LOWEST PRICES TO THE TRADE.

The Direct Agencies Limited.

FIGURES DO LIE.

Prices are only Relative

REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.

They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build.

They are the cheapest engines because they will last twice as long as any other engine.

They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "Time is money."

If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.

You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your oil bills will be twice as large.

REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.

We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.

We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.

REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.

THE HEIR OF Lancewood

CHAPTER XVII.

Vivien Neslie reached the haven she had been seeking—the buried arch of a western window, where the ivy had climbed the stone and clothed it in richest green, where it hung in grand festoons down to the soft grass—a window that overlooked the Rhine from a height which made one giddy. She had been there before, having taken her book there—for the ceaseless chatter of the Misses Smeaton often annoyed her. It was so quiet, so remote from the world, so strangely still, there seemed to be nothing save the broad blue sky above and the rapid, clear stream below. It was like a shrine to Vivien, a place where she could dream and think and read at leisure.

She sat down on the broad stone of the ruined window; the gleam of the swift current below seemed to dazzle her, the golden beams of the sun disturbed her. She turned her face to the cold stone walls, and read her father's letter again—read every word carefully—and then turned with a start to wake to the full reality of what it all meant. She had loved Lancewood; the home she had loved so dearly, so proudly, and fondly, would never be hers. She flung herself down on the thick soft grass and sobbed aloud. What a relief that were those tears! She could cry aloud in her anguish and sorrow, she could weep with deep-drawn passionate sobs, and there was none to hear. All the long-pent-up grief found vent now; the anguish of the past three sad years, the pain of wounded love and wounded pride, the desolation that had fallen to her lot since her father's marriage, all found vent in that passionate storm of tears.

It Stops the Twinges of Rheumatism, Limbers the Muscles, Eases the Joints

Amazing Relief Comes at Once—Cure Every Time.

USE NEVILINE.

Aching joints and sore muscles are common in rheumatic people. Inflammation is deep in the tissues. You might use a dozen remedies and derive less relief than Neviline will give you in half an hour. Neviline is a pain-subduer that works do not altogether describe. It is fully five times stronger than most remedies, not that it affects the skin unfavourably—no, its great power is due to its wonderful penetrative quality—it strikes in deeply, but never burns or blisters.

Just rub Neviline into sore muscles, stiff joints, and note the glow of comfort, the ease of pain that follows. You are astonished, delighted; this is because words do not express the promptness and permanency with which Neviline cures every ache and pain in the muscles and joints. Marvellous, you'll say. Natural, we say, because Neviline is different, stronger, more penetrating, a true pain-subduer. Just try it and see if it doesn't cure rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, strains and sprains. The large 50c. family size bottle is far more economical than the 25c. trial size. Get it to-day. Sold by dealers everywhere.

She had lost Lancewood, her beloved home, the inheritance that had been hers; the grand domain, every tree and every shrub that grew on which was dear to her. The son of a stranger would have it, the home where her proud, gentle, high-born mother had lived and died; it would pass to the son of the vain, insolent woman who had robbed her of her father's love.

No one could understand her sorrow. It was not the mere money loss. Had she been offered twice the value of Lancewood to relinquish it, she would never have done so. It was the place itself she loved so well, it embodied her love of race, her pride of family. Every wish, every dream, every desire of her heart was centered in it. She had concentrated all her love and hopes on it; and now that she had lost it, her life lay in ruins around her. She could care for no other destiny; no other seemed worth having. It was all over. Death would not have been harder than the pain, the desolation and anguish she was suffering. The Abbey would never more be home to her—never more. It would be given up to the rule of a vain woman and her son. What would they do with Lancewood when it would be theirs?

"It was cruel of my father," she sobbed; "oh, terribly cruel!" So passionately was she weeping that she did not hear the sound of footsteps. Some one came across the long grass, parted the festoons of ivy, and stood looking in wonder at the crouching figure of the prostrate girl—looked long and earnestly, and then dropped the sheltering ivy as though she was fearful of obtruding. But, when the sound of a bitter, passionate sob fell on his ear, he paused, and stood irresolute.

He was a tall, handsome man, with a noble face and earnest, eloquent eyes. The clear-cut face, with its regular features, was that of a high-bred gentleman. The wind stirred lightly the brown clustering hair that waved back from a broad white brow; the clear eyes that had in them no shade of sin or guilt rested pitifully on the young girl. The most beautiful feature of the man's face was his mouth; the firm grave lips had a sweet expression—one could discern it although they were shaded by a heavy mustache. They trembled slightly as he listened to the girl's passionate weeping. He looked and felt irresolute. He was too true a gentleman not to feel the greatest hesitation about intruding, yet he had too kind a heart to go away and leave the weeper there. He stepped forward, a frank, handsome, high-bred English gentleman, of dignified carriage and proud bearing, but with kindly manner, and, going up to Vivien, said in a low, gentle voice—

"I beg your pardon, but I am afraid that you are in great trouble. Can I do anything for you?" The next moment Vivien stood up right, with flushing, tear-stained face and indignant eyes.

"I—I thought I was alone," she said. Her wonderful beauty startled the new-comer despite her passionate tears. She looked lovely as a poet's ideal. Her masses of dark hair fell in picturesque luxuriance around her. Her beautiful face had lost all its proud calmness, and was quivering with a hundred varied emotions. He did not betray his surprise.

"If it be death, do not forget that, great as your sorrow may be, it is not hopeless. There is a fairer, brighter, better world, where death and sorrow are unknown."

"My trial is more bitter than death," she rejoined—"a thousand times more bitter."

"If it be sickness, you have hope to cheer you; if it be the falsity of a friend, there are true ones left; if it be the loss of fortune, you who have rare gifts, I am sure need not fear that."

"It is worse," she said; "mere loss of fortune would not affect me; I have lost that which is dearer than life and all that it holds."

"You have lost some one whom you love," he decided, with grave, kindly pity.

"Love!" she repeated. "Oh, no! I have—" Then she stopped abruptly, remembering that it was to a stranger she was speaking.

