Lady of the Night

AMELIA MAKES A SUCCESS

CHAPTER XXI. A WOMAN'S COURAGE.

He sank down beside her, his hands closed over hers, he looked at the sea, up at the cliff, and then at her face.

She wanted to tell her what he thought of her, but for a time he could only gaze at her face, the cliff, and the sea.

"You're all right," she panted. "I'm only frightened, upset. Go away—go to the other end of the cliff there, and let me lie down and rest for a bit. I shall be all right then."

He drew her still closer to him, lavishing the boundless wealth of his gratitude and affection in his embrace.

CHAPTER XXII. RUN DOWN.

Almost before the tide had receded Nora rose to make her way round the cliff to the quay.

Nora went as quickly as she could; she wanted to avoid him. She, too, was shy and embarrassed, and worse—full of shame.

She could have borne the discovery of her deception by almost any of the other persons she knew or had come in contact with during her masquerade.

"You're all right," she panted. "I'm only frightened, upset. Go away—go to the other end of the cliff there, and let me lie down and rest for a bit. I shall be all right then."

She was a very wretched girl as she wearily climbed from the quay to the farm and sought refuge in her own room.

"All right, don't disturb him. We've had an adventure, a pretty trying time. Cyril has just saved my life. No, don't disturb him; let him rest, poor boy!"

She remained in her room until he had left for the night, and the next morning she started, taking some food with her, to the other side of the island, and stayed there for the whole of the day.

But it seemed that the boy meant to evade him for longer than the day. There was no getting hold of him.

On that night Hodges was sitting up waiting for her. "You're like a will-o'-the-wisp, Master Cyril," he said; "there's no getting hold of 'ee. Mr. Graham says 'ee've been a-looking for 'ee for days past, and can't find 'ee. What's come to 'ee? You're looking as pale as cream, and your eyes is red."

Captain Marks is signalling 'Make haste'." Nora dressed quickly and went down. Margery had got some breakfast ready, and Nora tried to eat some, but every mouthful seemed to choke her.

"You'll be running down to say good-bye to Mr. Graham? 'Ee'd never forgive 'ee if you went off without shaking hands. 'Ee've told us about the way you went down the cliff after him—There! I ain't going to talk about it, though it were a terrible plucky thing, more 'specially for a mere lad."

Nora turned aside and went down towards the quarry. She reached the hut where Eliot lay sleeping—it was only a little after dawn—and her heart was racked with a longing to see him.

"Come along, my lad," he cried. "I'm sorry to hurry you, but I want the tide and the bit of wind we've got, the weather's none too promising."

"Well, here we be agen, my lad," observed Captain Marks, "and mighty glad I am to see 'ee. Now I look at 'ee I'm thinking you don't look much the better for your stay on Lonaway. Nice healthy place, too—gets every wind that blows. But there, it's the land all the same; and folks allus gets pale and sickly-like when they've been shorebound for a time. The sea's the only healthy place; you can take my word for that. It's main early, and you've been woke out of your beauty sleep. You coil yourself up in the starn there, and I'll cover 'ee up with a tarpaulin, for it's a bit cold, and you'll sleep like a cherub."

"I have a cold," said Nora. "It's nothing." "I thought 'ee was tired of the island, maybe," said Hodges. "It had only natural if you was. It's a lone place, and we're simple folk, and no kind of company for the likes of you. But there! Us won't be able to keep 'ee any longer. The Happy Lucy is coming across to-morrow, and we've managed to scrape the rent together. It's a brave bit o' money, and it's easy to get these hard times. There it be, Master Cyril, Mine and Shuffey's, and I could almost 'a wished that we hadn't got it, and that you'd been obliged to stay on for a while, for we shall miss 'ee sorely. You've made yourself like one of us, quite like a friend of the family, as you may say, a old friend. I don't know what Margery there will do."

"I'm afraid I've often been rude and short with you, Margery," she said; "but I don't mean it half the time. You must forgive me."

"I'm glad," she said; "I was afeared you mistook me."

"I ought to be ashamed of myself for giving you such a thought," said Nora. "I really like you very much, Margery; but I'm afraid I'm a bad-tempered"—she had almost said girl—"boy," she finished quickly.

Hodges laughed with pleasant scorn. "You bad-tempered!" he exclaimed. "You're the best-tempered young gentleman I ever met, you and Mr. Graham. And now 'e'll miss 'ee as bad as we shall—worse, most like, for you and 'e be stiles, and 'e's been like brothers. Yes, 'e'll miss 'ee!"

Nora turned away to hide her burning blush. "Oh, 'e'll be all right," she said. "Margery must look after him."

It was now Margery's turn to blush and avert her head. Nora was awakened next morning by Hodges.

EXTENSION NEUTRAL ZONE SUGGESTED.
LONDON, June 9. Great Britain is now urging on France the insufficiency of the Neutral Zone in Upper Silesia, and the necessity of re-establishment of the authority of the Control Commission throughout the entire zone. This would involve pushing back the Polish frontier to the German line. This proposal has been begun by the British for some time, and is being adjusted, and of making a slight adjustment of the German line. This proposed action against the Polish insurgents, it was stated today in official circles, is the logical sequence of the ultimatum sent to Germany demanding the halt and withdrawal of the troops of General von Hofer, leader of the German defence forces. It is reported yesterday that Germany had acquiesced in this demand. Government officials today held that since the Allies sent their ultimatum to General von Hofer, they are duty bound to take some drastic action toward the Poles, in which it is hoped France will co-operate.

UNFRIENDLINESS A CRIME.
MONTREAL, June 9. Ex-President of the United States, William H. Taft, addressing the American Women's Club here, last night, in regard to friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain declared it to be "a crime that anybody in either country should do anything to lead to unfriendliness between the two countries."

THE ADMIRAL'S REPLY.
LONDON, June 9. Rear Admiral William Sims, U.S.N., is quoted by the Press Association today as saying, this morning, with regard to the speech he delivered on the Irish question on Tuesday, "I stand by all I said, every word of it. I shall not repudiate a single word I said and I see nothing un-American in it, even if Senator McCormack says so."

AN ERROR UNDOUBTEDLY.
PARIS, June 9. Dr. Mayer, German Ambassador here, called at the Foreign Office this morning and presented the excuses of the German Government for the attack upon French troops in Belgium yesterday, by forces of General von Hofer, head of Germany's defence forces in the district. Dr. Mayer said the attack was due to an error, the French having been mistaken for Polish insurgents.

POLES RETREAT, BRITISH WELCOMED.
OPELEN, June 9. Five thousand Polish insurgents have been driven out of the city of Rosenberg, northeast of here, by British forces, and last night the Poles were reported to be retreating in a South Westerly direction. The Poles had a show of resistance, dropping a few poorly-aimed shells behind them, and there was a scattering pattering of shots from the Polish positions. The Poles then picked up their machine guns, which had been set in the road and fled. The British did not fire a shot in taking the city, a surprise which all the insurgents had expected. The people of Rosenberg gave the British an ovation.

ANGLO-FRENCH ALLIANCE.
LONDON, June 9. Aberdeen Chamberlain stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that the question of arranging an Anglo-French Alliance, even without visible participation by the United States, was not under discussion. Recently French newspapers have been discussing the question of closer relations between France and Great Britain, and it was indicated that the British Government would be pleased as to its attitude toward such an Alliance.

