MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR RHEU-MATISM.

Whether bobbed or long—here's a way to make your hair lie fashionably smooth

The newest bob—whether shingled or straight-cut—lie smooth to the head. The smartest arrangements for long hair are almost severe in their plainness. Women are finding in Stacom's just the thing to achieve these smart, new fashions in dressing their hair. Just a touch of this delicate cream stroked on with the palms of the hands—and the most unruly hair will lie just as you want it—even immediately after a shampoo. You can get Stacom's at all drug and department stores in opalescent jars or in tubes. Try it today!

A QUEEN UNCROWNED

—OR—
THE STORY IN THE LONE INN.

CHAPTER XI.

"Have patience. I am only beginning! I hope you like the story, Nick. I see you recognize the characters."

"You be hanged!" growled the captain, twisting uneasily under her piercing gaze.

"Perhaps I may some day, and you too, if the gallows gets its due. Let us live in hope. Well, as I was saying, the actor—and the ballet-girl fell in love with each other—or we will suppose so—and the result of it was an elopement and a marriage. Both were beggars, with no way in the world of earning their salt, so you see what a pair of idiots they were."

"Yes; I can see through a hole in the ladder as well as any one."

"The actress heard it, and people expected a scene; but they were disappointed." She might have been a little more fierce and passionate that night, playing Lady Macbeth, but nothing more. She was one of those who could die and make no sign. And yet, would you believe it, though her eyes were dry, her heart shed tears of blood! She tore off her velvet robe and glittering jewels that night, in the silence of her own room, she tore her flesh, and writhed like one seared with red-hot iron—the fool, the idiot, the bedlamite, the besotted lunatic!"

"Upon my soul, Grizzle!" exclaimed the captain, "you are the best hand to abuse yourself I ever heard of. If anybody called me half the names, I would be inclined to knock them into the middle of next week—if not further."

"I deserve it all! I was what so many others of my sex are for the same cause every day—a blind fool! But I will never get to the end of my story if you continue throwing in those marginal notes of yours. To have done business up perfectly, I am aware this actress ought to have died of a broken heart, and of her bosom there grew a red rose, and out of his bosom a brier, etc.; but that was not in her line. What do you suppose she did, when she found herself deserted?"

"Consoled herself with somebody else."

"Right! She accepted, the very first offer she got afterward, and married an unfortunate little anatomy she could have doubled up and put in her pocket if she chose. She did it for two reasons: First, to let people see how little she thought of his desertion; and second, to have a husband she could govern, and who would do exactly as she told him."

"Poor little Luke Howlet!" laughed the captain. "I always did pity him. It's a mercy they took him up above as soon as they did."

"She found out that her false lover and his bride had started for the new refugium peccatorum—America; and she followed them with her little tott of a husband. In New York they met, and a rather singular meeting it was. The gay deceiver was not quite as wide awake at that time as he is to-day; and the serene face and pleasant smiles of his forsaken ladylove completely deceived him, and he imagined himself entirely forgiven. The stupid dough-head! To think such a woman would ever forgive such a wrong!"

"Come, my beauty, don't turn the tables, and begin to abuse me instead of yourself. I can't stand too much of that sort of thing, you know."

"Before the honeymoon was over, our turtles doves found it was one thing to talk about living on love, and another to do it. Lella's pretty face and bright curls were doubtless very nice things in their way, but bread and butter were a good deal more substantial in the end—and so her young husband found. To labor, he was not able to beg, he was ashamed. So he split the difference and went to sea."

A shade fell on Captain Tempest's

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and will do it. Also it will aid digestion and furnish welcome refreshment to mouth and throat.

WRIGLEY'S after every meal

face. Grizzle looked up with a smile, and, after a pause, went on:

"Will you mind me making a jump, and skipping over six years? Our new-born sailor still continued cruising about, and when he came home, still continued as absurdly fond of his pretty wife as ever, and quite doted on his bright little five-year-old daughter. Ah! you fidget! Do you begin to feel the screws tightening?"

"Go on," he said defiantly.

"Well, one day he went to sea, and was wrecked somewhere on the coast of Cuba, and all hands were lost but himself. You know the adage: 'Born to be hanged will never be drowned.' So you will not wonder at that. He was picked up by a private vessel, and would you believe it?—eleven years passed before he came back."

Something like a groan came from the lips of the captain.

"But come he did at last—a weather-beaten, scarred, prematurely old man. And where do you think he found his wife and child?"

"You hag of Hades! I may thank you perhaps, for it all."

"You may. But for me she would never have run away."

"You she-fend! Are you not afraid I will brain you?"

"No!"

"By the heavens above us! If you had made that confession six years ago, you would not have lived an instant after!"

"But I did not make it. I was not quite a fool! Be calm, and let me go on with my story. One year after her husband went away—when her daughter was six years old (and she was still a pretty, dark-eyed, bright-haired, merry French girl)—a young foreigner—a wild, rich, young Scotchman, stopped at my house. He was a handsome fellow, dark-eyed, bold and gallant—just the one to take a lady's eye—more especially such a lady as our pretty, young grass-widow."

Captain Nick Tempest ground his teeth with impotent rage. "His name was Randall Macdonald—how do you like it?—and he came from the old Macdonald who lived and fought in the days of Robert the Bruce. I introduced him to the handsome French girl, and what—Captain Tempest, my good friend—my dear friend—what was the result?"

"You cursed hag!" he groaned, through his clenched teeth. Such a bitter sneer as was on her dark face—such a bitter, mocking, derisive sneer! Yet she looked up, and smiled in his face.

He made a fierce gesture as if casting something from him, and drew a long, hard breath.

"Let her go! That is the last of her! But my child, woman—my daughter—my little Lella! what of her?"

The woman laughed scornfully, and stirred the fire.

"Speak! I tell you! Speak! I command you!" he cried, fiercely. "You have not dared to kill her?"

"Don't fear; she is alive, and well. He got up, white with eagerness. "Woman, tell me where she is!"

"Well, go on. I cannot bear this you are torturing me."

"I will be merciful then. You were to me, you know! Do you remember a scene that occurred some thirty miles from here, one evening, among the mountains, when you tried to find a certain handsome young Englishman to his long account?"

"Yes."

"A young girl—a bold, pretty little thing—red-haired and gray-eyed, like somebody else we know of—interposed—saved him, disarmed you, and sent you off, with a lecture?"

"Yes; curse her! I will be avenged for that!"

"Softly—softly, captain," said Grizzle, with her dark smile. "Wait until you hear who she is, first."

"Who is she?"

"Do you know that my name is Grizzle Jacquetta?"

"Well?"

"Well, I changed Lella into Jacquetta, one day. It was easily done, and without troubling the Legislature."

He leaped to his feet with a cry. She arose, too, and confronted him.

"Grizzle Howlet, is she—"

"She was Lella Tempest once; she is Jacquetta De Vere, now, and your daughter!"

SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA 3 YEARS

Itched and Burned So Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Healed.

"I suffered for three years with eczema which broke out on my limbs, and soon spread to my neck and forehead. It itched and burned so that it was most impossible to sleep at night, and every time I scratched it, it would bleed. The breaking out caused disfigurement. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after the first week I got relief. I continued the treatment and in about six months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. George Foutle, R. F. "Voyages across the ocean were slower even in those days than they are now; and our handsome Scotchman was lonesome, and wanted a companion. A pretty French woman, say and piquant, was just the thing; and the young gentleman was not one to be backward in offering her an invitation. I urged her to accept it. I promised to be a mother to little Lella, and the result of our combined entreaties was, that Captain Tempest came from sea one morning, and found himself minus a wife."

She broke into a laugh—a low, sneering laugh, unspeakably insulting.

"I changed little Lella's name, and gave her my second one; and, under my motherly care, she reached the age of thirteen. Then—but never mind that; Lella; we must follow the fortunes of the other. Randall Macdonald was fond of a roving life, and he and madam had rather a pleasant time of it, cruising round the world. Six years after his American escapade, his eldest brother died, and the family estate fell to him. The day that brought him the news saw Lella cold and dead—of disease of the heart. She had died caressing her little daughter—his child—without a moment's warning. No wonder you never could find her when you went to search for her. You would have to dive a long way down under the waves of the long-some sea to find the pretty form of Lella. Tempest."

He made a fierce gesture as if casting something from him, and drew a long, hard breath.

"Let her go! That is the last of her! But my child, woman—my daughter—my little Lella! what of her?"

The woman laughed scornfully, and stirred the fire.

"Speak! I tell you! Speak! I command you!" he cried, fiercely. "You have not dared to kill her?"

"Don't fear; she is alive, and well. He got up, white with eagerness. "Woman, tell me where she is!"

"Well, go on. I cannot bear this you are torturing me."

"I will be merciful then. You were to me, you know! Do you remember a scene that occurred some thirty miles from here, one evening, among the mountains, when you tried to find a certain handsome young Englishman to his long account?"

"Yes."

"A young girl—a bold, pretty little thing—red-haired and gray-eyed, like somebody else we know of—interposed—saved him, disarmed you, and sent you off, with a lecture?"