"Then, if all other consolations fail, let me add this," he said. "Time will heal your sorrow, no matter how great it may be. When I was a boy, I had a sister, whom I loved better than all the world besides. She was my twin sister; she seemed like a part of my very existence. She died and I did not think it possible ever to smile again. I told my mother so, and her answer was that time would be my comforter. So now I say to you. Let what may be your trouble, time cannot fail to comfort you as it has comforted me."

But Vivien shook her head gravely. "I fear not. My sorrow is an uncommon one; time will add to it, not heal it."

"If that be the case," he said, still more gravely, "will you let me remind you where to seek comfort?" "Heaven holds no comfort for me, save that of enduring in patience," she replied, slowly.

He had gained such influence over her by his grave, earnest voice, his noble face, his deferential grace of manner, that she forgot he was a stranger—forgot that she felt frightened or shy. She had turned her beautiful, tear-stained face to him, and raised her dark eyes.

"I like to hear you speak," she said, simply; "you have been very patient and kind."

"My poor child, I have simply—what is it?" he interrupted himself to say, for she was glancing up at him with a pleased, wondering smile.

"What is it?" he asked again.

"I was thinking," she replied, "that I do not remember to have ever heard any one call me 'poor child' before. All this is new to me," she added, passionately—"this suffering, this sense of loss; the feeling of humiliation and isolation is all new to me, and hard to bear."

"Poor child!" he said again; and this time she made no comment on his words.

"Should you think me very curious if I asked you to tell me what your loss is?" he asked.

"I cannot tell you; it is my all, my world, more than my life—I cannot speak of it."

He wondered to himself what it could be. It was not a love affair—of that he felt sure. He read her face correctly—there was no revelation in it of a love story. Who was she—so beautiful, so dignified, so queenly—this English girl alone in this ruined castle?

"Are you staying at the hotel?" he asked.

"I am with some friends at the Hotel de l'Europe," she replied.

"And I am staying at the Reine d'Espagne. Will you permit me to introduce myself to you? For I hope most earnestly to meet you again, and that under happier circumstances. I am the late Lord St. Just's eldest son, and I am travelling down the Rhine for the sake of sketching. If I had my folio here, I would show you some views that I think would please you."

He was in great hope that she would imitate his frankness; but Vivien had recovered herself by this time; she bowed, and said—

"I am grateful to you, Lord St. Just. You have been very kind to me. May I ask a favor?" His face brightened. Was she about to trust him, to accept some kindness from him?

"You will honor me as I have never been honored before," he replied.

"I beg of you earnestly to forget this little scene. I am ashamed to have been so much a child; but it seemed to me my heart was broken, and I came out here that I might, like a child, cry away my grief. May I ask you to forget the incident—not to mention that you have seen me—and, if I should at any time meet you, that it may be as a stranger?"

"If you wish 't to be so," he answered, sadly. "I should have been so happy to be of service to you—so happy to meet you again."

"We may meet again," she said, "but, if we do, forget that we have met before."

"And is there no service I can render you?" he asked.

"None," she replied, "but to forget what has passed. I shall always be vexed to think that I have been so childish. I thank you, Lord St. Just. Good-bye."

Before he had time to reply she had gone half way down the hill, and he stood alone under the blue cloudless sky.

The next day, on making inquiries about the English party at the Hotel de l'Europe, he heard that Lady Smeaton was accompanied by her daughters and Miss Neslie, the heiress of Lancewood.

A Win for Collegians.

In last evening's football game, the Collegians defeated the C.E.L. Fellidians by a score of 3 goals to nil. The game was keenly contested and both sides gave a good exhibition. The Collegians, through Ellis secured one of their goals in the first half. In the second half Kendrick and Coultas each found the net, but the C.E.L. Fellidians failed to score though they had several chances through penalty kicks, which were shot badly. Mr.

W. Duggan acted as referee, and the line-up was:

Collegians—Goal, Wornell; backs, Heath, Halfyard; halves, Pike, Barnes, Pike; forwards, Coultas, Ellis, Kendrick, Jolliffe, Gear.

C.E.L. Fellidians—Goal, Long; backs, Miller, Ryall; halves, Oliver, Drover, Fox; forwards, Bugden, Hunt, Winter, Adams, Pinnent.

THE THOUGHTS

PROHIBITION.

Dr. Jones cannot understand that with almost everyone in Newfoundland a baptized Christian, there should be any question of the legalisation of alcohol. That there should be any question of the campaign that seems necessary to ensure the success of the prohibitive this fall in favour of Prohibition.

To those who say why penalize the temperate drinker for the sake of those who suffer so much through liquor, he gave a homely example from his garden—if it happen that in there was a fruit which was poisonous to one of his children, he would uproot and destroy it, even if the other members could eat and enjoy it without injury. And the fact that some people imagine that Prohibition will bring a great many evils in its train should not influence anyone. If there is a social sore it should be removed. The Prohibition movement is one of social service; it is of value in adding to the welfare of a community.

THE CHURCH AND SOCIAL SERVICE.

The activities of the Church in practical social service seem to be hindered by many opinions. One man thinks such and such, and another man begs to differ—the church accounts the work of another, and a third church sees no virtue in the work of another denomination—and it goes on—all preventing work of practical nature being done, and leaving it to be done either by charitable Societies or the State.

The Church seems satisfied to minister principally to the inner spiritual man and it is in the exclusive following of this, that, in my humble opinion, has brought about conditions in church life about which clergymen and others unfortunately have to tinker in these days.

Franklin says that if you find a defective man—you must first feed him, clothe him, and then lodge him.

AFTER THE WAR.

With the accounts we have heard of these terrible atrocities by the Germans, a good many people are crying for the extermination of the whole German population.

to a crowd out of the window, and Lincoln's boy Tad was sitting behind him.

"What shall we do with the Rebels?" said the speaker. "Hang 'em!" cried the people.