This Man Declares He Ate Plenty But It Did Him No Good

Had Good Appetite But Was Very Thin And Couldn't Gain A Pound.

"I was not a sick man when I began taking Tanlac," said William McAuliffe, of 784 17th St., Oakland, Calif., "but for some reason or other, I had for fifteen years or more been considerably under my normal weight and felt so much concern over the fact that I made repeated efforts to find something that would build me up to my old self again."

Mr. McAuliffe has lived in Oakland nearly all his life, is a member of the Real Estate Board, office phone, Oakland 1750, and is well known and respected throughout the city. Mr. McAuliffe further said:

"It is very evident that I could not assimilate my food properly, for I would eat good substantial meals but in spite of all I did in the way of foods and medicine I remained under weight, and could not gain a pound. Finally, nearly a year ago, after hearing so much about Tanlac for run-down systems, I concluded to see what this medicine would do in my case. So I started taking it and kept it up to three months ago before I began taking on weight. Tanlac kept me with a fine appetite and feeling fine all the time, however, and when I found myself getting heavier I was very much delighted."

"I now weigh one hundred and forty-two pounds, have gained fifteen pounds by taking Tanlac—which is just the right weight for a man my size and build. I could not feel better if I wanted to, for I am as healthy a person as could be found. I'll recommend Tanlac to anybody who wants something to build them up, and if they stick to it as I did I don't believe they will be disappointed."

Sad Drowning at North Sydney.

NEWFOUNDLANDER LOSES HIS LIFE.

Tragically sad was the passing of Nicholas Howell, an industrious young man of 38 years, who died at North Sydney, N.S.W., on Saturday afternoon in almost 14 feet of water near the harbor entrance, a victim of accidental drowning.

Howell, who was a native of a place called Bristol Hope, Newfoundland, resided at Sydney Mines for the past eight years or so. He worked at Number One colliery, but lately since the dull times struck in, he devoted himself to lobster fishing when not employed at his usual work. Saturday morning he left his home at "The Rows," and proceeded to Sutherland's shore where he secured his boat and rowed out to where he had set several lobster traps a short distance from the shore.

Failing to return at dinner time his wife began to feel uneasy, and finally inquired her fears to neighbors. Two well known young men Messrs. Robert Burchell and James Carter at once secured a boat, and proceeded to Howell's traps. They found the latter's boat anchored to the buoy, but no sight of the owner. They procured instruments to drag the waters of the vicinity and were not long in bringing the lifeless remains to the surface.

The body was conveyed to McRae's undertaking rooms where a coroner's jury viewed the remains and this evening an inquest will be held.

The tragedy is a sore blow to the grief-stricken widow, whose health is none too good, and his family of three small children. Just how the accident happened will likely never be known, but it is presumed the unfortunate man while pulling his lobster pots fell overboard—North Sydney Herald, June 6th.

THE PARIKH.

The man whose credit on the blink is known by all upon the street, and it is sad to see him sink around the town on furtive feet. He has a frightened, hunted air, no tranquil hours by him enjoyed; he dodges here, he dodges there, the merchant prince to avoid. Perchance he is a gifted scout, the fire of genius in his glib, but he has worn his credit out, and there's no welcome sign for him. No smile of greeting warms his heart as he goes shuffling down the street, but

SALES SURTAX.

The people of Newfoundland expected wonderful things of the Liberal-Reform Party on the advent of the Government of Sir R. A. Squires to power in 1919. Nor have they been disappointed, for wonderful deeds have been accomplished by, and to-day the voters are reaping the reward of their fidelity and adherence to the reformers of 1919. The burden of taxation bore heavily on the people for some years previous to the coming in of the Surtax Government, and in his manifesto issued previous to the general election held in the year named, "Sir-Tax" Squires promised amongst other things a revision of the tariff framed in such a way that the higher rates of duty would be assessed on those most capable of sustaining them, and the weight of taxation would not be borne so much by the common people. "Revision of the tariff" and "reduction of taxation" are two catch-cries perennially used by astute political leaders to secure the majority of voters. And notwithstanding that the people have been hoodwinked by such promises for years without number, they still fall for them, and believe in the protestations of those who use them. "Reduction of taxation" was one of the principal planks in the platform of the Liberal-Reformers, and realizing to the full the inherent creditability of the people on such a point, the reformers worked it for all it was worth with the result that the voters again fell into the political trap set for their undoing, by men who desired power and aspired to position no matter what the cost of their success to the country. There has been no reduction of taxation contemplated by the present Government, whose sole idea is to sweat as much as they can out of the people by the imposition of an iniquitous surtax, styled, for what reason no person knows, "Special War Tax."

In addition to that there is added to the already heavy financial burden of the consumer, whose earning power has been largely reduced by a condition of economic affairs for which the Government is largely responsible, a Sales Super-Tax, the operation of which has yet to be explained in detail. No person appears to be at all satisfied as to how this additional tax is to be worked out, and the Prime Minister himself appears to be altogether in the dark as to how he proposes to collect it, unless he is waiting for particulars from Canada. By the imposition of this Sales Super-Tax, the Prime Minister in his budget, presented on behalf of the Minister of Finance and Customs, who by the way knew nothing whatever of its contents, estimates the raising of a sum amounting to nine hundred thousand dollars, in addition to that which will be collected by the Special War Tax, the estimate of which is one million, one hundred and forty-seven thousand, five hundred dollars, or a total increased taxation of TWO MILLION AND FORTY-SEVEN THOUSAND DOLLARS, a rate of more than EIGHT DOLLARS per head for every man, woman and child in the country. And this is the Liberal-Reform idea of reducing the cost of living. What do the people think of it? And in the same breath in his wonderful budget the Prime Minister promises retrenchment by lopping off the salaries of already underpaid civil servants a sum of two hundred and thirty thousand dollars. Marvellous! Prodigious! High finance of the most exalted quality. Three per cent. retrenchment at the expense of the consumers of Newfoundland. Can you beat it? And this is how the Liberal-Reform Premier makes good his pre-election promises.

No Session of House.

ASSEMBLY ADJOURNS FOR WAR MEMORIAL MEETING.

The House adjourned early yesterday afternoon so that members might have the opportunity of attending the War Memorial meeting at the Board of Trade Rooms. Before adjournment the Prime Minister again expressed his appreciation of the courtesy extended by the Leader of the Opposition in facilitating the passing of the Loan Bill. He announced that he had saved 1/2 per cent on exchange and seemed quite proud of his astute business achievement. He asked that a night session be held as the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who had come out specially for the purpose of receiving his "medicine" from Sir Michael Cashin, could go home to Fort Union.

Unveiling of War Memorial.

Will Form Part of Important Public Function at Bell Island.

