has a prolific crop of dark blue whiskers which have never come in contact with a curling iron, yet they toss their tall branches to and fro in a natural wave. If it were not for his whiskers, Mr. Hughes would be considered a plain dress, but as it is his neatly parted foliage is viewed with suspicion by those of his colleagues who haven't anything on the door knob. If Justice Hughes were to suddenly shave the front exposure of his face, there would be no way to prove his identity except by his receipt for lodge dues.

As governor of New York Mr. Hughes overcame the handicap of his whiskers and became popular with everybody except the members of the Barbers' Protective Union. He was a diligent governor, and on account of not being obliged to wait around in a barber shop on Wednesday and Saturday nights for a close shave he accomplished a great deal of work. Numerous admirers have presented him with safety razors, mugs, strops, massage cream, shaving soap and witch hazel, as a delicate intimation of the trend of popular sentiment, but he remained unshaken and unshorn. When he went to Washington he took his whiskers with him, and uses them every day in construing the constitution.

A Portrait!

A Portrait to be properly finished and give satisfaction demands the utmost skill of the photographer. Many photographers delight in exaggerating the image, which, when finished, is not a true portrait. A Portrait must show the person as he or she truly is, without any artificial means of beauty, free from skin blemishes with the exception of birth marks or scars.

We photograph the person truly and retouch in the most approved and up-to-date way. No order too small or too large for our every attention.

Call in and we will be only too glad to show you everything—show you photos of people of whom you know.

We are specialists in child photography. Send the children along. Photos from Stamps and Buttons up to 12 by 14 inches; all sizes, styles and finishes.

Morphine Habit Appals Paris.

Paris, France, Dec. 23.—An investigation into the illicit sale of morphine in Paris will be made as a result of the death here yesterday from the use of the drug of Rene Bichet, a young man who recently was appointed professor of French in the Royal College at Buda Pest. The authorities are convinced that an aggressive campaign must be waged in order to combat the growing craving for morphine in Paris.

The vice is said to be at its worst among the young women frequenting the night cafes and dance halls in the Mont-Marte district and in collegiate circles in the Latin quarter. The police are in possession of astounding statistics relating to the spread of the morphine habit. The newspapers claim that the craze for the drug has reached terrible proportions in the higher normal colleges.

An Iowa man has written in to ask if the people rule. They do not. The women rule.

WASHOUTS REPAIRED.—The washouts near Cape Ray, on the railway line, are now repaired and trains can now run as usual. They were caused by the high sea and tide of last week in the storms which prevailed, going over the track. Some parts of the road were washed out for four to five mile lengths and such a sea was never before experienced in this section of the country.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—By the Fogota, an unfortunate young woman of Greenspond, arrived for the Lunatic Asylum. Not long ago she attempted suicide by jumping over the wharf there and was over thirty minutes in the water, her skirt and loose apparel floating her. When rescued she was almost gone. She had to be watched carefully on the ship.

HAD ROUGH TIME.—The schr. E. P. Morris, which arrived here from the French Shore, a couple of days ago, was out in all the recent stormy weather and had a hard time of it. She escaped without damage until entering the Narrows at 3 a.m. when she struck the rocks and was towed to port by the John Green. The vessel has since been leaking badly, the pumps are kept going and it is feared that a good deal of her fish cargo is damaged.

Here and There.

RECORD FREIGHT.—The Prospero sails to-night for the northward, taking for here with a full cargo of freight which accumulated there, for the Reid Nfld Co.

NEW CHIEF ENGINEER.—Mr. J. Coffey, second Engineer of the S. S. Adventure has been selected as chief Engineer, for the sealing steamer Labrador.

ANOTHER BIG FREIGHT.—The S. S. Morvenna left Sydney at noon, yesterday for here with a full cargo of freight which accumulated there, for the Reid Nfld Co.

FREEZER IN TROUBLE.—The American herring freezer, now at Bonne Bay, is in trouble. The engineer in charge recently quitted the ship and the engine and boilers cannot be got to perform their duty, so that no herring have been frozen for sometime past.

WANTS BIG SIDE BET.—It is not likely that any wrestling match will come off between Otto Oppelt and Jim Smart, as the former will be going to Switzerland shortly to spend the winter with his parents. However, if a big side bet is put up, say between $500 and $1,000, Otto will get in training to meet Smart.