A baffled design and a check where they least expected it have brought the very demons in the Germans to the fore, but heads will cool, and it is neither Christianity teaching nor according to missionary enterprise to say that any peoples, from savages up, are incapable of reform and regeneration.

to a crowd out of the window, and Lincoln's boy Tad was sitting behind him.

"What shall we do with the Rebels?" said the speaker. "Hang 'em!" cried the people.

A baffled design and a check where they least expected it have brought the very demons in the Germans to the fore, but heads will cool, and it is neither Christianity teaching nor according to missionary enterprise to say that any peoples, from savages up, are incapable of reform and regeneration.

A WAKING DREAM.

A vast Cathedral dimly lit by one solitary lamp, which only served to make the shadows longer and deeper.

A few dark figures in a pew here and there listened to the organ as it rolled its sound among the massive arches.

Begin to get well FREE.

Wincarnis is made in England, and you can obtain it liberal free trial bottle-not a mere taste, but enough to do you good, by sending 6 cents stamps (no pay postage).

Agents for Newfoundland: Messrs. MARSHALL BROS., Water Street, St. John's, Newfoundland.

At the City Hall.

Messrs. Anderson, Kyre, Macnamara, Bradshaw, Mully, McGrath, Morris and Withers, attended last night's meeting of the Civic Commission.

In the absence of the Chairman, Mr. Anderson presided. Communications from J. P. Blackwood were read relative to the property of Miss Knight on Leslie Street.

The matter of the Cochrane Street Church property a bill for $100 was sent to cover rent for 3 months' occupation of the Flavin Street property.

The organ ceased. To-morrow is the anniversary of the Battle of the Nile (1798), when Nelson found the French fleet anchored in Aboukir Bay and entirely destroyed it.

This victory isolated the French Army in Egypt and so made an end of Napoleon's scheme for the conquest of India. One of the most thrilling episodes was the blowing up of the "Orient," the French Admiral's flagship.

Young Casabianca, a boy about thirteen years old, son of the Admiral, remained at his post after the ship had taken fire, and persisted in the explosion of the vessel, when the flames had reached the powder.

Mrs. Hemans has perpetuated the story in her well-known lines: The boy stood on the burning deck, When all he had to lose, The flames that lit the battle's wreck Shone round him o'er the dead.

The flames rolled on-he would not go Without his father's word; That father, faint in death below, His voice no longer heard.

He called aloud: "Say, father, say If yet my task is done; He knew not that the chieftain lay Unconscious of his son.

"Speak, father!" once more he cried, "If I may yet be gone!" And but the booming shots replied, And fast the flames rolled on.

He shouted but once more aloud, "My father! must I stay?" While o'er him fast, through sail and shroud, The wrathing fires made way.

There came a burst of thunder-sound, The boy-oh! where was he? Ask of the winds that far around With fragments strewed the sea!

With mast, and helm, and pennon fair, That well had borne their part; But the noblest thing that perished there Was that young faithful heart.

The matter of public lavatories for the city was discussed at considerable length, and it was decided that remedial measures be taken immediately. In this connection, Mr. Macnamara called the attention of the Board to the fact that many of the principal stores on Water Street are not supplied with proper lavatories.

A rigid inspection of these places will be made and the law dealing with the same will be enforced. G. Browning & Son complained that the fairway of Browning's River was being closed by the making of a dump. Referred to the Engineer.

With the adoption of the various reports and the passing of pay rolls the meeting adjourned at 10 p.m.

361st Day of the War

LATEST From the Front.

1.15 P. M.

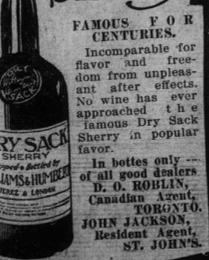

AUSTRIAN CAVALRY ENTERED LUBLIN.

VIENNA, To-Day. Austrian cavalry has entered Lublin, according to an official statement issued at the Austrian War Office. By the occupation of Lublin, 95 miles southeast of Warsaw, the Austrians have cut the Russians at an important means of communication, connecting the whole of the southern Russian front between the Vistula and Bug Rivers.

NO PROPERTY IN WARSAW TO BE DESTROYED.

LONDON, To-Day. Grand Duke Nicholas has decided, according to a Reuter's Petrograd dispatch, that no property in Warsaw shall be destroyed unless such step is imperative from the viewpoint of military necessity. The Leyland liner Therian has been sunk by a German submarine. Five members of the crew were killed. Two died aboard a rescue boat; 61 were landed safely. The Therian was 5,233 tons gross and sailed from Boston July 7th for Manchester.

ter, where she was reported to have arrived July 29th.

CROWN PRINCE RUPPRECHT IS NOT OPTIMISTIC.

LONDON, To-Day. A Central News despatch from Northern France says: "I can vouch for the following interview as authentic. Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria while conversing with a member of the Reichstag, who was visiting the battle line in Artois, said: 'I must confess I am no longer an optimist. It will take some time before the Allies will seriously affect our position in France, but the role subsequently will be reversed. Strength and resources of the enemy are too well organized. He is in a position to hold the balance of this in his favor, and it must be obvious to our best friends that we are utilizing our maximum resources while the enemy is in a much improved position. He has important new reserves. The British Army has had long training and is presumably an efficient fighting machine.'"

MOVEMENT OF GERMAN TROOPS.

LONDON, To-Day. All German ferries between Sasinitz on the east coast Island of Rugen, and Trelborg, the southernmost town of Sweden, are withdrawn, as the ships are being used to convey a large draft of troops to the Russian Baltic provinces, according to a Stockholm correspondent.

SUNK BY GERMAN TORPEDO BOAT.

LONDON, To-Day. A Copenhagen despatch to the Post says: The crew of the steamer Nogill testified before a Marine Court that the steamer was sunk by a German torpedo boat and not by a submarine. The torpedo boat was one of a flotilla of eight ships of a new type. The Nogill's sailors said they were told by the German crew that they were returning from a ten days' cruise in the North Sea and that they had no fear of the enemy's fleet because of their speed and unusually heavy armament.