"Yes; curse her! I will be avenged for that!"

"Softly—softly, captain," said Grizzle, with her dark smile. "Wait until you hear who she is, first."

"Who is she?"

"Do you know that my name is Grizzle Jacquetta?"

"Well?"

"Well, I changed Lella into Jacquetta, one day. It was easily done, and without troubling the Legislature."

He leaped to his feet with a cry. She arose, too, and confronted him.

"Grizzle Howlet, is she—"

"She was Lella Tempest once; she is Jacquetta De Vere, now, and your daughter!"

The Toad—Among Man's Best Friends

By FLORA MERRILL.

Among the most reviled and maligned creatures in the world, which, contrary to the belief of most people, does much good in the world. During the night it journeys forth in quest of slugs, caterpillars, earwigs and other creatures that choose those hours in which to go about their destructive mission.

The toad is one of the farmer's best friends. Realizing how many insects, dangerous to his crops, a toad eats, the farmer often buys a dozen or more toads, turning them loose in his garden.

In the old days the toad was believed to be poisonous, causing warts to come on the hands when touched. People were reported to have died from having eaten a leaf of a sage bush under which a toad had burrowed.

These creatures have aided science, in as much as the contents of their stomachs when emptied into water reveal rare insects, generally beetles, which, because of their nocturnal habits, small dimensions and neutral colorings, cannot be detected by the humane eye. Worms are also a food of which the toad is very fond. It affords an amusing spectacle when eating them. It seizes a worm in the middle and, because of the worm's writhing and contortions, cannot swallow it without using its forefeet, which it manipulates like hands, sitting down quietly with the worm, it gets busy pushing the long slimy thing down its jaws with one paw and then with the other. With alternate pushes and gulps it soon has it eaten.

While much in the open, a toad is not a fresh air fiend having the ability to sustain life for long periods of time minus all oxygen. It is sluggish in movement, usually crawling along the ground at a slow pace interspersed with awkward leaps. It spends its days in hiding, emerging for food about twilight time or immediately after a rain. This latter habit gave cause to an old legend to the effect that toads fell with the rain.

The toad inhabits many countries, but is found in greater numbers in the tropics. It is closely allied to the frog, differing in several respects, however, one being that it has no teeth. Instead of laying an irregular mass of eggs as does the frog, the toad's form a long gelatine rope, perhaps a yard or so long. Those in the center are jet black and round. They are laid about a fortnight later than those of the frog, tangled about some aquatic plant or stick near shore, and, therefore, the young toads do not as a rule leave the water until autumn.

The younger generation of toads are active little things, starting forth to see the wide, wide world as soon as they get on land. Within a few days they might be a mile or so from the scene of their birth.

The general color of the common American toad is brownish olive with a yellow line running down its back, and it measures about three and a half inches.

The reason why a dog promptly drops a toad out of its mouth is because the thick warty skin of the toad throws off a white juice, which, while not poisonous, marks a tender skin.

Every year the toad sheds its coat. It comes off in two pieces and is swallowed by the creature.

It is possible to tame a toad, as it will quickly recognize those who are kind to it and eat out of their hand. The toad's stay on earth is often from thirty-five to forty years.

When Are We Old?

When does old age overtake us? Are there any signs or symptoms which convict a man or a woman of the crime of being old?

The ancients revered old age, the moderns deride it. To be old to-day is to be done! Therefore, everybody over fifty is actually interested in the stigmas of old. We cannot put the clock back. We cannot all avoid grey hair or baldness or wrinkles or stiff joints. The body cannot keep youthful.

But, who fears inevitable physical changes? What we all fear is old mind, the old soul, the old heart. Hardened hearts are worse than hardened arteries.

Eternal youth is attainable. How? By keeping your mind open to new ideas. By delighting in the joy of giving joy to others. By faith in God and in man. By looking up at the sun instead of down at the mud. By love, pity and compassion.

Every man and every woman can grow yearly younger in soul. Age need not be crabbed and sour and cynical. It can beat youth at youth's own gay game.

Carnation Milk

From Contented Cows

From Canada's Fine Dairy Farms

Comes the rich, creamy milk you get in the Carnation red and white labeled can. It is tested rigidly for purity and richness, evaporated to double richness and kept safe by sterilization.

Open a can when you need it—you will always find it fresh and sweet. You will enjoy it in place of cream on cereal or fruit, and in coffee. For tea, use it diluted, one part Carnation, three parts water.

Add to Carnation a little more than an equal part of water and you have milk of natural consistency, for all milk uses. Carnation Milk is convenient and economical. Order from your grocer several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans.

The Carnation Recipe Book contains many a good recipe such as below. Write for a copy.

CREAM WHITE SAUCE (For Creaming Vegetables): 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 cup Carnation Milk, 2 tablespoons butter or substitute, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup water. Melt butter or butter substitute, add flour and stir until thoroughly mixed. Add the milk, diluted with water, and cook about five minutes, or until the mixture thickens, then add seasonings. This recipe makes one cup of White Sauce. All vegetables may be creamed. The vegetables should be cooked by either boiling or steaming. After cooking with salt, drain and add Cream Sauce.

Prince of Wales Stops Off in Winnipeg

British and French Not Yet in Accord on Disarmament Agreement—Northern Canada Reported Rich in Minerals by Explorer.

REPORT OF ASSASSINATION DENIED.

PARIS, Sept. 24. Reports that King Boris of Bulgaria had been assassinated, circulated here and in other European capitals overnight, were given unqualified denial to-day by the Bulgarian legation in Paris. "We received news this morning direct from Sofia," the legation stated, "which enables us categorically to deny the reports that King Boris had been assassinated."

GUNS SILENT ON FIGHTING FRONT.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4. Guns on the fighting fronts near Shanghai remained silent to-day up to this hour "10 p.m." but a renewed Kiangsu assault upon the city's Chekiang defenders was expected at any moment. Defence preparations were complete to-night. Reinforcements had been added to the battle lines from Luho on the Yangtze coast, south of the Shanghai-Nankin railway. An additional eight armoured French automobiles, equipped with machine guns, were sent forward late this afternoon.

CONFLICT OF BRITISH AND FRENCH VIEWPOINTS EXPECTED.

GENEVA, Sept. 24. The most important commissions of the fifth assembly of the League of Nations set down to-day to article by article discussion of the projected protocol on arbitration, security and disarmament, framed by Dr. Benes of Czecho Slovakia, and his sub-committee. The "big twelve" third or disarmament commission in which conflict between British and French viewpoints is expected to come up again, begins its review of the whole text at 10.30 p.m. Meanwhile the assembly is dealing with routine matters which still clog the agenda and the lobbies are eagerly awaiting news of Germany's definite application for League membership. The prospect early to-day was that despite the best will on both sides to finish the Commission's discussions as soon as possible and report to the assembly, there is no chance of adjournment before the middle of next week.

VAST MINERAL WEALTH REPORTED.

QUEBEC, Sept. 24. The long discussed question as to whether or not the Dominion of Canada will ever benefit materially from the mineral riches of the Northern Islands in the vicinity of the Arctic Circle, many of which have been claimed for Canada in recent years by Capt. J. E. Bernier, noted Arctic explorer, would appear to be more or less definitely settled with the arrival of the Arctic at this point at six o'clock this morning. That there is every reason to be enthusiastic over the almost limitless possibilities in regard to mineral development of the North country was the keynote of statements made by members of the expedition to the Canadian Press to-day; the information being given out that perhaps in a short period of time the agents of the Federal Government will take steps to open up and develop what are considered to be huge treasures in mineral ore. F. D. Henderson, of the Northwest Territories and Yukon branch of the Federal Department of the Interior, in place of J. D. Craig, owing to the latter's pressing duties at Ottawa, stated, in the course of an interview, that although it would be a little premature to speak with exactitude as to the wealth of the Northern Islands, he and all concerned were strongly of the opinion that the resources there might prove to be of such a wealthy nature as to astonish the civilized world.

PRINCE STOPPED AT WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 24. On his way to his ranch in Alberta, the Prince of Wales stopped off in Winnipeg for three hours this morning. His programme here was quite informal and bereft of all ceremony. At the Canadian National station he was met by Mayor Farmer, who expressed his pleasure at the visit of His Royal Highness. The Prince said he was always pleased to visit Western Canada and he was looking forward to the rest and recreation to be obtained on his ranch.

RESIDENT OF WINSOR DIES.

WINDSOR, N.S., Sept. 24. David Wood died suddenly to-day. A brother and sister reside at Grand Falls, N.F.

SEAMAN DROWNED.

LUNenburg, N.S., Sept. 24. Alexander Knieke, 65, while boarding his vessel, the fishing schooner Margaret K. Smith, at Smith's wharf, last night, lost his footing in the darkness and was drowned. The body was discovered this morning and it was apparent from bruises on the face that he had struck an abutment in falling and was stunned, which prevented him from calling for help.

OIL TANKER SINKS.