Arrangements are now practically finalized for the unveiling of the public War Memorial, which will take place at Bell Island during the official visit of His Excellency the Governor, Sir C. Alex. Harris, K.C.M.G., this month. A Citizens' Committee, of which the Magistrate Power is Chairman, will have a suitable programme for the occasion, and amongst other items will be an official luncheon, at which His Excellency will be the guest of honor and those present will include the heads of every organization on the island, and the unveiling of the Monument to the fallen will be the important event of the visit. The Shrine is now erected, and the ceremony will be appropriately impressive. The following comprise the Unveiling Committee: Capt. Leo Murphy, Chairman; Staff-Serg. C. J. Butler, Secretary; W. P. Power, J. P. Leut. R. Burnham, N. G. Lodge, Sergt-Major H. S. Butler, M.M., A. McDonald, C. E. Archibald, Rev. J. Shead, Rev. J. McGrath, P. Rev. I. R. Curtis, Rev. E. J. Rawlins, Adjt. A. J. Big Tobacco Robbery.

MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED.

The mystery surrounding the robbery of tobacco to the value of $3,000, supposed to have been taken from the freight sheds of the Reid Nid. Co., is still unsolved. The story which is currently reported is that planks in that part of the shed protruding over the roadway were removed and the tobacco was then taken out after which the planks were replaced, the thief making his escape through a window. The stolen goods were taken to a waiting motor boat in which the thieves took their departure. So far the police have not discovered anything which might lead to the capture of the crooks. It has been ascertained, however, that none of the stolen tobacco has been put on the market.

Action at Law.

We have been informed that Messrs. Mendes, Lima & Co. of Pernambuco, Brazil, have taken an action against G. M. Barr and the Union Trading Company, Limited, for $15,550 account of a cargo of fish shipped from Port Union. The statement of claim alleges that the defendants sold 3885 drums of codfish warranted genuine Newfoundland shore cured codfish at 100 shillings per drum, delivered in Brazil, 90 per cent of the purchase "consisted largely of sun-dried, black and hardy stinking fish." Warren & Winter are acting for the plaintiffs.

Two Lame Ducks Coming.

Late last evening the Furness Withy Co. received a message from the S.S. Parkdale stating she was making for this port with her machinery out of order and would arrive here to-day. The Carplane is owned by the United States Government and is a ship of 3407 tons net and is 5104 tons gross. She is expected to arrive during the evening. Still another lame duck is expected to be in the Furness Withy Co. this morning this latest being the S.S. Maiden Creek, needing engine repairs, and water. The Maiden Creek is owned by the United States Shipping Board. She is 5763 tons gross, 3552 net and was built at Hog Island.

Politics in Court.

"SCOURGED WITH SCORPIONS."

Mr. Geo. W. B. Ayre created a sensation in the Magistrate's Court this morning when he delivered his address in the case of B. J. Whitty vs. the Mayor and City Council. The hearing was continued this morning before Judge Morris. Mr. E. J. Whitty for the defence, stated that due notice had been given those employed on relief works of the reduction in their wages. Mr. Ryan, the City Engineer, was also called by Mr. Carter. Both these gentlemen suffered a severe cross-examination at the hands of Mr. Ayre. Mr. Carter again asked for a dismissal because the Council had full jurisdiction with regard to the plaintiffs' wages and had every right to reduce them. The Judge did not dispute the Council's right in this direction. He said he would address the Court at length with His Honor's permission and he stated that 7,900 people hung on the verdict.

"Charlot" Rams Iceberg SHIP BADLY BATTERED.

S.S. Charlot, which left port on Wednesday afternoon after having some repairs effected to her water tanks, returned to port this morning in a battered condition. A message that the Charlot had struck an iceberg was published in yesterday's Telegram. Last night after reaching port, the s.s. Seapool picked up the following message: "From Charlot; position latitude 48.6 N., longitude 51.02 W. Will nearest vessel please stand by as water is up in the fore-room." The ship heaved up on the ice, and hundreds of citizens visited the pier during the day to view the smashup. For the whole length of the forepeak the ship is badly smashed and moved from its fastenings. Huge pieces of ice are scattered over this part of the ship. At 5.40 yesterday morning during fog the ship ran, for a good portion of her length upon an island of ice, the impact being so great that those on board thought the ship was doomed. Fortunately the sea was smooth and by careful manoeuvring port was reached. Repairs to the Charlot will likely take about two months.

Feildians Win Rugged Game.

The Feildians defeated the Methodist College team by 6 points to 3 in the third game of the Inter-Collegiate Rugged series played on the former's ground. The game was a very good one as the score would indicate. The M. C. forwards were heavier than their opponents and the Feildians three-quarter line was far superior. The two Feildians tries were scored by Green and Anderson. The M. C. backs were however, no better than the three were converted. The next game will be played on the M. C. ground to-morrow afternoon. A win for the M. C. will give them the championship again.

Our Only Statesman.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—A note in your journal of to-day's issue attracted my attention. It was captioned thus: "Sir Robert Bond will not attend Conference." This, of course, refers to the coming conference of Premiers of the British Empire during the month of June. This is a very important matter, and it seems a great pity that the Empire's Oldest Colony should be unrepresented.

Those Seaside Sands.

The presence of the sand which forms beaches and drifts into dunes along the edge of the sea dates back to the formation of the earth. At this time millions of years ago, the land and rocks which now form what we call the crust of the earth was a molten mass, in which was a large proportion of the element known to science as silicon. A large portion of this was deposited on the surface of the earth, and when the world cooled it formed a sort of crust or granular deposit, to which the name of sandstone is applied. When the oceans were formed, the action of the water broke up this sandstone into tiny particles and formed the sand as we see it to-day. The reason that this appears in large quantities on the edge of the ocean is because the motion of the waves and the tides constantly sweeps it up from the bed of the sea and deposits it on the beaches, where it remains to testify to events which happened long before the memory of man.

Football Notes.

To-night's Game.—The following is the line-up in to-night's game:—Highlanders.—Goal: Moore; full backs: Adams; half backs: H. Adams, E. Spry, J. Irvine; forwards: F. Watts, Hopkins, McIlwraith, N. Pike, E. Robertson. Hibernians.—Goal: G. Muir; full backs: G. Muir, F. Brian; half backs: J. Rawlins, S. Constantine, W. Burke; forwards: F. Phelan, E. Phelan, Walter Callahan, Evans.

Personally, I am not anticipating a very good game as the B.I.S. team is so much stronger in every way than the Highlanders. Last year's championship team is practically unaltered and as they have not lost an opportunity of practicing they should have an easy win.

Too Many Games.—There is a probability that there will be a falling off of interest in football this year consequent upon the fact that there are too many teams in the League, and it is just as bad to overdo a thing of this sort as to underdo it. What is really needed, provided that none of the teams in the League at present decide to amalgamate with others, is a reduction of the number of teams. It is of the weaker teams. These would be given an opportunity to fight their way into the First Division, and would create a great deal of popular interest in the game. Whilst it is too late to consider this during the present season, the League might bear it in mind for next year.

Accidental or Deliberate.—A considerable amount of discussion has taken place recently over the question of the difference between "accidental" and "deliberate" hands. It has been argued that there is no such thing as an "accidental" hand. With a good player there is a case in point. Suppose a player kicks the ball and it hits an opponent on the arm, just below the shoulder, and in his own penalty area. Obviously it would be unfair to award a penalty kick for this. Yet the fact of there being no "accidental" hands would necessitate such a penalty being awarded. It would be interesting to hear the views of footballers on this point.—FULL BACK.

Democracy Defined.