RUSSIAN FRONT PIERCED.

PETROGRAD, To-Day. While the Austro-German assaults have been repulsed in several places along the battle line, the admission is made in an official statement that the Russian fronts have been pierced at important points. One is at Radomka on the Vistula, where pontoons were used in crossing a passage of the Vjeprz, also forced at Trawniki, fortress of Jovono, in province of Jovono.

COLLIER SUNK IN COLLISION.

PROVIDENCE, To-day. The Colonial Line steamer Concord from New York for Providence, is reported to have collided with a collier in Narragansett Bay early to-day. The collier was sunk.

Schooner Sunk Off Cape Race.

CREW ALL SAVED.

While coming from the Grand Banks to the land for a supply of bait the Lunenburg banking schooner Metapedia was cut down and immediately sunk by the Norwegian steamer Drot, off Cape Race, yesterday afternoon. Her crew of seventeen men, some of whom were only partly dressed at the time of the collision were all saved and brought to port by the steamer Drot which arrived this morning. A thick fog prevailed at the time the accident occurred which was at 1.30 p.m. The vessel was about 5 miles off the land, and was bearing about 30 miles north east of Cape Race. The Metapedia was commanded by Capt. C. B. Mason and had about 300 quintals of codfish on board. The steamer came from New York and is commanded by Capt. J. J. O'Brien. As already mentioned the crew of the vessel were only partly clad at the time of the impact, and they may be considered pretty fortunate to have escaped with their lives. Those who were off watch were in their berths sleeping and when their vessel was struck they had to jump for their lives, several of those who were rescued being without coats or boots. In the absence of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries the shipping officials are being looked after by the Customs authorities and some of them will likely be sent to their homes by the Florizel this afternoon.

The Husband Spoiler.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"Husband spoiler" is the term a friend of mine applies to a certain class of women. She says she would like to start a society for the suppression of husband spoilers. You may not immediately recognize the kind of women she means under that title, but I am sure you will when I describe them to you for they infect every neighborhood and every social group. The husband spoiler is either a single woman, a restless young married man or more rarely a widow. It is her habit to systematically spoil every young and would-be contented well-behaved young husband who comes within her reach.

Her laughs at everything he says. Her methods of doing it are various. She is to laugh at his every attempt at humour, however feeble, until he begins to fancy himself a wonder of the world. The result is that he goes about trying people by his attempted humor like a spoiled child who has been punished and keeps repeating it. When his wife tries to keep him from making himself ridiculous, he tells her that she has no sense of humor and is not to be expected to appreciate his jokes. He tells her that she spoils him. He tells her that she spoils him.

Another method is to try to make a husband think by reference and opinion or by open assertion that his wife is trying to dominate him. "It's my to see who has the last say in our house," she says or "How lucky your wife is to have a husband who lets her manage everything just as she wants," or "I never saw a man so devoted to his wife." Whereupon, the husband who has been merely showing a kindly consideration for his wife's wishes instead of riding rough shod over them the way some men do, begins to think perhaps he is making an easy mark of himself and to grow less considerate and more exacting. Pities Him For His Uncongenial Wife. An advanced stage of the husband spoiling habit is that in which the spoiler pities the husband for having a wife uncongenial to him, or incapable of keeping up with him. Of course the husband must have shown his willingness to accept such sympathy before it was proffered, and that is detestable in him, but it does not justify the woman who gives it.

In justice, I must admit that the husband spoiler does not always mean to make trouble. Far from it. Many times she just doesn't think, simply wants to make herself agreeable, and other times she does sincerely believe that the husband is not appreciated. Occasionally, I suppose, she is right, but she should remember that the best of husbands has his senary as well as his smoothly finished side, and that she might not be so warmly appreciative if she could see both.

ADVENTIST CHURCH. — Sunday evening at the Cookstown Road Church Elder Wm. C. Young will deliver (D.V.) his fourth lecture, in a series of studies on the office and work of the Holy Spirit, in the Church. The theme for the evening will be how to tender a reception to the Spirit according to Bible etiquette.

Truth is Supreme!

We pride ourselves on saying that no article leaves our store that does not comply with all the claims we make for it.

In offering this season's teas we have no hesitation in saying that a finer or better tea than "Homestead" has never been offered at the price.

Sir. Lauder Brunton and Alcohol.

Sir Lauder Brunton, a distinguished medical man, writes on "Alcohol; what it does to us, and what we ought to do with it" in the Nineteenth Century (July).

"My friend, the late William Black, the novelist, once told me that a single glass of sherry was enough to take the fine edge off his intellect. Under its influence he seemed to himself to write more fluently, quickly, and eloquently than usual, but the manuscript he then produced would not stand criticism next morning. "This effect of alcohol in making a person feel better, cleverer, and stronger than he is in reality, is one of the pleasures which alcohol affords, and is an inducement to its use. It also lessens the weight of care due to external circumstances. This, I think, was very well put by a very able and admirable man whose professional work entailed a great deal of correspondence. "One night, when dining with a friend after a long and exhausting day, he partook freely of champagne and at the same time lamented the piles of letters which were lying unanswered upon his table. His friend said to him 'This champagne will not help you to answer letters.' 'No,' said he, 'but it will make me feel that I do not care a damn whether they are answered or not.' "When I began to write this anecdote I felt inclined to leave out the oath, because it is quite unnecessary, but on second thoughts I decided to leave it, because its employment shows that the narcotic action of the alcohol was already reaching the further stage when the subject of it was not only ceasing to regard the dictates of his own conscience, but was becoming careless of the opinion of those around him. When this state is fully developed, a man under the influence of alcohol will do and say things which in his sober moments he would condemn with contempt and disgust.