HALIFAX, Sept. 24. The oil tanker Ivor, abandoned at sea in a blazing condition on Sunday evening last, sank last night at 20.05 GMT in lat. 44.55 North, longitude 51.22 West, according to a wireless message from the S.S. Ruth received by the Department of Marine and Fisheries here this morning.

ALLEGED PIRATE

LODGED IN JAIL. BREST, France, Sept. 24. Max Jerome Phaff, a German American, who gave his address as 20 East 196th Street, New York City, who has been arrested on a charge of piracy on the high seas, arrived in Brest to-day, and was lodged in the naval barracks jail. The charge against Phaff grew out of the boarding of the French freighter Mulhouse, off the Canadian coast last July by pirates who held up the crew at the point of a revolver and made off with the cargo of nearly 36,000 cases of whiskey. It is the present intention of the defence after pleading not guilty to challenge the competency of the Tribunal. If this is overruled an alibi will be offered which will tend to prove that Phaff was in Halifax when the Mulhouse was boarded and looted.

Trial by Combat

Arguments That End in a Meeting at Bawa, With "Pistols For Two and Coffee For One."

The duel is not yet out of date. A recent criticism of the Portuguese Air Service had its sequel on the duelling-ground, when Senhor Alvaro de Castro, the critic, who was at the time engaged in his efforts to form a Cabinet, wounded Capt. Ribeiro da Fonseca in the right forearm. The duel was then stopped by the doctors.

Continental politicians are mostly ready to become duellists when occasion demands. Earlier in the year a sensation was caused in Paris by M. Poincaré's challenge to M. Le Prestov de Launay.

Even in this country prominent men have sometimes fought political duels. The Duke of Wellington fought with Lord Winchilsea, Pitt with Tierney, and Canning with Castlereagh, while Peel twice challenged political opponents.

Armies As Onlookers.

The most famous political duel was probably that fought in 1804 between Alexander Hamilton, the leader of the Federalist party in America, and Aaron Burr, then Vice-President of the United States. Hamilton, who had been George Washington's right-hand man and the principal author of the American Constitution, was killed, and Burr went on to lead that Imperialist adventure in the undeveloped West which culminated in the greatest political trial in American history.

According to his enemies, Burr designed to make himself the Napoleon of America; but his schemes went wrong, and his followers dispersed.

Not every duel has been an affair of formal arrangement. In the days before artillery, every battle was more or less a series of duels between individuals. When two especially notable champions met, the general counter usually ceased for the time being and both armies gathered round to watch the encounter.

A Challenge to Buffalo Bill.

In frontier, as apart from civilized warfare, the same thing may happen to-day. In her story of the life of her brother, the famous Buffalo Bill, Helen Cody Wetmore tells how, after Custer's last stand, a party of Cheyenne warriors met Colonel Merritt's command, to which Buffalo Bill was attached.

After some preliminary skirmishing, a chief rode out in front of the Cheyennes and cried:

"I know you, Pa-has-ka (Long-haired Chief)! Come and fight me if you want to fight!"

Buffalo Bill rode forward fifty yards, and the chief advanced a like distance. Then both rifles spoke. The Indian's horse fell, but at the same moment Buffalo Bill's charged stumbled and threw him.

Both men were on their feet again in an instant, and fired simultaneously at a range of only twenty yards. The Indian fell in a heap, dead, and two hundred warriors dashed up to avenge him.

At the same moment a company of soldiers charged to the rescue. As they thundered up, Buffalo Bill swung over his head the Indian's top-knot and war-bonnet and shouted:

"The first scalp for Custer!"

FOOTBALL CUP PRESENTED.

A very pleasing event took place at Holy Cross Schools yesterday, when the Higgins-Hunt Junior League Championship Cup was presented to the school by the team. Besides the teachers and senior pupils of the school there were present some members of the championship team, and the Executive of the Junior League, Rev. Bro. Eagan, in opening, paid a tribute to the work of the team which was formed last year, and by dint of hard practice and attention to instruction, was able to achieve victory for two successive years. The President of the League then presented the Cup to Captain Murphy of the team, congratulating him and his associates on their victory and Holy Cross for having such splendid representatives.

A tribute was also paid to Brother Eagan, who had so successfully directed the team since the formation. Captain Murphy accepted the cup, and in a suitable speech handed over the cup to his Alma Mater, expressing the hope that it would be the first of many such to be given to the school. On behalf of the School, Bro. Eagan accepted the Cup, and thanked the team for it. Other speeches were made by Mr. Long and Mr. T. J. Dalton, whilst songs were rendered by Messrs. Curtin, Owens and Neville, after which the boys were granted a holiday. The affair concluded with cheers for the team, Rev. Bro. Eagan, and the Junior League.

FRANK CHANCE, OF BALL FAME, PASSED AWAY.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 16.—Frank Chance, California banker's son, whose brilliant baseball career won him the title of "Peerless Leader" of the national game of the United States, is dead. He faded quietly into unconsciousness and death at a hospital here last night after a long uphill battle against falling health.

Chance, who led the Chicago Cubs to four national league pennants and two world's series victories, and managed at various times the Boston Americans, the New York Americans, and the Los Angeles club in the Pacific Coast League, was Manager of the Chicago White Sox.

He went east last winter to take over the management of the Chicago club, and became ill with influenza and returned to Chicago for a rest. He returned to Chicago in time for the first game between Chicago and New York. Illness overtook him again, however, and in a few weeks he was back in Southern California, fighting his game fight against overwhelming odds.

At times he seemed to be recovering from a combination of bronchial asthma and heart trouble which clung to him after his attack of influenza, and when he celebrated his 47th birthday here a week ago, he appeared to be gaining strength.

STUBENVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Harry Greb, of Pittsburg, world's middleweight champion, won a technical knockout over Billy Hirsch, of Canton, at Mingo Junction here.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 16.—Quintin Romero Rojas, the Chilean heavyweight, knocked out "Farmer" Lodge, of Minneapolis, in the sixth round of a scheduled eight-round bout here.

BERNSTEIN WINS DECISION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Jack Bernstein, of Yonkers, former Junior lightweight champion, won a decision over Johnny Dundee, of New York, former featherweight and junior lightweight champion, in a fifteen-round match at the Queensboro A. C., in Long Island

City last night. Bernstein weighed 132 1/2 and Dundee 132.

Dundee, only a shell of the former king of the 130 pounders, was outclassed from the start by the speed and aggressiveness of his youthful opponent. The veteran was outboxed and outfought. Bernstein took the aggressive from the start, poking and jabbing his opponent until he caused Dundee to hang on desperately throughout the match.

Dundee only a shell of the former ring wizard which has made him one of the most popular ring idols of the day, to stem the tide of defeat. There were no knock-downs.

Johnny Leonard, of Allentown, Penn., won the judges' decision over Angel Diaz, of Havana, Cuba, in a 10-round slugfest match.

LUIS FIRPO'S ENEMIES AFTER HIM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(United News)—Decision as to whether Luis Angel Firpo, who was so thoroughly discredited as a fighter by Harry Willis in their bout last week, is to be further discredited by the law of this land, will soon be forthcoming.

The hearing on charges that Firpo fibbed to the immigration authorities regarding his relations with Blanca Lourdes Picart, the very buxom South American scortista, was adjourned until Thursday, after Chief Inspector of Immigration W. W. Brown had heard the testimony of a number of witnesses yesterday, including Canon William Sheat Chase.

Canon Chase attended the hearing in company with a private detective, said to be his personal bodyguard.

Under cross examination, the Brooklyn clergyman who did his best to have Firpo removed from these parts in time to prevent his fight with Willis made the somewhat surprising admission to Hymen Bushel, counsel for Luis Angel, that he was pressing the deportation proceedings against the angry Panamanian Bull at the request of a newspaper. Canon Chase refused to name Firpo's journalistic enemy.

Disgruntled Employees.

The canon also admitted that the basis of his assumption that Firpo had paid the passage of the Senorita Picart to New York from Havana and that he had lived with her in New York and Atlantic City was contained in the affidavit signed by Guillermo Widmer, Firpo's disgruntled former secretary. He also had a number of telegrams sent by Firpo to Blanca, the canon said.

Hugh Gartland, former business manager of Firpo, and Joe McCann, his former sparring partner, both testified against Luis, but what they said was not revealed, as the hearing was private and the witnesses were questioned separately.

Brown asked that no statements be made following the adjournment.

"This case," said he, "is to be tried in my office and not in the newspapers."

Brown stated however, that he hoped to conclude the taking of testimony by Thursday, when he will report his findings to Commissioner of Immigration Henry Curran, who in turn will make a final report to the Department of Labor in Washington.

Terror of the Seas

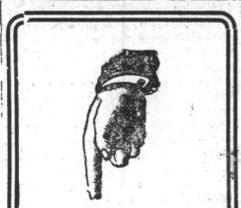

Bully Mate's Reign of Savagery— "Knocked Out" an Entire Crew of Sixteen.