Editor Evening Telegram Dear Sirs—Replying to Mr. J. R. Macdonnell, M.H.A., I may say that there are three kinds of democracy—political, economic, and the democracy which we mean when we describe such a lord as being "democratic." In such a case he is generally "democratic" with people and is generally "democratic" with politics. It is a sort of reform which, I imagine, is a sort of reform of political democracy. Social or industrial democracy is in industry and democracy in politics is, unfortunately, there is little of it to be seen at present.

Political democracy (the one with which Mr. Macdonnell and I have now to deal) may be described very simply as the rule, or control or government by the people. That is to say, any given industry, rates, controls or governs itself. All except philosophical anarchists believe in government. Anarchists believe in abolishing the state, which course is society organized for its own protection and welfare. When we say "government" by the people we mean that there are no functions in government—legislation and the carrying on of routine, such as revenue collecting, expenditure, etc. Under complete democracy, the people would themselves do both parts. As, however, it is impossible for the people to control the government in their own affairs, it is not surprising that political democracy, therefore, contents itself with the appointing of popular representatives to do the work which it is not practicable for it to do itself. Political democracy indeed vests in the hands of its representatives the work of legislation, retaining the right (whether that right be sometimes denied it or no) to declare such legislation null and void. This right is to be done under the referendum and the recall, which, with a certain exception, is the most advanced and most complete form of democracy which exists. Under a perfect democracy, or at least a more nearly perfect democracy than the present, the people would, by managing their own affairs, have their own laws, have their representatives lick it into shape and put it on the statute books. That would be done by the people with a vengeance. They would perhaps leave to their representatives the formulating or introducing of some legislation, always retaining the right to undo that legislation and to recall the representatives.

All power belongs to society—belongs to the people. In other words, the Demos rules in a democracy. The more the people wield the power which they know, by which they govern the democracy. What Mr. Macdonnell means by delegated democracy is the system which we see in most democracies, in which the people elect their representatives to do the work which they themselves own. They cannot or will not for reasons of expediency wise, in which they expect the representatives to wield on their behalf, for their interest. Consequently, the system of government in Newfoundland is one of "delegated" democracy,—in so far as it is democracy at all. Now that the readers of the Telegram may know what has gone before, I will state briefly the case to date: Mr. Macdonnell in the House "whatsoever" the woman, sufficient bill in a letter ask him to tell which of these two he supports: democracy or rule of, by and for the people (that is, the people?) That is, does Mr. Macdonnell, believing in democracy, consider woman not a person—because, remember, he believes woman suffering from the he would the two positions of believing in democracy and believing in woman suffrage. Mr. Macdonnell's reply is a request for me to tell what I understand by the term democracy, whether I mean delegated or real democracy, and into what category I place the system of government in Newfoundland. Here are my answers in short: 1. Democracy is government by, or for, the people. 2. When I used the term democracy in my first letter I meant either real or delegated democracy. 3. I categorise the system of government in Newfoundland as "delegated" democracy. In conclusion, may I say that, not knowing exactly what point Mr. Macdonnell is going to make, (from which, hence, I cannot give just the answer he wants) I will give the details of explaining or particularizing in the definitions or explanations of this letter. Yours sincerely, J. R. SMALLWOOD. June 10, 1921.

Successful Dance. AT S.U.P. ROOMS. An enjoyable dance was held last night in the S.U.P. Rooms, West St. at the Society's funds. The affair was held under the auspices of the Association who also undertook the catering. Quite a large number of people were present and a most pleasant evening dancing to the excellent music provided by the C.L.B.C. Band under Capt. A. Morris. The dance programme consisted of waltzes, numbers and included all the very latest fox-trots, one-step and waltzes with an occasional set of lancers as a diversion. The chaperones for the evening were Messames Curlew, James, Rendell, Lovell and Bradford. A sociable for members of the Order, their wives and daughters, was being held to-night. Child Welfare Association.

MEMBERSHIP ENROLLMENT APPEAL. The Executive of the C.W.A. earnestly appeal to every woman in this city to enroll herself as a member of this Association and send her name and address and the sum of one dollar which is to be the annual fee for membership to the Hon. Secretary Miss Mary Mackay, or the Hon. Treasurer, Miss Mary Mackay. During the great war it was only necessary to ask for help towards any patriotic object and the women of our country responded most loyally to every appeal. Is not the care of the children and the saving of child life of our community as truly patriotic a work as any we have previously undertaken? It is therefore confidently expected that within the next month not less than one thousand women will become members of this new Association, and thus show their interest in the important work of Child Welfare in St. John's.

The above appeal was made some days ago, but up to date only 118 have responded. However, we have enough faith in the patriotism of our women to feel sure it is only necessary to remind them of the existence of such an organization. The Association needs funds at once to continue the work now being done, and to meet its obligations which are, the improvement of Health, Prevention of Disease, and Relief of Suffering among the children of our community. This work should command the sympathy and support of every citizen.

Why couldn't we have one thousand men as well as one thousand women join as members of this branch of social welfare work at once? Let St. John's in her own interest see to it. The names of 44 members were previously acknowledged. The following 74 have joined since: Mrs. J. D. Lockyer, Mrs. H. J. B. Woods, Miss M. Furlong, Mrs. J. R. Chalker, Mrs. John C. Oke, Mrs. C. F. War Memorial Meeting.

General Committee Appointed— Subscription List Opened.

The meeting of citizens, convened by Mr. P. E. Outbridge, which took place in the Board of Trade Rooms yesterday afternoon, was attended by a large and representative audience amongst which were a number of prominent ladies. Mr. H. E. Cowan president of the Board of Trade briefly announced the purpose for which the meeting was called, after which Mr. Outbridge outlined the following programme for the erection of a War Memorial.

That the movement begin at once to obtain funds; that a greater amount than $10,000 should be the aim of the promoters; that a committee of five men be formed; that all monies go toward the object in view; that the assistance of the Press, Board of Trade and Postal Department be obtained.

The speaker pointed out that there must be a lot of loose change in the city, judging by the fact that each night's football match realizes from $150 to $200, and that not less than the entertainments were held the night previous, while the dance halls were also always well patronized. As for the form the monument should take, the speaker suggested that each subscriber to the fund send his ideas in to a central committee. Before closing his address Mr. Outbridge proposed that immediate action in the matter be taken.

Mr. E. G. Rendell was then unanimously moved to the chair, after which the meeting was thrown open for general suggestions.

Mr. W. R. Howley moved that a committee be appointed to carry out the desire of the meeting that the memorial be erected at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. J. R. Bennett in seconding the motion paid a tribute to Mr. Outbridge for his work in starting the movement, so long in abeyance. He said that a splendid example had been set, which every young man should follow.

Mr. George W. B. Ayre wished to know if the memorial was for the men of St. John's or the country generally. In reply the Chairman expressed his personal views that it should be for the whole country.

Sir Patrick McGrath concurred in the view that the memorial should be erected in the capital and represent the whole country, but with it to be understood that the funds would have to be obtained in the city, as the Patriotic Association had circulated the outputs in reference to a like object, but had received no response. He thought the sum of $10,000 too small an amount for the limit of the fund, and that there was no need of great haste in the matter, as other countries such as Canada and England had not yet erected any large memorial to its heroes, and even France had decided to wait for 20 years before proceeding with such an undertaking. He favored the idea of the committee setting to work at once.

In answer to Sir John Crosbie the Chairman stated that the amount would not be limited to $10,000.