He becomes more and more self-centred, more and more regardless of his environment, present or future, until finally he becomes drowsy and falls into a deep sleep. Several hours afterwards, when the alcohol has been eliminated, he generally wakes from this sleep, wretched and miserable, and is tempted to relieve the depression by again taking another glass of spirits, and thus making a further draft on his resources. "Such is the full narcotic action of alcohol, but the great majority of drinkers stop before it is fully developed and cease their potations while the action is still in the stimulant, or at most, just at the beginning of the narcotic stage. "As the alcohol tends to lessen foresight and care for his surroundings, the subject of alcohol becomes more and more ready to indulge, in spite of the indulgence bringing with it failure, poverty, and misery not only for himself, but for all his family."

The Dentist.

A dentist's ways are very rough. He keeps you wondering still To find your mouth is big enough To hold a rolling mill. —Washington Star. Before he's got your stumps ground down And got your crowns to fit, He's got your mouth stretched big enough To hold a plumber's kit. —Houston Post. And ere he gets the plugs plugged in, Why, this has come to pass; You feel you have the jawbone of 'I needn't write it out.' —Memphis Commercial Appeal.

And when the crown work is completed, Another job he tries, And with his hammer, drill and lathe Constructs a bridge of size. —N. Y. Evening Sun.

Drudgery.

By the adoption of modern gas appliances you may abolish drudgery from your home. GAS COOKERS eliminate the drudgery of lighting fires, the handling of coal and ashes, and enable you to prepare meals in half the time required with old-fashioned appliances. GAS WATER HEATERS are indispensable in every well-regulated household. GAS LIGHTING is best for the eyes and the pocket. THE PERFECTION GAS IRON is a recent addition to labour, time, and money saving appliances. This Nickel-plated Gas Iron may be had complete with stand and a length of malleable tubing for the small sum of $3.00, and should be in every household. "With the 'PERFECTION GAS IRON' a whole day's ironing may be done at a cost of five cents, five better results, and do more work in half the usual time. It is always hot and ready, clean and smooth, and post card, or phone 97, and the Gas Company will send a man to give practical demonstration of any, or all, up-to-date, household appliances. SEE AMERICA FIRST—CATALINA ISLAND.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Siwash." When the weary American citizen desires to plant himself on an island in the ocean, far from the crash of trolley cars and colliding automobiles, he goes joyfully to Santa Catalina Island.

No geological fact is more impressive than the foresight with which this beautiful little island was planted close to the haunts of men and yet separated from them by plenty of salt water. It is only about three hours, by rail and boat, from Los Angeles. For this reason it is greatly beloved and very popular, while other islands even more elaborately equipped with scenery and climate do not get three tourists a year, because a two weeks' vacation is used up in reaching them.

Catalina Island is as far away from the United States as if it cost real money to get there. It has no automobiles, street cars, stock tickers, factories, office buildings, billboards, city governments, departments stores or locomotives with large whistles and insomnias. Armed only with a fishing outfit and an appetite a business man can go so far away from America in three weeks on this island that he will have to have baseball explained to him when he comes back.

Catalina is about twenty-five miles long, a few miles wide and contains about half as much territory as Chicago. Its land is mostly stoned on edge, making it very desirable for golf, goats and scenery, but not for agriculture. It is separated from the mainland by twenty-five miles of sea-sickness varying from mild to acute. Nowhere can the traveler feel so badly as on little expense. Catalina has one town, Avalon, situated on a little bay. The bottom of this bay is beautifully laid out by nature in marble gardens and can be viewed from glass-bottomed boats. "Swing in the unsmiling clearness of the water." The island is also completely surrounded by huge fish called tuna, and nothing makes the visitor so proud as to catch a 150 pound tuna by means of a fragile line attached to an emaciated pole.

The climate of Catalina is so good that no one takes the trouble to discuss the weather. This makes it vastly popular with two kinds of people—those who love mild climates and those who get tired of saying "Yes, it is a fine day."

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"How many cards should a bachelor leave when calling on a married woman who has a young woman visiting her?" was Jack's query. "Three cards: one for the host, one for the hostess and one for the guest," said his father.

Dyala Toilet Cream is the new delightful preparation for preserving women's delicate skin and complexion. Use "SO-KLEAN" enamel cleanser. It will quickly remove all stains and grease from metal or enamel. 25 cents per packet.—Jy23,tf

A TIMELY RESCUE.—On Thursday last Master James Gibbs, son of Hon. M. P. Gibbs, had a narrow escape from drowning in Long Pond, being only rescued in time by Rev. Bro. Perry, of St. Bon's Colleg, who with Revs. Dr. Greene and Bro. O'Connell, happened to be nearby at the time.

The young lad had become exhausted and Rev. Bro. Perry seeing his predicament leaped into the water and with the assistance of the others rescued him just in the nick of time. The boy was unconscious when taken from the water and first aid had to be rendered by Bro. O'Connell. The placing of a life-buoy at this popular bathing resort would prove of great value in time of an accident.

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, July 30.
The Governor, Newfoundland:
The French Government reports violent German attacks repulsed in the Vosges with heavy loss.
The French submarine Mariotte has been sunk in the Dardanelles and her crew captured.
The Russian Government reports that the enemy suffered enormous loss in attempting to fortify the left bank of the Narw, also between the Bug and Wierp.
The Italian Government reports enemy counter-attacks on Corsica Plateau, with fresh troops, repulsed with serious losses.

BONAR LAW.

TWO STEAMERS SUNK.

LONDON, July 30.
The Norwegian steamer Thordensford was torpedoed and sunk today by a German submarine, and the Belgian steamer Prince Albert was also sunk by striking a mine. The crews of both vessels were saved.

HOLLAND'S ARMY.

THE HAGUE, July 30.
The Dutch Landstrum Bill was adopted by the first Chamber today and became law. The measure provides for the eventual increase of the total trained soldiers of Holland to approximately 556,000 officers and men, instead of 300,000 who were now under arms.

AUSTRIA'S HEAVY LOSSES.

GENEVA, July 30.
A telegraphic despatch to the Tribune from Laibach, says that the Austrians attacked the Italians at Gorizia with 170,000 men, including 30,000 Bavarians, on the night of July 28th, with disastrous results. The Austrian losses are numbered at 12,000. The following day a fierce Austrian attack on Carzo Plateau was also repulsed. The Italians hold all the positions they have captured the last fifteen days, except the advanced trenches before Gorizia, which have been evacuated.