Some time ago the 'News of the World' published a serial story entitled 'The Ship of Fate,' the chief character in which was a bullying ship's officer who terrorized the unfortunate sailors by his savage cruelty. This figure of fiction is vividly recalled by a cordially hated personality who has been clapped under hatches, or, in non-nautical language, sent to prison. Evidence given at Spokane, Washington, in an action for damages against the owners of the barquentine Anita Rolf, shows up in a lurid light the cruelty and ferocity of Frederick Hansen, the notorious "bully mate" of that windjammer. Hansen is now serving a term of five years' imprisonment for assault with intent to murder on the high seas. Because of brutalities practiced by him on sailors aboard the Anita Rolf during a voyage from Vancouver to Newcastle, Australia, the owners of the craft were ordered to pay damages of £3,000 to four members of the crew. One of the four was blinded for life as the result of beatings administered by the "bully mate" with a knotted hawser. Another, attacked by Hansen with a belaying pin, is laid up with a fractured skull and a broken arm. The other two were beaten so badly that they will be physically incapacitated from ever again sailing before the mast. Six feet four inches in height, and weighing 280 lb., all bone and sinew, Hansen is known in almost every port of the seven seas as a terror.

Nicknamed 'Hell-Fire' Hansen.

He already has served one term in prison for cruelties which resulted in the death of a sailor aboard the schooner K. Hall. At one time he was mate of the barquentine Fusco, sister ship of the Anita Rolf, which recently was in difficulties in New York because of the alleged treatment of sailors. Mistreatment of the Anita Rolf's seamen, according to the evidence, started as soon as the vessel passed the three mile limit. Indeed, Hansen had been arrested a few days before the Anita sailed from Vancouver on charges of beating members of the crew, but had been released. Once at sea he is alleged to have summoned the entire crew of 15 on deck, and attacked them all knocking them out. After that, the testimony showed, he gave each sailor at least one beating a day. When the 'hell ship' reached Newcastle the crew deserted in a body and sought aid of the American Consul. Before action could be taken the Anita Rolf sailed, only to bob up in Antofagasta with a new crew rushing to the Consulate with complaints. Before Hansen could be apprehended he sailed on another ship. Later, when this vessel touched Seattle he was arrested, convicted and sent to prison. The Clerk of the Federal Court at Spokane, returning from McNeil Island prison, told a strange tale of Hansen's imprisonment there. Ostracised, but feared by other prisoners, the giant, he declared, is not allowed to live in the regular prison home, but occupies a small hut by himself on the prison island. He spends most of his time rowing and planning vengeance on the bruised wrecks of men whose testimony sent him there.

COPPER IS WEAKER. Offered at 13 1/2 Cents Over Next Three Months—London Cables Help the Decline.

(Boston News Bureau, Sept. 18.) Boston—Market for copper is lower in sympathy with weak London cables. Electrolytic is offered at 13 1/2 cents for next two to three months. The London parity, moreover, for prompt shipment is around 13 cents.

The severe drop of £17 1/2 per ton in the London tin market in the first two days of this week had some effect on copper. During the last two weeks the London tin market has declined £29 10s per ton. American buying failed to develop as the London group of speculators had hoped.

Wedding Bells

REDMOND—MAHONEY.

A very quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized last Thursday morning when Miss Gertrude, Redmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Redmond, was united in the holy bonds of Matrimony, with a Nuptial Mass, by Rev. Dr. Carter, in the Presentation Convent Chapel, Cathedral Sq., St. Francis X. Mahoney, both of this city. The bride looked charming in a travelling costume of fawn serge with hat to match, and was attended by her youngest sister, Miss Josephine Redmond, while C. Mahoney supported the groom. The groom's present to the bride was a diamond ring, to the bridemaid a birthstone ring, and to the best man a cigarette case. After Mass the wedding party motored to the home of the bride's parents where breakfast was partaken of. After breakfast the happy couple motored to Topsail, and returning Saturday left by S.S. Silvia for their future home, Bermuda. The presents received were many and costly, including a purse of gold from her fellow employees in H.M. Customs, where she has been stenographer for the past nine years.

THOMAS—LANGMEAD.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Queen's Road Congregational Church at 3.30 p.m. yesterday when Mary Louise, second daughter of Mr. George Langmead, Jeweller, of this city, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Eugene Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas, Rev. Dr. L. Nichol, Pastor of the Church, officiating. The bride looked charming in a costume of charmesue satin with veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Agnes Langmead and Mildred Thomas, sisters of the bride and groom. The former was very prettily attired in mauve and the latter in apricot tulle. Both wore black hats and carried bouquets of asters, roses, and maiden hair fern. The flower girls were Rose Thomas and Helen Warren, who were attired in lemon colored crepe-de-chene, and carried baskets of beautiful blooms. The duties of best man were performed by Mr. Chesley Pippy. As the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, Miss Barnes, Organist of the Church, rendered an appropriate march. The hymn "O Love Divine," was also sung, and as the party left the church Miss Barnes rendered the Wedding March. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father, Water St., a very large number of friends being present. After the customary toasts had been honored Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left by motor for Holyrood where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride was the recipient of numerous pretty and costly presents.

Sergeants' Mess Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Sergeants' Mess of N.S. held last night in the Strling Restaurant was very successful. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer and Committees showed the Mess to be in a very flourishing condition. After the usual speeches by the retiring officers, Capt. H. W. McNeil, O.E.E. was moved to take the chair to conduct the election of officers, which resulted as follows:
President—N. Patrick.
Vice-President—G. W. Chaney.
Secy.—Treas.—A. J. Ivany.
Executive Committee—W. J. Eaton, J. W. Bartlett, J. McKinley, J. J. Dealey, L. G. Harsant.
Ways and Means Committee—J. A. Taylor, G. Macklin, A. Cahill, C. Noseworthy.
Memorial Committee—R. C. Wells, M. Chambers.
Auditors—P. R. O'Reilly, A. H. Pierantoni.
The officers were then installed by the Chairman, after which the following motion was made: "That the best thanks of the Mess be forwarded to the daily papers for publicity and support during the past year." Carried unanimously. After disposing of the business of the meeting, the members sat down to an enjoyable partridge supper, which was enjoyed in a very efficient manner by the staff of the Strling Restaurant. After satisfying the inner man, the following past list was then gone through:—
THE KING—Prop., the Chairman, God Save the King.
HON. PRESIDENT, Ex-R.S.M. M. Mackay—Prop. H. M. McNeil, O.E.E.; resp. "He's a Jolly good fellow."
THE FATHER OF THE MESS, Lt. Col. Rev. T. Nangle, C.E.—Prop. G. W. Chaney; resp. "I. Murphy."
SERGT. RICKETTS, V.C.—Prop. J. L. Murphy; resp. Sergt. Ricketts, V.C.
ABSENT FRIENDS—Prop. A. J. Ivany, Silent Toast.
CHAIRMAN—H. McNeil, O.E.E.; resp. N. Patrick.
Mr. Pushe presided at the piano in a very able manner, and at an early hour this morning the meeting adjourned with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem.

Smoking Concert a Great Success

The Glee Makers Smoking Concert held last night in aid of the Child Welfare, attracted an audience which practically filled the Casino. The concert opened with the rendition by the audience of the Ode to Newfoundland. This was followed by several other numbers from the song sheet Mr. Arthur Williams then gave a very pleasing solo. Mr. Dan Delmar followed, and brought down the house with his "Yodel" songs. Mr. Engle and Mr. Arthur Priestman Cameron were next with pleasing solos. Master M. Michaels followed, after which Mr. Martin Day gave an exhibition of step dancing. During the interval, the C.L.B. Band, under Capt. Morris, rendered some very pleasing selections. When the curtain rose, Mr. Warren, Secretary of the Men's Auxiliary, Child Welfare Association, thanked all for their attendance and made the announcement that another concert of a similar nature will take place probably next week. This was well received by the audience. At this juncture Mr. Delmar offered for auction 1,000 cigarettes which had been given by the Imperial Tobacco Company, and after some brisk bidding they were knocked down for the sum of $25.00. It was also announced that Mr. John Crosbie, who was unable to be present, had telephoned to say that he had collected $600.00 for the funds.

The second part of the programme was as follows:—
Duet—Williams and Ruggles.
Solo—Master M. Michaels.
Solo—Mr. Sandy Lawrence.
Solo—Mr. Karl Trapnell.
Monologue—Mr. Holmes.
Solo—Arthur Priestman Cameron.
Solo—Mr. D. Delmar.

Interpersing the various items were songs from the sheets led by the concert party on the stage. The audience joined heartily in the songs and everyone appeared to be enjoying the proceedings. The singing of the National Anthem brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

Destructive Fire at Blaketown

At the Majestic

MIRTH PROVOKING, THRILLING COMEDY THAT BEATS 'EM ALL.

There are many smashing scenes in Walter Hiers' first Paramount star comedy, "Mr. Billings Spends His Time." A few are given herewith.

When Billings spends his time for a cigar and is involved in a revolutionary plot.

When he gets $5,000 for revealing the secret of the cigar band with knives and revolvers pointed at him.