Rev. Dr. Curtis thought that the time had been opportune for this undertaking when the people were prosperous. There a design had been submitted by the Patriotic Association

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

IF INVITED.

LONDON, June 9.—A high official in Belfast is quoted by a correspondent in that city of the Evening News, as stating that a hint has been given those connected with the Southern Irish Parliament that Sir George's invitation would visit Dublin to participate in the opening of that body.

MARTIN SUSTAINED.

REGINA, June 9.—Early returns of to-day's election in Saskatchewan, virtually complete to-night, indicated the return to power of the Government, by a decreased majority. Predictions were made that the Independent and other opposition groups would total from twenty to twenty-five members in the new House of Parliament. Premier Martin and Colonel J. Cross carried Regina City by large majorities. The future of a high line of football was being contested by two in Saskatoon, and lost Moose Jaw to Labor and Conservative opponents. At nine o'clock, with sixteen men in a line, the first vote was 21 Martin supporters elected, one Independent, one Conservative and one Labor. Returns from the country were coming in slowly, but these were indications that the vote had been fairly heavy.

A PESSIMISTIC PRELATE.

BELFAST, June 9.—Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, alluding to the opening of the Ulster Parliament in an address at a confirmation service in Cookstown today, declared that the future before the people of the Northern counties of Ireland fills him with fear and anxiety. He said: "I cannot lose sight of the fact that before the people of these Northern Counties there lies a future as dark and gloomy as the night which fills me with fear and anxiety. If we are to judge by the public utterances of those into whose hands power has fallen in this quarter of Ireland, we have times of persecution before us."

IN THE NEAR EAST.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 9.—A Greek offensive is announced for the end of the week, and both sides apparently are confident of victory. Speaking of the impending attack, Iszet Pasha, in command of the Turkish troops, said "we are not alarmed over British aid to Greeks. Let them come and enter up the line of the Turkish forces, estimated at 100,000, with 60,000 effectives, occupy virtually the same locations between Bursa and Smyrna, as they did in March. The Greeks, reinforced by British airplanes, tanks and gas shells, are effecting a lightning force. The Greek morale, owing to their losses, until lately, but has vastly improved owing to British support. There are many conjectures as to the outcome of the offensive, it is pointed out that the issue is between British and Bolsheviks, and the latter are ready to send troops to assist Turks. The British are not sending troops to assist the Greeks. They will also employ war vessels in the Black Sea at various Turkish ports. The opinion is held here by some that the Greeks defeat the Nationalists along the Eski-Shehratun-Karahisr line, the Bolsheviks will complete the work of breaking up Anatolia in an attempt to secure political control.

FRENCH NAVAL PROGRAMME.

PARIS, June 9.—In presenting French programme of naval construction for the next three years, Deputy Paul Denise reported for the Navy Commission and discussed in the Chamber of Deputies to-day the virtual abandonment of the building of battleships and battle cruisers, and the intensification of construction of submarines, torpedo boat destroyers and airplane carrying ships. The programme provides for the construction of six light cruisers, well as destroying submarines, boats and thirty-six submarines at an approximate cost of 416,000,000 francs.

WANT A BALLOT.

LONDON, June 10.—A conference of coal miners' delegates, held here to-day, declared that a ballot should be taken in all coal fields, on the proposals of mine owners for a settlement of the strike.

SINN FEIN ULTIMATUM.

DENVER, Colo., June 10.—Immediate recognition of "the Irish Republic," withdrawal of British troops from Ireland, and repayment by Great Britain of nine million dollars loaned by United States, is demanded in a resolution tentatively drafted by Sinn Fein sympathizers, to be submitted to the Convention of American Federation of Labor here next week.

An original provision for the welfare of one of his sons is made in the will of Mr. William Rosenheim, Hamstead, Great Britain, a tea merchant, whose estate is valued at $256,848. On the death of his wife he gives 9,000 pounds to his son, Joseph, and the ultimate residue as to one-third each to his son, Joseph, and his daughter, Mrs. Klegmann, absolutely, and one-third in trust for his son, Herbert, saying: "But if Herbert shall settle down, and prove by the certificate of an accountant that he has, in the period of a calendar year, made and received a net profit or income of eight hundred pounds at the least, and in the next succeeding calendar year the sum of eight hundred pounds at the least in a legitimate business and not by any method of speculation, gambling, company promoting, horse racing, or other rash and hazardous transactions, then in such case the gift to his son shall be enlarged to an absolute one."

Mr. Ayre

Dear Sir— I have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 9th inst. in reference to the proposed purchase of a plot of land in the city of St. John's for the purpose of erecting a memorial to the fallen soldiers of the Great War. I have the honor to inform you that the Board of Trade has decided to purchase the land for the purpose of erecting a memorial to the fallen soldiers of the Great War. Salts Win in Poor Football Game.
The C.L.B. Old Comrades Football team went down to defeat last night in a game with the Salts, in a poor exhibition football, the score being 3 goals to 1.

The game was played under ideal weather conditions, and as the ground was in better condition than at any other time for the season there was no excuse for the weakness of the game. There was an entire absence of combination, and the only idea the players seemed to have was to kick the ball in any direction at all, so long as it was kicked. Opportunities for scoring goals fell to the forwards of both sides but were always lost by fumbling and bad judgment. Snowy and Burridge played well for the C.L.B. whilst Munn and Munn were in good form and did excellent work for the Salts.

It was not until the game was 20 minutes old that the first goal was scored. Rendell (C.L.B.) netting the ball from a mix-up in front of the Salts goal. Play bucked up a little after this and just before half-time Munn scored the equalizer after a bit of play.

The opening of the Second Half showed the Salts pressing hard and less than five minutes Young had put them ahead by obtaining an easy goal. Shortly afterwards a curious incident occurred. The Salts were to send the C.L.B. goal when a whistle sounded and everyone immediately stopped playing. It was seen, however, that the referees had not seen his whistle, and before the rest of the players realized this, Munn had got away and had lodged the ball behind an unrelenting goal keeper. The referee Mr. Ern Churchill, walked to the Grand Stand and confiscated the ball of the small boy who had caused the interruption of the game, and he was awarded a goal. From this point on there was no further scoring although both teams tried hard. "Buckled" is a name during the last few minutes but was enabled to go with the game although the injury was quite painful. It is to be hoped that future games will see an improvement in the quality of the football handed out. The line up last night was:

C.L.B. Old Comrades Goal. F. Ash; full backs, C. Hookey, R. Noon; half backs, A. Feaver, Henry, R. Snow; forwards, J. Snow, H. Rendell, W. Keate, Harvey, Burridge.

Salts Goal. Joyce; full backs, T. Michael, McCarter; half backs, Hester, Clonston, Brown; forwards, Bell, Munn, Young, Elton, McPadden.

Mr. Ayre to Mr. Flavin.
Dear Sir—It is very apparent from Mr. Flavin's letter that he neither knows his duty as President of the M.P.U. nor does he understand the rights of the members to be informed of any proper letter addressed to him as President, requesting that he should put same before the body. I very much question his competency to appreciate the importance of the difference between keeping the 22nd and the 24th.