ATTEMPT AT RECAPTURE FAILS.

ROME, July 30.
An attempt was made by a squadron of Austrian cruisers and a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers, yesterday, to recapture the Austrian Island of Pelagoa, in the Adriatic, which was occupied by the Italian naval forces last Monday, according to an official communication issued today by the Italian Ministry of Marine. The attack was repulsed. The statement adds that some members of the Austrian landing party were forced to swim to their ships.

It is officially announced that two prisoners who were charged with espionage, were tried by court martial on the 16th and 17th. They were found guilty and sentenced to death. The sentences having been duly confirmed, were carried out this morning.

GERMAN AVIATOR DROP BOMBS.

PARIS, July 30.
A German aviator threw down four bombs on Nancy yesterday. No casualties or damage.

THE HAYTI SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, July 30.
Two Americans of the landing force from the cruiser Washington, were killed at Port au Prince, according to a message from Admiral Caperton, received today. The men were members of a patrol and were shot from ambush by snipers last night. The marines returned the fire. No further disturbances occurred. Admiral Caperton reported that the town was attacked from the south at 8 o'clock last night. He had been warned and disposed his forces of defence and repulsed it. He said there was no cause for alarm. The battleship Connecticut, with 500 additional marines, has been ordered to Port au Prince from Philadelphia.

REITERATED CHARGE.

WASHINGTON, July 30.
President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, today reiterated the charge that foreign influences have been working to make strikes in the States, and called upon workmen to discountenance any such attempts.

COLLIERY TRAGEDY.

PITTSBURG, July 30.
Eight men were killed and twelve injured in the Patterson mine, United Coal Co., near Elizabeth, Penn., fifteen miles from here, this afternoon, when the cable hauling twelve cars up a steep incline parted.

RUSSIANS ARE FACING SERIOUS PROBLEM.

LONDON, July 31.
The Russians are now facing the problem of evacuating Warsaw and surrounding country, without losing their armies, while the Germanic allies are making an supreme effort to get across their line of retreat. The Tenthers are said to have met with a partial success in this attempt. The Berlin official report this evening says that Von Mackenzien has resumed the offensive and has reached the Lublin Cholm railway about midway between these two cities. Southeast of this as far as the Bug River, the Russian front has been shaken. The success of Von Mackenzien in getting across this railway after having been virtually stopped by Russian counter-attacks, denies at least to the retreat of the Russians who might still be between him and Warsaw, and also places the Germans in a position to move against the Bug River front, should this be decided upon. British military critics, however, refuse to believe that Grand Duke Nicholas has not provided all contingencies, or that he was not pretty sure of the safety of his troops before indicating to the world he had decided to take up a new line. The Berlin official statement says that the Germans have crossed the Vistula southeast of Warsaw, between Pilia and Kozienic, which leads military writers to believe that the Russians have already fallen back in this region, and that perhaps even the fortress of Ivangorod has been left to its fate. There is no news of the situation on the Narw River, or General Von Buelow's wide outflanking movement in Kovno province. However, the opinion expressed here is that as the German plans contemplate a series of attacks, rather than a simultaneous one, it is likely, they are waiting for Field Marshal Von Mackenzien to take some previously arranged positions before they resume the attacks. According to a despatch received here the country around Warsaw has been put to the torch, and the city itself denuded of everything that might be of use to the invaders. It may be some days before the Poles occupy the Polish Capital, as the Russians are fighting more than a rearguard action and are still delivering heavy blows on their opponents, and gaining local successes, particularly on the Narw, southeast of Cholm, where they are opposing the efforts of the Austrians to get across the Bug River. Military critics say these local successes will not offset the plans of the Russians falling back on a shorter and stronger front. Whether or not the Poles succeed in destroying a large part of the Russian Army, it is expected they will have to take a couple of months at least. It will therefore be a race between the Germanic forces and the Allies as to which side will take the offensive first in France, where the situation remains the same as it has been for weeks past, except in Alsace where the French continue their attacks on positions protecting Muenster. There has been sharp fighting here, the French advance converging from the north and from Metzeral, southeast of Muenster. An official this morning says that the enemy began the bombardment of our trenches north and south of Hooge (east of Ypre), and followed this by an attack with flame projectors, delivered against trenches recently taken by us. By this means the enemy succeeded in penetrating our first line of trenches on a front of about 500 yards. Fighting is still in progress.

IMPORTANT INDUSTRY.—The s.s. Bromora, 4,000 tons, is due at E. Col-lishaw's Mill, Alexander Bay, today to load pit-prop. This mill is one of our growing industries, giving employment to 600 men in the woods last winter, and 50 at the mill sawing this summer. Mr. Collishaw is also operating extensively at Badger, and this year the largest lumber manu-facturer in the Colony.

WE POINT WITH PRIDE

TO THE STORE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY.

Ten Strong Reasons

Why You should Buy Your Furniture from us.

- 1st—We produce our own lumber which goes into the Furniture and saves considerable in cost.
- 2nd—We have the Surface Oak finish for our Furniture, which is the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 3rd—We import our own Coverings for our Parlour Suites, thus saving two duties, as most all the imported Suites come from Canada and the United States, and they have to import their coverings from France or some of the European countries, and pay duty into Canada or the States. We avoid the second duty by getting the Covering ourselves and having the frames made here.
- 4th—We have our Springs made from the wire by the only Weaver in the country; also the Oxford or Copper Wire Spring by machines too.
- 5th—We have our Mattresses made by machinery in our own building, the only machine of its kind in the country. It can produce 50 against 10 by hand, thus saving considerable in cost.
- 6th—We are producing the Excelsior or Wood Fibre and cutting the cost in two, which will mean considerable saving in the making of Mattresses.
- 7th—We are also selling agents for the celebrated Ideal Beds and Springs and sell at factory price.
- 8th—We also have the COMBINATION LATH and SPRING BED, the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 9th—Having the factory in the same building, we can handle all sizes all repairing; in fact you can choose your own Coverings for Parlour Suites, Mattresses, etc., and have it made to order.
- 10th—Our motto (last but not least) is to sell at the lowest possible prices, and despite the serious advance in prices all round, we are, where possible, reducing the prices, WHICH SHOULD APPEAL TO EVERY HOUSEKEEPER when in need of Furniture and Furnishings, as we now by arrangement work from the "Tree to the Home," thus cutting out all middlemen's profits.