Billings' appearance at Santo Dinero and his meeting with Suzanna, the president's daughter.

The ball fight when Billings throws a ball and saves the life of the president, although he is himself wounded in the struggle with the assassin.

The capture of Billings by the revolutionists and his sentencing to death at the hands of a firing squad.

His rescue in the nick of time and frustration of the plans of the revolutionists.

The sista and love scenes in the president's gardens.

All of the scenes are colorful, and the story is one of genuine romance, thrill, laughs and unusual action throughout.

It will be shown at the Majestic to-day and if you want to forget all your troubles be on the job early.

The story details how a romantic-minded haberdashery clerk who obtains possession of a lucky dime, and, on being discharged, becomes embroiled in a plot of conspirators to unseat the president of a South American republic whose lovely daughter the clerk loves after seeing her picture in a news reel at a motion picture theatre. He goes to the scene of the trouble, meets the girl, does some wonderful stunts, is wounded and finally foils the revolutionists and wins the girl of his heart.

Look out for "Second Youth" and "Happiness," which are booked for next week.

Ex-German Emperor

ANGERED AT HOPES OF RECALCITRANT SON.

DOORN, Sept. 15.—(A.P.)—Late at the Chateau of Doorn has become, particularly during the past few months, extremely animated. Every day, almost, sees the arrival of fine automobiles bringing princes, ex-ambassadors, former ministers and generals who had served under the old monarchial regime in Germany. Some of the visitors leave after a day or two, but others prolong their stay, residing for the time being in expensive "pensions" where they make an ostentatious display of their war decorations, and pay almost daily visits in full dress uniform to the ex-Kaiser.

The former emperor appears to be doing everything possible to entertain and attract to himself the sympathies of all German monarchist and military circles. His consort, Hermine, who burns with the desire and hope of one day becoming empress of Germany, seconds her husband in these efforts in the most active manner, and with all the grace at her command, by holding grand receptions and entertainments.

All these activities have for their principal object, according to what is related in the best informed quarters, to counteract similar ambitious projects entertained by the former crown prince. It is even said that the rivalry between father and son has developed recently into a state of latent warfare, pursued mercilessly on both sides.

The activity displayed since his return to Germany by the former crown prince in political circles, especially among the Nationalists and Monarchists and the younger generation of militarists, rumors of which reach the ex-Kaiser from Berlin, serve to render the latter furious against his son. The prince, on his side, is said to show but little of either respect or admiration for the personages of the old regime and its time-honored traditions.

The ex-crown prince would seem to be desirous of breaking definitely with the ideas and personages of the past, and even to be willing to find himself at the head of a regime purely democratic, provided that it was at the same time nationalist. The former emperor, on the contrary, clings desperately to the ideas and personages of the past, and shows himself a bitter and unchangeable enemy to all democratic sentiments.

At sixteen fine stationery has a special charm. FRENCH ORGANDIE Writing Paper.

Welcome Deleted From Invitation to German Educators

Berlin, Sept. 1 (A.P.)—German educators who have been planning visits to foreign countries, as was the custom prior to the war, were somewhat shocked when reports reached here recently of a debate at a meeting of the Walthamstow Urban Council, London, as to whether a German would be welcome to visit the council's schools. It was stated that Dr. Fritz Karsen, principal of the chief secondary school in Berlin, had asked permission to inspect the Walthamstow educational institutions and the education committee reported that it was agreed that a welcome should be given all distinguished visitors.

Councillor Edwards suggested that in view of the attitude held in England against the Germans on account of the war he would approve deletion of the word "welcome" from the committee's recommendation, and that the word "permission" be inserted instead. He contended that a German should not be welcomed, although he did not wish him to be kept out of the schools. Councillor Llewellyn said that in ten years' time, when history was written with less prejudice, it would be found that Germany was not the only country responsible for the war. Eventually the committee's recommendations were accepted, but Dr. Karsen has not as yet determined whether he will visit Wilthamstow, as contemplated, under the circumstances.

Other German educationalists who have been looking forward to tours of England and other European countries, for the first time since the war, have taken the stand that unless they are welcome at all institutions abroad, which they have proposed to inspect, they would stay away from these particular schools altogether. All foreigners, it has been pointed out, even French professors, have been offered every facility for inspecting the German schools for several years past. Many English teachers have taken advantage of this opportunity, but few Frenchmen have appeared.

Will not Discuss Action of Russia

U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT SILENT ON SEIZURE OF WRANGEL ISLAND. WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(United Press.)—Though the United States has never laid claim to Wrangel Island, various American citizens in times past have planted the flag there and claimed the island on behalf of the Government.
The State Department to-day refused to discuss the reported action of Russia in claiming the island for the Soviet Republic, pursuing its policy of silence as regards this country's attitude toward the territory.
Wrangel Island is a barren waste north of Siberia. For many years it was generally conceded to Russia, but in the Klondike gold rush in the '90's, some Americans landed and claimed it for the United States. The Government, however, did nothing to press the claims.
About four years ago, Vladimir Steffanson, the explorer, claimed it for Great Britain. Last autumn, another American, a Captain Lane, a Californian, set sail for the island, announcing his intention of definitely claiming it for the United States. Lane is reported to be the American reported to have been found on the island by the Russian landing party.
As the matter stands, citizens of three countries have laid claim to the island, but Russia is the only power which has insisted on its right to the territory. What the future may bring forth, as the importance of Arctic air bases increases, is a matter of speculation.

Americans Honored For Aid to Nippon After Earthquake
TOKIO, Aug. 15 (A.P.)—Special honorary memberships in the Japan Red Cross and medals of merit have been conferred on Admiral Edwin A. Anderson, U.S.N., and Major-General George W. Read, U. S. A. in recognition of relief services at the time of Japan's great earthquake last September.
At that time Admiral Anderson commanded the United States Asiatic Fleet, which brought the first outside aid to the stricken areas, and General Read was in command of the Department of the Philippines, from which the first considerable shipments of relief supplies were sent.
Among other foreigners who received similar recognition is Giacomo de Martini, the Italian Ambassador.

THE FRIEND FROM HOME.

When you've taken to the highways, either toll or pleasure bent, and have travelled eastwards, westwards on this good old continent, when you've walked and talked with strangers for a week or two or more, you never one among them you have ever seen before.

I tell you then, my brother, where soever you may roam, your eyes will dance with pleasure if you meet a friend from home. If he passed and failed to see you, you'd start running down the street and you'd call his name out loudly, and you'd miss that chance to meet.

There is no thrill of gladness when you see a stranger you know, when you find among the faces of the throng just one you know; a good old world, my brother, as you'll readily agree, is the city of the strangers when a friend from home you see.

The strangers may be kindly and their smiles be honest, too. You may guess that you are lonely and may share their joys with you.

You do not know your people and you do not know your bow, the pleasures and the sorrows which the years have written down.

There's something in the laughter and the twinkle in the eye of a friend from home, my brother, which no stranger can supply.

It is not on desert islands where a man must dwell alone, but in cities dense with people, bitter loneliness is known; stand upon the curbstone and to see them come and go, and women all around you, and not one of them you know!

I tell you then, my brother, that your eyes will dance with gladness when that march of strangers one familiar face you see.

The Kings Public House

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Among the little-known of the multifarious activities of England's King is that he is the landlord of a fully-licensed public house, and that as a salubrious his Majesty is a model for his fellow publicans throughout the Kingdom.

The establishment, the "Feathers" near Deringham, Norfolk, is exactly a hotel, but neither is it one of the swinging-door drink-emotions such as many Americans remember. It is rated as one of the few first-classing retreats in the land where a high moral tone is combined with the consumption of alcoholic beverages.—In fact the encouragement of commerce is said to be the guiding aim of the King's bar.

Naturally King George does not don a white apron and help out behind the bar on busy Saturday afternoons when the week's work is finished and crowds of village yokels drop in at "The Feathers" to slack their thirsts, but he has a manager of great social importance in Lord Ullswater, former Speaker of the House of Commons, who is president of the People's Refreshment House Association of which the King's saloon is a member.

There are 170 of these saloons under Lord Ullswater's supervision. Most of the brewers nor distillers own them and the local managers receive no profit on alcoholic sales. They are encouraged to sell food and refreshments and their provisions being distinct from the bars is a feature which is gradually removing the grievances of the motorists in England that only the ubiquitous beef and cheese of the countryside inn is available during tours.

ROADSIDE GRIEF.

I was driving my old Lizzie down the quiet vale of Heck, when she acted queer and daisy, and disaster was on deck, and with arguments a e-e-whizzy, I got out and viewed the wreck. It was dark and it was raining, and the night wind had a sting, and I did not like feigning to be happy as a king; but I sent up loud complaining till I made the welkin ring. And my Aunt Matilda, seated on the back end of the boat, murmured "Don't get overheated sounding such a drastic note; let's pretend," my aunt repeated, "that we do not care a groat. Let's recall the happy flivving we have done in days gone by, every hour and mile were giving pleasures money cannot buy; let's recall the joy of living when old Lizzie's pistons fly. We have journeyed without trouble twenty thousand paces, watched the quail amid the stubble, seen the cows in cheerful gangs; and I hate to see you bubble with the heat of your haranguing. All our pleasures you're forgetting, all our jaunts in glades and glen, as you stand there wildly setting that he'll never run again, as you stand there swearing, sweating, a reproach to modern men." When my aunt's tongue was spoken I reflected she was right; countless days of luck unbroken are forgotten in a night, when approaching fair Hoboken, our old Lizzie's in a plight.