WASHOUTS REPAIRED.—The washouts near Cape Ray, on the railway line, are now repaired and trains can now run as usual. They were caused by the high sea and tide of last week in the storms which prevailed, going over the track. Some parts of the road were washed out for four to five mile lengths and such a sea was never before experienced in this section of the country.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—By the Fogota, an unfortunate young woman of Greenspond, arrived for the Lunatic Asylum. Not long ago she attempted suicide by jumping over the wharf there and was over thirty minutes in the water, her skirt and loose apparel floating her. When rescued she was almost gone. She had to be watched carefully on the ship.

HAD ROUGH TIME.—The schr. E. P. Morris, which arrived here from the French Shore, a couple of days ago, was out in all the recent stormy weather and had a hard time of it. She escaped without damage until entering the Narrows at 3 a.m. when she struck the rocks and was towed to port by the John Green. The vessel has since been leaking badly, the pumps are kept going and it is feared that a good deal of her fish cargo is damaged.

Obituary.

KENNETH RYDER, J.P.
On Christmas Day, there passed away, of pneumonia, at Hauling Point, White Bay, Kenneth Ryder, Esq., J.P., C. E. Teacher. Mr. Ryder was a teacher from 1902 up to the time of his death and a lay teacher. He taught at Green Island Cove, Savage Cove, Hauling Point, and Lance au Clair (Labrador). He leaves a wife and one child. His death will be keenly felt by the Church of England as he proved himself to be a devoted and earnest church worker, a conscientious teacher, and an all round good man. His dying request was that he be buried by the side of his father at Bonavista, of which he was a native. He was made a Justice of Peace in 1907.

The Police Court.

A man convicted of being drunk and disorderly in the house of his mother-in-law, gave his own bond to stay away from the place in the future.
A man who pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly in his own house was ordered to sign his own bonds to keep away from his house and leave it in possession of his wife.
A man pleaded guilty to obstructing a conductor of the R. N. Co's train in the discharge of his duty; he was fined $5 or 14 days.
Two young men were charged with using lewd and abusive language towards a cabman, one pleaded guilty and the other pleaded not guilty. The first was fined $5 and the second was ordered to pay costs.
A young man who pleaded guilty to the larceny of a pair of boots from the Royal Stores was fined $20 or 20 days.

SATURDAY Jan. 4, 1913.
For a cough which is tickling or troublesome at night—or in the daytime for that matter—there is nothing more convincing than to have at hand a box of Keating's Cough Lozenges. This old and well known remedy has relieved and cured the coughs of two generations of English speaking people, and still retains its popularity, for it still retains the qualities which have caused its reputation. Those who use Keating's Cough Lozenges will find them a safe and effective remedy. Price 30c. a box.
Among shaving soaps there is more that stands higher than the Eramic shaving stick. It is a good English soap which gives a free thick lather. It has a pleasant perfume, and softens the skin and beard. Being well dried, it does not wash, but lasts longer than most shaving sticks. Price 25c. each.

Your Hair is Fluffy, Beautiful and Lustrous in a Few Moments

GIRLS! GET A 25 CENT BOTTLE OF "DANDERINE" AND TRY, THIS. ALSO STOPS FALLING HAIR; DESTROYS DANDRUFF.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Ambitions For Airmen.

The Air is by no Means Conquered Yet.

Not long ago that famous flying-man, Orville Wright, accomplished a feat which has never before been paralleled. From the crest of a tall sand hill he launched himself into mid air on an engineless glider, and, lifted by a strong gale, rose to a height of two hundred feet. There he hung almost motionless, poised in mid air like a great sea bird, for just over five minutes, then dropped safely earthwards.

This marvellous performance seems to show that the time may come when aeroplanes will be able to hover over one spot just as a hawk does over its prey. At present, however, no plane yet built can do anything of the kind, and in the case of most heavier-than-air machines a minimum speed of forty miles an hour is necessary, or else they drop at once.

To build a machine that can remain motionless in mid air is one of the principal ambitions of air craftsmanship.

There is one form of airship, which, if it could be perfected, would certainly fulfil this ambition. This is the so-called helicopter.

Aeroplanes that Hover.

The helicopter is merely a platform for the airman and engine, with an upright shaft fitted at the top with a screw propeller. The idea is that this, when revolving, shall draw or screw the machine straight up into the air.