MISS ASQUITH'S ENGAGEMENT.

Domestic events always appeal in a special degree to the British public, and No. 10, Downing Street, the official residence of the Premier, has been kept busy during the last day or two by the receipt of almost innumerable letters and telegrams from private friends and public bodies to Violet Asquith, the Prime Minister's elder daughter, on her engagement to Bonham-Carter, her father's principal private secretary. Parliamentary interest attaches to the event, as the Bonham-Carter family has had an association with the House of Commons for several decades. Bonham-Carter's grandfather was member for Portsmouth from 1816 to 1838, his uncle represented Winchester from 1847 to 1874, and during his latest years at Westminster was Chairman of Committees, while another uncle was for many years referee of private bills in the House of Commons, and was long associated with the late Sir Reginald Paigrove, then Clerk of the House, in editing "May's Parliamentary Practice."

MUNITIONS, REGISTRATION, AND WAR LOAN.

The three topics mentioned in this heading have been the outstanding features of all discussions, private, press, and parliamentary, during the past week. Cabled information will have reached your readers about all these matters, but a few passing references may not be out of place here. The British army's need of more guns, shells, and explosives has been debated from every point of view, and it is clear that until now these things have been in short supply. A hustling movement is now on foot, however, which should soon put this matter right. A national call has been issued to all skilled workmen asking them to, as it were, enlist in the factory line so that they can supply the needs of the men in the fighting line. During the past week nearly a hundred thousand names of skilled workmen have been handed in and they will hold themselves in readiness to be sent to any part of the country to engage in the production of the above mentioned articles, receiving highest trade union wages, railway fares and lodging allowances. They will be given a distinguishing badge and, further, any men already engaged in munition work will, of course, not be enlisted in this new industrial force.

Coming on top of this has been the arrangement for a national registration of all males and females between the ages of 15 and 65. The purpose of this special census is not clear. The Government declares that it has not any intention of inducing military service on top of this and urges that it simply desires to know where the country stands for supplies of help of any sort. Besides the other information required to be filled in there will be a place where the person is appealed to state what help to the country, industrial or otherwise, he or she can give. A small knot of members in the House of Commons have been trying to obstruct the passing of this Bill styling it an unwarrantable interference with the liberty of the individual. These people are, however, a very small and mainly discredited class. Finally the war loan has been the other big topic. The lists have just closed. The total amount subscribed is not yet known but somewhere about six hundred million pounds (say, three thousand million dollars) is estimated as a likely figure. Three banks alone have subscribed sixty million pounds (say three hundred million dollars). From these great figures subscriptions fall down to amounts of five shillings each, say $1.25.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF WAR.

Steps are being taken, with the approval of the Government, to mark the anniversary of our entrance into the war—August 4—by the holding of a series of patriotic meetings all over the country. The idea is further to arouse the sense of the nation to the importance of the issues at stake in the war and stimulate the determination of the British people to render the fullest possible help in bringing the struggle to a speedy and victorious conclusion.

WAR DECORATIONS.

Though the medal for naval or military active service may not be ready until after the war has closed, there seems no reason why all recognition of such should thus be indefinitely postponed. It is accordingly strongly believed in various service circles that the war ribbon, to which the medal may ultimately be attached, will very soon—and perhaps, as early as July—be authorized to be worn by at least those who were at the front before December 31 of last year. Such a procedure would give decided satisfaction to very many of the men who have been invalided home, and who would be proud to be allowed to wear a visible symbol of their having done their duty in the first period of their country's need. These would be quite willing to forego the reception of the actual medal if they could have the ribbon at once. It is not to be forgotten, however, that a large distribution of medals was made by the late King Edward in person at Buckingham Palace a twelve months before the end of the South African War, thus showing that there is no need for a struggle to be closed before such battle-honors are personally awarded.

ASSISTING DISABLED SOLDIERS.

The Post Office is the first Government Department to deal in a practical manner with what threatens to be the pressing problem of providing employment for disabled soldiers. As a consequence, the Postmaster-General's announcement to that effect, included in his general statement to the House of Commons on July 6th, respecting the arrangements to release for the army men from the Post Office was received very cordially. In regard to the Postmaster-General's promise that, unless the circumstances of a district are exceptional, permission to enlist will not be refused to any soldier, postman, or laborer, and that every effort will be made to release clerks, it seems reasonable to assume that other Government Departments not directly associated with the services or war supplies will follow the example. In some of these, which are of a purely routine kind, every discouragement has been placed in the way of recruiting—a remark which can be applied to certain other public concerns here which make a great profession of patriotic endeavor. Some of those who denounce every young man they see out of uniform as a "shirker" or a "slacker" might be inclined to modify their denunciations, or, at the least, to address them to the proper quarter, if they were fully aware of these facts.

ENGLISH SUBMARINES IN THE BALTIC.

On the authority of a Russian official despatch, which now reaches us by way of France, we know that it was a British submarine which sank a German battleship off Danzig. This news was known all over the continent five days before it was allowed to be published here owing to the mysterious workings of the war bureau press censorship. Probably few people have grasped the fact that there is a British submarine in the Baltic. We may now recall that the German armoured cruiser Friedrich Karl was also said to be British. The Russian flotilla is big enough and efficient enough to perform the feat for itself, and if the two big German ships have fallen victims to the British it must be set down to our luck rather than to any superiority of skill. If anyone is impressed by the skill, small as it is, of the German submarines against our merchantmen, they may fairly be asked to set against it the deeds of the British underwater craft. They have torpedoed two German warships in the Bight of Heligoland, and a Turkish battleship, several gunboats, transport and store ships at the Dardanelles, where they had to travel under mine-fields and to support themselves in enemy waters—for three weeks in one case,—and they have penetrated into the Baltic and taken toll of the enemy there. Against a harbor-keeping fleet their successes have been extraordinary, and the Germans are probably at no loss to realize what they will do if they are ever unwise enough to present our submarines with a target for our men have been in the business quite as long as theirs and we have at least twice the number of boats.