St. Partridge Day

THE 1st OF SEPTEMBER BRINGS JOY TO THE SPORTSMAN AND PAIN TO THE PARTRIDGE.

"Surely you are not going to shoot that partridge running?"

The new lord of the manor gazed. He had been following the bird with his gun-barrel.

"No," he snapped, "I'm waiting until the beggar stops."

Later in the day the same manor lord lost his temper with a shooting guest. Bird after bird had crumpled up between them, and at each the good shot claimed "Mine—my bird, I think."

"No; they are all my birds. You'd better leave the others alone and go home!"

Farmers' Birds.

An equally peppery old chap was irritated by his neighbour's propensity for claiming fallen birds. His wrath took the form of gathering together all the birds within reach, and dumping them before the shot:

"Here, take the lot!"

For some reason sporting ethics seem to wane in the partridge ground. We take shots when walking among the turnips which, on the moor, would be considered just a bit jealous. But the birds you are walking after have a different stream of flight to those which are driven to you over the heather.

Partridges are farmers' birds—they "follow plough land." Pasture is not cover enough for them, and the return of so much land to open grazing after the War has reduced the old stock. The grouse must have the stern, peaty moorland with its grass patches and heather; the partridge will live and flourish in the richest farm lands, near roads, railways, and even villages. There is a record of one pair of partridges taking up a home in a lily-of-the-valley patch outside a small cottage.

Record "Bags."

The late Francis Francis used to believe that a few tame partridges were useful in keeping a good stock of birds close to home. He often told a story of a Cockney sportsman who was shown a score partridges parading on the lawn within a few yards of his window, and the man's wrath when he was told that he must not shoot.

The second bag of British partridges was made at Holkham, Norfolk, in 1905, when 1,671 birds were killed. The best drive was 168, and the total for four days 4,749. At Welbeck, in the following year, 218 were shot in one drive. In the old "walking-up" days, Netherby, on the Cumberland side of the Scottish Border, was a competitor with Norfolk, but "driving" soon made immense bags for the Southern folk. There were some curious partridge records. One gentleman successfully undertook to shoot one brace per day, Sunday excepted, for six weeks. In 1870 the Maharajah Duleep Singh shot 780 partridges for 1,000 cartridges in one day. On the Continent great partridge shoots are common; a party on Baron Hirsch's Hungarian estate killed 2,870 birds in a day. On another estate in the same country 17,048 partridges went down in a season. The Marquis of Ripon once killed 7,000 partridges here in five weeks.

Killed by Fear.

Two or three birds are sometimes brought down at a shot by good men; they wait until the pack is crossed in flight, and bring off the feat with certainty. The Marquis of Ripon once had eleven birds in two shots.

Another partridge succeeded in losing its life to an empty barrel. The gun was turned towards the flying covey and so intimidated one bird that it twisted its wing in panic, and fell to the ground crippled.

A partridge usually weighs about 14 ounces, but giants up to 23 ounces are on record. Of the quality of partridge, a poet has written:

"If the partridge had the woodcock's thigh, 'T would be the best bird that ever did fly."

The speed of game birds is difficult to measure; up wind they travel comparatively slowly, but in the reverse direction their flight becomes a dash. A partridge will not face a stronger wind than thirty miles per hour.

England Still Guarding

TWO GERMANS ARRESTED AS SPIES.

London, Sept. 8 (A.P.)—Stories of the sometimes romantic exploits of spies are recalled by the release from Dartmoor prison of Courtenay Henstot de Rysbach, who in October, 1915, was sentenced to penal servitude for life as a spy in Germany's service.

De Rysbach, a vaudeville actor and the son of a one-time Austrian subject who was naturalized in England, was arrested after the postal censor had stopped two songs mailed by him to an address in Switzerland. One was "The Ladder of Love" and the other was "On the Way to Dublin." When they were chemically treated, an account of conditions in England, written in invisible ink, appeared. After imprisonment De Rysbach divulged German espionage methods.

At the Home Office it is stated that only two spies now remain in prison in this country.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE "DID YOU EVER" LADY.

of saying: "Did you ever" that ever was.

When you show her your new dress and tell her what a bargain it was, she says: "Did you ever," and you feel as if you were a most extraordinarily clever buyer.

When you tell her about the almost automobile accident you were in, she says: "Did you ever," and you feel as if you were really the heroine of some thrilling escape.

And You Feel So Impatient.

When you tell her the latest bit of gossip which your unenthusiastic friend would receive with only mild interest, she hangs on your every word and says: "Did you ever," at the end, and you feel very impatient to be the purveyor of such news.

Do I need to tell you that she is one of the most popular women I know? The kind that people always like to have along on any party, the kind whose coming as a week-end guest is something to look forward to, the kind you immediately call up on the telephone when something nice or interesting has happened to you.

In one of the recent plays the heroine who has not been a notable success with men is taught by the successful artist a line that never fails. She is to say to all men at all possible times: "Aren't you wonderful!" She does so and finds herself at once a success.

"Aren't You Wonderful!"

Now "did you ever" and the kindred phrases are the neuter equivalent of "aren't you wonderful." They can be used with both sexes.

"Really" and "no, you don't mean it" are two of these kindred phrases that give one the feeling that pussy has (presumably) when she is stroked.

I have caught myself getting ready to purr at that: "No, you don't mean it" when, as I stopped to think, I realized that the speaker couldn't possibly doubt if I meant it and that it was really an absurd thing to say.

If I were teaching in a finishing school it seems to me one of the tricks I should teach the pupils I was trying to finish in the social arts would be to practice saying "really" with just the proper inflection and proper rounding of eyes that goes with it.

She Does More Than Say It.

And yet as I write that I know that I have not come at the heart of the matter. My popular friend who says: "Did you ever" does something more than say it. She means it. To this extent at least she has behind it a genuine, lively, friendly interest in you and the rest of the world. She may not really mean that she considers your bargain remarkable, or your escape unique, but she does express her real interest. And I suppose it is that to which we respond so warmly.

So if I were a teacher in that finishing school I should have to teach my pupils to feel interest as well as to show it. I wonder if it could be done.

Bettering Schools

(Los Angeles Times.)

The school bells are ringing again these bright summer mornings in various parts of the State and it is not long before our youngsters will resume the salutary exercise of impressionable minds that have been bent upon equally salutary play for a period which the children consider none too long but to the termination of which careworn mothers look forward as to a blessed relief.

To the normal boy or girl school is not the humdrum, lifeless sort of thing it was only a few years ago, when throughout the State it was quite exceptional to find classes taught by teachers who knew how to make the work interesting. In former times when school teaching was a poorly paid profession it seldom attracted to it persons who could earn good salaries in other fields. Here and there would be found a highly intelligent teacher who, through stress of circumstances had had recourse to pedagogic work as a last resort. The lives of these, particularly if they were incumbered by dependents, were full of desperate shifts and baffling straits. After doing her own sewing, washing, cooking and other household drudgery, a woman teacher could not reasonably be expected to exhibit as much patience or benevolence in her class work as if she had had a little needful rest and recreation when not busy with her nerve trying toil in school. As for the men, they were not tempted to teach when they could get double the pay in other occupations. A man teacher was generally one who had failed in other lines.

Now it is different. The present salaries of school teachers look good to many bright young city men as well as to many women who, though not normal school graduates, can do a little brushing up in the different studies, pass the present rather stiff examinations and soon be earning a fair salary. The pay is still less than what some of them might receive in good office positions, but there is not the element of uncertainty in job hunting, for in school work there is to be seen one profession that is not overcrowded, at least not by the desirable teachers who display keen intellect and engaging personality for which county school superintendents and boards of education are now on the alert.

"So far as our teachers are concerned," says one superintendent,

"the day of the dumbbell is about past. We know we can get good teachers at the present rate of compensation and we will no longer put up with mediocre ones. Other things being equal, we prefer those who can make school work attractive to the children—to make them feel they are playing a game instead of laboring to perform an enforced duty."

From the standpoint of the citizen who wishes to retain faith in our national regeneration—and faith we must have—this is good news. By thus raising the standard of our teachers and making school a more tempting place to be in we may in a few years make a big dent in that roll call of 6,000,000 illiterates, which is at once a national curse and a national disgrace.

Artist Globe Trotter

WALKING ROUND THE WORLD WITH DONKEY AND CART.