The helicopter has no wings, it is cheap to construct, simple to work and if one could be built to rise, it would of course remain stationary over any given spot, and could land anywhere. On the other hand, it would be a horribly dangerous contrivance, for if anything went wrong with the engine, there would be no planing down. It would drop like a stone.

Several helicopters have been built, but so far, we believe, not one has succeeded in rising into the air.

One great ambition of airmen is to fly across the Atlantic. Travelling at sixty miles an hour, a very moderate speed for a plane, this would take two days and two nights. But at present it is quite impossible to build a machine (apart from a gas bag) that could keep the air for so long. The reason is that it could not carry sufficient fuel.

Now, a big bird of prey, such as the peregrine falcon, supports only about one-third of a pound of weight to every square foot of wing surface. The ordinary aeroplane has to carry two pounds of weight to each square foot. So what the airman is looking for is some much lighter form of engine. If he could get this he could carry ever so much more petrol, and so make immensely longer flights without descending for fresh fuel.

Airman's Worst Enemy.

Many brave airmen have gone to their death through side slip. If he turns too rapidly, the plane tilts so sharply that the pilot may not be able to right it. What is wanted is some invention to prevent this kind of thing, and it is on these lines the Lieutenant Dunne has been working. He has succeeded so far that he has actually made a two-mile flight without once touching the levers controlling his planes.

The flying man's worst enemy is the "hole in the air." Without a moment's warning the plane flashes into a layer of air which is thinner than the rest—and falls. Mr. Graham White describes it as very like "tumbling down a flight of giant steps each thirty feet high."

Give the airmen some new sort of instrument which would warn him beforehand of these empty spaces, and you at once supply one of his greatest needs.—Pearson's Weekly.

'Cascarets' for a Sick, Sour Stomach.

Gently but thoroughly cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gasses; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

But, as a matter of fact, no drunkard is as smart as the man who doesn't drink at all.

The Secret of a Good Complexion.

This is the season for evening parties, social events, etc. Why not look your best? Why let your complexion suffer by contrast with other ladies? Why not ensure a good complexion? You can do this on sound, natural lines by using Zam-Buk, nature's herbal balm.

Zam-Buk is a skin food; and complexion is purely a matter of skin health. Zam-Buk smeared lightly over the face each night acts as a skin tonic. It stimulates the cells beneath the cuticle to healthy action, makes the capillaries and blood vessels work, and the vigorous circulation thus started carries away secreted impurities. Waxy, sallow deposits are thus removed. Hard, pimply growths are softened and disappear. That yellow tinge gives place to the pink of health and the white, velvety "look" and "feel" which healthy skin alone has.

Isn't this wiser than relying upon talcum powder and cosmetics? These only put on a "complexion" from the outside. It doesn't last. Zam-Buk helps nature to build up a complexion from blood and tissue. It lasts.

Zam-Buk also cures skin diseases, pimples, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poison, eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds, chafes, eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds, chapped places, sealy sores, piles, etc. 50c. box all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., but beware of harmful substitutes and imitations.

No More Ice.

"A revolution in the fish trade is foreshadowed by the invention of a Scottish-Australian gentleman, Mr. J. R. Henderson, who is now in London," says the Pall Mall Gazette. "This is nothing less than the abolition of the use of ice for the transport and preservation of fresh fish."

"First, the fish is placed in a cooling chamber and slowly brought down to a temperature of 32 degrees F.; this part of the process takes about two hours. Its purpose is to extract the specific (or latent) heat of the fish. It is a well known fact that with fish which has been kept in ice decay starts from within, near the bone. This is because the latent heat has not been removed.

"The fish is next plunged into a tank of sea-water, fortified by the addition of 15 per cent. of salt to prevent the bath from freezing at the extremely low temperature—11 deg. F., or 21 deg. below freezing point. At the same time the water is kept in rapid motion by an electrically driven pump. During its passage the water passes through a filtering chamber charged with willow-charcoal and nodules of coke, which absorb certain noxious gases. After four hours the fish are removed from the tank; and then they are impervious to decay for anything from a week to a fortnight—perhaps longer.

The new process costs but little, and also promises large economies to the trade in carriage. By dispensing with ice, about one-fourth of the carriage would be saved, in addition to the cost of the ice itself.

'Corner' In Bedsteads.