THE BEST SOLDIER—THE MINER.

From an officer of a very famous regiment who has been out in France since the beginning of the war and is now able to speak without prejudice, as he has received a staff appointment, I heard some interesting views about the character of the different varieties of soldiers in the test of war. In his opinion the most useful soldier in modern trench fighting was unquestionably a miner. He had had many miners in his regiment, and he preferred them because they were strong in the back and used to dangerous and explosive, and could endure cramped positions in the trenches. Their ears were very quick, and they were curious about sounds and their intelligence was excellent. They put two and two together much quicker than any other class of his men. I asked him how he managed to straighten out his miners to be a credit to his famous regiment. He replied that they were not very successful at that, and that the drafts of miners who had joined after the war began were older men and too far set to be made into show soldiers. "But," he added, "the Germans probably did not notice the difference. Any way, they were better than the ploughmen for no ploughman over thirty can ever be taught to keep step—that is impossible. It is also impossible to get them to keep their shoulders level; one shoulder is always higher than the other, possibly because of work with the plough." He had been much impressed by the extraordinary relationship that had grown up in trench life. Officers and men had come very close together in places where life and death were matters of inclination. The new drafts especially looked to the experienced officers in an almost filial way. The soldiers distinguished, too, between the old professional officers and the new ones. His own regiment had been almost stripped of the original staff of officers, but when he and others who had been wounded rejoined he found that they were spoken of by the men as "the soldier officers."

Facts for Health Seekers to Ponder Over

SAVED BY A "JACK JOHNSON."

A remarkable story of a German "Jack Johnson" saving a British soldier's life was given to me by an officer in a nursing home here. He said that one day a "Jack Johnson" exploded in the no-man's-land between the trenches, and suddenly a Highland soldier, or rather the spectre of a Highland soldier, arose and reeled towards the British lines and fell over the parapet into the trench where my friend was. Everyone was much astonished, for the man's regiment had not been in that part to the knowledge of the occupants of the trench. The man had his arm shattered and was in a terrible condition. Later it was discovered from what he said that he had been wounded and stunned by a shell five days before, and that he had lain unconscious all that time till the explosion of the "Jack Johnson" brought him back to consciousness, and by some miracle he had taken the right direction and reached a British trench. He did not die, and thus his life was really saved by the "Jack Johnson."

THE LONDON STORES' SALES IN WAR TIME.

Half the big shops in London held their summer sales on June 29th, but they were very unevenly patronized. While in some centres business is almost as lively as last year, in others there is a dead calm. The economical woman is buying woollen stuffs, especially navy serges and covert coatings, which will be very scarce and expensive later in the year, ready-made tailor costumes, and gloves. Of these our stock is running short, and we depended almost entirely on the Continent for gloves. People are buying cotton stuffs, and the cotton frocks which are prettier and cheaper than ever, but the shops say that all through the season they have done a quite normal trade in cotton things. They are hoping that the sales will not fall far below last year's but they say they are missing the holiday purchaser. Many people are not going away for holidays this year, and those who do go are cutting down expenses, remembering how they returned from last holidays to find everyone afraid that business would be at a standstill. It was their last quiet care-free expenditure. The war has not greatly affected the appearance of the counters, though it seems extremely odd to find among the bargains Zepplin respirators marked at "sale price."

Kidney Trouble?

The waste material which the Kidneys are intended to remove from the blood, if allowed to accumulate in the system, poison the blood and thus produce deleterious effects. If from over-work, exposure to cold, or some local injury, the kidneys become congested or inflamed and cannot perform their functions, the system becomes filled with uric poisons. Whenever a dull, heavy pain is felt over the region of the kidneys for any length of time, accompanied by a sallow complexion, loss of appetite, decrease of weight, and a puffy condition under the eyes and in the ankles, a chronic inflammation of the kidneys must be suspected, and if not relieved promptly chronic Bright's Disease will certainly develop. Abbey's Effervescent Salt, sold everywhere at 25c and 50c, which is a Diuretic as well as an Aperient, will carry out of the system the poisonous material which the kidneys cannot get rid of, and will relieve the congestion of the kidneys.

Clears The Head, Opens The Nostrils, Stops Sneezing, Cures Catarrh

You Get Instant Relief by Inhaling the Soothing Vapor "Catarrhoxone."
Catarrh is bound to come with this weather. Slight colds become more offensive and sickening every day. The inflammation extends further into the head. Soon the ears begin to buzz and ring. The head aches, the eyes pain dreadfully, the nose gets plugged up and this forces the patient to breathe through the mouth. Vile filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring a great deal of coughing to keep the air passages free. Finally, this foul matter finds the way into the stomach, causing dyspepsia and general ill-health. By this time the patient has SYSTEMATIC CATARRH, which saps strength, completes the vital energies till complete exhaustion is the unhappy result.

There isn't the slightest use in trying to cure this condition with tablets, snuff or spray. Such treatments are wholly inadequate. You must employ Catarrhoxone the only remedy that possesses power to kill the germs of Catarrh. The healing vapor of Catarrhoxone is carried by the air you breathe to the most minute cells of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. Its antiseptic medication goes everywhere that air can go. No case is too chronic, no person too old—everybody that has catarrh of any kind can be cured by this grand treatment which is endorsed by thousands of physicians throughout America, who say: "The only way to permanently get rid of Catarrh is to use Catarrhoxone."
TWO MONTHS' TREATMENT GUARANTEED TO CURE. PRICE $1.00, small size 50c.; trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.