Belfast the other day, received a novel visitor, Mr. Harold Speakman, an author and artist from New Jersey, who is travelling round the world with a donkey and cart, and sleeps in a tent. "I am walking all the way," he explained, "and use the cart for carrying my luggage, paints and canvas. In 800 miles my donkey has only refused to go forward on one occasion, and that was one of the few times I had taken the wrong road. The author has already travelled through Europe.

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes:—"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about. I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am real well now. I shall always keep a box of the Nerve Food in the house, and recommend them to my friends; they are a wonderful medicine." (Mr. J. W. Vince, Druggist, of Madoc, Ont., says: "I have sold Mrs. Hocking your Nerve Food, and the medicine has done her much good.")

MAURETANIA AGAIN BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

By her latest passage from New York the Mauretania has broken every world record. The three records she set up are as follows:—

Average speed 26.25 knots
Best day's run 626 miles
Fastest eastward passage 5 days, 1 hr. 49min.

The vessels average speed thus works out at about 30 miles an hour. The weather was fine during the entire trip, nothing worse than a slight sea being encountered. On the first day out from New York she beat her previous record with a run of 622 miles, but this again was easily eclipsed on the following day, as the following table of daily runs will show:—

Thursday 622 miles

An interesting fact is that on the outward voyage the Mauretania's commander, Capt. A. H. Rostron, who has been in charge of her since 1918, advised New York of the time of his arrival there when 1,400 miles away, and actually he was only five minutes late. On the return he was three minutes earlier than the time he gave when 1,900 miles from Cherbourg. Another remarkable point is that on three successive eastward trips last year there was a difference of only five minutes in the time taken for the voyage. The Mauretania's previous records, which were also world records, was as follows:—

Average speed (west-bound) 26.06 knots
Best day's run (eastbound) 614 miles
Best day's run (westbound) 676 miles
Fastest eastward passage 4d. 13hr. 41min.
Fastest westward passage 4d. 10hr. 41min.

These records were set up some 14 years ago, before the vessel was converted into an oil-burner, and at that time the distances were calculated between New York and Queenstown, and not between Ambrose Channel light vessel and Cherbourg. The voyage just completed constitutes the Mauretania's 300th crossing of the Atlantic, and she has steamed well over a million miles in the passenger service and carried more than 400,000 passengers, two further records to her credit. Furthermore, she is the only Atlantic vessel that for 27 consecutive runs, in all seasons and all kinds of weather, has averaged 25½ knots. The Mauretania, built on the Tyne by Messrs. Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson, made her maiden voyage in November, 1907, and had already created several records when the war diverted her energies from those of a passenger vessel to a troop-er and hospital ship. In 1922 she was re-conditioned as an oil-burner. A member of last year saw her laid up at Southampton for overhaul, but engineer's strike resulted in the vessel being taken to Cherbourg and work being entrusted to French workers, with the assistance of a number of skilled British engineers, who were taken across specially to work on turbine blading. Her voyage across Channel was the most adventurous in her career. Taken in tow by five powerful tugs, she met such heavy weather that she was in danger of being driven on to the French coast, and had to steam back to sea until the fog had made it safe to enter port. The passage from Southampton to Cherbourg occupied 65 hours.

Jackie Coogan and a circus all in one picture.

C'mon everybody! All the thrill of fun of the greatest show on earth for you to enjoy.

Jackie Coogan's greatest picture. Don't miss the fun.

One great laugh that starts with the beginning and never lets up.

Freaks and midgets—lions and acrobats and jugglers—train-horses and dogs—tight-rope walkers—lemonade—popcorn—hoes—dances! here's the wonder show.

His greatest picture yet. After "Twist," "My Boy," "Peck's Bad Boy" and "Daddy," a picture that puts them all in laughs and thrills.

See the marvels of the age—new living wonders never before shown—step up ladies and gentlemen—don't crowd—now showing the greatest wonder on earth with Jackie Coogan in "Circus Days."

Hey, Maw! Let's go to the circus and see Jackie Coogan too, in "Circus Days."

The greatest story of circus life screened at last with Jackie Coogan as leading attraction of a five-ring show. All the fun on earth under the big top.

Hey, Skin-nay—c'mon to the circus—Jackie Coogan in it with all the freaks and lions—Oh! Boy, what a lot of fun we'll have.

A real circus—a great star—a wonderful cast—a wow of a picture.

Installation Ceremony

LODGE HEART'S CONTENT, No. 1375

The District Grand Lodge of Scotland, headed by their Right Worshipful District Grand Master, R.W. Bro. Hon. Tasker K. Cook, accompanied by the following officer bearers motored to Heart's Content Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of installing the Right Worshipful Master elect, and officers for the ensuing year—W. Bro. H. E. Cowan, P.S.D.G., D.D.G.; M.; Robert Duff, S.G.M.; G. W. Gushue, as D.G.S.W.; D. Johnson, D.G.I.; W. Rev. Canon Smart, as D.G. Chaplain; A. K. Lamden, D.G. Treasurer; F. E. Rabbitts, D.G.D. of C. as D.G.S.; George Butt, D.G.S.D.; J. G. Snow, D.G.J.; Dr. Cron, D.G.S.B.; R. J. Wells, D.G.S.; Harry Archibald, D.G.S.; T. Ford, D.G.I.G.; W. C. Major, D.G. Tyler; Robert Spry, as D.G. Organist; also parties from Hr. Grace, Carbonar and Bay Roberts Lodges. The motor cars arrived in Heart's Content at seven o'clock and the brethren were entertained at the homes of the various members of Lodge Heart's Content and the Staff House, to a partidge supper. After the dinner had been appeased the officers and brethren of the District Grand Lodge were received by Heart's Content Lodge in lodge assembled. Right Wor. Bro. S. G. Collier, P.S.G.W., Wor. Bro. W. P. Butler and Wor. Bro. R. W. Spry of the District Grand Lodge of England were also received. The ceremony of installation was then proceeded with, when the following officer bearers were duly installed for the ensuing twelve months:—A. Farnham, R.W.M.; H. E. Wyatt, D.M.; E. Pugh, W.S.W.; J. Farnham, W.J.W.; W. J. Palmer, Secy.; T. R. Hopkins, Treas.; G. R. Rabbitts, S.D.; A. J. Rowe, J.D.; W. N. Ford, D. of Ceremonies; J. J. Young, Inner Guard; F. Anderson, S.S.; C. J. Farnham, J.S.; Ernest Peach, Organist; J. Young, Jr., Tyler.

A collection in aid of the Benevolence Fund was taken and a splendid amount realized.

There being no further business the Lodge was closed in due form. The Brethren were then invited to be present in the spacious banquet hall, to which all repaired. The ladies of Heart's Content outdid themselves on this occasion; the tables being bountifully filled with good things and beautifully decorated with flowers. The following toast list was subsequently honored:—

LODGE HEART'S CONTENT AND ITS R.W.M.
Prop. A. K. Lamden; Resp. Bro. A. Farnham.

TYLER'S TOAST.
Prop. Bro. W. C. Major.

General regrets were expressed that the L.P.M. Bro. Dr. Arthur Anderson could not be present because of the recent accident in which he unfortunately had his leg broken. A telegram was despatched to Bro. Anderson at the hospital, wishing him a speedy recovery. During the evening community singing was indulged in which was greatly enjoyed by the large numbers that were present, much of the success of this being due to the able leadership of Bro. Ern Peach, who presided at the piano. At two p.m. the singing of the National Anthem brought to a close the most successful installation ceremony yet held in the Cable City of Trinity Bay. The city brethren returned to town by motor yesterday.

Heavy Run of River Salmon

KEEPS CANADIAN FISHERS BUSY.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 18.—(A.P.)—The salmon run in British Columbia rivers is the largest since the record of 1919, according to reports received by Hon. William Sloan, provincial commissioner of fisheries. Canaries along the Fraser, Skeena and Neas rivers are working day and night shifts in an effort to take care of the catch.

The catch of sockeye, Mr. Sloan said, will be the heaviest in years. The marked increase in quantity this year will mean greater prosperity for the salmon industry.

The total value of the fisheries production of Canada was $42,565,545 last year, according to the annual report, or an increase in value of $756,385 over 1923.

The amount of capital represented in fishing vessels, boats, nets, traps, piers, and wharves employed in catching and landing the fish in 1923 was $23,645,316. The number of men employed in these operations was 53,517.

Our Montreal Letter

(From Our Own Correspondent).
THE CITY BEING OVER-RUN BY BANDITS AND VIOLENCE.