I agree with him that what the M.P.U. want is work and not holidays, but if they are going to keep the 24th I would suggest the 22nd and not the 23rd, and I should like to know what the members think on the subject. Quite a number of the M.P.U. are among the unemployed workmen for whom I am acting, and I am certain that these desire the 24th. What about those who are not? I have wronged Mr. Gibbs, I am sorry to say, but I notice that Mr. Flavin says nothing about the substituted letter.

Yours sincerely,
GEO. W. B. AYRE.

Under Prohibition.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—A bribe was offered to me yesterday, from which I returned by expressing my disapproval of the Prohibition Act. I was being abused by some of our Medical doctors. Of course many of your readers know what is going on, and probably some of the outports have concluded that we in the city have entered into a conspiracy to destroy the Prohibition Act. This may be true of some of our citizens, and thank heaven, not of me. My first eye-opener was obtained on the express going North. Some men in the car, quite intoxicated, were using profane language in a way to shock the most cautious and that in presence of ladies, one of them, the wife of one of the men, with a sweet child in her arms. Needless to say, the mother was heart-broken at the condition of her husband.

When things had reached a certain stage I thought it necessary to try to save the situation, if possible, and stepped forward while the bottle was again being passed round. After a few words with the men, I encased of them how they obtained the liquor. The reply came instantly: "Dr. of St. John's supplied the script." This was a prominent "doctor" whose name has of late become a degree of selling scripts to all-comers at a dollar each. If the police desire information and call at my office, I shall supply the names of the parties concerned. In trying to prevent one of the men from another drink, he was prevailed upon to return the bottle to his wallet, where I saw at least one other bottle quite full of liquor. Evidently the booze-joint where the purchase was made had no scruples as to the quantity supplied.

On relating the above incident to another clergyman later, he replied that he was informed on good authority that another well-known "doctor" had been asked at one of the railway stations for the script, and that he at once passed the precious scrap of paper to all the men present who cared to accept, and did it on that occasion without charge. Now, Mr. Editor, what are we coming to in Newfoundland? Is there any power anywhere to enforce law? or have we reached a degree of lawlessness when every man does what is right in his own eyes? Surely if medical doctors have no respect for themselves or their profession, it is time to bring the arm of the law to bear upon them, or, at any rate, give them such free advertising that respectable law-abiding citizens will give them a wide berth.

Thanking you in anticipation,
Faithfully yours,
L. CURTIS.

A Good Idea.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—I think the time has arrived for the Regatta Committee to meet and their first business should be to decide about erecting the Band Stand, on the usual site of Queen's Lake, so the various Brigades Bands would give three Band Concerts a week up to Regatta evening, or even later in the season. Now the fine weather is with us, it certainly would be an ideal spot for the city folk to spend very pleasant evenings, watching the various crews practicing on the old popular Lake. The Boat Clubs are getting their boats ready for the season's work and crews may be practicing next week.

Thanking the Executive of the Regatta Committee will take the above suggestion and get busy to make our Annual Derby just as popular this season as last.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for publishing the above, I remain,

Obituary.

There passed peacefully away at Torbay, on May 24th (Empire Day), a much respected citizen in the person of Edward Cantwell. The deceased was of a cheerful disposition and made a host of friends in business and social life. For a number of years he did a coasting business and supplied bait along the shore, later retiring from the seafaring business, taking up farming and was very successful. His health had been falling for some time past so that the end was not unexpected. He was predeceased by his two wives. Left to mourn are four sons, Edward, at home, and three in the United States; one daughter, Mrs. John White, of Torbay, four sisters and a host of friends. May his soul rest in peace.

Opening of the Crystal Palace.

On June 10, 1852, the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, was opened by Queen Victoria, with the greatest ceremony, in the presence of forty thousand spectators. The occasion incident to this event was noticed in the City from a very early hour in the forenoon, and by the time the doors were opened the closely packed multitude stretched far into the grounds of the Palace. Around the dais in the centre of the transept were gathered the Archbishop of Canterbury, the diplomatic body, the Directors of the Company, the Lord Mayors of London, Dublin, and York, with the civic dignitaries of other cities throughout the Kingdom. At 3 o'clock the Queen entered the Palace, leaning on the arm of Prince Albert, and followed by the King of Portugal, the Duke of Oporto, and a brilliant company. The National Anthem was led off by a crowded orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Costa-Miss Clara Novello and Signor Labioche being the most noticeable of the singers. In answer to the address presented to her by Mr. G. Laing, M.P., the Chairman of the Company, her Majesty said: "It is my very earnest wish and hope that the bright anticipations which have been formed as to its future may, under the blessing of Divine Providence, be completely realized, and that this wonderful structure and the resources of art and knowledge which it contains may long continue to elevate and interest as well as to delight and amuse the minds of all classes of my people." Copies of the guide-books to the various departments of the Palace having been presented to her Majesty by the authors and other officials, the Royal procession was formed and proceeded through the building. Prayer was then offered by the Archbishop, after which the orchestra performed the Hallelujah Chorus, with immense effect. When it was ended, her Majesty—through the Lord Chamberlain—declared the Palace open. This concluded the more formal part of the day's ceremony, and her Majesty then retired, while the notes of the National Anthem were once more swelling through the Palace. The immense glass structure was originally erected in Hyde Park for the Great Exhibition of Works of Art and Ingenuity brought to it from all parts of the world, and which had been opened in 1851. It was removed to Sydenham in 1852, and since its re-erection there has been used for the Handel Festival, which has been held there every three years with the exception of the war period. How enormous this building is may be estimated by the fact

Meeting and Concert.

A general meeting and concert held in the Casino Theatre last evening under the auspices of the Self-Determination League for Ireland was largely attended. Hon. M. P. Gibbs presided and after the routine business had been transacted, an enjoyable concert programme was given through the following contributing numbers: Misses Shea, Brown, Howlett, and Messrs. P. Brown, P. Dobbin, A. Neary, J. Canning and J. Brown.

Two papers dealing with the Irish situation were read by Miss Mary Keegan, Hon. M. P. Gibbs made an appeal for funds and was met by a ready response, a substantial amount being realized.

Seapool Reaches Port.

At 8 o'clock last evening, as Seapool, Capt. Barrett, with her boys, below the water line, stove in a collision with an iceberg, steamed through the Narrows and anchored in the Seapool. The Seapool left Montreal on June 2nd with 8,000 tons of grain bound to Avonmouth and Dublin, and shortly after leaving the St. Lawrence, ran into dense fog which made navigation difficult. On Wednesday morning, when steaming very slowly, the ship struck the projecting ledge of a large iceberg, damaging her bows below the waterline. The engines were reversed and S.O.S. calls sent out. S.S. Ingley picked up the signals and reaching the disabled steamer, stood by her until yesterday morning. The ship's forepeak is full of water but the bulkheads are undamaged. The Seapool is a ship of 4,527 tons net, and is owned by Messrs. R. Opener & Son, West Hartlepool. The ship's agents in this port are the Furness Withy Co.

FATHER SONG.

It's oh, my little laddie, as you're romping at your play
There's old heart running with you every minute of the day
And though you cannot see me when you're wrapped up in a game,
But it's I that am beside you in your striving just the same.

It is oh, my little laddie, there is much you cannot know,
But it is I that follow proudly everywhere you chance to go,
There's a hand upon your shoulder wheresoever you may be,
That would help you out of danger, and that hand belongs to me.