"An alleged attempt by British bedstead manufacturers to form a ring to coerce retail buyers to purchase metal bedsteads only from members of the Bedstead Manufacturers' Federation," which would lead to an all-round increase in the price of metal bedsteads, was discussed at a meeting of the Drapers' Chamber of Trade," says the Morning Post. "It was stated that the Federation offered a rebate of 10 per cent. to be paid by the secretary of the Federation at the end of six months, provided that the buyers pledged their word that they had not bought their bedsteads from any manufacturer who was not a member of the Federation. 'The prices of metal bedsteads had already gone up by 11 to 14 per cent., and would go up still more, unless the scheme were defeated,' said the chairman. A resolution was unanimously adopted strongly recommending the trade to reject the scheme."

What They Got Besides

Somebody recalled the other day that Dr. Aked was one of the late General Booth's firmest supporters.

Once, during a very severe winter, Dr. Aked appealed to his congregation for funds to provide poor children with breakfasts. A considerable sum was subscribed, and Dr. Aked arranged that some thousands of free meals would be provided at the Salvation Army barracks to the children in neighboring slums.

After a while, complaints began to reach Dr. Aked. "We provide the money," somebody grumbled, "and the Salvation Army gets all the credit."

"They may get the credit," retorted Dr. Aked, "but they also get the fees! If you want the first in this case you've got to take the second."

After that there was no more grumbling.

Pearce-Adams Wedding at White Bay.

A very pretty wedding took place at Jackson's Arm the home of the bride, on Wednesday, the 20th November, when Mr. Hiram Lockyer Pearce, of Westport, was united in matrimonial bonds to Miss Elsie N. Adams, second daughter of Mr. Jas. Adams, merchant, of Jackson's Arm. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. Pittman, who arrived on that day per Prospero from Tilt Cove for the purpose. The bridegroom with his father, Magistrate Pearce, joined the Prospero at Westport to meet the bride at the home of her parents. Capt. Keen very courteously decorated his ship with bunting for the occasion. The bride looked very pretty in white silk with wreath of orange blossoms and veil; she was led to the altar by her father, and Miss Maud Adams and Miss Weeks attended her, while the groom was supported by Mr. S. Adams, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the house of the bride's parents and with a number of guests partook of the wedding feast. Toasts were proposed and seconded and some speeches which were very suitably responded to by the bridegroom. The bridal party with the Rev. A. Pittman, then returned to Westport the future home of the happy pair, who were presented with a number of very nice presents, a few of which we append:

By the bride's mother and father, tea set; Miss Maud Adams, claret set; Rev. C. Wood and Mrs. Wood, silver knives and forks; J. B. Lockyer, uncle of the groom, silver cruet; J. D. Lockyer, uncle of the groom, cheque; Miss Jackman, silver butter knife and spoon; Miss Batston, silver cream spoon; Mr. H. Batston, silver tray; the groom's parents, silver napkin rings and set furs; Mrs. Wood, dressing jacket; Mr. J. T. Lamb, 1 set of porcelain vases; Mrs. Cullen, 1 card receiver; Mr. and Mrs. H. Milley, ornament; Rev. A. Pittman, a beautiful case with Prayer and Hymn Book; Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Noble, set vases; Mrs. Sparkes, 1 centre piece; Miss A. Batston, 1 fruit dish; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Breen, silver stand with cream jug and custard bowl; Mr. and Mrs. Galway, silver sugar spoon; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lockyer, silk cushion cover; Mrs. Blanche Lockyer, pillow shams; Mr. Strakes, glass sugar basin, and many others.

Fight to Death in Room For Girl.

Pennsylvania suffers lock themselves in room until one is killed.

Washington, Pa., Dec. 24.—Locked in a room twelve feet square and with only the flashing fire of their revolvers to guide their shots, two rivals for the hand of Miss Rita Beccren, seventeen years old, fought a battle to death in a boarding house in West Zollocksville this morning.

When the firing ceased and the seconds rushed from the hall they found "Bert" Quinn dying, with bullet wound in his neck, and Harry Musconey crouching in a far corner of the room.

Quinn died almost immediately, and Musconey fled. A warrant was issued for his arrest early to-day, and deputy sheriffs started in pursuit. It was reported to-night that the posse had overtaken the fugitive and exchanged shots with him, one of the deputies being wounded.

Quinn and Musconey had long been suitors of Miss Beccren, and when they met at the boarding house last night they quarrelled. The fight was proposed and the men locked themselves in the darkened room.