The metropolis of Canada is increasing rapidly in the history of crime. Daring hold-ups, robberies of all kinds and cold-blooded murders are carried out in a bold, defiant and heartless manner, and to add to the horror of these crimes, the perpetrators escape, leaving no clues for the stern hand of the law and justice to deal with them. It was thought that when the famous bandits now awaiting sentence of death at Bordeaux jail were captured, that the city was safe from the fierce storm of crime that swept over it for some time. But alas! it was only a lull in the crime wave, for it has broken out anew. A new gang, under some new leader or leaders, has appeared on the scene, and citizens in certain sections of the city and business places are robbed even in daylight. The gunmen take some awful chances, escape with robbery and murder left to tell the tale of their wicked doings. Have they some master mind leading them on, that the power of money can defy the power of the law, like the gang at Bordeaux jail had according to affidavits now in the hands of Alderman Dubreuil, and who has asked for an investigation into the workings of the Police Force. The Alderman has brought some very serious charges against some officials, and if proved and proven, will tell a tale of duplicity fraud and crime running rampant, and hidden and unpublished for the sake of the root of all evil—Money. So hangs a tale. Alderman Dubreuil asked for a Royal Commission to investigate the charges. His request was voted down by a large majority, and a special committee named from the Council, consisting of 12 members, was appointed to hear the Alderman's charges. Now, it appears, that Alderman Dubreuil refuses to let the committee have the affidavits, and while the committee will hold an investigation, the Alderman and several citizens are asking for a judicial investigation into the affair. Here are a few of the latest episodes of the bandit gang.

A captain of a barge moored in the Canal was walking along the Canal embankment, when he was set upon by two ruffians, who had revolvers, struck down unconscious, and robbed of all his valuables, including one hundred and seventy dollars. A postman, who had the delivery of the business section of St. Paul Street for the past ten years, and who had resided at Verdun, working after hours in a grocery store which his wife looked after during the day, was robbed in his store and then shot to death by two men who entered the store to make a purchase. After the robbery and the murder, the men jumped into an auto, which was waiting with two other men in it, and escaped. The auto was probably a stolen one.

Two men entered a jewellery store and at the point of revolvers grabbed $8,000 worth of goods, but coming out they came in contact with the proprietor on the sidewalk, dropped some of their loot and escaped in an auto. Refusing to stand aside when ordered to do so by six men who leaped from a car and stopped him while he was walking along Western Avenue at an early hour in the evening with a young lady, Donald Gordon, 25 years of age, of 80 Stanford Street, received a shot in the leg from a revolver in the hands of one of the men.

The assailants made no effort to rob the couple but immediately after wounding Gordon they made off in the car. Gordon's injuries were not serious and he was enabled to return home after being treated at the hospital.

Picking up two fares at the corner of Beaubien and St. Denis Street at 10 o'clock at night, S. Wood, chauffeur for the Yellow Taxi Cab Co., was forced to submit to a search of his pockets while he was tearing the receipt from the meter at Bellechasse Street. The two men alighted from the taxi, paid the 55 cents registered against the drive, and one of them pressed a revolver on the breast of the chauffeur. The second man, took the chauffeur's $15 from his pocket.

Under the heading of 'Going Backwards,' the Montreal Herald says editorially:—

Thoughtful people here must be struck—and saddened—by the current news dealing with crime. For a time the compelling fact was more increase in the number of criminal acts. Later events are tending to show that the character of the deeds of violence is changing in a manner that cannot but startle the balanced mind. In recent crime not only in Montreal but all over the continent there is evidence of a degeneration which must astound. Crime is something more than a simple violation of the legal code when it descends into such depths. We who have long prided ourselves upon the fancied difference between the people of our country and those of older nations have been given something to think about that is worth while.

The criminal brutality demonstrated by proofs of degeneracy hitherto foreign to our records cannot be blinked at. Whether we have touched the right causes may be a matter for doubt. But there is not the least question that we are swinging far from our old mental landmarks. But in making a brief survey of the differences between the new and the old-fashioned psychology, the discriminating observer sees much more than a mere difference in the degrading character of the acts of the criminal-minded. He sees a startling change in mentality everywhere. If among the changes he notes a cold-blooded indifference to old standards of the value of human life, he may set that down as merely incidental. For he has only to plot out his observations to see that mental operations are different among all men and women—and even children. The old code has gone. If we are startled now by the difference compared with the standard of a generation ago, we may look for other changes that may develop into permanencies, the reverse of what was once a rule of conduct. But at the moment the amazing thing which commands attention in the degeneration apparent in the acts of crime. With that perched upon the topmost point mere crime increase becomes secondary.

AN INCREASE OF SCHOLARS IN ALL THE SCHOOLS.

All the schools in Montreal, both Protestant and Catholic, show an increase in attendance. Owing to inadequate accommodation in some of the Catholic Schools, some twenty-five hundred children are receiving only half-a-day's tuition.

OH! HOW SWEET IS LIBERTY.

Liberty is sweet to those who have tasted the bitter and galling yoke of slavery and starvation. This applies particularly to parts of Russia to-day where the inhabitants are fleeing to other countries to enjoy freedom and try to earn a living for themselves. With them it's, 'Give us Liberty or Death.' A stowaway who was being deported back to Russia, on a Canadian Pacific freighter, jumped overboard off Crane Island while a storm was on, and immediately was lost to view. It was too bolstorous to launch a boat to try and rescue him. Six more Russian stowaways were sent to jail lately and, at the end of their term, will be deported to Belgium.

HUNTING SEASON IN FULL SWING.

"Give me a trail, a dog, a gun; To tramp is my delight, From early morn till set of sun; A glowing fire at night." And so sings the hunter in the forest. The prospects are very bright in northern Quebec since the opening of the deer shooting season which opens earlier than in any of the other provinces. Outfitters along the transcontinental section of the Canadian National Railways and those lines which tap the Lake St. John, Abitibi and La Tuque regions are already entertaining so many hunters that they are having difficulty in securing sufficient qualified guides to meet the demands. At La Tuque, Parent, Amos, Senneterre and La Sarre moose, deer, bear and partridge have been reported in large numbers and at the head of Lake St. John, several large herds of caribou have been sighted on several occasions. In Gaspé, which is noted for its caribou hunting, these animals are reported to be found in larger numbers than for several years.

Record of Some Striking Cases.

Handed people may be distressed to hear that, according to the experience of Dr. W. S. Inman, of the Portsmouth and South Hants Ear Hospital, such a habit is usually associated with squinting.

Noticing that several squinted patients were left-handed, even when not left-handed, he makes a large proportion of the cases had left-handed relatives. Inman made further investigation into the relations between left-handedness and left-handedness.

He has been able (he writes in Lancet) to collect 1,000 cases of which very few of which have failed to reveal the existence of left-handedness or stammering in some relative.

Left-handedness in a bowler or man, as Dr. Inman remarks, may be useful; but in most cases where it shows a tendency to use the right hand, the habit is laughed or sneered away by parents or teachers who have not recognized that it is such a thing as a left-handed temperament, and that it interferes with it may be dangerous.

Effect of a Whipping.

The left-hander be compared to the rest of his family, brought by the same parents, it will be found that he is generally distinguished by being to a greater degree than his fellows self-reliant, obstinate, refusing to be guided, but accepting guidance from those he loves.

Squint apparently, may predispose towards left-handedness in a child, as in one case, noted by Dr. Inman, of a boy of seven who has squinted since the age of two.

He was right-handed until he squinted, when he became very friendly towards a left-handed boy, and began to write with the left hand.

His habit was 'broken' by the parents. No other squint, stammer, or handedness could be traced in the family.

On the other hand," says Dr. Inman, "I have known of only one case where a left-hander developed a habit which an attempt was made to correct right-handedness. A boy of seven or eight was sent to a school where the master insisted on his writing right-handed. The boy had difficulty in compliance, was scolded, and at each beating developed temporary squint."

Stammering sometimes has followed an attempt to enforce right-handedness, and also from an attempt to make a right-handed person left-handed.

Critical and Obstinate.

An elderly father of strong personality, who is keenly interested in his daughter, had a right-handed daughter, whom he taught to use her left hand without much difficulty. Under the sequelae. An attempt to educate in the same way as she was born two or three years ago had to be abandoned owing to the development of a stammer."

The very striking case of relationship between left-handedness and squint might be called a family squint, as Dr. Inman, is that of a seven-year-old child, the daughter of a naval officer, who suddenly became left-handed after a whipping. The child was chastised for being naughty.

Later in the day, when good results appeared to have been reached, she was invited to play some invented in the family. Over a perforated seat of a chair was stretched a piece of paper, and the father tried to pierce the paper over the holes with a lead pencil. The father tried first, and then passed the pencil to his daughter, who struck it and struck with it in her left hand.

When she did this a second time, the father commented upon it and tried to persuade her to use the right hand in place of the left, but without success.

This was the first occasion on which any sign of left-handedness had been given. In this family the father has a tendency to divergent squint, the mother's only brother has pronounced convergent squint, in one or two of the other children there is a suggestion of divergent squint, and the mother, though not left-handed, uses mirror writing in making private notes.—Tit-Bits.

Smokes Alone on ZR-3

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Aug. 31 (A.P.)—Dr. Rugo Eckner, who will pilot the airship ZR-3 on her trip across the Atlantic, is the man who makes the rule that no one on board the vessel shall smoke at any time, and he is also the only man who breaks this rule.

Smoking on board an airship is extremely dangerous. An open flame at any time ignites the gas. But the doctor, who is very fond of his pipe, occasionally locks himself in the cockpit house and, entirely alone, takes a short and hurried smoke.