It is oh, my little laddie, though you cannot hear me call,
I am always there to help you every time you chance to fall;
I am with you in the school room and I'm with you on the street,
And though you may not know it, I am dogging at your feet.

It's oh, my little laddie, all my life belongs to you,
All the dreams that I have cherished through the years depend on you,
And though now you cannot know it, you shall some day come to see
How this old heart loved to have round a boy that used to be.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE FEAR OF BLAME.

"But if I did do it and anything happened, my husband would blame me."
So said a friend of mine in explanation of her reasons for not doing a certain thing which seemed a perfectly right and reasonable thing to do.

"Don't you think it would be right for you to do it?" I asked.

"Oh, yes," she said with perfect certainty.

"Then you feel that there wouldn't be any real reason for him to blame you?"

"No, not the least in the world, but I know he would."

"Well, what would you care if he did if you knew you were right?"

"Oh, I just hate to be blamed for things," she said nervously.

That is not the first time I have heard that woman say that or something similar—she seems to have a perpetual fear of being blamed for things.

Now, everyone hates to be blamed. That is perfectly natural. Everyone resents it and reacts against it by trying to defend himself or herself. All that is natural. But there is a point at which the fear of blame becomes an abnormality. I think this woman has reached it and I think there are a good many people who are like her.

They allow themselves to be terrified by the fear of blame, out of doing things that there is no reason they should not do. Sometimes they are even prevented from doing things they really ought to do by this same inhibition.

This is a Weakness.

Now this is unquestionably a weakness of character. If you know blame is unjust you should not allow yourself to be influenced by the fear of it.

Of course one might say, "But suppose the other person is right and the blame is just, even if it doesn't seem so to me."

That too is to be considered. But not too long. One ought to consider other people's points of view thoroughly, but in the last analysis one must make one's own decisions.

Don't you love Kipling's "If you can trust yourself when all doubt you, / But make allowance for their doubting too—"

That is the ideal.

Miserable Through Fear of Blame.

Many err on the other side, but their error is a painful one because of the mental suffering it entails.

Don't be afraid of blame which comes after an effort to find the right, and do it. Don't let it hurt you. I can't, you know, unless you do let it.

Tribute to Corporal White.

Marked tribute was paid to Corporal Allen Boyd White at the military funeral service held at the First Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon. They were attended by a large number of relatives and friends, Chelsea Post No. 34 American Legion, Commander Nicholas Lacy, and the Somerset Club. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. William S. Jacobs, the pastor, who spoke eloquently of this hero son who had given his all for his country. He held how at the outbreak of the war, Corporal White went to his widowed mother and told her he was going to enlist, how he joined the Regulars and not long after, went "over there" to fight for the great principles of democracy, how he died upon the field of battle on July 15, 1918, of the heroic mother who has given her son the beautiful example of that boy in his service to his country.

There were selections by Mr. Raymond Simonds, pastor of the Old South Congregational Church, Boston. The benediction was given by Rev. Mr. Jacobs.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers banked about the casket and altar, and the casket was covered with an American flag.

The remains were escorted by Chelsea Post American Legion to Country road, eight of the members acting as pallbearers. Burial was in Woodlawn where volley cheers were fired over the grave and a bugler sounded taps.

Corporal White was born in St. John's Newfoundland, in 1896. He came with his parents to Chelsea as an early age and attended the Carter Grammar School. He was a member of the Chelsea Boys Club and the Somerset Club, being one of the crack players on its baseball team.

It was on May 11, 1917, that he enlisted in Company K, 9th Infantry Regulars from Syracuse, N.Y., with his first overseas the following September.

His letters home to his mother were full of optimism and sought to cheer her from time to time. Only a short time before he was killed she received a letter from him which was dated July 4. In it he said, "This is a holiday, the Fourth of July. We had a good dinner, but the Germans will not give us any peace in which to eat it. We have been dodging shells all day. You want to cheer up. Mother, the stars and stripes will be flying from the flagstaff in Berlin next Fourth of July."

His death was a terrible blow to his brave mother, who met her bereavement with fortitude and found consolation in the fact that her brave son gave his life for his country in the struggle to preserve the great principles of government.

From a youngster when he sold papers in Chelsea square, Corporal White was popular among a wide circle of friends. He was a many chap and his brave death was in line with the splendid character he possessed.

Besides his mother, five sisters and three brothers survive—Chelsea, U.S.A. Gazette, May 21.

Corporal White was a son of Mr. Wm. White, late of Water St., this city, and grandson of the late Capt. Wm. White, one time master of the brig Devon.

Annual Collection

For Belvedere and Mount Carmel Cemeteries.

Once more the time has arrived when the Roman Catholic people of St. John's are called upon to subscribe to the beautifying of the Cities of the Dead. The announcement from the Altars of the different Churches in the city last Sunday was abundantly attested upon all occasions, year after year, but there are duties that devolve upon the energetic Committee that entail very considerable expense and it is to carry out the various most necessary repairs and improvements that the assistance of the Faithful is asked for on Sunday next. One of the first places visited by our countrymen and women, who visit Newfoundland from the United States and Canada during the summer months, is the great cemetery of our cemeteries, Belvedere or Mount Carmel, because there rest the mortal remains of their ancestors or some near and dear relative or friend in the sacred grounds in the centre of which are erected the beautiful little mortuary chapels in which Requiem Masses will be celebrated on the dates to be announced later on.

Then let our Roman Catholic friends make another grand effort to assist the Committee in their efforts to beautify and improve our cemeteries, because, after all, the characteristics of a people are judged to a great extent by the care and veneration displayed by a people upon the resting places of their departed. By making the Annual Collection of 1921 a record one, it will be a striking reminder to the past to our fellow-countrymen abroad that the resting places of their dear departed is being well looked after, and the safety of the great interest displayed by those of us who remain in the Old Land will call up old associations amongst our absent countrymen, and amongst the older and more thoughtful of them this short reference will cause a moistening of the eyes, by awakening former scenes, and, if only once for the year, no matter how fortunate their lots may have been in their distant home, they will breathe a fervent prayer, to be permitted to view, if but for once, dear old Newfoundland again, and kneel at the mounds of their dear departed, offering up a prayer for the repose of their souls.

Then let an extra effort be made, and every encouragement be given to the energetic Committee to continue the good work in beautifying and making much repairs and improvements as may be necessary to the last resting places of our ancestors, relatives and friends.

Conditions at Bay Roberts.

STRONG CENSURE FOR DR. BARNES.

Dear Sir—A pretty nice situation has arisen in this part of the District of Harbor Grace in connection with the expenditure of our portion of the special monies being granted by the Government for special work on roads, wharves and bridges.

In the Harbor Grace portion of the District the money is to be spent through and by the regular channel, the Road Board, duly elected by the people to look after the roads, wharves and bridges.

In the Spaniard's Bay section the same thing is being done. But in this section, Dr. Barnes, a man who is proving himself to be absolutely incapable as a representative and spokesman of the people, and utterly unable to interpret the will of the electors, has deigned to say that the special monies shall be placed in the hands of a commission to be spent.

The four Road Boards of Coley's Point, Country Road, Shearstown and Bay Roberts, the choices of the taxpayers of these respective sections, have been ignored by Mr. Barnes as being unfit or unable to handle the special grant in a manner satisfactory to that autocratic politician.