When told of Quinn's death the girl showed no concern. "No man could win me by fighting a duel," was her only comment.

Mr. Balfour On Great Speeches.

Of speakers and speeches, Mr. Balfour says:—

"I have listened to men who could hardly put two sentences grammatically together but who held the House of Commons because they persuaded the House by their personal magnetism and by their manner of speech that they knew what they were talking about. I have heard men like Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Bright—master of their time—Mr. Gladstone above all the master of every skillful resource the orator could have at his disposal, and of whom I can only say I regret his speeches are of a kind that make it impossible for those who read them in any sense to judge of their excellence. Posterity must take it from us who heard with our own ears the extraordinary gifts of pathos."

Bath Day in Agra Jail.

One of the humorous sights of India, says a contributor to the August Wide World Magazine, is the daily bathing parade in a native prison. In the one we witnessed were youthful habitual criminals, varying in age from 9 to 15 years, taking their daily dip at Agra jail. While the governor watches proceedings from the shade of a tree, the prisoners, each man fettered and carrying a bowl of beaten brass or steel, are led out in double file to a stone pavement, on each side of which runs a shallow trough of water. At the command of a native warder, bowls are filled and themselves and then sink smartly to order the prisoners scoop water over themselves an then sink smartly to their haunches, one behind the other, in parallel lines. Again comes a snappy order from the warder, and each man begins vigorously to rub the back of the fellow in front of him. When the warder judges the "massage" is complete his voice brings the two lines to a smart right-about-face, still on their haunches, and the vigorous rubbing begins again, each man doing for his fellow what his fellow did for him. The process, while comical, is a genuine illustration of the saying, "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," except, of course, to the prisoners whose fate brings them to the head or tail of the line, where they receive only half the "treatment" of their fellows.

She Was So Excited.

A woman was signalling the tram-car in the orthodox fashion of her sex, but it rolled on and did not come to a halt until eight people had shouted "Hi!" and six small boys had had an impromptu competition in shrill whistling. Then she glared at the conductor indignantly.

"Why didn't you stop the car for me?" she snapped.

"How was I to know you wanted to get on?" asked the conductor.

"Didn't you see me swinging my arms and jumping up and down and waving my umbrella?"

"Of course. Could anyone help seeing you?"

"Then why didn't you stop when you saw me?"

"I thought you were dancing to that organ!"

It is Tank Beverley's idea that a tidy fortune awaits the inventor of a device which will enable a fat man to scratch his own back.

The Busy Woman.

The women keep after their rights; their husbands, unfortunately, are scrubbing the floors and washing the doors, and herding the babies at night. The women still go to the club; their husbands are eating stale grub, and sweeping the stairs and dusting the chairs, and doing their stint at the tub. On juries the women now sit, while lawyers throw it after fit; their husbands may take up the burden and bake, and darn the old stockings, and knit. The women are running for snaps, like other political chaps; their husbands have knives for the campaigning wives, which they'll use at elections—perhaps. The dames are the equals of men; they've said it again and again; they've laid down the law with the hoof and the jaw, the dornick and bludgeon and pen. Professions the women invade; you run against matron or maid in the office and store, in the shop evermore, assertive, serene, unafraid. But you don't see the girls laying brick, or sweating arduous with a pick; and they don't seem to fetch for a job in the ditch, along with Tom, Harry and Dick. Oh, the men will remain upon guard where the work is both dirty and hard, while the dizzy old dames play the masculine games and talk of their rights by the yard.

Give Your Liver and Bowels a Thorough Cleansing with Gentle "Syrup of Figs."

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish, when you feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something to-night."

Most people shrink from a physic—they think of castor oil, calomel, salts, or cathartic pills. It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit; of eating coarse food; of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs to-night and you won't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system, without gripe, nausea or weakness. Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it can not cause injury.

If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup Company. That, and that only, is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup, substitute with contempt.

Herring News.

The West Coast herring fishery to date amounts to about sixty thousand barrels or to be exact, there have been 65,379 barrels and Bonne Bay 19,859 barrels. Large shipments have also been made to various parts of the country for local consumption and for export.

The weather has been stormy which caused considerable loss to the fishermen in the way of gear.

There has been cleared from the Customs at Bonne Bay up to the 19th of December, 14,652 barrels of bulk herring, 2,287 barrels of pickled and 1,950 barrels of frozen herring, making a total of 19,889.