He is the gentleman who declared in 1919 that the people should not be given the privilege and power in public meeting assembled to choose their own candidate, and as a result of the people's will at that time being ignored the same Mr. Barnes is a discredited man.

I can positively state that he does not represent ten per cent. of the electors of this District to-day. Although he received over 1,300 votes in 1919, if a vote was taken to-morrow he would not save his nomination fee. He is standing in the way of a more efficient working out of plans for the general public good. And he cry everywhere is, "What can be done to force him to resign?" His most prominent and strongest supporters are the most pronounced against him. They are disappointed and disgusted with his inaction, inability and silence.

Government of, by and for the people is a farce so far as this part of the country is concerned since Mr. Barnes was elected in 1919. I am informed that the Road Board recently sent messages to him, making certain enquiries regarding the special monies above referred to, and could not even get a reply. The Premier was then appealed to and asked to get Dr. Barnes to reply, and this also failed. Then the Minister of Public Works was asked, and at last a definite statement was given by him.

As one who knows the mind and temper of the people at the present time, I can assure the Government that the people or their elected Boards cannot be treated with contempt or impunity.

The Liberalism parading itself before us, is Liberal only in name. In practice it is the very worst form of arrogance and Toryism. And it is my opinion that the battle for the rights of the people fought and won in 1908 and 1909, will have to be fought over again. For dare any man deny but that the people secured their rights and enjoyed these rights during the years between 1909 and 1919 more than at any other period in our history.

Where are the good times and prosperity and opportunities so manifest on every hand during these years? Look at the opportunities that were afforded the common people and their sons and daughters, in obtaining responsible and lucrative positions hitherto largely denied them?

It was an era in the history of our country that will stand out prominently in future years and be remembered as other periods are recalled in the development and progress of other countries.

But men like Dr. Barnes were unfortunately given a chance to put certain disastrous experimental policies in force, crippling the progress and development of the country, almost ruining our main industry—the Fishery, and bringing about conditions generally that will take almost supermen to change. Strong words, say. Certainly. But not quite as strong as I would wish them to be in expressing the disgust and contempt of those who not only voted against Barnes, Gossé and others but hundreds who enthusiastically but now very regretfully cast a ballot in their favor.

There are a number of other matters around here, such as supplying for the fishery, employment, relief of the poor, etc., daily requiring attention, but so far as our member is concerned he might as well be in Doorn in Holland. He is only seen here about once every two or three months and then only with a select few, say your know.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain Yours truly, CITIZEN.

Solving a Mystery of the Sea.

THE EEL'S WONDERFUL TWO YEARS' JOURNEY.

Until recently the manner in which eels breed was one of Nature's most profound mysteries.

For more than two thousand years scientists have tried to solve the problem without success. Mature eels were found everywhere in ponds, lakes, and rivers; small eels were seen ascending the rivers in the spring; but that was all that was known.

Did eels lay eggs like other fish? No one could say, for no one had ever seen an eel's egg, or even a new-born eel.

Long ago people tried to solve the problem by all kinds of quaint suggestions. Many believed that eels were produced from horse-hairs, and some writers stated that they had actually seen the change take place. Others held that they were created in a magic way from dew.

Now the mystery has been solved, and we can answer the questions that formerly seemed so baffling.

The eel is born in the depths of the sea and passes about two years in the salt water; then, as a little eel, he moves up the rivers; his growth takes place in fresh water, and he returns to the sea to spawn.

In autumn the full-grown eel undergoes a change. The greenish-brown colouring which harmonizes with the mud of his favourite haunts disappears and in its place he puts on his silver sea-livery.

Within him, too, there is a change; Nature is calling him with her most insistent call. Wherever he is he must forsake his present home and seek the sea. If he is living in a pond far from a river, he leaves it and travels like a snake over the meadows, guided by some marvellous instinct that leads him always towards the river.

Once in the flowing water he finds himself in the company of thousands of his kind, all making for the sea. Down stream they swim, hardly pausing on their journey. When the sea is reached they join a vast company of other eels which have come from various rivers.

There is no hesitation, no wondering where they should go; they know. As though moved by a common impulse, the countless millions of eels from our waters set out upon a journey of over three thousand miles towards the deepest parts of the Atlantic Ocean.

There they lay their eggs, and once the eels have completed their task Nature has no further use for them. Every one of them dies; no single eel ever returns.

A Strange Pilgrimage.

From each egg hatches out a tiny transparent, dish-shaped creature, which, as soon as it is born, starts swimming towards land. For nearly two years it must travel unceasingly, and during its journey, its shape is gradually changing.

Slowly it becomes longer and thinner, though for some time it remains flat. As it nears the fresh water its sides fall out, it becomes rounder; it is, in fact, like a transparent piece of string.

So far, we cannot discover that the baby eel has taken any food. But we may feel sure that it does feed, for without food it could not grow, nor could it supply the energy needed for its long journey. It is probable that it exists upon the microscopic creatures contained to the sea. As it approaches fresh water it begins to feed in earnest, and solid food soon gives it colour.

The little eelers move in millions upon our rivers every spring, passing overland from running water to ponds and lakes. They will spend four or five years in their new homes, and during that time they have only one idea—to feed and to grow.

The eel is perhaps the most voracious inhabitant of our waters. He thinks nothing of attacking fish bigger than himself.—Tit Bits.

Fish That Shoots.

Have you ever heard of the Archer Fish? He has evolved an original method of capturing some of the insects upon which he feeds.

Like many other fish, he preys largely upon water insects as well as upon those which fall into the stream and are carried down struggling vainly against the current. But the Archer Fish has no appetite which he cannot satisfy entirely in this way.

Moved by the pangs of a hunger that is never quite satisfied, he swims slowly along the edge of the river, carefully examining the overhanging grass with eyes that are so placed in his head as to facilitate his search.

As he moves along he sees a fly perched upon a twig, or a blade of grass a few inches above the top of the water. Rising gently in the water, he pushes the tip of his nose above the surface; then, taking careful aim, he "fires," and more often than not the luckless fly is howled over and falls into the stream, where the fish devours it at his leisure.

What does he shoot at the fly? Simply a drop of water. He is a wonderful marksman and seldom fails to score a bull's eye!

Your Cemetery Plot

We may need our attention to put it in order for the summer months. It may need a MONUMENT or a HEADSTONE. Why not get one from us that will have that artistic effect that will make it look distinctive from every other memorial?

You may have a monument in your plot that has not been attended for years. Let us put in some work on it and remove the traces of the weather by polishing and painting it again. You may want another inscription engraved. We attend to all this work during the next few months. A letter or a call at our Showroom will put you in touch with an up-to-date and prompt service that stands for satisfaction.

There Must Be a Reason

That a great many of the garments that we have received in the past month were from new customers who had those garments mishandled by other dyers and were sent to us as a last resort before a settlement was made with the owners. We were able to doctor up the majority of those crippled garments to the entire satisfaction of those owners. If you have any such garments of this character sent them to us. If our customers don't accept the garments after we doctor them, don't pay us. No cure no pay. We have received a new shipment of dye, the best on the market. Raglans cleaned and dyed at shortest notice. Outport orders get my personal attention.