At Dec. 28th, there was 13,650 bbls. of bulk herring, 4,580 pickled and 2,425 barrels of frozen herring cleared from the Customs at ports in Bay of Islands to Gloucester. The total number of barrels cleared to date for American ports is 20,655 and for Canadian ports 6,324 barrels. There is yet five Gloucester and two Canadian vessels to clear with about 8,400 barrels now making the total catch to end of season 35,379 barrels.

There were three vessels loaded with herring cargoes, at Wood's Island on Saturday. They likely got away yesterday.

L. McLean wanted about 100 barrels herring, Saturday, to complete his cargo of frozen fish.

The Gossip arrived at Wood's Island on Thursday. She will take away another cargo of herring for the Gorton Pen Co.

Capt. Joe Bonia, in the Fannie Smith, left Gloucester Saturday week coming here for herring cargo. She arrived at Wood's Island yesterday morning.—Western Star.

With Apoplexy after Christmas Dinner Dies Last Night.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 26.—After eating his Christmas dinner, Rev. Henry G. Gans, Rector of St. Mary's Catholic Church, of this city, and widely known as a musician and a composer, was stricken with apoplexy and died at his home here last night. He was 67 years of age.

PERSISTENT COUGH.

Wherever soothing syrups fail to cure that persistent cough which exhausts you,

MATHIEU'S SYRUP of Tar and Cod Liver Oil and other medicinal extracts will rapidly and definitely rid you from it.

The merits of Mathieu's Syrup are highly recognized and endorsed. Here are a few proofs:

PORT GREVILLE, C.B., Dec. 27, '08.

Blacking & Mercantile Co., Ltd. Dear Sirs.—Please ship by next express, if possible, 3 doz. Mathieu's Syrup. It is the best Cough Mixture on the market. Yours truly,

W. STERLING.

CHURCH POINT, July 31, '08.

Blacking & Mercantile Co., Ltd., Amherst, N.S. Dear Sirs.—Nearly one year ago I had my first order of "Mathieu's Syrup" from you. It was not known in this country, and I gave samples to several families whom I knew would use it. After a few weeks I began to have a call for it, and trade has increased wonderfully since. I have not the least doubt but that it will soon be the best selling remedy for coughs, colds, etc., on the market. In my store here stores in this county now keep it in stock and report sales increasing. I have bought from you since August 16th, 1907, 4 Gross and have only three dozen on hand at this date, and which I am holding for retail trade in my store.

Yours truly,
LOUIS A. McLANSON.

AGAINST HEADACHE there is no remedy so active as Mathieu's Nerve Powders which contain no opium, morphine or chloral. 25 cents per box of 18 powders.

Cable News.

Special to The Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Jan. 3. The leading Ulster Unionists do not endorse the undertaking of Bonar Law, the leading member of the opposition in the Commons, who, on Wednesday night, said he would not resist the enforcement of Home Rule if confirmed by the electorate. Law made it clear he spoke for himself only, although it is believed that some members of the Opposition in the front benches concurred with him. In reply to the question: "Would you advise Ulster to submit if the Home Rule Bill was approved by the country at a general election," the Daily Mail received ten replies.—From Godfrey, Fetherstonhough, Unionist, "I believe Ulster would reject the Bill if given unless the Bill was very different from the present one."—William Moore, Unionist for Armagh, said: "We shall resist while ten men are able to hold together."—Robert James McMordie, Unionist for Belfast, said: "Certainly not."—Capt. Crain, Unionist, East Down: "I shall never advise Ulster to submit to John Redmond and his disloyal followers. If England casts us forth, we shall keep our loyal province, intact for King and Empire."—MacGeagh, Unionist, West Down, said: "I would certainly advise my constituents to resist, whether the Bill was approved or not."—Rev. R. Montgomery, Moderator of the Irish Presbyterian Church, said: "You need only read the Ulster covenant in order to see how the election results can affect us." It seems that Churchill's remarks about Ulster going over to Germany during the debate on Home Rule, Wednesday, was not altogether gratuitous. The Liberal newspaper print leaflets and posters of speeches, which were employed in the agitation of Ulster between January and September, 1912, wherein such declarations by the Ulsterites are quoted as saying that rather than being placed under the heel of Rome, the Ulster Protestants would appeal for help to Germany, the greatest Protestant nation on earth rather than being placed under the papers, there was something like a pro-German fever in some quarters of Ulster.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 3. Well-informed people regard the situation of peace much more disquieting than in November last when the entry into the Capital was threatened by the Bulgarian delegate at London, Wednesday last, is menacing. At the time referred to the Kurdish tribesmen made certain threats as to what they would do if the Bulgarians passed into Constantinople. Because of these threats the Powers sent warships to protect foreigners. The Kurds said bluntly that if the Bulgarians attempted to enter Constantinople they (the Kurds) would also come, and they would not leave the place empty-handed. Those acquainted with the Kurds say they would kill and plunder, and no Christian would be safe. There are thousands of Kurds in the vicinity of Constantinople. The Ambassadors and captains of the warships outside have ominous impressions as to what will happen if the war is resumed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. Steaming slowly, in a dense fog, the British cruiser Natal, bearing the body of Whitelaw Reid, late Ambassador to England, passed Sandy Hook shortly after eight this morning. Accompanying her as a guard of honor were two United States battleships and four destroyers. Leaving quarantine grounds the vessels proceeded slowly into the harbor and up the Hudson to the foot of West 96th St., whence the body was removed to the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

LONDON, Jan. 3. The opening of to-day's peace conference at St. James' Palace was postponed until 6 p.m., in order to enable the Turkish delegates time to fully digest the first instructions they had received from Constantinople, and put them into proper shape for presentation to the envoys of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Serbia.

VIENNA, Jan. 3. Austria-Hungary and Italy are making joint preparations to land a joint expedition in Albania immediately after the conclusion of the London Conference, according to newspaper talk. This step, it is said, is to be taken by the two Allies in order to pacify Albania and establish a new condition of affairs.

VATENCA DE MINTO, Portugal, Jan. 3. Daring bank smugglers carried off $90,000 to-day after a fierce battle with a cattle raiser and 40 of his herdsmen. During the battle, that followed nine cowboys were killed and fourteen seriously injured.

NORFOLK, VA., Jan. 3. A 60-mile gale with heavy rain whipped the Atlantic Coast with terrific violence damaging wires and demoralizing shipping. Several small craft are reported sunk, with loss of life, and many others are in distress.

The other two vessels which left in her company and about which there was some uneasiness, arrived at Gloucester after receiving a drubbing in the stormy weather prevailing.

VESSEL DISABLED.—A message was received in town yesterday stating the schr. Grand Falls, which was bound here from Operto, had put into Fayal in the Azores in a disabled condition. Her rudder was out of order and she received some slight damages. Repairs will be made at Fayal and the vessel will leave for St. John's as soon as possible.

MORE DAMAGE BY STORMS.—A succession of fearful storms prevailed at Bay Roberts at the beginning of the present week, doing much damage. Messrs. A. & D. Mercer's vessel, which was anchored in the harbor broke her moorings and drove ashore. Another schooner, which was unseaworthy, and which was lying to an anchor, went on the rocks and was broken up. Her name was the Adventure and she was owned by C. & A. Dawe.

The Testimony of Facts!

From a letter published in the "Autocar" of Sept. 14th, '12, we notice that out of 13 Cars in a garage at Harrogate the following splendid tribute to

- MICHELIN TYRES!
- 3 Cars fitted with 2 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
 - 2 Cars fitted with 3 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
 - 5 Cars fitted with 4 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
 - 3 Cars fitted without any MICHELINS at all, which shows out of 52 Tyres, 32 were MICHELINS. In other words, 61% per cent of Tyres fitted were MICHELINS, the remainder being divided between five other makers. MICHELIN Beats Them All.

The Ingredients of Cakes.

These are—flour, butter, sugar and eggs, with perhaps milk, flavouring and fruit, and to make good cakes you must have sound and wholesome ingredients.

Those who bake at home can make sure of these, and also of cleanliness throughout. After that, to bake at home with success you must have a good raising powder. The sure raising powder is "PAISLEY FLOUR". It is mixed 1 part to 8 parts of ordinary flour, as a rule. It does the work of raising with certainty, and gives well and evenly raised light and digestible bakings.

The 22c. tin contains 14 ozs. and will raise half a stone of flour; the 14c. tin contains 7 ozs. and will raise 3 1/2 lbs. of flour; the 5c. tin contains 2 ozs. and will raise 1 lb. of flour.
